

Cease Fire Order Given In Syria

Nips Push South In China

Move Seen As Protection Of Invasion Area

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, June 1 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced today that Japanese troops were pushing southward along the East China Sea coast in Chekiang province in a possible attempt to establish a new anti-invasion line even as they gave ground in three other sectors.

The enemy columns reached Pingyang Sunday in a 10-mile advance from Julian, the high command said.

Pingyang is 30 miles south of the port of Wenchow. It is 245 miles south of Shanghai and 150 miles northeast of recently liberated Foochow, from which Chinese divisions are striking up the coast through Fukien province.

A collision of these forces with the fresh enemy elements appeared likely. The Chinese were pursuing withdrawing Japanese garrison units.

Inland, the Chinese announced gains in both Hunan and Kwangsi provinces.

The high command said Chinese troops had driven to positions nine and a half miles west of Shaoyang (Paoting), from which the Japanese launched their ill-starred drive across Hunan toward the American air base of Chih-kiang, 120 miles to the west. Chukowpu, 25 miles northwest of Shaoyang, was besieged. Enemy killed and wounded in Hunan were declared by the army spokesman to have totaled 28,000 in the 50-day period ended May 28.

Gains were noted in the Chinese efforts to consolidate the 145-mile gap cut into the enemy corridor to French Indo-China both above and below Yungning (Nanning). The high command said Suio, on the highway to Indo-China, 60 miles southwest of Yungning, was recaptured after an all-day battle Wednesday.

The army spokesman said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces were intensifying their preparations for a grand general offensive and predicted that this would be launched "earlier than originally planned."

Any eyewitness account by American-Chinese combat command teams in the field said that despite Japanese ravages in the city of Yungning, the former U. S. airfield there had been retaken surprisingly intact.

In contrast, the Japanese had left Yungning without food stocks and had demolished practically all available vehicles and river sampans, as well as the city's water and power systems, paralyzing activity in the recaptured military center.

Appropriations Are Being Cut

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The house appropriation committee today cut sharply into the 1946 fiscal year funds for a group of war-bond agencies in a bill it described as "the beginning of the end" of such agencies.

With one exception, the committee trimmed budget estimates for every agency which already had been reduced by President Truman, as it sent the $769,764,850 measure to the floor for house action next week. The exception was a $325,000 allotment for operation of state marine schools, which the committee left untouched.

Withheld from the bill at the last moment were funds for the Office of Price Administration and the Fair Employment Practices Committee. Legislation affecting OPA and the FEPC is pending in congress.

The total in the bill fell $111,812,650 below budget estimates and $209,348,880 under current year funds.

Rosenman Persuaded To Remain At Post

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—President Truman said today he had persuaded Judge Samuel I. Rosenman of New York to remain in the White House another year as special counsel to the president.

The chief executive made this announcement to reporters after reassembling a news conference which had been dismissed.

Correspondence made public disclosed that Rosenman submitted his resignation April 14 "to take effect at your pleasure." The president declined to accept it.

Big Fleet Of Superforts Turn Osaka Into Inferno

Principal Portion Of Yokohama Said
About Destroyed

By ROBBIN COONS
GUAM, June 1 (AP)—Great waves of Superforts lighted fires in the manufacturing center of Osaka today that sent smoke billowing 27,000 feet above Japan's most highly industrialized city, and simultaneously the 21st bomber command announced a similar raid Tuesday burned out 6.9 square miles of Yokohama.

"The principal portion of Yokohama is virtually destroyed," B-29 headquarters announced, as returning crews indicated they had left Osaka in the same condition today.

Eighty six square miles of urban industrial areas of Japanese cities are now known to have been destroyed or heavily damaged by superfort incendiary attacks.

Semi-official Japanese broadcasts admitted flames started throughout the manufacturing center of Osaka were only "gradually" being brought under control.

Smoke over Osaka was so dense that many returning airmen reported they couldn't see the flames.

Only light fighter opposition was reported, including antiquated planes, probably because an escort of about 150 Mustangs from two Jima swept in ahead of the first wave of B-29s. The few interceptors were so unaggressive that one American gunner described the raid—the second mass fire attack on Osaka, as "a sort of a milk run."

Superforts flew through heavy cloud formations and sometimes snow, to reach the city, and then unleashing their flaming destruction by precision instruments through a light haze at 8:35 a. m. (7:35 p. m. Thursday eastern war time).

They concentrated on harbor facilities, warehouses, and the important Sumitomo plant manufacturing dural sheet metal and aircraft propellers. Shipyards, two electrical equipment plants, power stations and Osaka's main railroad station, which is the heart of the city's communications system, also were under fire attack.

Tokyo broadcasts admitted fires raged throughout the northwest section, where there is the greatest concentration of industries including the Sumitomo plant, and broke out in nearby Amagasaki.

An Osaka army communique claimed 47 superforts were shot down and 83 others damaged.

Some returning pilots reported heavy anti-aircraft fire but most of them described it from meager to moderate.

"The flak was plenty heavy," said Sgt. Frank A. Rybick, a tail-gunner from Greensboro, Pa. "We saw them get one B-29 which hit the water near the coast and blew up."

Lt. Luther P. Cunn of Fort Worth, Tex., estimated smoke was rising as high as 27,000 feet when his squadron came over.

Organized Battle Ends On Okinawa

By HAMILTON W. FARON

GUAM, June 1 (AP)—Organized Japanese resistance on Okinawa appeared to be ended today.

Tenth army Yanks pursued crippled, disorganized remnants of the Rising Sun's once-powerful island garrison and closed a trap on Shuri town while Radio Tokyo admitted Japanese losses were "gradually" increasing.

With Marines on the west and infantry on the east, the Americans cut through both flanks to isolate the Shuri key point of Japanese defenses and to drive spears on both flanks southward so swiftly the retreating Nipponese were unable to set up new defenses.

