Silence Of Soviets During Treaty Hearing Is Unique

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is doing an astonishing job—without any complaint from Russia—of telling the world the United States is far more powerful than the Soviets. Top men in the administration, in testimony before Senate committees considering the limited nuclear test ban treaty, have proclaimed one after another American nuclear superiority. And not a word from Premier Khrushchev. From Geneva the Associated Press reported that diplomatic sources said Russia last week promised this country it would not try to exploit in any way Senate debate over approval of the treaty. This kind of Russian cooperation, to get American approval of a treaty which Russia wants as much as the Kennedy administration, is probably unprecedented, at least in recent history. Russian agreement to the treaty is even more unusual—if it, too, thinks the United States has such superiority—since the treaty, by banning all tests except underground, makes Russian efforts to catch up most difficult. Together the Senate hearings and debate will take perhaps a month or more. That's a long time for Khrushchev to keep quiet while the United States goes unchallenged in telling the world Russia is second-best. This silence can hardly last forever and probably won't any longer than it takes the Senate to give its approval. Russia might make that approval much more doubtful if it began shouting counterclaims now. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, for instance, said this country has held communism in check 18 years by the "deterrent force of our massive military strength." And he added: "We shall maintain that overwhelming strength until we are certain that freedom can be assured by other means." Even though Rusk played badminton with Khrushchev last week, he didn't hesitate to express less than complete confidence Khrushchev wouldn't cheat on the treaty. He said he couldn't guarantee it wouldn't happen. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was even more emphatic. He said flatly American nuclear forces "are manifestly superior." He assured his listeners this superiority would be prolonged rather than diminished by the treaty. Even in testing underground, the only kind the treaty permits and the kind President Kennedy said this country will definitely continue, McNamara said this country "has had substantially more experience."

Therefore, he said, the agreement would "at least retard Soviet progress and prolong and duration of our technological superiority." He went even further. He expressed the opinion that the increase in American superiority over the last four years probably made the Soviet Union decide to agree to the test ban. Next came Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to say these top military men consider the United States "clearly ahead" of the Soviets "in the ability to wage strategic war" and that it is probably ahead "in the ability to wage tactical war." Under the combined testimony of these three men any opposition left in the Senate seemed badly melted. The three didn't say they had compared notes before testifying. But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., thought it odd that all three expressed fear that "euphoria" in the West over the treaty might reduce its vigilance. The dictionary defines euphoria as "a feeling of well-being or elation, specially one that is groundless." Yet, nothing could do more to give the West a feeling of elation than the testimony of Rusk, McNamara and Taylor about American superiority. Russell said he was "consumed with curiosity" about how the word got into the testimony of all three men but he said "it's firmly established now" and "we'll have euphoria all around us."

Failure To Stardom To 'Stripper'

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The movie career of Constance Towers seemed utterly blighted at the tender age of 12. Working as a summer usherette in a small town theater, she committed the most unforgivable sin of filmdom. "I accidentally set fire to the popcorn machine," she said, hanging her head in mock shame. "I lost my job at the spot."
"I wasn't in too good standing with the manager anyway. Instead of showing patrons to their seats, I spent most of the time sitting in the front row sobbing at the picture."
But in the years since then the little druggist's daughter from Whitefish, Mont., has done very well for herself. Today she lives in several worlds—all pretty wonderful.
Miss Towers became a top singer in television and the nation's supper club circuit. She married a wealthy Panama insurance tycoon, Eugene C. McGrath, whose brother is Catholic archbishop there.
She has two lovely children, and a family yacht to dive from when she goes skin diving.
Socially, she is chummy with some members of the Kennedy clan, and she is noted as one of the nation's best-dressed women.
After appearing in one film she'd prefer to forget, she got a real break when director John Ford met her at an ice show and later signed her to costar with John Wayne in "The Horse Soldiers."
In her latest picture, "The Shock Corridor" Miss Towers sheds her usual custom-designed finery to appear as a strip tease artist, a role she undertook with some misgivings.
"It threw me at first when I found I was to play a stripper, because I had never performed as a dancer," said Constance, who is blonde and willowy, bright and vivacious.
"It isn't easy to sing and take your clothes off at the same time. It's like trying to pat your head and rub your stomach simultaneously."
She studied for her part by watching some real strippers go through their chores in a Los Angeles lounge of the arts known as "The Pink Pussy Cat." A choreographer then taught her how to bump and grind.
"It's a great form of exercise if you need to get into shape," she remarked laconically. "You'd be surprised how many muscles you use."

