Monday Night Performance Of All-School Play Slated

Proceeds from the All-School Play, SEVENTEENTH SUMMER, will be contributed to the local AFS fund to pay the expenses of the foreign exchange student who will be in the Olton community next year.

The play, a three-act family comedy, will be presented February 26, at 7:30 p. m., in the high school auditorium. The play centers around a teen-age girl, Angie Morrow, played by Leslie Holladay. Her older sisters, Margaret and Lorraine, are played by Lynn McGill and Jan Carson. The young tom-boy sister, Kitty, is played by Sandee Gregory. Mary Bess Smith and Lynn Campbell portray Angie's parents, Jack Duluth and Lorraine. Ricky Richardson and Randy Watson play the older girls' boyfriends, Sherry Moss, Karen Lewis, Donnie Fancher, and Carl Roberts are teen-age friends of Angie. Musical interludes to introduce each act will be presented by members of the Olton High School Choir under the direction of Mrs. Bob Allford.

The play tells the story of one important summer in a young girl's life. Early in the play, Angie says, "Here I am, 17 years old, and no boy has asked me for a date." Then Jack Duluth enters her life, and with him, happiness, but also teen-age heartache. "Growing up," Angie says then, "is like taking down the walls of your house and letting strangers come in. And sometimes the strangers hurt you." However, the teen-agers finally decide that they, like most, simply want to "turn out good and be happy."

The play is being directed by Ruth Holladay. Cheri Dorris is her student assistant. Final rehearsals are now in progress and production crews are completing their final chores.

Committee chairmen who are handling the business and technical work are: Jeanie Gardner, advance ticket sales;

Janet Chester, publicity; Glenda Turner, make-up; Carol Hicks, costumes; Ted Wheeler, stage; and Susan Cannon, house committee.

Members of the local Lions Club, the sponsoring organization for AFS, are assisting in advertising and programs, and will sell prize Cracker-Jacks during intermissions.

Admission prices are 75¢ for adults and 50¢ for students. Advance tickets may be purchased from Lions Club members or high school students, and tickets will be on sale at the door the night of production.

Truitt Sides Named Lamb County Judge

An Olton man was sworn in Monday as Lamb County Judge to fill the vacancy of the office caused by the death of O. J. (Jim) Mangum last Friday.

G. T. (Truitt) Sides, 54, took oath of the office Monday afternoon, following unanimous approval of the appointment. Oath was administered by County Clerk Charles Jones.

Judge Mangum, who was hospitalized last fall with a brain tumor, was unable to fulfill the duties of his office prior to his death and the court appointed Attorney Robert Kirk as temporary judge to handle legal matters only.

With the death of Mangum, the office was automatically vacated and candidates were allowed to file for the post in the primary general election this year.

The man who is elected in November will take office Jan. 1, 1969 and complete the remaining two years of the current term, which ends Jan. 1, 1971.

Meanwhile Sides will serve as County Judge until the Jan. 1, 1969 and is also eligible to file for election for the other two years of the term, which Sides said he "intends to file in the near future."

Sides and his wife, Euna, have one son, Danny who is sixteen years old and a junior in high school; two married daughters, Mrs. Bill Walden of Hereford and Mrs. Danny Smith of Earth.

Born in Vandt Zant County, Sides was reared in Lubbock County and attended Texas Tech, graduating in 1938 with a BS in Agriculture Education. Moving to Olton in January of 1938, he started his teaching career at Olton High School and taught vocational agriculture until August 1944, when he entered the implement business.

He remained in this business until 1950 and has farmed and maintained other business interests.

Serving his fellow citizens has been a major part of Sides' life, having filled a seat on the school board, serving as president of the Lions Club, member of the city council and as director of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. He is a member of the C-CA at the present and is chairman of the board of the First Methodist Church of which he and his family are members.

He is a member of the Masons and is past master of Olton Lodge. He was named Olton's Citizen of the Year in 1961.

Sides, who has been a resident of Olton for the past 30 years said he plans to maintain his residence in Olton for the present. However, if elected to serve the unexpired term of Mangum, he would move to Littlefield.

In his first official duties, Sides ruled on a liquor violation and the guilty party was fined $200 plus court cost.

Money Before Life?

If you were in an accident today and needed hospitalization, would you receive it?

Your first impulse might be to answer "Of course."

But think again. You might be turned away! Just last Sunday, Clyde Sanchez found that not everyone who needs care in a hospital is admitted.

Following an accident in which he and three others were involved, Sanchez was picked up by Parsons Funeral Home ambulance service and carried into Olton Community Hospital — where he received treatment then taken to a hospital in Lubbock for more intensive care.

However — he was not admitted to the Lubbock Hospital!

Without money, he found that it was impossible for him to enter.

Has our civilization come to the point where human life means nothing?

This is a sad state of affairs when persons in need of medical care and hospitalization cannot get it simply because the dollar signs blind those who have DEDICATED their lives to the service of mankind.

The Hypocratic Oath which has served as an ethical guide of the medical profession states that all intentions of such persons would be for the BENEFIT OF THE PATIENT and "If I keep this oath faithfully, may I enjoy my life and practice my art, respected by all men and in all times; but if I swerve from it or violate it, may the reverse be my lot."

It would do well for personnel of the Lubbock hospital to read this oath and if they cannot live up to it, then they need to change their profession NOW!

We can be thankful that we live in a small town where we are fortunate enough to have doctors and nurses who CARE about us and are not only interested in the money they receive for services performed in their dedicated profession.

True, doctors have to make a living and should be paid for their services.

However, we can rest assured that our 'home town' doctors won't turn away some person in need of their help, simply because he doesn't have the money to lay on the desk before he signs his name to be admitted into the hospital.

Loss Of Business

There is a possibility that Olton may lose another business in the very near future.

We are speaking of the Buccaneer Stamp Redemption Center.

At the present time there is only one business in Olton offering Buccaneer Stamps and this is not enough to justify a redemption center.

If at least one more business would offer Buccaneer stamps, there would be a greater chance of Olton being able to keep the redemption center.

Chamber of Commerce-Agriculture Manager talked to the manager of the Buccaneer Stamp Center at Waco and he said he would give the matter further consideration, before handing down his final decision in the matter.

Those of us who would like to be able to redeem trading stamps here should make our wishes known to the C-CA now and give him our support in his effort to maintain this business in our town.

Formula For Success

(EDITORS NOTE: The following editorial was handed to us by one of our readers and we think it is worth re-printing and that it's thoughts might help us in our effort to make our town better.)

Did you ever wonder why this man or that one achieved success?

We're not speaking of the man who married the boss' daughter, and financial success is not the only success we refer to here. But success has grown from activity in the case of almost every successful man we know.

Check the engagement book of the successful man and you will find it filled with activities that are directed toward helping others, self improvement, community advancement, and a good part to just good fellowship.

Towns are pretty much the same way. Look at the towns that are growing. The people who make up the town are busy people. The Chamber of Commerce is made up of people who actively support it — not by conversation but by service.

Successful towns are towns whose merchants enjoy the trade of the townspeople and whose people believe in doing business at home where possible.

Successful towns have organizations whose committees are filled with eager workers — who give of their time and energy to make the town an out — going, congenial place for people to find themselves in.

Their people register to vote and participate in political activities. Their churches are full of active, dynamic families. Their civic organizations enjoy good attendance and enthusiastic support from their members and their members' families. Municipal meetings are well-attended and school activities are closely followed.

How long has it been since you served on a committee and got your hands dirty or caloused in some work for the benefit of your town? When did you last attend a church function other than the Sunday morning worship service? How long since you sat in on a school board session — a water board meeting or a city commission meeting?

In brief, how long has it been since you did something for your fellow man?

We listen to discussions across the tables of local coffee shops and hear much of the negative side of the community. The dirt comes out, gets kicked around, and put back into place.

For a better town and a better community, let's quit just knocking — and open the door to something better than any of us have ever known — through the joint effort of us all.

To a field of grass just cut by enterprising citizens it is of little moment whether the person who cut it was rich or poor, old or young, Catholic or protestant, Anglo or Latin, a resident or just a winner visitor.

At your next coffee session, let's have something to say about those things in which we have made progress. It may spur us to add to the positive score.

