

Kennedy Predicts Severe Test

Study Not Completed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today he sincerely believes America's ability to maintain its position in the world will be severely tested in the next four years.

That was his reply to a news conference question as to whether he has been painting the U.S. picture blacker than it is "for shock purposes."

And Kennedy insisted his administration has not yet reached any firm conclusion as to the relative position of this country and Russia in missile strength.

There were published reports the last two days that Pentagon officials believe the so-called "missile gap" versus Russia did not exist—in short, that this country was as strong in missiles as the Soviets.

The New York Herald Tribune said today the stories to this effect were based on a background briefing held by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Kennedy said he had talked with McNamara and other defense officials, and that the secretary "stated that no study had been concluded in the Defense Department" which would lead to any conclusion at this time as to whether there is a missile gap or not.

The President added that it is hoped a preliminary study could be completed by Feb. 20. He said he hopes this country is "completely secure" as to the missile situation, but the answer is not yet clear.

Republicans in Congress had chortled over the reports that there was no genuine missile gap. Some of them had suggested that perhaps other "gaps" which Kennedy professed to see didn't really exist.

It was against this background that a newsmen asked whether Kennedy had been seeking to use "shock tactics."

This third presidential news conference for Kennedy, unlike the two earlier ones, was not televised. It drew 297 newsmen to the State Department Auditorium and brought questions ranging over a wide field.

Among the subjects touched on in announcements and questions and answers:

Prime Minister John F. DeLoach of Canada is coming to Washington Feb. 20 to discuss matters of mutual interest.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is making a study of policy in relation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and will have advisory help from Dean Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration, among others.

The Welfare Department is setting up a child health center to deal with the special health problems of children.

On civil rights, Kennedy said he believes students should be permitted to attend schools in accordance with court decisions made in desegregation cases. As to the situation in New Orleans, he said he intends to speak out on it "at such time as I think it is most useful and effective."

Asked if he might want to cut taxes to stimulate the economy, Kennedy said he once voted, in 1960, against an anti-recession tax cut in March but voted for one in June.

"We are going to take a new look at the economy in April," Kennedy said, to determine whether the economy will move upward by early summer.

He said he wasn't sure Congress would entertain a tax cut proposal now and added that before such a plan be put forward the administration should have a "clear view of the probable course of the economy."

The President said he hoped Congress would act now on aid to distressed areas, extension of unemployment compensation and other Social Security changes he has recommended.

On gold, Kennedy said his administration was trying to get West Germany to do more in the problem of stopping the outflow of U.S. gold.

He said West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano is coming to Washington and he hoped the matter will be discussed then.

Woman, 90, Turns In Driving License
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A spry, gray-haired woman walked into the motor vehicle department office and surrendered her driving license.

"I'd rather walk," said Eunice Cochran, 90. "The cars seem to come at you faster all the time."

Mrs. Cochran, mother of a municipal judge, has been driving since 1915. She has never had an accident and only one citation—when she made an illegal U-turn in 1953.

Mrs. Cochran said of driving: "It used to be a pleasure but not any more."

Contracts Extended By School Board

Snyder School Trustees went over a modest agenda of routine business last night at their February meeting.

The session was moved forward from Feb. 14 to avoid conflict with the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

In one of the few items requiring a vote, the board unanimously agreed to extend contracts of administrative personnel—with tenure up for consideration in February each year. Included were M. E. Stanfield, assistant superintendent; Doug Flynn, school business manager; Hardy Scarborough, school tax assessor-collector; and C. D. Henry, director of curriculum.

Wilson Hunt, representative of Pritchard and Abbott, the school district's valuation engineers, met with the board briefly and discussed values of oil properties in the district. Hunt said his firm is now in the process of calculating valuations for the coming year.

The board also reviewed school enrollment trends as a prelude to taking action on contracts to teachers for the 1961-62 school year. Supt. T. E. McCollum reported that enrollment apparently had leveled off at about 3,800 students.

Some half a dozen applications for the post of senior high school principal were discussed briefly, but no action was taken. Some board members indicated that they would favor filling the post as soon as possible. McCollum was instructed to secure and process any other applications for the post at an early date, preferably in time for presentation of recommendations at the next board meeting.

Wet Weather Coming Back

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow flurries occurred in Amarillo Wednesday and the Weather Bureau predicted a wet and cold weekend for most of Texas.

Skies cleared over most of the state, but some clouds lingered in the northern and extreme eastern portions of the state.

The five-day forecast called for more snow in the Panhandle, rains in other areas and generally milder weather during the weekend.

Light snow fell at Amarillo Tuesday afternoon but there was no overnight precipitation reported. Early morning lows ranged from 18 degrees at Amarillo to 42 at Laredo. Northeast Texas was still cloudy and some fog was reported in the Panhandle-Plains.

Maximum readings Tuesday ranged from 31 at Amarillo and Dalhart to 62 at Brownsville and Laredo.

Kennedy's Brother Is 31-A-Year Man
BOSTON (AP)—Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, has become a 31-year man in the office of the Suffolk County (Boston) district attorney.

A graduate of the University of Virginia Law School, he was sworn in Tuesday as an assistant district attorney. The job carries an annual salary of $7,700. Kennedy sought to serve without pay but, since state law forbids this, he will receive a token salary of $1.

No severe cold was reported in the storm areas. Freezing weather extended throughout the Northeast, the Great Lakes region, the northern and central plains and most of the Rocky Mountain area.

Readings were mostly in the 20s along coastal areas of the Pacific, Gulf and southern Atlantic, dropping into the 30s inland.

Burns Seeks School Post

Phil Burns, owner of Phil's Auto Store in Snyder, has filed as a candidate in the Snyder Independent School District trustee election.

A petition requesting that Burns name be placed on the ballot was signed by L. A. McClanahan, Claude McCormick Sr., Ed Bolger, Hilton C. Lambert, and Ross Williams.

Active in civic and church affairs, Burns filed the petition in the office of the school board secretary Doug Flynn Tuesday afternoon.

No seeking reelection to the board are Max West and J. W. Phillips.

The election is slated for April 1.

He had tried and chipped at the heavy double door, probably scraping and splintering his knuckles as the wood wore away until a final jab went through the wood so he could break the hasp. The hinges came easy after that.

Lifting the door to one side, he looked inside the store just overflowing with items to take away.

Then, horror of horrors, the patrol car which he thought would be across town by this time swung into the alley.

He just had time to run, empty handed.

He might even have watched as police officers and the owner of the store searched for him.

He just had time to prove that you can burglarize some nights and some nights you just can't get away with a thing. Or it could just be considered "Crime on Labor Lost."

On the other hand, though, Grover Scott, who owns the Scurry Saddlery where the break-in occurred, is a lot happier than he would have been if the burglar had been happy to find him.

Congo Action Chances Dim

By MILTON BESSER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—Lack of Soviet-U.S. agreement dimmed prospects today for any decisive U.N. Security Council action to ease the crisis in the Congo.

Despite the threat of spreading civil war in the chaotic new African nation, it appeared that the current council debate would wind up in another deadlock.

The council adjourned Tuesday night, with its next meetings to be held either Friday or next Monday. Members will confer privately, seeking some solution.

Hope for effective council action had been stirred by word that the United States was consulting privately with the Soviet Union and other council members in an effort to reach agreement on an over-all U.N. Congo policy.

Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate, said he was hopeful but not at all confident about eventual U.S.-Soviet agreement. He made the statement after a two-hour private meeting Monday night with Valerian A. Zorin, head of the Soviet U.N. delegation.

Zorin commented that he did not see any indication that the United States was seriously changing its position on the Congo. A spokesman for the Soviet delegation said the new Kennedy administration "has not brought a new approach."

Stevenson in his talks with the Soviets and other delegates suggested a package policy to include barring of outside interference in the Congo, neutralizing the Congolese army, reconvening of the Congo Parliament, setting up a government with a broader basis, and freeing of political prisoners, including deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Apparently this did not satisfy the Soviet Union, which has castigated Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld for his policies in condemnation of Belgium as an aggressor in the Congo, inclusion of such demands in any council resolution would make it unacceptable to the Western powers.

French delegate Armand Briand told the council Tuesday that attempts by the Soviet Union to convict Belgium of aggression were an old story, and that those who raised such charges were only trying to undermine the authority of Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

Bitter opposition to freeing Lumumba came from Evzariste Lohki, Kasavubu's special envoy to the council.

Lohki told the council that the release of Lumumba would perpetuate terror in the Congo and delay a political settlement. He said Lumumba, now in prison in Katanga Province, is guilty of "murder and oppression."

"It is for the Congolese law and people to judge Lumumba—not the United Nations," he declared.

C-C Panel Heads Named
Appointments of several committee chairmen for the new year were approved last night at a meeting of Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors.

The board also discussed some tentative projects and went into details of planning for the annual banquet scheduled for Tuesday night. The banquet, which will be held in the high school cafeteria and auditorium, will feature H. A. Barile, mayor of Kansas City, as the speaker. Tickets sales for the banquet have been underway for several days.

Committee chairmen announced last night included Gerald Johnson, agriculture; Charles Hartman, merchants; H. A. Johnson Jr., oil and gas; R. C. Patton, legislative; Truman Black, recreation; and Claude McCormick, tourist development.

Chairmen of the education and membership committees will be named later.

HOW'M I DOING DOC?—Mike, Fort Worth, Tex., Forest Park zoo gorilla, awaits the verdict of a checkup given him by Dr. C. D. Bourke, consultant veterinarian. The gorilla is recovering from an intestinal parasite, which he contracted after receiving a flu shot. The sickness, which attacks humans, but was not listed in veterinary manuals, was discovered when an internal medicine specialist was called to discuss an employee's illness and was filled in on Mike's condition. He recommended a pediatrician, who prescribed treatment he gives kids for the same illness and now Mike is feeling much better. (AP Wirephoto)

New Storm Lashes East

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mountain of snow blanketed almost all the Eastern seaboard today and new storms closed hundreds of schools and brought traffic to a standstill.

Snowbound New York City looked forward to more snow or rain and freezing drizzle. Mayor Robert F. Wagner continued his ban on all nonessential private auto traffic after he made a helicopter tour of the snowbound city. The ban meant another day of crowding on public transportation facilities as hundreds of thousands of automobiles remained buried along streets and parkways in the city.

With an ice breaker showing the way, 10 river craft started up the ice-choked Hudson River today to deliver more than 100,000 barrels of gasoline and heating oil for New York communities where shortages were reported. The bulk of the fuel was bound for Newburgh for distribution.

In Washington, D.C., the capital's snow-a-week schedule was right on time with a fall unofficially reported at 3 to 5 inches. Heavy snow warnings were out for northern and western Virginia and snow and sleet was spreading from North Carolina into southern Pennsylvania.

While Pennsylvania was attempting to dig out from last weekend's crippling snowfall of up to 24 inches, more snow lashed at the state. The Western part of the state bore the brunt of the new storm which dumped up to 4 inches of fresh snow there.

The eastern Panhandle of West Virginia got 6 inches of snow early today.

One storm dumped nearly a foot of snow in northwest Arkansas, the season's heaviest fall, as it spread into sections of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas and Oklahoma. But it tapered off during the night and only light snow fell this morning in parts of Kansas and northeast Oklahoma.

More than eight inches of snow fell in Roanoke, in southwest

Virginia, in a second storm that hit southern and eastern areas with snow, sleet and freezing rain.

A disturbance off the Carolina coast and over Kentucky teamed to produce wet weather from the Ohio Valley southward into the northern Gulf states and eastward to the middle and south Atlantic states.

The storms struck as many sections continued to dig out from winter's heaviest snowfalls of last week.

Snow continued during the morning over most of the Ohio Valley eastward into the Virginia. Rain damped areas to the south. Freezing rain, snow or sleet pelted a narrow belt between the snow and rain zones.

Up to four inches of fresh snow was indicated in Maryland and the east central Appalachians and one to three inches in the Ohio Valley.

Some snow was forecast for New York City as the gigantic task of getting the city back to normal operations moved forward in the wake of last week's snowfall of more than 17 inches. The snow was expected to change to rain or rain mixed with snow later today.

In the Midwest storm belt, seven inches of snow was reported in West Plains, Mo., north of the Arkansas border while snow flurries extended into Little Rock.

St. Louis was hit with a three-inch fall, adding to the seven inches already on the ground. Many schools in St. Louis and other parts of southern Missouri and northern Arkansas closed, as did some industries. At least two storm-related deaths were reported in Missouri.

No severe cold was reported in the storm areas. Freezing weather extended throughout the Northeast, the Great Lakes region, the northern and central plains and most of the Rocky Mountain area.

Readings were mostly in the 20s along coastal areas of the Pacific, Gulf and southern Atlantic, dropping into the 30s inland.

Daniel Tax Plan Pushed Back

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—A house leader predicted today that tax hunting legislators will cut their teeth on a general sales tax and income tax measures before getting a chance at Gov. Price Daniel's big payroll tax bill.

Rep. George Hinson, Minnola, vice chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee had that comment on House Committee action last night and reported for debate a measure to prohibit passage of an income or payroll tax by any legislature.

Daniel has "adopted" a recommendation of the state finance advisory commission that a one percent levy be placed on all payrolls. However, the payroll plan has not appeared for introduction and there have been reports Daniel is still searching for a legislative sponsor.

"It is the general sentiment of those of us who are in charge of committees that all important legislation get a run before House members," Hinson said. "I think (Rep.) John Allen should get a run with his sales tax bill. There should be a variety of tax plans to come to the floor on the permanent financing issue. I still think we should get to the deficit financing first."

