Law Expert Hits Prayer Measure

Missing Rattlers Cause Residents To Tread Lightly

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)— Thirteen deadly rattlesnakes were still loose somewhere in this Rio Grande Valley city today, causing residents to step lightly. Police said they were "small ones" just three feet long.

The snakes were all that were left out of a batch of 35 of the poisonous reptiles that escaped from the garage of Roger Miller Wednesday night. The other 22 were either killed or captured.

The rattlers caused no panic among residents near where they escaped, but few children walked to school.

Miller, a mechanic, planned to sell the snakes to a canning firm in Laredo. The firm pays 75 cents a pound for live snakes, which are canned for eating purposes.

GOPs in Oregon Deny Conspiring To Stop Barry

Public Opinion Polls Indicate Lodge Victory; Rocky Strong

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon Republicans voted today in a free - for - all presidential primary contest still echoing with shouts of denial that anyone was conspiring in a stop-Goldwater plot.

On the basis of public opinion polls, the silent, absentee candidate, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, was expected to win the primary despite signs of a last - minute surge by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Others on the GOP ballot in the six - way race were Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Mild and partly cloudy weather was forecast for most of the state for voting running from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., PDT.

Registration Figures

The state has about 853,000 registered voters, including more than 380,000 Republicans. The Republican turnout is expected to be about 270,000.

President Johnson is unopposed in the Democratic presidential primary, and the Democratic ballot offers no major contests.

Experts Probe Into Cause of Missile Explosion

FREDERICK, Okla. (UPI) — Investigators probed through the tangled and still smoldering ruins of an Atlas F inter - continental ballistic missile complex today in an effort to find out why the missile exploded in its heavily-guarded underground silo Thursday.

A team of Air Force investigators arrived at the scene shortly after the explosion, but delayed the start of their investigation until today. Fire ravaged the site for hours after the blast.

No one was injured.

The missile was not armed, and authorities said no nuclear weapons were involved. Damage was estimated at from $7.5 million to $10 million.

Prof Cites Violation Of Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Harvard law Prof. Paul A. Freund, an expert on constitutional law, urged Congress today to resist demands for a school prayer amendment which he said might breach liberties guaranteed in the Bill of Rights.

Freund appeared before the House Judiciary Committee as it ended its fourth week of hearings on 147 proposals to override Supreme Court decisions barring prayer and Bible-reading as required parts of public school programs.

Testimony in favor of a constitutional amendment was expected from the Rev. Daniel Poling, editor of the Christian Herald magazine and a former New York and Philadelphia pastor. His name was added to the previously announced witness list by acting committee Chairman Michael A. Feighan, D - Ohio.

Civil Rights: Democratic and Republican senators review the bipartisan "package" of amendments to the civil rights bill at separate conferences. The package is the result of compromises struck in revisions to the bill proposed by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill. When all the talking is over the package is expected to have the support of most members of both parties.

Medical: The House Ways & Means Committee was reported close to agreement on new legislation to expand medical care under all state - federal welfare programs. The package may even win the support of lawmakers who are holding out for President Johnson's medical insurance program for the aged financed with Social Security taxes. The new legislation appeared to be of the kind that would be acceptable — at least in principle — to the American Medical Association.

Baker: Republicans made it clear they will not let up in efforts to push the Bobby Baker investigation. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said he would use the forum of the Senate if any fresh evidence is uncovered. A resolution by Williams kicked off an angry shouting match Thursday in which Democrats charged Republicans with impugning the integrity of all senators.

FIERY SCENE — Firefighters from three area towns assisted in putting out a fire in Skellytown last night after the explosion of several barrels of stored gasoline in a shed behind the assistant fire chief's home. Two were hospitalized with burns from the fire.

Guardsmen Again Use Gas on Rioters

By United Press International

National Guardsmen had to resort to tear gas for the second time in four days Thursday night to break up a crowd of rock - throwing Negroes at Cambridge, Md.

There were no apparent injuries during the incident which began when 100 Negroes attempted to march on the white section of the racially tense fishing town, under limited martial law. Soldiers barred the Negroes and about 75 obeyed orders to disperse.

But 25 of the Negroes started throwing rocks and the soldiers donned gas masks and fired tear gas from a converted flamethrower. The Negroes ran.

Guardsmen had fired tear gas Monday night to quell a brick - throwing melee that hospitalized two demonstrators and slightly injured five guardsmen. Negroes charged that the gas killed a two-month-old Negro baby but an autopsy reported Thursday said the infant died from a congenital heart disease.

Three persons were arrested in New York City Thursday during picketing of a plumbers union accused of racial discrimination. White plumbers walked off a job two weeks ago when a Negro and three Puerto Rican plumbers, not members of the union, reported for work.

Also in New York City Thursday, a federal study group said that Negro doctors in the nation's largest city were being discriminated against by hospitals which refuse them staff appointments that carry admitting privileges.

Rocky Has Secret Talk With Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller received a secret, top-level briefing today from the Johnson administration but stood firm afterward on his criticism of U.S. foreign policy, particularly in South Viet Nam.

Rockefeller attended a lengthy conference at the State Department, then headed for the White House to see President Johnson.

The governor said he still stood "100 per cent" behind his earlier criticism of administration handling of American involvement in Viet Nam.

Rockefeller became the first Republican presidential hopeful to accept Johnson's invitation for secret security briefing on international and domestic affairs.

Hoffa Trial Ends Third Stormy Week

CHICAGO (UPI) — The $25 million-fraud trial of Teamster President James Hoffa winds up its third week today on the heels of government charges that one of its own witnesses changed his testimony after a hotel-lobby huddle with a defendant.

U.S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin Thursday refused to allow the government to introduce earlier testimony of James DioGuardi, a Florida contractor.

Prosecutor Charles Smith said Dio Guardi told him before Thursday's session he wished to "refresh his memory" after a Tuesday night hotel lobby conference with New York attorney Herbert Burris, one of Hoffa's seven co-defendants.

On the stand, DioGuardi testified he was employed by a New Jersey industrial firm to secure a $300,000 loan. He said he went to Hoffa, who referred him to Herbert Burris and Burris' father, New York accountant S. George Burris, who also is a defendant in the case.

DioGuardi said when the loan was eventually obtained he was given a 5 per cent commission for arranging it. Herbert Burris then said he would have to split the commission with him, and he did so, DioGuardi said.

DioGuardi did not say where the loan came from.

At this point Smith accused DioGuardi of "fabrications." He said the Florida contractor had become vague and feigned lack of knowledge about meetings with Herbert Burris on which he had testified in detail earlier.

Smith said DioGuardi's testimony Thursday contradicted sworn statements he had given the government earlier and also was not the same as his testimony made previously before a federal grand jury.

Austin ruled that the government had no proof DioGuardi was not telling the truth and denied a prosecution attempt to introduce DioGuardi's previous statements and testimony.

Blast, Fire In Skellytown Injure Two

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — An explosion and fire Thursday night in the back yard of Skellytown's assistant fire chief seriously burned the assistant chief's son and a few minutes later resulted in injuries to the Skellytown fire chief.

Wesley Russell, president of the Volunteer Fire Department, said the blast probably was touched off by static electricity in a shed behind the home of Asst. Chief Floyd Lewis Jr. Lewis' son, Dennis, 16, was in the back yard when the explosion occurred and received burns of the face and arms.

Skellytown's Fire Chief, Kenneth Fanning, 37, was among volunteer firemen rushing to the scene and was injured moments later when a second explosion occurred. Some six other barrels were rolled to safety by volunteer firemen of Skellytown, assisted by firemen of units sent from White Deer and Pampa. The flaming gas was fanned by winds and spread over a 50-foot square area, Russell said. Several resulting minor blazes were brought under control by firefighters.

Young Lewis and Fanning were admitted to Highland General Hospital in Pampa with first and second degree burns. Lewis was reported in good condition today with burns on the face and arms and Fanning also was in good condition with burns on the face, neck, arms and hands.

Nazi Torture Described in Crimes Trial

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—A sobbing former inmate today testified wartime Gestapo torture at the Nazis' Auschwitz death camp included starvation, forced feeding and eating shoes.

Josef Kral, a 54-year-old Polish engineer, wept when he told of his torture to a war crimes court trying 22 men for killing millions at Auschwitz.

"Every day I saw people suffer. Some starved to death. My friend Kurt Pachala died on my birthday but before he died, he ate his shoes. He ate them all, just leaving the rubber soles," Kral said.

The witness pointed a finger at defendant Wilhelm Boger, 56, the alleged Gestapo master of Auschwitz.

"Boger was laughing and led me into his office . . . to a plate of very salty herring and told me I was a pig and to eat," Kral said.