Canned Pineapple Topsy Turvy

This handsome pineapple pie turned up side down comes out looking more beautiful than right side up. Make the refreshing filling with a can of pineapple tidbits — sweetened and thickened — and a little lemon juice to accent the natural flavor. For an interesting and unusual glaze, coat the pan bottom with butter, brown sugar and pecans before lining with pastry. When friends are invited for coffee and dessert, serve this handsome creation with ice cream.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN PIE

|---|--------------------------------|
| 1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can pineapple tidbits | 3/4 cup brown sugar (packed) |
| Water | 6 tablespoons butter |
| 3 tablespoons cornstarch | 1/2 cup pecan halves |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice | Pastry for double 9-inch crust |

To syrup drained from pineapple add water to make 1 1/4 cups liquid. Combine with cornstarch, lemon juice and 1/4 cup brown sugar. Cook, stirring, until clear and thickened. Blend in pineapple and 2 tablespoons butter. Cool slightly. Melt remaining 4 tablespoons butter in 9-inch pie pan. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup brown sugar and 1 tablespoon water. Arrange pecan halves, rounded side down, around bottom and sides of pan. Carefully line pan with pastry. Spoon in pineapple mixture. Cover with pastry; seal and flute edges. Prick top. Place pie on foil to catch drippings. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 minutes, until browned. Turn out on serving plate immediately. Cool. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

DIETING

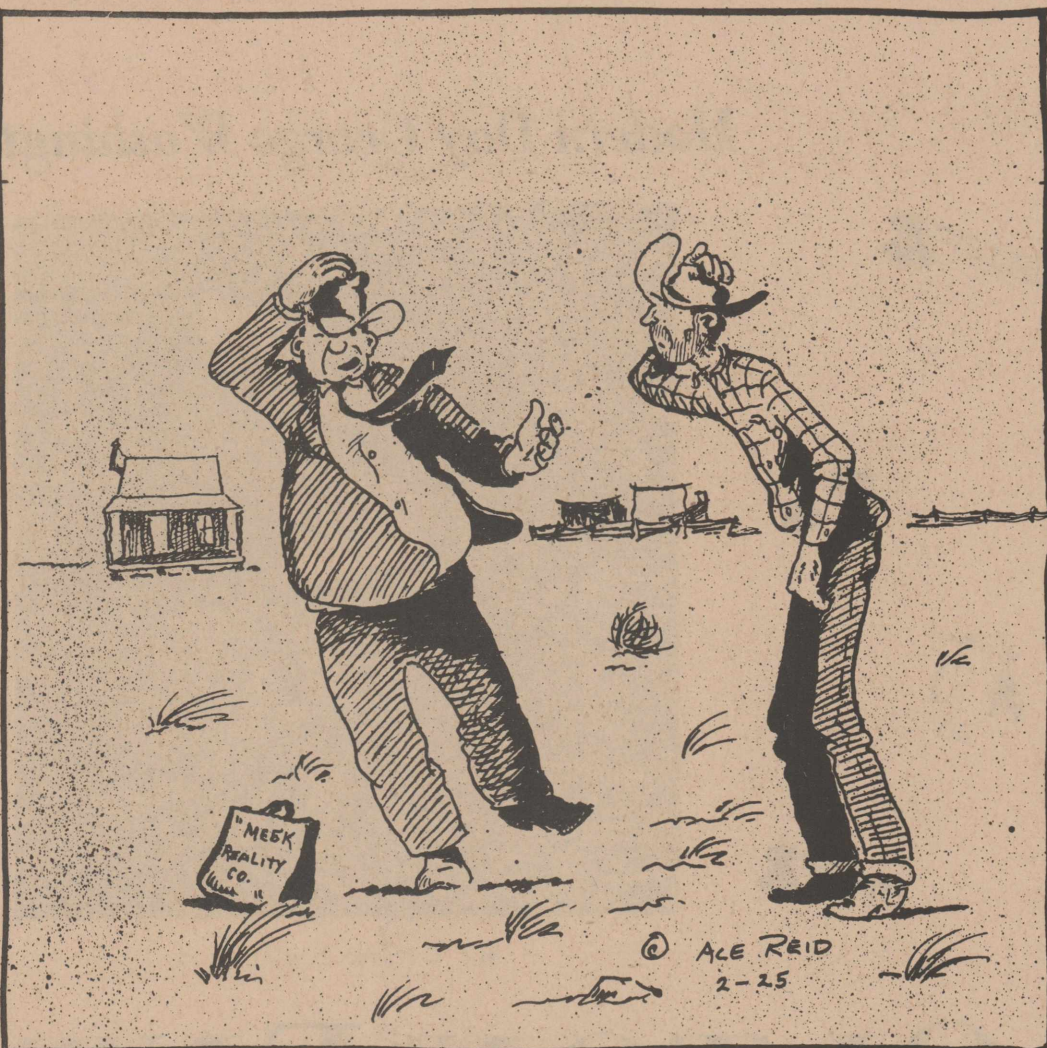

POPPY SEED BREAD
Brush slices of white enriched bread with melted butter or margarine. Put together in loaf shape on piece of heavy duty Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil. Sprinkle with poppy seeds. Close foil and heat on back of grill for 15 minutes. After passing bread, close foil to keep it warm.

If you or your children have weight problems, take prompt action in correcting faulty eating habits. Keep a supply of fresh fruits, raw carrots, and celery on hand for snacking. Count calories in the preparation of meals, and use substitutes whenever possible (skim milk for whole milk, vinegar and lemon juice for rich salad dressings.

Sue's Views

"On this farm you don't even hafta rotate the crops, the wind rotates the soil for you!"

Of Tips and Taxes

To the cab driver, the tips he collected were just friendly gestures by his grateful passengers. When the government tried to impose an income tax on this money, he protested:

"Tips are not income in that sense. They are merely gifts. After all, my passengers don't have to tip me if they don't want to. It is purely voluntary."

But a court held that the tips, even though voluntary, were indeed taxable income. The court pointed out that the tips were paid not as a matter of charity or personal affection but as an extra reward for work done.

How does the government decide whether money that you re-nado. Because these payments were geared to individual needs rather than to services rendered, they were held to be "gratuitous and spontaneous"—thus, true gifts.

In another case, after a pastor had retired because of ill health, his former congregation found out he was having financial difficulties. So they voted to send an annual contribution to help him out.

Later the government tried to collect income tax on this money. But a court declared it a non-taxable gift. The court said it was made "not to repay another what is his due but only because of personal regard."

FIRESIDE DESSERT

Put the contents of a can of fruit cocktail, partially drained, on a sheet of aluminum foil and seal edges with a double fold. Heat on grill for about 10 minutes. Pour over slices of store-bought plain cake.

"BAD TRIP"—Studies at the University of Buffalo have revealed damaged chromosomes in the white blood cells of four infants whose mothers had taken LSD during pregnancy. This indicates a possibility (but no proof) that use of LSD can cause disease or abnormality in offspring. Broken chromosomes (the tiny cell particles that control heredity) are associated with certain serious diseases, including leukemia. MADNESS—"Sometime" dieting that causes wide variations in weight can be worse for you than plain old obesity, according to a Harvard nutrition expert, Dr. Jean Mayer denounced what he called "the antifat madness" as "unhealthy, even sinister." Peach Melba, anyone?

GOING, GOING—The anti-measles campaign with the new vaccine is beginning to take effect. Reported measles cases in the U. S. hit an all-time low of 55,000 for the first six months of 1967. This is a one-third decrease from last year.

Age And Weight

BY SUE CANNON

I have had a blow to my ego that it will take quite some time for me to live down!

The fact that I out weigh my OLDER (get that part whether you get anything else or not) sister by about seven pounds is the gruesome truth revealed when both of us were among those who received gamma globulin after hepatitis was diagnosed in three students here.

Well, since I am a working woman and had to get that over with early, so I could get on with my business of trying to run a news office, I went down as soon as I got the kid-dos off to school and weighed in, got my shot and went to work.

Later in the day, I received a phone call from Retta when I was out of the office and she left word for me to call. I tried to call and the line was busy.

Then while I was out of the office again, she called and when the girls here told me she called again, I couldn't imagine what in the world could be so urgent. So I anxiously called her number again! Only to be called "FATTY".

Well! Then she goes into these gory details of how much HER shot cost and how much did MINE cost? (In case you don't know, this gamma globulin is given by cc's per pound weight. I'll tell you that just about was adding injury to insult!

Ever since we've been grown we have had people ask us which one is the oldest! Well, with me being the youngest by 21 months, that doesn't set too well with me!

Now, not only do I hear

SWEET POTATO-APPLE DELIGHT

- 1 can apple slices or quarters, drained
- 1 can whole sweet potatoes
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 cup honey

Cut sweet potatoes in half-inch slices. Place alternate layers of sweet potatoes and apples in an aluminum foil broiler pan. (Disposable foil broiler pans now available at supermarkets and variety stores). Pour over a mixture of honey and lemon juice. Place on grill and heat for 15 minutes.

"Which one of you is the oldest?" but Retta now has the gall to say, "Ask her which one weighs the most." HA! HA! HA! I know that people don't ask that because they think I look older than Retta — it's just that she is so young looking!

And after all, I can stand a little more weight—I'm at least a half inch taller!

Even my youngest daughter asked me recently if I was 37 or 38 my next birthday and I had to admit that the last figure was right.

She got this real look of surprise on her face and I thought "Uh oh, here it comes about how old I am." To my surprise she said, "Gosh, Retta Lou is almost 40 isn't she?" To which I replied "Both of us are!"

And bless her heart, she said "SHE sure doesn't look like it!" Not "YOU don't look like it."

Amy Turner told me when I took over the management of the newspaper and had to get out and run all over town selling advertising, I'd lose weight but I'm sorry to say that hasn't held true in my case.

Guess I'm going to have to really go on a diet now or I'll never have any peace!

