Resolution Adopted

The American Agricultural all day meeting held in Irving, Texas, February 2nd was attended by approximately 500 farmers, representing the entire state of Texas. Those attending from the Earth-Sprinklake agricultural office were Tommy Wheatley, Johnny and Gaye Pellham. A resolution was adopted calling for full participation in the nationwide movement of 50% lay-out of all acres in cultivation in 1977, thereby cutting production in half and decreasing so called "surplus". The resolution will be presented to each farmer in every county in Texas, they will all be asked and urged to participate. The resolution adopted is printed in its entirety elsewhere in the paper.

Wheat plow-ups were to start as soon as land was plowable. 50% of all planted wheat is to be destroyed as a sign of serious intentions and the "not bluffing" attitude taken by all farmers understanding the very real need for changes in our current farm program to enable the farm family; as we know it, too survive. Many counties have already started this program, wet weather has prevented others.

Plans were made for troops of farmers to go to South Texas in an effort to get the valley farmers' support for the 50% lay-out resolution. Some have pledged support but more encouragement is needed. Hundreds of farmers from northern states are coming to join Texas farmers in this crusade, as planting starts in the valley in approximately 2 weeks and this is the starting point. Many thousands of farmers are expected in McAllen, Texas February 6th, going from farm to farm explaining the need for 100% participation to make the movement a success. There will be a big rally February 10th in the McAllen High School Football Stadium. Farmers able to participate in this crusade are desperately needed, for more information call your local AAM Office, 257-2051.

Many other subjects were discussed, with everyone being given the chance to speak and express their own thoughts and concerns.

Cotton Prices Steady

High Plains growers sold cotton for around $1.00 per bale higher than one week ago, according to Paul N. Dickson, in charge of Lubbock's Cotton Classing Office. Mixed lots of mostly grades 31, 41, 32 and 42; staples 30-33, mikes 3.5-4.9 brought around 46.70 cents per pound, Dickson said.

High Plains Classing Offices graded 14,000 samples the week ended February 3. The season's total stands at 2,921,000, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. This compares with only 1,722,000 classed by the same date a year ago.

Predominant High Plains grades this week were grade 41 at 20 percent, grade 32 was 21 percent and grade 42 accounted for 32 percent.

Staple lengths were mostly staple 31 at 24 percent, staple 32 was 37 percent and staple 33 accounted for 19 percent.

Micronaire continued mostly in the desirable 3.5-4.9 range at 78 percent of the total. Eight percent was higher and 14 percent was lower.

Eight percent was reduced one grade because of grass and two percent for bark.

This is the final weekly report for the 1977-78 Cotton Season.

Mexico Meats Sold

As USDA Inspected

It was discovered by the American Agricultural Movement that fat cattle ready for the butcher shop has been coming across the border from Old Mexico into Texas and 30 minutes later tagged as American beef and sold as such.

All concerned people are urged to write letters to their Texas Congressmen and gubernatorial candidates asking for stricter regulations to be enforced on imported beef. Mrs. American Housewife has every right to know where the meat she is paying hard earned dollars for, came from and she should have the assurance that it is truly meat that is being fed and butchered by the USDA standards set for American raised meat. It has been learned that the public has been and is being sold Old Mexico meat raised meat. It has been learned that the public has been and is being sold Old Mexico meat raised by Old Mexico standards; but, posing as USDA graded and inspected meat and sold at the same prices as our high quality American grown meat. This should be stopped, but if the consumer does not start demanding it's rights it never will be.

If you care what your family is fed take a few minutes and write postcards, talk with your butcher, insist that you will not be tricked any longer; you should get what you pay for. Check with your school, insist that your children only be fed American raised meats, for their protection. You do have RIGHTS, demand them.

R for your child's safety

The natural curiosity of young toddlers allows them to discover many wonderful new things, but can also lead them into situations where they can easily be hurt, especially through scalding and burning. However, according to Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and former medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co., parents can prevent many tragic childhood burns by exercising caution and educating their youngsters to the danger of fire.

Parents should make certain that matches and lighters are kept out of reach of the tot. "Parents who use matches must get in the habit of returning them to a safe place as soon as they are finished with them," says Dr. Domm. "Any forgetfulness in this regard could easily lead to tragedy."

Similarly, young children should be kept away from kitchen stoves, heaters and fireplaces. Dr. Domm warns parents never to leave a toddler alone in the kitchen where he might be tempted to turn on the stove or in the living room when there is a fire in the fireplace. "Always turn pot handles in to prevent children from pulling scalding liquids over on themselves," advises Dr. Domm.

