Dominican Rebel Chiefs Slam US Intervention

By LOUIS UCHITELLE

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Leaders of the Dominican rebel congress sent a message to non-Communist nations around the world Wednesday night accusing the United States of coercion in Dominican internal affairs.

The attack on the U.S. intervention in the Dominican crisis was signed by Arevalo Cedeno Valdez and Anibal Campagna as presidents of the Chamber of Deputies and Senate dissolved by the overthrow of President Juan Bosch in 1963.

Sent to parliamentary leaders in the Western Hemisphere, Europe, the Middle East and Asia, the message asked for support of the "free and democratic parliaments" of the world. It did not go to Cuba, Haiti, the Soviet Union or Red China.

The cable said it was "no longer a secret how the United States government, employing dilatory tactics that could be qualified as coercive, have strongly pressured responsible personalities and organisms in Santo Domingo and abroad with the manifest desire to impose solutions openly contrary to the democratic interests of the Dominican people and the 1963 constitution."

The message obviously referred to attempts by special envoys of President Johnson to get the rebel and junta factions to set up a coalition government headed by Antonio Guzman, agriculture minister under Bosch.

The junta president, Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, also assailed the plan as "a frank intervention in the internal affairs" of this Caribbean nation, but the rebels had indicated they were in favor of it.

It is not known how many members of the Bosch Congress are holed up in the rebel sector in downtown Santo Domingo. Rebel sources claim there are enough for a quorum, but this is challenged by anti-Bosch elements.

The Congress purportedly mustered 15 of its 27 senators and 41 of 74 deputies in rebel territory on May 3 and elected the insurgent leader, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, provisional president of the nation.

Queen Visits West Berlin, Views Wall

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today flew behind the Iron Curtain to West Berlin, had a long look at the Communist wall, and pledged West Berliners the full support of her government and people.

Her pledge came in a speech at City Hall before a cheering crowd of more than 100,000 just minutes after viewing the wall.

The open Mercedes limousine bearing the queen and Prince Philip drove slowly in front of the Brandenburg Gate and stopped about 50 feet from the wall, which at that point is about seven feet high and about four feet wide.

Both the queen and Prince Philip remained seated. Prince Philip looked intently at the wall and then waved at four Communist East German army officers standing atop a platform. Two waved back.

A stop at the wall had been excluded from plans. British officials said this was done to spare the queen any anti-Western posters such as the East Germans put up for President John F. Kennedy's visit to the wall in June 1963.

More than 100,000 cheering people, waving paper Union Jacks, lined the streets along the queen's 22-mile route through the city.

The queen flew 110 miles across East German territory, from Soest, where she had visited British troops Wednesday.

Before her arrival in West Berlin, the East Germans claimed West German agents planned "terrorist attacks" on the Berlin wall during the queen's 5½-hour visit to the city.

RETARDED CHILDREN in the Snyder area will be helped by an association formed here Thursday. Seated are H. Wade Whiteley, Region 4 vice president of the National Association for Retarded Children; Mrs. Maurine Robinson, coordinator of special education in Snyder; and Mrs. Joy Loyd, who was elected temporary chairman of the group and will be the instructor of trainable children in Snyder schools next year. Standing are Jack Hollis of Midland, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis for this region and Roy Meador, president of the local Kiwanis Club. Kiwanis Clubs are active in work with mental retardation problems.

Meet Held To Review Trouble Spots

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson met with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress today to review developments in Viet Nam, the Dominican Republic and other world trouble spots.

Press secretary George E. Reedy described the lengthy session as "one of his (Johnson's) periodic meetings to keep Confress informed on all developments affecting the policies of this government."

There apparently was no emergency situation involved in Johnson's decision — which was not announced in advance — to meet with the congressional chiefs.

This seemed to be underscored by the fact that Reedy announced simultaneously that Johnson would fly to Texas tonight and participate in two public events there Friday — the unveiling of a portrait of Johnson at the State Capitol Building in Austin and delivery of the commencement address at Baylor University, Waco.

Bridgeport Reports Fatal Polio Case

FORT WORTH (AP) — The polio death of an 18-month old Bridgeport girl has prompted City Health Director W. V. Bradshaw to urge parents to get their children immunized.

Martha Nuncio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santos Juncio, died in a hospital here May 14, the first polio death victim in Fort Worth since 1957.

Revisions Due On Criminal Code Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Amid increasing talk of compromise, sponsors of the Texas criminal code revision bill prepared today for a House vote on the controversial measure, which includes unprecedented state restrictions on pre-trial crime news.

"There are going to be some changes made, but I don't know what the play is," said Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville. The only way for changes to be written into the measure is for House members to send it back to conference committee.

Nugent introduced a resolution creating a committee to study crime news reporting problems. Lawmakers differed on the goal of the resolution.

Nugent said he could not speculate on whether the proposal might bring about elimination of the controversial news gathering restrictions. Other sources said the resolution was being offered to determined supporters of the news ban as a substitute for the restrictions.

Rep. Dudley Mann of El Paso, sponsor of the House version of the criminal code revision bill, said there has been no change in the stalemate.

Mann and other House members on the House-Senate conference committee joined Nugent in sponsoring the resolution.

"If the code bill fails this session, we'll have it again next session," Mann said, explaining his support of the study committee proposal.

The resolution calls for creation of a 12-member committee "to make a complete study of the problems relating to the rights of representatives of news media in reporting information relating to an accused person in custody or on bail and proceedings in our criminal and civil courts."

The resolution was referred to Mann's House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee. The study group would consist of three House members, three senators, three newsmen and two State Bar lawyers.

Senators rejected the bill, the first revision of Texas criminal laws in more than 100 years, on a voice vote Tuesday after widespread protests by editors. The House has not acted on the measure.

Living Costs Climb Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in April, the biggest monthly jump since last July, the Labor Department reported today.

Increases in the cost of food, clothing, transportation and medical care boosted the consumer price index to 109.3, a new high.

This figure means that in April it cost $10.93 to purchase typical goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

The increase was the largest for an April since 1960.

Asked if the rise was unusual, Deputy Asst. Commissioner Sidney A. Jaffe of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said:

"It's a little out of balance, but not tremendously."

Ceremony Postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate ceremony in which a portrait of President Johnson will be placed in a prominent position has been postponed from Thursday until Friday.

The president is scheduled to address Baylor University commencement exercises Friday. The Senate ceremonies are set for 9 a.m.

