Transportation has been on most people's minds this year and it has been a year for changes within agencies dealing with this important factor in our way of life. And some of the most noticeable changes have been in agency names.

We are about to become accustomed to the "State Department of Highways and Public Transportation," which is the new name of the Texas Highway Department.

Now, we are informed, "National Highway Week" has taken on a new name. It is now "Highway and Transportation Week," and it will be observed nationally Sept. 21-27.

It is sponsored nation-wide by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials, and in Texas it is a joint venture of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the Texas Good Roads-Transportation Association. The latter organization formerly was simply the Texas Good Roads Association. So, it appears that the name-changing disease in this field was highly contagious the past year.

Mrs. Thomas Scannicchio, wife of the new curriculum coordinator for Snyder Public Schools, hardly got to town before she became a full-fledged fan of the the Snyder High School football team. She was in the stands cheering for the Bengals last Friday night despite the fact that she didn't arrive in town until around 4:30 p.m. that day.

Incidentally, Dr. and Mrs. Scannicchio didn't have to adjust their allegiance so far as team nicknames go. He has three degrees from Louisiana State University where the term "Fighting Tigers" is heard rather frequently.

The Exxon Company's film, "Southwest Conference Highlights" of 1974, is being shown here this week at various gatherings, and it has one interesting gap that undoubtedly is rather embarrassing to the firm. There are no scenes from the Texas-Baylor game of last fall.

Immediately after that shocking upset it was revealed that the game had been regarded as such a breeze for the Longhorns that the Exxon people decided they wouldn't embarrass poor ole Baylor by sending their camera crew up for that one.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Sept. 11, the 254th day of 1975. There are 111 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1609, the English explorer, Henry Hudson, discovered the island of Manhatten.

On this date:

In 1677, Maine passed the first law against liquor in the American colonies.

In 1777, forces under Gen. George Washington were defeated by the British in the Battle of Brandywine near Wilmington, Del.

In 1814, an American fleet scored a decisive victory over the British in the Battle of Lake Champlain in the War of 1812.

In 1850, the "Swedish Nightingale," Jenny Lind, gave her first concert in the United States at Castle Garden in NewYork City.

In 1940, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the British to be prepared for an attempted German invasion.

In 1963, 86 years of segregation ended at the University of South Carolina with the enrollment of three blacks.

Ten years ago: In a week of bitter fighting south of the Danang air base in South Vietnam, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reportedly killed more than 300 guerrillas.

Five years ago: President Richard M. Nixon ordered the use of armed government guards on international and domestic flights to prevent hijackings.

One year ago: Sixty-nine persons were killed when an Eastern Airlines DC-9 jet crashed into the woods while attempting a landing at Charlotte, N.C.

ON GOP VOTE-HUNTING MISSION

Ford In New Hampshire

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — President Ford, beginning a Republican vote-hunting mission, plunged into crowds lining the streets of this New Hampshire hamlet today in a hand-to-hand campaign on behalf of GOP Senate candidate Louis C. Wyman.

On his first political outing since a woman in Sacramento, Calif., pointed a pistol at him last Friday, Ford worked his way along the town square in Keene, shaking hands and greeting well-wishers.

The President rode a presidential limousine with the roof hatch pulled back so that he could stand and wave along the way.

He told a crowd of several thousand people in Keene that Wyman will make New Hampshire proud if the voters send him to the Senate in next Tuesday's special election against Democrat John A. Durkin.

Secret Service agent Larry Buendorf, who grabbed away the gun wielded by a follower of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson in the Sacramento incident, was on duty, often at the President's elbow.

There were no signs of unusual security precautions, although police and federal agents carefully scouted the route of the motorcade, which covered more than 120 miles and 14 communities, from Keene in the west to Portsmouth on the seacoast.

The President took over the New Hampshire campaign from former California Gov. Ronald Reagan. Their appearances could turn out to be an audition for a New Hampshire presidential primary contest between them next year.

Ford said he was glad that Reagan, a potential GOP White House challenger in 1976, had come to the state Wednesday in Wyman's behalf.

"I'm here because I want to show a common front and a united party," Ford said in Keene.

Ford's was a hectic, day-long schedule of small town campaigning. No President in recent times has undertaken so intensive a round of campaigning when he wasn't running in his own right.

The President's motorcade had barely begun when he made his first brief stop to shake hands and chat with a crowd of perhaps 100 people at a local Wyman headquarters.

The crowds grew heavier as the Ford entourage moved to the center of Keene, a city of 21,000. On the broad sidewalk circling the grassy town square, people were packed row upon row.

Ford walked along a rope barrier to shake hands, then addressed what he called "this wonderful turnout" from a loudspeaker set up beside his limousine.

He said the Senate, which deadlocked in efforts to decide whether Wyman or Durkin had won last November's disputed Senate election, had been forced by public pressure to let New Hampshire voters stage a rerun "rather than have the politicians make that choice."

In that situation, he said the voters have a special responsibility to go to the polls Tuesday. "Make it a big election," Ford said.

Although security was a concern of New Hampshire and federal authorities it didn't inhibit Ford's campaign style.

Squeaky Ejected At Arraignment

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, charged with trying to assassinate President Ford, was ejected from a federal courtroom during her arraignment today after she demanded that the judge "save the Redwood trees" and told him: "The gun is pointed, your honor."

Miss Fromme, clad in the red "nun's robe" she has worn in dedication to her leader, convicted mass murderer Charles Manson, repeated twice, "The gun is pointed." Then she told the judge, "Whether it goes off is up to you."

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride, presiding over the arraignment, ordered her removed from the courtroom when she refused to stop a rambling dissertation on the need to save Redwood trees.

She was taken from the courtroom without entering a plea to the federal attempted assassination charge. Miss Fromme was seized by Secret Service agents last Friday after she pointed a .45-caliber semi-automatic pistol at Ford from a distance of only two feet.

An agent wrested the weapon from her. Authorities said there were four live cartridges in the magazine but none in the firing chamber.

At today's proceeding, the judge tried to discourage Miss Fromme, 26, from speaking out, telling her she might prejudice her chance of a fair trial. He urged against any political statements.

But Miss Fromme insisted on speaking.

"There is an army of young people and children who want to clean up this earth, the Redwood trees," she began. As the judge interrupted, she went on, "I want you to order the corps of government engineers to buy up the parks"

The judge told her that her statements had nothing to do with her trial, but Miss Fromme declared, "You have jurisdiction over the Redwood trees. Will you think about it?"

The judge said he would, but it would not influence his judgment in the case.

Then she mentioned the trees again and declared, "The gun is pointed, your honor. The gun is pointed. Whether it goes off is up to you."

At that point MacBride ordered her removed from the courtroom.

The red-haired, freckle-faced defendant is being held in Sacramento County Jail in lieu of a million-dollar bond. She has indicated that she may contend at her trial that she never intended to kill Ford.

United Way Drive To Open Sept. 23

"It looks like it could be one of the best years ever for Scurry County United Way." Such was the optimistic observation of Lyle Deffebach, who presided over a final planning meeting Wednesday at city hall for local United Way directors and leaders.

Participants at the meeting likewise reflected optimism as they looked forward to a Sept. 23 kickoff date for this year's campaign to raise a total of $45,000. A kickoff dinner will be held at the coliseum on that date. Bob Clifton, ticket chairman for the dinner, announced that tickets will be $3.50, and will go on sale next week.

Briefing sessions for drive volunteers will begin on Sept. 24 and will be held each day through Sept. 26.

Division chairpersons for the campaign and their respective goals include: Advance division, Roger Mize, Joe Williamson, and Haskell Beard, $16,000; Branch House, Don Wooten, $1,400; Commercial, Mabel Glass, Red Faver, and Henry Clark, $7,600; Educational, Ben Brock, $3,700; Oil and Industry, Mairl McFaul and Bob Wilson, $8,000.

Other divisions include: Professional, Vera McSpadden and James Rosser, $1,500; Public Employes, Beverly Ainsworth, Doc Griffin, Don Sealy, Peggy Hardin, and Marlin Terrell, $1,400; Utilties, Darwin Melton, $3,900; Rural, Bentley Baize, $1,500.

Thirteen agencies participate in United Way. They include the Scurry County Boys' Club, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Texas Mental Health Association, USO, Texas Rehabilitation, Cerebral Palsy, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Snyder Child Day Care Center, Southwestern Diabetic Foundation Center, Scurry County Commission on Alcoholism, and the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Pair Charged In Burglary

Lloyd Edward Sanders, 23, and Otis Eddington, Jr., 19, both of Abilene, have been charged in Justice of the Peace Court with burglary and felony theft. Scurry County Sheriff's Authorities arrested the two Wednesday afternoon in Abilene. They are suspects in the burglary of the Ezell-Key Feed Mill office on the night of Aug. 29. Property taken in the burglary was recovered, officers said.

The two men are in jail in Abilene at the present, but will be returned to Snyder soon, officers said, at which time bond probably will be set.

One More Day To Register At WTC

Tomorrow is the final day of late registration for the fall semester at Western Texas College, with enrollment already setting another new high mark.

A total of 904 students had registered on the Snyder campus by this morning, with 302 students registered at extension centers for a combined total of 1,216 students, Dr. Ben Brock, WTC vice president, said.

Students wishing to register tomorrow are to go to the office of the registrar in the Administration Building between 8 a.m.-12 noon and 1-1:30 p.m.

House Approves 60-Day Extension Of Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed a bill today to continue domestic oil price controls until Oct. 31 to gain time to hammer out an energy compromise with President Ford.