Sixth Division Marines completed the mop-up in Naha, former capital city of the island with a population of 66,000, smashing furiously from all directions into remaining pockets.

Japanese Domei news agency, meanwhile, admitted in a dispatch broadcast by Tokyo radio, the "penetration" of Naha by Americans. It termed the situation a "critical development" which compelled Nipponese commanders to withdraw "part of their troops to positions in the rear in order to consolidate their defense lines."

Elements of the Sixth Marine division, Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopking reported from the front, were pursuing the "withdrawing" enemy southward toward the mouth of the Kokuba river and toward the Naha-Yonabaru road south of Shuri. Those which did not "withdraw" were either killed or captured.

Radio Tokyo yesterday admitted the Okinawa defenses had been split into multiple fronts, but claimed, nevertheless, today that the Japanese still were engaged in "Sagunary hand-to-hand fight" against the Americans with "our men inflicting tremendous bleeding on the enemy."

Three quarters of the original Nipponese garrison on the important Ryuku island have been killed or captured. It appeared certain the remaining 25,000 or fewer Japanese, their line crumbling, will be unable to make a prolonged stand.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported today that of the original Okinawa garrison, of 85,000 troops, 61,519 have been killed and 1,353 captured in the two-month campaign. The two-week Yank assault which cracked the stiff Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru line cost the Nipponese 13,416 dead and 315 captured.

The Japanese casualty figures, showing a sustained 1,000 killed a day, compared with American dead and missing of 9,602 as of May 24. The U. S. figures include those for the navy, marine corps and army. No record of Japanese naval dead are known here.

Meeting Of Big Three Closer

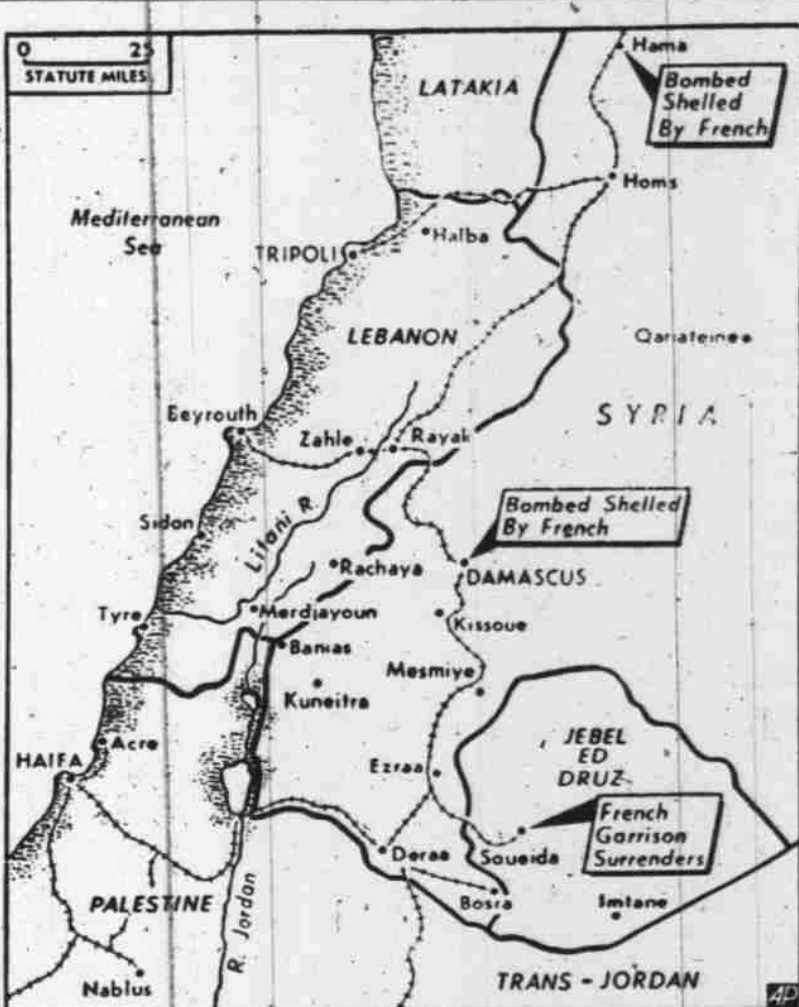

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—President Truman said today that a meeting of the "Big Three" was getting closer.

The president told his weekly news conference that a delay in the conclusion of the United Nations conference at San Francisco would not affect in the slightest plans for a meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Doubled Army Is Seen For Pacific

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—

The U. S. army in the Pacific, President Truman declared today, ultimately will be twice its present size and "bigger than our army in Europe at its height."

In a special message to congress, reviewing the war and reiterating this country's determination to fight the Japanese conflict "to complete finish," Mr. Truman called for workers in ship repair yards to meet the suicide attacks of the Japanese and asked civilians to abstain from travel during the mass movement of troops to the Pacific.

Mr. Truman said the Pacific war has developed all the major elements of a naval war and told congress all escort vessels not needed for training will be sent there.

He praised the navy's aid in bringing about successful land invasions all over the world, and said the Japanese surface navy "has now been reduced to a fraction" of its full fighting strength.

The Japanese merchant marine, he added, "has now been reduced to a quarter of its pre-war size."

For this we can thank our submarines, air and sea bases and surface and sky fleets, he continued.

"As we approach the enemy homeland the density of his air power becomes greater," the president reminded. "This means tough fighting in the air."

"In the future we shall have to expect more damage rather than less," he said.

The message, read to congress by clerks, said the joint chiefs of staff have decided "that our army can deliver its heaviest blows in the Pacific and win final victory most quickly with a strength which a year from now will be about 7,000,000."

"By maintaining our army at this size," the president said, "we shall be able to more than double the force we now have in the Pacific and hurl against the Japanese an overseas force larger than the 3,500,000 men who united with our Allies to crush the Wehrmacht and the Luftwaffe."

