Admiral First Victim In Hot Military Row

Solon Claims That "Wave Of Terror" Sweeping Pentagon

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 — The firing of Admiral Louis Denfeld as chief of naval operations makes it almost certain that Congress will reopen its investigation of differences among the armed forces.

Members of the House armed services committee made this plain today in commenting on President Truman's ouster of Denfeld yesterday. Most of the House members were highly critical.

Is First Victim

Denfeld was marked as the first victim of the bitter unification row after his testimony before the committee last week. At that time he charged a "landlocked" high command with stripping the navy of its sea and air power to the detriment of national security.

Speaking of Mr. Truman's action, Rep. Arends (R-Ill) declared: "It is imperative our committee meet this issue right now."

At his home in Georgia, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) refused to comment.

Other committee members said they expected the investigation to be reopened at the next session.

"We'll have to do something about it when we come back in January," said Rep. Short (R-Mo).

Breach Of Faith

Most members of the House group charged there had been a breach of faith after promises to the committee that there would be no reprisals against naval officers who offered their frank opinions on unification.

Rep. Anderson (R-Calif) said "we are approaching a police state when capable and qualified officers cannot publicly speak their minds."

Denfeld's removal, he said, was a "definite breach of faith. Chairman Vinson publicly stated when the hearing started that all officers could speak their mind without any fear of reprisal."

Rep. Bates (R-Mass) said he felt sure there would be a further congressional airing of the bitter row next session.

Reprisals Setting In

"Because naval officers called before the committee to testify spoke clearly and expressed their convictions, reprisals are now setting in, notwithstanding the fact that Secretary Johnson stated to the committee that there would be

Baylor Is Helping Student To Marry

WACO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Baylor is helping one of its freshman students get married this weekend.

The Baylor chamber of commerce will be at the bus station Saturday night when George Beacom meets his bride-to-be, Mary Jane Deroch, 19, brunette from Bay City.

Prof. Eddie L. Dwyer, member of the Baylor Bible department, will perform the ceremony at the Dwyer home.

Baylor students have arranged a reception at a downtown hotel.

And that isn't all. Apartments were scarce and every hotel in town was sold out for Baylor's homecoming. Friends on the campus found them a trailer in one of Baylor's trailer communities.

Youth Session Set Saturday

Texas Technological college will be host to West Texas Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y club members Saturday, when they meet for a one-day youth and government training session.

Chief purpose of the training program, to be under direction of Dr. Byron R. Abernathy, Tech government professor, is to provide background and suggested areas of legislation for the third annual Hi-Y model legislature to be held in Austin Dec. 9, 10 and 11.

One Of Twelve In Texas

Official delegates are expected to be here from Lubbock, Abilene, Big Spring, Wichita Falls, Vernon, Amarillo, Pampa and Borger.

The Lubbock conference is one of three similar training sessions being held in Texas. Another is to be held simultaneously at the University of Houston. The other session was held last Saturday at Baylor university, Waco.

Delegates to each of the three training sessions are to choose a candidate for governor to head the legislative session, with the runoff election set for Dec. 9 when the youthful legislators convene. Those attending the Lubbock session will also elect a lieutenant governor and the reading clerk of the house.

System To Be Outlined

The delegates will hear members of the Texas Tech government department outline the Texas legislative system and suggest reasonable areas within which new legislation might be drafted. The delegates will then take this information back to their respective clubs for discussion in preparation for drafting bills for the December model legislature.

The youth and government program was started in New York in 1936 by a YMCA secretary as an experiment to apply one of the basic laws of learning to the serious matter ofedeveloping trained citizens and community leaders. To date, 21 states have conducted one or more programs of youth and government.

Taft Supports View To Delay Injunction Use

Steel-Coal Parties Still Divided Over Pension Payments

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—President Truman's decision not to intervene now in the big steel-coal strikes was expected today to bring redoubled efforts toward voluntary settlement of the two disputes.

Mr. Truman said the 28-day steel and 37-day coal strikes have not hurt the country enough to call the situation a national emergency. That time, he told a news conference yesterday, is still a long way off.

Taft Favors Patience

There must be such an emergency before strike-halting court injunctions can be sought under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), one of the law's authors, said last night in Ohio that he too believes the time has yet to come for using Taft-Hartley emergency powers.

"I quite agree with the labor position that the injunctive process should never be used except in great emergency," Taft added.

Others thought the President should act now before effects of the two strikes get worse. Senator Wherry (R-Neb), GOP floor leader in the Senate, said if Mr. Truman doesn't realize there is a national emergency now "he is about the only person in the country who doesn't."

Depending On Ching

The President's news conference statement didn't rule out the chance that he may call the strike principals to the White House for a pep talk.

In fact, Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) urged such a White House meeting to "see what can be worked out."

But for a while, at least, the administration seemed to be leaving the entire situation in the hands of 73-year-old, genial Cyrus S. Ching.

As director of the Federal Mediation Service, Ching has been busy for weeks trying to prod steel and coal labor and management men into peace moves.

Murry Firm

For eight out of the past 11 days he has been meeting in New York with officials of the U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest producer. He's been in touch with officials of Philip Murray's striking CIO steelworkers, too.

Murray himself was in New

Leaking Gas Causes Blasts In Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Oct. 28. (U.P.)—Investigators said today that leaking gas in the basement of a nearly completed 14-room house here was responsible for three explosions and a fire that hospitalized a workman.

The successive explosions which rocked the $40,000 project yesterday started a small blaze in the basement, where Leon Hines was cleaning paint brushes. The 24-year-old workman suffered facial and body burns. Workers on the main floor of the house, being built by Eurby Hill, Dequeen, Ark., restauranteur, escaped injury.

Hill said furniture stored in the basement was damaged but was partially covered by insurance.

Body Of Man In Auto Wreckage Identified

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (U.P.)—Sheriff Bill Decker today identified tentatively the body of a man found in the wreckage of a car west of Dallas as that of Robert J. Grantland of Denison and Fort Worth.

Decker said the license plate indicated the car belonged to a brother-in-law of Grantland. Further, he said, Grantland's wife had filed a "missing person" report with Fort Worth police a few days ago when her husband did not return home.

The wreckage was found in a creek which had been flood-swollen earlier in the week.

One Killed, Two Hurt In Derailment Near Temple; Danger Of Fire Raised

(By The United Press)

TEMPLS, Oct. 28—An MK&T (Katy) freight train was derailed south of Temple early today, killing one transient rider and injuring two others.

Several butane gas tanks in the train ruptured, loosing their contents and raising the danger of fire.

Radioed reports from the rural scene, about 10 miles south of Temple, near the Little river, said 32 cars derailed. The train crew escaped injury, officers said.

Bell county sheriff's officers, city police and state highway patrolmen were dispatched to the scene of the crash, the main Katy line between Dallas and South Texas.

In Austin, Katy's division freight and passenger agent, J. L. Erwin, said the train was made up of 30 cars and the derailment tore up a bridge. Temple police, however, said 32 cars derailed.

Service between Waco and Houston was to be detoured over Santa Fe and International and Great Northern (Missouri Pacific) trackage.

Erwin estimated it would be three days before service could be resumed over the main line.

The derailment disrupted several train schedules, and an overnight train from San Antonio — due in Dallas early this morning —was marked up to be four hours late in arriving. It was held up south of the derailment until rerouting could be arranged.

Temple police fixed the derail-

TEACHERS ARRIVING IN CITY

English Workshop Conference Opens

Out-of-town teachers in public schools and colleges were arriving this morning to attend the second annual English Workshop-Conference opening with registration at 1 o'clock this afternoon at Lubbock Senior High school.

Teachers of English in junior and senior high schools and colleges within District IV of the Texas State Teachers association are attending the workshop-conference, in which problems of reading will be discussed.

Gates Is Speaker

Following registration from 1 to 1:30 p. m., the first general session opened at 1:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium, with Dr. W. B. Gates, member of the Texas Technological college faculty and president of the Texas Conference of College Teachers of English, welcoming teachers.

"Problems of Reading Comprehension" is theme of the first session and Kline Nall of the Tech faculty is chairman.

Discussion leaders were to be Mrs. J. L. Teal of the Lubbock schools; Mrs. Mary W. Blomshield, of Big Spring Junior High school; Dr. Everett A. Gillis, of Texas Tech; Thomas B. Livingston; and Dr. J. Davis Armistead, Lubbock optometrist.

Discussion leaders will be Mrs. J. L. Teal, of the Lubbock schools; Mrs. Mary W. Blomshield, of Big Spring Junior High school; Dr. Everett A. Gillis, of Texas Tech; Thomas B. Livingston; and Dr. J. Davis Armistead, Lubbock optometrist.

From 4:15 to 5:45 p.m., a special performance of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" will be given for teachers attending the conference. The performance is scheduled for the speech auditorium on the Tech campus with Miss Cecilia Thompson as director. The play is being produced by the Tech Speech

Directors Of WTCC Chosen

Lubbock members of the board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce were announced today by Homer D. Grant, president of the local chamber.

They are W. O. Fortenberry, ginner-farmer; Ruel C. Martin, department store executive; C. I. Wall, vice president in charge of operation of West Texas Gas company, and Clarence Whiteside, city commissioner and laundry operator.

Another Lubbock member of the WTCC board is Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president emertius of Texas Technological college and past president of the regional chamber. All past presidents become life-time members of the directorate.

Activity Considered

The new directors succeeded Earl B. Collins, Joe Nislar, Harry Morris and Grant. All asked the board of the Lubbock chamber not to renominate them.

A primary consideration in selecting the new board members, Grant said, has been their active interest in seeking the solution of water problems of the Plains and of West Texas as a whole.

Whiteside is chairman of the temporary Canadian river water development committee; Martin is a member of the city water resources board; Wall has been one of the most ardent advocates of the Canadian project, and Forten-

Youngsters Get Bikes From Auctioneer With Kind Heart

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 28.—About 100 Detroit youngsters were riding new bicycles today because a police auctioneer had an understanding heart.

Alex Anderson was auctioning off unclaimed property—bicycles, sports equipment, adding machines, wallets and jewelry—at the police department's annual sale.

His customers included children clutching hoarded nickels and dimes and a group of grownups.

Anderson wheeled up the first bike and a man at the back shouted a bid of $10. Another called out $15.

"Now hold everything," said Anderson. "This is for kids. Only kids will bid and the bidding starts at a quarter."

It didn't go much higher than that. After two young brothers had bid a dollar, Anderson stopped the bidding and the grinning boys took the bike.

After that Anderson wouldn't hear a bid over a dollar until each child had a

Strike Vote Is Held By Union Bus Employes

Houston Residents Face Threat After Wage Talks Halted

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 28—Any disruption of city-wide bus service by a threatened strike of CIO drivers and mechanics will not take place before next Wednesday at midnight, it was indicated today.

While 1100 employes of the Houston Transit Co. last secret ballots, predicted to overwhelmingly endorse the walkout, a majority of the workers favored a suggestion that "the public be considered" in postponing the actual strike.

Proposal Is Approved

Carl A. McPeak, assistant state director of the CIO, said "a majority" of the men involved voted approval of international negotiator John J. Ryan's suggestion that they stay on their jobs until midnight Wednesday.

Until that time, buses apparently will roll on their usual routes, regardless of the outcome of today's balloting, which started at 2 a. m., after 16 hours of fruitless negotiations between union representatives, company officials and Federal Mediator James O. Hubbard.

The strike would badly cripple commercial and industrial operations in this city of 600,000, and would directly affect some 300,000 persons who ride the city buses six days a week.

Plan Emergency Measures

Mayor Pro Tem Tom Needham and City Traffic Director Tom Willier planned emergency measures such as additional one-way streets to handle the anticipated boost of private vehicular traffic, emergency parking lots ringing the business district, and a return to the neighborhood automobile pool, born with the war.

The strike vote started in the early morning hours, and was to be taken by secret ballot in three shifts throughout the day. Tabulation was to begin at 7 p. m., with results expected to be announced some two hours later.

In most corners, including that of management, the vote was deemed only a formality.

Walkout Is Seen

Ryan, international representative for the Transport Workers of America (CIO), and company vice president L. M. Coates, jr., expressed the idea that

Plane Traffic Halted By Fog

A chartered four-engine DC-4 airliner was forced to fly circles around Lubbock for five hours and scheduled airliners were kept out of the Municipal airport virtually all morning by a heavy, persistent fog that blanketed the entire South Plains this morning.

The fog finally dissipated at 12:20 this afternoon and airlines resumed normal operations in balmy fall weather.

The giant four-engine Braniff liner was slated to pick up the Texas Technological college football team and fly them to Houston early this morning.

Lands At 11:50

It finally landed at 11:50 a. m. after flying over Lubbock for a longer period than the round trip from Houston and back would normally require. The team got aboard and the plane left on the return trip.

A Pioneer Air Lines scheduled flight from Amarillo to Houston overflew Lubbock and proceeded on its way this morning. A Braniff airliner from Amarillo to Dallas was held in Amarillo until the fog lifted, causing a brief delay from its scheduled arrival at 10:10 a. m. A Continental plane also passed over Lubbock before normal operations were resumed.

Covered Entire Area

Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather bureau station, said the fog covered the entire South Plains, but it lifted earlier at most points than it did over Lubbock.

The pilot of the DC-4 said he flew five miles north of the airport and gazed down on perfectly clear fields while the airport was still heavily covered with fog.

The fog kept visibility to one-fourth mile for several hours. Ceiling remained at about 400 feet until the fog lifted.

Texas Man Is Killed In Truck Collision

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 28. (AP)—The headon collision of two trucks claimed the life of a man identified by the state patrol as Grant Hutson of Fritch, Texas, 35 miles northeast of here yesterday.

Sheriff E. I. Cunningham said Hutson was driving a new pickup truck and towing a second en route to Texas. The lead pickup was demolished. Joe Clair, Niangua, Mo., driver of the other truck, was slightly injured.

Six Die, One Is Injured In London Crash

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Four Americans, including two officials of the Superior Oil Co., were killed today when a twin-engine amphibian plane crashed and burned taking off from London airport.

Two Britishers aboard the plane also were killed in the crash. There was one survivor, an American member of the crew.

The American dead were identified as:

Robert Allen, about 45, vice president in charge of Superior's foreign operations, Los Angeles;

James Lewis, 40, attorney, Los Angeles;

Capt. Joseph Jordan, the plane's pilot, San Fernando, Calif.;

Andrew Cole, wireless operator, Long Beach, Calif.

Thrown From Plane

The surviving co-pilot, Earl Oscar Sivage, was hurled 50 feet from the plane. He was taken to West Middlesex hospital where a physician said he had extensive burns on his face and legs but there was no anxiety over his condition. The doctor said Sivage suffered some shock and no attempt was being made immediately to get his account of the crash.

The plane was used on a shuttle run between London and the Near East. It was owned by the oil company, which has headquarters in Los Angeles. The Royal Dutch Air Lines (KLM) acted as agents for the aircraft, an American Grumman Mallard.

Crash Is Reported On Peak In Azores

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 28—A Paris-to-New York Constellation carrying 48 persons crashed in flames against a mountain peak in the Azores today. The Air France line said all aboard perished, including French boxer Marcel Cerdan and 11 Americans.

The plane apparently strayed from its course in bad weather and poor visibility and rammed into 3,500-foot Algarvia peak in the northeast section of Sao Miguel island. It was five minutes away from a landing at Santa Maria in the Azores when its last message was heard. Eight hours later the wreckage was sighted.

All Found Dead

Air France here said it received word from Santa Maria by cable that rescue parties had rushed to the scene and found all 37 passengers and 11 crewmen dead.

Besides Cerdan, his manager and his trainer, the plane carried:

Ginette Neveu, noted French woman violin virtuoso bound for an extended concert tour in the United States; Guy Jasmin, editor in chief of the Montreal, Que., French-language newspaper, Le Canada; and his mother; Remigio Hernandorena, prominent Cuban Yachtsman; Kay Kamen, president of Kay Kamen, Ltd., licensing representative for Walt Disney characters, and Mrs. Kamen; and Louis Boutet De Montvel, widely known French painter and illustrator of children's books.

Title Bout Scheduled

Cerdan, former world middleweight champion, was on his way to New York for a title bout scheduled Dec. 2 at Madison Square Garden with Jake La Motta, to whom he lost the title in Detroit. With him were his manager, Jo Longman, and his trainer, Paul Janser.

Air France lists identified the Americans as:

Body Of Flier Is Discovered

(By The Associated Press)

One of two missing planes in Texas has been found, its pilot dead.

The body of Harold Leland Jones, II, was discovered in the wreckage of his small plane in rugged Palo Duro canyon, about 30 miles from Amarillo, late yesterday.

Kenneth Brown, Amarillo pilot, found Jones' crashed plane. He told the Civil Aeronautics authority at Amarillo that helanded near the canyon and went in on foot.

Plane Is Demolished

He said Jones apparently was killed instantly; that the plane was demolished and had apparently flown into the side of the canyon.

An aerial hunt over northeast Texas failed to find a trace of the small plane carrying George H. Harrington, 44, of Houston, and pilot Orville A. Sweitzer.

His plane has been missing since it took off from Tulsa a week ago today, bound for Houston.

No Trace Found

Jones had been missing since 5:15 p. m, Wednesday.

Ground parties started for Palo Duro canyon after the wreckage had been reported about 4:50 p. m. The body was to be brought out today.

There have been many reports of a plane in distress over Northeast Texas last Friday night. The latest was from a woman near Sulphur Springs who said she saw a plane go down in flames in the river bottoms 20 miles northwest of Sulphur Springs.

Planes from the 5th air rescue squadron from Biggs air force base, El Paso, aided in the search for the Harrington plane. But no trace of the craft was found.

World-Citizen Passport Gets American Behind Iron Curtain

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Virginia Davis, sister of "world citizen" Garry Davis, suspects you could get behind the "Iron Curtain" with hardly more for a passport than a peanut butter jar label.

TULIP BULBS

LUB-TECH FLORAL

2407-19TH PH. 6563

"I'm making that statement on the basis of what I found out in a tour of Europe," Miss Davis said. "I scooted in and out of satellite countries as easily as I go from New York to New Jersey."

Miss Davis, a concert artist, explained, "It's not because the border officials intend to make it easy for the tourist. It's just that they don't seem to be able to read anything but Russian, so they'll let you by on anything that looks even half-way official."

She's just back from a three months' concert tour of Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France, Belgium and Czechoslovakia and said she entered every country on an "international identity card," issued by her brother in Paris.

Card Looks Official

"I had a U. S. passport and I intended to use it, if necessary," she said. "But I wanted to see just how many borders I could cross on the world citizenship card."

The card bears a serial number, Miss Davis' description, photograph and fingerprints. And above her signature appears the pledge of the unofficial organization her brother heads.

It states in part, "I have pledged myself to place the interest of world peace above any and all national or other interests incompatible with that goal."

Miss Davis said one of the biggest "moments" of her concert tour in central Europe came when she crossed the border into Czechoslovakia, en roue to Prague.

Asked To Sing

After border officials stamped her "passport," one turned to ask her to sing.

The 26-year-old soprano said, "I did . . . over a loudspeaker ordinarily used to announce train arrivals and departures. After that, the Hollywood Bowl holds no fears for me."

She said she found American jazz everywhere, although the Russians call it "decadent."

"I heard jazz in Leipzig," she said. Leipzig is in the heart of the Soviet zone of Germany.

Miss Davis said she was the first American entertainer to sing for occupation troops in Ausria. She visited relatives in Czechoslovakia and says her feeling when she left the Red-dominated country would match what a prisoner feels when he is released from jail.

U. S. Not So Easy

"It was almost as if I could hear prison gates closing behind me," she said.

Miss Davis, daughter of bandleader Meyer Davis, said the only time she had to use her U. S. passport was when she flew into New York's international airport.

She said when she showed her world citizenship passport to a U. S. customs official, he just grunted, "World citizen, huh? We don't believe in that stuff."

She hauled out her U. S. passport.

Organized Reserves Seeking Enlistments

Two Lubbock Organized Reserve corps units need a number of enlisted Reservists to bring the organizations to required strength, local Reserve corps officers announced Thursday.

Headquarters company, 411th Transportation Truck battalion, needs 36 enlisted men to be at required strength, Capt. Charles T. Forrester, commanding officer of the unit, said.

The 912th Quartermaster Depot Supply company is 10 enlisted men short of required strength, according to its commanding officer, Major Harvey C. Bowdle.

A recent directive received at the Lubbock Reserve corps instructor's office from the Texas Military district in Austin stated that unless the local units are brought up to required strengh by Dec. 15, they will be considered for relocation to some other city in Texas.

All veterans, regardless of former branch of service, are urged to apply to room 255, Cotton Exchange building, 1005½ Thirteenth, Lubbock, for membership in one of these two organizations.

Armory meetings are held every other Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Naval Reserve Training center on the Texas Tech campus. For each attendance, a Reservist receives a day's pay in the rank held. Veterans can enter the Organized Reserves in the rank they held when separated from the service.

Full information regarding assignment to these units may be obtained by contacting Major Samsel, telephone 7574, Lubbock.

People's Sneering At Titles Annoy Her

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — Being born and brought up a princess, Anne Marie Callimachi is certain, has made it possible for her to earn her own living today.

Princess Callimachi, tiny, dark, and fiery, is a Rumanian who grew up with former King Carol as a playmate. And among the attitudes which annoys her is the habit of sneering at title.

"Certainly, aristocracy is obsolete," she conceded, "but it is often untrue and unfair to regard those of noble birth simply as puppets with titles."

She herself is an example of a member of an "obsolete society" who has readjusted into a modern world.

"I am practically penniless," she said, "and I am perfectly able to stand on my own two feet. The reason I can do that is because of my upbringing."

Lost Everything

The princess is a product of the international marriages of titles and wealth peculiar to the pre-World War 1 era. Her family early experiences and surroundings sound like the setting for Graustark romance. But the princess lost everything, including her fortune and landed estates, when Rumania was pulled into the Russian satellite states.

Middle aged and with great personal tragedy behind her, the Princess turned author. Her first book, published recently by Whittlesey House, is "Yesterday Was Mine," an unghosted, frank story of her childhood.

"I managed to get to England after war broke out," she said, "and I couldn't do much because I was technically an enemy. So to amuse myself I started writing my story."

Later, upon the goading of the famed literary Sitwell family who are her close friends, she decided to publish her very personal, no-holds-barred recollections.

"And I've fallen in love with writing," she continued. "I am enchanted with the prospect of making a living doing something I would enjoy doing for my own delight—and I'm going to lecture, too."

Not A Snob

Making an honest living in times of adversity is only one of the Princess' defenses of nobility. She thinks the monied, leisured and titled class of society has affected the culture of the entire western world.

PRINCESS CALLIMACHI

"If the Russian ballet hadn't been accepted by the 'right people' when it came to Paris, I doubt if any nation outside of Russia would be interested in ballet today," she said. "Think of the painters and writers who would have died unknown if those with money had not become their patrons."

She shook her head fiercely.

"No, I'm not a snob and I don't think it's anything special to carry a title," she said. "First I'm a human being, but I think I'm a better person because I had more advantages."

Cactus Apple Finds Market Back East

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 28 (U.P.)—About the oddest crop produced in San Diego county is the cactus apple.

The three Maniscalos brothers have 30 acres planted in cactus. They call it spineless cactus but it has plenty of spines. Small ones, though.

The pickers wear long leather gloves, heavy canvas aprons that cover legs and body and a lot of fortitude.

Sam Maniscalcos says they ship eight to 16 carloads of the sweet fruit to eastern points every harvest season.

"We use Mexicans to harvest because nobody else will do it," Sam says. The men climb ladders to reach the fruit, then slice it off with sharp knives. It's dangerous to fall.

The fruit itself is inside a prickly husk. That's the reason the sweet pulp went unsung for so long. The flavor is a cross between pomegranate and watermelon, and like both of those fruits, there are cvountless seeds. The seeds are eaten along with the pulp.

Most of the fruit is shipped to the New York Italian colony.

Sam says the one compensation they find with their crops is that no one sneaks in to steel the fruit.

HST's Daughter Says White House Is Aid

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28. (U.P.)—Margaret Truman says her father's position has strengthened her singing appeal.

The President's daughter, who will appear today with the St. Louis symphony orcrestra, admitted she was drawing larger audiences because she lives in the White House but termed them "very friendly."

"And the criticisms are wonderful," she added.

She said she will work 15 years or longer, if necessary to achieve her goal as a successful concert singer.

Six Heavily-Armed Convicts Still Hunted Over Wide Area

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 28 (AP) Two of eight convicts who escaped from the New Castle county workhouse were behind bars again today but their six heavily-armed companions remain at large.

John Henry Minor, 28, Bear Cleve, Fla., and Jesse W. Palmer, 23, Tuscumbia, Ala., both negroes, were captured last night after a wild highway chase ended when their stolen yellow convertible overturned on U. S. route 40 near North East, Md.

Still clad in their prison garb, the two men leaped unhurt from the damaged car and tried to flee on foot. They were stopped by state police without a shot being fired.

Their capture served to intensify the manhunt for their six accomplices in the daring prison break Wednesday night.

Guards Locked Up

The eight locked two guards in a cell, took pistols, rifles and ammunition from the prison arsenal, and used a third guard for a human shield as they marched to freedom through the main gate.

Minor was serving a life term for murder and Palmer was serving 12 years for robbery.

Those still at liberty are:

Danny Norris, 20, of Wilmington, serving a life term for slaying Wilmington detective Thomas Conaty; Joseph Lankford, 25, Bellefonte, Del., 10 years for robbery; Willie Edwards, 28, Satsuma, Ala., one year for obtaining money under false pretenses and three years for a prison break; Victor Bryson, 29, Minquadale, Del., three three years for robbery; Edward Ernst, 25, Wilmington, four years for robbery, and Edward J. Hardy, 23, Gloucester, Mass., six months for breaking and entering.

