The Herald subscription list is a splendid blend of town and rural readers, folks who can and do pay for their papers—many do not ask or want it donated to them. They do 30 and 40 year continuous subscriptions.

The Herald has grown with this section from strictly a ranch country. This area now consists of thriving towns and cities, supported by scientific farming and stock farming, augmented by huge oil fields, with the nation's largest known oil reserves.

OIL WELLS UP TAX VALUATIONS 1 1/2 MILLION DOLLARS IN COUNTY

A Herald reporter, in conversation with Assessor-Collector Herbert Cheshir, this week, learned that oil wells, pipe lines, etc., had upped the valuations in Terry county tax valuations one and one-half million dollars in addition to what they were for the year before.

Redistricting Is Not Going To Be Easy

Gov. Allan Shivers being a statesman, and for a true and equal representation for all the people, in submitting the redistricting legislation, made it plain that this is a MUST. But some of the east, northeast and southeast Texas counties are putting up a woful yell. Of course to be cut down to true size is not going to be pleasant for these gents.

The Dallas News, in a recent editorial, reminds the lawmakers that if they had not balked and pussyfooted in redistricting since 1920, the idea would not be so hard. But after neglecting their duty for thirty long years, there is going to be so many radical changes, with greatly enlarged areas in their districts, the idea of such radical changes is going to be hard.

But the excuses put up by some is ridiculous: not the least funny to even those who give them. For instance the representative from Cooke county says that Cooke and Grayson have always been at odds over athletic contests. If that isn't amateurish and schoolboyish, what is? Then there is Orange county that says it just can't stomach being tied up with Jefferson county. Aren't they all Texans?

But no matter what the boys from the brush have to say if they don't do it, the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and two other state officials will do so after the legislature adjourns, and the east Texas boys will have to like it or lump it.

Here in our own senatorial district after 30 years, our district will be reduced from 24 counties to 11, quite some cut and will contain some 285,000 people, of which Lubbock county will have almost half, or 100,549. Other than Lubbock county, they are as follows:

Andrews, Cochran, Crosby Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin Terry, and Yoakum counties. Cut out to help form new districts, one north of the south Plains and one east of us, are, Bailey, Borde, Cottle, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Howard, Kent, King, Lamb, Motley and Stonewall.

So our new senatorial district will contain no more counties than our old representative district, the latter probably be cut to six counties, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Dawson, Gaines and Andrews counties.

has 100 oil wells, 18 of which were brought in last year, 1950. And 1951 valuations are what we will pay this year, or early next year. But taxes for this year, as we understand it, if the property was possessed, bought or created after January 1, will go on the 1952 rolls.

The tax rate of Terry county is now $1.20 on the $100 valuation. Of this amount, 45c is applied to the special road bonds that have been voted in Terry county.

Of the total valuations, about one-third are oil wells and pipe lines.

NORMAN FARROW, BARITONE, TO PRESENT CONCERT FEBRUARY 24

NORMAN FARROW

Norman Farrow, the young Canadian baritone, who will be heard in concert on Saturday, February 24, at 8 p. m., in the new high school auditorium, had no idea as a child that he was headed for a career in music. He did his first singing in public during his final year in high school, and all through college he was bent on becoming a historian. Since that time, however, he has more than made up for lost time, and today he is one of the most familiar figures on the stages of New York's concert halls.

Much of the credit for his rapid climb to prominence since the war Norman Farrow is inclined to attribute to his wife, a beautiful and talented artist in her own right who will be at the piano when Farrow sings here. The former Dorothea Behm, she came from California to the Juilliard Graduate School as holder of a fellowship with the great Russian pianist Josef Lhevinne. It was at Juilliard that they met, just before Farrow began his army service and they were married a year later.

Farrow's concert here is under the auspices of the Brownfield Concert Association. Crawford Taylor, president of the organization, said there will be one more concert after the one given by Farrow this season.

The New Chrysler Attracted Visitors

Hundreds of local people took time out Friday and Saturday to visit the show rooms of the M. J. Craig Motor Co., on west Broadway to see the new 1951 Chrysler. No one was disappointed. The '50 is a beauty, the '51 is even a better looking.

By the way, when they get one of the new 130 HP models, M. J. Jr. says he's going to take the Old He for a spin. It must have good brakes, pedal, emergency, and landing. Old M. J. Sr. and we hardly ever get together that we do not get to talking about the time he and McClish bought out the old Quality Filling Station where Jim Miller's Magnolia is now located.

It was the first real modern station here, with pumps—the hand kind. And Marion and McClish were good, faithful advertisers, and their motto: Service With A Smile! Marion says it was awfully hard to smile some of the time, and when he sold out, he had $14 to his part.

While down in that area, we called at the Shipley place to see the new Dodge, as we were out of town when it was shown. But a 1950 model was all they had. For Mr. Shipley's information, we heard a good lady remark recently: "That new Dodge is sure a beautiful car."

Cattle Breeders To Organize Saturday

A meeting will be held Saturday, February 17, at 11 a. m., in the Lubbock Hotel for the purpose of organizing an Aberdeen-Angus cattle breeder's association in this area, according to information received from Jim Foy, county agent.

Foy said that any person who raises Aberdeen-Angus cattle, either registered or commercial, is urged to attend.

He said that several people in Terry county who raise this breed of cattle plan to attend the meeting.

RECORD SALE ON AT MELODY MUSIC MART

A record sale will be held at the Melody Music Mart tomorrow (Saturday) according to owners Mrs. Leonard Cheshir and Mrs. Herbert Cheshir.

The owners also announce this week that Jerry Ellis, formerly co-owner of the E & W Radio Service, now has a radio repair service in their store.

SOME HEADACHES IN OIL SITUATION

As we head well into the second month of the year 1951, we find that not a few disappointments have crept into the body politic, as far as the oil situation is concerned. And this is caused by too many "dry" holes of late. We are not trying to be pessimistic but the talk is now general that neither the South Brownfield nor the Wellman pools are too extensive.

Even down in the Adair pool, where a lot of wells have been finished in the Wolfcamp, they have been missing the pay in the outer edges, if they get out too far from the discovery. And so far, no wells have hit pay more than a mile away from the South Brownfield pool. Of course there may be other croppings of the Canyon reef in various other sections of the county, other than those brought to light last year.

And efforts are being made to find them, if they are underground. We spoke of the well northeast of the city last week. There is another north a few miles out on the Lubbock Highway, and to the west of the road. In the meantime, the Brownfield well four miles east of town has been abandoned, and the rig moved elsewhere near the Country Club. Most think the well north of Gomez will be a failure. The Ray Brownfield well some ten miles west of town is still a question, as also the Turner well in southwest Terry.

Over in Yoakum, two fair wells have been brought in lately in the Cobb discovery area. They are comparatively shallow, around 6,000 feet. In the South Brownfield pool they are still trying to make a well of the Stitt No. 4. But so far all reports have been rather discouraging.

But the fact that several disappointments have occurred, that does not seem to bother real oil people like it does us natives. Perhaps they are used to hitting the "dust" pretty often. But so far as being another Snyder, that is definitely out, according to best oil field expert opinion.

But Terry is still just in its prime as an agricultural section, and with good farming methods, including soil conservation, you can't beat it—if it rains.

TELEPHONE BUSINESS OFFICE MOVES TO NEW LOCATION HERE

The business office of the Southwestern Associated Telephone company will move to its new location at 405 S. Fifth street Saturday, according to information received from Mills Roberts of Hobbs, N. M., district manager of the company.

Alda Mae Steen, who has been employed with the company here for the past eight years, will be cashier. Assistant cashier will be Bessie Nelson, who has been in this office for 1-2 years.

The new office will be open for business Monday, February 19, Miss Steen said. All bills will be paid at this office, and other commercial business will be handled there. It will also handle collections for the Ropesville and Meadow exchanges.

With the addition of six more positions to the original six in the local telephone traffic department, it had become difficult to handle the commercial telephone business in the office. The traffic department will remain in its location at 402 W. Main, Roberts said. Dolores Ramsey is chief operator, and the local traffic department employs 38 operators.