Democrats indicated they do not expect the President to object to a 60-day extension in place of the 45-day extension to which he had given conditional approval.

House approval came by voice vote. The bill had been approved earlier at a special meeting of the House Commerce Committee.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., said that if President Ford were allowed to immediately decontrol oil prices it would fuel inflation and there would be "revolution in America."

The House action came only one day after the Senate failed to override President Ford's veto of a six-month extension of oil controls.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the energy and power subcommittee, said that if President Ford accepts the extension of controls he must sign the measure "with no strings attached."

Dingell said the President must not insist on any qualifications relating to price ceilings or on how long the period of decontrol should take.

The House-passed extension is retroactive to Sept. 1.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, ranking Republican member of the subcommittee, told the House it would be difficult administratively, and therefore costly, to have control authority expire in the middle of a month.

Brown said that when the House resumes consideration of the main energy bill, which it is expected to do next Wednesday, "then should we reach agreement ... any further extension could be drafted into that bill."

Earlier, Speaker Carl Albert was asked at a news conference whether he thinks the prospects for a compromise between Ford and the Democratic Congress will be any better 60 days from now.

"I certainly hope so," Albert said. "The Damocles sword hangs over us now. Complete decontrol is now a matter of law."

The House is expected to take up the energy bill next week, while the Senate may act earlier on the House-approved extension.

Auditions For Fair Show Set Saturday

Area entertainers have been reminded that auditions for the Scurry County Fair Talent Show will be held Saturday night at the Ira Community Center and those wishing to audition should call 573-7984 by Friday.

The talent show will be presented on the night of Saturday, Sept. 20, at the annual Scurry County Fair. Only a limited number of entertainers may appear on the show at the fair, and only those who audition will be considered for places on the program.

The show at the fair is not a competitive event, but will be held strictly for entertainment of fair visitors. However, those who audition will be competing for places on the program at the fair show.

The auditions will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday and there will be a band available for those who need accompaniment.

OILMEN LOOK FORWARD TO REVENUE HIKES

Decontrol Reaction Favorable In Texas

By The Associated Press

Oil industry spokesmen and the Texas Railroad Commission reacted favorably—and predictably—today to decontrol of petroleum prices.

President Ford vetoed a six-month extension of oil price controls and the U.S. Senate Wednesday voted 61-39 to sustain his veto.

Producers in the oil-rich Permian Basin of West Texas said they can look forward to an increase of $5 million a day in old oil revenues.

Excising controls on the price consumers pay for petroleum products means a boon for producers but Democrats have argued "America's working people" will pay heavily.

Ed Thompson, vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, said the end of price control on old oil will mean 3.2 million barrels a day of domestic oil will no longer be sold at its regulated price of $5.25 a barrel. Unregulated oil is now bringing $11 a barrel

"If we could keep Congress in permanent recess we would be in pretty good shape," Thompson said.

Thompson said increased income on oil will not necessarily line the pockets of oil men. "That money is not all profit. It's income that will be rolled back into the industry for more exploration, production and expansion products," he said.

Midland independent oil producer Bob Yeates said decontrol will "help the majors more immediately but a healthy industry is good for the whole country. Decontrol is a must even though it will cramp the style of the independents a little. The overall picture will be good."

Yeates questioned, however, the windfall profits tax which he said is "like the government taking it out of one hand and putting it into another."

Frank Stainton, a spokesman for Shell Oil in Houston, said, "Shell feels that a six-month extension of federal oil price control is not in the best interest of the nation or of the oil industry. We support President Ford's veto of the extension and that the president and Congress will be able to work out a meaningful national energy plan."

An Exxon USA spokesman at Houston, Tom Target, said, "Exxon USA believes the immediate elimination of controls and the return to free market conditions in the petroleum industry are highly desirable in order to stimulate domestic energy production, encourage energy conservation and reduce the United States' dependence on imported petroleum. It is also clear that a phased-out approach spread over three or four years runs the risk of three or four more years of uncertainty and indecision."

With price controls lifted, Jack Elam, head of the Permian Basin Graduate Center, said, "Those 20 to 30 rigs we have stacked around here every week will get some work in the fields. The consumer prices for petroleum are going to go up gradually but the industry needs to operate flat-out for about five months to a year to get us away from foreign oil dependence. The oil companies are going to play the wait-and-see game to determine what prices and expenditures will be."

He said gasoline prices will probably jump 7 to 8 cents a gallon.

Dallas' New School Plan Is Already Under Attack

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas School District, under pressure from federal courts, has submitted a school desegregation plan that calls for the busing of 18,000 of the district's 142,034 students, but the plan is already under attack.

Minutes after school district officials submitted the busing proposal to U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. Wednesday, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) submitted its own desegregation plan.

The school board's plan, which is estimated to cost $5 million to implement —including $3 million for the formation of magnet schools and $2 million for busing —was approved by a 5-4 vote. Judge Taylor, who is under orders from the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to formulate a new plan to replace an old busing plan rejected by the Appeals court, can modify it before submitting it to the higher court.

Basically, the school board proposed the busing of 6,000 Anglo, 10,000 black and 2,000 Mexican-American students. It also called for the closing of six schools and the pairing or clustering of schools and the creation of several magnet schools at both the elementary and secondary level. Magnet schools would offer special and advanced educational programs conceived and operated to attract students district-wide to the educational programs offered.

Most of the students bused would be in the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grades, board president Bill Hunter said. He added the plan could be implemented within two weeks after it is approved.

The proposal would not affect 52 schools where the student population is already integrated. The schools are mostly in the southwest and east portions of the city and the Seagoville area.

Under the terms of the proposal 4th and 5th grade classess would be offered at specified schools in mostly Anglo areas and minority students would be bused to those schools. Sixth and seven grade classes would be offered in mostly minority areas and Anglo students would be bused to those schools.

The NAACP plan was based on what its proponents called a "unitary school system."

It suggested that students in integrated areas not be bused, but that other students may be bused to them.

It also said that integration should first achieve a racial balance between blacks and whites and then follow through with the integration of other minority students.

It also called for the development of superior educational programs in the inner city schools.

City officials said privately that they doubted that the plan would be approved by the courts.

Councilwoman Lucy Patterson said: "Look how many schools will remain one race. And it is still obvious that black students are bearing the burden of busing."

Councilwoman Rose Renfroe, one of the most vocal opponents of busing, said she was pleased the school desegregation plan called for no further busing in her Southwest Oak Cliff district.

"But I still have to oppose any plan that requires the forced busing of a single child in the school district," she said.

Hunter said he voted against the proposal because he favored another plan that would "better contribute to public stability."

Minority trustee Kathlyn Gilliam said that "minority students are bused on a two-to-one ratio with Anglos. The majority of minority children are still in one-race schools."

Mayor Wes Wise said he expects the proposal to be "retooled and reworked" before it is approved.

"But I am still convinced that the people of Dallas will be able to rise above the situation," he added. "I am against busing personaly, but I think we must do whatever the courts finally say."

Boyle Assessed 3 Life Terms

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle was sentenced today to three consecutive life terms in prison for ordering the assassinations of United Mine Workers rival Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

"All I can say is I'm innocent," the frail, former UMW president told Judge Francis J. Catania in Delaware County Court just before the sentencing.

Boyle, 73, who spent 11 years as president of the 200,000-member coal miners' union, was convicted on three counts of murder, each carrying a mandatory life sentence. The Yablonskis were murdered 5½ years ago.

Boyle, who suffers from heart disease and stomach problems, arrived Wednesday night at Riddle Memorial Hospital in nearby Middletown. A hospital spokesman said he was in satisfactory condition.

An Irish immigrant's son who rose within UAW ranks as a protege of John L. Lewis, Boyle has been held for more than a year in the federal prison at Springfield, Mo. He is serving a three-year term for misuse of union funds.

The bodies of the Yablonskis were found in the bedrooms of their Clarksville, Pa., home three days after they were slain on Dec. 31, 1969.

Boyle was accused of ordering the Yablonskis killed.

During the 1974 trial, Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague produced a witness who testified the union leader had ordered the Yablonski murder.

The witness, William J. Turnblazer, 53, former president of UMW District 19, quoted Boyle as saying, "We're in a fight. We've got to kill Yablonski or take care of him."

According to testimony, union officials then devised a scheme to put together a $20,000 fund to finance the murder.

Boyle was the ninth person to be charged in the killing of Yablonski, a union dissident whose followers eventually toppled Boyle in a special election in 1973.

Realtors Set Conventions

The Texas Association of Realtors will bring a statewide convention into Amarillo's Villa Inn Sept. 22 and into Lubbock South Park Inn Sept. 23, it was announced by Leroy Land of Lubbock, TAR regional vice president.

John Grogan of Scottsdale, Ariz., is expected to be the biggest drawing card, for "his topic will be based on selling more and faster in today's marketplace," Land said. Several hundred men and women from the boards in Amarillo, Lubbock, Borger, Dalhart, Dumas, Hereford, Lamesa, Snyder and Pampa are expected to take advantage of these mini-conventions.

Joining Grogan will be Julio S. Laguarta of Houston, current TAR president, and Frank Nix of Waco, 1976 president. George Shafer of Dallas, who serves TAR as Legislative committee chairman, will be explaining legislative matters affecting the Realtors, and Hub Bechtol of Austin, will stress the importance of political awareness.

TROUBLEMAKER—Harlan L. Ryan, head of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's grain division field office in New Orleans, checks a grain scale. His crackdown on cheating along the grain docks jolted the industry. (AP Wirephoto)

Grain Crackdown Pleases Ryan, The Troublemaker

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — People in the multibillion dollar grain trade have been calling Harlan L. Ryan a troublemaker for years. The difference now is that it is clear why he made trouble.

