Three-Day Booker T. Washington Reunion Slated

Booker T. Washington School ex-students Association will hold its second annual alumni reunion Friday through Sunday, June 17-19, with the National Guard Armory as reunion headquarters.

The reunion theme is "Fulfilling a Dream: A Legacy of Our Past."

More than 200 ex-students are expected to attend from across the country.

The arrangements committee is headed by the valedictorian and salutatorian of the graduating class of 1958, Dr. Francine Childs, now a professor in the University of Ohio, Athens, and Beulah Bailey Powell, who has remained in Wellington and is on the nursing staff of Collingsworth General Hospital.

Dr. Childs was the first black student from Booker T. Washington to graduate from college with bachelor's masters and doctors degrees. She later returned to teach at the school.

Principal speakers were announced.

Dr. Childs will speak at the Salute to Teachers Night Friday Evening at the Armory. Her subject will be "Fulfilling a Dream: A Legacy of Our Past." Among her dreams, she declares, is to complete the work of scholarships which will honor by name six school and community leaders who have inspired the children of the school; along with her other dream of acquiring funding to buy and restore Booker T. Washington School, now unused.

Booker T. Washington School, she has been told, is the first brick school for black children to be built in West Texas.

LaRue Gilbert Walker, a teacher and basketball coach at Booker T. Washington from 1955-1960 now teaches in the Waco Public Schools.

business, Mrs. Marple said.

Wellington Industries was organized in the summer of 1980, and from August to December, 1980, the company shipped 23,762 kegs, Mrs. Marple said. In 1981, the company shipped 146,701 kegs and in 1982 it shipped 137,991 kegs.

January through May shipments of this year have been 78,278 kegs, she said.

"Our production is up and our efficiency is up," Mrs. Marple said. "We are now producing on a 6-day schedule what we had been producing on a 7-day schedule, and we don't anticipate having to move to a 7-day schedule this year. And our production yields are better than they've ever been."

The spike plant runs three shifts per day and total employment in the Wellington plant and office is about 80.

The spike plant produces three products: AREA spikes (those that meet American Railway Engineering Association specifications) that can be used in automatic spiking machines, industrial grade spikes that can be used by contractors who hand-drive spikes, and scrap.

West Texas Utilities Files Request for Rate Increase

West Texas Utilities Company has filed for a general increase in its electric rates for retail customers.

Local Manager Tommy Hudson said the application, filed Friday, is a systemwide request for higher rates. Simultaneous filings were made in all incorporated towns and with the Public Utility Commission of Texas at Austin for an increase in rural areas, unincorporated towns and in incorporated towns which have ceded jurisdiction over electric rates.

So far, a total of 19 municipalities served by WTU have opted to let the PUC analyze rate requests and to make decisions for them. These are Albany, Chillicothe, Dickens, Eldorado, Goree, Hedley, Lakeview, Matador, McCamey, Mertzon, Moran, Paint Rock, Roaring Springs, Robert Lee, Roby, Rotan, Rule, Trent and Weinert. WTU has filed complete information about the rate request with each of these towns.

The principal reasons cited for the new rate proposal is that the present rates are not adequate to support the investment WTU has made in necessary new facilities since the last rate increase, Hudson said. WTU's current construction program, the core of which is the coal-fired power plant at Oklaunion, is the biggest and most expensive in the Company's history. By the time the proposed rates become effective, WTU will have invested more than $84.4 million in new facilities and must spend considerably more in the years ahead to satisfy the growing demand for electricity in west Texas.

The proposed rates would produce an increase in total retail revenue of $26.6 million. This amounts to 11.4 per cent.

No major changes in rate structure are included in the proposal. For residential customers, the average electric bill, including fuel costs, would go up by about 13.2 per cent, although the actual increase would vary with the amount of usage.

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Pearl Ball Browder and her husband, Dave, are getting ready to build their new house on their Diamond Tail Ranch 10 miles north of Memphis and 18 or 19 miles due west of Wellington.

The ranch lies in both Collingsworth and Donley counties, along the North Fork of Spiller Creek. (That's the other name of Buck Creek).