Berlin Crossing Temporarily Jammed

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) —Construction work on the East German side of the Iron Curtain autobahn crossing to Berlin here caused a traffic jam today, West German customs police reported.

Cars were backed up as much as a mile, police said, causing about an hour's wait in front of the border.

At noon, customs officials reported traffic was flowing normally.

Association For Retarded Is Formed

The first steps were taken here Wednesday in the formation of a group whose interest will be in working with mentally retarded children.

The name chosen was Scurry County Association for Retarded Children.

The occasion for the formation of the organization was the visit of the Kiwanis lieutenant governor, Jack Hollis of Midland, at the club's meeting here. With Hollis was H. Wade Whiteley, vice president of Region 4 of the National Association for Retarded Children.

The Kiwanis clubs have as one of their major projects across the country the work with retarded children, and with local groups such as was formed here.

At the noon luncheon Whiteley reported briefly on activities of other towns and cities in their efforts to do something for retarded children.

Whitely noted that retardation affected 30 out of every 1,000 children, and could happen in any family, rich or poor, regardless of social or educational background. The problem, he said, was twice as large as rheumatic heart condition, cerebral palsy, permanent polio and blindness combined.

Following the luncheon, temporary officers were chosen for the local Association.

They are Mrs. W. E. Loyd, chairman; Mrs. Borden Gray, secretary - treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Bruce, program chairman; and appointed to the publicity committee were Roy Meador, president of the Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Maurine Robinson, coordinator of special education in the Snyder Schools.

A general organizational meeting has been set for June 21 at the high school auditorium. At that meeting a program on "How to Get an Organization Started" will be brought by the Midland Association.

Membership is open to parents, relatives, friends, professional people and all others concerned with the problems of the retarded.

Soviets Rip Peking Policy

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union implied today that Communist China is instigating a world war over Viet Nam as the only way to unite the divided world Communist movement.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, in one of the sharpest attacks on Chinese policy in recent weeks, wrote: "It would be incorrect to hold that only a world war can bring about the unity of the socialist camp and of all the world Communist movement.

"Marxist-Leninists see their task not in waiting for a world war to break out, but in averting a chain of events that is liable to trigger it off by the joint actions of the progressive democratic forces."

Pravda's criticism of Chinese intractibility in current East-West crises was made in an article based on Lenin's critique of hard- line leftists in his book "left-wing Communism, an Infantile Disorder."

Observers here said the article appeared to be an expression of the Soviets' smouldering resentment at Peking's opposition to efforts toward reaching a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam crisis.

Condemning the refusal of the Chinese to bury their differences with Moscow despite the explosive Viet Nam crisis, Pravda said: "References to existing interparty differences can in no way justify the refusal to fight jointly against imperialist aggression."

Committee Gets Silent Treatment

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities ran into a strategy of silence by witnesses again today.

Versta Miller, a Chicago Negro who had been subpoenaed, refused to testify. He was the seventh consecutive witness to decline to answer questions by the committee counsel, Alfred Nittle.

Nittle asked Miller whether he was a member of the Communist party. When Miller refused to answer, citing the 5th and other amendments to the Constitution, Nittle said, "It's the committee's information you have been a member of the Communist party in the Chicago area at least since March 1944. How could this injure you if you testified it is not true?"

The witness still refused to answer.

This was the third and last day of the Chicago hearings on Communist activity in Illinois. In a stormy session Wednesday, witnesses refused to answer questions and 12 demonstrators were ejected from the hearing chamber.

The committee heard a second witness testify of being a Communist party member while spying for the FBI.

Federal marshals charged the persons ejected from the hearing room with impeding a committee of Congress in exercise of its proper process of investigation. Eight were released on $100 bond and the others were held in jail.

One witness Milton Cohen, walked out. A committee member said he will urge the full committee to charge Cohen with contempt.

Cohen was one of six persons named by a witness as being active in the Communist party.

Some 60 pickets paraded outside watched by 100 policemen. There were no incidents.

The pickets included three men in military uniforms with arm bands bearing the Nazi swastika. They carried placards reading "Communism is treason" and "God bless HUAC."

On the witness stand, Lucious Armstrong, 65, a Negro and retired steel mill hand, told the committee that he joined the Communist party in 1931, left in 1934, rejoined it in 1937, left it again in 1948, and rejoined in 1953 at the request of the FBI.

OAS To Study Standby Force

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk plans to meet with some Latin-American foreign ministers to take stock of the Dominican situation and to explore the possibility of setting up a standby inter-American force for future emergencies.

Perhaps a half dozen foreign ministers — the exact number is still unknown — are expected at an Organization of American States meeting — tentatively set for late today — to review the month-old Caribbean crisis and consider what to do next.

The Dominican situation is entering a new phase with a virtual end to the fighting, the replacement of some U.S. troops with troops from other hemisphere countries and a protracted stalemate between rival Dominican factions over an interim regime.

McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's adviser on national security affairs, returned Wednesday from nearly a fortnight in Santo Domingo and told newsmen the situation is "much less hectic" now.

Rusk planned to see Brazilian Foreign Minister Vasco Leitao da Cunha this afternoon. The OAS session then would follow, although officials said it may be delayed until Friday.

Rusk told a news conference Wednesday the Dominican conflict should spur the OAS to create a reserve military contingent that could be hurried to hemisphere trouble spots while slower moving inter-American consultations took place.

"The hemisphere," Rusk said, "needs to take up again the question of constituting some standby forces on a continuing basis, on prompt call, and the organization of a political machinery for taking hemispheric decisions promptly in the face of fast-moving events."

President Johnson has been criticized in some quarters for not consulting with the OAS before sending Marines to the Dominican Republic April 28.

But Rusk said the United States had to act quickly and that it consulted with the OAS promptly after the troop order was issued. When the OAS was informed, he said, it was unable to take even preliminary steps until more than a day later.

Viet Cong Losses Heavy

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Army helicopters and Vietnamese troops shot up a Viet Cong gathering 25 miles south of Da Nang today and killed about 85 of the enemy. Twenty-five suspects were captured.

A Vietnamese marine major said seized documents indicated the Viet Cong were holding a high-level meeting of many unit officers in the area.

One Vietnamese soldier was killed and three wounded in the attack. One American helicopter gunner was injured slightly.

More than four dozen planes pursued the air war north of the border. A military spokesman announced 20 U.S. and Vietnamese fighter - bombers, flying with a five-plane escort, rained 55 tons of bombs on a North Vietnamese army barracks and supply area 220 miles south of Hanoi.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married for over 20 years to a self-made man who has had very little education. He is doing very well financially. Our sons are of college age, and my husband refuses to encourage them to get a higher education. He says all you need to get along is guts. I don't agree. Do you?

