Pavement Is Next

All utilities along Birdwell Lane, between Fifteenth and Marcy, including this section of water line, are being moved to get out of the way for new pavement. The strip is in the first phase of the city's continuing assessment paving program, and work will start in a few days on the grading.

Pope Opens Council With Plea For Unity

History's Biggest Clerical Meeting

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today opened the second Vatican Ecumenical Council —Roman Catholicism's greatest assembly of prelates in history — with an appeal for Christian unity.

The 80-year-old pontiff, in an address before some 2,700 council delegates in St. Peter's Basilica, said progress had already been made toward unity. He spoke specifically of a unity of prayers and aspirations and a unity of esteem and respect.

NOT YET IN UNITY

"Unfortunately," the Pope said, "the entire Christian family has not yet fully attained unity in truth.

"The Catholic Church, therefore, considers it her duty to work actively so that there may be fulfilled the great mystery of that unity, which Jesus Christ invoked with fervent prayer from His Heavenly Father on the eve of His sacrifice.

"She (the church) rejoices in peace, knowing that she is intimately associated with that prayer, and then exults greatly at seeing that invocation extend its efficiency with salutary fruit even among those who are outside her fold.

"Indeed, if one considers well this same unity which Christ implored for His church it seems to shine with a triple ray of beneficient supernal light: namely, the unity of Catholics among themselves, which must always be kept exemplary and most firm; the unity of prayers and ardent desires with which those Christians separated from the apostolic see, aspire to be united with us; and the unity in esteem and respect for the Catholic Church which animates those who follow non-Catholic religions."

PREPARES PATH

He said the Ecumenical Council "prepares, as it were, and consolidates the path toward that unity of mankind."

The Pope gave no direct indication of how he thought future unity might be achieved. But in the past he has made clear that he considers the way to unity is through the return of "separated brothers" to the Roman Catholic fold.

From over the globe more than 2,500 cardinals, archbishops, bishops, patriarchs and other prelates gathered around Pope John XXIII for this first general church council in nearly a century.

As the great bell of St. Peter's boomed the glad tidings of the council opening, the bells of Rome's more than 400 other churches took up the message.

Pope John and his bishops opened the council with prayers for guidance and a Mass imploring the aid of the Holy Ghost.

RICH VELVETS

Rich red velvets hung from the basilica walls, setting off the white robes and mitres of the bishops sitting in two tiers of seats flanking the main aisle.

The sweet smell of incense filled the basilica. In alcoves choirs sang hymns to the Virgin Mary.

Hundreds of arc lights lit the basilica to noonday brightness. Under the heat of the lights, many prelates wiped their brows.

Seated near the Pope's throne in a place of honor were observers from non-Catholic churches. The Pope has said he hopes the council will bring progress toward Christian unity.

Tens of thousands of Romans, priests and tourists collected in the vast square before St. Peter's to watch the colorful procession that began the spectacular five-hour ceremony.

It was a rare show. Only 20 previous ecumenical councils have been held in the 2,000-year history of the church. The last was in 1870.

MAY LAST A YEAR

Pope John and his prelates have been preparing for the council for more than three years. Its deliberations may last a year.

Long before the procession started, the church's honored guests—observers from the non-Catholic churches and delegations sent by more than 80 governments—took their places inside the basilica.

At Age Of 80, Church Leader Vigorous Man

VATICAN CITY (AP) — At an age when most men have retired, Pope John XXIII plunged vigorously today into one of the most arduous tasks of his long career —the active leadership and direct control of the 2nd Vatican Council.

His warm personality and his firm hand will dominate the great conclave.

The council, the largest gathering of Catholic bishops in history, and the first ecumenical council in 92 years, will see Pope John reach the age of 81 next month.

KNEW STRAIN

When he called the council four years ago—barely two months after he was crowned pontiff—he must have known the strain it would place upon him.

Pope John was the oldest newly elected pope in more than 200 years and one of the oldest in the church's 2,000-year history.

Age never seemed to slow him down. In four years he has had almost no illness serious enough to interfere with his heavy routine of work.

Pope John carries his more than 200 pounds with a sturdy stride. He looks robust. His eyes twinkle like a schoolboy's. His voice is young with the vigor of good health.

Since the day he convoked the ecumenical council, 21st in the history of the church, it has been plain that he considered this tremendous work the great achievement of his reign.

MAJOR MOVES

That reign has already been marked by major innovations. Pope John increased the College of Cardinals to its greatest size in history. He visited Rome's jails. He walked the Roman streets. He made a whistle-stop train tour of Italy unique in modern papal history. He sometimes used the pronoun "I" instead of the formal "We" which Popes traditionally use. He often joked.

Some newspapers have called John XXIII "Jovial John" because of his warm ways and quick humor. They remembered that the Bergamaschi, from the province of Bergamo where the Pope was born, are noted for their joviality and amiable ways. They may have overlooked that the Bergamaschi also are noted as hard-headed and determined men.

Pope John proved himself to be that, too. Although his amiable ways endeared him to the people, he has kept a firm hand on the affairs of the church.

HUMBLE POPE

Many have called him "the humble Pope." He has given much evidence that he likes that title.

The night of his election as pontiff, he told the College of Cardinals that his was to be "the humble office of shepherd."

But he has left no doubt that as a good shepherd, he intended to lead, through the hard work and months-long sessions of the worldwide Roman Catholic Church assembly over which he is presiding.

BALLOTS ARE KING-SIZE
County Clerk Pauline Petty and candidate list

Voting Time Almost Here

It's later than you might think.

Just one week from today absentee voting for the general election of Nov. 6 opens in Howard County.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, has already examined a proof copy of the table-cloth sized ballot which will be used and the Big Spring Printing Co. is busy printing the 10,523 ballots.

No one seems to have been concerned here as to the position on the ballot allotted to the political parties.

The Howard County ballot this year follows the traditional pattern of the past—the list of Democratic candidates is printed on the extreme left side; the Republican candidates occupy the next column. The scattered few Constitution Party candidates are in the third column. There is space allotted in the fourth division for independents.

Extreme right side of the ballot is designated for "write in" selections.

In some parts of the state heated contests developed over the issue which party was to have the coveted left margin on the ballots.

No one expects the vote on Nov. 6 to use up the 10,523 ballots ordered. The law requires that the ballot printing order be 10 per cent greater than the poll tax and exemption total for the year.

The printer has promised delivery of the ballots to the county clerk by Wednesday, Oct. 16. Absentee voting opens Oct. 17 and closes Nov. 2. The law specifies that such voting begin a full 20 days prior to election day.

This year's ballot will require the voter to scratch out all candidates' names except the ones of his choice. No other alternative way of voting is provided.

Attached as a part of the 24 inch by 12 inch ballot is a list of 14 proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Archbishop Hopes For Fresh Look

LONDON (AP)—The archbishop of Canterbury voiced hope today that the Roman Catholic Church, at its current ecumenical meeting, will take a fresh look at some of its policies, which he said offend other Christians.

The archbishop, Dr. Michael Ramsey, said in an interview in the Catholic Herald:

"A good example of this is the question of mixed marriages, where some of the procedures and demands are very painful to Anglicans.

"I am thinking, of course, of the invitation to the future husband or wife to abandon their Anglican faith, and the insistence that the children of the marriage must be brought up as Roman Catholics.

"Another thing that hurts us very much is the principle that converts to the Roman Church should be baptized again, albeit conditionally, as this is a reflection on Anglican baptism—which in fact, you recognize in theory."

The interview, with Catholic Herald Asst. Editor Hugh Kay, was the first ever given by a head of the Anglican Church to a Roman Catholic publication. The Herald is edited for Catholics by members of their own faith, but is not an official organ of the church.

Cuban Prisoner Talks Hit A Snag

HAVANA (AP) — Negotiations hit a snag Wednesday night and the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners was delayed again. But Prime Minister Fidel Castro planned further talks with negotiator James B. Donovan, possibly later today or Friday.

The talks between Castro and the New York attorney, were expected to end Wednesday night. But after the two met for four hours in the presidential palace, a spokesman for the Cuban prisoners' families committee said:

"Certain points have to be revised and this will take two or three further meetings."

NO WORD ON RAID

There was nothing to indicate that the snag was caused by the claim of Cuban exiles that they raided the Cuban north coast port of Isabella de Sagua Monday and killed 20 persons.

There has been no confirmation of the raid nor any comment on the exiles' claim in Havana.

The committee's spokesman would not say what caused the hitch in negotiations but emphasized there would be further meetings, possibly today or Friday.

As the negotiations dragged on, informants in Havana said Pan American Airways has offered to fly the prisoners to Miami as soon as an agreement is reached.

The prisoners were captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961. Castro originally asked $62 million in cash for the release of all those captured. Donovan reportedly has offered medicine and food in lieu of cash.

PAID FOR FREEDOM

Relatives or friends have paid for the release of a few captives, and 60 sick or wounded prisoners were returned to Miami last April.

Informed sources in Washington say the U.S. government will pay for a shipment of about $13 million in medicine and food to Cuba if the prisoners are released.

Funds raised by friends and relatives of the captives in the United States and Latin American presumably will make up the remainder of the ransom demanded by Castro for their release.

Any U.S. payment to Castro is expected to kick up an uproar in Congress. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told the Senate they oppose any ransom payment.

DENIES STORY

Reports circulated in Washington that Donovan was acting for the administration in the negotiations as well as for the families committee. But Edwin Guthman, Justice Department Information officer, denied a story in the New York World-Telegram and Sun that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Donovan to take on the assignment last June, saying the White House had a moral obligation to obtain the release of Cubans captured in an invasion the United States allowed to go ahead.

An informed member of Congress insisted, however, that Donovan is acting as an agent for the administration with the full approval of President Kennedy and the attorney general.

EXILES WORRY

Cuban exiles in the United States were worried about the possible effect on the negotiations of the reported raid on Cuba's north coast.

A communique in Miami from an exile group calling itself Alpha 66 said the raiders attacked a camp of Cuban militiamen and Russian military men 20 minutes after midnight Monday and stayed ashore for nearly two hours.

"In the railroad yards of the city," the communique said, "a warehouse of military supplies and four other strategic points were destroyed, many weapons and some flags of the enemy were captured. No fewer than 20 enemy were killed."

A spokesman for Alpha 66 said some of the slain were Russians but did not say how many.

ALL GOT AWAY

The spokesman said 15 to 25 men were in the attacking force, that some were wounded, but that all got away.

In San Juan, Puerto Rico, Antonio Veciana, another spokesman for Alpha 66, said the "war trophies" would be exhibited in San Juan's baseball stadium Saturday.

High Nuclear Test Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States plans to set off another missile-launched nuclear test miles above the Pacific on Sunday or Monday.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday that a submegaton device—of less force than a million tons of TNT—would be triggered at an altitude of "tens of kilometers."

A kilometer is .62 of a mile which would put detonation at somewhere above six miles.

Annexation Case On Appeal Again

The long contested suit over annexation of Gay Hill and Center Point Common school Districts to Big Spring Independent School District is on its way once more to the State Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

Wednesday afternoon, Judge Ralph Caton 118th District Court, denied the two common schools a new trial in his court. The motion for a new trial, attacking the judgment of the court and alleging the jury verdict returned in the trial here some weeks ago was invalid, was on file before the court. Judge Caton, calling attention to the fact that the time for hearing on this motion was at hand, summarily denied it.

The school districts immediately gave notice of appeal to the Civil Court of Appeals and posted their formal certificate with the district court clerk.

Wade Choate, district court clerk, is preparing the required documents to be sent to Eastland.

No one would hazard a guess on how long before the appellate court would act on the case. The annexation case has been before the courts of the county and the state since May, 1960.

In the meantime, the two schools continue to function as they did prior to the action of the county board back in 1960. The county board and the Big Spring Independent School District are prevented from intervening in the operation of the two districts by an injunction handed down by the court. This injunction holds until the litigation is finally settled.

Eleanor Notes 78th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, widow of the late President, celebrated her 78th birthday today—in a hospital.

She was reported improving Wednesday in Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center where she has undergone treatment for a lung infection. She may leave the hospital next week.

Polish Wreck Toll Reaches 34

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Rescue crews still searched for victims today in the wreckage of two international express trains that collided in a fog, killing at least 34 persons and injuring 67 others.

Herring Venue Hearing Saturday

ANDREWS, Tex. (AP)—A hearing has been set for Saturday on a motion to have the second sanity hearing for John Mack Herring, 18, moved out of Winkler County.

Herring was charged with murder in the "kiss and kill" shotgun death of a pretty Odessa High School classmate, Elizabeth Jean Williams, 17.

She was shot at a stock pond March 21 of last year.

Saturday's change of venue hearing will be before Dist. Judge Russell Austin.

Warren Burnett of Odessa, Herring's lawyer, wants the hearing kept in the Odessa area.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proclaimed Sept. 17, 1962, through July 4, 1963 for observance of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

Ole Miss Student Council To Handle Riot Charges

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) —The powerful University of Mississippi student judicial council meets today to map procedures for a hearing for six students who face charges in connection with rioting last week when James H. Meredith entered the university.

Each student will have a private hearing before the council. Since it was established in 1951, only one decision has been reversed.

Possible penalties include expulsion, suspension for no less than one semester, suspension with suspended sentence, and probation. No names will be released unless a student is expelled.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the six were not charged under the federal code.

A meeting of the 27-member faculty senate was expected to consider two resolutions on the demonstrations and college unity.

While the student and faculty groups prepared action, the 29-year-old Negro went through his eighth day of classes.

As he left the cafeteria Wednesday night, some 100 students, mostly males, hollered at him. One cursed him.

Meredith said he would probably leave the campus for the weekend.

In other developments Wednesday:

The Army further reduced its forces in the Oxford area. Some 5,700 regular troops and federalized National Guardsmen remain, compared with 23,600 last week.

Student body president Dick Wilson said Ole Miss students would consider a suggestion by Brown University students for an exchange program to discuss integration.

Postal inspectors began opening packages addressed to Meredith. A Justice Department spokesman said "nothing sinister" has turned up.

Walker To Meet Doctors Tonight

DALLAS (AP)—A lawyer said Edwin Walker, the former major general accused of fomenting integration riots at the University of Mississippi, would meet with psychiatrists tonight.

Federal authorities released Walker under $50,000 bond Saturday night, stipulating that he must report within five days to Dr. E. L. Stubblefield in Dallas.

Walker was charged with insurrection and seditious conspiracy after his arrest at Oxford, Miss. He was held briefly at the federal prison and medical center in Springfield, Mo.

Only One Bidder For THD Property

Only one bid was submitted for the former Texas Highway Department property on South Gregg Street today, J. C. Roberts, district highway engineer in Abilene, reported.

Gibson Discount Center submitted a proposal for $41,150 for the one-block tract.

Whether an award will be made on the basis of a single bid or acceptability of the proposal is a matter which the Texas Highway Commission will decide.

The property is located between Scurry and Gregg and between 23rd and 24th Streets.

This tract became available when the highway department erected new maintenance and engineering facilities at NE 12th and Snyder highway.

Weather Halts Hunt For Bodies

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The search for bodies of four persons lost when a private plane crashed into the ocean last week has been interrupted by rough seas.

Major portions of the two-engine Beechcraft and a Navy jet fighter plane which crashed in the same area Oct. 2 have been recovered, but it hasn't been determined whether the two craft collided.

A Civil Aeronautics Board investigator said he holds little hope of finding the bodies of Donald L. Johnson, a General Electric executive from Syracuse, N.Y., his wife and two pilots employed by GE.

The Navy pilot's body was recovered Oct. 2.

Dies In Wreck

RHOME, Tex. (AP) — John Harris, 72, of Wichita Falls was killed Wednesday night when his pickup truck struck a railroad embankment south of here. A blowout was blamed.

Lakeview YMCA Branch Has Signed 300 Members

The Lakeview branch of the Big Spring YMCA, established in the old Lakeview school building, is another agency served by the United Fund. The Lakeview Y began operation last July under the direction of J. E. Smith, and has 300 members. He says that 75 per cent of his membership are Negroes and 25 per cent are Latin-American.

The Lakeview Y operates as a wing of the Big Spring Y but has its own board and its own program. The budget for the 1962 season for Lakeview was $4,800 from the United Fund. This coming year, the agency asks for $5,000 and is hopeful of fattening the available funds by $2,000 to be derived from membership dues.

Quarter Horse Market Goes In 2 Directions

By BOB GRAY
Editor, Horse and Rider Magazine
Written For The Associated Press

Good Quarter Horses are getting cheaper—and more expensive—all the time.

If that statement doesn't make much sense it's because the market for Quarter Horses is moving in two directions at once. Understandably, this is making some people happy and others bite their nails down to the quick.

Several years ago most pretty good registered Quarter Horses were bringing more than $1,000. Today many of those same animals, if run through an auction ring, would not bring more than $500.

PRICE RECORDS

Yet, at the same time, running-type Quarter Horses are breaking price records. The most dramatic illustration of this came at Broken Arrow, Okla., in September when the Rowland Stanfield dispersal sale auctioned off 64 head for a total of $647,050. That averages out to a tidy $10,110 per horse. The high-selling horse was Clabber Bar, Quarter Horse son of a Thoroughbred stud, that sold for $86,000. Another stallion in the sale brought $62,000. Eight mares in the sale sold for more than $20,000 each.

Even for the swiftly-growing and changing Quarter Horse industry, these are startling figures—and this all-time high sale average comes at a time when the general run of Quarter Horses are selling lower than they have since the breed's big boom began in the late 1950's.

It gets back to what the different kinds of Quarter Horse Futurity has challenged the big money purses of the Thoroughbred racing field (the All-American this year totaled $222,850; higher than the Preakness, Belmont Stakes or even Kentucky Derby) southwestern breeders have speed on the brain. Some are switching their operations to running horses, most are simply going out and buying running blood to add to their breeding programs.

STOCK TYPES

This does not mean there's any less attention being given to stock-type Quarter Horses. Even the running horse men point out that a relatively small percentage of their speed sires' get can ever be great winners. A lot still depends on the mares they're bred to. Thus, a lot of running colts are going to wind up as cutting and roping horses, barrel racers and breeding stock.

The shift in emphasis, of course, is proving costly to those who invested heavily in recent years in Quarter Horses at a high price level. They often cannot get today what they paid for their animals in the beginning. However, breeders who stay with the business are aware of a silver lining to this situation: The lower stock-type Quarter Horse prices are bringing many more people into horse ownership who could not previously afford it. They are all future customers.