It is part of the historic Diamond Tail Ranch, one of the first established in the southeast Panhandle, and it still carries the name.

The Browners have an affinity for living in interesting places. Until a year or so ago, their home was the house where the picture "Hud" was filmed near Goodnight.

It's the large two-story ranch house north of Highway US 287. Until their new house is finished, they are living in Memphis, Browder's home town.

R.L. and Travis Templeton attended the National Booksellers Convention in Dallas recently and rubbed shoulders with such authors as Walter Cronkite, Lana Turner (both have new books out) and many others.

Book dealers and publishers were there not only from the northeast, where most of the publishers are located, but from such far-away places as India and Australia.

R.L. had much favorable attention given to his latest books the 8-volume series that includes the Alamo books, Jimmy Littlewolf, plus Columbus Cabin Boy, the Mountain Boy, Palo Duro Indian Princess, Silver Tip, My Crippled Coyote and Little Girl Lost.

An Australian group wanted exclusive rights for publication on that continent. R.L. said "No."

CHURCH HISTORY: Recently a quit-claim deed was filed in Helen Gollighugh's office in which "successor trustees of the Missionary Baptist Church" of Dodson, Hershel Tabor, Truitt Holland and Mrs. T.E. Lennon deeded 6 lots to Larry Norman. These trustees were well-known leaders in South Baptist Church.

That's right, says Holland, an authority on South Baptist Church history.

When Charles Darter searched the title, he found the first and only legal reference to the church and it was called the Missionary Baptist Church, which indeed it was. At some point it became affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention. In the 73 years that followed the filing of that first instrument, no other legal reference was ever made to the church.

Later, a Missionary Baptist Church (North Baptist or BMA-Baptist Missionary Association) was organized and still serves the community.

All of this was a surprise to some of the trustees, members and people who have known the religious activities around Dodson.

When Larry Adams was clearing out some things at Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors he found a 1924 Wellington High School annual in a closet. It was the The Flashlight and this was Volume II, so apparently there was an annual in 1923 also.

The football team under Coach John L. Lee had a fair season. There was to be another Coach John Lee (boxing) some 15-20 years later.

Several 1924 graduates have pre-registered for the 1983 reunion.

John Coleman reports on the Thursday night, June 9 storm: When that close lightning bolt struck and the clap of thunder raised a lot of people from their beds, something happened in the electrical system of his house. Without being touched, the TV came on and so did the lights that automatically came on when the door bell or telephone rang.

Enrichment Classes Offered

Several enrichment classes will be offered in the fall for the elementary and junior high students. Classes will be conducted on Saturdays for 4 to 6 weeks. A fee of $5 - $10 will be charged. The enrichment program has no connection with the GATE Program and is open to all students, said Beverly Hudson, an elementary teacher.

Definite classes for the enrichment program include computers, sign language, and Spanish.

Tentative classes for the program include art, music, math, science, sewing or handiwork, reading, creative writing, sports, and history of Collingsworth County.

Anyone interested in teaching one of the tentative classes should call Gayle Hankins, 447-2145 or Beverly Hudson, 447-5197. "Teachers are needed for these classes, so please share your talents with the students of this area," said Mrs. Hudson.

Details for registration will be provided at a later date.

China reached a surprising 16.5 million bales, up three million from the preceding year. Production in 1979 was only 10.1 million bales.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT by DON REEVES

COTTON PICTURE IMPROVED DUE TO PIK USAGE

The previously gloomy cotton picture has done an about face due to the government's PIK (Payment in Kind) program and an increase in domestic usage.

Whether or not this price strength will continue, however, depends a lot on this season's crop.

"Despite about a 40 percent cutback in cotton acreage due to farmer participating in PIK and the acreage reduction program, cotton supplies will still be plentiful this fall if good weather prevails."

The market price may drop to near the loan rate at harvest time, so farmers should consider forward contracting or hedging in the future market some of their crop during periods of market strength. The market will be sensitive to weather developments during the growing season.

The 1983 cotton crop shapes up this way. Farmers will likely plant a little more than 8 million acres, and yields will likely be higher than normal because farmers are using their best land and have fewer acres to care for, so they can manage them better. Thus 1983 production could reach 9.5 to 10 million bales.