Delaware state police began the chase after Minor and Palmer when they spotted the car reported stolen from Lawrence Smith of Landenberg, Pa.

Victim Bound

Smith said the two men held him up in his workshop. They took his watch and a small amount of money, forced him to get the car keys from the house and tied him up before driving off. Mrs. Smith, who hid in the house during the holdup, telephoned police.

The alarm was relayed by Pennsylvania authorities and Delaware troopers sighted the car near the Maryland-Delaware line. The car was forced to the side of the road and overturned as Maryland police joined the chase.

Minor and Palmer as well as the six still sought were described as "hardened criminals who would shoot to kill." At least two of the fugitives are known to have made their original escape in a stolen automobile—later found abandoned in Kennett Square, Pa.

This coupled with last night's chase led police to place renewed emphasis on the roadblocks thrown up shortly after the escape Wednesday night.

Planes Used

Low-flying airplanes also were brought into play, scouring the countryside and highways in Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland.

The prison chaplain, the Rev. Francis X. Burns, said yesterday that Bryson, Edwards and Lankford claimed early this year they told state police they "could break out any time."

Father Burns said the trio "claimed they also told troopers less than two months ago they had obtained the equipment necessary for that (a previous) escape from prison guards."

State police officials said the chaplain's report was "all news" to them. Thomas E. Miller, president of the prisoners aid society, said the New Castle county workhouse is "antiquated" and that "about all that our jails provide is safekeeping for offenders and in this instance has failed even in that."

Princess Candidates Must File Petitions

Texas Tech co-eds interested in being selected as the college's princess for this year's Sun Festival in El Paso must file petitions with the student council before Nov. 4, Curtis Sterling, president, announced Thursday.

Traveling expenses for the princess will be paid from the student council fund and her hotel and other expenses in El Paso by the festival. The celebrations are scheduled from Dec 29 to Jan. 2.

All co-eds competing for princess will appear before the student council Nov 8, when the winner will be selected. Tech sends a representative to the festival every year, Sterling said.

Russian "Peace Rally" Playing On Fear Of War, Howley Says

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (INS)—Brig. Gen. Frank Howley charged last night that the Russian "rape of Berlin" was "probably much worse" than the Japanese "rape of Nanking."

The former military governor of Berlin asserted that the Russians use "fear as a policy" in their dealings and added:

"When the Russians entered Berlin, they raped and murdered probably much worse than the Japs in Nanking."

He made his charges in an address at the National Metal Trades association convention in Chicago.

Airlift Victory

Howley said the Russians pursued their fear campaign "deliberately by kidnapping and extracting confessions," he declared they also "throw the fear of God into trade unions" by threats of sabotage and by Character assassinations.

The former Berlin commander pointed out that "we won a decided victory over Russia with the airlift" and said he "feels it is time to put the screws on the Russians and get some concessions from them for a change."

Howley claimed that the Soviet "peace rally" was "a constant threate playing on our own fear of war."

Earlier, he declared that "the Russians are not restrained by ethics or human decency" and would drop the atom bomb on this country immediately if they thought they had an even chance of winning a war.

Plunging Neckline Woman's Undoing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (U.P.) — A plunging neckline plunged Mrs. Jonell Williams right into trouble with the law.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Man Tempted To Propose Is Concerned Over Amount Of Money Girl Spends On Clothes

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Do you allow men in your column? I sincerely hope so, because I need your advice at this time.

I have been going with a girl for nearly a year and I feel that I would like to ask her to marry me, but recently I have had many doubts as to whether she would do her share in getting a home started.

She works steadily and makes over $30 a week, and she has been out of school for five years and is now 22, but she has no savings at all to show for all the money she has drawn. She pays $12 a week for board and the balance of her salary goes for clothes.

BUYS NEW GARMENTS EVERY WEEK OR TWO

EDITH wears something new every time we go out, and she is getting a new dress or new blouses or skirts every week or two. Do you honestly think a girl of that type would settle down and be a normal wife and mother? Or had I better search for a girl who wants a home and husband enough to try to be helpful in financial matters?

Truthfully I couldn't start a home and buy my wife clothes every week; and I have a chum who feels the same way. Both of us are waiting for your reply.

(Signed) D. B.

SAME OBJECTIVES, DIFFERENT TACTICS

DEAR D. B.: The average girl who is obliged by circumstances to be more or less self-supporting after leaving school, thinks of social fulfillment and economic security in terms of marrying a good man. That is the solid future she is working toward

Thus her approach to getting a home started is rather different from a young man's, even though they may be essentially alike in character—i. e., each reliable, conservative, foresighted, etc.

The girl's first business as she sees it, or perhaps as mother nature urges, is to get the man, the congenial helpmate who will sponsor and supplement her homemaker efforts. And to this end, she must (so instinct tells her) deck herself out to attract men in a nice way, so that she won't have to run after them and will be given some range of choice before picking "the one."

Therefore a girl who divides her smallish salary between paying board and buying clothes, so as to be always a new vision or unexpected treat to the eyes of her beau (or beaux) isn't necessarily spendthrift just because she isn't hoarding dollars. On the contrary, this is productive policy from nature's viewpoint, and society's, too, if it sparks feelings in a young man's heart that lead to marriage and successful teamwork.

GIRL'S LESS AFRAID OF FUTURE THAN HE

IT is my observation that girls in Edith's social bracket ,those lives are geared to subsistence wage, don't worry ahead about financing marriage, but rather rely on native sense to help them cope adequately (or better) with the proposition when the time is come to deal with it. And that time has not arrived until the hoped-for man has plainly delivered himself of a marriage proposal.

Furthermore, anyone old enough to have known girls before any say ten years after marriage, has noted that in most cases where the husband is a reasonable person (yet able to wear the pants) who gives his spouse emotional security, she tends unconsciously to pattern her tastes and ideas to his preference. If the man is strong ,sure and kindly, she tends to relax and let him lead, and in following grows like him.

On the basis of your letter I cannot guess whether Edith would be a help or hindrance to a husband; but I repeat, her current outlay on clothes isn't a bad omen per se, and probably signifies that she feels she hasn't a future to bank on yet. M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Lubbock Evening Journal.

Report Of A Man Molesting Girl Is Again Given Police

Official scrutiny was directed again Thursday afternoon into the alleged efforts of a man to molest young girls here.

A suspect described as driving a 1949 Ford car was reported to have stopped a 9-year-old girl on Fifteenth near College, asked her where a certain address was, followed her a ways and repeating the question.

His actions, officials were told, were made the more suspicious by his summary breaking off of attention and driving away when the girl's father opened the door to his residence and looked out.

Man Described

Officials said the man wore no hat, had on a gray suit, had light curly hair, and was "heavy set."

Several recent instances of a man offering money to girls of that approximate age in efforts to have them accompany him into an alley have been reported here. One girl said a man threatened her with a knife near a school.

Police said a $20 electric razor was reported stolen from 1008 Ave. J, where C. D. Jordan, owner, had parked his car.

Robert Benson, 41, a Lubbock negro, was fined $25 and costs of C. E. Lynn's justice court after a plea of guilty of failure to leave information at the scene of an accident.

Reckless Driving Charged

Two boys who had been described as occupants of a car being driven recklessly early Thursday night were arrested by police. One, the driver, was fined and the other, only 16, was ordered to appear before juvenile officials on an informal charge that he had cursed a man and his wife who were in another car.

Police said a plateglass window was smashed at 1104 Ave. J early Thursday night, at Penrod's, probably by boys who were scuffling. No burglary attempt was indicated, officials said.

Earl D. Burk of 908 Ave. M reported the theft of an automobile hub cap valued at $2.50, while another complaint said two dozen diapers had been stolen from 2222 Third street.

Three prisoners were delivered to the Lubbock county jail Thursday by Sheriff H. D. Crockett and Deputy John Goswick of Cochran county. They are:

Leo Nichols, 37, Whiteface farmer, under indictment by a 72nd district grand jury for murder in the gunshot death of his wife.

Jimmie Johnson, 38-year-old negro from Waxahachie, under grand jury indictment for assault with intent to murder in the nonfatal shooting of another negro, James Rocher, 30.

R. E. Starr, 21, Cochran county negro under a two-year penitentiary sentence for burglary.

Nichols, ordered held in denial of bail by Judge Dan Blair, was brought to Lubbock from the Hockley county jail in Levelland. Johnson and Starr were brought here from the Morton jail.

Ring Service Performed

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Beason of 217 Ave. U are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss LaWanda Carter, to Alton W. Herring, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Herring of 709 Hub Homes, which took place Friday, Oct. 21, at the Beason home. Rev. I. D. Walker performed a double ring ceremony before an archway of fern and arrangements of roses.

Given in marriage by Mr. Beason, the bride wore a white faille dress styled with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves fastened at the wrist. Rolled pleats adorned the skirt. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Mrs. Georgia Hendrix, sister of the bridegroom and matron of honor, wore a blue wool dress fashioned after the bride's. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Lloyd Bloodworth, brother inlaw of the bridegroom, served as best man.

At Reception

At the reception held after the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and arranged with crystal and silver appointments and a wedding cake. A bouquet was of chrysanthemums.

After Nov. 22, the couple will be at home in Philadelphia, Pa., where Mr. Herring is an x-ray technician at a Naval hospital. For travel, the bride is wearing a green gabardine suit with gray accessories.

Mrs. Herring attended school in Lubbock. She has been a member of Theta Rho Girls club and Y-Teen club. Mr. Herring, a graduate of Lubbock High school, attended Western Union school in Missouri and has completed x-ray school in the Navy hospital at Bethesda, Md.

Caldwell Book Review Given At Club Meet

Taylor Caldwell's book, "Let Love Come Last," was reviewed by Mrs. W. W. Rix at a luncheon meeting of the Thursday Book club at Hotel Lubbock.

Mesdames Russell and Nick Alley were guests and members were Mesdames J. H. Hankins, T. R. Prideaux, Carl Svensen, H. R. Phillips, Dan A. Blair, W. O. Stevens, Lee C. O'Neail, M. C. Butler and J. L. Barstow.

LETTER GETS RESULTS

WHEELING, W. Va. (U.P.)—Six Wheeling fire companies sped to a downtown corner in answer to a call but there was no blaze to put out. They found a woman trying to mail a letter in an alarm box.

SERENADE TO MOM—Mrs. Clara Sulkowski, at left, a tuberculosis paetient at a Cleveland, O., hospital, listens to a popular song presented by her children, Betty Lou, 5; Richard, 14, and Arthur, 7. Her husband, Steve, holds the music. The troubadours have been regular week-end visitors to the hospital since their mother entered it almost a year ago. Their serenades not only cheered Mrs. Sulkowski, but became a special event for other patients in the tuberculosis pavilion. Soon Mrs. Sulkowski will be well enough to leave. The remaining patients will miss their Sulkowski serenades.

Group Plans FHA Week

Future Homemakers of American week will be officially observed by Mary Emma chapter of Lubbock Senior High school from Oct. 30 until Nov. 5, according to an announcement made this morning.

Preceding a week of homemaking activities, the chapter has planned two events for Saturday. A rummage sale will be sponsored by the group and a program will be presented over a local radio station Saturday morning by the following Mary Emma members: Marilyn Ewing, Jo Ann Cornelius, Johnnie Sue Corcorran, Frances Turner, Mildred Caudle, June Franklin, Faustina Haynes, Carol Jean Sandlin, Patricia Bright, Janet Mauldin, Marian Hunt and Virginia Blankenship.

The homemaking girls will observe "go to church day" Sunday and will have a tea Sunday afternoon at the J. D. Corcorran home honoring mothers of members. Aunt Mary Green for whom the Mary Emma chapter was named, past officers of the chapter, and officers and sponsors of the Junior High schools' homemaking clubs.

An area FHA meeting is to be held at Jayton Nov. 5.

San Antonio Pastor, 59, Is Death Victim

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28 (U.P.)—Dr. A. L. Wolff, 59, for 36 years pastor of St. John's Lutheran church here, died last night at his home.

Services will be held tomorrow for Wolff, who was known as dean of San Antonio's Protestant clergy.

Car Mishap Fatal To Wichita Falls Man

MANNSVILLE, Okla., Oct. 28. (U.P.)—A Wichita Falls man, driving a car reported stolen at Dallas, was killed just before midnight when he missed a curve on a southern Oklahoma highway, state troopers said today.

It was Oklahoma's 421st traffic fatality of the year, against 418 at this time in 1948.

The Highway patrol identified the victim as Joseph Clyde Scott, 22. The car ran off U. S. 70, about two miles west of Mannsville, between Ardmore and Madill, Okla. It shot out of control 294 feet through a wooded area, turning over several times. Scott was killed instantly, but two hitchhikers were not seriously injured.

The riders, John Lewis Morton, 20, Dayton, O., and Melvin E. Eldridge, 27, Germantown, O., were expected to be released today from Hardy hospital at Ardmore.

Troopers said the car was reported stolen at 6:30 last night by its owner, L. G. Schwartz. The car was demolished.

Divorce From Mean Woman Demanded

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28. (AP)—A Tarrant county dairyman asked in district court today a divorce on these grounds:

His bride of six months chased him "through and over" fences with a butcher knife.

Cursed his mother.

Ripped out wires from his auto.

And finally, dumped out a day's production of milk.

Snyder Favors Water Reclamation Project

SNYDER, Oct. 28. (Special)—Snyder has gone on record as one of 35 West Texas cities favoring a feasible over-all water reclamation project.

At a called meeting by the Scurry county chamber of commerce Thursday afternoon, Snyder Mayor Forest G. Sears said "We will be for any feasible project that will take care of future water needs for Snyder and cities in this vicinity."

The mayor's statement was preceded by areport by Harrp P. Burleigh, a planning engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

William J. Schiebel, chamber manager, was chairman of the meeting, which was attended by city, county and civic leaders.

Purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans to insure new lakes and more adequate surface water storage from water provided by the Colorado river watershed.

Advanced Work For DeMolay Group Set

Formation of the E. Y. Lee Priory of Knighthood, advanced work in the Order of DeMoley, will be made at the Masonic Temple Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the charter class will be initiated.

Chairman Clyde O. Hagood of the Fort Worth DeMolay advisory council has advised local DeMolay officials that the degree team from Handley Priory of Knighthood in Fort Worth, will attend and confer the work.

Formation of the Priory here was authorized by Malvern Marks of Fort Worth, active member of the Grand Council of DeMolay for the state of Texas.

Eligible DeMolays attending Texas Technological college and those from the South Plains area are invited to become members of the Priory. Final plans for the priory were made in a regular meeting of the E. Y. Lee chapter at the Masonic Temple last night.

WHY does the costly steel strike continue?

The costly and unnecessary steel strike is now in its fourth week. The country at large is beginning to feel its disastrous effects. Employees and employers have already suffered serious financial losses. The situation will grow worse if the strike continues.

This strike was ordered by Philip Murray, President of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO). He and his Union must accept full responsibility for the strike and its damaging consequences. United States Steel did not want a strike and tried hard to prevent it.

More than three weeks have elapsed, and no proposal of any kind has been made to us by the Union for a settlement of the strike. On the contrary, the Union stubbornly adheres to its original ultimatum that we must agree in advance to pay the entire cost of insurance and pensions for our employees. That is the only issue. Unconditional surrender by us to this ultimatum is the price which the Union demands to call off its strike.

In an endeavor to negotiate with the Union a sound and fair program of insurance and pensions, United States Steel offered to pay up to 10c an hour per employee (more than $50,000,000 a year) toward the cost of insurance and pension benefits, the employees to make some additional contribution. This 10c was the amount which the Presidential Fact - Finding Board recommended we should pay. Our offer was flatly refused by the Union. It insists that we must pay the entire cost of such insurance and pensions.

The insurance program proposed by United States Steel would provide greater welfare benefits for our employees at less cost than our average employee is today paying under existing insurance and welfare plans. Therefore, our proposed insurance program will not reduce his take-home pay.

We have had long experience with an employee-pay-nothing (non-contributory) pension plan. We found it necessary to adopt a contributory pension plan ten years ago. More than 60,000 of our employees today participate in this contributory plan.

Contributory Social Security Has These Advantages:

1. Larger insurance benefits and pensions are provided

When the employee and the company both contribute, the larger contributions permit better social security benefits.

2. A contributory plan is safer

Company pay-all plans are uncertain. There may some day be no money or no company. Employees suffer, if the plan fails.

Furthermore, the contributing employee has a direct interest in the success of the plan. He will then strive to keep the plan financially sound and within proper bounds.

3. Contributory plans provide savings for employees

The employees' contributions go into a fund, along with the company's contribution. In effect, it is a savings account for the employee's own welfare. Under the usual contributory pension plan, if the employee dies before retirement, his family gets his pension contributions with interest. If he quits, he gets them back, with interest.

Under a contribuory plan, an employee always has something saved up for his protection. Putting aside savings is not a wage reduction.

4. Today's work provides tomorrow's welfare benefits

Under a contributory plan both the company and the employee lay aside something for the employee's future welfare and security. It is not the American way to ask for hand-outs or something for nothing.

5. A contributory plan is a voluntary plan

A contributory plan ordinarily gives the employee a choice. He can take it, or leave it. The inducement to join the contributory plan is two-fold. The employee is paying some of his own money for his protection and for his old age, and, if he is willing to do that, the company will more than match all he puts up in order to give him greater benefits.

Many People Know . . .

- That Federal Social Security is contributory.
- That the U. S. Government and most States have contributory pension plans.
- That many cities (including New York City) have contributory pension plans.
- That railroad pensions are contributory.
- That the majority of plans in American business are contributory.

But Few People Realize . . .

- That many of our employees tell us in letters that they want to contribute to a sound insurance and pension plan.
- That Philip Murray approved contributions by employees when he advised the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington on April 12, 1949:

  "As to financing, our members have been willing to pay their due share of the cost of social insurance."

- That the House Ways and Means Committee in August, 1949, reported to Congress:

  "The time has come to reaffirm the basic principle that a contributory system of social insurance in which workers share directly in meeting the cost of the protection afforded is the most satisfactory way of preventing dependency."

- That our emplyees have already lost more pay in this strike than their contributions toward a contributory insurance and pension fund would total in a whole year.
- That this is not a popular strike with many of our emplyees.
- That the real explanation of the steel strike is rivalry between labor union leaders—a desire by one labor union monopolist to outdo another.

Union politics are not a just or sufficient cause for the present steel strike—costly to the public, the employees, and the steel companies alike.

OUR POSITION: United States Steel favors a proper and financially sound program of insurance and pensions for its employees. We welcome an opportunity to negotiate a program of this character with the Union. As evidence of our sincerity, we have made an offer to the Union to pay more than $50,000,000 a year as our share of the cost.

MONEY MARRIAGES REVEALED

Love Swindle Trial Delayed By Confused Marital Status

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (AP)—The befuddled marital status of Sigmund (Sam) Engel, the old swindling Romeo, delayed his love swindle trial yesterday.

State prosecutors, defense attorneys and Judge George M. Fisher went into huddles to attempt to decide just who is and who is not married to the 73-year-old Engel.

The status on three Engel marriages was cleared, to a degree. But prosecutors have said he has married and swindled other women.

Three women witnesses who testified in his criminal court trial all claimed they had been married to the white-haired little man within the last year. The weddings followed brief but fervid courtship by the self-admitted wooer of wealthy women.

Used Aliases

Engel used a different alias in each ceremony, they testified. And, after each marriage, Engel disappeared with the new bride's money or jewels. His trial on a charge of confidence game stemmed from a charge by a Chicago widow that Engel swindled her out of $8,700 after promising to marry her.

Judge Fisher ruled that Mrs. Pauline Langton, 39, a New York widow described by Engel as "my only real wife," is not Mrs. Engel. She testified she married him last June 14 "for money, money, money."

Mrs. Langton said Engel, whom she knew as Carl Laemnle, jr., said he had $20,000,000. He disappeared with $50,000 of her jewels after the marriage. Recently Mrs. Langton was reunited with Engel after his release from jail. But State's Attorney John S. Boyle told her she may go to jail if she continues to live with him. He said her marriage was invalid because he was already married to another woman, Mrs. Corinne Perry, 64, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Annette Kubiak, also 39, a South Bend, Ind., beautician, testified she married Engel—after one week's courtship—on Oct. 21, 1948. He had identified himself as Paul Moore, a wealthy attorney, she said.

Defense attorneys had attempted to bar her testimony on the ground she was Engel's wife. But she was adjudged not to be because her marriage to him was annulled last March 15. She testified Engel disappeared with $5,000 of her cash while they were on their honeymoon in Chicago.

Mrs. Perry is the third woman in the case at this stage of the trial. She testified she married Engle last March 25 but is planning to have the marriage annulled.

She identified Engel—she knew him as attorney Eugene Gordon—in court yesterday and said he disappeared five days after their marriage with $2,673 of her money.

Last Rites Read For Victim Of Air Crash

Graveside services were held at Feldman Memorial cemetery today at 11 a. m., for Jake Faverman, 35, of Hobbs, N. M., who died Wednesday enroute to a hospital after his plane crashed Tuesday.

Funeral services were held Thursday in the Griffin Funeral home in Hobbs with Rabbi Julius Kerman of Congregaetion Shareth Israel of Lubbock officiating.

Feverman lay 24 hours in the wreckage of the crashed Globe-Swife 125 horsepower monoplane before he was spotted by Frank Hines of Hobbs.

Planes Begin Search

Faverman had left Hobbs at 1:50 p. m. Tuesday to deliver the plane to Ralph Sellers, a rancher of 55 miles north of Roswell. When he had not been heard from Wednesday, 16 private planes of the New Mexico Civil Air Patrol took off in search of him.

Hines, not a member of the CAP, landed in rough, sandy terrain 65 miles west of Hobbs after he spotted the crashed plane and saw Faverman waving. It was 4:30 p.m. Wednesday when Hines started back to Hobbs. Faverman died before reaching the hospital in Hobbs.

Faverman was the operator of a Hobbs bar and was the nephew of Abe Bender of 2412 Twenty-sixth, Lubbock.

Faverman is survived by his wife and Bender.

Veterans were pallbearers at the service Friday morning.

Love Given Blame For Eye Trouble

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (INS)—Ever wonder why you have eye trouble?

Dr. Wayne W. Wong, Honolulu physician, says you often can pin it on love.

In the current issue of the archives of opthalmology, Dr. Wong writes:

"Among such situations of stress (which cause ocular neurosis) are . . . a love affair. . . and marriage. . Women (patients) predominate over men. . ."

Lichen is a combination of alga and fungus growing in partnership.

"Hoover-Type" Commission To Study Cut In State Spending Is Being Considered

AUSTIN, Oct. 28. (AP)—A "Hoover-type commission" to find out how to lop dollars off the cost of state government is being considered by Gov. Allan Shivers.

He told reporters yesterday he was toying with the idea. He asked their opinions. The general answer was: "A good idea if it would work—but will it?"

Shivers attitude was: "Even if the idea didn't accomplish its goal no harm would be done."

Cost Is Stressed

In recent speeches, he has emphasized the increasing cost of state government and dropped strong hints that steps should be taken to cut back or at least level off spending.

Shivers wondered out loud whether a private group of citizens—appointed by the governor—might be the best type of organization to direct a survey of government operations.

He said such a study "should be as unbiased and independent as we could make it."

The governor and reporters agreed that "politics" within the legislature might nullify recommendations that various boards, commissions, agencies or departments be consolidated or eliminated. Shivers said a job of "educating the public to the importance of the survey" might prevent such an occurrence.

It takes only a nickel's worth of electricity to move a barrel of crude oil 1400 miles through pipelines.

Lubbock To Open District Race Against Lamesa Tonight

Westerners Favored To Chalk Up Win Over Tornadoes Here

Lubbock High school's undefeated, untied Westerners face their first District 3-AA foe tonight when they tangle with dangerous Lamesa Golden Tornadoes at 8 o'clock tonight at Jones Stadium.

Rated as the number one team in the state in last week's poll of sports writers, the Westerners will be out to protect their string of six straight non-district victories and will bid for a win that counts. In their last clash with the Tornadoes in 1946, Lubbock won, 7-6.

The Lamesans have lost only one game this season, racking up five consecutive triumphs before losing last week to Pampa, 32-13. Pampa put up a strong battle before bowing to Lubbock, 33-20, earlier.

★ ★ ★

An impressive pep rally was held last night at Chapman fieldhouse for the Westerner team, and a large crowd packed the gym for the activities which featured band music and talks.

Lamesa fans are expected to be on hand for the tilt tonight several hundred strong, and many of them are looking for an upset.

Action-Packed Tilt Seen

An action-packed game is expected between the two friendly rivals, meeting for the first time in football since 1946 when Lubbock won a 7-6 victory, and Lamesa will have "upset" on its mind.

Several hundred Lamesa fans are expected to follow the team to Lubbock in anticipation of a big night against the number one team in the state.

Westerner Coach Pat Pattison has given the Cowpokes medium-heavy workouts all week, with a large amount of concentration on defense against passes. The possibility of a strong ground attack by the Tornadoes has not been overlooked, however, and this has come in for lots of attention.

Monday the second and third teams scrimmaged, with the first team seeing action in a rough workout Tuesday before the tapering off process began Wednesday.

Lamesa Suffers Injuries

All the Westerners are expected to be ready to go, and Coach Pattison is expecting an "all out" game by the Lamesans.

Tornado head Coach Bob Harrell is faced with injuries and sickness among his squad members, but the team is reported to be in fine mental shape and doing their best work of the year in practice this week.

The Tornadoes scrimmaged early in the week, and the Tuesday workout resulted in a broken right hand to second string Fullback Don Hackney.

