Stage Rocket Expected To Fall Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—History's first rocket-satellite may tumble to its doom Sunday morning.

The final stage rocket that thrust Sputnik I into an orbit last Oct. 4 over Russia is in its last hours, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reported today.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, observatory director, emphasized that it is impossible to predict at this time where and when the rocket satellite might makes its flaming plunge toward earth.

However, he said the rocket is traveling nearest its low point on its morning southwest-to-northeast passages. Today it was approximately 120 miles above the earth, on its morning passages over the United States, or within 10 miles of its lowest, or perigee, point.

The Smithsonian sticks to its prediction of several days ago that Sunday, Dec. 1, is the most likely day for the descent of the rocket.

Sunday morning the rocket makes three sweeps across the United States, from southwest to northeast. The first passage Sunday morning begins about 6:45 a.m. and roughly parallels the East Coast from Florida to Maine, passing near New York and Boston.

The next sweep across the nation starts in southwest Texas at about 8:13 crosses the Midwest going near Kansas City about 8:16 leaving the United States over northern Michigan three minutes later.

The third morning sweep begins at 9:43 a.m., as the rocket comes in from the Pacific, crossing the California coastline about midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, then proceeding over Nevada and Idaho to leave the United States over central Montana five minutes after entering from the Pacific.

If the rocket were to fall before the cycles that take it across North America it would be successively crossing Russia, Europe and the Atlantic Ocean. Passages later that morning would take it successively over the Pacific.

Dr. Whipple says that clearly-observable tumbling action of the elongated rocket gives an uncertain factory in trying to pinpoint its death. The rocket now is circling the earth in 89.7 minutes, a decrease of approximately seven minutes since its launching nearly two months ago.

The rocket has picked up about 400 m.p.h. over its original 18,000 m.p.h. velocity due to the increasing tug of gravity as it is pulled lower.

The rocket was sighted last night by moonwatch teams in Tucson, Airz., and Sacramento, Calif. Most other parts of the United States were blotted by clouds.

SPOT MUSE

THE TEXAS Highway Commission has set next Wednesday as the day for the hearing on the proposed widening of the Big Spring highway here to four lanes from the Deep Creek bridge to the curve near Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

MEMBERS OF the county commissioners court, some city representatives, and some Chamber of Commerce representatives will go to Austin for the hearing, which will be the third item on that day's agenda.

THE WIDENING project proposed by the city, county, and district highway engineer Jake Roberts would include a four-lane paved road, which would be straightened out to some extent, and some kind of safety provision would be made at the curve of the highway, where the hospital road intersects.

THE SNYDER Quarterback Club and Chamber of Commerce were all set this morning to welcome some 3,000 fans from Seymour and Lockney for tonight's regional championship football game at Tiger Stadium.

The QB and CC are "co-sponsoring" the game. These two orgainizations are furnishing the gate keepers, ticket sellers, ushers etc. for tonight's game.

The two organizations will also present the winning team with a hugh trophy after the game.

Although the Chamber of Commerce and Quarterback Club are handling the arrangements for tonight's playoff game, all of the proceeds will go to the competing schools.

The "labor" connected with handling the arrangements is being donated by the QB Club and CC.

Tunisia Still Presses For France-Algeria Parley

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Tunisia appealed to France today to put aside "narrow nationalism" and accept the Tunisian-Moroccan offer to mediate the Algerian dispute.

Mongi Slim, Tunisian ambassador to Washington and the U.N., made the appeal in a debate on Algeria in the General Assembly's Political Committee. He spoke out about the time Premier Felix Gaillard announced in Paris the offer of the two former French protectorates had been rejected.

He read the offer of good offices in Algerian-French negotiations made in Rabat last week by King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia.

He remarked that one of the parties in the case, the Algerian front of national liberation, "responded to that appeal in terms which permit every hope."

"May we be able to meet a similar spirit and a like comprehension from the other party in the case," said Slim.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau opened the debate Wednesday. He pleaded with delegates to steer clear of "internationalization of the Algerian conflict" and let France go on seeking a "peaceful, democratic and just solution" by crushing the rebellion and introducing electoral reforms to benefit Algerian Moslems.

In a vague resolution adopted last Feb. 15, the Assembly expressed hope that "a peaceful, democratic and just solution" would be found in conformity with U. N. Charter principles.

While the U. N. debate was going on here, France's Parliament was preparing for a vote of confidence demanded by Premier Felix Gaillard on a parial home rule bill for Algeria.

King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia issued a communique last Friday offering their help to France and a nationalist organization, the Algerian Front of National Liberation, for negotiations toward a "just solution" based on the sovereignty of the Algerian people and safeguards for French interests.

The front, in a Rabat statement, welcomed it and said negotiations "undertaken on the basis of independence" would end the Algerian war. But word circulated among Arab delegations here that the front had dropped its condition that France must recognize Algerian independence before talks could start.

A joint Washington statement from King Mohammed and Secretary of State Dulles said that in their talks on Algeria the King expressed hope for a "peaceful solution . . . through friendly negotiations." Dulles also stated the United States favored "a peaceful, democratic and just solution."

Tunisia Chief Says Algerian Policy Altered

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba claims the Algerian national liberation front (FLN) has made a major revision in policy in the Algerian rebellion and no longer is insisting upon independence before negotiating with France.

The statement threw FLN headquarters here into confusion.

In making a recording for his weekly broadcast in Arabic to the Tunisian people last night Bourguiba said: "The FLN leaders have abandoned the demand for a prior grant of independence in response to our appeal."

FLN sources, after hours of discussion, said Bourguiba possibly had made a slip of the tongue. They did not deny his statement, however.

On Nov. 21, Bourguiba and King Mohammed V of Morocco offered their good offices to FLN and France to help end the rebellion on a basis of Algerian sovereignty. They did not use the word independence.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau has said, however, that to the French sovereignty and independence meant the same thing. The French also have objected to exclusive negotiations with FLN on the ground that it is not representative of all the Algerian people.

SENATE RESUMES WRANGLE

AUSTIN (AP)—Part of the Legislature officially ends its Thanksgiving holiday at 3 p.m. today when the Senate goes back into session—technically, at least.

There was a general understanding Wednesday when the Senate voted to recess until today that not enough members would be on hand to constitute a quorum — the two-thirds necessary to transact business.

The House was in recess until 6 p.m. Sunday — a highly unusual move made after the House and Senate deadlocked in a hopeless tangle over ending the session and giving each other the necessary permission to recess from Wednesday to Monday.

While the lawmakers took a Thanksgiving holiday, there was considerable speculation on the basic reasons for the Senate's unwillingness to end the session.

Some said a head-knocking conflict between the Senate and the three-member Insurance Board was one factor. Others insisted it was nothing but the known determination of Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and other East Texas senators not to let the session end without sending a final remaining segregation bill to the governor.

The Senate and the Insurance Board at odds over the Senate's refusal Nov. 12 to confirm William A. Harrison, state government career man. The board asked Atty. Gen. Will Wilson for his opinion on whether a part of the new insurance code giving the Senate power to accept or reject its appointment of an executive head is constitutional.

Wilson has not yet issued his opinion. There is considerable talk that the senators do not want to end the session and go home before they find out what the ruling will be.

The remaining segregation measure is Senate Bill 15, requiring registration on order of the county judge of organizations that may harass or interfere with public school operations. Sponsors say it is aimed at the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The House could begin debate on the Senate bill when it meets Sunday. Again there is a serious question whether enough members will be here to do anything but recess until Monday.

The pending bill was approved by the Senate. It is actually the same one that the House passed earlier. It had a Senate number and technically could not have been taken up by the House until today. But the House, having a hard time deciding what to do, refused a series of motions to adjourn or recess until today.

It could not quit from Wednesday to Sunday without Senate permission, which it did not have. Therefore it voted the Sunday meeting, which probably will be only a dummy session.

180 Persons In Ifni Killed

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Spanish bombers have killed at least 180 persons in the rebellious colony of Ifni, the newspaper Al Alam said today. Spanish forces launched attacks by land and sea yesterday in their effort to crush the uprising, it added.

The paper, organ of the Moroccan Istiqlal (Independence) party, said 50 persons were killed by bombs in the village of Fouar and 130 in Sidi Hamed Larouss.

Planes and ships yesterday bombarded the Moroccan village of Chira, north of the Ifni enclave, and the villages of Oum Iffissin and Shouikhat, in the southeast corner of the enclave, were bombed and machinegunned, causing many casualties, according to Al Alam's account.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan charged yesterday the Spanish were attacking Moroccan territory, which surrounds the enclave on three sides. He ordered the Moroccan army to shoot back. Spain denied the charge. But Madrid continued a buildup of forces in Ifni in its efforts to crush the rebellion.

Missiles Program Bad, Not Hopeless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today three days of testimony on the status of the U. S. missiles program shows the situation "is worse than I thought it was."

Kefauver, a member of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee conducting the missiles-satellite probe, said in an interview the testmony by defense officials, intelligence specialists and scientists added up to "shocking evidence of how the country has gotten behind" Russia in certain scientific-military fields.