Harvest Crews Are Scarce

Mr. I. V. Ferguson, Manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Lubbock, reports that mechanization has come fast to this part of Texas. Hand labor in the harvest of cotton has diminished considerably. However, in the last few years vegetable growing is fast becoming an industry on the South Plains. At this time of the year our local crews and crews in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas are making commitments for work throughout this year. Securing this type of labor is becoming more competitive each year. Mr. Ferguson urges vegetable growers on the South Plains who will have need for vegetable harvest hands this year to contact the nearest office of the Texas Employment Commission as soon as possible in order that harvest crews can be contacted before they complete their itinerary which, in many instances, includes several states.

The Texas Employment Commission has farm offices at 420 Avenue O in Lubbock and also in Brownfield, Levelland, Littlefield, and Muleshoe.

The Texas Employment Commission Office in Littlefield is located at 425 XIT Drive.

Tax Refunds Are Returned

"When will I get my refund?" This one of the questions most frequently asked by North Texas taxpayers, District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell, Jr., observed today.

He said that thousands of refund checks are returned to Internal Revenue every year because the postman cannot deliver them.

Illegible names or addresses cause many refund checks to be returned undelivered. This can be avoided by carefully PRINTING or TYPING your name, address and zip code in the proper place on the return, and entering your correct social security number in the space provided, Mr. Campbell said.

If you move after you file your return, leave your forwarding address with the Post Office. It is also a good idea to send your new address to the Internal Revenue Service.

Volleyball Tourney Is Scheduled

Plans are being made for the 4th Annual Volleyball Tournament sponsored by the Plainview Young Farmers. Deadline for entering is March 5.

Entry fee is $6.00 per team which may be mailed to Eddie Pruitt Olton Route, Plainview, or call 864-3532 for any information.

The tournament will start March 11 in the High School Gym with the time to be announced later.

Dear Editor
Red Cross Origin

The Editor
Olton Enterprise

Dear Editor:

I don't think any of us like drives for money, and all of us are most interested in our favorite organization, but at a time when we are being asked to work - or to give - on so many drives we have to choose between them. At this particular time it is most essential that Red Cross have enough money with which to operate.

Ever since the origin of Red Cross its primary purpose has been the Service to the Military.

Back in 1862, Henri Durrant, a young Swiss financier - when King Emmanuel fought against Napoleon in the battle of Salerno and witnessed the terrible suffering of the men wounded in battle, he organized the women, children and old men of the town to try to relieve some of the suffering. They brought them in and put them wherever they could find a place. They filled all of the buildings of the town and finally laid them side by side in the Church yard with rude shelters set up to protect them from the hot sun. The heat and flies were terrible. There was very little they could do except carry water. As they gave them water, the women of the town administered to all alike - enemies and friends - and as they worked they said continually "All men are brothers."

Henri Durrant was instrumental in organizing Red Cross which led to medical units of military to care for their wounded. The medical units still carry the Red Cross painted on their vehicles to identify them.

The United States did not adopt the Red Cross until 1902 when through the efforts of Clara Barton it was chartered by Congress. There were many criticisms in World War one as it was such a young organization it was poorly organized. The Salvation Army served a much bigger part due to its English organization. But, the Red Cross is the only organization recognized by our Government for services to the military. To get a serviceman home - in case of any emergency - the emergency must be verified through the local Red Cross Chapter who has to quote the doctor's statement and recommendation in cases of extreme sickness.

Regardless of how we feel about the war in Vietnam, our boys are there fighting and dying. The Red Cross is the only medium through which we can verify home situations in times of emergency.

Although Red Cross books are audited by the Government, it receives no help from the Government. It is supported entirely by contributions. It is a civilian organization and belongs to the people.

There are many functions of the Red Cross such as disaster, first aid and water safety, home nursing, services to Veterans, and many others but the primary one is "Service to the Armed Forces."

As long as we have large military forces, we must have money to support Red Cross. Remember when you give to Red Cross you are helping our boys in service.

Mrs. Roy Wade is a conscientious worker in our local Red Cross Office. We are fortunate to have a strong worker like her, and a good Red Cross organization in Lamb County. Many small counties allowed their Chapters to break-down in the years since the Korean War; but Lamb County Chapter has maintained the organization through residents giving of their time and contributions.

Sincerely,
Pearle Brandon

Services Of Red Cross

The Editor
Olton Enterprise

Dear Editor:

As the March drive for Red Cross funds approaches, we are anxious that the residents of Lamb County review some of the services rendered by Red Cross.

The American Red Cross is an organization that serves our men in service and their families at home. It, also, helps in natural disasters.

Our local Red Cross office is located in the Lamb County Courthouse. Our Red Cross executive secretary is on call for services 24 hours a day. For the past seven months, there have been approximately 24 calls a month for services to the military.

When a serviceman makes application for emergency leave, or extension of leave; the Red Cross office is requested to get proper verification before leave can be granted.

When there has been a delay in correspondence between families and the servicemen - and there is great anxiety; the Red Cross can request a health and welfare report.

Our local Red Cross exists on voluntary contributions made by Citizens of Lamb County. The Director and various committee chairmen are all volunteer workers, and represent all communities in Lamb County.

It is your Red Cross and your responsibility to keep this office open with your contributions. Please, be generous for the sake of our SERVICE-MEN.

Sincerely,
Blanche Dodgen, Chairman
Home Nursing - Box 424
Lamb County Chapter Littlefield, Texas

Voter Registration

To The Editors and Publishers of Texas Newspapers:

I want to thank you individually and collectively for your fine cooperation in our voter registration drive. Undoubtedly the newspaper publicity given to registration requirements and procedures was a major factor in bringing about the tremendous increase in registrations this year.

Our office has received many comments from county tax assessor-collectors praising the newspapers for the assistance they rendered and especially for their publication of the application form, which benefited both the voters and the assessor-collectors. Your contribution to the registration drive has been appreciated not only by myself but by assessor-collectors and voters as well.

Sincerely yours,
John L. Hill

Laws Discussed By Rep. Clayton

(EDITOR'S NOTE - the following letter was received from Bill Clayton for publication.)

The Liquor Laws Study Committee held its first meeting in Austin last Saturday and scheduled another meeting for the 26th to begin its study of needed changes in the Texas Liquor Control Act.

One of the responsibilities which falls upon the shoulders of a state official is that of reporting to the people. I do so now. I report to you on a problem that has me deeply worried, and deeply concerned. The problem I refer to is the "liquor mess", and I know you share this concern with me.

You've heard the reports on radio and television. You've read the accounts in newspapers. And, if you're like most citizens, you have a few questions about just what is going on.

Let me tell you what is happening in all this furor over the Texas Liquor Control Board and the so-called "liquor-by-the-drink" controversy. But, first let me caution you. When you talk about whiskey in Texas, you raise a highly emotional issue. Just check your history books if you want an idea of how deeply ingrained the problem is. Politicians and citizens have engaged in loud debate, voting, fistfights and even shootings as the subject of whiskey has confronted Texans. We must keep emotions out of this. What makes it touchy right now is not only the emotional problem, but the fact that the current situation is one that is very complicated.

First, let's talk about the Liquor Control Board. You all know that there have been charges that some state employees in responsible positions have been fired, that an investigation is currently underway. As you also know, you cannot come right out and make a charge against an individual or a group without all the facts to back up that charge. It is not responsible, and it would be illegal. Therefore, an investigation is underway. And it's being conducted by several different agencies of the state. It would be the height of IRRESPONSIBILITY to make any charges against any individuals or agencies without the benefit of a thorough investigation into all the allegations. Therefore, it is premature -- at best -- to come right out and say "This, SPECIFICALLY, is the problem."

But, I can give you an idea of generally what is being checked into. You are entitled to know what your state government is doing. Generally, the problem revolves around the areas of administration and enforcement. Administration and enforcement, of frankly, a law that is very difficult to administer and enforce. There are some who have charged that the law in Texas -- the liquor law -- is NOT being enforced as it should be. And, as a result, they feel that the law is being abused. If any law, and I don't care what it is, is being circumvented by the people, or not being enforced as it should, you have a very serious problem. The law should be changed. Or the law should be enforced. There is no middle ground.

When enforcement of the law breaks down, then the very fabric of our society breaks down. We've seen too many examples of this in the race riots in other cities in our nation. The enforcement problem is complicated by another factor. There are those who go into a private club and buy a mixed drink and they feel they are doing nothing wrong. Even if they have never been in that club -- or even in that city before.

The way they are served the whiskey is that they are classified as a "guest". It just so happens that any John Doe can walk right in off the streets to many private clubs in Texas and become a "guest" by just walking in...and be served all the mixed drinks he can pay for. This is wrong. It's wrong because it goes against the intent of the law. Now, if a majority of Texans want to change the law, that's another matter. But, that's not the way the law is written now. The law -- as it's written now -- is allegedly being abused and misused. And that's why we have several different groups checking into those allegations. That's just one of the problems being tossed out about the current liquor laws. Another problem is enforcement, for instance; it's badly hampered by a lack of L-C-B agents and auditors to check on possible violations. This is why Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, Ben Barnes, has appointed a five-man subcommittee, of which I am a member, to do a complete and thorough study of the state's liquor laws.

