Incumbents File For Posts

Local elections in the city and school drew no new names to appear on the ballot as the deadline for filing came Wednesday at 5 p. m.

Only the incumbents had filed as the deadline appeared. Incumbents in the school board race are Royce Collins, Elmo Bryant and Uil Gunter.

City Council incumbents are Jimmie Jenkins, Joe Hall and Vernon Nixon.

Elections will be held April 1. City voters will go to the city hall to name the councilmen and voters in the school district will cast their votes at H. P. Webb Elementary.

March Of Dimes Is FHA Project

Members of Future Homemakers of America, Olton Chapter, have accepted, as their civic project of the year, the responsibility of the annual "March of Dimes", according to Mrs. Jodie Seaborn, one of the sponsors.

"The girls will make their fund drive throughout the city. They will cover as much as is possible Tuesday night between the hours of 6:30 and 7:30 p. m. We want the public to be aware of their purpose and generous in their donations to this worthy cause", she said.

A Recession?

Fair Agricultural Prices Is Solution

"Texas isn't half as hot as you think it is. You stand 25th in per capita income, $4,500 less than the per capita income of the 17 industrial states in spite of all the oil, citrus and agricultural plants you have.

The reason for this lower per capita income --- you're giving everything away for half-price," so charged Arnold Paulson, in a seminar sponsored by Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

Paulson, research analyst of Granite Falls, Minn., has been presented seven times recently in this area in three and one-half hour seminars. A dozen Oltonites were in attendance Saturday night as he spoke to some 225 farmers and businessmen in Plainview. A like number attended another session held Tuesday night in Lubbock.

Paulson, who feels that Ag-

Booster Club Making Plans For Banquet

Members of Olton Booster Club are asked to be present Monday, Mar. 6 in school cafeteria at 7:30 p. m. according to announcement by Jess Parker, club president.

"Plans for the Sports Banquet are in the making and it is urgent that Boosters be present to complete them," Parker stated.

riculture is truly the backbone of America is trying to alert citizens to the fact that the only economic profit to be had in this or any nation is a "profit from something new...from nature...a profit you never have to pay back".

"New Wealth" he says, "can only come from land, sea or air. And, new wealth is worth no more than we pay for it. For every $1 that we underprice our new wealth...we lose it."

"Rural America is dead" the speaker said, "and it's going to remain dead until it sells its raw materials for an equitable price. For over 20 years farmers have not received parity price for their raw materials, this adds up to some 800 billion dollar underpayment.

"If Agriculture had received this 800 billion, the National income would have been 800 billion higher, Federal government lost 26% of that in taxes.. when farmers have money they spend it, so business lost in its profits...everybody lost."

"If Detroit has enough guts to raise the price of cars" he charged "and farm machinery prices are raised... why not farm prices? Farm commodities are selling now at depression era prices."

"What is needed" Paulson urged "is an educational program. People need to be made to realize this is not a farm problem... it is an All-America problem. Businessmen should be leading the fight. It's the only way we are going to save this country...the only way we are going to get it back into balance."

Hail Suppression, Rain Stimulation To Be Topic Of Friday Night Meeting

Better Weather, Inc. met recently to complete plans for this year's hail suppression and rain stimulation program.

Another informative meeting is scheduled Friday March 3 at 7:30 p. m. at the Springlake Cafeteria. All interested persons are urged to attend this meeting.

Letters are going out this week to solicit funds to support a third year in the pilot program of seeding clouds with silver iodide to prevent damaging hail during the growing season. In addition to suppressing hail, favorable thunder clouds will be seeded to stimulate rain.

Better Weather officials stated that no tornadoes have developed out of seeded clouds, either.

If Lamb County goes into the program again this year, $40,000 must be raised by March 20th.

Because the program fell short of funds at the end of the growing season last year, Atmospheric, Inc., the California-based firm which is conducting the experiment, said all money must be paid in advance this year before a contract is signed.

In order to raise the necessary funds, farmers in the county are asked to pay a total of 25 cents for dryland and 50 cents for irrigated farm land. This divided 12 1/2 cents per acre for landlord and 12 1/2 cents for tenant and 25 cents for owner-operator of dryland. Irrigated producers are asked to pay on a similar schedule of 25 cents for landlord, 25 cents for tenant, or 50 cents for owner-operator.

Payment of the funds is entirely voluntary. Better Weather officers point out that $20 to $80 per quarter section is very cheap insurance for keeping yields up. They added that future farm payments will be determined by actual farm yields, and that there has been very little hail in the area where the hail suppression program has been conducted for the past two years.

