Mrs. W. W. Vernon Dies Sunday At Age of 81

Mrs. W. W. Vernon, 81, who had lived in Collingsworth County for over 40 years, died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Sunday, May 9 after having been ill for several weeks. Mrs. Vernon came to this area in 1914 with her husband, the late W. W. Vernon. For many years they farmed in the Quail community where Mrs. Vernon made many life-long friends due to her friendliness and her help to her neighbors.

In the latter years of their lives, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon made their home in Wellington where the same pattern of living among friends continued to abide with them. Both were members of the Church of Christ and were faithful in their attendance as long as their health permitted. Mr. Vernon preceded her in death, having passed away last January 8 at the age of 90. Both Mr. and Mrs. Vernon were born in Tennessee and were married in Columbia, Tennessee in 1890.

Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ Monday May 9 with Minister G. B. Stanley in charge of the services. Songs at the service were "Take it to the Lord in Prayer" and "Where we'll never grow old." Pall bearers were Paul Browning, Guy Bell, L. A. Davis, Walter Starr, Tom Crabtree and Carl Estes. Burial was in the Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Vernon is survived by two sons and three daughters: J. W. Vernon of Wellington, C. B. Vernon of Shamrock and Mrs. A. L. Adcock and Mrs. A. P. Floyd of Wellington and Mrs. J. S. Owens of Borger. She is also survived by 16 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

JUNIOR BAND WINS HONORS

The Wellington Junior High Band received a rating of fourth division in their concert playing at Canyon recently which is excellent work considering the fact that this is a band made up of students who have just started learning their instruments this school year, according to Melvin Greenwood. They also took a third division in marching lacking only seven tenths of a point to come in the second division rating. These appearances at Canyon were the first time that the Junior High band appeared before a public as an organization. They are planning on a joint concert with the Junior High Chorus sometime next week, so that the people of Wellington may be able to observe how much this group has accomplished during this school year.

House Phones from $4.50 to $6.25

Telephone Company Asks Rate Increases Totalling $25,000

The General Telephone Company of the Southwest is asking for an increase in rates that would raise the telephone bill of Wellington over $25,000 annually provided he company did the same business as in 1953. Officials of the company met with the City Council May 4 to request the raise in rates. At the same time the telephone company presented the council with a brochure showing their investment in Wellington, operating expenses and income.

The City Council took no action at the Monday meeting except to make a formal entry of the request for the raise in rates in the minutes. However, city officials pointed out that the city attorney and city manager had been instructed to make a study of the rates in other towns the size of Wellington including those of Southwestern Bell and some independent companies such as operate in Dalhart.

The schedule of the rate increases follow:

Business	Present Rates	Required Rates
One Party	$7.75	$12.50
Two Party	$6.25	$ 9.75
Extension	$1.50	$ 1.50
Residence
One Party	$4.50	$6.25
Two Party	$3.75	$5.25
Four Party	$3.00	$4.25
Extension	.75	.75

Telephone officials pointed out that since their company was a regulated public utility that the Texas law allowed them to earn a fair return on the fair value of their property not to exceed 8 per cent; but, according to their figures, the company lost $6,776.38 in 1953 on the Wellington exchange. Their total operating revenue was $84,437.93 and under the proposed new rates the total revenue would be 109,649.72 and that this would enable them to make $10,040.31 after taxes. The total book value of the Wellington plant was listed at $211,222.45, the percent condition as 82.23 and the present value at $173,687.84. The current cost of replacing the plant was listed as $300,771.91. And the fair value was listed at $255,997 and allowing for 82 per cent condition the present fair value is listed at $210,506.48. The General Telephone Company contends that the proposed increases would allow them a rate of return on the rate base of 4.46 per cent.