We do not solve our problems in Texas by sitting back and hoping the problems will go away, and all the while criticizing those who would try to do what is right. In all this, there is one very obvious fact:

If the present liquor laws ARE being abused, as some feel they are, then it is up to those of us in positions of responsibility to CORRECT those abuses. If the alleged abuses are corrected, you can look for a very strict, tight, tough enforcement of ALL liquor regulations in this state! And this will affect each and every person who has any connection with the sale or purchase of alcoholic beverages in Texas!

We cannot -- we WILL not -- tolerate any of our state laws to be flouted!

Now, if the people of this state -- and that's you -- do NOT like the laws we have, they have an excellent recourse through the members of the legislature. They can get the word to their Senators and their Representatives about their feelings.

I would hope that each of you would transmit those feelings to us as soon as possible.

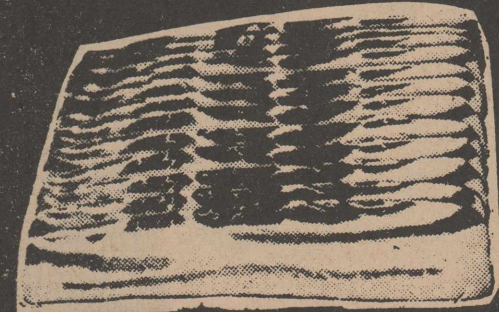

Don't forget: there is an alleged problem. We are checking into it. And, if the facts warrant, there will be action. Only by hearing from each citizen can we be sure that what will be done will mirror the wishes of a majority of Texans and this District.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

I'm going to get a complex! I found still another field where I'm a dismal failure! I'm no photographer and the kids in the all-school play will all say "Amen!"

Monday night during rehearsal, I took the Enterprise camera and went to the auditorium to shoot some "action shots". That's when I really knew that picture taking just isn't one of my talents. However, the story really begins earlier in the day.

Monday afternoon our phone rings and Margaret Burrus asks, "Where's your photographer? We're working on the scout house and we thought you might like a before and after picture." Well, Leah and Sue are our photographers but neither could go right then so, confidently, I agreed to go.

The Girl Scouts are going to have plenty of reason to be proud of their house when the good-daughters get through but Monday afternoon it looked like a disaster area - or better still, my house, Merrily I got my pictures - the camera worked fine - (I suspect those hard-working gals wish the flash hadn't been working then.)

(I add, seriously, that Olton owes those volunteer "slaves" a big thank you - they were doing hard, messy work!)

And now, back to the rehearsal! I timed my arrival (by accident) at the perfect time and for two pictures it was a breeze! Then my luck ran out!

Just as Lynn McGill and Jan Carson got "set" - Lynn with her cup of coffee poised midway twixt saucer and mouth and Jan at just the right expression - the flash didn't work. I went through the preparatory steps a second time - the girls quit breathing at just the right second and click-utter nothing.

While all this was taking place, Lynn Campbell had gone for his band jacket for a shot of him with Mary Bess Smith adjusting his tie. I had ONE shot left in the camera. Would it even work? Should I try the third time for the shot that Lynn McGill and Jan now know perfectly? Or should I try for Lynn C. and Mary Bess since he made the extra effort in getting his jacket? We decided to make it Lynn C. and Mary Bess and what - do - you - know, IT WORKED.

Well, that merely whetted the amateur photographer's zeal so off I go for another roll of film. It was back to the school via the bowling alley where Boss Lady was bowling in Majorette League. I wasn't about to load that camera - I'd probably have put it in wrong side out.

Shutter-buggy-me timed it just right AGAIN, the curtain was just closing on act 2. Back to their pose came Lynn Mc and Jan. Six shots later I had five blanks and their picture! Two more shots and I had Randy Watson and his decorated bike.

I'd already gasped "I give up!" when Randy came wheeling that bike on stage. THEN I remembered that way back when I made my second entrance we'd sent him offstage to get it ready. I just didn't have the courage not to try to get a shot of it. Wonder of wonders, I got a flash. Inspired with a tiny ray of hope, I tried a different shot - no go - but I go right back to the office where I park that camera!

TEACHERS

Women and Phi Omega Pi Sorority.

Ruth is an active member of the Baptist Church, serving as a choir member and a Sunday School Teacher.

Mrs. Ford has taught at all grade levels, primary, elementary, junior high and high school, where she has served for fifteen years as an English teacher.

Mrs. Campbell received her high school diploma at Lone Wolf, Okla., and attended Southwestern State, Weatherford; Oklahoma A&M, Stillwater; and West Texas State in Canyon where she received her B. S. Degree.

Even though teaching journalism, English III and English IV occupies much time, she still finds time to raise flowers, to crochet and to entertain her five grandchildren. Mrs. Campbell also finds time for activities in Eastern Star and Delta Kappa Gamma. She sponsors the Campbell F.T.A. Chapter along with the OHS yearbook and the "Mustang Tale".

Other outstanding scholastic achievements are first local president of C. T. A., '55-'56; served on Lamb County Teachers' Executive Board for three years; president of Lamb County Teachers; delegate to T.S.T.A. Convention; recording secretary of District XIII English Workshop; member of District XIII T.E.P.S., legislative and welfare committees; president and vice-president of Delta Kappa Gamma, holding each office two years each; directed the junior and senior plays, director of prose and poetry reading in Interscholastic League; sponsor of the FTA for eleven years; and has taught school for twenty-five years.

FISHING AGREEMENT SIGNED--Texas and Louisiana fishermen soon will be able to fish in boundary waters of the two states with license or exemption from either.

Parks and Wildlife Commission signed such an agreement with Louisiana officials. It takes effect in 30 days and applies to Sabine Pass, Sabine Lake, Toledo Bend Reservoir and Caddo Lake.

PWC Chairman Will Odum said this reciprocal arrangement climaxed two years of work. He expressed hope that Texas can work out similar pacts with Arkansas and Oklahoma.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

State attention continues to center on the embattled Texas Liquor Control Board.

Speaker Ben Barnes appointed a special subcommittee from the House State Affairs Committee to study possible changes in the election laws. Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, committee chairman, also heads the subcommittee. Other members are Reps. James Sluder of Naples, Bill Clayton of Springlake, Cletus Davis of Houston and Roy Garwood of San Antonio.

Cory stressed that the committee will not investigate Board operations. It will look into the cumbersome liquor laws which have not been modernized since they were first adopted in 1935. Chairman Cory says the panel will be ready with its recommendations (which conceivably could include legalization of liquor-by-the-drink sales) "whenever Governor Connally calls a special session of the Legislature."

LCB itself has drafted a set of recommendations which include the provision that no private clubs, veterans or fraternal organization can serve liquor over the bar industry areas without local-option election approval.

A veteran lawman, O. N. (Newt) Humphreys Jr., was chosen by the Board to take the vacant job as assistant to Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. Humphreys, 43, is a native of Brenham. His father was chief of police there. The new LCB assistant chief has been with the Texas Department of Public Safety since 1948 and for 11 years has been head of its intelligence division.

His selection led to speculation that the LCB might in a few months move Humphreys up to administrator. But Stevenson said that he has no intention of resigning while the agency is under fire.

In a unique way, the LCB situation got involved in the governor's race. Lieut. Gov. Preston Smith was critical of the decision by Barnes to name a special committee. Then Eugene Locke of Dallas, one of Smith's opponents in the Governor's race, said the liquor laws obviously need revision and that Smith should have provided leadership toward that end.

Gov. John Connally's declaration that state legislators have been involved in "influence peddling" efforts with Stevenson, and his refusal to grant special treatment kept his salary down, led to some checking.

A study of the appropriations laws for the past 10 years shows that Stevenson's salary was generally held to about $4,000 less than those of comparable department heads. It was only last Sept. 1 that his salary was brought to within $1,000 of two other agency heads.

SPECIAL SESSION TALKS--With all the 1968 candidates now on the line and campaigns still in low gear, favorite capitol speculation is the date of the upcoming special legislative session.

Governor Connally must call one in order to pass a 1969 budget and a new tax bill. This has to be done before Sept. 1, start of the next fiscal year. Otherwise, there will be no money for continuation of state services.

Big question is when? It has been widely assumed that Connally will wait until around June 3 when the primary elections will be over.

Since the governor said that he may ask legislators to consider liquor-by-the-drink legalization and conflict-of-interests curbs, speculation on the session's date has flared anew. It is felt that he may have an earlier date in mind, like maybe March 4. Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel "predicted" this starting time in a Valentine Day letter to senators. Later he said he wrote with "tongue in cheek" and wasn't really serious.

Arguments run something like this:

* FOR JUNE--Legislators won't vote for a big tax bill with elections starting then in the face, and will resent having campaigns interrupted. Early session would put friends as well as foes on the spot and might result in defeat of some. Lawmakers are reluctant to vote for tax measures until the last minute, anyway; and along about July and August, they can't put it off any longer.

* FOR MARCH--After their election lame duck legislators would be rebellious toward any tax program or other controversial measures submitted by the governor. More time might be needed to pass a major tax bill than would be allowed by a June session. New Democratic nominee for governor will be known by June, and the legislators may be inclined to look to him for leadership and ignore Connally's proposals.

Only man really in a position to know is John Connally. He says he hasn't made up his mind--and might not for several weeks. But adds: "Any date is a possibility."