The running game has come in for lots of attention from Harrell, last week's ground offensive netting but six yards against Pampa, with 19 of 40 passes clicking for 268 yards. A workout under the lights Thursday night was intended to get the timing right on plays and sharpen the attack to a fine point for the Westerners.

Missing the game will be Jamie Person, regular left tackle, who is confined to bed with a virus infection, and replacing him will be Phil Johnson. Others on the sick list are substitute Guards Don Holt and Donald Cotten, both out with the flu, but Cotten may see limited service.

Sparking the offense for Lamesa will be Bobby Hawkins and Ronald Chapman with their air warfare, and Dick Echols, Larry Lattimore and Delbert Dickenson will see plenty of action on running plays.

Lubbock 15 Pounds Heavier

Lamesa is considered as one of the best little teams in the state, but it will be outweighed almost 15 pounds per man against the Westerners.

The squad of 28 players will leave Lamesa at 12:30 today for Lubbock.

Back to lead the Westerners is Quarterback Bobby Brown, who had the most sensational night of his career last week against Amarillo as Lubbock turned the trick on their old rivals, 47-7.

Co-captains for the game are Guard Freddy Gary and Center Douglas Wienke, both of whom displayed fine team work last week. The two players have been standouts all season, and Wienke is rapidly coming to the front on defense, with Gray being one of the reasons for the large holes in the oppositions' right defensive side of the line.

Fate Of Club Is In Doubt

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28 (AP) — Officials of the Brooklyn Dodgers today are expected to decide what to do about the Fort Worth club of the Texas league.

Branch Rickey, John L. Smith and Walter O'Malley, principal owners of the National league baseball club, were to inspect fire damaged La Grave field.

They're expected to choose between rebuilding the plant, selling to a local group and continue on a working agreement basis, or pulling out entirely.

Brooklyn owns the Fort Worth club.

La Grave field was partially destroyed by fire last May and only temporary repairs have been made.

TRACK MEET HELD

DENTON, Oct. 28 (AP) — The University of Texas and North Texas State college met today in a cross country track meet.

Your All-American Choice

My choice was the Army. Why? Simple. Because the Army has plenty on the ball. Top flight training, wide-open chances for fast promotion, world travel and security. I like the Army. It's the all-American line of an all-American team.

I chose the Air Force. I want to be ready for a part in the air age. There's no better place to do that than with the greatest air force in the world. In the Air Force, we not only learn, we help write the book. We're the first string backfield on the all-American team.
You, too, have a choice between the two finest careers in America. Army or Air Force, you can't lose whichever you choose!

Undefeated Teams In Danger Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

Schoolboy football moves toward the November stretch drive with just six undefeated, untied teams in the top two divisions. Two of these may tumble tonight.

Corsicana puts its impressive record against the strong Waco Tigers and Henderson runs into once-beaten Marshall.

Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Grand Prairie, and Port Arthur are the others with perfect records.

John Reagan of Houston blanked Milby of Houston, 13-0, last night to stay unbeaten, through tied. Baytown is the other club in the City conference and Class AA in this classification.

There's one "big" game in the City conference tonight—San Antonio Tech vs. Brackenridge.

The winner of this tilt will take a big step toward the San Antonio district title.

Lubbock, touted as the best high school team to show up in years, tonight tackles Lamesa and the Westerners ought to be able to win this one.

Wichita Falls meets Quanah and Port Arthur play Orange.

Tech Frosh To Test Odessa

Odessa Junior college invades Lubbock tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 for a game against the Texas Tech freshmen in Jones Stadium and the Picadors wound up preparation for the game with a light workout yesterday.

Tickets, tax included, cost $1, with no seats reserved.

Coach Allie White sent the freshman squad through a long drill, stressing blocking assignments and trying to perfect timing on plays. After a long afternoon, Coach White expressed satisfaction with the drill and sent his players to the showers.

Large Crowd Expected

A large crowd is expected to watch the Picadors in their second appearance of the season in what should be a good game. Coach Red Coats has surrounded himself with a good squad in Odessa's first year of football, many of the lads composing the team coming from the Odessa High school team that almost won the state championship.

Size and speed both are on the Odessa squad, which looms as a stern test to the junior Raiders, Coats, a former letterman at Tech, has built a strong power at Odessa, while Coach White also has a powerhouse in the Picador eleven.

Lose Two Games

The Odessans probably will rely on a strong ground game mixed with an aerial attack that has scored about half of the touchdowns this year. And the Odessans have scored in all but one game, rolling up 97 points in five games to 65 for its opponents.

Odessa Junior college has a 12-0 loss to Cisco Junior college, and a 26-20 loss to San Angelo Junior college in which the winners scored the vital touchdown in the final 20 seconds of play. Victories have been over Big Spring Junior college 19-8, Ranger Junior college 26-19 and Clifton Junior college 32-0.

The Picadors have been tested only by West Texas State college's first year men, the junior Raiders winning 59-7. A game last week with New Mexico Military Institute was cancelled by rain.

Sparking the Odessa attack will be Quarterback Alfred Arnold of Odessa, a 175-pound signal caller and passer. He shares duties with Halfback Burr Reynolds, also of Odessa, who tips the beam at 172 pounds. Loy Mead, a 145-pounder from Breckenridge, at left halfback and Toots Mathis, a 180-pound fullback from Crane, round out the backfield.

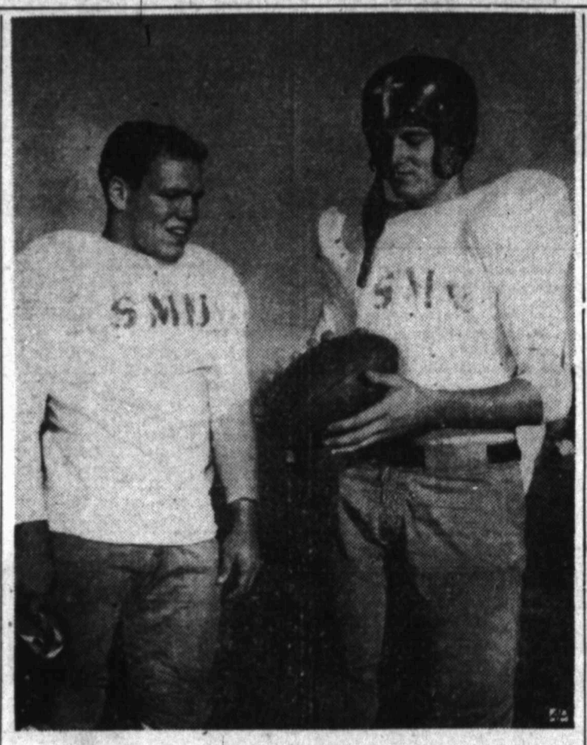

The line is composed of Clinton Hill of Odessa, a six foot, two-inch, 175 pounder, and Ken Griffin of Odessa, another six-foot, two-inch, 175 pounder, at the ends. Tackles are Alvin Whaley of Crane, a 205 pounder, and Bill Cox of Carlsbad, N. M., a 240 pounder. The guards are Russ Young of Odessa, 185 pounder, and Robert Schutte of Odessa, 180 pounder. Center is Jack Walker of Odessa, a 198 pound boy.

CAGER GETS POST

HOUSTON, Oct. 28 (AP) — Bob Foley, former star guard on the Rice basketball team, has been named an assistant basketball coach.

A gray-green fish, called the puffer, defends itself when in danger by suddenly assuming the appearance of a balloon.

The long-tailed tit, a small bird of Great Britain, uses almost 3000 feathers in its nest.

PROMISING MUSTANGS—H. N. (Rusty) Russell, jr., (right), and Johnny Champion are two reserve backs Southern Methodist university fans expect to provide their backfield with the offensive spark once given by the ailing Doak Walker. Russell, son of the SMU assistant coach, is being groomed for the quarterback post left vacant by Walker's illness and Frank Payne's broken finger. Champion is a small but speedy halfback. California Victory Over UCLA Seen

Michigan Is Picked To Beat Illinois; Oklahoma Favored

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — Coming back with another series of forecasts, knowing there can not be another flock of upsets such as hit the football world last weekend.

Last week's score was 57 correct selections and 17 incorrect for a .770 average. That made the season's figures 285 correct, 70 wrong for .803.

Michigan over Illinois: This is the ewenty-fifth anniversary of Red Grange's big day at Michigan's expense. Illinois, surprise leader of the Big Ten, will wish Grange was playing again.

Notre Dame over Navy: What do you expect, a miracle?

California over UCLA: California has permitted its three previous coast conference opponents less than a touchdown each, UCLA yielded an average of two to each of its four loop rivals.

Army over Virginia Military: At Army a student is known as a cadet; at Virginia Military he is a keydet. The difference is even greater on the football field.

Ohio State over Northwestern: With the fullback problem at Northwestern still unsettled the Ohioans have the edge.

Baylor over Texas Christian: Arkansas beat TCU by three touchdowns, lost to Baylor by the same margin. On a basis of comparative scores entirely.

Oklahoma over Iowa State: Oklahoma has a great quarterback in Royal and a great end in Owens. What more do the Sooners need?

Texas over Southern Methodist: Doak Walker is out of the hospital but it is not likely that he will be at his best following a week's bout with the flu germs.

North Carolina over Tennessee: The dry, home field will help Carolina's famed Charlie Justice.

Southwest: Arkansas over Texas A. & M., Rice over Texas Tech, Texas Western over Hardin-Simmons.

Coaltown, Capot Will Race Today

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The showdown in 1949 horse racing is all set today in the Pimlico Special.

At stake for the taking by Coaltown or Capot are the year's major laurels of the turf. Everything has been thrown into the pot for this one race.

Both trainers, John Gaver of Capot, and Jimmy Jones of Coaltown, said it probably will be the last start of the year for their colts.

So the Special is it, a final meeting head to head with the track to themselves between the leading contenders for the championship of 1949 racing.

Calumet farm agreed to make it all or nothing in honors as well as the $15,000 special purse which goes entirely to the winner. They had a pat hand in Ponder and Coaltown, but consented under pressure by the Maryland Jockey club to break it up and let Capot in.

Gaver told the club that if both the Calumet eligibles started he would have Capot sit it out.

Major League Probe Halted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP) — Major league baseball stepped out of a three-year era of legal entanglements today with the Justice department's halt to an anti-trust inquiry into the broadcasting and televising of games.

New rules covering the situation have been adopted by both the American and National leagues. The Justice department said yesterday it will sit back and see how they work and drop the thought of prosecution now.

Chandler Now "Happy"

Thus baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler has nailed down again his right to the nickname "Happy." The government decision comes as a relief for him after all the legal headaches he's suffered.

Back in 1946 a fellow named Jorge Pasquel came from Mexico, his pockets bulging with greenbacks.

The Mexican baseball mogul walked off with some of the majors' brightest stars—Max Lanier and Mickey Owen among them. Finally this spring Chandler started to get things back on an even keel.

He reinstated all the jumpers. Two St. Louis Cardinal pitchers—Lanier and Fred Martin—dropped their reinstatement law suit which sought $2,500,000 damages fro mthe St. Louis Cardinals.

HILLSBORO WINS

HILLSBORO, Oct. 28 (AP) — Hillsboro Junior college thumped Allen Academy; 32-6, yesterday to oust the Bryan eleven from a contender's spot in the Texas Junior college conference race.

Raider Squad Of 37 Slated To Make Jaunt To Houston Today

By this time, Texas Tech's football squad of 37 players should be in Houston after boarding a Braniff International Airlines' DC-4 at 9 this morning at the local airport.

The Red Raiders, headed by Coach Dell Morgan, were to leave Lubbock at 9 this morning for Houston, where tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 they will meet Rice Institute's Owls for the eighth time. Coach Morgan took eight ends, seven tackles, five guards, four centers and 13 backs.

After arrival in Houston, the squad was to go to the Shamrock hotel, famed multi-millionaire Glenn McCarthy's creation, which will be headquarters tonight. The squad will board their plane soon after the game Saturday night to fly back to Lubbock, returning about 9:30 p. m.

Injury Jinx Strikes

The injury jinx, which has been on the Raiders all season, struck again yesterday as the squad wound up preparation for the game against the Owls. Center Bob Hix, a senior this year, was taken to West Texas hospital for x-rays and observation overnight after colliding with End Bill Sharpley.

Hix and Sharpley ran together as Hix, on defense, attempted to break up a pass play during dummy scrimmage. Both fell to the ground, but Sharpley got to his feet seconds later. Hix had trouble breathing and spit some blood. He immediately was taken to the Raider training room and Trainer Mason Gorby took him to the hospital.

Beat Owls In 1944

The Raiders hold only one victory over the Owls, beating them 13-7 in 1944. Rice won the first game in the series, in 1942, 19-7, and all other ones. The Owls took the 1943 game 13-0, repeated by the same score in 1945, won 41-6 in 1946, by 40-7 in 1947 and eked out a 14-7 victory in Lubbock last year.

Littlefield "B" Tops Pioneers

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 28. (Special)—A determined Littlefield "B" team upset a favored Lubbock Pioneer eleven, 18-13, here last night with less than four minutes remaining in a non-conference football game.

The loss was the second for the Lubbock squad in as many weeks and avenged an earlier, 12-31, loss by Littlefield at the hands of the same team.

Lubbock scored on touchdowns by Robert Gibson and Charles Northington, and Ken Aldridge booted the extra point following the second six-pointer.

Littlefield opened scoring in the first quarter, but Northington tied the count with a 50-yard dash in the second period The winners pushed across a tally shortly before halftime to take a 12-6 lead.

Lubbock went ahead in the third stanza on Gibson's plunge from the 10-yard line and Aldridge's successful conversion put the Pioneers ahead.

But in the final period Littlefield put on a drive that ended in a touchdown to sew up the game.

Pioneer Center John Pittman suffered an injury to his left hand in the contest, and an x-ray following the team's return to Lubbock showed a fracture of small bones in the hand. He is expected to be ready for action before the next game, however.

Baylor Is Favored Over Horned Frogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Texas Christian's touchdown-happy Horned Frogs challenge Baylor's mighty Bears tomorrow in the most important game of the Southwest conference football race.

It will decide whether there will be co-leaders of if the Rice Owls are to ride high and dry.

Rice will eye this game with more interest than anybody. No matter which way it goes it can't hurt the Owls. Rice will be playing Texas Tech of the Border conference in a breather.

Baylor, the last undefeated, untied team in the conference, is a solid favorite to beat TCU but the Bears haven't as yet met a team with as great an offense as the Frogs.

It's homecoming day at Baylor and a capacity crowd will see the fireworks. However, Baylor can handle only about 20,000.

The biggest turnout will be at Dallas where some 75,000 will jam the Cotton bowl to watch Texas and Southern Methodist stage a do-or-die battle. The team that loses this one will be out of the championship race since each already has dropped a conference game.

The Methodists are 3½-point favorites in the betting and may have dauntless Doak Walker back to pilot them. Walker missed last week's game with Kentucky—when SMU staged an upset—because of illness.

Up at Fayetteville, Arkansas' Razorbacks and Texas A. and M., both out of the race, meet to see if the Aggies occupy the cellar regions undisputed or have company. Arkansas is a 16-point favorite, which seems rather light in view of the Aggie record and the fact that the game is being played in the Razorbacks' back yard and on homecoming day.

Winners Are Picked

Frank Leahy, coach of Notre Dame, gets $25,000 for picking the winners—or trying to. We do it for nothing and have a better record than Frank. To date we have hit 24, missed five and three has been one tie. Last week we got all five. Like a race-track habitue, however, we just won't quit while winning. Here's how they look, poetically speaking:

Texas vs. Southern Methodist at Dallas—By a touchdown or two, we'll take SMU.

Rice vs. Texas Tech at Houston—The Red Raiders will try but the Owls will fly—Rice by five touchdowns.

Baylor vs. Texas Christian at Waco—The Frogs will score but Baylor will make more—Baylor by two touchdowns.

Arkansas vs. Texas A. and M. at Fayetteville—A. and M. will win the toss then get thrown for a big loss—Arkansas by three touchdowns.

Favorites In Tourney Win

All semi-final matches in the City Open Golf tournament have been reported following Wednesday's games, and finalists have been named in the second flight.

Scheduled to meet for the second flight championship are A. C. Jackson and Jack Cole. Jackson advanced with a 2 and 1 victory over Ira Carpenter, and Cole topped A. C. Becker, 1-up.

A minor upset in the championship flight saw Mance Allen score a 1-up win over Dick Jennings in their match. Jennings won medalist honors in the tourney with a five-under-par 66 and was rated as one of the top contenders for this year's crown.

Allen will play the veteran Chick Trout, who defeated Raymond Marshall, 1-up, for the right to advance to the finals.

In the upper bracket of the championship flight A. L. Holton dumped R. J. Dempsey, 6 and 5, and he now plays Jimmy Goldman. Goldman advanced by stopping Lindsey Telford, last year's champion, in a quarter-finals match.

In the first flight Dr. R. Z. Abell won by default from C. W. Nance; Dick Willbanks edged Joe Horne, 1-up, in 19 holes; E. A. Hindman ousted Major Steed Rountree, 2 and 1; and S. W. Tinsley beat O. A. Brock, 3 and 2.

First flight consolation winners were Roy Cooper over A. R. Alldridge, 4 and 3; Jack Trammel over Clyde Fortune, 4 and 3; H. R. Rankin by default over C. S. Mitchell; Houston Trammel over Cecil Horne, 1-up in 20 holes; and Sid Claiborne over O. C. Herrin, 1-up.

Second flight consolation winners were Capt. H. W. Gilmore over Jack Burke, 4 and 3; Dean Cole over Aaron Majors, 2 and 1; and M/Sgt. Leo Hess over Jack Crawford, 2 and 1.

Tech Students Give Watch To Gridder

Texas Tech's students yesterday morning presented Don Williams, Red Raider football player, with a watch.

Williams, from Phillips, was well on his way to being an outstanding lineman this year and had received Player of the Week award from KFYO and The Avalanche-Journal for his work in the Texas game. The following week at San Antonio, playing against Texas A. & M., he was injured by a block, his left knee being torn apart.

Williams was moved to the campus hospital earlier this week, where physicians say he must remain for several more days. He suffered a dislocated left knee with complications as a result of a block in the Texas A and M game.

Curtis Sterling, president of the Tech Student Council, presented the watch to Williams on behalf of the student body. It was bought with money taken from the student's activity ticket fund.

Meadow Beats Plains, 44-6

Meadow's Bronchos continued their undefeated, untied march through District 4-B football ranks last night by thumping Plains, 44-6.

In other Thursday night South Plains schoolboy grid engagements, Ralls upset Abernathy, 13-0; Seagraves rallied to wallop Coahoma, 34-19; Petersburg whipped Cooper, 32-14; Whiteface trounced Frenship, 20-0, and Seminole's Junior High team downed the Wink Juniors, 28-14.

Fleet-footed Robert White paced Meadow in its victory over Plains at Plains. He scored three touchdowns on runs of 65, 52 and 26 yards, and passed to Gene Johnson for a fourth marker. Jesse Upton scored two touchdowns and Jerry Hinson added one as the Bronchos were in full control all the way after piling up a 25-0 lead in the first quarter.

Newlon Rowland Scores

Newlon Rowland scored Plains' lone touchdown late in the third period.

At Ralls, Coach D. W. (Doc) Brantley's Jackrabbits fielded an air-tight defense that kept Abernathy outside the 20-yard stripe throughout the game. Meantime, C. H. Verett, jr., and Bobby Gustin sparked a Ralls attack that netted touchdowns in the first and third quarters.

It was the third win against two defeats in District 3-A play for the rapidly-improving Jackrabbits.

Seagraves trailed Coahoma by 19-0 early in the second quarter of a game played at Coahoma, but Coach Frank Sonntag's Eagles finished fast to rack up an easy 34-19 victory. Bob Dale, Smith Bennett, Nelson Smith, Troy Martin and Benny Wright played leading roles in Seagraves' triumph in the non-conference fray.

Coasts To Win

Petersburg scored early and often to take a commanding lead over Cooper, then coasted in to win, 32-14. Touchdown runs of 60 and 70 yards by Petersburg Halfback Paul Main featured the contest. Herbert Welch also scored two six-pointers for the victorious Buffaloes.

Frenship battled gamely before bowing, 20-0, to a Whiteface team that played below its customary standards. The win was Whiteface's fourth as compared to one setback in Distrcit 4-B competition.

For nearly three quarters, the Seminole-Wink Junior High fracas was fought on even terms, but Seminole put on a closing burst that netted two touchdowns and a 28-14 decision. Jackie Sparks made three touchdowns, including two on runs of 40 and 37 yards, to grab top individual honors.

Huge Player Sale Is Planned By Brownies

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 28 (U.P.) — The St. Louis Browns went into the wholesale business today, offering 14 players for sale or trade in a massive shakeup which placed the accent on youth.

Already noted throughout baseball for their willingness to peddle any star for a price, the DeWitt brothers said every man on the roster over 28 years of age will be unloaded. This includes the entire regular infield of third base sear Bob Dillinger, who hit .323 this season; Second Baseman Gerry Priddy, who hit .290; First Baseman Jack Graham, who hit .238; and Shortstops Ed Pelligrini (.438) and John Sullivan (.217).

Qualifying Rounds In Tourney Slated

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 28 (Special) — Qualifying rounds in the first annual South Plains Women's Golf association tournament were to be played here today.

Approximately 50 players, from country clubs at Plainview, Lamesa, Levelland, Brownfield and Lubbock, were expected to compete in the event, in which match play is scheduled Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament was to have several flight of eight players each.

High School Cage Tourney Is Slated

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 28 (Special)—The First Annual High School Invitational Basketball tournament will be held here under the sponsorship of Wayland college Dec. 16 and 17.

Each team will play three games making it easier to measure the individual strength of each squad. First, second, third and consolation honors will gain the winning squads trophies.

The eight teams picked by Wayland Athletic department to compete in the tourney are consistently strong in basketball. Says Coach Harley Redin, "The tournament should bring together some of the top teams in this area."

Basketeers that will compete for the trophies come from Plainview, Lubbock, Gruver, Sudan, Samnorwood, Childress, Shallowater and Hollis, Oklahoma.

Feature game of the tournament will be a tussle between East Central State college from Ada, Okla., and the Wayland Pioneers Friday night, December 16.

FROSH TEAMS TANGLE

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP) — The freshman football teams of Southern Methodist university and the University of Texas tangled here today.

John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams, were the only father-and-son combination to become presidents of the United States.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Comes Friday night again and the weekend of football games throughout the South Plains and the nation. And if ever a weekend was more jam packed full of potential upsets, this is it. Lamesa brings a cracking good team here tonight hoping to catch the Westerners on a letdown jag after beating Amarillo. We don't think that they will, but they might. Tomorrow afternoon in Houston, much the same situation exists in regard to the Tech-Rice game, with the odds pretty prohibitive against the Red Raiders. But one game here this weekend looks like a pretty safe bet. That's the Tech freshmen to take Odessa Junior college. And if you don't go out to Jones Stadium to see that one, you may be missing one of the best games of the year.

• • •

While the mixture of high school games on the South Plains is thin this weekend, the quality is there. The football lover has an opportunity to see a lot of good games within easy driving range of Lubbock. Tomorrow, the radio will have to serve as the eyes of the football public, but Sunday morning you can read about more games than you'll hear Saturday. And there could be a score of upsets. For instance, the Texas-SMU game can hardly be predicted safely. It's easier to pick the Arkansas-Texas Aggie game and Baylor-TCU tilts. But how about the Northwestern - Ohio State game? Or the California-UCLA battle? Or the Duke-Georgia Tech fray? And when it comes to the Texas Western-Hardin-Simmons game, pass the aspirins, please.

• • •

Late last Summer, a Dallas News sports columnist solemnly told his readers that Jack Curtice, head coach at Texas Western, (formerly Texas College of Mines) likely would leave El Paso in time to join Texas Tech's coaching staff for the 1949 campaign but, at any rate, would be a tech coach in time for the 1950 season.

The story was kicked around the state pretty generally, some of the boys even adding 2-and-2 to make 22. The hint was that since Tech's President Dr. D. M. Wiggins formerly bossed the E. P. school, he was bringing an old pal to Texas Tech to eventually—if not quickly—succeed Dr. John Odell Morgan.

More recently, Bob Ingram, sports editor of the El Paso Herald-Post, ressurected the yarn and added a few embellishments of his own. Bob, who should know better, said (1) Curtice more than likely would join the Tech staff by next Fall if he didn't get an even better connection; and (2) that Doctor Wiggins instigated the plan to move Curtice to Lubbock.

• • •

As Al Smith used to say: Let's take a look at the record.

It reads this way:

Last Summer, Dr. Morgan, who is a great and good friend of Jack Curtice, decided hed' like to have the El Pasoan on his staff. He went to Dr. Wiggins with the matter and the prexy said if Dell wanted Curtice is was O.K. with him.

So Dell, along with former El Pasoan Frank Junell, flew to E.P. to see Curtice. But Curtice could not be sold on the deal Morgan had to offer.

That was that.

• • •

Here is the low-down on the Curtice situation—no matter what any other sports writer may think, or say. It comes straight from the feedbox—from Doctor Wiggins, himself, in person.

Sezzee:

"There is no truth in reports (1) that I sought to bring Jack Curtice to Texas Tech; or (2) that he will join Tech's coaching staff in time for the 1950 football season. The Curtice matter is as dead as a doornail, period.

"Furthermore," continued Dr. Wiggins, "there is no truth in the rumors I understand are current in Lubbock that Mr. Curtice will become head coach at Texas Tech next year.

"The real truth is, there is no negotiation currently between Texas Tech and Mr. Curtice. There has been none, except at the time last Summer when Mr. Morgan offered Mr. Curtice an assistant's post. So far as I know, Mr. Curtice has no idea of coming to Texas Tech at any time, in any capacity. Certainly Texas Tech is not seeking to bring Mr. Curtice to Lubbock at any time, or in any capacity."