The havoc he has caused — at New Orleans' grain docks, at Chicago's grain terminals, in grain grading offices around Des Moines, Iowa — gained Ryan his reputation — and a group of detractors who used to imply he only imagined crooks along the grain chain.

But now — after indictments against 48 men and four companies from a continuing federal investigation of grain export operations at New Orleans — they no longer accuse him of an overactive imagination.

The crackdown pleases Ryan, who heads the U.S. Department of Agriculture's grain inspection field office here, which oversees private agencies that grade and inspect wheat, corn or soybeans being loaded into ships.

"You can be popular in this job, it's easy to give in to the grain trade, but I can't see that," he said.

Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, and others cite Ryan as a key figure in bringing on the federal probe which, along with a controversy over wheat sales to Russia, put the grain trade under a more watchful eye than has usually been cast on it.

The probe exposed a pattern of bribery, short-weighting, misgrading, theft and fraud amounting into the millions of dollars.

The FBI and the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress, were subsequently assigned to check over grain operations in Chicago, St. Paul, Minn., Dallas, Portland, Ore., Seattle and other points. Congressional staff members pored over grain records. New laws were proposed.

The GAO is supposed to make its report to Congress in February, and the investigation may grind on another year.

Ryan, 47, said he got a strong push toward a role as reformer back when he was a farm boy of 14, growing up near Manchester, Iowa. One day his father took him along to drive the soybean crop to market. At the elevator, the Ryan beans were deemed to be of a lower grade than Ryan's father felt they actually were. On the trip home, with less cash than he counted on, his father was sunk in gloom. The trip left a vivid memory with Ryan.

"It made a deep impression on me," he said. "He knew he had been taken, but he didn't know how to do anything about it."

Ryan has known what to do about such things since he grew up and got into the grain inspection line: enforce the grain act and check for conflicts of interest.

Boston School Attendance Up

BOSTON (AP) — School attendance was rising as court-ordered desegregation continued, but many white children were staying home. And for the first time daily attendance figures showed blacks and other minority children outnumbering whites in Boston public schools.

Students reported for classes this morning, many of them arriving on buses to schools where now-relaxed police officers and U.S. marshals were still stationed. There were no crowds on the streets, and the entrance to school buildings was orderly.

The bus route into South Boston High School was changed this morning because of an oil slick. There was no indication of the cause of the slick, and city street crews were called in to sand it.

Two Killed In Collision

DECATUR, Tex. (AP) — Two men were killed and a woman and child injured Wednesday night in a two-car collision three miles west of here on U.S. 380.

The dead were identified as Ronald Gene Coates, 22, of Chico and Ernest Dwayne Walser, 31, of Jacksboro.

Coates' wife Patricia, 25, was reported in good condition at Arlington Memorial Hospital early today. Her daughter Ronda, 4, was in fair to poor condition while under treatment for fractures of both legs.

Highway Patrolman Carl Pittman of Decatur said Walser was riding alone and was eastbound when his car collided with the Coates' westbound auto on a curve.

Calley's Attorney To Fight Ruling

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — William L. Calley Jr.'s attorney says an appeals court ruling which reinstates Calley's court-martial conviction in the My Lai massacre will be carried to the Supreme Court.

J. Houston Gordon of Covington, Tenn., called the decision of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Wednesday an abdication of civilian responsibility.

The appeals court, in an 8-5 decision, said a civilian judge should not have intervened in the military case, in which the former Army lieutenant was convicted of killing at least 22 civilians at My Lai during a 1969 infantry sweep through the South Vietnamese hamlet.

Gordon said he had advised the 32-year-old Calley, now free on bail in Columbus, Ga., to say nothing about the decision.

Army officials, who have said unofficially that a parole for Calley will take effect as soon as the legal outcome is final, made no comment.

The Court of Appeals said U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott of Columbus overstepped his jurisdiction when he ruled on Sept. 25, 1974, that Calley's conviction was unconstitutional.

A federal court may not intervene in a military case except where a substantial constitutional claim is made, or error causes a miscarriage of justice, and no such grounds exist in the Calley case, the appeals court said.

It knocked down Elliott's holding that extensive news coverage of My Lai and Calley made it impossible to find unbiased jurors and therefore he could not be tried. The appeals court said such logic was "extremely unsettling." It added:

"If, in this age of instant mass communication, we were to automatically disqualify persons who have heard about an alleged crime from serving as a juror, the inevitable result would be that truly heinous or notorious acts will go unpunished."

Calley was accused of killing 102 persons in the bloody sweep through My Lai; he was convicted of murdering not less than 22. He was sentenced to life in prison.

In subsequent appeals, his sentence was reduced to 10 years. He was freed on bail last Nov. 8.

Onion Joins Charter Drive

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Presiding Judge John F. Onion Jr. of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is among those named to the steering committee of an organization working to defeat the proposed new state constitution at the polls Nov. 4.

Members of the committee were announced by Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, chairman of "Citizens to Preserve the Texas Constitution."

In addition to Onion, they are Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth; Chief Justice T.C. Chadick of the Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals; Dallas County Treasurer Warren G. Harding; Dallam County Judge W.D. Henson; and former Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa.

Onion said he opposes the judiciary article, claiming that consolidation of his court with the Texas Supreme Court and the addition of an intermediate step to the criminal appeal process would delay justice.

"What good are speedy trials if you don't have speedy appeals? This would intensify the traffic jams in our courts instead of alleviating them," he said.

Convictions would be appealed initially to the new courts of appeals, standing between the trial courts and the supreme court. Only those cases accepted by the supreme court would be heard at that level.

Shepperd said he opposed provisions calling the legislature into session every year and setting up a commission to recommend salary limits for lawmakers, who would have the power to set their own pay within those limits.

"This would make us lose the input of business and professional people who now serve in the legislature because it would move us toward fulltime lawmakers instead of the part-time citizen-legislators who have enabled Texas to establish one of the best state governments in the country," he said.

Advocates of the provisions say they will make legislative service open to persons of all income levels and will enable the state to go on a more efficient yearly budget instead of budgeting for two years at a time, based on long-range—and often inaccurate—revenue estimates.

Boy Hurt In Mishap

John Robert Burton, 6, the nephew of Robert Ben Burton, 511 College sustained minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision at U. S. 84 and Huffman Avenue at 3:35 p.m. Wednesday.

The boy was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Galyean Ambulance Service.

He was a passenger in a 1968 Model Ford driven by his uncle. It was involved in a collision with a 1974 Model Chevrolet driven by Dung Do of Lubbock.

There was minor damage to the vehicles.

Snyderite On USS Nimitz

Navy Aviation Boatswains Mate Airman Johnny D. Ervin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Ervin of 1900 Scott, has departed Norfolk, Va., aboard the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, enroute to Northern European waters as part of a U.S. Atlantic Fleet nuclear-powered task group.

The group consists of three nuclear-powered vessels, including the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, the guided missile cruiser USS South Carolina and the attack submarine USS Seahorse.

The aircraft carrier Nimitz is the world's largest warship with a crew of more than 5,000 officers and men.

The South Carolina is also among the Navy's newest and most modern warships, with a crew of approximately 500, and the USS Seahorse, which carries 54 officers and men, is equipped with a modern anti-submarine weapons system.

The task group is scheduled to arrive in Edinburgh, Scotland, for a three-day visit in early September.

SERVES TWO—Chicken breast, noodles and cherry sauce serves two.

Cherries Cheer Chicken

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Cooking for two can be extremely imaginative with the help of fruits and juices. For example, a split chicken breast cooked with orange juice and maraschino cherry juice takes on an added flavor to pique almost any jaded appetite. The chicken is served with egg noodles and cherry sauce. Add a mixed green salad or your favorite cole slaw and corn muffins for an attractive, tasty meal.

MARASCHINO CHERRY CHICKEN DINNER

1 jar (4 ounces) red maraschino cherries
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 chicken breast (about 7 ounces), split
1½ cups water
3 chicken bouillon cubes
¼ teaspoon thyme, crushed
¼ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon grated orange peel
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup hot cooked wide egg noodles
Parsley for garnish

Drain cherries reserving 3 tablespoons maraschino cherry syrup. Cut cherries into quarters. Set aside. In a medium skillet, melt butter. Add chicken; brown well on both sides. Add water, bouillon cubes and thyme. Heat to boiling. Stir to dissolve bouillon cubes. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 45 minutes, or until chicken is tender, turning occasionally.

Remove chicken to serving platter; keep warm. Skim off any excess fat from broth mixture. Add orange juice and orange peel to broth mixture in skillet. Stir reserved cherry syrup into flour until smooth; add to mixture in skillet. Heat stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in cherries.

To serve, arrange noodles around chicken. Garnish with parsley. Spoon some of cherry sauce over noodles and chicken. Pass remaining sauce. Makes 2 servings.

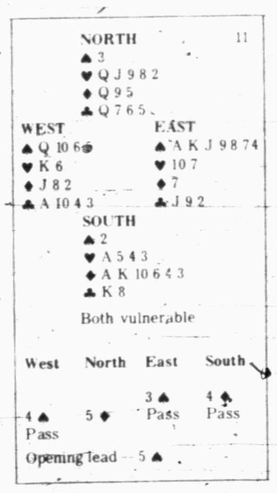
JACOBYS ON BRIDGE

WIN AT BRIDGE

North's call is a good one



By Oswald & James Jacoby

Both East players in an MP match, elected to open with three spades, both Souths overcalled with four diamonds in preference to a takeout double, both Wests raised to four spades and both North's tried five diamonds.