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED--Governor Connally selected Consumer Credit Commissioner Francis A. Miskell as a member of state Constitutional Revision Commission.

Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, senate president pro tempore, has been designated state campaign manager for gubernatorial candidate John Hill. William F. (Bill) Carter, press secretary to the governor, will return to his old job as DPS public information officer on March 1.

James J. Kelly will serve as acting executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Kyle Thompson, capitol bureau head of United Press International, is handling press relations for gubernatorial candidate Eugene Locke.

COURTS SPEAK--Texas Supreme Court has held that: Cities should not license door-to-door insurance salesmen (in a case originating in Hillsboro); City of Beaumont and its music commission are not responsible for injuries to a woman who fell while attempting to return to her seat at a concert in the city auditorium; Henderson County district court must consider a land vacancy claim; a jury trial must be held in an Amarillo man's suit against a railroad after the driver of a car in which he was a passenger crashed while trying to avoid hitting a train.

High court also agreed to hear arguments on March 27 in a San Antonio case involving a father's right to prevent a divorced wife from legally changing the name of their child.

Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the death penalty assessed 19-year-old Johnny Rudy Enriquez for murder of a Beeville nurse--one of five persons he was accused of slaying within six hours April 25, 1966. Trail of death extended from Corpus Christi, through Beeville and into Wilson County.

OIL DEMAND--Continued blockage of the Suez Canal and the TAP pipeline in the Middle East again has zoomed demand for Texas oil.

Railroad Commission increased February oil production allowable from 47 to 49.6 per cent of potential, retroactive to February 1. Commission set March factor at the same level, responding to demand by producers.

New allowable will permit maximum production of 3,732,485 barrels a day, compared with 3,588,958 under 47 per cent factor.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES--State Department of Public Welfare is required to make "medicaid" payments direct to doctors and hospitals for medical care of welfare recipients, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that: Public junior colleges are local educational agencies, providing "public free" secondary education at public expense and subject to public supervision and direction; and the State Insurance Commissioner does not have authority to approve an amendment to an insurance company's charter which, in effect, transforms it into a commercial corporation required to have a charter from the Secretary of State.

DRAFT QUOTA UP SHARPLY--Texas draft boards

next month must furnish the largest monthly quota of young men for military service in nearly two years.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said the local boards have been called on to provide 1,948 men--most since the 2,012-man quota of November, 1966. Low point in the interim was 674 men last February.

This year's monthly quotas have been 1,165 men in February and 1,659 in January. National call for March induction is 39,000 men. All are for the Army.

ARCTIC RIGORS--Insufficient protection from extreme cold is responsible for the high death rate among Eskimo children, says a Canadian medical researcher. Mortality in the one-to-four-year-old group is 13 times the Canadian national average, according to Dr. Brian E. Maxwell.

ALCOHOLISM NEGLECTED?--The problem of alcoholism isn't getting the attention it merits, according to Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare John Gardner. In a report issued by the National Institute of Mental Health, he declared that alcoholism "is an illness--no more moral or immoral than tuberculosis or pneumonia or schizophrenia--and our ways of dealing with that illness have been shockingly inadequate."

'Texas' Auditions Set In Lubbock Monday

Actors - Singers - Dancers - Horsemen - from the South Plains who would like to have parts in the exciting musical spectacular "T E X A S" which plays in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park during the summer months will have an opportunity to try out in Lubbock. Auditions will take place Monday afternoon, February 26, from 2 p. m. until 6 p. m. and dancers should plan to stay a little later. The directors of the production, William and Margaret Moore, the Musical Director, Royal Brantley and the executive Vice-President, Raymond Raillard will hold the auditions. They will be in the Music Building at Texas Tech, recital hall number one.

Since the "TEXAS" production opens each act with grand choral overtures of singing and acting, everyone who tries out should be prepared to present a spoken selection (preferably something memorized which does not exceed three minutes) and a song. Music for an accompanist should be furnished. The directors suggest that applicants choose material which will show the range of their voices and emotions.

Five instruments accompany the show and the directors would like to interview and hear players of violins, guitars, banjos, accordians and double bass. Cast members must be available for rehearsal from June first on and for the performances through Labor Day.

The directors have already held auditions on the campus of West Texas State University, and have scheduled others for Portales, New Mexico and Arlington, Texas at Six Flags Inn. The Arlington auditions will be on March 2, 1968 will be the third season for "TEXAS". 125,000 people have already seen the show.

Scholarship Is Offered

F.H.A. Loans

For Emergencies

Emergency loans totaling $853,990 have been made by the Lamb County Office of the Farmers Home Administration since July 1, 1967, to help local farmers and ranchers recover from natural disasters. Truman J. Jones, County Supervisor reported today.

Mr. Jones said Lamb County was designated by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman as an area in which emergency loans could be made by the Farmers Home Administration to eligible farmers and ranchers because of the recent rains, hails, and floods.

One hundred and ninety-three counties have been designated by Secretary Freeman as areas needing an emergency credit source. As of December 31, 1967, over 2,300 emergency loans for nearly $14.25 million have been made in Texas.

In fiscal year 1967 over 4,100 emergency loans for around $27 million were made in Texas.

The program provides a standby source of credit for farmers and ranchers who cannot obtain emergency credit elsewhere. Repayment schedules vary according to purposes for which funds were advanced.

March 25 has been set as deadline for accepting applications for the Rildia Bee O' Bryan Cliburn piano scholarship offered annually at Baylor University.

This will be the ninth scholarship offered annually at Baylor University.

This will be the ninth scholarship to be given, according to Roger L. Keyes, chairman of the piano department at Baylor, who will receive the applications.

The scholarship was originally given by Van Cliburn, internationally known pianist, in honor of his mother for whom it was named. Cliburn was granted an honorary doctorate by Baylor in 1958.

Competitive auditions for the $1,000 scholarship will be April 6. Graduating high school seniors who demonstrate proficiency in performance and are recommended by their teachers as having high capacity for artistic development are eligible to compete.

The School of Music general student aid fund may also award other piano scholarships to deserving students.

Applications are available by writing the piano department at Baylor.

Carelessness KILLS
For the life of you... Obey these signs!
Railroad grade crossing signs and signals are too often taken for granted. They are there for your protection. They save many lives every year, but not those of careless drivers. For the life of YOU and your loved ones, cross crossings cautiously!

A railroad grade crossing is no place to play hero! Those few seconds you might try to save by beating a train could cost you your life. Trains can NOT stop on a dime. Cross crossings cautiously.

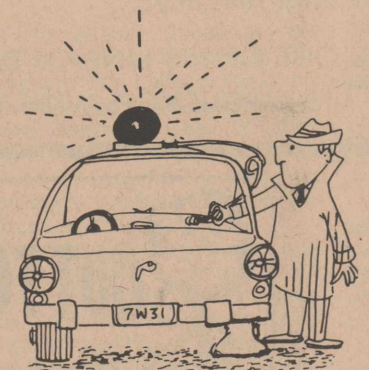

Year 'Round Driving Tips

Have you added your winter accessories to the car? How about that small shovel for digging out of deep snow? Have you picked up your snow treads? These handy gadgets, made of expanded steel sheet, can be shoved under the drive wheels when you're stuck on ice or in a rut. Guaranteed to help you move out of trouble. In a pinch, wire lath will do the job; when you plan ahead, snow treads are best.

When you're faced with a long winter drive, try to plan a route that has steel guard rail in the middle of the highway. More and more of the nation's highway builders are turning to guard rail as the single best way to cut down fatalities caused by head-on collisions. On a wet or icy road, the steel rail stands ready to make the difference between life—and sudden death.

Take a tip from the laws the truckers must obey and this goes for any time of the year. Truckers must carry fire extinguishers and emergency road lights. How about your car? Could you handle a sudden flame under your hood? Could a simple rear-end collision—just hard enough to crack open a gas tank—leave you uninjured but helpless to save your car when the first small flame starts? And on an unlighted super-highway, stopped with a breakdown, do you think the flashing lights on the back of your car are really enough protection? If not, carry one of the really big flashers, the kind that plugs into your cigarette lighter.

Sonny James To Headline Lubbock's ABC Rodeo

Country music singer Sonny James and The Southern Gentlemen will headline the 26th annual ABC Rodeo in Lubbock March 20-23.

James and his troupe will be featured at all four performances, according to Sam Ribble, Chairman of the Rodeo committee of the sponsoring Downtown American Business Club. The rodeo card is scheduled at 8 p. m. nightly in Municipal Coliseum.

Producer of the 1968 event will be Beutler and Son of Elk City, Okla. Wilbur Plaugher will return as rodeo clown and Clem McSpadden, Oklahoma Legislator, will serve as announcer.

A parade will kick off the annual event at 4 p. m. Wednesday, March 20. Persons, organizations or businesses desiring to participate are being urged to contact Don Workman at First National Bank.

Ribble said a ticket booth would open March 4 at Pioneer Hotel, which also will serve as rodeo headquarters. Red-jacketed ABC members will man the ticket station. Phone number of the ticket booth is PO5-8989.