Big Jellyfish Is Pulled Out

DEAL, N.J. (AP)—A large jellyfish of a variety whose sting can be fatal was pulled from the Atlantic Ocean at Deal Casino Beach Thursday.
Another one was found at the beach several days ago and buried by lifeguards.
Guard Jerry Zimmerman, 21, said Thursday's arrival was about two feet in diameter, with small tentacles.
The jellyfish, a lower form of animal life, normally inhabits deep water throughout the North Atlantic. Several specimens have been reported at Long Island, N.Y., beaches recently. A Marine authority said the ocean temperatures have been extremely cool and the frigid water probably killed the jellyfish. They were washed ashore by the tide.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIANS

QUESTION: Where did the American Indians come from?

ANSWER: In 1926, a remarkably well made stone spearhead was found near Folsom, N. Mex. Close to the bones of a kind of bison long extinct. Other similar spearheads have been found. Experts generally accept these as proof that early man was hunting animals in America as far back as the last ice age. More and more traces of ancient man are coming to light.
The story is not exactly known as yet, but a summary of the scientists' conclusions might go like this: The North and South American Indians came from common ancestors who originally lived in northern Asia. About 15,000 to 20,000 years ago, these ancestors entered America across the Bering Strait. Many believe that a land bridge then connected Asia and Alaska. It is thought that since these ancient people were hunters, they followed herds of large animals (such as the mammoth in our picture) across the land bridge into America. This probably happened slowly, group by group. The people gradually fanned out and became the American Indians, some continuing to hunt, others learning to grow corn and maize. Many continued down into South America. By 7,000 B. C. it is estimated they had reached the southernmost point.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up "prehistoric animals" in an encyclopedia to find what other prey the American Indians' ancestors could have been after.
(Helen Getty of Howard, Pa. wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a post card to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

'Super' Subs Lead Yankees Past Sox

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle and Tony Kubek are benched with foot trouble. Roger Maris has a sore hand. You'd think the New York Yankees would rattle along like a car without any front wheels.

So Johnny Blanchard hits two home runs, including a first-inning grand slammer, and drives in six runs. Hee Cooper and Phil Linz each bang a double and two singles.

The super subs wind up with a total of eight hits and eight runs batted in in a 9-2 blast over the Red Sox at Boston Thursday.

You can almost hear the Red Sox wailing a parody of the long time favorite:

"Come back Mickey Mantle! Come back Tony Kubek! Please come back Roger Maris! Please come back Tony Kubek!"

As for Blanchard, the Sox would like to dump him in the Charles River. He doesn't hit for average in Fenway Park but when he does connect, the seats get an awful blasting.

"I think I've only had six hits in this park in my entire career and five of them have been home runs," said Blanchard after he wrecked the Sox. His recollection is correct. Of the five homers, four won games.

Johnny's grand slammer came in the Yankees' five-run first inning off Earl Wilson. With that fat cushion, Stan Williams won his second straight routing job with a six-hitter, including Dick Stuart's 30th homer.

The victory increased the Yankees' lead to 8½ games over the idle Chicago White Sox who found the surging Minnesota Twins just a half game behind in third place.

The Twins crushed the fourth place Orioles 13-3. Detroit walloped the Athletics 11-1 at Kansas City and the Washington Senators eked out a 5-4 win over the Angels at Los Angeles.

In the National League, the league-leading Dodgers beat Milwaukee 7-5 to keep three games in front of the San Francisco Giants who downed Cincinnati 6-3. Houston whipped the third place St. Louis Cardinals, 4-2, the Philadelphia Phillies tripped Chicago, 4-3, and Pittsburgh pasted the New York Mets, 5-2.