So there you are. If that isn't the Curtice story to end all Curtice stories in-so-far as Texas Tech is concerned, we don't know what is.

Incidentally, Curtice is enjoying a very fine season at El Paso and is very solid with the fans there. Last year they gave him a $3,500 automobile and reports are that they are augmenting his salary by way of a bonus arrangement.

Curtice, formerly coach of the Buffs at Canyon, is an able mentor and it wouldn't be surprising to see him fo from Texas Western to a bigger school which pays more money and plays more big-time football.

But the president of Texas Tech ought to know what he's talking about, so we feel we definitely can say Jack Curtice ain't a-comin' here.

Period again.

THE ROUNDUP: Congratulations to J. D. Kirkpatrick and Lily, his lovely wife. They became parents of twins, a boy and a girl, this week. . . Those congratulations follow belated ones to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barnett of Slaton, who brought a future football player onto the South Plains. . . . Joe Palmer of O'Donnell, is going like a house afire for New Mexico State Teachers college at Silver City. He scored three touchdowns against Highlands last week. . . Tech officials have kept the news that the players will be staying at the Shamrock hotel a secret from the players. It's a surprise to them. . . Ed Hambright deserves a hearty congratulations for obtaining the fish with which to stock Buffalo Lakes. That's being a true sportsman.

Dunbar Drubs Vernon, 20-6

Coach Damon Hill's Dunbar Panther's defeated the Booker T. Washington Bearcats of Vernon, 20 to 6, last night at Chapman field in a non-district football clash before an estimated 500 persons.

The Panthers struck early in the first quarter and then went on to add a touchdown in each of the second and third stanzas to secure their fourth victory of the season against two losses — both away from home—and keep their two-year victory record at home intact.

Lubbock took the opening kickoff and marched 55 yards to score, with Fullback Eddie Bullock plunging over from the one after left Halfback Lawrence Robinson carried 19 yards to that point.

Both teams scored in the second quarter, with Dunbar hitting with lightening like speed on Bullock's 60-yard scamper around right end on the first play after a Vernon punt. A pass from Quarterback Fred (Joe) Wright to End Arthur Jones made the score 14-0 in favor of the Panthers.

The Bearcats struck back late in the second quarter on a pass play from Milton Green to Beauford Berry which covered 70 yards. Green's long wobbly pass was batted up into the air by a Panther defender, with Berry coming in fast to pick up the ball and race 45 yards for the tally. The try for point was no good.

Dunbar kicked off to Vernon in the third period, and after three downs Fullback Berry kicked out of bounds on the midfield stripe. On the first play from scrimmage Halfback Otis Walker exploded over right tackle for the six-pointer on a beautiful run to conclude scoring for the night.

Vernon played on even terms with the Panthers in the last quarter, twice driving deep into Lubbock territory before losing the ball, once on downs and the second time on a fumble shortly before the end of the game. Vicious tackling by both teams marked play in the final half.

Forrest Heights Church Opens Building Drive With Banquet

Over 100 members and friends of Forrest Heights Methodist church Thursday night attended a kickoff banquet for the church's building program. The gathering was held in Fellowship hall of First Methodist church.

Rev. H. D. Seago, pastor of the First Methodist church of Seminole, was principal speaker. In his address, "Our Challenge," Rev. Seago stressed that "our obligations to God can never be completely fulfilled because we always will owe more to Him than we can ever repay." The main challenge, he said, lies in fulfilling these obligations to God as much as is humanly possible.

Invocation was asked by Rev. George E. Turrentine, pastor of the First Methodist church at Abernathy. Ralph Krebbs was master of ceremonies for the banquet.

Other Speakers Given

Others who were recognized during the program and who spoke briefly were: Rev. Burgin Watkins, pastor of Forrest Heights Methodist church; S. S. Forrest, a member of the Church Planning committee, who spoke on the potentialities for service which Forrest Heights church has; Dr. J. O. Haymes, Methodist district superintendent, who pointed out that Forrest Heights is one of the fastest-growing Methodist churches in the entire area; and Mrs. S. Lamar Forrest, whose late husband donated the church building site at Thirty-third and Monroe Ave.

Gene Quest, chairman of the Church Planning committee, explained the set-up of the committee and how other committees — namely the finance, publicity, and building committees — have evolved out of it.

Committee Members Speak

Mrs. O. C. Southall, a member of the Church Planning committee, spoke on the aims of the committee in planning a church building which would incorporate comfort, economy, and beauty. Bill Cartwright, church member who is associated with the agricultural firm of O. R. Walker, told of plans for construction of the first unit of the church.

Elmer Tarbox, co-chairman of the Church Finance committee, presented plans for the financial campaign which will be launched soon.

Members and guests received copies of the brochure, prepared by a committee of church members, which contains detail drawings and elevations of the proposed church structure.

Board Chairman Present

Others who were recognized for reasons of special activities or duties included: Mrs. O. R. Copeland, president of the church W.S.C.S. and general chairma for the banquet; Mrs. Paul Brenneman, vice-president of the W.S.C.S.; Roger Poff, church school superintendent; F. H. Myrick, co-chairman of the Church Finance committee and chairman of the Board of Stewards.

Other guests attending the banquet were O. R. Walker, architect; Mrs. Jewel Roberts and Turner Kimmel, members of the O. R. Walker architectural firm; Mrs. S. S. Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Copenhaver.

68-Year-Old Lamesa Resident Is Claimed

LAMESA, Oct. 28 (Special) — Mrs. Alta Ann Rhodes, 68, a resident here for 29 years, died suddenly at her home early Thursday. Funeral services will be held at the Lamesa Church of Christ at 3 p.m. Saturday.

A native of Arkansas, Mrs. Rhodes had been a member of the Church of Christ for 53 years. Burial will be in Lamesa cemetary under direction of Higginbotham funeral home.

Mrs. Rhodes is survived by her husband, M. D. Rhodes of Lamesa; four daughters, Mrs. R. F. Griffis, Lamesa, Mrs. Lee Hancock, Lamesa; Mrs. Inez Donley, Compton, Calif.; and Mrs. Howard Kay, Stockton, Calif.; one son, Earnest Rhodes of Lamesa; her mother, Mrs. Harriet Webb of Amarillo; four brothers, E. F. Webb, Lamesa; H. C. Webb, Dimmitt; W. R. Webb, Amarillo, and H. Webb of Fort Worth; and two sisters, Mrs. John Parsley, Olney, and Miss Ruth Webb, Amarillo.

SOME PUMPKINS

ACUSHNET, Mass. (U.P.) — John Travares' business is some pumpkins. He raises 100-pound monsters, each big enough to make two or three dozen pies. His No. 1 pumpkin of 1949 weighed 143. His "baby" weighed 93.

ONE COAT. DOTS ALL—Harry Albacker, "the magician," claims to have developed what painters have long dreamed of—a polka dot paint. With tongue in cheek, the Pittsburgh, Pa., entertainer demonstrates before a delegation of paint dealers how the polka dots go on with a single sweep of the brush. How the magic formula works Harry wouldn't say because "it isn't patented yet."

Soldiers Credited With Saving Town

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 28. (AP)—Pvt. Manuel De La Garza of Brownsville, Texas, and Pfc. Chester Kapco of Nanticoke, Pa., have been credited with saving most of a German village from destruction by a raging fire.

The pair, both members of the army's highway patrol, spotted the fire in the village of Schrack at 9:30 p. m. Oct. 23.

The fire had spread to two houses and a barn. A German fire company was unable to act because water was unavailable.

Using their patrol car radio, Garza and Kapco summoned a 300-gallon pump truck from the army's fire company at Hamburg, five miles away.

Then they drove to Marburg and collected eight large fire extinguishers and volunteers to help fight the fire.

Oil was struck at well No. 10 at Soma, Turkey, but no details have been announced.

Courting By Mail A Dangerous Thing

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28. (AP)—Here's a modern version of the John Alden-Miles Standish story.

At a recent meeting of the Direct Mail Advertising association, a speaker said a young friend of his decided to court his girl by letter.

He sent her a proposal every day for 65 days. On the 66th day, the girl married the mailman.

National Guard Meet Awarded To Houston

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 28. (U.P.)—The National guard association wound up its 71st meeting yesterday with a vote to hold the 1950 conference in Houston, Texas.

The dates for next year's meeting were fixed for Sept. 27-30.

At their concluding session, the guardsmen heard a warning from Maj. Gen. Ralph F. Stearley, commander of the 14th air force, that the U. S. would need its "civilian soldiers" badly in another war.

"The professional soldier can only stave off the enemy until the citizens army—the National guard and the organized reserve units—can win the war," Stearly said.

Steel Companies Above 1948 Earnings When Strike Began

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—The nation's largest steel producing companies were well on the way to exceeding their 1948 income figures when the strike of CIO steelworkers started Oct. 1.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. reported yesterday its nine-month income was a record $82,898,402, exceeding the previous record of $53,183,858 set a year ago.

Two days earlier, United States steel, the industry's giant, placed its nine-month net earnings at $133,223,409 against $88,042,150 in the similar 1949 period.

Desire To Negotiate

Board chairmen of both companies, in news conferences, indicated a desire to negotiate their differences with the striking union and get their plants back into the high-level production that results in such earnings.

E. G. Grace, Bethlehem chairman, said yesterday: "we are ready and willing and anxious to negotiate this situation in all its phases at any time with the union or with the mediation service."

On Tuesday Irving S. Olds of U. S. Steel suggested that Philip Murray, union president, "come down and talk business with us."

There was no indication Murray planned to do so unless the companies agreed to bear the full cost of insurance and pension programs. A presidential fact-finding board had recommended that the companies do this with contributions of six cents an hour on pensions and four cents on insurance.

Pay Losses Huge

Grace told newsmen yesterday that "you can't put pensions on a cents-per-hour basis." He added that the worker about to retire is interested only in the amount of benefits he will receive.

The Bethlehem chairman said striking employes of that company will lose an estimated $23,000,000 in pay during the first month of the walkout; the company loses 1,100,000 tons of steel output.

In other comments at his news conference, Grace said:

Creation of new steel mills all over the world, "in many cases with our money," is causing a decline in new orders for steel for export, which in the past has accounted for more than 10 per cent of Bethlehem's production. If this business is lost it will cause a proportionate unemployment in the company's steelmaking plants.

Future of shipbuilding work, which now represents $162,000,000 of Bethlehem's total of $369,000,000 orders on hand, is uncertain because of low wage rates in foreign yards, permitting those builders to enter bids at about one-half the amount required by U. S. yards.

Replacement demand for steel, because of loss of production lost during the strike, will last "for quite a little while."

Bowling Results

Home Lumber and Supply, Plamor No. 2 and Plamor No. 1 bowling teams scored victories in last night's Women's City league competition.

Home Lumber and Supply whitewashed Brooks Trailer sales, 3-0. Nell Gamble, with a 148 games, and Nita Hasecloff, with a 351 series, sparked the winners. Betty Garling posted a 134-391 to lead the losers.

Plamor No. 2 blanked S & J, 3-0. Ruth Wells rolled a 162-457 for top individual honors for the victors, while Nancy Gamble registered 135-335 for the S & J team.

Plamor No. 1 edged out Miller & Miller, 2-1. Frances Caddell was high for Plamor No. 1 with 147-424, while Catherine Royalty turned in 186-430 for Miller & Miller.

Homecoming Events Are Held At Baylor

WACO, Oct. 28 (AP)—You can hear all about that "good old Baylor line" today.

The one last year or the one twenty years ago.

It's homecoming day at Baylor university, the biggest homecoming in history.

The old grads and the undergrads are all worked up this year—Baylor is the only undefeated, untied football team in the Southwest conference and this may be the year it wins a championship. The last title the Bears won was in 1924.

A banquet honoring that 1924 club is planned. The 1922 football team and the 1923 baseball team will also be present.

Tomorrow morning a 26-float, nine-band homecoming parade will be staged.

Tomorrow afternoon, Baylor's football team meets Texas Christian university.

In a between halves ceremony, President W. R. White will crown a homecoming queen.

Doaker May Not Play If Weather Is Damp

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP) — The weather is the key to whether Doak Walker plays against Texas tomorrow.

Southern Methodist's all-America quarterback said yesterday:

"If the weather is damp or very cold, I doubt if I'll get in at all. Even if its dry, I probably won't play but a few minutes at a time."

Walker, who was released from the hospital Wednesday after being stricken with the flu last week, worked out briefly yesterday.

WRONG PLACE AND TIME

DUNN, N. C. (U.P.) — Neill McCray picked the wrong place and time to play Peeping Tom. The place was the home of former Police Sgt. C. E. More. The time was when Moore came home without his door key and circled to the bedroom window to ask his wife to let him in.

Convict Identified By Beating Victim

TEMPLE, Oct. 28. (AP)—George Tabor of Midland identified an escaped convict as one of two men who beat him into unconsciousness Wednesday night and left him in a roadside ditch.

Tabor, in a Cameron hospital, identified a photograph of James H. Mitchell, 20, yesterday.

Mitchell escaped earlier this week from a prison farm near Houston.

Tabor told police he was returning from his wife's funeral in Houston when he picked up two boys in Brenham. About four miles north of Cameron, they made him stop the car in a roadside park. Tabor said they beat him into unconsciousness, and took his car, hat, boots, watch and about $10 in cash. He came to about an hour and a half later. He was in a ditch with his shirt tied around his head. Tabor flagged a passing motorist and was brought to the hospital.

His car was found yesterday at Lott, Texas, 20 miles northeast of Temple.

French Political Crisis Ends With Confirmation Of Bidault

By HARVEY HUDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 28.—France's longest political crisis in 50 years ended early today with the confirmation of Georges Bidault as premier.

Bidault had formed his cabinet lineup before the national assembly approved him 367 to 183.

Based On Coalition

Soon after his confirmation, Bidault presented his cabinet to President Vincent Auriol. He had secured party agreement to the cabinet lineup before the assembly vote, overcoming in advance the obstacle on which two previous choices for premier foundered.

Bidault's new government was based on the same coalition of center parties which have been governing France for more than two years. His program was almost identical with that proposed by Socialist Jules Moch and Radical Socialist Rene Mayer, who had failed in forming governments.

Like them, Bidault promised a cost-of-living bonus for the lowest paid workers. Disagreement over the wages issue had forced the resignation of Premier Henri Quiette's government on Oct. 6.

France had not been so long without a government, historians said, since 1899, whene Rene Waldeck Roesseau formed a cabinet after the country had been without one for a month.

Ten Ministers Retained

Approving Bidault as premier, the national assembly gave him the biggest majority for a premier at his start in office since November, 1947, when Robert Schuman received 412 votes. Bidault needed only 310.

The new Bidault government was much similar to the Queuille government. Ten of the 18 ministers were retained in their old jobs. Queuille himself was back as vice premier and minister without portfolio.

Among Queuille's 16 ministers there had been five Socialists, two Radical Socialists (moderates) and six MRP members. Bidault named 18 ministers, with five Socialists, three Radical Socialists, six MRP and the rest from small rightist or indepedent groups.

Bidault retained Schuman as foreign minister. Also back in their old jobs were Interior Minister Jules Moch, Socialist, and Finance Minister Maurice Petsche, independent.

Three Changes Made

There were only three notable changes from the Queuille cabinet, aside from the premiership.

Socialist Paul Ramadier was dropped as minister of defense. The portfolio went to Rene Pleven, of the small Democratic and Socialist Union of Resistance (UDSR). Radical Socialist Rene Mayer became minister of justice, instead of Robert Lecourt, MRP.

Pierre Segella, Socialist, replaced his fellow party member Daniel Mayer as minister of labor. Mayer had been blamed for forcing the downfall of the Queuille government and was personally unpopular among the other parties because of this. He had asked Wednesday night that he not be considered for a cabinet post.

no reprisals."

Johnson, testifying before the committee on August 23, was asked by Rep. Short whether military witnesses could appear without entertaining "any notion of suffering reprisals."

Johnson replied: "That is correct."

Short said today that the ouster action will make it "increasingly difficult for Congress to get free, full and frank discussions from members of the armed services for fear of reprisals."

Move Is Blasted

"It looks," he added, "as if they are going to develop a military heirarchy—a dictatorship, or what you will—and Congress isn't being let in on the picture."

Rep. Sasscer (D-Md) called the move "goose-stepping subjugation."

Arends, the assistant Republican leader in the House, said Denfeld's firing signals the start of a "wave of terror" in the Pentagon.

He further called it a "high-handed, arbitrary, dictatorial attitude which smacks far more of the Kremlin than of the capitol of the United States."

Strike Vote

the walkout "seems inevitable."

Ryan said he would recommend that no strike be called until midnight Wednesday, mostly "on behalf of the public," but Ryan stressed that he could not set the strike date.

The transit company has offered drivers a 10-cent per hour wage boost, but held that was possible only if fares were boosted to a flat 10 cents, without the use of tokens.

The drivers have asked for an increase of 25 cents, or $1.42 per hour, whereas the company offer would be from the current $1.17 to $1.27.

Coates said his firm had no plans to operate buses if the strike is called. He explained that inexperienced drivers could not be used because they would not be familiar with routes.

Daily Market Report

Stock Market

STOCKS DECLINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The stock market gently slid down the price scale today. Closing prices were the lows of the day.

Losses were small for the most part, a few running to more than a point, and a good many issues tacked on small gains.

Chrysler stood out with a rise of two points at one time, following an increased dividend and excellent earnings report. The rise was trimmed later in the day.

Orders to buy and sell flew hot and fast at the opening and for a short while it appeared possible that the market might break into new high ground for the year. The tentative advance failed to build up any momentum and the market settled into a narrow price pattern.

In early afternoon profit taking operations began to chip away at the price structure more insistently.

A substantial amount of business was done with turnover at the rate of around 1,500,000 shares for the full session.

Among the losers were U. S. Steel, Goodrich, Lockneed, Admiral Corp., Anaconda Copper, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), and Paramount (old).

General Motors and Bethlehem Steel tended upward, with Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, General Electric, Texas Co., and Loew's.

Cotton Market

[illegible] REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in slow trading today. Mill buying and local demand were offset by hedging and profit taking.

Aggressive bull and New Orleans buying rallied cotton futures into new high ground for the day in late trading.

Futures closed 40 to 80 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

[illegible] REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 (AP) — A late sell-off in soybeans weakened the rest of the grain markets today, repeating the pattern of the previous session. Soybeans lost a couple of cents on the drop.

Bookings of around 250,000 bushels, coupled with splendid harvesting weather, weakened corn. Wheat and oats eased with other cereals.

Wheat closed ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, December $2.13⅜-½, corn was ½-¾ lower, December $1.10¾-⅞, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 71⅞, rye was unchanged to ¾ lower, December $1.41½, soybeans were 1½ lower to ½ higher, November $2.22½-⅝, and lard was unchanged to 22 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $10.05.

Shelter For Slaves Is Believed Found

ELYRIA, Ohio, Oct. 28 (U.P.) — Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Amidon believe they may have uncovered a station used by the "underground railroad" to smuggle slaves to Canada during pre-Civil War days.

The couple have been unable to find any other logical explanation for the small, oval bricked-in room which was found under an old porch at their home.

At first they thought it was a cistern, but it showed no signs of ever having held water. One of the walls is directly against the foundation of the house, indicating there may have been an outlet from the room into the basement.

The Amidons, however, have been unable to find any record of an "underground station."

Crowds Irate Over Insults To Crosby At Prague Concert

PRAGUE, Oct. 28. (AP)—Czechoslovakia's cold war on American hot jazz ran into a home front defense of Bing Crosby last night.

Ardent Czech Communist youths have been campaigning against jazz and jitterbugging, which they say are examples of decadent western culture.

Last night at a Prague concert of Crosby records, an announcer called Bing a "greedy American money-seeker who sacrifices his art for gold." The crowd—which had stood in line for an hour to pack the 200-seat theater to overflowing—replied with a storm of angry shouts and whistles.

Protest Czech Singer

"And, politically," the announcer continued, "this Crosby stands for nothing that could be identified with the principles of Jefferson or Lincoln." From the audience came more boos and cries of "pfui."

"Frank Sinatra is much better but they (the Americans) wouldn't give him a chance," the commentator said. The audience ignored that one.

The program had been advertised as an all-Crosby evening. But the final number—"Irish Lullaby"—turned out to be a recording by a Czech singer. That provoked a last noisy outburst of protest from the crowd.

(In Hollywood Crosby declined to comment.)

Air Force Woman Is Given Heroism Award

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Lt. Mary Patricia O'Hara, 30, today holds the nation's major peacetime award for heroism—the Soldier's medal.

In a full dress presentation yesterday she became the first member of the women of the Air Force to receive the medal.

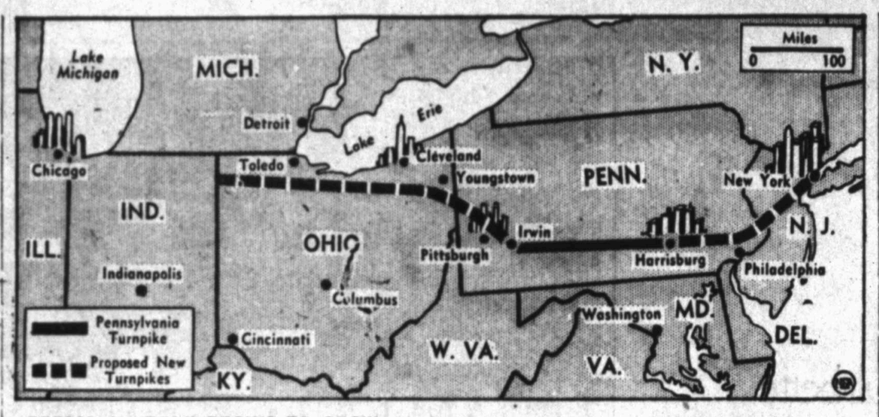

Lt. O'Hara was awarded the decoration for saving the life of Katherine Boening, 21, Galveston, last July. Her citation said in part:

"With complete disregard for her own safety, Lt. O'Hara dived into the treacherous gulf waters off Fort Crockett, Texas, and with considerable difficulty, succeeded in bringing the young woman safely to shore."

Lt. O'Hara is stationed at Lackland Air base here. She is the daughter of Mrs. V. C. O'Hara, Vancouver, B. C., and former swimming champion at the University of Washington.

JACK'S COAT STOLEN

DALLAS, Oct. 28. (U.P.)—Jack Frost reported to police today that his winter overcoat had been stolen from his home.

DREAM HIGHWAY BEGINS TO GROW—In the nine years since it was built, the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike, stretching 160 miles from Harrisburg to Irwin, Pa., has been the marvel of millions of motoristss. The four-lane divided highway—built at a cost of $70,000,000 over what was orginally planned as a railroad right-of-way—has no stop lights, no road intersections, no railroad crossings, no sharp curves or steep grades. It does have a nominal toll fee for cars and trucks. Now, action is underway to extend America's first super-duper highway as far west as Indiana and eastward to New York City. Ohio's new Turnpike Commission will spend $600,000 surveying a 250-mile route as shown on the map above. The complete project will cost $300,000,000. It will connect with a planned extension of the Pennsylvania pike to the Ohio border near Youngstown. Meanwhile, Pennsylvania also is extending its turnpike eastward from Harrisburg to near Philadelphia. This is expected to link with a New Jersey superhighway leading to New York.

Thomas Going On Trial Nov. 7

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff ruled today that Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) must stand trial Nov. 7 on charges of defrauding the government.

Holtzoff refused a further continuance of the trial, already several times postponed, after receiving a report on Thomas' physical condition from two private physicians. The doctors were named by the court to examine him.

Indicted Year Ago

Defense attorneys had contended that the 54-year-old Thomas, who is suffering from a stomach disorder, is too ill to appear for trial now.

Thomas, one-time chairman of the House committee on un-American activities, was indicted a year ago on charges of conspiring to defraud the government. The indictment accused the lawmaker of office-payroll-padding and taking "kickbacks" from employes.

Offer Of Endowment Is Rejected By SMU

DALLAS, Oct. 28. (AP)—A trustee for Southern Methodist university said a $5,000,000 endowment offered on condition the school bar Jewish students from its classes had been rejected.

He said the offer was refused by Dr. Humphrey Lee, president of the university; that the board of trustees had turned down a proposal that Dr. Lee be discharged and the offer reconsidered.

Dr. W. Harrison Baker of Dallas, an SMU trustee, said yesterday that the offer of the endowment was made several months ago by George W. Armstrong sr., of Fort Worth.

He said Dr. Lee refused the offer in a brief letter to Armstrong; that Armstrong then asked SMU regents to discharge Dr. Lee and to reconsider the endowment offer.

Homecoming Parade Will Feature Bands

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 28. (AP) Sixty high school bands from Texas and Oklahoma will march through Wichita Falls tomorrow in the fourth annual Hardin college homecoming parade.

James B. Boren, president of the college, estimated today that 4,500 visiting band students will be here. All will be guests at a barbecue following the parade.

Tomorrow afternoon, Hardin college will meet the University of Houston here in a Gulf coast conference football game.

Homecoming activities will begin officially Friday night with a reception of ex-students and a performance of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" by the college blue curtain players. An alumni luncheon meeting Saturday and a dance Saturday night will round out the two-day celebration.

Rural Phone Measure Is Signed By Truman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—President Truman signed the rural telephone bill today. Congress already has appropriated $25,000,000 to get the program moving.

The new law starts a farm telephone lending program similar to that of the Rural Electrification administration. It will be administered by the REA.

Loans will be available to existing telephone systems and farm mutual and cooperative groups.

Financing at two per cent for 35 years will be available for the improvement, expansion, construction, acquisition and operation of telephone facilities in farm areas.