At both tables this was passed around to West. One West player decided to pass on the theory that his partner just wasn't going to have any play for five spades and that, maybe, the five-diamond contract would not be made.

The other West reasoned that while five spades would surely wind up in the soup the five-diamond contract would make and that a sacrifice bid was indicated.

It was an unfortunate decision, since South had to lose three tricks in his diamond contract. However, change the North-South cards a trifle and the decision would have been a mighty good one.

The really good bid with the hand was North's five diamonds. He saved a lot of points, because had he passed East would wrap up the four-spade contract and take it home.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from California wants to know which major suit do you bid when you have four cards in each and partner responds a Stayman two-clubs to your opening notrump.

The answer to this one is that it is a matter of partnership agreement. Some like to bid two spades; others prefer two hearts.

Our own practice is to bid the stronger suit.

VIEWPOINT

Wing Clipping Time

It could be a painful process, politically at least, but the time is at hand when Congress should give serious consideration to clipping the wings of some of the federal bureaucracy.

One of the latest incidents which points this up came to light the past week when Texas Secretary of State Mark White filed suit seeking to prevent the publication of a notice including several Texas Counties in the new Voting Act Provisions. States come under the provision of this act if less than 50 per cent of their voting age population registered to vote, or less than 50 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots in the 1972 presidential election. A bureau, the Bureau of the Census, has the authority to determine the statistics to be used and once they are certified and published in the Federal Register they become effective and may not be reviewed by a court. Thus, the only opportunity to challenge the figures is prior to publication in the Federal Registry.

White says the figures certified by the Bureau of the Census includes aliens, convicted felons, etc., who are not eligible to register as voters. If these are removed from the list, the secretary of state says his calculations show that well over 50 per cent of the eligible population in the state registered to vote.

If White's claims are true, and there is no reason at this time to doubt them, it is clear that the Bureau of Census is trying to put one over on Texas. There may be some northern lawmakers who are unhappy about other things and approve of this, but it appears highly unlikely that Congress intended that constitutionally ineligible voters be counted in compiling the statistics required by the Voting Rights Act.

And then there's the complaint from Arizona where state officials advised that they could be forced to print some ballots in the language of an Indian tribe that had no written language.

Many Congressmen readily admit that bureaucrats use methods and set up "guidelines" for administering many federal programs that were never intended when legislation creating the programs was enacted. But they are reluctant to take remedial action in the legislative halls, and they are extremely hesitant to cross swords with the bureaucracy.

Extinguishing Threat

Fire is a serious threat to invalids, the aged and the disabled. Not only do many of them live alone, some have the added problem of living in structures which are vulnerable to fire because of age and condition.

The Kansas City Fire Department has begun using a computer to help locate such individuals. Its system stores nearly 400 addresses of invalids living in the city. When the fire alarm office receives a call, a dispatcher employs a TV-like display unit linked to the computer to check if an invalid lives at the address. If so, the screen displays the person's name, specific location in the building and condition. Firemen know immediately which room the disabled person is in and don't waste precious minutes hunting through a smoke-filled building.

The same system comes into play when a fireman is injured or becomes ill on duty by flashing his blood type, allergies, personal physician's name and any other important information. The fire alarm dispatcher then relays the information for treatment at the scene.

Imported Car Probe Directed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has until May to decide if imported autos are being sold here at less than their fair price.

The U.S. International Trade Commission voted 4 to 2 Monday to direct the Treasury Department to investigate charges that $7.5 billion worth of cars from eight nations are being sold here cut rate.

Urges State Ownership Of Land

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A special committee directed to create a state park of "matchless beauty" on Matagorda Island has voted unanimously that it would be in Texas best interests if the state would buy the federal's government share of the island.

Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong raised the possibility Wednesday of swapping land near Fort Bliss in El Paso County for part of the island, south of Port Lavaca.

The Air Force has announced that it is pulling off the island, which it condemned in 1940 for a base and bombing range. The Interior Department, however, has said it wants the federal land to expand the Texas coastal refuge for 49 rare whooping cranes.

The 30-mile long island "probably has as good sports fishing as there is in the United States, and it also has as good hunting as there is in the United States," Armstrong told the 14-member legislator-citizen committee.

It is within easy weekend traveling distance of millions of residents of Houston, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

Former Sen. Don Kennard, a faculty member at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs, added that the island has the "broadest beach in the U.S., and it is one of the last on the Texas coast that is not eroding—it's growing."

"It's been cut off from man for many, many years," said Kennard. "Consequently, it hasn't been ruined as so many other areas have."

Currently, the federal government owns 18,972 acres on the island which it condemned during the pre-World War II national emergency in 1940, and has leased 16,369 acres from the state. Another 15,570 acres is privately owned, Armstrong said, either by Dallas oilman Toddie Lee Wynne Jr. or American Liberty Oil Co.

To gain clear title to the federal government land, Armstrong said, he might "be able to trade" more than 18,000 acres that the government has its eye on near Fort Bliss for the Matagorda land.

"I somewhat doubt" that the island acreage "is worth more than 18,000 acres of El Paso land," said Pearce Johnson, chairman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Remember," said Kennard, "the land is in the hands of the federal government," and they are not going to give it up lightly."

Simpson Reverses Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, reversing his position, said today he opposes creation of an agency to represent consumers before other agencies.

Richard O. Simpson said the proposed Agency for Consumer Advocacy would just create another layer of federal bureaucracy, further isolate federal regulatory agencies from the public and give rise to false expectations.

He told the National Consumers League in a letter released today, "I believe the ACA is an inadequate organizational mechanism with which to cure or even attack the problems resulting from over 75 years of ineffective attention to regulatory review and reform."

Simpson, who says he hopes President Ford will reappoint him when his term expires Oct. 27, denied that his turnaround represented an attempt to curry favor with President Ford. Ford opposes the consumer agency bill for reasons similar to those now cited by Simpson.

On Oct. 9, 1973, Simpson told a House committee, "It is the view of this commission that the creation of a consumer protection agency is in the public interest. It is important that consumers have access to the resources needed to insure that the regulatory actions are responsive to all parties in interest."

Simpson now says he is reversing his position after "long, hard thought."

"I've always been very lukewarm to it," he said in an interview. "It was a paper tiger but at least it seemed to be moving in the right direction."

"If I had been seeking support (for reappointment) I would be smart enough to keep my mouth shut," he said of his letter, which responded to questions from the National Consumers League.

The consumer agency bill was passed 61 to 28 by the Senate and 30 to 10 by the House Government Operations Committee and is awaiting a full House vote. If passed, it is likely to be vetoed by Ford.

Sometimes described as a lasting monument to Ralph Nader, the bill would create a new agency to represent consumers in federal regulatory proceedings.

Simpson said he agreed with the President that it would be better to force existing regulatory agencies to meet their responsibilities, rather than create a new advocacy bureaucracy that would provide "an escape mechanism" for elected officials and appointed commissioners.

Cool Front Pushes Into Texas

By The Associated Press

A southbound cool front packed a promise of autumn's arrival nearly two weeks early in parts of Texas today.

Official forecasters looked for the frontal system to push into the Texas Panhandle and set off widespread thunderstorms by tonight. The cooler air was expected to spread all the way to the Upper Texas Coast by Friday night.

Patches of fog hung low around Lufkin and other points in East Texas and skies were overcast in the central part of the state this morning. It was clear in West Texas.

Thunderstorms died down Wednesday evening in the west from Big Bend National Park into New Mexico and over much of South and Central Texas. During the turbulence tornado funnels were sighted near Cotulla in the southwest. Hail the size of golf balls pounded the countryside 10 miles south of Austin.

Temperatures Wednesday afternoon mounted as high as 97 degrees at Waco in the middle of the state. Readings early today stayed as warm as 80 at Galveston and Palacios on the coast while the mercury dipped to 64 at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Rangers Defeat Minnesota, 9-4

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Gaylord Perry evened his record at 16-16 with a 9-4 Texas Rangers victory over the Minnesota Twins Wednesday.

"I never gave up trying to get over the .500 mark," said Perry. "I've been looking for it for a long time and tonight I finally made it, thanks to a lot of help."

Texas out-homered the Twins 4-1. For the rangers, Toby Harrah and Jeff Burroughs homered off Bert Blyleven; Tom Grieve hit one off Tom Burgmeier and Jim Fregosi hit a three-run shot off Bill Campbell in the ninth inning.

"The long ball won it for us tonight," said Rangers Manager Frank Lucchesi. "This is the second time this season we've hit four home runs in a game.

"I was particularly happy about Tom Grieve getting a home run and two singles," said Lucchesi. "One of the first things I did when I took over as manager was to start playing him regularly and he certainly testified to my confidence. He's now got his batting average up to .279."

Texas scored first in the third inning on Harrah's 400-foot home run to left center.

In the fourth, Grieve singled Mike Hargrove home and held the game 2-0 until the Twins Dave McKay singled home Dan Ford.

Burroughs hit his home run to left-center in the fifth inning to make the score 3-1.

Roy Howell tripled to right in the sixth inning scoring Grieve and then Len Randle singled, scoring Howell. The Twins made their move when Dave McKay sacrificed Tony Oliva home.

JV Plays Tonight

The 8th Grade Black team hosts Runnels at 5:30 p.m. today in Tiger Stadium, followed by a 7:30 p.m. clash between the Tiger JV and Big Spring.