"I ate half of the plate. Boger hit me. I threw up. He hit me again. I had to go on eating that awful herring, and I ate it all.

"Boger led me to another room and hanged me by my handcuffs from the ceiling. He put a bucket of water under me and asked me if I was thirsty. He and the other Gestapo men laughed and laughed," Kral said.

"Then Boger swung me from time to time, to make sure I felt the pain again and again. It went on for 50 minutes."

Kral said he was then taken down.

UF Participants Approve New Plan

Participating agencies of the Pampa - Lefors United Fund campaign stamped their approval on a plan calling for the complete revision of the 1964 campaign drive.

Otis Fuller, a representative of the Boy Scouts of America, explained the plan to a meeting of the agencies yesterday in city hall.

The system calls for the immediate recruiting and training of volunteer workers and the close co-operation of the agencies to promote the campaign during the summer months. When the final month of the drive begins in October the public will be genuinely interested in it. Moreover the workers will know exactly what is required of them and how best to serve the fund drive.

Part of the new system was put into effect earlier this week when Norman Henry was selected as general drive chairman and Mack Hiatt was appointed to the newly created vice chairman's position.

Upon completion of the 1964 drive, Henry will step down from the general chairman's position and be replaced by Hiatt. A new vice chairman will then be selected.

A meeting of the campaign directors has been called for 7:30 p.m. Monday in city hall to take further steps toward full initiation of the system.

George Bush Due in City On Monday

George Bush, Republican candidate for United States senator from Texas at the June 6 run-off election, will be in Pampa Monday.

Bush, who is seeking the opportunity to oppose Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the November general election, will arrive in Pampa Sunday night.

Warren Fatheree, Bush's regional campaign manager, said the candidate will appear at an informal breakfast from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

The breakfast will be a come and go buffet style meal and will be open to the public, Fatheree stated.

"Persons may come any time between 8 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. and be served," Fatheree said, "and Mr. Bush will be on hand to answer any questions pertaining to his stand on various issues in the campaign."

Following his appearance in Pampa, Bush will also visit Perryton, Miami, Spearman, Gruver and Borger on Monday.

On Tuesday he is scheduled to appear at a breakfast in Amarillo, a luncheon in Panhandle and return to Amarillo for a barbecue dinner there Tuesday night.

CLEAN UP DRIVE INFORMATION

Residents of Ward 3 were advised today that clean up crews will be working there through Monday and Tuesday of next week.

On Wednesday of next week they will move into Ward 4 for four days.

The final phase of the campaign calls for one-day reruns in each Ward. That schedule is as follows: Ward 1, May 26; Ward 2, May 27; Ward 3, May 28, and Ward 4, May 29.

Plans Given to Cut Surplus Of U.S. Beef

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A special presidential study team told President Johnson today there is a "potential" for easing the U.S. meat surplus by sales of American beef to Western Europe.

No precise estimate of the amount of American beef which might be sold to Europe was available. But the team told the President there was a potential for some sales.

The team, headed by Amarillo, Tex., cattleman Jay Taylor, returned from a 10 - day European tour Thursday night.

Johnson dispatched the survey team as part of a broader effort to strengthen the U. S. cattle market without passage of a stiff new beef import control law which had been urged by many cattlemen.

Cattle prices have been low for the past year and the situation has become a major economic problem for the administration. Republicans have been predicting that farmer resentment against low prices would weaken Democrats in this fall's campaigns.

The export team reported it found Europe generally short of beef with prices high and consumer pressure rising for more abundant supplies at reasonable prices. European importers and many government officials were reported strongly interested in purchasing meat from this country.

Oil Allowable Cut for Month

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission today cut the June oil allowable in the state by 28,644 barrels daily, pegging the allowable at 28 per cent of potential.

The cut represents one -half of one per cent, and left the June allowable at 2,872,208 barrels daily. After allowing for normal under - production, the commission estimated this could result in actual production of 2,526,054 barrels daily in Texas during June.

Eight of the 13 firms making purchase nominations asked for a proration factor of 26 or 27 per cent—below the established allowable. Three companies wanted it set at 28 per cent and two at 29 per cent.

Developer of Birth Control Pills Blasted in Prelate's Talk

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—A Roman Catholic developer of birth control pills today was blasted as "a moral rapist" by Msgr. Francis W. Carney, director of the Family Life Bureau of the Cleveland Catholic diocese.

Dr. John Rock of Brookline, Mass., in a speech here Wednesday said suggestions that a new pill acceptable to the Catholic Church would soon be ready for general use were overly optimistic.

In his book, "The Time Has Come," he argues the church should accept the contraceptive pill.

Msgr. Carney called Rock "a moral rapist, using his strength as a man of science to assault the faith of his fellow Catholics."

"It must be made clear to our Catholic people," Carney said, "that family planning and contraceptive control are not synonymous."

Carney also attacked the statement of Rock that Catholics should follow their own conscience on the question of birth control.

"Not every man can rely on the judgment of his own conscience," Carney said. Just as we need an interpretation for civil law, we need an interpretation for the moral law of the church.

"The Church sees herself as a guardian of moral truth with the understanding that all men do not have equal capacity for determining it for themselves," he added.

He said the Catholic Church was not, as Rock said, tending to lean toward acceptance of the use of oral contraceptives. He said a statement in 1958 by Pope Piues XII that "Medication . . . to prevent conception by impeding ovulation (is) dealing with direct sterilization" made the Church's position clear.

Gray Officers Seek Thieves

Gray County sheriff's officers are searching for the occupants of a late model auto believed containing the shoplifters who made off with two $100 men's suits from Dunlaps Department store in the Coronado Center yesterday.

Assistant manager of the store, Don Smith, told officers he saw two women looking over the suits and suspected them as shoplifters. He said he went for help and upon returning, caught a glimpse of the women leaving through a side door. Missing were the two suits.

Smith was able to get a description of the car and the license number.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the auto was from another city and efforts are being made to locate the owner.

Hope Remains For Showers

Pampa, along with most other Panhandle areas, still held hope today that some of the predicted "widely scattered thundershowers" would scatter locally.

It looked good for some moisture late Thursday afternoon, but the black, rain-laden clouds moved around Pampa to the southeast and disappeared by nightfall.

Today's forecast called for thundershowers tonight and tomorrow and it will continue warm with Saturday's high set for the lower or mid-90s.

Other sections of Texas were more fortunate than Pampa in the rainfall category. The South Plains area was peppered by thundershowers yesterday. Two inches of rain fell near Brownfield.

The five-day forecast calls for warm weather, about ten degrees above normal, but only light precipitatio6n is expected.

Ambitious Producer Plans Frisco Studio

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Bruce Campbell, a young movie and television producer who hopes to make San Francisco into another Hollywood, came to town recently hoping to borrow Marlon Brando.

That was neighborly of him. It sure beats neighbors borrowing a cup of sugar.

Campbell, a 32-year - old producer who learned his trade filming travel-adventure shows here, is president of International Producers Associated Inc. (IPA).

He and his associates are converting an old San Francisco warehouse into a movie studio. Besides filming commercials for television, IPA plans to produce television series and feature movies.

The firm's plans are ambitious as evidenced by the fact that Campbell intends to have Brando narrate a documentary on India. The young producer is confident that Marlon will do the show.

Zany Character

From the serious - minded Brando, Campbell and his associates will focus their cameras on Doodles Weaver, a zany character who will star in a television series for youngsters, a show in which each segment is only five minutes long.

Doodles will perform such tricks as riding a soap box-style coaster downhill, which could easily take five minutes in San Francisco, a town noted for its urban mountains.

While other producers are content to hang around the fringes of Hollywood — in such communities as Culver City, Westwood, Studio City and Burbank — Campbell pulled up stakes and went almost 500 miles north.

To such questions as "why San Francisco," he answers "why not San Francisco," which is a good way to terminate a burgeoning discussion.

"Because the lure of the location is so great for anybody in the entertainment business I felt I could put together an industry up there," he said.

Out Of Reach

Translated into everyday English that means, "San Francisco has a lot of nice bars, restaurants and fresh fish. Actors are happy to go there—out of reach of their wives and-or girl friends."

There are practical, economic reasons also," said Campbell.

"Last year in the television commercial business, companies spent 115 days filming in and around northern California," he said. "And Metro Goldwyn Mayer people said they would have shot the 'Sam Benedict' series in San Francisco if there had been facilities and competent people there."

Does Campbell expect trouble from the major Hollywood studioes, giant corporations who look askance at anybody with a camera and script in his hands?

"I hope there is never any animosity," said Campbell who should have substituted the word "pray" for "hope."