In January, 1948, there were 628 telephones in Brownfield, Roberts said. Now, there are 1856 telephones here.

The district office for the company was located in Brownfield until October, 1942, when the activation of several air bases in and around Hobbs necessitated moving the office to Hobbs.

Office hours in the new business office will be from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m. on Saturday.

Texas Soldiers Even Brag In California

They tell us that out at Camp Cook in California, where the Hq. 40th Infantry Division is getting ready to do some fighting, that out of 4000 recent arrivals, 496 of them are from Texas, or about one in every eight of the men there. And as usual, they are fairly vocal, and do not stand back on taking up for Texas. A little bit of propaganda from there goes about like this:

"If a Californian says California grapefruits are larger than Texas grapefruits, there are 96 men from Rio Grande Valley communities to counter the claim.

If a man from New Orleans says the Crescent City is the largest in the South, there are 77 new arrivals from the Houston vicinity to tell him different.

If a man from Laguna Beach says he is from a famous resort town, there are 27 men from Galveston to tell him about a famous island resort town in Texas.

If a man from the nation's capitol brags about his home town, there are 32 men from the Austin vicinity who will probably say that the Texas capitol dome stands higher than the national capitol dome. Or that the San Jacinto Monument stands higher than the Washington Monument.

If anyone doubts that Texas has a navy, there are 496 men to tell about the Battleship Texas, which is now a state shrine.

If anyone doubts that Dallas is a famous fashion center, or that Fort Worth is a famous aircraft center, there are 41 men from the Big D-Fort Worth area to tell him otherwise.

If a man from New England says he is from an industrial center, there are 167 men from the industrialized, oil-rich Texas Gulf Coast to match the claim.

If anyone should sound the battle cry, "Remember the Alamo," there are 28 men from San Antonio who will probably reply, "Remember it? Why I've been through it—hundreds of times."

But the little town of Kennedy (pop. about 3000) set somewhat of a record for per capita representation in the 40th. Its contribution—seven men.

Several Old Timers II
We were informed last week that some four of the old timers in this area were patients at the local hospital, as follows: J. H. Eubanks, J. R. Garrison and W. T. Briscoe.

We also had J. D. Williams listed as one of the four, but since that time Mr. Williams has passed away, notice of which is found elsewhere in this issue.

Services will be held both morning and night at the First Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Tom Keenan of Lubbock officiating.

Morning services will begin at 11 a. m., and night services will be held at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

WE GOT ONE VALENTINE
We got one Valentine from our girl friends, Jonelda and Becky Oakley, which we appreciate very much. A very pretty card with even prettier sentiments, "I'm Sweet on You!" Thanks a lot my fine little friends.

By the way the Oakley family has moved from Colorado City to Lamesa, and maybe now we'll get to see them more often.

Formal Opening Saturday Ricketts Grocery and Market

Formal opening of the Ricketts Grocery Store and Market, located at the corner of Lubbock highway and Broadway, will be held tomorrow (Saturday) from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m., according to J. B. (Pop) Ricketts, co-owner and manager of the store.

Ricketts and his son in law, James Warren, purchased the building in November 1944, but it was first leased to Sid's Cleaners and then to Handy Andy Food Store. Ricketts purchased the grocery stock from T. H. Anderson in December, 1950, but only recently opened for business in the building. Ricketts moved to Brownfield in 1943.

Formerly owners and operators of Thompson's Cafe, Warren and Ricketts purchased the Cosden station, located at the intersection of the Lubbock and Tahoka highways, and Warren is manager of the station.

The staff of the store includes Lee Beard, market manager, and

"Dub" Bell, Calvin Stevens, and J. C. Hunter.

During the formal opening, free coffee and doughnuts will be served to visitors. The coffee is the courtesy of Folger's, cream, McIlhenny's Dairy, sugar, Kimbell's, and doughnuts, Mead's Bakery.

An advertisement in this issue of the Herald cordially invites the public to attend the formal opening tomorrow.

Stricklinly Speaking Outstanding Texans

By Old He (Delayed)

Since the War II was in progress that we have picked up strangers along the highways. We made a practice of picking up soldiers and sailors during hostilities, and that sometimes proved dangerous, but not often. Sunday we violated this rule and picked up a man between Big Spring and Snyder, just west of the little town of Ira.

We remarked to the wife when we saw him by his car parked off the shoulder, that he looked like a working man. He had blown his connection rods. Found that he worked for the Taylor Construction Co., and was on his way to the Vinson section to prepare a pit and slush pit for a new oil well. He had worked at Sundown and Levelland, and had of course been in Brownfield a number of times. Had to go back to Snyder after another car.

Mrs. Joe Johnson jumped all over us this week about the Fred Burey writup last week, because we said "combining" cotton instead of "harvesting" it. Well, dagabrit, don't a combine harvest maize? Except the cotton and maize implement is a bit different in makeup?

Of course we understood that the Johnson Implement Co. sell both of the John Deere make. But we are not on to the fine points of distinction. And this reminds us of a little sneaking punch we delivered Jack Burefield, of the Lubbock Avenger-Journal a week or so ago about calling Brownfield the town of Brownfield in his items. Of course we understood that there was a town of Brownfield, a South Brownfield oil pool, and at least two wells being drilled on Dick or Ray Brownfield holdings.

So Burefield had to have some way of distinguishing. He was real nice in his reply, and we hope to meet him some of these days. Had a letter this week as follows: Dear Jack: What better can a man do than sit by a natural gas (West Texas Gas), fire and read the Terry County Herald. Enclosed, etc. Herman. We always thought Herman Heath, once the manager of West Texas Gas Co. here, was endowed with a maximum of brains; now we know it. He now resides in Lubbock with a better job. We used the name of his company in the parenthesis. Thus we plugged for his plug. Thanks a lot!

We see by the paper, Bolivar, (Texas) Bulletin, that Dr. George W. Jackson, a native of our old town, Middleton, Tenn., is to become a Texan. After graduating from high school at Middleton, he finished at the University of Tennessee medical department at Memphis, entered at Memphis and New Orleans, and was then appointed on the staff of the Western Hospital for the Deaf at Bolivar. Several years ago, Arkansas called Dr. Jackson to take charge of the Insane hospitals of that state with head-had a big corporation to fight for business. As we understand it, the local company, the Southwestern Associated is not trying to root out the Pokalambro co-operatives in this area, but have offered co-operation instead of opposition. While speaking of heat and cold, Homer Nelson got off on an English visitor that sorter tickled us. The fellow admitted that English as she is spoke in the USA was rather confusing to him. "For instance," said he, "the Americans will say it is hot as h—l or on the other hand, as cold as h—l. Which do you mean?"

Take Saturday for instance, Here is a little tip to our readers. Newsprint such as the Herald is printed on is getting rediculously high, about three times higher than it was when Pearl Harbor was attacked. Then $3.60 per 100 pounds by the ton lot; now $9.28. But with your help we are going to try to keep the paper at $2 locally and $3 elsewhere, but you must keep your paper up to date. We cannot and will not send the Herald to delinquent subscribers.

We cannot say that we are very much of a co-operative, nor have we anything particular against it. But we cannot help sympathizing with the South Plains Co-Operatives. Just when they got ready to put in rural telephones, they found that they had to fight a big telephone company. Years and years had passed and the big company had made no endeavor to provide the rural people with telephones. But just as the S. P. Co-Ops got the project under way, they found they

Texas Venture In Education • 1876-1951 Our first state college—Texas A. and M. is now in its seventy-fifth year

An emigrant boy who came to Texas in the days of the Republic and carved out a brilliant career as merchant and statesman, George Pfeuffer was one of the early Texans of great vision who made possible the development of the A. and M. College. He came to this country with his family at the age of 15, from his native Bavaria and settled at New Braunfels, where, after a number of years he and a brother established themselves as leading merchants. Soon he spread his holdings throughout the state, in the lumber business and even established considerable holdings in Mexico. He served as county judge of Comal County and later served with distinction as a state senator. He was appointed a member of the board of directors of A. and M. College in 1880, and developed a deep interest in its educational opportunities, which he carried with him to the Senate. Almost singlehandedly he brought the battles of the college in the Senate at a time when it was being neglected while the new State University was being created. Pfeuffer Hall, oldest building standing on the A. and M. Campus today, was named in his honor.

