Two Trustees Will Be Named at April Third Election

Voters of the Wellington Independent Rural High School district will name two trustees in the elections Saturday, April 3, and with the deadline already passed for filing, three candidates are seeking places. Two are asking re-election, Tom Campbell and Dr. C. B. Jones, while the third, Leon Coleman, is running for the first time.

To clarify the position of the present board after the annexation to the Wellington Independent District of seven common school districts, B. W. Beaird, county superintendent, asked the state department of education for a statement on the election of trustees this year.

This was done after a number of patrons had asked if it would not be necessary to name a complete new board.

In answer to his questions (1) What action should the county school board take in naming any additional trustee and (2) how many trustees should be elected on April 3, T. M. Trimble, first assistant state superintendent of public instruction has written Mr. Beaird:

"The same trustees who served the Wellington Independent School district prior to the annexation of seven common school districts will continue as the governing body of the enlarged Wellington Independent School District.

"At the April trustee election, only those whose terms expire will be subject to re-election."

Mr. Beaird expressed the opinion that this came under the provision that since the Wellington district had more than 250 scholastics, election of a new board would not be necessary after the annexation of smaller districts.

In the case of Samnorwood and Quail, formed by the consolidation of a number of small districts about 12 years ago, the election of a complete new board was necessary since no district concerned had as many as 250 scholastics, Mr. Beaird explained.

Boy Scouts Add Hut Equipment

Boy Scouts of Troop 32 are equipping the Scout hut in Ellison Park with tools which will help them in their handicraft projects, Sandy Parsons, Jr., scoutmaster, said this week.

This equipment includes saws, vises, and other items which the boys are using in the study of carpentry at present.

With the coming of warmer weather, the Scouts are planning a number of outdoor activities, including hikes to nearby creeks and other points.

Assisting Mr. Parsons in the work are R. L. Templeton and Sam Gholson. James Stevenson is senior patrol leader.

First 1947 AAA Checks For County $56,349

The first lot of 1947 AAA checks to farmers of Collingsworth County was received the first part of this week. The total amount of these checks is $56,349.84, and represents payment to 620 farmers for their efforts in carrying out conservation practices under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

These payments represents a little over one-half of the total amount to be received for the county, Millard Brown, AAA administrator, said Tuesday.

Payments for this year average around half the amount of last year.

Contract Let for Grandstand at Baseball Field

The contract for construction of the grandstand at the baseball field in Marian Airpark has been let to Henry Stall and Mooney Stall, J. M. Strong, chairman of the baseball committee of the Chamber of Commerce, announced this week, and construction is due to begin as soon as weather permits.

Unless bad weather interferes with the work, the field will be completed by April 15, in time for the opening of the Red River Valley Baseball League schedule on April 18, Mr. Strong said.

The grandstand will be of wood and concrete construction, with aluminum roofing. It will seat 400. Bleachers will be built to care for an additional 200, Mr. Strong said.

The diamond is located approximately 200 feet southeast of the swimming pool at Marian Airpark, and will be in the apex of the two runways.

The total cost is expected to run from $6,500 to $7,000, Mr. Strong said. Funds for constructing the field were raised through loans

Vote on Addition Of Two School Districts Saturday

An election Saturday will determine the addition of two school districts, Kelley and Kesler, to the recently formed Wellington Independent Rural High School.

This follows an earlier election in which seven other common school districts were voted to be annexed to Wellington.

The election Saturday will be held in the county court room of the court house, with voters of the three districts concerned voting at one place. A simple majority will carry the election.

This is the second vote to determine where the children of the two districts will attend school. Voters first petitioned for an election to determine consolidation with Dodson, but this was voted down in both Kelley and Kesler districts. Petitions then asked an election to determine their annexation to Wellington in the same manner that the seven other districts, Bean Hill, Shinnery, Fresno, Houselog, Midway, Wilnulcer and Rolla, became a part of the Wellington district.

"We urge all voters of all three districts to give full support to this election, and to vote your sentiments concerning this school question," E. L. Pritchett, superintendent of the Wellington schools declared.

Farm Bureau Plans Membership Drive

Farmers, business men and anyone else interested in agricultural legislation is urged to attend the meeting of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday night, March 23, Jake Tarter, president, declared this week.

At the same time plans will be laid for the intensive membership drive which opens April 1 under the direction of Jack Deahl of Dodson and W. R. Breeding of Abra.

The meeting will be held in the county court room of the court house, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Particular emphasis is being placed by the Farm Bureau on stabilization of farm parity prices in comparison to prices of other commodities, and this will be the basis of Mr. Deahl's talk.

In the membership drive opening April 1, the county Farm Bureau unit will seek to increase its

Jack Brewer Out For Commissioner

Jack Brewer of Wellington this week authorized The Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 1, subject to the action of the democratic primary.

Saying that he had no platform to announce, he added that he only wanted people to know his qualifications.

"I am 48 years old, have lived in Collingsworth County for about 42 years, and am a brother of George Brewer, whom many of you who are not yet acquainted with me, know.

"I have owned a farm in this county and I realize what taxes are and how much care should be taken of the money that derives from them.

"I have had seven years experience in road work, the last three years in Collingsworth County, and for two years I have operated the maintainer and worked with other types of machinery.

"I plan to meet all of you and talk with you personally, but if I am not able to see you because of my work, I want to assure you now that if elected I will conduct the duties of my office on a businesslike basis and for the best interest of all of you."