Hinson predicted that when Daniel's tax bill appears it will be a drastically revised plan from the recommendations of the Finance Advisory Commission.

"I'm working on a broad based plan that will be close to a general sales tax but it will have the feature that payments can be used as credit against the federal income tax," Hinson said. "It doesn't mean anything to a taxpayer for him to realize that he has to pay a few cents sales tax in buying something. It does mean a lot if he can get credit on his income tax as high as that is."

The Senate devoted much of its time to local bills.

A bill setting up a radiation advisory board under the State Department of Health was passed 300 by the Senate and sent to the House.

The anti-income or payroll tax measure was the first proposed constitutional amendment to reach the House.

It was the first major move in the House on the question of taxes this session.

Dollar Day Extended

Did the weather keep you under wraps during Monday's Dollar Day event?

Well, Snyder merchants are going to give you another chance. In deference to Old Man Winter, Dollar Day for February is being extended and expanded for a big three-day period.

Dollar Day specials will be in effect at local stores on Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the convenience of those who were unable to get to town in the snow Monday.

And, of course if you did get out Monday, you may come back again during the three big days.

The special Dollar Days will be particularly timely since St. Valentine's Day is just around the corner.

AUXILIARY FIREMAN?—Gracing the grounds at the east fire station Tuesday was this sturdy fireman impervious to the cold weather but who yielded to the warm rays of the sun that bathed the Snyder area. Fireman Bob Haskell lets his son Steve adjust the fire "bonnet" as the group of boys who helped create the gentleman get set to use the excess snow for other purposes, mainly a rousing snow battle.

Stoneware On Display

A display of English Derby stoneware—unique imported dinnerware which is neither china nor earthenware but combines the best characteristics of both, is on display at Better Living, Inc.

Featuring historical bottles, flasks, mugs and pitchers, the exhibit includes a decanter in the shape of a derring pistol, believed to be the only one of its kind ever made. Other decanters are likenesses of famous British personalities of the early eighteenth century, such as Gladstone, Disraeli, and royal personages.

Also in the display, which is open to the public at no charge, are representative patterns of modern Derby, the stoneware made for a century and a half at the famous potteries near Derby England.

Stickney Is Granted Stay

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel granted a 30-day stay of execution Tuesday while the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans considered an appeal from Howard B. Stickney.

Stickney, condemned to death for the 1968 slaying of Mrs. Shirley Barnes, is under an indefinite stay of execution from the federal court.

The new execution date is March 10.

Mrs. Barnes' body was found in her Houston apartment. The decomposed body of her husband, Clifford Barnes, was found later in a brush 25 miles southwest of Houston. Stickney was tried only on a charge of slaying Mrs. Barnes.

Mexico Told About U. S. Problems

By JACK RUTLEDGE
GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP)—After two days of listening to Mexico's troubles, U.S. delegates to an interparliamentary meeting here are pointing out that the United States has problems too.

The meeting, first such in history, by reciting their nation's economic and social woes, they urged the United States to cut tariffs, ease trade regulations, make loans, and help Mexico in other ways.

U.S. Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., called a meeting Tuesday of the 21 other U.S. senators and representatives attending the meeting and urged them to take the offensive in a friendly way.

Mansfield suggested that they point out that the United States also has unemployment, a critical flow of dollars abroad and other major economic and social problems.

When Mexican deputy Manuel Yanez Rius urged a U.S. tariff policy favorable to his country's lead and zinc, Mansfield replied that many U.S. miners are unemployed and that unemployment through the United States is the highest since 1940.

Mexican Senator Francisco Velasco Curiel complained that U.S. firms operating retail, manufacturing and assembly plants in Mexico are taking more money out of Mexico than they bring in. Sen. Andrew Schoepel, R-Kan., replied that the American firms provide thousands of jobs for Mexicans and keep prices down.

Legislators from both nations stressed the exchange of views has been completely amicable and highly successful.

The Mexicans issued an unusual statement of thanks to President Kennedy for his "spirit of friendship and understanding toward Mexican producers" for not setting tariffs or restrictive quotas on henequen baling twine and cordage.

Mrs. Galyean was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by a private car.

GOLDEN BROWN FRANKFURTERS set in a corn bread base with a mustard glaze over all... humm... great for logging appetites.

Try Quickie Corn Dogies For The Children's Lunch

What is it? Corn Dogies! Really easy, too. Just mix up the corn bread base, place frankfurters on top and bake for a few minutes. Remove from oven, brush surface with mustard glaze and bake some more. Serve with a tomato sauce. While the corn dogies bake, toss a green salad, pour tall glasses of milk and lunch is ready!

The corn meal mixture is easy to make, just mix the dry ingredients, add corn meal, then the liquid ingredients! Here's an advantage of using corn oil... no creaming or blending necessary.

This recipe and many others are in a new booklet "All American Favorite Recipes" that is available free through a write - in offer on sacks of "Kitchen - tested" flour and bottles of corn oil, both available at your grocers.

Here is the recipe for Corn Dogies as tested in the kitchens:

CORN DOGIES

1 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar, if desired
3/4 cup corn meal
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1-3 cup corn oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
10 frankfurters
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. corn oil

Heat oven to 375. Sift first 4 ingredients. Add corn meal, 1/3 cup egg, milk, 1-3 cup corn oil, onion. Add to dry ingredients; mix quickly just enough to dampen flour. Pour into greased pan, 13x9 1/2". Make 4 diagonal slashes 1/4" deep in frankfurters. Arrange frankfurters, cut-side-up, on top of corn meal mixture. Bake 20 min. Blend mustard and 1 tsp. corn oil. Remove Corn Dogies from oven; brush surface with mustard - corn oil mixture. Bake about 20 min. longer, or until lightly browned. Serve with catsup or a tomato sauce. 5 to 8 servings.

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Hold Celebration

The Snyder Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodge members celebrated the second year of the organization in Snyder, Feb. 4, at the IOOF hall, despite the bad weather.

Jess Waller gave the invocation, after which a supper of ham, beans and potato salad was served to 82 members and visitors.

Leonard White, Noble Grand of the local IOOF was master of ceremonies. He welcomed all members and visitors, then presented Jess Waller, Lodge Deputy, who introduced the local lodge officers. Joe Vincent, secretary gave a report of the activities of the lodge from Jan. 1960 through Jan. 1961.

Dorothy White, Lodge Deputy for the Rebekahs, introduced the officers of the lodge. Rhodale Hatten, secretary gave a report of the lodge from the time it was instituted through Jan. 1961.

A skit "And What a Rummage Sale" was presented by the Snyder Rebekahs.

Other lodges represented were: Brownfield, Big Spring, Dublin, Tahoma, Rotan, Lubbock and Odessa.

E. V. Riley, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas and Mrs. Riley of Brownfield were special guests for the occasion. Both gave inspiring talks. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Eaves, formerly of Snyder and now of Odessa, were present.

Demby Says Facts Prove It's A Woman's World

By JOY MILLER

AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Men are always saying it's a woman's world.

The truth is, says Emanuel Demby, president of Motivation Research Associates, a double standard flourishes today that's loaded in favor of women.

Kitchen trick: a little lemon along with melted butter and minced parsley, does a lot for boiled potatoes.

Our culture, he explains, permits women fuller freedom in expressing their own images through the way they dress and behave.

Men are hemmed in by certain standards of conformity created by films, television, radio, magazines and contemporary literature.

Demby uncovered the double standard during research for an over-all psychological and sociological exploration of anxiety and tensions among men. Part of the study has just been completed.

An illustration of the double standard lies in the sexes' psychology of shopping. Demby points out, "Men will buy because they need something; women because they want to feel like something."

It works like this: The weather turns hot and a man needs a sports shirt. So he buys one—or about 80 per cent of the time, Demby found, he has his wife do it.

But a woman shops ahead for herself, in anticipation. She buys with the view in mind of what kind of person she will look like at a certain place—a demure matron at an afternoon function, a seductive siren at an evening party.

But a man feels he's subject to criticism if he doesn't dress or act the way he thinks he's expected to, according to his position. Subconsciously, he believes he's expected not to relax the standards set for his type of work.

The main reason shopping is foisted off onto the little lady is that a man would rather not suffer the anxiety of being seen selecting from the wide range of apparel—and the self concepts they represent—available on a counter. He would possibly be most attracted to a resplendent red and yellow plaid, but he wouldn't want anyone to see him buy it because he doubts it's the sort of shirt a big corporation executive would be expected to wear.

Research by Demby's staff of psychologists shows that sport shirt colors and patterns are an accurate barometer of a man's self-concept. Sexually secure and masculine men — and Demby found through cross-section sampling that this takes in 65 per cent of American men—wear what he has dubbed the market center shirt—the middle range in color and pattern, neither exhibitionist nor overly conservative. Less secure and boastfully masculine men—25 per cent—and sexually "hidden" and hostile men—10 per cent—tend toward loud, offbeat styles.

Johnson On Lighthheavy Pedestal

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Harold Johnson is the new National Boxing Association world light heavyweight champion, but he still isn't quite happy.
"I don't feel like I'm the champ yet," the usually taciturn Philadelphia said in his dressing room Tuesday night after stopping young Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis in the ninth round to win the blessings of the NBA.
"When I beat the old man (Archie Moore) I'll get that feeling." Moore knocked out Johnson in the 14th round in Johnson's only other shot at the title. The NBA whisked the crown from Moore's furrowed brow when he took an indifferent attitude toward defending it.
The sharp-featured, muscled Johnson has been seeking a return bout since that 1954 kayo, with frustration piling on frustration. Tuesday night he put his frustration to work. Usually a cautious fighter, he suddenly turned tiger.
He put Bowdry on the canvas

three times in a classic variety of poses, and after the third knockdown referee Cy Gottfried decided the wobbly, woony, rubber-legged youth was in no condition to continue.
The end came in 45 seconds of the ninth round. The record crowd of 4,017 which paid a non-record $20,529.50 started whooping.
Johnson was the artist. Bowdry the tenacious bulldog making himself a difficult target. The first few rounds were uneventful. Late in the sixth Bowdry landed a couple of good punches, and suddenly became too brave. He drove in again, and was clipped by a left hook. He started to throw another punch, but suddenly fell apart in a delayed action fall. He took a count of nine.
With two seconds to go in the eighth a right and left combination dumped him in a jackknife pose. He was resting on the back of his neck when the gong sounded.
Johnson was a whirling pinwheel of action as the ninth opened. He threw punches from everywhere, with a solid left to the midsection the clincher. Bowdry went down for the final time, and would have been a sitting duck when he arose had not the referee intervened.
John Barberich, 6-foot-8 senior, is the tallest man on the UCLA basketball squad.

He's Funny That Way

SPRING VALLEY, N.Y. (AP)—Floyd Patterson must prefer horror movies to happy endings. The world heavyweight boxing champion watches the films of his first fight with Ingemar Johansson—not the second.
As Patterson was knocked down seven times in the first fight when he lost his title, and flattened into the second time around, it seemed like a strange choice.
"The first fight is when I made the mistakes," explained Patterson to newsmen visiting his training quarters at a country club. Did Patterson expect to abandon his peck-a-boo style?
"I don't think so," he said. "Did you think I did in the work-out? I was trying different things. But in an actual fight, I would have my hands back up there." (Patterson's peck-a-boo style, in which he holds both hands high to block off head punches, has been criticized by many.)
Patterson, who plans to leave for a Florida camp next Tuesday, said he weighed 190 "about a week ago" when he last stepped on the scales. That is six more than he weighed for his second fight with Johansson last June.
"I am not trying for any particular weight," he said. "Whatever comes is all right with me. I like to work with heavy sweat pants. Before other fights they were afraid I would take off too much weight so I boxed in trunks only. But this time I have weight to spare."

Hurling Spot Is On Youth

By HARRY JUPITER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants expect two of the youngest pitchers in the major leagues to provide their 1-2 mound punch this year.
The youngsters with the big responsibility are southpaw Mike McCormick, 22, and right-hander Juan Marichal, 23.
McCormick, 15-12 last season, was the earned-run king of the National League with 2.70. He signed his 1961 contract Tuesday for an estimated $25,000, described by Giants Vice President Chub Feeney as a "very good raise."
Marichal, a poised second-year man from the Dominican Republic, was 6-2 and had a 2.66 ERA but didn't appear in enough games for eligibility for the title. He joined the Giants after mid-season and won his first four starts.
Feeney said he and Alvin Dark, the Giants' new manager, figure on McCormick and Marichal as the nucleus of the pitching staff.
Among the others in the "solid six" are veteran right-handers Sam Jones, Jack Sanford and Stu Miller and southpaw Billy O'Dell. The big problem is dependable relief pitching and current plans are for Jones, Sanford and O'Dell to also work in relief.

Yale football star Bob Blanchard is on the Eli hockey team.