Films of the 1948 football game between Army and Navy were shown today to members of the American Business club at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel. Chief Petty Officer W. J. Spivey, navy recruiter here, supplied the one-reel film. George Dale presided and Rev. B. Watkins gave the invocation.

For months, Addie Calloway, a young waitress of 1617 Ave. E, had been saving so that she might, with government assistance, attend a school for the deaf. Finally she had accumulated $91 and had papers important toward her entering of school. This morning she lost her billfold containing her money and the papers. A reward has been offered for return of the property. Identification papers in the billfold identify the owner, police said.

Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank left today for San Antonio, where officials said they had detained A. J. Compton, defendant in two forgery by alteration complaints on file in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace. The defendant is accused of having "raised" two checks signed by H. V. Edsall, from $25 to $225.

Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson this morning set $300 peace bond for Roy Wilson, 44, after a hearing on affidavit of Wilson's wife Lillie that the defendant had threatened to kill her with agun.

Gus Gatzki, resident of Wilson community, today was reported in satisfactory condition at Lubbock Memorial hospital, where he underwent major surgery Tuesday.

James T. Florence, 33, of Slaton has been committed to Lubbock county jail under contempt assessment of $100 fine and three days of imprisonment, records at the jail and in the district court's office showed today. An order of 72nd District Judge Dan Blair recited that Florence had violated terms of a Sept. 5 injunction that enjoined him from interfering with his former wife and two daughter who had been given to her custody in connection with a divorce decree. Seven violations were described to have happened.

J. O. Lewis of 1511 Main died this morning while visiting at Spur. The 68-year-old man had been in ill health for a long time, friends said. The body was taken to the Marr Funeral home at Ralls. Services will be held in Lubbock Sunday.

Cost Of Living Hike Reported By Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The cost of living rose one half of one per cent in September, the largest monthly increase in consumer prices for a year.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting this today, said the prices of all major items contributing to city living costs went up except clothing.

The rise, however, still left the price level three per cent below the all-time peak of Sptember a years ago. It was 27 per cent higher than in June, 1946, and 72 per cent above August, 1939.

The BLS index stood at 169.6 on September, 15, based on the 1935-39 average as 100.

The index at mid-August was 168.8 and in September of last year was 174.5.

Food and fuel prices led the upward movement. They advanced 0.8 per cent and 0.9 per cent, respectively.

House furnishings went up 0.4 per cent, reversing a continuous downward trend which had persisted for almost a year.

Police Link Man In Big Spring Slaying

LAMESA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Texas Ranger J. L. Rogers said a safe-cracking suspect machine-gunned to death by Brownsville police early Wednesday may be wanted for murder in Big Spring.

Rogers said last night that descriptions of the man shot when surprised at work on a safe in a Brownsville auto firm and those of the Big Spring suspect tallied in several ways.

Big Spring officers have been seeking a man in the Sept. 26 slaying of Hope Leonard, a transient farm worker who was beaten to death.

Fed Up On Repairs, Man Burns His Car

SINCLAIR, Wyo., Oct. 28. (U.P.)—Bill Peterson's 20-year-old jalopy was nothing but charred metal today but it was still causing him trouble.

Fed up with five months of "trying to fix it up" the despairing Peterson drove it out on a highway north of town, sprinkled gasoline over and set it afire.

He was gleefully watching it burn when sheriff's officers arrested him for blocking a public highway.

Mild Weather For Texas Is Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

Mild weather was expected to continue tomorrow over most of Texas.

For the eastern portion of the state the Weather bureau predicted clouds and rain in the south portion tonight. Tomorrow the rain was expected to move into the northeast portion and along the upper coast.

West Texas was expected to be fair this afternoon with partly cloudy skies tomorrow. No important temperature changes were forecast for the state.

Temperatures were in the upper 60's yesterday over most of the state. A high maximum of 77 was reported at Presidio and a low maximum of 62 at Fort Worth.

Galveston had a low of 64 and it was 32 at Dalhart.

Light rain was reported along the coast. The most rain was .88 inches at Victoria.

The Constelltion was about 1,400 miles out of Paris on its way to New York when it disappeared early this morning (8:50 p. m., CST, Thursday night).

Weather Was Bad

Earlier Air France had said it had received a message from a search plane which had sighted the wreckage on San Miguel, the largest island of the Azores, some 90 miles from Santa Maria.

Company officials said they had no idea what had happened to prevent the plane from landing at Santa Maria. However, the weather was bad at the time, they said.

The Constellation was last heard from at 8:50 p. m. CST Thursday, when the pilot radioed he was ready to land—in bad weather—five minutes later on Santa Maria airdrome. The airport is in the rocky Azores island group, 1,200 miles east of the Spanish coast.

The airliner left Orly airport here at 2 p. m. CST Thursday, and was due in New York at 10 a. m. today.

Cerdan was exceedingly gay when he took the plane at Orly airfield yesterday, headed for his bout with Lamotte.

"With all my strength I want to get back that title that I so stupidly lost." He told friends on the way to the airport.

"For those who say I'm washed up," Cerdan said, "I can say that despite my 33 years and my 110 fights, I feel myself at my peak, not a bit touched by age or the wear and tear of the game."

Murray was holding fast to his stand that the steel industry should accept a presidential board's recommendation that employers pay the entire cost of a pension-insurance plan for workers. The steel industry was insisting that workers should chip in too.

The union leader said in a New York speech last night that he wasn't yielding. He said the steel companies "with all their wealth and power are not big enough to defeat us." He said workers would take a pay cut in effect if they are required to pay part of pension-insurance costs.

Airport officials believed an engine cut out before the plane could gain height. The plane buried itself in mud at the edge of the airport and burst into a furious blaze, flaming so intensely that firemen and rescue workers could not immediately approach the wreckage.

An emergency call brought fire brigades from several nearby Middlesex towns. As soon as the wreckage cooled, the bodies were pulled clear.

NORWICH, N. Y. (U.P.)—Rat poison on an apple caused the death of an 18-year-old bride of a few months. Police said Mrs. Nancy Anne Hackett Snell was stricken when she ate an apple which she had unknowingly placed on a broken tube of phosphoric rat poison lying on a shelf.

Women Change Plea; Court Work Abetted

Three women who had posted three $200 bonds each in connection with pleas of innocent of vagrancy by prostitution went into corporation court this morning and asked permission to change their pleas to guilty as charged.

J. Solon Lea, city recorder who is presiding magistrate of corporation court, fined them a total of $100 each—$25 each for two offenses and $50 for the third.

The charges were in connection with consecutive vice raids Monday through Wednesday. Several other women were arrested at the same time. Most of those other cases have been disposed of.

Another step in connection with expediting the procedure of the corporation court was announced this morning, when Hunter Tolbert of 2119 Twenty-seventh commenced duties as clerk of the court.

James F. Moore, an attorney of 1808 Twentieth, recently assumed duties as corporation court prosecutor. He moved here from Sudan.

Tolbert and his family recently returned to Lubbock from Alamosa, Colo., where they had lived several months.

Dinner Program Slated

There will be no admission fee for the performance.

At 7:30 p.m. today, a dinner program will be held in Luby's suburban cafeteria, 2410 Broadway, at which T. C. Janeway, Tech librarian, will speak on "The Role of the Library in the Improvement of Reading." The general theme of the session will be "Quantity and Quality of Students' Reading."

Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Gladys Sims, of the Lubbock schools; Mrs. L. H. McElroy, of the Seminole schools; Mrs. R. Briggs Irvin, of the Lubbock schools; and Dr. Alan L. Strout and H. N. White, members of the English faculty at Texas Tech.

The third and final general session will be held from 9 to 10:30 a.m. in the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium. Mrs. Nils Akeson, of the Plainview High school, will be chairman. The theme for the meeting will be "Development of Critical and Judicial Reading Attitudes," and program leaders are Mrs. James G. Allen, member of the journalism staff at Texas Tech; and Mrs. Robert Dobson, of Wayland college, Plainview.

Discussion Is Set

From 10:45 to 11 a. m., a meeting is planned on the State Committee Recommendations concerning the ACE English Co-operative test and Remedial Reading Program. Dr. Alan M. F. Gunn of Texas Tech, general chairman for this year's workshop-conference, will be in charge

From 11 to 11:30 a. m., Miss Dorothy Lamoux, director of secondary education for the Lubbock public schools, will lead a question period, in which all attending teachers are to participate.

A business meeting for officials of the District IV Workshop-Conference is planned from 11:30 to 12 noon Saturday, after which the conference will be concluded.

Various committees and their chairmen for the English Workshop-Conference were announced this week by Dr. Gunn, general chairman. They are as follows:

Chairman of local arrangements, Miss Irene Arms of Lubbock Senior High school; dinner chairman, Mrs. Lois Keeton, of Lubbock Senior High school.

Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions, Miss Anne Louise Jones of Odessa, chairman, Mrs. J. M. Burleson of Sundown, Mrs. Louise Hair of Levelland, Mrs. Suttle Purcell of Lamesa, and Mrs. Grace Wellborn of Texas Tech.

Committee on Nominations, Miss Ione McAlister of Big Spring, chairman, Dr. T. W. Camp of Texas Tech and Miss Nell Wylie of Lubbock Senior High school.

Miss Glenys Honey of Lubbock Senior High school is program chairman.

At Scott and White hospital, the dead man's identity was established as William Thomas Little of Casper, Wyo.

Other injured brought to the hospital were identified as Gordon Thomas, a negro whose condition was not serious, and Bryan Hancock of St. Louis, who was in critical condition.

Thomas told hospital attendants that he, Little and Hancock were riding in a flat car when the train derailed.

A shifting of steel in a car immediately behind was reportedly the cause of fatal injuries to Little and the serious hurts received by Hancock. The latter had a possible concussion and several bone fractures.

Battle Over Musical Trolleys In Washington Reaches Feverish Pitch In Special Hearings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The local battle of the musical trolleys went into its second tempestuous day today with a highly vocal anti-noise faction claiming an open-day margin of several shouts and a holler.

Hearings got underway yesterday, to the accompaniment of loud laughter and commentary from an overflow crowd.

Chairman James H. Flanagan of the public utilities commission admonished in vain that the noisiest side need not be the winning one in the explosive debate over whether Washington street cars should be allowed to carry programs of music, news and advertising.

"We want you to enjoy yourself," Flanagan told the restive audience, "but I must tell you that applause or exclamations of approval will have no weight when the commission reaches a decision on this matter."

That didn't stop the noise.

Programs Sickening

The skirmishing started several weeks ago, when irate citizens wrote letters to the local newspapers protesting the practice of beaming special fm programs into certain of the Capital Transit company's vehicles. Some citizens organizations took up the fight, eleven for the broadcasts and three against.

The whole issue axploded before the utilities commission yesterday. Audience participation became so hard to restrain that Flanagan withdrew a rule against testimony from the floor. The response was terrific.

Said Jerome Schoenfeld, a reporter for a group of trade publications:

"Both the music and the commercials on the programs I have heard on buses and streetcars sicken me. I do not have a doctor's certificate to show that I became sick, but the commission will have to believe that I was made ill."

Musician Insulted

The audience—estimated by impartial observers to be at least three to one anti-music—cheered lustily.

Said John Connaughton, president of the Federation of Citizens associations: "radios on streetcars and busses cannot injure individuals who are normal enough to be at large."

The audience peered, and many people protested vigorously.

"As a musician," avoice shouted, "I feel insulted!"

The testimony appeared heavily weighted against the musical vehicles, which carry programs transmitted by radio station WWDC. The station pays the transit company for the service.

One of the witnesses was R. A. Seelig, who identified himself as president of the Transit Riders association, an organization founded last Tuesday with 42 members. Seelig called the loud-speaker equipped vehicles a "nuisance" and proposed earphones for those who want to listen.

"This would permit others to talk, read, or even think," he said.

Seelig was cheered for five minutes when he stepped down.

Despite the weight of the anti-noise forces at yesterday's hearing, the public utilities commission reported that the communications it has received on the subject are about evenly divided. The commission plans to continue its sessions for several days.

Cost Of Nineteenth Street Extension Studied By City

Members of the city commission studied estimates of cost of opening Nineteenth street eastward from the present deadend at Texas avenue and approved a new plumbing code on first reading as highlights of routine business at their regular meeting Thursday afternoon.

Action on the plumbing code followed a lively debate on whether copper pipe and fittings should be allowed on plumbing installed henceforth in Lubbock. Under the new code, which requires passage on a second reading for final approval, the metal may be used above ground.

Owners Ask $111,415

The commission was advised that owners of property now b' icking Nineteenth between Texas avenue and the Fort Worth & Denver City railroad tracks at about Avenue G have asked a total of $111,415 for their holdings.

City Manager Steve Matthews said about $95,000 in bond money remains to acquire rights of way for thoroughfares in the city dispersal system, which includes Nineteenth.

The amounts asked by individual property owners for rights-of-way for the street were listed as including: F. D. Brown, $47,560; F. L. Hicks, $40,000; A. M. Leftwich, $8,625; John Toles, $4,600; J. K. Miller, $4,600; M. M. Crawford, $3,750; C. C. Burns, $1,280, and Mrs. W. F. Cole, $1,000.

Members of the commission agreed to meet again next week to study the problem further.

Dispersal system planning calls for the eastward extension of Nineteenth to a convergence with East Broadway at a point several blocks east of the entrance to Mackenzie State park.

Objections to the portions of the new code which would permit the use of copper fittings above ground on plumbing installed in Lubbock were R. G. Scott, business agent of the plumbers' labor union, and R. O. Gibson, executive secretary of the Associated Plumbing Contractors of Lubbock.

Their contention that copper is not suitable as a material for such purposes was disputed vigorously by Thomas F. McDermott, representing the Copper & Brass association of America, and Floyd Read, manager of the J. W. Gray Plumbing company.

Use of the metal is forbidden in the existing code which, it was acknowledged, was not enforced during the period of wartime metal shortages.

Charges Are Considered

Charges have been made, members of the city commission said, that some of the opposition to the legalized use of copper has arisen from the fact that its installation requires less work, and consequently means less money for plumbers than when other metals are used.

Approval of the code on first reading was by the unanimous vote of Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, E. K. Hufstedler, John Spikes and Clarence Whiteside.

The mayor announced further that when it comes up for second reading, probably on Nov. 10, he will urge that it be amended to permit the use of copper for underground as well as above-ground plumbing.

"I think copper is just as good as any other metal for most plumbing purposes both underground and above ground, and it would save a lot of folks a lot of money on their plumbing bills," Mayor Rodgers declared.

Other Action Taken

Officials said they did not know why the use of the metal is forbidden in the existing code.

Other routine actions included:

The award of a contract to Elmer Terry to remove the base hospital buildings at the wartime Lubbock Army Air field to a site in northeast Lubbock for conversion into a city-county public health and welfare center. The total estimated cost of about $12,000 will be paid by the city and county.

Awarded a contract to the Holden Landscape and Nursery company to prune trees which are close to electric lines on a bid of $1.45 per man per hour.

Authorized the purchase of a Leroy loader for a city street sweeper from Fred Berryhill Equipment company for $1,836.71.

Locations For Four New Test Wells In Scurry Are Staked

Locations for four explorations to test the Canyon lime reef of Scurry County have been made. All are to drill to 7,000 feet, using rotary tools. Three of the ventures are to be in the North Snyder field and one is in the Kelley field.

Sunray Oil Corporation No. 2 J. W. Newton is to be located in the North Snyder field, 660 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of six miles north of Snyder.

The same company has also staked location in the North Snyder field for its No. 4 R. B. Brown.

The proposed drillsite is 467 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of tract 8, which is in sections 20 and 26, Block 1, J. P. Smith survey. That makes it miles north of Snyder.

Another North Snyder project is to be Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 3 G. E. Parks, which will be 1,980 feet from south and 680 feet from west lines of section 448, block 97, H & TC survey. It will be 11 miles north of Snyder.

In the Kelly field W. A. Moncrief, of Fort Worth, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby of Hollywood, Calif., and Paul Teas of Dallas, have staked location and are to begin operations soon at their No. 1 J. S. Griffin.

No. 1 Griffin will be 467 feet from north and west lines of section 208, block 97, H & TC survey. It is three miles west of Snyder.

7,000-FOOT WILDCAT IS TO BE STARTED

Lone Star Producing Company of Dallas is to start drilling immediately on a 7,000-foot wildcat to test the Canyon reef in Central Scurry County, four miles northwest of Snyder.

The venture, No. 1 R. W. Webb, will be 467 feet from south and west lines of the north half of section 17, J. P. Smith survey, and one-half mile north of Standard-Fryer Drilling Company No. 1 Wilkinson, recently completed discovery from the Canyon reef between the Kelley and North Snyder fields.

Drilling is to be with rotary tools.

CROSBY COUNTY TEST WELL IS PLANNED

Rogers Brothers & Stewart of Wichita Falls plan to drill a 3,200 foot wildcat to test the San Andres of the Permian in Central-South Crosby County, 20 miles north of Post.

The project is to be their No. 1 W. H. Belding, and others and will be located 990 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 4, block D-15, WTRR survey.

NO PRODUCTION IN WELL IS LOCATED

Olson, Glasco, Chambers and Zonne No. 1 Green, Central Scurry County wildcat, two miles north of the town of Snyder and two miles south and three-quarters of a mile east of the closet completed producer on the southeast side of the North Snyder field, had reached 7,601 feet in lime and shale and was making more hole.

This venture has drilled through the Canyon section of the Pennsylvanian and is now in the lower section of that formation.

Up to now it has not logged any possibilities of production. Some sources report that it is to be continued to the Ellenburger. That has not been officially verified.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 157, block 3, H & GN survey.

PERMIT TO CONTINUE DRILLING IS ASKED

Stanolind Oil and Gas Company No. 1 Whatley, Central-North Scurry County wildcat, three miles north of the northwest side of the North Snyder field and 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 548, block 97, H&TC survey, was drilling ahead past 8,150 feet in lime and chert and is expecting the Ellenburger at any time.

This venture is in the Mississipian. It tried a drillstem test when total depth was 8,138 feet. The packer failed and there was no recovery.

Operator has filed an amended application with the Railroad Commission, asking for a permit to continue digging until 8,700 feet is reached.

That projected destination indicates that the operator intends to test through he full section of the Ellenburger . . . if and when it is found.

It is not likely that the project will have to go the full distance to 8,700 feet to investigate the Ellenburger.

KENT COUNTY TEST MAY BE DRILLED

Earl Calloway and J. H. Harvey of Corpus Christi have filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill their No. 1 E. E. Wallace as an 8,000-foot rotary wildcat in Southwest Kent County, 15 miles southwest of Clairemont.

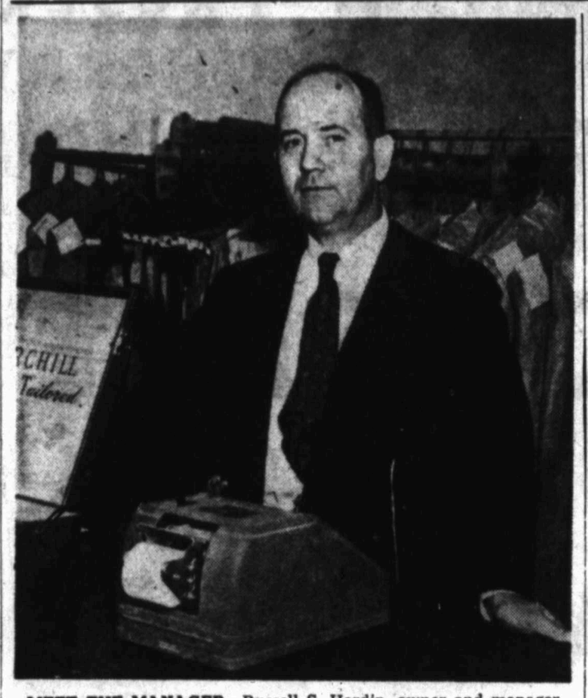

Projected depth is to explore the Ellenburger.

Drilling is to get under way, using rotary tools.

The drillsite will be 660 feet from south and east lines of the north half of section 28, block 5, H&GN survey.

More Economic Help Urged For Yugoslavs

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—More American economic aid to help Yugoslavia defy Soviet Russia has been urged by U. S. envoys to Iron Curtain countries, diplomatic sources said today.

American ambassadors to Russia and the Communist satellite countries met here earlier this week with Assistant Secretary of State George Perkins to exchange views on countries in which they are serving as envoys.

Diplomatic informants who declined to be quoted by name said Cavendish Cannon, U. S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, has suggested that Yugoslavia be exempted from many of the restrictions imposed on east-west trade. The restrictions are intended to prevent goods of potential military value going to Communist countries.

Cannon was reported to have said there is basically little difference in Communist practices of Yugoslavia and other Eastern European countries despite Marshal Tito's bitter feud with the Kremlin. But there was said to be general agreement among the ambassadors that U. S. policy should aim at widening the breach between Tito and the Russian-led Cominform.

Texas Naval Officer Gets "Unlucky" Gift

LONDON, Oct. 28. (INS)—U. S. Navy Lieutenant George William Stroud of Fort Worth, Tex., made news today because he isn't superstitious.

The 30-year-old American officer met a London housewife, Mrs. Joan Smith, 23, who claimed she was having trouble disposing of an ancient Egyptian mummy mask.

Mrs. Smith said the mask "hoodooed" her since her husband brought it home from a wartime visit to Egypt. She said she couldn't give it away and even the British museum turned it down.

So when she met Stroud she asked him if he was superstitious, said Stroud:

"Not me, mam. I don't believe in that sort of stuff."

AEC Improving Atom Plant At Oak Ridge

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Oct. 28. (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission has announced a $19,000,000 construction and improvement program will be undertaken at Oak Ridge national laboratory here.

Of the total amount, $10,500,000 will be for new research facilities and about $4,200,000 for renovation of existing research facilities and utilities.

The program will last abbut two and a half years. The principal new facility will be a research building which will serve as an instrument laboratory.

The laboratory projects have no connection with the proposed $300,000,000 expansion which the AEC announced earlier this week.

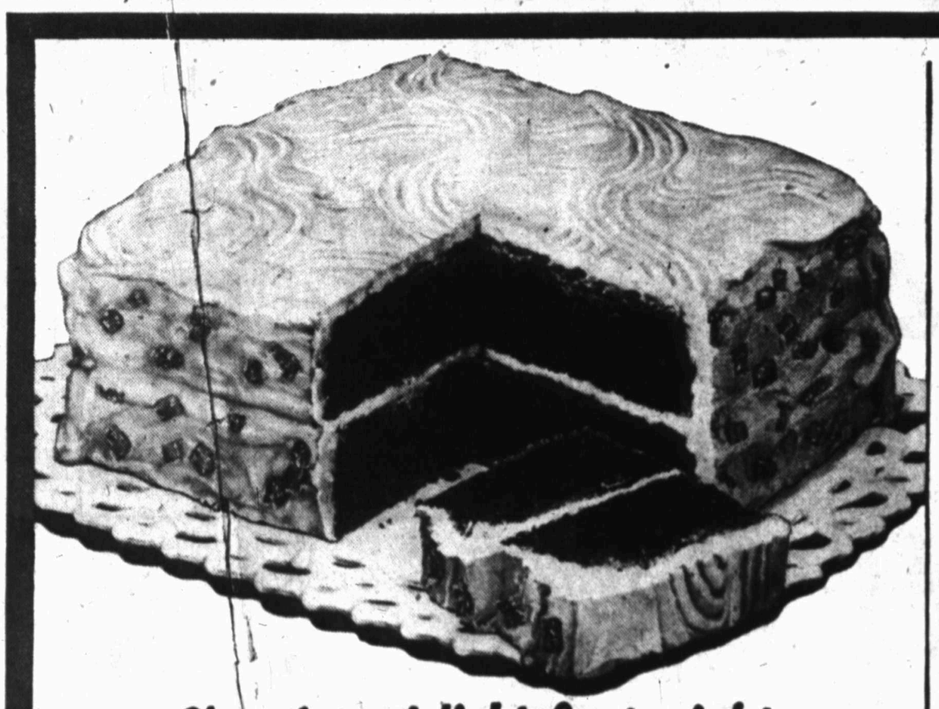

Austria will have 28,350 new silos.

Chocolate delight for tonight
Crisco's Cocoalight Cake
One of the many Crisco Success Cake Recipes you'll find in the Crisco Cook Book
Here's a chocolate-lover's dream cake—yummy-rich and moist—that even a beginner can bake the can't-fail Crisco way! For pure, all-vegetable Crisco has a baking secret. And each of Crisco's famous Success Cake recipes is built around that secret. Result? A lighter, richer, moister, more tender cake than you'll get with any other type of shortening or ordinary recipe! Just be sure to use Crisco and follow the recipe carefully. For though Crisco will make any cake a better cake, Crisco plus a Success Cake recipe is double insurance of success!
CRISCO'S CHOCOLATE CAKE WITH ORANGE ICING
(Makes two 9" layers)
Measure into mixing-bowl: (All Measurements Level)
2 cups cake flour (sifted before measuring)
2 cups sugar
⅓ cup Crisco • 1 tsp. salt
2 squares melted chocolate
1½ tsps. soda
⅝ cup milk
Fluffy Crisco needs no creaming! Beat vigorously by hand or with mixer (medium speed) 2 mins. Now stir in (yes, all by itself):
¼ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
Add: ½ cup milk • 2 eggs (unbeaten) • 1 tsp. vanilla
Blend by hand or in mixer (medium speed) for 2 mins. (See! Total mixing time's a mere 4 minutes! And only one bowl to wash.) The batter will be smooth and thin. Pour into 2 square layer pans (9" x 1¼" deep), rubbed with Crisco, lined with waxed paper. (With smaller pans, fill half full; bake cup cakes with remaining batter.) Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 40 minutes. Cool cake in pan on rack for 15 mins. before removing. Loosen edges from pan with spatula. Place rack over cake and pan; invert together. Cool and frost with orange icing—see recipe in the new Crisco Cook Book.