'MOST ANYONE

These folks have stopped thinking of the Quarter Horse as a "rich man's horse." Nearly anyone can find a Quarter Horse sale today where good mares and geldings are going for $750 or less. The better quality animals naturally sell higher. But many novice horsemen and youngsters can afford a registered Quarter Horse today that would have been beyond their pocketbooks two years ago.

And this means more people will exhibit those animals at more shows—many will wind up buying more horses, and better ones, as their experience and horizon broaden.

Which means that there is a good and growing market for all types and grades of Quarter Horses—even as there is for all sizes and makes of automobiles.

With 4-H horse clubs in particular being organized in nearly every southwestern county, it appears to the writer that the really big boom in horses is only now getting under way in earnest.

ADDED NOTE

An additional market note: The first public sale of Paint stock horses produced an average on six head of $850. The sale, Sept. 29 at Rosharon, Tex., was topped by a gelding, Osage Red Wolf, which sold to Willie Blanton of Denison for $1,500. Panama Shiflett of Plantersville bought the fine mare, Calico Doll, for $1,175 to lead the female prices. All of the Paints were registered in the American Paint Stock Horse Assn. of Gainesville and most had won or placed in Paint shows.

Last Year's State Income Was Below The Estimate

AUSTIN (AP) — Last year's state income was about $1.6 million below the estimated figure, state Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported.

The report for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31 showing comparisons between estimates and actual collections had $1,662,724.

The biggest discrepancy occurred in the state's new sales tax. The estimate was for $161 million and receipts were $148 million.

Inheritance tax collections were $5.1 million above estimates, the motor vehicle sales tax was up $2.6 million, and cigarette tax collections were up $3.1 million. Franchise tax collections were up almost $2.1 million.

The new dedicated gas tax collections are $1,522,073 below estimates. The insurance occupation tax is down $1,153,170. The oil production tax collections are about $1.25 million below estimates.

The state's general fund, which covers the operation of most state government, showed a net balance of $21.8 million on the end of the fiscal year, Aug. 31, but dropped to a deficit of $19.4 Sept. 4. A transfer of $40 million to the state teachers retirement fund, as provided by the last legislature, caused the quick change. On Sept. 24 the deficit stood at $21.8 million.

Carol Burnett Made Wise Decision In Going It Alone

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Social note: Carol Burnett, Hollywood High School, class of '51, was back in town.

Miss Burnett was also UCLA, class of '55, but she never quite made it to the sheepskin, show biz interceded.

As any student of the television art knows, Carol is the putty-faced zany who romped to the heights of success as Garry Moore's irrepressible buddy. She has the Emmies to show for it.

She also has the beginnings of a serious fortune now that she is off on her own. She went out this summer "with much trepidation" on the Carol Burnett Show, playing big outdoor stadiums as well as the Las Vegas big time.

What did she pick up? A bundle of money from smash business, a new reputation for being able to carry the load as a single. Oh, yes, she also picked up a Nevada divorce from Don Saroyan.

To climax her triumph, Carol was here to star on a Jack Benny show, playing a mad Jane to Jack's Tarzan. Carol came down from her vine-swinging long enough to reflect on her change of status.

"Some people got it wrong about how I left Garry," she remarked. "A few reports made it sound like a benevolent kiss-off—that he was getting rid of me.

"It wasn't that way at all. I went to him last year and said I thought after four seasons that it was time for me to leave and see if I could make it on my own. Garry was very sweet and understanding. He said he would like me to stay, but he knew how I felt. He said that he once had to decide to leave Jimmy Durante."

Having proved herself on the summer tour, Carol is branching out in all directions. She'll be doing some television specials this season, including "Calamity Jane" from the old Doris Day movie. There is talk of movies for her, and she has signed for a Jules Styne musical on Broadway next season based on the book "The Unfair Sex."

She has come a distance from Hollywood High.

Carol was no mime then. She was a journalist, of all things, and decided she would interview all the Hollywood High grads who had made it in films.

"I cut classes to go see them," she said, "and this didn't set too well with the school."

Since UCLA had no undergraduate journalism, Carol majored in theater arts. During one comedy exercise, she found her fellow students laughing at her in the right places—"and that's all it took."

She left UCLA and California in 1954 to seek her fortune in New York. Why not Hollywood?

"Movies never interested me," she admitted. "You've got to be a beauty to make it here."

He's Due For More Needling

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old son has just come home on a 30-day furlough after spending 26 months in the Navy.

We almost fainted when we saw him. This handsome, 6 ft. 2 in. boy of ours is tattooed like a circus freak. Both his arms, from his shoulders down to his wrists, are covered with flags, scrolls, snakey mottoes and initials. Even the backs of his hands and fingers are decorated. And to cap it off, each ear lobe has a flower on it! He is the talk of the town. Needless to say, he has received a very cool reception from all his old friends. Long-sleeved shirts can cover his arms, but he can't hide his fingers and ear lobes.

He realizes now it was a foolish mistake, and wants to remove the tattoos as soon as possible. Can it be done? We will pay whatever it costs, and will send him anywhere to have it done.

MOTHER'S PLEA

DEAR MOTHER: Consult a dermatologist (skin specialist) for information on removing tattoos. I'm afraid your son is in for some more needling.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My wife wants to go to work and I do not want her to. I have a good job and am able to provide her with a very good living, but it doesn't appear to be enough. She wants so many things that our budget will not allow, and thinks if she goes to work she can have more clothes, a better car, etc. We have three children who need her attention and supervision badly. She wants to hire a woman to care for the children. How can I get through to her?

PROVIDER

DEAR PROVIDER: Tell your wife that when you need two jobs in the family you will have both of them. If she will figure in the costs of a substitute mother, the wear and tear on clothes, transportation and the intangible losses from fragmenting the family, she may realize how little ahead she could be.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have just come through the ragged agony of ending an affair. Make no mistake, it was "love" on my part, but no love can survive the endless hours of waiting, the tortured jealously of seeing the man you love with the woman who is lawfully and publicly his.

There never was any talk of his leaving his home, but like any woman in love I believed that eventually I would have him for myself if I gave enough—and waited. This is not true. An affair is only "an affair." Print this, Abby, in the hope that it will spare just one woman the heartbreak of wasting her love and her best years. I'm guilty, too.

BORN TO LOSE

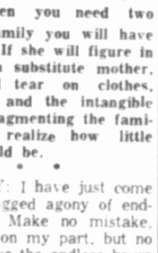
* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO BRUCE: Keep right on wearing that nail polish, and if the boys tease you about it, hit them with your purse.

* * *

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

LETTER CONTINUES



By T. H. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1583

The letter of kind criticism which we started quoting yesterday continues: "It is the doctrine and the worship of the believers that distinguishes a true-church (Mat. 16:18) from a psuedo-church (Ps. 127:1). The fact that a local congregation has the name Church of Christ nailed over the door or placed on a sign, does not make it necessarily a congregation of the church of Christ (Mat. 16:18)".

It is true, the name "Church of Christ" is not enough to make a church the true church.

It is true that, the doctrine and worship must be right.

However, there are other marks of the true church. The Lord's name was worn. Christ called her, "my church" (Mat. 16:18). Paul called the congregation, "churches of Christ" (Rom. 16:16). Thus the church in the New Testament was called by the Lord's name. A church today which wears a name other than the Lord's, lacks that much being the Lord's church, to say the least.

Having dismissed our services this week in favor of the gospel meetings held nightly by the 11th. and Birdwell church of Christ, we highly recommend that you attend those services. —Adv.

Wayland College Prexy Resigns

PLAINVIEW (AP)—The president of Wayland Baptist College, Dr. Hope Owen, has resigned. He indicated he would stay in office until next July.

Trustees accepted Dr. Owen's resignation. They also authorized $450,000 in buildings.

Anti-Shorts Girl Would Like To Convert Heathens

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Judy Rae Bushong, an unusual 16-year-old girl in nearby Springfield Township, has other things on her mind besides whether or not she will wear bloomer-type shorts in gym class.

"I would like to convert heathens in Mexico or Germany or something like that," says the attractive, 5-foot-3, 110-pound girl.

Judy is due to be expelled from high school unless she consents by this weekend to wear the shorts in gym class.

Neither Judy nor her father, the Rev. Herbert I. Bushong, a gas station attendant and part-time pastor of the non-denominational All Souls Harbor Church, has shown any signs of wavering. She was suspended Sept. 24 for refusing to wear the shorts and was ordered expelled from Springfield High School last Monday. However, Supt. of Schools Charles L. Rieger delayed executing the order to see if Judy would comply.

The Rev. Mr. Bushong, like his daughter, believes baring knees is sinful and he says he'll fight the case to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The shorts bare the legs to about mid-thigh.

"I have received more than 70 letters from all over the country and West Germany," Judy says. "All but two praised my stand. I want to fight on the battleground of Christ and convert the heathen. Even my boyfriend says I shouldn't wear shorts."

Several ministers have backed Judy's stand.

"This is not a religious question," says Rieger. "I admit I had second thoughts and asked counsel about whether I was being stubborn. I was advised and truly believe that if the school system gave in to Judy we would be wide open for any pressure group that cared to raise a question."

Brown-haired Judy does not use cosmetics but does put her hair up in curlers. Her home contains a record player, but only religious hymns are played on it. There is no television set in the home, although an aerial sprouts from the roof.

"The Lord took the television set away," Judy explains. "We used to have one up till a year ago, but my father prayed until we quit watching it. He traded it in on a power lawn mower."

The Rev. Mr. Bushong has an eighth-grade education and received his minister's license after completing a correspondence Bible course.

He has been married three times. His first marriage ended with his wife's death, his second in divorce. There are six children in the family.

Cat Owners Set Up A Howl

NEW PROVIDENCE, N.J. (AP)—Cat owners here are howling.

They object to a proposed ordinance that would require registration of their pets. The cats would have to wear a collar or be tattooed. Cost—$2.

The ordinance comes up for a public hearing Oct. 22.

The borough council made changes in a first draft of the proposed ordinance. It deleted a phrase that referred to cats as a nuisance.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, our drug called ODRINEX. You must lose ugly fat in 7 days or your money back. Held For Grand Jury

Suzanne Clift, 21-year-old society girl, leaves Boston Municipal Court Building accompanied by a court officer after she was ordered held for a grand jury in connection with the slaying of Piere Berntani, 27-year-old Italian electronics engineer. Suzanne was ordered held without bail for the sitting of the Suffolk County Grand Jury which convenes the first Monday in November.

Pension Bill A Peace Try?

By JACK BELL
An AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's action in signing a self-employed pension bill was widely interpreted today as a peace gesture to the doctors who opposed his program of health care for the elderly.

Kennedy has been depicted as reluctant to let the measure become law. It permits self-employed persons such as doctors and lawyers to set up tax-eased pensions for themselves and their employes.

The fact that the President wasn't very pleased with the bill seemed to be substantiated by his silence in signing it. The usual White House statement and ceremonies which accompany such actions were conspicuously missing.

KEPT IN SESSION

Reports of the President's reluctance were so widespread that Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., sponsor of the bill, contributed his efforts toward keeping Congress in session so the measure could be pocket-vetoed.

When Congress is meeting, a bill becomes law without the President's signature if he does not sign or veto it in 10 days. If Congress is in adjournment, a President can kill a measure simply by not acting on it in 10 days. Midnight last night was the 10-day deadline for the self-employed bill.

Kennedy has been represented as being angry at the doctors who joined in the campaign that ended in Senate defeat of his proposal to finance health care for those over 65 through social security taxes.

He also obviously doesn't like the $115-million bite the self-employed pension plan will make in yearly Treasury revenues.

MIGHT HELP

But sponsors of the measure had argued with him that giving the doctors something most of them want might help ease their opposition to his general program, if not to the health care item. And he was reminded that a lot of lawyers, farmers, barbers and small business men are self-employed and would like to have a tax break which would help them lay away something for a rainy day.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, one of the chief sponsors of the bill, said he thought Kennedy was caught in a set of circumstances in which he couldn't afford to veto the bill.

"The trouble was that while he was a senator, President Kennedy did make the statement that the bill had merit and that it should be enacted into law," Dirksen said.

The Republican leader said he thinks its passage will be cheered by a substantial number of voters. He said he figures its terms will affect about 19 million persons.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, deputy Senate Democratic leader, said in a separate interview he is happy the President decided to sign it.

GOOD MOMENTUM

Humphrey, who voted for the bill, said Congress had given it such momentum by its overwhelming passage by both Houses that he suspected it would have been enacted even if there had been a veto. It requires two-thirds approval of those voting in each house to override a veto.

Humphrey discounted the political effect of a measure that had strong Republican support and even the backing of such conservative Democrats as Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

Under the law's provisions, self-employed persons will be able to deduct from their taxes half of up to a maximum of $2,500 they put into a Treasury-approved pension plan yearly.

But they also must provide for similar pension plans for their employes.

Kittens Discover Tree's A Crowd

WOODBURY, N.Y. (AP)—This is a story of three kittens, five children, two parents, a policeman, a utility, a firm of tree surgeons and a tree.

It started when a kitten belonging to the children of Dr. and Mrs. William Bikoff chased two kitten kin up a 50-foot oak on the lawn, then followed them.

The mother cat seemed unconcerned about the plight of her offspring, named Pixie, Imp and Storm. Not so the five Bikoff children—aged 3 to 13—who were so unconcerned they couldn't sleep and the next morning they couldn't eat or go to school.

This got their parents concerned and Dr. Bikoff called a policeman, who called the Long Island Lighting Co., which called a tree surgeon firm. The surgeons finally managed to get the kittens down after 22 hours aloft.

Ruling Upheld

GILMER (AP)—The 6th Court of Civil Appeals has upheld a district court decision and declared W. C. Jones winner of the Democratic primary election for tax-collector of Upshur County. Tommy Mitchell, who lost by two votes, brought the court test.

Red Speculators Are On Trial

MOSCOW (AP)—Fifteen defendants, all bearing apparently Jewish names, are on trial charged with currency speculation in the Ukrainian city of Chernovitsy.

Auto Men Elect

FORT WORTH (AP)—Automotive Wholesalers of Texas elected J. E. Wilson of Houston Wednesday as president. O. D. Reed of Lubbock was named a vice president and Hal Wray of Orange, secretary.

First Coin Show Opens Here Friday

The Big Spring Coin Club meets today at 7:30 p.m. at the Crawford Hotel building to review plans for its first annual coin show opening Friday in the Settles Hotel ball room. All members are asked to be on hand.

A crew of club members is due to report to the Settles at 7 a.m. Friday to set up the display counters and arrange the physical properties for the show.

There will be a large number of special exhibits of rare interest at the show which runs through Saturday and Sunday. Included will be a remarkable collection owned by F. E. Covil, McCamey, who will have 29-feet of gold coins of the world and paper money of the United States on show.

Another important collection, probably of more special interest to active coin collectors than to laymen, will be the complete set of Standing Liberty quarters. This assortment is one of the few complete sets in the world and includes the extremely valuable double-print date quarter with a catalog value of more than $1,000. This display will be shown by Charles H. Travis, Pecos, who is the governor of the El Paso Zone organization of the Texas Coin Collectors Association.

The Big Spring Coin Club is an affiliate of both the Texas and the national associations.

Thirty-four dealers have already reserved tables at the show. A dozen others have asked for table space and have been turned down. There is no room, the club officers said, for additional tables. Individual collectors will have dozens of special displays on hand.

The public is invited to attend all sessions of the show. No admission charge is made and members of the club will be on hand to answer queries about their hobby and how to begin a coin collection.

One special feature of the show is to be the unusual collection owned by Raymond Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

The Big Spring Coin Club has more than 150 members. It is not quite a year old and is growing by leaps and bounds, according to E. J. Valenta, president.

Men, women and children are active members and attend each meeting of the group.

There will be several drawings for valuable door prizes as a special event of the show. One feature will be the awarding of a valuable gold type set of American coins, including a $20, $10, $5 and $2.50 gold coin in almost mint condition. This set is worth at least $175.

The show will be open Friday for a judging of the exhibits at 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Schedule of special events calls for a judging of the exhibits at 10 a.m. Saturday; presentation of exhibit awards at 11 a.m. Saturday and a big coin auction, with Dub Bryant wielding the gavel, set for 2 p.m. Sunday.

BULLETIN

TOKYO, (AP)—The Chinese Communists today claimed a victory in a battle with Indian troops along the disputed Tibetan border but acknowledged 22 killed or wounded.

An Indian government spokesman in New Delhi confirmed heavy fighting broke out along the Himalayan frontier Wednesday morning after a 11-day lull. He said the Chinese attacked Indian positions and the Indians suffered 17 casualties. There was no indication whether the shooting was still going on.

Mac Wins Vote Of Confidence

LLANDUDNO, Wales (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan's government won overwhelming support from his Conservative party conference today for taking Britain into the European Common Market.

Passionate pro-European speeches by Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler and Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath called on Britain to accept her destiny and help lead Europe and the world to lasting peace and prosperity.

By a show of hands, the 4,500 delegates gave massive support to a motion calling on the government to continue the Brussels negotiations to link Britain with the six Common Market nations.

An amendment hostile to the Common Market was defeated, also on a show of hands.

The voting came after Heath received an ovation for a speech in which he declared:

"Europe is incomplete without Britain. And we in Britain are incomplete without Europe."

And he promised that this ancient island kingdom would not be swamped in the Common Market with her identity gone or her queen and Parliament downgraded.

Butler denied that the government faced a choice between the Commonwealth and the Common Market. He said Commonwealth countries would benefit from Britain's move into Europe. Their secondary industries would gain an expanding market, he declared, and Britain, with her prosperity increased, would be able to provide more development capital to meet Commonwealth needs.

Demo Leaders Push For End Of Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders struggled to bring the 87th Congress to a close today but conceded that Friday night was a more likely target for adjournment.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said he had not entirely abandoned hope for closing shop tonight but that the hope was a dim one.

House leaders confidently predicted final adjournment late Friday.

Little progress was made on Wednesday in disposing of the few key bills remaining and no action was scheduled for most of them today.

FEW DISPUTES

But nearly every important measure left was in a position to be moved quickly to the White House if only a few bitter disputes could be settled.

Numerous behind - the-scenes conferences were called Wednesday, with White House prodding clearly in evidence, and the leaders said substantial progress was made on their thorniest problems.

One source, who asked not to be identified, said President Kennedy told Democratic leaders in no uncertain terms at a White House conference earlier in the week that he wants Congress out of Washington.

Kennedy was reported to have remarked acidly that while he was out campaigning for more Democrats in Congress, the Democrats there weren't helping matters by squabbling and giving the impression they couldn't even adjourn.