Brotherhood Possible and Urgent Speakers of Two Nations Declare

The "Brotherhood of Man" became something more than an ideal for the people of the Wellington area Sunday, March 14, when two young men, one Chinese and the other American, formerly of Wellington, spoke on two occasions here. It was something concrete, and the actual evidence of how richly rewarding a friendship between men of two nations can be.

Joe Ma of Foochow, China, and Ernest Winter, now of Dallas, met first in China in 1943; then in Dallas recently; and again Sunday at the Methodist Church in Wellington where both spoke.

The program was made possible through the work of Dr. E. W. Jones of Wellington, who felt their story should be more widely known, particularly here. Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Ma accompanied their husbands here.

Speaking first, Mr. Winter reminded his listeners that this was a homecoming for him, for he had spent much time in Wellington. He reviewed the background of his friendship with Joe Ma, who helped him return to the American forces after he had been shot down by Japanese near the China Coast in 1943.

He closed by declaring that the brotherhood of man, and the friendship between nations was possible, and he asked that those who were listening to him—his friends—do their part it making it real.

Mr. Ma, speaking fluent English, repeated this knowledge that men, however different, could be brothers. Most of his talk was devoted to the work of American missionaries in China, telling of the schools and hospitals they have established, particularly in his home city of Foochow. He explained how they have gone into the remote mountain sections to help people and to establish their faith. He told of the esteem in which they are held, and how even lawless bands of men who prey on unprotected villages have refrained from bothering them.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ma were educted in Mission schools.

At the afternoon program, Mrs. Ma also spoke, telling Wellington residents more of their native country.

Between Mr. Ma and Mr. Winter, some more of the story of their meeting and their fiendship was told:

Winter, in 1943 a lieutenant junior grade with the Naval Air Force, stationed aboard the Wasp, was shot down in a raid on Formosa, but managed to get his plane into Santau Bay before crash-landing. Here occurred several incidents which some might call luck, but which Winter attributes to God's care: On one last effort, he was able to open the jammed canopy of his plane before it sank; anti-aircraft flak missed him by inches; and he fell into the hands of Chinese fishermen, who after satisfying themselves he was an American flier, started him on his journey of 500 miles to American troops.

At Kution he was turned over to Joe Ma, who was to be his guide for two weeks. The second day out, Winter told his guide of his family and of Texas, in true American spirit. And, later in the day, the two discovered both had one thing in common, their faith in Christ. Their conversation turned to religion, and here their story really starts. During these two weeks, their acquaintance grew first to friendship, then into brotherly love.

With the help of other guerillas, Ernest Winter reached Kanchow—and caught the last plane that flew out before the city fell to the Japanese. Another "miracle." At Kumming, Winter gave his valuable information to Gen. Claire Chenault.

After the war, Winter returned to the United States, and interested G. P. Kurkyendall of Lubbock in his Chinese friend, and it was he who made it possible for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ma to attend Texas Technological College, where he is studying engineering and she English.

This young couple expressed their delight in Wellington, and plans are being made for them to return here.

Former Countain Borrows Leader, Then Subscribes

One Wellington resident of more than 20 years ago is going to know again all the news that goes around. This letter reached The Leader from Hereford last week, and was written by Owen Andrews, whose address is now Star Route, Hereford.

"Like the 'Bootleg Philosopher' in Jimmy Gillentine's Hereford Brand, I found a Wellington Leader in my neighbor's mail box (Mr. J. E. Warrick's) and sat down on the sunny side of a tumble weed (we grow 'em big) and read every bit of it.

"Since it has been only 21 years since I left there, I found it very interesting, so am sending in a subscription, (which I believe to be $3.00 per year) and am enclosing check."

Only one person in ten over 21 years of age has perfect sight.

Kiwanians Win Benefit Game Tuesday 26-22

With both two teams using tactics generally reserved for wrestling matches and baseball, the Kiwanians defeated the Rotarians 26-22 in a hotly contested basketball game in the high school gym on Tuesday night, March 9.

The Rotary Club managed to kept the game tied up by hook or by crook until the last period when the youngsters desperately shot at anything in an attempt to gain and maintain a lead.

Both teams substituted freely giving all their players a work-out and keeping officials Robert Fulton and Billy Joe Keller busy calling time.

Captain E. L. Pritchett and Bennett Goodloe were two of the Rotarians' most dashing players while the flashy footwork of George Graham and the determination of Henry Sullivan kept the team in scoring position.

Not to be outdone by his brother in the enemy camp, James Sullivan sparkplugged the Kiwanis defense, and L. B. Bratton led the Kiwanis scoring well supported by J. M. Moore and Jimmy Kelso.

Receipts from the game will be used for the benefit of the underprivileged children of the town.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

With Layne Beaty, WBAP, Fort Worth

Jack County residents are in earnest about cutting livestock losses due to a couple of well-known causes—fires and rattlesnakes.

Actually, the loss of stock from snake bite isn't very large, but is important enough to remedy.

Last week, with justifiable pride, ranchmen and farmers of Jack county put into operation the first county rural fire truck in the country completely financed by voluntary contribution of country folks.

They set the assessment at 2 cents per acre, but this, too, was voluntary. Not all property owners chipped in, but there were enough to buy and equip the truck.

It will be kept in Jacksboro, and used for town fires, too, just as the town fire truck has been used on country fires in the past. But rural fires will have first priority on this rural fire truck.

At the scene of the fire, it will be under the direction of the local voluntary fire chief.