The president said the strength of 7,000,000 men was decided on by the joint chiefs of staff after consultation with General Douglas MacArthur and Admiral Chester Nimitz.

"These are the men," the president said, "who will be carrying the fight to the enemy, but obviously they cannot operate effectively unless there are adequate reserve troops in training in the United States, and also an adequate base from which our advance troops can be supplied and serviced."

"It is our plan that every physically fit soldier in the United States who has not yet served overseas be assigned to foreign duty when he completes his training, or if he is fulfilling an essential administrative or service job, as soon as he can be replaced by a returning veteran. This has been the army's policy since the beginning of the war. It will be rigidly adhered to in the redeployment period."

Here Used To Stand Lidice

LIDICE, Czechoslovakia, June 1 (AP)—

At the lower end of a gently sloping wheat field, polka-dotted by a million blood red poppies, is a freshly-painted sign saying: "Here used to stand the village of Lidice."

The little sign in the wheat beside a dusty, rutted clay road is the epitaph of Lidice, a quiet little Czech village grazed from the earth by vengeful Germans.

All the world heard about Lidice, as trumpeted by the Nazis themselves following the assassination of hangman Reinhardt Heydrich in 1942; of the

French Refuse To Withdraw Troops

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—France refused today to comply with Prime Minister Churchill's request that French troops in Syria retire to their barracks to avoid the possibility of clash with the British, but in a conciliatory move ordered her troops to "cease fire."

"French troops will remain in their positions," said a French communique issued in Paris after a cabinet meeting. By ordering French troops to cease fire the French thus complied with half the request of Churchill, backed by President Tuman, to take steps to end the bloodshed.

In further steps to resolve the dispute that threatened to plunge the Arab world into revolt, it was disclosed that the United States had agreed to sit with other powers in the role of mediator.

The British foreign office announced that France had been invited to participate in a London conference with Britain and the United States to settle the issues involved in the Arab-supported demands of Syria and Lebanon for full independence and Allied insistence upon safeguards for the communications lines to the Pacific war areas. Syria has not been invited to participate in these particular talks.

Beyrouth dispatches said all was quiet in Syria and Lebanon after the French finally stopped their shelling and bombing of Damascus, Syrian capital, and that small-arms fire had ceased. At least 400 persons had been killed and 500 wounded.

The British commander in the Middle East, Gen. Sir Bernard C. Paget, flew to Beyrouth this morning in a bomber escorted by Spitfires. British destroyers swung at anchor in Beyrouth harbor.

British troops, tanks and vehicles moved along the main roads toward Damascus yesterday following Prime Minister Churchill's orders to intervene.

Paris newspapers used the term "ultimatum" in describing Churchill's note asking Gen. De Gaulle to halt French military activity in Syria, but discussed the situation in generally moderate terms.

Some French newspapers did not comment at all. Others cautioned Britain that "appeasement" of the Arabs in the case of Syria held dangerous potentialities for Britain elsewhere in the Middle East. Some criticized Gen. De Gaulle for taking a more aggressive attitude than French strength justifies.

The general tone, however, was of injured French pride, rather than concern.

Beyrouth dispatches quoting official announcements there, however, said the French commander in chief had agreed to cease fire and accept British orders after a conference with the British commander.

When the French communique finally was issued it came after a cabinet meeting at which Foreign Minister Georges Bidault had given a full report.

De Gaulle apparently had waited overnight in order to get a line on French public reaction.

The French added that the situation probably would not delay De Gaulle's conference with President Truman who has invited him to Washington.

President In Touch With The Situation

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—

President Truman said today that he was in constant communication with Prime Minister Churchill on the French-Lavant situation.

The president told his news conference that he and Mr. Churchill were exchanging wires every day.

The chief executive said he had fully approved the dispatch of British troops into Syria and added that the French have ceased firing as the result of the stern message Mr. Churchill sent to Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

He has received no word from the general, he added.

For a five month period through May, 1945, receipts have amounted to $68,315.70 over the same time last year when receipts amounted to $53,720.92. A gain of $14,594.78 is shown.

Savage Fighting Goes On In Burma Sector

CALCUTTA, India, June 1 (AP)—Savage hand-to-hand fighting is taking place in the Kama area, 17 miles north of Prome and 170 miles northwest of Rangoon where the enemy still holds an escape bridgehead over the Irrawaddy for evacuation of forces toward Thailand. The Southeast Asia command announced today.

British troops withstood almost continuous attacks and killed 200 Japanese, the communique said.

E Bond Sales Inch Forward

Bond sales through Thursday brought the E-bond total to $344,932 and the overall sales to $596,912 or 57.1 per cent bond headquarters announced Friday morning. This leaves $250,068 more E bonds to be purchased before Howard county can complete its goal of buying a Super-Fortress bomber of its own.

The bomber, which is approximately the cost of the E bond quota, is to have a plaque placed inside it noting that the citizens of Howard county furnished the funds to purchase it. A copy of this plaque along with a special citation will be sent to the county at the close of the drive.

Everyone is urged to buy an extra war bond in order to attend the infantry show on June 8th and to do their part in backing the boys in the Pacific.

US Subs Sink 14 Enemy Ships

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—United States submarines have sunk 14 enemy ships, including a destroyer and four other combatant vessels in Pacific waters, the navy announced today.

The three combatant craft were three small patrol vessels and a coastal minelayer. Non-combatant ships claimed in the latest toll were a large tanker, five medium merchant vessels, two medium freighters and a small merchant vessel.

Postal Receipts Show New Gains

Postal receipts as recorded by the Big Spring postoffice for the month of May, 1945, indicate a strong gain of $2,108.25 over the same period for 1944.

Receipts for the past month amounted to $12,792.91 as compared to May, 1944, with $10,684.66.