Kennedy himself removed one big stumbling block by his last-minute signature on the pension bill for the self-employed.

REMOVE OBJECTION

This meant that Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., chief Senate sponsor of the measure, would remove his objection which has helped block consideration of a final supplemental money bill.

He cast his objection to delay adjournment and keep Congress in town in case Kennedy vetoed the pension measure.

However, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., did not withdraw his objection.

He is leading the Senate in another round of tug-of-war with the House over prestige. This round involves a $5 billion agriculture appropriations bill.

He has been insisting on funds for construction of a number of new agriculture research facilities which the House opposes.

But Russell and the House manager of the bill, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., did get together Wednesday for a long talk. Afterward, Democratic leaders said they were hopeful of a compromise but kept the details to themselves.

BERLIN RIGHTS

The Senate voted Wednesday to put Congress on record backing any action, including the use of military force, needed to uphold Western rights in Berlin. Passage of the Berlin resolution was by voice vote. The House had approved the resolution earlier.

Both branches sent to Kennedy on Wednesday a $2,025,895,700 appropriations measure to run the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

This left four money bills to be acted on, including the supplemental and the farm measure.

Another of these, the District of Columbia bill, is to be cleared today after cracking a deadlock.

The other, a $5 billion public works measure, has been agreed to in conference but is being held up for a number of reasons—one being that several Oregon projects were knocked out. But the leaders said they believed they had settled this by winning agreement to put them back in the supplemental.

Conferees quickly stitched together the $2.3 billion highway financing bill and said that it be sent along to the White House today.

LATE SESSION

A late session was held Wednesday night by conferees on the omnibus public works authorization bill containing projects for all parts of the nation.

They did not reach agreement and planned another session today. The Senate and House are far apart on it. The Senate included more than $4 billion worth of projects. the House about $2.25 billion.

Zoning Board Calls For Public Hearing

The Big Spring Zoning Board of Adjustment held an informal meeting on the Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital parking lot, south of the hospital, Wednesday, then authorized calling a public hearing for Oct. 23 at the city commission room in the municipal building.

Some variances may be required on the set backs of proposed buildings, including a new two-story clinic, and two floor parking building on the south end of the block. The board members wanted a look at the locations before considering a public hearing on the project.

Legion Faces 2 Big Battles

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—American Legionnaires entered the final day of their annual convention today with two sprightly fights in view—school prayers and the commander's election.

The school prayer issue popped up Wednesday when a resolutions committee suggested asking Congress for a constitutional amendment allowing prayers in public schools.

When a spirited battle broke out, Legionnaires tabled it until today. They said the less than one-third representation of the 3,015 eligible voting delegates was insufficient.

The resolution would ask Congress to "enable spoken prayer of a free and voluntary nature to be said in any and every location and place, including public schools, where citizens of the United States may gather."

Rabbi Robert I. Kahn of Houston, Tex., former national chaplain of the Legion, warned the delegates they were "playing with fire."

McClelland, 3 Others Indicted

HOUSTON (AP)—Former Probate Judge Clem McClelland and three other men were indicted today on a charge of converting $110,969 from an estate.

Indicted with McClelland were former Assistant Probate Judge Herman Mead, lawyer John Schnellbacher and appraiser Robert Duren.

A second count in the indictment alleged conspiracy to convert the estate.

Falkner's Work Wins Honors At Art Exhibition

Avery Falkner Jr., senior art major from Big Spring at Abilene Christian College, has added another honor to a long string he has compiled during his student career.

His oil painting, "Within Out," last weekend won a $100 cash prize at the 24th annual Texas Painting and Sculpture Exhibition at San Antonio.

His was one of seven cash awards at the exhibit held in the Witte Memorial Museum. Avery, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Falkner Sr., 708 W. 17tn, painted his winning picture last summer.

During his collegiate career he has won numerous awards and several scholarships. Much of his work has been in the abstract field.

The Texas Painting and Sculpture Exhibition is sponsored jointly by the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Houston Museum of Fine Arts, San Antonio Art League, Witte Memorial Museum.

Lions Report On Bulb Sale

Wednesday was a project report day for the Downtown Lions as they buttoned up one money-raising effort and were neck-deep in another.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, who was general chairman of the recent annual light bulb sale, reported that gross receipts approximated $2,900. A number of Lions bought one or more packages at the meeting, adding more to the total. Net proceeds will go to the club's welfare fund which finances blind and sight conservation work along with support of the local and the Lions state crippled children programs.

The same fund will be benefited by the Fun-O-Rama, a collection of rides and booths being sponsored this week by the club at Fourth and Birdwell. A dozen other local agencies are participating in the project.

James Tidwell, president called for volunteers to help over the weekend to dismantle the booths after the show has been completed. He also expressed thanks to C. J. Clark and Al Smith for having directed the two divisions of the bulb sale.

City Officials Are Back On Job

All Big Spring city officials who attended the annual convention of the Texas Municipal League in Fort Worth Oct. 8-10 are back at their local jobs today. City Manager Larry Crow and Assistant Manager Roy Anderson returned Tuesday night.

Mayor George Zachariah, Commissioners Paul Kasch, John Stanley, W. L. Thompson, and Arnold Marshall, City Secretary C. R. McClenny, and Police Chief Jay Banks, returned Wednesday.

Richard Cook Dies, Funeral Set Friday

Charles Richard Cook, a high school teacher in the Big Spring Independent School District, died at 9 p.m. in a local hospital Wednesday following an illness extending back to January.

He was stricken by a brain tumor which doctors found was cancerous.

Mr. Cook was active here in several phases of youth work and took delight in his YMCA activities. He was a member of the Y's Men's Club, sponsor of the high school Key Club, a sponsor of the senior class and an active member of the First Methodist Church.

He was born in Shamrock Oct. 25, 1936 and attended public schools there. He was a captain in the high school band, and played on his high school golf team that went to the state finals. He received the God and Country Award as a Boy Scout.

Mr. Cook received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree from McMurry College in 1958. At McMurry, he was a member of the Circle K, the Press Club, the McMurry band, the newspaper and year book staffs, student council, played on the golf and tennis teams and served as a senior class officer.

He was married Aug. 23, 1958 to the former Miss Rebecca Ann Affleck and they made their home here at 1801 Alabama. He served six months in the National Guard.

Funeral will be at 4 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church, with his pastor, Rev. Dewitt Seago, officiating, assisted by Rev. Jordan Grooms, Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

RICHARD COOK

The family has established a memorial fund in his name at McMurry College, which they suggest as an object for memorials.

Survivors include the widow; one son, Richard Kent Cook; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Huey H. Cook; Shamrock; one brother, Jimmy Don Cook, Shamrock; a half-brother, Huey Cook Jr., Houston; and his grandmother, Mrs. Dora Cook, Haskell.

Pallbearers will be Eric Burns, Marvin Tatum, Wayne Henry, J. R. Redden, E. E. Everett, John F. Smith, Harold Bentley, Bob Kelley, Jerry Kelley, all of Big Spring, and Dwayne Beatty, Odessa. Members of the Y's Men's Club will be honorary pallbearers.

Yemeni Says His Nation Is At War With Arabia

CAIRO (AP) —The deputy premier of the Yemeni rebel regime was quoted today as saying Yemen considers itself "in a state of war with Saudi Arabia" but his words were received with reserve here.

Shortly before the report came out of Yemen, the government of the United Arab Republic pledged all its resources to resist any attack on the rebel regime. It accused Saudi Arabia and Jordan of aggression on Yemen's northern frontier.

The statement by Yemeni Deputy Premier Abdul Rahman Baydany was carried by the U.A.R. news agency, but there was nothing to indicate he was speaking officially.

In a dispatch from the Yemeni capital of Sana, the agency quoted Baydany as saying Saudi Arabia had massed troops on the border and had slipped arms into Yemen. He said such acts were considered an attack on the rebel regime.

"This leads the Yemen government to consider itself in a state of war with Saudi Arabia," Baydany added.

Saudi Arabia has denied charges from Sana and Cairo that its troops have crossed into Yemen.

The U.A.R. pledge of support to what the rebels call an Islamic Socialist republic in Yemen was announced by Prime Minister Aly Sabry after a meeting of the presidency council. President Nasser presided.

Youth Square Dance Class Set

A youth square dancing class at the YMCA will be held from 6-7:30 p.m. today, immediately preceding the adult square dance class which starts at 8 p.m. Joe Leach, physical director, urged family groups to come early so all members of the family could participate in the program.

Bruce Wrights Win Door Prize

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright of Wright's Prescription Center were winners of the door prize, an all-expense paid weekend in Dallas, at the September showing of gift merchandise at the Midland division of Southwestern Drug Corporation.

They had a jet trip to Dallas, enjoyed shopping tours, night clubs and a football game.

Judge Overrules Motion To Amend Faulty Bonds

Judge Ed Carpenter, presiding in a session of county court devoted to disposing of accumulated appeal cases from the corporation and justice of the peace courts, Wednesday afternoon overruled a motion of George Thomas, attorney, to amend faulty appeal bonds in a number of cases.

Thomas gave notice of his intention to appeal the ruling of the court to the Circuit Court of Appeals at Eastland.

His action in taking the cases to a higher court was the first such decision since the current docket opened Monday. He had agreed on the court's action in remanding some 40 or more other cases he had on file to the corporation and justice courts.

He has 15 days in which to have clients in still other cases, where he has asked for permission to re-file appeals with amended bonds, appear in court.

Judge Carpenter is to rule on the motion of other attorneys for the right to amend bonds Friday. It is believed he will reject the motions. Possibly, other attorneys will then follow the plan of Thomas to carry the matters to the appeals court in Eastland.

Bond Set For One Of Five

Bond has been set for only one of five men charged in the burglary of the American Legion Hall, US 87 south, on March 10. All five are still in Howard County jail. Charges were filed in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's court and he set a bond of $1,500 for Billy James Green, 18.

Others charged in the burglary are David Mendoza Campos, 18, Robert Lee Green, 21, Herbert Young, 23, and James Lee Stephens, 22, all of Big Spring.

Judge Ralph Caton will hear a motion by Dist. Atty. Gil Jones at 10 a.m. Friday to revoke a probated sentence granted David Mendoza Campos, Sept. 24, 1961. The motion asking the revocation states that the young probationer was implicated in a burglary attempt at the City Pawn Shop Oct. 3 which violated the terms of his probation.

The American Legion burglary, and about a dozen more were solved during investigations into the murder-beating in August of Stanley Williams, 91. Deputy Sheriff Fern Cox, Investigator Bobby West, Texas Ranger Sgt. John Wood, and Police Detectives Jack Jones and Aubrey Hurley, working closely quizzing suspects in the murder case. They obtained statements from the five in connection with several burglaries.

More burglaries may be solved during the week, and charges may be filed on several other suspects, some of whom were in custody of officers today.

Banks Elected To Directorate

Big Spring Chief of Police Jay Banks was elected to the board of directors of the Texas Police Chief's Association Tuesday in a sectional meeting at the annual convention of the Texas Municipal League in Fort Worth. Wyatt Alexander, Amarillo chief, was elected new president of the association. Banks served as chairman of the resolutions committee for the meeting in Fort Worth.

Veterans Day Plans Scheduled

Preliminary plans were made this morning for observance of Veterans Day at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Definite plans will be made after a meeting with local service organizations and their auxiliaries to find out what activities are in the mill, V. J. Belda, hospital director, said. Observance will be coordinated with these groups.

Gets Prison Term For War Atrocity

NY Needs One Win To Sew Up Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—It just had to happen. And now the Giants can try to bounce back once more.

San Francisco's own were one game from disaster today following Wednesday's 5-3 New York Yankee victory in New York that gave the American League champions a three-to-two edge in the World Series.

As the rivals prepare for the sixth game here Friday, the Yankees need only one more victory to record their 20th world championship in the last 40 years.

The Giants, of course, must win Friday's as well as the seventh game on Saturday to reign as champions. Since they were forced to come from behind all through the regular season, why should the script be scrapped in the World Series?

They didn't catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race until the final day of the season after trailing since July 9. Then they had to overcome a 4-2 deficit with four runs in the ninth inning to win the final playoff game for the pennant.

The Giants' task is much more difficult now despite the fact the balance of the series will be played in their home park. They must beat southpaw Whitey Ford and righthander Bill Stafford, although not necessarily in that order. Each owns a victory without having tasted defeat in the series.

Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants named lefty Billy Pierce his sixth game pitcher immediately after Wednesday's Yankee victory, which was triggered by Tom Tresh's three-run homer in the eighth inning. The blow by the rookie outfielder, off righthander Jack Sanford, snapped a 2-2 tie and gave Ralph Terry his first World Series triumph after four defeats, one in the current series.

Dark, however, delayed naming the rest of the lineup until he learned the identity of the Yankee starting pitcher. New York manager Ralph Houk said his pitcher would be either Ford or Stafford, but declined to name him until after the workout this afternoon.

"I still think we'll win it," said Dark, despite odds making the Yanks 3½-1 favorites. "I've said all along the series will go seven games and we'll win it. I feel we can beat them two straight."

Houk did no gloating. He is fully aware that this has been a terrific struggle so far, with very little to choose between the two teams. Going into the seventh inning, neither team has had more than a one-run lead in any of the five games.

The Yankees have collected 38 hits to 37 for the Giants. Tresh's homer Wednesday was only the second for the Yankees. The Giants have hit five off Yankee pitching. Only in the first game has either team hit in double figures.

If Ford pitches Friday, he will be making his third start in the series. He won the opener 6-2 and then went six innings, giving up two runs, in the fourth game, last Monday, won by the Giants 7-3. Jim Coates was charged with the loss.

Two of the Yankees' hits Wednesday were "bleeders." One was a Texas League double by Tresh that shortstop Jose Pagan dropped after a long run. The other was a topped single by Richardson half way to the mound. The first two Yankee runs crossed the plate on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Pagan scored the first two Giant runs. He singled and scored on Chuck Hiller's double in the third and homered in the fifth.

Sanford retired the first batter in the eighth but never got another batter. After fanning Terry for his 10th strikeout, he yielded singles to Tony Kubek and Richardson. Then came Tresh's homer and Sanford was finished.

DIDN'T NEED HIS SPEED

Series Standout Jogged The Bases

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—Tom Tresh always wanted to be a big league ball player like his dad, but not a catcher.

TRESH

"Dad was afraid it would waste my speed," he said.

Young Tom — son of former Chicago White Sox catcher Mike Tresh — became the left fielder for the New York Yankees. But he only needed speed enough to jog around the bases Wednesday, after he blasted a three-run homer at Yankee Stadium that won the fifth game of the World Series against the San Francisco Giants.

Tresh blasted Jack Sanford's second pitch into the right field seats in the eighth inning, with two men on and the score tied 2-2, to play the hero's role.

"I was choked up on the bat, just trying for a base hit, especially with him (Sanford) pitching," said Tresh. "But he threw me a fast ball right down the pipe. I was sure surprised to see it, because I hadn't seen anything like that off him in two games.

"When I saw where the ball was, I took a good cut. I thought it was gone all the way. It was the biggest hit of my life."

Tresh, 23, a rookie, won the Yankee shortstop job this spring and spent half the season there until the regular occupant, Tony Kubek, returned from military service. Then he was shifted to left.

He hit .286 during the season, with 20 home runs. He leads the Yankee hitters in the series, with .400.

Tom's father, mother and wife were in the stands when he pounced out his first World Series homer, and the elder Tresh was called to the clubhouse after the game.

"Where were you sitting?" he was asked. "I wasn't sitting. I was jumping up and down. This was a bigger thrill than anything I ever did," said Mike, now 49, who never played in a World Series during his 12-season career with the White Sox and Cleveland Indians.

"When I got out of high school there were a lot of scouts around, but I decided to go to college, at Central Michigan," said young Tresh, who lives in Taylor, Mich.

"Then they changed the bonus rule, so they could pay the big bonuses again, so several scouts were after me again. I talked to the Phillies first, and the next day the Yankees, and I signed with them without waiting for the others.

"I didn't want a big bonus, just enough to pay me for sacrificing my scholarship, and a little security. Dad and I figured out how much that would be—don't ask me how much—and we told the Yankee scout, it was Pat Patterson, and he said fine, so we shook hands and it was a deal."

Recreation Federation Set To Meet Here This Week

The Texas Recreation Federation for College Women will convene on the campus of Howard County Junior College, starting today. The meeting extends through Saturday.

The convention theme "Let 62 Bring Sports to You" will be carried throughout the convention.

Clinics will be held on Friday morning in basketball, archery and track and field.

Sherley Oswalt, Abernathy, will conduct the basketball clinic. During her tenure at Abernathy (1957-62) her varsity teams have won two state championships (58-59), two district championships (57-60), and have been runner-up in the district for two years (61-62).

Mrs. Natalie Russell of Amarillo College will conduct the archery clinic, while Ouisa Molen of San Angelo High School will serve as consultant for the track and field clinic.

Both Mrs. Russell and Miss Molen are outstanding in the field of recreation, and both are prominent in their home cities as recreation leaders. Registration begins at 4 p.m.

SHERLEY OSWALT

Kay Crownover is president of the Women's Recreation Association at Howard County College and will preside at the general assembly and will chair all business meetings of the convention.

Pat Saunders is vice president. She will chair the Constitution Committee meeting, and will serve as hostess throughout the convention.

Janie Harrington is secretary-treasurer and will be in charge of registration.

Anna Smith, dean of women and physical education instructor for women is sponsor of the convention.

The public is invited to be present for the programs of Thursday and Friday evenings.

O'Boyle Gets Rough Baptism As Wave Coach

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—What effect do three straight defeats have on a rookie football coach?

"It's like life itself," says Tulane's Tommy O'Boyle, "You can't let it get you down."

O'Boyle's baptism as Green Wave mentor has been rugged. Undermanned and overscheduled, Tulane bowed to Stanford 6-3 before being routed by Alabama and Texas, the nation's two top-ranked teams.

"Sure I could go around here in the dumps," O'Boyle said before practice Wednesday. "But what good would that do?

"Besides, I have confidence in my boys."

"We just don't have enough players for this league."

The personnel situation — difficult to start with—has become even more critical with several key injuries. Several big tackles dropped off the team in pre-season practice, and each week the injury list has grown.

It took O'Boyle several minutes to get through all the injuries for Friday night's Southeastern Conference game here with Mississippi State.

Chief among the new injuries is alternating quarterback Bob Boisvert, a sophomore from Alexandria, La. Several linemen are also hobbling around.