VAN NUYS

DEAR VAN: No. But if "guts" are a factor, an educated man with guts has a much better chance of succeeding than a man with guts alone.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I've been married three and one-half months and I love married life. My husband and I get along fine except for one thing. He doesn't want me to wear a girdle. So far it hasn't bothered me because most of my clothes can be worn without one. But with summer coming on, I'll be wearing last summer's clothes and they all have straight skirts. I can't wear a straight skirt without a girdle. My husband says I don't need a girdle, but I feel sloppy without one. When I wear a girdle, my husband doesn't talk to me for a day. I love my husband and want to please him, but this has me stumped. I don't know why he is so against girdles.

GIRDLE TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Tell your husband that you FEEL better in a girdle and, furthermore, he can wear what he wants to under his clothes, and you'll do the same. Stay FIRM on that. (Maybe he was fascinated by a bowl of gelatin when he was a baby.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a father kissing his son? Our son is almost eight years old and I can't remember ever seeing his father kiss him. My husband says, "Men don't kiss boys — it's effeminate." It's heartbreaking to see our little four-year-old daughter getting hugs and kisses from her Daddy, while the little boy watches with tears in his eyes. The boy is a fine, well-behaved child. He idolizes his father, but the resentment he is building up toward his sister because of all the affection her father lavishes on her is terrible. Please tell me, Abby, do you think it is so wrong for a father to kiss his son?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: No. Some fathers (particulaly Europeans) kiss sons and daughters alike, which is normal and acceptable in my book. Only men who aren't absolutely sure of their own masculinity go overboard trying to prove it.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Last month my girl friend's brother-in-law died. I met him four years ago and didn't even know his last name. (He was my girl friend's sister's husband.) I didn't think it necessary to send any condolences because I really didn't know him that well.

Well, for about three weeks after that my girl friend was very cool to me. She never called. I was always calling her. Then she finally told me that she was very hurt because I didn't send her or her widowed sister condolences. To tell you the truth I didn't even think of it. I've talked to different people about this and they all said he was only a brother-in-law and they wouldn't have sent consolences, either. I would like to know your feelings on this.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Your and your friend is being childish. Apologize but be on guard for her next regression.

Clash Likely On Poll-Tax Banning

By JOHN BECULER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate passage of the administration's voting-rights bill has set up an eventual clash with the House over the banning of poll taxes in state and local elections.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., voted for the bill. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., voted against it.

That is the chief difference between the bill that sailed through the Senate Wednesday by a 79-19 vote after five weeks of debate, and the one awaiting action in the House.

The House Judiciary Committee overrode administration objections and wrote in a flat ban on poll taxes, plus a declaration that they have been used to discriminate against Negro voters. The Senate adopted a similar declaration but rejected the ban by a 49-45 vote.

Despite the solid support of the Senate joint leadership and the administration for the Senate stand on poll taxes, the House intends to stand by its version. Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., has already pledged his support and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said Wednesday he would resist all efforts to weaken the poll tax provision.

Celler's committee approved the bill May 12, but no action has been taken to clear it for debate and voting in the House. The committee's formal report will be filed Monday, and it could be another three weeks before the bill gets to the floor.

Aside from the poll-tax issue, the two bills have similar provisions, closely adhering to the legislation President Johnson requested in a speech to Congress last March 15 at the height of racial unrest in several Southern cities.

The main effect would be to suspend automatically state literacy tests and other such devices in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and South Carolina and parts of North Carolina and Virginia. Federal registrars would be authorized to sign up voters in those areas where tests are struck down.

Court action to appoint federal registrars and suspend literacy tests would be authorized in any state or county where the attorney general brought suit to enforce the 15th Amendment's guarantee of the right to vote.

The Senate's passage of the bill was never in doubt after 70 Senators voted Tuesday to limit further debate. But Southern opposition was bitter and unyielding.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said the measure violates the Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

"Not since Reconstruction has the Senate permitted this union to be so perverted and subjected to such a diabolical attack," he said.

Says She's Won Over Pentagonese

CHICKSANDS, England (AP)—Mrs. Carol Bray has completed her two-month battle against gobbledegook among American forces in Europe and has returned to San Antonio, Tex., to report back to base.

"Mission accomplished," might have been her report to Maj. Gen. Richard P. Klocko of the U.S. Air Force Security Division—but it won't be. That expression comes under the category of gobbledegook known as "Pentagonese" — unnecessary military jargon.

If anything, she will say "job done."

She stopped four days at Chicksands U.S. Air Force Base on the final stay-over of her tour, conducting four-day courses in effective writing for airmen. She had visited bases in West Germany, Turkey and Britain.

When airmen write official reports, letters, memos, routine orders and so forth, military jargon must stop, she says. Example:

"Effect and expedite the accomplishment of" becomes "see that it is done immediately."

"Maximum use of manpower" becomes "better use of men."

"Statement of functional responsibilities" becomes "list of functions."

Mrs. Bray, who is in her 50s, has written a 115-page book called "Writer's Style Guide and Manual" to help airmen know what it's all about.

"We have done research and found that by removing gobbledegook from official publications, we saved hundreds of man-hours, a lot of paper and even more money," she says.

"If we can boil down a 16-page book to 8 pages it can save thousands of man-hours for the airmen who have to read the book.

Prospect Of Eternal Youth Prompts Varied Reactions

By GEORGE ESPER

NEW YORK (AP) — A variety of reaction ranging from "great," to "contrary to nature," and "highly unlikely" came today from both young and old after a pathologist suggested that science might someday delay the aging process.

Dr. Robert R. Kohn, a pathologist at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, says "there's no theoretical reason why we should not be able to keep people as they are at age 20 to 30 for another 40 years."

"Assuming society would want it," added Kohn. He offered the theory that aging is a normal disease and conceivably susceptible to being inhibited by chemical or other means.

Some indicated they would want it, such as baseball catcher Joe Torre, 24, of the Milwaukee Braves, who said, "It would be great," and Harold Lloyd, a comedian who starred in the silent-picture era, who remarked, "I'm all for it."

Others indicated they would prefer to let nature take its own course.

Marilyn Wahl, 21, a Los Angeles airline stewardess, said: "I don't think I'd like it. There are rewards in growing older and maturing. There's pros and cons — growing old with your children and enjoying some of the things they do. But there's something wonderful about maturing. Being twice as long, the 20-to-30 age bracket wouldn't be quite as enjoyable."