A HELPING HAND

When San Angelo city employee J. J. Williams asked for a helping hand to change parking meters, he got it—right out of the sidewalk. But he wasn't as perplexed as he appears to be in this photo. Heard From Local Street Philosophers

Your Keyhole Reporter
After some deliberation, Sophor Sockson 'lowed as how the "sick" railroad switchmen had a funny conception of patriotism. But, he added, the old "sick" still is becoming rather ancient, and the toot and hiss boys will have to find a less ancient one. Anyway, Sockson stated that so far as he was concerned, he could see nothing in the action of the switchmen that indicated any love of home and country in their tactics.

Tall Tolver ambled into a crowd of street talkers and added his bit to the conversation. Says he: "The powers that be at Washington seem to have had another washout, this price and wage control. They seem to have left prices at the highest peak, and since then have allowed wage increases, among them being John L. Lewis' boys."

Lou Limberger seems to be an avid reader of the people's columns in the Dallas News, and found this puzzler. "The government seems to be sorely taxing the people to keep down inflation. At the same time they are buying up farm products to keep them high, and putting on price controls to keep them high, and putting on price controls to keep them down. Who do they think they are kidding, anyway?" says Lou.

And this one from an old timer, Uncle Half Harvest: "One reason that Congress doesn't plunge into all of HST's requests for more and more taxes, and that about every day, is that he has a bad habit of underestimating revenues and overestimating the spending of taxes."

The Old Spy of South Sixth, saw Pat Patterson, Tuesday, snooping around his old habitat on the corner of Broadway and Sixth. You know people get to liking a place after they stay there some 15 or 20 years. Imagine Pat was just over for one more cup of Ar buckle with Joe J.

With two disastrous fires against Brownfield last year, either of which would have been a record yearly loss in our history, the insurance commission is almost sure to put the screws on us for a bad fire record. So, instead of a 25 percent good fire record reduction, the insurance men here look for a raise of at least 15 percent on a bad record. At least one local firm has notified its customers that they not only would save money on a five instead of a one year at a time period. You get a five year policy at the same price you would get a four year policy, if taken out and paid for one year at a time, a 20 percent saving that way. But here is the rub. You must renew all policies on or before March 1 this year. They may expire in March or December, but they MUST be renewed for the five year term before March when rates are set by the Insurance Commission at Austin. And let us state right here that neither the fire insurance companies nor their local agents have any more say on what the rate will be than a man in Borneo. That is left to the gentlemen at Austin to figure on the basis of the fire record over a given period. We might add right here that more goods and buildings were burned in Brownfield in 1950 than all premiums paid for fire insurance in the past five years. But we will have another article about that elsewhere in this paper. Most of our local insurance men are in position, however, to carry a part of the premium payment for a few weeks or months, if their customers have any kind of worth while rating. Brownfield and vicinity has had its quota of solicitors here of late, many of them out-of-towners, and quite unknown to anyone here. Most of the business men give a bit to the Salvation Army, as they call weekly and are OK'd by both the Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants Association. But beware and take warning. This is the day that a lot of people get bright ideas in their heads that bogus soliciting is much easier than real work to supply bacon and eggs to their larders. For instance in the past few weeks we have had four solicitors, one at least of which seems to have credentials, as he was a former employee. He is taking national magazine subscriptions for a literary association. Another is soliciting Damon Runyan Cancer funds. Another represents himself as a solicitor for a patriotic magazine, and has three helpers. Another is reporting to be taking subscriptions to buy seeing-eye dogs for the blind with a $1 down, and so much per month, perhaps. All are fakes, and the merchant and others are warned to be on guard by the local Retail Merchants Association.

We hate to appear to be on the peck this week. But there is always something that a guy likes to get off his chest. Now we as Americans, and especially Texas Americans are inclined to boast of our great improvements and household and business conveniences, and they are great, taken as a whole. We also admit our memory is getting short so we have asked others with better memories. One of the things we have in mind is that up to some ten years ago, when you flushed the commode, you just went about your business. But you don't any more. You stand there until you see if the thing is going to cut off, or just keep running. Not too long ago, a salesman sold us three of the gadgets wherein the little rubber plug had to go down between four wire posts. Thus there was no swinging or other cavorting before it reached the end of the pipe and stopped the water flow. It hangs or misses, too, and quite frequently. Could this be a scheme of the plumbers? Most of us will answer this with a big NO, as it is hard as heck to get the plumbers to come in any specified time from six hours to several days. They have other jobs. But why did the old fashioned kind, even those with a reservoir overhead, and a chain pull, always cut off without the wait-see, and the new kind might cut off, and then it "mout'n"?

Evidently the Stanolind Oil & Gas people here have felt somewhat exasperated at our crude attempts to delve into the intricacies of oil field phraseology. So, starting with Volume I, No.1, they are having The Horizons sent to us. It is a bi-monthly, well illustrated and nicely printed on book paper. Now there was quite a bit to be gained from a close perusal of the first issue. For instance, there were the rock hounds, pardon, seismograph crews shooting their hole, and another, "We Have Plenty Oil". But the most interesting to us at least, was one about that world sensation oil discovery of Jan. 10, 1901, just 50 years ago, when the Lucas well was brought in down in the Spindletop area near Beaumont. That old well raged and howled and spued at the rate of 100,000 barrels per day for nine wild days before being brought under control. And people from everywhere, foreigners and all, drifted in. Of course it was horse and buggy days, so the S. P. trains were loaded to the hilt, and a place to eat and sleep or even rest was at a premium, as the then small city of Beaumont was soon overrun. Incidentally, we might state that Stanolind says they still have more than 100 producing wells in the Spindletop area. Thanks for the magazine.

Editor H. G. Richards of the Anton News had quite an editorial in his column last week, most of which we agree, and some of it we perhaps look at through a different colored lense. We agree that people are really born equal, and our idea is that if the offspring has what we now term "guts," he will get somewhere in this old world, as the opportunities are also equal, if taken. For instance, two brothers may have the same opportunities, but Bill gets up early and stays on the job late. Brother Bogus on the other hand, sleeps and slumbers and finally gets up, but by that time he has decided that the world owes him a living. There were perhaps other boys born on or near February 12, 1812, in that section of Kentucky where Abe first saw the light of day. Maybe some of their fathers had more money, land and ambition than Daddy Tom Lincoln. Yet, perhaps they turned out to be run of the mine; maybe a few of them outright criminals, taking what others made by thrift and economy. But Abe didn't mind hard labor, and he was ambitious to improve his lot. So, he borrowed books, and read them by the fireplace in the Lincoln cabin. He was a success. Washington, on the other hand, was born into better circumstances, his family being landlords, and he became one in his own right. He put forth study and effort, and was a noted early day surveyor. Yes, we are born equal, but that is as far as it goes. However, the poor, the rich, the halt and blind are all considered to be "democratic" in this country provided they get behind the eight balls and apply themselves. We are also considered a "Christian" nation, but not all of us practice it.

It appears that the present legislature is really trying to put a tax on exported natural gas, so that Texas may get something out of this natural resource, that is now being piped from Canada to Mexico, and from Los Angeles to New York. But the rub is that there is some kind of federal law that says when you tax an article in your state for intrastate shipment, the same tax will have to be levied against the people of the producing area. But something must be done to hedge on this natural gas while we may. Men who have made a long study of gas tell us that we have only a 20 or 25 year reserve in sight. On the other hand, many of the eastern states to which we are now piping our only fuel have a known reserve of coal to last 2,000 or more years. It will be a big let down when Texas has to have coal shipped in to keep us from freezing. Yeah, we moderns are certainly smart.

