The Texas State Department of Health has come out with a timely reminder about chiggers, along with some suggestions of what to do about them.

The chigger, or red bug, if you want to speak in more formal terms — or harvest mite, if you go for ultra-formal terms — probably has as much power to produce misery, pound for pound, as anything on this earth.

Warm, damp weather encourages them. And they don't become red until they dig in and partake of a victim's blood. To do this, they inject an anti-coagulant substance into the victim to assure a good flow of blood.

But they play no favorites. They attack lizards, snakes, birds and rodents just as readily as they do humans, and they have been known to cause dogs a lot of misery.

Fortunately, dry weather and cold temperatures discourage them.

The same is true of mosquitoes. However, mosquitoes vary in size more than chiggers, and you don't even have to walk through the grass or weeds to be confronted with them. All of which makes the new repellent products a "staple" item these days.

It is not uncommon for newspaper offices to be included among targets for propaganda campaigns, but occasionally one comes along that is "something else." Such a one involves the ABM proposal. Sometimes it is difficult to believe that either side can expect the American public to swallow its arguments.

However, after reading umpteen propaganda missives from both sides, it appears clear that the ABM is not going to offer much in the way of security, and neither would scuttling it lead to more domestic programs in the field of humanitarianism.

In short, both sides appear to be feeding the public a line. I suspect the fact that Russia has some such equipment has something to do with the proposal being presented. However, a lot of people are growing weary or reacting to everything Russia does and their counterparts are fearful that failure to react would be a sign of weakness. John Q. Public has a hard time coming out with anything that makes sense. —

ABM Advocates Have Upper Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advocates of the Safeguard antimissile system have the upper hand for the moment, says Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield while project funds have been approved in a major move in the controversy.

The Senate Armed Services Committee approved the full $794 million asked by President Nixon for Safeguard. The vote Friday on the ABM portion of the omnibus military hardware bill was 10-7.

Friday night Mansfield estimated that Safeguard now has 49 supporters in the Senate and 47 votes against. A week ago, the Montana senator, an ABM opponent, felt opposition senators had the edge.

"But what it will be in the showdown, is anybody's guess," Mansfield said.

At least four senators remain undecided, he said. 'There is sufficient wavering that the time between now and the vote will decide what happens."

Floor debate is due sometime soon after the Independence Day recess on the administration plan to deploy the system at Minuteman sites on the northern plains.

The committee has traditionally voted solidly for most major military projects in the past. This vote was seen by veteran observers as one of the closest in nearly two decades.

Committeemen granted permission for a minority report to be filed by Democratic Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Daniel Inouye of Hawaii.

Republican Sen. Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, who voted for the bill, said all told the committee cut about $3 billion from the total of some $23 billion asked by the administration for a host of projects. No final figure was officially announced.

Nixon Will Visit Romania In August

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is going to be the first U.S. chief executive to visit a Communist country — Romania.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Romania invited the chief executive to come, and he will do so early in August, following a circuit of five Southeast Asian capitals.

The same trip also will encompass a stop in mid-Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet to welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts back from their moon walk voyage.

So the President will be making a globe-girdling trip, starting with a departure from Washington July 23, and the viewing of the astronaut splashdown July 24 about 300 miles from Johnston Island in the Pacific.

From there, the President will proceed to Manila, Indonesia, Thailand, India and Pakistan. And eventually he will wind up in Bucharest, Romania.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers will accompany Nixon to the Philippines and Indonesia and also go independently to Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Australia and New Zealand.

The visit to Romania was at the invitation of the president of the nation's State Council, Nikolai Ceausesu, and was extended through the Romanian ambassador in Washington toward the end of February or early March.

The Soviet Union was not advised in advance of the impending presidential visit to a nation it regards as part of its sphere of influence, officials said.

"We feel under no obligation," one high U.S. authority said, "to check with the Soviet Union in making negotiations with sovereign countries."

This authority also said: "We are not visiting Romania as an anti-Soviet gesture. We are essentially interested in peace in out times. Romania has indicated a great interest in this. They have indicated they believe this should be an era of consultation and not confrontation."

It appeared that the impending trip to Romania might herald visits to similar nations. A White House expert said there have been other invitations from Eastern European countries and "there may be other visits on other occasions."

Regarding the Asian part of the presidential trip around the world, Ziegler said Nixon's objective is to emphasize his longstanding concern for peace and progress in Asia.

He said the President plans to explore the problems and the opportunities for sustaining peace and progress for human well-being.

Most of the time in foreign capitals, Ziegler said, will be allocated to face-to-face discussions with heads of government and other leaders. This pointed toward a de-emphasis, perhaps, on rites and ceremonies.

The precise schedule has not been worked out for the entire journey, but Nixon expects to be back in Washington about Aug. 3.

COMMITTEE PLANS JULY 4TH EVENT — Members of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce July 4th Committee assigned sites for concession booths to be operated during the Independence Day celebration next Friday in Towle Park. ## Hospital Strike Ends After 3 Months Bitter Dispute

By WILLIAM CHAZE

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Medical College of South Carolina hospital ended its bitter three-month dispute Friday with striking Negro nonprofessional workers, and labor and civil rights leaders vowed to continue to work together to organize the nation's 2.5 million hospital workers.

The agreement with local 1199-B of the Hospital and Nursing Home Workers Union, AFL-CIO, involved one of the two Charleston hospitals which have been struck for 102 days. Both hospitals continued operations. Charleston has two other hospitals.

A leading strike supporter, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, ended with the settlement a hunger strike which he had begun on his arrest June 20 on a charge of inciting a riot.

The dispute with the Charleston County Hospital, which employed 89 of 426 strikers, remained unresolved.

J. Mitchell Graham, chairman of the Charleston County Council, said still at issue in the strike against the county hospital is whether all of its striking workers shall be rehired—a key provision in the Medical College settlement. The strikers are nurses aides, orderlies and food workers.

He said 61 persons had been hired to replace the strikers.

Moe Foner, secretary of the New York-based union, said it is undecided whether the Medical College workers would remain off the job until the strike is settled at the county facility.

The Medical College settlement calls for the strikers to return to work July 1, the date a pay increase goes into effect for all state workers, including those at the two hospitals.

The increase, an issue in the strike, raises the starting wage to $1.60 an hour from $1.30. The pay scale of the hospital workers goes up to $2.10 an hour.

The unions did not receive recognition as bargaining agent, a key demand early in the strike. Foner said the demand was dropped for other concessions, including a grievance procedure. The procedure gives an employe the right to select another worker to aid him in filing a grievance.

Both hospitals had ruled out union recognition from the start, saying state law did not give them that authority. During the strike there had been mass arrests for violating of a court order limiting picketing, and for obstructing traffic during marches of strikers and sympathizers.

Egeberg To Get HEW Appointment

NEW YORK (AP3 — President Nixon announced today that he will appoint Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, dean of the University of Southern California Medical School, to the nation's top health post.

The announcement came a day after Secretary of Health Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch gave up trying to get the job for Dr. John H. Knowles.

The announcement was made in New York by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who said Finch has no intention of resigning, despite his defeat in the fight with the American Medical Association and Senate Minoraty Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Ziegler made the announcement at a news briefing at which he also announced that President Nixon will visit the Communist country of Romania, the first time an American president will go behind the Iron Curtain.

The Romanian visit in early August will come at the end of a round-the-world tour in which the President will visit five Asian nations after viewing the splashdown of the Apollo 11 flight in the Pacific.

The fight to name Knowles, director of Massachusetts General Hospital, as an assistant secretary of HEW was abandoned by Finch because of heavy opposition by Dirksen and elements within the American Medical Association.

Egeberg, as the new assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs, will be responsible for almost $5 billion in federal funds to be spent on health-connected program.

Egeberg, as the new assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs, will be responsible for almost $5 billion in federal funds to be spent on health-connected program.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell someone (a relative) that it's time she and her husband gave a party? When this couple moved to town three years ago, they didn't know a soul. We introduced them to all of our friends, and now our friends are their friends, too.

They are attractive, charming people and well-liked by all who know them, so they are very popular, but if they don't hurry up and start inviting some of these people back, they won't be popular much longer.

Since we did sponsor them, we feel somewhat responsible for their social sins of omission. What do we do? I can hardly hold my head up.

NO TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO: It's not necessary to stick your neck out in order to hold your head up. If you "like" this couple and are seriously concerned about their threatened loss of popularity as well as the reflection on yourselves, tell the lady in a nice way that if she's planning to entertain, you'll be glad to help her. If she doesn't get the drift, well, you've done your part.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In a few weeks I am going to become an American citizen. What is the correct thing to do on this occasion? Do you send out announcements or invitations to the ceremony? It is open to the public, but does this mean family only?

Should I have cards printed? It is such a big event for me! I want to do something, but I don't know what. Can you help me?

FUTURE CITIEN

DEAR CITIEN: Why not have a private party and invite those with whom you'd like to celebrate the occasion? Printed cards are not necessary. A telephone call or a little note will do. Congratulations.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have enjoyed your column very much. I have never written to anyone for advice before, but now I feel I should.

First let me explain that we have been happily married for 27 years, have 3 wonderful children and 5 grandchildren, so we are not kids.

Now, the problem: I would just love to sleep on satin sheets, and now I see that they are for sale and I want to buy some, but my husband says that no man would sleep on satin sheets! We have decided to let you decide whether I should but them or not.

"YES OR NO"

DEAR YES: Buy one set! If your man sleeps on them with no complaints, buy more.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 17 who needs some advice badly. My boyfriend is a very nice guy, but he asks me questions which are none of his business.

He says if I don't tell him what he wants to know it means I don't love him or trust him. He also says that no matter what I tell him about myself, he won't hold it against me.

We've been going together for a year, and this is the only thing we ever fight about.

He insists that the past should be forgotten, yet he keeps nagging me to tell him everything about mine. I never ask him any questions about his.

What should I do, Abby? I really love him, and I don't want to lose him.

IN A CRUNCH

DEAR IN: Tell your inquisitive boyfriend that he is absolutely right — the past should be forgotten, and if he persists in questioning you, it means he doesn't love or trust YOU.

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Texas Due Another Hot Weekend

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only a few tantalizing showers in the offing, Texas today headed into what promised to be the hottest weekend yet of the new summer season.

Temperatures ranged up to the nation's high of 112 degrees Friday at Presidio, in the always torrid Big Bend country, and a dozen other points recorded top marks of 100 or more.