It all depends on finances she said. It will cost $10 for each girl and leader for room and board besides travel expenses. In addition to this trip three girls and one leader may go to the District Camp which will be held at the Don Harrington Boy Scout Camp May 31 and June 1 and 2. These girls will be selected by the clubs and leaders from among those who are not going to the state contests. Four Days of Gentle Rains Bring Best Moisture in Last Five Years

Four days of gentle rain and heavily overcast skies brought this area the best May moisture in the past 5 years with the amounts ranging from 3.25 to 5.25 of an inch in the Wellington area. The rain was general and covered much of a five state area. and gave promise of breaking up one of the most extensive droughts that the midwest has ever known.

The official gauge in Wellington measured 3.53 for the four day rain which started with gentle showers, Saturday night, May 9, and continued with slight interruption through Tuesday. These rains bring the total in the immediate Wellington area up to 5.03 for the Month of May since 17 fell on May 1 and 1.33 fell on May 6. But a large part of the Wellington trade territory did not benefit from the May 1 and May 6 rains. For instance Crossroads reported only a trace on those dates, but Mrs. J. A. Keller, Leader correspondent, phoned The Leader Tuesday morning, to say that they had received 4.50 inches up to that time and that the rain was still falling. Similar reports were also received from the Samnorwood, Dozier region which also missed the rains on May 1 and 6.

The only season that can be compared with the May rains of this year goes back to 1949—a year in which the county made bumper crops in alfalfa, wheat, sorghum and cotton. But there is a striking difference in the manner in which the rains fell in the two years. According to the files of the Wellington Leader, the 1949 rains came in a tor-outburst on May 17 wiping all cotton and grain that was up, washing away much alfalfa hay that had been cut but that had not been baled, flooding many business houses in Wellington and doing untold damage in soil erosion with many terraces and dams being broken and some 14 wooden bridges in the county being washed out.

While the rains of 1954 were greater in volume, they fell over a much longer period of time. Thus far no reports have reached the paper of any considerable damage to terraces or dams.

Two of the heaviest falls for the four day period were reported by A. C. Shipley and Harris Royal. Shipley said his gauge measured 5.50 and Royal said his was about 5 inches even. L. C. Hill said his gauge showed 3.25 early Tuesday morning on his land in Childress County which is southwest of Dodson.

Floyd Teutsch of The First State Bank at Dodson said that the four day rain totaled 4.50 there, and Orville Cunningham said it measured 3.75 at the Samnorwood school and that Dozier and Aberdeen were about the same with the rainfall becoming heavier north of Samnorwood.

Frank Coleman reported a fall of 4.50 on his farm north of Quail, but he said that Quail itself received 5.50.

Wheat and grass had already started getting greener from the May 6 rain but the four day soaker made a startling difference in all vegetation. While furrows and terraces were full of water no reports of any terraces breaking had reached The Leader up to press time Wednesday.

Quail People Install Water System At Cemetery Friday

By MRS. G. T. STEPHENS People of the Quail and adjoining communities met Friday, May 7, at 8:00 a. m., to install a watering system for the Quail cemetery. J. W. Canada gave permission to use water from his well that is located across the road just north of the cemetery.

Ditches were plowed, and dug, to lay the pipe every hundred feet. There were four pipe lines laid. Hydrants are placed at intervals of fifty feet. And a pressure pump will be used to pump the water. So now with the use of hose the lots anywhere in the cemetery can be watered.

With water so handy now everyone can beautify their lots and make our cemetery a beauty spot in the community.

There were approximately one hundred present to help with the work. The cemetery association has as its members Jim Langley, J. W. Canada, Carroll Blevins, Monty Mitchell, Chester White, Creed Baker and E. G. Pierce.

$1.12 Per Bushel For

Penalty Rate on 1954 Wheat Crop Listed

The ASC County Office has been notified that the penalty rate on excess wheat of the 1954 crop is $1.12 per bushel.

Any wheat buyer who purchases wheat from a farmer who does not have a wheat marketing card will be required to collect the penalty of $1.12 per bushel for each bushel so purchased. On the other hand all farmers who have a wheat marketing card will be able to sell his wheat without penalty.