A Dallas lawyer who is approaching 80 said, "There is no need to speculate about remaining 20 to 30. That is contrary to nature, the Bible and the Lord's decree."

Ann Bittner, 47, a Chicago television assembly-line supervisor, and Dr. Bonnie Strickland, 26, dean of women at Emory University, reacted differently.

"I think people from 20 to 30 are dying faster than older folks or they soon will be," said Mrs. Bittner. "The reason is they live too fast. Bad diets and carelessness with their health in general puts them in bad shape. Why make more people get into bad shape by keeping them at a careless age?"

Dr. Strickland, one of the youngest women deans in the country, said prolonging life between the ages of 20 and 30 "would be wonderful — if you were able to continually mature."

"Youth without wisdom and knowledge would have no advantage," she added.

Reunion Set At Lamesa

LAMESA — Over 300 pioneers are expected in Lamesa on Saturday for the annual reunion at Forrest Park Community Center.

There will be music by a string band during registration, which will begin at 10 a.m., and following a luncheon which will be catered at $1.25 per plate. A men's quartet will provide music.

County Judge Leslie C. Pratt will give a short report on the Dawson County Historical Survey, and Dr. E. D. Landreth, pastor of First Methodist Church in Lamesa, will bring the memorial message. Mrs. J. D. Dyer, Jr. will present gifts.

There will be a gift for the oldest man present, the oldest woman present, the earliest resident to settle in Dawson County, the pioneer traveling the greatest distance to attend the event, and the largest pioneer family present.

Barney Bratcher is president of this year's reunion, Richard Crawley is vice president, Mrs. Jos. Hansard Jr. is treasurer and Miss Artie Moore is secretary.

Mr. Wouk Contrasts Manners

DON'T STOP THE CARNIVAL. By Herman Wouk.

Broadway meets the steel drum, the machete and the Carribean's primitive spirit of irresponsibility here. The result is comically adventurous, sometimes pathetically touching and amusingly entertaining.

The story is about Norman Paperman, a Broadway press agent. His coronary attack has slowed him down, has given him a disenchantment with smart - talk Manhattan. He and his meekly loyal wife Henny have a problem with their daughter Hazel, who is having an affair with an absurdly pompous young literary fraud.

Paperman ventures to a small Caribbean island with his wealthy friend Lester Atlas, a bull-voiced, crude plunger noted for raiding moribund corporations and milking them of their assets. They find a small off - shore winter resort, called the Gull Reef Club, is for sale. With Lester's encouragement (more talk than financial, as it turns out), Paperman takes it over, renouncing Broadway.

Even before he becomes the new proprietor, he meets an ex-actress he had known years before, and starts a flirtation that ends tragically. He also finds a frogman from the local Navy base, who soon will distract Hazel's attention from her fraudulent friend.

Of course the inexperienced Paperman runs into mountainous troubles with the resort — quixotic native help; water shortages; a young bartender who proves to be a satyr; a bankrupt contractor who supposedly is fixing up new quarters; and local bureaucracy. His resort is kept afloat by a wonder - working cook and a mad old Frenchman, Hippolyte, who carries the machete.

One doesn't expect Wouk to write literary works of social significance. He is a story - teller. He has lived for several years in this West Indian locale, knows and savors its odd atmosphere.

Let's say that story - teller Wouk has come up with an engaging entertainment, more facile and ironic than some of his other novels, a diverting comedy of contrast between nervous New Yorkers and calmly indolent tropicals.

Bill To Reduce State Taxes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A bill reducing state revenue by an estimated $4.6 million in the next two years received House Tax Committee approval Thursday night.

Sponsors said the bill (HB23) repeals or reduces taxes which are either unfair or difficult to collect.

The measure is the remnant of a $15.3 million revenue measure recommended by the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy, a legislator-layman group. The commission proposal would have repealed some taxes while strengthening or imposing others.

Gov. John Connally said recently he opposed part of the recommendations, but he took a $6 million revision of state inheritance tax laws into his $79 million revenue program for the next two years.

As approved by the committee the bill does these things:

—Repeals the tax on natural gas used on the lease to produce more gas, a loss of $2 million.

—Reduces the chain store tax, a $1.5 million loss.

—Cancels the tax on vending machine sales under 25 cents, a $700,000 loss.

—Rounds off certain utility tax rates, a loss of $58,000.

—Reduces the discount given cigarette wholesalers for putting cigarette tax stamps on cigarettes from 2.25 per cent of the value of the stamps to 1.8 per cent, a gain of $1.5 million

—Begins a nine-year phaseout of the indebtedness factor used in computing the state corporation franchise tax, a $1.6 million loss.

The estimates were given by Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity and Lufkin, chairman of the subcommittee that rewrote the bill. Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston said he had received from the state comptroller's office figures that placed the total loss at about $5.3 million.

Connally Signs Bill For Blood Tests

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally signed a bill Wednesday requiring newborn infants to be tested for a rare bloodstream disease — pheynylktonuria (pku) — which causes mental retardation.

Early detection of the disease, plus a special diet, can prevent retardation from pku, said the sponsor of the bill (HB893), Rep. Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches.

Heir To British Title Willing To Sell

By GEORGE W. WILBUR

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — A retired paperhanger says he'll pass up one of the oldest titles in British aristocracy because he "hasn't any money and can't swim."

Newlon D'Arcy Wyvill, 69, expressed little surprise when told that Debrett's, Britain's directory of the aristocracy, indicated he is the rightful owner of the country's 10th most senior baronetcy.

"To me it don't mean a thing," the small camera-shy Wyvill said. "We've known the title was over there. If there were a few million dollars attached to it, I'd be very happy. Outside of that, no."

"Naturally I'm very proud," he said. It wouldn't be worth the time and expense to pursue claim to the title because I don't think there's any money over there," he said.

Debrett's, in its latest edition Wednesday, said that Wyvill is a descendant of Sir Richard Wyvill. Sir Richard was slain at the Battle of Towton Field in 1461 during the Wars of the Roses.

Sir Marmaduke Wyvill of Constable Burton, Yorkshire, was the first recognized baronet of the Wyvill family, Debrett's said. He died in 1774, survived by a cousin whose father emigrated to America during the reign of George II.

Debrett's said its researchers had traced this family to Newlon D'Arcy Wyvill.