Also today, the 8th Grade Gold meets Goliad in Big Spring at 6 p.m., and the Tiger Freshmen test Big Spring there at 7:30p.m.

The Snyder sophs host Abilene at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Jackie Brownd listed probable starters for the JV tonight, as follows:

Offense: Ends—James Wells and Lee Allen Jarrell; tackles—Charles Wharton and Randy Collum; guards—Doug McGee and Allen Row; center—Sam Kitchens; quarterback—Brent Terry; tailback—Johnny Carrasco; fullback—Ramsey Tercero; and, halfback—Kelly Burton.

Defense: Ends—Ricky Fritz and Jarrell; tackles—Kitchens and Collum; nose-guard—McGee; linebackers—Mike Quiros and Armondo Rodriques; cornerback—Terry; safety—Carrasco; halfback—Wells; and, rover—Tercero.

Johns Goes To TWC

Larry Johns, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McClain, 501 Thirty-second Street, is attending school at Texas Wesleyan College where he has signed a scholarship agreement to play basketball with the Rams.

Ram Coach Johnny Howerton signed the 1975 Snyder graduate to a scholarship. TWC is located in Fort Worth, and the school has had quality basketball teams for the past 30 years.

Johns, 6-4, was named to the 3-AAA All-District team as a post man his senior season. The previous year, he was honorable mention in District 4-4A. He averaged 14 points and 9 rebounds per game his senior year.

"We're real proud for Larry," said his high school coach, Bob Moore, "And we think he can be of help to the Rams. He did a good job for us."

Until 100 years ago no one had heard of the Sumerians. It has now been determined that the Sumerians, a non-Semitic people, were settled in the valleys of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers before 4000 B.C. They are believed to be the oldest civilization in the world.

Tigers Hope To Bounce Back At Midland Friday

"The key to the game is how well we can come back," declared Maurice (Mo) Hodges, head football coach of the Snyder Tigers and athletic director at Snyder High School.

Hodges pointed out the Tigers will be playing another good team in Midland Lee.

"It will be a test of character to see how the boys respond after getting beat the week before," he said.

The Tigers and Midland Lee Rebels will tangle at 8 p.m. Friday in Memorial Stadium in Midland in another non-district clash.

Last week, the Rebels thumped Lubbock High, 27-16, while the Tigers were absorbing a 29-0 loss to Monahans.

Moreover, Lee is a Class AAAA team that was ranked highly in the state in pre-season polls. The Rebs have about 20 lettermen returning from last year's team that went to the state quarterfinals. Snyder, champion in District 3-AAA last year, has lost all but eight lettermen to graduation.

Any way you look at it, most prognosticators are favoring the Rebels anywhere from one to four touchdowns. But, the Tigers have had some good workouts this week and Coach Hodges reports that spirit still is good in the Tiger camp.

The Tiger-Lobo clash last week was actually much closer than the score indicates. Both teams fought on about even terms in the first half, and Snyder actually led in yards gained rushing for the first two periods. However, four fumbles proved costly to the Black and Gold and Monahans dominated play in the second half.

State scribes were sufficiently impressed with Monahans after the game that they ranked them 10th in the state in Class AAA this week.

Midland Lee has a well-balanced attack, led by tight end Junior Miller, a 225-pound senior who is being heralded for state honors this year, and fullback Bobby Humble, a 195-pound junior, who runs with authority.

The Rebs operate from a Slot-I attack, and, like Snyder, employ an Oklahoma 5 defense.

At the throttle of the Lee attack will be Russell Kellner, 180-pound senior, who is adept at passing. Tailback is Robert White, 155-pound senior, and the slotback is Rusty Laughlin, 155-pound senior. The Rebs also will have lettermen at all of the offensive line positions. Their front wall averages 191 pounds per man.

Miller and Billy Skinner, 212-pound senior, are probably the two most talented gridders on the Lee squad. Skinner plays tackle on both offense and defense. Miller is the left defensive end as well as the tight end on offense.

Some of the Tigers have brusies, but all of them are expected to be ready Friday night. The only changes contemplated are on defense where Pat Dryden, 145-pound senior, probably will start at rover, and Greg Pavlik, 185-pound junior, probably will start at right linebacker.

Other starters on defense are Mike Freeman, 180-pound senior, at left end; Richard Balderrama, 215-pound senior, at left tackle; Darrel Lester, 190-pound junior, at middle guard; Charles Hammond, 210-pound senior, at right tackle; Billy Allbritton, 170-pound senior, at right end; Ricky Beard, 195-pound junior, at left linebacker; Bobby Thompson, 160-pound senior, at cornerback; Tim Flyn, 165-pound senior, at halfback; and, Kelly Ragland, 155-pound senior, at safety.

Flynn, Beard, Freeman and Hammond are the only lettermen starting on defense.

Hammond and Flynn are double-duty men. Flynn is the starting tailback on offense, and he has the capability of going all the way. Hammond is the starting strong tackle on offense.

The Tiger winged-T attack will be guided by Steve Green, 160-pound senior, who is a better than average passer and ball handler. Another letterman, Larry Gee, 175-pound senior, will start at halfback. Gee saw a lot of action at fullback last season, but has been moved to the halfback spot this year. At fullback will be Mitchell Smith, 205-pound junior. Bobby Thompson probably will alternate with Flynn at tailback, and Beard could see action some at fullback.

The only other returning numeral winner in the offensive line, besides Hammond, is swingman Kenny Thompson, 150-pound senior.

Others slated to start on offense are quick tackle Gary Greenlee, 190-pound senior, who was on the sophomore team last year; quick guard Dusty Land, 180-pound senior, who was on the JV in 74; center Dennis Buchanan, 185-pound senior, who has sophomore experience; strong guard James Smylie, 190-pound senior, who was on the JV; and, strong end David Rice, 215-pound junior, up from the soph crew.

The kicking probably will be handled by Dane Witherspoon, 180-pound senior,, who averaged about 45 yards a punt in his first varsity test last week.

It could be a close game if the Tigers can eliminate those first game mistakes that were costly last week.

Probable starters:

Players Reject Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wary truce between the National Football League owners and players union could soon break out into open warfare again.

The membership of the NFL Players Association, by a wide margin, has rejected management's proposal for a new contract to replace the one that expired March 31, 1974 and will vote within a week on whether to go on strike.

When the negotiations collapsed last year, the players struck for 82 days during the exhibition season, but returned in time to play the regular 1974 season although they did not have a contract.

It all comes out in the wash.

Remember that old saying? It means that "everything sort of takes care of itself in the long run."

But it also says something very important about quality clothes. It says that quality clothes look so much better and last so much longer, that in the long run quality clothes save you money — even though you pay a little more for them initially.

Look at it this way: Would you rather have a $6.00 shirt that lasted only 3 months, or a $15.00 shirt that lasted 2 years? Of course, you'd rather have the $15.00 shirt because it would last 8 times longer. And that's the way it is, whether it's shirts, suits, or underwear. So you see, quality clothing is not expensive!

So visit the Haberdashery and take a look at our 12 lines of outstanding mens clothing. They look better, last longer, and over the long haul they'll save you money.

Remember — we're the mens specialty store in town.

Squeaky's Roommate Says More Marked For Death

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sandra Good, roommate of Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme who is charged with trying to kill President Ford, said in a broadcast interview Wednesday that at least six businessmen and their wives are targets for assassination.

"Assassinations are necessary, since people are asking for trouble by hurting the earth and from what they are programming on television," Miss Good told Bob Ruby of WWL Radio in a taped telephone conversation from Sacramento, Calif.

In Sacramento, Miss Good confirmed the interview and said she would later give the names of other persons in the United States and abroad who are marked for death because of their polluting activities.

The FBI picked up a copy of the taped conversation from the station, a WWL spokesman said. The FBI said the tapes were in its possession and a spokesman added, "an investigation is underway here and in California to determine whether the voice is actually that of Miss Good and whether there has been any violation of federal law."

Miss Good and Miss Fromme are both followers of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson.

Miss Good said an "International Court of Retribution" would kill six businessmen within the station's broadcast area, which covers the Southeast. She did not mention other areas of the country.

The names on the tape were:

—Floyd Lewis of New Orleans, president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., which Miss Good said threatened the people by planning to build nuclear reactors;

—Gordon Ryan of New Orleans, an attorney and executive with Starr Broadcasting Co.

—Fred Kaiser of Atlanta, a candy manufacturer;

—Herbert Grey of Atlanta;

—William Berrin of Atlanta;

—Richard Davis of Houston, Tex., an oilman.

Miss Good said the businessmen's wives would be hacked to death first, since they are guilty of pushing their husbands to continue instead of reconsidering their actions.

"Anyone who pollutes the Earth, destroys wildlife, or cuts down trees had better stop now or they and their wives will be terribly, terribly murdered," said Miss Good.

She avoided saying she was personally involved in the plots, saying only she had direct access to information on who would be assassinated.

In the 30-minute conversation, she also said Manson's "family" were also deeply involved.

Bullock's Raiders Permanent

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "Bullock's Raiders" are now a permanent part of the state comptroller's office, or at least as permanent as the $55 million backlog of delinquent sales taxes.

Comptroller Bob Bullock originally used local field agents and specially selected people from his Austin staff to raid businesses that had not remitted sales taxes collected from customers.

But now, a special task force has been established to do that job.

"We are going to cover the whole state in two weeks, and then go it again and again until we are satisfied we have collectible," said Arthur Vance, an assistant to Bullock.

Vance said Wednesday that three teams, each consisting of a lawyer and a tax expert have been set up to make raids and seize property of businesses that have not remitted sales taxes to the state. They are backed up by several staff people in Austin.