According to reports, seemingly everything is to be taxed but the air—each citizen being required to give seventy-five percent or more of his income to finance the government in its liberal spending program, so that it might furnish Europe, Asia, Africa, and various other places with armies and war materials. One man told us he would rather pay the tax than be fighting in Korea. So had we. But the enormous tax is not required to finance the Korean war, but for lavish spending in Europe where we have taken the countries, great and small, under the commodious wings of the American eagle, and are now busy screaming defiance at the Russian bear. We don't suppose the threat of war could have come at a more inopportune time. The government, in one of its great business deals, has sold off war materials at less than one-tenth of its cost, the army had been cut to the nubbin, while the navy had barely enough personnel to keep a few moth-eaten ships afloat, and the air force was cut to less than nothing—it found us in a much worse condition than Pearl Harbor, and through lack of foresight on the part of people that should have known, we were forced to build from the ground up — through lack of mature judgment raw kids were rushed into the death trap in Korea that we might hold up the name of the United Nations. The very members of which are our enemies, and who have dictated policies meant to defeat and destroy our armies. Now, the burden falls on the people, who must rake the chestnuts from the fire for a leadership that yet is not aware of what is taking place.—Ropes Plainsman.

The 12th was the annual birthday of one of the nation's most beloved presidents, the old rail splitter, Abraham Lincoln. It has been 90 years now since the start of the civil strife in this nation of ours, and in that time, the sentiment has changed greatly. Before the Spanish-American war, when boys from the north and south joined forces to put down an aggressor, Lincoln was thought little more of than a yellow dog in the south. And in the north, the people considered Jefferson Davis as a national outlaw. Since 1898, the sons and the grandsons of the blue and the grey have fought two world wars, side by side, and they have learned to respect Lee and Davis; Lincoln and Grant on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line. Really it never was the fighting men who hated Lincoln in the south. It was generally those who dodged the draft or had slaves. We have heard our father who spent four years in the Confederate army, say that he firmly believed that if Lincoln had been spared, reconstruction in the South would never have been the disgraceful episode that it was. Lincoln was for the prompt readmittance of the South to the Union after the surrender. But after the death of Lincoln, his cabinet had other

Rayburn Gets "White House" Gavel . . .

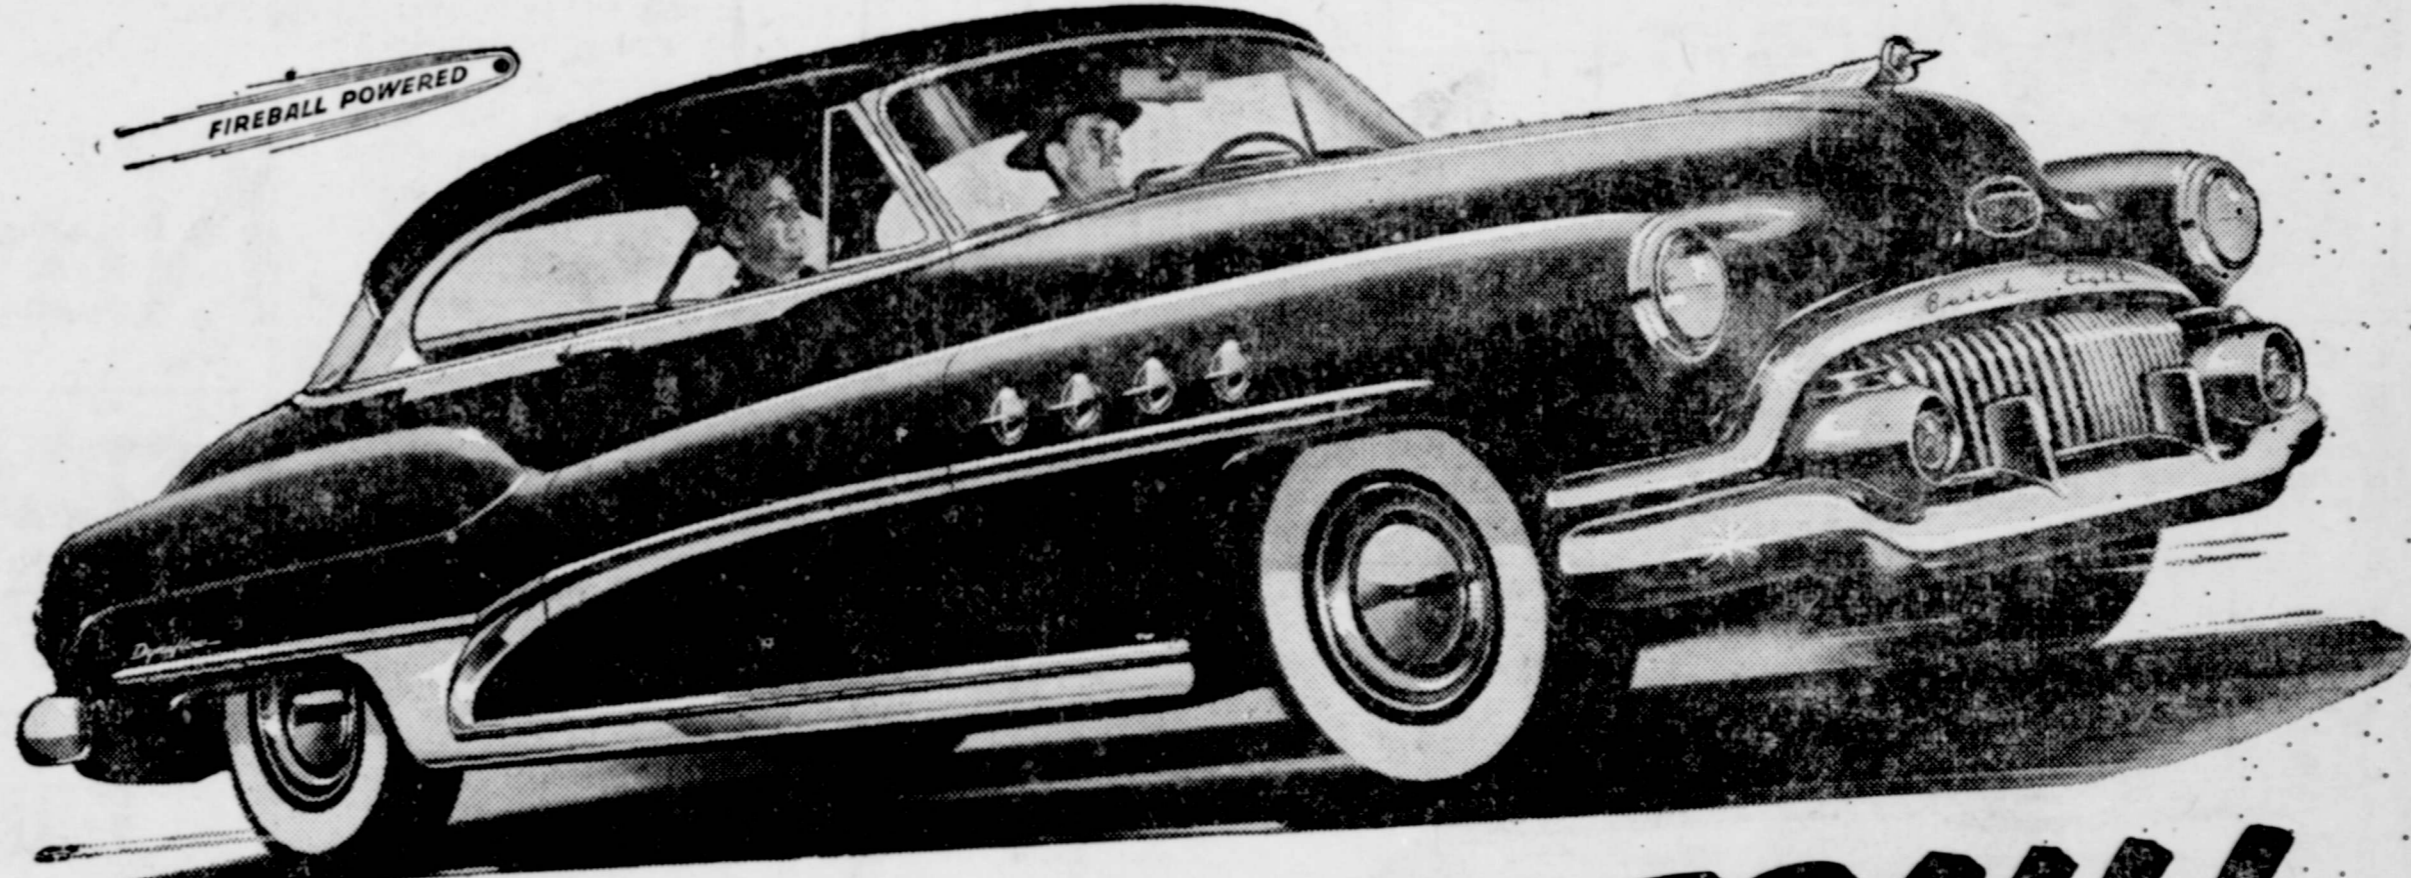

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) (standing left) laughs heartily at the White House in Washington as President Truman gives him a gavel fashioned from timber taken from part of the White House erected in 1817. The ceremony was in honor of Rayburn's breaking all time record for tenure of speaker's chair. Watching are Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) and Miss Lucinda Rayburn of Bonham, Tex., the speaker's sister.