If the young producer's dream of successfully producing movies in San Francisco come true, he might some day film a western which features the longest chase in history — a horseback ride which starts in S. F., goes through Fresno, Bakersfield and Pasadena, and ends on the back lot of MGM's Culver City plant.

U.S. Denies Role In Cuban Exile Hit-Run Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department issued a sweeping denial that the United States was involved in any way in a hit-and-run Cuban exile attack on the southern coast of Oriente Province Wednesday.

Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said he was authorized to "categorically deny" that any U.S. agency, including the Central Intelligence Agency, was involved or supported in any way in the raid. The attack was by a party led by refugee leader Manuel Artime on a sugar mill at Pilon.

The Castro government claimed the raid was made with a launch owned by the CIA.

Officials here indicated extreme displeasure of the fact that Artime's organization, the Revolutionary Recovery Movement (MRR), had issued its so-called "communique" about the attack from Miami. They acknowledged this was embarrassing to the United States and indicated that something might be done to prevent a recurrence.

McCloskey said that the "guts" of basic American policy on hit-and-run raids against Castro was contained in a joint statement by the State and Justice departments March 30, 1963. That statement declared that "these attacks are neither supported nor condoned by this (U.S.) government."

ROAD SUGGESTION

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bureau of Public Roads, seeking to cut down on auto accidents, is urging the states to eliminate hairpin turns before constructing more miles of highway.

Money for the projects would come from the $1 billion federal road program under which states must match each federal dollar spent.

Walker to Use School Despite Ban by Board

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)— Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, the indirect enforcer of integration at Central High School in 1957, will speak on the steps of the school despite a school board ban, a spokesman said Wednesday.

The spokesman was Amis Guthridge, president of the Capital Citizens Council which is sponsoring Walker's talk.

"I know it is Gen. Walker's personal intention to hold his press conference on the front steps of Central High School," Guthridge said. "Our plans have not changed."

A spokesman for Walker at his home in Dallas said the general was "out of town." The spokesman said he did not know where Walker could be reached.

Walker commanded troops that were used to enforce integration at Central, in 1957. It was the first major use of federal troops to bring about court-ordered school integration.

Since then, Walker has said he was "on the wrong side of the dispute."

When plans were first announced for the talk, a news conference in connection with the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing school desegregation, the school board said it could not permit school property to be used.

McLean Names Superintendent

MCLEAN (Spl) — Lee Welch, superintendent of schools in McLean for the past four years, resigned this week to accept the same position at Kress.

Jack Riley, grade school principal since 1959, was immediately hired by the McLean board of education to succeed Welch.

The change is effective on July 1.

Welch came to McLean from Booker in 1960, where he also served as superintendent for four years.

He is a graduate of West Texas State University, Canyon, and holds a master's degree in administrative education.

He and his wife and two children will move to Kress early in July.

Riley has been employed in the McLean school system for eight years.

He is a graduate of the College of the Ozarks in Clarksville, Ark.

Soviet Returns Asylum Seeker

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI)—The Communists have sent back an American sergeant seeking asylum in East Germany, the U.S. Army announced Thursday.

European headquarters here announced medical specialist Conrad Yumang, 43, was returned at the West German border by East German officials Tuesday night.

The Philippines-born, naturalized American defected to East Germany last fall and is the second American serviceman sent back west by the Communists this month.

On May 7 Soviet army officers turned back to U.S. Army officers Capt. Alfred Svenson, of Scranton, Pa., who had skipped across the border to East Germany in May 1963.

Army spokesmen said Yumang, whose wife and four children live at Leavenworth, Kans., is being held now in West Germany. He is undergoing "examination and investigation," the Army said.

Yumang was reported absent without official leave (AWOL) Sept. 30 from the Army's 5th General Hospital at Stuttgart. The Army said East German officials handed him to West German border guards at 11:15 p.m. Tuesday near Hof, a town on the East-West German border.

Burglary Nets Thieves $208

Pampa Police were busy this morning investigating an early morning burglary which netted the thief $208.79 in cash.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the incident was reported shortly after 7 a.m. by John Wall, owner of the Burger Chef Drive Inn located at 2131 Perryton Parkway.

Wall told police the thief entered the building sometime between the hours of 11 p.m. last night and 7 a.m. this morning. Entry was gained by prying open a door on the east side of the building.

Missing was $169.70 from a money sack and $42 from a desk drawer. However, the thief overlooked $13 in cash, lying beneath the $42 in the bottom of the drawer.

Downtown Group Notes Progress

The newly formed Downtown Merchants Association seemed well pleased this morning with results of the first week of their membership campaign.

Eight members were present at a check-in meeting held this morning in the Pampa Hotel.

Members reported that each downtown business contacted was behind the association 100 per cent and was eager to join and support it.

It was reported that close to $2,000 has been raised so far by membership dues.

national convention delegates if not public opinion polls, seemed to have written off Oregon, which will send only 18 delegates to the convention. He obviously was more interested in the June 2 primary in California, where his only opponent will be Rockefeller, in a contest for 86 delegates.

In both Oregon and California, the delegates are bound by the results of the presidential primaries.

On the eve of the Oregon vote, Rockefeller and spokesmen for the draft - Lodge organization were busy denying that they were forming a coalition to stop Goldwater.

Ike Reaffirms Neutrality

And at Harrisburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower reaffirmed his neutrality in the battle for the GOP presidential nomination and said it would be silly for him to try to stop anyone.

Rockefeller, the only contender in the state this week, held a farewell news conference at which he scoffed at a suggestion that signs of increased support for him resulted from efforts to cut down Goldwater. The conservative Arizona senator had not visited Oregon in the previous five weeks.

He asserted with emphasis that he would "make no deals" to enlist supporters of other candidates in a stop - Goldwater movement in California, where Rockefeller is the underdog.

Many Republicans are convinced that a Goldwater victory in California would put him within striking distance of a presidential nomination.

GULPS DOWN GOODY

LONDON (UPI) — British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler smiled weakly, looked around helplessly and finally just swallowed the offending goody with a gulp.

Hollywood OKs School Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Hollywood contingent Thursday endorsed legislation to allow prayer in the public schools and defended the morals and marriage record of the movie colony.

"It's an unfortunate thing that people in my profession aren't newsworthy if they have not been arrested," actor Victor Jory told the House Judiciary Committee.

Jory was accompanied by actresses Susan Seaforth and Coleen Gray who testified in favor of legislation to amend the Constitution to permit school prayers.

Jory opened his testimony before the House Judiciary Committee by attacking a column by Drew Pearson which he said described the movie stars as being known more for their marital infidelity than religious practices.

Jory said he had been married for 36 years, and that there were many "stable persons in my profession and I'm proud of it."

He said he resented being portrayed as a member of "the lunatic fringe or extreme right."

Dear Abby....

One Good Scare Is Worth Thirty Sundays in Church

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A letter came for my husband. The few words I could see through the envelope raised my suspicions, so when he came home I made him open it in front of me and read it out loud. Abby, I almost died! It was a love letter from a married woman my husband had been carrying on with out of town. He travels. She told him how much she missed him and loved him. It was disgusting! She mentioned her two children. I locked my husband in the basement and called her up long distance. I told her what I thought of her and the whole cheap affair. I also told her I was going to call her husband and tell him about it. She cried and begged, saying if I did, they would take her children away from her. Now I am uncertain. Do you think this little tramp deserves a second chance?

PLENTY MAD

DEAR PLENTY: Everybody deserves a second chance. One good scare is sometimes worth a month of Sundays in church.

DEAR ABBY: I am fed up hearing people say that all the money I spent on my college education was "wasted" because ALL I did was get married. I earned a B.A. degree, and then my Master's, and I have a teaching certificate. Please say something in your column about the importance of education to women.

EDUCATED AND GLAD OF IT

DEAR EDUCATED: A college education is the best insurance a woman can have in case something should happen to her husband. Should he become unable to work, his wife will be faced with the task of supporting the family. She will do much better for having had a college education. And what do people mean, "all" you did was get married? Marriage is the greatest challenge of all.

DEAR ABBY: When I have company and I get a telephone call from a friend who wants to pass the time away just chatting, I always tell them I have company, and I'll ring them back as soon as I'm free. Well, I was visiting at the home of this friend (by invitation) and her telephone rang. I heard her say, "Oh, nothing What are YOU doing?" Then she carried on a conservation with this other party about absolutely nothing while I sat there staring into space for exactly 35 minutes by my watch. I think this was extremely rude. What would you have done in a case like that?