Tech Marks Up Ozark Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas Tech won the big road test with Arkansas Tuesday night and took a strong hold on the Southwest Conference basketball championship.
While the Red Raiders were knocking over Arkansas 72-66 only Texas A&M of the runnerup teams could come through and the Aggies beat Rice 79-59 to pull into undisputed second place, a game back of Texas Tech.
Texas, the defending conference champion, was dealt a serious blow by Southern Methodist and fell two games off the pace and Methodists raced from behind in the last eight minutes to topple the Longhorns 70-63.
Texas, Arkansas and Southern Methodist are now tied for third place with 4-3 records.
Texas Tech had to come from behind to lick Arkansas but the Red Raiders did it with a flourish, overcoming a 14-point deficit in the last 12 minutes to hand Arkansas its first loss on the home court this season.
Shifts in defense told the story in the two top games. Texas Tech went into a zone to hold Arkansas to two field goals while the Red Raiders were banging in the points, surging to a 67-59 lead with three minutes remaining. It was giant Harold Huggins who did the big job. The 6-9 star flipped in 25 points and took 12 rebounds in pacing Tech to its important victory. It made Tech's record 6-1 compared to A&M's 5-2.
Southern Methodist also changed its defense and pulled out over Texas. The Longhorns rattled SMU's zone in the first half but the Methodists came out with a man-for-man in the second period. Texas could manage only 11 points in the last eight minutes while SMU was scoring from all directions. Al Almanzo of Texas was high point man with 21. Jon Larson and Jan Loudermilk led SMU with 16 and 15 points respectively.
Texas A&M broke the game with Rice as the first half was coming to a close. Carroll Broussard, the magnificent Aggie, plopped in a field goal to push John O'Donnell has been Yale's head wrestling coach since 1945.

A&M ahead 21-19 and it never was headed. Broussard scored 19 points to lead the Aggies. Ollie Shipley had the same total for Rice.
Texas Christian beat Baylor 85-77 for its second conference victory of the campaign while Baylor was losing its seventh straight. The Horned Frogs were hot from the floor with 80 per cent but Baylor outgassed the Frogs 30-28. On the free throw line, however, TCU got 27 out of 38 and that's what won the game. Baylor managed only 17 of 22.
There will be no more action until Saturday night when Arkansas plays Rice at Houston. Texas Christian and Texas A&M battle at Fort Worth, Baylor and Texas joust at Austin and Southern Methodist engages Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Snyder Surprises Sweetwater, 63-57

Ware Hits 22 To Pave Way

By Jerry Jackson

News Sports Editor

Snyder's fighting Tigers scaled the heights here last night, as they rose up to throttle the arch-rival Sweetwater Mustangs, 63-57, to virtually eliminate the Ponies from title consideration.

As expected, district kingpin Lamesa had little trouble in mauling winless Lake View, 54-49, in other action of the night, the win upping their 3-3A record to 6-0 and dropping Lake View to 0-7. The Snyder victory boosted the J. P. Wardmen into undisputed possession of second place at 5-2, a half-game in front of unseeded Sweetwater, which fell to 4-2.

The Tiger "B" boys had an easy time of it in a preliminary encounter, rolling over the visitors by 60-39.

It was an uphill battle for the varsity five, which was making its final regularly scheduled home appearance of the season. Sweetwater led throughout the first quarter of play until Weldon Ware, who was the game's leading scorer for the night with 22 in addition to his playing an outstanding floor game, drove in for the go-ahead bucket with 10 seconds remaining in the stanza. That goal gave Snyder its first lead after a raft of heart-breaking run-outs had kept the local effort handcuffed almost completely during the early stages.

The Tigers failed to connect on a field goal until midway through the first period, at which time Ware hit a short jumper to break the drought. Prior to that, the Mustangs had leaped out to a quick 8-1 lead behind the close-in wizardry of big Billy Belew, who borders on the unstoppable underneath the basket.

After taking the scant 16-15 first stanza lead on the strength of Ware's late goal, the Bengals began to find the range, and dominated second quarter play in leading all the way until the final 15 seconds, at which time Ronnie Turnbow meshed a pusher from the side to pull his mates into a 29-29 halftime deadlock. Twice during the quarter Snyder held 6-point advantages, however, until the late Pony surge brought the visitors roaring back into contention.

The third quarter was a nip-and-tuck one, which saw both teams swapping the lead on numerous occasions. Tiger guard Steve Free angled one in from 20 feet out as time was drawing to a close in the period, however, to put Snyder into a permanent lead of 43-42. Ware followed up by driving the length of the court with some neat ball-handling fakery at the expense of Mustang defender Joe Gerald, sinking a crisp to up the count to 45-42 as the quarter ended.

Late in the game Sweetwaters two spark plugs burned out via the foul route, as Belew was canned with 2 minutes left, and was followed by teammate Ronnie Turnbow, who met his demise 9 seconds later. The Tigers held a 55-49 lead at the time, and removal of that vital pair put the final crusher on the Mustang hopes of winning. Another Pony, guard Rinaldo Sepeda, was charged with his fifth foul as 3:42 was left to be played in the third quarter.

Four Bengals ended the game with four fouls each, but none received the fifth and fatal one. In addition to Ware, four other Tigers hit for double figures, as Charlie Gladson garnered 18 and Free and Pooch Hatter added 10 each.

Belew paced the losing effort with 20, while Red Tindall and Turnbow followed up with 11 and 16, respectively.

Both teams capitalized on charity tosses, with Snyder sinking 21 of 29 and Sweetwater making good on 25 of 36.

Center Larry McNair powered his mates to victory in the "B" game, scoring 11 of his 19 points for the night in a big first quarter to boost the Tiger Bees into a 20-10 advantage as the period ended.

That 19-point spurge gained him high point honors for the night, although teammate Tim Marcum nipped at his heels in that department with 17. Tommy Cooper and Johnny Mitchell followed up with 13 and 7, respectively, to account for the bulk of Tiger scoring. Clarence Brock was top Mustang with 12 for the evening.

The Tiger "B" as a team hit 21 of 44 field goal loftings for the game for a 47 per cent average. Cooper was tops in that department with a successful 5 of 7, while Marcum had 7 of 14 and McNair 6 of 15.

Hermleigh Cards Gain Playoffs; Bulldogs Bumped

The District 22-B cage race got itself "lined out" last night, as second-half winners for the race were arrived at. Second-half winner Hermleigh will vie against Westbrook in a best of three series for the boys title, while the girls crown will go to the victor of the Ira-Westbrook series.

Powerful Hermleigh whopped Hobbs' Panthers last night, 51-27, to gain the playoff slot against Westbrook, as Ken Bell meshed 19 points toward the winning total. Chindo Soto was top for Hobbs with 10.

The Hermleigh girls completed the sweep of the night by clipping Hobbs, 54-42, behind the 27-point output of Mariann Reeves. Goey Groves had 23 for the losing sextet.

The Ira boys had their last title hopes dashed by Westbrook, as they went down by a 38-49 count. Jesse Watson triggered the winning attack with a 21-point outburst, while Donnell Eubanks and Robert Sterling each chipped in 14 for the Bulldogs.

Westbrook also won the girls game, 49-45, with Ira's Lena Farmer garnering high point honors with 26. Westbrook's Conway was high for her team with 24.

Terry Fox, Detroit Tiger rookie pitcher obtained from Milwaukee, won 21 games for New Iberia, La., in the Evangeline League in 1965.

Jack Sanford led National League pitchers in shutouts last season. He tossed six for the San Francisco Giants.

Fluvanna and Loraine clashed in other action of the evening, with Loraine's boys marking up a 62-24 victory. Martin was top man for the victors with 21. Joe Zapata topped the Buff effort with 12.

LeJean Berryhill amassed a gargantuan 51 points in leading the Fluvanna girls to a 60-24 win over Loraine in the opener. Annette Browning was Loraine's guiding light with 13.

Dates for the playoff series have not as yet been set, but the action should get underway early the coming week.

Travis 9th Biffs Goliad

BIG SPRING—The Blue Devils of Travis 9th carted home a 46-33 victory from Goliad of this city here last night, but the Snyder 8th and 7th grade quintets were edged out in other games of the evening.

A good defensive second half made the difference in the 9th grade clash, as Goliad sported a 22-21 lead at halftime before Travis came back in the final two quarters to break the game open.

Jackie Stewart was high for the Blue Devils with 15. Billy Stewart was top rebounder with 17, in addition to scoring 11 points of his own.

Over the course of the game, Travis completed 12 of 18 free tosses, and held a 51-43 edge in rebounding.

Travis 8th was upended, 40-38, in its game against the Big Springs, as Goliad's White broke the Blue Devils' backs with a 26-point onslaught.

Leslie Brown was top man in the Travis attack with 16 points. Travis 8th was also as adept as its 9th grade counterpart at the free throw line, hitting 16 of 24.

Travis 7th was nipped, 17-16, in overtime in the remaining game of the night.

The count was even-up at 13-all at the end of the regulation time, with a late foul and winning free throw spelling the Blue Devil doom in the deciding overtime period.

Marvin Mayfield of Travis was top scorer of the night with 8, while Goliad's Anderson led his team with 7.

Point totals followed:

Travis 9th—Jackie Stewart 15, Roy Rice 14, Billy Stewart 11, Rex Akin 4, Jerry Rose 2.

Travis 8th—Leslie Brown 16, Gary Bergeron 11, Jimmy Featherston 4, Kenneth Dover 2, Bobby Kay 2, Ronnie Martin 2, Reed Robinson 1.

Travis 7th—Marvin Mayfield 8, Max Galyean 6, Donnie Newman 2.

Williams In Big Decision

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Cleveland Williams, Houston's "Big Cat," has pushed his record to 50 victories against only four losses in his campaign among the boxing heavyweights.

Williams won a unanimous decision over Wayne Bethea of New York in a 10-round fight Tuesday night — his fourth in a row since taking a beating from Sonny Liston last year. He has 41 knockouts.

Neither fighter was downed during the bout with Williams pressing the fight but Bethea's defensive tactics warding off most of Williams' good shots. Twice Cleveland stunned Bethea with hard rights.

Each weighed 208. A crowd of 4,200 paid $7,504 for Houston's first fight card of the year.

Lone Star Gas To Hike Investment

Lone Star Gas Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Lone Star Producing Company, plan to invest more than $9.3-million in the West Texas area during 1961 to maintain and strengthen natural gas service.

This expenditure is part of a record $33.6-million initial investment budget approved for Lone Star's service area during the year. The company now serves more than 857,000 residential, commercial and industrial natural gas customers in and around 462 cities, towns and communities in Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

Of the $9.3-million expenditure planned for West Texas, some $1.8-million will go for service lines, meters and regulators; extensions, fortifications and replacement of distribution mains; warehousing and office building improvements; and numerous other service facilities.

This money will be applied in Lone Star's West Texas Region of Distribution consisting of some 100 towns and cities comprising the Abilene, Ballinger, Brownwood, Childress, Cisco, Colorado City, Eastland, San Angelo, Seymour, Snyder, Stamford, Sweetwater, Vernon and Wichita Falls districts.

About $4.5-million will be spent on extension and replacement of transmission and gathering pipelines; construction of and additions to gasoline plants, compressor stations and dehydration plants. An estimated $3-million of this money will be used on construction of a 66-mile 18-inch natural gas transmission pipeline, dehydration plant and compressor station in the West Texas area.

The new pipeline to run from Gordon to Springtown will increase capacity of Lone Star's transmission facilities by more than 100-million cubic feet of gas daily. The pipeline will link at Gordon to a 12-inch pipeline which terminates near the corner of Brown, Comanche and Eastland counties. At Springtown it will link with a 48-mile 20 and 24-inch pipeline to Northwest Dallas County. Construction of the line is expected to begin soon.

Lone Star's president, L. T. Potter, said that the new pipeline demonstrates the company's confidence in growth of energy demands in its present market areas, and confidence in West and West Central gas producers.

Company records show that during the past five years Lone Star purchased 278.3 billion cubic feet of gas from producers and gasoline plants in the West and West Central Texas areas.

Expenditures for drilling new wells in the West and West Central Texas areas by Lone Star's Exploration and Gas Supply division will exceed $2.5-million. In addition, some $1.4-million will be invested in leasing, seismograph work and other exploration costs.

At the end of 1960, Lone Star listed 137,443 residential, commercial and industrial customers in its West Texas Region of Distribution, representing an increase of 3,253 over the total customers served at end of 1959.

Potter said that the company's record budget of $33.6-million reflects the company's confidence in future growth of the West Texas area as well as in other parts of Lone Star's operating territory.

"We anticipate adding approximately 26,000 new customers during 1961 in our company-owned and operated distribution systems," he noted. "These additions will give us an estimated total natural gas customer count of more than 883,000 at the end of the year."

Champions Are Picked

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Tracy Sanders, of Clarendon, Tex., yesterday took grand champion honors in the Southwestern Livestock Show being held here.

Johnny Fuston, of Turkey, Tex., took reserve grand champion honors in the show. Sanders showed a Hereford while Fuston showed an Angus. Both captured the champion spot in their class and Rod Stone, of Donley County, Tex., 4-H, showed the reserve champion Angus.

Cora Libby, of Union County, N. M., showed the reserve champion Hereford.

El Paso got its first grand champion lamb in many years as LeLois Lutch, of Fabens, Tex., showed her Southdown lamb to the top spot. Reserve grand champion lamb was a Southdown shown by David White, of Fort Stockton, Tex. Champion finewool lamb was shown by Ruby Acton, a 4-H club member from Culberson County, Tex.

Rock at Niagara Falls is being eroded at the rate of four feet a year by the rushing waters.

Junior Editors Quiz on PIRATES

QUESTION: Where was Captain Kidd's treasure buried?

ANSWER: Find the answer to this, and you might find a chest full of gold. Men have been searching for the place for years and most of the searching has been concentrated in the area of Gardiner's Island off the New York shore. It was on this island that a store of hidden gold, found in 1699, was believed to be part of Captain Kidd's loot. Ever since, stories have circulated about enormous quantities of treasure hidden on the island and men have repeatedly tried to find them. The notion of hidden treasure is not far-fetched since pirates were known to go ashore on remote points to bury chests of gold rather than take the chance of being attacked and robbed by other pirates. Records—such as maps—were made of these hiding places so that at a later date or during another voyage, the treasure could be dug up and taken to pirate headquarters. Captain Kidd was born in Scotland and fought bravely for the British before becoming a pirate. He was arrested in Boston in 1699, sent back to England, and was hanged.