For a five month period through May, 1945, receipts have amounted to $68,315.70 over the same time last year when receipts amounted to $53,720.92. A gain of $14,594.78 is shown.

Liaison Agent For French Underground Had Active Time

HOUSTON, June 1 (AP)—A story of aiding in the escape of 15 Allied airmen in France, of killing three German soldiers while evading capture, and of four years' work with the French underground was told last night by Captain Louise De Mont-Reynaud, 24.

Captain Reynaud is in Texas as a good will envoy sponsored by the French ministry of information. She came to Houston yesterday from San Francisco where she served with the French delegation to the conference. After several days visit here, she will go to Corpus Christi.

The young woman described herself as a liaison agent in the French underground. Her job was making sketches of German airfields, helping Allied airmen escape and gathering information which was sent to London by a secret radio.

Captain Reynaud made three parachute leaps into her country while returning from journeys to London.

Hart Says That He Did Not Conceal Involved Property

In connection with a case filed in justice of peace court, W. H. Hart said Friday that while he readily admitted to officials that he had purchased certain clothing, which subsequently was shown to have been stolen by a former employee at the state hospital, he told officers that he did not conceal the property as alleged in the complaint.

Hart said that, as in all cases of purchases, he had taken a record of the items purchased, the seller and his social security number. This was taken to establish the source of the goods. Never, he said, was any effort made to conceal any of the items. On the contrary, said Hart, records were produced to aid officers in establishing the source of the goods, which, he said, had been represented to him as having come from the man's brother who had entered the army.

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow ARE YOU NATURALIZED?

An interesting and tragic sidelight upon citizenship in the United States was the discovery shortly after the outbreak of this abyss of tears and blood that millions of people in this country could not furnish legal proof that they were native-born or naturalized citizens. For years, they had been whole-hearted Americans who paid taxes to and respected and obeyed the laws of the land. Nevertheless, they had committed one simple but fatal error. If native-born, they had never registered their birth data. If foreign-born, they had never appeared before a federal judge and sworn allegiance to the constitution. Not until these legal requirements had been satisfied were they recognized as citizens and trusted with arms of war or positions in war industries. Not until these legal requirements had been fulfilled were they eligible for the protection of our armed forces.

There are a great many people in this community who attend church and who belong to a church elsewhere who have never become "naturalized." They have never joined a church in the community in which they reside and earn their livelihood. In many instances they attend church regularly and support its works liberally. But they never give their allegiance to it until they become "naturalized" locally by uniting with it. Naturalization from a political standpoint is never easy, for it is difficult to renounce allegiance to one's Fatherland and swear allegiance to another country. But it must be done before one can become a bona-fide citizen. Spiritual naturalization is never easy, for to leave a church to which one has long belonged and become a member of another involves a painful separation and readjustment. But it is necessary to spiritual health.

Are you spiritually "naturalized?" The ministers and churches of Big Spring invite you to become "naturalized" religiously by joining the church of your choice next Sunday.

LOCAL MARINE FINDS THERE ARE TOO MANY SEVENS ON OKINAWA

By SGT. JOSEPH P. DONAHUE, Marine Corps Combat Correspondent
OKINAWA (Delayed) — There are too many sevens on Okinawa, complain two Marines who blame the profusion of sevens for the fact that it took them 10 days of wandering over this island to rejoin their outfit, the Seventh Marine Regiment.

The two Marines, Privates James D. Sims of 1509 Main Street, Big Spring, Tex., and Herbert Rorabacher, of Ann Arbor, Mich., started out from a beach station for their regiment. Before they reached their companies, they had seen army lines to the south and the Marine lines to the north.

They asked for directions for the Seventh Marines, a unit of the First Marine Division that, explained Rorabacher, "we always seemed to end up at the Seventh Army Division or suddenly find ourselves headed for the 77th or 27th army division areas."

First stop for the lost pair was Yontan Airfield, where they stayed overnight but got no sleep. Jap bombers were active that night and the two Marines spent most of the time in a shelter.

Leaving the airport they rode in jeeps, trucks, ducks, tractors, and armored cars. "Everyone was hospitable," said Sims, "but none seemed to know where the Seventh was. Twice we arrived at areas that had recently been evacuated by our outfits. They sure moved fast."

A truck driver who picked up the pair told them he was certain the Seventh Marines had moved south to reinforce the army in the fight for Naha. They went with him.

It wasn't until they ran into Jap mortar fire in the army lines that Sims and Rorabacher learned that the Seventh Marines were still driving north.

Before they started back, an army captain provided them with food, clothing, and shoes. They hadn't had their clothing off during all their travels and Sims' shoes had worn through.

The road back was easier. Sign posts clearly marked the route to Marine and army areas. Roads that had been trails were wide and level. The engineers had been on the job.

Sims, an assistant Browning automatic rifleman and Rorabacher, a barroomman, separated at a commissary dump, each catching a ride directly to his battalion command post.

Sims is the son of Mrs. Q. L. Hall, 1103 North Lincoln Street, Odessa, Tex. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harper, live at the Big Spring address.

Texas Today—Flavorful Dictionary

By JACK RUTLEDGE, Associated Press Staff

A Texan's hobby has made it possible for anyone to write wild west stories with salty, colorful and correct western words.

Thirty years ago Ramon F. Adams began collecting words and phrases that make the speech of the trail and the cow camp so flavorful. In 1936 he published a dictionary of such words. It was called "Cowboy Lingo."

Last year he published a new and much more complete dictionary. He called it "Western Words" and Time magazine (Feb. 12, 1945) said it is "one of the liveliest and most informal dictionaries since Dr. Johnson's. Also, one of the easiest to read."

It has gone into its second printing.

Lots of people know about "Western Words" but few know anything about the author.

Ramon F. Adams was born in Moscow, Polk county, Texas, 57 years ago. He moved to Dallas in 1925.