Jimmy Hall, the Twins' candidate for AL Rookie of the Year honors, slammed three hits including his 20th home run, and drove in five runs in the home rout of the Orioles. Minnesota's Lee Stange went all the way on a nine-hitter and nine strikeouts to boost his record to 6-3. Don Mincher and Bob Allison also homered for the Twins. It was No. 13 for Mincher and No. 26 for Allison.

The Tigers walloped starter Los Angeles pitcher Bill Fischer and Tom Sturdivant for 15 hits including three apiece by Bill Britton, Don Wert and Dick McAuliffe. Six singles, a walk and an error produced seven runs in the fourth inning and made the 11-1 Aguirre yielded eight hits. Ed Roebuck, traded to the Senators by the Dodgers, collected a relief victory on a so-so four-inning stint. He gave up four hits in three innings but gained the triumph when the Senators broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth on pinch-hitter Larry Osborne's block drive, an infield out and Dick Phillips. By Don Kirk, the Angels in the last two innings.

A SOLEMN FAREWELL—Stan Musial, 42, of the St. Louis Cardinals gropes for the right words as he announced his retirement from baseball in St. Louis. The Man, who played 22 years with the Cardinals, will play his last game Sept. 29. "Baseball has been my life," said Musial, who three times won the National League Most Valuable Player award, seven times led the league in hitting and broke numerous career records. "I have had fun all these years." (AP Wirephoto)

Testimony Ends In Libel Trial

By DON MCKEE
ATLANTA (AP)—Wally Butts, former Georgia football coach, ended testimony in his $10-million libel suit with a solemn declaration that he was telling the truth in denying game-rigging charges by a national magazine.

Closing arguments by attorneys began today with the case scheduled to go to the jury Monday after a weekend recess.

Butts was recalled briefly Thursday and asked if he had told the truth.

"That is the truth, sir," he replied.

The 58-year-old former athletic director at Georgia said last Friday and again Monday he never betrayed his football team. He said because of a Saturday Evening Post article which said he fed Georgia team secrets to Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

The Post charged that Butts and Bryant rigged and fixed the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game which Alabama won 35-0.

After Butts' testimony, witness stand, his attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., said quietly: "That is our case, your honor."

"And we have completed ours, your honor," quickly responded Welborn B. Cody, chief counsel for Curtis.

Both sides quickly moved for directed verdicts and the motions were promptly denied by Judge Lewis R. Morgan.

Proceeding Butts to the stand was Dr. Frank A. Rose, president of the University of Alabama.

Rose was questioned at length about a letter he had written Dr. O. C. Aderhold, University of Georgia president.

On the March 6 letter, Rose said Bryant got information about Georgia football plays from Butts.

"These were 'techniques,'" Rose said.

"My letter was my best layman's interpretation of what I thought Coach Bryant told me," Rose insisted Bryant never said he got inside information on Georgia team from Butts, but that the Alabama coach was trying to get interpretations of rules applying to defensive tactics.

His letter, he said, was not intended as a legal document but was an attempt to convey to Aderhold that there was nothing unethical exchanged between Butts and Bryant.

Curtis introduced the letter in evidence in support of its claim that Butts gave Bryant detailed secrets of Georgia's team in a Sept. 13 telephone call, nine days before the game.

3 Tie For Lead In Texas PGA

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Three under-par 64 shooters—Gary Brewer of Dallas, Bert Weaver of Beaumont and Bill Dill of Houston—were tied for the lead today as the Texas PGA Tournament entered its second round.

They were a stroke ahead of Doug Higgins of Fort Worth and two to the good over former champion Earl Stewart of Dallas.

Brewer was the sensation of the opening round. He hit all the greens on the 5,890-yard Oso Beach municipal course and shot a fantastic 4-under-par 30 on the back nine.

Dill, an "unknown" making a splurge, birdied the last three holes of the first nine and three more on the way in.

Tommy Burke Jr. of Corpus Christi, the defending champion, shot a 71 and favorite Don January of Dallas limped in with a scrambling 72. January took double bogeys on the first two holes.

There were 98 in the field that started the second round.