But the Tennesseean said "the picture is not hopeless," adding:

"We've got to give more money and attention to missiles, satellites and scientific development and education. We can catch up and get ahead if we only put our will to it."

Sen. Bush (R-Conn) said today the hearings demonsntrate a need for the highest priority for expanding missile production and strengthening the Strategic Air Command.

Bush, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee who has been attending hearings of the preparedness subcommittee, said in a statement that "the highest priority must be given to maintnaining and strengthening our present capacity for massive retaliation should the Soviet Union be foolhardy enough to attack us or our NATO Allies."

"We must also, and with equal priority, accelerate and expand our intercontinental and intermediate range missiles programs," he added.

Bush said he plans to make a personal inspection of missile production facilities on the West Coast and of SAC's retaliatory power. He said he will fly in an Air Force plane Monday to SAC headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

He also will visit the Western development division of the Air Force's Research and Development Command and the Douglas and North American production plants and testing facilities in the Los Angeles area.

In saying testimony showed the U. S. missile position in relation to Russia is worse than he thought it was, Kefauver refused to go into detail.

Other subcommittee members who sat in on a closed-door intelligence briefing Wednesday said afterward they heard a "sad and shocking" story on Russian military-scientific progress. The briefing was given by Allen Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Coaches, Players Jailed In Denver

DENVER (AP) — Coach Bob Devaney, 42, an assistant coach and two players on the Wyoming football team were jailed by Denver police after a disturbance early today at the Shirley Savoy Hotel.

Wyoming lost to Denver, 14-13, yesterday in a game televised to the western United States.

Devaney, quarterback Lawrence E. Zowada, 21, and guard Paul M. Muratore, 24, were charged with disturbance, resistance and interference with an officer.

Michael M. Corgan, 39, assistant coach, was charged with resistance, interference, disturbance, drunk in a public place and destruction of private property.

Police Sgt. William Hallman gave this account:

An unidentified guest at the hotel called police about midnight complaining that members of the Wyoming team were making a disturbance outside his third-floor.

Patrolmen Albert Martinac and Tom Butler were met in the lobby by Zowada and Muratore who refused to identify themselves and refused to be searched.

Devaney stepped in and agreed that his players didn't have to submit to a search.

A hotel detective, Joseph Holeman, 36, who was on the third floor, renewed his call for police. When they arrived Holeman and Corgan were having a fight with the unidentified guest standing by.

Holeman's clothes were torn and he suffered a few bruises.

Butler attempted to stop the fight.

Martinac moved to arrest Muratore by placing his hand on the player's arm. Several other Wyoming players, who had arrived on the scene, objected.

The fighting stopped but arguments continued as the group moved back to the lobby, where Martinac again attempted to arrest Muratore, who replied by swinging his fist. The officer then fired a shot into the ceiling of the lobby — ending all arguments.

Quota System Gets Blame

ROME (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) today said strict U.S. immigration laws are partly to blame for a shortage of trained scientists in the United States.

In answer to a news conference question, Celler declared: "There is a reasonable connection between restrictions on immigration and recent U.S. shortcomings in the missile and satellite race."

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he will seek elimination of the present quota immigration system in favor of a law allowing immigrants to enter the United States in accordance with U.S. needs.

He is on a tour of nuclear energy stations in Europe. He called for U.S. financial aid to Italy for the development of nuclear power.

The congressman said all NATO nations must be made industrially strong and the United States should help Italy gain this strength through nuclear energy development.

Ike, Mamie Depart Capital For Weekend Visit To Farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower set out by automobile today for a weekend or more at their Pennsylvania farm in a striking new demonstration of his speedy recovery from a mild stroke.

The President, piling the move on top of yesterday's burst of activity which included surprise attendance at a Thanksgiving church service, went with full approval from his doctors, the White House said.

The plan for the trip to Gettysburg, announced yesterday on a "hope" basis, was made firm earlier today on the basis of a new medical report of continued "excellent" recovery progress.

"The doctors have agreed it is perfectly all right for him to make the trip," press secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Some 150 to 200 persons waited near a White House gate to watch the Eisenhowers leave.

The president and First Lady smiled and nodded to the onlookers.

The presidential auto was followed by a Secret Service car and another White House limousine carrying Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and some staff members.

Eisenhower wore a rust colored jacket and tan slacks. He removed his hat just before the car reached the gate, having spotted the crowd waiting outside.

Eisenhower had a long sleep, from 8 o'clock last night until 6 this morning, hagerty said. It was not that he was overly tired, Hagerty said. He had a busy Thanksgiving day, going to church and presiding over a family dinner. Hagertz said Eisenhower retired shortly after dinner.

Eisenhower, who suffered a mild stroke the first of the week, had an exceptionally long night's sleep, from 8 last night until 6 o'clock this morning, the White House said.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that it wasn't because he was overtired.

Eisenhower had had an unexpectedly busy Thanksgiving, going to church and presiding over a family dinner. Hagerty said Eisenhower went to bed shortly after dinner and was asleep by 8. He said there was no particular reason why the chief executive retired so early.

Eisenhower arranged to drive with Mrs. Eisenhower to their country estate, some 80 miles from Washington.

How long they will remain is questionable, but Hagerty said it will be at least through the weekend.

Hagerty said he probably will be unable to announce anything more definite about the stay at the farm until Sunday.

A Cabinet meeting is scheduled Monday. And on Tuesday, congressional leaders of both parties are coming to the White House for a briefing on military and defense maters and the legislative program for the new congressional session.

There has been no change, Hagerty said, in plans for the session with congressional chiefs. But whether Eisenhower personally will sit in still is up in the air.

Hagerty read this brief 8:30 a.m. bulletin from the White House physician, Dr. Howard M. Snyder:

The President had a good night's sleep. He slept almost continuously from early last evening until 6 o'clock this morning. His progress continues to be excellent."

While Hagerty was speaking, Eisenhower was conferring with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, and Brig. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, White House staff secretary, on official business.

Hagerty said that he and Dr. Snyder were the only White House officials also making the trip to the farm.

Siamese Twin Girls Born

DALLAS (AP)—Siamese twin girls were born last night to the wife of a physician.

Baylor Hospital spokesmen said the twins had a single torso and two perfectly-formed heads, four legs and four arms.

The twins were undergoing surgery at Children's Medical Center today, but doctors held little hope for their survival.

An obstetrician who delivered them said the mother was doing well. Officials declined to disclose the mother's name.

The surgery was being undertaken in an attempt to save both or one of the infants, but doctors said it was a risky operation at best.

The obstetrician said the twins' torso is larger than that of a single baby. He said they probably have a common intestinal tract and possibly a single stomach. There were two tiny hearts in the torso, however.

Annexation Protested

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Police threw a heavy guard around the U.S. Embassy and Turkish legation here today when 5,000 demonstrators demanded the Alexandretta district from Turkey and denounced the Palestine partition.

The demonstrators, mostly students, chanted slogans as they marched. There was no violence.

Today was the 10th anniversary of the 1947 U.N. Palestine partition resolution and the 19th anniversary of annexation of Alexandretta by Turkey. The annexation had the consent of France, at that time the administrator of Syria, and Britain.

Similar demonstrations took place in other Syrian towns.

Syria's 100,000 students are to go on strike Saturday in protest against both the Palestine partition and the annexation of Alexandretta.

Asked if he would meet her, Schmidt grinned and said: "I may bump into her in the street."

They dined together when Schmidt was here earlier this month.

Cold Front Knifes Deep Into State

By The Associated Press

A new cold front knifed deep into Northwest Texas Friday, touching off light snow in the Panhandle.

Cold wave warnings were issued for the central and northern plains.

The Weather Bureau forecast freezing weather in nearly every part of Texas Friday night.

Light snow fell at Amarillo Friday morning. The cold front was on a line from Wichita Falls to Abilene to Midland and northwestward to New Mexico.

The temperature dropped to 32 degrees at Dalhart and 34 at Amarillo. Winds whipped the Panhandle areas with gusts clocked up to 34 miles per hour.

Skies were clear except partly cloudy on the coast and cloudy in the Panhandle.

An apparently milder front moved out of Texas into the Gulf of Mexico only Thursday and still hung stationary off the coast. It brought a light drizzle in the Brownsville vicinity Thursday afternoon. Thanksgiving Day was clear and nippy elsewhere about the state.

Top temperatures Thursday varied from 49 at Dalhart to 71 at Brownsville and Presidio.

Shifting winds ahead of the new cold front sent the mercury down to 34 at Dalhart early Friday. Other Texas readings at the same hour ranged up to 56 at Brownsville.

Northerly winds were raking West Texas from Lubbock and Childress northward.

No moisture fell in the state Thursday night and none was predicted with the latest touch of winter.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures Friday night would dip as low as 15 to 25 in the Panhandle and upper South Plains. Readings of 35 to 40 were forecast in other parts of West Texas except for 35 to 40 in the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area, 26 to 36 in North Central Texas and 32 to 40 in the northwest part of East and South Central Texas.

Fraternities Fighting For Constitution

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) —The nation's college fraternities set out today on what may be an organized fight to preserve racial and religious discrimination clauses in their constitutions.