Longshoremen Leader Expects Big Fight At CIO Convention

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28 (AP) — Hard-hitting Harry Bridges, leader of 65,000 longshoremen, declared today the only way his union would leave the CIO "would be if we're booted out."

The west coast leader — who takes pride in calling his union a left-wing organization — admitted he thought next week's annual convention would be "rough as all hell."

That is because right wing forces are determined to have a showdown with the 11 or 12 unions under left leaders. But Bridges said a committee of about a dozen representatives of key locals in the longshoremen's union will meet with CIO President Philip Murray.

Murray Holds Answer

Murray holds the answer to how tough the fight becomes.

The fact that Bridges was seeking a private conference with Murray in advance of the convention indicated the leftist forces were anxious to head off that showdown — or at least to pin the blame on Murray for what happens next week.

Murray also agreed yesterday to meet a delegation of the United Electrical workers, biggest of the left-wing groups, on Sunday.

The UE group served a six-point ultimatum on Murray after the UE convention here in September. The union said it would hold back its per capita payments of eight cents per month for approximately 375,000 members, unless Murray met UE's terms.

UE leaders asked Murray to fire any critics and raiders within the CIO officers and staff.

Murray at first was cool to a request by UE for a meeting before the convention. He said the issues involved in their dispute were so deep the convention would have to pass on them. But the CIO chief changed his mind while in New York yesterday and the UE and Bridges meetings were suddenly arranged.

Bridges told a news conference that his delegation wanted to discuss two major points with Murray:

One was the longshoremen's continued participation in the Soviet-dominated World Federation of Trade unions, despite the CIO's withdrawal last spring. The other was what Bridges terms the "autonomy" of his union, meaning he wants to be able to put to a referendum vote any policy questions raised by the CIO over which the longshoremen might be ousted from the CIO.

Bridges refused to go along on three major CIO policy lines in the past two years. Most important was his refusal to support President Truman for reelection. He backed Henry Wallace instead. The others were support of the Marshall plan and the Atlantic pact.

Objects To Orders

The west coast leader said he didn't think a union should have to take orders from the CIO without a chance to vote on them and "either accept, reject or by-pass them."

Membership in the World Federation of Trade unions was important to the longshoremen, Bridges told reporters, because "we need the support of dock workers around the world when we go on strike."

He said that if Murray would guarantee that the new World Labor congress now being established with both CIO and AFL support could provide the strike backing for his membership, "that's all we would want — we wouldn't need the WFTO."

"We're ready to make concessions to stay in the CIO," Bridges said. But he added that he thought the union would survive if it was dumped from the CIO.

"It won't wither and die if Bridges isn't on the executive board, either," he said.

What Bridges and the UE leadership, including president Albert J. Fitzgerald, secretary Julius Emspak, and organization director James J. Matles, agree upon with Murray over the week end will show the way for other left-wing unions.

These include the mine, mill and smelter workers, farm equipment workers, fur and leather workers, marine cooks and stewards, food, tobacco and agricultural workers, united public workers, office and professional workers, furniture workers, fisherman and allied workers, and the American Communications associaton.

Baby, 26 Months Old, Hefty Weight Lifter

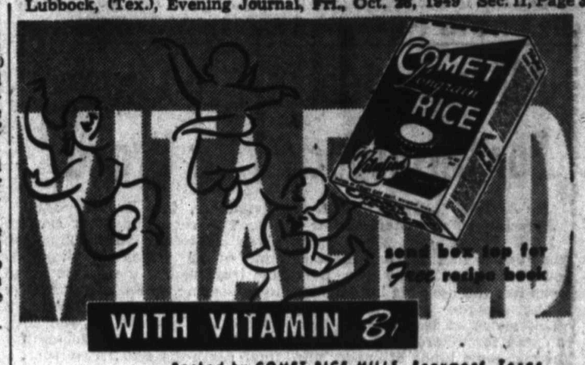

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 28 (U.P.)—Little Paul Thomas Wrenn, aged 26 months, prefers the title "hard-rock" to names of endearment. He went into training at the age of 18 months.

He can now lift a 22½-pound weight up from the ground over his head and hold it there for several minutes.

Much of his achievement can be credited to his grandfather, Paul Simpson, 44, who is reputed to have outrun a horse in a race from Burlington to Kinston, a distance of about 140 miles.

NEXT BIG HEALTH STEP INDICATED

All-Inclusive Test To Check For Unsuspected Ills Urged

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—A shotgun hunt to find and halt diseases you don't even know you have looks like the next big health step.

The shotgun hunt will be a quick series of tests at one time to check for tuberculosis, diabetes, anemia, some kinds of cancer and hearth diseases, syphilis, and other diseases. It will take perhaps 15 to 30 minutes.

At present such hunts are done separately, like firing single bullets. There are cancer detection centers, mass chest x-ray surveys for TB, surveys to find diabetes and syphilis.

Unsuspected Ills Found

These hunts find thousands of people who have the disease being checked for. People are sent to their physicians for early treatment that can save life. But each hunt can overlook other serious, even unsuspected diseases.

Tying the threads together, ... a shotgun approach, was described to the American Public Health association by Dr. Lester Breslow, chief of the chronic disease service, California state department of public health.

Even a simple battery of tests could probably spot 20 to 25 people with unsuspected, significant disease out of each 1,000 examined, he said.

The first trial with multiple tests was made in San Jose, Calif., on 945 workers in four industries. Each got a chest x-ray, blood test and urinalysis. It took 15 minutes for each worker.

Doctors' Time Saved

Thirteen were found to have unsuspected tuberculosis, diabetes, or diseases of the heart, blood vessels, or kidneys. Another 16 were found to have diseases that had been diagnosed before. But some of these persons had stopped getting treatments.

This trial was conducted jointly by Dr. C. Kelly Canelo, a private physician representing the county medical society; Dr. Dwight Bissell, San Jose city health officer; Dr. Herbert Abrams of the state health department, and Dr. Breslow.

The combined tests have many advantages, Dr. Breslow said:

1. The screening tests can be given by technicians, saving the time of physicians for diagnosis and treatment of the people found to have some trouble. The tests are only a screening device, to detect people who may be ill, and then send them to their own doctors for final diagnosis and treatment.

2. The multiple tests wouldn't take much longer than a single visit to a clinic that tests for only one disease.

Tests Available

3. There would be savings in money for health departments and voluntary tuberculosis, cancer, diabetes or other groups interests in preventing specific diseases. There would be less duplication of trained personnel, facilities, test equipment, and overhead expenses.

4. Your family doctor could get a profile of your health status, as shown by the tests. It is much less expensive to have mass x-rays or other tests than to pay for them individually.

Simple tests already are available that could screen people for possible tuberculosis, diabettes, certain forms of heart disease, anemia, high or low blood pressure, syphilis, and hearing or vision defects, Dr. Breslow said.

Cancer tests could be added, using a method that examines cells given off in body fluids. It is used in checking for cancer of the uterus or womb, and for cancer of the lung. Other tests, perhaps even a blood test, may come along. Or a physician could take part in the tests, looking for breast, skin or other cancers.

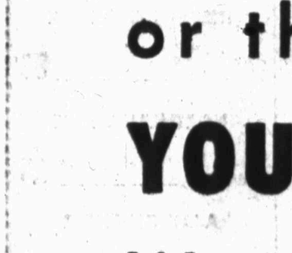

X-rays for TB can and have disclosed cancer of the lung, or heart troubles. Cooperative efforts using chest x-rays for spotting any of these diseases are underway or planned in some communities. Cancer detection centers also have often found signs of other diseases than cancer.

Tying all kinds of tests together is a logical development in the effort to save lives and health by spotting diseases early, Dr. Breslow said.

NAMED TO POST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP) — James E. Friend, former Fort Worth man, now of Memphis, Tenn., was named assistant director of locomotive inspection by President Truman today. Friend's name was sent to the Senate before adjournment, and he received a recess appointment.

An organized campaign in Brazil to induce growers to hold their coffee off the market produced a sellers' market there recently, Rio de Janeiro reports.

Alaskan Gold Strike Not Very Profitable

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The Alaskan "gold strike" apparently has produced less than $50 worth of actual gold, an Interior department official has reported from the scene.

"The only persons making money from the gold strike now are bush pilots," Fred Weiler said in a telegram to the department. Weiler, who heads the Bureau of Land Management office at Fairbanks, added:

"Some nuggets have been found, but the value of all gold actually taken from the ground probably would not exceed $50."

Of the 300 persons who visited the Fishwheel strike area 120 miles north of Fairbanks, Weiler said, "only about 50 are staying on the ground." He said the others who staked claims have returned to Fairbanks to await developments.

Interpreter To Be Available In Area

Farmers who have difficulties with the Spanish language in dealings with Mexicans or "braceros" from the interior of Mexico now have a man at their disposal who can interpret any of the "lingos."

He is Miguel Ordonez, a native of Colombia, South America, who is now stationed in Lubbock with the Texas Employment commission.

Ordonez, who talks English and Spanish fluently, may be contacted by telephone at the TEC office, 4661 or the Mexican Labor camp, 1002 Edna, by dialing 2-7648.

Youth Of Germany Being Aided Through Work Of U. S. Groups

Albert Prince of The Hartford Times and chairman of the Connecticut board of education spent seven weeks in Germany studying social, economic and political problems of the western occupation zones. Here are some of his observations.

By ALBERT PRINCE
Written For The United Press

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 28—Americans are helping young Germans to help themselves. Throughout the western zones of the occupied country self-help centers are appearing in which youths are maintaining themselves, sometimes attending universities while so doing.

Meanwhile, an attempt is being made to enable young Germans to come to the United States for about two years for work experience. The belief is that they would acquire a familiarity with democracy that would prove of great value to themselves and to their country. Both undertakings have the strong support of Dr. Alonzo G. Grace of Connecticut, who, for a year and a half, has directed the education and cultural relations effort in the United States occupation zone of Germany.

Many Homeless

A recent estimate placed at 250,000 the number of unemployed youth in the United States, British and French occupation zones. Many of them were reported to be homeless refugees from Russian-held portions of Germany. A large proportion were orphans. A three-zone committee, including both Germans and representatives of occupying powers, was formed to deal with the need of these youth, mostly in the 14-23 age range, for billeting, food and clothing.

Recent counts showed about 300 self-help centers in Western Germany, in which were housed more than 15,000 boys and girls. The hope renewed for these youth was considered by Americans to be a tremendous encouragement to those who are thinking terms of a democratic Germany. Most of the 15,000 were refugees.

In this effort, Dr. Grace and his associates, as in other activities, have insisted that Germans take the leading roles, reserving for Americans, British and French the role of advisers. House leaders are varied In one center where boys are supporting themselves on a market gardening project the leader is a former test pilot. A group cutting peat for sale as fuel is led by an artist.

Housing is Germany's greatest need, because of bombing losses and the inrush of millions of refugees, so it has been no easy task to find places in which these young people could start their co-operative housekeeping enterprises.

State governments, such as Bavaria, Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden of the U. S. Zone, have helped somewhat. A few new structures have been built. Old factories and barracks, taken over, have been revamped, bombed structures have been restored and ancient dwellings have been made habitable.

In several instances, youths have done a lot of the work of construction, acting as unskilled and semi-skilled labor on buildings being built or repaired.

In Munich, I visited one of the new structures, not quite completed. Among those already resident was an architecture student at the University of Munich. He had helped to build the center and he had a part time job that would carry his greatly reduced living expenses.

A group of farm buildings housed the group I saw cutting and processing peat for sale as fuel. These young men, in a few months, expected to have about 500 marks apiece after paying for their maintenance and clothing.

Some girls, in a village of northern Bavaria, were living in a madeover factory building that had become an attractive dormitory. They were working on porcelain and were spinning and weaving.

In such regrouping of youth it is possible to offer education and training that will enable youth, while supporting itself, to prepare for superior vocational opportunities.

Over 1,700 Students At Tech Get X-Rays

With only one day left, over 1,700 students of Texas Technological college had taken x-ray examinations offered by the state mobile unit through Thursday, officials reported last night.

The unit will remain on the campus until 6 p. m. today to x-ray students and faculty members. It will move downtown Wednesday for a 10-day stay to examine all Lubbock county residents over 15 years of age.

Sponsored jointly by the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association and the Hub City Kiwanis club, the unit was set up at Tech Tuesday. The x-rays are offered as a free public health service aimed at finding tuberculosis in its early stages and aid in an early cure of possible victims.

All Lubbock county residents wishing to be x-rayed may receive the service at the American Legion post next to the city hall any time between Wednesday and Nov. 12.

Young eels are so transparent that printed matter could be read through their bodies.

Labor Regime Jolted By Vote

LONDON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Shaken by the largest vote yet mustered against it in parliament, Britain's Labor government pushed ahead today with its economy program to avert national bankruptcy.

The two-day parliament debate on the government's program reached its climax last night with the Laborites defeating a Conservative motion to censure the cabinet's economy plans as inadequate.

The vote was 353 to 222.

The Labor total was 40 short of the party's full parliamentary strength. Some Labor members of parliament were absent due to illness. A few were abroad. Some presumably just did not show up for the important vote.

Hail Measures Claimed

Some Labor opinion has shared the opposition view that Prime Minister Attlee took only half measures when he ordered an eight per cent cut in the nation's spending plans.

Backed by the Liberals, the Liberal Nationals and most of the 14 Independent MP's, the Conservatives rallied 10 more votes than ever before were cast against the Attlee regime. The result, nevertheless, was a go-ahead for the belt-tightening program.

The Conservatives abstained from a second vote, on a government motion of confidence. Labor won it 337 to 5.

The London press today refrained from commenting on the vote. The London Times parliamentary correspondent, however, said, "this debate, like that on devaluation last month, developed a strong electioneering atmosphere and the lines of battle in the coming appeal to the country are being ever more firmly drawn."

A general election is due sometime before next July, when the Labor government's term of office expires.

"That's Propaganda Material," Red Says

Soviets Prohibit Truck With Bibles From Entering Berlin

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russia soldiers at Helmstedt, in the Soviet occupied zone of Germany, refused to let a truckload of Bibles proceed to Berlin.

"That's propaganda material," explained the Red Officer in charge.

And of course he was quite right. The Bible is the greatest piece of promotion ever developed.

Thas is precisely why the Communists, who are battling religion as the dope of the masses, are anxious to prevent distribution of the world's most widely read volume. Hitlerian Nazism maintained the same attitude.

Wasting His Energy

So the Russian officer of Helmstedt was correctly following orders, and presumably his own conscience as well, if he is a loyal Communist. Still I have a notion he was wasting his energy. I don't believe you can kill religion that way any more than old King Canute could make the tide recede at his command.

As a matter of fact religion is doing all right for itself. There are many signs of moral and spiritual revival in various parts of our war-shocked world. This column called attention the other day to the indications that a religious revival may be boiling up in England.

Then recently this column reported a conversation which I had in New York with Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's Nationalist generalissimo. We were discussing China's rehabilitation and she said:

"That can be achieved only through moral and spiritual growth."

"You believe that moral and spiritual change will come to China?", I asked, and she replied:

"Yes. It is coming."

But we don't have to go to Europe or Asia to find this ferment working. We see it right here in the western hemisphere. One of my AP colleagues, John L. Springer, sought an explanation of why half a dozen religious books had climbed to the top of the nonfiction best selling lists in the United States. William R. Barbour, president of the Fleming H. Revell company, book publishers since 1870, asked experts in the field to answer the query.

The consensus was that this call for religious books indicated a large scale "return to religion" in the United States.

NAVY SECRETARY CHANGES MIND ON DENFELD

President Truman's Ousting Of Naval Chief Remains Unexplained By Any Specific Reason

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 — Why—specifically—did President Truman fire Admiral Louis E. Denfeld? As chief of naval operations, the admiral was the navy's highest officer.

Neither Mr. Truman nor Navy Secretary Francis B. Matthews said what Denfeld had done—specifically — to cause his firing. Matthews, as civilian head of the navy, was Denfeld's superior.

The story of the firing won't be complete until the question is plainly answered. In trying to understand the case, the key point to keep in mind is this date: Oct. 4, 1949.

In 1947 President Truman appointed Denfeld chief of naval operations. The term was for two years. After that, Denfeld could be re-appointed or replaced.

In a letter to Mr. Truman yesterday, Matthews said he thought Denfeld should be ousted. But — Matthews pointed out that last Aug. 2, he had thought Denfeld should be reappointed. (Mr. Truman, acting on Matthews' recommendation, reappointed Denfeld).

Why, on Aug. 2, did Matthews think enough of Denfeld to want him reappointed? Matthews explained in his letter: "I had every reason to believe we were in complete agreement on all important questions affecting the administration of the department of the navy. Unfortunately, it soon became clear that my expectation would not be realized."

By Oct. 4, Matthews told the President, "events had taken such a course that, in a conference had with Admiral Denfeld earaly that day, I frankly stated to him that I feared his usefulness as chief of naval operations had terminated."

But what turn had "events taken" on Oct. 4 to change Matthews' mind about Denfeld? The specific answer to that has not been given by Matthews or the President.

Denfeld's name did figure in one strange episode that occurred on the night of Oct. 3. Here is the background on that.

Many navy officers, maybe most, have disliked the unification act or, at least the way it's being handled.

The purpose of that act is to get the three branches of the armed services — army, navy and air force — to work closely together under the top control of:

1. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, and, under him, the secretaries of the army, navy (Matthews), and the air force.

2. And, under them, the joint chiefs of staff, made up of the top ranking officer of the army, navy (Denfeld), and the air force.

Navy critics of the act complain it's being used to weaken the navy while the other two branches — particularly the air force — get the lion's share of the money voted by Congress for national defense.

On the night of Oct. 3 one of these critics — Captain John G. Crommelin — released to reporters letters written to Matthews by three admirals. One of them, Vice Admiral Gerald F. Bogan, said navy morale has hit a low point because of policies in Johnson's defense set-up.

"Forwarding endorsements" praising Bogan were attached to the letter by Denfeld and Admiral Arthur W. Radford. In his note Denfeld said "I sincerely believe any step that is not good for the navy is not good for the nation."

Letter Endorsed

Boban's letter, since it moved through official channels, required the endorsement of Denfeld and Radford before reaching Matthews. But Denfeld explained on Oct. 4, the day after Crommelin let the letters out, that his endorsement" did not mean he concurred in Bogan's views.

But a storm broke over Washington when the Crommelin letters appeared in the morning papers of Oct. 4. The House armed services committee announced it would hold hearings to get to the bottom of the navy complaints.

Denfeld ordered an investigation of how the letters got out and condemned their release. (Crommelin didn't reveal till Oct. 6 he had released them).

On that same day, Oct. 4, Denfeld said he was "wholeheartedly" working for unification.

On Oct. 8 Matthews, appearing before the congressional committee, said cuts in money for the navy, ordered in the Pentagon, would impair the nation's security and hurt the navy's fighting ability.

Appearing before the committee on Oct. 13, Denfeld went further than Matthews and said the unification act had been "improperly" handled. He said there were many cases where the army and air force were trying to control the navy.

After Denfeld testified before the committee, there were rumors here his outspoken testimony would cost him his job.

But Matthews letter seems to make it clear that something which happened on or before Oct. 4 was the cause.

"Intimate Theater" Schedule Revealed

Unusual Dallas Theater To Open Fourth Season Nov. 7

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 28—Soft music will fade; overhead lights will dim and the first performance of the fourth season of Dallas' Theatre '48 will begin Nov. 7.

The stage has no curtain to be raised. The audience sits around on tiers of seats on four sides and look down on the center square that is the stage. Those on the front row could stick a foot out and trip an actor if they had a mind to.

This is what Margo Jones, director, calls an intimate theater—or a theater in the round.

Season Opens Nov. 7

And just how intimate it is—on spectator who saw a play on family dissension there last spring remarked: "'I kept having the feeling that I shouldn't be there listening to somebody's private troubles."

The season will run from Nov. 7 to June 3. On January 1, the name will change to Theatre '50.

Two of the eight plays to be presented will be about Texas. "An Old Beat-Up Woman," a new drama set in the Texas Panhandle, by Sari Scott, will run from Nov. 28 to Dec. 17.

"My Granny Van," from the novel by George Sessions Perry of Rockdale, Tex., will run from Jan. 9 to 28. Lauren Disney helped Perry make the novel set in Rockdale into a play.

Plays Are Listed

Others plays are: Nov. 7 to 26, "Heartbreak House," George Bernard Shaw's comedy 'classic; Dec. 19 to Jan. 7, Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet"; Jan. 30 to Feb. 18, "Dock-A-Doodle-Dandy," a new play by the Irish playwright, Sean O'Casey; Feb. 20 to March 11, to be announced; March 13 to April 1, "The Golden Porcupine," historical drama of the Louis XI period in France, by Muriel Roy Bolton; April 3 to 22, "Southern Exposure," new comedy of the Natchez azalea trail by Owen Crump; April 24 to June 3, six weeks repertory festival.

Each play will run three weeks, with performances every night except Sunday, and matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The professional acting company will include Peggy McCay, recently touring in Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke"; Joe Sullivan, who played in "Harvey" and other Broadway hits; Virginia Robinson; John Denney, from the New York experimental theatre, the interplayers; Gregg Juarez, formerly with Elsa Lanchester at Hollywood's Turnabout theatre; Ben Yafee; and Mary Finney and Edwin Whitner, who have played two seasons in Dallas.

Coffee has a hits-the-spot flavor that's always the same. "Controlled Roasting," an exclusive Hills Bros. process, roasts the blend a little at a time—continuously—to insure an even roast of every coffee bean—none overdone, none underdone. Hills Bros. Coffee is vacuum-packed for utmost freshness.

OLD-FASHIONED MOLASSES COOKIES

3 cups flour
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
¾ cup shortening
1 egg, unbeaten
½ cup molasses
½ cup cold water
2 teaspoons soda
¼ cup hot water
Blanched halved almonds

Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt, cinnamon and ginger. Drop shortening on top of this mixture and unbeaten egg on top of this. Mix molasses with ½ cup cold water. Pour on top of mixture, stir until well blended and beat until smooth. Dissolve soda in ¼ cup hot water and stir into batter. Drop by tablespoon on greased baking sheet, 2 inches apart, and bake in moderately hot oven (425° F.) about 10 minutes. While hot, press halved almonds into cookies. Yield: About 3 dozen cookies.

Farm Labor Shortage Acute On South Plains

LIBRARY DISPLAY PLANNED—The flags of 59 nations, presented to Texas Technological college by the Cosmopolitan club on United Nations day, are being shown in a rotunda of the administration building and will be exhibited in the library as soon as a pedestal is placed on the arrangement. Shown with the flags are Tom Cleveland, left, from Lubondai, Belgian Congo, and Jim D'Acosta from Mexico City. D'Acosta is president of the Cosmopolitan club, which is composed of Tech students who have come from other countries. The flags represent members of the United Nations. Club officials believe them to be the first set of United Nations flags in Lubbock. (Staff Photo).

Harvest Costs Are Increased

With the sun shining brightly over the South Plains, the critical labor shortage is being felt more than ever by cotton farmers and as a result the cost of harvesting the crop has risen an average of 25 cents per hundred.

Several groups of Mexican nationals or "braceros" arrived in the area the past week, but they weren't enough to make a dent even on the demand for laborers. Most of the "braceros" came from below Chihuahua City, Mexico.

The Griffith bros, Carl and Ray, who operate extensively in northwest Cochran county, brought in 200; V. T. Helbert of Acuff has 95 and J. E. Parks, also of Acuff, 33. Marvin McLaughlin of Ralls was expecting to receive 196 of the "braceros" this weekend.

Mexicans Good Workers

The Mexican nationals are proving good workers. In two hours the other afternoon, Helbert's crew pulled nine bales and Griffith's crew is running around 20 bales a day.

The Mexican "braceros" are secured through cooperation of the U. S. and Mexican governments, with individual farmers putting up bonds and making application for the workers through the Texas Employment Commission.

Boll pullers were drawing from $1.75 per hundred with crew leaders getting 25 cents for weighing and hauling to the gin prior to the recent rainy and cold weather.

But Thursday most prices had advanced to $2 per hundred for pullers and from 25 to 35 cents for weighing and hauling and farmers were reported frantically seeking laborers over a wide area.

Farmers are willing to pay crew leaders one cent per mile per head as expense in transporting crews from Central, South and East Texas, the Texas Employment commission office reported today.

A total of 59,360 laborers are wanted in 15 cotton counties in the area, the TEC reported. Large crews are in demand by a great number of farmers, who have called for groups ranging from 30 to 200.

The TEC's farm labor bulletin issued Thursday said mechanical cotton strippers and cotton picking machines will be needed in this area and anyone with strippers and pickers willing to do custom or contract work should contact the TEC office here.

Prices for mechanical stripping and picking have not yet been established.

Local stocks on most makes of strippers have been exhausted.

It was said machine operations would be started between Nov. 5 and 10.

Grim Highway Toll Chalked Up In 1949; 542 Are Injured

Plains Traffic Deaths At 57

The ever-mounting traffic toll on the South Plains today stood at 57 dead, 542 injured and an estimated property damage of more than half a million dollars, if dollars count for anything in a list of dead and injured.

Gunning down the home stretch of 1949, South Plains motorists have a little more than three months left in which to match the 1948 total of 91 dead, but they have already exceeded last year's injury total of 540.

Injury Record Broken

All injured from now on have the dubious honor of adding their broken bones to the record-breaking figure on injuries. The injury total was broken Thursday in a wreck near Lorenzo.

On July 9, the Texas Highway patrol, with 34 already dead on the traffic records for their 21-county area, said 57 more were slated to die to match the 1948 total of 91.