Wyvill said his grandfather and his father were interested in the title, but his grandfather died before he could travel to England and his father "was just about like me. He didn't have any money and he couldn't swim."

Wyvill said he hadn't given much thought to how it would feel to be a baronet.

"I don't know," he said. "I never did have anyone wait on me. I've done all my work myself." He could call himself Sir Newlon if he proved his right to the title.

Wyvill said he had conflicting information on whether any property is involved in the baronetcy.

Wyvill said he's content to enjoy his retirement here with his wife. He offered to sell the title to a reporter for $1.

Brock And Wills Race For Lead

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lou Brock won the battle, but Maury Wills still is winning the war.

Brock, who has turned into Wills' shadow in a possible record-making race for the National League's stolen-base championship, came out on top in their first direct confrontation Wednesday night while the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1.

Brock, the Cardinals' swift left fielder, stole three bases for a season total of 21 in 39 gams. Wills, the Dodgers record-holder and five-time champion, settled for one steal and a total of 25 in 40 games.

Wills, who stole 53 bases last year, predicted before the season started that someone would eventually break the record of 104 he set in 1962. And he hinted that it just might be the guy who played shortstop for the Dodgers.

"I think it's possible to break the record," Wills said. "And the way I feel I think I can go at top speed all the way. I feel better than when I was 18. Maybe I'm getting my second wind."

Brock, on the other hand, still is learning how to use his first wind. He's only 25 — eight years younger than Wills — and didn't develop into a Wills-type stealing threat until he was turned loose after being acquired from the Chicago Cubs last June.

The Cardinals' victory pulled the defending world champions to within 1½ games of the first-place Dodgers, who stayed one game ahead of Cincinnati in the tightening NL struggle as the Reds bowed to Houston 8-3.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee belted San Francisco 10-4, Pittsburgh upended Philadelphia 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs edged the New York Mets 8-6 in 10 innings.

In American League action, Minnesota outslugged Boston 12-7, Cleveland defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1, Kansas City whipped Baltimore 6-3 and the Los Angeles Angels nipped Washington 2-1.

Brock scored the first Cardinal run in the first inning on Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly but the Dodgers tied it in the second on singles by Ron Fairly and Lou Johnson, a walk and a double-play grounder. The Cardinals brought home the winner in the seventh on successive singles by Bob Uecker, Curt Simmons and Julian Javier.

Simmons got the victory with a five-hitter for a 3-5 record, outdueling Sandy Koufax, now 6-3.

Jim Wynn was the big gun for the Astros against the Reds, driving in four runs in support of Bob Bruce's five-hit, 13-strikeout pitching.

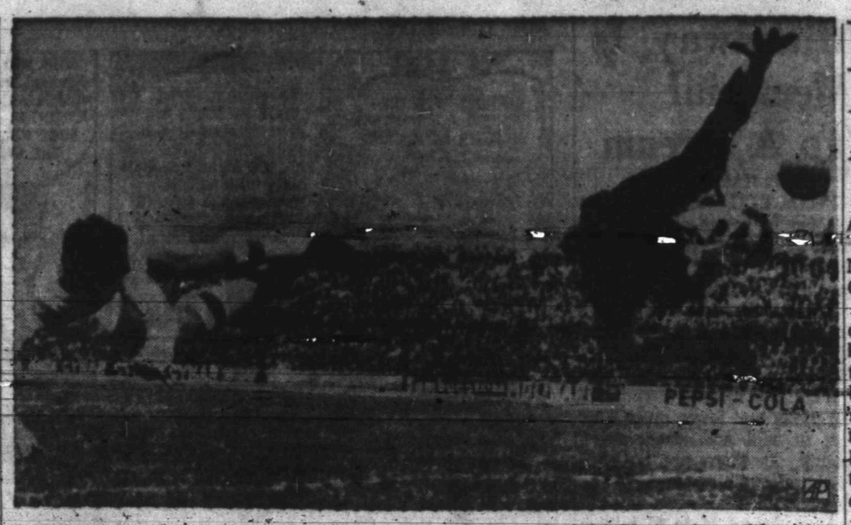

Wynn singled home a run in the first, broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run triple in the third and hit his seventh homer in the fifth inning as Bill McCool was tagged with the loss in his first start.

The Braves bombed Giant ace Juan Marichal for 11 hits and nine runs in 3 2-3 innings, with Joe Torre and Felipe Alou each hitting a pair of homers. Torre drove in five runs and Alou three with the shots that sent Marichal down to his fourth loss against seven victories.

The Pirates snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning when Andre Rodgers doubled, moved to third on a long fly and sped home on a two-out bunt by Manny Mota. Willie Stargell padded the margin with his eighth homer.

The Mets replaced the Pirates in 10th place when former teammate George Altman hit a two-run homer for the Cubs' victory in the 10th inning.

The Mets had tied the score with a two-run sixth-inning rally after the Cubs built an early lead behind Vic Roznovsky's three-run homer.

Liston-Clay Fight Causes Doubt In Boxing World

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Nothing seems to faze Cassius Clay.

In the wake of international condemnation of the first-round knockout of Sonny Liston, nationwide calls for a probe of boxing, and proposals in several states for the banning of boxing, the undefeated and undaunted heavyweight champion talked today of fighting Canadian champion George Chuvalo or former champion Floyd Patterson next, or "anyone the public picks."

"Maybe I should fight three of them — Floyd Patterson, George Chuvalo and Ernie Terrell — in one night," said Clay. "But who would bet on Chuvalo, Patterson and Terrell to beat me?"

All three want the next shot at Clay, despite his one-punch kayo of Liston Tuesday night in one minute, two minutes, or take your pick of the time. The question of the time may be officially decided before long.

But how much power really was generated by that one short, righ-hand blow to Liston's left cheekbone never will be known by anyone except Liston. Either the cocky 23-year-old Clay unleashed one of the mightiest punches ever or Liston's ability or desire to take a punch was gone.

Clay, Liston, referee Jersey Joe Walcott and Patterson all say it was a hard smash. Chuvalo, who dashed into the ring Tuesday night to argue with Clay, charged the knockout was "a farce."

"Liston's reflexes were slow and his coordination was gone," said ringsider Jimmy Braddock, one of the many ex-heavyweight kings at the fight. "He got a good shot and fell apart. A fighter is the last one to know when he's finished."

Arriving home in Denver, Liston remarked that he had gotten a "fast shuffle," but did not explain the statement. Sonny said he'd like to fight Clay again, "but I guess I'll have to give some other guys a chance."