In order for a farmer to receive a wheat marketing card to sell his wheat, he must have (1) planted within the acreage allotment for the farm, of (2) have destroyed any wheat seeded in excess of the allotment as a green manure or cover crop by the deadline date, or (3) have satisfied the penalty on the overplanted farm by paying the penalty to the Treasurer of the United States or storing the excess wheat under applicable provisions of the program. Farmers with their allotment will be eligible for price support.

All wheat farmers in the county that have planted wheat in excess of the allotment for green manure or cover crop will be rechecked by a performance reporter within the next few days to determine whether or not the designated wheat acreage for green manure or cover crop has been destroyed. Any designated wheat for cover crop not destroyed upon this final visit by the reporters will be considered wheat acreage, (regardless of whether or not the wheat is good enough to be harvested) and the farm will be subject to the Marketing Quota penalty and also become ineligible for price (Continued on Page Eight)

Mrs. Worrell Named Mother of the Year

By RUTH HIGHTOWER Mrs. J. C. Worrell was honored as "Mother of the Year" in a special service at the Dodson Church of the Nazarene, Sunday morning, May 9. This is the fifth year the Dodson church has honored a "Mother of the Year."

While music was played softly by Johnnie Aaron, Mrs. Worrell walked to the platform and was seated. While she turned through the pages of her Bible, a short program was given by a group of young people.

The welcome was given by Virginia Earline Patterson. Other poems were given by Ronnie Lewis, Kay Norman, Mozelle Lemons, Ann Aaron, Sara Baird, and Vicki Whitfield. A choir composed of fifty junior boys and girls sang, "Mother," in honor of Mrs. Worrell.

The climax of the service came when Sara Baird walked to the platform and presented Mrs. Worrell a lovely corsage. After the presentation, Mrs. Worrell stood and gave her testimony.

Trailer Parked Without Lights

Local Teachers in Narrow Escape from Disaster

Six local people had a narrow escape from disaster when their car ran up on a car and trailer that were parked on the paving without lights. The accident occurred 18 miles east of Claude Monday night May 10. The group composed of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Word, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Niles, Mrs. Cecil Leggett and Louie Beam were returning from Amarillo where they are taking night courses at the Amarillo Center of West Texas State.

Ralph Word, driver of the local car, had just passed an oncoming car when he came on the darkened trailer. He was able to swerve his car enough so that only his right fender struck the parked trailer.

The fender was demolished and the side of the car was dented, but no glass was broken and none of the occupants of the car were injured.

Mrs. Cecil Leggett said that if it had not been for the fact that they were going at a slow speed due to the rain and also some alert driving on the part of Mr. Word that it might have been a tragic accident.

The occupants of the other car and trailer were on their way from Wyoming to Mississippi had no insurance of any kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Niles and Mrs. Leggett teach in the Wellington school system and Mrs. Word teaches at Dodson and he teaches at Vinson.

Many farmers say that the rains that started May 9 and lasted throughout Tuesday are the most beneficial that ever fell in May. That may well be true. Of course we have had bigger rains in May—some up to 10 inches. But I can't remember a spring rain where so much of it went into the ground.

Dudley Phipps wants a reminder put in the paper about the voting on the farm to market road to serve Lillie and Salt Fork, and I am glad to oblige. The meeting will be held in the Quail High School Tuesday May 18 (Incidentally that is my birthday Dudley.) At the meeting people will be asked to vote on their first, second and third choice of the route that is to be paved. All tenants and landlords, both man and wife, who live or own land in the area between Highway 83 and FM Highway 1956 running north of Quail; and from Highway 203 north to Salt Fork River are entitled to vote. If you don't go vote, then don't blame anybody if the road does not run to suit you.

