German Tank Regiment 'Annihilated'

British, Free French Strike Syria By Land, Sea And Air

English Raiders Again Blast West Coast

Britons Open Up While Germany Is Busy With Russia

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Egypt, June 24.—British and Free French forces advanced on several fronts in Syria today, using land, sea and air forces in an effort to complete the occupation and consolidate the near Eastern situation while the Germans are busy with Russia.

The operations covered the widest range of territory yet reported under attack, extending inland to the desert town of Palmyra north to Homs and south into the Jebel Ed Druz country as well as along the coast and in the Damascus area.

Making immediate use of authority to take whatever measures he deemed necessary, Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, the British commander, redoubled the strength of his attack and used his aviation lavishly.

Australians Credited

It was reported the port of Beirut was subjected to violent air and naval bombardment, the Australians were credited with an "important advance" in their drive on the Lebanese capital along the coast, a column striking across the desert reached the outskirts of Palmyra and the French were declared "almost certainly" to have lost one destroyer in a naval engagement.

Beirut itself appeared to be menaced from two sides, one British column having taken Qatana, 15 miles southwest of Damascus, and then advanced toward the road leading to the Lebanese city. This column and the Australians coming up the coast were expected to attempt a converging movement.

The RAF loosed tons of explosives on the Rayak station, north-

Land Purchase For Base Okayed

An ordinance authorizing the purchase of the land 10 miles west of the city on which the advanced twin-engine aviation training school of the army air corps is to be situated was passed on first reading at a recessed meeting of the city commission Tuesday afternoon.

Mayor Carl E. Slaton immediately called another recessed meeting for 8 o'clock this morning to take final action on the ordinance.

The city commission authorized an option on the land several weeks ago immediately after being advised by chamber of commerce officials that Lubbock was being considered as a site for the school.

The land, consisting of 1,387.66 acres, is owned by the J. D. Lindsey estate. The city is to pay $35 per acre for it, a total of $48,568.10. It will be financed by the issuance of $48,000 in 2 per cent warrants sold to Citizens National bank. The warrants are to mature in lots of $16,000 on Feb. 1 of 1942, 1943 and 1944.

Another development in connection with the aviation school is

Property Of Missing Man Awarded To 7

Property of J. D. (Jack) Mabray, including parts of eight lots in Lubbock, was awarded to seven persons after Mabray was adjudged dead under the seven years unexplained absence law Tuesday in 99th district court.

One-fourth of the property was awarded to Mrs. W. H. Bledsoe, Charles C. Crenshaw and George W. Dupree. The following received three-sixteenths each: Mrs. Ethel Menielle, Mrs. Maude Tucker, Mrs. Josephine Saul and Mrs. Pearl Smith. Those receiving three-sixteenths each were sisters of Mabray, said Judge E. L. Pitts.

The case was filed as Mrs. Ethel Meinelle and others vs. Mrs. Maude Tucker and husband.

Permian Basin Pipe Line To Be Sought

Committee Named To Support Effort For Line To Mid-West Industrial Centers

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

APPOINTMENT of a local committee of operators in the North Permian basin fields to support an effort urging the construction of a crude oil pipeline from Eastern New Mexico and West Texas to the Chicago industrial area and beyond was announced Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the committee immediately sent a telegram to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who recently was named federal petroleum coordinator, urging his "consideration of a pipe line from West Texas to Chicago industrial area and Eastern seaboard."

Members of the committee announced also that support for the project will be sought from Congressman George Mahon and Sen. Tom Connally. Further plans of the committee, according to members, are to work with oil leaders in the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico, Oklahoma and beyond in the effort to bring about construction of the pipe lines as a means of relieving a "strangling bottleneck."

Members Announced

Those announced Tuesday afternoon as members of the committee were Paul C. Teas, recently elected president of the Permian Basin association, and Thos. B. Duggan, jr., Walter S. Posey, S. E. Cone, George P. Livermore, H. H. Van Aken, L. C. Harrison, Robert Sibert, Frank W. Pearson and Charles R. Gallagher.

Their telegram to Secretary Ickes read:

"West Texas and New Mexico have 25 per cent of the nation's oil reserve. We are unable to deliver oil to large consuming areas for defense needs due to bottlenecks on Gulf coast, and request your consideration of a pipeline from West Texas to Chicago industrial area and Eastern seaboard. Can increase present production by 35 per cent without added expenses or the necessity of drilling additional wells."

Situation Critical

The marketing situation as it affects the Permian basin area and Eastern New Mexico is one that is growing increasingly critical, members of the committee declared. Outlets from the Permian field, which represents the second largest—if not the largest—reserve of oil in the world, have been extremely limited during the entire history of the area. Normally, the outlet that is available is via pipeline to tankers in the Gulf of Mexico. The number of tankers has been sharply reduced by the defense program, with the prospect that the near future may see none at all available.

The proposed pipeline is being urged, according to members of the committee, as the means both of providing outlet for oil producing areas faced with strangulation, and of getting oil to industrial areas faced with such shortages of fuel that "gasless Sundays" are threatened.

Those who have studied the problems, according to members of the local committee, are of the opinion that a pipeline of approximately 100,000 barrels of oil per

Another Soft Coal Shutdown Is Threatened

(By The Associated Press)

The threat of another soft coal shutdown arose yesterday when the United Mine Workers policy committee voted in Washington to stop work at the Southern Appalachian mines after July 7 unless a two-year contract is signed by that time between the union and the Southern operators.

The decision was reached after a two-hour conference between union and company representatives had failed to bring a new wage agreement.

Some Not Affected

Mines in the Northern Appalachian area would not be affected. Operations in the entire eight-state area were at a standstill during April, while negotiations for a new contract covering the Northern and Southern fields were in progress. The union and the Northern operators finally reached an agreement and later the Southern owners accepted a temporary wage contract pending further negotiations.

Chief stumbling block in the early negotiations was a 40 cents wage differential between Southern and Northern mines, but this was later eliminated.

Right-Of-Way Given

Since this difference was adjusted, other disagreements have arisen. There was no explanation of the exact nature of the disagreement which caused today's vote of the union policy committee, but John L. Lewis told reporters that 12 of the 13 operators associations comprising the Southern producers wage conference had "acquiesced" in the new contract. He said the Harlan County (Ky) Coal Operators association did not acquiesce.

Before this new threat the defense program arose, Democratic

Four Are Injured In Shallowater Mishap

Otha Smith, 21, and Bill Sterr, about 23, both of near Amherst, suffered fractures when the automobile in which they were riding with their wives figured in an accident at Shallowater Tuesday night.

Smith's left elbow was broken and he had cuts on the left arm and minor chest lacerations. Sterr had a compound comminuted fracture of the left knee, with cuts on the left arm and bruises of the head and neck.

Mrs. Smith suffered a laceration over the left eye and Mrs. Sterr had bruises on the head and a nose injury.

All were admitted to St. Mary's hospital, but an attending physician said none was serious in condition.

Slaton Child Is Seriously Shot

Eight-year-old Russell Keyes, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Keyes of Slaton, was in serious condition at Lubbock sanitarium at midnight, an air-rifle bullet lodged in the center of his brain.

The boy was shot with a discharge from a pump-type rifle at 3:50 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at his Slaton residence while he was playing with Tippy Culver, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Culver of Slaton.

Details Lacking

Details of the accident were lacking, but the bullet passed through two doubled blankets on a close line before it struck him in the left side of the head, entering the skull and lodging two and one-half inches from the back and two and one-half inches from the base of the skull.

Mrs. Keyes was returning from Mercy hospital, where her daughter, Mrs. Woodrow Weaver, is seriously ill of blood poisoning. The youngster had staggered into the house and his first words were,

Daniel, Ellis and McClellan are holdover officers.

Approximately 35 Masons attended the meeting. The new officers were elected at an earlier meeting this month.

Both Sides Rest In John Bush Murder Trial

Arguments To Be Heard Today In District Court

By TOM MILLER
Avalanche Staff Writer

BOTH sides rested late Tuesday afternoon in the 72nd district court trial of John Bush, who is under indictment charging murder in the death of Glenn Davis.

Judge Daniel A. Blair recessed court until this morning soon after the defendant had testified an hour and a half. Brief testimony of Glenn Hennington, bowling alley assistant manager, completed the defense case.

Arguments Today

Arguments will be given when court is resumed this morning but Judge Blair instructed that the jury charge would not be completed until perhaps 10:30 o'clock.

Davis, 22, was slain the morning of May 23 with gunshot from a .32 caliber pistol while he sat in his coupe in front of a small cafe at 1505 Sixteenth street.

The defendant said Davis, in company with Bush's wife, drove up to the cafe about 1:20 o'clock the morning of the shooting.

"I asked him if he knew that he was with my wife," Bush testified.

Davis was quoted as answering affirmatively.

As Bush approached the Davis car on the driver's side, the victim was said to have moved closer to Mrs. Bush.

Afraid Of Davis

The defendant said Davis made a move as if to reach in the glove compartment of the machine. On direct question of Burton S. Burks, district attorney who is directing the prosecution, Bush said he was

British-Russian Partnership Agreed Upon; US Offers Aid

Plans For English Mission To Visit Soviet Planned

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 24—Great Britain and the Soviet union have agreed to fight Germany together as military and economic partners, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden informed the House of Commons today, and the government announced tonight that preparations to send a mission to Russia "are being pressed forward as quickly as possible." These plans are expected to be completed shortly.