Rangers Beaten In PCL Action

By The Associated Press
Dallas fans saw one heck of a baseball game Thursday night. The only trouble was that the Dallas-Fort Worth Rangers were on the losing end of the contest. They were clobbered 12-0 by the Oklahoma City 8ers in a Pacific Coast League game.

The 8ers pounded out 18 hits, including home runs by Jim Mahoney and Carroll Hardy. Oklahoma City pitcher Jerry Nelson went the distance, limiting the Rangers to a meager four hits.

In other PCL action, the Spokane Indians continued their winning ways by stopping Denver's Bears 6-3. The San Diego Padres blanked Seattle's Rainiers 5-0 and Hawaii beat Portland 11-3 at Honolulu. Salt Lake City lost an exhibition contest to Wenatchee of the Northwest League 4-2.

Appointments Are Made To Boards

AUTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally appointed Robert Strauss of Dallas to the State Banking Board Thursday and John Singleton of Houston to the State Depository Board.

They succeeded Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, removed from the boards by a new law.

Spikes Picks Target

Forty-six Kansas City Chief followers were made even bigger fans Friday night when they caught one of 46 autographed footballs that were either thrown or kicked into the Municipal Stadium stands by the Chiefs. Jack Spikes, the former TCU all-American, picked his target most carefully. Target's name was Ron Carr, the Rev. Ronald Carr to be exact. It seems that Spikes and Carr were schoolmates at Texas Christian four years ago. Carr was in the press box to pronounce the invocation.

U. S. Favored In Davis Cup Play

By JAMES BACON
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The luck of the draw today favored the United States over Mexico in the first Davis Cup play ever held in this spawning ground of tennis champions.

Chuck McKittrick, presently ranked as the world's top amateur, will take on Rafael Osuna, Mexico's No. 1 star, in the opening singles match.

The second match will pit Dennis Ralston against Antonio Palafox, Mexico's No. 2 man.

Had the draw held Thursday, it pitted Ralston against Osuna, there was a good chance that Mexico could start off with a victory in the American Zone semifinals.

But consensus of the experts around the Los Angeles Tennis Club is that no one can beat McKittrick and Ralston rates a slight edge over Palafox. If form prevails, the United States could well wind up the first day's play with a 2-0 advantage.

But there is a quiet determination among the Mexican stars that could take the form charts out the window.

Doubles play comes Saturday, while the players change opponents. No Sunday's singles matches. In semifinals, the United States will play Palafox, the American Zone doubles champions.

Confidence is the byword in both camps. Pancho Gonzales, pro and coach of the U.S. team, said: "We can beat the Mexicans 5-0. They can't beat us 5-0. And I think we will win."

To this actor Gilbert Roland, generally rated the best tennis player in the movie crowd, commented: "Pancho is out of his cotton-picking mind."

Roland, Mexican-born, believes the competition will be very close.

Pancho Segura, the Ecuadorian pro and coach of the Mexico team, predicted a 3-2 victory for his boys.

"Heat will be a factor for all three days of play. The center court, surrounded by a sea of white-shirted spectators reflecting the sun, will bring floor temperatures over the 100 mark."

But no matter what happens, Friday's opening match will be a tough act to top.

McKittrick, Wimbledon singles champ beat Osuna last year in a Davis Cup play.

But then Osuna beat McKittrick in 1961.

Giants Right On Heels Of Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wobbly-legged Jim Davenport, a versatile infielder whose underpinnings have been in the spotlight as much as any chorus line, is leading up a fuss in San Francisco's bid to repeat as National League champion.

In and out of the line-up because of his weak legs, Davenport played a key role in a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati Thursday night that kept the second-place Giants right on the heels of the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers.

Davenport, who stroked three hits for five straight hits in two games, legged out a key bunt single in the fifth inning to keep a rally going. Before it was over, Willie Mays had stroked a decisive two-run single and the Giants had four runs and the ball game.

The triumph left the Giants three games behind the Dodgers, who again got a superlative relief effort by Ron Perranoski, in a 7-5 decision at Milwaukee that snapped a three-game losing skid.