FIND HIM!—Cpl. Gerald E. Williams of Akron, O., is a hard man to find these days. Using black and green coloring on his face, he has a way of blending in with his surroundings that makes him difficult to spot, even at close range. One tip, though, he's studying camouflage at the Ranger Training Center in Ft. Benning, Ga. In combat he'll remove his name plate and rank insignia to become that much more invisible.

BEARS GET RAM—Dr. J. F. Wilson, California University's Professor of Animal Husbandry, exhibits an Australian Merino ram, one of a shipment of three rams and nine ewes. The first sheep to be exported from Australia in 30 years, the animals will be used for "experimental purposes only" on the University's ranch at Davis, Calif.

What's its Power? FIREBALL!

(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

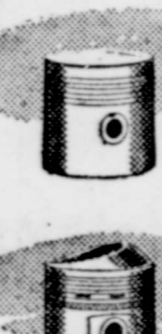

Mister, that's Power, with a capital P. What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result was—and is—a spectacular engineering phenomenon that makes itself felt the instant you touch toe to gas treadle.

You command a rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, letting loose their pent-up power every five inches that a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see the reason. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, contoured like this:

So the inrushing fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

And you get the thrill—and thrift—of this Buick "first" in every mile you drive.

More than that, you get an engine tried-and-true—an engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years.

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflow Drive.*

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

Better see your dealer soon, to find out what you've been missing.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I received a $10,000 GI loan, of which VA guaranteed 60 percent or $6,000. I understand the maximum guarantee is $7,500. If I ever sell my home, could I buy another with a second GI loan, guaranteed for $1,500—the difference between what I used and the maximum?

A—No. The 60 percent or $7,500 maximum guarantee is a one-time guaranty. For your second GI loan, you would be bound by the law's previous maximums of 50 percent up to $4,000 guarantee. But your present GI guarantee already is greater than $4,000, so you would not be entitled to a second GI loan.

Q—My father, a World War I veteran, died in 1940, leaving a U. S. Government Life Insurance policy to my mother. Recently she died, leaving me the proceeds of the policy as an inheritance—about $4,000. If I apply for a pension, would that be considered as reportable income?

A—Yes, all inheritances are to be considered as income, regardless of their source. The only condition under which you would not report the insurance as income would be if your father had left the insurance to you and you had received payments directly from VA.

Q—Does VA exercise control or supervision over schools training veterans under the GI Bill?

A—No. The law specifically prevents VA from controlling or supervising schools. Supervision is entirely a responsibility of the States.

J. D. WILLIAMS, 74 CLAIMED THURSDAY

J. D. Williams, 74, died in a local hospital February 8 following a short illness. He had made his home here with his daughter, Mrs. Harold C. Jones, 118 N. Second street, here for several years.

Williams was a member of the Church of Christ and the Masonic lodge of Marlowe, Oklahoma. A Brownfield Funeral Home Ambulance took the body overland to Marlowe for services and burial. Survivors other than the daughter here, are a daughter, Mrs. Jesse Adkins of Marlowe, and two brothers, George R. of Marlowe, and L. Williams of Nashville, Tenn.

Niece Of Local Woman Is Killed

Funeral services were held Sunday for Mrs. Jack Randal Smith, 23, of Amarillo, who died shortly after being accidentally shot in her home there. She was the niece of Mrs. R. N. McClain of Brownfield.

Mrs. Smith and her husband, who is an Army Recruiting Sergeant in Amarillo, were unloading their guns after their 22 months old son, Michael, had become curious about the weapons. Mrs. Smith jarred a small calibre shotgun in removing it from the closet and it discharged, striking her in the right side below the ribs and coursing upward through the heart.

Survivors other than her husband, son, and aunt, are another son, Richard Jack, 4 months; and her parents, Ira Womack of Amarillo and Mrs. Holland of Lubbock.

New Pay Scale Of Servicemen Given

With America's manhood being called up faster and faster, and every prospect of total mobilization and total war, millions of families must now plan to live on service pay and government allowances. What can a serviceman's family expect in the way of allotments? And what will the serviceman himself have left after his contribution has been deducted?

Here are a few examples: The new law provides for larger checks than did regulations in World War II. A wife and two children of a man in the lower grades now receives $125 a month, compared to $100 before. But the new act also has two less attractive features: it helps support only three dependents per serviceman, and it restricts benefits to a man's immediate family, omitting dependent brothers, sisters and grandparents.

The Government contributes 45 a month for servicemen in the lower grades with one dependent, $67.50 a month for men in the higher grades, with one dependent, $67.50 a month for all men with two dependents, and $85 for all men with three dependents. To get this government contribution, the serviceman must add part of his basic pay, varying according to his grade. Men in the lowest grades contribute $40, in the next two grades, $60 and in the two highest, $80.

Thus, the dependents of men in the highest grades receive a combined total from the government and servicemen of $165 a month. This is the most an enlisted man's dependents can receive. Officers are supposed to support their families without additional government help.

BECHTOLS GOT IN ON ATOMIC TESTS

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bechtol returned last week from a three weeks trip in the western states, including Las Vegas, Nevada. He participated in state trap shoots in Albuquerque, N. M., Tucson, Ariz., and Las Vegas.

The Bechtols were in Las Vegas at the time atomic tests were being conducted. Mrs. Bechtol reported that the were awakened early in the morning with a "very bright flash that lighted everything up," and the flash, of course, was followed shortly by the blasts, which rocked the town. Mrs. Bechtol said that their hotel was well constructed and that they only felt mild tremblings and rumblings.

She said that the people of Las Vegas seemed not to be worried about the blasts, as they had heard about the tests.

Measles Reach Mild Epidemic Form

AUSTIN — Measles in Texas is reaching a mild epidemic stage at present, with outbreaks following closely the main lines of travel across the State, according to information made public today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The peculiar pattern of this spread of measles re-emphasizes the fact that it is a contagious disease, passed on from one person to another," Dr. Cox said. "Guard against exposure by avoiding contact with measles patients."

Dr. Cox said that measles alone is not necessarily a dangerous disease, but dangerous complications such as streptococcus, mastoiditis, and pneumonia which frequently follow, make it a disease to be carefully nursed; with close attention from a doctor.

"Unskilled treatment of a plain case of measles can result in complications which often kill," Dr. Cox warned, "and it is not to be regarded lightly as simply another childhood disease."

Dr. Cox urged parents to carefully watch children exposed, and at the first sign of temperature, flushed face, sniffles, or watering eyes, advised that the child be put to bed immediately and placed under a doctor's care.

Now—How about traffic on the Santa Fe?

With the cooperation of our officers, and of the employees who remained at work, Santa Fe managed to keep thousands of freight cars and all its passenger trains moving during the "outlaw strike" which began January 30th and which so severely crippled our country's rail transportation. Santa Fe could not, of course, operate at its top efficiency.

Now vital supplies, which have been piling up in freight terminals during the past several days, are starting to move.

A complex situation

There is one point, however, we know the public will understand. So complex a thing as America's transportation system cannot be turned off and on like a water faucet.

Thousands of "car days" were lost due to freight cars standing still. Even though cars are now moving it is bound to take a while before congestion is relieved and delayed cars are unloaded at their destination.