Judge Raymond Horton, upon learning that Virginia Robey was out of town, dryly observed: Well, there sure won't be anything in The Leader worth reading this week. That is what the judge thinks. There is a story in the paper saying that the telephone company is going to raise the judges house phone from $4.50 a month to $6.25. And who would think of voting for a justice of the peace if he didn't have a phone. Somebody might want to get married or get out of jail in the middle of the night. He is just like a newspaper. They have got us by the ying yang. We've got to have a telephone regardless of what they charge for it.

Furthermore the telephone company has the figures to prove that the proposed increase will bring them only 4.6 return on the fair value of their investment. Yet the Texas law says that they are entitled to 8 per cent. If they ever get the 8 percent, which they probably will, it will cost the learned judge about nine smackers a month for his phone. I'll teach that self satisfied man to tell me there won't be any interesting news in the paper next week.

Have been reading about the Englishman who ran the mile in less than four minutes: but I come pretty close to setting some sort of track record myself this week. Wrote a story about the Negro track team winning a match and I wrote, Aaron Radford won first in the 100 "year" dash. If I hadn't caught up with Aaron in the proof that poor boy would have been in for quite a long race.

Jake Tarter has been raising Guar for three years. Last year he planted 12 acres of cotton on one patch of sandy loam as a test. Six of the acres were planted on land following Guar. The acres alongside were cotton following cotton. In one of the driest years the six acres planted to cotton following Guar produced nearly five bales of cotton. On the other hand where cotton followed cotton, six acres of the same type land lacked a little producing one bale.

Buick now outsells all other cars in its price class and above

YOU'VE probably noticed it right in your own neighborhood. Bright new Buicks appearing here, there, everywhere. And more and more of them in recent weeks. Know what's happening? Folks in growing numbers—(and maybe you'll be joining them soon!)—are finding Buick styling, performance and value far too wonderful to pass up. So Buick is selling at a record pace—outselling all other cars in its price class and above.

Matter of fact, latest figures for the first quarter of 1954 show that, in total national volume, Buick is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

A look and a ride and a peek at the price tag will be all you'll need to know what's back of this best-selling success. There's styling in Buick that's the greatest beauty advance in years—the very look of tomorrow—and with the spectacular panoramic windshield that's part and parcel of this dream-car look. There's performance in Buick as never before—with record-high V8 power, with the sensationally smooth whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo, with the buoyant ride of all-coil-springing, with a new precision of control and handling. And there's value in Buick that's hard to match—with prices starting near the "low-price three"—prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.

How about you? Are you ready, willing and waiting to be shown that this best seller called Buick is the buy of the year for you, too? Drop in this week, or give us a call, and we'll arrange a demonstration.

to Texas in a covered wagon. All of the rivers had to be forded except one. At Red River they took a ferry.

In 1892 Lucy again moved with her family to Madge, Okla. While living here, Lucy was converted at a service in Vinson. She did not join a church, because there were no organized churches at this time. Services were held in homes. A little later, as school houses were built, congregations met in them.

Oklahoma was a cattle country at this time. There were few people, but wild animals were numerous. Wild turkey, quail and antelope were the most common, Mrs. Worrell recalls. The antelopes were so tame that they came up and ate with the stock. When asked what became of the antelope, Mrs. Worrell replied, "People ate them. I know we ate our share of them." There were some deer, but they were not as numerous as antelope.

In the 1890's Mrs. Worrell says that Wellington was a small place, about the present size of Dodson. Her father, G M Lamkin, was a Baptist preacher who helped organize the Baptist Church at Wellington.

On October 16, 1898, wedding bells rang for Lucy Lamkin and J. C. Worrell. Their first home was at Childress. The following year the young couple moved to Olympus, a community near Childress. In 1900, Mr. and Mrs. Worrell filed on land seven miles west of Hollis in the No. 4 community.

The family made their home in this community for twenty-seven years.

In 1927, the Worrell family moved to Dodson where they still reside. While living at Dodson, Mrs. Worrell joined the Church of the Nazarene. Since that time, she has been faithful to attend all the services of the Church.