FOR YOU TO DO: An excellent story about pirates and how they operated is told in the book, "Treasure Island" by Robert Louis Stevenson. You should read this wonderful adventure story.

(Miss Hittendorf of Manhattan, Kan., wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner.)

Price Fixing Just Kept On Growing

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — How did the big antitrust conspiracy among most of the nation's makers of electrical equipment start? How did it spread? How did it work?

In corporate circles many claim it just grew naturally in an attempt to bring order out of a chaotic situation. The industry was plagued by frequent ups and downs, by price cutting in which only the big could survive, by inability of small companies to enter new fields.

So it turned to what similar companies often do in Europe, to what was done here during the depression under the NRA.

Once started, price fixing and market dividing kept on growing. The federal government says operations became almost perfect in the industry which averages $2 billion sales a year. Some executives borrowed methods very probably had read in whodunits.

Fines for what the government calls a cynical and long-established violation of antitrust laws come to almost $2 million and more starting to many business-men—seven of their colleagues are sentenced to jail for 30 days.

The Justice Department scoffs at company pleas that the deals actually were good for both the makers of the big gadgets and the public and customers because market stability benefits all. The government says the customers—public and private—were faced with rigid bids to maintain or raise prices and give all hands a predetermined percentage of the business. Good for business maybe—but against the law.

Getting started was relatively simple, as shown in the statements by government and defense attorneys before Chief Judge J. Cullen Ganey in U. S. District Court.

In this specialized industry most executives knew each other and met frequently at conventions such as the completely above-board ones of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association. Shop talk after hours involves sales prospects, prices, bad times or good ahead, how cutthroat competition can be met.

Once it was decided to do something about it, more or less regular meetings were held.

Here's how it was done, as set forth by the government in charges to which companies and individuals pleaded guilty or no contention.

Prices were agreed upon and often business apportioned by seeing that companies took turns in making the best bid for a job. Sometimes rotation was made by frequent checking of market conditions. Sometimes it was automatic, each taking its turn at a prearranged time. Sometimes it was geographic—areas set up in which specified companies rotated with the winning bids.

The government charged, and defense attorneys admitted, two types of meetings: the high level at which prices and shares of business were set; the low level, at which subordinates saw to the rotation of winning bids as market conditions determined. (Some companies say their very top men were unaware of the practice at all.)

The bubble burst when customers complaining that American bids over the years looked too much alike and were well above foreign bids for the same equipment.

Meg, Tony Have Found New Butler

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones have found a new butler who has promised not to say—or write—a word about life in the royal household.

Frederick Collier, a quiet bachelor in his late fifties, signed a pledge of silence before assuming his duties at Kensington Palace over the weekend.

He replaces Thomas Cronin, who quit Princess Margaret's service after difficulties with her common-law husband, and then wrote a series of articles for a Sunday newspaper telling all about it.

Cronin, who not butties for a Miami, Fla., sports club, complained particularly that Armstrong-Jones used to snap his fingers to summon him.

Kensington Palace tried to keep the new appointment quiet but when the news leaked out a spokesman confirmed Collier had been hired.

Collier has a long string of references. He was butler to Earl Mountbatten, Princess Margaret's cousin, until the death last year of Lady Mountbatten.

Before that he was on the staff of the Duke of Gloucester, the Princess' uncle, when he was governor-general of Australia just after World War II.

Life Sentence Is Levied In Slaying

STERLING CITY, Tex. (AP)—Mike Martinez, 17, received a life sentence Tuesday for the slaying of Taylor Garrett during a filling station holdup April 17 after entering a plea of guilty.

Martinez was a juvenile at the time he was charged and was held by authorities until he reached the legal age for trial.

Our Modern Contemporary Homes

are perfect examples of LIVABILITY because they are a combination of the past and the present skillfully blended together to give that functional simplicity of design that offers you maximum space per square foot of material. Large closets in bedrooms provides more than adequate storage for a large family and makes it unnecessary to line your walls with the bulky wardrobe furniture of yesterday, thus you take advantage of your sleeping quarters.

Our Livability Contemporary homes are not modern just for the sake of being modern, but instead are a style born of AMERICAN ingenuity, a sturdy style, with it's roots deep in the culture of this country. Decorators suggest either Early American furniture due to it's small scale or clean line modern. The open and uncluttered plan invites relaxation and ease and the large glass areas provide a control center which allows you to watch the children at play from almost any part of the house.

Joy, Sorrow, Tragedy, Humor Flow Through Office Of Jp

Joy, sorrow, tragedy, and comedy, all flow through the office of a Justice of the Peace, and 15 years of being the Snyder JP has stored up a warehouse of memories for W. C. Davidson.

"About the funniest instance we have encountered was the frozen items some lady shoppers hooked to their undergarments," Judge Davidson said when questioned as to the highlights of his 15 years as corner, bond-setter, marriage counselor, etc.

The memory of the incident brought a twinkle to the eyes of the slight septuagenarian who went on to describe the report by the woman—who searched the trio involved. Wearing voluminous skirts they had been apprehended by the sheriff's department and a search revealed ice cream and other frozen foods tied to straps dangling from their girdles.

This brought to mind the recent case filed against two Snyder women who had stashed 6 half-pints of whiskey apiece inside their girdles and were arrested on suspicion of transporting liquor because they gurgled when they walked.

Other humorous events usually centered upon a human relationship, particularly family squabbles and "screaming ladies" fighting over fences who have been dragged to court and aired before Judge Davidson.

Sometimes just a simple marriage ceremony has a humorous side, the judge, who has read the wedding vows for 528 couples in

Sheffield Is Found Guilty

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP)—Brady Land Promoter B. R. Sheffield was found guilty on charges stemming from the Texas veterans land scandals in district court here Tuesday and was assessed a six-year prison term.

The 55-year-old land promoter was convicted of passing a forged document to the Veterans Land Board in 1954.

He took the verdict calmly but there were tears in the eyes of his wife and daughter who sat in court with him.

The chief defense lawyer, John Cofer, said the verdict will be appealed if a motion for a new trial is overruled.

The jury deliberated 1 1/2 hours. Final arguments by opposing lawyers took 5 hours and 10 minutes.

It was the second time Sheffield has been convicted in the case. He was assessed a 10-year prison term in a trial at Lubbock but the conviction was overruled by the Court of Criminal Appeals on a technicality.

15 YEARS OF MEMORIES are stored-up in the marriage book Justice of the Peace W. C. Davidson is looking through above. Weddings of all types and in all places, including one from his sickbed in the hospital, are among those listed in his little black book.

His office tenure, remarked, He went on to describe a frantic search by a first husband to locate the woman who thought she was his ex-wife but whose divorce decree was not yet final. The husband reached the Davidson house while the judge was performing the ceremony in another part of town.

"Death is always terrible," the judge said as he described some of the horror he met when first called upon to render a verdict as a corner in a motor accident.

"The poor fellow was knocked clear out of his shoes . . . they were on the side of the highway where he was struck by the automobile," he continued, adding descriptions of suicides, murders and accidents he has investigated.

The oil boom took the worst toll in deaths, he said, telling of countless times he had been called in one-room improvised shacks to pass on the death of a "man of middle-age in room with the inevitable bottle, glass and spoon."

Persons who have committed murder or felonies look much the same when they are caught and appear for arraignment in justice court as the ones who have been stopped for running a stop sign, the judge stated.

Judge Davidson started his 16th year as a peace justice this month, having been appointed in January 15 years ago, and has run successfully for the office since then. He plans to retire at the end of this term.

Excitement In 'Faust' Is Visual

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes have it in Broadway's new "Faust."

Brought to the stage of the City Center Tuesday night by an acting company from Germany, the production of Goethe's massive of visual excitement.

In other respects, the specimen of international cultural exchange is an arduous test of audience enthusiasm. The philosophic depths of what is more a poem than a play appeared to receive respectful rather than enthusiastic attention from first nighters.

"Faust" is being performed by the Deutsches Schauspielhaus Company of Hamburg, the first troupe to come this way from the Rhine country since Max Reinhardt's expedition in the 1920s.

The director and acting star of the ensemble is Gustaf Grundgens. Besides conceiving the drama with imaginative emphasis on stabs of spectacle, Grundgens enacts the role of Mephistopheles with versatile dexterity.

As Faust, the man who preferred sensual delight to future bliss, Will Quadflieg displayed a strange detachment. Only after the premiere was it disclosed that the actor had had a neck abscess operated upon a few hours previously.

Car In New York Is 'Frozen Asset'

By FRANCIS STILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—If there ever was frozen asset around here, it's the automobile.

Hundreds of thousands of them are entombed along the streets and parkways of New York City alone, not to mention the suburban areas. They're literally buried under mountains of snow.

If there should be another considerable snowfall soon, many of them probably won't be seen again until the Fourth of July. It's going to take a real summer thaw.

Two Teen-Agers Remain In Jail

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—Two teenage youths remained in jail today after they were unable to post bonds of $5,000 when arraigned on charges of murder in the rifle slaying of James Ray Merriam, 14, Jan. 29.

The youths are Robert Rothrock, 17, and Eddie Kimble. Sheriff Leon Jones said a complaint filed earlier against a third youth had been dropped.

Some of the vehicles are miles from home—abandoned as drivers bogged down Friday night in the midst of the latest big storm to hit the metropolitan area.

Drivers and passengers in their cars very nearly froze, too, before they could reach the warmth and safety of private homes, bars and other places of refuge. Getting home after that was quite an ordeal, also.

Practically every conversation here goes something like this: "Hi John how are you how did you make out the other night gosh let me tell you what happened to me."

Punctuation simply gets lost in the rush to tell—first.

One of the most critical areas in the city as on the Belt Parkway, a major three-lane thoroughfare which links the South and North Shores of Long Island through Brooklyn and Queens.

More than 1,000 men, women and children got stuck in cars there Friday night.

Plenty of the cars are still there, although the parkway has been partially cleared for emergency traffic only. Snowplows just shored them aside—as they did others elsewhere in the city—and then heaped even more snow on them.

One thing for sure, nobody is likely to steal any of them. It would take a thief days to dig most of them out.

Breakup Of Conspiracy May Be Followed By Civil Suits

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The government breakup of the giant conspiracy in the $2-billion-a-year heavy electrical equipment industry, halting illegal price fixing and bid rigging, may be followed by many civil suits.

Customers may seek to recover thousands of dollars, perhaps millions in alleged overpayments. Such action could be in the courts for years. The suing customer must prove he was damaged by price-fixing or bid-rigging. This is not easy, attorneys said.

Industry sources, meantime, said equipment prices remain virtually unchanged.

The intensive federal probe that began 18 months ago ended Tuesday as U. S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Ganey finished sentencing 29 companies and 44 of their top executives.

It was a two-day job in Ganey's courtroom where he imposed total fines of $1,224,500 and 30-day jail terms for seven men.

A 40th individual, too ill to appear, will be sentenced later.

There were 20 indictments in all, brought in by four separate grand juries. The 14 remaining were disposed of Tuesday, after Monday's five-hour session.

All the indictments accused the defendants of fixing prices, maintaining them at high and artificial levels and restraining, suppressing and eliminating competition.

The defendants either pleaded guilty or no defense. The judge said both were an equal admission of the charges.

Company fines, totalling $1,767,000, must be paid within 10 days. Individuals, assessed $137,500, must pay within 30 days.

The seven jailed will serve their prison terms, starting next Monday, in the Montgomery County Prison at nearby Norristown, Pa.

The industry's two biggest firms — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. — bore the brunt of the penalties. Government lawyers said they do over 60 per cent of the total business.

GE was fined $427,500. Westinghouse $382,000. Sixteen GE executives, three of them ordered jailed, were fined $35,000, while 14 Westinghouse officials must pay $27,000. Two of them to go to jail.

The industry supplies most of the equipment for transmission, generation and distribution of electric power to operate television sets and loasters in virtually every American home.

The transformers, oil circuit breakers, watt hour meters, insulators and other items help operate submarines, battleships, atomic energy plants and dams.

The U. S. economy depends on this equipment. Judge Ganey, noting this, called the violations "shocking."

William L. Maher, chief of the antitrust division in eastern Pennsylvania who headed the vast probe, said he couldn't say what effect the end of the price-fixing will have upon smaller segments of the industry.

"We found a violation of the law," he said, "and we prosecuted."

The convicted companies did over $8 billion gross sales during

Birth Control Is Endorsed

FORT WORTH (AP)—Birth control measures and planned parenthood were endorsed as "both permissible and desirable" by Baptist leaders here Tuesday.

Dr. James Basden, secretary of the Human Welfare Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, made the report.

About 75 Baptists were among two groups delving into the planned parenthood problem. They discussed Roman Catholic theological views opposing the use of mechanical birth control methods.

"The naturalistic and legalistic efforts of the Roman Catholic viewpoint tends to neutralize the efforts of social, medical and other organizations to educate the public on birth control methods," Basden said.

Both groups agreed many Baptists would resent and repudiate any resolution by the conference into private matters, but added they felt the denomination must face the problems of exploding population and unloved children.

Another discussion group reported it felt divorce is a sin, but not unpardonable. Sometimes they reported, it might be the lesser of two evils—legal divorce or miserably living together.

Members Of Union Buy A Gold Mine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—One Phoenix union local has developed its own anti-recession program.