Scattered showers spattered parts of the Texas Panhandle in the evening, but the greatest amount of moisture reported was .05 inch at Childress.

For a time small slices of Northwest and North Central Texas were under a severe thunderstorm watch covering Archer, Baylor, Childress, Clay, Collingsworth, Cottle, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Wichita and Wilbarger counties. It was cancelled before midnight, however, without word of any storm damage.

In addition to Presidio's sizzling 112 degrees, Wink registered 105, Cotulla, Laredo, Lubbock and San Angelo 102, Big Spring, Childress, Del Rio and Midland 101, and El Paso and Waco 100.

Thunderstorms were expected to develop anew by this evening in the Panhandle and isolated showers were in prospect across the southern half of the state, but forecasts indicated none would dent the heat wave.

Ambassadors See Recess In Sessions

by WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Friday night they expect the Big Four U.N. ambassadors to recess their weekly talks about a Middle East peace settlement after Tuesday's meeting.

These informants said the big powers had been unable to agree on a progress report they hoped to issue. They said deputies from the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain would continue discussions.

The ambassadors have held 14 weekly sessions since April 3 trying to agree on how Israel and her Arab neighbors should settle their June 1967 war.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik already has left New York. He sailed Thursday on the liner United States for two months' home leave.

Lord Caradon of Britain and Ambassador Charles W. Yost of the United States plan to attend a U.N. meeting in Geneva next month and the French Ambassador Armand Berard is taking a month-long vacation trip in the United States beginning July 10.

Meanwhile, a Security Council meeting was set for Monday at which Jordan will protest Israel's treatment of Arabs in the occupied old city of Jerusalem.

Citing a council resolution that called on Israel not to change the status of the Jerusalem, the Jordanian ambassador Auhmmad H. El-Arra said Israel had disregarded it by deporting four Jordanians from Jerusalem and moving 88 persons from their homes in the old city Wednesday.

Two Youths Arrested In Bank Burglary

AUSTIN (AP) — Two youths, 16 and 15, were arrested near Angleton Friday in connection with the Elgin National Bank burglary.

They were accused of breaking into the bank, trying vainly to open the vault or the night deposit box, then taking small change from a soft drink machine and a stamp box.

The youths were arrested in a stolen car, the Department of Public Safety said, after they had pulled a gun on a car load of girls.

Martinez Paces Astros' Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Marty Martinez does little switch hitting and is a natural righthanded batter, but sidearming Cecil Upshaw is one pitcher against whom he bats southpaw style.

It paid off for the Houston Astros Friday night as they defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-4 with Martinez singling Curt Blefary home from third base in the ninth inning to break a tie.

The Braves took an early one-run lead on Felix Millan's double and Rico Carty's single up the middle in the first frame.

Jim Britton, a young righthander, gave up three runs in the second to the Astros. Four walks produced one Houston run, and Jim Wynn's double scored two more before Garry Neibauer relieved Britton.

The Braves bounced back in the fifth when Millan singled to right and Hank Aaron hit one over the center field fence, tying the score. It was Aaron's 20th homer this season and the 530th of his career.

He also doubled in the seventh and scored on Carty's single, putting the Braves ahead 4-3.

Atlanta pitchers walked eight men in the first three innings, but the Astros were unable to take much advantage.

Neibauer lasted five innings before being yanked in favor of Upshaw in the seventh. Upshaw, who now has a 3-3 record, was the loser.

Houston tied the score again in the eighth as Martinez walked and Wynn singled to left, scoring Martinez.

Martinez, an ex-Brave, said after the game he was disappointed in being traded but now is happy to be with Houston and has no complaints.

The Astros have no complaints with him either. They got another 10-game winning streak going, equaling the club record set earlier this season.

Houston pitcher Denny Lemaster, who was 7-7 going into the game, lasted 6 and 2-3 innings before yielding to Jim Ray, 3-2.

Ray stayed just one inning, walking two in the eighth. Fred Gladding, 1-1, was the eventual winner. He now has 4 saves.

The Astros suddenly found themselves fourth in their division standings, just 4½ games out of first. They've won nine games in a row at home and 26 of their last 30 in the Astrodome.

"They just keep bouncing back," manager Harry Walker said.

He doesn't even want to think about his club winning its division, however.

"You have to play them one at a time," Walker said. "Tomorrow is another game."

The Tribe's George Stone, 6-2, has the chore tonight of trying to stop the Astros will be big Don Wilson, 7-6, in he second of the three-game series.

Another Jet Hijacked To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — An Eastern Air lines jet carrying 101 persons was hijacked to Cuba Saturday while flying along the Florida east coast, the Federal Aviation Administration reported.

Jim Frazier, assistant area manager for the FAA at Miami, said the Boeing 727 jet carried 94 passengers and a crew of seven.

The pilot reported he was being hijacked at 11:28 a.m. while flying off the coast from Daytona Beach, Fla. The plane landed at Jose Marti Airport outside Havana one hour later.

The pilot reported only one hijacker, Frazier said, and gave no other details. The captain only "advised they were being hijacked," Frazier said.

The flight was Eastern's 173 from Baltimore to Tampa, Fla.

Harry Trumans' Wed 50 Years

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — It was 50 years ago today that a freshly-discharged artillery captain and his childhood sweetheart were married in a little church and settled down in the sprawling white frame house here where they still live.

The wedding rated a respectable 28 lines of type of the next day's Kansas City Star. But it received little attention anywhere else in a nation more concerned with signing of the Versailles Treaty and the pending fight between heavyweight champion Jess Willard and challenger Jack Dempsey.

The couple has seen a lot of excitement and attention since then, but their golden wedding anniversary will find former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman once again living the peaceful, secluded life of home.

The Trumans like to keep family affairs in the family, and their anniversary was planned to be private with an exchange of gifts and perhaps in a few friends and relatives visiting.

Truman, who turned 85 last month, appears seldom in public now and leans heavily on a cane. He has lost considerable weight in the last few years but is reported in generally good health for his age.

Mrs. Truman, 84, displays more white hair but otherwise appears amazingly little changed from her years in the White House.

The Trumans' life together goes even beyond 50 years.

They met when they were only 6 and attended Sunday School in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church in Independence.

Harry used to carry Elizabeth Wallace's books from school when his family lived only two blocks from the Wallace home.

In those days the Wallace place was known as the "Gates Mansion," a 17-room Victorian dwelling erected after the Civil War by Bess' maternal grandfather, George P. Gates, who made his fortune selling biscuit flour.

Although Truman's father was a substantial farmer and livestock trader, the family didn't move in the same society as the Wallaces. After graduation from high school in 1901, Harry worked at several jobs in Kansas City before returning to the family's 600-acre farm in what is now suburban Grandview.

It was not until 1914 that Truman began his intensive courtship. It started when he returned a cake plate to the Wallace home for his aunt, Mrs. Joseph Noland, who lived across the street.

Climbing Strawberries

Strawberries are not natural climbers, and horticulturists say the so-called climbers are not productive enough to warrant the special culture needed. This particular berry is an ever-bearing variety, which does not develop well where summer weather is hot and dry.

You can make the plant climb only by tying it to a trellis or fence to force it upright.

Plan For Jailbreak

ANOTHER WAY OF DYING. By Francis Clifford. Coward - McCann. $4.95.

The scene is a remote part of Sicily, and the story is what used to be called an adventure, but now is lumped into the rather vague category of suspense.

Its hero is Neal Forrester, a vacationing Britisher who finds himself in the knight errant role. In the pelude to the main part of the tale, he befriends a young Norwegian woman, Inger Linderman, who is stranded and questioned by the police when her lover, having lost heavily at gambling, commits suicide.

Forrester offers Inger a lift to Palermo, and unfortunately chooses a route through the mountains. He and Inger are kidnapped by a crew of brothers, who are amateurish bandits, and who have the mistaken notion that Forrester is the head of a major oil company. The bandits intent is to hold their captives for a ransom of 5 million lire. Why that figure? Because that is what it would take to bbribe the jailers who are holding one of the brothers.

Forrester finally manages to convince the villains that he is not a wealthy oil executive. But then they discover he is a partner in a demolition firm, and decide to force him to help them. He is to blow up the main gate of th ejail so they can free the incarcerated brother.

Much of the story is concerned with this project for a jailbreak, which of course is a harebrained enterprise.

Clifford, who has written such thrillers as "The Naked Runner" and "All Men Are Lonely Now," has a knack for building tension and then letting it explode into fast, fast action, the result being a lively entertainment.

The Safe Season

The safetest seasons for transplanting trees are spring and fall. In the spring, move trees before the new leaves appear and when the soil is dry enough to be worked. In the fall, transplant after the trees have lost their foliage as they near the dormant stage.

Evergreens may be moved with safety in the late summer or very early autumn.

Dr. Arthur T. Viertel, associate professor of landscape architecture at the State University College of Forestry, Syracuse University, says that in preparing a hole for a tree, the bottom of the hole should be as wide as its top to accommodate the ball of earth encasing the roots. If you are transplanting a bare-rooted tree, the hole should be wide enough at the bottom to permit the roots to be spread out.

If you are buying a tree, your best bet is nursery-grown stock, which generally will be free of insects, disease or major injury. Prepare the hole before the tree is delivered so that planing may be done immediately. The roots should stay moist and be protected from drying out until the tree is planted.

Sow Peas Early

Peas, picked while small, tender and sweet, are one of the finest products of the vegetable garden. One of their greatest assets is that you plant them very early—as early as St. Patrick's Day (March 17) in southern areas of New England and New York. Farther south planting time is earlier.

You need dig only one shovel deep. Plant the seeds two inches deep in heavy soil, three or four inches in sandy loam. The seeds may be planted a inch or two apart.

Mix in about six pounds of any good fertilizer per 100 feet of row. If the soil is acid, add ground lime.

To speed germination, wrap seed in wet cloth for a day or two. Early season germination is slow, especially in soggy, heavy soil.

Picking will be easier and you probably will get a bigger harvest if you provide stick brush or inexpensive fencing in the rows for the peas to climb on. You can avoid fencing by buying dwarf varieties of peas, but the yield is less.

Gardners' Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Those tiny insects you see on your rose bushes, trees and vegetable plants may be common aphids, which rapidly spread viral diseases from one plant to another.

A scientist at the New York State Agricultural Station at Geneva is studying how aphids feed. He wired one so that it became a switch in a delicate electrical circuit.

He hooked a strawberry plant leaf into a small battery. A gold wire 1-10,000th of an inch thick was attached to an apphid. A metal washer helped connect the circuit to a recording machine so that Dr. George Schaefers could follow the aphid's feeding habits. He may find a way to make a plant unappetizing to the insect.