A committee of the National Interfraternity Conference in progress here issued a report naming 63 U. S. college campuses on which it said antidiscrimination "agitation" is practiced.

The report criticized what it called "planned attempts to reduce Greek-letter societies to a position of impotence, if not to eliminate them entirely."

It was to be submitted for approval or disapproval today to the General Assembly comprising more than 700 college students and alumni who represent 61 national fraternities. The three-way conference opened yesterday.

Francis S. Van Derbur of Denver, conference chairman, said the report prepared by a committee on fraternity autonomy was "a well-considered document by some of the finest minds in the fraternity system."

The committee chairman is Herbert L. Brown of Philadelphia, an alumni member of Phi Sigma Kappa.

The report rapped the universities of Massachusetts, New Mexico, Oregon and Washington and Kansas City and Lewis and Clark colleges as schools which have announced they will not permit fraternities which prohibit membership on the basis of race, color and creed.

Amherst and the State University of New York were sharply criticized for ordering social fraternities to revise their charters or leave the campus.

Soldier Under Observation

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — Specialist Gregory J. Kupski of Detroit, charged by the U. S. Army with the strangulation murder of a Japanese girl, is under military psychiatric examination, his defense counsel said today.

The counsel, Capt. James R. Robinson, 34, Ft. Collins, Colo., would not elaborate on the disclosure.

Kupski has been charged "with "unpremeditated murder" in the death of Kazue Eikawa, 25, whose nude body was found in a Yokohama alley Nov. 17. The charge carries a maximum Army penalty of life imprisonment.

No clue to whether Japan or the United States will take jurisdiction was given. Robinson said "The decision lies with the governments concerned." Both he and Kupski feel either nation would provide a fair trial, he added. The maximum Japanese penalty is death.

The Yokohama procurator's office is still investigating but has not issued an indictment. There are indications the Army will relinquish jurisdiction if it does.

The dead girl was the wife of Robert Leslie Wescot, a U. S. Navy man now stationed at China Lake Naval Base in California.

Dope Addicts Spread Habit

CHICAGO (AP) — Medical investigators today blamed addicts — rather than peddlers—for spreading the narcotics habit.

They said users apparently give the stuff to those who never have used it, and they added:

"Active proselyting by drug peddlers plays a very small role in spreading addiction."

The views were set forth in a report of the American Medical Assn. Council on Mental Health and its Committee on Narcotic Addiction. The report, printed in part in the AMA journal, was based on a 2½-year study.

The investigators suggested addiction should be regarded as an illness and should be treated medically rather than punitively.

"Opiate addiction does not cause the degree of damage to physical health that other intoxications tolerated by our society can cause," the report set forth.

White House Fumbles News Releases On Health Of Ike

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—After each of President Eisenhower's three illnesses, the White House first gave wrong information or only part of the truth and let it stand for hours. Later it told the full story.

This happened after his heart seizure and ileitis attack and now again after his mild stroke. But this time, when the White House attempted to tell the real story at last, it made a mess of it.

Eisenhower had his heart attack in Denver early Sept. 24, 1955. At 2 a.m., the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was called to Eisenhower's side.

At 8 a.m. Snyder announced the President had a "mild digestive upset." At noon that day Snyder said the President's condition was "good" and again said he had a "digestive upset."

At 2:35 p.m. Murray Snyder, then Eisenhower's assistant press secretary, told newsmen the President had suffered a heart attack. Press secretary James C. Hagerty on vacation, flew to Denver and took over. He did a masterful job thereafter.

Eisenhower had a history of ileitis, inflammation in the small intestine. He felt a stomach upset at 12:45 a.m. June 8, 1956. Over the phone Dr. Snyder prescribed a "slight dose of milk of magnesia."

Eisenhower didn't improve. At 2 a.m. Dr. Snyder went to the White House and stayed all night.

At 8:50 a.m. Hagerty announced Eisenhower had an "upset stomach and headache this morning."

Again at 10:30 a.m. Hagerty described the President's condition as "not an illness but an upset" and said he had a "hunch" Eisenhower would go to his Gettysburg farm for the weekend.

At 12:25 p.m. Hagerty said Eisenhower was being taken to the hospital as a "preventive measure" and that the President's illness had been diagnosed as ileitis. Eisenhower was operated on the following morning.

When Eisenhower suffered a blockage of a small brain artery last Monday, Hagerty was in Paris. The assistant press secretary, Mrs. Anne Wheaton, announced at 6:30 p.m. that day that Eisenhower had had a "chill" and had been ordered to bed by his doctors. One of these doctors was Snyder.

Mrs. Wheateon said it was Dr. Snyder's decision to withhold any medical details until the following morning. She had a prepared statement when she talked. She refused to say who drew it up.

She met with reporters several times again that night and the following morning, Nov. 26, but provided no more detailed information. At 2:55 p.m. Tuesday she appeared before newsmen with a medical report.

This report revealed that Snyder and other doctors had examined Eisenhower the previous day and diagnosed his condition as a blood clot or occlusion (closing) an a blood vessel of the brain.

Nevertheless, the report given out Monday said Eisenhower had had a chill and made no mention of the doctors' findings.

Mrs. Wheaton was emphatic in saying it was not a stroke.

She made a mistake — which had to be corrected later — by saying she thought the President's illness was a form of heart attack.

Hagerty flew back from Paris. On Wednesday he was asked why the truth on the President's condition had been held up 24 hours. Hagerty replied that the doctors wanted to be sure of their diagnosis.

When he was asked if he would have handled White House announcements on Eisenhower's illness differently than Mrs. Wheaton, Hagerty said: "No, I don't think so."

Road Death Toll Forecast Is Decreased

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1957 death toll on the nation's highways might be 1,000 less than last year, the National Safety Council estimated today.

Council officials said their optimistic estimate of 38,600 deaths was based on three factors:

1. Some 31,350 highway deaths during the first 10 months, about 800 less than 1956.

Montant and Idaho shower 20 per of 1957, 5.6 persons died for every 100 million miles of highway travel. Last year, the figure was 6.

3. Twenty-nine of 46 states reporting showed traffic records for the first 10 months of 1957 which were improved over last year.

2. During the first eight months cent improvements.

In October, 455 of the reporting cities had perfect records. The three largest were Richmond, Va., Jacksonville, Fla., and Salt Lake City, Utah.

There were 135 cities which had perfect records during the first 10 months. The three largest were Lynn, Mass., Rock Island, Ill., and Ann Arbor, Mich.

In 1956, 39,628 died in highway accidents.

The council said deaths in October totaled 3,480, approximately the same as in October 1956, which was the lowest since 1949.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Abilene for Mrs. Claudie Mas Hale, a former resident of Snyder.

Women Tell Tales Of Woe

NEW YORK (AP)—Two pretty women told police two separate tales of woe yesterday. Both concerned the loss of money or jewelry amounting to close to $30,000.

Mrs. Billie Bensing, 26, a lithe brunette who said she had appeared in the "Ziegfeld Follies," said a smooth-talking investment broker swindled her of most of a $30,000 inheritance.

All she got in return, Mrs. Bensing said, was three checks for $216, a loan for $1,200 and a $600 convertible. The investment broker was not identified.

Mrs. Bensing said she inherited the money from her father Dr. W. D. Schwartz of Portland, Ind. Mrs. Bensing is divorced from Robert Bensing of New York.

Mrs. Helen Hindmarsh of Manhattan, 27-year-old widow who said she models professionally as Helen Mann, reported that somebody stole her handbag containing $29,000 worth of jewelry and $85. She said the purse was stolen Wednesday in the anteroom of a photography laboratory.

No Injuries In Two-Car Collision

There was no injury in a two-car collision which occurred at Ira yesterday.

Involved in the accident were a 1954 Oldsmobile sedan driven by Joseph Nachlinger, 77, of Hermleigh, and a 1950 Ford sedan driven by Cal Everett Lavinder, 23, of Sweetwater.

Jim Winters, highway patrolman, said both cars were headed the same direction. Nachlinger started a right turn, and the other car struck the Nachlinger car in the rear.

Santa Claus Has It Rough

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Kids were so tough on Santa Clauses last year that three jobs for the ho-ho' type are going begging.

Mrs. Lucille Jackson, Texas Employment Commission interviewer handling San Antonio Santa Claus jobs, said Friday several of last year's St. Nicks had turned down offers.

"They said it was a little too rough," said Mrs. Jackson, who is still shy three Santas from the demand.

"I could have filled one today," she said, "and I need others to start Dec. 4 and Dec. 13."

Two experienced Santas were turned down by stores because they have to wear glasses now, Mrs. Jackson said.

The stores insist on Santas without spectacles, she said, and these fellows had to wear them.

"They might have had the mothers on their laps instead of the kids," Mrs. Jackson declared.

An estimated 10 per cent of the nation's licensed engineers are home taught through correspondence courses.

SPANISH IMPORT—An enchanting sauce made with onions, saffron, almonds, eggs yolks and ham make Pepitoria of Chicken different.

Try This Chicken Pepitoria For A Fine Company Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

IF YOU ENJOY CHICKEN AND RICE you will do well to look to Spain. Taking our own advice, we have borrowed an utterly delightful Spanish recipe — Pepitoria of Chicken — that deserves to be as well known as that country's Paella and Arroz con Pollo.