About 100 members of The Setters Local 4 bought a gold mine near Burnlesbee, about 50 miles north of here. About 40 of them are unemployed.

"The men are thinking they might as well work the mine themselves until things pick up," said Howard Reidy, union business agent.

Bible-Quoting Suspect Indicted

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A man who said he let a freight train run over his right arm after druggist James Horner Morrison was killed in a holdup, was indicted for murder Tuesday.

When arrested Jan. 23, Mickey Covington explained his action with a bible quotation: "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off."

the 1955-59 indictment periods.

San Francisco's city attorney, Dion R. Holm, said cities across the nation may join in suing the firms for refunds. He estimated San Francisco has spent about $6 million for heavy equipment with GE, Westinghouse and Allis-

Chalmers Manufacturing Co., West Allis, Wis.
GE, Westinghouse and Allis-Chalmers said they are now investigating past and present pricing policies. GE added it would "make it right with our customers."

It is possible that the fixed prices—even rigged bids—may not have been excessive, that the companies merely took a normal profit. It was the secret manipulations which are illegal, and which prompted the successive criminal action.

In the bid-rigging, companies split percentages of the business. And designated who was to make the successful low bid—and when.

Kennedy Predicts Severe Test

Study Not Completed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today he sincerely believes America's ability to maintain its position in the world will be severely tested in the next four years.

That was his reply to a news conference question as to whether he has been painting the U.S. picture blacker than it is "for shock purposes."

And Kennedy insisted his administration has not yet reached any firm conclusion as to the relative position of this country and Russia in missile strength.

Kennedy said he was published reports the last two days that Pentagon officials believe the so-called "missile gap" versus Russia did not exist—in short, that this country was as strong in missiles as the Soviets.

The New York Herald Tribune said today the stories to this effect were based on a background briefing held by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Kennedy said he had talked with McNamara and other defense officials, and that the secretary "stated that no study had been concluded in the Defense Department which would lead to any conclusion at this time as to whether there is a missile gap or not."

The President added that it is hoped a preliminary study could be completed by Feb. 29. He said he hopes this country is "completely secure" as to the missile situation, but the answer is not yet clear.

Republicans in Congress had chortled over the reports that there was no genuine missile gap. Some of them had suggested that perhaps other "gaps" which Kennedy professed to see didn't really exist.

It was against this background that a newsmen asked whether Kennedy had been seeking to use "shock tactics."

This third presidential news conference for Kennedy, unlike the two earlier ones, was not televised.

He said West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano is coming to Washington and he hoped the matter will be discussed then.

Woman, 90, Turns In Driving License

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A spry, gray-haired woman walked into the motor vehicle department office and surrendered her driving license.

"I'd rather walk," said Eunice Cochran, 90. "The cars seem to come at you faster all the time."

Mrs. Cochran, mother of a municipal judge, has been driving since 1915. She has never had an accident and only one citation—when she made an illegal U turn in 1933.

"It used to be a pleasure but not any more," she said.

A short while later he received a phone call from Auburn authorities, saying the pair had given themselves up. The Glen Rose sheriff left for California to get the fugitives.

C-C Panel Heads Named

Appointments of several committee chairmen for the new year were approved last night at a meeting of Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors.

The board also discussed some tentative projects and went over details of planning for the annual banquet scheduled for Tuesday night. The banquet, which will be held in the high school cafeteria and auditorium, will feature H. Roe Bartle, mayor of Kansas City, as the speaker. Tickets sales for the banquet have been under way for several days.

Committee chairmen announced last night included Gerald Johnson, agriculture; Charles Hartman, merchants; H. A. Johnson Jr., oil and gas; R. C. Patton, legislative; Truman Black, recreation, and Claude McCormick, tourist development.

Chairmen of the education and membership committees will be named later.

Did the weather keep you under wraps during Monday's Dollar Day event?

Well, Snyder merchants are going to give you another chance. In deference to Old Man Winter, Dollar Day for February is being extended and expanded for a big three-day period.

Dollar Day specials will be in effect at local stores on Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the convenience of those who were unable to get to town in the snow Monday.

And, of course if you did get out Monday, you may come back again during the three big days.

The special Dollar Days will be particularly timely since St. Valentine's Day is just around the corner.

Contracts Extended By School Board

Snyder School Trustees went over a modest agenda of routine business last night at their February meeting.

The session was moved forward from Feb. 14 to avoid conflict with the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

In one of the few items requiring a vote, the board unanimously agreed to extend contracts of administrative personnel with tenure up for consideration in February each year.

Included were M. E. Stanfield, assistant superintendent; Doug Flynn, school business manager; Hardy Scarborough, school tax assessor-collector, and C. D. Henry, director of curriculum.

Wilson Hunt, representative of Pritchard and Abbott, the school district's valuation engineers, met with the board briefly and discussed values of oil properties in the district. Hunt said his firm is now in the process of calculating valuations for the coming year.

The board also reviewed school enrollment trends as a prelude to taking action on contacts to teachers for the 1961-62 school year.

Supt. T. E. McCollum reported that enrollment apparently had leveled off at about 3,800 students.

Some half a dozen applications for the post of senior high school principal were discussed briefly, but no action was taken. Some board members indicated that they would favor filling the post as soon as possible. McCollum was instructed to secure and process any other applications for the position in the near future, preferably in time for presentation of recommendations at the next board meeting.

Wet Weather Coming Back

SNOW FLURRIES occurred in Amarillo Wednesday and the Weather Bureau predicted a wet and cold weekend for most of Texas.

Skies cleared over most of the state, but some clouds lingered in the northern and extreme eastern portions of the state.

The five-day forecast called for more snow in the Panhandle, rains in other areas and generally colder weather during the weekend.

Light snow fell at Amarillo Tuesday afternoon but there was no overnight precipitation reported. Early morning lows ranged from 19 degrees at Amarillo to 42 at Laredo. Northeast Texas was still cloudy and some fog was reported in the Panhandle-Plains.

Maximum readings Tuesday averaged from 31 at Amarillo and Dalhart to 62 at Brownsville and Laredo.

Kennedy's Brother Is $1-A-Year Man

BOSTON (AP)—Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, has become a $1-a-year man in the office of the Suffolk County (Boston) district attorney.

A graduate of the University of Virginia Law School, he was sworn in Tuesday as an assistant district attorney. The job carries an annual salary of $7,700. Kennedy sought to serve without pay but, since state law forbids this, he will receive a token salary of $1.

No severe cold was reported in the storm areas. Freezing weather extended throughout the Northeast, the Great Lakes region, the northern and central plains and most of the Rocky Mountain area.

Readings were mostly in the 40s along coastal areas of the Pacific, Gulf and southern Atlantic, dropping into the 30s inland.

One storm dumped nearly a foot of snow in northwest Arkansas, the season's heaviest fall, as it spread into sections of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas and Oklahoma. But it tapered off during the night and only light snow fell this morning in parts of Kansas and northeast Oklahoma.

More than eight inches of snow fell in Roanoke, in southwest

Virginia, in a second storm that hit southern and eastern areas with snow, sleet and freezing rain.

A disturbance off the Carolina coast and over Kentucky teamed to produce wet weather from the Ohio Valley southward into the northern Gulf states and eastward to the middle and south Atlantic states.

The storms struck as many sections continued to dig out from winter's heaviest snowfalls of last week.

Snow continued during the morning over most of the Ohio Valley eastward into the Virginias. Rain dampened areas to the south. Freezing rain, snow or sleet pelted a narrow belt between the snow and rain zones.

Up to four inches of fresh snow was indicated in Maryland and the east central Appalachians and one to three inches in the Ohio Valley.

Some snow was forecast for New York City as the gigantic task of getting the city back to normal operations moved forward in the wake of last week's snowfall of more than 17 inches. The snow was expected to change to rain or rain mixed with snow later today.

In the Midwest storm belt, seven inches of snow was reported in West Plains, Mo., north of the Arkansas border while snow flurries extended into Little Rock.

St. Louis was hit with a three-inch fall, adding to the seven inches already on the ground. Many schools in St. Louis and other parts of southern Missouri and northern Arkansas closed, as did some industries. At least two storm-related deaths were reported in Missouri.

AUXILIARY FIREMAN?—Grocing the grounds at the east fire station Tuesday was this sturdy fireman impervious to the cold weather but who yielded to the warm rays of the sun that bathed the Snyder area. Fireman Bob Haskell lets his son Steve adjust the fire "bonnet" as the group of boys who helped create the gentleman get set to use the excess snow for other purposes, mainly a rousing snow battle.

Stoneware On Display

A display of English Denby stoneware, unique imported dinnerware which is neither china nor earthenware but combines the best characteristics of both, is on display at Better Living, Inc.

Featuring historical bottles, flasks, mugs and pitchers, the exhibit includes a decanter in the shape of a derring pistol, believed to be the only one of its kind ever made. Other decanters are likenesses of famous British personalities of the early eighteenth century, such as Gladstone, Disraeli, and royal personages.

Also in the display, which is open to the public at no charge, are representative patterns of modern Denby, the stoneware made for a century and a half at the famous potteries near Derby England.

Stickney Is Granted Stay

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel granted a 30-day stay of execution Tuesday while the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans considered an appeal from Howard B. Stickney.

Stickney, condemned to death for the 1958 slaying of Mrs. Shirley Barnes, is under an indefinite stay of execution from the federal court.

The new execution date is March 18.

Mrs. Barnes' body was found in her Houston apartment. The decomposed body of her husband, Clifford Barnes, was found later in a brush 25 miles southwest of Houston. Stickney was tried only on a charge of slaying Mrs. Barnes.

Mexico Told About U. S. Problems

By JACK RUTLEDGE
GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP)—After two days of listening to Mexico's troubles, U.S. delegates to an interparliamentary meeting here are pointing out that the United States has problems too.

Mexican senators and deputies opened the meeting, first with history, by reciting their nation's economic and social woes. They urged the United States to cut tariffs, ease trade regulations, make loans, and help Mexico in other ways.

U.S. Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., called a meeting Tuesday of the 21 other U.S. senators and representatives attending the meeting and urged them to take the offensive in a friendly way.

Mansfield suggested that they point out that the United States also has unemployment, a critical flow of dollars abroad and other major economic and social problems.

When Mexican deputy Manuel Yanez Ruiz urged a U.S. tariff policy favorable to his country's lead and zinc, Mansfield replied that many U.S. miners are unemployed and that unemployment throughout the United States is the highest since 1940.

Mexican Senator Francisco Velasco Curiel complained that U.S. firms operating retail, manufacturing and assembly plants in Mexico are taking more money out of Mexico than they bring in.

Sen. Andrew Schoepel, R-Kan., replied that the American firms provide thousands of jobs for Mexicans and keep prices down.

Legislators from both nations stressed the exchange of views has been completely amicable and highly successful.

The Mexicans issued an unusual statement of thanks to President Kennedy for his "spirit of friendship and understanding toward Mexican producers" for not setting tariffs or restrictive quotas on henequen baling twine and cordage.

GOLDEN BROWN FRANKFURTERS set in a corn bread base with a mustard glaze over oil . . . humm . . . great for logging appetites.

Try Quickie Corn Dogies For The Children's Lunch

What is it? Corn Dogies! Really easy, too. Just mix up the corn bread base, place frankfurters on top and bake for a few minutes. Remove from oven, brush surface with mustard glaze and bake some more. Serve with a tomato sauce.

While the corn dogies bake, toss a green salad, pour tall glasses of milk and lunch is ready!

The corn meal mixture is easy to make, just mix the dry ingredients, add corn meal, then the liquid ingredients! Here's an advantage of using corn oil . . . no creaming or blending necessary.

This recipe and many others are in a new booklet "All American Favorite Recipes" that is available free through a write-in offer on sacks of "Kitchen-Tested" flour and bottles of corn oil, both available at your grocers.

Here is the recipe for Corn Dogies as tested in the kitchens:

CORN DOGIES

1 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar, if desired
3/4 cup corn meal
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1-3 cup corn oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. corn oil

Heat oven to 375. Sift first 4 ingredients. Add corn meal, onion. Add to dry ingredients; mix quickly just enough to dampen flour. Pour into greased pan, 13x9 x2". Make 4 diagonal slashes 1/2" deep in frankfurters. Arrange frankfurters, cut-side up, on top of corn meal mixture. Bake 20 min. Blend mustard and 1 tsp. corn oil. Remove Corn Dogies from oven; brush surface with mustard-corn oil mixture. Bake about 20 min. longer, or until lightly browned. Serve with catsup or a tomato sauce. 5 to 8 servings.

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Hold Celebration

The Snyder Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodge members celebrated the second year of the organization in Snyder, Feb. 4, at the IOOF hall, despite the bad weather.

Jess Waller gave the invocation, after which a supper of ham, beans and potato salad was served to 82 members and visitors.

Leonard White, Noble Grand of the local IOOF was master of ceremonies. He welcomed all members and visitors, then presented Jess Waller, Lodge Deputy, who introduced the local lodge officers. Joe Vincent, secretary gave a report of the activities of the lodge from Jan. 1960 through Jan. 1961.

Dorothy White, Lodge Deputy for the Rebekahs, introduced the officers of the lodge. Rhodalee Hatten, secretary gave a report of the lodge from the time it was instituted through Jan. 1961.

A skit "And What a Rummage Sale" was presented by the Snyder Rebekahs.

Other lodges represented were: Brownfield, Big Spring, Dublin, Tehoka, Rotan, Lubbock and Odessa.

E. V. Riley, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas and Mrs. Riley of Brownfield were special guests for the occasion. Both gave inspiring talks. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Eaves, formerly of Snyder and now of Odessa, were present.