While the U.S. is trying to cut back on cotton production Russia and China are attempting to increase production. Therefore prospects are good for foreign production to remain fairly high during the coming crop year. The 1982 crop in about the Quail-Wellington telephone line strung along the barbed wire fences in 1910 brought memories to Mrs. Bertha Stephens of Quail. "The young men in the community liked this. When a boy and girl were getting ready to elope at night, he would cut the telephone wire so her family couldn't call the officers or even the neighbors. I know of this happening several times," she recounted.

Youth Wins Award

Jon Eric Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Jenkins of Durant, Okla., was notified that his Arbor Day painting has won first place in competition in the State of Oklahoma. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Hiatt.

Jon Eric's picture will hang in the east wing of the Oklahoma Capitol building during Arbor Week and he was invited to a ceremony at the capitol which will include a tree planting. His picture was made with Lt. Gov. Spencer Bernard and Smokie the Bear.

The boy's picture included uses of a tree: a tree house, swing, ladder, shade, squirrel hole and bird's nest.

Jon Eric is a first grader and his mother is his teacher.

It is said that we should expect a bad winter if birds begin eating up all the berries early.

Mrs. Bertha Stephens Honored With Dinner on 80th Birthday

Recently Mrs. Bertha Stephens of Quail was honored on her 80th birthday with a dinner at the Branding Iron Restaurant in Memphis.

Her children were hosts: Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens from Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. J.O. (Ish) Miller from Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Freddy Poteet from Lubbock; Mrs. Monda Stephens, wife of the late George Stephens from Pattonville; Mrs. Nancy Phillips from Spearman, and Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Martin of Lakeview.

During the birthday dinner, Mrs. Stephens was presented a basket holding 80 long-stemmed red roses. Suzette Miller served the birthday cake accented with the gold numeral 80.

A former teacher, Mrs. Stephens heads three generations of teachers. During the celebration, the information emerged that she, her children, daughter-in-law and grandchildren have a total more than 100 years of teaching to their credit.

For more than 20 years, Mrs. Stephens was the Quail correspondent for The Wellington Leader.

She was born at Childress the daughter of the late Hugh and Annie Guinn. When she was 7 years old, the family moved to Quail from Memphis, and for more than 20 years, Mrs. Guinn was Quail postmaster.

She remembers vividly the cattle drives that once came through.

Her life has observed many changes, from horse and buggy transportation to the space age.

She remembers kneeling by the front windows of their house and watching the cattle drives, some of them miles long, that came through Quail.

"We had stiles instead of gates in our fences so the cattle wouldn't break away and come in the yards," she remembers.

She attended and later taught in the Quail school.

She was a student in the first school building, but not the first school classes in Quail. She also attended classes in the second school.

After receiving as much education as she could there, Mrs. Stephens attended North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, now North Texas State University.

She taught at King, a one teacher school, riding horseback each day. Next she taught at Quail—a three teacher school. She had the first three grades. After she and the late George T. Stephens married they lived on their farm west of Quail for almost 50 years before moving into Quail.

"After we moved on the farm, our 6 children each started to school at Quail and all 6 graduated from high school at Quail," she says. All six went on to college.

Mr. Stephens was one of those responsible for persuading the small one and two room schools to consolidate into the Quail Rural High School, and after consolidation she served as a substitute teacher.

One of Mrs. Stephens' activities of recent years has been collecting historical material about the Quail area, which she is encouraged to publish in book form. She also enjoys crocheting, other types of writing and reading the history of surrounding counties.

Those attending her birthday celebration were the children: Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Monda Stephens, Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Poteet, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

The grandchildren attending were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Miller of Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Poteet of Lubbock, Mylina Helm of Wichita Falls, Toby and Terry Phillips of Spearman, Angela and Debra Martin of Lakeview and Shanna Stephens of Odessa. A granddaughter, Mrs. Wayne Sandlin of Commerce, came after the party. Three grandchildren could not attend.

The great grandchildren were Stephanie and Stephen Miller of Graham and Jason and Melissa Poteet of Lubbock.