TIME WASTED

DEAR TIME: After 15 minutes of "staring" I would have signaled my hostess a fond farewell and that would have been the last she'd have seen of this guest.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl with a problem. When I ask my mother if I can go to the movies with three or four girls, she says yes. Then after all the plans are made and I am getting ready to go, my mother thinks up some reason why I can't go. Like she doesn't like what I'm wearing, or the way I talk to my friends, or she will think of something I did a while ago and decide to punish me now by not letting me go. Then I have to call my friends and tell them I can't go. I wouldn't mind so much if my mother told me I couldn't go in the first place. Do you think this is fair to me and my friends?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: No! Parents should realize that their children learn more from example than preaching. Your mother could do a better job of teaching you how to keep your word by keeping hers. And delayed punishments are unjust.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Lysergic acid dimethylamide (LSD) is a dangerous drug which may cause temporary or permanent brain damage. Like many other dangerous drugs it may have beneficial effects when properly used.

In the treatment of certain persons with mental disease some good results have been reported. It is unfortunately of little help in treating schizophrenia (split personality disease), the commonest of all mental illnesses. But in some alcoholics, some depressed persons with suicidal tendencies and some persons with severe neuroses of long standing, the results have been promising.

In another study, a group of 300 patients with far advanced cancer, who were suffering from extreme pain, were given this drug. The effects were startling.

After they had been given a dose of a morphine derivative and the relief had worn off in two or three hours they took a small dose of LSD. Some of these patients did not complain of pain for two weeks. The strange thing was, however, that when they were asked whether they had pain during that time, they admitted that they did but that it did not matter. They were preoccupied with other sensations that they believed to be more important than pain.

Another result that puzzled the doctors was that when the pain returned most of the victims were not interested in taking the drug again. Some gave as a reason that the drug made them think so much they couldn't get their rest. The doctors are now hoping to find a drug that is closely related to LSD that will relieve pain but will be more welcome by the sufferer.

FBI to Give Report On Yarborough Case

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A full report from the Justice Department on its investigation into charges Sen. Ralph Yarborough D-Tex., took $50,000 from Billie Sol Estes will be made public before the general elections in November.

That was the promise from Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert J. Miller, who is in charge of the department's criminal division. He said the investigation is continuing.

Miller said that of two men who swore they had seen Yarborough take the money, one has since admitted he was lying and the other sticks to his story but has refused to sign a statement for the FBI.

The charge was first made by the Dallas Morning News, and was taken up by Yarborough's opponent in the Democratic primary, Dallas broadcasting executive Gordon McLendon.

Yarborough vehemently denied the charge. He beat McLendon and won renomination.

The week before the election, McLendon produced two men on a television show, Ernest Keaton and James Fonville, who said they saw Estes give the money to Yarborough at a barbecue at the Estes home in Pecos, Tex.

Estes is currently free while his lawyers appeal state and federal swindling and fraud convictions growing out of the collapse of his West Texas financial empire.

Miller said Keaton later told the FBI he was not even at the barbecue party, but was in Mexico at the time. Yarborough used the FBI report in an election-eve speech.

Fonville still says he saw the money change hands, Miller said, but turned down the FBI's request that he sign a statement to that effect.

At the same time, Rice explained that memberships are available to all law enforcement officers of the state and that recent added insurance benefits for members make association membership more desirable now than ever.

Church To Celebrate 1,934th Birthday Sunday

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Sunday is the 1,934th birthday of the Christian church.

It commemorates an event which took place in the city of Jerusalem in the spring of the year A. D. 30.

The New Testament records the precise date. It was a Jewish holiday called Pentecost. One week had gone by since Christ ceased His post-Resurrection appearances among His disciples. In accordance with His instructions, the disciples were gathered together in a house in Jerusalem, waiting.

Suddenly, they felt among them a Presence which seemed to take possession of their hearts and minds, filling them with a strange sense of joy, a consciousness of power, and a boldness which they had never known before. They went out and began to proclaim the Gospel of Christ to the people of the city with such fervor and conviction that the infant church won 3,000 converts by nightfall.

The transforming Presence which the disciples experienced on Pentecost is known to Christians as the Holy Spirit.

The Bible has a great deal to say about the Holy Spirit. It speaks of Him as God - in - action, dwelling within men, working within history. We encounter Him often in the Old Testament, guiding the leaders of Israel and speaking through the prophets. The New Testament asserts that He was supremely and uniquely present in Jesus Christ.

When the time came for Jesus to terminate His relatively brief stay among men, He assured His disciples that "I will not leave you comfortless." In His stead, He promised, they would have the Holy Spirit to guide them into all truth, and to strengthen them against all trials.

During the early years of the church's history, the Holy Spirit made His presence felt in the Christian community in very vivid ways.

The Book of Acts speaks of the apostles being "empowered" by the Holy Spirit to heal the sick, to speak in foreign languages hitherto unknown to them, and to perform other miraculous works.

St. Paul in his letters to young churches refers to these and other "manifestations of the Spirit" as though they were commonplace occurrences with which all Christians were quite familiar.

But the great apostle did not attach primary importance to the signs and wonders which sometimes accompanied the experience of being "filled with the Spirit."

The really important "fruits of the Spirit," he said, are "love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control."

It is a cardinal tenet of Christian belief that the Holy Spirit is still at work in the world, and particularly within the community of faith which is called the church.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Ordinarily, the scientist is pictured as an individual working with test tubes, Bunsen burners, microscopes, or other similar laboratory equipment. This image plus the vast amount of information connected with science sometimes creates fear of incompetence in many teachers and parents.

Let's look at what science really is. It does include the usual laboratory approach, but it includes much more. According to the dictionary, science is a body of knowledge accumulated and systemetized with reference to the discovery of general truths and laws. This means that any collection of information which can be organized to reveal facts which hold true on all occasions is rightfully in the field of science.

From this we can conclude that no one individual could master all the information in the broad area covered by science. Even the professional must become a specialist. This is obvious in engineering and medicine where the specialist often concentrates on a narrow portion of the total field.

It often appears that a parent or teacher would find it impossible to have the necessary background to assist or teach a child science. Actually, this is not so. The methods of teaching science, especially in the elementary school, can be mastered by most adults. The technique begins with learning to say, "I do not know the answer, but you might find it in---."

What are some of the aims of a good science program? A student should learn to appreciate the value of science to our society.

He should develop and expand his curiosity. He should learn the methodology and techniques of science.

The scientific approach to solving a problem includes the following steps: identifying the problem: guessing at possible answers; developing a procedure for obtaining the answer; experimenting; interpreting results; drawing conclusions. In addition, a student should learn critical and creative thinking, accuracy, respect for the opinions of others, and recognition that we are always solving previously unsolved problems.

The learning of factual information does have its place in the program. The aims of a science program are achieved by teaching students to solve problems which are of immediate interest. Thus, second graders often study the animal kingdom, third graders might study weather, and fifth graders might study astronomy or geology. Regardless of the area of study, the approach is the important factor.

The teaching of science is actually the teaching of a way of thinking. A creative parent or teacher can develop a game or lesson from simple objects around the home or school. For example, place a small object inside a box and close it. Ask the student or students to describe the object after shaking the box but not looking inside. A student will learn a great deal from this simple kind of approach.

Science covers a vast field of knowledge. No one individual can accumulate all the facts but he can master the methods and skills for finding answers and solving problems. This is valuable regardless of the career which a student may choose.

All awaiting candidates are asked to meet the Pastor in his study at 4:45 p.m. The Pastor will speak on "When Duty and Desire Conflict" with the text taken from Mark 5:19. The Chapel Choir will sing "O Be Joyful" by Angell. "The Name of Jesus" by Landon is the selection Miss Lane will play for the organ offertory.

Morality is Topic For Bible Lesson

Mortality is a dream from which we need to be awakened. This is the theme of the Bible Lesson to be heard at Christian Science churches on Sunday. The subject will be "Mortals and Immortals," and the Golden Text is from Ephesians (5:14): "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this: "Mortal existence is a dream; mortal existence has no real entity, but saith 'It is I.' Spirit is the Ego which never dreams, but understands all things; which never errs, and is ever conscious; which never believes, but knows; which is never born and never dies" (p. 250).

PROGRESSIVE BAPTIST CHURCH

Text: Bring ye all the tithes into in the storehouse, Mat. 3:10.

Sub: Who Should Pay Tithes And Why

Bring ye. The word YE is plural; speaking to all Israel, all righteous. All Israel were commanded to bring in the tithes of there income. The Christians, who could be termed as spiritual Israel, should bring in all their tithes. All Christians bring in all tithes.

1. Who paid Tithes before the law? Tithings is not a subject belonging wholly to the law as given — through Moses. It was practiced — before by the best and most outstanding people living.

1. Abraham was first on record to pay tithes. And Melchizedek kink of Salem brought forth bread and wine; and he was the priest of the most high God. And he blessed His and said, Blessed be Abraham of the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth: And blessed be the most high God which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave Him tithes of all, Gen. 14:18-20. Abraham, on his return from the slaughter of the kings, paid to the priest of the most high God tithes. His tithes.