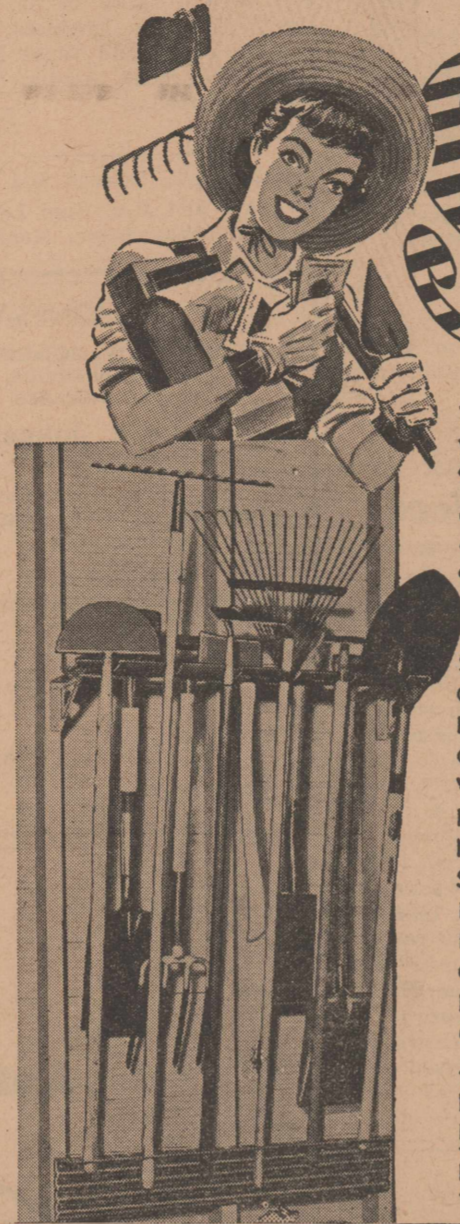

Reading and crocheting are hobbies that keep Mrs. Worrell's occupied. During her life, she has enjoyed piecing quilts and quilting.

Mr. and Mrs. Worrell have five children. They are: Mrs. Viola Hudson, Hollis; Dennis Worrell, Monterrey, California; Archie Worrell, Modesto, California; Mrs. Laura Wilson, Hollis; and Mrs. Vivian Bilderback, Amarillo. Fifteen grand children, and twelve great grandchildren complete the family circle.

When asked to give a few comments, Mrs. Worrell said, "I have had an interesting, happy life. I feel fortunate because my husband and all of my children are living. I appreciate the honor that was bestowed on me as "Mother of the Year" by the Dodson Church of the Nazarene."

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Home Town Rating Is Tops, According to Sunday Driver

Friend of ours told us that on a recent Sunday he and his family decided to take a drive and cover as much territory as they could in a leisurely way during the afternoon. They made a kind of a circle trip out of it and drove through more than a dozen other towns. "On the way back we decided we liked Fullerton better than any of the other places we drove through," he said.

He told about stopping at a filling station in one town and when he asked for information he learned that the filling station man had a rather low opinion of it.

This being a free country, one has the whole United States to pick from in finding a town to live in. Doesn't it seem rather odd there are people who never defend their choice of a home town and never miss an opportunity to criticize it? The man is in business who looks for bad things to say about the town in which he has money invested is showing poor business sense. Even the residence property owner who does the same thing is not helping to make it a better place to live and to raise his children. No man would think of saying things to give his own place of business a bad name or to make his residence seem like a hovel, but a citizen's town in his business and his home, too. There are things in every town from time to time which need improving, and conditions that need to be remedied. It is the good citizen's civic duty to try to improve these things. But it is not good sense to mail to try to improve them, and to complain about them to outsiders.