"It has intensified. About 15 of us are working full time to work the list down," Vance said.

If a business has gone bankrupt, the task force, headed by former Asst. Atty. Gen. Benny Sarrett, will try to recover the taxes from the receiver, he said.

"We'll work up cases in one area, then we'll hit it. We'll have simultaneous raids, like in Texarkana and Corpus Christi on the same day," Vance said.

Word gets around that the raiders are coming, he said, and delinquent taxpayers suddenly begin getting square with the comptroller. Seven out of 20 businesses slated for raids in El Paso already have made arrangements to pay, he said.

Lady Held In Bank Robbery

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A McLean, Tex., woman accused of robbing the First National Bank of $41,787 was held in the Potter County jail today, while police provided protection for a bank guard who apprehended her Wednesday.

Verna Lou LeMond, 31, was charged before U.S. Magistrate Robert Sanders with bank robbery. Bond was set at $75,000.

Police said a woman armed with a .22 caliber derringer approached teller Barbara Ann Harlan, placed a white purse on the counter and said, "Fill it up and I won't hurt you."

Police said Mrs. Harlan put the money on the counter and the woman stuffed in into the purse.

"Is that enough?" Mrs. Harlan asked.

"That's fine," the woman replied, and left the bank.

Police said bank guard Walter M. Hearn followed the woman outside to her car and ordered her to stop. At that moment police units arrived and the woman was arrested, authorities said.

Late Wednesday police said Hearn reported an anonymous caller telephoned his home and threatened his life.

Police said it was the third threat which had been received after Mrs. LeMond's arrest.

The first came minutes after she was taken into custody, police said. They said they received a call advising that a second bank would be blown up unless Mrs. LeMond was released.

The fish in the waters of Redondo Beach, Calif., now swim in a fishing reef made of 350 tons of concrete-asbestos pipe.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q. Last year I made a mistake on my 1974 tax return and had to pay additional taxes plus interest. Can I deduct the interest on this year's return?

A. The interest you pay on late taxes is deductible. It is considered personal interest even if it is related to your trade or business. You can deduct it on Schedule A of Form 1040 only when you itemize your personal deductions. However, any penalty you are assessed for the late tax is not deductible.

Other types of deductible interest are mortgage interest, "points" if you are a buyer, mortgage prepayment penalty, separately stated finance charges, bank credit card plan interest and note discount interest.

Q. I owed payments on a new car, but my uncle paid the balance of the debt for me. Must I report this as taxable income?

A. A cancelled debt or debt paid by another person is generally income to the debtor, unless the cancellation, or the payment, is intended as a gift. The intent of the other party determines whether the payment or cancellation is a gift.

Q. My mother is a dependent and lives in our house. She has arthritis and on her doctor's advice we installed an elevator and other special equipment in the house. Can we deduct the installation and maintenance costs of this equipment as medical expenses?

A. Special equipment and improvements installed on a doctor's advice for medical purposes may be deductible. The amount you can deduct depends on the nature of these improvements. If they are permanent improvements and increase the value of your home, they will be allowed as medical expenses only to the extent that the cost exceeds the increase in the value of your home. For example, if installing the equipment costs $3000 and competent appraisals determine the value of your home has increased by $2000, the remaining $1000 is a deductible medical expense. If the equipment had not increased the value of your home, the entire cost would have been a medical expense.

The costs of operating and maintaining this equipment also qualifies as a medical expense as long as the original medical reason for the equipment still exists.

Keep in mind that medical expenses are deductible only if they exceed three percent of your adjusted gross income and only if you itemize your deductions. For further information see IRS Publication 502, Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses.

Shrimp Season To Reopen

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New biological data, not outraged fishermen, caused the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission to reopen the white shrimp season a week ahead of time, says a commission member.

The commission decided Wednesday to reopen the shrimping season at midnight Friday in a part of Zone 2 stretching from the Mississippi River west to the Atchafalaya River.

That section was closed Sept. 4 after some shrimpers complained their catches were too small and the shrimp needed more time to grow.

About 2,000 shrimpers who fish Bayou Grand Caillou signed petitions asking the commission to reconsider. They argued the shrimp weren't too small and that the ruling was preventing them from earning a living.

"We didn't make any sort of political decision," said Max Summers of the wild life commission. "Our data just indicated that the shrimp were running at a good size and that the season should be reopened."

He acknowledged, however, that the commission had received "numerous inquiries" — some from politicians — who suggested that a majority of shrimpers in the area wanted the season reopened quickly. It was scheduled to reopen Sept. 29 after a 24-day closure.

"Maybe we should have had a little more data before we closed it," Summers said.

By law, the shrimp must run 68 to a pound. Summers said the average in the closed area seemed to be 30 to 31 a pound.

The fall shrimp season runs until Dec. 20. Early indications are it will be a good one, Summers said. Shrimp are scarce, which means the price will be high. He said shrimpers can expect to make about $1 a pound for their catches, an unusally good price.

He said at least five different groups of fishermen, each lobbying for its own rules, often put the commission behind the eight ball.

"Look, you've got the small boat operators who fish the upper marshes. You got the large operators who go offshore. You got the wing net operators and everyone else, each wanting their own season. It makes it pretty tough."

In July 1917, the Bolsheviks made a premature bid for power and 400 died in riots inspired by Lenin in Petrograd.

GOP Women To Meet In Dallas

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — More than 2,500 Republican women will be in Dallas this weekend to hear a host of GOP leaders including President Ford, Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, and two spokesmen of the conservative wing—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Ford, already an announced candidate for the Republican prssidential nomination, and Reagan, still straddling the fence on his future political ambitions, will apparently test the political winds during the 18th biennial convention of the National Federation of Republican Women.

The President will speak at 11 a.m. Saturday, move across town for an address at Southern Methodist University, and then fly to Midland for dedication ceremonies of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame.

His appearance at the opening of the oil museum will come a few days after his veto of a bill to extend oil-price controls for six months. Midland is in the heart of oil-rich West Texas.

Reagan will be the principal speaker for the Friday night banquet, and Goldwater will deliver the convention's closing address at noon Saturday.

In between will be appearances by Rockefeller, Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., Rep. Bob Kasten R-Wis., and Texas Republican Reps. Bill Archer, Jim Collins and Alan Steelman.

A spokesman for the Dallas Police Department said extra precautions would be taken to provide security for the President and "of course there is greater concern since the Sacramento, Calif., affair. The whole business of concern has been highlighted since then, and I would be wrong in not saying that is the case."

Bob Shaw, information officer for the department added, "It is fair to say we will provide the best security possible, acting in cooperation with the other agents. All is going very well at this time and, of course, the level of protection is of great concern."

Stores Named In Complaint

DALLAS (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board has filed a complaint against Piggly Wiggly stores after a four-month investigation of alleged unfair labor practices.

A hearing on the complaint has been scheduled for Sept. 29 in federal court here before an administrative law judge of the NLRB.

Members of the Retail Clerks International Association Local 368 have been on strike since May against the Shop Rite and Piggly Wiggly food stores here.

The complaint alleges the stores:

—Promised extra pay and benefits if employes refrained from strikes or union activities.

—Threatened employes with arrest and other legal action for engaging in the strike.

—Entered into a franchise agreement with 17 of the 20 stores involved to avoid a bargaining obligation with the union.

—Negotiated with the union in bad faith with no intention of entering into a final agreement.

John Dickinson, a spokesman for Shop Rite and Piggly Wiggly, said the complaint is not justified, and said the stores would contest it at the hearing.

Sheriff Stopping Strange Cars

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Crime appears to be moving to the rural areas nationwide, but the sheriff here is fighting that trend by having his patrolmen keep a close eye on strange cars.

Sheriff Lon Evans said Wednesday his men are presently stopping more than 1,500 vehicles a month on back roads throughout the county.

"We're doing something you can't do in the city," he said.

"We can stop cars where, in the city, it would be impossible," said the sheriff.

The sheriff said all such activity is conducted by deputies on routine patrol, mostly in the unincorporated area of the county.

The sheriff said the program has resulted in many arrests in the past.

Didn't you think that television was a family medium? Well recently a San Jose TV station has aired a commercial for male contraceptives. Not an isolated case, other TV stations throughout the country have done the same as a part of a concerted campaign by this manufacturer and its ad agency to break through on a national level. Stations using the commercials do not subscribe to the TV code, which does not permit such products to be advertised. The strategy being that if there are few or no complaints about the commercials, it would indicate a public acceptance thereby giving a reason for changing the code. Such strategy in the past has resulted in general acceptance of such personal products advertising such as feminine hygiene sprays and hemmorrhoid preparations.

The Monticello choo-choo.
A little train that's helping fight the rising cost of electricity.

You're looking at what may be the shortest railroad in Texas.

The Monticello choo-choo runs only 12 miles from start to finish, but it's doing a big job hauling lignite coal to Texas Electric's Monticello power plant near Mount Pleasant.

The diesel-electric locomotive pulls seven to 15 cars. And each car is loaded with 100 tons of lignite per trip.

After unloading at the plant, the train is "backed" the 12 miles to the mining area. This saves the expense of a turn-around facility. On the trip back the engineer drives the train using controls in a special caboose.

Monticello is our second lignite-fired generating plant. We're building these plants because new supplies of natural gas and oil — the primary fuels we use to generate electricity — are harder to get and more costly.

Lignite plants cost much more to build, which means electricity is going to have to cost you more. But the increase won't be as much, because lignite fuel is available and more economical than new supplies of natural gas and oil.

At Texas Electric we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

About 20% of your electricity this year will be produced using lignite coal.