All-America Glads

Three gladiolas with the tempting names Frostee Pink, Grapejuice and Candy Doll have been accorded All-America honors for 1969 by the All-America Gladiolus Selections.

Frostee Pink (Class 440) is a daintily tinted pink and cream, ruffled variety developed by C. R. Poyner. The exquisite gladiolus has seven to eight florets opening simultaneously on long frilled, on graceful, tall spikes.

Grapejuice (266) by Carl Fischer, is as tangy as concord grape juice. It is small-flowered with seven-eight florets opening at once. The flowers are lightly frilled, on graceful, tall spikes.

Candy Doll (245), the work of Alex Summerville, is excellent for cutting and arranging. It is deep pink with a white throat. There are seven-eight heavily ruffled florets opening at the same time on a sender, 22-bud spike.

Lentils In a Pot

An attractive, fast-growing plant is the lentil, a common soup bean. Sow some in a pot for a pleasant surprise. The foliage is bright green. Better still, get your youngsters to plant and care for the lentils.

If you do not spread your lawn fertilizer evenly, you will have bright strips and dull spots when your grass turns green in the spring. If you use a spreader, follow a pattern closely so there are no wide spaces missed or areas given a double dose.

Areas where you may run into difficulty are a corner, or near a walk, where the spreader may be tilted.

If you discover that the spread has been uneven, haul out your lawn rake and redistribute the fertilizer.

Versatile Woman

"Those things we think to be peculiarly of women's interest occupy less and less of a woman's day. Today's woman is concerned about every phase of her existence and her family's existence."—Patricia Carbine, newly appointed executive editor of Look Magazine, in an interview.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:

Intelligence Chief Looks Back

INTELLIGENCE AT THE TOP. By Major - General Sir Kenneth Strong. Doubleday.

Strong was General Eisenhower's intelligence chief in World War II and therefore was connected intimately with all the top decisions of the Supreme Allied Command.

The British general's memoir makes it plain that he greatly admires Eisenhower as a person and as a military commander.

Strong first joined Ike in Africa, early in 1943, becoming chief of intelligence for Allied Force Headquarters. He describes in considerable detail the invasion of Sicily, the Italian campaign and the complex negotiations leading to the surrender of Marshal Bagdolio.

He was left behind when Eisenhower moved to England to plan the invasion of France, but rejoined him shortly before D-Day.

With considerable candor Strong reviews the problems of the breakout in Normandy, which was slow in coming. He also discusses the German attack through the Ardennes (later called the Battle of the Bulge) and gently but firmly makes the point that Allied generals had been warned of such a possibility.

As other memoirs have already established, the British and American generals did not always get along, the situation being especially sticky between Generals Montgomery and Bradley. Strong does not try to cover up that problem, but he tends to question whether it had a serious affect on strategy and tactics.

At one point the author rather drily remarks that there is very little in his book about secret agents, for the simple reason that their contributions, though valuable, are only a small fraction of the information that a military intelligence officer needs.

Strong seems to have gotten along very well with his American colleagues, and is generous in praising many of them.

Communist Dissents

THE UNPERFECT SOCIETY Beyond the New Class. By Milovan Djilas. Harcourt, Brace. $5.

For serious students of Communism's contortions in Eastern Europe, this is a documentary example of what can happen to a dissenter there.

In Djilas's words, he was "the Communist revolutionary, the Marxist theroetician and Stalinist practitioner" who rebelled "against Stalin, then against his own system, and finally, now, against the ideology itself."

Djilas was the No. 2 man under Tito on Yugoslavia, until he went anti-Stalin with the publication of "Conversations with Stalin," and attacked the Communist bureaucracy in "The New Class," a pair of books printed in the West that cost him a pair of prison terms totaling nine years.

The present book is a sequel to "The New Class," and the gist of it is that Djilas has opened his eyes to the fact that Marxism is a flawed philosophy (or ideology, as the Reds prefer to say).

He makes all sorts of "discoveries"—Marxism is not at all scientific as its adherents claim; Marxism and Leninism aren't what they used to be, having been thoroughly twisted; Communist nations have become nationalistic and dogmatic (dictatorial is a more accurate word), and each of the Communist nations has departed from its trumpeted ideology for the sake of its own advancement.

Djilas suffers from the common ailment of Communist leaders — a morbid fascination for hair-splitting theory; consequently his account is burdened by long passages of twiddledum and twiddle-dee over theories. Out of this maze of jargon, he does reach the conclusion that Marx was wrong in measuring society solely as an economic man.

His final position is that he still considers himself a Communist, but one who advocates a "reformist" and "nonviolent" change in Communist nations. For Western readers, this is a good example of how a mind saturated with absurd doctrines has struggled to see the light.

HEW Tells Dangers Of Jequirity Bean

Beware of any item made with the lethal jequirity bean. A mail order company recently went to great lengths to recall novelty pins made of the ornamental seed, which generally is a bright, glossy scarlet with a jet black tip, and is oval-shaped and one quarter to one half inch long.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare described the bean as "Ayus Precatorious: A Deadly Giff." The seed has been used in necklaces, swizzle sticks, wreaths, maracas, babies' rattles, hula skirts, purses, rosaries and greeting cards. And seed companies have distributed it.

The seed are poisonous only when taken internally. If the skin of the bean is broken, one bean, thoroughly chewed and swallowed is enough to kill a human.

Especially dangerous are seeds which have been punctured so they could be together as a necklace or other ornament. One woman who had such a necklace for 30 years turned it in to Charles R. Gunn, research plant expert in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Another woman reported buying such a necklace in Jamaica for 25 cents.

If the seed is taken internally, call a doctor promptly and induce vomiting by giving two tablespoons of salt in warm water.

Perennial Vegetables

Most vegetables have to be planted every year. But there are some that will make even the laziest gardener happy because they are perennials. Once you plant them, they require little care and still produce generously for years.

One perennial vegetable is asparagus. Plant it in rich soil, one foot apart in rows about 30 inches apart. It is best to plant one-year-old roots. Again, do not harvest the first year and cut very sparingly the second year. Asparagus beds should be kept well-weeded.

Less well-known is the Jerusalem artichoke, a wild sunflower that produces a potato-like tuber in clusters. The tubers, or even the peel, may be set two inches deep, a foot apart, in staggered rows.

In late September, flowers will appear, and a month later tubers may be dug as needed. Leave or return a few pieces to the soil for the next year's planting.

The real artichoke is less hardy, but it will survive pretty well in the north, if mounded or mulched for the winter. Artichokes like rich soil. In the North, they should be planted in spring, and in the South, Southwest and West you can plant them in the fall. Set them six inches deep.

Ira Church Scene Of House-Cantrell Vows

Brenda Kay House and Jackie Lynn Cantrell were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Tuesday, June 10 at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Ira. Rev. Myron Crawford, pastor of the Fairview Baptist Church, officiated.

Parents of the bride and groom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd House, Ira, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cantrell, Snyder.

The church was decorated with a heart shaped arch entwined with greenery and pink carnations. On each side of the arch were candelabras holding 15 pink tapers decorated with white stephanotis and pink carnations. A candelabra holding three tapers was on each side of the altar decorating the organ and piano. Pews were marked with pink candles. Lighting the candles were Robin Cantrell, Midland, and Debbie Cantrell, Midland, nieces of the groom. They wore matching pink dotted swiss dresses and white gloves.

The music program included "Whither Thou Goest" and "Always" sung by Yvonne Castleberry, Midland, and Darlene Chandler, Abilene, sisters of the groom. Gwen Calley accompanied them on the piano. Annette Erwin played traditional wedding music before the ceremony on the organ.

As the bride proceeded down the aisle she presented her mother and the groom's mother with single pink carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white bridal satin gown covered with lace. The dress featured an empire waistline, A-line skirt, and was accented with long tapered sleeves. Her chapel length train was made of white tulle and was attached to a pearl crown. The train was edged with lace roses matching the lace in her dress. The dress was designed and made by a friend, Mrs. Pete Sterling.

Something old was a handkerchief belonging to the bride's grandmother, and something new was her dress. For something blue she wore a garter, and she borrowed a four leaf clover pin from Mrs. Welden Wiggins. In her shoe she carried a six pence and pennies minted in the year of the couple's births.

Attendants were Mrs. Sharon Farmer, Snyder, matron of honor, Susie Rasco, Ira, and Linda House, Stephenville, sister - in-law of the bride, bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was Beverly House, Ira. They wore matching dresses of dark pink crepe. The street length dresses were fashioned with long waistlines and no sleeves and featured long backs. Their shoulder length headdresses were made of pink tulle and were decorated with bows of tulle accented with darker pink ribbon. They carried round baskets covered with pink crepe and filled with stephanotis, pink carnations, and English Ivy.

Sandy House, sister of the bride, and Darla Kay Chandler, niece of the groom, were flower girls. They wore light pink crepe dresses accented with darker pink sashes.

Jimmy Farmer of Snyder was best man. Groomsmen were Gene House, Stephenville, brother of the bride, and Hollis Chandler of Abilene, brother-in-law of the groom. Junior groomsman was Don Castleberry, Midland. Ushers were Bill Forbes and Glen Clardy.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents hosted a reception in the Ira Community Center. Debbie Ashley, classmate of the bride, registered guests. The bridesmaid's bouquets were the centerpiece on the bride's table. Connie Sterling served the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with white satin bells. Carole Sterling presided at the punch bowl.

The groom's table was covered with an ivory cloth over pink with appointments in silver and white china. The groom's cake and coffee were served by Margaret Lindsay and Sharon Gray. The house-party included Anita Erwin, Donna Kruse, Barbara Sutton and Bobbie Stokes.

Out-of-town guests were from Graham, Vernon, Midland, Abilene, Colorado City, Snyder and Stephenville.

After a trip to Dallas and Ft. Worth, the couple will be at home at 2910 Avenue C.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Ira High School. She is employed at the Classic Coiffures Beauty Shop.

A 1967 Snyder High School graduate, the groom is employed at Safeway.

Missing Japanese 'Evaporated'

THE RUINED MAP. By Kobo Abe. Knopf. $5.95.

The mechanical nature of modern city life seems to be cutting the aesthetic Japanese nerves to shreds.

A few years ago the Japanese national police reported that some 80,000 people are unaccountably missing. The Japanese called this phenomenon "evaporation" and assumed that many of them dropped out of life due to the stress of the punch-card age.