Those figures were just reversed Thursday night, with 57 dead and 34 to go before the slate is wiped clean on January 1 and the deadly game begins anew.

On Sept. 2, The Avalanche-Journal files revealed that 45 persons had died in traffic mishaps in the South Plains area. Since that date, 12 names have been added to the death list, according to the newspaper files.

Highway patrol records, complete only through Sept. 30, show a total of 45 dead, while The Avalanche - Journal statistics through the end of September list 49 dead. The difference of four is explained by the fact that Highway patrol records do not include all deaths in towns, and because the 21-counties in the patrol district do not cover the entire South Plains area. October deaths have pushed the gory toll to the 57 mark.

In addition to the 57 dead, two other South Plains residents have died since Sept. 2 in accidents near the area.

Lubbock county, exclusive of the city, has added twelve names to the death toll. In Lubbock itself, traffic mishaps have taken the lives of two persons, accord-

THE QUESTION

Which do you think is more important, good looks or a pleasing personality?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. CORDY SHERLEY, 1316 Twenty - Sixth, cashier at the Waffle Shop: "I think a pleasing personality is much more important. I don't care how attractive a person is, if their personality isn't pleasing, they wouldn't be very nice to have around."

MRS. F. W. HENDRIX, 2803 Allen, housewife: "I think that a pleasing personality is more important than good looks. Good looks really don't amount to much. Looks don't make a person; it's their personality which does."

PAUL BUSH, 3107 Ave. L, owner of Lubbock Electric Co.: "I think that a pleasing personality is more important. I think a good personality is worth more, because you can get along with anyone you work or deal with."

H. W. MATHENY, 213 Ave. G, truck driver: "To me, a pleasing personality is much more important. I'd much rather be around a person with a good personality than one with good looks."

JACK DAVIS, 2008 Ave. W, shipping clerk for Waples Platter Co.: "I think that if you have a pleasing personality, good looks will just naturally show up. I'd be rather be around a person with a pleasing personality."

Damages Of $341,025 Asked In Suits Here

Judgments in damages totaling $341,025 were asked in four suits filed here Thursday.

Actual damages of $317,100 and punitive damages of $10,000 were asked in one of them, B. R. Engel against Lavon Ernest Gray.

Engel pleaded he was injured and his car damaged Aug. 3 when his car was struck by one driven by Gray. The action was filed by attorney C. L. Harris.

Three Others Filed

The other three cases were filed by Sam Allred, of the law firm of Allred and Boedeker. They and judgments asked follow:

Paul Harris and wife Arlene Harris against Lubbock Bus company, $4,575, setting up allegations that the woman was injured Aug. 24 when a tree limb broke her glasses and injured an eye when riding on a bus;

Alveh Willingham and wife Annie Jean Willingham against A. E. Hindman, $6,400, in which it was pleaded that her car was struck July 26 by a truck owned by the defendant and operated by an agent of the defendant;

Elbert B. Hallmark and wife Joyce against Montgomery Ward, $2,950, in which it was pleaded that she was injured Aug. 13 in a fall resulting from slipping on a floor.

The suits were filed in 99th and 72nd district courts.

EX-GIs CAN HAVE PLACE TO CALL THEIR OWN AT COST OF $30 TO $35 MONTH

Lubbock Builders Produce 4-Room House Every Eight Days For Vets

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

When Joe Stewart and Jack Saylor drive down the streets of their low-cost housing developments, the little children stand on the sidewalk and yell, "Hey Joe! Hi, Jack!" and housewives wave at them.

And that's not the most unusual thing about these two builders who are producing a four-room house every eight days for veterans who make $175 to $200 a month and can afford to make payments of $30 to $35 a month for a place to call their own.

Others Are Planned

Stewart and Saylor have built 80 four-room houses for sale in Lubbock this year, and they have plans to build 200 more in the coming year. They sell them to veterans under provisions of the G. I. bill, and nearly every day the waiting list of purchasers grows longer.

Right now they are building 24 homes of 780 square feet each on Fortieth and Forty-first streets between Aves. T and U. They have just bought 15 more lots adjoining these and will start 15 more houses soon.

These houses sell for $5,100 each for just the house, or for $5,500 with floor furnace, venetian blinds, inlaid linoleum in kitchen and bath, and metal wall tile in the bathroom. A $250 payment is all it takes to get one.

Can Have Money Back

The builders tell their customers that, if they are not satisfied, they can have their $250 back. So far there has been a marked absence of these.

Stewart and Saylor have been in business in Lubbock about 12 years, and have parlayed a small second-hand truck business into large holdings of real esate and several businesses.

Their official place of business is still Jack & Joe's Used Truck lot at 518 Broadway. They also own a junk yard, several other used truck and car lots, several buildings and other business property in the east part of the business district, and a great amount of rental property.

Did It Differently

When they went into the house-building business they did it a little differently. First they hunted land that "could be had right," as Stewart says. They bought it "right" and then bought materials "right" too — purchasing lumber, sheetrock and other materials in carload or truckload quantities, in many cases sending a driver to the mill or factory to pick it up and reduce the freight charges.

They pay spot cash for everything they buy. When they are building 24 houses, they buy 24 sets of plumbing and 24 sets of light fixtures and other materials all at once, getting a better price for the cash transaction and the large quantity purchase.

They hire labor conractors to do work for them, and when payday comes on Friday afternoon, checks are given to all hands — about 40 men are currently at work—and then the checks are cashed right on the spot, a convenience that the men like.

Work On Smaller Profit

"I don't believe you can find a similar house within $1,000 of our price," Saylor says, and you can see he means it.

The partners work on a smaller profit than is usual, since they expect to operate on a $300 margin per house.

"We could sell 100 in one week if we had them to sell," Saylor says.

The city building inspector's department says the Stewart-Saylor houses are in strict compliance with the city's building code. The Veterans administration guarantees loans on them, since they meet its requirements.

Each house is built on a 50-by-132½ foot lot, of conventional construction with reinforced concrete foundation, frame studs with sheathing and tarpaper covered with asbestos shingles, sheetrock interior walls, oak floor and sub floors separated by 15-pound felt, 210 composition shingle roofing on felt and wood sheathing. All plumbing pipe is copper.

Fixtures Are Installed

The interiors are papered, attractive light fixtures are hung, linen closets, bedroom closets, hot water heaters and cast iron enameled plumbing fixtures are installed and for those veterans who want them, venetian blinds and floor furnaces are installed.

Sidewalks and garages are not built, since the partners feel that those are things that a family can build when they can afford it.

The average payment on a house of this type on a G. I. loan runs $33 or $35 a monh ,including taxes and insurance. Stewart and Saylor turned down an offer to rent the current 24 houses for $100 a month each.

"We have something that a veteran with a family and making $175 to $200 a month can afford to own," Stewart explains.

In The City Limits

In the current development in southwest Lubbock, the project is in the city limits, but no utilities were available. The partners laid their own water lines and installed steel septic tanks until such time as the city can get around to providind these services.

Southwestern Public Service company installed a power line to the project immediately, and then the city installed a power line to duplicate it.

The current project is one of several the partners have engaged in. They have built others at Fortieth and Ave. W, near Hubber Baseball park, and in east Lubbock across the canyon they have outdone themselves and built four-room houses to sell for $3,750 each. On these they carry their own "paper" at a slightly higher rate of interest than the G. I. loans on which the bank carries the mortgage.

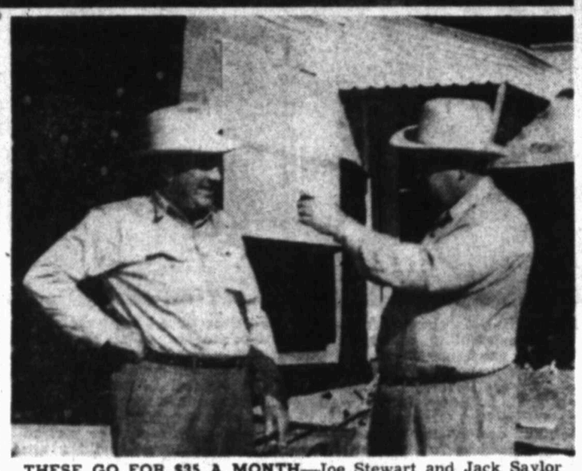

Crews Use Teamwork

Part of their success in holding down costs is due to the teamwork the building crews use. In the first place, all materials needed are kept on the site, avoiding delay.

In the second place, the different tradesmen are all on hand at the same time and do their various jobs at the time it needs to be done.

As a result, the houses are being finished at the rate of one every eight days and Saylor thinks families ought to be living in all of them by Christmas and still have time to get their Christmas trees up.

THESE GO FOR $35 A MONTH—Joe Stewart and Jack Saylor are doing something they were told couldn't be done—they are building 780-square foot houses to sell for $5,100 and $5,500 apiece, including lot. They have a big waiting list, and plan to build 200 in the coming year in addition to the 80 they have already built. The upper view, looking from Fortieth and Ave. W, shows a group of homes already sold and occupied, and in the lower picture, "Jack and Joe," as everybody knows them, talk over the rituation in front of a house under construction. Sexiest Women Right Here In U. S., Boys, Actress Claims

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28 — The sexiest women in the world, says Ella Rains after a tour of Europe and Africa, are right here in the U.S.A.

The actress spent a year abroad with her husband, Maj. Robin Olds. Back to star with Vaughan Monroe in "Singing Guns," she told her observations of foreign women.

U. S. Males Wrong?

Contrary to the average U. S. male's opinion, she declared, "French women don't emphasize sex in their dress. They look at the idea of sex differently: they don't try to dramatize it or hide it; they just accept sex as sex.

"English women are badly underrated as far as sex goes. They aren't nearly the conservative dressers or reserved women most people think they are. Those that can afford sexy clothes, buy and wear them.

"Nowhere in Europe do you see the wide use of falsies and other devices to play up sex, devices you find in wide use here in the United States. Lots of European women don't even wear brassieres."

French Garb Comfortable

The French bathing suit—which Ella herself likes and wears—is worn in Italy as well as France, she reported.

Ella finds the Bikini (French) beach garb offers comfort and social security.

"There's nothing indecent about it. Of course, the suit does require a good figure.

She concluded with three reasons why U. S. women take top honors in sex:

1. They have better figures.
2. They have more clothes.
3. They have more modern ideas about sex.

The sailfish, the speediest of swimmers, can travel at 68 miles an hour.

EX-SPECIAL DEPUTY ON TRIAL

Voice Of Hooded Klansman Is Main Clue In Flogging Cases

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 28. (AP)—Whether the voice of Coleman A. (Brownie) Lollar, charged with flogging while masked, revealed his membership in robed and hooded bands is a major issue today at Lollar's trial.

Three state witnesses testified they recognized the former special deputy's voice, although his face was covered. All played him at the scene of flogging by white-sheeted men.

Lollard is the first of 18 men arrested on various charges involving hooded hoodlumism to face trial. The state ended its direct testimany yesterday and the defendant told reporters:

"Now it's my time at bat."

Says Lifted Hood

The maximum penalty for flogging while masked is 10 years in the penitentiary.

The state sought to prove Lollar was one of the men who broke into the home of Mrs. Hugh McDanal, 42-year old grandmother, the night of June 10, struck her twice and forced her to watch a cross burning.

Mrs. McDanal testified she lifted a hood and saw Lollar's face.

Three other identifications of Lollar were in other night riding incidents, and all were by voice.

Sally Burton, 17, said she "resognized Brownie Lollar's voice" when robed men took six persons from her home at Dora the night of June 3. Her mother, Mrs. Irene Burton, and two men were whipped, she said. Miss Burton and two others watched.

Counsel Objects

William Stevens, testified he "heard Brownie Lollar laugh" after he had been whipped the night of May 19. Stevens said he, Jack Alexander and Mary Alice Henderson all were whipped that night.

Mrs. Albert Sanders, whipped the night of April 22 together with three other persons, said she "knew Brownie Lollar's voice" when he called to her to come out of her house.

This testimony was admitted over the objection of conusel for Lollar. The state contended it showed a pattern of behavior by masked mobs.

Earlier, two klansmen had testified the raid on Mrs. McDanal's home June 10 followed a Ku Klux Klan meeting at Adamsville.

UN GUARD OKAYED

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 28 (AP)—The United Nations special political committee today voted to set up a UN guard force to aid peace missions in the field. Strenuous Soviet objections were overriden in the 38-5 vote. Yugoslavia reversed her previous opposition and voted with the majority.

HE'S STUDYING FOR A "PED-DEGREE"—Quite the dogmatic student is Butch, a wire-haired terrier who insists on attending classes at a vocational school in Binghamton, N. Y. English teacher Mrs. Gladys Cox helps Butch through his three Rs. He lives two miles from school, but turns up for classes regularly.

Jets Proved Success In Air-Ground Shows

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Oct. 28. (AP)—High-ranking U. S. and foreign military men were on hand today for the end of a three-week massive demonstration of air-ground cooperation.

A star performer during the maneuvers was the F-84 fighter-bomber, which has "proved conclusively that jet aircraft can do an outstanding job in support of surface forces."

That praise came from Brig. Gen. W. R. Wolfinbarger, commander of the demonstration. One hundred of the flashing F-84 Thunderjets took part in it.

During the maneuver, F-84 pilots showed they could control the speed of their planes to suit their targets, air or ground.

The 600-mile an hour aircraft had posed the question of whether its great speed would make attacks inaccurate at low levels.

Ground and air Force officers said the F-84 won the title of "Work Horse of the Air," held in World War II by the now out of date P-47 Thunderbolt and P-51 Mustang.

Lt. Gen. John R. Hodges, commanding general of the Fifth corps, headed a delegation of U. S. officers here today. Military observers from Pakistan, Israeli, the Netherlands and Portugal also were present.

Japan has a shipbuilding boom.

Carlsbad Firm Is Low On Big Project

AMARILLO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Pecos Valley Construction Co. of Carlsbad, N. M., offered the low bid today for initial construction work on the Fort Sumner, N. M., irrigation project. It was $274,060.54.

The project will be built by the Bureau of Reclamation. Bids for the work were opened today in the bureau's regional office here. A spokesman for the bureau said it expected to let a contract soon.

The bureau gave notice of award today to the Superior Manufacturing Co., of Amarillo for installation of a petroleum gas system at the project's two construction camps near Fort Sumner.

Allen Appointed To Important Diplomatic Post In Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The administration sent in George V. Allen today to fill the important Yugoslavian spot in the diplomatic war with Russia. Concurrently, it sought to nail down its choice of Rep. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) to take over the "Voice of America" and related work.

Allen's designation as ambassador to Marshall Tito's Yugoslavia will assign a man the Russians have little cause to like (he's tangled with them before in Iran) as the U. S. envoy to a government under hot fire from Moscow.

In taking the post, Allen will give up the position of assistant secretary of state in charge of public affairs. That is the job the State department has offered to Mansfield.

Resignation Accepted

President Truman announced yesterday he was accepting the resignation of Cavendish Cannon as ambassador to Yugoslavia and was naming Allen to succeed him. Cannon, 54, is in ill health.

Mansfield's reaction to the idea of switching from Congress to the State department has not been made known, but may be in a few days.

He was due in New York today, aboard the Ile De France from Paris where he served as a member of the American delegation to a meeting of the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization. Allen headed the delegation.

Mansfield, 46, is a former history professor at Montana state university who is serving his fourth term in the House. Among administration officials, he is regarded as an effective champion of administration foreign policy on many critical issues, particularly in the field of foreign information activities such as the "voice" broadcasts to the world.

Return To Trouble Spots

For Allen the assignment to Belgrade is an order to return to the diplomatic firing line of the cold war after a preliminary brief interlude as assistant secretary of state here.

The 45-year-old diplomat and one-time North Carolina newspaper reporter received his first ambassadorial post in April, 1946, when President Truman sent him to Iran.

At that time the pro-western Iranian government was under heavy political pressure from Russia. Many top officials here feared that the Soviets were intent on pushing their sphere of influence deep into the Middle East at almost any cost.

Allen's task was to bolster the resistance of the Iranian government with whatever moral support and material aid this country could make available. Associates credited him with doing an outstanding job.

When he left Teheran early in 1948, the situation between Iran and Russia had been largely stabilized and the feeling was that the key middle eastern nation had successfully weathered the storm.

Tito To Be Backed

In Yugoslavia he will have a task which diplomats consider no less difficult in guiding the conduct of American policy in such a manner as to strengthen Tito against Russia's efforts to re-establish Moscow communist domination over Yugoslavia.

The first stage of that task fell to Cannon, a veteran of almost 30 years in the foreign service and a highly trained expert on Balkan affairs.

His diplomacy is credited here with having enabled the United States and perhaps the other western powers also to make the most, in cold war terms, out of the break between Tito and the Kremlin in the summer of 1948.

Cannon's ambassadorship covered the first two stages of the split—the stage in which Tito was firmly establishing his independence of the Kremlin and then the development of powerful economic and political pressures by Russia and its satellite states to try to break Tito's power.

There is considerable expectation here now that Allen may have to deal with still a third stage in which the Moscow directed communists will attempt some employment of force against Tito.

Diplomats speculate frankly on the possibility of one or more attempts to assassinate Tito. They believe, too, that at some point, perhaps fairly soon, guerrilla operations may be undertaken against Yugoslavia from Bulgaria and Romania.

Boy Who Lost Both His Legs Is Given Eagle Scout Award

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 28 (U.P.)—Don Lee, 18, who lost his legs in a fire when he was a year old, wore the Boy Scout Eagle badge today for passing tests that included swimming and a 14-mile hike.

Don's foster mother, Mrs. Anna Rosenkilde, presented him with the badge last night in behalf of his troop. It is the highest award in scouting.

Don, who never has been satisfied with being a cripple, could have become an "achievement" scout by passing second and first class tests. However, he wanted to do better than that.

Makes Two-Day Hike

All he needed was to go on the hike. His scoutmaster said he would have to walk every step. Another scout went with him, but Don made out all right on his own. He walked eight miles the first day and camped on the trail that night. The next morning, he cooked his breakfast and finished the hike.

The youth is a second lieutenant in his ROTC unit at high school, where he is a junior.

He wears artificial legs, bought with pennies contributed by children in his church.

"ETERNAL CITY"

Rome is called the "Eternal City" because the Romans themselves thought that no matter what happened in the world, no matter how many other empires might rise and fall, Rome would go on forever.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! BY FAGALY and SHORTEN

Alabama Pole-Sitter Tries To Set Record For Foodless Days

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 28. (AP)—Percy Coplon, the pole sitting fat man, says he might add an extra day or so to his string of 100 foodless days "just to be sure no one breaks the record."

Percy climbed down from his perch yesterday and weighed in at a mere 274 pounds—83 pounds lighter than when he began his dieting spree August 25.

He greeted friends, telephoned his brother, a Chicago physician, then went back to his house atop a 30-foot pole to sit out the remaining days of his fast.

When Percy first heaved himself into his six foot square pole-top quarters on September 1 he weighed 357 pounds and met the requirements of the classic "five by five." He was five feet tall and exactly 60 inches around the waist.

He first had planned to come down for keeps on December 4, but now he's thinking about one or two extra days to safeguard his record.

Yesterday, he said he was feeling fine, except for a touch of heartburn. He drinks water and takes a little salt, but nothing else.

He passes the time a-whittling. And why not, he asks: "I'm not going any place."

Spilled Fish Causes Traffic Accidents

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 28 (U.P.)—When a barrel fell off a truck and covered Essex Street with herring, these things happened:

Another truck skidded on the fish and hit a tree.

The tree crashed through the roof of a house.

An automobile skidded on the fish and crashed into the rear of the skidding truck.

Artists Compete For Christmas Art Prize

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (U.P.)—Nearly 5,000 American artists, some famed, many obscure, put their concepts of Christmas on canvas this summer to compete for a rich prize in the art world, the Hallmark Art Award.

Now, some 2,000 of the paintings have arrived in New York, coming from every state, Alaska, Hawaii and the Virgin Islands, and more are on the way. According to Vladimir Visson, director of the award, they represent almost every known art school and every style of painting.

The first-prize painting will bring its artist $2,000 plus a chance to compete for an additional $3,500 international prize and have his creation exhibited at the Wildenstein galleries here as well as at museums in Boston, Washington, Los Angeles and Kansas City.

California has contributed entries from 462 artists, Pennsylvania 304, New Jersey 244 and Illinois 194, Mr. Visson related. But New York City, whose artist population is second only to Paris in the world, turned in 1,070 entries.

In France, where a counterpart of the American contest was held earlier this year, 5,121 artists competed. The winner, Edouard Goerg, a 56-year-old Parisian expressionist, painted a representation of the Nativity. His painting will be pitted against the American winner here in December for the $3,500 international award.

Not bad! In fact, it's as good as the desk marker itself, which is very good, indeed!

Those fliers who stayed aloft 48 days, thus setting a new record, aren't so hot when compared to the Dove of Peace, which has been up in the air for as long as most of us can remember!

★ ★ ★

FEW of us have any idea at all about how many people are moving into this area from "far-away places," or how much "furin" money is sprinkled around and about these parts by visitors from other states.

The other Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Borho were downtown, very briefly. In some way or another, their attention was called to a couple of out-of-state cars, so they decided to keep their eyes open for more.

In a 15 minute period, during which they traversed no more than 10 downtown blocks, they counted 16 cars bearing out-of-state licenses. These cars were from Utah, Indiana, Oklahoma, Louisiana, California, New Mexico, Missouri, Michigan, New York, Washington (state), Colorado, Arizona, Tennessee, Iowa, Illinois and Virginia.

During the next few days, Mr. and Mrs. Borho continued keeping their eyes peeled when driving and although they weren't doing any more driving than normally, they jotted down cars from 24 other removed sections—with, of course, some "repeaters" from their first count. Included in the last listing were cars from Ohio, Wisconsin, Florida, Pennsylvania, Kansas, New Jersey, the District of Columbia, Wyoming, South Carolina, Arkansas, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Delaware, Alabama, Nevada, Minnesota, Oregon, Maryland, Kentucky, Montana, Idaho and North Carolina; Saipan, in the Marianas, and the Province of Alberta, in Canada.

Altogether, Mr. and Mrs. Borho noted cars from 38 states, including, of course, the Greatest State: Texas.

Missing were license plates of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Georgia, Massachusetts, Mississippi, North Dakota, South Dakota, Connecticut and West Virginia. It's a good bet that these states, too, were represented in Lubbock during the three or four days Mr. and Mrs. Borho held their impromptu "census." They probably just didn't to see them.

★ ★ ★

EWING Werlein, a member of the school board at Houston, did his city and school system a great service the other day by bringing to light a paragraph in a civics textbook which could be construed as a recommendation of the Communistic form of government.

More important, Mr. Werlein's action was a service to other cities and school systems which might be using the textbook in question and whose attention to the offending part otherwise might not have been called.

But in addition to focusing public attention to the offending textbook, Mr. Werlein put all Texas on notice of the fact that schoolbooks are not sufficiently checked for content before being adopted for classroom work. If an offending paragraph "got by" in one book, it is logical to suspect that other offensive material can be found in other books in use in Texas classrooms.

As a former member of the Lubbock school board, we know that it is not possible for board members to check all school books from "A" to 'Izzard" before they are put to use. It isn't even practicable for such checking to be done by busy teachers, or higher officials, before books are put to use.

But it is possible for the State of Texas to have all schoolbooks checked carefully before adoption — checked carefully by people who (1) know what the schools need in the way of books; and (2) whose devotion to the American brand of democracy and freedom is beyond question.

★ ★ ★

MR. Werlein's action, widely publicized by the state's newspapers, now has put every Texan on guard; has advised every Texan of the fact that enemies of our country can use our democratic school system to undermine our government unless we take proper steps to make such treason impossible.

Let's have ALL Texas schoolbooks carefully gone over by the

BY DREW PEARSON: U. S. DIPLOMATS CONVINCED THAT STALIN PLANS TITO SHOWDOWN

Furore In Caribbean Adds To Navy's Headaches

WASHINGTON.—U.S. diplomats from the iron curtain countries meeting in London this week had before them conclusive evidence that Stalin now plans a showdown with Tito. The showdown will be undertaken, as far as possible without leading to war, but if war is necessary the Kremlin apparently has decided to risk it.

PEARSON

Here are the factors which led American diplomats to this conclusion:

1. Toto's nose-thumbing at the Kremlin has become contagious. Other satellite countries are figuring that if Yugoslavia can get away with it, they can too. Tito, once trained as an NKVD agent, has sent his own agents out to work against Moscow in Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Roumania.

2. The end of the Greek civil war was not because the guerrillas were defeated, but to rest them for an attack on Tito. Seven thousand Greek guerrillas already have been transferred to Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia to get re-equipped.

3. A brigade of the east German people's police has been sent from Berlin to Bulgaria. They were previously trained in Yugoslavia during the German occupation, know how to fight Tito.

4. One attack on Tito has already taken place, though no news was published in the Yugoslav papers. The U. S. embassy reported that Russian guerrillas crossed from Hungary, fired a few shots and then retreated. Tito hushed it up to keep from alarming his people.

* * *

Will USA Fight?

What the Kremlin is banking on is the belief that the United States is not ready to risk war, will not intervene to help Tito. This is based partly on U. S. isolationism, partly on Moscow's plan to disguise the Tito attack as an ilnternal revolt.

Thus the main problem confronting American diplomats has become: How to head off war by telling the Kremlin we would fight—though the final decision actually lies with Congress.

His story shows that Hitler never would have invaded the Ruhr if he thought the French would have fought. He guessed right. France wouldn't fight at that time.

Again Hitler figured that the western allies would not fight if he invaded Austria, then Czechoslocakia. Again he guessed right. They didn't fight.

Again Hitler figured that the western allies would not fight if he invaded Austria, then Czechoslovakia. Again he guessed right. They didn't fight.