For the Pepitoria, the chicken is browned in oilive oil and then cooked in an enchanting sauce made with onions, saffron and other seasonings, almonds, hardcooked egg yolks and ham. We find it can be prepared ahead and reheated successfully; served with rice and green peas it's a delicious main dish for a company supper.

You might preface the Pepitoria of Chicken with tomatoes stuffed with seafood. For dessert, an orange mousse garnished with seedless green grapes will be refreshing and attractive. Petits fours and black coffee will make a perfect ending.

PEPITORIA OF CHICKEN

Ingredients: 1 broiler-fryer (about 2½ pounds ready-to-cook weight), 1½ cups water, salt, 3 tablespoons olive oil, 1 large onion (finely chopped), ½ cup ham (slivered), ¼ cup unblanched shelled almonds, 2 medium-sized cloves garlic, 1 tablespoon minched parsley, 2 hard-cooked egg yolks.

Method: Have chicken cut into 12 pieces; wash and drain. Place wing tips, neck, giblets and extra pieces of skin in water with a little salt; cover and bring to a boil; simmer about 30 minutes; strain and reserve stock. Meanwhile brown remaining chicken pieces in olive oil in 10-inch skillet; remove. Add onion and ham to oil in skillet and cook gently, stirring often, until onion is softened but not brown. Remove chicken and onion mixture. Brown almonds in olive oil left in pan; add a little more oil if necessary. Pound almonds, garlic, parsley and ½ teaspoon salt with a pestle in a mortar until paste-like; mix in egg yolks; gradually stir in 1 cup of the strained chicken stock. Return chicken and onion mixture to skillet; add sauce. Finish cooking chicken by simmering, covered, about 20 to 30 minutes or until tender. Serve over hot cooked rice. Makes 4 servings.

Note: If you do not have a mortar and pestle, you can put the unblanched almonds through the fine blade of a food chopper or a rotary-type grater, then crush the garlic and parsley together. If you do not have a garlic crusher, mince the garlic fine, then mix it with the salt and crush with the heavy wide blade of a knife until it disintegrates. A few shreds of saffron may be disolved in the chicken stock and added.

Use brown sugar instead of white, sometimes, when you are making a bread pudding. Nice flavor change!

The Long And The Beautiful

Women often go to great lengths for fashion, but this season jewelry fashion has gone to new lengths for women in the longer-length necklaces.

The new, unfitted vertical silhouette is the compelling force behind this new downward plunge of necklaces specifically designed to complement the free, easy, long look of the newest clothes, the Fashion Coordination Institute reports.

The Chanel ropes were the forerunners of this new trend that has evolved into many varied and Beautifully fashioned necklaces of all types not only are designed in longer lengths, but in varying lengths obtained by looping them. Some have detachable pendants to give the all-important look of length, the Institute reports.

Handsome, new, tailored settings in many of these necklaces hold glowing precious, semi-precious or handsomely simulated stones as a dramatic accent to daytime clothes. Diamonds and rhinestones glitter in bright, beautiful, free-swinging longer-length glamour for evening wear.

Gold and silver necklaces from deeper "Vs" and bibs and bead necklaces boast new length and bulk to carry out the important "vertical" look of current fashion. Pendants, in a wide variety of interpretations — heraldic, Victorian, chandelier — play an increasingly important part in achieving this new longer-fashion necklace look.

New variations are seen in chains and ropes, the most revolutionary being a new 90-inch version which the daring wear straight and swinging to the knees.

Lockney, Seymour In Region Tilt Here Tonight

SPORTS

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

WELCOME FOOTBALL FANS from Seymour and Lockney. We hope your stay here will be most pleasant.

We know that some of you will leave the city disappointed as only one team can win. That's something we can't provide for both teams — a victory.

However, win or lose tonight both teams have had successful seasons this fall as their records to date will attest. Both teams are undefeated.

The winner of tonight's game could very well go all the way in the state playoffs in the 2A division. The game here is being billed as the state's feature game in the Class 2A regional championship playoffs.

We realize that both teams are loaded for bear and that both are well coached. So, unless you predict a tie, you've got to predict one team to win.

We don't have much to go on in comparing the two teams since they haven't played any common foes.

Sometimes you're better off if you don't have anything to go on in predicting winners in football. In tonight's game, we're going to go along with the team that took out the defending state champion — Stanford. Seymour knocked off Stamford, 19-0, for the District 6-AA championship.

From this corner it looks like a Seymour victory tonight, 20-14.

Whichever team wins tonight, we'd like to have you back for any future playoff games this season.

Gail Comes Through

Our congratulations, and apologies, to the Gail Coyote football team. We congratulate them, of course, for winning the Region 2B Six-Man football championship yesterday with a 64-42 triumph over Dell City.

And we wish to apologize to the Coyotes for predicting a Dell City victory. With all starters returning from last year's district champions, we figured the Dell City experience would be too much for the Coyotes to cope with.

But Gail ignored this fact and went out yesterday to bring this area its first region Six-Man crown in many, many years.

Coach Eddie James and his Coyotes are to be commended for an outstanding season of which they swept through 11 games without nary a defeat.

Bear May Leave, Now

Yesterday's defeat of Texas A&M by Texas may prove indeed costly to the Aggies.

The Aggie defeat may make it easier now for Coach Bear Bryant to leave. Bear never ecen hinted he might accept the coaching position at Alabama before yesterday's game.

But now Bryant says he might accept.

We still don't believe Bear will leave A&M now but it did sorta strike us funny when he changed his tune so quickly after his Aggies lost to Texas yesterday.

Bear still has seven years to go on his contract at Aggie land which is netting him more than Alabama probably can offer.

The Aggies have nothing to be ashamed of for their play this past season. The Cadets posted an 8-2 record with their two losses coming by a total of three points (7-6 to Rice and 9-7 to Texas.)

Now for the second round of our Crystal Ball scoring table for games this weekend. No perfect scores in yesterday's five games on this week's slate. We had one of our better weekends last week with 22-4-2 for 84 percent and one perfect score (Stanford 14, California 12).

Hoping to strengthen our sagging season percentage again, here is the way we see the remainder of this week's games:

Sweetwater 27, Breckenridge 21.
Levelland 20, Kermit 7.
Amarillo 28, Paschal 7.
Albany 14, Henrietta 6.
Highland Park 27, Crozier Tech 14.

Corpus Christi Ray 19, Austin 13.
Garland 20, Gainesville 0.
Cleburne 14, Kilgore 7.
Sundown 26, Alpine 14.
Notre Dame 26, USC 7.
SMU 20, TCU 14.
Rice 20, Baylor 7.
Navy 21, Army 19.
Auburn 14, Alabama 0.
Florida 13, Miami 7.
Georgia Tech 7, Georgia 0.
Mississippi 13, Mississippi State 7.
Oklahoma 26, Oklahoma State 13.
LSU 14, Tulane 13.
Tennessee 7, Kentcuky 6.

Both Teams Sport Unbeaten Records

Seymour and Lockney, both sporting undefeated records this season, clash tonight at Tiger Stadium in the feature 2A playoff game in the state this weekend.

Kickoff time will be 7:30.

Seymour's Panthers have swep through 11 foes this season without a loss or tie while Lockney has also gone unbeaten in 11 outings but has been once tied. The tie game came last week in a bi-district game with Dimmitt, 13-13, but the Longhorns won the right to continue in the playoffs by virtue of making more first downs, 14-12.

Both teams tonight have high-geared offenses with Seymour having averaged an even 30 points per game. However, one of the games was a 1-0 forfeit from Haskell because of the flu.

In other words, in the 10 games the Panthers have actually played, they have averaged 33.2 points per game.

Lockney has scored 316 points in 11 games for an average of 28.7 per game.

While Seymour holds an offensive edge over Lockney, the Longhorns own a defensive edge. Seymour has yielded 82 points to 112 for Seymour.

Seymour will have a distinct weight advantage in tonight's game. The Panther forward wall, with three 200 pounders in the lineup, outweigh the Lonhorns in the line by 20 pounds per man, 189-169.

Seymour derailed the defending state 2A champions, Stamford, in district play with a 19-0 triumph. It was the only district loss by Stamford.

Halfback Larry Martin is the leading Seymour scorer with 84 points but quarterback Billy Ryan is close behind with 78. But Ryan and Miller made the All-District 4-AA team as did seven other Panthers.

Halfback Jerry Williams is the top Lockney scorer with 127 points. Williams, a 9.8 man in the 100 yard dash, is one of the most dangerous ball carriers in the state.

Billy Karl Race, Lockney quarterback, has scored 78 points this season, one point behind fullback Dickie Barton who has tallied 79.

Both quarterbacks tonight, Ryan of Seymour and Race of Lockney, are deceptive ball handlers that usually keeps their foes guessing.

The only close call Seymour has had this season was against Perryton last week in bi-district of which the Panthers won, 13-6.

Lockney is coached by Rudy haile, ex-McMurry football star, while Seymour is coached by Marshell Gearhart.