Three two-engine planes have been used the past two years, if Lamb County or other areas go in with Hale County this year a fourth plane will be added to give better protection.

Hale County hopes to conduct the program even in the event no other farming areas join them. Hale County farmers will finance the brunt of the cost of the operation. A mail-out campaign is being conducted in that county, also. Hale farmers are paying 32 cents per acre for dryland and 64 cents per acre for irrigated land.

Four area banks are handling Lamb County funds. The Olton State Bank, The Security State Bank in Littlefield, Citizens State Bank in Earth and Citizens State Bank in Anton are accepting the checks from farmers and holding them until the deadline.

In the event enough money isn't raised here to include Lamb County, the checks will be mailed back to the farmers.

Lamb County Better Weather, Inc. officers for this year are Bobby Short, president; Orville Cleavinger, vice president; Dale Stanley, secretary-treasurer; and Dwight Faver and H. L. Messamore, directors.

Easter Seal Fund Drive Campaign Now Under Way In Lamb County

Easter Seal Appeal letters are to be delivered this week in Lamb County according to Doyle Patton Jr. the Easter Seal Representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. As representative, he serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as Treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Lamb County.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs, and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal.

The Society also provides for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Patton pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

During 1971, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services for over 22,000 children and adults who were in need of rehabilitation. These services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, he added.

The Easter Seal Campaign will run through Easter Sunday, April 2.

HERE ARE YOUR EASTER SEALS GOVERNOR -- Donald "Donnie" Scowden of Odessa, 1972 Texas Easter Seal Child, on the behalf of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas, presents Gov. Preston Smith with the first sheet of 1972 Easter Seals.

A Thriving Business?

If your business took 81.1% of your total income for operating expenses, would you think you had a thriving business?

This is the basis on which our government is working and we are continuously told that we are living in prosperous times.

These facts, along with numerous other facts and figures about the economic conditions of the U. S. Government, were presented by Arnold Paulson at Plainview last Saturday night and again at Lubbock Tuesday night.

We were present at the Plainview lecture and were simply overcome at the economic picture painted by Paulson. (And he had the proof from publications provided by the government.)

Paulson pointed out that during the depression years, the government's expenses were 83% of the national income. We are only 2% away from that figure at the present time!

A period when the economy was in balance was the years 1946 through 1950. During that time, agricultural industries were getting 100% parity for their products and when agriculture thrives, so goes the entire nation. This prosperity was due to the Stegall amendment, which Congressman Stegall succeeded in having adopted. When the Stegall amendment was set aside, things began to look bad for the farmer.

Trying to illustrate the unbalance, Paulson used private enterprise as an "ocean" with several ships on the ocean--corporations, small businesses, rental investments, agriculture, wages and interest.

When the tide comes in, all ships SHOULD rise with the tide. However, the tide rose 375% while corporation rose 205%; small business, 224%; rental investments, 284%; agriculture 117% net, 180% gross; wages, 445% and interest, a whopping 1950%.

Very unbalanced economy!

So, the solution ---- create an income from a source that you won't have to pay back....raw materials. Agriculture, if given a fair price, would get the nation back on its feet. The only times in history when the nation truly had a balanced economy was when the farmer was receiving a fair price for his products.

We all know, living in a farming area, that when crops around here are short, so are our businesses. This holds true all over the nation. And we all need to do what we can to convince our representatives in government positions that in order for things to get "back into balance" is to give the farmer a fair price.

We hear each year that the national debt is so much higher. More and more each year, the debt is extended.

There's no way that an individual can borrow enough money to pay out of debt and the same thing is true about our government.

So, let's get on the farmers side and help him get a good price for his products! There has NEVER been a recession or depression when raw materials are at 100% parity.

Let's Go Back To School

You can't take a sentimental journey back to the schoolroom--because that little old school isn't there anymore! Times change and there's been a revolution in the schoolhouse. Here's your chance to find out all about it during Texas Annual Public Schools Week, March 6 through March 10, 1972.

You are invited to visit a Public School and see for yourself how new teaching methods and techniques are helping Johnny learn to read and think. It's Open House throughout the week. Come and meet the teachers. Come and learn how education is adding up to a better life for all Americans - for all Texans. Make a date with your child, March 6 through March 10, 1972, and visit in the schoolroom.

Special Open House is planned for Monday night beginning at 7 p. m.

Past, Present And Future Of Cotton To Be Studied

The past, present and future of cotton will be scrutinized at the Sixth Annual Cotton Production Meeting of the South Plains Development Program in Lubbock, March 8.