2. An outstanding leader and example paid tithes. The father of the faithful. The father of a nation. Perfect example in faith. A man who walked and talked with God. A man who God — considered no other greater. For when God made promise to Abraham, because He could swear by no greater, He swate by himself, Heb.: 6-13. Abraham was a tithe payer before the law.

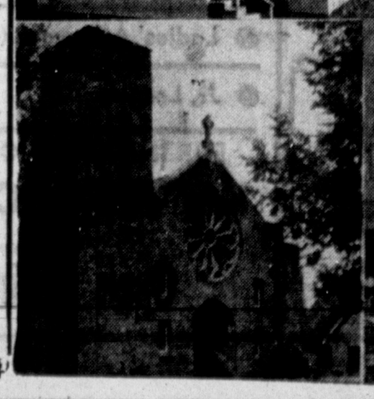

3. Jacob, Grandson of Abraham, paid tithes. And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on, so that I come again to my father's house in peace; then shall the Lord be my God. And this stone, which I have set for a pillar shall be God's house: and of all that thou shalt give me I will surely give the tenth unto thee. Gen. 28:20-22. Jacob, outstanding and best known man who lived in his generation, son and grandson of the most outstanding and righteous men who lived in their day, father of Joseph who saved Egypt and other nations from starvation. This man was a tith-payer before the law.

II. Who paid tithes under the law? On Mount Sinai, God gave to the people a law to be obeyed and practiced by all Israel. This law included bringing in of the tithes. Deut. 12:6.

1. Tithings was compulsory under the law. It was not left to the individual to do as he believed about the matter. It was a commandment from God to bring all the tithes into the storehouse.

It is cheaper to live for the Lord and pay your tithes, than to live in sin and enjoy its pleasures. The pleasures of sin are expensive in dollars and cents saying nothing of the final cost (your soul). Christians who refuse to tithe place little valuation upon their experience and the final promises of God to the righeous.

God said, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse. "May I ask just here, Have you brought your tithes?

Pampa Hammers Tascosa Rebels

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Rightfielder Ricky Goodwin made a leaping catch of a line drive for the third out in the last of the seventh to kill a Tascosa rally and pull out a 9-6 slugfest victory for the Pampa Harvesters.

The win assures the Harvesters of at least a .500 season as it gives them a 7-6 district mark, pulling them ahead of the Rebels into third place, with their last game this Saturday at Plainview.

Jim Arthur staggered to the victory, going all the way despite 13 hits off him as he struck out 10 batters while walking two. Lefty Johnny Bowman went all the way in defeat, striking out six and walking three. Bowman allowed only nine hits, but the Harvesters bunched three of them, plus a walk, hit batter and an error, to bat around in the seventh inning for six runs and the victory. Ricky Maynard regained his batting eye with two doubles and a single, batting in two runs in the key sixth. Rick Stewart and Shotgun Gregory followed with two hits each and Kyle Vann hit a two-run go-ahead single in the sixth.

Pampa hit Bowman in every inning, picking up a tally in the first as Stewart singled to right, stole second and came home on Gregory's hit to right. Two Reb errors and Stewart's single gave the Big Green a 3-0 lead in the third.

Arthur got out of a bases-loaded jam in the first and then kept the Rebels quiet until the fourth, when they tied the game. John Bunker led off with a double, followed by three straight singles, one a bunt. Jimbo got the second out but Bruce Magnus slashed his third hit down the third base marker to score the tying run.

Tascosa got the go-ahead run in the bottom of the sixth on a walk, sacrifice and Baker's RBI single and the Harvesters came up for their last try.

Ricky Goodwin opened with a single up the middle. Middleton hit a grounder and the second baseman dropped the force throw. Gene Madrid was hit on the foot and the Bandit filled the bases. Vann then sent in the tying and lead runs with a single past short and was out on Stewart's fielder's choice while El Bandido scored. Gregory walked, was wiped out on Molberg's grounder, but Stewart and Molberg got away with a double steal, Stewart scoring, when Steve lured a throw from the catcher to first base. Arthur walked and Maynard then cleared the sacks with a double into deep right field.

Stubborn Tascosa refused to play dead however, Bunker homering over the right field fence, Joe Saunders singling, and with two out, David Kuyker doubling. Joe Dempsey followed with a single and Magnus, who had three straight hits, lashed a liner to right. Goodwin got on his bicycle and gloved the ball on the dead run for the win.

Fannon held off a last-inning rally by Cree for a 5-4 victory and Ideal outslugged Bank, 13-7, in last night's Babe Ruth baseball.

Jim Lang went the route for Fannon, scattering seven hits, walking four and striking out six. Johnny Carlos' own wildness cost him the game as he gave up only six hits and struck out 14, but walked seven. Andy Cole cinched the game for Fannon with a fifth-inning triple.

Trailing 7-1, Ideal came back with five-run innings in the fifth and sixth for the win, led by Johnny Marsh with three hits. Five pitchers worked the game, with Keyser getting credit for the win.

Minnesota Murders AL's Best Pitchers

By United Press International

There is no capital punishment in Minnesota but the Twins still keep murdering a different pitcher every day.

The marauding Minnesotans are doing such a thorough job of it that only one rival pitcher has managed to last against them so far this month and only three have gone the entire distance this season.

Gary Peters, the American League's rookie of the year last season, was the Twins' latest victim Thursday when they teed off for six home runs in a 15-7 slaughter of the Chicago White Sox.

The six homers, including a pair by Harmon Killebrew, brought the Twins' total to 51 for the season and made them a virtual cinch to break the major league record of 240 set by the Yankees in 1961.

Peters hardly had a chance to accustom himself to the mound in Minnesota Thursday when Killebrew rocketed a three-run homer off him in the first inning.

Zoilo Versalles socked a solo homer in the third inning and Don Mincher connected with two on in the same frame.

Work Fisher Over

Peters, now 3-2, departed after three innings and the Twins then worked over Eddie Fisher for five runs in the fourth. Richie Rollins, who drove in five runs during the "contest," homered with two on off Fisher and Bob Allison belted his ninth homer with one on.

As a parting shot, Killebrew, back in the lineup after four days on the bench, drilled his sixth homer of the year off Don Mossiin the eighth.

Despite a 12-5 lead, starter Gerry Arrigo couldn't negotiate the required five innings and gave way in the fifth to Bill Pleis, who brought his record to 3-1 even though he was touched for a two-run homer in the ninth and also was relieved by Jim Roland.

The Washington Senators beat the Baltimore Orioles, 4-1, and the Detroit Tigers downed the New York Yankees, 7-3, in the only other AL games.

Settles Game Early

Don Zimmer's grand slam off Robin Roberts in the second inning settled matters early between the Senators and Orioles. Buster Narum, an Oriole discard, held his former teammates to four hits for his third victory in four decisions.

The Tigers rallied for five runs after two were out in the seventh to beat the Yankees. Loser Jim Bouton (3-2) walked two men with two out in the seventh and gave up a single to Don Wert that tied the score at 3-all. After a walk by reliever Pete Mikkelsen filled the bases, Steve Hamilton took over, wild-pitched one run home and enabled two others to score when he failed to cover first on Dick McAuliffe's grounder to the right side.

Starter Phil Regan, who yielded five hits in seven innings before departing, picked up his second win against three losses.

Randy Has All-Out Schedule Upcoming

COLLEGE STATION (Spl) — Three Texas Aggies — Danny Roberts, Ted Nelson and Randy Matson — still have a lot of track action before them.

Roberts, leading shot putter among the nation's collegians this year with a throw of 60 feet, 7 inches, plans to concentrate on lifting weights in preparation for the NCAA championships June 18-19 in Eugene, Oregon.

Nelson, who leads the nation's collegians in the 440-yard dash with his 46.6, will compete in the Coliseum Relays at Los Angeles this week (Friday, May 15), the U.S. Federation meet at Corvallis, Oregon, June 12-13, the NCAA at Eugene, Oregon, June 18 - 19 and the National AAU June 26-27 at New Brunswick, N.J.

Matson, top weightman among the college freshman (and most of the rest of the world), has a busy schedule facing him as he prepares to make a strong bid as a shot putter on the U.S. Olympic squad.

Matson's schedule:

May 15 — Coliseum Relays, Los Angeles.

May 23 — California Relays, Modesto, Calif.

June 5 — Compton Invitation, Compton, Calif.

June 12-13 — U.S. Federation Meet, Corvallis, Oregon.

June 26-27 — National AAU, New Brunswick, N.J.

July 3-4 — Olympic Trials, Randall's Island, N.Y.