South Plains

Hospital Board

The 36th annual meeting of the South Plains Hospital-Clinic was held Saturday, January 28 in the Apherst School lunchroom. Presiding at the meeting was the president of the board of directors, Guy Hufstetler, Jr. Other board members serving the past year were Charles Mixon, S.D. Pugh, T.L. Bennett, and Jimmy Gage of Amherst, Phillip Gordon, Sudan, and Wendell Clayton of Earth. Guy Hufstetler and Phillip Gordon, whose terms had expired were re-elected to office. T.L. Bennett who had resigned earlier because of health reasons was replaced by Gary Bulls of Earth.
 A report on the past year was given by Louise Landers, administrator, and Calvin Price, Certified Public Accountant for the hospital. A report from the Hospital Memorial Fund indicated a balance of approximately $1,600 at the present time. A lengthy discussion concerning the hospital's plans to proceed with the building of a new hospital followed.
 After hospital business was concluded, a city and community awareness discussion evolved with plans for a Chamber of Commerce organization, discussions about the delay in the Amherst Housing application, and concern about needs of the surrounding small communities. All persons present were encouraged to become more informed and better involved in their own local government and decision making. There was also favorable response to continuing the small community meetings that have been organized.

The Bible Says

"If I speak with the tongue of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become sounding brass—or a clanging cymbal." 1 Corinthians 13:1
 In the days of the apostle Paul, speaking in tongues, (languages one has never studied; see Acts 2:8) was greatly desired by the people of God. We can understand that if we will think of it for a minute. Wouldn't you like to be able to speak in a language you had never studied before? It was a sure sign that God was performing a miracle and using one of His people.
 Whatever the speaker said, translated by an interpreter, was the will of God; no questions asked! But Paul lays down a principle here for all time to come! No matter what your gifts or capabilities or talents if they are not coupled with love they are just like a lot of noise; we might say, "much sound and fury, signifying nothing."
 We understand that principle, don't we? We see someone with a tremendous talent in football, for example, and we appreciate seeing them in action. But if they are selfish, boastful, unloving and just plain rude it is not long before we don't care what his talent is or how good he plays, we just don't like to be around him.

 Paul says even if you can speak in the language of the angels you are like a big noise if you have not love! That puts love on a pretty high plain, doesn't it? Love is above ability. Love is above position. Love is above personal goals and wants. In fact, the more ability and talent a person has, the more we expect of them, right? We expect them to be a teacher of others. We expect them to share what they have. We expect them to be an encouragement to the weak. They are high on our list! But they can let us down quickly if they are void of love.
 But what about me? I have talents and abilities. I don't have maybe any great abilities or talents, but I do have them. Do I love? Do I love what I have with others? Instead of criticizing the one who has much for not loving, I should reach out in love to others with what I have. Just think what it would be like if all of us forgot ourselves for one day and reached out to someone else! Love would abound! Well, it's not to start somewhere, how about now?

Olton Woman To Austin

As VISTA State Forum Representative, Mrs. Joe Chester recently attended a Welfare Rights Workshop in Austin. Mrs. Chester, a resident of Olton, works in a number of towns in this area including Olton, Springlake, Earth, Spur, Dickens and Roaring Springs.

While in Austin, Mrs. Chester toured interesting places of that city first called Austin in 1839 when it became capital of the Republic of Texas. It was originally named Waterloo.

Mrs. Chester viewed the present state capital building constructed in 1888 of red granite from Granite Mountain near Marble Falls. Height of the dome is 309 feet, 8 inches, seven feet higher than our Nation's Capitol.

Interesting are Texas Archives and Library Building and the Old Land Office Building. In the former are documents and relics of Texas under Six Flags. First floor of the Old Land Office Building home is now the home of Daughters of the Confederacy Museum. The second floor houses the Museum of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The tour included Millet Opera House built in 1878 and now occupied by a stationers' company.

The Governor's Mansion, built in 1855, with large columns and broad verandas portrays architecture of the era before the Civil War.

On the first floor are furnishings used by former governors. The current governor's family resides on the second floor.

Lunberg Bakery constructed in 1876 was restored in 1963 by Heritage Society of Austin in conjunction with Junior League.