The conference is slated for 12:20 p. m. in the KoKo Palace, according to Billy C. Gunter, SPD program coordinator and district agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The program was started in 1967 to furnish South Plains agribusinessmen, producers and homemakers the latest information to increase income and family living standards.

The cotton meeting will open with Dabney Wellford, who is an economist with the National Cotton Council. He will cover such questions as the qualities of cotton that will be in demand this year, as well as his views.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Mrs. Basil Sherman came home Saturday after staying several days in a Plainview hospital.

RETURNS HOME

O. Lewis returned home last weekend from an absence of four months. He stayed two months in Whittier, Calif. with a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Paris. In Denver City he visited a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Green and he visited in Odessa with a daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Keeney. In Pecos he stayed with his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Lewis. He was brought home by Mr. and Mrs. Keeney who stayed during the weekend with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hyatt.

of cotton marketing and prices in the future.

Roy McClung, Cochran County agricultural agent, will discuss cotton irrigation and seed quality. He will be followed by Dr. Levon Ray of the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center at Lubbock. Ray will report on some of the current cotton varieties, problems in producing them, and needs for the future. The researcher is noted for his pioneer work in the development of narrow row cotton varieties that are rapidly increasing in popularity over the nation.

John J. Setbert, Extension economist from College Station, will cover the aspects of forward contracting of cotton. Walter Wells of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will explain the new provisions of the government farm program and also producer options in the feed grain program.

Marvin Sartin, Extension area economist at Lubbock, will conclude the program with a discussion on how South Plains cotton producers can fit the government farm program into their farming operations.

"The meeting will cover key items concerning the cotton industry on the South Plains," says Dr. Robert Metzger, Extension area cotton specialist. "It is open to anyone interested in the West Texas Cotton Industry."

The meeting is being sponsored by the area county agricultural agents and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sue's Views

BY SUE CANNON

You know, I've decided that being a "paper boy" isn't the easiest job in the world.

When we were talking about taking over the A-J route, I thought that would be real good experience for my boys. Just think - an hour a day and you'd be through!

Well, that's not quite the way it turned out.

Of course, you have to drag out of the sack at 5:30 a. m., stumble around about half asleep (no time for coffee), head out in the cold and start the car (that'll wake you up)! Then you're on your way.

Then down to the post office, load up 400 papers, and really get after it for the next hour.

While I roll the papers up and secure them with rubber bands, son Guy tosses them out the window.

There are so many turns and ins and outs, that sometimes, (not very often) it makes you drunk! (The others get plain ole upset tummies.)

I got to thinking about Carroll Blackwell, who had the route for nine years. Now he tossed out just a few papers! Take about 275 dailies (six days a week)....that's 1650. Add 350 Sundays and you have 2000 papers to roll and throw, every week! Then multiply that times 52 weeks (no days off on a paper route). That makes 104,000 a year.

Now then, if he tossed that many for nine years, he threw about 936,000 papers while he was "paper boy".

I don't know if I'll last nine years or not!

MRS. LARRY SHACKELFORD

Cook Of The Week

Favorite recipes are shared this week by pretty Mrs. Larry Shackelford, teacher at Olton Junior High School.

Martha and Larry grew up and went to school together at nearby Cotton Center. They farmed four years after their marriage and earned degrees from Texas Tech University. Countless miles were logged on the family car, commuting to Tech in pursuit of education. Only the first year were they able to arrange their schedules for just three days per week.

After earning her degree in elementary education with a minor in math, Martha taught one year at Littlefield, commuting from their home near Cotton Center. A few miles were whittled from her weekly toll last year when Martha became math teacher at Olton Junior High. The daily commuting was ended this year when Larry joined the coaching staff and the young Shackelfords moved to Olton.

Martha's and Larry's parents, the Paul E. Robertsons and the Eugene Shackelfords, still live at Cotton Center. Cooking and working in her yard are hobbies to Martha. She also enjoys all sports and is particularly fond of water skiing and fishing - even mastering the task of baiting her own hook.

The Shackelfords are members of the Baptist Church.

SOIL CONSERVATIONISTS -- Johnnie St. Clair and son, Johnny, are shown here checking a minimum tillage plot of corn where cotton had been grown.

Minimum Tillage Benefits Cited By Conservationists

Reduced air pollution, better wildlife habitat--these are some of the environmental benefits of a new practice being used by Texas conservation farmers.

The measure, called minimum tillage, also cuts farming costs by reducing tractor trips required to produce a crop. "With minimum tillage, farmers plant crops without prior land preparation," Bob McQueen, soil conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Littlefield, said. "Using a coultter and other special equipment, they plant directly into a mulch of residues left undisturbed from the previous crop. Herbicides are used to control weeds, so costly and time consuming cultural operations are reduced or eliminated. Stalks, leaves, and stems from the previous crop are left on the surface yearlong with minimum tillage. The protective cover is highly effective in preventing wind erosion and air pollution from blowing dust.