By that time Hitler was getting brash and bloodthirsty. Perhaps he might not have invaded Poland if he had thought the British would fight. In any event, he guessed wrong, and World War II began.

The situation may be the same regarding Yugoslavia. Its invasion may be a steppingstone to Greece, Turkey, Suez, Africa, India. We may not fight at first, but eventually we will. So the State department figures it is better to be firm at first and let the Kremlin know exactly where we stand. That is what American diplomats faced this week in London.

MAYOR William O'Dwyer, born in Ireland, who rose to be mayor of the world's greatest city after starting as a lowly Brooklyn cop, is now getting some subtle knifing from his fellow Irish.

"Be——!!" say the New York Irish, "O'Dwyer's trying to be a second duke of Windsor."

They refer to the fact that the mayor is going to marry Miss Sloan Simpson, fashion consultant, whose marriage was annulled by the pope.

But what the mayor's political opponents maliciously infer is that he has become a playboy, is marrying a woman who received an annulment, and worst of all in an Irishman's eyes, has become pro-British.

None of these things is true. O'Dwyer is just as democratic and down-to-earth as he was when he first set foot in this county forty years ago. But his enemies are playing the "Miss Simpson" angle for all it's worth.

More Navy Headaches

The navy has got itself into more political hot water—this time in the blue and sleepy waters of the Caribbean. The governor of Puerto Rico, Luis Munoz Marin, is so sore that he has decided to ask the recall of Adm. Dan Barbey, commander of the Caribbean sea frontier.

What happened was that the U. S. A., while preaching democracy for France, Italy and the North Atlantic pact countries, let the navy play footsie with one of the bloodiest dictators in all Latin America—President Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Just as Adm. Richard Conolly got some U. S. diplomats sore by making a special courtesy cruise to visit dictator Franco in Spain, so Admiral Barbey made a special courtesy call on Trujillo. Furthermore, he did so after Governor Munoz Marin had strongly advised against it.

Gov. Munoz Marin, educated at Georgetown university, U. S. A., is one of the best friends and cultural links the United States has with Latin America.

And he pointed out to Admiral Barbey that dictator Trujillo had slaughtered hundreds of Haitians, had instituted a reign of terror, and that if the United States really believed in the democracy it talked about, so also should its navy.

Despite this, Barbey took his warsihps to call on the dictator. Afterward, Trujillo wanted to send his one warship on a return call to Puerto Rico. The State department asked Governor Marin what he thought about it, then proceeded to ignore his advice and permitted the Dominican navy's visit. Whereupon, Admiral Barbey added insult to injury by asking the governor to give a reception for the visiting Dominican navy.

Instead th egovernor "went fishing." And the Dominican sailors were given a frosty reception by an acting governor. All of which has raised a furore in the Caribbean. On top of it all, Admiral Barbey has gone on the radio to denounce Governor Marin and his land-use policies, with the result that Marin has now decided to ask for the admiral's recall.

MENTION the name of Sir Walter Raleigh and nine people out of 10 will identify him as "the guy who put his coat down in the mud of the gutter to let some queen get onto the sidewalk without dirtying her shoes." A few will remember him as the Englishman who learned from American Indians how to smoke tobacco in a pipe and who popularized smoking in England—after his man servant dumped a bucket of water over him because he thought old Walt, instead of the pipe, was on fire.

But the truth of the matter is that Raleigh was not made famous either by his smoking, or by his coat-spreading—but by his piracy, his efforts to get England to go to war with Spain, his conspiracies against King James I—and by his ruthless pushing around of the Irish.

Despite his curls and his extreme politeness to ladies, old Walt was as mean as a polecat. He fought two duels, approved assassination as the best way of getting rid of political opponents, owned a couple of taverns—but was almost personal in his dealings with people who worked for him. A great ladies' man, he had one marriage which was over his protest.

At one time the most popular figure in England, he later became the most unpopular. He engaged in extortion and was formally charged with atheism.

After he fell out with King James I, that worthy made a deal with the Spanish ambassador to England, one Gondomar, to toss old Walter to the dogs—or rather, to the head choppers. Walt had his noggin whacked off just 331 years ago, on Oct. 29, 1618, albeit he marched to the guillotine with great dignity and decorum.

Incidentally, there's some doubt about whether he ever put his coat down for the queen to walk on. But it was a good story then and remains a good one to this very day!

Another Bomb That Needs To Be Controlled

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THERE is no better way to make sure your husband likes, as well as loves you, than by remembering his "rights" as well as your own.

He has a right to some privacy. That means you shouldn't make a habit of asking, "Who was that on the telephone?", "Why are you half an hour late?", "What were you and so-and-so talking about?"

MILLETT

He has a right to some relaxation at home. That means you haven't the right to think up an odd job for him to do every time he settles down in his favorite chair or to cook up so much social life that any night you don't go out, you have people in.

He has a right to his ideas of how the children should be brought up. That means you haven't the right to veto any suggestion he makes just because you think you understand the children better than he does.

* * *

RIGHT TO CRITICIZE

HE has a right to be critical occasionally. That means you can't expect him to approve of everything you do.

He has a right to his own friends, whether they particularly appeal to you or not. That means you haven't the right to do all the deciding about which people you will see and which ones you won't bother with.

He has a right to do as he pleases in his own house. That means you haven't the right to nag him if he likes to put his feet on the davenport, spread the Sunday paper on the living-room floor, etc.

He has a right to be the head of the house. That means you haven't the right to interfere when he is discipling the children, or to make him look foolish in front of your frriends, or to give outsiders the impression that he is just another hen-pecked husband.

He raced across the lawn, jumped into the moving car, and jammed on the emergency brake.

Latest Scientific Findings Blast Old Theories On Food

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—I have just commanded the waiter to fetch me two pork chops, with a side order of mashed potatoes, to be followed by a slab of apple pie and a wedge of fromage de trappe, or rat cheese. I have also specified that this fare is to be served on a plate, and not administered by needle, accompanied by advice, or garnished with a dissertation on caloric content.

RUARK

I am returning to the old concepts of eating, which is to eat as much as you want as often as you please of what tastes good, and let the scientists starve themselves on their own time, and with their own formulae. I am weary of being experted on chow, of dodging the fancy theories concerning it.

We have seen, in recent years, that carrots do not necessarily remedy night blindness, and that spinach is harmful to some people. This last I consider poetic vengeance, since anybody who professes fondness for that slimy green goo deserves whatever fate befalls him.

We also learn, in a recent bulletin from the Roentgen Ray society that too many vitamins may be poisonous to some children. Dr. John Caffey, in a paper read before the society, said as follows: "The hazards of vitamin A poisoning from the routine feeding of vitamin concentrates A and D to healthy infants and children are considerably greater than the hazards of vitamin deficiency in healthy children not fed vitamin concentrates."

Healthy Without Pills

In English, this means that for several thousand years people have staggered along without a steady stuffing with pills and capsules, and may be harmed or crippled by too lush a diet of vari-colored jellybeans of compressed energy.

We also learn from another report in the bacteriological review that common childhood diseases are no more prevalent among sketchily fed children than among little monsters who reek of cod-liver oil and are pale green from spinach consumption. It also is shown that well-fed adults catch as many colds as people who eat on alternate Tuesdays.

* * *

THE researchers found that some viruses flourish in healthy patients and languish in ill-fed ones. The summer scourge of polio has been noted for years for its attacks on well-nourished kids. Sick chickens, it says here, were more resistant to cancer than healthy ones.

All this is sort of sadly pleasant to hear, because more words have been wasted telling people what and how to eat than have been expended on both love and that popular perpendicular pronoun, "I." A certain amount of nourishment is necessary to the individual, but it's my idea that it doesn't make a lot of long-term difference on what you eat, so long as you like it.

Cannibals wax fat on fricasseed neighbors; Australian aboriginals live long on a diet of grubworms and grass; Eskimos eat nothing but meat, and some highly civilized New Yorkers manage to exist on a diet of whisky and benzedrine. I have seen more digestions and dispositions wrecked by scientific diet than by overindulgence in fried potatoes.

Man "Quitting Experts"

I recall a time when white bread was baked in the home, and was a delightful treat for the palate. As we have strangled our food with science, white bread has become a skimpyn pallid mouthful of chalk, loaded with vitamins and as tasteless as whey. The threat of bread, butter and potatoes, to the female and male figure alike, has been so stressed as to make an outcast of the man who favors a crusty loaf, well smeared with cow grease, or a baked potato to flank the chops.

So I am quitting on the experts. Today I might eat nothing but salads, but tomorrow, of the mood strikes, I dine on banana splits en brochette. Just fetch in the grub, Garsong, and no haughty looks when I ask for a second pat of butter.

LIFE BEGINS AT 86

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—The fellow who wrote that life begins at 40 may have to double it. Mrs. Edith Epperson of Blytheville, Ark., reported that an old friend of her family, Bob Marshall, recently picked 140 pounds of cotton in one day. Marshall is 86.

Today's Journal Editorial

EVERYBODY WINS—BUT DALLAS!

The City of Dallas apparently must become reconciled to defeat, at long last, in an airport fight which has involved Fort Worth, the Civil Aeronautics administration and the general air-traveling public.

The battle started when the CAA proposed to build one of the finest airports in the U. S. to serve both Fort Worth and Dallas, which are only 30 miles apart. Dallas balked. Dallas refused to have anything in common with Fort Worth. Dallas demanded its own personal, private and individual airport—at taxpayer expense, of course.

But Dallas has been rebuffed all along the line—by the CAA, Congress and now by the U. S. Supreme court. If the city must have its own airport, it will have to build it.

Which strikes us as being exactly the proper disposition of this and all similar cases—especially when the air-traveling public much prefers one time-killing stop to two, as always has been the situation at Fort Worth and Dallas

FLYING TRAFFIC HAZARD STUDIED

Use Of Municipal Airport By RAFB For Training Requested

Problems of possibly vital bearing upon the future of the newly named Reese Air Force base and Lubbock Municipal airport were brought frankly into the open at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

While little progress was apparent immediately toward their solution, the extended and harmonious discussions closed in an atmosphere of confidence that satisfactory answers will be found.

They must be found or the alternatives may affect the extent, if not the continuation, of operations at RAFB as well as the civilian uses of the Municipal airport.

Base Is Renamed

It was an ironical twist of fate that the crisis was encountered on the very day of the announcement that the facility recently reactivated at Lubbock Air Force base had been named for First Lt. Augustus F. Reese, jr., of Shallowater. Lt. Reese was killed in action while flying a volunteer missio, at Cagliaria, Sardinia, off the coast of Italy, May 14, 1943.

Participating in the discussions, with no attempts made to minimize the difficulties of the problem, were officials of the city, chamber of commerce and RAFB, representatives of airlines serving Lubbock and others interested in civilian operations at Municipal airport.

Use Of Field Asked

The problem had its origin in the formal request from RAFB for permission to use the facilities of the Municipal airport in connection with its advanced training of Air Force pilots, the first class of whom is scheduled to report at the base early next week.

The student pilots will receive most of their training at RAFB. But, to economically justify its existence, the base must train a minimum of about 200 pilots a year, the meeting was told by Lt. Cols. Chas. V. Eld, air installations officer, and Frank P. Wood, executive officer of training.

That many men cannot be trained at RAFB, they said. Therefore, they continued, additional facilities must be available. The only satisfactory airport available for that purpose is the Lubbock Municipal, although Colonel Eld said he has requested an appropriation to rehabilitate the wartime Abernathy Air field. But, even if the money is provided, Eld continued, the Abernathy facility cannot be put into condition for use before next year. Lubbock's is the only airport available for use now.

Needed Several Hours Daily

So the base officers requested that the Municipal port facilities be made available for training during four daylight hours starting at once and, later, for eight hours, daily.

The training program as outlined, would involve the continuous flying during those hours of 12 B-25 training planes over Municipal airport. Each plane would land and take-off from 7 to 12 times per hour—or a total of 84 to 144 landings and take-offs per hour for the 12 planes.

This proposed program brought quick objections from several sources. The most startling was expressed by Robert F. McKee, of Denver, chief engineer of Continental Air Lines—one of the three airlines now serving Lubbock. The others are Braniff and Pioneer.

Flying Hazard Seen

McKee said the proposed program would create traffic of such large volume and of such hazardous type that the air lines might be compelled, because of considerations for safety to suspend service to Lubbock.

If the airlines did not discontinue service themselves, they might be compelled to do so by the Civil Aeronautics authority, he declared.

The hazards to other air traffic involved in the proposed RAFB program also drew comments from Robert H. Bean, chairman of the Municipal Airport board, Ed Colby, airport manager, and Roy Neal, private operators who conducts the GI aviation training program for Texas Technological college.

Colby said the landings and take-offs proposed are far in excess of the maximum allowed any civilian airport by the CAA. He asserted also that the high landing speeds of B-25 planes—ranging from 115 to more than 140 miles an hour—would be highly destructive to runways. These speeds compare with about 70 miles for a passenger airliner.

Would Hit Civilian Traffic

Neal declared that the presence of Air Force training planes would mean virtually an end to civilian traffic at the airport. Farmers, ranchers and many others who now fly in steadily increasing numbers to Lubbock to transact business would go to Plainview, Amarillo or elsewhere, he asserted, rather than risk the dense traffic at the Lubbock port. He said also the continuation of the Tech course would be gravely imperiled.

A suggestion that spaces between present asphalt runways be graded and surfaced for the landings and take-offs of light and private craft would not improve the situation materially, if at all, Neal declared.

This proposal, however, is being studied but with the question unanswered as to who would pay the cost, mounting possibly to as much as $100,000, involved in this improvement.

Danger Is Discussed

Several participants in the discussion referred to the danger that one of the training planes might collide with an airliner, killing many people.

"Such a tragedy would be a blow to Lubbock, the airport, the airline, the Air Force and aviation in general," Bean commented.

The city commission closed the discussion by taking the RAFB request as to Municipal airport under advisement.

Individual commission members, however, were unanimous in asserting they will not approve the use of the airport for training purposes if that should imperil or seriously curtail its use for civilian airline and Tech training purposes.

This was a view upon which Mayor W. H. Rodgers, Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler and Clarence Whiteside and City Manager Steve Matthews agreed.

But they expressed the hope and confidence that some plan can be worked out whereby the airport can be utilized both for military and civilian purposes—with the RAFB training program there reduced considerably below the one proposed.

The other participants in the discussions included Spencer Wells, chairman of the chamber of commerce air base committee; A. B. Davis, chamber manager, Bob Walker and Ray Hinchey, members of the airport board, and J. J. Boydston, Lubbock agent for Pioneer Air Lines.

Police had to control a queue of several thousand women outside a Sunderland, England, store where fur coats were offered for $4 each.

RACIAL SUPERIORITY NOT COURSE

College Explains Conditions Of Taking Large Endowment

NATCHEZ, Miss., Oct. 28. (AP)—Three trustees of Jefferson Military college issued a statement last night in an effort to clarify the school's acceptance of an endowment valued potentially at $50,000,000.

"Considerable confusion and misunderstanding" had arisen, said the three, regarding the endowment offered by 84-year-old George Armstrong, sr., Texas and Mississippi oil man-capitalist.

The 660-word statement was signed by S. N. Murphy, chairman of the executive committee, Gerard Brandon and Joseph Brown. They said they were speaking for the 12-man board.

The gift was conditioned upon the acceptances of two changes at the 147-year-old prep school at nearby Washington, Miss. One would be a charter change providing that the school should be primarily for white Christians. No African or Asiatic or person of African or Asiatic descent would be admitted as a student or in the faculty.

Racial Superiority Out

On this point the statement said:

"The college has ever been maintained and operated exclusively for students of the white race. The trustees of Jefferson college know that the admission of members of the colored races to the college would be inimical to the interests of the students, of the college and to the people of both races.

"The college will continue to be maintained and operated exclusively for members of the white race. Any other policy would be unthinkable."

Brandon said that Armstrong had not proposed the teaching of white supremacy or the exclusion of non-Christians. The original announcement of the endowment made Monday night by Allen J. Armstrong, business manager of the school and a son of the donor, said the school would "teach . . . the superiority of the Anglo-Saxon and Latin-American races."

On this point the statement said:

"The superiority of one race over another has never been taught in Jefferson college. No such course of study is anticipated. No such course of study should ever be found to be necessary or desirable.

Offer Accepted

"The college is non-denominational and no person shall be denied admission because of not being a Christian. The college has heretofore been conducted primarily for white Christians and this policy will be continued.

The other condition in the endowment offer asked for a reduction in the board of trustees from 12 to five. The policy statement made no mention of this change.

The school has accepted the endowment and the trustees have agreed to the conditions, but final papers have not been formally drafted.

Brown previously had said Jefferson would be open "to all white Christians, with the only ban on negroes and Asiatics." He added: "You'll find our requirements far less restrictive than at Notre Dame, Texas Christian university, Southern Methodist or any other denominational school."

At South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame replied that it "does not follow a policy of racial or religious discrimination." The reply, made through the Rev. John Murphy, vice president in charge of public relations at the university, said Notre Dame's faculty and student body included "members of the various racial and religious groups mentioned by Mr. Brown plus a few others."

At Dallas, Dr. W. Harrison Baker, a trustee of SMU, said that a few months ago the Methodist university had turned down an offer from the elder Armstrong of a $5,000,000 endowment if it would bar Jewish students.

The elder Armstrong could not be reached for comment on Dr. Baker's statement.

Chinese Laundryman And Wife Get Child

BOSTON, Oct. 28. (INS)—A Chinese laundryman and his white wife today won a three-cornered adoption battle for the custody of a pretty, blue-eyed four-year-old girl.

Probate Court Judge Robert G. Wilson, jr., ruled that Jack Ho, 35, and his wife, Berthilde, are the legal parents of blonde Judy Anna Rouff.

The court ruled the child's natural mother, Dora R. Rouff, 24, of Malden, "is not a proper person" to care for the baby and made no mention of an adoption petition of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Donnelly, a farm couple of Burrillville, R. I. The Donnelly's had previously adopted Judy's younger sister.

The court battle developed when Mrs. Rouff started action to regain the custody of Judy, whom she had given to the Ho couple.

Six Injured In Car Collision

LORENZO, Oct. 28 (Special)—A total of six persons were injured, at least one seriously, in a two-car collision at 2:30 p. m., Thursday on Farm Road 387, about two miles southeast of Lorenzo.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. Frankie Duffey, 38, Clarksville, who, with her five children, was a pasenger in a 1940 Chevrolet sedan being driven by her husband, Wesley Duffey.

Mrs. Duffey suffered a broken leg and severe cuts and bruises. Her condition was described by hospital officials as serious today. All others hospitalized are "doing fine," attendants said.

The accident happened when a 1940 Ford sedan, being driven by Earl Bonine, 38, who lives south of Ralls, swerved into Duffey's car as they were passing each other.

Sheriff Foy Addison, who investigated the accident, charged Bonine with driving while intoxicated. Bonine was released late tonight after posting $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace W. H. Nickson, at Crosbyton.

Driver Also Injured

Bonine, who suffered lacerations and three broken ribs in the accident, was treated at Spikes hospital in Ralls and then released.

The entire Duffey family was taken to Crosbyton Clinic-hospital by a Marr Funeral home ambulance from Ralls. The accident was reported by T. J. Hendricks, who lives near the scene of the collision.

Pounds said Hendricks had to use his auto to pull the Duffey car upright to free Mrs. Duffey, who was pinned under a door.

The other injured members of the Duffey family were: The father, Wesley Duffey, who suffered abrasions and bruises; Marion Earl Duffey, 4, a broken left leg; Effie Loraine Duffey, 16, badly swollen jaw and abrasions and other bruises; Lethadell Duffey, 11, sprained wrist and bruises; Carl Duffey, 8, and another of the Duffey children whose name was not known, were uninjured.

Deputy Sheriff Pounds said the family had come to Lorenzo to help in the cotton harvest. Duffey's car was practically demolished.

Traffic Deaths

ing to police department records, but another death came under the wheels of a car on private property.

One of the deaths came after the last survey on Sept. 2, and 45 injuries have been added during that period.

On the property damage side of the ledger, Highway patrol estimates through Sept. 30 place the figure at $320,374.50. This does not include mishaps in Lubbock and other large towns on the South Plains, and even the most conservative estimates last night pushed the total figure past the $500,000 mark.

Although not on the South Plains, a mishap at Amarillo resulted in the injury of six Texas Tech students and an Amarillo man on Oct. 21.

The Labor day weekend piled the greatest number of injuries for any three-day period during the past two months, with 30 persons hurt in 31 mishaps. Miraculously, no deaths resulted from this collection of accidents.

Other Highway patrol records through Sept. 30 show 265 accidents with injuries, 456 mishaps with property damage, a total of 684 accidents, and 512 injured.

MUTINY PUT DOWN

BEDFORD, Ind. (U.P.)—Herschel Jones, 23, told a police officer, "That's what I think of your traffic ticket," as he tore it into small pieces. In court, Jones was fined $10 and costs and ordered to fit together the pieces of his traffic ticket and present them.

UN Debates Conflict Between Greece And Balkan Countries

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Debate on the conflicts between Greece and her Communist neighbors in the Balkans continues in the United Nations today, with east and west blaming each other for the tension.

Russia and her satellites say Greece is at fault. Most of the other 59 nations represented in the United Nations political committee put the finger on Communist Albania and Bulgaria.

At one point during yesterday's debate, Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky appeared to have narrowed the issue down to the question of the disputed border between Albania and Greece.

Briton Answers Vishinsky

But at the close of a long speech he offered a resolution embodying suggestions made by Russia to the special U. N. Balkan conciliation committee. In addition to defining the present Greek-Albanian border as final, the resolution seeks a general amnesty for prisoners held by the Greek government and new elections in Greece to be supervised by an international group which would include Russia.

British minister of state Hector McNeil, in an address which was a point by point answer to Vishinsky, blamed the Russian satellites for the impasse.

Both Vishinsky and McNeil promised to speak again during the debate.

The Balkan conciliation committee, in a report issued last week-end, revealed the breakdown in negotiations was caused chiefly by the Greek-Albanian border issue.

Greece long has claimed a slice of southern Albania—the region known as Northern Epirus—on the grounds that the inhabitants are Greek.

Veto Debate Opens

Albania, backed by Russia, has insisted that the present border be recognized as final as a prerequisite to any Balkan peace settlement.

In the assembly's special political committee, debate opens today on a move to ask the Big Five to restrict use of the veto on applications for U. N. membership. All but Russia have already announced they would not use the veto in those cases.

A special 21-nation subcommittee of the political committee meanwhile voted to put off to next year a decision on the future of Eritrea, one of Italy's three pre-war African colonies.

The subcommittee will thus turn in to the political committee only suggestions for disposal of Iibia and Italian Somaliland.

Price For Coffee Is Reported Increasing

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 28. (AP) —You may soon be paying ten cents a cup or a dollar a pound retail for coffee.

You will if the current rise in the green coffee market continues, says W. O. Yarborough, president of the Nueces Coffee Co.

An unprecedented six-day rise in the green coffee market will make a 'ten-cent cup of coffee imperative" and will put a dollar-a-pound price tag on retail coffee if the current trend continues, he said yesterday.

She Carries A Torch For Every Man In The Land, And She's True To Each One

Happy Birthday To A Glamorous Gal!

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Happy birthday today to America's most glamorous girl!

She's 63 years old, but isn't looking forward to her old age pension. She still carries a torch for every man in the land, and she is true to each one that has stayed true to her.

A chubby lass who always wears the same old-fashioned dress, she has welcomed more people to New York than Grover Whalen. She never lifted her skirts for a cheesecak photo, but she posed for more snapshots than Greta Garbo ever hoped to avoid.

This national sweetheart—the number one U. S. pinup girl—is Miss Liberty, the statue that stands gazing seaward from Bedloe island, a 15-acre welcome mat outside the golden door.

Perhaps she had an even harder time getting set up here than the average immigrant.

The idea of the Statue of Liberty was conceived by a French historian in 1876 on the 100th anniversary of American independence. She was modeled by Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, a young Alsation sculptor.

She was a million-dollar baby. It took the French people four years to raise $700,000 by popular subscription to build her. But it was nine years before the American people got around to taking her as a gift and raised $300,000 for a pedestal to put her on her feet. The campaign was put over the top by Joseph Pulitizer's New York World.

The first rivet was put in place on July 12, 1886, and President Cleveland formally welcomed Miss Liberty to citizenship on Oct. 28th of that year.

She immediately took the country by storm and over the years has become a great national shrine.

An odd fact: In all these years no one has committed suicide by jumping from her head. This might be because no one ever wanted to desecrate Miss Liberty. Or it could be because nobody but a midget could crawl through the windows in her crown.

Six Stray Calves Are Problem For Pair On Farm In Illinois

CHAMPION, Ill., Oct. 28 (AP)—Six stray calves have upset the serene farm life of Mrs. Nelson Dinkle.

They also are eating like they want to get real fat, quickly.

Mrs. Dinkle, 30, and her husband, operate a small grain and garden farm at nearby Seymour and there are no facilities for the six calves.

Mrs. Dinkle brought the calves home a few days ago after she found them roaming along U. S. Highway 47. She put them in her chicken yard, hoping the owner would come and get them.

When they were unclaimed, Mrs. Dinkle asked her lawyer what she should do with the calves.

The law relating to estrays—valuable animals, not wild, found wandering from their owner—says Mrs. Dinkle must care for the cattle for one year, if unclaimed. Then she can sell the calves, deduct the cost of their year's upkeep from the proceeds and turn the balance over to the county.

The law says she must do other things, too. She must report to county officials her findings, get the value of the calves appraised and have a public notice published for three weeks.

Mrs. Dinkle says she has no way of caring for them for even three days. She ran a display advertisement in the Champaign News Gazette. She hopes the calves' owner will see it and claim his livestock.