St. David's Episcopal Church located at 7th and San Jacinto was constructed in 1854 and is known as the oldest Protestant Church west of the Mississippi River. In 1884 the building was remodeled in the style of an Old English Church. The bell cast in Philadelphia for the Texas State Capitol, was brought to Austin in 1854.

On 9th and Guadalupe Street is Moonlight Tower, one of the thirty-five towers to be erected for lighting the city. At the first date this lighting system was used, May 6, 1885, Austin and Detroit, Michigan were the only cities in the world utilizing this method. Twenty-seven towers are now used "to bathe Austin in soft blue light" throughout the year. Built of wrought and cast iron each tower is 165 feet tall and costs $15,000 per tower.

The residences on the Bremond Block between 7th and 8th and San Antonio and Guadalupe are typical of the homes in Austin during the era from 1865 until the turn of the century.

Of special interest is the O. Henry Home and Museum at 409 E. 5th Street. The noted short story writer whose name was William Sidney Porter came in 1884 to Austin and stayed until 1895 when he accepted employment with the Houston Post.

A historic building is the French Legation built in 1841 with windows, doors and hardware imported from France. The Legation occupied 21 1/3 acres which sold for $1,000. French ambassadors lived there while Texas was a Republic.

State Cemetery, considered the Arlington of Texas, is the gravesite of O.F. Dent, father of Mrs. Lowell McGill of Olton and brother of L.H. Dent of Earth. The late Mr. Dent, Lamb County Judge, was member of State Water Commission twenty-two years and served four years as its chairman. Stephen F. Austin, 2047 Confederate veterans, their widows, seven governors and 234 other officials and their wives are buried in State

Cemetery.

The first drilling rig that brought oil on University of Texas lands in West Texas is located at Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard and San Jacinto. The rig is named Santa Rita No. 1. Littlefield Fountain at 21st and University Avenue was erected in 1932 as a memorial to the Texas State University students killed in World War I.

University of Texas Tower, 307 feet tall, has a 17 bell carillon which chimes each fifteen minutes from 6:15 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

The L.B.J. Library on 14 acres of land just east of Texas Memorial Stadium contains important papers of Landon Baines Johnson, 36th President of the United States.

Memorial Hall of Texas Memorial Museum commemorates notable events in Texas history. Themes of other floors are—Anthropology, Botany, Zoology, Geology and History.

Elizabeth Ney Museum is a tribute to the first important sculptor of Texas. A native of Germany, Miss Ney established a studio in Austin in 1892. She created the statue of General Albert Sidney Johnson which is in Texas State Cemetery. Johnson, Secretary of War, in the Republic of Texas, was killed in the Battle of Shiloh, 1862, while commanding the Confederate Army.

Mrs. Chester viewed Camp Mabry, home of Texas National Guard. Texas Fine Arts Association Museum is at Laguna Gloria near Mount Bonnell, named for George C. Bonnell, Texas Commissioner of Indian Affairs in 1838.

The guided tour included Tom Miller Dam located at Lake Austin Boulevard. This dam was the first of seven dams to be built on the Colorado River. These form the Highland Lake Chain. Tom Miller Dam was originally built in 1893 and rebuilt in 1940.

Barton Springs in Zilker Park has a waterflow from fifteen million to forty two million gallons daily. It was a stopping place for Indians and for Spanish explorers. Near this location, a Spanish mission was built in 1730.

Zilker Gardens features Water Garden, Garden of the Blind, Oriental Garden, Rose Garden and Biblical Gardens. Within Zilker Gardens boundaries are a Cedar Swedish Cabin built in 1840 and a public building from which one may view the skyline of the city.

Located at 503 Baylor Street, Treaty Oak is said to be the most perfect tree specimen in North America, and a picture of this tree hangs in the Hall of Fame of Forestry at Washington, D.C. It is believed Stephen F. Austin signed a boundary line agreement between the Indians and whites under

Rural America

IN RURAL AMERICAN, 1978: A DECLARATION OF THE FARMERS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

When in the course of human events, it has become necessary for us, the farmers, of this nation to take it upon ourselves to correct the economic injustices wrought upon us by governmental powers.

Whereas: President Carter has broken his campaign promises to work for the farmers.

Whereas: The USDA Secretary Bergland claims only a few farmers are in trouble, and would go broke anyway.

Whereas: A cheap food and fiber policy allows imported agricultural products to wreck the economy of agriculture and the nation.