As for rattlesnakes, the Jacksboro folks staged a special hunt for this reporter one cold day last week. Actually the weather should have been much warmer for satisfactory results. Snake hunting in cold weather is more troublesome than dangerous. In hot weather it's vice-versa.

Men armed with long crow bars, shovels, spades, and explosives attacked a known snake den near the top of a rocky hill.

As a critter was found, he was drawn out by a strong wire hook, or a short pole with a leather loop at the end tightened by drawing the string. In spite of the freezing weather, more than thirty rattlers were driven from the rocky den.

Such Jack county folks as a few of the Dixson boys make great sport of snake hunting and have become expert.

In addition to the ranchmen-financed rural fire truck, Jack county claims other "firsts." The first Corn Club (forerunner of 4-H) was started there by Editor Tom Marks, they say. Also the first trial of an Indian chief for killing settlers was held in Jacksboro, we were told.

We spent an interesting afternoon last week with Homer P. Lee at Midlothian. Owner of the Lee and Smith farm, which specializes in broad breasted bronze turkeys, he has hung up an impressive display of ribbons, plaques and prizes for his birds' winnings at poultry shows the past two years. Constant care, trapnesting, careful feeding and accurate detailed records on the behavior of each bird, all figure in the financial and show success of his turkeys. But he gives much of the credit to his turkey manager, Miss Myna Lee Mitchell who lives with her mother on the Lee farm, teaches school in Dallas, and looks after the bronze birds, evenings and weekends.

Troy Clark, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clark of Samnorwood, suffered a painful eye injury last Sunday when he was shot in the eye by a playmate with a B-B gun.

He was rushed to an Amarillo hospital, where he is receiving treatment. It is feared he will lose the sight of his eye.

HOW TEXAS INDUSTRIES PUT NATURE'S RESOURCES TO USE FOR THE BENEFIT OF MANKIND

EVEN Splinters ARE IMPORTANT...

Texas' lumber industry is important in many ways, to many people. Millions of cords of Texas lumber are going into the markets of the world... into housing, furniture and a host of other products that people want and need. Lumber is making jobs, paying wages and providing income to thousands of Texas people. But like other natural resources, lumber would be of little value unless it were put to use for the benefit of mankind.

Natural gas, too, would be worthless or wasted unless it were made available for use. Its importance as an efficient, low cost fuel is gained only after it is gathered, processed and transported to places where it is needed. This is the job being done by the United Gas companies. We regard it as practical conservation, for it stimulates industrial development, creates jobs and benefits every family in Texas.

LUMBER INDUSTRY

Basic products of lumber and timber in Texas in 1946 were valued at $119,646,000. The more than 1,000 establishments in the industry employed 29,218 persons, paid salaries and wages of $42,548,000. Free Enterprise help to build the success of this great industry in our state... Free Enterprise, which shares its benefits with all the people in Texas.

Early Settler of County Dies at Shamrock Recently

Mrs. W. S. Walker, 76, of Shamrock, one of the pioneer settlers of Collingsworth County, died at her home February 26. She had suffered two strokes earlier in the day.

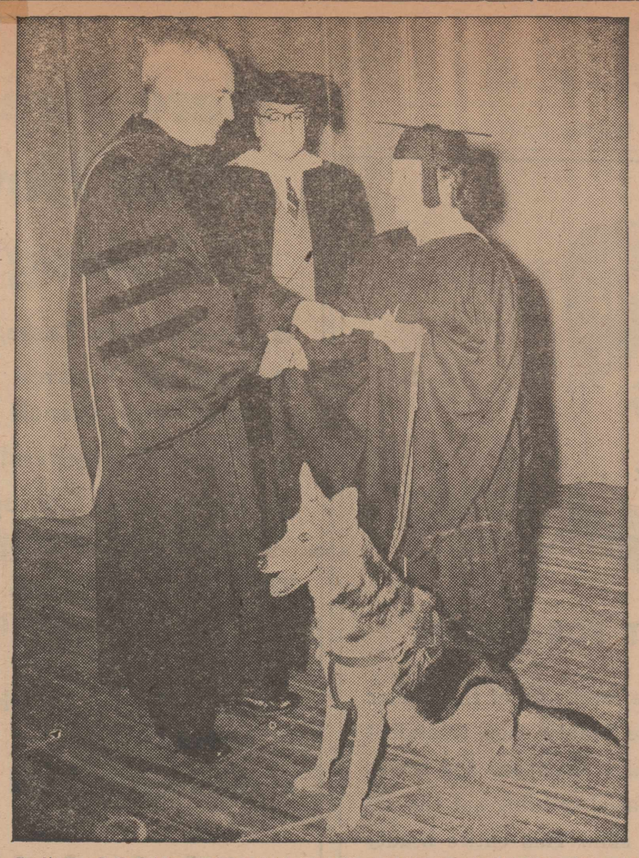

Funeral services were held at her home with the Rev. Edward C. Derr, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of which she was a member, in charge. He was assisted by the Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the Methodist Church.

For many years Mrs. Walker had been known affectionately as "Mother Walker." She and her husband, who died in 1942, settled in the Aberdeen community in 1894, when the Panhandle area was thinly populated. Neighbors lived miles apart and the dugout homes of that day offered a hospitable welcome to all passing their way. To those who had known her through the many years she typified the pioneer mothers who helped to make this area what it is.