Houston dropped third-place St. Louis five games behind with a 4-2 victory built on John Bateman's three-run homer, Philadelphia took fifth place from Chicago by edging the Cubs 4-3 and Pittsburgh walloped the New York Mets 8-2.

The American League leading New York Yankees thumped Boston 10-2. Minnesota crushed Baltimore 13-3. Detroit whipped Kansas City 11-1 and Washington nipped the Los Angeles Angels 5-4. Cleveland and the Chicago White Sox were idle.

Davenport traced out a triple in the first, beat out an infield hit in the third, then laid down his perfect bunt in the fifth to load the bases after Harvey Kuenn's single had accounted for the Giants' first run. Reds starter, Joe Nuxhall, apparently upset, hit Willie McCovey with a pitch to force in a run before Mays wrapped it up.

Nuxhall had gone into the inning with a 1-0 lead provided by Vada Pinson's homer off Jack Sanford.

The Braves knocked out Sandy Koufax with a four-run first inning — three on Gene Oliver's home — after the Dodgers had used Frank Howard's two-run homer to get off to a 3-0 lead in the top half of the inning. Then, in the fifth, with the score tied 5-5, the Dodgers broke through with a walk-him-into-base sacrifice fly by John Rosboro and Maury Wills' single. Perranoski allowed only one hit in 2 2/3 innings, boosting his record to 12-2.

Bateman tagged his homer off Ray Sadeck in the first inning following Ernie Fazio's single and a walk to Rustay Staub. Singles by Fazio, Bateman and Carl Warwick accounted for the other Houston run in the fifth. Don Nottebart, 7-5, got the victory.

Ellis Burton's homer gave the Cubs a 3-0 lead but the Phillies took advantage of an error by Gene Banks to push across four earned runs in the seventh inning. A two-run triple by Tony Taylor tied the score before a run-producing double by Johnny Callison won it for Cal McLish, 12-7.

Pirate starter Don Cardwell fell behind 2-0 when opposing pitcher Galen Cisco rapped him for a two-run single in the second inning, but Cardwell got even in the fourth when he stroked a two-run single that snapped a 2-2 tie and sent Cisco to the showers. Cardwell scattered 10 hits in bringing his record to 10-12.

Home Clubs Beaten In Texas League

By The Associated Press
Who said there's an advantage in playing at home?

In the Texas League all the home clubs got beat Thursday night.

New Orleans took a 5-0 licking from Tulsa and saw its first place margin sliced to one-half game over Austin.

Austin beat Albuquerque 5-4 in 12 innings at Albuquerque.

Tulsa moved back to third place as El Paso was edged 3-2 by Amarillo at you-guess-it-El Paso.

Jerry Wild pitched a three-hitter as Tulsa blanked San Antonio. It pulled the Oilers within three games of the top. Wild struck out nine.

George Kopacz was the hero in Austin's marathon victory over Albuquerque. His two-out double drove in the winning run.

At Herring's solo homer tied the score in the seventh and Frank DeMoss doubled in the winning run for Amarillo's victory over El Paso.

16 Year-Old In Good Position For Title

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—If 16-year-old Ginnie Duenkel of the Summit, N.C. YMCA wants to take home the individual high point trophy from the National AAU Senior Women's Swimming and Diving Championships, she couldn't ask for a better position in which to do it.

Already the winner of two events, the 1,500-meter freestyle and the 200-meter backstroke, Miss Duenkel meets head-on two top rivals for the meet's outstanding swimmer trophy.

This afternoon she'll face Robyn Johnson of the North Virginia AC in the 400-meter free and Saturday she takes on Donna De Varona, the Santa Clara S.C. star, in the 100-meter backstroke.

Each of these posted their initial triumphs in Thursday's competition, each in record time.

Miss Johnson won her third straight 100 free title while Miss De Varona took the grueling 400-meter individual medley.

Monroe reached the finals by beating West Monroe 5-3 Thursday night. Kilgore blasted Meridian, Miss., 7-1.

The league is for boys 15 to 17 years old.

Boston College heads Holy Cross in its football series, 29-27. Three games were tied.

Top Golfers Fight For Survival

By LOU BLACK
Associated Press Sports Writer

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Guess the names of two rich golfers who are fighting to survive the cut today in the second round of the $40,000 Insurance City Open.