Abe, the author of "The Woman in the Dunes," whose film version was well received by U. S. art house audiences, apparently tried to explore this matter with the blend of reality and unreality in the manner of Europe's New Novelists. The result, however, is a disappointment. Not until the very last few pages is the inner landscape of a city dweller sketched in earnest. And when the protagonist, a private detective, becomes one of the missing persons, he does so not because of inner necessity but because he is clubbed in the head by hoodlums and loses his memory.

The detective, who has been assigned to find an evaporated man, pursues his clues in an utterly humorless way through an assortment of uninteresting people. The protagonist is scantily drawn, two-dimensional and juiceless as dried seaweed.

As to translation we now have a crop of translators of Japanese literature. The trouble is they are more scholars than writers and seem unconcerned whether or not their English prose matches the original in style and flavor. This translation is no exception.

Indian History Popular

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

HANDBOOK OF MIDDLE AMERICAN INDIANS, Volumes Seven and Eight. Edited by Evon Z. Vogt. University of Texas Press, Austin. $15 each.

A number of scientists, universities and organizations and the government are in the midst of one of the great efforts of our times to record for history everything worth knowing about Middle American Indians.

Just published are two more historic volumes in the series which has been outlined to contain 13 books.

These two concern ethnology, something that can mean almost anything concerning people but generally can be termed the way they live.

The editors were required to stop somewhere, and when you speak of middle American Indians you generally speak of the area from the United States border with Mexico southward to the Panama region.

This region encompasses the highest cultures of Central and South America at the time of the Conquest. It was a period when the Indians found by the Spaniards were superior in many ways to the Europeans.

Unfortunately for themselves, the Indians had not discovered that great cultural commodity, gunpowder. And although their medicine made that of Europe appear primitive, they had not reached the cultural peak of hardbitten, hearthless warfare and relentless greed.

This would seem too late to begin a study of cultures of the era before the Indians became mixed with Spanish blood or came under the influence of Europeans to the point that their culture changed.

But the 43 authors found a way around that problem.

First, they were able to cull oceans of writing, and being experts in their field could throw away the vast amount of useless and inaccurate accounts written by Spaniards in the early days of the Conquest.

Additionally, there are many pockets in the region covered where there has been very little change since the arrival of the Spaniards.

All this was distilled into fine books that can be used for many purposes.

The scientists will find each line invaluable, down to the graphs and charts. The layman interested in the field will be able to read the volumes easily and profitably and ignore the pages here and there that are reserved for the experts.

The books contain many photographs and it appears that the authors have discarded their Brownies for a little better quality of cameras.

The handbooks — a misnomer if there ever was one—are being assembled and edited at the Middle American Research Institute of Tulane.

The work is furthered by grants from the National Science Foundation and sponsored by the National Research Council Committee on Latin American Anthropology.

The handsome books are published by the University of Texas Press.—The AP.

Herring-Lloyd Vows Exchanged At Fluvanna

The Fluvanna Church of Christ was the setting of the marriage of Billie Sue Herring and Weldon Eugene Lloyd, June 10 at 8 p.m. Edward M. Steph, minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. W. P. Herring of Dermott, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lloyd.

Music for the ceremony was provided by an A Cappella chorus from the East Side Church of Christ. Selections presented before and during the ceremony included "More," "Whither Thou Goest," "My God and I," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with a brass candelabra arch entwined with greenery and majestic daisies. Two brass candle trees and two baskets of daisies completed the decorations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a camelot gown of white silk organza and jeweled peau d'ange lace. The moulded bodice featured a bibbed yoke of the jeweled lace and the fitted elbow length lace sleeves were outlined in natural scallops. The scalloped lace was repeated around the hemline and up the center back with tiny bows closure. Her mantilla was outlined in the matching scalloped lace and fell over a chapel length veil sprinkled with lace medallions. Her only jewelry was a string of pears, a wedding gift from the groom. She carried a colonial bouquet of daisies and feathered mums surrounding a single gardenia tied with white satin streamers.

The bride carried out the traditional something old by having her mother's wedding band tied into her bridal bouquet, something borrowed was two six pence in her shoes, one belonging to the groom, and one to her father. For something blue the bride wore three blue garters given to her by Mrs. Jack Ramsey, Mrs. Mic Paterson, and Misty Cranford, a student of the bride this past year.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was a former college classmate for four years, Mrs. Dwight Gray of Dumas. Other attendants were Mrs. Charlotte Rodgers of Lubbock and Dorthy Lloyd, the groom's sister. Their formal length gowns were of crystal blue mira mist styled with a sleeveless fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, and A-line skirt with empire waist. The hem of the dress was edged with a double ruffle of the same fabric. Attendants headpieces were Dior bows of mira mist. They carried colonial bouquets of blue and white daisies.

Candles were lighted just before the ceremony by nieces of the bride, Debbie Herring and Donelle Jones. Their dresses were similar in style to those of the bride's attendants, but were trimmed at the empire waist by a bias band ending in a full bow at the back. They wore wristlets of blue and white daisies. Their headpieces were blue bows with daisies on the streamers.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was the flower girl, Carla Jones, niece of the bride. Her dress was styled of white mira mist with bell sleeves and sweetheart neckline. The sleeves and hem of the floor length dress were trimmed with lace. Her headpiece was a fluffy white ribbon bow.

Serving as best man for the groom was Billy Max West. Emmitt Hataway and Carroll Stone, Lamesa, were groomsmen and seated guests before the ceremony. Ring bearer for the ceremony was Cole Herring, nephew of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Jones. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of bridal lace and centered with burning white tapers and the bridesmaids' bouquets. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with sugar bells, blue flowers, and was topped with three satin wedding bells. Appointments at the bride's table were crystal and silver. Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Mike Myers of Lubbock and Mrs. Mic Patterson of Abilene.

The groom's table was covered with a chocolate brown floor length cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze mums in an ironstone compote. Appointments at the table were ironstone and silver. Mrs. Bill Kingston of Lubbock and Sandra Stansell served the German Chocolate Pound Cake and coffee.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a blue knit suit and white shell. She completed the outfit with the gardenia corsage from her bouquet and white patent accessories. The couple will be at home in Snyder following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M.

The bride is a graduate of Fluvanna High School, Lubbock Christian College and Abilene Christian College. At ACC she was a member of CSO, SEA, Kappa Delta Pi, was Nelson Hall dorm president and on the Dean's List. She received a BSE degree and taught this past year in Lubbock Public Schools.

Mr. Lloyd is a graduate of Snyder High School. He was in the United States Army three years, serving in both the Dominican Republic and Vietnam as a paratrooper. He attended South Plains College in Levelland this past year where he was on the Dean's List. He will return to South Plains for the fall semester before transferring to Texas Tech University in January.

Canada's Water Men Seek Answer To Water Pollution

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

OTTAWA (AP) — Two many Americans fleeing polluted air and rivers, Canada is the last unspoiled wilderness. This country still has millions of acres scented by evergreens and cut by clear-flowing streams, but the damage of pollution is setting in here, too.

One-quarter of the world's known fresh-water volume, 117,000 miles of ocean shoreline and one of the world's largest concentrations of game, birds and fish are threatened. Not to mention man, the spoiler.

"We have no illusions about trying to restore Canada to its unpolluted purity of before. All we can do is determine how much it can take and try to control it," said E. Roy Tinney, one of the nation's water guardians.

Tinney is acting director of policy and planning in the water branch of the Department of Energy, Mines and Resources. His job: trying to coordinate federal efforts with those of the 10 provincial governments to meet the water needs of mining and industry and at the same time protect natural resources.

The situation is nowhere near as grave as in the United States. But already pollution costs Canada more than all its floods, fires, accidents and other disasters every year. The pollution centers within 100 miles of the U.S.-Canadian border are beginning to form a "pollution belt."

Filthy lakes and rivers menace health. Fish die in streams and bays. Scum and algae drive Canadians from their beaches. Tourist resorts and other businesses fail, property values fall and taxes rise with the spiraling costs of water treatment.

"You can do three things with waste — wash it, burn or bury it," said Tinney. "All three can cause pollution, but in Canada we have the advantage of being able to learn from other people's mistakes. We can choose one method that will do the least harm in one region, and switch to another elsewhere."

In its 1968 planning report the Department of Energy, Mines and Resources noted: "No other water pollution problem in Canada and in the industrial heartland of North America can compare with the continued deterioration of the Great Lakes."

Canada's water men are very careful about calling it a joint Canadian-U.S. problem, created by both sides of the border. But obviously the industrial-residential mass on the American side contributes more pollution than the less developed Canadian side.

It could get worse before solutions are found. Canadian forecasts on population growth in the Great Lakes drainage basin indicate an increase from the present 30 million to 35 million to 80 million by the end of the century.

"We still don't know the answers," said Tinney.

While scientists try to find the answers — completion of a $20 million Center for Inland Waters at Burlington, Ont., was a big shot in the arm for research — the federal and provincial governments are exerting controls that they hope will go one better than Europe and the United States.

Germany and France use the fee system. Municipalities and industries pay to release pollutants in European waters. Payers and payees seem happy with the arrangement, but Tinney points out: "Just look at the Seine, the Rhine and the Danube — all polluted."

The United States relies mainly on punitive legislation. "I don't want to criticize," says Tinney, "It might be all right for the Americans, but not for us."

The Water Resources Planning Act of 1965 added to Canada's punitive legislation what Tinney calls the "socioeconomic institutional approach." Basically it's a government effort to educate industry and the public about the detriments of pollution — not only the obvious loss of resources and the health danger but also the hidden costs.

An example: If Canadians are going to demand 10 colors of toilet paper, they should know more dye effluents will be dumped into their water, they may have to pay more for the toilet paper and sell out more taxes for purifying that polluted water. Suddenly basic white looks great in the bathroom.

A new Water Act is being presented in Parliament. It is expected to strengthen already strict controls and expend on the socioeconomic approach.

Industrial and domestic waste creates most of Canada's pollution, but mines and oil wells bear watching. These have "disaster potential" — the threat of oil spills in the Alberta prairies drainage, the arctic and new offshore rigs along the Newfoundland coast, and acid pollution from the coal seams and base-metal ores mines from the Maritimes to British Columbia.

Gordon MacNabb, assistant deputy minister of energy, reports Canada is extracting only about half its existing oil capacity. Production is increasing, so is the spill danger. But so far Canada has been lucky.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENERGY

QUESTION: Why do some foods we eat turn into energy?