(If Matson qualifies in the Olympic Trials, he will be on U.S. squad facing Russia in a dual meet in Los Angeles July 25-26.)

Final Olympic trials scheduled for Sept. 12-13 in Los Angeles.

Hill Rise Early Pick For Preakness Race

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Hill Rise, beaten favorite in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, was favored today to avenge that defeat in the first of the triple crown classics in Saturday's 88th running of the Preakness Stakes but derby winner Northern Dancer was primed to repulse him again.

"I really believe Hill Rise is better now than he was in Kentucky," said Bill Finnegan who trains the colt for the El Peco Ranch of George A. Pope, Jr. "Not that there was anything wrong with him at Churchill Downs but he seems to have blossomed out here."

Once again Hill Rise has been made early favorite at 7 to 5 in the field of six entered for the Preakness with Northern Dancer the strong second choice at 8 to 5.

The Scoundrel, Roman Brother, Quadrangle and Big Pete round out the small but select field in the mile and three-sixteenth race.

"Hill Rise had a rough trip to Kentucky from California," Finnegan recalled. "Over St. Louis the plane ran into a storm. The horses were whining for their grooms and their knees were buckling under them. It took Hill Rise a little time to settle down after that and then when he got feeling good he injured a hock acting up in his stall.

"It wasn't bad but there was some inflammation in the bruise. He came out of it all right and was ready for the derby. Here he settled down quickly and the way he has been training over this track I believe he will run his best over it," the 73 - year - old conditioner said.

But Northern Dancer, who beat Hill Rise by a neck in the Kentucky Derby and set a record of 2:00 flat for the mile and one - quarter in doing so, also was "in the pink."

TROTTERS TO COMPETE

PARIS (UPI) — Three Italo-American trotters and one French - bred trotter will be flown from Paris to New York June 15 to compete at Yonkers Raceway. The horses are Nike Hanover, Hurst Hanover, Fury Hanover and the French Philosophe D.

Welch Signs With OCU

McLEAN (Spl) — McLean High School athletic director Derral Davis reported late yesterday that All-State cager Derrith Welch had signed a letter of intent with Oklahoma City University.

Welch was a two-year all-state for the Tigers, averaging better than 29 points per game his junior year, and being the highest schoolboy scorer in the state his senior year with a 33.1 average. The 6'6" senior had received offers from several dozen major colleges, but had earlier indicated his desire to go out of state, preferably to a college with a strong basketball program. Welch, known as 'Deadpan Derrith,' will play for the North in the All-Star basketball game.

Okie Open Washout

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)— The $40,000 Oklahoma City Open, its first round erased Thursday by lightning and threatening weather, started all over again today.

PGA officials cancelled the first round with only 21 golfers left on the course and with a little more than a half an hour of daylight left because of the persistent lightning and rain. They will decide today whether there will be a 36-hole round on Sunday or to wind up the tournament on Monday. The Oklahoma City Open has a double cutdown, after the second and third rounds, making it difficult to play 36 holes in one day.

The "washout" cost veteran Charley Sifford and rookie Chuck Courtney the co-leadership Thursday. Both shot two-under-par 70's over the windswept Quail Creek Course, good enough for a one-stroke lead over seven other golfers.

For most of the players, however, it was a frustrating day. Favored Arnold Palmer and Tony Lema, who along with Sifford was the last to finish before the first round was washed out, each had a three-over-par 75. Johnny Pott had a 77, and Dave Marr a 79 as high winds ballooned the scores.

Steve Owen Is Critical

ONEIDA, N.Y. (UPI) — Former New York Giant football coach Steve Owen was reported "still very critical" in Oneida City Hospital Thursday, with an apparent recurrence of a heart ailment.

"He's still very critical," a hospital spokesman said, "but that man has a tenacious will to live."

Owen has been in an oxygen tent since his admission to the hospital six days ago.

Owen, who coached the Giants in the National Football League for 23 years, has received hundreds of messages and cards, the spokesman said.

Last year Owen coached the Syracuse Stormers in the United Football League.

Howard Wins Pair for LA

By United Press International

Six - foot - seven Frank Howard, a mountain of a man, has a way of making all those Dodger problems look like molehills.

It has been said that every time the 255 - pound Howard moves, the earth around him trembles, but more important is the fact that every time he does, he seems to move the Dodgers, too.

The big outfielder moved them up a notch Thursday and although it was only into eighth place, it's still higher than ninth and certainly a step in the right direction.

When Howard is hitting, all pitchers look alike to him and that goes for the best and the worst.

He picked on one of the National League's best, lefty Dick Ellsworth, Thursday for a two-run homer in the 10th inning that beat the Cubs, 6-4, then came back in the nightcap with a ninth inning bases - loaded single off rookie Wayne Schurr that nailed down a 5-0 win for Don Drysdale.

Howard's 11th Homer

Howard's homer in the opener was his 11th of the season and the two runs he drove in during the finale gave him a total of 21. He went three - for-five in the first game and two-for-three in the second.

Relief ace Ron Perranoski blanked the Cubs on two hits over the last four innings of the opener to score his second victory after Chicago had kayoed starter Sandy Koufax on four runs and six hits in four innings.

Drysdale checked the Cubs on four hits for his fifth victory against one loss. He struck out eight and walked five while the Dodgers chased Fred Norman in the second inning even though he didn't give up a hit.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Phillies climbed within a half game of first place with a 3-2 triumph over the Cardinals, the Houston Colts nipped the San Francisco Giants, 4-3, and snapped Willie May's hitting streak at 20 games, and the Mets belted the Braves, 12-4.

Richie Allen's seventh inning homer snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Phillies their first victory in five games with the Cardinals. Allen's seventh homer came off loser Ernie Broglio (2-2) and brought Jim Bunning his fourth victory although the former Detroit right - hander received a big assist from Ed Roebuck, who hurled hitless ball and struck out four in the last two innings.

Al Spangler's two - out single in the eighth produced the winning run for the Colts against the Giants. Mays went hitless in four trips as his batting average dropped to .449. Bob Bruce struck out 10 and gave up eight hits to gain his fourth victory. Reliever Bob Shaw absorbed his first loss after three victories.

The Mets raked veteran Warren Spahn for nine hits and six runs within five innings for their fifth victory in the last eight games.

Dick Smith had three doubles, Ron Hunt had three RBI's with a single and a double and Joe Christopher also drove in three runs with a homer and a single as Spahn suffered his third loss in five decisions.

Galen Cisco notched his first win of the year.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

You Can't Have It Both Ways

Ever since the advent of socialist theory as a deliberately promoted system, text books and text-book writers have geared their thinking to the idea that the world is permanently hitched up to what could be called an "economy of scarcity."

That is, from Marx to Norman Thomas, the central theme has been that wealth is scarce, unevenly distributed and poverty a standard condition for vast numbers of human beings.

Having reached this conclusion, based on predictions which stem from the idea that data collected from the past is the best indice of the future, socialists have intoned the doctrine that the only way to fight poverty is to have the government intervene.

We are experiencing a new wave of this old - fashioned notion in America. President Johnson, although he has not made poverty illegal (as yet), wants to wage a "gentle" war on the condition scarcity.

The reason for government intervention, we have been endlessly reminded, is that rich and successful people are "greedy" and therefore the force of government must be invoked so that some kind of "equitable" distribution can occur, i.e., men of means will not willingly surrender what they have. Thus, what they have must be taken away from them by force (taxes, confiscation, regulation, violence, war).

But now a new "threat" seems to have reared its head and is scaring the daylights out of socialist theorists. It can be stated thusly: "Through technology and automation, our former economy of scarcity is evolving into an economy of abundance."

If this is to be the new base for economic reasoning, then it will follow automatically that all of the socialist writings and reasonings dating back to Marx are going to have to be junked. Text books will have to be re-written.

A whole new world is about to open which opening is geared to capitalism, "that outmoded, dog-eat-dog system wherein production occurs for profit and not for use."

At this juncture, if socialists were completely forthright they would now admit publicly that their original theories are no better than trash; that the free market and private capitalism produce the goods and pay off; that by reason of what capitalism has done, is doing and can do, there is no more reason for government intervention.

Alas, this is not to occur, at least, it is not to occur automatically. For though we are learning to produce with automation, there is nothing automatic about recanting when a man finds he has been in error.

So the new dogma, being spewed out by government propagandists, is that every man must "adopt the concept of and absolute constitutional right to an income."

Moves are underway to set up a new government agency that will pay us not merely a pittance, when we don't produce, but will reward us handsomely for being a "good" consumer.

The Wall Street Journal, in viewing this startling and revolutionary concept, has been moved to comment: "The answer the gentlemen give is all too clear. The government is to take over."