McQueen said the cover is equally effective in preventing water erosion. "Scattered seed and cover left on the soil surface by minimum tillage is also extremely valuable to wildlife," McQueen said. "Pheasants in the Texas Panhandle are almost entirely dependent on crop residues for survival during the winter months. Quail, geese, turkey, dove, songbirds, deer, antelope, rabbits, and other wildlife also benefit from the food and cover."

McQueen said SCS has published a new booklet "Minimum Tillage in Texas" which describes the new farming system in detail. To get a free copy, contact the SCS office at Littlefield, telephone number 385-4044.

John Baumgardner Attends German Cattle Conference

John H. Baumgardner of Halfway and Texas Tech University recently served as the United States Animal Nutrition Consultant at the West German Beef Cattle Conference.

During his visit to Germany, Baumgardner spent some interesting time attending the International Trade Fair in West Berlin. The fair, held annually for ten days, was called "Green Week."

Approximately 60,000 to 80,000 visitors stream daily through the 24 halls containing the exhibits. Each hall is almost as large as Texas Tech Coliseum and is constructed of masonry and glass and arranged in a semi-circle. Visitors are always under cover.

America's exhibit, occupying about half one hall, depicted main street of a mid-western town called "Soy Beef City." The exhibit was sponsored by the American Feed Grains and Soybean Councils.

A nutritionist, Professor Baumgardner found each country's exhibit interesting but especially enjoyed observing foods and related fields.

The "Main Street" exhibit included a country farm store where information was distributed regarding American beef cattle operations and the production and marketing of soybeans.

American dinners were served at a scaled-down model of a Hilton Hotel. Built by the Berlin Hilton, they offered diners a choice of either a 16 ounce broiled steak or 14 ounces of roast prime rib. With the choice of meat was a baked Idaho potato with sour cream, corn on the cob, buttered green beans, tossed salad, apple pie with ice cream and coffee.

Serving all day, the "Hilton" usually had lines of diners waiting for the dinners which cost approximately $6 in American money.

"Main Street" also featured a hamburger snack bar where some 750 hamburgers were prepared each hour. An unending line of customers waited for the 25 cent hamburgers.

Also popular was the corn on the cob booth and a pop corn stand. Four huge poppers were kept busy 24 hours a day to satisfy the demands of the Fair visitors. Baumgardner noted that usually the corn was popped with sugar instead of salt.

Red China's exhibit, next to the U. S. exhibit, was very interesting. Baumgardner said, with its immaculate displays of canned and packaged gourmet foods.

Of particular interest to the West Texan was a tour of a Berlin super market. Located on the seventh floor of a block long department store, the super market featured a meat counter the entire length of one wall.

Different kinds of sausages composed the bulk of meats offered. Baumgardner especially enjoyed a very dark sausage that had bits of cheese and ham showing throughout. Not until the end of his visit did he discover that the sausage was "blood sausage."

Wild game was also displayed. Hares, looking very much like overgrown jackrabbits, were drawn and hung from the ceiling by hind legs. Drawn pheasants, still feathered, were suspended by their necks.

All kinds of fish - smoked, pickled and fresh - were packaged and displayed. Glass tanks, about 4' x 4' x 12", were filled with live fish. Housewives selected a fish and then an attendant would catch the fish with a net, chop the head off and prepare it for cooking while the customer waited.

Conversing with the wife of the West German Secretary of Agriculture, Baumgardner was pleasantly surprised to learn she had done graduate work in home economics at Texas Tech under the guidance of Dr. Mina Lamb and other close associates.

"Maybe this ole world is not so large after all," Baumgardner said. "Three weeks," he added, "is much too short a time to enjoy as much of Germany as one would like!"

WALK WITH GOD---ATTEND CHURCH REGULARLY!

Connie, The Conformist

The last thing Connie intended to be was a conformist. So one day Connie resolved in dead earnest to be a nonconformist. She joined the group. She learned their views, their values, their life-style. Soon the cycle was complete — Connie had embraced the way of the nonconformist . . . had conformed to it.

The adventure of Connie is a reminder that conformity is part of human nature. We all conform to something. And the seemingly sharp differences apparent between certain life-styles merely reflect the contrasts and contradictions between the things to which men conform.

The role of the Church in our society is to provide spiritual and moral values that enrich life. In a world in which all men conform to something, the Church's aim with youth and adults is to give them SOMETHING WORTH CONFORMING TO.