"This is a big one for us," O'Boyle pointed out, noting that Mississippi State is more nearly in Tulane's class than some of the teams it's met previously.

"They've got many of the same problems we have," he said. "Not enough players. A real good first team and they block and tackle hard. They're a good team."

Last Saturday, State upended favored Tennessee, 7-6.

State is favored by one touchdown, but O'Boyle is likely to get the Greenies up, since they know this is a game they can win. After State, Tulane has to play Mississippi and Georgia Tech—both on the road.

O'Boyle's strategy when faced with one of the nation's toughest schedules, is simple.

"We can't do what some teams do—pound it out through the line" he said. "We have to finesse them."

The 45-year-old O'Boyle's answer is what local writers have dubbed the "shotgun spread." In it, only the quarterback is deep with lonely ends and flankers to both sides. He unveiled it against Alabama, and it's pepped up both the team and the long-suffering Tulane fans.

"At least we showed them (Alabama and Texas) that we could move the ball," O'Boyle said. In the 35-8 defeat to Texas, the Wave gained 173 yards through the air in 13 completions in 27 throws.

O'Boyle who inherited the Greenie hot seat when Andy Pilney quit under fire last year, maintains determined confidence.

"We're going to surprise someone before this season is over," he says. "One of these weeks, we'll beat someone."

61 ARE ALL-WINNING

Conference Activity Awaits Schoolboys

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Conference play blooms all over this week as the Texas schoolboy football campaign pushes into the heart of the championship race, and 61 of the state's undefeated, untied teams put their records on the line.

GORDON WOOD

Dallas Samuell and Dallas Bryan battle in a Dist. 6 match of two teams with perfect records in Class AAAA.

A brush between Spring Branch and Victoria and a tussle between San Antonio Harlandale and San Antonio Mac Arthur also pit unbeaten and untied clubs. The Harlandale-Mac Arthur clash counts heavily in the Dist. 15 race.

Brownwood, the championship favorite of Class AAA, coached by Gordon Wood, plays Weatherford. Both likewise boast perfect records.

There are 74 undefeated, untied teams and 19 that have been tied. Chances are only about 60 perfect records will be left Saturday night.

Thirty-seven of the 96 districts in the four classes have conference games, but only a few will come close to deciding championships. The Samuell-Bryan Adams winner still must face a Dallas Jefferson team that is unbeaten in conference strife.

Defending champion Wichita Falls of Class AAAA is host to Lawton, Okla. Dumas, the 1961 AAA king, takes on Class AA Muleshoe.

Donna, the Class AA champion which has broken even in its pre-conference campaign, and Albany, the Class A kingpin that hasn't done as well, are idle this week. Both open the conference Oct. 19. Denver City, the big favorite of Class AA, also has an open date.

New London, the big choice in Class A, plays its second conference game, meeting Judson in Dist. 19. New London smashed Hallsville last week.

A game that looked important before the season opened but now drawing no more than casual interest matches Port Arthur and Corpus Christi Ray in Class AAAA. Ray was the pre-season choice for the finals from the south but has dropped its last two games. Port Arthur, however, has moved into the runnerup spot in the rankings.

Of more than passing note is the Class B game between Pflugerville and Burton. Pflugerville bettered the national scholastic record for consecutive victories last week when it won its 50th contest.

Steers' Friday Opponent Predominantly Junior 11

Midland Lee, Friday night football foe of the Big Spring Steers here, has yet to win a game this season but could emerge as the club to beat in 1963.

The Rebels, who gave the Steers a terrific fight last year before losing, have 22 juniors in their ranks, including five who lettered at sophomores.

Only 11 members of this year's Lee club are seniors and seven of that group won numerals last year. Coach Duane Grissett's club has lost successive starts to El and Lubbock High but only Lubbock beat the Rebs more than one touchdown (20-8).

There are five offensive starters returning and six backs from the starting defensive eleven and 10 of the 11 offensive spots belong to lettermen.

The lone exception will be tackle Bill Boyer, a 175-pound senior squadman.

The man - under this year in the Midland Lee double wing slot-T will be a newcomer, Bucky Kimble.

Dwayne Casbeer, a 178 - pound junior, opened at fullback last season when the scheduled fullback was unable to go because of a pre-season injury. Then when Scott Rogers, a 173-pound junior, was able to resume his fullback chores, Casbeer moved to a halfback slot, then to fullback.

At the halfbacks will be 155-pound senior John Chesney on the left and 157-pound senior Freddie Cauble or Ron Easter, 160, on the right.

The wheel horse in the line will be right tackle Dick Taylor, a 213-pound senior and the only two-year letterman among the baker's dozen.

Co - Captain Chester Watkins, 177-pound senior, and Dan Harris, 154-pound senior, will man the terminals.

M Boys Easy For Hurlers

NEW YORK (AP)—Figuring the series:

In spring training, the pitchers usually are ahead of the batters. This also seems to be the case in this World Series. The San Francisco Giants, as a team, are hitting .228 for the first five games while the New York Yankees' batting average is only .214.

The three "Big M's" of the clubs haven't been faring too well at the plate. Willie Mays of the Giants and Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of Yanks all failed to hit in the fifth game. Mays was 0-for-4 while Mantle and Maris were 0-for-3. Mays' series average is .238, Mantle's .111 and Maris' .188.

The wild pitch by Jack Sanford and the passed ball by Tom Haller in the 5-3 Yankee victory over the Giants were the first such misplays by anyone in the series so far. No pitcher has yet to commit a balk.

Twenty-five years ago, the Yanks defeated the Giants 4-2 behind the pitching of Lefty Gomez and captured the World Series, 4 games to 1.

If shortstop Jose Pagan of the Giants maintains his batting pace, he can equal the record for the highest batting average in either a six or seven-game series. Pagan has seven hits in 14 trips for a .500 average. The record for both six and seven games is .500.

The three Yankee victories all have been achieved with a National League umpire working behind the plate. Both of the Giants' triumphs came with an American League man calling balls and strikes.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION — The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin relative to index of opposition, and is weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: A 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of equal strength. It was originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Runnels, Goliad Clubs Both In Action Here

Two crackerjack football games are on tap for local buffs this evening. Both take place in the old stadium at Tenth and State streets.

The first one pits the Runnels eighth graders against San Angelo Edison at 5:30 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m., Goliad's ninth graders tangle with San Angelo Edison.

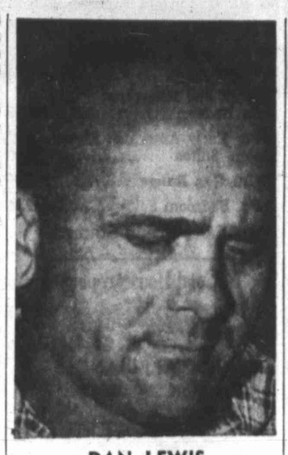
Goliad is undefeated in three starts, having humbled Snyder Lamar twice, 24-0 and 20-6, and Snyder Travis, 12-6.

The Runnels eighth graders are unscored on, having turned back Sweetwater twice, 12-0 and 22-0, and Snyder Lamar, 12-0.

Goliad depends heavily upon such performers as Gary Earhart, Van Tom Whatley, Wayne Nail, Danny Kirby, Ronnie Caldwell, Gary Phillips and Eddie Crittenden.

Runnels' eighth leans upon such boys as Gary Rogers, Ronnie Anderson, James Carver, Frank Fierro, David Gomez, Henry Dirks, Gary Turner and Avel Ramirez.

Two undefeated teams clash here Saturday evening when Runnels ninth and San Angelo Eison tangle at 7:30 p.m. in the old stadium. Edison is undefeated in 12 straight games.



DAN LEWIS
Runnels Mentor

Original plans called for the teams to meet in the new stadium on the HCJC campus at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Edison knocked off a highly regarded Brownwood team, unbeaten in 23 games, last week. Final score was 48-36.

Big Spring Runnels, coached by Dan Lewis, is undefeated in four games this year. The Yearlings have manhandled Sweetwater twice, 24-8 and 32-8; Snyder Lamar, 36-0, and San Angelo Lee in a real thriller, 22-20.

Edison has smashed Colorado City, 52-22; Sweetwater, 30-0; and the San Angelo sophomores, 44-20, in other starts.

Julio Guerre, Eddie Reyes and Gerald Turn are the three boys who make the Edison team go.

Bobby Griffin, Rey Navarette and Joe Jaure have been the top hands for Runnels, along with Wesley Ballou and Freddie Stiehl.

Goliad's opponent tonight, San Angelo Lee, is 1-2 for the season. The Concho City team has beaten Colorado City, 58-6, and lost to Snyder Travis, 8-6, and Big Spring Runnels, 22-20.

Troy Lankford, a substitute leads the Lee team in scoring with 32 points while halfback Johnny Harris has 24.

Gary Mullins, a 148-pounder, will be at quarterback for the Lee team while Harris and Frankie Striner will be at halfbacks and Jim Schiller at fullback.

The San Angelo Ediston team which opposes the Runnels eighth graders are undefeated in three starts. Edison has defeated San Angelo Lee, 12-6; San Angelo Lake View, 40-0; and San Angelo Blackshear, 14-6.

Ernest Cueller is the Edison quarterback while Rueben Angeles plays fullback and Armando Cedillo and Terry Collins halfbacks.

Bob Perry coaches the San Angelo Lee ninth graders while Jack Cauthen handles the Edison eighth graders.

No Injuries In UT Camp

By The Associated Press

Texas, the nation's No. 2 team, go gunning for Oklahoma, an old and formidable foe, Saturday as half the other Southwest Conference squads concentrate on family warfare.

Mighty Arkansas, the defending co-champion, is host to Baylor and Texas Christian entertains Texas Tech.

Texas A&M journeys to Florida and Rice is host to Oregon. Only Southern Methodist is idle.

The Texas Longhorns are due to be at full strength for their Cotton Bowl clash in Dallas. Fullback Ray Poage and end Sandy Sands, who have been out with injuries, held up well during a hard two-hour workout Wednesday. Both missed last week's game against Tulane.

Texas Tech welcomed the return of fullback Bill Worley, who missed two games because of injury. Red Raider coaches have been nursing quarterback Richard Mahan, tackle Bill Malone and end Jerry Garrison. All three are expected to see action Saturday.

There was good news for TCU. Trainer Elmer Brown reported halfbacks Larry Bulaich and Donny Smith and center David Rettig would be ready for the encounter with Texas Tech.

Self Is Due For Action

Big Spring will probably be without its first and second string centers when the Steers line up against Midland Lee in their District 2-AAAA football opener here Friday night.

Robert Wilson has been out of action all week with the flu. He was in school Wednesday but plainly showed the effects of his illness.

Kenny Chrane, despite to replace Wilson, injured his knee badly in practice Tuesday and it was badly swollen yesterday. He hobbled about with great difficulty.

E. J. Self, a junior who missed much of the early practice sessions, is being groomed to fill the position. E. J. weighs 170 pounds.

The Steers wnnt through their last hard drill Wednesday. All other hands have been pronounced fit for the game.

Baxter Records 66 In Pro-Am

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A field of top flight golf professionals, having given the tournament site an exhaustive survey in a pro-amateur round, fire away today in the first round of the $40,000 Bakersfield Open.

Slated to tee off in the initial threesome were nationally known Mike Souchak, Bob Goalby and George Bayer, with such other name pros as Gene Littler, Billy Casper Jr., Billy Maxwell, Ken Venturi and Don January set to follow.

Rex Baxter Jr. of Amarillo, Tex., former national collegiate champion, toured the Bakersfield course Wednesday with an individual 33-33—66 for the low score in the pro-amateur competition. Casper and Bayer had 67's.

Buffaloes Point For Ariz. State

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—The awesome West Texas State Buffaloes invaded Tempe Saturday seeking their first football victory over Arizona State in 15 years.

This year the Buffaloes appear to have a team that can get the job done. Undefeated and untied West Texas leads the nation's major college teams in rushing with a 348.5-yard average and ranks second in scoring with 47.3 points per game.

Halfback Jerry Logan of West Texas is the nation's top individual scorer with 72 points and teammate Pistol Pete Pedro tops the rushers with 621 yards in 75 carries for an 8.3 average.

The West Texans boast four straight victors—over Trinity 61-0, Texas Tech 30-27, Texas Western 49-0 and Arlington State 49-0.

The Buffs will be facing perhaps their toughest foe of the season in the Arizona State Sun Devils, who have a 2-0-1 record. They beat Wichita 21-10 and Colorado State University 35-0, and tied Washington State 24-24.

BOWLING BRIEFS

WEBBETTS LEAGUE

Results: Team 2 over Team 4, 4-0; Team 1 over Team 3, 3-1; high individual game and series—Maxine Marney 232 and 605; high team game and series—Team 2, 760 and 2023; splits converted—Myrna Barringer, 2-7; Dee Wood, 5-6; Christine Johnson, 5-7.

Met JFK Through Hoax

Three 17-year-old St. Paul high school boys wear broad smiles after telling how they posed as German exchange students to fool Secret Service men and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., to get into President Kennedy's Minneapolis hotel quarters and shake the President's hand. Left to right are: Bill Waters, Roger Magnuson and Daniel Norstedt. Waters said they rehearsed their fake German accents carefully to accomplish the meeting.

Kennedy Sets Out On Another Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, betraying obvious symptoms of campaign fever, set out today on his second grueling weekend of stumping for Democrats.

With exuberance running through his entourage, Kennedy starts with a quiet afternoon and night schedule in New York, then moves into action Friday in Newark, N.J., and Manhattan before flying to Pittsburgh.

After spreading his word for Democratic congressional and state candidates in Western Pennsylvania, Kennedy hits Indianapolis, Louisville and Buffalo, N.Y., in a battle plan that gets him back to Washington headquarters late Sunday.

Kennedy listed no public appearances until Friday, when he participates in Columbus Day celebrations at Newark and New York. The White House said he had some appointments today.

The President and his campaign companions already were cheered by a noisy, massive reception in Baltimore Wednesday night. Kennedy flew in by helicopter to add steam to a Democratic rally and was greeted with enthusiasm and numbers rivaling the best demonstrations of 1960, when he was campaigning for himself instead of others.

The route of his three-mile ride from the park where his helicopter landed to Baltimore's 5th Regiment Armory, scene of the rally, lay in middle- and low-income areas of Democratic strength. The turnout, nonetheless, was huge and spirited by any measure.

The crowds were friendly except for one group outside the armory bearing such placards as "Invade Cuba, not Mississippi."

Kennedy's message to the Armory crowd was the same he has attempted to put across in one stop after another this fall.

It will be "vitally important" in the next two years, Kennedy said, to fill Congress with those "who believe in moving this country ahead." U.S. strength around the world, he said, requires strength at home.

So, he exhorted, vote Democratic.

Kennedy said Maryland was unfortunate in having two Republicans in the Senate and urged its voters to replace one, retiring John Marshal Butler, with Democrat Daniel B. Brewster, now a House member.

The chief executive also praised Gov. J. Millard Tawes, a Democrat seeking re-election, and host of Democratic contenders for Congress and state offices who gathered with him on the platform.

Kennedy carried Baltimore by almost a 2-1 margin while winning Maryland two years ago.

While Kennedy was in Baltimore, the White House announced a detailed itinerary for his venture into equally friendly territory, western Pennsylvania. He will stop at Aliquippa on his way to Pittsburgh in the afternoon. The next morning, before heading to Indianapolis, he will appear at McKeesport, Monessen and Washington, Pa.

Army Association Pays Tribute To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, which went through lean times while old soldier Dwight D. Eisenhower was president, showed him Wednesday night that all is forgiven.

And for his part, General of the Army Eisenhower responded that "my pride in belonging" to the Army "is something that will die with me."

Ruddy, vigorous and remarkably fresh after political barnstorming, Eisenhower looked much younger than his nearly 72 years as he stood before about 2,000 bemedaled soldiers and their ladies to receive the Army Association's highest award.

The association, a private organization promoting Army causes, conferred on Eisenhower its George Catlett Marshall gold medal, named for the man who plucked him from obscurity and tapped him for the World War II command that made Eisenhower a hero.

The medal is given each year for "selfless and outstanding service to the United States." The citation lauded Eisenhower as "an elder statesman and symbol of American good will to the people of the world."

Seated with Eisenhower at the head table in the great, gilded hall of a midtown hotel were some of the generals, now retired, who were his comrades in World War II—including Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Gen. Jacob L. Devers.

And a few places from him sat Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who quit as Army chief of staff in 1959 with a blast at Eisenhower's policies, which Taylor said neglected the Army. Taylor is now chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the nation's top military man.

The thousands of diners leaped to their feet when Eisenhower walked in. They cheered, applauded and whistled when he threw up his arms and grinned in a characteristic gesture of greeting.

Mrs. Eisenhower watched from her table. At her side was Gen. Marshall's widow, who received a standing ovation.

Retired Lt. Gen. Milton G. Baker, president of the association, spoke glowingly of Eisenhower as embodying "peace with strength," and brought the crowd to its feet again by calling the famed president-soldier "Plain Ike."

The tuxedo-clad Eisenhower, in a mellow mood, spoke feelingly of the Army as "selfless...devoted ...loyal." And he said Marshall, wartime Army chief and postwar secretary of state and defense, typified all these qualities.

Eisenhower's only reference to his presidency came in his smiling remark that except for eight years "when I took a short tour in politics," he has belonged to the United States Army.

With all the rest, he raised his glass in a toast to President Kennedy. And he applauded when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who has reversed many of Eisenhower's defense policies, advanced to speak.

But Eisenhower sat with arms folded while others clapped as McNamara spoke pridefully of how the number of combat-ready Army divisions had been increased by 45 per cent.

And to observers, it appeared he cast a caustic eye at the defense secretary when McNamara mentioned that money to buy aircraft had been doubled over 1961.

As the evening ended, Eisenhower stood at attention while the Army band played "The Caissons Go Rolling Along."

Then he marched swiftly from the room.

Storms Pound North Texas

By The Associated Press

Vicious thunderstorms pounded parts of North Texas and inflicted some property damage at Paris overnight.

Sticky heat lingered in most sections of the state Thursday.

One of the storms booming southward from Oklahoma hit Paris with gusty winds which tore away parts of roofs, felled a few power lines and smashed upper story windows of downtown stores.

A 2.40-inch downpour flooded Paris streets temporarily.

The thunderstorms also belted other points near the Red River, including Denison, Blossom, Detroit, Bogota and Deport.

By early morning the storms had played out, leaving clear to partly cloudy weather everywhere except the Fort Worth-Dallas area, where skies were overcast.