Winner of tonight's game will meet McCamey in the quarterfinals next week. McCamey gained the quarterfinals yesterday with a 28-13 victory over Ranger.

Longhorns Stun Aggies, 9-7

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A trap play, created by Coach Darrell Royal of Texas for just this occasion, and the kicking of sophomore Bobby Lackey and veteran Walter Fondren brought the Longhorns a 9-7 victory over Texas A&M yesterday.

It knocked Texas A&M, the 1956 champion, out of the Southwest Conference race, shoved Texas into second place and made it possible for the Longhorns to win the championship should Rice lose to Baylor Saturday. Rice is an 8½-point favorite.

It also gave Texas, which won only one game last year, a 6-3-1 season—a sensational showing for Royal, who took over the sagging fortunes of the Longhorns this campaign.

Lackey, playing against Texas A&M for the first time—it was the 64th game in the Southwest's oldest football rivalry—scored all the points.

He made the first-quarter touchdown that was set up by a 62-yard quick-kick by Fondren and he booted a 28-yard field goal in the third period that put the Longhorns out of reach.

Halfback John Crow finally tallied for the Aggies in the fourth quarter. He grabbed Roddy Osborne's pass for a 57-yard gain and smashed over from the 2.

The trap play, which Royal credited with furnishing the power for the victory, had the Aggies baffled almost every time. It consisted of the quarterback—Lackey or Fondren—faking, then handing off to a halfback, who would go through a hole at guard or tackle created by the trap.

And to make it more exasperating for the Aggies, the quarterback at times would fake the trap, then turn and pitch out to the fullback, who would ignore the hole created and run around end.

It was a bitter defeat for Paul Bryant, coach of Texas A&M, whose team was rated No. 1 in the nation a few weeks ago when it had won eight straight games. Then the Aggies lost to Rice 7-6 and fell to fourth place.

But Bryant stressed that the loss of this game wasn't influencing him in going to Alabama as coach—if he does. After the game yesterday, he said in the dressing room:

"There is one and only one reason I would consider it. Some think I could help. Alabama is my school, and if I was convinced I could help I certainly would consider it."

Bryant has been mentioned frequently as successor to J. B. Whitworth at Alabama, the school where Bryant played his football and once was an assistant coach. The Aggie coach has seven years to go on his contract here.

Texas struck early in yesterday's game.

The first time it had the ball Fondred stepped back on second down and kicked, with a 12-m.p.h. wind at his back, to the Aggie three-yard line. A&M couldn't get out of the hole and when Osborne, A&M quarterback, punted into the wind the kick carried only 22 yards. Fondren took it on the Aggie 32.

With Fondren directing the drive the first 14 yards and Lackey taking over with the Texas second team on the A&M 18, the Longhorns smashed to a touchdown in eight plays. Lackey made it by crashing over from the one-foot line. A bobbled passback kept Lackey from kicking the extra point.

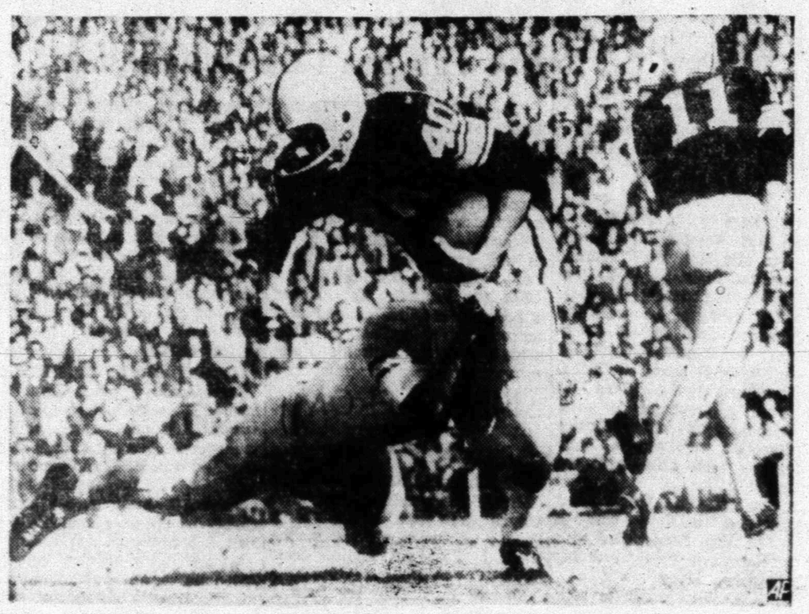
A&M never threatened until the fourth quarter. In the meantime Texas had scored its field goal.

The Aggies finally cashed in on the great play of Crow, both the top offensive and defensive star of the game.

A 57-yard pass play set up the touchdown. It was from Osborn to Crow, who ran from the Texas 40 to the 9 after catching the pass. Crow lost five yards the first time he tried to run. Then he powered to the 2. Osborne made one and Crow bulled over for the score. Loyd Taylor converted.

A crowd of 42,000—all that could get into the stadium — saw the game played in cold, clear weather.

Texas can win the conference championship if Rice loses to Baylor Saturday, but Rice can take it by beating the Bears. But should Rice be tied by Baylor, then Rice and Texas would deadlock for the title. In that event Texas would become the Cotton Bowl host team since it defeated Rice in season play.



HALTED AFTER SHORT GAIN—Bobby Conrad (40) Texas A&M back, is tackled by Wes Wyman (70) Texas University left tackle, as he went through the line for a short gain in the first quarter of the annual Thanksgiving Day game at College Station. Charles Milstead (11) A&M back, fakes a reverse in the action. Texas defeated the favored Aggies 9-7. (AP Wirephoto)

LAST CHANCE FOR SWC WIN

Baylor Pointing To Upset Owls

HOUSTON (AP)—The host spot in the Cotton Bowl will be settled here tomorrow as King Hill and the Rice Owls seek to clinch the Southwest Conference championship by defeating a Baylor team that hopes to end a disappointing season with an upset.

Victory for the Owls would give Rice the championship and an automatic Cotton Bowl bid. A Baylor tie would leave Rice and Texas deadlocked for the title and send the Longhorns to the Dallas bowl because of their 19-14 victory over the Owls earlier.

A Rice defeat would give Texas clear claim to the title and the Dallas trip and drop the Owls into a tie with Texas A&M, and possibly Southern Methodist, as conference runner-up.

Baylor, a preseason favorite in the Southwest, comes to town with a 3-5-1 record that includes four conference losses and a tie with Texas.

Hill, a 205-pound quarterback, has led Rice to a late season comeback after breaking even in its first six games. The offense-minded Owls had their troubles on defense in early season but conference victories over Arkansas, A&M and Texas Christian the past three weeks have seen the Owls give up only two touchdowns.

A crowd of about 50,000 will see the Southwest's top team on offense meet the area's third best on defense.

The Rice attack in nine games has averaged 357.6 yards, including 243.1 on the ground and 114.5 on passes. Baylor has given up an average of 263.4 yards, including 117.6 rushing and 85.8 passing.

As the conference's individual leader on offense, Hill has completed 43 of 80 passes for 787 yards and added 387 yards in 83 carries for net gains totaling 1,174 yards.

The Baylor attack is led by Doyle Traylor, the third-ranking passer, and fullback Larry Hickman, the No. 3 ground gainer. Traylor has completed 43 of 88 passes for 482 yards. Hickman has gained 555 yards in 131 carries.

It will be the fourth time in nine years for the championship to ride on the season-ending Rice-Baylor game. In 1949, 1953 and 1954 Baylor had a chance to win or tie for the title but lost each time. The 1953 victory sent Rice on its last Cotton Bowl trip for a 28-6 decision over Alabama.

Vaughn, Jones Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Vaughn is a 7-5 favorite to beat Ralph (Tiger) Jones tonight in a battle of hard luck middleweights at Madison Square Garden.

Willing Willie, of Los Angeles, has been made the choice on the strength of his fine showing against classy Spider Webb at the Garden Nov. 1. The 24-year-old Californian dropped the verdict to the Spider but his burst down the stretch made it close.

Jones, 29-year-old veteran from Yonkers, N. Y., will be risking a good payday and a chance to climb into the top 10 rankings again. He has a date with contender Joey Giardello lined up for Miami Beach Dec. 27 but he has to beat Vaughn to seal it.

The middleweights are subbing for lightweight contenders Paolo Rosi and Johnny Busso. Busso suffered an infected eye early this week.

Vaughn and Jones are two of the most pleasing fighters in the business. They both get in there and punch.

Both are known as the hard luck guys of the 160-pound class because of the many split decisions that have gone against them.

Vaughn has a 33-17-5 record. Jones' record is 44-19-4.

Gail Captures Title, 64-42

PYOTE, Nov. 29 — The Gail Coyotes broke a 30-30 tie in the third quarter here Thursday afternoon and then proceeded to a smashing 64-42 victory over Dell City to win the Region 2 Six-Man football championship.

It was the first region crown for Gail in history of the school. The victory, too, brought District 7-B, of which Gail is a member, its first region crown in more than 10 years.

Ruben Vaughn, one of the four Gail seniors, led the Coyote scoring with 28 points, coming on three touchdowns and 10 from extra points. Vaughn booted five out of seven extra point attempts.