Two Exchange Students Are Guest Speakers

The Altrurian Club held a meeting recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. J. W. Leftwich, hostess.

Mrs. Hugh Taylor, club president, presided at the business session at which time the following officers for the coming year were elected: Mrs. Dave Harlan, president; Mrs. Ross Blanchard, vice president; Mrs. Earl Donaldson, recording secretary; Mrs. W. P. King, treasurer; and Mrs. T. A. Boren, corresponding secretary.

Guest speakers for the afternoon were Evert Carlson, exchange student from Sweden and Dick Martin, our local exchange to the Philippines. Mrs. Taylor introduced the speakers.

In his talk Mr. Carlson told of their government, religion, education, sports, industries and climate. He said life in Sweden is essentially the same as here in the United States.

Mr. Martin told of the living conditions in the Philippines which is very different from our way of life. He told of his many unusual and interesting experiences during his period of study there. Both speakers were enjoyed by the club. The hostess served refreshments to 19 members and three guests.

Demby Says Facts Prove It's A Woman's World

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Men are always saying it's a woman's world.

The truth is, says Emanuel Demby, president of Motivation Research Associates, a double standard flourishes today that is loaded in favor of women.

Kitchen trick: a little lemon along with melted butter and minced parsley, does a lot for boiled potatoes.

Our culture, he explains, permits women fuller freedom in expressing their own images through the way they dress and behave socially. Men are hemmed in by certain standards of conformity created by films, television, radio, magazines and contemporary literature.

Demby uncovered the double standard during research for an over-all psychological and sociological exploration of anxiety and tensions among men. Part of the study has just been completed.

An illustration of the double standard lies in the sexes' psychology of shopping. Demby points out: "Men will buy because they need something; women because they want to feel like something."

It works like this: The weather turns hot and a man needs a sports shirt. So he buys one—or about 80 per cent of the time, Demby found, he has his wife do it.

But a woman shops ahead for herself, in anticipation. She buys with the view in mind of what kind of person she will look like at a certain place—a demure matron at an afternoon function, a seductive siren at an evening party.

But a man feels he's subject to criticism if he doesn't dress or act the way he thinks he's expected to, according to his position. Subconsciously, he believes he's expected not to relax the standards set for his type of work.

The main reason shopping is foisted off onto the little lady is that a man would rather not suffer the anxiety of being seen selecting from the wide range of apparel—and the self concepts they represent—available on a counter. He would possibly be most attracted to a resplendent red and yellow plaid, but he wouldn't want anyone to see him buy it because he doubts it's the sort of shirt a big corporation executive would be expected to wear.

Research by Demby's staff of psychologists shows that sport shirt colors and patterns are an accurate barometer of a man's self-concept. Sexually secure and masculine men—and Demby found through cross-section sampling that this takes in 65 per cent of American men—wear what he has dubbed the market center shirt—the middle range in color and pattern, neither exhibitionistic nor overly conservative. Less secure and boastfully masculine men—25 per cent—and sexually "hidden" and hostile men—10 per cent—tend toward loud, offbeat styles.

Hurling Spot Is On Youth

By HARRY JUPITER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants expect two of the youngest pitchers in the major leagues to provide their 1-2 mound punch this year.
The youngsters with the big responsibility are southpaw Mike McCormick, 22, and right-hander Juan Marichal, 23.
McCormick, 15-12 last season, was the earned run king of the National League with 2.70. He signed his 1961 contract Tuesday for an estimated $25,000, described by Giants Vice President Chub Feeney as a "very good raise."
Marichal, a poised second-year man from the Dominican Republic, was 6-2 and had a 2.66 ERA but didn't appear in enough games for eligibility for the title. He joined the Giants after mid-season and won his first four starts.
Feeney said he and Alvin Dark, the Giants' new manager, figure on McCormick and Marichal as the nucleus of the pitching staff.
Among the others in the "solid six" are veteran right-handers Sam Jones, Jack Sanford and Stu Miller and southpaw Billy O'Dell.
The big problem is dependable relief pitching and current plans are for Jones, Sanford and O'Dell to also work in relief.

Yale football star Bob Blanchard is on the Eli hockey team.

Tech Marks Up Ozark Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas Tech won the big road test with Arkansas Tuesday night and took a strong hold on the Southwest Conference basketball championship.
While the Red Raiders were knocking over Arkansas 72-66 only Texas A&M of the runnerup teams could come through and the Aggies beat Rice 79-59 to pull into undisputed second place, a game back of Texas Tech.
Texas, the defending conference champion, was dealt a serious blow by Southern Methodist and fell two games off the pace and virtually out of the race. Southern Methodist raced from behind in the last eight minutes to topple the Longhorns 70-63.
Texas, Arkansas and Southern Methodist are now tied for third place with 4-3 records.
Texas Tech had to come from behind to lick Arkansas but the Red Raiders did it with a flourish, overcoming a 14-point deficit in the last 12 minutes to hand Arkansas its first loss on the home court this season.
Shifts in defense told the story in the two top games. Texas Tech went into a zone to hold Arkansas to two field goals while the Red Raiders were banging in the points, surging to a 67-59 lead with three minutes remaining. It was giant Harold Huggins who did the big job. The 6-9 star flipped in 25 points and took 12 rebounds in vacating Tech to its important victory. It made Tech's record 6-1 compared to A&M's 5-2.
Southern Methodist also changed its defense and pulled out over Texas. The Longhorns rattled SMU's zone in the first half but the Methodists came out with a man-for-man in the second period. Texas could manage only 11 points in the last eight minutes while SMU was scoring from all directions. Al Akins of Texas was high point man with 21. Jon Larson and Jan Loudermilk led SMU with 16 and 15 points respectively.
Texas A&M broke the game with Rice as the first half was coming to a close. Carroll Broussard, the magnificent Aggie, plopped in a field goal to push Texas A&M ahead 21-19 and it never was headed. Broussard scored 19 points to lead the Aggies. Otis Shipley had the same total for Rice.
Texas Christian beat Baylor 85-77 for its second conference victory of the campaign while Baylor was losing its seventh straight. The Horned Frogs were hot from the floor with 89 per cent but Baylor outplayed the Frogs 30-20. On the free throw line, however, TCU got 27 out of 36 and that's what won the game. Baylor managed only 17 of 25.
There will be no more action until Saturday night when Arkansas plays Rice at Houston, Texas Christian and Texas A&M battle at Fort Worth, Baylor and Texas Jouett at Austin and Southern Methodist engages Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Johnson On Lighthweight Pedestal

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Harold Johnson is the new National Boxing Association world light heavyweight champion, but he still isn't quite happy.
"I don't feel like I'm the champ yet," the usually taciturn Philadelphian said in his dressing room Tuesday night after stopping young Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis in the ninth round to win the blessings of the NBA.
"When I beat the old man (Archie Moore) I'll get that feeling." Moore knocked out Johnson in the 14th round in Johnson's only other shot at the title. The NBA whisked the crown from Moore's furrowed brow when he took an indifferent attitude toward defending it.
The sharp-featured, muscled Johnson has been seeking a return bout since that 1954 kayo, with frustration piling on frustration. Tuesday night he put his frustration to work. Usually a cautious fighter, he suddenly turned tiger.
He put Bowdry on the canvas

three times in a classic variety of poses, and after the third knockdown referee Cy Gottfried decided the wobbly, woozy, rubber-legged youth was in no condition to continue.
The end came in 45 seconds of the ninth round. The record crowd of 4,017 which paid a non-record $20,829.50 started whooping.
Johnson was the artist. Bowdry the tenacious bulldog making himself a difficult target. The first few rounds were uneventful. Late in the sixth Bowdry landed a couple of good punches, and suddenly became too brave. He drove in again, and was clipped by a left hook. He started to throw another punch, but suddenly fell apart in a delayed action fall. He took a count of nine.
With two seconds to go in the eighth a right and left combination dumped him in a jackknife pose. He was resting on the back of his neck when the gong sounded.
Johnson was a whirling pinwheel of action as the ninth opened. He threw punches from everywhere, with a solid left to the midsection the clincher. Bowdry went down for the final time, and would have been a sitting duck when he arose had not the referee intervened.
John Berberich, 6-foot-8 senior, is the tallest man on the UCLA basketball squad.

He's Funny That Way

SPRING VALLEY, N.Y. (AP) — Floyd Patterson must prefer horror movies to happy endings. The world heavyweight boxing champion watches the films of his first fight with Ingemar Johansson—not the second.
As Patterson was knocked down seven times in the first fight when he lost his title, and flattened into the second time around, it seemed like a strange choice.
"The first fight is when I made the mistakes," explained Patterson to newsmen visiting his training quarters at a country club. Did Patterson expect to abandon his peek-a-boo style?
"I don't think so," he said. "Did you think I did in the work-out? I was trying different things. But in an actual fight, I would have my hands back up there." (Patterson's peek-a-boo style, in which he holds both hands high to block off head punches, has been criticized by many.)
Patterson, who plans to leave for a Florida camp next Tuesday, said he weighed 196 "about a week ago" when he last stepped on the scales. That is six more than he weighed for his second fight with Johansson last June.
"I am not trying for any particular weight," he said. "Whatever comes is all right with me. I like to work with heavy sweat pants. Before other fights they were afraid I would take off too much weight so I boxed in trunks only. But this time I have weight to spare."

Snyder Surprises Sweetwater, 63-57

Ware Hits 22 To Pave Way

By Jerry Jackson
News Sports Editor

Snyder's fighting Tigers scaled the heights here last night, as they rose up to throttle the arch-rival Sweetwater Mustangs, 63-57, to virtually eliminate the Ponies from title consideration.

As expected, district kingpin Lamesa had little trouble in mauling winless Lake View, 94-49, in other action of the night, the win upping their 3-3A record to 4-0 and dropping Lake View to 0-7. The Snyder victory boosted the J. P. Wardman into undisputed possession of second place at 5-2, a half-game in front of untested Sweetwater, which fell to 4-2.

The Tiger "B" boys had an easy time of it in a preliminary encounter, rolling over the visitors by 60-39.

It was an uphill battle for the varsity five, which was making its final regularly scheduled home appearance of the season. Sweetwater led throughout the first quarter of play until Weldon Ware, who was the game's leading scorer for the night with 22 in addition to his playing an outstanding floor game, drove in for the go-ahead bucket with 10 seconds remaining in the stanza. That goal gave Snyder its first lead after a raft of heart-breaking rim-outs had kept the local effort handcuffed almost completely during the early stages.

The Tigers failed to connect on a field goal until midway through the first period, at which time Ware hit a short jumper to break the drought. Prior to that, the Mustangs had leaped out to a quick 9-1 lead behind the close-in wizardry of big Billy Belew, who borders on the unstoppable underneath the basket.

After taking the score 16-15 first stanza lead on the strength of Ware's late goal, the Bengals began to find the range, and dominated second quarter play in leading all the way until the final 15 seconds, at which time Ronnie Turnbow meshed a pusher from the side to pull his mates into a 29-29 halftime deadlock. Twice during the quarter Snyder held 6-point advantages, however, until the late Pooey surge brought the visitors roaring back into contention.

The third quarter was a nip-and-tuck one which saw both teams swapping the lead on numerous occasions. Tiger guard Steve Free angled one in from 20 feet out as time was drawing to a close in the period, however, to put Snyder into a permanent lead of 43-42. Ware followed up by driving the length of the court with some neat ball-handling fakery at the expense of Mustang defender Joe Gerald, sinking a crisp to up the count to 45-42 as the quarter ended.

Late in the game Sweetwaters two spark plugs burned out via the foul route, as Belew was cantered with 2 minutes left, and was followed by teammate Ronnie Turnbow, who met his demise 9 seconds later. The Tigers held a 55-49 lead at the time, and removal of that vital pair put the final crusher on the Mustangs hopes of winning. Another Pooey guard Rinaldo Sepeda, was charged with his fifth foul as 3:42 was left to be played in the third quarter.

Four Bengals ended the game with four fouls each, but none received the fifth and fatal one. In addition to Ware, four other Tigers hit for double figures, as Charlie Gladson garnered 13 and Free and Pooch Hatter added 10 each.

Belew paced the losing effort with 20, while Red Tindall and Turnbow followed up with 11 and 10, respectively.

Both teams capitalized on charity tosses, with Snyder sinking 21 of 29 and Sweetwater making good on 25 of 36.

Center Larry McNair powered his mates to victory in the "B" game, scoring 11 of his 19 points for the night in a big first quarter to boost the Tiger Bees into a 20-10 advantage as the period ended.

That 19-point spurge gained him high point honors for the night, although teammate Tim Marcum nipped at his heels in that department with 17. Tommy Cooper and Johnny Mitchell followed up with 13 and 7, respectively, to account for the bulk of Tiger scoring.

Clarence Brock was top Mustang with 12 for the evening.

The Tiger "B" as a team hit 21 of 44 field goal attempts for the game for a 47 per cent average.

Cooper was tops in that department with a successful 5 of 7, while Marcum had 7 of 14 and McNair 6 of 15.

Hermleigh Cards Gain Playoffs; Bulldogs Bumped

The District 92-B cage race got itself "lined out" last night, as second-half winners for the race were arrived at. Second-half winner Hermleigh will vie against Westbrook in a best of three series for the boys title, while the girls' crown will go to the victor of the Ira-Westbrook series.

Powerful Hermleigh whopped Hobbs' Panthers last night, 51-27, to gain the playoff slot against Westbrook, as Ken Bell meshed 19 points toward the winning total. Chindo Soto was tops for Hobbs with 10.