Forecasts promised about the same kind of weather for at least a couple of days, including prospects for occasional afternoon thundershowers in most sections.

Laredo recorded a summery high of 98 degrees Wednesday afternoon. El Paso and Galveston were coolest with marks of 87.

Readings early Thursday ranged from 55 at Dalhart up to 81 at Palacios.

Eisenhower Tells Why He's On Campaign Trail

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he currently is campaigning for Republican candidates because he feels that decisions on grave national problems "should be made by the people themselves."

"I'm on the hustings to tell people, 'Take back your faith in yourselves; don't let any one man make your decisions.' We can make certain that state and national governments represent us and not a little clique of professors from a certain college," he said.

Eisenhower spoke to a police-estimated 5,000 massed in the open air of a downtown bank plaza Wednesday during an hour's stop while en route to Washington from a Western campaign swing.

Among other things, he called for a halt to what he termed the spending spree in Washington and an "unconscionable grab for power."

The former chief executive said Washington bureaucrats were seeking to centralize power there and that President Kennedy was trying to get a lot of it into his own hands.

Eisenhower praised Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and also urged the return to Congress of Reps. Walter Judd and Clark MacGregor, as well as the election of all other Minnesota Republican congressional candidates.

His visit came just four days after President Kennedy had made a pitch for Democratic candidates in Minnesota last weekend. Kennedy talked to an estimated 20,000 at a Democratic bean feed.

Time-Saving Discovery Made By Housewife

Late last fall, a Florida housewife wrote to the No-Roach Co.—"For years now, I have been adding a cupful of No-Roach to the rinse water, when mopping my floors. This has kept roaches, ants, and spiders out of my home. What puzzles me—is why don't you ever mention this?"

Well, dear readers, it just goes to show. . . . The manufacturers of No-Roach had never thought of it before. They experimented, it works, and now this advice is featured on their new No-Roach label. Thanks to a very bright housewife.

If you've got bugs at home, get a bottle of Johnston's No-Roach and try it.

President Signs Historic Trade Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed into law today the historic trade expansion bill giving him vast power to reduce most tariffs, repeal others and forge economic links with the booming European Common Market.

Administration leaders hailed the bill as the crowning legislative achievement of Kennedy's first two years in the White House.

The new trade program received strong support from both parties and from leaders of business and organized labor.

Opposition from protectionist groups was not as harsh as had been predicted, since the measure provides help for industries and workers when imports cause loss of business and jobs.

The administration was unable to block a provision that would restrict trade with Poland and Yugoslavia. But otherwise, Congress gave Kennedy almost exactly what he requested, plus additional authority to counter unjustifiable import barriers erected by other countries against American products.

The special authority to work out economic arrangements with the Common Market is regarded by the administration as the heart of the bill.

The booming six-nation area is looked upon as a potential vast new market for sales of American consumer goods and farm surpluses.

The six nations in the market are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Great Britain is negotiating to become a member.

The bill extends for five years, to June 30, 1967, the 28-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law initiated by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

It gives the President authority in negotiating new trade pacts to cut all U.S. tariffs by 50 per cent.

In addition, he may negotiate for the complete elimination of duties on items for which the United States and the Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade.

Help for American industries and workers is designed to permit pinpoint aid to those harmed by imports when industrywide relief possible under the old law is held to be unjustified.

Under the provision, affected companies could receive government loans, technical assistance and permission to carry back a net operating loss for tax purposes five years instead of the normal three.

Workers could be given weekly payments of 65 per cent of their average wage up to a ceiling of 65 per cent of the national average manufacturing wage. This would fix a $61 weekly limit, much higher than regular unemployment compensation in most states.

The allowances could run for 52 weeks, longer than any state now pays, and for an additional 22 weeks for workers being trained for different jobs. Relocation allowances also could be paid.

The federal government would pay the full cost of the worker allowances.

Hall Of Fame

The late Gene Howe, formerly publisher of the Atchison (Kan.) Globe and the Amarillo Globe, was elected to the Kansas Newspaper Hall of Fame at Lawrence, Kan. He was a son of E. W. (Ed) Howe of Atchison, famous as the Sage of Potato Hill. At Amarillo, Gene Howe wrote a column, "The Tactless Texan," under the name Old Tack.

$5,000 Bond Set For Dunn In Morals Case

AUSTIN (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Fisher set bond at $5,000 Wednesday for Roy Lee Dunn of Orange, convicted Saturday of violating the Mann Act.

Defense lawyers gave notice of appeal after Fisher fined Dunn $2,500 and sentenced him to serve six months of a five-year prison sentence. The judge said Dunn would be on inactive probation for the balance of the sentence.

Dunn was convicted of taking a woman across state lines for immoral purposes.

Official Urges Deletion Of Terminal By Airline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil Aeronautics Board examiner Thomas Wrenn recommended Wednesday that Midland - Odessa, Tex., be deleted from the route of American Airlines.

The finding supported a tentative conclusion of the board in its order last March setting up the Midland-Odessa case.

The West Texas cities are served also by Continental Airlines and Trans - Texas Airways.

The examiner said elimination of American's stops would not reduce the quality of air service available at Midland-Odessa to Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and El Paso.

Wrenn said American's poor showing in attracting Midland-Odessa traffic was due to its failure to exploit the market.

He said since the board cannot force an unwilling airline to engage in a vigorous competitive effort there, it would be a "useless gesture" to keep American's service at the point.

Wrenn proposed that American drop its Midland-Odessa service when the CAB decides another case involving local air service in the Southwest.

Oklahomans Score Heavily At Fair

DALLAS (AP) — Oklahomans scored heavily as judges picked more livestock champions Wednesday at the State Fair of Texas.

Exhibitors from Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana and Missouri also shared top prizes with Texans in the placing of cattle, sheep and swine.

A turnout of 167,826 visitors boosted the five - day total to 746,750.

In the Guernsey cattle division of the fair's Pan - American Livestock Exposition, Jene Mungle of Atoka, Okla., showed the grand champion bull. The reserve champion bull was owned by Ray McKown of Ardmore, Okla.

J. T. Lively & Son of Dallas had the grand champion female Guernsey and Kleinpeter Farms of Baton Rouge, La., the reserve champion.

Texans swept top prizes for Shorthorn cattle. R. E. Smith Ranches of Houston exhibited the grand champion bull and the grand champion female. Scofield Ranch of Austin had both reserve champions.

Glen Armentrout & Son of Norborne, Mo., showed the champion ram and ewe in judging of Hampshire sheep, and Charles Brink of Olathe, Kan., had both reserve champions. L. A. Nordan of Boerne swept the championships for Columbia sheep.

Both the grand champion boar and sow were exhibited by Harvey Richardson of Elmore City, Okla., in the Chester White swine show. Green Acres Stock Farms of Lockney owned the reserve champion boar and D. J. Richardson of Elmore City the reserve champion sow.

In the Poland China and spotted swine division, Oscar Anderson & Sons of Leland, Ill., had the grand champion boar and Harvey Richardson of Elmore City the grand champion sow. Green Acres Stock Farms of Lockney took both reserve championships.

Royal Jazzy, a 6-year-old mare owned and ridden by Bubba Cascio of Tomball, scored 149 points to win the first go-round of the open cutting horse contest. Cutter Bill, owned by Rex Caudle of Crockett and ridden by Sonny Perry, scored 148 points. Smokey So, owned and ridden by Louis Pearce of Houston, scored 147.

Venus Probe's Aim Off A Bit

Not Fretting

Anne Whitfield, young starlet, isn't fretting about becoming older and more sophisticated. She realizes that she is only young once and hopes that she can make the most of that time. She gives tips on personality and complexion care.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She Is Happy With Being Youthful

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Anne Whitfield, who is 21, is one girl who is not fretting to seem older. "I don't feel comfortable in sophisticated styles," she told me. "I guess I take after my mother who is a conservative dresser. I feel you have a long time to be an adult and such a short time to be a girl, so why rush it?"

We were chatting in Anne's dressing room at NBC where she was shooting a "Laramie" segment. There was a large magnifying mirror on her make-up table, which was well lighted. "It's sort of scary to look into that mirror and see yourself so enlarged," Anne said. "But it keeps you from living in a dream world.

"I use a medicated meal on my skin to keep the pores clean. Since I have an oily triangle area in the center of my face, that is where I scrub most. Blackheads are easy to handle if you 'attack' them right away. That's why I like this mirror that magnifies the pores. You can get a cheaper mirror that enlarges the features, but it does not serve the same purpose."

Anne is a fan of powdered yeast. "I stir a teaspoonful of it in a glass of juice as an afternoon pick-up. Yeast is also good for your complexion. I mix a little with rosewater and spread it over my face as a mask. In about 15 minutes I can wash it off with warm water, and it gives my skin a real glow."

Hickson Is Retailers' Speaker

R. E. Hickson gave the program at the Wednesday noon meeting of Big Spring Retail Credit Executives at Coker's Restaurant. His committee report on a proposed credit policy for credit executives, principals on opening an account, terms of collection procedures and the responsibility of credit granting was heard by 15 members and one guest, Louis Loe.

Announcement was made of a credit school, sponsored by the Retail Credit Bureau, to be held in November. It will be conducted by Loury Carpenter of the Texas University Extension Division. Co-sponsors are the Retail Credit Club and the Credit Women's Club.

George Weeks presided at the meeting and the invocation was given by Glen Barnes.

DATE BOOK

The Airport P-TA will meet tonight at 7:30 at the school.

* * *

Las Artistas members will have a work session at C. D. Reeder's studio, Tejas Road, at 7 o'clock tonight.

* * *

Knott Parent-Teachers Association will meet Thursday night in the Knott School auditorium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A box of candy is to be presented to the room winning the membership contest. Women Are Active In Pharmacy

AUSTIN — Three hundred and eighty-one women pharmacists, 85 per cent of whom hold college degrees, are actively engaged in practice in 156 Texas cities, a University of Texas survey shows.

The report was compiled by Dr. Esther Jane Hall of the College of Pharmacy faculty for the University's Pharmaceutical Foundation.

She learned that there are 566 women registered as pharmacists by the State Board of Pharmacy. Of those not active in the pharmaceutical profession, 107 are engaged in other pursuits and 78 reside out of the state.

The average annual salary for women working full-time in retail pharmacy was $7,000, Dr. Hall found. In the field of hospital pharmacy, full - time salaries ranged from $6,000 to $6,999.

"Women pharmacists in Texas are highly respected and are being admitted to the profession in greater numbers and accepted by the consumer," she concluded.

Mrs. Allen Heads Baptist Class

Mrs. A. J. Allen was elected president of the Faithful Workers Sunday school class, East Fourth Street Baptist Church, when the class met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. W. T. Rutledge. Other officers named were Mrs. Rutledge, vice president; Mrs. Jesse Hayes, secretary; Mrs. Eldon Cook, Mrs. George Williams, and Mrs. Pauline Cizer, group captains.

The devotion, "A Story Behind a Painting," was given by Mrs. Ira Raley, and Mrs. Charles Engle closed the meeting with prayer.

Birthdays Observed At Heaths' Ranch Home

GARDEN CITY (SC)—Cousins observed their birthday anniversaries jointly with a Sunday celebration. The party, given at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Heath, honored Philip Gallimore and Pattie Clements, both five years old, and Douglass Gallimore Jr., 11 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clark of Abilene were weekend visitors with Mrs. Clark's sisters, Mrs. W. A. Bigby and Mrs. R. E. Heath, and their families.

Mrs. C. E. McGuire of Odessa was a recent visitor with her son, Allen, his wife who live on the Bob Ballenger ranch north of Garden City. Mrs. McGuire was entertained with a birthday party during her visit.

Mrs. Ruth Flanagan who makes her home with Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, was in Pecos last week to attend funeral services for her uncle.

Invitation Is Extended By Midland Council

The Midland Council of Garden Clubs annual flower show, slated for Oct. 27 in the Midland's Woman's Club, Wadley Road, will be open to the public from 4 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The theme of the show is "Garden of Rhymes." Entries may be made by any garden club member affiliated with the Midland Council of Garden clubs.

The schedule this year calls for an invitational class open to out of town members of an affiliated Garden Club Council which includes Big Spring. A design of fresh plant material using a favorite nursery rhyme is the theme. Accessories may be used. Entries will be accepted from 7 to 10 a.m.

Professionals are invited to enter under their own name in a design of fresh plant material using a Thanksgiving theme and accessories may be used. There will be table settings, featuring nursery rhymes, by club members. The national judges of this district are invited to enter in a class that calls for a split complementary color design, with which accessories may be used. Displays will feature litterbug; conservation of wild flowers in West Texas; educations, civic, and commercial; a display of tropical plants by Midland nurseries.

Adult sponsors present were Harry Jordan and Bert Andries.

Women Make Good Dealers

ATLANTA (AP)—One of the business world's rarities—a woman auto dealer—is showing the men that the feminine touch can be tough competition.

Georgia's distaff dealer is Mrs. O. B. Leverett, a Gainesville widow who has been running an agency since the death of her husband 10 years ago.

"It's a fascinating business and I enjoy it," she says. She was unanimously voted president by the other three board members.

"I don't feel that being a woman auto dealer is a handicap," she says. "But I have found that most men like to deal with men, and either the general manager or sales manager (both men) will usually make the sales."

Look Mom!

Mrs. William Nolen takes time out from her kitchen to play with her daughter, Kathleen, 2, holding a favorite toy. Kathleen can't talk in sentences yet, but if she could she would probably say "My mom is the best cook in the world."

Large Family Requires More Food Knowledge

Time and quantity are the passwords to Mrs. William Nolen's kitchen. There are six reasons—Capt. Nolen; Cynthia, 16; David, 12; Steve, 10; Pat, 8; Kathleen, 2. Some women might consider Mrs. Nolen's cooking situation a burden; she doesn't. She has widened her knowledge of cooking along with the growth of her family.

When Mrs. Nolen married, she was her biggest obstacle, as far as cooking was concerned. She had grown up liking only a few foods, but her husband was accustomed to variety in meals. As a result of her husband's patience and her mother-in-law's recipes, she cultivated the culinary arts.

Mrs. Nolen still considers herself a "plain" cook. Although her specialty is black-eyed peas, she dresses-up meats with such seasoning as garlic, onion and celery salts and bay leaves. She relies chiefly upon her six-quart pressure cooker in which she prepares most of the meat and many vegetables. She can cook a 3½ pound roast in 55 minutes; corn on the cob in 3-5 minutes. She has gone through three new handles on the cooker.

Today's cook has learned to vary recipes. For instance, she looks at a meat casserole recipe. If she does not happen to have the certain type of meat on hand, she replaces it with whatever she does have. She finds that her "creation" usually turns out as well as the original recipe.

Anyone for pancakes? When Mrs. Nolen's sons get up ahead of her and make maple syrup, that's hint enough for her to stir up a batch of pancakes or waffles. The simple recipe calls for two cups of sugar dissolved in boiling water and one half teaspoon of maple flavoring.

Here are Mrs. Nolen's favorite recipes. The broccoli is her specialty for church picnics.

BROCCOLI AU GRATIN

Place cooked and drained broccoli in buttered baking dish. Cover with condensed cream of mushroom soup diluted with ½ cup milk. Sprinkle with crushed corn flakes and grated cheese. Set in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 10 minutes, or until bubbling hot and brown. Serves 3 to 4.

HEAVENLY PORK CHOPS

Dip 4 to 6 lean pork chops in ½ cup evaporated milk. Roll in mixture of 1 cup corn flake crumbs, 1 teaspoon Accent, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Place in shallow baking pan lined with aluminum foil. Bake in 350 degree oven about 45 minutes or until meat is tender when pierced with a fork.

BLACK-EYED PEAS

2 cups dried black-eyed peas
3 slices bacon (cut in small pieces)
1 tbsp. bacon drippings
Salt and pepper to taste
Water

Wash and soak peas (about two hours). Heat cooker. Place peas, bacon, drippings, salt and pepper in pressure cooker. Cover with water about two inches above peas. Allow steam to flow from vent pipe to release all air from cooker. Place indicator weight on vent pipe. Reduce heat. Cook 35 minutes. Cool cooker under running cold water.

OVEN-CRISP CHICKEN

1 cup Bisquick
2 tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tsps. paprika
½ cup shortening (half butter)
1 cut-up fryer

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Mix first four ingredients in paper bag. Place shortening in oblong pan (13x9½x2) and place in oven to melt. Shake chicken in bag to coat thoroughly. Place chicken, skin side down, in single layer in hot shortening. Bake 45 minutes; then turn. Bake another 15 minutes. Serve.

POTATO SALAD

Potatoes
Hard boiled eggs
Pickle juice
Diced pickles
Diced onions
Garlic salt or accent

Peel and boil potatoes. Cream boiled eggs. Beat together. Add pickle juice, pickles and onions. Season with salt, pepper, garlic salt or accent.

FUDGE CAKE

Grease and flour two 8- or 9-inch layer pans. Sift together into bowl: 1¾ cups sifted flour, 2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda and 1 teaspoon salt. Add ¾ cup soft shortening, 1½ cups milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat 2 minutes. Add 2 eggs and 4 squares unsweetened chocolate (melted). Beat 2 more minutes. Stir in 1 cup chopped nuts. Pour in prepared pans. Batter will be thin. Bake until cake tests done. Cool and ice with Brown Beauty Icing.

BROWN BEAUTY ICING

Blend in mixing bowl:
1 1-3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ cup soft shortening
¼ cup milk
3 sq. unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 tsp. vanilla
1 whole egg

Beat with rotary beater just until frosting is smooth. Place bowl in ice water and stir until frosting is thick enough to spread. If frosting becomes too thick, dip bowl in hot water for a few seconds and stir to desired consistency.

Make Sugar Syrup

Keep sugar syrup on hand for summer drinks. To make it, stir a couple of cups each of sugar and water over low heat until the sugar dissolves. Cover, bring to boiling and boil about five minutes. Cool and store in covered jar in refrigerator.

Pumpkin Pudding Has Chiffon Cake Texture

Good to eat: pumpkin-flavored pudding with chiffon cake texture.

PUMPKIN COTTAGE PUDDING

¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cinnamon
⅛ tsp. nutmeg
⅛ tsp. ginger
3 tbsps. corn oil
3 tbsps. milk
¼ cup canned pumpkin
2 eggs (separated)
¼ tsp. vanilla
⅛ tsp. cream of tartar

Sift together into a mixing bowl the flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and spices. Make well in center and in this order pour into well the corn oil, milk, pumpkin, egg yolks and vanilla. With a spoon beat until smooth. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until straight stiff peaks form when beater is slowly raised; fold into pumpkin mixture until no white blobs show. Turn into ungreased 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until top springs back when lightly touched—about 35 minutes. Invert pan on wire rack to cool slightly; turn rightside up. Cut into portions and remove with spatula. Serve warm with custard sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Good Buy Prevails

By The Associated Press

The usual number of good buys will prevail at most good store counters this week, but perhaps the most prominent will be these:

At fruit counters—apples.