Liston said he thought Walcott separated him and Clay because the round was over.

"I thought maybe I didn't hear the bell or something," he said.

"It was a real hard smash," said Patterson, who added, "I want to fight Clay more than ever now. I haven't seen anybody throw a right hand like Clay since Joe Louis. But I believe I know how to beat him."

Swim Team Parents Plan To Organize

Prospective members of a summer swimming team and their parents met Wednesday afternoon at the Towle Park pool and discussed plans for activities during the season.

The parents plan to meet again at 5:30 p.m. next Wednesday at which time they will organize and begin work on rules and regulations for the team.

First workouts for swimmers who plan to join the team will be held Monday morning at the pool.

Indications are that the local team will compete in three or four out-of-town meets during the summer, and a local meet also will be held. Another activity will be the exhibition matches between local swimmers at the Independence Day celebration in the park. There is a possibility that a few dual or triangular meets will be arranged as the season progresses.

Giants To Hold Baseball Tryouts

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—The San Francisco Giants will hold a tryout for aspiring baseball players 16 years or older at Sam Houston State College today through Saturday.

Adams Out Of Boxing Scene

HOUSTON (AP)—J. S. (Bud) Adams says he is getting out of the fight business.

The owner-president of the Houston Oiler pro football team has been active in boxing circles in recent years and owned a stable of several fighters.

Adams said Wednesday his decision is based on his "complete displeasure with the current climate in boxing, both locally and nationally."

He said the move at this particular time was prompted by a series of incidents involving heavyweight boxer Cleveland Williams.

Williams suffered a near fatal gunshot wound last November in a scuffle with a police officer and this week was arrested on charges of carrying a pistol.

Williams is under contract to Adams in a partnership with Hugh Benbow and Adams said he is not relinquishing his hold on the Houston fighter's contract at this time.

Texas League Lead Is Cut

By The Associated Press

Tulsa and Austin edged upward in the eastern division of the Texas League Wednesday night as the Oilers beat Dallas-Fort Worth 5-2 and the Braves ran rough shod over Albuquerque 10-2.

Tulsa is now only one and one-half games behind the Spurs and Austin only two games.

Texas Tech Signs New Track Hopeful

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Texas Tech track coach Vernon Hilliard has announced receipt of a letter of intent from Lee Lebow of Brazosport High School.

Lebow, who has hurled the shot more than 60 feet, is the first Tech track signee for 1965.

Pee Wee Tryouts Set Today

Tryouts for the Boys' Club Pee Wee teams were set for 4:30 p.m. today.

Those boys, 8, 9, and 10 years of age who had already signed up for the Pee Wee League were to try out for the four teams which are planned.

Teams will be selected Friday, and announcement of the rosters will be made in the Sunday edition of the Daily News. League play will start next week.

Texas Collegians Set High Marks

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—At this late stage of the track season it's mighty tough to break into the season standings.

It takes 21.1 to make the top 10 in the 220-yard dash, 47.4 in the 440, 1:53.1 in the 880, 9.6 in the 100 and 14.2 in the high hurdles.

A 4:15.5 in the mile is necessary to crack the top 10 and throw of 163 feet 8½ inches is needed in the discus.

All of which indicates that this has been a great year for the thinly clads in Texas, according to the standings compiled by the Abilene Christian College sports information office.

There are two double-leaders in the state—Randy Matson of Texas A&M with 70 feet 7 inches in the shot (a world's record) and 201-9½ in the discus (a national collegiate record); Charles Christmas of Abilene Christian, with 1:50.1 in the 880 and 4:09.8 in the mile.

Baylor's 3:17.0 in the sprint medley is a new NCAA record. Rice's 57.5 in the 480-yard shuttle hurdles relay ties the NCAA record and there have been two state records tied—10.2 by Texas Southern freshman James Hines in the 100-meter and 20.5 by Texas Southern's Clyde Duncan in the 200-meter.

Hines owns the top 100 clocking of 9.4 while San Antonio schoolboy Clyde Glosson is the 220-yard leader with 20.6.

Abilene Christian's Lynn Saunders and North Texas State's Doyle Magee share the top 440 time of 46.3.

Bill Thomas of Howard Payne leads the two-milers with 9:13.6, Laurie Elliott of Houston the three-milers with 9:13.6, Laurie Elliott of Houston the three-milers with 14:24.4, Craig Fox of Abilene Christian and David Bonds of McMurry are tied for the lead in the 330-yard hurdles with 37.7 each, Tony Pickett of the Houston freshmen leads the 440-yard hurdles with 52.0.

Bobby May of Rice, Cuyler Thompson of Houston and Orlando Bristol of Texas Southern pace the high hurdlers with 13.8.

Ira Daniels of North Texas State tops the triple jump with 47 feet 11 inches. Ron Linscomb of North Texas leads the broad jumpers with 24 feet 7 inches. John Hartfield of Texas Southern has the best mark in the high jump with 6 feet 11¼ inches and Ed Red Rice ex, has the best javelin throw, 237 feet.

Homer Norton Rites To Be Held Friday

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services for Homer Norton, who put Texas A&M into the national football spotlight with great teams in the late 30s and early 40s, will be conducted here Friday.

Norton died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 69.

Norton coached the Aggies longer than any other man and his teams had the longest winning streak in the history of the Southwest Conference.