Sir Stratford Cripps, British ambassador who returned home from the Soviet union June 11, "hopes to be able to return to Moscow in a few days' time," the foreign office announced. He is occupied in London "with further consultations and discussions."

Great Britain and Russia in becoming partners are overlooking the difference in their respective political systems in order to defeat their common enemy Adolf Hitler, Eden said.

Treaty Stands Intact

He also disclosed that Turkey had "made it plain in the last 24 hours that the Anglo-Turkish treaty (for mutual aid) stands intact—that it stands first and foremost in her engagements," despite the new non-aggression accord signed between Turkey and Germany last Wednesday.

As for the attitude of the United States toward Britain's collaboration with Communistic Russia, Eden suggested that "the declaration by Mr. Sumner Welles in the press this morning" should be read. This was the statement in which the American acting secretary of state asserted that "any defense against Hitlerism" would benefit the security of the United States.

Declaring that although he was not yet able "to reveal the full results of the conversations," Eden said that Moscow had "accepted

Scattered Rains Fall On Plains

Scattered, flash rains spotted the South Plains again Tuesday afternoon, but early reports were that damage probably would be light.

A hard, dashing fall at noon and another late in the afternoon flooded Lubbock streets. For a brief time roads immediately west of Lubbock along the Levelland highway were inundated, but within a few minutes most of the water had drained.

The Texas Technological college station of the United States Weather Bureau reported the moisture there at 1.05 inches.

Heaviest rain reported Tuesday night on the Plains was in the Levelland vicinity. The fall was estimated at two inches northwest of the Hockley county seat. However, damage to crops was reported light.

Heavy At Plainview

Littlefield received only a sprinkle, but about three miles east an inch and a half fell. Other scattered showers were reported in Lamb county. Morton's rain was negligible.

Plainview measured moisture at one and one-half inches, the fall lasting only 30 minutes, however there was no apparent dan-

Candidates Hit Bigger Cities

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel took no official note of recent legislative references to politics, but he did mention, again in a senatorial campaign speech yesterday that some members of that body were trying to get him out of the state.

While O'Daniel was hitting a trail that took in eight medium-to-large West Texas towns and one big city, his most active opponents made the welkin ring by radio and in the larger cities.

Lyndon Johnson, who has been pleading his case on the issue of "Roosevelt and Unity" campaigned in Fort Worth, the governor's home town. He had a night rally there.

Soviet's Frozen Assets Released By President

By J. C. STARK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 24—Carrying forward the policy of favoring Russia against Germany, President Roosevelt promised all possible American help for the Soviets today and released "frozen" Russian assets to permit the purchase of needed materials in the United States.

The president told his press conference that Russia had not yet submitted any list of items needed by the Red forces to hold back the German onslaught and until such a request came, he did not have the foggiest idea of what the United States would supply.

To Be Limited

He said also that he did not know whether aid would be given under the lease-lend act or through Russian purchases and he declined to answer a direct question whether he deemed the defense of Russia essential to the defense of the United States.

But the president made it clear that aid to Russia would be limited only by the productive capacity of American industry and the prior defense requirements of the United States and Great Britain.

Just before this, the treasury announced the release of Russian assets which were "frozen," along with those of Germany, Italy, and other European nations on June 14. The purpose of the freezing order, issued when Germany and Russia were still "friends", was to make sure that none of the assets would be used for the benefit of the Axis.

To Free Millions

It was estimated that today's decree would free from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 of Russian funds and other assets for American purchases and the president indicated there would be no difficulty over export licenses for machine tools and other items which could be spared.

On the broad question of policy, President Roosevelt said there was nothing to add to the statement yesterday of Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state. Welles had assailed the German invasion of Russia in scathing terms and had said "any rallying of the forces

Cancer Research Funds Voted

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 24.—The Texas legislature today earmarked $500,000 for treatment of cancer sufferers and research into the killer disease.

House acceptance of amendments to a House bill sent the appropriation to the governor's desk, the first of its kind in state history.

Despite vigorous protest of some members, concurrence was voted 80 to 35.

It was virtually the only piece of business in a legislative day marked by renewed House wrangling over sine die adjournment of the 162-day-old general session.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel revived a recommendation that the Senate quickly approve a House bill conforming state public welfare statutes to federal social security act amendments which become effective July 1.

The governor warned that unless the bill was approved by that

Nazis, Russians Claim Successes On Warfront

Huge Fires Said Started In Areas Held By Germans

(By The Associated Press)

THE Russians declared today that the Red army, putting up "stiff resistance" to the German invasion, had destroyed Nazi tank formations and "annihilated" an entire mechanized regiment while Soviet bombs had started huge fires in Warsaw, Constanta, Lubin and other German-occupied cities.

Claiming the air raids were in retaliation for bombings of Russian cities, the Red army high command said great damage was inflicted on military objectives, with gasoline dumps flaming in Warsaw and the Rumanian port of Constanta "ablaze."

Drive Is Repulsed

The official Soviet communique disclosed that the Germans had loosed their famed parachute troops in a widespread effort to disorganize Russian communications behind the lines.

Charging the parachutists were clad in Soviet uniforms, the war report said the NKVD (Russian secret police) had been charged with destruction of the Nazis.

The Russians reported fierce battles in progress in northern Poland and central Lithuania. A German drive in the Siauliai area in Lithuania was said to have been repulsed with heavy losses to the Nazis. Heavy fighting continued near Grodno, Poland, and Wilno (Vilna) and Kaunas, Lithuania.

Many Tanks Used

The Soviet communique indicated the Germans were using great numbers of tanks and mechanized weapons on the northern front. It was in the Siauliai battle that the Russians claimed destruction of the German regiment.

On the central front, the Russians said their army was resisting the Nazi advance in the region of Brody, a town 60 miles within the frontier.

In the south the Red army was reported to have repelled repeated attempts of the German-Rumanian armies to capture Cernauti, Carpathian mountain stronghold in Bucovina, and to gain a foothold on the east bank of the Prut river.

The Russian air force was credited with shooting down 34 aircraft yesterday, bringing the total of German planes claimed destroyed to 381—161 in air battles and 220

TRUE UNDERSTANDING

TRUE friendships and understanding with peoples of Latin American countries can be realized only when we of the United States forget social discrimination and realize that just because someone does something different than that to which we are accustomed that does not make him either funny or strange.

These words were uttered by clever Dr. Carlos Castaneda of Austin at the Latin-American seminar session Monday night. He went on to explain that we want to change all other peoples to our mode of dress, of speech, of customs, instead of respecting their manners and customs of years and generations. The American's ignorance of Latin America is appalling and until he corrects this he cannot hope to get very far in his good neighbor relationships.

WE LAUGH at the awkward phrasing of a Spanish American and still how good is our "kitchen" Spanish?

Two excellent examples of the Anglo-American's and the Spanish-American's ways of talking were cited by the visiting lecturer as: Let us take a walk (that's the English version) and I give you a walk (Spanish) and I am hungry (English again) and I have a feeling of hunger (Spanish).

We invite a visitor from South America to our home for dinner and we ask him to "wear what you do in your country won't you?" And yet how would we feel if asked to wear "something typical of your country," perhaps a coal miner's suit?

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When is it necessary to answer a wedding invitation?
2. What would be appropriate for a groom to wear at an informal morning wedding during the summer months?
3. Should a groom and his best man be dressed alike?
4. What is the correct form to use when answering a formal invitation to a wedding?
5. At what age should a school girl be allowed to wear an ankle length party dress?

What would you do if—

You are a woman wondering whether or not to wear with evening dress the wrist watch you wear with street clothes—

(a) Wear it?
(b) Don't wear it?

ANSWERS

1. When the wedding is so small the invitations are given orally or written by hand, and when you are invited to the reception following a wedding of any size.
2. White flannels with a dark blue coat would be a good choice.
3. Yes.
4. The answer should be written on the first page of a sheet of white note paper. The form is the same as for answering any formal invitation and is written in the third person.
5. About 12, though the dress should have a rather high neckline and some kind of sleeves.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

Study Group Has Several Speakers

Two lectures this morning will bring to a close the Seminar on Latin-American Relations and at 10:45 o'clock the Junior Study club institute will open its sessions with Dean Margaret Weeks presiding at the first meeting to be held at Texas Technological college.

A lecture at 8:30 o'clock on "Brazil's A. A. A. Program" by Prof. Ernest Wallace of the institute of history at Tech college and a lecture on "The Monroe Doctrine in Latin America" by Prof. H. C. Pender, professor of government at Tech college will be the last sessions for the seminar which has been convening here for the past three days.

After a luncheon at 12 o'clock noon today, the program for the institute will get underway with Mrs. Pete H. Smith of Plainview as club institute chairman and Mrs. Wes Izzard, of Amarillo, state chairman of junior clubs, presiding. Mrs. J. M. Crews of Childress is district chairman of junior clubs and will act as advisor for the program this morning. Mrs. H. F. Godeke, president of seventh district, is in charge of arrangements.

"How to Build a Club Program" will be the subject of address given by Mrs. William Dingus, assistant professor of foreign languages at Tech. A discussion from the floor will be held on "Some Timely Projects for Junior clubs" followed by an address by Mrs. W. B. Irvin on "Conversational Spanish."