Santa Fe was able to deliver more cars to other railroads than other railroads delivered to Santa Fe. Consequently, Santa Fe now has substantially less cars on its rails than when the "outlaw strike" began. Naturally, this will result in a shortage of cars until this complex situation has been cleared.

A word to our shippers

We are doing everything possible to speed up the return to normal. We ask, however, that shippers who now need cars bear with us during this period.

Santa Fe expresses its thanks to its shippers and passengers for their patience and understanding during the trying times we have all just passed through — and also to all our people who cooperated in this emergency, many of them responding beyond their normal call of duty.

K. Hardin Termed "Angel Of Mercy"

Had a Houston Press of date of January 31 this week showing scenes of the million dollar fire in that city. There was a front page boxed article that caught our eye straightway. It was headed "Angel of Mercy Lends a Hand."

"Miss Kathleen Hardin, reserve member of the Harris County Emergency Corps, had been on duty with a patient at the Methodist Hospital, and was on her way home to sleep. She saw the fire and stopped to volunteer her services to the Corps."

This was not the first time Kathleen, a native of Brownfield, and daughter of Mrs. W. G. Hardin, of this city, had acted the part of the angel of mercy. Many here will remember that several years ago when a cyclone ripped across the Texas panhandle and Woodward, Okla., Kathleen took off for the scene of that disaster that took many lives and wounded many more.

Then down at Houston when that terrible blast rocked Texas City, which was reported as a major disaster that year, Kathleen got on the scene again to do what she could for the wounded and dying. Kathleen is a great girl.

We also noted in an illustrated section of the Houston Post that was sent us, several scenes of the resumption of the Red Cross work of instructing in first aid. Miss Hardin is shown in one giving a bunch of ladies the know how on applying bandages. In one scene appears Mrs. Aubrey Gaines, mother of Mrs. Richard Kendrick.

Even some of the men are taking to the work. In two scenes appeared Clyde P. Findlay, who is minister of the church Kathleen attends, the Pierce and Baldwin Street Church of Christ, and other men and women.

Bargain Center Uncertain On Moving Date

Some of the personnel of the Brownfield Bargain Center remarked recently that the firm hoped to be able to move into their new place across Broadway south of their old location this week end. But officials and management of the firm were doubtful on account of the bad turn in the weather.

It is true that the workmen are now enclosed so that interior remodeling and redecorating can go on in most any weather, but frigid weather has a way of holding up construction. This is the building, recently occupied by Piggly Wiggly.

The building, 50x10, is undergoing a thorough remodeling, and will when complete, have a front exposure that will be really up to date, and one of the prettiest in the city. The whole fifty-foot front will be show windows, as well as some 15 of 20 feet on the porch side.

The interior is also undergoing a complete change from a grocery to a dry goods arrangement. They are conducting a removal sale at this time, at the old location.

County 4-H Council Met Here Saturday

The District 2 4-H Club Scholarship for 1951 was voted on Saturday, February 10, at the Terry County Council meeting. Each Home Demonstration Club in the counties of District 2 are asked to donate $4.00 apiece to this fund. Last year, other organizations helped with this project. The girl who wins the scholarship will be judged by the state score card. She will be from District 2.

Mrs. Lee Bartlett bought a book titled "Manner Made Easy" for the council library. Council will pay Mrs. Bartlett for the book. Clubs in the county reported they are picking out the books that they will buy for the library. Some time this year, council will build a bookshelf for these books.

"A Civil Defense Chairman for Council will be appointed some time soon by the president," said Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent. She also said, "Each club president must appoint one, too". This means she will go to a school on first aid. It will then be given back to the clubs by the chairman.

Four committee plans were read by the chairman of each committee. They were Marketing, given by Mrs. Claud Montgomery; Finance, given by Mrs. Bartlett; Recreation, given by Mrs. Thurman Solsbury; and Education, given by Mrs. A. J. Bell. All the plans were adopted to be carried out through the year.

Seventeen members were present, representing eight clubs in the county.

Soil Conservation News Of Interest

The District Supervisors from 163 Soil Conservation Districts in Texas met last week in Mineral Wells, Texas. Mr. Clayton Puckett, Fort Stockton, Texas, was the presiding president for the three days conference of supervisors.

The program was varied and well presented.

Guy C. Jackson of Anahuac, a district supervisor and president of the Texas Water Conservation of Texas, discussed changes which will be asked in a State Appropriation Bill which allocated $5,000,000 for soil conservation districts at the last Texas legislative session. The amendments to be offered would make the fund a permanent appropriation rather than a returnable fund as it now is and would give more latitude in its use.

It was noted that several districts throughout Texas had all spent their share of the fund allocated to their districts by purchase of land levellers, grass seed drills, fertilizer distributors, surveying equipment, two-way plows, fresnos, bulldozers, land rollers, carryalls and some educational movie projectors.

G. G. Gibson, Director of Texas A. & M. Extension Service was one of the main speakers on the program. He warned that Texas farmers in the midst of an all-out defense effort may harm their soil through over enthusiasm to produce more.

Clayton Puckett, of Fort Stockton, Texas, was re-elected president of the association and the constitution of the group was changed to call for the election of 25 directors, five from each state subdivision as represented by the members of the State Soil Conservation Board, Temple, Texas.

Mr. Jay Barrett, Brownfield, Texas, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors for the C.Y.T. District was elected as director for Area 1 which consists of the following counties: Parmer, Castro, Bailey, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum, Terry and Gaines.

Mr. Barrett on returning from the convention at Mineral Wells had a called meeting here at Brownfield on January 30th and gave a full report to the Board. At this Board meeting several items of business were transacted. The Board approved 15 farm plans for Terry and Yoakum Counties consisting of 6,470 acres planned for conservation practices during the month of January. Also, they approved for this month 14 applications for Conservation Planning consisting of 6,701 acres.

Through the District Program, terrace systems have been planned and developed this month for A. J. Bell, Lee Bartlett, J. W. Bingham, Andy Dunlap, Marvin McNutt, James Heartsill, A. A. Anderson, Dube Pyeat, B. F. Finley, Jess McWhorter and H. W. Fulton. Several more farmers are waiting for terrace lines and contractors to come their way.

Mr. Barrett urges landowners to make application to the District Program Office in the basement of the Post Office Building, Brownfield, Texas, if the need assistance in planning terraces, irrigation layouts, bench levelling, deep breaking, grass seed planting, improved pastures and other technical assistance in establishing conservation measures on their farms this year.—Riley W. Carlton, Work Unit Conservationist.

Preparedness For Atomic Disaster

LUBBOCK — Physicians of West Texas and eastern New Mexico will gather in Lubbock Feb. 15 for a one-day post graduate course entitled "Disaster Preparedness for Atomic Warfare."

The all-day program will be staged in the Hilton Hotel and is under the auspices of the Post-graduate Division of the University of Texas School of Medicine in cooperation with the State Medical Defense Director, the State Medical Association of Texas, and the American College of Surgeons.

Nine prominent physicians are scheduled to speak on subjects pertaining to disaster arising from possible atomic warfare. "Being prepared for such warfare, though the possibility may be negligible, should be the concern of every physician," said Dr. R. C. Douglas, in charge of arrangements for the preparedness program in Lubbock. "This course will provide them with an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with a relatively unknown subject."

The course will be devoted strictly to the needed medical reaction to an atomic emergency. The meeting will open at 9 a. m. and close at 5 p. m.

Speaker on the program include: Dr. Truman G. Blocker, Jr., Dr. G. W. N. Eggers, Dr. A. W. Harrison, Dr. W. L. Marr, Dr. R. M. Moore, Dr. R. H. Rigdon, and Dr. S. R. Snodgrass, all of the Medical Branch of the University of Texas, Galveston; and Dr. George W. Cox, State Medical Defense Director and State Health Officer, Austin, Texas, and Dr. A. T. Stewart, Representative of the President of the State Medical Association of Texas, Lubbock.

Plan To Improve Texas Range Grasses

AUSTIN — The University of Texas Plant Research Institute is well into its program to lay a scientific base for improving Texas range grasses.