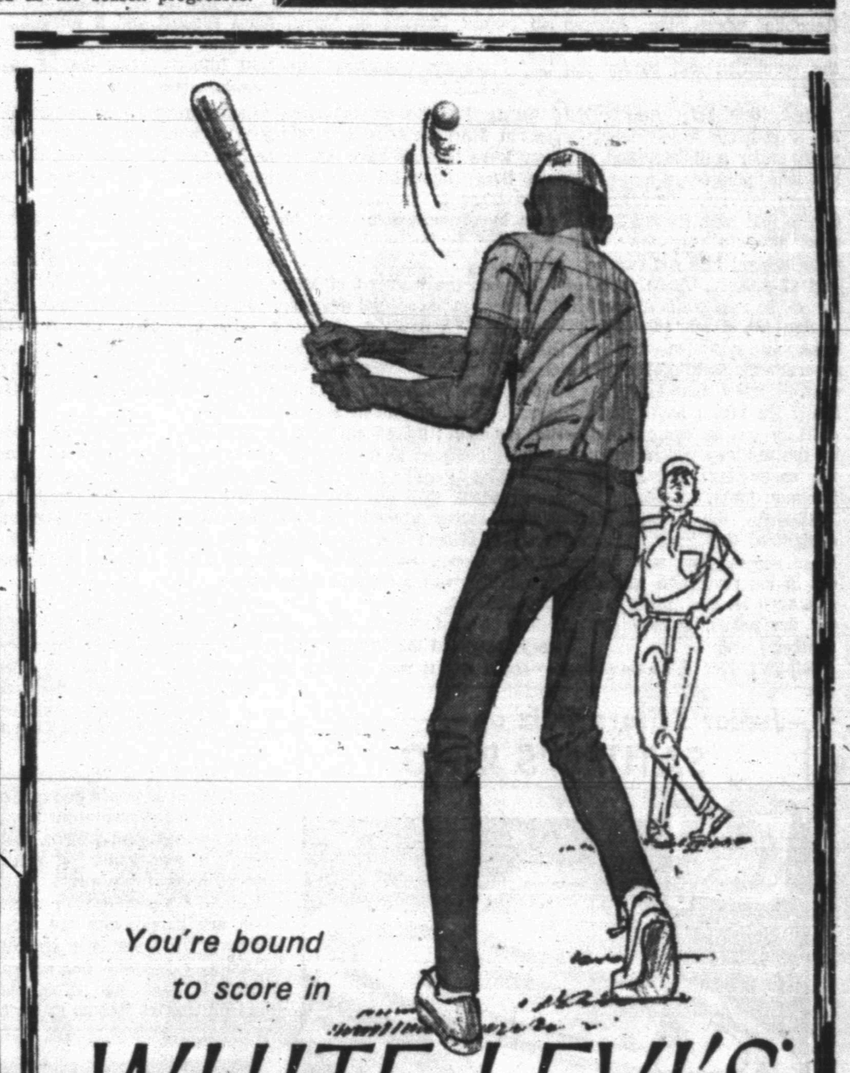

He came to A&M in 1934 from Centenary where he had won a reputation for producing upsets. In his first season with the Aggies he won but two games.

However, by 1939 the Aggies were national champions with an undefeated season. They rolled through the 1940 season undefeated until Texas upset them 7-0 in the final game.

Then A&M won the Southwest Conference title in 1941.

Under Norton, the Aggies played in the Sugar Bowl in 1940, in the Cotton Bowl in 1941 and 1942, and in the Orange Bowl in 1944. His coaching record at A&M was 82-53-9.

Dense Fog Settles Over Troubled Dominican Scene

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fog has settled over the Dominican Republic where the Johnson administration has tried to end the revolution and so far has failed.

First, this brief background on a country which lived 31 years under a dictator and now has two "presidents":

From 1930 until his assassination in 1961 Gen. Rafael Trujillo was absolute dictator while those around him got rich in a land of poverty. There were, of course, no real political parties.

After his death the Dominicans struggled through four governments and then, in a free election, chose Juan Bosch president. He lasted seven months until he was thrown out in 1963 by the military which scrapped the constitution and set up a five-man junta.

Although the United States recognized this junta, it lacked mass support and was heaved out in the revolution which began April 24. The military, defying the rebels, quickly set up another junta.

Skipping over the intervening weeks, this is the picture now:

There are two warring factions, the five-man civilian-military junta headed by Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera as "president" and the rebels headed by Col. Francisco Caamano Deno as "president."

On April 28 President Johnson sent in Marines. At first he said they were there to save American lives; later he said they were there to prevent a takeover by Communists who, he explained, controlled the revolution.

Then on the weekend of May 15 he sent in his special adviser, McGeorge Bundy, a former Harvard dean, as his troubleshooter. Bundy returned to Washington Wednesday after 10 days in the Dominican Republic. He hadn't solved anything.

What he tried to do was get both sides to agree to a coalition government. To do this, the United States wanted the two leaders, Imbert and Caamano, to step down. But Imbert refused. This was a blow to Bund and Johnson.

The United States had not only supported the Imbert junta — some say it was created at U.S. suggestion — but two weeks ago was considering recognizing it as the government.

But Imbert reportedly lacked mass support and a week ago U.S. policy shifted support away from Imbert, urging that he and Caamano both step aside.

Caamano may have undergone a change, too. In the past he had said he would step down but Wednesday he told newsmen no agreement had been reached on forming a coalition although, he said, his talks with Bundy had helped chances for a solution.

When Bundy came home he left the task of working out an agreement with both sides to Dr. Jose Mora, secretary-general of the Organization of American States.

Meanwhile, the OAS had voted 14 to 4 to send in a Latin-American peacekeeping force with troops from five countries, about 2,000 in all. As they move in the United States will withdraw about 1,700 of its 21,000 troops.

The U.S. ambassador to the OAS, Ellsworth Bunker, seems to see great things in store for the idea of an OAS peacekeeping force. This was the first time Latin-American countries had ever agreed to anything like this.

He called it a "historic action," hoped it would become a precedent for a permanent hemisphere peacekeeping force. But there's a good chance it won't and for several reasons.

Not all Latin-American countries are happy with the U.S. intervention in this case and all of them, along with the United States, 17 years ago agreed in the OAS charter that no state or group of states has a right to intervene in any American state's internal problems for any reason.

When Johnson sent in the Marines he was going contrary to this agreement signed by the United States, but the OAS by sending in the peacekeeping force was also acting contrary to its own charter.

Hideaway Is Memorial To A Dream

By HAL BOYLE

KHAM DUC, Viet Nam (AP) — Men in power often like to have a hideaway from the world where, in a proper setting, they can brood on their greatness.

The late President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam had plans for a summer palace here 43 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A site was cleared atop one of the peaks that tower up to 6,000 feet in wild and lonely green beauty. As there are no good roads, everything had to be flown in by hand.

At a cost of $4 to $5 million dollars, an airstrip was built on a 1,600-foot-high plateau: Construction was begun on the foundations for the palace. Then Diem was killed during a political coup, and his unfinished palace hideaway now stands as a mute memorial to his vanished dream.

On the plateau now is a training camp for civilian irregular defense groups, quasi soldier volunteers whose job is to protect isolated villages from Viet Cong raids.

Some of the volunteers once fought against the French in these same hills. Most are quite young, some only 16 years old. But after six weeks of training here they are deemed ready to be thrown against the guerrillas.

"We've got a pretty good setup here," said 1st Lt. Niel Davidson, 24, Chicago, member of a small U.S. Army Special Forces team which helps train the Vietnamese and Montangard tribesmen volunteers.