Her husband, the late Smith Walker, was a brother of John Walker, who still resides near Aberdeen. They came here from Montague County, having lived there when Nocona was the last town on the Texas side of Red River and served as a cowboy center for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker and their family moved to Shamock 43 years ago and had continued to make that their home.

Surviving are two sons and a daughter, W. H. Walker, O. J. Walker and Mrs. Addie Morse of Shamrock; a brother, John Templeton of Shamrock; two grandsons and a granddaughter, Bill Mike Walker and Johnnie Walker of Shamrock and Mrs. Minnie K. Robberson of Norman; and a great grandson, James Richard Robberson Jr. of Norman, Okla.

Quail FFA Boys To Lubbock

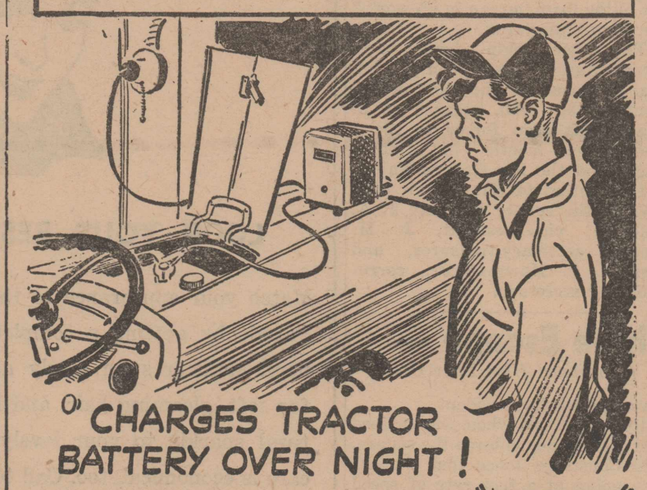

Saturday, March 6, the Junior Chapter conducting team went to Lubbock to participate in the Area Contest.

Quail won fourth place which is considered very good up against the stiff competition that was there.

The members on the team were: Paul Spear, Perry Kennedy, George McGill, Robert Duckworth, Jack Aaron, George Stephens, Rex Palmer and Wayne Rose.

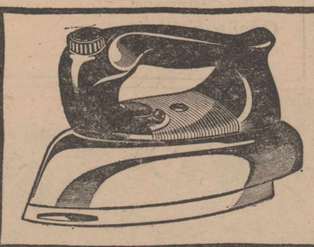

"The boys had a nice trip even if riding an elevator was a little too much for some of them. They received a lot of experience in the contest that will help them to better farm leaders in later life," their sponsor Frank Kennedy, observed.

from business men and other local residents in amounts ranging from $10 to $100. This money will be paid back when the baseball field is on a paying basis.

The field will be lighted for night baseball. Mounted on 60-foot poles will be a hundred 1,500-watt globes, giving a total of 150,000 watts of light when they are turned on.

This field will be the official home of the Wellington Club of the Red River Valley Baseball League. The first work-out of the season will be held Sunday, March 21, and by that time it is hoped that the schedule for the year will be worked out.

The league games will be played on Sunday afternoons through the season, but in addition a number of night games will be matched, and other semi-pro clubs will use the diamond during the summer.

While the Wellington Club will play its first game on April 18, it is not yet known if this will be played here or away.

All men interested in playing for Wellington this season are urged to report for the workout March 21.

An effort is now under way to contact towns throughout the area to book non-league games.

President of the Red River Valley League is Paul Ord of Childress, while Frank Hatt, also of Childress, is secretary-treasurer.

Towns having membership in the league this year are Mobeetie, Hedley, Memphis, Acme, Childress, Turkey, Kirkland and Wellington.

"That goal is not too high for us to reach and there are far more than 700 farmers and business men in the county eligible for membership who would be a definite asset to the farm bureau in its work," Mr. Tarter declared.

The membership drive plans were begun by Joe Wilson of Dodson, chairman of the membership committ, but who, because of ill health, has been forced to spend the winter months in Mineral Wells and the Rio Grande Valley.

In addition to Mr. Tarter, officers of the county unit are J. A. Coleman, vice-president, J. M. Moore, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. J. C. Hartman Jr., corresponding secretary.

investigated the accident.

Rudolph Cook, whom they passed just before they entered the square, told Constable Jones that the car was going at a fast rate of speed and apparently went out of control as it hit the slight dip in the street by United Super Market.

Striking the light pole at the other end of the block, the vehicle pulled up both the pole and the concrete base on which it sits and threw them into the street. The car, a 1947 Ford Tudor, was badly damaged.

Cook, who reached the scene immediately after the accident occurred, took the three men to St. Joseph's Hospital for emergency treatment. Charles Lee Watts remained for treatment until Monday.

Charges of reckless driving were filed against Charles Lee Watts by Constable Jones.

Rev. Noel Bryant Is Speaker At B and PW Meeting On March 9

"America's women should live in a day but be ready for tomorrow," said the Rev. Noel Bryant at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday night, March 9, in the Community Building.

The hope of tomorrow is being determined today, he stressed and the America we have is made either by our neglect or our responses.

In order to be successful in meeting today's challenges of the race issue, the possibility of another war and the elections, all must face the problems together and work for a solution instead of evading the issues. Participation is the answer rather than criticism, he added.

The basic reason for our confusion is that we are not willing to accept religion. Religion must be the center of things, and from this central point we can work out our problems with a clearer understanding.