Meat counters—beef and broiler-fryer chickens.

Dairy counters—a wide variety of cheeses.

Vegetable counters — depending on the region, avocados, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, lettuce, greens, onions, peppers, potatoes, squash and sweet potatoes.

A crop of 125 million bushels of apples is in prospect, some 3 per cent below 1961 but 11 per cent above average, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Stuffed, Sliced Tomatoes Are A New Salad Trend

By The Associated Press

Warm weather spurs cooks onto experimenting with salad combinations. So if you feel an adventurous urge coming on you, here are some ideas that may be new to your kitchen.

Instead of hollowing out tomatoes and stuffing them, slice each into sixths (but not all the way through) and put the stuffing between each slice so you have a pretty fan shape. You can use any stuffing you like. The following salad recipe suggests cottage cheese, but hard-cooked egg mashed and moistened with salad dressing is delicious. So is chicken or tuna salad used this way.

In the following salad recipe, we've added a dry salad dressing mix to the cheese to season it. Use the rest of the salad dressing mix to add to oil and vinegar when you are preparing tossed greens: ¼ to ½ teaspoon of the mix should be enough for a salad for four.

The dry salad dressing mix we suggest for this recipe comes in an envelope and contains spices and herbs, salt, sugar and the protein derivative called monosodium glutamate.

TOMATO SALAD

8 ozs. (1 cup) creamstyle cottage cheese
1 to 1¾ tsps. American-style dry French salad dressing mix
¾ cup finely diced peeled cucumber
4 small or 3 medium-sized ripe tomatoes
Water cress

Mix the cottage cheese, salad dressing mix and cucumber together. Cut stem end from each tomato and place cut side down on slicing board. Cut each tomato into sixths, being careful not to slice all the way through. Pull slices open gently and fill with cottage cheese mixture. Garnish each filled tomato with water cress. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Purple Plum Crisp Is Quick Dessert

Tested in our kitchen, we thought this dessert was pleasant.

PURPLE PLUM CRISP

2½ lbs. purple plums (fresh Italian prunes)
1¼ cups sugar
2 tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
1¼ tsps. salt
1 cup sifted flour
1 tbsp. plus ½ cup butter or margarine

Pit washed plums; cut into lengthwise quarters to make four cups; mix with ½ cup of the sugar, tapioca and ¼ teaspoon of the salt. Turn into a baking dish (10 by 6 by 2 inches); dot with the 1 tablespoon butter. Sift together the flour, remaining 1 teaspoon salt and remaining ¾ cup sugar; cut in ½ cup butter until particles are fine, sprinkle over plums. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 50 to 60 minutes or until browned. Serve with whipped cream if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Unmold Ice Cream Easily With Knife

Know how to remove ice cream that has been packed into a large mold and frozen? Loosen the sides of the ice cream with a cold knife, then dip the mold quickly into lukewarm water. Wipe the outside of the mold with a dry cloth and unmold.

Vary Potato Soup

Vary cream of potato soup by adding grated cheddar cheese to it. Sprinkle with minced parsley before serving.

Applesauce Offers A Tasty Autumn Treat

By The Associated Press

Thrifty cooks may want to turn some of this season's plentiful apple harvest into a delightful homemade sauce to serve right now and to freeze or can for later use.

For velvet-smooth applesauce made in large quantity, a food mill is convenient because its use eliminates paring and coring. The food mill method yields another bonus: it makes about 25 per cent more applesauce than usual. If you use red-skinned apples, your sauce will have a rosy glow. Tart green apples make a sauce whose color won't win plaudits in a food-fashion show, but whose flavor is superb.

You'll notice that this recipe calls for grated orange rind. This thrifty way of adding flavor is one we've used for years, and our tasters are always enthusiastic about the result.

VELVET APPLESAUCE

4 lbs. apples (18 2¼ inch apples)
½ cup water
1 to 1½ cups sugar
1 tbsp. grated orange rind
Lemon juice (if needed)

Wash apples and quarter without peeling or coring. Remove blossom ends and stems. There should be about 4 quarts. Place apples in a large saucepan or kettle. Add water, cover and cook over low heat 15 to 20 minutes or until apples are soft, stirring occasionally. Tart apples usually cook faster than sweet apples. Spoon apples, one-third at a time, into food mill placed over a bowl or saucepan. Strain by turning handle of food mill clockwise; reverse direction of handle occasionally in order to move apples under paddle. Add 1 cup of the sugar, stir until dissolved. Taste and add additional sugar if desired. Stir in grated orange rind. If sauce lacks tartness, add lemon juice to taste. Makes about 1½ quarts sauce.

TO CAN APPLESAUCE

Have freshly-made applesauce boiling; pour at once into clean hot canning jars, filling to within ½ inch of the top. Stir to remove air bubbles. Cover, following jar manufacturer's directions, and process 15 to 20 minutes in a boiling water bath.

NOTE: Use a boiling water bath canner or an ordinary kettle with a rack and a cover. The rack should hold the jars about ½ inch above the bottom of the canner and the kettle should be deep enough for the water to cover the jars at least 1-inch over the top without boiling over. Fill the canner about half full of water and heat the water over low heat. The water should be hot but not boiling when you put in the jars for processing. After the jars are in the canner, add boiling water to cover if necessary. Cover kettle and when water comes to a fast rolling boil, start counting the time. Process 15 minutes for pint jars, 20 minutes for quart jars.

TO FREEZE APPLESAUCE

Chill freshly-made applesauce by placing a bowl of it over cold water and ice cubes. Spoon into washed, rinsed and cooled freezer containers, leaving 1-inch air space at top of each container for expansion. Cover, label and place in freezer.

Apples Take A Turn In Upside-Down Cake

By The Associated Press

Do you enjoy changing dishes about?

Then the upsidedown cake belongs in your bailiwick.

This strictly American confection allows cooks free play. It takes to different fruits for its upsidedown topping, and to so many varieties of cake for its base.

Originally the best known of the upsidedown cakes was the pineapple made with a butter or sponge cake base.

Then along came the pear version with a gingerbread partner.

Prunes and apricots also became favorites in the upsidedown team—the prune edition one that's especially delicious with a spice cake foundation.

Now it's the apple's turn to take part in this upsidedown combination. Like brown sugar flavor? Then the chances are you'll favor this recipe. Over the apple slices, along with plump raisins, goes a cake base sweetened chiefly with light brown sugar.

We think this dessert tastes best warm. If you can't serve it straight from the oven, reheat it. We offered this apple cake with unsweetened whipped cream, but it would also taste delightful with a custard, eggnog, rum or brandy sauce.

BROWN SUGAR APPLE CAKE

3 tbsps. butter
1 1-3 cups firmly packed dark brown sugar
3 medium (¾ lb.) Golden Delicious apples, pared, quartered, cored and sliced ⅛-in. thick
1-3 cup raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
1½ cups sifted flour
2 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening
1 tsp. vanilla
2 large eggs, separated
2-3 cup undiluted evaporated milk
¼ cup granulated sugar

Melt butter over low heat in a round (10 by 2 inches) cake pan; remove from heat. Sprinkle 2-3 cup of the brown sugar over the butter. Arrange apple slices over sugar; sprinkle with raisins. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, the remaining 2-3 cup brown sugar and the vanilla; beat in egg yolks thoroughly. Beat in gently the sifted dry ingredients, in four additions, alternately with the evaporated milk.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until soft peaks form; beat in granulated sugar, a tablespoon at a time; continue to beat, if necessary, until stiff peaks form. Fold meringue into batter. Spread over apple layer.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 35 to 45 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out without any batter particles sticking to it. Place on wire rack for 5 minutes; invert on serving plate.

Serve warm with unsweetened whipped cream or an appropriate pudding sauce. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Improve Mushroom Flavor For Omelet

When you are using sliced canned mushrooms as the filling for an omelet, you'll find the mushroom flavor will be improved if you drain the slices and saute them with a chopped onion.

Topping For Muffins

Want a delicious topping for muffins? Sprinkle equal parts of brown sugar and finely chopped nutmeats over the muffin batter before baking.

Baking Powder And Soda Substitution

Old-fashioned cake and cookie recipes often call for baking soda and cream of tartar. If you want to make a substitution, 1½ teaspoons baking powder is the equivalent of ½ teaspoon baking soda plus 1 teaspoon cream of tartar.

Banana Waffles

Slice thin a ripe banana and fold into the batter for waffles.

Homemade for the holidays

Harvest Pecan Cake

Buttery pecan goodness with a hint of coffee...

2 cups butter or margarine
4½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
6 eggs
1 pound Imperial Brown Sugar
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons instant coffee dissolved in 3 tablespoons hot water
4 cups chopped pecans

1. Set out butter to soften. 2. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder. 3. Grease bottom of 10" tube pan. 4. Separate eggs; beat yolks well; beat egg whites until stiff. 5. In large mixing bowl, cream together butter and Imperial Brown Sugar. Add beaten egg yolks, mixing well. 6. Combine milk, vanilla, dissolved coffee. Add alternately with dry ingredients. 7. Fold in pecans and egg whites. Pour into pan and bake at 325° F., 1½ hours. Let cool in pan on cake rack. Remove from pan.

Delightful as is! If you wish, serve with a dessert sauce or Whipped Cream Imperial: Combine 1 cup whipping cream, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla and ½ cup sieved Imperial Brown Sugar (do not pack). Chill 1 hour. Beat with beater until stiff.

Electric Propulsion For Space Travel

Dr. Milton M. Slawsky and Maj. Oscar M. Berthold have announced the finding of a new means of propulsion for space travel. It is electric propulsion, which they say seems more practical than chemical or nuclear devices for space ships.

IGOR STRAVINSKY
He had to come back

Slawsky, director of engineering services of the Air Force Department of Scientific Research, and Berthold, of the Air Force Office of Aerospace Research, disclosed the electric propulsion system at the ninth annual Air Force Science and Engineering Symposium at San Antonio.

Overcoat For Fast Getaway

Igor Stravinsky, 80-year-old Russian-born composer and now a U.S. citizen, wound up his homecoming concert tour of the Soviet Union with a warmly applauded performance. After he conducted the Leningrad Symphony in three musical works, a capacity audience of 2,000 refused to stop applauding until Stravinsky returned to the stage in his overcoat and bowed out.

Hung On Their Own Clothesline

Dr. Webster Stone, 61, former president of Arnold College, Bridgeport, Conn., and his wife have been sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt of State Supreme Court in White Plains, N.Y. They were cited for ignoring the court's order to remove a clothesline strung with tattered rags outside their Rye, N. Y., home.

The clothesline was their protest against rising real estate taxes. Justice Gerald Nolan stayed their sentence to give them time to appeal or remove the line.

Well, That's The Guv'mint For You

In Richmond, Va., some 1,200 federal employes piled out of a new office building in 5 minutes, 45 seconds in the first fire drill since the 12-story building was opened last March.

Twenty minutes after the drill ended, they were still trying to get back to work. The six elevators were shut down during the drill.

Caroline Still Has Her Horse

Caroline Kennedy's pony, Macaroni, and another Kennedy horse, Sagebrush, escaped injury in a night-time mishap on the Connecticut Turnpike.

The two horses were being taken from Newport, R. I., to Washington in a truck-drawn trailer when the trailer hitch broke. The safety chains held and the driver of the truck was able to pull off the highway with the trailer attached.

For Safety's Sake, We Won't Say It

In Stockport, England, a driving instructor abandoned his elderly woman pupil with the cry, "This is plain suicide."

Halting the car during a lesson, the instructor bounded out and stalked away. Police were called to drive the woman's car off the highway.

"Apparently, he was scared to death," a police spokesman said later. "She would not do anything he told her to."

That Last Sip Will Have To Last

A man awaiting sentencing on three charges of burglary suddenly ran from a courtroom in Macon, Ga.

Five minutes later an officer spotted him in a beer parlor and took him back to court.

Judge Hal Bell asked Benny Franklin Reynolds, 29, if he wished to enter a plea of guilty to a charge of escaping confinement.

"No," said Reynolds. "I was not attempting to escape, your honor. I just wanted a beer."

The judge sentenced him to 7 to 10 years on the burglary charges.

Now He Has Something To Cry About

STRATFORD ON AVON, England (AP)—The official town crier of Shakespeare's home town disclosed his wife has to help him put on his ceremonial pants.

"Very awkward, these trousers," said Fred Baker. "It takes a half hour to get them on—even with Laura helping me."

Laura is Mrs. Baker. The trousers are satin, knee length and extremely tight. Fred wears them for ceremonial occasions when he goes around Stratford ringing a bell and shouting with his leather lungs: "Oyez, Oyez, Oyez."

The secret of his wifely assistance came out when the Jamaican Tourist Board offered Baker a free trip to Montego Bay to officiate in his green breeches and scarlet coat at a three-day festival to be held later this year.

Said Fred in reply: "I would love to go, but I must bring my wife. You see, she's the only person who can help me into my uniform trousers."

The tourist board replied by inviting Laura, too.

Paula Williams, a 19-year-old beauty queen of Llansantffraid, Wales, said she is retiring from the world of beauty contests because "the strain of it all has nearly ruined my health." She added that "for any other girl thinking of taking it up, my advice is—don't do it."

Over the last two years, Paula has won 27 prizes and a total of 1,300 pounds—$3,640. But recently she collapsed at the office where she works as a secretary and spent four days in a hospital suffering from nervous exhaustion.

"No more beauty queening," said Paula. "No one realizes the strain of having to wear a permanent smile."

The 2-Legged Kind Bothers Us More

Mrs. Kathleen Thorburn, 55, was the chief attraction at the women-of-the-year luncheon attended by nobility, authors and stage stars. Mrs. Thorburn is Britain's No. 1 rat-catcher.

"I can hardly say it helps me socially," she confided at the luncheon, a charity affair, "but it's the call of the hunt, you know. My father was a naturalist, and I collected rats in childhood. My husband is a retired tea planter and not interested in rats. But my son, Grant, who is 24, has joined me in my work.

"I've been to smart homes where they just won't believe they have them even when I show them 10 rat holes. I do wish the public were more rat-conscious."

87th Congress Proved To Be Eventful For Texas Members

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 87th Congress proved to be eventful for the Texas Congressional delegation.

Two events highlighted the two-year period—the death of Speaker Sam Rayburn after nearly 50 years service in the House; and the resignation of Lyndon B. Johnson as Texas' senior senator, then being sworn in, Jan. 20, 1961, as vice president.

OTHER CHANGES

Other changes in the ranks of the delegation:

William A. Blakely, Dallas financier, succeeded Johnson under an interim appointment by Gov. Price Daniel; he was unsuccessful in the subsequent special election to fill Johnson's unexpired term.

John Tower became the first Republican elected to the Senate by popular vote from a Southern state since the Civil War when he won the special Texas election; he was sworn in June 15, 1961 for the term ending Jan. 3, 1967.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D, San Antonio, was sworn in on Jan. 10, 1962, the first man of Mexican descent to serve in Congress from Texas. He won a special election to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Paul Kilday, now a judge on the U. S. Court of Military Appeals here.

PURCELL STEPS IN

Rep. Graham Purcell, D, who won renown as an authority on juvenile delinquency when serving as a state district judge at Wichita Falls, entered the House Jan. 29, 1962. He won a special election to succeed Frank Ikard, now executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute, with headquarters here.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D, of McKinney, a former state senator, took his House seat on Feb. 5, 1962, after winning a special election to determine a successor to Rayburn.

Rep. Wright Patman, D, Texarkana, became dean of the state's congressional delegation upon Rayburn's death. He has served 33 years and 8 months in the House, and now ranks 7th now among all members in seniority. He was sworn in March 4, 1929.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, whose term expires Jan. 3, 1965, became Texas' senior senator when Johnson resigned.

UNUSUAL SITUATION

Circumstances made for a somewhat unusual situation regarding federal patronage for the Lone Star state during the first session of the 87th, which marked the first year of the Kennedy Administration.

Vice President Johnson had much to say about appointments to many federal jobs and especially with respect to Texans. Yarborough, the state's senior senator, normally would have had almost exclusive say in most such appointments because Tower is a Republican.

After some seeming—although unadmitted—friction between Johnson and Yarborough in the first few months of job dispensing, they reached accord with the result that the positions were filled without flareups such as occurred when Tom Connally and W. Lee O'Daniel were in the Senate.

POWER DOWN

The prestige and power of the Texas delegation, while still considerable, unquestionably dropped during the 87th Congress with the break-up of the team which for years had directed legislative play on both sides of the Capitol—Johnson as leader of Senate Democrats and Rayburn as Speaker for 17 years prior to his death Nov. 16, 1961.

Most important legislation enacted during the 87th Congress applicable to Texas was that authorizing establishment of Padre Island National Seashore Park.

Debated for years, with differences as to the length of the park constituting the primary roadblock, the measure finally went through and on to the White House when four Texans worked out a settlement. They were Yarborough and Reps. John Young, Corpus Christi; Joe Kilgore, McAllen and J. T. Rutherford, Odessa.

Most sensational among matters of Texas origin to come upon the Washington scene during the 87th Congress was the Billie Sol Estes case. Senate and House committees investigated and there were many speeches on both sides of the Capitol concerning the operations of the West Texas financier who ran afoul of the law regarding his cotton acreage allotment and grain storage dealings.

Court Rule On Insanity Issue For 'The Defenders'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Of course I know the M'Naghten formula," remarked psychiatrist Theodore Basett in the opening episode of "The 11th Hour" a couple of weeks back.

He had been called in by the court to determine whether a pretty young matron accused of killing her husband was legally sane or insane.

"The only way I can plead her not guilty is under the M'Naghten rule," fretted lawyer Sam Benedict last Saturday as he attempted to set up an insanity defense for a pretty matron accused of killing her husband.

Lawyers Lawrence and Kenneth Preston of "The Defenders" will challenge the M'Naghten rule in a two-part drama, starting Oct. 20, about a young man, apparently mentally ill, who kills a woman.

Obviously, it's going to be a big year for the M'Naghten rule on television, and particularly on "The 11th Hour" which is concerned with forensic psychiatry—the application of psychiatry in law courts.