Guests were Alma Montgomery of Pattonville and Terry Brewer of Memphis.

After the dinner, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller to open gifts and visit.

Gulleys Host Family Party

Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Guley had as guests their son, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mike Guley and their twins, Matthew and Miranda, of Little Rock, Ark. They were here through last week.

On Thursday, there was a birthday celebration for the children. The traditional birthday cake was served with all the trimmings.

Guests were Matthew and Miranda, their parents, Gary Mike and Nancy Guley; Mrs. Gladys Yates of Elk City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Nichols of Amarillo; Mrs. Claudia Sweat and Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Guley.

Mr., Mrs. Earl Yarbrough Have 65th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Yarbrough recently celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary at their home, 1103 Bowie Street.

As neither is as active as formerly, the day was spent quietly. Their three daughters were present, and other relatives called.

There was quiet visiting, along with Mr. Yarbrough's lively accounts of another era in ranching along the Texas-Oklahoma state-line.

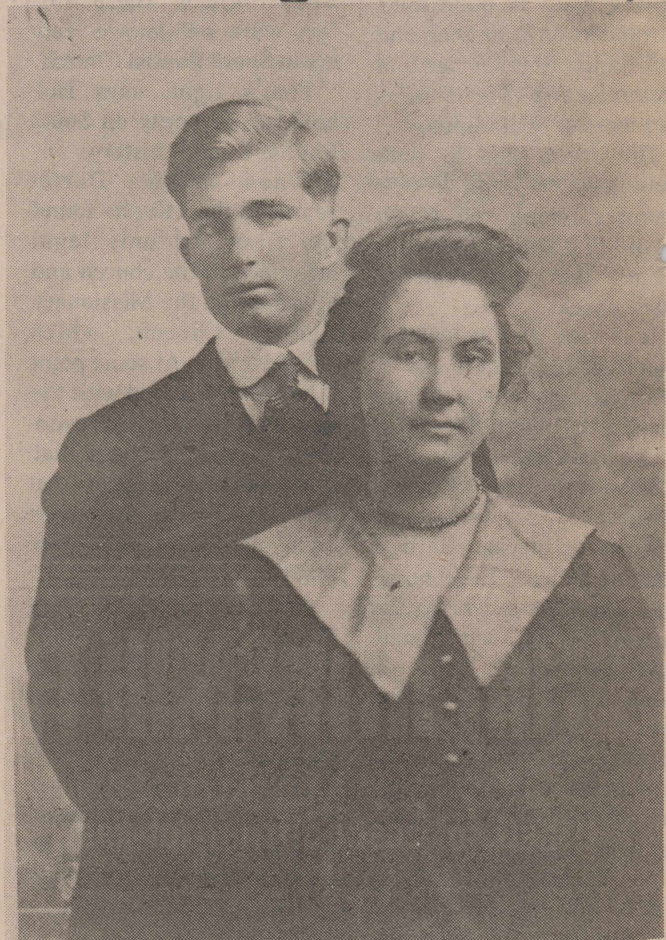

One daughter, Mrs. Hiram (Exa) Cudd, lives here. Joining her for the wedding anniversary were Mrs. W.A. (Audie) Carter of Amarillo and Mrs. Robert (Audrey) Johnson of Albuquerque, N.M.

Others present were his sister, Mrs. Howard Holton and her sister, Mrs. C.A. DeArmond; sisters-in-law, Mrs. Fred Yarbrough and Mrs. Vernon Peters. Their granddaughter, Mrs. Dennis Cudd, and two great grandsons, Dennis II and Douglas, rounded out the group.

Friends who called were Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan and Virginia Robey.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough have been closely identified with the area along the Texas-Oklahoma state line throughout their married lives, living until only a few years ago in the Shinnery Community.

Born at Dixie, Oklahoma, Mrs. Yarbrough is the former Mabel Ann Peters and came with her parents to the Union Grover community just across the line in Oklahoma while

Mr. Yarbrough, a native of Erath County, came here in 1914 to work for an uncle, John Yarbrough, one of the pioneer ranchers along the 100th meridian. Part of that ranch now belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough.