"It's pretty much like garrison life anywhere except when we go out on operations against the Viet Cong. But I'll say one thing — these are the most miserable mountains and Godawful jungles anyone on a patrol ever saw."

Davidson could be forgiven a bit of homesickness. He was married only three months ago, and a month later had to leave his bride to come to this isolated outpost in a strange land.

To an outsider these lonely circles of security in an enemy sea seem terribly vulnerable to mass attacks. The airstrips are their only lifeline to the outside world.

"We could be overrun," acknowledged the unworried lieutenant, "but they'd have to spend an awful lot of people to do it — more people than they can afford.

"We were mortared once, but they quit as soon as we returned their fire.

"After all, this place is pretty well defended with prepared positions, concrete bunkers and miles of barbed wire and mine fields."

Aside from the guerrillas, the mountains and plateaus abound in many forms of wild game, including elephants and tigers. None of the Americans here has had a chance to go hunting of them, however.

Junior Editors Quiz on SATURN'S RING

QUESTION: What are Saturn's rings composed of and how did they get there?

• • •

ANSWER: Saturn's rings are said to consist of many billions of small gravel-like particles, circling around the planet in a flat disk only ten miles thick. As our illustration indicates, there are actually three rings, although all are in the same flat plane. Saturn is an extremely cold planet, with a temperature of 250 degrees below zero. Some astronomers believe that the particles in the rings are ice, a theory which would help to explain why they reflect the light from the sun, which is a very long distance away. But other authorities believe them to be at least partly made up of particles of earth or rock. How the rings came to be where they are is another mystery. Some believe they represent the remains of a moon which once encircled Saturn and then broke into fragments. Another theory is that they are leftover matter from when the planet itself was formed. Saturn is of very light material; so light, it would float if there was water to float in. This is the idea symbolized by the impossible picture at the lower right. Saturn has nine moons. One of them, Titan, is very interesting, because it is the only moon in the solar system which has an atmosphere.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture a rich yellow and you will get a better idea of this planet, which is the most wonderful thing to be seen in our solar system except for the sun itself. 5/27

Rift May Block New Amendment

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disagreement between the House and Senate is threatening to block a proposed constitutional amendment to cover presidential disability.

The hitch to a compromise agreement is a provision in the House bill to limit the time Congress has to decide the issue when the vice president contests the right of a once-disabled president to resume office.

The House version says Congress must decide within 10 days or the president resumes his powers automatically. The Senate bill sets no time limit.

The House provision was frankly aimed at the Senate, with its tradition of unlimited debate. Advocates of the amendment fear a Senate filibuster could keep a president from office.

Two conferences between Senate and House joint committees have failed to settle the issue. When the second one broke up Wednesday, no date was set for a third meeting. Participants said feelings on both sides were strong.

The Senate reportedly agreed to accept a 2-day limit for congressional action, but the House rejected it, arguing the nation could not afford such an interruption in the exercise of presidential power.

Aside from that difference, the House and Senate amendments are nearly identical. The Senate amendment passed 72 to 0 in February and the House voted 367 to 29 in favor of its version six weeks ago.

The amendments are intended to ensure against any break in the exercise of the powers and duties of the presidency. Besides providing for a vice president to take over the duties of a disabled president, they would have a vacancy in the vice presidency filled by presidential appointment.

TO GRADUATE—Mrs. Brenda Winter will receive the bachelor of business administration degree at Texas Tech Saturday night. Her major is business education and she has been on the dean's honor list. Mrs. Winter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Hobbs and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Winter, all of Hermleigh. She is a 1961 graduate of Hermleigh High School. Gov. John Connally will deliver the commencement address at Tech.

Spain's income from tourism has risen to nearly a billion dollars a year.

To Aid In Training Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally said Wednesday an organization from private industry in Texas, Opportunities, Inc., has agreed to help carry out on a cost basis the youth training program at the Gary Job Corps Center in San Marcos.

Opportunities, Inc., is a nonprofit company of representatives of Texas - based firms and associations, Connally said, adding:

"Thus, we are able to mobilize for the Gary project management skill that could not be assembled under ordinary circumstances for any amount of money."

Some 800 youths are enrolled at Camp Gary, a total which should reach 3,000 by late fall, Connally said. The youths are receiving job training as part of President Johnson's war on poverty.

Science fiction film fans could have the time of their lives in Trieste, Italy, from June 10 to 17 this year. Dozens of the fantasy movies will be shown in an International Festival of Science - Fantasy Films organized by the local tourist bureau.

TO GET DEGREE — Patsy Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ramsey, Route 1, Snyder, will receive the bachelor of business administration degree May 31 at McMurry College in Abilene. Her major is business education, and she has been a member of Gamma Sigma social club on the McMurry campus.

Disfigured S. Vietnamese Present Staggering Task

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese are so badly disfigured by gunshot and burn wounds they'll never be able to lead useful lives, says an American plastic surgeon who recently returned from the stricken land.

Only four Vietnamese plastic surgeons are available in that country of 14 million people, a severe shortage that represents a national tragedy, said Dr. Richard B. Stark, chief of plastic surgery at St. Luke's Hospital New York.

Stark returned recently from Saigon after spending a month training and assisting the four Vietnamese plastic surgeons who face, he said, a staggering task of treating casualty cases that includes civilians and soldiers. Stark was an emissary of MEDICO, a nongovernmental medical group that provides aid in underprivileged areas of the world.

"Many of them (the victims) need 40 to 50 operations in order to be salvaged," said the doctor in a report to MEDICO. The report was made available to a reporter by CARE Inc., which is holding a world conference here. MEDICO is a service of CARE.

"Based on U S. experiences in World War II and the Korean War," the report said, "it would take 15 years to perform the amount of reconstructive surgery needed to restore these people."

"MEDICO has made an important first step in tackling the problem," he said, adding that he and seven other American plastic surgeons lectured and operated under a program "calculated to upgrade the Vietnamese surgeons."

But plastic surgery is not the only medical deficiency in the area, he said.

"South Viet Nam," Stark said, "is a medical jungle. Statistics tell just part of the story.

"There are only 700 physicians in the entire country. However, 400 of these are serving up to 10 years in the armed forces. That leaves 300 physicians who must care for the civilian population of 14 million."

The doctor said a new phase of the plastic surgery and other surgery training program is under way with the cooperation of St. Luke's Hospital.

"It is designed," he said, "to pave the way for Vietnamese surgeons to train in U.S. hospitals under approved internship and residency programs."