'Fat Men' Boost Home Town

The secretary of Augusta's famous Fat Men's club, which received a social writup in the Kansas City Times recently, takes issue with a sentence in a recent writup. The man is right. His letter—

I see by Tuesday evening's Gazette that the members of the Fat Men's club are unanimously in favor of an improved Highway 54 direct from Augusta to Wichita. I also see a note to the effect that some of them buy their fishing tackle and bait in Wichita.

A careful pool of the members reveals that they are all home-town boosters, and that they purchase their fishing equipment and practically everything else here in Augusta. One or two members would not deny that they have picked up an occasional item in Wichita, but it was in a moment of weakness when they could not resist the lure of an unusually attractive display of tackle. Everyone who has the fishing bug will understand how helpless a fisherman is in such a situation.

The members wish me to assure you that they are in favor of the direct-to-Wichita route for Highway 54 mainly in order to entice Wichita residents to leave their noisy city occasionally for a few hours of peace and shopping in friendly Augusta.

Old Age Slips Up and Wrecks The House in Which Men Live

In his extreme old age, John Quincy Adams was one day slowly and feebly walking down a street in Boston. An old friend met him and, shaking his trembling hand, asked:

"And how is John Quincy Adams today?"

"Thank you," said the ex-President, "John Quincy Adams is well, quite well, thank you. But the house in which he lives it is present becoming quite dilapidated. It is tottering at its foundations. Time and the seasons have nearly destroyed it. Its roof is pretty well worn out. Its walls are much shattered, and it trembles with every wind. The old tenement is becoming almost uninhabitable, and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it soon. But he himself is quite well, quite well."

BUCK CREEK PHILOSOPHER

Editor's notes The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson Grass farm on Buck Creek is proposing one of the most unworkable plans we've ever heard of, as you'll see from reading his letter this week.

Dear editor:

I have been noticing in nearly every newspaper that turns up out here on my Johnson Grass farm where nearly every candidate, regardless of the office, has come out forthrightly for more water for Texas.

One candidate I know bitterly accuses his opponent of having done nothing about the drought. "Here we've had a drought for five years and he hasn't done a thing about it except talk," the candidate said.

While up to now I didn't know there was anything else you could do about it except talk, in fact, a drought has always struck me as sort of like a depression, all any politician has ever figured out to do about it is deplore it, I am glad to find out more candidates are incorporating the water situation in their platforms. It's a healthy sign. It ain't that they can do anything about it, it's just that when a man's miserable he likes to have sympathy, and a politician who hasn't learned to find out what the people are disturbed about and come out against it, hasn't learned the first lesson in vote-getting.

I notice some of the politicians are pointing out that the main trouble with the water situation in Texas is that we don't keep enough of the water that falls on the state, most of it runs off into the ocean, and lots of people are proposing we build more dams, and I'm in favor of it, although I'll admit that if there were fifty dams in all directions from my place, each one backing up a thousand acres of water, and still it didn't rain on my farm and I didn't own any of that lake water, I'd be just as dry in a drouth as I ever was. I haven't seen the plant yet that could survive just on whiffs of water blown in from a lake five miles away.

If you ask me, I think the politicians are failing to get at the bottom of the problem.

The reason we don't have enough water in Texas is that all the streams in the state run the wrong way.

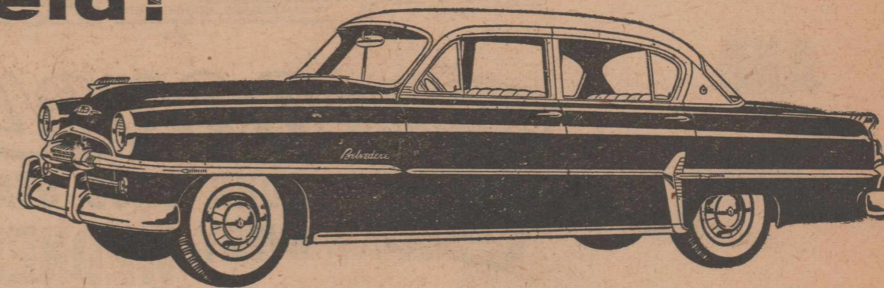

You picture a situation where when it rains all the water would head out on the land instead of down the creek to the ocean, and you'll begin to see the light. There's where our trouble is.