Quickly, they are 43-year-old Julius Boros, of the U.S. Open champion, and 23-year-old Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA champion.

After Thursday's 18-holes on the par 35-36-71 Wetherfield Country "club course, both Boros and Nicklaus were far down the list because both were off their usual form.

Nicklaus scrambled for a two-over-par 73 and Boros for his 37-74.

Being two or three strokes over par isn't a calamity under normal conditions, but conditions aren't normal over the tight 6,515-yard layout.

Wes Hills, 31-year-old part-time pro from West Caldwell, N.J., leads with a sizzling 67 and right behind him are Bill Casper, back in action after a three-month lay-off because of an injured left hand, 67; Jerry Pittman, 68, and 13 other players knotted at 69.

They include Bob Goalby, the 1962 ICO victor; Art Wall, whom Goalby beat in a playoff; Doug Ford, and Tony Lema.

Nicklaus is tied with 20 players at 73 and Boros is knotted with 10 at 74.

Drug Counters Will Be Desegregated

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Nashville Retail Druggists Association has voted to desegregate drugstore lunch counters here.

James O. Bass Sr., chairman of the Biracial Metropolitan Committee on Human Relations, announced the decision Thursday. He also said St. Thomas Hospital, a Roman Catholic institution, had opened its medical and surgical facilities to Negroes.

The biracial committee was formed after violence erupted during demonstrations here several weeks ago. Most of the city's restaurants and hotels and some drugstores announced they would serve Negroes shortly after the committee was formed.

Fetzlik To Help Plan Convention

Harry Fetzlik, who serves the Snyder congregation as District Minister, has been called to Los Angeles to assist in advance preparations for the huge eight-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held at the Pasadena Rose Bowl, Sept. 18.

Fetzlik has been serving in a supervisory capacity at convention headquarters. A veteran organizer, he will direct an office staff of 100 workers in one of the 20 departments geared to accommodate an estimated 70,000 delegates from 40 states and 24 foreign countries.

The Pasadena assembly will climax a series of assemblies which began in Milwaukee, Wis. June 30 and is now progressing around the world to 21 cities including London, Munich, Delhi, Seoul, and Honolulu.

Expressing himself on the effects of such a convention, Fetzlik stated that "this is an effort most timely. Valuable Bible instruction given at the sessions will be a force for good in cities around the world."

Fetzlik has oversight of 180 congregations in Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma which will be represented at the Pasadena Convention.

All of the work in caring for these assemblies will be done entirely by volunteers, all of whom give their time freely in helping to make these conventions run smoothly," Fetzlik stated. "This gathering will demonstrate that peace and unity can be attained by people of all nations if they follow the Bible's counsel."

2-Man Sub Tested In California

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—A two-man submarine which naval scientists say can be flown like an airplane at great depths is being tested off this island near the Southern California coast.

The design of the new submarine will permit its operators as much maneuverability as airplane pilots, said the Navy.

The underwater vehicle was designed at the Naval Ordnance Test Station at China Lake, Calif. Its design is based partially on the work of famed underwater explorer August Piccard and his bathyscaphe Trieste.

Unlike other submarines, the new underwater craft has fixed positive buoyancy — no ballast tanks.

The external hull of the craft is not pressure resistant. Holes in the hull allow water to enter. Operators are protected from pressure by being enclosed in a special pressure vessel.

The external hull is used only as a streamlined structure, much like present practice in aircraft construction, San Clemente said.

The vehicle is propelled by an electric motor and electric storage battery borrowed from a torpedo design. The Navy said the present propulsion system is a temporary measure. More advanced systems are under study which will permit the vehicle to operate at greater depths.

The Navy did not say at what depths the new vehicle can now operate.

Present tests are unannounced. The Navy said manned proof tests will follow at San Clemente with free dives later at Puget Sound, Washington.

Racial Issue Causes Some Shuffling Among Pastors

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
One evening last spring at a meeting of the Board of Deacons of the Baptist Church in the common room resigned, Ala., someone asked a hypothetical question: What would happen if a Negro sought membership?