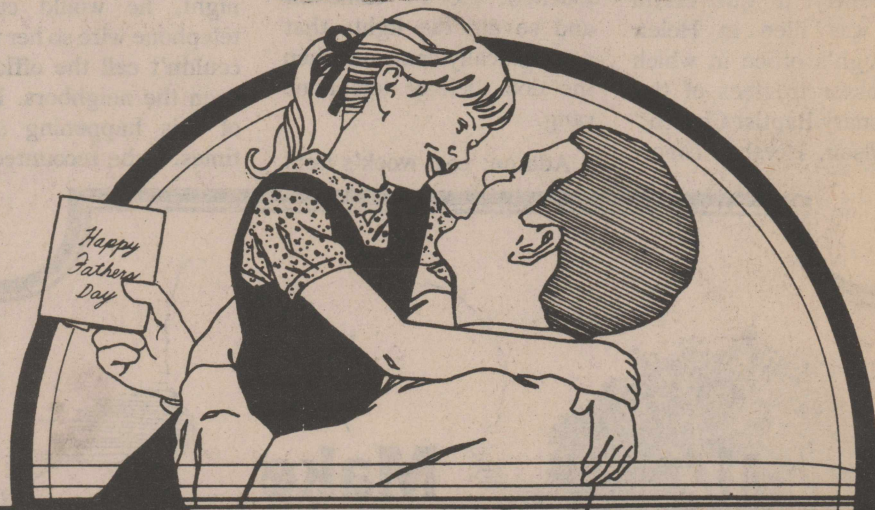

They are members of the Wellington Church of the Nazarene. He has held most of the church

Annual Terry Family Reunion Brings Members from Far Away

Mr. Joe Terry, with a son and daughter-in-law, Donald Joe and Donnie Terry of Tulsa, Okla., hosted the annual reunion of descendants of the late C.C. and Daisy Terry, who were among the county's earliest settlers. It was held in Bura Handley Community Center.

Approximately 50 family members attended, coming from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri and Bangladesh.

Vesta Lee and Nelda Terry Orr came from Bangladesh, accompanied by their daughter from Childress. Both grew up at Wellington and Madge. One member of the family, Frances Terry Ingmire of St. Louis, Mo., is preparing a book on the Terry family, and the reunion was the occasion for gathering information and pictures.

This place has never left the family and now belongs to Donald Joe Terry and Herman Claude Terry of Kermit, sons of Mrs. Joe Terry and the late Mr. Terry.

For some, a highlight of the reunion was a visit to the Terry farm, especially to those who have never seen it.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Now that the regular session of the 68th Legislature is history, it's time to reflect on the key accomplishments made during the session which will affect the people of District 31.

Several hundred bills and resolutions were passed by both the Texas Senate and the House of Representatives. We authored and sponsored more than 80 bills and resolutions which were introduced in both Houses. Seventy percent of the bills and resolutions we wrote and sponsored will soon become law.

We were pleased to see the passage of several bills we sponsored which will create juvenile boards in our district. Recently approved legislation calls for the creation of juvenile boards in Sherman, Hartley, Bailey, Parmer, Castro, Hale, Swisher, Lamb, Dallam and Hansford Counties.

Senate Bills 132 and 1269 which we sponsored, and which call for the establishment of the Palo Duro Water District and a Buffalo Lake Water District, have been approved and sent to the Governor.

We gained final approval on our legislation aimed at protecting the Panhandle from the threat of nuclear waste. The Legislature approved strict guidelines for the drilling of mine shafts, and said that the dumping of nuclear waste would be prohibited if it appeared threatening to our natural resources.

A statewide work release program, which was largely modeled after the Potter County Work Program, has been adopted. The bill, which we sponsored, will help ease the problem of prison overcrowding, and it will allow the nonviolent offender to pay for his part-time incarceration and repay the victim of his crime.

In the area of higher education, we received approval of our bill which would allow Frank Phillips Jr. College to expand its tax base by annexing county territory. We also made changes in the law which will help West Texas State University and other universities complete construction, repair and rehabilitation projects with more ease.

Legislation which we sponsored relating to the Wheeler County Water Supply District was also approved.