DIANNE SNIDER & MARION RAPE

Hi, everybody! How was everybody's weekend? It had to be better than most because of the dance.

The Southern Assembly Friday were a couple (man and wife) who were acrobats. Even part of the high school boys performed. We couldn't forget Marlos, Bob, Gary and Collin now could we? Anyway it was worth a quarter.

The pop group from choir, "The Shadows" entertained at the Chemical Banquet Thursday night. They were served barbeque dinners after singing. They also performed for the adult Baptist Banquet Monday night. They sang and were served chicken afterwards.

Our boys had a track meet at Brownfield Saturday. Olton placed eighth. Four freshmen boys made varsity and all should be recognized - Freddy Stockdale, Joe Snider, Bryan Allcorn and Ernest Salsadaz. Don't forget our next track meet Saturday at Littlefield.

There has been a change of dress code. Girls are to wear slack suits, no type of jeans and all shirts must be worn in. How did that hit everyone? We didn't like it either.

Comments for this week:

Vic - We like your glasses!
Dale - Date with who last Friday?

Kay - Ready to move into your house trailer?
Judy W. - Who's going to be at the apartment all the time?
Sherree - Slow dancing with who?

Sharon - Kind of made your rounds this weekend didn't ya?
Kim, Letha and Alana - Shame on you!

Johnny S. - Why did you leave the dance?
Christi - Housecoat and hot pants?

Alice - Still in shock from the wreck?
Helen - Who is your new lover?

Bon - Sure you went straight home!
Johnny J. - What about the chicken?

Kurt - What kind of race did you have Friday night?
Mitzi - Who were you with Sunday night?

You loved me for an hour
But only with your eyes
Your lips I could not capture
By storm or by surprise.

You mouth that I remember
With rush of sudden pain
As one remembers star light
Or roses after rain---

Out of a world of laughter
Suddenly I am sad
Day and night it haunts me
The kiss I never had.

That's all for this week.
Keep cool!

SIXTH GRADE STUDENT OF THE MONTH is Jeff Sampler son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Sampler. Jeff is a member of the Student Council, band and choir. He was selected outstanding science student for the sixth grade last semester and is participating in spelling for Interscholastic League.

The Halfway 4-H Club food project group had six meetings. Members of the group are Dawn Valliant, Lea Pannabecker, Dana Stout, Marvin Adrian, Kevin Stout and Mark Smith.

In their first meeting the group met in the O. A. Stout Jr. home. The leader, Mrs. Stout, gave instructions on safety first in the kitchen, stressing many things that could eliminate household accidents.

The group then played a foods game, had a quiz and were introduced to the four food groups, which are milk, meats, bread and cereal, and fruit and vegetables.

In the second food group meeting Dawn Valliant gave a science demonstration on making sour milk. Everyone tasted to see that the milk had really become sour.

Dana Stout did a demonstration on the use of an electric blender. She made an orange drink which with a sunburst cake was used as refreshments.

Cut out cookies for the Austin Heights Elementary School fun time were made at the third meeting. For recreation, the boys and girls unscrambled food words. The boys surprised the girls and leader by their alertness in this activity.

For the next meeting the group toured a super market comparing prices, and learning how foods may be purchased. They looked especially for the foods that have been enriched or had food nutrients added.

The group met again in the Stout home where Dana Stout prepared hot turkey snacks and Dawn Valliant gave a demonstration on cheese bread. The group enjoyed eating these delicacies.

The group studied place settings and discussed questions and answers that the judges might ask at the food show at their final meeting.

The Hale County Food Show was held Saturday, Feb. 9, at the Agricultural Center in Plainview. Kevin Stout and Marvin Adrian of the Halfway 4-H Club entered the bread and cereal group. With his "Saturn Pary Puffs" Kevin Stout won a blue ribbon;entering "Banana Cookies" Dana Stout received a red ribbon. In the meat group Dana Stout demonstrating "a hot chicken salad" received a blue ribbon. In the milk group for her "Cauliflower with cheese sauce", Dawn Valliant was awarded a red ribbon.

The group declared they "had lots of fun and enjoyed the food show."

A monthly meeting of the Halfway 4-H Club was held Feb. 21 at the Halfway Research Foundation. Reports on the food show were given by Marvin Adrian, Dana Stout and Dawn Valliant.

Gerald Adrian discussed the upcoming Stock Shows. Gary Adrian made known the plans for the entomology group meetings.

As a community project the club voted to help with the heart fund drive Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Kevin Stout and Marvin Adrian prepared and served "Saturn Party Puffs" and chips and dips for refreshments.