He is co-owner of a candy company, wholesale manufacturers. Adams has written chuckwagon tales for magazines and newspapers. He is a member of the National Writers Club. But writing is just a hobby.

Amarillo AAF Craves Action

AMARILLO, June 1 (AP)—What the Amarillo Air Field baseball team craves is some competition.

The Sky Giants have already marked up ten victories against no defeats this season to bring their winning streak to 19—they had taken eight straight at the close of last year's campaign. In this season's ten games they have scored 135 runs or an average of 13.5 per contest. Their opponents have managed for 33.

Skipper Hoot Gibson explains the "large figure" for the opposition by the fact that he needs to give his younger pitchers experience in the late innings of every game.

One hundred and twenty-seven base hits have rattled off the Amarillo field nine's bats. The team batting average for the 10 games is .32.

Teams beaten by the Sky Giants this year include Hobbs, N. M., army air field, three times; Midland army air field, twice; Big Spring army air field, twice; and Lubbock army air field, twice.

Luberal, Kan., army air field will play a two-game series with the Giants in Amarillo this weekend.

If Dave Ferriss and Les Mueller are fair samples, the GI athlete with big league ambitions is headed in the right direction.

Ferriss, a two-year veteran of the army air corps, is the only unbeaten pitcher in either league with more than three decisions. In circling the American league for the first time, the Boston Red Sox freshman has wheeled to seven straight victories, at least one over each team except Washington, and he hasn't faced the Senators yet.

Throwing hard with his right hand isn't Ferriss' only accomplishment. His .444 batting average is best in either league and he is used as a pinch-hitter almost every day. In 63 innings of pitching, the ex-serviceman has allowed only five runs and 36 hits and boasts four shutouts, one more than Detroit's Al Benton.

Cleveland was Ferriss' latest victim yesterday when he threw a five-hitter at the Tribe to coast home 6-2 behind an 11-hit attack, including two of his own singles. The win hoisted the Red Sox into

Ferriss Makes It Seven Straight In Tribe Win

In 63 innings of pitching, the ex-serviceman has allowed only five runs and 36 hits and boasts four shutouts, one more than Detroit's Al Benton.

Cleveland was Ferriss' latest victim yesterday when he threw a five-hitter at the Tribe to coast home 6-2 behind an 11-hit attack, including two of his own singles. The win hoisted the Red Sox into fifth place, jumping two pegs.

Mueller's case is different because he was later getting started and didn't graduate into a starting role until yesterday, but his debut was as sensational as Ferriss'. Opposing New York in the second Yankee Stadium twilight tilt before 5,300 fans, the Detroit right-hander blanked the Yankees, 2-0, with two singles.

Four years ago Mueller was a Tiger rookie but he joined the army in the spring of 1942 and had worked on relief only three times since receiving his honorable discharge last fall. Off his performance in the stadium, Manager Steve O'Neill is counting on the giant-sized vet to take up the slack in the Detroit staff caused by the loss through a broken leg of ex-savior Al Benton.

Mueller pulled the Tigers to within one game of the leading Yanks in a day that found seven teams changing positions.

Brooklyn went into second place in the National by topping Pittsburgh in 13 innings, 6-4, on Goody Rosen's triple that doomed Nick Strincevich. Reliever Clyde King received credit for his first victory.

The St. Louis Cards climbed back into the first division, passing Chicago, by slugging the Boston Braves, 9-4, as Jack Creel teetered through on a 10-hit pitching job.

Walter "Boom Boom" Beck lowered the boom on the Phillies, 3-1, to give Cincinnati a clean sweep of the three-game set. New York and Chicago were rained out.

Washington dropped below Cleveland into seventh spot by bowing to the St. Louis Browns, 5-2. One four-run inning on the Browns.

Mickey Haefner did the trick for Bobby Estalella's eighth inning single gave Philadelphia a 3-2 edge over the Chicago White Sox but the A's lost the services of Pitcher Don Black who wrenched his back in a collision with Umpire Cal Hubbard. Black will be lost for several days to further weaken Connie Mack's depleted mound staff.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—A survey conducted by Eppie Barnes, Colgate coach, shows that only 242 of the 682 American colleges list baseball as an official sport.

And the 242 include those which let the national game drop during wartime and those which have only intra-mural competition. That's the big reason why Eppie and Penn State's Joe Bedenk have called a "revival meeting" of college coaches for the end of this month to see what they can do for the game.

Pick Up the Marbles—Orrin Benson of Eagle, Wis., a professional handler of field trial dogs, manages to make out all right in spite of the shortages of ammunition and red points. During the preparations for the recent trials at Fargo, N. D., a hen pheasant escaped and took refuge in a clump of trees. Benson, who was exercising his dogs, told them to sit, pulled out a slingshot and a handful of marbles and went hunting. Eventually he hit the mark—the pheasant's head—and came home with something for dinner.

One-Minute Sports Page—Dewitt Coulter, the big Texan who still holds the interscholastic shot put record, isn't interested in track and field competition at West Point. He'd rather play football all the time. William Helis, who has the longest list of Derby entries, won't have a starter in the big race June 9.

Service Dept.—Every member of the 45-man Georgia football squad that beat Texas Christian in the 1942 Orange Bowl game has been or is now in the armed forces. More than 30 have been in combat and six are listed as killed or missing. Lt. Charley Gehring, coach of the Jacksonville naval air station ball club, is suspected of visiting the fountain of youth at nearby St. Augustine. He's hitting .659 in 10 games.

Admiration For China

Undiluted admiration is due China for the evidence that this potentially great nation, which has suffered so long on the crags of destruction, may at last be coming to surer footing.

News of military victories by the Chinese forces in recent weeks is cheering to every American heart, not because of their primary military importance but because they demonstrate that this people, after fighting a ruthless enemy, starvation, inflation, blockade and virtual hopelessness, still possess the spirit to press on to victory.