Bunny Massingill, another Gail senior, scored four touchdowns for 24 points. Rounding out the scoring were single touchdowns by Raymond Walton and Lloyd Ramsey.

Dell City led twice in the game, scoring first and then after Gail scored, DC scored again to regain the lead.

Then Gail caught fire and jumped ahead 30-12 but Dell City fought back in the final minutes of the second quarter to knot the score at halftime, 30-30.

The Coyotes then broke the game wide open in the third quarter with a three TD barrage and Dell City was never able to catch up again.

Jimmy Faulks was the big gun in the Dell City offense. Faulks tossed three touchdown passes and gained a lot of yards running with the ball.

The victory was the 11th straight for the Coyotes this season against no losses.

The Coyotes had beaten Sterling City in bi-district play last week 26-6, while Dell City had beaten Pyote, 62-42, in her bi-district clash. The region level is as far as the playoffs go in Six-Man competition.

Students Riot After Florida Grid Game

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Rioting students and police clashed early today in the aftermath of Edison High School's 20-7 football victory over Miami High.

Several police, one fireman and some students were reported injured by clubs, fists, bottles or rocks.

Officers turned a fire hose on the demonstrators and students atop roofs of nearby stores hurled stones and bottles at the police.

WITH 2ND HALF OUTBURST

Lions Ramble By Packers, 18-6

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions had gone five quarters without a touchdown when Coach George Wilson told them — "in words you can't print"—that it was high time they woke up and started playing football.

Whether Wilson's halftime speech brought it about or not, the Lions "woke up" in the second half yesterday and dealt the Green Bay Packers an 18-6 defeat. It was the only game scheduled in the National Football League.

The triumph kept Detroit in the scramble for the Western Conference championship, half a game behind the Baltimore Colts, who tangle with the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

"We had been flat for five quarters, and for no good reason," said Wilson. "So I told 'em — in words you can't print — that they had better wake up and act like a big league football team."

Wilson admitted it was his loudest explosion since he took over as head coach last summer when Buddy Parker resigned. The Lions' second-half comeback produced 15 points.

The Detroit defense threw Green Bay backs for a net loss of seven yards rushing in the second half, recovered two fumbles, intercepted a pass and scored a safety when Darris McCord tackled quarterback Babe Parilli in the Packer end zone.

A 62-yard rumble through the mud by fullback John Henry Johnson on the first play of the second half sent the Lions into a 10-6 advantage they never relinquished.

Jim Martin kicked three field goals for the Lions. Fred Cone kicked two in the first half for a 6-3 Packer halftime lead.

Kansas Hires Mitchell Away From Porkers

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jack Mitchell, named head football coach at Kansas yesterday to no one's surprise, is the second in three years to forsake Arkansas for a coaching job in his home state.

He followed Bowden Wyatt to Arkansas after the 1954 season, when Wyatt returned to his alma mater—Tennessee. Wyatt's Razorbacks won the Southwest Conference championship that year and went to the Cotton Bowl New year's Day 1955, losing to Georgia Tech.

Mitchell, who will be 33 Tuesday, is an Oklahoma product, although a native of Kansas. He played under Coach Bud Wilkinson, quarterbacking the Sooners in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

He said yesterday money was no object in his leaving Arkansas. He was being paid $15,000 yearly there under a contract that had nine years to go. He will get the same here for five years, the highest salary ever given a Kansas coach.

"My wife, Jeanne, and I were born in Kansas, raised in Kansas and plan to live our lives in Kansas," he explained. The Mitchells call Arkansas City, Kan., their hometown.

His Razorbacks won 23 games, lost 16 and tied one in three years. Before that he was head coach at Wichita, where he won 13, lost five and tied one in two years. Wichita won the Missouri Valley Conference title in 1954.

Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, president of the University of Arkansas, wished Mitchell success and foresaw little difficulty in securing a successor.

"We are pleased that we have a superb situation to offer a football coach," Dr. Caldwell said.

HSU Rips NM Ags

ABILENE (AP)—Quarterback Ken Ford led in the NCAA passing statistics today and Hardin-Simmons owned a 50-50 record for the football season.

Ford threw 33 passes and connected on 22 to gain 194 yards and two touchdowns yesterday as the Cowboys came from behind to whip New Mexico A&M 29-20 in a Border Conference game.

Ford hit ends Jim Doom and Keith Miles for touchdowns.

The Aggies held a 13-6 lead at halftime. Halfback Joe Kelly scored once from two yards out and fullback Wally Ferguson punched over for another from the 7.

Center Freddie Jonas tackled Aggie quarterback Charles Prentiss in the end zone in the second half for a safety.

Then Cowboy fullback Pete Hart rolled 45 yards for a touchdown. Ford flipped his second scoring pass and later scored himself on a one-yard keeper.

Aggie quarterback Ricardo Alba scored the visitors' final tally on a one-yard buck.

Syracuse University has won only 10 of its 34 football games with Cornell.

Rice Can Clinch Title, Berth In Cotton With Win Tomorrow

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Navy, Mississippi and Rice can claim bowl berths with victories tomorrow while Auburn, boasting a pure record but barred from post season play, shoots for college football's national championship.

Neither Navy, Mississippi nor Rice, have easy jobs ahead despite their national rankings.

The Middies (7-1-1), favored by three points, have to defeat Army (7-1-0) to go to the Cotton Bowl. Navy is ranked No. 8 in this week's Associated Press poll. Army is 10th.

Navy has lost only to North Carolina and was tied by Duke. The Cadets have been beaten only by Notre Dame (23-21).

Mississippi (8-1) ranked No. 7, can finish second in the Southeastern Conference by defeating Mississippi State (6-2) and get the Sugar Bowl berth Auburn will have to pass up because of NCAA probationary action. State, a three point underdog, also could get the Sugar Bowl bid with a victory, but even with a not-too-bad defeat could be a Bowl candidate.

Rice (6-3) needs nothing short of a victory over Baylor (3-5-1) for an undisputed Southwest Conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. A loss or tie would send Texas to the Dallas classic New Year's Day now that the Longhorns have disposed of fourth-rated Texas A&M (9-7) on Bobby Lackey's 38-yard field goal yesterday.

Should ninth-ranked Rice get only a deadlock against Baylor, Texas would tie for the title and advance to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of a 19-14 decision over the Owls. Both are virtually assured bowl berths, however, since the runner-up likely will wind either in the Sugar Bowl or Gator Bowl.

Auburn (9-0), bidding to remain No. 1 in next week's final AP poll that decides the national title, goes against Alabama (2-6-1). The Tigers, naturally, will be SEC champs with a victory—but even the upset of the year probably won't save Coach J. B. Whitworth's job with 'Bama. Paul Bryant, Texas A&M coach, indicated after the Texas defeat that he may switch to his alma mater.

Ohio State and Michigan State, both 8-1 and ranked second and third in this week's poll, have completed their regular seasons and only a shabby game by Auburn appears likely to boost either one to the national title.

Arizona State (9-0), the only other major unbeaten, untied team left, plays Arizona (1-7-1).

Oklahoma (No. 5) is the only other member of the nation's top 10 teams still in business. The Sooners (8-1) play Oklahoma State (6-2-1).

The Vanderbilt-Tennessee and Georgia-Georgia Tech games also will attract bowl committee notice tomorrow. Vandy (5-2-2), Tennessee (6-3-0) and Tech (4-3-2), are in the running for the Gator, Cotton and Sugar bowls too.

SANDWICH

QUESTION: Who invented the sandwich?

* * *

ANSWER: In the reign of King George III of England (who ruled during the American revolution) there was a nobleman in Great Britain named John Montagu. He like to gamble so much that he didn't want to stop playing long enough even for regular meals.

So he had his servants put a slice of meat between two slices of bread to eat while he was playing cards. And since Montagu's title was the fourth Earl of Sandwich, people soon began calling the snack a "sandwich."

The earl had some islands named after him, too, but in this case it didn't stick. Captain James Cook, the explorer, christened some Pacific islands he discovered the Sandwich Islands. But nobody refers to them by that name anymore. We know them now as the Hawaiian Islands.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: You can color this picture with crayons if you like, but better still ask your mother to let you make a real sandwich for an after school snack. Maybe you could even invent a new sort of sandwich.

87 Orphans From Korea Reach U. S.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Eighty-seven little Korean orphans, four of them ill with tuberculosis, arrived in the United States yesterday.

The children, infants to 6-year-olds, came from the Harry Holt Orphanage in Korea. Holt, a wealthy, Creswell, Ore., farmer, has brought 575 mixed-blood youngsters to new homes in this country in a series of baby-lifts. He has adopted eight of them himself.

The children, fathered by U.S. troops in Korea, were abandoned by their Korean mothers. Holt has 130 more in the orphanage and hopes to bring them to new homes in this country before Christmas.

The four tubercular children were admitted to the United States under special authorization of the immigration service. Holt said earlier that the U.S. Public Health Service would supervise their care and that the new parents would pay for treatment of the illnesses.

Holt and his wife have five children of their own.

Four of the children will make their homes in Oregon. The rest are destined for homes throughout the country.