Although hardly a household word—although it well may be by season's end—the M'Naghten rule is the sole test of criminal insanity used today in the courts of England and most of the American states. It is a definition of insanity requiring proof that an accused, because of his mental state, did not know "the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or if he did know it, that he did not know he was doing what was wrong."

The rule is a highly controversial one in medical and psychiatric circles—one poll of over 300 psychiatrists a few years ago showed that 80 per cent found it "unsatisfactory." Now, it appears the general television-viewing public will have a chance to form opinions on the subject.

It has been in use for more than 100 years—since before Sigmund Freud was born, and came from an English case in 1843 when a man named M'Naghten was found "not guilty by reason of insanity" of the killing of the secretary of Sir Robert Peel.

According to CBS' advance notice, "The Defenders" will challenge the venerable yardstick. This will not, probably, be as daring as the series' controversial show last season on illegal operations, for the M'Naghten rule has been the subject of endless legal debate as well as criticism by lawyers and psychiatrists.

Crippled Children's Board Gets Nine New Members

Nine new members were named to the board of the Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children's) Center when the organization held its annual membership meeting Wednesday afternoon. There was a review of activities that showed more patients being served than ever before, and a sound financial outlook.

The newly constituted board will meet October 18, to elect new officers.

Added to the board were Lt. Col. M. E. Frantz, Hospital Group Commander at Webb AFB, Chester Cathey, Louis Carothers, Rev. V. Ward Jackson, James Calmes, James Cape, Glenn Cootes, Dr. B. Broadrick, Horace Garrett and Sgt. Billy E. Prather.

They will serve with Daryle Hohertz, Mrs. Buford Hull, Lester Morton, Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. Roscoe Newell, R. W. Whipkey, John Currie, Richard Johnson, John Burgess, Bob Travis, Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., Jim Bill Little.

The group approved a budget for the new fiscal year which contemplates disbursements of approximately $14,000, and income of substantially the same amount, including fees that are paid for physical and speech therapy, various donations, and income from the United Fund.

This past year the Center had disbursements of $2,788 more than income, but managed to retain a cash reserve of some $5,000.

Crippled people are treated (and speech therapy given to children also) regardless of whether they pay, but patients are given an opportunity to remit on a standard fee basis if they feel they can afford it. The records show that about 44 per cent of patients make payments.

Therapist Jim Thompson's report showed that 3,471 treatments were given by the Center during the past year, 3,105 of these physical therapy, and 366 in speech therapy. The organization was without a speech therapist for a couple of months, but is now arranging to have a new one on a parttime basis.

A total of 137 patients have received physical therapy, and 22 speech therapy. The number of active patients per month has ranged from 30 to 45, and Thompson and his staff have handled as many as 18 treatments a day.

The Center suffered a setback when its quarters at 8th and Owens had to be abandoned because of the settling of filled land, but is now operating fairly satisfactorily at 402 Edwards Blvd. Jim Bill Little, who headed a special committee handling the move, said that the new home had been put into shape, and the whole move made for a little more than $300. He said many plumbers, electricians, painters and material dealers made contributions of services and time, to help make this possible.

Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate confirmed Wednesday President Kennedy's nomination of Rep. Kathryn E. Granahan, of Philadelphia, a Democrat, to be treasurer of the United States.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian Orthodox Church announced today it is sending two observers to the Roman Catholic ecumenical council in Rome.

Street Lights To Be Changed

Approximately 150 old - style street lights in Big Spring are scheduled for replacement during the remainder of 1962 and during the calendar year of 1963, Larry Crow, city manager, said Wednesday. Older lights will be replaced by Texas Electric Service Co. with 4,800 lumen incandescent residential type lights. They will fit in where the old tin-plate-type reflectors are being used.

"The cost to the city will be slightly higher for the new lights, but they will be more efficient," Crow said.

To Pacific

Rear Adm. Ephram P. Holmes, was named to command the Pacific Fleet's amphibious forces by President Kennedy. Holmes, who has been assistant chief of naval operations for general planning, was nominated at the same time for promotion to vice admiral for the period of his new assignment.

Rites Set For J. N. York

LAMESA — Funeral rites for James Norman (Jim) York, 76, resident of Borden County for 72 years, will be at 3 p.m. today in the First Methodist Church in Lamesa. The Rev. J. Lloyd Mayhew, formerly a Lamesa pastor, is to officiate and burial will be in Gail Cemetery. Higginbotham Funeral Home of Lamesa is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. York, who owned extensive ranch holdings in Borden County, was born Sept. 30, 1886 in Mills County. He came to Borden County in 1890 and spent his life in the area. He was active in county affairs and a past director of the Sweetwater Production Credit Association.

He died Wednesday in Medical Arts Hospital at Lamesa after having become ill at his home near Gail Tuesday night.

Survivors include three sons, Lee F. York, Lubbock, H. C. (Buster) York, Ft. Sumner, N. M., N. W. York, Santa Rosa, N. M.; two sisters, Mrs. Jesse York Lemley, San Angelo, Mrs. T. R. Deputy Hall Is Hurt By Prowler

Deputy J. B. Hall, Sheriff Miller Harris' staff, suffered a deep and painful slash wound on the right arm and other injuries when he was assailed by a prowler he was tracking Tuesday night.

Harris said that Hall alone on patrol, at Coahoma where he is stationed, saw a shadow shift on the grounds of the Coahoma school. He left his patrol car to investigate.

As he rounded a corner in the dark, Harris said, the prowler struck at him with a knife and then fled in the night.

Hall had to have medical attention for his arm. The prowler escaped.

Thomas Jailed For Non-Support

Sidney Thomas, brought before the 118th District Court Wednesday on a charge of being in contempt of court, was ordered placed in jail by Judge Ralph Caton.

The court held that Thomas had failed to obey the orders of the court in the matter of child support payments. The records show he is $502.25 in arrears. The court ordered him jailed until such time as he pays the sum he owes and purges himself of contempt.

He was the second man this week to be ordered to jail for contempt. Aubrey Leonard was held in contempt by the court in a similar case earlier in the week and ordered jailed. He paid off the child support bill and has been released.

A Devotional For The Day

He is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us. (Ephesians 2:14.)

PRAYER: Save us this day, O Lord, from those things that separate us from Thee and so from one another. Baptize us with the Holy Spirit that we may be Thy disciples indeed. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Disenchantment With Moscow

Reports coming out of Red China reflect a change in policy which may mean greater independence in pursuing its own brand of communism. This will not make it any less communistic, or any less a problem, but the trend does indicate a disenchantment with Moscow.

Observers have noted a new line in addresses and papers from top officials and top sources. Two ranking military leaders who resisted the anti-Soviet line have been demoted.

Perhaps the most significant line has been admission that the great leap forward wasn't even a good hop, and that it isn't in the cards to propel China from an impoverished agrarian status to an industrial power overnight. Instead, the new line is one of determined survival.

Chinese Communist leaders are not less resolute in their position, but they appear more realistic in that their primary emphasis now is upon agriculture and upon finding some way to feed the teeming millions. What they consider rightist measures have been adopted in many instances to achieve some measure of production out of the chaotic mess which the brutal Communists created. Yet the leadership appears to follow a stronger leftist approach to discipline inside the country's rapidly growing Communist party.

For the first time there is talk of subversion, indicating hard times with some of their comrades who have been pro-Russian. Moscow's meagre aid during the Chinese internal crisis seems to have convinced Red China leaders that Moscow's world leadership in communism has been in reality a tool for Russian national interest. They resent lack of Russian help and say in effect that they can get along without Russian advice. Efforts to cross the bear and the dragon may have produced a two-headed creature.

Need Fair Share Of Trade

Disappointment both here and in Latin America with the first year's operation of the Alliance for Progress has been sharpened by the initial overoptimism with which that cooperative venture was undertaken. Second looks at the magnitude and complexity of the task of accelerating over-all Latin American development compel a soberer view of its prospects.

Such a second look has been provided by a region-wide survey by the Organization of American States secretariat and the U. N. Economic Commission for Latin America. Hemispheric economic experts meeting in Mexico City appraising that report, which finds Latin America's economy generally in a state of "quasi-stagnation" which U. S. aid alone cannot possibly transform into a Western Europe type boom.

Latin America as a whole last year experienced a total production increase of 4 per cent, with a population increase of 3 per cent, leaving a net economic improvement of only 1 per cent. That contrasts with the net 2.5 per cent increase which the Punta del Este conference over a year ago considered the minimum necessary to achieve the Alliance for Progress objectives.

Moreover, the regionwide figures do not reflect that production increases were concentrated in manufacturing in a few countries, notably Mexico and Brazil, with agricultural output still generally lagging behind population growth. Most discouraging of all is the fact that the total value of Latin America's exports declined 11.5 per cent from 1957 to 1961, while the export volume was increasing 13.5 per cent.

It is now obvious that besides U. S. aid, foreign investments, internal and political social reforms, Latin America must be granted a drastic improvement in terms of international trade if the region is to develop as hoped. High-priced imports and low-priced exports spell economic disaster for that region if allowed to continue.

The United States, in adjusting to the new international trade patterns forming around the European Common Market, also must try to help Latin America to gain better terms of trade. For no aid program, even coupled with better than expected self-help, can substitute in Latin America for a fair share of world trade under fair terms of export-import prices.

The Courts Acted In Haste

WASHINGTON—A learned judge, who served on the highest court of his state and now is a United States senator, feels that President Kennedy made a mistake in failing to wait till the state of Mississippi had a chance to present its case to the entire Supreme Court of the United States before using troops to enforce a lower court order.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Democrat of North Carolina, sent to many of his constituents last week a letter which expresses the view that the administration bungled the Mississippi case. This, incidentally, is also the feeling of a large number of other lawyers throughout the country.

IT SO HAPPENS that not until Monday of this week did the Supreme Court finally consider the application of the state of Mississippi and formally deny its request for an appeal. Only this week, therefore, can it really be said that Mississippi had exhausted all legal procedures available in attempting to deny James Meredith admission to the University of Mississippi.

Sen. Irvin, formerly an associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, wrote as follows:

"AS A CONSEQUENCE of my experience in the administration of justice as a trial lawyer and judge, I am firmly of the opinion that except in the most extraordinary circumstances no judicial decision should ever be carried into execution until the losing party has been afforded the opportunity to utilize all legal procedures available to him to secure a reversal of such decision, and such decision has become final.

"There were no extraordinary circumstances in the Meredith case. If the course set out above had been pursued and the execution of the judgment in that case had been postponed until the Supreme Court had ruled upon the application of Mississippi for a certiorari to review such judgment, it is possible that the tragic events which have transpired in Mississippi within the last few days might well have been avoided. Unfortunately, however, some of the judges connected with this case forsook judicial discretion for haste.

"FOR EXAMPLE, Mr. Justice Black, of the United States Supreme Court, refused to stay execution of the judgment on the ground that 'there is very little likelihood that this court will grant certiorari to review the judgment of the court of appeals.' In other words, Mr. Justice Black stated, in substance, that he would not stay the judgment in a case which the court had never considered because he thought the court would probably decide the case against the applicant when it heard the case.

"With all due deference, Mr. Justice Black's statement might be becoming to a crusader. It certainly does not befit an occupant of a judicial office. This is true because it cannot be reconciled with due process of law, which Daniel Webster so well declared in the Dartmouth College case is 'a law which hears before it condemns; which proceeds upon inquiry, and renders judgment only after trial.'

"UNFORTUNATELY, the court of appeals, Mr. Justice Black, the Department of Justice, and the President did not pursue these courses of action.

"And, unfortunately, Governor Barnett resorted to a species of physical force to prevent the execution of the decree in the Meredith case. I think he was mistaken in so doing for at least two reasons.

"As a practical matter, he was unwise in pitting the limited physical force of his state against the military might of the United States.

"IN THE SECOND place, every party to a judicial proceeding ought to obey the decree entered in such proceeding even though he honestly believes such decree to be unwarranted or unconstitutional. In saying this, I do not imply that I approve of the decree of the court of appeals in the Meredith case. That decree was based upon the decision made by the Supreme Court of the United States on May 17, 1954, and I think it is well known that I have always maintained that the Supreme Court of the United States transgressed its constitutional authority to interpret the Constitution and undertook to amend the Constiuttion when it handed down that decision.

"GOVERNOR BARNETT'S foolish action did not justify precipitate counteraction on the part of others. On the contrary, it called for the exercise of the greatest patience on their part. As Saint Paul so well stated, 'All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient.'"

Sen. Ervin also argues that, even after the President "reached the conclusion that his duty required him to use the military might of the nation to enforce the judgment," he should have issued a proclamation advising the people of Mississippi of the facts and setting a specified time for action so as to give Mississippi officials time to comply before troops actually were used to enforce the judgment. Mr. Kennedy, unfortunately, issued his proclamation only a few hours before sending in armed marshals, backed up by military units, to enforce the court order.

Negroes Progress But Still Far To Go

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Negro in America has made more progress in the past 25 years—toward equal treatment with whites—than in the rest of this country's history. He still has a long way to go, both in the North and the South.

Only about 25 per cent of Negroes eligible to vote in 11 Southern states have been registered to do so.

Only about one-third of the public school districts in the 17 Southern and border states have been desegregated to some degree. And Negroes frequently complain of discrimination in some Northern school districts.

A LITTLE MORE than half the tax-supported colleges and universities in the 17-state Southern and border area have been desegregated in practice or principle.

Yet the constitutional provisions to give Negroes undiscriminated equal treatment in voting and the usual spheres of living have been on the books almost 100 years, the 14th and 15th Amendments.

But the Supreme Court in the latter part of the 19th century boiled the meaning out of these protections for the Negro.

In 1896 it handed down a famous decision saying it was all right to segregate Negroes so long as they got treatment equal to that of whites. It was the doctrine of separate but equal.

IT WAS TOO much for one justice, John M. Harlan, who protested in a dissenting opinion that "our Constitution is color blind." It was to be 58 years before the men on the Supreme Court of another day — 1954 — agreed with Harlan and reversed the ruling of 1896.

The first chipping away at the 1896 decision came in 1917 in a decision which for some odd reason has been generally ignored in books on the court.

That year the court knocked out a Louisville city ordinance separating white and Negro residential districts because, the court said, it denied Negroes the equal protection guaranteed by the 14th Amendment of 1868.

BUT THIS didn't really jolt segregation. The jolts began in 1938 when Missouri, which had no law school for Negroes, refused to let a Negro enter the state's white law school.

The court—harping back to that separate but equal doctrine of 1896—said Missouri was treating the Negro unequally when it barred him from the white school without providing him with one for Negroes.

The court didn't say segregating the Negro in a Negro school was unlawful.

In short, it still stuck to 1896. Other decisions of this nature followed, with the court always ducking the central question: Isn't segregation by its very nature unequal under the 14th Amendment?

THE COURT finally faced the question in 1954 when, in one of its truly momentous decisions, it ordered public schools desegregated with a ruling that knocked out the 1896 decision completely by saying separate means unequal.

Morale Boosters

NEW YORK (AP)—No business office today is complete without its unofficial morale boosters.

Most large firms have a personnel department which officially tries to pep up the group loyalty of employes with such fringe benefits as free turkey raffles, bowling leagues and annual picnics and dances.

The attitude of the average hired hand toward these organized corporate goodwill gestures ranges from one of darkest suspicion to one of ready opportunism.

The philosophy of the opportunist may be expressed thusly: "If the company is giving it away for nothing I'll take it—even if it's only a framed photograph of the board chairman. After all, I can throw his picture away, and still keep the frame."

But in addition to its paid cheerleaders, every office also has its quota of self-appointed joy spreaders. They take upon themselves the task of convincing the rest of the herd that life can still be wondrous—even if a fellow does have to work every day for a living.

Perhaps the following characters of this ilk are familiar in your own office:

"Nostalgic Ned"—He tries to make everyone feel grateful by telling how much worse things used to be in the old days.

"Why," he wheezes, "You would not believe it. I can remember when we stood up and saluted when the boss entered, they gave us only a quarter hour for lunch, and they docked part of your pay if you made more than two trips a day to the men's room."

"Flannelmouth Fred" — He spends most of his time going around indiscriminately patting all the other employes on the back and saying, "You're doing a grand job."

Secretly, he hopes this will bring him to the eye of management as a man with executive talent. But the rest of the hired hands are sour on Fred. They know that after they finish doing their work, he'll ask them to help him do his.

"Rainbow-top Rosalee"—The executive secretary, a glamor gal with a middle-aged spread, fondly believes she gives every man in the place a thrill by tinting her hair a different exciting color every month.

She would be distressed to know that half the men merely think she is off her rocker, and the other half think her wig has faded.

"Bankrupt Ben"—This guy is a reverse philanthropist. "Lend me $50," he wheedles. If you do, he feels that he has benefited you by giving you a fresh interest in living and a new hope—the wild hope that somehow, some day, he may pay you back.

"Woeful Wilbert"—"Gee, I wish I was on top of my job the way you are," he sighs enviously to each and all. Wilbert, who was born with 12 thumbs, is always in trouble. But he makes all the other employes—who were born with only 11 thumbs—feel like unrecognized geniuses.

"The Great Himself"—The boss has his own inimitable way of giving everybody a shot in the arm. Along about this time of year he posts a notice on the bulletin board saying:

"If business keeps up like this, we probably won't lay off half the staff at Christmas—we'll lay off two-thirds."

What would office life be like without these choristers of sweetness and light, who in their various ways do so much to reconcile us to the wear and tear of the long rut and the daily routine?

Cyst Must Be Removed Entirely

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Doctor: I had what I thought was an ingrown hair on my neck. It would fester every month or so for several years. I got fed up with this and went to my doctor who is reportedly a good surgeon.

He said it was a sebaceous cyst and that it might get serious. I agreed to have him remove it at our general hospital.

He said he had to go very deep to remove all traces. This "cyst" was no more than a pimple. How come? What happened to those good "old" doctors who would do the same in their office?—T.D.P.

The good "old" doctors are with us, and some good new ones, and all of them, when things are liable to get messy or dangerous, would rather work in a hospital with equipment and help at hand, than in an office.

And believe me, you can get into an awful mess with a sebaceous cyst if it is a deep-seated one.

You write that it was "no more than a pimple," but your doctor said it might be a cyst, and it might be serious, and he turned out to be exactly right on both scores.

Obviously it was an infected cyst, too, from your own report that it continually festered over a period of years. It was more than just a "pimple," all right.

I can't help thinking that your hind-sight opinion is pretty unfair. Your doctor—or some doctor—could have lanced the thing to let it drain.