Whereas: The USDA Secretary Bergland allows only a possible 10% set aside for feed grain, 20% wheat, none cotton, in view of the SO CALLED "SURPLUS" which depresses agriculture to "GREAT DEPRESSION" levels.

Whereas: It is in the best interest of all the citizens of our Great Nation to conserve our resources (fuel, soil, water) and not waste them growing unwanted crops.

Whereas: The farmers of this nation are losing their equities in farms and are being forced into BANKRUPTCY allowing even foreigners to purchase our farms and ranches.

Whereas: Soil conservation is a prime concern of farmers. Cover crops may be needed to control erosion from wind and water. Production from these cover crops will not be used. The cultural practices that were followed in 1977 is to be followed in the 50% planted acres. This is to include herbicides, fertilizer, chemical use and planting pattern.

Whereas: The loss of income for the nation caused by 64% parity farm prices is causing our country to become insolvent.

Whereas: All citizens of this nation, INCLUDING FARMERS, are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, and that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

NOW, THEREFORE, this tree with branches which shade more than a quarter of an acre.

A resume of spectacular Texas history justifies the loyalty of its citizens to this glorious state.

BE IT RESOLVED, That we the farmers of this nation adopt the following plan to help achieve 100% PARITY for agriculture.

This family recognizes that we are only one farm family, but we believe that we must do our part to support this effort. Therefore, with God's help, we agree to plant only 50% of our land until AAM's goals are achieved. Further, we agree that we will not lease or rent any land which a landlord has taken back from another farm family who has also agreed to plant only 50% of their land.

We, the undersigned, hereby agree to set aside, by not planting crops or by plowing up growing crops, ONE-HALF (1/2) of our normal cultivated and planted acres for the year 1978 to bring about a decrease in the SO CALLED "SURPLUS" for an increase in price.

The Now Washbasket

By Steffie Miller

Homemade bread, antique furniture, home-grown vegetables. These are some of the elements that make up the current nostalgia craze. The use of natural fibers also plays an important role in this trend and for the coming holidays many dining tables will be decorated with holly, china and as a final touch—a linen tablecloth.

Linen is one of the oldest fibers of the western world. Its texture, strength and slow-to-soil characteristics make it an ideal fiber for tablecloths. Linen responds best to laundering in hot water and detergent. However, experts advise against the use of chlorine bleach because it can weaken the fibers—thus shortening the useful life of the cloth. Instead they recommend using a bleach substitute like Borateem Plus.

It brightens and whitens washable fabrics and helps remove stains without harming colors, fibers or finishes. Package directions say to add 1 cup of Borateem Plus along with detergent to each washload. Stains should be pre-treated by rubbing a paste of the product into the stain, waiting 10 minutes and then laundering. There is a free booklet that tells more about this product and you can get one by writing to: Borateem Laundry Booklet, P.O. Box 75128, Sanford Station, Los Angeles, CA 90075.

Duroc Winter Congress

The 22nd annual National and Southwestern Duroc Winter Type Congress and Sale will be held here February 24-25 according to Waylon R. Carroll, Secretary-Treasurer of Lubbock Texas. The headquarters is Ramsdell Inn, Lubbock Texas.

The event scheduled at the Swine Barn at Panhandle South Plains Fairgrounds is expected to draw 120 consignors from 20 states and numerous breeders. Over 400 head of bred gilts, open gilts, and boars are entered for the show, judging and sale.

Col. Howard Parrish of Edon, Ohio and Col. Joe Harper of Colorado, Iowa will handle the auctioneering. Dr. Laurel Christian, outstanding swine judge, Ames, Iowa, will serve as judge.

Bruce Henderson of Peoria, Illinois, Executive Secretary of the United Duroc Swine Registry, said, "The Southwestern Duroc Congress sale is the pacesetter hog sale of the Duroc Breed for the winter months." We can expect the greatest sale offering this breed has ever seen at Lubbock because the Nation's leading breeders have consigned.

Entries will be accepted on February 23. Judging Bred Gilts, Open Gilts and Boars will get underway beginning at 8 a.m., on February 24. Over $6,000.00 in premiums will be awarded. A committee of breeders will score the underlines.

A banquet and business meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on February 24. The sale of bred and open gilts and boars will start at 10 a.m., on February 25.

Wayman Lewis of Littlefield, Texas is president of the Southwestern Duroc Breeders and Joe Tarter of Lubbock is vice president. Trophies for the champion swine winners also are being donated by businesses and breeders in the West Texas areas.