* * *

ANSWER: Energy is often spoken of as the ability to do work. We could call it the ability to play, too — like the boys having fun sailing over the hurdles in our picture. Energy powers us for everything we do, in somewhat the way energy powers your family car. It is energy generated by exploding gasoline inside the cylinders which makes your car go. We get bodily energy because our food, having been digested, is distributed to the body cells and is there slowly burned in a process called oxidation. Body warmth is one result of oxidation. Release of energy is another. Certain foods are specially valuable in this way. Foods like sugar, bread, potatoes, various fruits — a group called carbohydrates — serve as fuel for our bodily furnaces. Another highly important group of energy foods are the fats; we illustrate some of the sources of these. Eat a good well-balanced diet and you will get enough of both kinds of energy foods to keep you on the jump all the time.

Orioles Sing Victory Tune

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers may be the first third-place team in baseball history with a magic number.

"I said we had to win six of eight games from Baltimore this weekend and next to gain significant ground," said Mayo Smith, manager of the beleaguered world champions, after the Orioles made off with a 4-1 victory Friday night. "Now it's six out of seven."

Unbeaten Dave McNally and Paul Blair were too much for the Tigers. McNally notched his 11th victory of the season with a five-hitter, setting a club record of 13 consecutive triumphs, counting two at the tag end of last season. And Blair cracked his 17th homer, a two-run shot in the second inning.

The victory gave the Orioles a 53-20 record and left them nine games ahead of Boston in the American League East, while the Tigers dropped 12½ games back.

Elsewhere in the AL, Boston trimmed Washington 4-2, Oakland vaulted back into first place in the West by one-half game by nipping the Chicago White Sox 1-0 while Minnesota was losing to Kansas City 9-8, Cleveland drubbed the New York Yankees 5-1 and California and Seattle split a twi-nighter, the Angels winning 5-3, then losing 5-2.

In National League action, San Diego blanked Los Angeles 50, Houston nipped Atlanta 5-4, St. Louis stopped the Chicago Cubs 3-1, Pittsburgh downed the New York Mets 3-1, Cincinnati swept San Francisco 4-3 and 9-1 and Philadelphia outslugged Montreal 8-7.

The Orioles unloaded quickly on Detroit starter Earl Wilson. Blair walked in the first inning, Frank Robinson was hit by a pitch, Boog Powell singled in one run and Dave Johnson doubled home another. In the second, Don Buford doubled and Blair homered.

What will the Tigers do if they can't chip away at Baltimore's lead?

"We'll just keep playing," said Smith. "What the hell, strange things happen in this game. If you don't think you can come back, you may as well take off your uniform and never put it on again. But we've got to get good pitching."

Smith said Johnson's run-scoring double should have been fielded by Ike Brown and noted that Willie Horton lost Buford's double in the lights.

"When you're going good, that's how things happen," he said. "That's the way they went for us last season."

Reggie Smith batted in two runs with a single and his 13th home run and Bill Landis and Sparky Lyle combined for a six-hitter as the Red Sox beat Washington. Landis, making his first start in just over one year, hurled six innings and gave up three hits and one run, Brant Alyea's ninth homer.

Oakland, held to one hit for seven innings by Billy Wynne, pushed across an eighth-inning run on an infield hit and a throwig error to edge the White Sox as John "Blue Moon" Odom fired a four-hitter for his 10th victory.

Larry Haney opened the eighth with a single and Odom sacrificed. With two out, third baseman Bill Melton fielded Ted Kubiak's infield hit and threw past first as pinch runner Jim Hunter scored.

Joe Foy singled home the tying run and Hawk Taylor singled in the winner as Kansas City rallied for two in the ninth to overtake Minnesota. The Twins built a 6-1 lead on three-run homers by Tony Oliva and Rich Reese, but the Royals clawed back with two in the fifth and three in the sixth.

Sam McDowell scattered five hits and struck out 12, pushing his career total past the 1,500 mark, in hurling Cleveland past the Yankees. It was the left hander's seventh straight triumph. The Indians broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the seventh of relievers Lindy McDaniel and Jack Aker on singles by Jose Cardenal, Larry Brown, Duke Sims and Ken Harrelson plus a wild pitch.

Rick Reichardt slammed a 426-foot two-run homer for the Angels in their opener but it took a two-run pinch single by Jay Johnstone to beat the Pilots. Newly acquired Garry Roggenburk picked up his first major league victory since 1966 in the nightcap, although he needed help from Bob Locker in the sixth.

It Ain't No Game Now

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Honduras and its tiny neighbor El Salvador maintained an icy silence today after a dispute over soccer matches led them to sever diplomatic relations.

The deciding game was played Friday night on neutral territory, in Mexico City, and El Salvador won 3-2 in overtime. There were no incidents reported.

The dispute began earlier this month when the two teams met in a best-of-three playoff series for a berth in the 1970 World Cup tournament.

Honduras won the first game in its capital. El Salvador won the second game in its capital last week. Rioting followed both matches.

After the second game, Honduras complained that its team had been insulted and attacked by Salvadorean fans. Honduras also said fans were disrespectful during the playing of its national anthem.

El Salvador then claimed Hondurans were attacking Salvadoreans living in Honduras. It said Honduras was expropriating Salvadoreans' property and expelling them from the country. The Salvadorean Red Cross said thousands of Salvadoreans returned from Honduras complaining of atrocities.

The two countries agreed to hold the final round of the soccer playoff in Mexico, but the dispute continued.

On Thursday night, El Salvador announced it intended to sever diplomatic relations. Honduras replied Friday night it not only intended to break off ties but had done so.

El Salvador's soccer team won the right Friday to meet Haiti to determine which team will represent the North American and North Caribbean zone in the world championship in Mexico next summer.

Braves, Athletics Triumph In Little League Contests

The Braves defeated the Cardinals 9-6 in an exciting Little League clash last night in Towle Park.

Card pitcher David Watlington and Ricky Beard gave up only four hits to the Braves.

In the first inning Stan Francis singled. In the second Brad Francis singled. In the fourth Dennis Young clobbered a home run and Roy Carter homered in the fifth.

The Cardinals hit Brave pitcher Dennis Young for eight hits. Leading the Cardinal attack was David Watlington with a single in the second.

In the third Watlington singled again as did Bernie Weems, Kerry Rodgers and Ricky Beard. In the fifth inning Clifford Kay singled and David Watlington got his third single of the game. Kerry Rodgers rapped a single in the sixth for his second hit of the game.

In the second Little League game the Athletics blasted the White Sox 13-3.

The Athletics chalked up nine hits off White Sox pitchers Jimmy Gutierez and Willie Tippins. In the first inning Scott Walton doubled. In the second inning Chester Cobb rapped a double and Dale Hobbs and Royce Corbell both singled.

Freddie Everton singled in the third and in the fourth Everton and Mueller singled while Scott Walton doubled and Chester Cobb clobbered a home run.

Freddie Everton twirled a hot two-hitter for the White Sox.

Both Athletic hits came in the third when Oscar Rameriz and Russell Mize both stroked doubles.

Hapless Clippers Lose To Reds 4-6

COLORDAO CITY — Sometimes you can't win for losing. At least that's the way it must seem to the Snyder Clippers, who outhit the Colorado City Reds 9-8 here Friday night in a Senior Teenage League tussle, yet came out on the short end of the score, 4-6.

Moreover, the hapless Clippers chalked up three extra base hits while all of the Reds' safeties were singles.

It all happened in the 5th inning as the Clippers lost a 3-1 lead when their hosts tallied five runs in their half of the frame to change the complexion of the game.

The Clippers had taken a 1-0 lead in the 2nd on Jim Patrick's booming home run without any mates aboard. C. City tied it up in the 3rd on consecutive singles by Ramsey, Guerrero and Hill.

In their half of the 5th, the Clippers tallied two runs when Bill Branson and Mike Levens singled and scooted in on a smashing double by Joe Wilson.

Then came the bad news. The Reds parlayed only two hits — singles by Guerrero and Lynch — into five runs. They were able to do it with the aid of a walk, an error and three fielder's choices.

Refusing to give up, the Clippers came back and scored another run in the 7th when Wesley Bishop singled in Randy Levens, who had tripled ahead of him.

Patrick did a creditable job on the mound, scattering the eight hits over seven innings. Parker yielded the nine for the Reds as both pitchers went the distance.

Two Clipper errors in the 4th didn't hurt them any, but the one in the 5th did. For their part, the Reds played faultless ball afield before the home town crowd. More timely hitting also paid off for them.

Work Begins On Cowboy Stadium

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Clint Murchison Jr., the owner of the Dallas Cowboys, says the National Football League's first stadium with a roof would be ready for play in the middle of the 1970 season.

"It's still amazing that there are some people in town, who don't think the stadium will be built," Murchison says. "Well they had better go out to Irving and take a look."

Construction is underway on Texas Stadium which will put the Cowboys on artificial grass and under a retractable roof. It will seat about 65,000.

Dallas is currently playing in the Cotton Bowl. The new stadium will be located in Irving—a Dallas suburb.

Murchison says the Cowboys will pull out of the Cotton Bowl in mid-season if need be.

"Our contract is on a game-by-game basis with State Fair officials," he said.

The stadium is being financed through the purchase of bond options. It will take some $20 million or so to build the edifice.

Murchison says "We've sold 17,000 bonds so far. We sold 10,000 even when some people didn't think there would be a stadium."

In their long-range plans, the Cowboys hope to lure collegiate football clubs to the stadium—such as Southern Methodist University and perhaps North Texas State.

"I'm sure SMU will come," Murchison says. "It would probably mean $150,000 extra per year for them when you consider their attendance would jump like it did for the University of Houston when they moved to the Astrodome. I understand North Texas is interested."

Murchison, who has hired NFL veteran Bert Rose to manage the stadium, says he eventually would like to see the Super Bowl game played in the stadium.

"But that's a few years off," he says. "What we're working on now is digging a $100,000 hole in the ground."

A's, Braves Fall In Farm League

The White Sox clobbered the Athletics 17-2 and the Braves fell to the Cardinals 13-18 in two Farm League tilts in Towle Park Friday night.

In the American League clash the Athletics were only able to get two hits off White Sox pitcher Darrel Lester. Alvin Allison knocked both of them, a double in the second and a single in the fourth.

The White Sox managed their runs off 13 hits. Leading the White Sox attack beginning in the third inning was Dray Sikes, Darrel Lester and Richard Willis with doubles and Larkin West, Randy Wilson and Ricky Davis with singles.