Women have always found it easier to adjust themselves to changes than have men from the pioneer days to the present. As the pioneer woman surmounted their difficulties by responding to their challenge, so must today's women realistically meet the challenges of the day.

If we want tomorrow, Rev. Bryant said, we must go after it and not shift the responsibility which is rightfully ours.

Attending the meeting were Miss Katherine Boverie, Dora E. McClaskey, Bessie Rainer, Gladys Richards, Joy Riley, Virginia Robey, Dorothy Robertson, Mrs. Cleo Templeton, Hattie D. Wells, Lorene Williams, Bessie Jean Willis, Mrs. E. L. Pritchett, Rose Shadid, Bonnie Willis, Priscilla Chase, Lucille Bennett and Irene Parker, program chairman.

Purpose of Education Is Art of Living

"The real purpose of education is to learn the art of living," said Bill Hughes in a talk entitled "When Home and School Disagree," at the East Ward PTA meeting held in the school on Wednesday afternoon, March 17.

The art of living includes making a living, which many people believe is the end of education, but also must include human relationships which are an important part of disagreement when there is conflict.

Disagreement can either be a positive force resulting in progress or a negative force for retrogress.

Three factors enter into disagreement, which is mainly a result of human relationships, Mr. Hughes emphasized. The first actual relationship is between the parent and child, then the teacher and child and finally between parent and teacher with the child as a common denominator.

Education develops understanding and gives us a medium of reaching each other, education develops reason and faith and education develops self control which is essential that we may hold apart reason from emotion.

When the mind is trained, there is a better chance for us to reach the final end of disagreement in human relations, he said.

Lovely Texan Telis Cotton's Fashion Story

Blonde and beautiful Matilda Nail of Fort Worth, the cotton industry's 1948 Maid of Cotton, has begun a 35,000-mile cotton goodwill tour which will carry her to more than 40 key cities in three countries. She's pictured here in three of the 1948 cotton creations which are included in her glamorous all-cotton wardrobe. On the left, Matilda wears a romantic evening gown done in cotton chambray and organdie. In the center, she poses in a sophisticated cotton suit with the new slim skirt. And on the right the Maid of Cotton shows a modern version of the Gibson girl blouse and skirt in white cotton batiste and black poplin.

Favorite for Easter

This is one of the favorites in Easter suits. Gracefulness is the keynote of this tight-waisted gray suit, with a curve of collar and a swing of skirt.

Miss Jeanette Wilson, Granddaughter Of E. L. Wilson Is Married In Temple Ceremony

In a single ring ceremony at the McCloskey VA chapel in Temple recently, Miss Jeanette Wilson, granddaughter of E. L. Wilson of Wellington, became the bride of Rev. Louis B. Parks, with Rev. Grady Metcalf, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. W. A. Irvin, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, officiating.

The altar was banked with fern palms and white gladioli in tall baskets. Tall candelabra graced each side of the altar, and smaller ones formed a background. Tall candelabra lined the sides of the chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, A. F. Wilson, of Holiday. The wedding march was played by Miss Doris Clark at the organ. Miss Willa Jean McConley sang "Oh Perfect Love." Miss Wilson was attended by Mrs. A. M. Davenport, Jr., of Wichita Falls, and James McSpadden served as best man to Rev. Parks.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the couple knelt on a white satin pillow during "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Roland Fuller with Mrs. Fuller accompanying. Ushers were Floyd Wilson of Holiday, brother of the bride; David E. Parks of Corpus Christi, and Robert C. Parks of Kyle, brothers of the bridegroom; and Joseph P. Hines, brother-in-law of the bride groom.

Miss Wilson wore a white wool crepe afternoon frock with high scalloped neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, and peplum that tied at the waistline in front. A halo of mock orange blossoms held the white veil, caught full under the chin and falling in a graceful sweep over the shoulder. Her accessories were white. Her white Bible was topped with an orchid corsage with white satin streamers, a gift of the bridegroom.

For something old, the bride wore a small gold pin more than 100 years old belonging to her great grandmother. Rhinestone earrings belonging to the matron-of-honor were something borrowed. Mrs. Davenport wore a pastel blue wool crepe replica of the bride's costume with a white gardenia corsage. Mrs. Wilson, mother of the bride, wore navy blue with black accessories and a white gardenia corsage. Miss Clark and Miss McConley wore pink crepe with white gardenias, while Mrs. Fuller wore navy blue crepe with a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Parks is a graduate of Archer City high school, attended John Tarleton Agricultural college, Stephenville, and North Texas State Teachers College, Denton. In 1947 she graduated from Nurses school at Methodist hospital, Dallas, and is at present at McCloskey hospital.

Rev. Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Parks, 14 South 12th Street, is a graduate of Temple high school, and holds a bachelor of arts degree from Baylor university. His seminar work was done in Fort Worth. Rev. Parks served as army chaplain in World War II and attended Harvard university before going overseas. He is now chaplain at McCloskey hospital and pastor of Nolanville Baptist church.

Immediately following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico. Upon their return they will be at home at 1702 South First Street, Temple.

Salt Fork Soil Conservation District

Sources of Credit in District Is Sufficient for Average Need

(This is one of a series of articles dealing with the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District which covers Collingsworth County.)

CREDIT

Present Conditions

The present sources of credit in the District are.

2. Insurance Companies.
3. Federal Land Bank.
4. Production Credit.
5. Farm Home Administration.

The prevailing interest rates vary from 3 per cent to 10 per cent.