Reserved box seats are $3.50 each. Other prices include reserved seats $3.00, general admission $2.50, student and military general admission $1.75 and the general admission for children 12 and under is $1.25.

The appearance of James and The Southern Gentlemen will mark the first time in several years that the rodeo has carded featured entertainers. James is a young veteran of entertainment. Born in Alabama, his early training was with his family troupe appearing throughout the South.

Following Korean War service, James was signed by Capitol Records and produced his first million seller, "Young Love." For the past three years, every single record he has released has been a national hit.

James has appeared in several movies and has guest-starred on a number of national television programs.

Proceeds from the annual rodeos here are used by the ABC to support youth activities in the Hub City. More than $12,000 in purses and added money are offered annually to the nation's top cowboys, many of whom are champions in the professional Rodeo Cowboys' Association.

on cotton futures trading will begin at 2 p. m. February 29 at the Koko Palace, 5201 Avenue Q, Lubbock.

Sponsored by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, the event will feature addresses by the three top officers of the New York Cotton Exchange, Inc. Each will speak briefly on one phase of the futures market and a liberal amount of time will be reserved for questions and answers.

Bob Poteet, Executive Secretary of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange said the seminar was arranged after many area cotton producers and others expressed an interest in the possibility of using the futures market as a hedge against next year's cotton prices.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. said "At one time the cotton futures market was an integral part of the cotton business and served various useful purposes. And as the Commodity Credit Corporation becomes less and less of a factor in the price of cotton it may be that some can again use the futures market to advantage."

He added that "To do so, most of us need a much better knowledge of how the market operates, and that is what the seminar is all about."

The organization, function and purposes of the NYCE will be discussed by F. Marion Rhodes, President.

J. Raymond Stuart, Chairman of the Board, will discuss market terminology and hedging operations, and the Exchange Secretary, J. William Donaghy, will explain financing and variation of margins.

Poteet said the Seminar would be open to all merchants, ginners, producers, and other interested parties.

As long ago as 1958 the makers of cotton-content writing paper were showing an interest in raw cotton fiber as a supplement to the cotton rags traditionally used in their operations.

Since that time they have run almost innumerable tests on gin notes, used all-cotton bale bagging and various grades and staples of raw cotton.

Working with them and supplying samples by the dozens has been Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. as a part of the organization's quest for new cotton markets.

Last week, ten years and a six-inch stack of correspondence later, PCG negotiated the first sale of raw cotton to be used in the manufacture of paper.

The sale, 100 bales of short staple, low grade cotton grown in Lamb County, was made to Crane & Company, Dalton, Mass. Crane is one of the leading manufacturers of fine writing papers in the U. S. and is also a major supplier of the paper on which U. S. currency is printed.

Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, said

"This 100 bales will be used in the first large scale test ever run on raw cotton fiber by the paper industry. It is a very small beginning, but it is a breakthrough toward which we have been working for years and there is reason to hope it will eventually lead to an additional market for over 200,000 bales per year."

The cotton sold had a loan value of around 8 and one-half cents per pound and was sold to Crane for about 12 cents, Johnson reported. "However, the important thing in this initial transaction is not price, but the fact that these 100 bales will be processed into paper and that the experience gained by Crane will be available to many other paper makers, all of whom are potential customers for this kind of cotton."

He noted that Crane has agreed to supply PCG with the names and addresses of 10 or 12 other paper makers who would logically be interested, and PCG will supply these with samples similar to those on which the sale to Crane was made.

Obtaining adequate and acceptable supplies of cotton rags has been an increasing problem for paper makers in recent years as more and more materials are made of blends with synthetic fibers.

And according to the Writing Paper Manufacturers Association this fact has seriously hampered development of markets for cotton-content paper.

In 1963 the WPMA and PCG made an effort to get Commodity Credit Corporation to release some of its rapidly building stocks of short staple cotton to the paper industry at prices the industry could afford to pay, but USDA declined to cooperate.

Also the possibility of growing cotton specifically for the paper makers on acreage in addition to regular cotton allotments has been explored. This idea has not been abandoned, but to date USDA has refused to authorize such plantings.

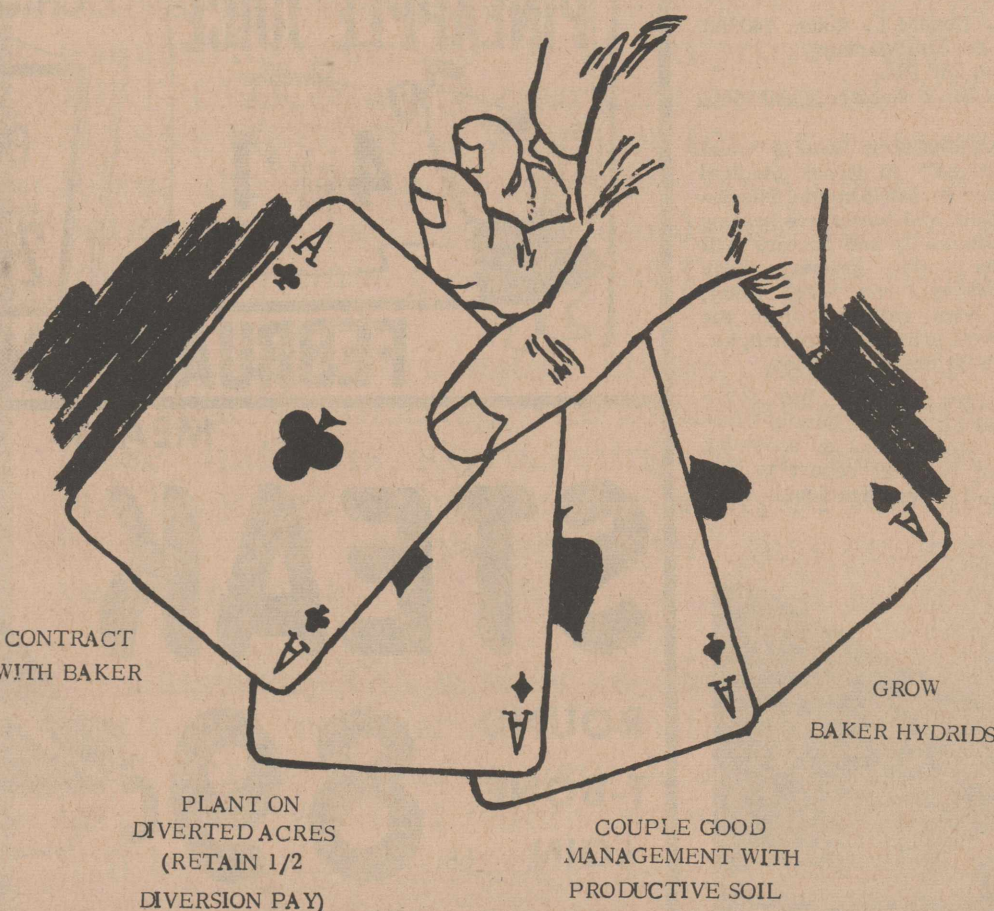

Paper makers do not judge the suitability of cotton for their operations on the same basis as does the textile industry. They are not interested in staple or micronaire, only in cleanliness. No staple is too short nor micronaire too low for their needs.

"We hope to prove with this first shipment that the paper industry is a customer for raw cotton," Johnson concludes.

"and whether that cotton is the low end of our normal production or is something we can produce on a high volume, low cost basis, it is still a significant step in the direction of a totally new market."

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated nine accidents on rural highways in Lamb County during the month of January according to Sergeant Thurman Keffler, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in three persons killed, three persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $8,240.00. April 15 is the deadline to have your motor vehicle inspected. During the past five and one-half months approximately 2,000,000 or 35 per cent of the approximately 5,750,000 registered vehicles in Texas have been inspected. This leaves 3,750,000 vehicles to be inspected in approximately two months.

The Sergeant reminded car owners that under new provisions of the law there will be additional inspection this year including: steering, wheels and rims, and front seat belts where the anchorages are part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

Motorists who wait until the last weeks of the inspection period may find that they will need to install seat belts. With the last minute rush, there may not be enough seat belt kits to take care of the demand.

MRS. E. N. BURRUS AND SONS ROY AND PAUL

Pioneer Lady Recalls Early Days

"They said I was born Oct. 27, 1877 but that's hearsay." Without the benefit of today's process of recording births, Mrs. E. N. Burrus, Lamb County pioneer, has to resort to hearsay to account for her ninety years.

Granting that the hearsay is correct, Mrs. Burrus was born ninety years ago in Bosque County in the Iredell community. Her father, Early Monroe Walling, farmed near the Spring Creek settlement, 12 miles from the county seat, Meridian. She was named Van Doney after a brother of her father's who had died shortly before her birth.

Some of her earliest memories are of walking about three miles to attend country school near Walnut Springs. It was perhaps at that school where her love of books had its beginnings.

Van Doney was fourteen when her father heard the stories of the opportunities in West Texas where water was good and there was lots of it and land for miles and miles, E. M. Walling was certain that a place like that "beat rocks and bushes".

When school was out that year, E. M. and Mary Ann Walling and their children set out by covered wagon for a better land. Six of their children would ride in the covered wagon and two would ride horseback. Walling took the precaution of bringing along an extra team of horses in case any should get away during the long trip. The family arrived in Floyd County - 450 miles from "home" - Aug. 1, 1891.