If the Texas Legislature will successfully attack this problem from this angle, we may start gettin somewhere, but until the situation is remedied and the earth is tilted so all the streams will start emptying water upstream instead of down, we're gonna have a drought ever time it goes three months without rain.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Plymouth is your "best buy" in the lowest-price field!

Recently a 1954 Plymouth and current models of the other two best-known low-price cars were taken apart by Plymouth engineers and compared, part by part. Standard "stock" models were used. We've listed some typical findings below.

Plymouth is "best buy" in many ways. Here are just a few!

Front Wheel Brakes

Plymouth engineers provide two hydraulic brake cylinders in each front wheel to ensure smooth stops without "grabbing." The other two low-price cars have only one.

Seat Springs

Plymouth uses coil seat springs, for longer lasting support. The "other two" have a zigzag platform type. Also, Plymouth's "springs-on-springs" design adds more comfort.

Piston Rings

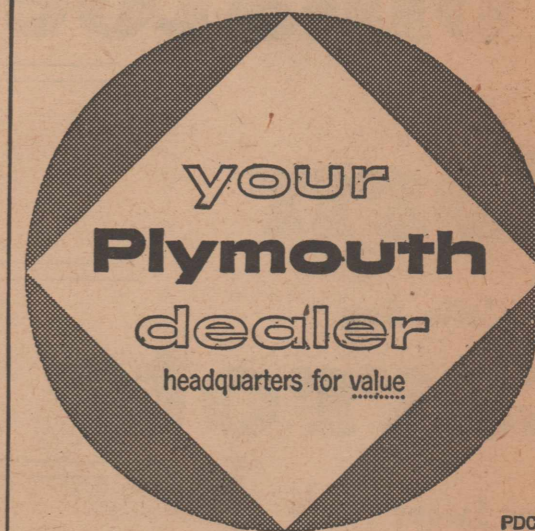

Plymouth has four rings on each piston; the "other two" have three. Result: decreased carbon deposit, more consistent power output. Increased oil economy, too!

Micronic Oil Filter

Standard on most Plymouth models. Keeps abrasive dirt out of the engine, reducing wear and achieving greater oil economy. Extra cost on the other two low-price cars.

And dozens of other part-by-part comparisons prove Plymouth is your "best buy"! See us today... and get the facts!

Ask us for the big illustrated booklet that shows how Plymouth leads in frame construction... engine design... performance... economy... comfort... safety.

Go for a drive in America's "best-buy" low-price car!

We Defeat God's Plan for Men

Perhaps the one great, comprehensive, all-inclusive definition of Jesus' mission and redemptive purpose is in the declaration: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

In that declaration, Jesus specifically contrasted that purpose of God; in His own mission, with the purpose of others to steal and destroy.

The long curse of history is one of rapine and bloodshed, but our own age has revealed evil fully as appalling. The great tragedies and evils of life are apparent.

What is not so apparent is that they have their roots in the lesser evils of men, and in the lack of basic morality.

Dishonesty is at the root of crime, even in the hearts and lives of men who are not legally criminal.

The businessman who takes unfair advantage of his fellowman is weakening the whole fabric of society. The public official who betrays his trust would probably scorn to commit murder, or banditry, or to steal in some grosser way.

One can see plainly in revelations of graft and civic corruption how such men have been the actual ally of those who have made stealing and destruction their chief purpose.

Every day the news reveals, in its recount of tragedies and accidents, the extent of the drink evil, the gambling evil, and the other evils that affect and endanger society—the things that oppose and defy God's life-giving purpose for mankind.

Yet the public attitude is still largely apathetic and ineffective. What the world needs is an immense endowment of God's life-giving purpose, as Jesus expressed.