In the fourth inning Jeff Reed, Larkin West, Darrel Lester and George Willis each rapped singles while Dray Sikes got his second double and Ricky Davis clobbered a triple.

In the National League game the Braves, with 13 runs, only managed four hits the entire game.

Those hits came in the first when Chuck Anderson doubled; in the second when Jimmy Crow singled and in the third when Crow and Doyle Browning both rapped doubles.

The Cardinals managed 12 hits off Brave pitcher Mark Bollinger. For the Cardinals Mike Dickenson singled in the first followed by Tim Dye with a double and Todd Line with a single.

In the second Todd Line, Tim Dye and Danny Menges each rapped singles; while Mike Dickenson and Tim Dye recorded doubles; Doug Nall and Steve Dickenson tripled and Doug Nall clobbered a home run.

Winning pitcher for the Cardinals was Todd Line and losing pitcher for the Braves was Mark Bollinger.

Blues Sink Into Second

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pitcher's worst enemy—the error—sank Memphis into second place of the Texas League's eastern division race Friday night.

A grounder through the shortstop's legs in the bottom of the ninth gave Shreveport two unearned runs as the Braves rallied to nick Memphis 8-7 and take over first place by one full game in front.

In other games, Dallas-Fort Worth split with Amarillo, taking the opener 5-4 but losing the nightcap 5-3; San Antonio swept a doubleheader from Arkansas 6-1 and 2-1 in 11 innings, and El Paso outhit Albuquerque 16-10.

Shreveport's Adrian Garrett knocked in four runs with two homers to pace the Braves at the plate. Ted Martinez hit a three-run shot for Memphis.

Dallas-Fort Worth remained half a game ahead of Amarillo in the western division. Don Baylor's seventh inning double won for the Spurs in the opener. Damaso Blanco's three-hit splurge sank Dallas-Fort Worth in the nightcap.

Francisco Libran's single in the bottom of the 11th pushed San Antonio to its victory in the second game after Alec Distaso checked Arkansas with only five hits in the opener.

El Paso moved within three games of Dallas-Fort Worth in the west with its bombardment of Albuerqque.

The same teams play tonight at Albuquerque, Amarillo, Shreveport and San Antonio.

SPORTS, OILERS TIE; DODGERS TIP BRAVES

The Sports and the Oilers battled to a 5-5 tie and the Dodgers tipped the Braves 7-5 in two exciting Junior Teenage League tilts held in Towle Park Friday night.

The Sport-Oiler tussle was called after five innings under the time limit rule. The Sports tallied four runs in the 3rd and one in the 4th while the Dodgers got one in the 1st, 1 in the 3rd, and three in the 4th.

Jim Waters, Oiler pitcher, gave up only one hit — a single to David Sutton. Sutton, twirling for the Sports, gave up only two hits — singles to Ivory Greer and Barry Keller.

Keller was credited with an rbi for the Oilers, and Cary Coffee got one for the Sports.

Tim Holder and Butch Buchanan shared the mound chores for the Dodgers, giving up only one hit — a single to Gary Smith.

The Dodgers rapped out six safeties, including two doubles by Scotty Sullivan and one by Albert Hernandez. Scott drove in three runs and Albert batted in two. Larry Beard, who went two for four, also drove in a run.

Dwaine Riggs and Jackie Murray each received credit for an rbi for the Braves.

Trailing 4-5, going into the 7th, the Dodgers turned defeat into victory when Buchanan reached first on an error and scored on one of Albert's doubles. Sullivan knocked Hernandez in with a two-bagger and scored himself on one of Beard's singles.

The Rebs were to take on the Bullets Saturday night while Monday's schedule pits the Sports against the Braves and the Oilers against the Bullets.

Prentice Has Lead

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Shapely Joann Prentice had steel nerves, a hot putter, her brother's counsel, and a one stroke lead going for her as she moved into today's third round of the Women's Open Golf Championship.

"I've led in too many tournaments to get excited about this one," said the 36-year-old, 13-year veteran from Birmingham, Ala., who takes lessons from her older brother.

"I've always been a pretty good putter," she said, "but I go to my brother every April for lessons. He helps me with my timing, position, things like that."

The wisdom of Charles Prentice, head pro at the Columbia, S.C., Country Club, paid off for his kid sister in Friday's second round at the tight, tree-lined par 73 Scenic Hills Country Club course.

Joann kept her cool in 95-degree heat while others wilted, needing just 28 putts for her two-under par 71 for 144 and a one-stroke margin over plucky veteran Ruth Jessen in this most coveted of all women's golf championships.

The placid Miss Prentice is one of the most consistent players on the LPGA tour and, with a look resembling Julie Andrews one of the prettiest. Although she has not won a tournament in two years, she usually is high in the money. She has banked more than $8,000 in events since January and her career earnings total more than $100,000.

Her best open finish was a tie for second with Miss Jessen in 1962 at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

"I think we're both due for a victory," Miss Jessen said.

Miss Jessen's knife-straight approaches to the small sub-baked green showed she is regaining form after a bout with cancer last year and recalled her brilliant iron play of a decade ago when she garnered most of her career earnings of $116,000, 10th on the all-time list.

The longest of her three birdie putts for 72 Friday was a four footer.

Peggy Wilson, 34-year-old former physical education teacher, was three shots off the pace at 147. Hard-luck Shirley Englehorn, a 10-year pro who overcame two crippling accidents in 1960 and 1965 to continue a brilliant career, and 32-year-old Sandra Spuzich, the 1966 open champ, were next at 148. Sandra Haynie, who has won just about everything except the Open in her nine years on the tour, had 73 for 149, along with 43-year-old Sybil Griffin, winless in a 13-year career. Miss Griffin posted 76.

ENTRIES BEING TAKEN FOR 4TH NET TOURNEY

As usual, there will be a 4th of July Tennis Tournament this year, held in conjunction with the Independence Day celebration.

However, this year the tournament will be held at the high school tennis courts, and it will begin on the morning of July 4.

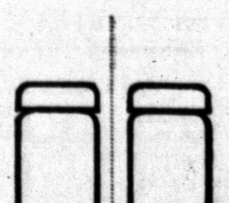

Entries are being accepted now at Bullard's Athletic Center, 2612 Avenue S. The telephone number is 3-5311. Entry fee is $1 for singles play and $1.50 for doubles. Tuesday, July 1, is the deadline for entering.

There will be competition for both girls and boys in 18 and under singles, 18 and under doubles, and 14 and under singles, and 14 and under doubles. Age of the contestants will be determined by their actual age on next Sept. 1. The tournament is open to anyone who lives in this area.

If a sufficient number of persons are interested, there also will be a husband and wife division and an "old men's division." Contestants in these two divisions would play "in the cool of the evening."

Balls and trophies will be provided, but contestants must use their own racquets.

Miss Lain awards a Mercury, lately portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Mrs. Jeanne Burden, Huntsville, Ala.

My husband and I are nearing retirement age and have thought of opening a gift shop, catering service or another small business. Do you have any more ideas, and how can we find out information about the operation of small business?"

A. — Here's a checklist of 50 small business ideas to spark your imagination: an art or craft center (you display and sell the work of others on a commission basis); photo studio for children; custom Christmas decorations; car wrecking business; used car appraiser for inexperienced buyers; fruit and vegetable roadstand (purchase stock or grow your own); mushroom grower; carpet cleaning; parcel delivery service; sports rental — boats, horses, etc.; recreation or sports campsite (charge a fee to those who use your land to hunt, fish or picnic); fishing guide service.

Stamp and coin exchange; upholstery or furniture repair shop; flower shop or plant and flower nurseries; picture framing shop; gunsmithing; hobby shop; key making service; seasonal resort handyman service (for owners of individually owned cottages); children's old and used clothing exchange; everything-for-babies store (perhaps combined with a babysitting registry); a rural night school where you teach shorthand, typing and business methods; manuscript typing for writers (place ads in writer's magazines); real estate; paperback bookshop; professional fund-raising for small organizations; newsstand or concession; earthworm farm; electrical appliance repair shop.

Music store; parking lot operator; mobile home court operator; towel laundry service; cabinetmaking shop; cafeteria or small restaurant; camera repair shop; card shop; dry cleaning service; diaper supply service; delicatessen; dental laboratory; newspaper route distributor; vending-machine business; carwash; a bath store (everything-for-the-bath); rock garden builder (hire young men for actual labor); consultant to young businessmen in area of your expertise; ships' husbandry business (minor needs which big yards do not fill); yacht charter if you're a fully competent yachtsman with a suitable ship.

HELPING HAND. One good source of information and assistance in evaluating your business prospects is the U.S. government's Small Business Administration (SBA) which maintains field offices in some 80 cities.

GOLDMINE OF PAMPHLETS. If you would like free lists of the SBA publications — many SBA publications are free, others are sold at nominal cost — send me a long white, stamped and self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper before September 1st. Mark "SBA" on outside envelope.

From these lists, you may later order from the government such publications as "Steps in Incorporating a Business," "Small Business Profits from Unpatentable Ideas," and "How to Analyze Your Own Business." Other publications are bibliographies on various topics, including "Restaurants and Catering," "Gift and Art Shops," "The Nursery Business," and "Store Location."

BEING REALISTIC. So many small businesses go under because their owners substituted wishful thinking for sound planning. In addition to adequate capital, knowledge of the field and knowledge of management, ask yourself such questions as, "Have any businesses similar to the one I'm planning failed? Are my competitors already serving the public adequately?" "Are local economic conditions good enough to ensure a steadily buying public?" If you contemplate a small manufacturing enterprise, you should avoid products produced by others on a large scale and sold at prices with which you can't compete.

Peru Plans Addition To Land Laws

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Interior Minister Armando Artola says Peru's revolutionary government plans to add "another 10 important moves" to the sweeping land reform law announced this week.

Although Gen. Artola did not elaborate, his remarks prompted speculation that Peru's ruling generals plan to move into areas likely to affect U.S.-owned businesses in the country.

The government's first major act after seizing power last October was to expropriate the International Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey. Its second was the land reform law described by diplomatic observers here as perhaps one of the most significant moves in Peruvian history.

The government announced Wednesday it had appointed a commission to study the country's fishing industry, which it said "is directed to the benefit of minority privilege groups against the majority and a fair share for the state." U.S. firms control about 25 per cent of the investments in the industry.

Although Peru is one of the world's leading producers of fish and fishmeal, the fishing industry is second to copper as a foreign exchange earner, and some observers think the government may be interested in gaining control of copper production.