Perhaps it is well not over estimate the importance of the military blows struck by Chinese forces, for it must be remembered that the Japanese are obliged by pressure elsewhere to retreat or leave suicide garrisons. Neither should these victories be underestimated, for they do demonstrate that the Chinese, with a little equipment, are good fighters. Manifestly, more supplies are getting into China. No doubt a larger volume is coming via the overland route while the air route is still in operation. Indications are that American technical advice has borne fruit in more industrial production within China.

By driving the Japs back, we not only are providing more security for our own bases but security for young Chinese industry. And while we are waiting for a coastal landing to be made, we can watch the Chinese army with interest, for it will might play a greater role in the final defeat of Japan than we have imagined.

Criticism But Not Ridicule

A cartoonist for a Texas newspaper this week cast the Texas legislature as a group of rowing children. With its various characters, their multiple wants and some biting sarcasm, the cartoon was an interesting study.

However, we doubt the good taste of such a piece. It is true that there are a number of men in the legislature who are there for selfish interests, a number who are incompetent. However, the vast majority of them are conscientious and upright men who honestly want to perform a credible job. They are playing a legislative game by rules with which all too few laymen—even cartoonists—are unfamiliar.

We belong to the group which believes that business could and possibly should have been but-tuned up before now in Austin. We are among those who grow vexed at the maneuvering of some minority blocs, and we are among those who are critical of some of the many measures looked upon favorably by the house. But we are not among

by Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign News Analyst

Maybe in the long run the Franco-Syrian upheaval will prove to be a good thing, for it demonstrates anew that the whole of Europe and the Mediterranean countries are as inflammable as tinder and that anybody who flings a lighted match carelessly aside these days is begging for catastrophe.

We've come mighty close to another great conflagration. You can't rekindle the fire anywhere without the terrible danger of it spreading. And Syria isn't the only danger spot by a long shot. Europe is full of delicate political situations, any one of which could easily precipitate fresh tragedy. The present affair seems at this writing to have been got in hand. John Bull stepped in to halt the fighting — and he was wearing his guns loose in his holsters.

At the same time British Prime Minister Churchill told General De Gaulle in Paris that "once firing has ceased and order has been restored we shall be prepared to begin tripartite discussion here in London." This means that the United States and Britain are ready to sit down and thresh the Syrian difficulty out with France. That's the language of peace.

This bloody lesson may have a salutary effect in another way. It shows that the great powers intend to maintain order. It shows that they intend to do so even if they have to employ force. They want to settle disputes by mediation, but subject appeasement is out of the window. Britain and America have acted promptly in this matter, and it must be assumed that Moscow is in accord and would have taken an active hand if necessary.

Probably the Syrian imbroglio also will lend force to the argument that the peace of the world must, for the time being, rest mainly on the shoulders of the Big Three—America, Russia and Britain. That perhaps isn't an ideal situation, but it is based on the horse-sense that this trio of great powers are the ones which have the physical strength to maintain order so long as they stand together.

With The AEF: Alsatian Kids Lived A Perilous Existence

By GEORGE TUCKER
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

PARIS, (AP)—Alsatian kids who were caught up in the war had a worse time of it than most of the French. They were impressed into the German army by the thousands as soon as they came of age and many fled and led gypsy lives hiding in the cities and towns and living from hand to mouth to keep from fighting for the Germans.

Their position became more precarious as the Allied spearheads drew nearer and thousands lost their lives under Allied bomb attack. It is a commentary on the faith of human beings to look at some of the survivors and listen to their stories.

Let me show you briefly what the war meant to just one of those Alsations who gambled against death by a Nazi firing squad rather than put on the grey-green uniform of the enemy and fight against the Americans.

He lived at Strasbourg and he was married and he had a little girl eight years old. Rather than join the German army he disappeared, taking his wife and daughter with him.

They hid in a little town about 50 miles from Strasbourg. One day Allied bombers came over and after they left a lot of people were dead including his wife.

There were no carpenters and there was no lumber available but poking around through the ruins of the house he found an old table. He got a hammer and some nails somewhere, knocked the table to pieces and built a rude coffin for his wife's body.

When it was ready some of the neighbors volunteered to help him dig a grave but the bombers came back again and the neighbors fled.

The weeks went by. The Americans rolled over the land. When they had passed he went to an American captain and told him that he wanted to take his wife and little girl back to Strasbourg.

When he got there old friends gladly volunteered to give him a hand.

They assembled at the church and someone went for the priest but just at that moment the Germans began to shell the town again and his friends fled once more.

They stood there, both of them, and I suppose they said a prayer while the shells exploded in the street outside. And then they walked out to the cart which held the box and the man caught the reins in one hand and led the cart to the cemetery. There, unaided and alone except for the child, the man dug a new grave.

"Now," he said, when his wife was quietly at rest in the family plot, "I feel better."

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Allies Not Anxious To Get To Berlin

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It has now been a little over one month since the American Ninth army paused on the outskirts of Berlin, to let the Red army hammer its way into Hitler's capital. Since then, no Allied mission has gone into Berlin, despite the Yalta agreement providing for a token force of American troops in Berlin and the governing of Germany by an Allied mission of British, American, Russian and, later, French generals.

Failure to set up this Allied mission inside Berlin generally has been blamed on the Russians. However, this column is now able to throw important light on all the facts.

Though Stalin did object to American troops entering Berlin ahead of the Red army (Russian capture of Berlin was agreed on at Yalta), actually U. S. officials have been largely responsible for the delay in sending a subsequent token force into Berlin and setting up Allied headquarters to govern Germany.