Dr. W. Gordon Whaley, Institute director, reports that:

A general survey of the characteristics and distribution of 254 Texas range grasses will be published this summer, and new survey to summarize reproduction and breeding data on Southwestern grasses is underway.

Several basic nutritional studies of Texas grasses have been completed or are in final publication stages, including two projects which may improve phosphorus fertilizer practices.

Four studies of grass reproduction have been started, including one to produce mutations and other inheritable changes in grasses by radiation, and another to attempt to produce superior grasses by doubling their chromosome numbers through exposure to the drug alkaloid colchicine.

Other investigations underway include a study of what constitutes drought resistance in Texas grasses and a general prospect to discover and study natural hybrid plants and attempt to reproduce them artificially.

Was Tilson Joking Or Mean Business

While taking on a cupa Ar-buckle at the Grill one day last week, Bill Tilson walked in, and nabbed our fast walking Tennessee hickory stick, and made as if he had appropriated it to his own locomotion. Bill, you know, is local high mogul of the Farm Bureau in this area, and his mind runs to farming like a straight line runs from pillow to post.

So, he got down to toenails and brasstax as he consumed a piece-a-pie and a glass of milk. He wants us to read the farm journals so that we may keep abreast of agriculture and the newest methods of doing things, especially the newer pasture grasses. We sorter thought Bill was joshing us at first, but if he was, he certainly kept a straight face.

We promised faithfully to more carefully read such farm papers as we get, such as Extensioner, from A. & M., the monthly magazine, Ranch and Farm, put out by the Star-Telegram; Southwestern Stock and Farm, a Lubbock monthly magazine, as well as national and state publications put out by Farm Bureau Federation.

However, we thought of the radical changes in agricultural methods practiced when we quit the farm in 1909, and those to today. Farming is now as much ahead of that time as that was the Civil War period. Made us think that perhaps some farmer might ask us what in blazes we know about farming.

And then it would be just about

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Cook of Amarillo spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Mike Blair, and family.

As logical for some farmer to advise us to make our column width 11 instead of 12 ems, and our page width 91½ picas, and then add a half inch to our column length, making them 22½ inches in length and save some space on high priced newsprint.

However, while it has been 41 years since we left the farm, we have never relinquished the touch and dsire of the farming interests. The love of good soil is still with us.

We must all keep in mind that farming is the basic industry of the good old USA; that when the farmer prospers, all prosper. When he is broke, all are broke. Yes, we shall read, and try the best we can to help the farmers of this area.

Decides To Sell Milk To Consumers

A. B. Buchanan was in last week to put in an ad. He will sell milk from his fine Guernsey herd this side of Gomez, direct to consumers, instead of hauling it to Lubbock. By the way, we noted recently that A. B. was elected one of the directors of the Guernsey Association.

Speaking of A. B. reminds us that we saw where A. D. Wenzel of "Smithfield", Texas, was elected as a director of the Berkshire Swine Breeders Association. We have an idea that it was our Brownfield Wenzel. And the way, we missed out or overlooked the copy of the Star Telegram that listed the Berkshire winners at the recent Fat Stock Show. It will be entitled Better Texas Pastures, Inc. Don't think our fine young governor knows it, but we have been talking better pasture grass for several years, as we got information from those who really know their grasses and how to grow them.

But we here and now warn all the other "Charter" Members that we can name three grasses we long ago learned to despise, namely: Crab, Hurrah, and Johnson. That started back when the Old He was "the man with the hoe."

Serious Incidence of Venereal Diseases

AUTIN—Here are some ominous statistics to ponder. State Health Officer George W. Cox reveals an average of 98 venereal-disease cases were uncovered each day of 1950. Total new cases of syphilis and gonorrhea for the year just passed reached 35,863. "We had more cases of syphilis last year than the combined total for tuberculosis, smallpox, scarlet fever, polio, diphtheria, malaria, and typhoid fever," the state health official said. Venereal diseases far outnumbered any one of the eighteen other communicable infections reported in the state, with the single exception of influenza. "It isn't an enviable record," Dr. Cox declared. "Not for gonorrhea, anyway." Statistical records kept by the state health agency show a sharp reduction in syphilis rates, but gonorrhea cases have remained almost constant, with 1950 showing a slight increase over 1949. Dr. Cox said it indicates a "large segment of the people are not aware of the seriousness of gonorrhea infections, or else they are indifferent to their own health and that of others." HD Agent Puts Bug On The Herald

Had a letter this week from Miss Helen Dunlap, Terry County Home Demonstration agent. The burden of the remarks were that recently a training school was held to train reporters for the 4-H clubs. As a starter, they demonstrated on making "Hermits" which she explained was a type of cookies.

As Miss Dunlap explained, the three letters received looked very much alike, as if they had copied from each other, but as they are widely separated, representing the communities of Pool, Union and Wellman, that was hardly likely. So, we have decided to use all three:

"By coating raisins and nuts in flour, they will not sink to the bottom of a cake or cookie mixture," said Miss Helen Dunlap, County Home Demonstration Agent, Saturday, February 3, as she gave a demonstration on making hermits, a type of drop cookie. She also said, "When using double action baking powder that you use only three fourths as much as the recipe calls for."

After baking the cookies, six persons attending the meeting sampled the cookies. The cookies were so good they just melted in your month.

"When you are cooking with nuts and dried fruits such as raisins and dates, always coat them with part of the flour. This keeps them from sinking to the bottom and keeps them well distributed throughout the product." These are some of the items which Miss Helen Dunlap, County Home Demonstration Agent drew the attention of a group of 4-H and home demonstration reporters to in a training school held in her office last Saturday afternoon. She also stated that when using a quick acting baking powder, that you use three fourths the amount called for in the recipe. Miss Dunlap made hermits in the demonstration, which she served as refreshments at the close of the demonstration.

"By coating raisins and nuts with flour, they will not sink to the bottom of a cake or cookie mixture," said Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent. This is what she told a group of 4-H and home demonstration club reporters at a training school held in her office last Saturday afternoon. She told the that gonorrhea is minor ailment when the truth of the matter is that it's a serious disease, capable of causing permanent body damage.

"Untreated gonorrhea can cause blindness, sterility, arthritic conditions, and have other serious consequences," Dr. Cox asserted. "Sometimes it requires operative procedures."

CITRUS GROVE DESTROYED

These pink grapefruit trees are being uprooted in Arroyo garden near Harlingen. Owner Adolph Thome, Jr., said he would lose about one thousand citrus trees. Elsewhere, Rio Grande Valley farmers are destroying trees damaged in the recent hard freeze. (AP Photo)

FROZEN IN HIS JOB—One man to remain unperturbed by all the recent talk about "lids" and "freezes" was Chicago Fire Lt. Thomas Ryan. His lid was frozen when sub-zero temperatures turned hose spray to ice on his battle hat. Fully resigned to the hazards of being a smoke-eater, Ryan calmly "clamped down" on a cigarette after the blaze was subdued.

SECRET EARFUL—Palma Shard, 21-year-old Hollywood television newscaster, uses no script, offstage blackboards or mirrors for her delivery. A tiny hearing aid speaker concealed in her hair permits Palma to repeat the words she records before air time (above). By looking her fans straight in the eye, Palma appears to be video's most accomplished ad-libber.

CHIN GUARD—After suffering a fractured jaw in a hockey game with Princeton, Brown University's right wing, Frank DiBiase, seemed doomed to warming the bench for the rest of the stick season. But team physician Dr. Edward Crane scored with a specially designed protective mask that will safeguard DiBiase's now mending jaw during future ice action.

HE'S IN NO RUSH—This 75-year-old resident of Athens grinned broadly as he indicated that he had no intention of letting modern living change his ways. He snarled motor traffic as he and his mule ambled over a newly constructed highway. The white center stripes were made by a machine brought to Greece from the U. S. under the Marshall Plan.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Newsom

Miss Doris Walls and Dale Newsom were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony read Friday, February 3, at 7 p. m., in the First Baptist Church. Rev. Fred Stumpff, minister of the church, officiated. Vows were exchanged before an arch banked with fern and baskets of white gladiolus, flanked with candleabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walls of Brownfield and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Newsom of Ropesville.