Within her memory is a whole "storehouse" of memories - events of the long trip by covered wagon - but her grandchildren and great grandchildren are not so impressed with those, "We've seen that on TV," they explain.

The young ones are a bit in awe of the way pioneers "managed", "What did you do if you ran without?" they asked, "We DIDN'T run out," Van Doney replied, "Pioneering was just a part of life," she concluded.

Edward Neal Burrus came with his parents to Floyd County three months before the Walling family's arrival. The families did not know each other but in later years Edd Burrus was to say, "I fell in love with her the first time I saw her."

The couple were married Dec. 11, 1898. Van Doney recalls that when she became a 21 year old bride, her husband was earning $25 per month cowboy pay. For three years before their marriage, Burrus saved from his $25-a-month so they could buy stoves, an extension table, sofa and other furnishings they needed. "Husbands didn't expect wives to work to help educate them," she recalls.

The next year the young couple moved to Lamb County. Van Doney recalls that "It was just prairie - no trees, Olton wasn't even dreamed of then. Hale Center was our post office and we opened sixteen wire gates to get there."

The Burruses built the first residence in Lamb County (the first house in Lamb County was built on the Spade Ranch in Lamb County but was built for a hired hand, The Burrus home was the first resident's house.) Edd and Van Doney settled southwest of the present town of Olton. Edd bought state school land for $1 per acre with 40 years to pay, at three per cent interest. "We took all of 40 years to pay, too," she recalls.

Edd and Van Doney had three children. Their youngest, a little girl, died in 1918 during a flu epidemic. "People really should be more frightened of flu," remarks Mrs. Burrus.

Their first son, Roy, was born Nov. 19, 1900. Mrs. Burrus had gone to her parent's home near Floydada about a month before Roy was born so that she might be near a doctor and have her mother to help care for her. Today Roy lives in Plainview.

Their second son, Paul, was born in 1903. The family had moved to a small claim near Portales, N. M. because Edd wanted to live where medical care was available. The family returned to Lamb County in 1903. Paul lived on the home place - just one-half mile east of the place where Van Doney and Edd built their first home - until his death last March.

Roy's son Tom Neal lives in Dumas. They have two children - Neal and Lisa. Paul and Margaret were the parents of three. Edd Lynn and his wife and one month old son, William Bentley, live in Paris. Naomi Ann and Deryl Machen live in Olton and have three children, Wade, 9, Vandi, 7, and Ky Paul, who is almost four. Charlie T. and Tommie live in Lubbock.

A homeloving person, Van Doney recalls how she used to draw her kitchen curtains together at night and say to her family "I'll shut out the world and let's be at home."

Asked once if she ever got lonely in those early days on the prairie, Mrs. Burrus replied that women were lonely "only if you let yourself be."

Mrs. Burrus has always enjoyed reading but her eyesight is failing and now she must use a magnifying glass in order to read. She never cared for fancy work - and pieced quilts only because of necessity.

In 1956 when Olton was celebrating its Golden Anniversary, Mrs. Burrus commented "you can take a lifetime and if you write all that happened during that lifetime, you'd have a library full". Truly, Van Doney Burrus has a "library" filled with memories. "Olton is a wonderful community" she declares. And she ought to know - she's known it all its life.

(EDITOR'S NOTE - Mrs. Burrus now lives in Heritage Home, 2510 W. 24th, Plainview.)

Seniors Should Register For College Classes Now

Texas high school seniors were reminded today that if they want to go to college this fall they should apply for admission now. A student who needs financial assistance should also apply to the financial aid officer at the college of his choice for any help for which he may be eligible.

This advice came from Dr. C. V. Galbreath, Higher Education Director for Region VII of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The region includes: Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, and Oklahoma.

Dr. Galbreath pointed out that Federally supported programs of loans, grants, and jobs are available through the colleges, but that many students are either not aware of them or do not realize that they should apply for them as soon as possible.

Throughout the Nation during this academic year, more than a million students are receiving assistance totaling over a billion dollars through four programs administered by the U. S. Office of Education, an operating agency of DHEW.

"The financial aid officer at a college frequently will put together a 'package' of aids for financially needy students," Dr. Galbreath said.

"Early planning helps the student know just where he stands, and it helps the college plan wise use of its resources for students."

The four major Federally supported programs, available for students in any field of study, are: The National Defense Student Loan Program, the College Work-Study Program, the Educational Opportunity Grants Program, and the Guaranteed Loan Program.

National Defense Student Loan Program

Most colleges and universities participate in the National Defense Student Loan Program, under which students borrow directly from the college they are attending. This loan program was the first Federally supported effort through the U. S. Office of Education to assist an individual student pay college expenses. Since the beginning of the program, authorized by 1958 legislation, more than a million students have borrowed over $1 billion. In Texas about 15,600 students are borrowing about $8,155,000 this year to help pay college expenses. Institutions provide $1 in matching funds for every $9 in Federal funds.

An undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year to a total of $5,000. Graduate students may borrow as much as $2,500 a year. The maximum for both graduate and undergraduate education is $10,000. Repayment and interest do not begin until after the student has ended his studies and may be extended over a 10-year period. Borrowers who become teachers may have all or part of their debt cancelled.

College Work-Study Program

The Federal government's next major forward move for students came with the College Work-Study Program authorized by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. Any student who needs a job to help pay college costs is eligible to participate.

This academic year some $7,582,000 in Federal funds has been allocated to provide employment for about 18,600 students in Texas. Federal funds pay 85 percent of the wages of student employees, and the colleges pay the rest.

Students may work for their college in dining halls, laboratories, or libraries, or in any job that advances the purposes of the college. Or they may work off-campus in public or nonprofit organizations, such as those in health, education, welfare, or recreation. Generally, students may work an average of 15 hours a week while attending classes fulltime and 40 hours a week during summer or other vacation periods.

Insured Loan Programs

The Higher Education Act of 1965 also authorized a loan program for college students. The National Vocational Student Loan Insurance Act of 1965 authorized a similar program of borrowing for students in business, trade, technical, or other vocational schools.

Under these programs, students borrow directly from their bank, credit union, savings and loan association, or other eligible lender. If a student's adjusted family income is less than $15,000 a year, the Federal government pays the entire interest (6 percent) during his school years and half the interest (3 percent) during the repayment period, which begins 9 months to a year after studies are terminated and may extend up to 10 years for college loans, six years for vocational loans. Lenders are protected against loss by a State agency, a private nonprofit agency designated by the State, or by the Federal government.

During the first quarter of the current fiscal year (July, August, and September, 1967) some 6,331 students in Texas borrowed $3,596,274.

Dr. Galbreath noted that during the past ten years tuition and fees along have increased nearly 50 percent for public colleges, and over 95 percent for private colleges. Today it costs students an average of $1,068 a year, including living costs, to attend public colleges and $2,222 a year to attend private colleges.

"This assistance to students arrives on the American educational scene none too soon," he said.

Educational Opportunity Grants

The Educational Opportunity Grants Program, which began operation in the fall of 1966 under the Higher Education Act of 1965, provides outright grants from colleges to students in such extreme financial need that without the grants they could not attend college. The grants range from $200 to $800 a year.

During this academic year about 12,700 students in Texas will receive grants totaling approximately $5,934,000. Colleges are required to match educational opportunity grants with other forms of student assistance.

Queens Appear In Plainview

Nashville Business College, national AAU champions six times running, makes its 1968 Plainview appearance Friday and Saturday night against the Hutcherson Flying Queens.

Both contests start at 8 p. m. in Plainview High Gym. Last year in Plainview, the Queens shattered a 58-game NBC winning streak in a 50-44 thriller. The NBC-Queen rivalry is probably the best known among women's basketball teams.

The Queens will bring a 17-2 season ledger into the Friday game, the only two blemishes coming at the hands of Nashville in games played in Tennessee. Nashville had to rally in both games after the Queens held one-point leads at halftime. The second game went into overtime before NBC pulled out a 48-44 decision.

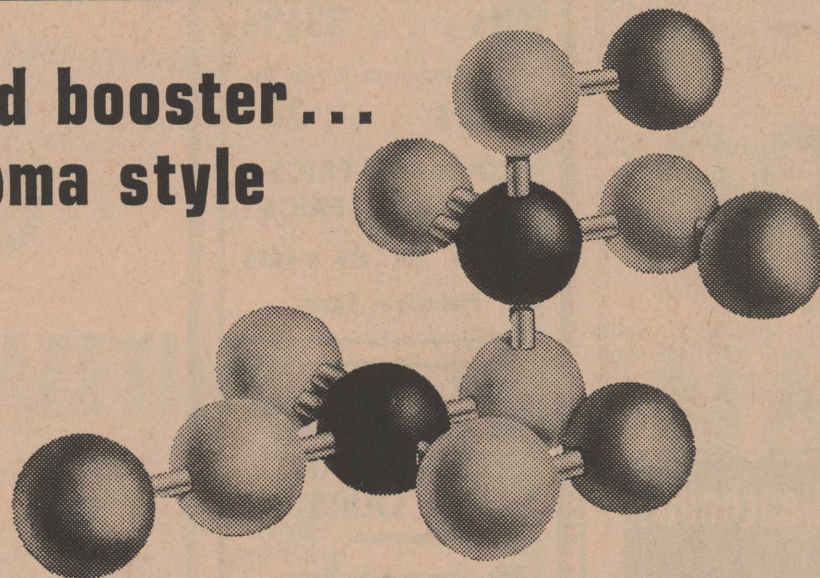

Three All-Americans will be in the starting lineups, Nera White and Joan Crawford pace the NBC aggregation while Lois Finley is a standout for the Queens, and a two-time All-America. Lola Ham of the Queens made the 1965 All-America squad.