The existing industry is largely in the hands of American firms like Cerro de Pasco and Southern Peru Copper.

In other areas, the government has ordered a commission to draw up a plan by July 15 "to give workers participation in company profits," and negotiations are under way with the International Telephone & Telegraph Co. for acquisition of ITT's Peruvian Telephone Co.

"When the military took over," said one foreign diplomat Friday, "they called themselves a 'revolutionary government,' and they are showing firm resolve to live up to their name."

Finch Will Resign Post Of HEW

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Finch will resign as U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare within a month, the Detroit Free Press reported in a dispatch from Washington today.

Citing "top Republican congressional sources," the newspaper article by Williams, Vance, said Finch, angry and bitterly disappointed over President Nixon's refusal to appoint Dr. John H. Knowles as the nations top health officer, will return to California and re-enter politics.

Finch had been California's lieutenant governor until he resigned to accept the Cabinet post in the Nixon administration. The Free Press said he is reportedly considering running for the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Republican George Murphy.

Finch denied Thursday a report he had threatened to quit if Knowles were not nominated. The report had appeared in the Los Angeles Times.

But the "congressional sources" said their information on Finchs coming resignation came directly from the White House, the Free Press said.

Demand For Water Soars

A week ago water deliveries by the Colora River Municipal Water District were so far off the June pace there was hardly any basis for comparison.

But the cool, damp weather suddenly was replaced by 100-plus readings and dry, hot winds. Where a week ago the demands by member cities upon the district were coasting along at 18.6 million gallons per day, they were up to 42.2 million gallon per day, Wednesday. There appeared to be no letup in sight, said Paschall Odom, assistant general manager of CRMWD.

Total demands by the cities during the past week approached a quarter of a billion gallons.

Odessa used 25.6 million gallons Wednesday and 26.5 Tuesday, whereas on June 17 it required only 9.2. Big Spring used 13.1 Wednesday and 12.5 Tuesday against 7.8 on June 17; Snyder required 3.5 Wednesday and 3.6 Tuesday as compared with 1.6 week ago.

Snyder Soldier Completes Course

FORT BLISS, — Private Jesse Hernandez Rios, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andres Rios, 514 Fifteenth Street, Snyder, has graduated from advanced individual training at the Army Training Center (Air Defense) at Fort Bliss and will become an automatic weapons crewman.

He was assigned to A Battery, 1st Battalion, 1st Advanced Individual Training Brigade.

PVT Rios attended Snyder High School. He entered the Army in February, 1969, and completed basic combat training at Fort Bliss.

CROPLAND CONVERTED TO PASTURELAND — Walter Stirl stands in a cover of good grass on his farm 6 miles south of Hermleigh. This area of shallow cropland was subject to severe wind erosion prior to grass establishment in 1966. Pasture was seeded to sideoats graima and KR bluestem in a cotton bur mulch.

Wind Erosion, Pollution At Near All-Time Low

Air pollution from dust storms was at a near record low in Texas this spring, according to a wind erosion report released this week by Clyde W. Graham, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service. Graham credited favorable moisture conditions and the work of conservation farmers in the western part of the state with reducing the dust storms.

"Reduced dust pollution benefits a lot more people than you might think," Graham said. "Dust hurts people with asthma, emphysema, hay fever, and other respiratory ailments. It ruins electric motors, cars, buses, trucks, tractors, and anything else with moving parts. And it settles in homes, grinding furniture, floors, and carpets."

Less than 500,000 acres, or about half the 5-Year average, were damaged in Texas by wind erosion this year, Graham said. His report was the result of an anual survey made by SCS offices in the 34 million acre area of west Texas subject to severe blowing during the November 1 to May 31 blow season.

Graham noted that during the dust bowl days in the "dirty 30's", dust blown from several million acres of Texas land darkened the skies along the eastern seaboard and out into the Atlantic Ocean.

Of the land damaged this season, 460,000 acres were cropland and 9,600 were rangeland. Some 17,000 acres of non-farm land, such as roads and bare city land, were also damaged by blowing.

Graham said work done under the popular Great Plains Conservation Program in the northwest one-third of the state has been a big factor in reducing Texas dust storms. He pointed out that in the last 10 years in this 99-county area, soil-protecting grass has been planted on 700,000 acres of rangeland; 463,000 acres of highly erosive cropland has been retired from farming and planted topgrass; and strip cropping, stubble mulching, cover cropping, and other conservation measures have been applied to some 2.3 million acres of cropland. Vast areas of grassland have also been improved.

SCS conservationists help farmers, ranchmen, city officials, and other users of land plan and apply measures to prevent wind and water erosion. This work is done through 187 locally run soil and water conservation districts in Texas, Graham concluded.

APPEAR HERE — Here are the Continental Singers who will appear here Monday evening at the First Baptist Church. The program of sacred music by the Continental Singers and Orchestra will begin at 8 p.m.

Soviet Scientists Study Sea Drilling

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Two Soviet scientists are participating in a deep sea drilling program by which the Scripps Institution of Oceanography is dating layers of sediment deposited on the ocean floor.

After a study in the Atlantic Ocean, the scientists are now on a 55-day drilling program in the Pacific.

The two Russians are Dr. Valerty A. Krasheninnikov of the Academy of Sciences in Moscow and Dr. Alexander P. Lisitzin of the Institute of Oceanography, also of Moscow.

Cotton Army duck is the most rugged and durable of tenting materials.

Continentals To Appear Monday

The Continental Singers and Orchestra, a touring musical group from Southern California, will appear here at 8 o'clock Monday night in a sacred concert at the First Baptist Church.

The touring organization is made up of 20 singers and a 20-piece orchestra selected by audition from all over the United States. The majority of these young people (ages 17-24) are professional musicians or majoring in some area of music in various colleges and universities around the country.

Their two-hour program here will include concert-anthem selections, hymn arrangements, gospel songs, spiritual and folk adaptations.

The Continental Singers have been touring the United States for the past five years. In 1965 they traveled throughout Western Europe, appearing in the Caribbean Countries, and in 1968 they went to the Far East and Caribbean Islands. They presented the regular music for a TV series titled "The World of Youth" in 1964-65 and the group has made five long-play record albums.

In addition to the U. S. Itenerary for 1969, the group will be presented throughout Europe and Latin America, including England, Sweden, Germany, Switzerland, France, Italy, Mexico, Peru, Chile and Brazil.

DPS Chief Asks Caution By Motorists

AUSTIN — Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today the DPS Statistical Services Bureau estimated that 34 persons will be fatally injured in traffic accidents in Texas during the 78-hour July 4 holiday period.

The holiday period is considered to run from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 3, to midnight Sunday, July 6. During this time, the Department of Public Safety will activate a special "Operation Motorcide" and will place all available uniformed patrolman on duty to enforce traffic laws in an effort to reduce accidents and assist motorists.

Speir urged all Texans to plan their holiday trips so as to allow ample time to drive without speeding or driving too fast for conditions. He also cautioned motorists to watch out for pedestrians, especially on beaches and parks, during the holiday period.

The DPS director also warned that the department will vigorously enforce state laws relating to driving while intoxicated.

"Drinking drivers are involved in 40 to 50 per cent of the fatal rural accidents in Texas.

Long Range Farm Policy Could Be Land Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, in developing a long-range farm policy, is giving major consideration to what effect it will have on family farms and food costs.

These are issues which can vitally influence the way agriculture develops in the 1970s and whether Americans can have as good a bargain at food stores.

The Agriculture Department for years has pointed out that consumers spend less of their take-home dollar on food than any people on earth.

Last year this averaged 17.2 cents of the family dollar after taxes and deductions, and is expected to reinain at this level in 1969.

But the administration and Congress are almost ready to consider new legislation to succeed the basic farm law-the Food and Agriculture Act-which is due to expire at the end of next year.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin still meets with House farm leaders to develop a consensus on new farm programs.

Administration proposals are secret, but Hardin frequently has mentioned land retirement.

Some critics of massive land retirement which could mean the idling of whole farms-say a sweeping program of this kind, even gradually applied over five or 10 years, could mean the end of the family farm.

If this occurs, they argue, the door would be open to a take-over by corporation agriculture whose aim it would be to tailor production itself and set prices in the markets.

There are only three million farms now, about half the number of 30 years ago.

Department officials say one-third of this total gross at least $10,000 a year and turn out 80 per cent of the nation's food and fiber.

Theoretically it would be possible, some say, to eliminate at least two million farms and still have more than enough production to meet the country's needs.

The surviving farmers would be subjected to larger and more severe economic pressures and would be tempted to merge, consolidate and incorporate even further.

The result, by this theory, would be a monolithic production system able to control its own ouput much as an automobil manufactuer tailors assembly lines to demand.

A top-level department official, asked about this concept, said he does not believe it is possible, but added that if it came about consumers probably would spend at least two cents more of their take-home pay on food than they do now.

Department economists said that if consumers spend 19.2 cents of their dollar on food this year instead of 17.2 as estimated, the 1969 food bill would be about $120 million instead of the $107 billion now forecast.

Thus, according to department computation, if rigid self controls were imposed by U.S. agriculture to keep output trimmed close to demand, the billion a year more on food.

Government farm programs cost between $3 billion and $4 billion a year at the present time.

American agriculture is a long way from emerging as a corporation giant able to set its own production and dictating what consumers have to pay, governments surveys have shown.

But the defenders of the family farm system grow uneasy when programs are considered which could mean a speed-up in farm attrition.

Rep. W. R. Poage, D—Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, plans to begin hearings July 15 on farm legislation.

Winnie Back Behind Bars After 7 Years Freedom

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Writer

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted of double murder in a sensational trial in 1933 and missing since she escaped from an Arizona mental hospital in 1962, has been captured in a suburban village east of San Francisco where she was working as a domestic.

Sheriff's Lt. Robert Sang said the woman convicted of murdering her two best girl friends in Phoenix in 1931, and shipping their remains to Los Angeles "steadfastly denies she is Winnie Ruth Judd."

But Sang, a crew-cut veteran detective, said he identified her through fingerprints, old photos and a scar on her left index finger.

He conceded that the woman who was working as a cook and housekeeper under the name of Marian Lane "looks about 10 years younger" than Winnie Ruth Judd's 64 years.

The woman, who says she's 54, is plump and matronly compared with the wasted woman who walked away from Arizona State Hospital seven years ago in her seventh escape.