Mrs. Brown registered guests, including the following out of town guests: Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Gee Gee's Chit Chat

How'd you like the little kick in the pants the weatherman handed us Monday night? Here I've been enjoying a good case of spring fever for several days, and all of a sudden I have to drag out my long handles and don 'em again. Not that they didn't feel good.

I was even over at Jones Dry Goods Monday fingering their new spring piece goods they got in recently. Their new Fruit of the Loom materials are really smart—I particularly liked one piece that had playings cards, you know, one eyed Jacks, Queens, Kings, etc., all over it.

But spring is probably several cold more days around the corner, despite the fact that all merchants are receiving and showing their Spring merchandise. Guess it doesn't hurt to dream, though, does it?

Monday and Tuesday nights of next week are going to be some of the most hilarious experienced by local citizens. Beginning at 8 p. m., each night, "Hip, Hip, Hooray", a rollicking, funpacked two hour show will be presented by approximately 100 Brownfield natives. This show, which is sponsored by the Brownfield Lions club, will offer plenty of entertainment, and if you haven't bought your tickets yet, do so. If nothing else, it will probably be something to see a lot of your friends get up on a stage and make asses (uh, pardon the expression) of themselves, huh?

Pop (J. B.) Ricketts and Jim Warren are having the grand opening of their grocery store, located at the corner of the Lubbock highway and Broadway street, this weekend, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Free coffee is the courtesy of Folgers, cream of McIlhaneys', sugar of Kimbell's and doughnuts of Mead's Bakery. Go into Rickett's Grocery this week end and look around. There are some mighty fine people down there.

Wade Pearce, who held the formal opening of his Modern Steam Laundry (on the Lubbock highway) last Saturday reports that a large crowd of people attended the opening, and he would like to thank the public for their splendid reception.

Getting in line with the national civil defense program, the local VFW post is sponsoring a First Aid course here, beginning Monday night. The group will meet at 7:30 p. m., in the Health Unit. Some of you may be unable to make the first meeting, but if you think you can make the rest of the meetings, contact Lewis Simmonds, phone 185, and make arrangements. Lewis, who is First Aid Chairman of the Terry County Red Cross Chapter, is going to instruct the class and plans to teach an advanced course if enough persons are interested. A First Aid Course may at first impress you as being about as useful as a hole in the head, but it is one of the most valuable things you can have on tap. Not only can you use the knowledge every day, but in case of war, it is almost necessary. Most of you have probably not read the government issued pamphlet on survival of an A-bomb attack, but if you did, I'll bet it made your hair stand on end, as mine did. And having good knowledge of first aid is one of the first steps you can take toward survival. Come on, now, kids. Don't crawl back in that shell and say it can't happen to us. It can and let's start getting ready for it.

With the situation in Korea still dragging along, it looks like things couldn't get much worse. They can. The government has sent out bulletins to various groups (and I got mine as chairman of the Terry County Red Cross Chapter) stating that the nation's blood banks are dangerously low. Some of our casualties in Korea require a large amount of blood to save their lives. Many cases have been known in which one casualty has needed 13 or more pints of whole blood. And not only do we need that whole blood in Korea. On the home front of our civil defense program, in case of an A-bomb attack, the amount of whole blood we would need is amazing. One pint of whole blood would never be missed from each person in this county.

Although we do not have a collection center either, or even near here, we have been asked to request pledges from our citizens for at least one pint of blood, to be given when our mobile unit arrives. If you will please call me at 1 or 1182-W (after 5 p. m.) or drop me a card at Box 254, pledging to support this program, I will be very grateful. Our forefathers spilled their blood in order that you and I may have the privilege of giving our blood. It's the very least we can do, and believe me, it's the very least some of you will ever do. How about it? Send me your pledge today.

Have you made your contribution to the National Heart Fund?

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lyon spent last week end visiting in Mineral Wells with her sister, Mrs. C. E. Hodges, and Mr. Hodges, of Durant, Okla., and another of her sisters, Mrs. P. C. Goza and Rev. Goza in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Voris Myatt of Lubbock visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pounds, Sunday.

Zip-up Dress Keeps Hair Dressed Up

BY EDNA MILES

NOT since the invention of the bobbypin has milady's hair ever had it so good.

Home permanents, chignons, improved shampoos and home dryers have all come to the rescue of the woman uttering that classic complaint, "I just can't seem to do a thing with my hair."

Yet while beauty experts have seemingly given their all to the business of glorifying the tresses of the fair sex, one problem has received virtually no attention, the impossibility of getting dressed without ruining a carefully groomed coiffure.

At long last, a solution has been found—a zip-up, step-in dress. While the step-in dress is by no means a revolutionary idea, it may well be the forerunner of a fashion trend. The creation not only permits the missus to get dressed without getting so much as a wisp of hair out of place, but also eliminates the exasperating struggle to find sleeves while the dress is pulled up over the head.

At right, model Joan Skelly, her hair in perfect order, demonstrates how easy it is to step into the dress with the zipper pulled open to just below the waist.

Seconds later (at left), she stands fully dressed, her coiffure immaculate—truly a quick and painless change.

The cotton chambray step-in creation should have no trouble in winning applause from those women who have had their hair mussed up during a desperate effort to dress quickly, or from the many telltale strands of loose hair marring an otherwise neat appearance.

MORE and BETTER COTTON

SEED TREATMENT helps turn thin stands...

into thriving yields

As a cotton planter, you can expect four-way benefits from one simple operation you can perform on your own farm, or have done for you. It consists of planting seed that has been treated with an organic mercury dust. Its results include:

1. Control of most of the seed rot or decay that reduces your stands before the seeds can sprout.
2. Control of seedling blight caused by bacteria in your soil or seeds that attack the tender seedlings.
3. Control of anthracnose or pink boll disease, another germ-caused ailment that results in smaller crops of poor-grade, spotty cotton.
4. Control of bacterial blight or angular leaf spot that kills your cotton plants or stunts their growth.

Experiment Station figures show yield increases of 5% to 40% as a result of seed treatment. This means up to $12 per acre added to your income. Cost of the chemical amounts to less than 10¢ per acre.

Those who recommend seed treatment stress the fact it should be correctly used—applied to the seed according to directions, and in the right amounts. The cotton planter has too much at stake, they say, to risk cutting corners on the use of less than recommended amounts, or skipping any steps of the fairly simple seed-treating process.

The treatment can be done by many ginners and delinters. Ask your County Agent about the value of seed treatment and where you can get this service in this vicinity.

SWELL STORY ABOUT ONE TERRY COUNTY FARM FAMILY FEATURED

There was a fine story about one Terry county farm family in Ranch and Farm News, a monthly magazine supplement of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Sunday. The story was also well illustrated as well as written. The story concerned the family of Glenn C. Mason of Meadow section, and particularly Weldon, his eldest son, who has been married himself, a short time.

Weldon Mason

To begin with, as most farm and other folks here in Terry know, Weldon is the state president of Future Farmers of America. While naturally a hard working youth and possessing a brilliant mind, which stood him well both in farm as well as school work, both have been paramount in putting this boy forward among other young people, not only in his community, but throughout the state.

Of course pa and ma Mason can take a great share of the prominence of Weldon in Texas. He was reared right and in the right kind of home environment. And Weldon does not forget that he owes something of his success to the splendid work of his ag. teacher, Truett Babb of the Meadow school.

Weldon is making a mark for himself in his own right now, as he has a 320 acre farm, well stocked, and with modern farming implements. And his brother and sister Wendell and Betty, are also showing good records in their school work, tracking along in the footsteps of their parents and big brother.

About a month ago, Weldon married one of his school mates, Miss Novella Jordan, who also did fine work in the Meadow schools. In conclusion, let us state that Weldon still thinks there is plenty chance for the farm youth to advance and not only do well financially, but in developing into the kind of citizenship that our nation, state and county needs.

The Herald hopes that the career of Weldon will be an inspiration of not only the farm youths of Terry county, but to all the boys and girls throughout Texas and the USA. We need more youths of his calibre.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDuffie attended a birthday party given in honor of A. D. Repp in Lubbock Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walls visited their daughter, Mrs. A. E. McCarver, and family in Andrews over the week end.