Now there is something slightly redolent of padded cells and mental institutions about this kind of reasoning. If government must intervene when we have so little that wealth must be compulsively shared, must government also intervene when we have so much that we are dealing with an ecnomy of abundance?

The socialist cog seems now to have slipped its last semblance to rational mooring. The answer to all problems, as the socialist sees it, is, "let the government do it."

Yet, the evidence on every hand is that government undoes it and that only the market place can and will do it.

It turns out that the politicians are as fearful of abundance as they were of scarcity. You can't please them. If things are going badly, the government must intervene. If things are going well, the government must intervene. Since the justification for governmental intervention arises in these cases from opposite conditions, how is the same answer logical?

The Newest Tool

Al Altwegg, business editor of the Dallas News, recently wrote a revealing series of articles on the much discussed topic of electronic data processing machines. And he made some points that deserve a wide public understanding.

First of all, these machines are not, as many people seem to think, "giant electronic brains". They can't think. They can't learn from experience. And a human mind has to feed them the information on which their decisions are based. They are tools — incredibly involved and efficient tools — but that is all.

At the same time, they can perform almost instantly tasks which would require days and weeks and months of work by human beings. They make it possible to give top management all kinds of valuable information about the operation of a factory or a business. And their use and functions are constantly being extended. For instance, Mr. Altwegg reports that Pan American World Airways has ordered a $23 million electronic data processing system that will link ticket - selling clerks in 78 countries with the airline's central reservation headquarters for the world. A major improvement in standards of service, working to the advantage of every Pan American traveler, will be the inevitable result.

In Mr. Altwegg's own words, "All this poses huge problems, but none that cannot be solved with present knowledge. All it requires is time and money." Electronic data processing is at the root of a new industrial revolution. There are the unavoidable dislocations and difficulties that come with drastic change. But the end result will be a better world — and better living and working standards for the people who inhabit it.

Lonely Cell Sans Phone Bell

Prisoners in the Dallas county jail rioted recently, and one of the reasons given was that they didn't like the telephone service.

This was surprising, since you naturally assume that any first class jail provides first class phone service.

What was wrong? Was the equipment outmoded? Was the switchboard service sluggish? Was it too far to a public phone? Were the prisoners' monthly bills too high? Or were teen-age prisoners thoughtlessly tieing up the lines with long, long conversations with other teen-agers?

A checkup revealed it was none of these. It was simply that there were only a few phones available to take care of the telephonic requirements of all the prisoners.

In other words, the jail was, as the telephone ads so reproachfully put it, underphoned.

Maybe you can't blame the prisoners for complaining. A jail that lets the phone service slip might permit furnishings in the lounge room to become seedy, or offer slipshod room service, or even fail to provide color television

And it might not be too long before the average lawbreaker would just as soon stay free as go to jail.

Those jailers had better get cracking with that phone service!

Allen-Scott Report

Alaskans Learn Interest, Terms for Foreign Aid Better Than for Americans Seeking Disaster Loans

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — It's a lot more advantageous being a foreigner seeking U.S. aid than a native American hard-hit by by a natural catastrophe.

The foreigner can get a 40-year loan at ¾ of one per cent interest, starting with a 10-year moratorium on the interest, while the best the American can expect from his own government is a 30-year loan at 3 per cent interest, with a one - year moratorium.

That's the bitter discovery of thousands of Alaskan businessmen, home owners and others wiped out completely or crippled by the devastating earthquake and tidal wave.

Another astonishing aspect of this incomprehensible double standard is that it's due primarily to bureaucratic officiousness.

The law does not require Eugene Foley, head of the Small Business Administration, to demand 3 per cent interest on disaster loans. The Disaster Loan Act expressly stipulates the rate shall not exceed 3 per cent. Up to that ceiling, Foley has complete authority to specify any figure.

But he is adamantly insisting that economically shattered Alaskans pay the maximum 3 per cent rate.

Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, vigorously spearheading the drive for all-out aid for his ravaged state, in denouncing Foley's tight-fisted policy, caustically pointed out that Pakistani and other foreigners whose governments are thumbing their noses at the U.S. are getting many millions in long - term loans at ¾ of one per cent interest with 10-year interest moratoriums.

Pakistan, which has established diplomatic relations with Red China and opened a direct airline between them, has received more than $623 million in such "soft-term" loans. The over-all total of these loans to foreign countries is upwards of $2.63 billion.

Gruening is not only demanding that this amazing discrimination against stricken Americans be halted, but that some of the hundreds of millions of unspent foreign aid funds be made available to needy Alaskans.

This dynamite - loaded situation is certain to play a major role in the coming stormy battle over President Johnson's $3.4 billion foreign aid budget. Gruening and other militant foes of continued large - scale foreign aid spending plan to make the utmost of this "double standard" issue.

SOCKING AMERICANS — In a fervent appeal to Small Business Administrator Foley to ease his 3 per cent interest stand, Senator Gruening stressed that this policy is directly contrary to that of the foreign aid agency which is making loans "directly to private industries in foreign countries at ¾ of one per cent interest."

"I can see no reason why such terms should not be afforded Alaskan economic victims of the earthquake," Gruening told Foley. "Otherwise, a permanent double standard would be established under which we would be unable to do for our own people what we are doing abroad. For a man who has lost his business, the building that has housed it and the inventory, and still has a loan on either or both at the bank, the difference between 3 per cent and ¾ of one per cent may well be the difference between recovery and failure.

"There is one other justification for making the foreign loan rate available to our own American disaster victims. The rehabilitated businessman soon begins to pay taxes to his city, state and nation. No such benefits result from the foreign loans."

This urgent appeal was unavailing. Foley is adamantly holding to his demand for 3 per cent interest.

"We have concluded," he informed Gruening, "that under all the circumstances it would be unsound to depart from our established interest rate policies."

To which Gruening replied bitterly:

"The law under which you operate permits you to establish the interest rate on disaster small business loans at any rate from zero per cent to 3 per cent. However, you have exercised no discretion in this matter . . . You have set the interest rate at the maximum permitted by law — 3 per cent.

"On the other hand, in the foreign aid program, operating under authority substantially the same as yours, the program administrators have announced a policy of tailoring the interest rate to the ability of the borrower to repay with a choice of rates of ¾ of one percent, etc. Why should not a similar flexible policy be established for disaster small business loans in Alaska?"

So far, Foley has not budged and there is no indication he will unless ordered to do so by higher authority — the White House.

Whether the President will intervene remains to be seen!

WHAT THE DOUBLE STANDARD MEANS — How this extraordinary "double standard" in U.S. aid is discriminating against native Americans is graphically shown by the following instances cited by Senator Gruening:

"An Anchorage merchant owned the $100,000 building in which his store was located. On this building he had a conventional mortgage with a local bank with $20,000 still unpaid, payable in 10 years at 6 per cent. He had merchandise with a replacement value of $25,000 completely paid; also furniture and fixtures with a replacement value of $15,000. His annual interest cost was $1,200.

"All his holdings were completely destroyed. To resume business, he needs a loan to replace the $100,000 building; $20,000 to pay off the mortgage on the destroyed building; $15,000 for new furniture and fixtures; $25,000 for new merchandise; a total of $160,000.

"To borrow that from the Small Business Administration at 3 per cent interest, would cost him $4,800 a year, or $3,600 per year more than he was paying before the Good Friday disaster. But at ¾ of one per cent interest a year, his cost would be $1,200 exactly the amount of interest he was paying before the catastrophe struck.

"Further, over a period of years, the amounts involved could spell the difference between whether this merchant is able to 'make a go of it' or not. If the terms of the loan are 3 per cent for 30 years and a minimum interest moratorim, the merchant would pay a total of $64,000 in interest charges. But if the interest were ¾ of one percent and the moratorium granted thousands of freigners, his total interest cost would be $21,000 — $43,000 less than the maximum 3 per cent rate."

As Gruening acidly noted, "And this is for only one small business establishment."

Another case cited by Gruening was a letter from Sig Digree, publisher of the Kodiak Mirror, whose plant was wiped out. He readily conceded that 3 per cent interest is a "favorable rate under normal circumstances, but these are not normal circumstances."

"For a man 60 years old, such as myself, wrote Digree, "a 30-year loan at 3 per cent will mean paying out a very substantial amount monthly until I reach the ripe old age of 90 years. I am not of the opinion that it is the government's responsibility to reimburse victims in toto because they have been dealt a hard blow by nature. But I do think that in the interest of the country's economy as well as that of our city and state, individuals should be helped on a loan basis at the lowest possible interest rate.

"Your stand for ¾ of one per cent interest if put into effect would go a long way to enabling businessmen to get back on their feet, thus aiding employment and assisting the free flow of the economy once again."