And the Monticello choo-choo is a mighty fine line that's helping do the j...

Dr. Lamb

Coffee is a strong stimulant

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Is there anything else that a person could drink that is hot besides water to keep warm? It is not cold enough to put the heaters going, so I drink coffee or tea, and then I have to go to the bathroom in a hurry. This gets to be a problem on the way home from town. Is the coffee injuring my kidneys?

I don't know how much I drink, but it is quite a bit, and I have cut out coffee before and after dinner or else I don't sleep.

I am now on Stelazine, Dilantin and Navane.

DEAR READER—Your letter reminds me of my experience in a city hospital clinic attended by a well-known medical university staff. I kept seeing patients who came to the clinic because they had burning in the pit of the stomach and ulcer symptoms. After they had been extensively studied they were put on tranquilizers. No one asked them if they drank coffee or how much. Usually they were washing their tranquilizers down with coffee. Since coffee contains caffeine, a powerful brain stimulant, the two counteracted each other.

Often these people recovered entirely after they stopped coffee and threw away the tranquilizers. The stomach symptoms were caused by the coffee.

No, coffee is not injuring your kidneys. It does stimulate the kidneys to act, and the amount of liquid you drink does the rest. All that water has to somewhere, and the principal way of eliminating it is through the kidneys.

You might not need those medicines you are taking or in such quanity if you give up coffee entirely, which I strongly recommend in your case. The drugs have the opposite actions to the drug in your coffee nad tea, caffeine.

For something hot to drink, you can use decaffeinated coffee. You might substitute this part of the time as you withdraw from all that coffee you are drinking. Large amounts of coffee do induce an anxiety state in some people. Drop down to two cups a day, then one, then none, and replace as you go with decaffinated products if you wish.

Other substitutes include hot lemonade, bouillon, clear soups and if you want to go way out, hot sassafras tea. For more information about coffee write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O.Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and ask for The Health Letter number 1-1, Coffee, Tea, Cola, Cocoa.

When a heavy coffee drinker stops abruptly he can have headaches and withdrawal-type reactions. The body gets used to all that caffeine, so stop gradually.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have never been able to get a satisfactory answer to the question of why I have to get up two or three times during the night to urinate when I drink nothing before going to bed. Where does the water come from?

DEAR READER—Your body is over half water. Over 70 per cent of the weight of your muscles is water, and you have water in the fluids in all the tissues.

When you lie down, if you have an abundant amount of fluid in your body, feet, ankles, or abdomen that has accumulated over the day, the kidneys will simply filter out more water from your blood. Then, if you have a small bladder or are nervous and have sleeping problems anyway, you may well have to get up at night. This problem is independent of prostate problems in men. In this condition the bladder is overloadded because the obstruction from the enlarged prostate.

Money Donated To Campaign Debt

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — About $2,000 has been donated to the cause of retiring former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough's campaign debt in advance of a fund-raising reception for Yarborough here Thursday.

Art Brender, chairman of the reception committee, said response to the effort to pay off the remaining $22,000 of Yarborough's debt for his losing 1972 senate race has been good.

The reception will be from 5 to 7:30 p.m. in the central jury room of the Tarrant County courthouse.

Admission to the reception will be donation of any amount, Brender said.

First Lady's Remark Generates 28,000 Letters

By ANN BACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford's comments on premarital sex generated nearly 28,000 letters and telegrams, more than two-thirds of which were critical of her remarks.

Sheila Weidenfeld, Mrs. Ford's press secretary, said Wednesday that the first lady is answering this mail which, to date, includes "8,000 pros and 19,500 cons."

Mrs. Ford's letter to her critics explains that she does not believe in premarital sex, but that she realizes that many in today's generation do not share her views.

Answering an interviewer's question last month in which her 18-year-old daughter, Susan, was used as a hypothetical example, Mrs. Ford said she would not be surprised if Susan were to tell her at some point that she was having an affair.

She added, "...I would certainly counsel and advise her on the subject..."

Mrs. Weidenfeld said the first lady will answer all of her mail and believes her original remarks were misunderstood. Although Mrs. Weidenfeld declined to make the letter public because "this is a response to those who have written," she confirmed that Mrs. Ford is answering many of the letters this way:

"I wish it were possible for us to sit down and talk with one another. I consider myself a responsible parent. I know I am a loving one. We have raised our four children in a home that believes in and practices the enduring values of morality and personal integrity.

"I want my children to know that their concerns, their doubts and their difficulties, whatever they may be, can be discussed with the two people in this world who care most—their mother and father."

Mrs. Ford said that during the television interview, she spoke "to the need of this communication—rather than the specific issues we discussed."

"My husband and I have lived 26 years of faithfulness in marriage," Mrs. Ford wrote. "I do not believe in premarital relationships, but I realize that many in today's generation do not share my views. However, this must never cause us to withdraw the love, the counseling and the understanding, that they may need now more than ever before. This is the essence of responsible parenthood."

No Cause For SLE Alarm

By The Associated Press

Public health officials say although 18 cases of St. Louis encephalitis have been confirmed so far in Texas, there is no cause for alarm.

In Houston, three more cases of encephalitis were reported Wednesday, bringing to 14 the number of suspected victims of the sleeping sickness in the Harris County area.

Nine confirmed cases of encephalitis have been reported in Houston since Aug. 27. All but two of the confirmed cases have recovered. Two hospitalized victims were reported ready to be dismissed.

Meanwhile, Dallas public health officials report three confirmed cases and one suspected case of the disease. However, two of the confirmed cases are believed to have been contracted outside the Dallas area.

The first reported in Dallas was a 28-year-old woman who became ill while visiting Arkansas. The second was a man who had been visiting Houston and became ill. He returned to Dallas, where the disease was diagnosed.

Houston's health director, Dr. Albert G. Randall, said there was no cause for alarm about the encephalitis outbreak. He said progress is being made by the Harris County Mosquito Control District to eliminate the mosquitoes that transmit the disease to humans and also the birds from which the mosquitoes get the virus.

In Dallas, Dr. Lowell Berry, director of the city health department, said, "We are on top of things and are spraying and oiling areas where water is standing. We are also rechecking areas where new cases have been reported."

Berry said he was encouraged because "the present number of cases is not that far from the norm."

Mexican Students Not Eligible

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mexican students are not eligible for lower tuition rates in Texas state junior colleges, the attorney general has ruled.

The opinion was asked by Bevington Reed, state commissioner of higher education, concerning a bill by the recent legislature that says a student "who is a resident of a state situated adjacent to Texas" if exempt from normal non-resident tuition rates in Texas public junior college.

The attorney general noted that state college tuition rates for non resident students and for foreign students have been treated separately by the legislature.

Diamond Seals Navel Engagement

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend is a rather kooky, unconventional but lovable gal. We plan to marry soon.

I told her I wanted to buy her a diamond ring, and she said she didn't want a ring—she wanted a diamond for her navel instead!

I thought she was putting me on, but she wasn't.

She says belly dancers wear them. She is not a belly dancer; she's a receptionist at a recording studio.

Can you please tell me where a navel diamond can be purchased? (How would it stay in?) Have you ever seen one? I don't mean a fake one. I mean a real one. Thank you.

SERIOUS IN L.A.

DEAR SERIOUS: I've never seen a navel diamond and haven't the foggiest notion how one would "stay in." But if you have the money, I am sure one of many creative jewelry designers will be able to come up with something to fill the bill—and your girl friend's navel.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem concerns a young couple who lives near us. I'll call them Joyce and Bill. He's 20 and she's 19, and they've been married for 10 months.

We could be a happy foursome but they overdo the lovey dovey bit. They're always cuddling, kissing and fondling each other. It really gets embarrassing.

I suggested having them over for bridge last night because they really are good company otherwise, but my husband said the way they carry on is too sickening.

Is it possible for a couple to be TOO married?

How can we let Joyce and Bill know that we would see more of them if they would save that love stuff for their own bedroom? We hate to hurt their feelings.

ANOTHER COUPLE

DEAR COUPLE: It's not possible to be TOO married, but it is possible to carry the lovey dovey bit beyond the limits of good taste in public.

Technically, Joyce and Bill are still honeymooning, so don't be too critical. In time they'll cool off. (But frankly, isn't their behavior preferable to that of couples who put down, needle and belittle each other?)

DEAR ABBY: I'll soon be having my first baby, and I plan to breast-feed it.

I'd like to know how you and others feel about seeing a mother nursing her baby in doctors' offices, waiting rooms, shopping center malls, restaurants, etc.?

With the increased popularity of breast-feeding, plus Women's Lib, I have seen more and more public breast-feeding.

Does it make some people uncomfortable to witness it? Should I hide from house guests and visitors?

MOTHER-TO-BE

DEAR M-T-B: Breast-feeding a baby is natural and beautiful, but if you have a choice, do it privately. If you do nurse your baby in public, wear a shawl that can be lightly tossed over your bosom while baby nurses and be as inconspicuous as possible.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Continental Congress Set Course In 4 Days

AMERICAN REVOLUTION BICENTENNIAL 1776-1976

EDITOR'S NOTE — Paul Revere's famous ride was history. British and American blood had been spilled at Lexington and Concord. The Second Continental Congress was trying to form and finance an army, and the sentiment among the delegates for a settlement with Britain was fading.

By CHRIS ROBERTS
Associated Press Writer

PHILADEALPHIA (AP) — The Second Continental Congress convened on May 10, 1775 and named two committees — one to make a last stab at peace with the Crown, the second to draw up an army in case the first failed.