She was picked up at 2 p.m. Friday by Sang and Sgt. Joe Walsh at the Danville home of Dr. John Blemer, a general practitioner vacationing with his wife in Europe.

Sang said everything she has indicates she is Marian Lane, but that "information from both inside and outside" California, as well as his own fingerprint check, led him to believe Marian Lane is Winnie Ruth Judd, once known as "the tiger woman."

He booked her as a fugitive from an Arizona mental institution and said Arizona would extradite her.

The woman was located during checks on the still unsolved homicide death in nearby Alamo of Mrs. Z. Alexander Aarons, wife of a psychiatrist. She was beaten to death last April 28.

Sang said Lt. David Gardella, a detective for 25 years, checking license plates on cars visiting the psychiatrist's home-office, came upon one registered to Marian Lane.

He located her in Piedmont, a section on Oakland, working at the home of a deceased elderly couple whose estate was being liquidated.

Sang said Gardella, now in Italy, did not suspect the Lane woman of being involved in the Aarons murder, but "felt there was something wrong" about her. Investigation led him to suspect she was Mrs. Judd, and after more checks the arrest was made Friday.

Sang said that before coming to the Bay area she did not specify when—Mrs. Judd apparently had been in the Los Angeles area for some time. He refused to say how long.

The one-time "tiger woman" gave up quietly, Sang said. He brought her in for booking dressed neatly in a dark dress with a wide white collar. She smiled broadly at newsmen. It was almost 36 years ago that Mrs. Judd was arrested in Los Angeles when she sought to claim two trunks. Authorities who had spotted blood dripping from one made her open them.

Inside were the remains of Agnes Ann Lerlo, an X-ray technician, and Hedvig Samuelson, a schoolteacher, both of Phoenix.

Mrs. Judd was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged in 1933, but 72 hours before her execution she won a sanity hearing.

She was judged insane and committed to a state hospital where she escaped a total of six times over the years but always was recaptured quickly.

On the seventh try, in 1962, her hospital clothing was found on a building nearby, and no men were killed Friday in a further clues ever were announced. The Iron Curtain pointed to where the Cross bridge with the Winnie Ruth Judd had gone. But this time she was 57, haggard, gray and looked little like the attractive blonde committed nearly 30 years before.

News Conferences Should Give Public Better Images

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department should be getting a better image across to the public, and sharper answers at news conferences would help, Secretary of State William P. Rogers has told aides.

Outlining his views at a recent meeting with top State Department staff, Rogers complained in part about not getting forthright enough proposed answers to questions expected at news conferences held by him and the President Nixon.

The State Department regularly prepares in advance of these news conferences suggested replies to anticipated questions on foreign affairs.

In some cases the proposed answers have been vague or have ducked the question, Rogers is reported to have said. He was also quoted by informants at the meeting as saying:

—A news conference presents an opportunity to get the viewpoint across to the public. Answers should be to-the-point, factual and positive.

—The State Department top officers should keep an eye out for opportunities for radio and television appearances when this would be helpful in explaining U.S. foreign policy.

At the same time, Rogers was said to have warned against what was termed unauthorized leaking of information to the press.

The President must have confidence in the governments ability to weigh important national questions in secret, he said.

At the State Departments news office, officials said no clearance or monitoring system has been imposed on meetings by State Department officials with journalists.

Rogers himself has been sparse with Washington news conferences so far, holding only two since taking office in January.

However, the U.S. foreign affairs chief has met with newsmen on a number of other occasions, including taking a group on his plane with him on his recent round-the-world trip.

Alaska Seeking Pollution Answer

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Alaska hopes to benefit by the water pollution problems encountered by other states.

Robert L. Hartig, chief of Alaska's natural resources section, has told oil conservationists from other states that Alaska intends to deal firmly with its pollution problems.

"With the diiscovery of oil, Alaska now faces great progress but with the problem of pollution," he said. "While petroleum is rapidly overtaking fishing, fishing will always be a major industry."

In a report submitted to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Hartig said Alaska now finds it necessary to establish an atmosphere in which it can develop mineral resources while protecting established industries.

"The unfortunate result of combined accidental spillage and permissive waste can be seen all too clearly in our industrial states," he said.

"The cost of cleaning up polluted streams and lakes is astronomical. Surely, we can learn from this situation that enforced prevention is the only way to avoid a similar situation in Alaska."

Hartig acknowledged that it has been said Alaska is taking a strong approach to the pollution situation.

"Let me emphasize that this involves not just petroleum pollution but the pollution in mining, fishing, shipping and normal community development," he said.

It was not until April 18, 1968, that the Alaska Legislature passed a control act for prevention of pollution of state territorial waters. The statute prohibits pollution through the release of petroleum, acid, coal or oil tar, lamp black, asphalt, bitumen, or residuary products of petroleum.

"The language of this statute obviously contemplates strict liability standards for pollution of the waters of the state with petroleum products," Hartig said.

Alaska already has filed two suits based on the statute.

The first involved an Oct. 13, oil spill resulting from a rupture of a production line on the floor of Cook Inlet. The pipeline connects offshore platforms with on-shore facilities. The spill amounted to 1,000 barrels or 46,200 gallons.

The second suit involved a petroleum spill into a creek that flows from Anchorage into the Cook Inlet. The creek is a major source of water supply for Anchorage and is a major salmon spawning stream.

"There are many other incidents of petroleum spills which are currently being investigated," Hartig said.

"Even with the cooperation between the federal and state agencies and the petroleum industry on the prevention of pollution, there still occurs an average of at least one spill a week."

Alaska legislators already were at work on the pollution control measure when the first announcement was made last year of an impressive petroleum discovery on the Arctic slope.

Potential crude reserves for the discovery area have been estimated unofficially as high as 100 billion barrels. An industry-wide committee earlier this month estimated Alaska's potential natural gas supply at 400 trillion cubic feet.

"It has been an exciting year," Hartig said.

Yarborough Attacks Postal Bill

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The proposed postal corporation would benefit only big magazines and bulk mailers Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., told the 48th annual state convention of the Texas Federation of Postal Clerks Friday night.

"The so-called 'postal corporation bill provides for increases in the rates of first-class mail, letters and post cards and air mail to 'bring the post office out of the red," Yarborough said.

But it has special privileges for second and third-class mails the slick magazines and others which would keep their rates low while making first class users pay the entire cost of the postal ces," he said.

Yarborough, who is the number two Democrat on the Senate Post Office and Civil service Committee, said he was for postal reform.

He said, "This effort to grant special privilege to the big magazines and big mailers at the expense of the general public is not a reform. It would cost the public and postal employe alike."

Commission Reports On Texas Wells

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas drillers completed 65 oil and 51 gas wells the past week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

This brings the year's totals to 2,432 oil and 1,242 gas weels, compared with 2,513 oil and 1,153 gas well completions during the same period of 1968.

Wildcat activity produced 11 oil and eight gas discoveries.

Five oil wildcats were in San Antonio District 2, three in the Abilene District, two in the Houston District and one in the Lubbock District. Four gas discoveries were in the Corpus Christi District, three in San Antonio District 2 and one in the Houston District.

The commission said 143 wells were plugged, including 69 dry holes.

Fans Pay Final Tribute To Judy

NEW YORK (AP) — It was an hour after they carried the yellow rose-draped casket of Judy Garland from the Frank E. Campbell funeral chapel. Outside several hundred faithful fans remained.

"It's all over, they have all gone," announced a policeman. But the crowd clung stubbornly to the scene, resisting the final moment of admitting that their star was gone.

"Judy's great gift was that she could wring tears out of hearts of rock," James Mason had said in his eulogy for the 47-year-old singer who died in London Sunday of an accidental overdose of sleeping pills.

"She could sing a song so it would break your heart." Mason had told an assembly of about 125 invited guests at the private service.

They included Ray Bolger, who played the Scarecrow to Miss Garland's Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," and Harold Arlen, who wrote the song "Over the Rainbow" that became the singer's vocal signature.

Others were Lauren Bacall, Johnny Mercer, Freddie Bartholomew, Otto Preminger and Betty Comden and Adolph Green. Mayor and Mrs. John V. Lindsay attended as did Mrs. Patricia Kennedy Lawford.

Also present were Miss Garland's three children, Liza Minnelli, and Lorna and Joseph Luft, and Sid Luft, her third husband, and Mickey Deans, her fifth, whom she had married only three months ago.

After the Episcopal service conducted by the Rev. Peter A. Delaney of Marylebone Church, London, who married Deans and Miss Garland, the casket was taken to a waiting hearse for the trip to Ferncliff Cemetery in Hartsdale, N.Y.

There several hundred persons, about half of them children, watched as it was placed in a crypt and the family departed.

Studio Hires Panther Type Actors

OAKLAND (AP) — "Black Panther types" wearing berets and black jackets were hired by a Hollywood film company to "enliven the action" during "people's park" demonstrations in Berkeley last month, says sheriff's official.

Thomas L. Houchins, chief of the Alameda County sheriff's criminal division, said "Apparently the protests weren't lively enough for them, so they hired the Panther types to join in."

Houchins told newsmen Friday an investigation disclosed that the Negro youths had been paid by a crew using credit cards issued in the name of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Houchins said a similar hiring by a film producer occurred during demonstrations at the University of California's Berkeley campus March 6. He did not reveal details of that incident.

Black Panther assistant chief of staff June Hilliard said persons taking part in filming during "people's park" demonstrations were not Panthers but "were obviously imposters."

Houchins said the MGM "crew had been in Arizona, shooting student unrest scenes, with actors playing the students."

"When the 'people's park' thing erupted, the director moved everybody to Berkeley for some real life action shots."

It wasn't immediately known what the footage was to be used for.

DPS Estimates 34 Traffic Deaths

AUSTIN (AP) — Thirty-four persons will die in traffic deaths in Texas over the 78-hour July 4 holiday period, the Department of Public Safety estimates.

The period runs from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday.

All available uniformed patrolmen will be placed on duty for more checks for drunk drivers, and state laws against speeding will be enforced.

Drinking drivers are involved in 50 per cent of the fatal rural traffic accidents in Texas, and I urge all drivers to refrain from the use of alcohol prior to operating a motor vehicle," Byrd said.

The DPS also reported that 1,470 persons have died in auto accidents in Texas this year, compared with 1,472 by this time in 1968. The deaths occurred in 1,199 accidents, compared with 1,236 fatal mishaps during the same period.

Galveston Gets Grant For Park

The city will match the funds and they will be used to construct and equip the Airport General Park and Playfield in Galveston.