Officials stressed all breeders consistently bring their best to this winter show and sale. All swine exhibited are open for purchase.

This will be the Duroc Sale during the winter months. This show is sponsored by the Southwestern Duroc Breeders and United Swine Registry.

This will be an excellent opportunity for all people interested in swine to attend.

FIRST AID FOR STORM DAMAGED TREES

Lamb County residents who had some of their choice shade and fruit trees damaged by recent ice storms should take immediate action to save the damaged trees.

First decide whether it is practical to attempt to save a damaged tree. A tree can usually be considered damaged beyond repair if more than 30 to 50 percent of its trunk or main branches are severely split, broken or mutilated.

On the other hand, there may be some good reasons for wanting to save a certain tree, especially if it is one of the more desirable species, such as oaks, most maples, sweet gums, pecans, most pines, magnolias or hollies.

Tree repair time is also a good time to reconsider correcting landscape errors. A tree too close to a power line or building might better be removed rather than be repaired. Also, consider age when deciding whether to remove or repair the tree. A lack of vigor might affect its recovery. In case of special values such as rarity, historical or sentimental meanings, extra consideration might be given to a damaged tree. When applying first aid to a tree, remove only the branches in need of immediate repair. Too much pruning in one season can hurt to create other problems such as sunscald, weak branching habits, and soft sucker growth.

When treating tree wounds, reattach the bark to the inner wood with galvanized nails if healing seems possible. Reshape bark wounds in a vertically elongated shape for faster healing. Coat all wounds and pruning cuts with a good commercial tree wound dressing.

Avoid leaving branch stubs by making removal cuts at side branches whenever possible. Strive to maintain an attractive shape or balance for the entire tree top. If major repairs are needed, it is usually better to rely on a professional tree surgeon. If you do it yourself, follow all safety precautions relative to falling branches, ladders or contacting power lines. If the repairs are to be done by a friend, investigate beforehand if you have adequate insurance for personal injury, liability and property damage.

Prompt removal of all debris caused by either wind or pruning will help eliminate breeding areas for insects and diseases.

Good follow-up care of injured trees is also important. Thin out prolific sucker growth and examine tree wound dressings regularly, repainting them as needed.

For continued care of the damaged tree, establish a fertilizer program, continue gradual pruning and reshaping over a period of three to five years, and provide protection from drought, insects and diseases.

Army's Air Force

The Army's air force is made up of 9,200 aircraft, including 800 fixed wing and 8,400 rotary wing aircraft. Those who enlist in the Army may serve as air traffic controllers, crew chiefs or mechanics while Army pilots must be commissioned or warrant officers.

It is interesting to note that the U.S. Air Force has a total of 7,199 aircraft, some 2,000 less than the Army's "air force," according to the May issue of Air Force magazine.

Fort Rucker, the home of Army aviation, in Southeastern Alabama, is where the majority of officers and enlisted men receive their training for flying and maintaining aircraft. The 32 weeks of flight training are broken down into three phases—basic fundamentals, instrument training and advanced instruction.

In addition, the Air Traffic Control facilities include five base air field control towers, fourteen stage fields, three tactical radar facilities and a Radar Approach Control.

Farm Credit Banks

C.R. (Pete) Duran of the Pinehill Community near Henderson has been elected chairman of the board of the Farm Credit Banks of Houston. He succeeds Chas. C. Thompson of Colorado City, board chairman since 1962, who retired last December.

Announcement came today following the board's January session.

New vice chairman is M. Lawrence Ellzey of Perryton.

Duran, representing the Production Credit Associations of Texas, served as board vice chairman since 1962. He was elected to the board in 1958.

He is a member of East Texas Production Credit Association, the Rusk County Livestock Association and the Texas Farm Bureau. Duran is a Rusk County cotton and grain farmer. Ellzey, director at large, has served on the board since January 1974. He is a former president of North Plains—Hereford Association, past chairman of the Agricultural Committee of Ochiltree Chamber of Commerce and a member of Texas Farm Bureau. Ellzey runs registered Hereford cattle on the L.Z. Ranch on Wolf Creek in Ochiltree County. The Houston Farm Credit Board is the policy-making body for the Federal Land Bank and the Federal Land Bank Associations; the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and its Production Credit Associations; and the Houston Bank for Cooperatives. The three Houston banks loaned more than $2 billion to Texas farmers and ranchers in 1977.