The Rev. Joe Patterson, then pastor, promptly replied that to bar a person because of color would "reduce the church, which was founded by Christ to be a universal and redemptive fellowship, to nothing more than a social club."

His viewpoint brought sharply conflicting reaction from the congregation. Rather than "tear up the church," the Rev. Mr. Patterson resigned, effective June 29. Such cases have become increasingly frequent.

Numerous pastors in the South, and a few in the North, have left their parishes, varying degrees of pressure because of their stands against racial segregation.

The total number is unknown, since the reason for ministerial departures ordinarily is not specified when such conflicts are involved church officials say.

However, reports have turned up more than a score of clergymen who have left their pulpits since they were asked to take their stands on race relations.

In some instances, there have been physical attacks, harassing telephone calls, tire-slashings. Usually, however, the objections are registered by chilly attitudes and thinning church attendance.

Largest Christian bodies in the South are the Methodist Church and the Southern Baptist Convention.

Rev. Dr. Albert McClain of Nashville, Tenn., a Southern Baptist executive, says he knows definitely of only three pastors forced out of their pulpits recently over the race question.

But he said there could be many more, and that he knew of several others who resigned voluntarily because they felt they couldn't preach forthrightly on the racial problem.

While some have remained silent in order to continue what service they could in peace, the Rev. Mr. McClain said, still others "have spoken out in love for racial reconciliation."

In Mississippi Methodist Bishop Marvin Franklin said "a little more than usual left last year."

"But we haven't had an enormous number leave," he added. "A lot of them found better pastorage. I think we've had others leave partly on account of the racial situation."

Of 28 Methodist pastors in Bishop Franklin's conference who last January signed a "statement of conscience" against racial discrimination 19 have moved to other posts.

In June, the Rev. W. B. Selah, pastor for 19 years of the Galloway Methodist Church of Jackson, Miss., left that post because five Negroes were refused admission.

The 4,000-member church is the largest Methodist congregation in Mississippi.

"I know in conscience there can be no color bar in a Christian church," Dr. Selah said. He became vice president of Central Methodist College, Fayette, Mo., the assistant pastor of Galloway

Church, the Rev. Jerry Furr, also left to take an appointment in the Southern California-Arizona Methodist Conference at the request of Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy of Los Angeles.

"I could not willingly serve a church that turns any people away," the Rev. Mr. Furr said.

In Clemson, S.C., the Rev. Charles Webster, 29, a member of the staff of the First Baptist Church there and an advisor to students at Clemson College, resigned last March at request of the Board of Deacons.

He said it was because of his contacts with Harvey Gantt, Clemson's first Negro student. The chairman of the Board of Deacons said the Rev. Mr. Webster's work had been surrounded with tension.

In New Orleans, a Roman Catholic pastor, the Rev. Frank Ecmovitch, reported he was attacked by a parishioner, after the man's young son participated in a racially mixed retreat.

Father Ecmovitch filed an assault charge, but subsequently dropped it.

In at least one recent case in the North, the Rev. Dr. John L. Adams, pastor of Nardin Park Methodist Church of Detroit, Mich., resigned because of what he termed the congregation's "weak, soft" stand on racial issues.

He said the congregation decided to sell its building in the inner city and move to the suburbs, rather than merge with another congregation involving fuller racial integration.

A recent nationwide survey of about 4,000 ministers by Columbia University's bureau of applied social research showed that a third of them reported being criticized by members for preaching about controversial issues, such as race relations.

About a third also are unhappy enough about the situation to want to leave their parishes, though

SEEK YE FIRST THE KINGDOM

Sin's Grip

How deep in the filth are you? Does sin have you in its clutch... under its control? Have you ever stopped to determine what is sordid and what is sublime in this life? God said, "the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous." Maybe it is time, right now, to consider your plight... that you are bound by the strong hand of sin. God is always ready to cast a life-line to those who call upon Him. He will lift you out of the murky confines of sin and loose the grip which has you entangled. It's a good time to about-face, to start going to church. Why not pledge to spend each Sunday in worshipping the Lord during the rest of this year. He said to cast your burdens upon Him and He would sustain you.