As I've written before in the column, lancing a cyst is not effective. We know from long and sometimes sad experience that the only way to get rid of one is to remove it entirely.

If you leave part of the cyst in, it just seals itself off again, and fills, and in time forces an opening which temporarily relieves the pressure again—the process you called "festering."

If your doctor had simply lanced the cyst, or had removed just part of it, the trouble would return. Then you would have been warranted in complaining that he did not cure the cyst.

As it was, he had the wisdom to recommend a permanent cure, and he was shrewd enough to realize that he would probably have to go rather deeply. So he took you to the hospital.

"Dear Dr. Molner: If a woman is in early pregnancy and is hit about the face, would this cause her child to be born with a cleft palate? If not, what causes this? —MRS. B. G."

No, there's no connection whatsoever. It's simply a flaw in early development, the parts forming the jaw, lip and palate failing to merge properly.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes hiccups, and is there any way to cure an infant of them? And what makes a person yawn? —M.H."

Hiccups aren't unusual in a baby. Pick him up, burp him, then give him a little water. It's a spasmodic reaction, usually from some trivial irritation, such as a bit of air in the stomach.

A yawn is just one of a number of modifications of breathing, others being laughing, coughing (incited by bronchial irritation), sneezing (from nasal irritation), crying, sighing, and hyperventilation, this last being overly rapid breathing, usually due to some psychic cause.

All of them, you notice, involve drawing in or expelling the breath, hence a "modified movement of breathing." Causes of a yawn are fatigue, boredom, or sometimes seeing somebody else yawn.

Around The Rim

Wonderful Days Of The Fair

The first State Fair I recall was during the Centennial, and to my mind's eye at the time it was a true extravaganza, before that word's meaning had been distorted. The modern buildings constructed for the Centennial, for the most part, are still standing and their architecture even today is timely. For 1936, they were like a fairyland. The dancing waters in the many lagoons were pure Hollywood and appeared to be taken straight from a Walt Disney fantasy.

TWO THINGS I remember best about the fair that year; the Ford Motor Co. had a building of its own with displays of the shiny new cars. For souvenirs, they gave away gear shift knobs with a Centennial motif. The other thing was that all soft drink companies gave away free drinks at their respective booths. There were thousands of exhibits and practically all of them gave away something of value.

To anyone who has been up there recently, you know that even a drink of water is hard to find now.

As did many others, my family carried to the fair a picnic lunch, which the womenfolk spread near one of the lagoons. Most of us young'uns went wading until a park officer came around and ran us out. It was just as well because broken bottles in the lagoon could have been dangerous to tender young feet.

THE FAIR HAD a replica that year of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre which was as alien to me as recent pictures from outer space. And probably similar to Shakespeare's day, folks milled around and talked during the performance, except when the action became extra heated.

We were limited in the number of Midway rides our family could afford, but the mere spectacle of it was enjoyment enough. The women rushed the younger set hurriedly past some of the shows, but I remember reading something about a Bubble Dancer on one of the gigantic multicolored placards. The menfolk drug their feet at this point, and as I recall, were a while in catching up with the rest of us. They were laughing and elbowing each other in the ribs.

Then as now, the crowds were tremendous and we were pushing and shoving most of the time we were on the grounds. But that first fair was a high point of that year.

FOR MANY YEARS, we annually made the trek to the fair, but it gradually lost its lustre. Part of it, I'm sure, is merely growing up. On the other hand, I'm sure the format has changed as well. For the most part, it is now only a commercial enterprise. Practically every exhibit is merely a huckster trying to peddle some wares. About the only thing free is the sidewalks.

There were some dark days back in the 1930s, but the State Fair was not among them.

Artist's Work In A Movie

When Reuven Rubin, the famous "painter laureate of Israel," arrived in New York recently, he dashed off, as might be expected, to see some pictures.

But Rubin, who has been exhibiting his own pictures off and on in New York for 41 years, did not race to the city's museums or its established galleries. He headed straight for the movies to see "That Touch of Mink."

"TWO OF MY pictures hang in that movie," the artist said with obvious satisfaction a few days ago. "My paintings hang in museums and private collections around the world, but never before have they hung in a cinema.

"Weeks before my family and I arrived from Tel Aviv, many American friends wrote to say they had recognized two of my pictures in 'That Touch of Mink,'" said the artist, who is a surprising combination of slim boulevardier and tanned, weather-beaten Israel pioneer.

"WHEN THEY wrote that the star of the picture was Cary Grant, it wasn't hard for me to understand how I had managed to 'break' into the movies at the age of 69. When I exhibited in Los Angeles in 1942, Barbara Hutton bought five of my pictures.

"I heard she had given two of them to Mr. Grant, then her third husband. I believe I have only one reservation. I think the artist ought to rate a line in the credits along with the hair dresser, don't you?"

AN AGELESS MAN with an artist's thatch of white hair and gift of gaiety, Rubin is back in New York for his first exhibition at the Wildenstein Gallery in nine years.

New York may often be a nightmare to its inhabitants, but it is a "dream" to Rubin, who first came to the city to paint and study in 1920. While New Yorkers deprecate the swift replacement of old landmarks by gleaming skyscrapers, Rubin foresees a fantastic metropolis of bronze and glass.

"THE CITY IS so exciting to me that I go around in a dream," he explained. "It is so astounding that I cannot even imagine what it will be like in another decade. I only hope I shall see it then.

"And American art! It has become a self-confident adult. It is filled with a great independence that it has earned and deserves. It is so sure of itself that it doesn't care what Paris says or does. In addition, the artist has at last found his real place in American society. There isn't a successful business or professional man today who doesn't have original art in his office as well as his home. That wasn't so 40—even 20—years ago.

"ALTHOUGH MY painting is a poetical expression of realism, I like the evolution of American abstract art. It is in the American tradition, although that doesn't mean that abstract art is the only art."

Rubin goes from New York to Los Angeles for an exhibition there. While he and Esther Davis Rubin are so close to Hollywood, some enterprising studio ought to investigate their romance.

They first met on the Mauretania in 1929, bound home for Palestine. He was a successful artist whose New York exhibition had been a complete sellout. She was an exceptionally pretty New York high school girl who had won a city-wide oratorical contest and a trip to the Holy Land.

FOUR MINUTES after Rubin saw her on board ship, he introduced himself and asked her to marry him. For conflict, there is the fact that at first she thought he was crazy; then her parents thought they were both crazy.

But they eventually married and lived happily ever after.

Time For The Liberals To Howl

WASHINGTON — Former Major General Edwin Walker now joins Ezra Pound and Rudolph Hess as victims of the most outrageous act that the unlimited power of government can wreak upon mischief-making individuals—incarceration on the pretext of mental disorder.

WHATEVER happens next, the whole institution of American Liberalism (the conservatives are in conflict-of-interest here and hardly count) must submit to hot coals on its tongue and take the truth test. The Liberal Washington Post, to its credit as a protector of civil liberties, has obliquely called editorial attention to Walker's plight as a prisoner inmate of the Federal lock-up in Springfield, Mo., and to the Kennedy Administration's high-handed militarism without benefit of a declared martial law. The Post of October 4th, pontificated in language usually reserved for defending Fifth Amendment-takers being courteously questioned before Congressional committees:

". . . . IT SEEMS IN order to ask if all the protections of due process have been accorded Edwin A. Walker. For all the malevolence of his part in the Oxford violence, he ought not to be denied reasonable release on bail, and he ought not be committed to a mental institution even for examination without the precautions customary in the case of such a commitment."

BUT ON THE same day a twin pillar of Liberalism, the New York Times, "tried" Walker for insanity in an article by Jack Raymond, its Pentagon correspondent. Raymond quotes an unidentified Army officer as saying of Walker: "He's gone through a metamorphosis. He is not at all the man he was when he was a combat officer." The story goes on to say that Walker, who commanded the paratroopers at the Little Rock intervention of 1957, had been sent to Arkansas, "as a 'safe' post where nothing would happen," but it doesn't explain why he was later given command of the 24th Division in Germany where things do occasionally happen.

Columnist Walter Lippmann, also on the same day, though without mentioning Walker, gave his dignified hurrah to the Brothers Kennedy for their overall handling of Oxford incidents, saying:

"THE PRESIDENT and the Attorney General have done well by their country in their handling of the Mississippi crisis . . . . I feel that the President has become the accomplished master of the enormous forces he commands."

In search of a worthy champion of an unpopular cause, I tried the office of Congressman Tom Curtis, who furiously defended the notorious Goldfine against contempt of Congress procedures. All I could learn was that Curtis had "talked" with Congressman Bruce Alger, who represents Walker's hometown of Dallas and who had entered a cautious remonstrance about the treatment of his Federally kidnaped constituent.

UNDERSTANDABLY, moderate and conservative Republicans like Curtis and Alger want no association with Walker. The latter is a Democrat who recently finished last in the Texas primary and before that had made a miserable appearance before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee where a good many of us went away tapping our foreheads over his performance. But unless Mr. Kennedy is turning this country into a place where eccentricity is a public offense, and where a Right Winger is assumed to have a screw loose until he proves otherwise, the Liberals ought to be a lot braver and more vigilant than they've been to date.

ALL AMERICANS would like to believe, in Mr. Lippmann's phrase, that the President is now the "accomplished master" of his job. My own hat went into the air last spring when JFK chewed out the steelnbngers. I thought then that the President was behaving like the take-charge fellow this country needs, and evidently some persons think he has behaved that way in going to war against Ole Miss. But the war has already cost two bystanders' lives, made us look like the Congo, reduced the prestige of all civilian law enforcement groups from U. S. Marshals to the local and State police, and—in the Walker case—given us much to be ashamed of concerning the President's own lack of restraint and respect for the almost unlimited authority with which his office endows him. I would like to be wrong about this, but I take it that history will find that Mr. Kennedy abused and bungled his powers in the Battle of Oxford. But, to repeat, the Liberals are the ones who ought to be howling at all hours about the damage done to our civil liberties.

Liquor Law Is Under Fire

EDITOR'S NOTE—Sale of liquor to 18-year-olds, permitted by New York State, has aroused neighboring states who are pressing New York to change its law. Here is a report on the problem.

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The six-year-old sedan hurtled down a rain-swept road in early-morning darkness, swerved suddenly out of control, whipped from one side of the road to another and slammed into a tree.

Six young men lay dead in the wreckage. A seventh died within hours. There were no survivors.

Two of the victims were 18 years old. Three were 19 and two were 20.

The Vermont state police report said: "A strong odor of intoxicants was detected on all but one of the victims. Investigation disclosed these young men had traveled to New York State and were in a hotel and restaurant previous to returning to Vermont."

DRAMATIC REASON

That accident is one of the more dramatic reasons why New York is being pressed by neighboring states to change its liquor laws which now permit sale of liquor to 18-year-olds. They want New York to raise the minimum to 21.

A legislative committee has been studying the issue and will make recommendations by Dec. 15.

All indications now are that New York State will retain its 18-year minimum.

Those advocating a 21-year-level offer two main arguments.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey appeared at a public hearing in Albany with a statement representative of the views of officials of states bordering on New York.

"For as long as that (18-year) law remains, young people will be lured to this state from other states for the purpose of drinking, legalized drinking, and will later suffer death, needless death," Hughes said.

COMMON VIEW

The Rev. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protestant Council of the City of New York, presented a view shared by the state's Protestant organizations, and by such groups as the New York State Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations.

"Because the drinking teen-ager becomes involved in various crimes from joyriding to disturbing the peace, to wanton destruction of property, to experimental sexual behavior, to gang wars and other malicious acts. . .anyone who really has the interest of our teen-agers at heart and is seriously concerned about the moral and ethical standards of our society is compelled, in our opinion, to favor the 21-year level," Potter said.

OTHER OPINIONS

But other views have been submitted.

Dr. Margaret Mead of Columbia University, anthropologist and author, told the committee: "If the 18-to-21 year age group are old enough to marry and have jobs, they are old enough to have the other privileges of adults."

While there is extensive support from organizations within New York State for a 21-year level, there is a large body of individual thought that the age at which a youth begins to drink is essentially a home problem, an Associated Press survey showed.

Doris Grumbach, who combines the roles of college professor, author and mother of four daughters, said she considered home training a more important factor than the law in preventing abuse of drinking. Without such training she said, drinking becomes "a trick to play on parents."

ANOTHER ASPECT

What of the argument that youths from neighboring states are lured to New York by its more liberal drinking law and become involved in highway crashes?

There are documented cases, such as the Vermont crash, of youths 18, 19 and 20 killed on highways after drinking in New York.

But Sen. John J. Marchi, the legislative committee chairman, questioned whether the death rates involving youths who had been drinking were substantially higher along border points than in the interiors of neighboring states.

Reporters Don. O. Noel Jr. and John O. Bailey of the Hartford Times concluded, after an extensive investigation of teen-age drinking, that "most Connecticut teen-agers can get all the beer or liquor they want right where they are—at public beaches and boardwalks, in ice cream shops, in parks in parking lots, wherever kids cluster."

POINT AT ISSUE

The argument turns on the question of whether an 18-year, 21-year or any age minimum specified by law is an actual factor in controlling youthful drinking or whether the abuse of liquor by youths must be prevented on a more personal basis.

Don't Overlook Foreign Holders In Stock Figuring

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—In judging which way the stock market is likely to jump don't count out the foreign holders of American common stocks.

What they think of the prospects for good or bad times ahead in the United States—the chances of higher profits or of a profit squeeze, the outlook for capital gains or losses, and particularly their views of individual companies—can have important, if limited, effect on prices on Wall Street.

Foreigners hold U.S. common stocks valued currently at nearly $12 billion. Any crisis selling—like that at the time of the Suez Canal pinch on Europe's economy—might be felt in American exchanges.

Usually foreign assessment of the situation here lines up pretty much with American investors' ideas. But the view from a distance sometimes can be different. In recent months Europeans have been quite free in offering Washington advice on how to handle its monetary and trade policies.

And what Europeans, Canadians and others think of how the American economy is shaping up could be important in setting some future stock market trends.

Americans, in turn, hold some $11 billion in common stock of foreign corporations. In the last few years the volume of these holdings has fluctuated more than has that of foreign investment in American ventures.

U.S. investors woke up late to the opportunities offered by a revised European economy. And recently they have been disappointed in the downturn of European stock prices, like those of American stocks, and have cut their holdings.

International bankers cite the $12 billion of U.S. stocks held abroad and the $11 billion of foreign stocks held here to point the moral that today the financial communities of the world are perhaps as closely tied as are the international political policies.

While stock investments are the easiest to dispose of, direct investment by foreigners in American business also play an increasing role in the U.S. economy. Such investment—foreign controlled enterprises here like Shell Oil, Lipton, Lever Brothers, Bowater Paper—has increased in value three fold in the past 20 years.

Apology Follows Alleged Assault

LUBBOCK (AP)—Robert Rich, principal of Frenship High School at Wolfforth, says the chairman of the Texas House Migrant Committee has apologized for an incident in which Rich alleges he was struck by an investigator for the committee.

Rich said Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth visited him Wednesday.

Robert Sherrill of Austin has been charged with simple assault.

The incident allegedly occurred Oct. 3 when Sherrill called on Rich while investigating for the House committee the impact of migrant labor on schools.

De Gaulle After Censure Of Premier

French President Charles de Gaulle, left, sits in a car with Gen. Louis Dedelier, his personal chief of staff, as they leave Elysee Palace in Paris to attend army maneuvers in eastern France. They left the palace after the National Assembly's adoption of a motion censuring Premier Georges Pompidou for de Gaulle's proposed constitutional amendment to have future French presidents elected by a popular vote.

JFK's Pen Hikes Pay, Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a stroke of the pen to new legislation, President Kennedy today raised government salaries and the cost of using the mails.

Thus the one package combines two of the administration's major legislative proposals — pay increases and salary reform for 1.6 million federal workers, and new revenue to help run the deficit-ridden postal service.

The pay section of the bill calls for two-step raises averaging 9.6 per cent for 1 million "white collar" workers, and 11.2 per cent for 600,000 postal clerks and letter carriers.

The first step goes into effect next payday, the second step on Jan. 1, 1964. Cost of the increase will be $1.05 billion.

The new postal rates—chiefly a one-cent increase in first class and air mail stamps, with smaller increases for second and third class users—are intended to bring in $600 million in new revenue after three years.

The new first class and air mail rates begin Jan. 7, 1963, but most of the second and third class increases are spread over three years, starting in January.

Besides raising pay, the bill establishes for the first time the principle that federal salaries should be comparable to those paid in private industry for similar work. This was a central feature of Kennedy's original request.

The bill provides for an annual review of private and federal government salaries, and for a recommendation by the President for further increases whenever government pay lags behind.

One hope embodied in the legislation, that the increased postal revenue will wipe out the annual operating deficit of the Post Office Department, also may be difficult to realize. The higher pay for letter carriers and mail clerks contained in one section of the bill immediately upsets the balance achieved in the department's budget by the other section.

Still pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission is a request for increased parcel post rates that could narrow the gap again.

Of the $600 million in new revenue, $459 million will come from the added penny on first class and air mail stamps.

Second class users—mostly magazine and newspaper publishers—will have their mailing costs increased by $27.4 million after three years, chiefly through three annual increases of 4 per cent for editorial matter, and three 10 per cent increases for advertising matter.

New third class rates will bring in $93.7 million in new revenue, $39.5 million of it through an increase from 2½ cents per piece of bulk advertising mail to 2⅞ cents after three years.

The rate for a single piece of third class mail goes up from 3 cents to 4 cents, bringing in an additional $34.5 million. This is the class used by those who send Christmas cards with the envelopes unsealed.

Exiles Declare War On Seas

NEW YORK (AP) — A Cuban exile group which calls itself Alpha 66 announced it is declaring war, effective today, on all ships carrying supplies to Cuba.

The announcement was made by Antonio Veciana, 35-year-old leader of the group which says it carried out a raid on Cuba's north coast Monday. He is a certified public accountant in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Veciano made the statement in a broadcast from San Juan for the American Broadcasting Co.

He said attacks will be carried out on any and all vessels, not just those from Iron Curtain countries.

Veciana gave ABC some details on Monday's reported raid on the Cuban port of Isabella de Sagna, 150 miles east of Havana.

He said his force of 30 men inflicted 20 casualties on what he termed "the enemy." Veciana said the casualties included both Russians and Cubans.

His force, said Veciana, suffered five casualties. He declined to say whether they were killed or wounded.

Veciana said the Puerto Rican-based Alpha 66 plans to carry out another such raid within the next two weeks and two more by the end of the month.