A "Summary of Interesting Projects of Last Year" will be given by Mrs. Powell McWhirter. "Putting Defense in Your Work" is to be an address by Miss Johne Bowles, instructor in home economics at Tech.

A discussion hour will be led by Mrs. Crews.

Tuesday afternoon women attending the seminar visited the recreation projects of Lubbock at Twenty-third, Twenty-seventh and Seventh street parks.

At 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon members viewed the glass exhibit at the home of Prof. and Mrs. R. A. Mills, 2627 Twenty-seventh street. An informal reception was later held.

Those in the house party were the district officers, composed of: Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, chairman of art; Mrs. George Berry, Federation president; Mrs. Godeke, seventh district president; Mrs. Emmett Kerr, district secretary.

Also attending were members of the Lubbock Woman's club, members of the American Association of University Women, Tech faculty and Mesdames J. A. Kleinschmidt, A. T. Biggers, L. D. Thomas, Dingus, Mary Doak and Misses Martye Poindexter, Evelyn Clewell and Lucile Gill.

Texas House Sticks To Plan To Prolong Session

O'Daniel's Race Is Discussed

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP)— The House of Representatives today stuck to its plan to prolong the general session of the legislature —amid sometimes heated discussion of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's Senate candidacy.

It sent the Senate a resolution recessing the session from June 27 to July 15 with sine die adjournment on July 18 and under discussion when it quit work until Thursday was a July 5 sine die adjournment resolution.

The Senate also adjourned until Thursday, thereby guaranteeing a new longevity record for the 47th legislature. Although it will not be active tomorrow the legislature will reach its 163rd calendar day and tie the record of the 46th. Thursday will establish a new record.

Qualification Studied

The recess-adjournment combination resolution was adopted after Rep. James Taylor of Kerens asserted members should be given some thought to whether the governor, if elected senator, would qualify for the new office or delay qualification and thereby in effect hold two offices at the same time.

"I've had it on my mind ever since Huey Long did the same thing in Louisiana," Taylor said.

"The little money we've spent here in protecting the honesty and integrity of members has been well spent," Taylor added.

Evidently he referred to some of the governor's campaign statements to which legislators have taken exception.

No Final Vote

Rep. Jack Ridgeway of San Antonio said he had heard from "certain groups" that the legislature intended to remain in session so that if the governor was defeated for the Senate he could be impeached.

"The only purpose for which the House can convene itself after a sine die adjournment is for the purpose of considering impeachment charges," Taylor replied.

Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa, a supporter of the governor, argued against a recess and for prompt sine die adjournment. He was joined by Rep. Jim Pace of Gainesville.

The sine die adjournment resolution, as introduced, would have ended the session July 3 but an amendment changed the day to July 5. It was in this form but had not reached a final vote when the House quit work until Thursday.

Residence Permits Boost City Totals

Five residence permits accounted for most of the $22,945 in building permits issued Tuesday at city hall.

Total for the week was off to an auspicious start with $35,945. Total for the month was $476,650 and for the year $1,839,407.40. Forty-five residence permits issued in June total $151,227 and 180 residence permits for 1941 total $712,848.

Residence permits were issued Tuesday to: C. C. Jobson, owner, and J. E. Hancock, contractor, 2810 Twenty-first street, $4,300; Martin Hamilton, jr., owner, and Joe Telford, contractor, 2223 Twenty-seventh street, $3,250; Carl O. Stewart, owner, and J. E. Walker, contractor, 2419 Twenty-first street, $6,200; James Orville Smith, owner, and S. E. Holt, contractor, 2413 Twenty-ninth street, $4,100; and B. B. Nesbitt, owner, and J. E. Ligon, contractor, 3119 Twenty-second street, $4,200.

If You're Old Enough To Vote, You Have A Job On July 1; Army Seeks Younger Blood

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON, June 24—Some 800,000 youths, newly 21 years old, will register for possible military service July 1 with the prospect that several thousand of them will be in soldier suits before the year ends.

Two things are expected to expedite induction of the new registrants:

1. The move to infuse younger blood into the military service by deferring induction of men over 27 years of age.

2. Voluntary enlistment by many youths who will be registered July 1.

Congress has moved to defer the calling into service of registrants who have reached 28. Local draft boards, officials say, will tend to go quickly through older registrants to reach those 21-year-olds who have neither dependents nor essential employment and are at an "ideal age" for army training.

Many of the 1941 college graduates among the July registrants, it is believed, will enlist for their year of military training after they find it is difficult to obtain jobs when one is subject to call to camp.

Some who have become 21 since those 16,500,000 from 21 to 35 were signed up last October 16 already have registered and volunteered for a year of training.

Expect Smooth Handling

Selective service officials anticipate smooth handling of the registration by the now experienced 6,500 draft boards. Registration will be from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. at places designated by local boards. Persons may register later if they are prevented from enrolling on the designated day by circumstances beyond their control or because of absence from the country.

The order in which the new men are subject to call will be determined by lottery which probably will be held a few weeks after the registration. It will be similar to last fall's lottery. Each man will get a serial number when he registers. A corresponding set of serial numbers will be drawn in the lottery.

The first serial number drawn will become "Order No. 1." The holder of that serial number will become the first man eligible for service in his district. It is planned to sandwich the new registrants with the original registrants.

Although defense authorities are committed to building an "army of youngsters," the drafting of youths from 18 to 20 inclusive is not contemplated. Congress is definitely opposed to the induction of "teen age" boys.

Now Has 500,000 Draftees

The army now has a force of about 1,500,000, more than 500,000 being draftees. The training program calls for an induction of about 60,000 men a month in each month after July 1.

The new draftees will have one advantage over the earlier recruits—camp life is more comfortable now. Completed barracks, recreation facilities such as hostess houses, movie theaters and athletic equipment, and smoother induction handling will help them over the preliminary homesickness.

And the army's new cooks can turn out better chicken dumplings and banana cream pies than they could a few months ago.

July Registration In A Nutshell

Who

All unregistered male citizens and aliens in the United States, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska who have reached the age of 21 on or before July 1.

When?

Between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on Tuesday, July 1.

Where?

At local draft board offices or places designated by those boards.

Heywood Broun Award Goes To PM Writer

He was cited for "his moving report on the conditions in the nation's mines, dealing with the lack of safety in the mines which has taken so great a toll in human life. . . ."

Search For Lost Army Plane Is Abandoned

BALBOA, C. Z., June 24 (U.P.)— Army officials announced today that the search for a France field army observation plane, missing since June 8, has been abandoned.

The plane was lost while on a routine flight. Its crew was composed of Lieutenant Agustus J. Allen, of Wills Point, Tex.; Sergt. James D. Cartwright, of St. Louis, Mo., and Corp. Paul R. Stubbs, of Falmouth, Mass.

Wreckage of the plane had been reported sighted from the air about two and one-half miles from El Valle in the mountainous jungle area southwest of Panama City, but large numbers of army and civilian searchers were unable to find it.

BEEKEEPER IS USEFUL

CHANUTE FIELD, Ill., June 24 (AP)—A good beekeeper is sometimes useful in the army.

A group of air corps men abandoned a tent when a swarm of bees buzzed in and settled down. Master Sergeant Fulton G. Bullech, who has an apiary, confiscated the insects for his own use.

Launch Explodes And Sinks At Galveston

GALVESTON, June 24. (AP)— The 40-foot motor launch Honey Bee sank in the harbor at pier 18 today following an explosion but three men on board escaped injury.

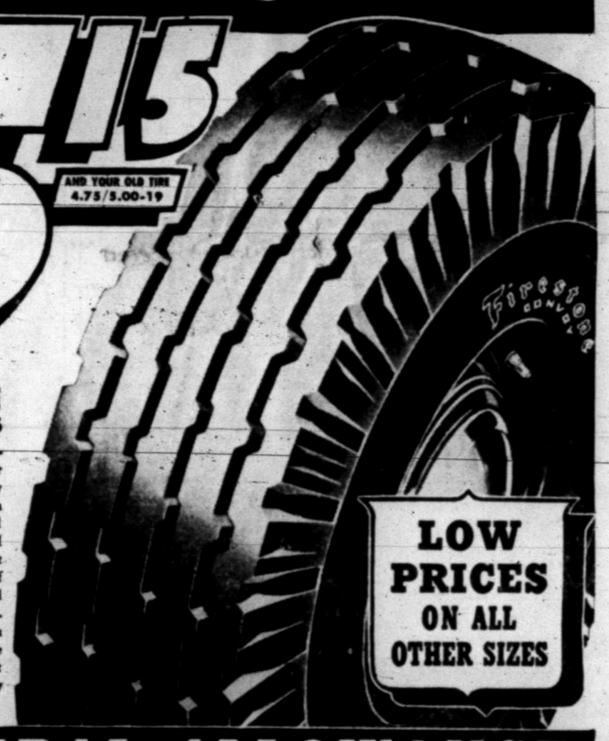

The launch was taking gasoline preparatory to towing targets for Texas A. and M. college ROTC coast artillery target practice.

Hess Says Prolongation Of War Means Fall Of Germany, Czech Leader Asserts

Broadcast Made To Czech People

(By The United Press)

LONDON, June 24—Dr. Eduard Benes, president of the Czechoslovak national committee, asserted tonight that Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi, had "admitted quite openly" that prolongation of the war would mean the fall of Germany.