School Attendance Down, TABS up in Year-End Report

Wellington ISD average daily attendance dropped from 666 last year to 661 this year, Supt. Kenneth McKay told school board members at regular board meeting Monday, June 13.

Attendance was 95.46 percent this past school year, McKay said.

REUNION—

principal of Booker T. Washington, and an active participant in the community affairs.

-Mrs. Lessie L. Pheagan who spent 20 years shaping the lives of young people in Wellington, in the classroom and also in the church and community.

-Bro. Alonzo Price, custodian of Booker T. Washington and president of the PTA, who was instrumental in securing a high school for the black children.

-Mrs. Clara V. Frazier, who helped obtain the two room red brick school. Before that classes were held in the Methodist Church. She used her car to transport black children.

-Prof. William Francis Simpson, the second principal of Booker T. Washington High School, who was known to the community as "firm but fair."

-Bro. Jap Williams, a longtime Wellington resident and Civil Rights leader, who helped to start an NAACP chapter in Wellington. He was the first black appointed to the school board when discussions about a black high school were going on.

-Bro. Joe Leonard Powell, a Church of Christ minister and the first black male graduate of Booker T. Washington to get a degree from a four-year college.

As national coordinator of the reunion, Dr. Childs has contacted former students from across the country for this event. She grew up in Wellington.

She has a B.S. degree from Paul Quinn College, Waco and Master of Education and Doctor of Education Degrees from East Texas State University. Besides Wellington, she has taught at Bastrop, McKinney Job Corps, Wiley College and East Texas State University before going to the University of Ohio, where she is in the department of Afro-American studies.

She has become a widely sought after speaker and many professional honors have been bestowed on her.

She will spend part of a sabbatical leave next year in Botswana, Africa, researching and writing.

Part of the year will be in Texas, where she is writing about the historical development of Afro-Americans in the Panhandle with emphasis on the relationship between schools, families and churches in building the character of the children.

The book resulting from this will be "Black Families in Transition: Unsung Heroes."

Counselor Louis Graham reported to the board on results of the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) tests administered to 3rd, 5th and 9th graders in February.

The tests measure the percentage of students in each grade who can make a satisfactory grade or "master" problems in three basic areas: mathematics, reading and writing.

In third grade, 72 percent were mastering mathematics, 85 percent reading and 80 percent writing.

In fifth grade, 81 percent were mastering mathematics, 79 percent reading and 83 percent writing.

In ninth grade, 80 percent were mastering mathematics, 82 percent reading, and 83 percent writing.

The ninth-grade level test is also called an exit-level test, and students who do not make satisfactory grades on the test in the ninth grade take the parts they failed again in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades until they pass.

Texas currently does not require that students pass these basic skills test to receive a high school diploma, although there have been such proposals in the legislature. Florida and Georgia have implemented similar plans, and students in those states who do not pass the exit-level tests receive certificates of attendance but do not receive diplomas.

Graham said that the statewide goal is 80 percent of students passing all three areas in all three grade levels by 1984, but that state education officials have said that they will not attain those goals.

Graham said that Wellington students had made progress each year that the tests had been given here. He said this is the fourth year for 5th and 9th grade tests and the third year for 3rd grade tests.

Kenneth McKay also reported on plans by the school to implement a course of English as a Second Language (ESL). Eighteen Wellington students will be eligible for the program, and it will be taught in a separate class next year for 45 minutes each day by Phoebe Tramel. McKay said an ESL program is now required for accreditation when a school system has students whose primary language is not English.

The board also accepted the resignations of William B. Flores from an ag instructor position, Allen Sanders from coaching and Shelly Sanders from elementary teaching.

The board approved the hiring of Carl Taylor as assistant coach and Jeanne Taylor as an elementary teacher.

The board also heard a report from a state health department inspector that broken tiles on the practice floor gym could be dangerous to students.

In other action the board amended the budget to pay $11,928 for a school bus that was rebuilt by the Texas Department of Corrections, approved signing of a deed to sell Lots 11 and 12, Block 150, Wellington town section, for the price of back taxes owed against the lots, and hired Brown, Graham & Co. as auditors for the next school year.