If you ask the war department about this, you will get evasive, sawdust-in-the-eye answers. But actually three reasons have developed for U. S. hesitation over entering Berlin. They are:

1. If an Allied commission is set up in Berlin, it would be necessary to abolish SHAEF (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force) and General Eisenhower would step down from being commander over the French and British. Instead, the French and British would be equal in command with Eisenhower in any four-cornered Allied commission in Berlin. So would the Russians.

2. With all four nations working in Berlin, it is feared that cooperation with the Russians might be more difficult. At present, Russia governs its part of eastern Germany, while the western Allies govern their part of western Germany.

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas has accepted an invitation to confer with President Truman, but no definite date has been set for his visit to the White House.

body shouldn't have to resort to such subterfuges.

No one denies that there is a fringe of Congressional incompetents who aren't worth a dollar a year, but they aren't so numerous as the men who are forced to pass up the poor pay and insecurity of office for the good simoleons that private business is willing to pay for a capable man.

Texans In Washington—

Cabinet Choices Strike Texans Well

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The new cabinet appointments of President Truman set well with Texans around the capital.

Naturally, the selection of Tom Clark as attorney general was tops with them. Hailing from Dallas and of a widely known law family, Clark is the personal friend of virtually every official here from Texas.

Then the choice of Rep. Clint Anderson from neighboring New Mexico was an exceedingly agreeable surprise. A tall, raw-boned westerner, he's popular with Texas legislators—especially those from West Texas, having much in common as representatives of large cattle and sheep raising districts.

Furthermore, at one time he almost became a Texan. In 1919 he dickered for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Regrettably he recalls that the deal didn't go through because he couldn't scrape up quite enough money.

It's to be noted that as the new "food czar," Anderson takes over the duties of the ex-Panhandle congressman Marvin Jones, who goes back to the bench on the U. S. court of claims here with the abolition of the War Food Administration. As for President Truman's appointment of Federal Judge Louis B. Schwellenbach of Spokane as secretary of labor, Texans hailed that too, for he's a westerner.

Around the Capital: Another of those rare individuals around Washington who has made good and who isn't connected with the government: G. M. Rivele, formerly of Waco, manager of the Washington offices of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company.

The pungent odor of fine Texas white onions prevails around the capitol recently. Austin E. Anson of Harlingen, manager of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers, sent all the Texas congressmen a sack. Some were served sliced in salad dishes at a luncheon in the speakers' dining room. For some reason the meal was delayed, so while awaiting more substantial food, the lawmakers ate rolls, butter and raw onions.

Now that there is a let-up, even though it may be temporary, in the demands for high octane aviation gasoline for the army, Texas industrialists are seeking authorization to turn out more butane gas for farm wives. Elmer L. Atkins of Fort Worth and William J. Lawson of Austin asked the Petroleum Administration for War to permit an increase in butane production, and the WPB to let manufacturers of metal butane tanks step up their output.

Miss Waynada Wallace of Fort Worth, a junior at the University of Arizona, visited the naval academy at nearby Annapolis, Md., attending graduation festivities. She also came over to see the sights around Washington.

Attorneys Fred Erisman of Longview and Lanham Croley of Dallas have been here handling legal matters for clients. Erisman, one of the contestants in last year's race for state attorney general, also conferred at the PWA and WPB regarding personal plans to drill an oil well at Kilgore.

Friends of Tom Clark, upon his appointment to the cabinet, recalled that he had told them confidentially several weeks ago that he was making plans to return to private law practice. He was holding up his resignation because of a sense of duty; he was in charge of prosecution of German spies in New York and wanted to see that case settled.

Visitors on Capitol Hill: a trio of San Angeliots—Sgt. Alton Houston, stationed at nearby Bolling army airfield; Richard Baldwin, naval fireman, on duty at Washington navy yards; H. G. Wendland.

Naval Lieut. Jesse Collins of Big Spring, recently returned from the Pacific, and Mrs. Collins, who were guests of Congressman and Mrs. George Mahon.

Less Money, Less To Buy Food, Hence More Food, Say Economists

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—War production cutbacks and reconversion may team up to ease some of this country's food supply strain by the end of the year.

This possibility is being considered by food officials in connection with plans for sharing American food with hungry peoples in Europe.

Agriculture department economists say that reductions in military output now taking place should tend to reduce consumer incomes. And smaller consumer buying power should be reflected, they add, in a somewhat reduced demand for food.

Similarly as industrial reconversion gains momentum and is able to put larger quantities of non-food items on the market, there will be a tendency, the economists say, for consumers to divert money from food to other items coming back into production.

The bat has been a flying animal for so long that its forelimb has lost its early function as a leg, and the hind leg bends in a reversed direction.

Hollywood—"Saratoga Trunk," Bergman OK

By BOB THOMAS

(Note: A year or two ago, Warner Brothers made a picture called "Saratoga Trunk." It has not been released in the United States but has played nearly all of the fox-hole circuits overseas. At considerable expense (six cents postage) we have arranged for a G. I. to review the movie. He is Pfc. Charles K. Johnson of Beverly Hills, Calif. His review follows.)

"Saratoga Trunk," a Warner Brothers picture starring Ingrid Bergman and Gary Cooper, with Flora Robson. Running time: 149 minutes.

SOMEWHERE IN GERMANY—I have now seen "Saratoga Trunk" three times on the G. I. circuit. The first occasion was probably the most memorable. It was in a small German border town in December, and a smashed grocery store was serving as the theater. We missed the first show, but determinedly waited an hour outside in the mud and through an enemy air raid to see the main event. We weren't disappointed, for all the waiting which we detest.

"Saratoga Trunk" is much less a period melodrama than it is a frame for the rich canvas of Ingrid Bergman's dramatic abilities. Based on Edna Ferber's novel, the film is a story of two rogues—one a willful, fiery young woman who is bent on revenging the disgrace of her mother; the other a handsome, gambling Texan seeking vengeance on the railroads which took his property.