"For the past six months," Benes said in a broadcast to the Czech nation, "the Germans knew they could not defeat Britain and debated among themselves what they ought to do.

Admitted Quite Openly

"These disputes led to the flight of Hess (to Scotland), who because of his previous contact with British circles hoped he could induce Britain to stop the war, prolongation of which would mean the fall of Germany," Benes added.

"Here in England, Hess has admitted this quite openly," he said.

Benes said Adolf Hitler's "mistake" in invading Russia, thus prolonging the war, had removed the "spectre of Nazi victory" and decided the war issue.

Nazi-Russian War

while in airdromes.

A small German force attempting to break through the Russian border from Finland was beaten back, the Soviets reported.

In the Gulf of Finland Soviet fleet units were said to have sunk a German submarine.

Other sources reported that three German blitz columns had stabbed from 80 to 125 miles into Russia and Berlin indicated that a major battle involving tremendous masses of men was taking shape on a hundred mile front on the Polish plain.

The German high command announced from Hitler's headquarters in the east that the campaign had proceeded through its third day with "great successes." Germans reported smashing one line of Russian defenses, hundreds of Russians killed and thousands taken prisoner in one sector alone, and destruction of 280 tanks and one entire Russian army division.

Covered With Glory

Russia declared Red soldiers and airmen were covering themselves with glory. The Kremlin acknowledged the loss of three frontier towns and German penetration of from ten to 15 miles, but said two Nazi columns had been repulsed with heavy losses.

Neither capital gave specific news of the fighting Tuesday. From Ankara, however, came reports quoting foreign military attaches that one German spearhead had struck 120 miles from southern Poland into the Ukraine, on the south sector of the eastern front.

Farther to the south, a German-Rumanian force was said to have driven through Russian Bessarabia to a depth of 80 miles, heading for Odessa. On the center of the front, a German column was reported in Vichy to have thrust into Russian territory 125 miles, through Brest Litovsk. None of these reports was confirmed by the belligerents.

Ready For Support

A Berlin dispatch, however, said heavy fighting was apparently taking place north of Brest Litovsk between the Pripet swamps and the East Prussian frontier. This region has a base about 100 miles long and bulges into German-occupied Poland and East Prussia.

Four Russian armies including 49 infantry divisions were reported in position in this area when hostilities broke out Sunday. Two thousand Russian planes based north of the Pripet swamps were in position to support them. Russian reports told of Red soldiers fighting "like lions" to defend their homeland but failed to specify the area where heaviest fighting was in progress.

Finnish-Russian tension, which the Finns insist has not yet flared into fighting, was heightened last night when Finland's government charged that Soviet warplanes have violated Finnish territory Monday and bombed a Finnish motorboat, wounding the captain.

Aid Is Promised

The Finns already had protested to Moscow Monday against the bombing of Turku (Abo) by Soviet planes.

Despite these incidents, Finland was reported determined to cling to neutrality unless war is thrust upon her. There was no confirmation of a Rome radio declaration that Finnish soldiers were fighting beside the Germans on the northern front.

Census Bureau Offers Advice To Lovelorn Girls; U. S. Possessions Needing Women

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 24—The Census bureau today offered some advice to lovelorn girls.

Admitting that its figures should be interesting to "single girls in search of adventure, travel and husbands," the Census bureau reported that there were only 5,885 white women in the Panama canal zone to 26,971 white men.

Ratio Is 2 To 1

American Samoa, located in the "romantic" South Pacific, has a white population of 300—only 100 are women, leaving an open field for the girl who has a yen for a grass skirt courtship.

The ratio in Hawaii is 64,473 men to 39,318 women. And for the girl who likes the frigid zones, Alaska "offers decided attractions with 25,595 white men compared with 13,575 white women."

The bureau noted that there was a fairly equal division of the sexes in the Virgin islands, with male white residents numbering 1,216 to 1,020 white women.

opposing Hitlerism" would benefit American defense and security.

To Rush Purposes

The immediate effect of the American action was expected to be an acceleration of Russian purchases of supplies not strictly of a military character. It was thought, too, that Russia might now also be permitted to obtain aviation gasoline to fuel the Red air forces.

A decision on the question of supplying heavy military equipment such as airplanes or tanks was expected to await the arrival of British military and technical missions in Russia and their analysis of Soviet needs.

President Roosevelt emphasized the difficulty of furnishing planes and other types of heavy equipment immediately. He pointed out that orders and delivery schedules for these had to be made far in advance and that in any event the American government could do nothing until it learned what Russia wanted and needed.

our offer to send military and economic missions to Russia to coordinate our efforts in what is beyond doubt our common task—the defeat of Germany."

Three Months Funds

"The Soviet government," he said, "has made it plain to us that in the period of military collaboration which now lies ahead, help will be on a mutual and reciprocal basis. His majesty's government accept and indorse that view."

Eden said that "we have always hated the creed" of Communism, but that that was not the issue today. The Russians "are fighting the man who seeks to dominate the world," he said, and added "that also is our sole task." He followed out the lead suggested by Prime Minister Winston Churchill on Sunday.

After hearing Eden, the House voted to place $1,000,000,000 (about $4,000,000,000) at the disposal of the government for war purposes—an amount which Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood estimated would last about three months at the present rate of expenditure.

Love Thy Enemy And Live Longer, Advises Osteopathic Leader

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 24. (AP)—Love thy enemy and live longer.

Hatred, Dr. Ralph L. Fischer told the American Osteopathic association's convention today, menaces health.

Dr. Fischer, a professor at the College of Osteopathy in Philadelphia, predicted that the war would increase the number of deaths from heart and circulatory diseases, already twice as numerous as fatalities from other maladies.

"Anything that acts in such a way as to increase fears and hatreds," he said, "is an enemy to the public health."

Florida Farmer Takes Charge Of 'Chutist

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 24 (AP) — A Florida farmer is taking no chances on "enemy parachutists."

Aviation Cadet Charles P. Canhan, ordered to "bail out" by his flying instructor when their plane was caught in a sudden storm, landed safely, sought a telephone to report to the naval air station.

The first man he met, he said, was a farmer with a shotgun who wanted to know who he was and why he jumped out.

Cadet Canhan explained and the farmer apologized for his suspicions, saying he thought he was "one of those enemy parachutists."

P. S. The instructor made a safe emergency landing.

Turkey May Aid By Threatening Syria

VICHY, Unoccupied France, June 24. (AP)—Informed sources expressed the belief tonight that reported massing of Turkish troops on the Syrian frontier meant that Turkey might aid Britain by threatening the French mandate from the north while Russia and Germany are preoccupied.

Information reaching French military sources here indicated that the Russians were holding all along the front and the Germans were unable to advance after initial successes along the frontier of Russian-occupied Poland.

Some Frenchmen said they expected no Turkish threat against Syria until Ankara saw whether Russian resistance would be maintained.

Both Sides Rest In Murder Case

scared the victim would harm him.

Bush, 21, said he had known Davis about two weeks before the shooting, having been introduced to him by Mrs. Bush.

"Why did you ask him if he knew he was with your wife?" Burks asked hotly.

"To see if he would admit it," Bush replied.

The defendant said he had been led to believe that illicit relations had existed between Davis and Mrs. Bush.

"But," he added, "my wife was in the car and I intended to stop him."

Burks asked Bush if he meant by "intended to stop" that he intended to kill Davis and Bush replied that he did not.

Carried Pistol In Car

The defendant said he had bought the gun used in the shooting soon after he had been hijacked approximately eight months before Davis was killed. He explained that he had been hijacked shortly before and that after he had testified in the cases of three youths convicted of the robbery a relative of one of the robbers threatened him.

He said he had carried the pistol in his automobile about two weeks.

Bush refuted testimony of F. R. Land, police patrolman who had said on the stand that Bush admitted being estranged from his wife.

He said, however, that Mrs. Bush had elected to remain in Lubbock and work when he obtained employment with an oil refinery in Levelland. He said he moved to Carlisle community to live with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bush.

Statement Introduced

He had been driving to Levelland and back daily since he started working there, he said. He testified that he had proposed to Mrs. Bush that they rent an apartment here.

Following appearance of the defendant on the stand, the state introduced into evidence a statement Bush had made the morning of the shooting. It was dictated to Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, who with J. E. Vickers, special prosecutor, as assisting Burks.

Hennington said Mrs. Bush had requested him to tell her husband that he (Hennington) had walked home with her Monday night (May 19). He said the defendant's wife had been in the bowling alley the night of the shooting and two nights previously.

Character Witnesses

The defense presented only four other witnesses, all for character purposes. They were E. F. Alford, farmer of west of Lubbock; Ameral Payne, district bookkeeper of the state highway department and former teacher in Frenship Rural High school; G. K. Horton, Hurlwood community resident and Lubbock county commissioner, and E. R. Haskins, Frenship superintendent.

All testified that they knew Bush and his family and that their reputations were good.

Leon Brown, 19, who was named on a companion indictment to that of Bush, was placed on the stand by the prosecution.

He testified that Bush had told him that "she (Mrs. Bush) is out with somebody and I am going to wait for her." Brown had gone to Mrs. Bush's living quarters adjoining the cafe twice the night of the shooting inquiring about the defendant's wife, he and Mrs. Leota Brown testified.

Officers Testify

He said he heard Bush ask Davis if he knew "Marjorie is my wife" and that Davis had replied, "Yes."