The Hermleigh girls completed the sweep of the night by clipping Hobbs, 54-42, behind the 27-point output of Marian Reeves. Goey Groves had 23 for the losing side.

The Ira boys had their last title hopes dashed by Westbrook, as they went down by a 58-49 count. Jesse Watson triggered the winning attack with a 21-point outburst, while Donel Eubanks and Robert Sterling each chipped in 14 for the Bulldogs.

Westbrook also won the girls' game, 49-45, with Ira's Lena Farmer garnering high point honors with 26. Westbrook's Conaway was high for her team with 24.

Terry Fox, Detroit Tiger rookie pitcher obtained from Milwaukee, won 21 games for New Iberia, La., in the Evangeline League in 1955.

Jack Sanford led National League pitchers in shutouts last season. He tossed six for the San Francisco Giants.

not as yet been set, but the action should get underway early the coming week.

Travis 9th Biffs Goliad

BIG SPRING—The Blue Devils of Travis 9th carted home a 46-33 victory from Goliad of this city here last night, but the Snyder 8th and 7th grade quints were edged out in other games of the evening.

A good defensive second half made the difference in the 9th grade clash, as Goliad sported a 23-21 lead at halftime before Travis came back in the final two quarters to break the game open.

Jackie Stewart was high for the Blue Devils with 15.

Billy Stewart was top rebounder with 17, in addition to scoring 11 points of his own.

Over the course of the game, Travis completed 12 of 18 free tosses, and held a 51-42 edge in rebounding.

Travis 8th was upended, 40-38, in its game against the Big Spring, as Goliad's White broke the Blue Devils' backs with a 26-point onslaught.

Leslie Brown was top man in the Travis attack with 16 points.

Travis 8th was also as adept as its 9th grade counterpart at the free throw line, hitting 16 of 24.

Travis 7th was nipped, 17-16, in overtime in the remaining game of the night.

The count was even-up at 13-13 at the end of the regulation time, with a late foul and winning free throw spelling the Blue Devil doom in the deciding overtime period.

Marvin Mayfield of Travis was top scorer of the night with 8, while Goliad's Anderson led his team with 7.

THE DANCE OF SPRINGTIME

Boyle Not Laughing At 50-Year-Olds

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Help! I am on the verge of being 50 years old.

When a glance at the calendar told me that this month I'd reach the half-century mark, at first I simply couldn't believe it.

Then as the inescapable certainty dawned on me that it was only too true, I felt a sense of indignation. What angered me most was seeing strangers laughing and joking as I passed them on the street.

What kind of dull clods were they? How could they smile during a month in which one of their fellow creatures—even if they did not know him—was turning 50?

Well, that's human nature for you. This feeling of resentment was succeeded by one of numb horror. Where had the last 10 years gone?

Why, wasn't it only yesterday that Father Time had pushed me, kicking and screaming, past my 40th milestone?

I had decided then that a man's 40th birthday was the worst moment in his life. Life begins at 40? I was sure that what began at 40 was second childhood—and in a way it does. (It is at least another adolescence, and any adolescence is trying, even one without pimples.)

How quickly the decade since I was 40 had fled on antelope feet. And so little to show for its passage! That is one of the hardest facts to adjust to in middle age: The days often seem endless, but the years go by like railway cars in the night.

And now I stand on the edge of 50, still wondering how it happened.

The puzzlement still endures, but I am no longer resentful or horrified. After all, you can't whip time.

And in a way time has changed me very little. I was born bald, fat and howling at the world's injustice. Fifty years later that still describes me about as well as anything.

There is also one tremendous consolation denied to many my age. The first lady I saw on earth is still alive at 73, although her hair is now almost as white as the snow that fell outside our home the stormy day she bore me back in 1911.

She knows I am a birthday fighter, and as usual she'll send me a card and a scrawled note of advice:

"Son, son, don't struggle so hard against what has to be put up with. When will you ever learn to sit loosely in the saddle of life?"

She'll also know whatever I think of turning 50—that I am still deeply grateful for our first meeting, and every year we've shared, together or apart, since then.

A really elderly gentleman of 56 I know told me:

"My boy, you are just entering the true golden years. They hold priceless rewards you have never had a chance to enjoy until now."

"Tell me about those rewards," I asked.

"Tomorrow," he promised. "Right now I'm on my way to see the doctor about my arthritis. It's killing me."

Oh, well. Never laugh at anyone reaching 50. Just keep your chin up—and it'll happen to you. If you're lucky.

American Ingenuity Keeps Most Of Us One Step Behind

By INEZ ROBB

Every time I settle back in the complacent belief that I am really the woman who has everything—a gold toothpick, a camel hair rug, a huge chiffon handkerchief edged in mink, an electric brandy warmer, an espresso coffee infernal machine—American industry and ingenuity prove me wrong.

But surely with the arrival yesterday of a sterling silver measuring cup, I am the woman who has everything for at least the next five minutes. Think of it! A sterling silver measuring cup to guage up the kitchen and put the old glass one out to pasture.

I had never dreamed of such elegance in the culinary department until the cup, the gift of a departing house guest, arrived yesterday from a fancy jewelry store. It had never occurred to me that in my lifetime I would advance from a tin measuring cup, through aluminum, then glass and finally to silver. Shades of William Jennings Bryan and the Al-Florent Society!

But even a moment's reflection is enough to convince anyone that today's foremost status symbol is not a plush parlor but a 22-carat kitchen. We are living in the age of the dream kitchen, the cost of whose ritzy equipment would have built a three-bedroom house before World War II.

It ain't enough today, as in the past, that decorator color schemes fancy up the bedrooms, living, dining, family rooms. The new "jewel tones" in matching refrigerator, stove, wall oven, dish washer, clothes washer and drier, sink, home freezer, counter tops and cabinets in the kitchen are a must in any home worthy the name.

Anyone who has priced this matching kitchen equipment knows full well why its color are described as "jewel tones." But, by current standards, it is better to skip in any room in the house than the kitchen, modelled as it is on the Peacock Throne.

In the past decade I cannot remember picking up a single issue of any women's or household magazine—either chic or chain store—that has not had at least one article, magnificently illustrated in stereophonic color, on the new kitchen. That's the way the wind and the money blows these days.

And breathes there a woman with soul so dead she has not drooled over these fantasy kitchens with push buttons to match? (Who was it that opined women will have had it the day the buttons begin to push back?)

Today I do not envy my best friend her diamonds or her Matisse or even her naturally curly hair. But I'd give my eyeteeth for a duplicate of her new French-blue kitchen with its touch of scarlet for contrast.

So it is scant wonder that jewelers are getting in on the kitchen kick. Who else is better equipped to furnish these resplendent retreats? From the silver measuring cup it is only a logical step to sterling mixing bowls, sink strainers and canisters.

Indeed, with the kitchen now on the gold standard, is sterling quite good enough? We shall know by Christmas, 1961.

Just to prove that I am not intimidated by the sterling standard, I went out to my kitchen, a mongrel mess by current reckoning, and employed the new silver measuring cup in the concoction of an angel food cake. What else, with such shining equipment? It proved just as reliable as the old tin, aluminum and glass versions.

Now all I have to do is save my money and trading stamps to acquire a kitchen of matching magnificence. Ingenuity does it! I must keep in mind that the mink-edged hanky eventually yielded enough fur for a mink shako. Great oaks from little acorns, etc.

I look at my latest gift for the women who has everything and realize that it is indeed the cup that cheers.

New Model X15 Is Slated For Test
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The next X15 rocket ship flight for Air Force Major Bob White—possibly next week—will be in a model with a powerful new engine.

White rehearsed for his role Tuesday by testing the rocket ship's new "hot nose" in an X15 with a small temporary power plant developing 16,000 pounds of thrust. He reached a speed of 2,112 M.P.H. during an 11-minute flight.

The more powerful model is designed eventually to rocket man from 30,000 to 100,000 miles at speeds of 4,000 M.P.H.

The X15's new rounded nose, replacing the earlier needle-like antenna, contains instruments to help the pilot re-enter the atmosphere at a safe angle.

Lone Star Gas To Hike Investment

Lone Star Gas Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Lone Star Producing Company, plan to invest more than $9.3-million in the West Texas area during 1961 to maintain and strengthen natural gas service.

This expenditure is part of a record $33.6-million initial investment budget approved for Lone Star's service area during the year. The company now serves more than 857,000 residential, commercial and industrial natural gas customers in and around 402 cities, towns and communities in Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

Of the $9.3-million expenditure planned for West Texas, some $1.8-million will go for service lines, meters and regulators, extensions, fortifications and replacement of distribution mains; warehouse and office building improvements and numerous other service facilities.

This money will be applied in Lone Star's West Texas Region of Distribution consisting of some 100 towns and cities comprising the Abilene, Ballinger, Brownwood, Childress, Cisco, Colorado City, Eastland, San Angelo, Seymour, Snyder, Stamford, Sweetwater, Vernon and Wichita Falls districts.

About $4.5-million will be spent on extension and replacement of transmission and gathering pipelines; construction of and additions to gasoline plants, compressor stations and dehydration plants. An estimated $3-million of this money will be used on construction of a 15-mile 18-inch natural gas transmission pipeline, dehydration plant and compressor station in the West Texas area.

The new pipeline to run from Gordon to Springtown will increase capacity of Lone Star's transmission facilities by more than 100-million cubic feet of gas daily. The pipeline will link at Gordon to a 15-inch pipeline which terminates near the corner of Brown, Comanche and Eastland counties. At Springtown it will link with a 40-mile 20 and 24-inch pipeline to Northwest Dallas County. Construction of the line is expected to begin soon.

Lone Star's president, L. T. Potter, said that the new pipeline demonstrates the company's confidence in growth of energy demands in its present market areas, and confidence in West and West Central gas producers.

Company records show that during the past five years Lone Star purchased 276.5 billion cubic feet of gas from producers and gasoline plants in the West and West Central Texas areas.

Expenditures for drilling new wells in the West and West Central Texas areas by Lone Star's Exploration and Gas Supply division will exceed $2.5-million. In addition, some $4-million will be invested in leasing, seismograph work and other exploration costs.

At the end of 1960, Lone Star listed 137,443 residential, commercial and industrial customers in its West Texas Region of Distribution, representing an increase of 3,253 over the total customers served at end of 1959.

Potter said that the company's record budget of $33.6-million reflects the company's confidence in future growth of the West Texas area as well as in other parts of Lone Star's operating territory.

"We anticipate adding approximately 26,000 new customers during 1961 in our company-owned and operated distribution systems," he noted. "These additions will give us an estimated total natural gas customer count of more than 883,000 at the end of the year."

Champions Are Picked

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Tracy Sanders, of Clarendon, Tex., yesterday took grand champion honors in the Southwestern Livestock Show being held here.

Johnny Fuston, of Turkey, Tex., took reserve grand champion honors in the show.

Sanders showed a Hereford while Fuston showed an Angus. Both captured the champion spot in their class and Rod Stone, of Donnelly County, Tex., 4-H, showed the reserve champion Angus.

Cora Libby, of Union County, N. M., showed the reserve champion Hereford.

El Paso got its first grand champion lamb in many years as LeLois Lutich, of Fabens, Tex., showed her Southdown lamb to the top spot. Reserve grand champion lamb was a Southdown shown by David White, of Fort Stockton, Tex. Champion fine-wool lamb was shown by Ruby Acton, a 4-H club member from Culberson County, Tex.

Rock at Niagara Falls is being eroded at the rate of four feet a year by the rushing waters.

Junior Editors Quiz on PIRATES

QUESTION: Where was Captain Kidd's treasure buried?

ANSWER: Find the answer to this, and you might find a real pot of gold. Men have been searching for the place for years and most of the searching has been concentrated in the area of Gardiner's Island off the New York shore. It was on this island that a store of hidden-gold, found in 1699, was believed to be part of Captain Kidd's loot. Ever since, stories have circulated about enormous quantities of treasure hidden on the island and men have repeatedly tried to find them. The notion of hidden treasure is not far-fetched since pirates were known to go ashore on remote spots to bury chests of gold rather than take the chance of being attacked and robbed by other pirates. Records—such as maps—were made of these hiding places so that at a later date or during another voyage, the treasure could be dug up and taken to pirate headquarters. Captain Kidd was born in Scotland and fought bravely for the British before becoming a pirate. He was arrested in Boston in 1699, sent back to England, and was hanged.

FOR YOU TO DO: An excellent story about pirates and how they operated is told in the book "Treasure Island" by Robert Louis Stevenson. You should read this wonderful adventure story.

Online Editor of the Snyder, Tex., wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner.

Price Fixing Just Kept On Growing

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—How did the big antitrust conspiracy among most of the nation's makers of electrical equipment start? How did it spread? How did it work?

In corporate circles many claim it just grew naturally in an attempt to bring order out of a chaotic situation. The industry was plagued by frequent ups and downs, by price cutting in which only the big could survive, by inability of small companies to enter new fields.

So it turned to what similar companies often do in Europe, to what was done here during the depression under the NRA.

Once started, price fixing and market dividing kept on growing. The federal government says operations became almost perfect in the industry which averages $2 billion a year. Some executives borrowed methods very probably had read in who'dits.

Fines for what the government calls a cynical and long-established violation of antitrust laws came to almost $2 million—and more starting to many businessmen—seven of their colleagues are sentenced to jail for 30 days.

The Justice Department says at company pleas that the deals actually were good for both the makers of the big gadgets and the public and customers because market stability benefits all. The government says the customers—public and private—were faced with rigged bids to maintain or raise prices and give all hands a predetermined percentage of the business. Good for business maybe—but against the law.