They meet in New Orleans, where the young lady successfully humbles the aristocratic parents of the man her mother counted on to marry. Heading northward to Saratoga Springs, the Texan allies himself with the Saratoga Trunk line to fight the railroad interests and the young lady sets her sights for an eligible millionaire.

Though the plot never weighs heavily on anyone, and the outcome is never much in doubt, the picture affords Miss Bergman a choice opportunity to illuminate a selfish and seductive character. She is terrific. Testimony to her success were the G. I. whistles usually reserved for the Grables and Turners.

Her partner in conspiracy is Gary Cooper, who is the Texan. He plays Gary Cooper very well, as he has been doing for a long time now. The supporting cast, English actress, is fine. But it's Bergman all the way.

Pineapple Supply Is Distributed

Rhea Merle Boyles, Howard county home demonstration agent, announced Friday that the last of 330 dozen pineapples ordered for home canning through the county HD club, has been delivered.

The fruit arrived Thursday and was distributed from the Howard county warehouse barn on the north side of town by marketing chairmen of various club units.

Ordered from a fruit company at Laredo, the fruit was late in arriving because of transportation difficulties. The 3,960 pineapples were distributed in short order, however.

Johnson Tells How Not To Build City

Jack Johnson told American Business Club members Friday at their weekly luncheon in the Settles that it would take a much bigger and older man to explain "How to Build a City," but he could tell anyone "How Not to Build a City."

Ted Phillips introduced the speaker, who asked, "How can any community with high juvenile delinquency rating grow into a city? This is one way not to let your city grow," he said.

Johnson stressed, "If you don't want a city, let us not build neighborhood playgrounds with paid supervisors to oversee the play. Let's not let youth learn to get along well together. We should use war as an excuse instead of blaming it on the labor and material which is available."

"After we have definitely decided not to build a city, let's not build a senior college, junior college, or even a vocational school. Let's not do anything to make our youth grow into well being citizens," he further stressed.

"If we don't want a city, we should do nothing to make us grow in wealth, spirit, etc.," he concluded.

Guests present were Lt. Col. Charles Bursley and Lt. Edward Gibbons.

Reports were given on the progress of the West Side park and the work accomplished the past week.

The club voted unanimously to not adopt the resolution proposed by the Atlanta charter to change the name of the club.

Senator Says Soviets Reported Liquidating Nazi Professionals

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me) said today high London and Paris authorities had heard reports that the Russians are "liquidating" professional people in Berlin and other occupied German areas they control.

Brewster stated these reports had come to him on his trip with the senate's Mead committee investigating the status of U. S. war material in Europe. He returned today with Senator Ball (R-Minn) and made his statements concerning the Russians in an interview.

He asserted the "liquidation" reports mentioned lawyers, business men and "other professionals."

"The Russians should realize that these reports—which we heard from competent authorities—will continue as long as they refuse access to the American press," he asserted.

Loot Total Smaller Than Announced

Shine Phillips, druggist, said Friday that the narcotics thieves got only 350 half grain tablets of morphine when they broke into the drug safe at the Cunningham and Phillips drug store Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. The two men and the woman arrested by Big Spring police in connection with the theft, were still being held in city jail Friday pending transfer of the case.

Legislature To Adjourn Tuesday

AUSTIN, June 1 (AP)—With final adjournment of the legislature ordered for June 5, both branches today dug into the cleanup processes.

The house adopted a conference committee report on a bill allocating $2,000,000 in unused special fund balances for construction of two state office buildings, long sought to relieve overcrowding in present state structures and to eliminate rental payments.

The senate before adjourning until tomorrow passed and sent back to the house a bill by H. A. Hull of Fort Worth creating a three-member, non-salaried state aviation commission.

The senate also adopted a free conference committee report on a bill bracketing state taxes on fire and casualty insurance premiums.

Graves, who sponsored the bill in the senate explained that it would provide the state revenue with approximately $48,000 more taxes annually, than does the present statutes.

A resolution which would have provided that a committee of the house and senate draft the biennial appropriation bills prior to the convening of the legislature was also withdrawn.

Miss Windover conferred with three different agencies and gave pointers on the care and handling of neglected children.

Attending were Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, executive secretary of the Red Cross; Ann Fisher, city-county health nurse, and Constance Reque, county welfare worker.

Borneo Assault Tempo Speeded

MANILA, June 1 (AP)—The U. S. 13th Air Force stepped up its assaults on oil-rich Borneo as Australian invasion force wound up their initial operation on its north-eastern island of Tarakan.

Today's communique reported raids which extended through a third straight day the aerial pounding of airfields, waterfronts, shipyards and other installations on Borneo.

With more than 100 bombers and fighters taking part each day, the 13th raiders struck Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Balikpapan on the north-west coast, Balikpapan on the east central coast and Banjarmasin on the south coast.

A Seventh Fleet Liberator sank a medium freighter near Banjarmasin.

The Fifth Air Force sent more than 100 Liberators with a fighter escort to Formosa Tuesday and followed up with a 60-plane raid Wednesday, hitting waterfronts, warehouses and barracks.

Jesse Lee Clark, whose parole was revoked after he stole an automobile here earlier this week, will be sent to Gatesville state school for boys Friday or Saturday, J. B. Bruton, juvenile probation officer, said today.

Missionaries Are Beheaded By Japs

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—The American Baptist Foreign Mission Society reported today that 11 Baptist missionaries and a nine-year old boy were beheaded by the Japanese in 1943 on Panay Island in the Philippines.

The executions occurred Dec. 19 or 20, 1943, but the society said it had not received permission from the war and state departments until now to make the information public.

Those put to death had fled to a mountain refuge which they named Hopewell, in order to carry on their "preaching, teaching and healing mission" after the Japanese invasion, the society said.

Durward Lewter, Howard county agent, is in Sterling City today inspecting 4-H gardens which have been planted by Sterling county 4-H club members as a club project.