Glynn Hudgens, policeman who booked Bush when he surrendered at the police station soon after the slaying quoted the defendant as saying:

"You had better send a man out on Sixteenth street to that little cafe. I shot a man awhile ago and I think he is dead."

Carl Francis, a patrolman, told of finding Davis' body lying over the running board of his car, with his head on the ground.

Land said Bush told him that the defendant and his wife had separated and that "we decided this afternoon to quit for keeps."

First Witness Heard

Dr. Wayne Reeser, house physician at Lubbock sanitarium, was the first witness called by the state. He testified that Davis was dead when he was brought to the sanitarium the morning of the shooting.

He described four wounds. Defense counsel declined cross examination.

Mrs. Brown, who lives at 2115 Thirty-first street said she worked at the cafe near where Davis was slain, until recently.

Mrs. Leota Brown of 2115 Thirty-first street, who worked at the cafe near where Davis was slain, also testified before the noon recess.

The cafe is situated at 1505 Sixteenth street.

Not Living Together

Mrs. Brown said on the stand that Bush and his wife were not living together at the time of the shooting and that Mrs. Bush had been sharing quarters with her nearly two weeks.

She testified that Bush had come to the cafe the night of the shooting and that Leon Brown had come there twice.

Bush inquired about his wife, Mrs. Brown said. He had visited in the cafe several times in the two weeks she knew Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Brown added.

The witness said she was awakened by calls from Mrs. Bush and by the shooting. She saw a car she identified as that of Bush leave after the shooting.

On cross examination, Mrs. Brown said the defendant's wife and Davis had left in Davis' car the night of the slaying.

Four jurors were chosen during the morning session, only three men of a 45-man special venire remaining when J. C. Coats of 1924 Thirteenth street was accepted as the twelfth juror. Others were Emmett B. Kerr, service station operator of 1915 Twenty-fourth street; S. L. Adams, gianer of 2011 Eighth street, and Will Russell, farmer of Lubbock route 3.

Other jurors chosen Monday were E. A. Hankins of Lubbock route 4, Ralph Douglas of 2507 Twenty-third street, B. F. Hodges of 2024 Eighteenth street, C. R. Searsy of Lubbock route 1, J. C. Vannoy of Lubbock route 1, C. E. Love of 2317 Thirteenth street, W. M. Joplin of Slaton route 2 and V. C. Walden of 1641 Nineteenth street.

The defendant's wife was put under rule, as were witnesses, and was not allowed to hear testimony. She appeared briefly over defense protest for identification.

Bush pleaded innocent to the state's charge of murder with malice.

Texas Oil Production For July Is Slashed

AUSTIN, June 24. (AP)—Texas oil production was slashed more than 83,000 barrels daily in the July statewide proration order issued today by the railroad commission.

The order, adding two general production shutdown days to bring next month's total to 11, permitted an average daily yield of 1,347,926 barrels, a reduction of 83,806 from the June 1 allowable and 83,008 under that of last week.

Field exemptions from shutdowns were unchanged from the June order and, except for the Talco field in district 6, allowable assignments were altered only because of failure to produce new wells.

The asphalt crude producing Talco field allowable was boosted 3,565 barrels a day to a total of 27,638.

The Panhandle area which in the past has not been forced to shut down as often as other fields was assigned five closure days as compared to June's four, as follows: July 5, 12, 19, 26, and 31. General shutdowns were listed for July 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, 16, 19, 20, 26, and 31.

Strike Situation

leaders of the House of Representatives accorded right-of-way to legislation which would cloak President Roosevelt with broad powers to handle strikes or other work stoppages in defense industries.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), in announcing that the legislation would be given preference, said this would result in sidetracking the Vinson bill calling for cooling-off periods before strikes could be called in plants producing munitions.

Could Use Troops

Under the measure given right-of-way, the president would be authorized to use troops to protect workers desiring to comply with a presidential order to go back to their jobs. Persons attempting to prevent workers from accepting or keeping defense jobs, or from going back and forth to work would be subject to five years imprisonment or fines of $10,000.

This grant of power to deal with work stoppages is contained in a bill deferring from the draft all men who reach the age of 28 on July 1. The measure also would permit the government to take over plants whose owners refused to use federal mediation or conciliation agencies to settle strikes. It was approved by the House military committee last week.

Condition of Mrs. Ross Ayers remained unchanged in St. Mary's hospital Tuesday night. She, director of school publicity, radio and publications in Lubbock public schools, was to have begun Tuesday as an instructor in Texas Technological college summer school. She has influenza.

Dimmitt Wheat Growers, Inc. this week is opening 100,000-bushel capacity cement elevator in Dimmitt, to make eight units for the town with a total capacity of 550,000 bushels, W. C. Kuykendall, Fort Worth and Denver City general agent, said Tuesday. There are four elevators at Dimmitt, with a total of eight units. Cost of the building was approximately $28,000. M. B. Benton is manager. The plant has 15 grain bins, 15 feet in diameter, with the building 144 feet high.

Several reservations may yet be made for the annual trip to New York sponsored by the speech department of Texas Technological college, said Miss Ruth Pirtle, head professor of speech. Expenses, including round trip fare by chartered bus, hotel rooms, food, theater tickets and recreation fees, will be $150, a reduction of $10 from the fee in former summers. The group will go to New York by a northern route and return by a southern route.

Pipe Line Committee

day capacity and 1,500 mile length can be constructed within eight months or less.

Estimates of cost, according to reports here, range between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000.

Reports to the committee here were that the financing of such a pipeline will not be a problem.

The big problems, they explained, are the securing of materials with which to build it and the means of making certain that the necessary right-of-way can be obtained. For those and other reasons, approval by Secretary Ickes will be an essential so that the project might have priority in obtaining materials.

Would Be No Conflict

Advocacy of the proposed pipeline, it was explained, does not conflict in any way with another project involving a line from the East Texas and Louisiana fields across Southern states to the Atlantic seaboard in New Jersey.

The contention is that both lines are an urgent need and that, of the two, the one proposed to extend from New Mexico and West Texas would be less exposed to danger if the United States should become involved in war. The tentative proposed routing of that pipeline is from Midland through the North Permian area and the Texas Panhandle fields, thence east across Oklahoma and the southeastern edge of Kansas into Missouri, and then through the Illinois fields to Chicago, Detroit and points beyond.

Immediate objective of the local committee, members said, will be to crystalize and coordinate efforts both in Lubbock and throughout the Permian basin area to assemble and present the information which are evidence of the need of the proposed pipeline in the national defense structure.

Cancer Research

date Texas might not receive federal matching funds for old age assistance payments during the quarter beginning July 1.

The message, however, brought no action from the Senate which adjourned until Thursday.

The House approved the cancer bill—sliced from $1,750,000 to $500,000 by Senate amendments—after Rep. Arthur Cato, Weatherford druggist, declared it would be a monument to every member of the legislature.

Opposition was strong but ineffective as motions to postpone consideration and kill the bill died.

Said Of No Aid

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas declared the money would be of no material aid in effecting a cure for cancer since it woud provide only a duplication of work already underway in richly endowed institutions.

Cato said $130,000 of the appropriation would be used for repairs and improvements to John Sealy hospital at the University of Texas medical school, Galveston, and the remainder for research operation and treatment of indigent patients at the hospital.

His reference to the medical school brought criticism of the institution's dean, Dr. John W. Spies, who actively supported the bill before legislative committees.

Insulted By Dean

"I would rather give the money to Yale university than to Dean Spies who has spent his time up here lobbying for this bill," declared Rep. D. B. Hardeman of San Angelo.

A member inquired where Hardeman "got the idea" Dean Spies lobbied for the bill.

"I've had contact with him and have been insulted by him," the San Angeloan answered.

Rep. Charles Ansberry of Round Rock said he had had some of the "same experience."

Hardeman asserted proponents of the bill by accepting the reduced appropriation would use it as an excuse to lobby for a greatly enlarged appropriation two years hence.

Spain Studies New Phase Of Conflict

MADRID, Wednesday, June 25. (AP)—In the wake of demonstrations in Spanish cities approving the Axis attack on Russia, the Spanish government declared early today it was studying "very carefully and fully the new phase" in the European war caused by the German-Russian conflict.

More than 10,000 demonstrators, led by uniformed falangists appeared in Madrid yesterday shouting "On to Moscow!" and assembled outside the German embassy to applaud the Axis.

The demonstrations here culminated before party headquarters where Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, secretary-general of the party, appeared on a balcony and declared that the Soviet union "must be exterminated."

The United States has only 7 per cent of the world's population, but consumes 72 per cent of the world's silk production.

New Setup For Immigration

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 24. — The State department today announced establishment of a new immigration policy, centralizing the issuance of all immigration visas in Washington, with emphasis on the immigrant's suitability "to the national defense program."

Instead of visas being granted by immigration officials in the field the new set-up will make it necessary for visa application to be passed on by interdepartmental committees, which it is understood will comprise representatives of the State, War, Navy and Justice departments.

The State department's announcement said that the new procedure had resulted from "the declared emergency and the necessity from the standpoint of the national defense for careful supervision over the entry of aliens into the United States."

The new procedure is effective July 1.

east of Beirut and was reported to have destroyed eight Vichy aircraft on the ground there and at Baalbeck and Talia. Australian airplanes machinegunned the airdrome at Quseir, near Homs, and were declared to have shot down two French fighters and destroyed a Martin plane on the ground.