Joining Finley, 6-0, at forward will be 5-9 Linda Pickens with 5-7 Diana Lewis and 5-6 Gayle Nicholas handling rover slots. Barbara McAninch and 6-0 Wanda Roe will start at guards.

A room filled with excitement, beautiful red and white sweetheart decorations, and dressed-up teachers and students was the scene last Saturday night at the annual FFA Sweetheart banquet.

The dinner of swiss steak was eaten and the entertainment from a group called the Hymnmen was heard. Later the Betty Crocker award was given to Sherry Moss, Outstanding Homemaker of the Year (Enterprise Award) was given to Teresa Thomas, and the first Crisco award to a junior FFA member was presented by Miss Hamilton to Rita Graham.

Steve Spain was crowned Prince Charming and Carrol Blackwell was crowned Best Beau.

Mr. Schultz gave the benediction. Everyone seemed to have a good time and it was one of the best banquets we ever attended.

Dallas-bound FTA'ers will leave Thursday morning to attend the State Convention in Dallas this year. Among outstanding events will be the speeches of such people as James Reese, Marilyn Van Derber, and Miss Teenage America Stephanie Crane. Jesse Lopez and his band will be the highlight one evening along with the Annual Awards Night. This promises to be an exciting time and we hope everyone will enjoy the trip. See you Sunday, FTA'ers!

"Where was it?" asked Carol.

"On the elephant," said the smart kid, just as brightly.

Mr. Walden: "Can you explain radio for us, Pat?"

"Are your mother and father in?" asked the teacher when the small boy opened the door. "They was in," said the boy, "but they is out now."

"They was in! They is out!" exclaimed the teacher. "Where's your grammar?" "Out in the kitchen making cookies."

He was recognized for producing 11,098.28 pound grain sorghum per acre. Hosts for the dinner were Don Spain of Olton Farm Supply and Damkroger of DeKalb.

Local Farmers Recognized At Dinner Meeting Tuesday

Fifty-nine local farmers were dinner guests of DeKalb Association and Olton Farm Supply Tuesday night at Hamill's Restaurant.

Purpose of the dinner meeting was to recognize area farmers who produced over 9000 pounds of grain sorghum per acre last year and to show DeKalb's five-point program for increased yields.

Leo Damkroger, district manager of DeKalb association, served as master of ceremonies, as well as narrating a portion of the slides which were shown. Other narrators were Keith Stevens of Texas Tech and Clarence Kerns, extension agronomist with DeKalb.

Following the dinner and program, a drawing for prizes of either a sack of DeKalb corn or sorghum was held with winners Tom McGill and Homer Worley being named.

Damkroger presented Ralph Wheeler of Edmonson a certificate of merit for producing a sorghum yield of 11,098.28 pounds per acre this year.

Other area farmers who were recognized for high sorghum yields were the Robertson Brothers, Gilbert, T. J., and F. A.; Amos Walden and Bill Langford.

Foundation Tests Include 51 Grain Sorghum Hybrids

Fifty-one grain sorghum hybrids were included in a performance test conducted under irrigation at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1967. Yields ranged from 7,027 to 9,082 pounds per acre and were higher than normal because of more timely rainfall in June and July.

The test was planted on May 16 and harvested October 23 and 24. Fertilizer was applied at the rate of 120-60-0 from ammonium phosphate and anhydrous ammonia. The crop received a preplant irrigation and 13.9 inches during the summer from three irrigations. Rainfall during the growing season amounted to 17.34 inches. The test area had been planted to cotton in 1966.

The 1967 research report will include the following information on each hybrid: yield, percent moisture at harvest, bloom date, plant height, exertion, head compactness, head length, and protein percentage. Also included in the report is a table listing the average yields for all hybrids tested during the previous five, four, three and two years. This report will be printed and issued to members of the Foundation in the near future.

Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist of the Foundation staff conducted the grain sorghum variety test.

Dimmitt Wheat Growers Offer New Contracts

Dimmitt Wheat Growers, Inc., this week put a March 1 deadline on the signing of corn contracts for its proposed new mill, and at the same time offered contracts to farmers who do not now hold common stock in the cooperative.

In opening the door to non-members, the Wheat Growers board indicated that the mill will probably need more corn than present members can supply. Directors made their decision as sign-ups passed the 50% mark.

The excess poundage available will be allocated on a first-come, first served basis to DWG members and non-members alike, General Manager Aaron Isaacs said.

Non-members signing corn contracts will be issued common stock as new members of the cooperative.

In a letter to stockholders Tuesday, directors of the cooperative said: "Sign-ups of contracts on the wet milling plant are continuing."

"The board of directors has authorized the offering of excess pounds to non-member farmers, who will become new stockholders with their sign-up."

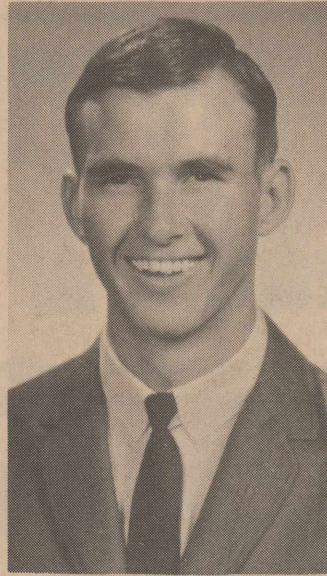

"All present stockholders will be able to subscribe to all pounds wanted if signed up by March 1, 1968. All contracts must be signed by March 1."

Main reason for the board's decision, Isaacs said is that many co-op members aren't getting to contract for as much corn as they had hoped to.

"The farmers are in an exceedingly tight money situation right now, and many are having to cut back on the size of contracts they actually want," Isaacs said. "In doing so, they're making this excess poundage available."

At its full capacity, the mill will grind 370 million pounds of corn a year, 115 million pounds more than the storage capacity of the Wheat Growers elevators. So to satisfy the mill's hearty appetite, directors decided that a broader base of member-contractors is going to be needed.

DOYLE MEADOWS

Doyle Meadows On Honor Roll

Doyle Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Odie Meadows, was named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the fall semester at Lubbock Christian College. Meadows compiled a 3.73 grade point average.

Meadows, a 1966 graduate of Olton High, is vice president of the Aggie Club and vice president of the L.C.C. spirit organization, the "Rootin' Roadrunners". He has been named to the 1968 Livestock Judging Team for L.C.C.

Meadows will graduate from L.C.C. in May and plans to enter West Texas State University to continue his education in the field of agribusiness. He received a $175.00 academic scholarship to further his education.

12th Duroc Winter Type Congress And Sale Slated

More than 400 hogs from 131 breeders in 16 states have been consigned to the 12th annual National and Southwestern Duroc Winter Type Congress and Sale, scheduled in Lubbock for the first time Feb. 23-24.

The 1968 event is scheduled at the Panhandle South Plains R. Carroll, secretary-treasurer of the Southwestern Duroc Breeders Association. Carroll said 40 bred gilts, 212 open gilts and 165 boars had been consigned to the show and sale.

Entries will be accepted on Feb. 22 and barrow judging will get underway at 8 a. m. on Feb. 23. Following a welcome by Bruce Henderson, Peoria, Ill., head of the United Duroc Swine Registry, and introductions by T. Euel Liner, Lubbock, president of the Southwestern Duroc Breeders Association, judging of bred gilts, junior open gilts, senior open gilts, junior boars and senior boars will begin. Later, a committee will select classes for the type conference.

A banquet and business meeting will be held at KoKo Palace at 6:30 p. m. on Feb. 23.

Carroll said the type conference and judging contest is slated to begin at 8 a. m. on Feb. 24 and the sale of open gilts and boars will be held an hour later. Winners of the judging also will be announced at the sale and carcass barrows will be discussed.

Harvey Richardson of Elmore City, Okla., will serve as judge.

Judging will be conducted in three groups --- men's, women's, and junior and/or team. Prizes totaling more than $200 will be awarded to the top three contestants in each of the three divisions. Five classes will be judged including barrows, open gilts and possibly one class of boars.

Judging cards may be secured at contest registration at 7:30 a. m. on Feb. 24. The contest is open to all Duroc boosters attending the congress.

Other special trophies are being offered by Lubbock area firms.

The 1967 congress and sale was the best in history for all breeds and indications point to even greater success this year. Officials stressed that although breeders consistently bring the best of their herds to the winter type congress and sale, even the hogs placing in lower brackets are still top hogs for breeders to consider.