Big Timber Fire Now Under Control

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The big brush and timber fire in the San Gabriel Mountains, which burned to within four miles of foothaill communities 20 miles from Los Angeles, has been brought under control.

The announcement was made yesterday as turkey dinners were being served to some 1,000 men still on the lines. Some of the meals were flown by helicopter to crews on remote ridges.

The blaze, which flared up during a windstorm Nov. 21, blackened 25,000 acres of valuable watershed.

It's Not Easy To Look Like A Rug

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It's not easy to look like a rolledup rug, no matter how straight and still you stand. That's what Freddie Wiggins, 23, found out when police flushed him from a group of upended linoleum rolls in a warehouse they were searching for a prowler. Wiggins was booked for investigation of burglary.

Pretty Good Thanksgiving

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three days ago the home of Dick and Helen Peterman and their 10 children burned down. Furniture, clothing, everything went up in flames. The Petermans were left with practically nothing.

A neighbor took the big family into her small home. Then the family's plight was brought to the attention of Mrs. Frederick Riekder, a private secretary in a downtown building where Peterman works as a porter.

Mrs. Riekder, widow of a banker, invited the Petermans to share her 14-room house for as long as they wish. A kindly poultry and produce man sent over a big turkey along with the full fixings. Peterman's boss gave him extra time off with pay. Further help is promised from other sympathizers

The Petermans said it turned out to be a pretty good Thanksgiving after all.

Family Cleans Up Thanksgiving Dinner

ST. LIBORY, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Albert Taylor and 50 relatives sat down to a big Thanksgiving dinner in the rathskeller of the Taylor home at 12:30 p.m.

At 2 p.m., 90 minutes later, the last dish was dried and on the shelf.

Mrs. Taylor had no leftover problem as a result of the dinner, a family custom the past 12 years.

Nobody left until everything was eaten. That also is a family custom.

Stage Is Set For Best Oscar Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All signs point to the best of the Academy Award telecasts next March 26.

First and most importantly, the film industry has kicked in to pick up the tab on the telecast. So the preceedings won't be interrupted by a lengthy display of fleets of automobiles.

Also, the Academy has taken action to pare down the number of Oscars. Many observers, this one included, have advocated that the minor Oscars be presented before the show goes on the air.

Since that can't be managed because of protests from the various crafts and arts, the Academy is doing the next best thing. Three awards have already been eliminated.

The inevitable protests have been registered. The writers are sore because one of their three awards have been knockd out. Sure, there were more Oscars to pass around under the old system. But many writers realized that three Oscars minimized the importance of the writing award. Many believe there should be only one award for writing. . . .

Alfred Hitchcock's outspoken comment about Kim Novak, whom he is directing in "Vertigo": "Isn't it strange that she should have all this stardom before she is ready for it? But I've worked with such girls before. Joan Fontaine, for example."

Kim should be so lucky. Hitch directed Joan to an Oscar in "Suspicion". . . .

Wonder why Marlon Brando is making appearances to plug "Sayonara"? Because he gets 10 cents of every dollar that it draws, that's why.

Even her fellow players were surprised at the poor photographing of Rita Hayworth in "Pal Joey." They claim she looks terrific in the flesh. . . .

Good news: MGM is cutting 15 minutes out of "Raintree County." It will be a better picture in shorter length. . . .

Mrs. William Goetz need shed no tears over being disinherited by her father, the late Louis B. Mayer. Her husband is one of the richest men in Hollywood and will be even richer with "Sayonara". . . .

One thing Ethel Barrymore will not talk about: Diana Barrymore's defense of her wasted life, "Too Much Too Soon," now being filmed by Warners. "I scarcely knew the girl," snaps Queen Ethel of her niece. . . .

Thailand's Ex-Chief Is Going To Japan

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Marshal P. Pibulsonggram, former premier of Thailand who flew to Cambodia after he was overthrown in a bloodless coup last September, announced today he plans to leave next Tuesday for Hong Kong and Tokyo.

He said he would go to Japan for about eight months for a medical checkup and a cure, and then go to India for a stay.

He said he was now "on excellent terms" with the new Thai government which has granted him a diplomatic passport.

BEGINS PILGRIMAGE—Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon, 46, of Texas City, Tex., checks a newspaper account of the 387 mile trip on foot from Galveston to San Juan, in the lower Rio Grande Valley. Mrs. Carreon is making the trip to fulfill a vow she made during prayers for her son's acquittal on a murder charge. She started the trip alone, carrying a paper bag containing medicine and 25 cents, a half hour after the jury returned a verdict freeing her son. (AP Wirephoto)

Woman Continues Long Trip On Foot

ALVIN, Tex. (AP)—Undaunted by showery weather, slight Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon hoped to walk another 21 miles today on a religious pilgrimage down more than two thirds of the Texas coastline.

Her arrival here at dusk completed the second leg of a 387-mile hike started Wednesday at Galveston, 32 miles east and a little south of Alvin.

Mrs. Carreon, 46 and from Texas City, Tex., is bound for the Mission de San Juan deep in the Rio Grande Valley. She vowed to the Virgin of San Juan she would make the trip on foot, she has said, if her son was cleared of a murder charge.

Her goal for tonight was Angleton, Tex., but Mrs. Carreon has said she will rest wherever darkness finds her each night.

She trudged through chilly weather, clutching an imitation leopard jacket around her shoulders.

She appeared unperturbed at foregoing a Thanksgiving Day dinner with her family.

"My boy is free—that is enough turkey for me," she told a reporter. Besides, she explained, the Carreons had their holiday feast last week in the expectation she would be trudging down the highway later.

The pilgrimage was started after her eldest son Alfonso Carreon Jr., 27, was adjudged innocent of murder in a tavern slaying last Dec. 1. He had pleaded self-defense in a knife affray.

"Every mother must make sacrifices for her children," the little mother said. "My boy is a good boy."

Missionary-Evangelistic-Premillennial

IT WAS SAID in the long ago that we brought nothing into this world and that we shall take nothing out. That is true for all material goods. It is false in the realm of the spirit. You and I are writing day by the day the story that must forever be our history. We are garnering the harvests of the years and storing them in the granaries of heaven. As women and men come to the closing hours of life on the earth, they gather up the "fruit of the spirit." Love and joy and peace and longsuffering are not material. They are eternal goods.

HOW RICH ARE WE? When we stand before the heavenly cashier and ask for a statement, what will the little card carry as our record? Shall we hold in our hands a blank white card, with a dark background? Will the servant of the Most High say that our account stands at zero? How dreadful, when we discover we have been working and living for naught! But why wait? Most of us can guess what the bank account really is. Let's face that question now, for tomorrow we must know the final statement. Shall I make sure of my holdings in the divine treasure house? What is my harvest?

H-Bomb Training Flights Backed By British Press

LONDON (AP)—While Laborites continued to express misgivings about U. S. bombers making training flights from Britain with H-bombs aboard, the British press rallied to the Conservative government's stand today.

The most widely read paper in the country, the Daily Mirror, said today East-West tensions fully justify arming the bombers with nuclear weapons. The independent newspaper usually supports the Labor party.

The carrying of bombs was revealed in the House of Commons Wednesday when Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he "should think" they do. Prime Minister Macmillan stepped in to allay some of the apprehension raised.

Macmillan said U. S. authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent a nuclear blast should a bomb-carrying plane crash. He explained that the planes carry bombs in separate parts that have to be expertly assembled before a nuclear explosion is possible.

"Can you give an assurance," he was asked by Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell, "that there is no danger, if one of these aircraft were to crash, of a nuclear explosion resulting?"

"Yes, sir," the Prime Minister replied. "I am told there is no danger of an explosion.

". . . The American government forces make it a practice to keep always ready, when one of these patrols is in the air from our bases, a special tanker machine which can go up and help refuel an aircraft so that, if there was a question of it not being able to land in this country, it could fly back to its own base in America."

Some Labor groups reacted to the news with resolutions opposing the practice of flying H-bombs around over Englishmen's heads.

The Daily Mirror said in a front page editorial that "in the state of the world today this desperate precaution is—unhappily — justified."

"Until there are better relations between Russia and the West, it would be wrong, perhaps fatal, to let sentiment and simple emotion weaken our defenses," the editorial said.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said Laborite concern "is not only misplaced, it also shows ignorance of the basic fact of contemporary deterrence." It said the threat of Soviet missiles made it necessary to keep armed planes aloft that could retaliate even if airfields were knocked out by a surprise attack.

Tiny Orphan Has First Thanksgiving

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A tiny Korean orphan lit into the turkey yesterday at her first Thanksgiving.

Suzanne Soupiset, 2, arrived in San Antonio, Tex., two weeks ago to start a new life with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Soupiset, formerly of Houston. She was known as Kang Kyung Hel in Korea.

She can only say a few words in English, but her hostess here at a big Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. E. C. George, said she had a wonderful holiday.

"She just seemed to fit right into the picture," Mrs. George said. "She has a terrific appetite. She just loved the turkey and vegetables, and wouldn't eat the pie or other sweets."