Inside the Statehouse on Chestnut Street delegates from the 13 colonies grappled with America's destiny from curving rows of wooden chairs. Outside, volunteer soldiers in unmatching homespun drilled on open greens.

Perhaps it was the restless cadence of their drums that persuaded Congress on May 13 to approve 64 Articles of War, snapping in two the olive branch the first committee was nurturing.

In just four days Congress had set the country on an irreversible course. Five days later a courier would bring news that would further cement that course's finality.

Ethan Allen and his Green Mountain Boys, with a hand from Benedict Arnold, had captured Ft. Ticonderoga on May 10. The Redcoats, according to the express rider, had surrendered without a shot after Allen had hollered to give up "in the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress."

The Articles of War had set up the procedures for an army, but it had not established one. Nor had it granted authority to Allen and Arnold to attack the British garrison.

Congress was buzzing. Some members proposed that the cannon seized by the American militiamen be returned to the king along with an apology. Others crowed over the victory.

The furor finally died and the delegates spent the next month in debate over the makeup of the "Continental Army" and who should lead it. Geographic jealousies and top-heavy egos bogged down the proceedings. Almost anything was debatable. For instance, the better part of one hot day was spent arguing whether the windows should be shut to keep horseflies and a breeze out, or opened to let both in.

Delegate John Admas would recount that wordiness was inevitable because every delegate considered himself "a great man, an orator, a critic, a statesman." In a letter to his wife he wrote that were it "moved that three and two make five, we should be entertained with logic and rhetoric, law, history, politics, and mathematics, and then we should pass the resolution unanimously in the affirmative."

The debate on the structure of America's army ended June 15. John Hancock, presiding as president in place of Virginia's Peyton Randolph, lowered his gavel and announced:

"It is the order of Congress to inform George Washington of the unanimous vote in choosing him to be ... commander in chief of the forces raised, and to be raised, in defense of American liberty."

Under the Articles of War, the 13 colonies named the regimental and company officers. Congress named the generals. Washington's orders were to proceed to Cambridge, Mass. On June 23 he rode northward.

Adams, in another letter to his wife, described the departure:

"I have this morning been out of town to accompany our generals, Washington, Charles Lee, Philip Schuyler, a little way on their journey ... All the delegates from Massachusetts, with their servants and carriages, attended; many others of the delegates from Congress; a large troop of lighthorse in their uniforms; playing music. Such is the pride and pomp of war."

The six companies of backcountry rifleman that Congress had envisoned as the army's backbone, arrived in Cambridge after Washington. Many were hunters in coon-skinned caps. They were itchy for action and none came. So they drank and gambled. And fought among themselves.

The new commander in chief would have to build an army before he could war against the enemy. He appealed to Congress for help. He needed uniforms ammunition, guns, food. Congress, relying on printing press money — Continental dollars that soon would be worthless — scraped together what it could.

At Ben Franklin's suggestion, the delegates voted to arm some units with pikes and spears, bows and arrows.

Word reached the colonists in the fall that King George had officially declared war. Congress responded by calling for 30,000 volunteers and establishing a navy.

Before the year was out, the Americans had captured Boston from the Redcoats. But English sailors had burned the town of Falmouth (now Portland), Maine, and American forces had suffered heavy losses in an ill-fated attempt to capture Quebec.

Each patriot death fired hatred for the British, bringing America closer to a total break with the Crown.

When the Second Continental Congress had convened, the concept of independence had for many delegates a ring of treason about it. John Adams had filed proceedings in May of 1775 with a proposal that the colonies abolish their royal charters. It was too much, too soon, and the motion met a quick death.

But by the spring of 1776 the country's mood had changed. Liberty and freedom were words to be shouted. Independence had become the password to America's future.

The Spirit of '76 was fueled by a man named Thomas Paine, a clever propagandist whose sulfurous words burned the last bridges between England and America. He labeled King George "the royal brute of Britain ... a hardened, sullen-tempered Pharoah," and advocated a final separation so as not to "leave the next generation to be cutting throats, under the violated, unmeaning names of parent and child."

The people listened, and on June 7 delegate Richard Henry Lee of Virginia took the bold step that had tripped up other men.

Let it be resolved, he said, "That these United States are, and of a right ought to be, free and independent states, that they are absolved of all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connections between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved."

What Lee had offered was a declaration of independence.

After much soul-searching Congress passed it on July 2, 1776. A nation was born. John Adams was so excited he wrote two letters to his wife.

This "second day of July will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America," said Adams. "I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the Great Anniversary Festival ... commemorated ... by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty ... solemnized with pomp, and parade, with shows, games, sports, bonfires and illuminations."

History would prove him wrong. The nation's birthday would be celebated two days later, and it would be Thomas Jefferson who would be remembered as the framer of the Declaration of Independence, not Richard Henry Lee.

Here's what happened:

Shortly after Lee introduced his resolution, Congress appointed a committee to draft a document justifying to the world America's impending split with England. The writing chore fell to Jefferson.

He submitted the document to Congress on June 28. It was read to the members on July 3 — the day after the 13 colonies had ratified Lee's motion for independence.

The delegates scrutinized Jefferson's offering, cherishing at once certain passages, making changes in others. They adopted it on July 4, 1776, and read it from the Statehouse steps four days later.

"... We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the ..."

Any fifth-grader can fill in the last three words. But who can remember what Lee said? Perhaps he lost his place in history because he was simply out-written and out-edited.

Mexican Trade Fair Sucess

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mexican trade officials say they expect another banner year in sales during the Mexican Trade Fair which is under way here featuring a large amount of industrial equipment.

Exhibits brought to the fair this year include mostly heavy machinery, automobile parts, electronics, construction and farm equipment and manufactured goods.

Jorge Canavati, deputy director of the Mexican Institute of Foreign Trade, said that this year 85 per cent of the exhibits is made up of industrial products and 15 per cent of software products and handicrafts.

Albert J. Schmidt, vice president of Consorcio Internacional S. A. of Guadalajara said sales are expected to be about 12 to 15 per cent better than last year.

"And last year's fair was very good," he said.

Consorcio represents some 50 companies from the state of Jalisco that produce liquor, furniture, clothing, food, shoes and steel.

'I think the American buyer is becoming aware of the high quality of products produced in Mexico," he said.

Mexican exhibitors sold $71 million worth of goods during last year's fair.

Canavati said the new emphasis on industrial and manufactured goods has not had an averse effect on sales.

"We are having no problems and we are very happy and satisfied," he said. "We feel that the fair will be a tremendous success."

The fair will end today.

Phoenix, capital of Arizona, was founded in 1867 and succeeded Prescott as territorial capital in 1889. Arizona became a state in 1912.

Veteran Critic Protests Grade School Spellers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Grade school spellers that dabble in creative writing rather than stress basics do a disservice, Wednesday from Norma Gabler, of Longview.

Mrs. Gabler built her reputation as a textbook critic with attacks in years past on books that failed to say evolution is a theory.

She said some spelling textbooks have promoted illiteracy.

"Our parents are sick and tired of seeing the results," Mrs. Gabler told the State Textbook Committee. "Too much emphasis is placed on having to get them to learning them on. Well, let's turn them off a little and turn them on to basics. We see too many kids who can't read or write or spell."

She said a 1971 Louis Harris survey showed nearly 19 million persons over the age of 16 in this country could not read and write well enough to fill out a job application form.

Mrs. Gabler attacked all six books in the grade school speller series that will be published by Merrill Publishing Co. next year.

The series "violates a basic principle of learning," she said. "Instead of going from the simple—individual sounds—to the complex—combinations of letter sounds, the student will be hindered in his learning how to spell or read.

"It has students write sentences before the letter sounds are learned. The child will be limited to what he memorizes. Can this type of teaching fail to increase the problem of illiteracy?"

In the third-grade book, she cited a page where students are asked to write something about the words spooky, silly and crash.

"Couldn't more encouraging, uplifting words be used?" she asked.

On another page students are told to "pretend you are living many years ago. You see one of these things (natural phenomena) and don't understand it. Write a myth to explain it. Make up your own names for gods."

Mrs. Gabler exclaimed, "This is humanistic!"

In the Grade 4 book, she said, nine of the 17 famous figures listed "are Negroe (sic)," while only 20 per cent of the population is "Negroe."

The publisher responded, "All of the 17 persons are black. As stated in the second column, the purpose of this activity is 'to enlighten students about the contributions of black Americans to our country.'"

Mrs. Gabler noted a reference to witches and Halloween, while "other, more significant holidays aren't mentioned in the book. Emphasis to the occult is given. This is religion."

In the fifth-grade book, she found a story about a Boy Scout helping an old woman across the street. " 'But I didn't want to get to the other side of the street,' she sobbed."

This "belittles scouts and their creed," Mrs. Gabler said.

The publisher responded, "If this passage belittles any group, it is not scouts but rather people who think they know what is best for others."

Another protester, Drusilla Bearden of San Angelo, reurged her criticism of book that gives favorable mention to Martin Luther King Jr. and Ralph Bunche.

"Social Studies in Spanish, Grades 1 and 2," published by National Educational Laboratory Publishers Inc., suggests celebrating King's birthday and asks students to "discuss the Nobel Peace Prize and what King did to earn it."

"Is this a legal holiday?" Mrs. Bearden asked. "Is it really significant? MLK is a highly controversial figure with a very questionable background. "Let's celebrate Robert E. Lee Day. Or George Wallace Day. Or is this a racist suggestion?"

She also attacked an instruction to "play a game in which a blindfolded child attempts to identify the other class members by feeling them."