Recommendations

Sufficient credit is now available to meet most needs. In case of a large expansion in the conservation program involving considerable adjustment in equipment and size of units, it may be necessary to call rather heavily on some Federal agencies such as the Farm Home Administration.

TAXES

Present Conditions

The tax system is based on ad valorem taxes, which, for most funds, have reached the statutory limit. Values are assessed on the equalized basis. The assessed values are the lowest in this section of the state.

Delinquency of taxes on rural property is less than 5 per cent. Delinquency has never been excessive and does not add to the conservation problem.

Valuations and taxes of the various political sub-divisions of the high cost of labor and material prevailing, they are confronted with the difficulties in rendering the necessary services with the present income.

Recommendations

No recommendations can be made at this time. The tax system needs careful study by all citizens in order to be able to increase the income to schools and county government. An increase in income will be necessary unless prices drop on these units or government will have to reduce their services to the public.

MARKETING

Present Conditions

Since the Salt Fork District is principally an agricultural area, this sport concerns only the purchases, and the sales of farmers.

There are complaints by farmers pertaining to both buying and selling conditions on certain agricultural commodities, especially hogs, eggs, and dairy products.

On the date of August 8, hogs were $1.00 per hundred higher at Shamrock and Childress than in Wellington; cream or butter fat was 7 cents per pound higher at each of these places than in Wellington; eggs were 5 cents per dozen higher in either of the places than in Wellington.

This same condition prevailed on August 20, September 9, and September 20, these being dates on which the above information was gathered in both Shamrock and Childress by Wellington people who actually made sales.

Tractor tires, of same size, and same brands, have been known to vary as much as 40 per cent from Wellington to Shamrock. Replacement parts for farm machinery were known to vary 20 to 30 per cent in neighboring towns on a comparable basis with small items of hardware varying more than large replacement parts .

Buying conditions as they apply to dry goods bring a great number of complaints in both quality and price. Childress and Shamrock seem to be getting a great amount of dry goods business from this area involved and on being questioned for a reason when farmers are seen in other towns making dry goods purchases, they claim that they are saving more than enough to pay expenses of the trip.

Favorable markets prevail for farmers in some lines of purchases and sales. Competition of larger grocery concerns make the town of Wellington a very favorable trading place for groceries. A large number of farmers sell small amounts of cream and eggs and buy groceries at the time of sale. Most farmers declare that items are sold are lower in comparison and the balance is still off somewhat. Produce may be hauled to other towns and sold to an advantage great enough to overcome the lower grocery prices in Wellington.

The grain market has been slightly better in Wellington the past two years, 1946, and 1947, to the extent that some grain has been hauled in to market. This applies especially to grain sorghums, mostly because of the difference in freight rates at Shamrock and more local demand for feeding at Wellington over Childress.

In the case of cottonseed, Wellington has led the market for the years 1945-1946 and 1947, in some cases $20.00 per ton. This has brought cotton to Wellington to be ginned from other points nearer surrounding towns.

In each of the above years, though, ginned cotton has taken to Memphis and Hedley for sale in large amounts. Wellington has the market for short intervals, but, this being a cotton area, it is a place in which cotton buyers come for large purchases of cotton.

It seems that with the same companies buying cotton in each of the towns the cotton market could hold closer to the same price in each town. Late in the season, the Wellington buyers seem o ease out of the market and let buyers in the other towns get most of the business.

Recommendations

It is recommended that more competition be encouraged among the buyers and dealers in the product most out of line. New business firms should be encouraged and competition encouraged among old firms.

Some market for whole milk is needed at once.

Where adjustments cannot be made through private firms or individuals, the farmers should consider the possibilities of a cooperative to handle the product and merchandise most out of line.

Baseball, Track Practice to Open

If Super-Cushion Tires Don't Give You The Softest Ride You've Ever Had!

YOU RIDE....THEN YOU DECIDE!

We mean every word we say — we'll put a set of Super-Cushion tires and tubes on your car. Drive it for one week. Then, if you don't agree they give you a softer ride than any tire you've ever owned, we'll replace them with your old tires and give your money back!

Super-Cushion is a remarkable new kind of tire. Bigger, softer than conventional tires, it runs on only 24 pounds air pressure. It is so superior that we make this amazing trial offer . . . for a very limited time only due to the great demand for Super-Cushions.

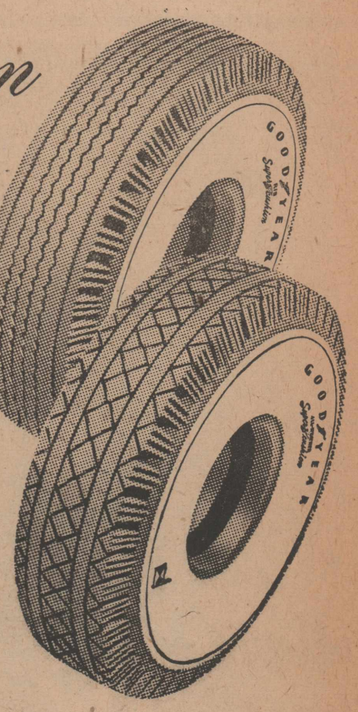

Super-Cushion TIRES BY GOODYEAR

Super-Cushions give you a remarkable new ease in car handling. Your car hugs the road, seems to float through traffic, to flow around curves.

Super-Cushions soak up crosswise jolts, soak up vibration. Results: less driving fatigue, less wear and tear on your car.