Welex, Inc. Combines Two Service Firms

A new wireline service company, Welex, Inc., with general offices and manufacturing facilities in Fort Worth, Tex., has been formed from the combined assets and personnel of the former Welex Jet Services, Inc. and the Electrical Well Services Department of Halliburton Oil Well Services Inc. and the Electrical Well Services Department of Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company. The company has operations in every major oil center of the United States. Manager of the Snyder District of Welex, Inc. is E. B. Schulz.

The new company was formed to provide better and more complete wireline services to oil operators and producers. In the immediate future, the company plans to begin operations in Venezuela and extend them throughout the world wherever oil is to be found. With this program of continual expansion, Welex, Inc. will be able to offer the most complete line of oil well services to the oil producing area of the world whenever and wherever they are needed.

Blame Ghost For Breaking Happy Home

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dixon say their happy family was broken up by a ghost.

The Dixons, arrested on a charge of neglecting their three children, told a court the ghost invaded their home in a city housing development last March.

"We saw a shimmering coil on the wall," Norman, 27, said. "We heard footsteps on the stairs when there was nobody there. At night cold hands pulled off the bedclothes and clutched us."

The Dixons finally called in the Rt. Rev. John Ramsbotham, bishop of Jarrow, who tried to exorcise the specter by walking through the house in his robe and mitre and carrying his staff. The ghost refused to cooperate.

"I asked the Council for an exchange of houses," Dixon said. "I was told I could try to arrange a private exchange, but when people learned our house was haunted they wouldn't trade."

In an effort to force the City Council's hand, Dixon said, he decided to quit paying the rent. The Council merely evicated the Dixons from the house.

Police witnesses said they found the young father and mother and their three sons, ranging from 18 months to 4 years, wandering around in the rain.

The court put the Dixons on probation for 12 months. "You acted stupidly," the judge said, "in leaving the house without making proper arrangements for your children."

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are staying at the home of his brother. The children are at a city child center.

The haunted house is still empty.

Four Robbers Get Surprise

NEW YORK (AP)—Only a couple of lovers spooning on a nearby stoop. And a couple of drunks asleep on the sidewalk.

That was the scene as it appeared to four thieves driving up to the Meridan Knitting Mills in Brooklyn early yesterday morning. So for two hours, they looted the plant of $2,500 worth of sweaters and load the loot into their truck.

While they worked, the shabbily dressed drunks went on sleeping, the lovers went on spooning.

But just as the robbers were about to drive off, the lovers unwrapped their arms from each other and the drunks sprang to their feet. There stood detectives Paul Reilly, Pat Kelly, Steve Wall and Frank Shannon. With pistols.

The four surprised robbers surrendered immediately.

Charged with burglary and possession of burglar's tools were Ernest Rodriguez, 27, the Bronx, and Domingo Riviera, 24, Serafin Quintana, 27, and Jesus Rodiguez, 35, all of Manhattan. Police said they arranged the trap after spotting the men looking the mill over Tuesday.

Blind Vet Warns Occupants Of Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A veteran blinded by a 1945 minefield explosion in France groped his way through a burning building yesterday to arouse five occupants from apartments.

The sightless hero, William M. Hughes, 43, owns a gift shop in the building. Awakened by choking smoke, he aroused his wife and telephoned a fire alarm. Then he made his way through the smoke to the second floor to awaken the other residents.

Assured everyone was fleeing, Hughes returned to help his wife carry out their two pet canaries and 6-year-old dog Muffin. Firemen confined the blaze to the basement.

Hopes Depend On Education Says Kennedy

DALLAS (AP) — This country's hopes for the future rest on its success in educating scientists and political leaders, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) told Texas school teachers last night.

"We can no longer complacently believe that the educational and scientific capabilities of this country cannot be duplicated elsewhere," he said.

Kennedy, often mentioned as a possible candidate for president in 1960, addressed the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers Assn. His audience filled the 10,000 seats in Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) introduced the Massachusetts senator.

Kennedy told the teachers that federal, state and local governments share responsibility for solving a U.S. shortage of skilled scientists and engineers. He called in federal action to help build schools.

"In recent years the output of new engineers and scientists in the U.S.S.R. has surpassed that of the total United States and Western Europe graduating classes in these fields," the Massachusetts senator said. "It is apparent too that this lead is not merely one of numbers but of quality as well. . . .

"Our position in the world and our hopes for survival 10, 20 or 30 years from now depend in large measure upon the kind of education which you in the teaching profession are able to offer our pupils today."

Kennedy added that training of scientists is not enough.

"In our concern over the education of more scientists and engineers for the future America," he asserted, "we dare not neglect its politicians. We must have men and women capable of leading the free world, of taking the hard and unpopular decisions necessary to preserve world peace and national security. . . ."

Sessions of the teachers' 79th annual convention, drawing thousands from all over the state, continue through tomorrow.

Proposals for a home to house retired teachers were laid before the gathering yesterday. They were advanced as tentative ideas by a committe from the Texas Retired Teachers Assn. headed by G. H. Kirby of Wichita Falls.

Dana Williams, president of the Texas State Teachers Assn., said one of the resolutions to be considered tomorrow will deal with federal appropriation of Texas tidelands, which would cut heavily into public school funds.

The policy statement is expected to condemn the government for a pending suit to claim title to the tidelands.

"We receive many millions of dollars in revenue from the tidelands for the permanent school fund," Williams said.

A layman and educator singled out as having contributed most to Texas education in the past year will receive distinguished service awards at tonight's convention session.

Johnson Warns Of Greatest Challenge

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson said last night the United States has "lost a battle but we haven't lost a war" with respect to recent rocket and missile development by the Russians.

He termed the setback a shock similar to the Pearl Harbor attack.

"We are faced with a great challenge but I think we are equal to it," Johnson said in an interview.

The Senate majority leader was here to introduce Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass), who addressed a convention of the Texas State Teachers Assn.

Johnson said Russia has not yet tipped the world balance of power, however. The Texan currently is conducting an investigation of the U.S. missile program in Washington.

"The information we have received so far indicates clearly that the Soviets have not altered the balance of world power," he said. "But the base upon which we maintain our position is not forthcoming.

"Our power rests upon the Strategic Air Force, the surface ships of the Navy and nuclear weapons. The Soviet power rests upon rapidly developing ballistics missiles.

"We are strong in the weapons of the past. Soviets are strong in the weapons of the future. The weapons of the past are still sufficiently potent to maintain our position. But the future is just over the skyline — only a few years, possibly even months, away."

Johnson said that "This is the greatest challenge we have ever faced and we must meet it now—there is nothing our defens program needs so badly as a strong dose of urgency."

He added that "Our urgency must reflect both purpose and careful thought. It must not become a pretext for weakening the nation."

Daring Theft Fails To Make A Payoff

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Edward F. Malenfant, 19, of Woonsocket, is scheduled to be sentenced Tuesday on a larceny charge. He pleaded no contest yesterday.

Police told Judge Luigi De Pasquale in District Court that Malenfant and a friend carted out a big cigarette dispensing machine from the lobby of a downtown department store on Oct. 2.

"In broad daylight?" asked the judge.

"Yes," said Detective Christopher Water, "and they even asked the girls on the counter to hold the door open for them."

Dag Due In Israel

JERUSALEM (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is expected to arrive in Israel Tuesday after his visit to Jordan, reliable Israeli sources said today. He is scheduled to confer on Israel-Arab border problems.

Satellite Won't Be Visible To Eye

BALTIMORE (AP)—The tiny test satellite the United States hopes to launch Dec. 4 will not be visible to the naked eye, but its five-foot-long brightly painted third-stage rocket will be seen.

It should provide plenty of opportunities for visual tracking as it trails the little beeping satellite across the heavens.

The third-stage rocket has been the most classified of all components of the 72-foot-tall, 22,000-pound Vanguard launching vehicle. But the Martin Co., which built and will fire the rocket, gave a peek at it in pictures it released today showing the 6.4-inch, four-pound test sphere mounted on the rocket.

Only the nose of the rocket, which will be completely cloaked in an apron of the bigger second-stage rocket, is shown in the photograph. But it reveals a white spherical shape, about 12 to 15 inches across, on which the tiny satellite is mounted.

After about 40 miles of ascent, the seven-foot-long asbestos-plastic nose cone of the rocket will split in two and fall off, leaving the satellite exposed for the rest of its climb.

The nose cone will protect the satellite from aerodynamic heating expected to reach 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit through the earth's dense lower atmosphere.

The photograph also shows four rods which brace the satellite to the walls of the second-stage rocket apron.

At about 287 miles, just short of orbital altitude, a spin table, propelled by tiny jets, will start the entire third stage with its still attached satellite rotating. After the first complete spin, the supporting rods will snap out of the way and leave the shiny aluminum sphere ready for its spring into space.

Whole Town Works In Cotton Harvest

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP)—The thanks given at this northwest Texas town yesterday came from hundreds toiling in the cotton fields, thankful that clear skies gave them a chance to salvage some of the crop.

Farmers, schoolchildren and merchants in the town of about 6,000 worked harvesting cotton. The crop, delayed in planting by hard spring rains, was only about a third harvested before fall rains, sleet and snow set in.

Much of the cotton rotted on the stalks, but farmers hoped they might salvage up to 75 per cent.