Gene Stone and David Mathiesen, of the Valdez Cold Storage Company, are another illustration of the dire plight of earthquake-ruined Alaska businessmen.

Before the disaster, their concern had more than $250,000 in assets and a $184,000 loan authorization from the Area Redevelopment Administration for plant expansion, including the purchase of an 180-ft. vessel to be converted for processing king crab.

Another craft they had sought had been sold to Pakistan which out-bid them with a loan obtained from the U.S.

Now desperately in need of help, Stone and Mathiesen are running into stone walls.

"Everybody tells us we are eligible for aid, but we can't get it," says Mathiesen. "Before the earthquake, we had government authorization for a $184,000 loan. Now we are told that has expired. Why can't we get at least $20,000 to start us up again and to keep going?

"We have attended meeting after meeting. We have heard that Alaska would not be forgotten. We have appliedh ere and applied there for help. Plan after plan has piled up. But nothing happens. Time is vital. How long can a company hang on when it no longer has collateral?

"We are slowly dying for the lack of government help. But there appears to be no relaxation of the rules. The book must be followed. The pound of flesh must be exacted while our business goes down the drain, and our workers lose their jobs. It is dawning on thousands of Americans that our federal government is treating Alaska shabbily. Assistance to Alaska has been neither of the right kind nor fast enough.

"We're beginning to ask why can't we be treated at least as well as foreigners who aren't suffering from a great natural disaster, why this discrimination; why this double standard?"

Question Box

QUESTION: What is the difference between instruction (or training) and education?

ANSWER: When this question was first proposed to us, our quick answer was that instruction was something given, while education is something one gets. One can be instructed, or trained without being educated. Vice versa, one can be educated, without being instructed, however, an educated man is generally in some way instructed. Instruction and education, then, are not the same thing at all.

Education comes through the use of one's own intelligence. It is the result of using the "listening ear" and the "seeing eye," mentally probing associations of knowledge to discover truths in the world around us and in human relationships. The educated man is perhaps most valuable because through his willingness to use his mind, he generates creative ideas.

Education means "to take from," to seek enlightenment, to develop free activity. In an article by Thomas S. Clarke in "The Rotarian," the difference between instruction and education was flatly stated. "The domesticated animal (the trained animal), whether a biped or a quadruped, believes what he is made to believe, and does what he is made to do. The educated being believes what appeals to his reason, and thinks for himself."

There are many who have not accepted the schools' present idea of popular education. That is, predominantly instruction in courses leading to careers, rather than the mental disciplines of the so-called "Great Tradition." In his "Theory of Education in the United States," Albert Jay Nock defined the Great Tradition as "the discipline concerning itself exclusively with formative knowledge, while training concerns itself with instrumental knowledge."

Studies which were in themselves formative were an intensive study of Greek and Roman literature, classical history, mathematics and formal logic. This background plants mental roots in widely separated fields of knowledge. Depth is a quality usually ascribed to an educated man, and it is steeping in the history of world's thought that yields such depth.

In querying others about the difference between instruction and education, an amazing number were at first under the impression that both were given to you. The younger the person was, the more firmly he believed that both were the same and both obtained from a teacher. Yet a teacher's certification means merely that he has been exposed satisfactorily to a certain kind of instruction for a certain length of time. We assume he is then eligible to a position which we feel only an educated person should fill. Still, he may not fit that category at all; he may not incite the desire to learn; he may not arouse mental curiosity within a pupil; he may be merely doling out facts, or as is often the case in our schools, acting as policeman for rooms overcrowded with pupils who don't want to be there anyway.

Parents are one of the most important forces in leading their children to seek education rather than training only. It is easy to tell a child an answer; it is better to ask him questions which will make him think of the answer himself. As he sees his parents reading and discussing problems, a child will be encouraged to pursue knowledge on his own, not satisfied with instruction but eager for education.

'GO TO HELL'

From Chicago Tribune

Just as the administration was trotting out its bigwigs, among them Secretary of State Rusk and Secretary of Defense McNamara, to testify to the undying virtues of foreign aid, a discordant voice from the southwest Pacific penetrated into the administration's beautiful synthetic dream world.

President Sukarno of Indonesia told the United States to "go to hell with your aid." His country, he said, would not collapse without handouts. He pointed up his remarks by extending a finger at the American ambassador.

Sukarno wants to wrest from the newly established Federation of Malaysia its territories in North Borneo. He is conducting guerrilla operations against the Malaysian borders there. Mr. Rusk has said that if these infractions of good behavior continue, he will cut Sukarno off the free list.

Mr. Rusk's sudden spurt of resolution comes rather late in the day, for the United States already has ladled out hundreds of millions in aid to Indonesia. Its record of curbing the aggressive designs of Sukarno, moreover, is not good. When he determined to grab Dutch New Guinea, which had no ethnic or other ties with Indonesia, the United States produced the formula to oust the Dutch and appease him.

The record of this country's dealings with Sukarno exposes the emptiness of the contention that foreign aid can buy friendship and good deportment. Sukarno has pocketed far more than half a billion dollars and now thumbs his nose at us. How many times must the experience be repeated until Washington catches on?

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Friday, May 15, the 136th day of 1964 with 230 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1765, the British Parliament enacted a statute making it mandatory for American colonists to supply housing and supplies for British troops.

In 1930, the first stewardess was employed on a United Airline flight from San Francisco to Cheyenne, Wyo.

In 1942, wartime gasoline rationing started in 17 Eastern states.

In 1963, Maj. L. Gordon Cooper made the longest space flight for an American . . . 22 orbits in a Mercury capsule called Faith VII.

A thought for the day: American patriot Patrick Henry said: "I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging the future but by the past."

Suspension Asked On Airlines Fares

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Continental Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to suspend, pending an investigation, new 10-day excursion fares proposed by Trans-Texas Airways between Texas and New Mexico cities.

The fares, which would go into effect June 14 if approved by the CAB, would apply to flights between Albuquerque-Dallas-Santa Fe and Houston-Santa Fe. The roundtrip excursion rate would be only 40 per cent higher than regular one-way first class fares.

Continental said the Trans-Texas proposal was similar to one the CAB suspended and ordered investigated nearly six months ago. The latter involved low excursion fares between Dallas and Houston, Austin and San Antonio.

Blast Wrecks Missile Site

FREDERICK, Okla. (UPI)— An explosion wrecked an Atlas missile site three miles north of Frederick. There appeared to be no injuries, but authorities said they were not certain.

Unofficial sources said the explosion came after a fire started in the underground silo that houses the big intercontinental missile.

There was no word as to whether the explosion involved rocket fuel or the missile warhead.

Authorities at the missile site said there was no radioactivity involved in the blast.

The explosion was seen as far as six miles from the site. Many persons in Frederick saw it.

The Lighter Side

'Dreamer' Respects Activity of' Doers'

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is a well known fact that the human race is divided into two parts — the dreamers and the doers.

I'm a dreamer myself, but I have great respect and admiration for the doers and I would like at this time to pay tribute to some of their recent accomplishments.

First off, a toast to a dedicated band of botanists, identities unknown to me, who have developed a new underarm deodorant for trees. Specifically, the female ginkgo tree.

The female ginkgo bears a fruit which produces a fragrance that simply can't be discussed in polite society. Even its best friends won't tell it.

If sprayed under the leafy arms of a ginkgo, the new deodorant will cause the tree to drop its fruit buds before they develop the type of aroma that causes romance to fade, fade, fade away.

Hardly as dramatic as the tree deodorant, but possibly of deeper significance, is a new attack that doers in the U. S. Agriculture Department have launched against alligatorweed.

Alligatorweed is an aquatic plant that chokes waterways in some areas. There was a time when the department might have used chemicals to combat this pest. But apparently it has begun to heed warnings about excessive use of pesticides.

At any rate, in this instance the department is doing things nature's way. It has imported a bunch of South American flea beetles and turned them loose to feed on the alligatorweed.

If nature holds true to form, parts of this country will now become overrun with South American flea beetles. But I suppose there will be doers around to handle that problem, too, should it arise.

Another doer worthy of citation is Mrs. Sally Goodspeed of Baltimore. Disturbed over something the city housing agency was doing, she founded an organization called Homeowners in Opposition to Housing Authoritarianism, otherwise known as "Hooha."

"I was a Hooha when there was only one Hooha," Mrs. Goodspeed recently declared.

And unless I underestimate her tenacity, she will still be a Hooha when all the other Hoohas have folded their tents and silently crept away.

My final doer tribute goes to Robert Sullivan, 28, of Jersey City, N. J. Having failed to win his Air Force wings, he established a new endurance record of sorts by riding the "sky ride" in an amusement park 60 times without getting off.