Official reports said the French naval losses occurred yesterday when two destroyers attempted to interfere with British warships supporting the Australian column advancing along the coast. Both were reported hit several times before they fled the battle. An admiralty communique said one "was almost certainly sunk."

Britain Declares She Gets Five For One

LONDON, Wednesday, June 25 (AP)—RAF bombers streaked out of a clear starlit sky above Dover strait early today and blasted Calais and Boulogne again on the 14th night of Britain's accelerated air offensive.

Observers on the English side said it appeared to be one of the heaviest attacks on those French ports.

Residents of the southeast coast were awakened by the crash of bombs on the other side of the channels. Flashes from the exploding bombs which were believed to be of the heaviest caliber cast a glare aloft along 20 miles of the French coastline.

Burst of anti-aircraft shells showed German ground defenses were throwing up a vigorous resistance but the assault went on virtually without a break.

A few German planes were reported over the east and southwest of England. Others were off the coast. No reports of any bombs or raiders were reported from northwest England or the North Midlands.

Britain officially declared that the "Hun" has lost more than five fighters to every British pilot in the countinuing grand-scale operations over France and the channel.

While RAF bombers roared across the channel this evening to round out two weeks of nightly smashing at German industries, communications and bases, the air ministry news service declared ten offensive forays in the eight days ending Monday cost the Nazis 112 planes and the British only 26 aircraft. Five British pilots were reported saved.

Alsup Replies To O'Daniel's Charges

AUSTIN, June 24. (AP)—Rep. Lon E. Alsup of Carthage today answered Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's campaign charge that the legislature delayed publication of its rules "just to give the lobbyists a better chance to get acquainted."

Alsup, chairman of the House rules committee, said his group rewrote the regulations and made copies available to members prior to the session.

On the opening day, Alsup moved and the House voted to adopt the special rules as recommended by the committe. When the effective date of the special rules expired, Alsup pointed out in a statement, the House adopted permanent rules, also prepared by the committee.

Without mentioning the governor by name, Alsup said, "I do not want the people of this state to think or believe that I am being controlled by any group of people, lobbyists or otherwise."

SENTENCE GIVEN

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, June 24 (AP)—Ettore Guigni, captain of the sabotaged Italian tanker Colorado, was sentenced to five years in prison in U. S. district court here late today and his crew of 25 were sentenced to three years each for damaging their vessel in the harbor here.

HURT ARTIFICIAL LEG

MARION, O., June 24 (AP)—An auto and truck collided and crashed into a concrete bridge. Pinned in the wreckage, Frank Hills, 63, of Galion complained that his right leg hurt. Rescuers worked desperately for 15 minutes to free him—and found the leg was artificial. Levi Varnes, 65, was killed in the mishap.

Aid To Russia Under Lease-Lend Act Is Urged By Communist Party Newspaper

Freeing Soviet Credits Urged

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, June 24 — The Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, urged today that Russia be given aid against Germany under the lend-lease act, which the newspaper heretofore had opposed.

The political committee of the Communist party in the United States announced meanwhile, that it had called a full meeting of the national committee for June 28 "to consider the war situation."

Should Give Full Aid

The Daily Worker said:

"The sentiment of the American people requires that there be full aid and support to the Soviet Union in its fight against Hitler's attack; that there shall be, for example, application of the lease-lend provisions for such aid."

It recommended that Soviet credits be freed; that trade restrictions "such as have recently blocked machine shipments," be lifted, and that the United States "take all other measures necessary to implement a policy of aid and cooperation to the Soviet Union in its just defense against Hitlerism."

New Lions Officers Installed Tuesday

New officers of Lubbock Lions club, headed by Vernice Ford as president, took over management of the club at a luncheon in Hilton hotel at noon, with Judge E L Pitts, past district governor, conducting a ceremony of installation approved by Lions International.

Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, outgoing president, handed over to his successor the president's pin of the club and in turn Judge Pitts gave to him a past president's pin and certificate. Harbaugh, in a "swan song," briefly discussed the accomplishments of the past year, paying particular attention to the election of H. C. (Blue Boy) Pender, a past president, as district governor.

Judge Pitts called to the speaker's table each of the newly-elected officers and gave them brief instructions on their duties.

As a part of the observance of "get acquainted" week in Lubbock, one Lion at each table, introduced the others there. Tail Twister Crites brought greetings to the club from Melvin Jones, Chicago, founder and secretary of the international organization on its election of Pender as district governor. Crites met Jones in Chicago last week.

Besides Ford, other officers are: Arlie Crites, first vice-president; Berl Huffman, second vice-president; George R. Bean, third vice-president; R. B. McAlister, Lion tamer; R. B. Italian Consul Hopes To Remain In The U.S.

FORT WORTH, June 24. (AP) — Hope that he will be able to remain in this country—his home for 44 years—was high in the heart of Appilo Ortolani, Italian consul here, at noon today as he left the United States courthouse after a talk with assistant United States District Attorney Fonville.

Ortolani was first going home to tell his wife, and then he was going to Dallas to talk to immigration officials as Fonville had advised him.

Fonville told Ortolani that it was his (Fonville's) unofficial opinion that Ortolani will not be affected by the July 15 departure of all consuls, as directed by the government, because Ortolani came to this country as an immigrant—not as a consul—and was hired after he had been in this country for 23 years.

Miss Files Says Her Criticism Of O'Daniel Was 'Climax Of A Growing Resentment'

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 24.—Rep. Rae Files of Waxahachie, one of two women members of the House of Representatives, asserted today her previously-expressed criticism of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel was not a "spontaneous outburst" but the "climax of a growing resentment" on her part.

Applauded when she concluded a speech on personal privilege, Miss Files said her recent open letter to O'Daniel, charging he had sought to force approval of "bad legislation" with threats of broadcasting the legislators were "against the old folks," had been written deliberately.

Says Methods Unfair

The woman lawmaker took exception to a statement by Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa who, in commenting on a recess resolution, asserted he believed such "spontaneous outbursts" as Miss Files' open letter were making votes for O'Daniel in the governor's Senatorial campaign.

"I don't believe the governor's methods have been fair," Miss Files declared. "This legislature is democracy in action. So far as we allow anyone to undermine our efforts, just so far can the workings of democracy be undermined."

Midair Collision Of Planes To Be Probed

FORT SILL, Okla., June 24 (U.P.) A board of inquiry was appointed here today to investigate the midair collision of two army observation planes which forced two enlisted men to bail out from 3,000 feet.

The pilots, Lieut. W. C. Bacon, Boonville, Ark., and Lieut. R. J. Hughey, St. Louis, Mo., landed the planes safely. The tail of one plane was clipped off by the wing of another ship in the accident, which occurred during a routine formation flight.

The two enlisted men, Staff Sgt. Walter Raidor and Pvt. R. C. MacDonald, both of the 15th observation squadron, landed by parachute.

Dog Leaves Pups For Hands That Fed Them

DANVILLE, Ind., June 24. (AP)—James Gentry, deputy town marshal, vouches for this dog story:

A stray dog that had four pups in the basement of an old school gathered food for them from four Danville homes.

When they were weaned, she left one at each of these four homes.

Russian Girls Seeking Admission To Army

MOSCOW, June 24. (AP)—Russian girls were reported clamoring today for admission to the Red army for service at the front.

Want To Get Acquainted? Drop In At Hilton Ballroom This Morning For Free Coffee

Here's a good place to get acquainted: At the Hilton hotel ballroom this morning.

Vernon Herndon, manager of the Hilton hotel is a great believer in getting acquainted and the Avalanche-Journal's Get Acquainted Week offered him an excellent opportunity to play host.

Everybody in Lubbock, old-timers and newcomers alike, is invited to visit the Hilton ballroom this morning between 9 and 11 o'clock for free coffee and doughnuts.

"We hope we have to make coffee all morning in order to serve the crowd," Herndon said today. "About the only requirement I would like to make on anyone who has been here any length of time is that he bring some new citizen to the coffee so that he might meet other people."

Herndon plans to have members of his staff on duty to greet visitors as they come to the ballroom.

Scrap Slot Machines Offered To Britain

BATON ROUGE, La., June 24. (AP)—Great Britain might get a "flying jackpot" from seized Louisiana slot machines.

State Police Superintendent Steve Alford said 1,200 illegal slot devices seized and smashed by state troopers had yielded between 5,000 and 6,000 pounds of metal, principally aluminum, sufficient to build a military airplane. Alford said he had offered the scrap metal to Britain.

RAILWAY LABOR UNION DEMANDS WOULD COST 900 Million Dollars A YEAR

THE labor unions have made their demands upon the railways of the United States — and through the railways upon the PUBLIC. These demands are vastly larger in proportion than any they have ever made. The economical and efficient operation of the railways is vital to the nation's defense effort. Therefore, the Western Railways present to the public the following facts:

The labor unions representing engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen are demanding a 30 per cent increase in wages, amounting to 190 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay are the highest in history.

Other unions representing a greater number of railway employees are demanding wage increases ranging as high as 95 per cent—averaging 47 per cent—and amounting to 580 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay also are the highest in history.

Thus the wage increases being demanded by the labor unions amount to 770 million dollars a year, an average increase in excess of 41 per cent.

In addition, certain of these labor unions have demanded advances in their pay not included in the above figures, and more rules for the creation of unnecessary jobs.