Super-Cushions consistently average more mileage than the best standard tires. More — they make small cars ride like big ones . . . make big cars ride better.

Super-Cushions run cooler; and because they're softer they "roll with the punch", are harder to cut, bruise or blow out. Arrange now for a Super-Cushion test run on your car.

"Zero-Zero" to "CAVU"

By BILL HUGHES

We have watched the world rapidly divide into two spheres of influence under diametrically opposed philosophies. It is obvious that sooner or later in one manner or another these two spheres must come to a showdown because they are fundamentally incompatible. The first question is did World War II establish any basis upon which we can hope or try to build peace, or has it merely terminated in a truce—a broken truce today?

Had the nations of the world including the United States and Russia supported and cooperated, had they each and every one been willing to submerge their individual will for self-determination to the will of the whole, we could answer "yes". However, both the United States and Russia have failed to do this. If there were any reason to believe that either one of these major powers in the immediate future might do so, there might still be hope that a basis for peace had been established by World War II.

However, Russia has consistently continued her policy of divide and annex until there are over there but sixteen countries that remain independent of Russia. She remains fully mobilized and apparently is continuing to sharpen her sword to back her purposes and philosophy. The Iron Curtain is everyday extending over more and more people, over more and more territory.

The United States demobilized in an incredibly short length of time. In place of insisting on remobilizing a U. N. against treachery and violence, we are now calling for U. M. T. at home. In place of extending material and moral aid through the U. N., we have launched by ourselves the Marshall Plan in an endeavor to check The Iron Curtain.

I do not see any way to spell the result of World War II but as a truce. This truce from the beginning to this moment has been and is being flauntingly violated by Russia and to some degree very possibly by all the allies. In any man's language this can only read Democracy vs. Dictatorship, lead by the United States on the one hand and Russia on the other. Communism is merely a form of Dictatorship.

If we recognize and admit this reality, we also must admit that we must reckon with this situation. There appears to be three lines of action possible. Two of them unfortunately appear improbable.

The most improbable one for us sinners is Christ's Way, and more recently the way of his greatest modern disciple, that little brown man, Ghanda. That way is passive resistance depending upon faith in life everlasting and on the wisdom and power of God rather than on the illusion of power in material possession and on the finality of death.

Our largest problem of life in this world is actually the problem of human relationships. The laws governing human relationships are God's laws and not man's. This fact of truth and of power is invincible. We have to lift our eyes to Him to understand its meaning and in order not to be blinded and confused by what is only its reflection emanating from the material world at our feet.

It might almost appear that I am pleading the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace. If he had stood constant and sincere and with strength of character and purpose, I might have; but he has not and I do not plead his candidacy. He stands in the shoes of a shrewd opportunist, a false prophet, constant only in inconsistency and in weakness. The American Ghandi has not yet come forward.

The second improbable line of action would be to turn from a Nationalistic State to a full supporting member of world government. Unfortunately, it would appear to be too late to be practical since we are already in the middle of the stream with The Marshall Plan and a movement to re-arm as a nation.

This brings us to the third line of action which we are in reality pursuing as witnessed by The Marshall Plan and the controversy over U. M. T.

The Marshall Plan to succeed, as stated by the Secretary of State, must reach at once to the very roots of the European troubles and must reach with adequate measure to correct the basic deficiencies, otherwise it will result in failure. Grant that it might be effective. The actual result can only be to check the aggressive expansion of Russian influence. It might temporarily stabilize the boundary lines between the two spheres. However, actually and realistically, I do not believe that it is possible to move quickly enough or with enough resources, unless also we are in a position to aggressively protect this effort until these countries are able to stand on their own feet. Then not only during this interval are we always faced by a possible showdown, but when we do successfully assist these countries of Europe to remain in the Democratic column the inevitable showdown between the two spheres still remains.

If it is too late to act through a world police force and a world government, if we lack the faith and courage to follow the example of Ghandi in passive resistance, then we had better face the facts that World War II has achieved only a temporary truce and that not yet have we won a basis for real peace. Therefore, and right now, we had better gird our loins to finish the fight if we want to establish the peace on democratic principles rather than on those of Communistic Dictatorship.

U. M. T. as a means of defense in peace or for peace, I am against. However, we are not at peace; and as a Democracy we have not as yet achieved a basis for peace. As American people we have not as yet achieved a basis for peace with a large part of the world which is dominated by Russia, unless we choose to discard Democracy and to embrace Communism. U. M. T. not for defense but preparatory for a final battle may possibly be the only answer under the circumstances. Universal Military Training or immediate all out mobilization, the facts, the actuality of the situation, the undisguised and unvarnished truth, should be handed to the American people in straight talk and without misleading contradictions.

The mistakes of our leaders, the mistakes of our Congress are our mistakes. What has been done is done. There is no sense in trying to glue together shattered pottery or to hide the cracks with camouflage. There is no time to divide ourselves in scalding incriminations. It is time to face facts. It is time to act decisively. It is time to elect our line of action and to go all out together in an effort to establish an undivided world, basis upon which to build a real peace.

2 CAR THIEVES GET A BIG SURPRISE

Two well-dressed robbers got the surprise of their lives when they drove away with Samuel G. Littke's car in Cleveland after ousting Littke. A few blocks away things happened—engine stopped, bracks locked, horn blow, rear lights blinked. The pair fled. From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Keep 'Em Down On the Farm

The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed as how he was fed up with farm and country life ... and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.

Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even advanced Bud carfare for the trip ... figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.

And what happened? After seven days of big-town bustle and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet glass of beer with Dad.

From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temperate glass of beer!

Editorial

Trees and shrubs are of great value in the conservation of soil and water.

In areas such as this where there is low rainfall, hardy trees and shrubs have proven their merit in windbreak or shelterbelt plantings.

Tree windbreaks slow up the wind near the ground, temper hot winds and reduce the ill effects of cold winds. Dust storms are thus checked by these windbreaks. The winds that would otherwise sweep the topsoil from the fields do little damage.

Evaporation of soil moisture is likewise reduced when the velocity of the wind is checked by windbreaks.

Not only do trees and shrubs aid as a windbreak, but they add comfort and beauty to the farm or ranch home.

The effectiveness of trees as windbreaks depends mainly on the height and compactness of the barrier. In the plains, successful windbreaks need outside rows of shrubs to cut off the ground wind and taller trees in the center to reduce the above ground wind.

Selection must be made of adaptable trees for particular sites. The land should be carefully prepared and well cultivated after planting. On the section where the windbreak planting is to be made, the land should be plowed and contour listed to prevent loss of soil moisture a year before the planting. And after the planting has been made, both the trees and shrubs will require cultivation or weeding for several years until the growth is dense enough to protect itself.

Benefits from windbreaks are noticeable in increased crop yield and by the reduction in fuel expenses.

Trees and shrubs are one of the most useful forms of vegetation available for getting the job of soil conservation done.

• Machinery From Texas to India

McCulloch County fachinery will help construct the other side of the world. The latest shipment by Louis Burns of Brady included 11 carloads of heavy construction machinery, consigned to Bombay, India, via San Francisco, Calif. This machinery sold through a New York City exporting agency, left here February 22.

Mr. Burns has sold machinery for construction work to many nations, including countries in South America, and to Mexico, England and France—L. B. Smith in The Brady Standard.

• Rabbit Increase

Of interest to small boys and adult gunners is the news that rabbits have passed the low in the epizootic cycle and will steadily increase each year for the next seven or eight.

The cycle, according to biologists of the United States Wildlife survey, is nothing to worry about but when rabbits are victims of a disease or parasite they almost disappear from certain sections and then gradually gain in numbers until congestion is relieved by another raid from disease.

During the past three years there have been few rabbits in Hardenman county. Many thought that wolves were responsible for the disappearance. Tuleramia or rabbit fever is one of the chief diseases which thins out the rabbit population. This disease is also dangerous to man but fortunately the afflicted rabbit can be easily detected by the mottled color of the liver of the animal—Anton Koch in The Quanah Tribune-Chief.

• Wealth From Workers

Did you ever stop to think that it is the workers who produce the wealth of the community, the state, the nation and the world? Every dollar of wealth is produced by some one's labor? Some one has given up leisure and has buckled down to hard work many times when they did not feel up to it, and would have preferred to rest or take it easier. When one considers that all money is produced by labor it becomes a greater crime to waste it in foolish and unnecessary expenditures. This applies alike to the local community, the state and the nation—T. B. Klepper in The Ford County News, Crowell.

Baptist Church Has Chime Unit

Chimes from the First Baptist Church in Wellington were heard for the first time Sunday morning, March 7, when the unit was put into use.

The type of installation made here electrically reproduces the chimes from recordings, but later an attachment will be installed whereby they can be played from the electric organ, Beryl Faulkner of Plains Electric, who did the work, explained.

Only half the amplifying unit has been put up, but even so, the chimes can be heard for a distance of about 8 blocks. The remaining section will approximately double the volume.

Mr. Faulkner said Wednesday morning that if present plans work out, and the equipment proves satisfactory to the congregation, he plans to donate the chimes to the church.

Cost of such a unit installed is approximately $500.

Gospel of Christ

(Rom. 1:16)

PLAN OF SALVATION

The plan of salvation was conceived in the infinite wisdom of God (Isa. 55:8, 9); executed by His infinite power (Eph. 3:20, 21); tendered to man by His infinite love (Jno. 3:16).

The Holy Spirit guided the apostles into all truth (Jno. 16:13); inspired the scriptures and thus gave us a perfect standard of life (2 Tim. 3:16, 17); and the Holy Spirit now, through the gospel, convicts the world of sin, righteousness and judgment (Jno. 16:18). The Holy Spirit has done his work by teaching (Jno. 14:26).

Man's part is to hear the gospel (Acts 8:37); believe on the Lord, and exercise his faith in obedience (Acts 16:31; Jas. 2:18); repent of sins (Lu. 13:3); and be baptized for the remission of sins (Acts 2:38). To this new life must be added the Christian graces)2 Pet. 1:5-10).

Man's obedience to gospel requirements is only a means of receiving and appropriating the divine things which save.

'FOR MEN ONLY'

DOZIER

Troy Clark, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clark of Dozier, was seriously injured last Sunday week while playing with his cousins near Shamrock. One of the children accidentally hit him in the eye with a bee-bee gun. He was rushed to a doctor in Shamrock, who administered first aid and advised immediate care by an eye specialist. The parents took Troy to Amarillo at once and after several days treatment, it is thought the sight may be impaired.

Mrs. W. H. Riley of Dozier had the misfortune to fall at her home last Friday and sustained a badly broken left elbow. She was treated in a Shamrock hospital and returned to her home.