Getting started was relatively simple, as shown in the statements by government and defense attorneys before Chief Judge J. Cullen Ganey in U. S. District Court.

In this specialized industry most executives know each other and meet frequently at conventions such as the completely above-board ones of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association. Shop talk after hours involves sales prospects, prices, bad times or good ahead, how cutthroat competition can be met.

Once it was decided to do something about it, more or less regular meetings were held.

Here's how it was done, as set forth by the government in charges to which companies and individuals pleaded guilty or no contention.

Pricing was agreed upon and often business apportioned by seeing that companies took turns in making the best bid for a job. Sometimes rotation was made by frequent checking of market conditions. Sometimes it was automatic, each taking its turn at a prearranged time. Sometimes it was geographic—areas set up in a which specified companies rotated with the winning bids.

The government charged, and defense attorneys admitted, two types of meetings: the high level at which prices and shares of business were set; the low level at which subsidiaries saw to the rotation of winning bids as market conditions determined. (Some companies say their very top men were unaware of the practice at all.)

The bubble burst when customers complaining that American bids over the years looked too much alike and were well above foreign bids for the same equipment.

Meg, Tony Have Found New Butler

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones have found a new butler who has promised not to say—or write—a word about life in the royal household.

Frederick Collier, a quiet bachelor in his late fifties, signed a pledge of silence before assuming his duties at Kensington Palace over the weekend.

He replaces Thomas Cronin, who quit Princess Margaret's service after difficulties with her commoner husband and then wrote a series of articles for a Sunday newspaper telling all about it.

Cronin, who no butler for a Miami, Fla., sports club, complained particularly that Armstrong-Jones used to snap his fingers to summon him.

Kensington Palace tried to keep the new appointment quiet but when the news leaked out, a spokesman confirmed Collier had been hired.

Collier has a long string of references. He was butler to Earl Mountbatten, Princess Margaret's cousin, until the death last year of Lady Mountbatten.

Before that he was on the staff of the Duke of Gloucester, the Princess' uncle, when he was governor-general of Australia just after World War II.

Life Sentence Is Levied In Slaying

STERLING CITY, Tex. (AP)—Mike Martinez, 17, received a life sentence Tuesday for the slaying of Taylor Garrett during a filling station holdup April 17 after entering a plea of guilty.

Martinez was a juvenile at the time he was charged and was held by authorities until he reached the legal age for trial.

Joy, Sorrow, Tragedy, Humor Flow Through Office Of Jp

Joy, sorrow, tragedy, and comedy, all flow through the office of a Justice of the Peace, and 15 years of being the Snyder JP has stored up a warehouse of memories for W. C. Davidson.

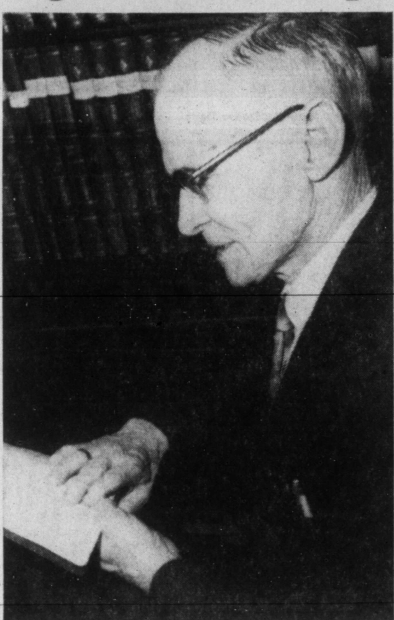

"About the funniest instance we have encountered was the frozen items some lady shoplifters hooked to their undergarments," Judge Davidson said when questioned as to the highlights of his 15 years as corner, bond-setter, marriage counselor, etc.

The memory of the incident brought a twinkle to the eyes of the slight septuagenarian who went on to describe the report by the woman who searched the 'fro, involved. Wearing voluminous skirts they had been apprehended by the sheriff's department and a search revealed ice cream and other frozen foods tied to straps dangling from their girdles.

This brought to mind the recent case filed against two Snyder women who had stashed 6 half-pints of whiskey apiece inside their girdles and were arrested on suspicion of transporting liquor because they gurgled when they walked.

Other humorous events usually centered upon human relationships, particularly family squabbles and "screaming ladies" fighting over fences who have been dragged to court and aired before Judge Davidson.

Sometimes just a simple marriage ceremony has a humorous side, the judge, who has read the wedding vows for 328 couples in

Sheffield Is Found Guilty

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP)—Brady Land Promoter B. R. Sheffield was found guilty on charges stemming from the Texas veterans land scandals in district court here Tuesday and was assessed a six-year prison term.

The 55-year-old land promoter was convicted of passing a forged document to the Veterans Land Board in 1954.

He took the verdict calmly but there were tears in the eyes of his wife and daughter who sat in court with him.

The chief defense lawyer, John Cofer, said the verdict will be appealed if a motion for a new trial is overruled.

The jury deliberated 11 hours. Final arguments by opposing lawyers took 5 hours and 10 minutes. It was the second time Sheffield has been convicted in the case. He was assessed a 10-year prison term in a trial at Lubbock but the conviction was overruled by the Court of Criminal Appeals on a technicality.

15 YEARS OF MEMORIES are stored up in the marriage book Justice of the Peace W. C. Davidson is looking through above. Weddings of all types and in all places, including one from his sickbed in the hospital, are among those listed in his little black book.

his office tenure, remarked. He went on to describe a frantic search by a first husband to locate the woman who thought she was his ex-wife but whose divorce decree was not yet final. The husband reached the Davidson house while the judge was performing the ceremony in another part of town.

"Death is always terrible," the judge said as he described some of the horror he felt when first called upon to render a verdict as a corner in a motor accident.

"The poor fellow was knocked clear out of his shoes... they were on the side of the highway where he was struck by the automobile," he continued, adding descriptions of suicides, murders and accidents he has investigated.

The oil boom took the worst toll in deaths, he said, telling of countless times he had been called to one-room, improvised shacks to pass on the death of a "man of middle-age in room with the inevitable bottle, glass and spoon." Persons who have committed murder or felonies look much the same when they are caught and appear for arraignment in justice court as the ones who have been stopped for running a stop sign, the judge stated.

Judge Davidson started his 16th year as a peace justice this month, having been appointed in January 15 years ago, and has run successfully for the office since then. He plans to retire at the end of this term.

Excitement In 'Faust' Is Visual

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes have it in Broadway's new "Faust."

Brought to the stage of the City Center Tuesday night by an acting company from Germany, the production of Goethe's massive of visual excitement.

In other respects, the specimen of international cultural exchange is an arduous test of audience enthusiasm. The philosophic depth of what is more a poem than a play appeared to receive respectful rather than enthusiastic attention from first nighters.

"Faust" is being performed by the Deutsche Schauspielhaus Company of Hamburg, the first troupe to come this way from the Rhine country since Max Reinhardt's expedition in the 1920s.

The director and acting star of the ensemble is Gustaf Grundgens. Besides conceiving the drama with imaginative emphasis on stabs of spectacle, Grundgens enacts the role of Mephistopheles with versatile dexterity.

As Faust, the man who preferred sensual delight to future bliss, Will Quadflieg displayed a strange detachment. Only after the premiere was it disclosed that the actor had had a neck abscess operated upon a few hours previously.

For auditors unfamiliar with German, a running English explanation is provided via tiny radio receivers.

Even then, "Faust" isn't exactly easy. After all, it took Goethe himself 58 years to get it all together.

The Biblical talent, in terms of present-day money, was worth about $5,000.

Car In New York Is 'Frozen Asset'

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—If there ever was frozen asset around here, it's the automobile.

Hundreds of thousands of them are entombed along the streets and parkways of New York City alone, not to mention the suburban areas. They're literally buried under mountains of snow. If there should be another considerable snowfall soon, many of them probably won't be seen again until the Fourth of July. It's going to take a real summer thaw.

Two Teen-Agers Remain In Jail

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—Two teenage youths remained in jail today after they were unable to post bonds of $3,000 when arraigned on charges of murder in the rifle slaying of James Ray Merriam, 14, Jan. 29.

The youths are Robert Rothrock, 17, and Eddie Kimble. Sheriff Leon James said a complaint filed earlier against a third youth had been dropped.

Some of the vehicles are miles from home—abandoned as drivers bogged down Friday night in the midst of the latest big storm to hit the metropolitan area.

Drivers and passengers in their cars very nearly froze, too, before they could reach the warmth and safety of private homes, bars and other places of refuge. Getting home after that was quite an ordeal, also.

Practically every conversation here goes something like this: "Hi John how are you how did you make out the other night gosh let me tell you what happened to me."

Punctuated simply gets lost in the rush to tell—first.

One of the most critical areas in the city as on the Belt Parkway, a major three-lane thoroughfare which links the South and North Shores of Long Island through Brooklyn and Queens.

More than 1,000 men, women and children got stuck in cars there Friday night.

Plenty of the cars are still there, although the parkway has been partially cleared for emergency traffic only. Snowplows just shoved them aside—as they did others elsewhere in the city—and then heaped even more snow on them.

One thing for sure, nobody is likely to steal any of them. It would take a thief days to dig most of them out.

Breakup Of Conspiracy May Be Followed By Civil Suits

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The government breakup of the giant conspiracy in the $3-billion-a-year heavy electrical equipment industry, halting illegal price fixing and bid rigging, may be followed by many civil suits.

Customers may seek to recover thousands of dollars, perhaps millions in alleged overpayments. Such action could be in the courts for years. The suing customer must prove he was damaged by price-fixing or bid-rigging. This is not easy, attorneys said.

Industry sources, meantime, said equipment prices remain virtually unchanged.

The intensive federal probe that began 18 months ago ended Tuesday as U. S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Gorman finished sentencing 29 companies and 44 of their top executives.

It was a two-day job in Gorman's courtroom where he imposed total fines of $1,924,500 and 30-day jail terms for seven men.

A 450 individual, too ill to appear, will be sentenced later. There were 20 indictments in all, brought in by four separate grand juries. The 14 remaining were disposed of Tuesday, after Monday's five-hour session.

All the indictments accused the defendants of fixing prices, maintaining them at high and artificial levels and restraining, suppressing and eliminating competition.

The defendants either pleaded guilty or no defense. The judge said both were an equal admission of the charges.

Company fines, totalling $1,787,000, must be paid within 10 days. Individuals, assessed $137,500, must pay within 20 days.

The seven jailed will serve their prison terms, starting next Monday, in the Montgomery County Prison at nearby Norristown, Pa. The industry's two biggest firms—General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—bore the brunt of the penalties. Government lawyers said they do over 60 per cent of the total business.

GE was fined $437,500. Westinghouse $382,000. Sixteen GE executives, three of them ordered jailed, were fined $55,000, while 14 Westinghouse officials must pay $27,000. Two of them to go to jail.

The industry supplies most of the equipment for transmission, generation and distribution of electric power to operate television sets and toasters in virtually every American home.

The transformers, oil circuit breakers, watt hour meters, insulators and other items help operate submarines, battleships, atomic energy plants and dams.

The U. S. economy depends on this equipment. Judge Gorman, noting this, called the violations "staggering."

William L. Maher, chief of the antitrust division in eastern Pennsylvania who headed the vast probe, said he couldn't say what effect the end of the price-fixing will have upon smaller segments of the industry.

"We found a violation of the law," he said, "and we prosecuted."

The convicted companies did over $8 billion gross sales during the 1955-59 indictment periods.

San Francisco's city attorney, Dion R. Holm, said cities across the nation may join in suing the firms for refunds. He estimated San Francisco has spent about $6 million for heavy equipment with GE, Westinghouse and Allis-

Chalmers Manufacturing Co., West Allis, Wis.

GE, Westinghouse and Allis-Chalmers said they are now investigating past and present pricing policies. GE added it would "make it right with our customers."

It is possible that the fixed prices—even rigged bids—may not have been excessive, that the companies merely took a normal profit. It was the secret manipulations which are illegal, and which prompted the successive criminal action.

In the bid-rigging, companies split percentages of the business. And designated who was to make the successful low bid—and when.

Birth Control Is Endorsed

FORT WORTH (AP)—Birth control measures and planned parenthood were endorsed as "both permissible and desirable" by Baptist leaders here Tuesday.

Dr. James Basden, secretary of the Human Welfare Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, made the report.

About 75 Baptists were among two groups delving into the planned parenthood problem. They discussed Roman Catholic theological views opposing the use of mechanical birth control methods.

The naturalistic and legalistic efforts of the Roman Catholic viewpoint tends to neutralize the efforts of social, medical and other organizations to educate the public on birth control methods," Basden said.

Both groups agreed many Baptists would resent and repudiate any resolution by the conference into private matters, but added they felt the denomination must face the problems of exploding population and unborn children.

Another discussion group reported it felt divorce is a sin, but not unpardonable. Sometimes they reported, it might be the lesser of two evils—legal divorce or miserably living together.

Members of Union Buy A Gold Mine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—One Phoenix union local has developed its own anti-recession program.

About 100 members of The Setters Local 4 bought a gold mine near Bumblebee, about 50 miles north of here. About 40 of them are unemployed.

"The men are thinking they might as well work the mine themselves until things pick up," said Howard Reidy, union business agent.

Bible-Quoting Suspect Indicted

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A man who said he let a freight train run over his right arm after drugist James Homer Morrison was killed in a holdup, was indicted for murder Tuesday.

When arrested Jan. 23, Mickey Covington explained his action with a bible quotation: "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off."