The situation, then, is this: The total cost of complying with all the demands made would be approximately 900 million dollars a year!

The average weekly earnings of railway employees are now 15 per cent higher than in the peak year 1929, while the cost of living is 12 per cent less.

The demands of the railway labor unions are being made when the entire nation has just been asked to make a supreme effort for National Defense.

The railways cannot meet these demands without a great increase in the cost of transportation. They exceed by more than 700 million dollars the income that the railways had left after paying their annual expenses, taxes and charges in 1940.

The railways have a vitally important job before them. They need all their resources to continue adequately to serve you and contribute effectively toward the National Defense Program.

Cardinals Blast Braves, Hold Lead

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, June 24. — The Cardinals were hotter than the weather today—90 degrees and a boiling sun—as they smothered Boston's Braves 13 to 1 and clung to their slim National League lead.

Lean Lon Warneke, defeated his last two times out, limited the Braves to four hits. One of these was Max West's home run in the second. It was Warneke's eighth victory of the year.

Johnny Hopp of the Cards smashed out his second home run of the season in the big sixth, scoring two runners ahead of him.

The contest was close until the fifth—the first of St. Louis' three big innings.

Every Cardinal hit safely at least once.

Hank Leiber 'Beaned' Again; Cubs Lose, 3-1

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Hank Leiber, big blond slugger of the Chicago Cubs, was beaned today for the second time in his major league career as the Cubs dropped a 3 to 1 decision to the New York Giants.

The star outfielder was knocked down by one of Cliff Melton's pitches in the eighth inning but was revived quickly.

He was taken immediately to the hospital for X-ray examination.

In 1937 while a member of the Giants Leiber was struck by one of Bob Feller's blazing fast balls during a spring exhibition game with Cleveland. He suffered a serious concussion and missed about half the season.

The Giants also had an accident today, home run king Mel Ott being forced to retire in the second inning because of a bruised finger.

Red Sox Pounce On Tribe, 13-2

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, June 24— The Red Sox pulled to within three games of first place today by slaughtering three of the pace-setting Cleveland Indians' pitchers for 18 hits, including three homers, to win a 13-2 triumph before an 8,000 crowd that included Babe Ruth.

The former Sultan of Swat was viewing his second game of the season and he still must be rated as a nemesis for the Indians, for he saw their great Bob Feller beaten by the Yankees about a week ago.

Ruth also saw plenty of his favorite style of hitting, for the Red Sox chased Mel Harder in the third inning after Dom DiMaggio homered into the left field screen and, with the bases loaded, Jim Tabor clinched the game by driving another ball into that distant barrier. Bobby Doerr hit for the circuit against Ken Jungels in the eighth, when the Sockers completed their at-bats with a four-run rally.

Sharing honors with the Red Sox sluggers was Heber (Dick) Newsome, the surprising rookie righthander up from San Diego. He kept 10 Cleveland hits well scattered while gaining his seventh win of the season and his fifth in a row.

Yankee Records Go On; Brownies Go Down

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—The New York Yankees' record home run string and Joe DiMaggio's personal hitting streak were extended another notch today as the Bombers blasted out a 9 to 1 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the opener of a three-game series.

DiMaggio collected a single in the five-run eighth inning to make this the 36th straight game in which he has hit safely. The major league record is 41, set by George Sisler of the Browns in 1922.

Red Rolfe, Tom Henrich and Joe Gordon hit homers, each with one on base, to make 19 consecutive games in which the Yankees have knocked out roundtrip blows. The New York sluggers passed Detroit's old record of 17 games Sunday.

Tigers Edge Out A's In Ninth, 2 To 1

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. (AP)—Singles by Rudy York and Bruce Campbell, followed by Pinky Higgin's long fly that scored York, gave Detroit a run in the ninth inning tonight and a 2 to 1 victory over the Athletics. The A's had tied the score in the eighth on Wally Moses' single and a three-bagger by Bob Johnson.

Here Are Odds For The College Regatta

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. J., June 24. (AP)—Washington's rangy Huskies here established tonight as even-money favorites to win the four-mile varsity race in tomorrow's 44th annual intercollegiate regatta.

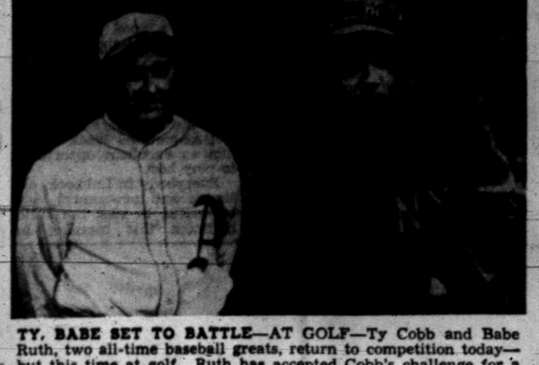

The Huskies won last year, by half a length over Cornell.

The odds listed California at 2-1, Cornell at 5-1 as leading threat to crack the Far Western monopoly; Syracuse at 10, Columbia at 15, Princeton and Rutgers at 20, and Massachusetts Tech and Wisconsin at 50-1.

TY, BABE SET TO BATTLE—AT GOLF—Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth, two all-time baseball greats, return to competition today—but this time at golf. Ruth has accepted Cobb's challenge for a match, first round of which will be played in Newton, Mass., today. Since their retirement from the major leagues, each has adopted golf. Both have belittled the other's fairways skill. The Babe says he'll outslug the Georgia Peach. Tyrus says most of Babe's wallops will wind up in the rough. Above, a shot of Ty, on the left, and the Babe made during Cobb's last years with the Athletics, when Ruth was with the Yankees. Right, Cobb gets ready. Left, Ruth hits a long one.

Cobb And Ruth, Baseball's Immortals, Tangle At Golf Today; Play Again Friday

(By The Associated Press)

NEWTON, Mass., June 24.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, who plays golf with the same carefully planned recklessness he displayed during his 24 sensational baseball seasons, appeared to have an eyelash margin today over George Herman Ruth, his arrival diamond immortal, when they completed their final practice rounds for tomorrow's 18-hole southpaw "grudge match" at the Commonwealth Country club.

Before Cobb made his first trip over the newly stiffened par-72 course Ruth had completed his second practice round and had put an 80 on top of yesterday's 79. Cobb, wild on the tees going out, reached the turn in 41 but came back in 37 for a 78.

Evenly Matched

Russ Hale, the Commonwealth professional, who played with Ruth yesterday and followed Cobb today, refused to predict the victor of this left-handed match, which will be played for the benefit of the Golden Rule Farm, the New England version of Boys Town, at Franklin, N. H. He said they were "too evenly matched."

Cobb missed seeing the Babe today because the latter spent the afternoon at the Indians-Red Sox baseball game, but intimated he was willing to accept Ruth's proposal that they have a friendly wager on the first round of their match, which will be continued in New York on Friday.

Regardless of that, however, the victor is assured of a trophy, for Bette Davis, Newton's gift to Hollywood, wired Bob Worden, the Commonwealth president, to select a cup for such disposal at her expense.

Junior Loop Game Okayed

Final approval was given the scheduled "debut" of junior league baseball at Hubber Field Friday night by the junior league directing committee in a meeting at Powers Sporting Goods Tuesday night.

The Friday night program will consist of a doubleheader featuring four of the leading teams of the league. In the first game, to begin at 7 o'clock, Bill Dean's Yankees will play the Kuykendall Chevrolet Cubs. In the second, slated for 8:30 o'clock, the Avalanche-Journal Dodgers will meet the Baker company Cardinals.

Admission charge will be 15 cents, and all receipts over the actual expenses for the game will go to the Boys' club fund.

Morgan To Umpire

Dell Morgan, head coach at Texas Tech and a member of the directing committee, will umpire the game.

The Yankee-Cub game which opens Friday night's program is an American, or junior, league game. Players on these two teams are in the 10-13 age bracket. The Yankees are undefeated and in first place, the Cubs have been beaten once and are in second place.

The feature game of the night matches Norris Strickland's Cardinals, undefeated in four league games, with the Avalanche-Journal Dodgers, who have won two and lost two.

Transfers Supervised

The directing committee and sponsors also voted to place all transfers of players under the supervision of the committee. Players released from one team, either by the manager or at the player's own request, must play for the team which the committee assigns him to. This was done in order that the committee might assign players to the weaker teams in order to keep the league in balance.

It was also voted that players not residing in Lubbock must be okayed by the committee before becoming eligible to play in the league.

TODAY'S GAMES
(All Games at 4 p. m.)

National League

Troop 12 vs. Whitharral, Tech.
Cardinals vs. Sears, Boys' club.

American League

Ravens vs. Yankees, Boys' club.

Three games in the junior league were rained out, only the morning game between Shallowater and the Dodgers escaping the weather. All rained-out games will be made up at the end of the first half season.

Lovern Curlee's double with the bases loaded and two out in the sixth inning brought in the tying and winning run as the Dodgers downed Shallowater, 7 to 4. Junior Nichols doubled two more runs across in the same inning. J. C. Mackey pitched three-hit ball for the winners, while the Dodgers touched Dalton Teague for 10.

Several of the clubs are still seeking ball players, notably Troop 12 of the senior league. Any player desiring a tryout with Troop 12 is asked to report to the diamond in front of the gymnasium at Tech this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

JAMESON WINS

SPOKANE, Wash., June 24. (AP) Shooting one over par golf despite a trying cross wind, Betty Jameson, National Women's golf champion from San Antonio, breezed through her first match round of the Pacific Northwest women's golf championships today.