Present were board members Kirby Campbell, Carroll Nunneley, Dan Langford, Frances Schmidt, Reed Souder and Bill Spillman. John Barton was absent.

Parents traditionally attend their children's graduation exercises. But the 5 children of Mrs. Lorene Wolf of Tipton, Okla. came from 5 different states to see her receive an Associate of Arts degree from Western Oklahoma State College in Altus, Okla. The commencement was held Friday, May 13.

If her schedule allows, she plans to work toward a bachelor's degree by attending classes at Cameron University in Lawton.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT REPORT

by Nancy Bigby

FIRST BLAZER WORKSHOP COMPLETED
Ten women completed the first blazer workshop held in Collingsworth County. They were: Jo Carson, Juanell Carson, Paula Carson, Frankie Duncan, Burnalee Duncan, Kathryn Barjenbruch, Pat Shields, Pam Neeley, Bertha Mae Keller, and Mary Fulcher. Upon completion, everyone had learned new, fast techniques that will aid them in their sewing in the future. Some of these techniques are: using fusible interfacing properly, making a notched collar and lapel, sewing the lining in by machine, making shoulder pads, and marking and taping the roll line. Everything learned are the quick methods used by manufacturers when constructing a blazer. Except for a little finishing work, participants were able to complete their blazers after the five meetings. They also estimated that approximately $40.00 was saved by making the blazer as compared to buying a ready made.

City Council Studies Rising Costs

Local managers of two of Wellington's utility companies met with the city council Monday night, June 13, concerning rate increases for their companies.

Tommy Hudson spoke for West Texas Utilities Co. and Billy Jackson for Lone Star Gas.

The cost of lighting Wellington's streets is going up by approximately 400 percent on July 1, as a result of a new contract negotiated by the city and West Texas Utilities Company. It applies only to the street lighting contract.

The old 5-year contract expires on that date, and provided for street lighting at a set cost of approximately $500 per month. The new 5-year contract, will be at a variable rate, depending on the general rate to the city users. It will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000 per month to light city streets.

By recent action of the Public Utilities Commission, however, there will not be a flow-through (fuel adjustment) charge each month, but one adjustment at the end of each year.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our gratitude to the wonderful people at Dodson and Wellington who helped so generously in so many ways during the tragedy that took four of our family.

We are grateful for the food, flowers, cards and donations to the memorial fund, words of sympathy and many other ways you brought us comfort.

The Lee Roy Wiles Family

local manager, met with the city council Monday, June 13, for the second time, after the council had studied the contract for a one-month period. The council saw only one solution to help cut costs: all street light bulbs will be changed out to give dimmer light.

WTU will make the bulb changeout. Later it was pointed out in the council that WTU on Friday, June 10, filed for a general rate increase although their last general rate increase went into effect here only on February 2 of this year.

Billy Jackson, Lone Star Gas Co. manager, came to remind the city council that the 90 day waiting period which the city had to accept or reject a requested rate increase had expired.

The company asked a 6.95% rate increase.

Instead, the city chose to go with a recommendation of McMorries Engineers of Amarillo, which was hired to study the Lone Star Rate request and recommended a 5.12% rate increase. This would give Lone Star an increase of revenue amounting to $33,784 per year, or about 74 percent of what the gas company asked.

Jackson then pointed out that the company can accept the increase the city approved and still appeal to the Railroad Commission for the full amount it requested.

Jackson also asked the council to include in its resolution the COSAC clause (Cost of Service Adjustment Clause) which he described as the cost of providing service to the town.

The McMorries rate would add an average of $2 per customer per month to the customers bill, not including industrial customers.

The city council attached a stipulation that this would be granted provided the company did not go before the Railroad Commission, and rejected the COSAC clause.

The council praised the work of Billy Wilkerson, president of the Little League Association and agreed to purchase some equipment to be used on its new Little League-VFW field at the VFW grounds, Marian Airpark.

The council approved the sale of two lots in northeast Wellington to clear delinquent taxes.

Councilmen Willie Gragson and Lyndon Crelia reported on the Texas Municipal League Meeting city officials held