Betty closed Mrs. K. B. Burton of Portland out on the 11th hole for an 8 and 7 victory.

Lonnie McCurry Joins Uncle Sam's Marines

Smiling and as happy as if his beloved Red Raiders had just won the National football championship, Capt. Lonnie McCurry of Texas Tech rolled off the vast South Plains Tuesday afternoon for some place in Virginia where he will join the United States Marine corps. McCurry, the 1940 captain and star guard for the lled Raiders, joined the Marines several days ago and early Tuesday he received instructions to report for duty.

McCurry, a bona-fide Lubbock product, was a star football performer for Lubbock High school before enrolling at Texas Tech. He played guard for the Red Raiders the last three years and received Associated Press honorable All-American mention at the conclusion of the 1940 campaign. He has often said that his finest football performance was against Wake Forest last season when McCurry and his mates turned back the Deacons in a bitterly fought 12 to 7 game.

At the termination of his college athletic career, McCurry was drafted for professional football by the Detroit Lions along with Rafe Nabors, the Texas Tech center. However, with the football draft and the army draft after him, Lonnie decided to pass up professional football and evade the army draft by joining up with Uncle Sam's Devil Dogs.

In bidding the Texas Tech athletic staff good-bye, McCurry said he hoped to see the Red Raiders play November 29 against Wake Forest at Charlotte, North Carolina.

New Commission Recognizes No Texas Boxing Champ

AUSTIN, June 24. (AP)—Selection of state boxing champions in all divisions was planned today by Labor Commissioner John D. Reed.

Reed asked all sports editors, promoters, managers and matchmakers to rank fighters in order that outstanding men of each classification could be listed for elimination matches, to be held throughout the state.

"There are no recognized professional boxing champions in the state at this time," the commissioner pointed out.

According to state regulations, boxing champions in each division must defend their titles every 90 days.

Divisions are: flyweight, 112 pounds; bantamweight, 112 to 118 pounds; featherweight, 118 to 126 pounds; lightweight, 126 to 135 pounds; welterweight, 135 to 147 pounds; middleweight, 147 to 160 pounds; light heavyweight, 160 to 175 pounds and heavyweight, all over 175 pounds.

Pampa Nips Hubs 6-1; Splits Series

Bombers Defeat Pioneers, 9-1

CLOVIS, June 24 (Special)—The West Texas-New Mexico league leading Big Spring Bombers protected their margin and swept the two-game series from Clovis with a 9-1 victory here tonight over Grover Seitz' Clovis Pioneers.

Willard Ramsdale held Clovis to eight scattered hits, letting one run trickle across in the sixth inning.

George Nagle went the route for the Pioneers, giving up 13 hits. The Bombers took the lead from the first inning, scored twice in the second, added three in the fourth, finished the slaughter with two runs in the eighth.

The Bombers move to Amarillo for a three-game series, and Clovis stays home to clash with the Lamesa Loboes, who have had a two-day rest after being rained out at Amarillo.

(Special To The Avalanche)

PAMPA, June 24—Monty Montgomery pitched six-hit ball against the Lubbock Hubbers here tonight and shut them out except for a lone tally in the sixth inning to give the Pampa Oilers a 6-1 victory and a fifty-fifty break in the series.

Leonard Heinz was nicked for eleven bingles, including a double by Manager Dutch Prather, and the Oilers capitalized on these and on five walks and five Hubber errors, a wild pitch and a passed ball, to ring up a 3-run lead in the first inning, add another in the second, then, after four scoreless frames, one in the seventh and the sixth in the eighth.

Lorens Is Scorer

The Lubbock score came in the sixth when Warren Lorenz drew a walk and scored when Frierson in right overran Vince Castino's single.

Montgomery also walked five batsmen, and struck out nine, including three in a row in the seventh.

The Hubbers move to Borger to begin a three-game series Wednesday night, while Pampa stays home to entertain the Wichita Falls Spudders.

Local Boards Notified To Make Own Decisions On Selectees 28 Years Or Older

Legislation On Ages Pending

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 24 — Selective Service headquarters has notified all local boards, it was learned today, that they must make their own decisions in the cases of selectees 28 years of age or older who are now in line for induction but who may be deferred a few weeks since under pending legislation.

The headquarters' statement was issued in response to numerous inquiries by boards as to what course to pursue in view of the Senate-approved bill now before the House which would empower the President to give deferment from military training to all men who have reached the age of 28 by July 1.

Passage Appears Probable

While passage of the lower age legislation appears probable, Selective Service headquarters was understood to have taken the position that it could not forecast what final action Congress might take and that it therefore lacked authority to issue instructions on the matter.

Officials of some boards reported, however, that they had been indirectly encouraged to find ways of postponing the induction of the men affected until such time as Congress disposed of the pending bill.

General George C. Marshall said yesterday that the army favors releasing the present selective service trainees—"if the situation permits"—after they have finished their year of military duty, but that it might be advisable to retain some of them longer.

BUYING INSPIRATION FADES

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP) — The stock market's war-buying inspiration of Monday faded today and leading issues retreated fractions to a point or more.

Growing fears the Soviets would be no match for the seasoned Nazi legions and that the respite granted the British by the latest shift in the European conflict might be short, brokers said, brought in enough profit selling on yesterday's run-up to reverse the trend. Business news, while good, was ignored in the majority of cases.

While isolated specialties and senior stocks displayed individual strength, steels, motors, mail orders, oils, farm implements and were shaky from the start. A few rails and rubbers did fairly well.

The one comforting fact in the day's performance for recovery forces was that volume slackened appreciably on the setback. Transfers totalled 442,580 shares against 754,140 the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished with a net loss of .2 of a point at 41.6.

Bonds slipped with stocks and the buoyant commodities of the preceding session generally emerged well under water.

Increased Farm Land Values Are Foreseen

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP) — Increased farm land values as a result of the current world situation were forecast today by Representative Patman (D-Tex).

Patman told a national convention of the 4-H club that agriculture was becoming more profitable "and as any business becomes profitable, a few people jump in and try to buy up a large part of it."

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—Prices in the cotton futures market declined 17 to 21 points today as heavy selling by Bombay interests wiped out most of yesterday's advance. Trade and professional buying was not strong enough to check the decline.

Southern hedge selling further contributed to the retreat from the 11-year highs reached yesterday. Trade and mill support slackened as Worth street dealers awaited word from Washington in regard to price ceilings in cotton goods.

Hedge selling by spot firms was light during the day.

Open interest in July was reduced to 82,500 bales excluding today's trades, since tomorrow marks the first notice day on contracts in this month. Certificated stocks increased another 45,318 bales.

No exports yesterday; season so far 1,012,624. Port receipts 16,144. Port stocks 3,312,481.

NEW ORLEANS, June 24 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-inch cotton today at ten designated Southern spot markets was 20 points lower at 14.37 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 13.32; middling 7/8ths-inch average 14.13.

Treatment To Aid Deafness Is Reported

DURHAM, N. H., June 24 (AP)—A treatment for deafness, using the spine as a spigot to withdraw excess pressure from the ears, was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today.

A small quantity of spinal fluid is withdrawn by tapping the spine near its base. The result has been marked improvement in hearing in more than 40 per cent of the cases of progressive deafness in which it was tried.

These persons could hear better for varying periods. In some the improvement lasted about six months, in others for years and in some apparently permanently.

Motor Fuel Taxes Are To Show Big Increase

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP) — Comptroller George H. Sheppard today estimated motor fuel tax collections for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31 would total more than $59,000,000, an increase of $5,500,000 over last year's revenue from that source.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 24 (AP)—Wheat futures surrendered just about half of the gains recorded in yesterday's sharp rise and finished the session today at or within minor fractions of the day's lowest prices.

The bread cereal was under pressure most of the time despite rallying tendencies credited to mill buying after the opening break. At no time did prices equal the previous closing levels. Profit taking sales, uncertainty regarding the European developments, a bearish interpretation placed on the mid-monthly government crop report and weakness of securities and surrounding commodities influenced the lower trend in grains.

Final prices for wheat were 1¼ to 1⅝ cents lower than the previous close, July 1.02¼@1.02⅝, Sept. 1.04¼@1.04⅝, December 1.06⅛@1.06⅛. Corn closed ¼ to ⅝ cents down, July 73½, Sept. 76⅛; oats ⅛ to ⅜ off; soybeans 1⅞ to 2¾ cents lower; rye 2½ cents up on old crop deliveries and 1½ off on new, while lard declined 7½ to 10 cents a hundred pounds.

The mid-month government crop report indicated a smaller reduction than had been generally anticipated by the trade, but a net decline of 12,000,000 bushels in the nine major producing states was about in line with some recent private estimates. While sharp reductions were indicated in the winter wheat crops of Oklahoma and Texas, these losses were offset to a large extent by gains in other states.

Tech Men To Attend Waco Cotton Meet

Three representatives of Texas Technological college will attend the Cotton congress to be held in Waco Thursday through Saturday.

Earl T. Duke, who teaches cotton production in the department of plant industry, will leave today. His wife and their infant daughter, Martha Ann, will accompany him to her parents' home near Fort Worth, where she will visit while Duke is attending the congress.

Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head professor of chemistry and chemical engineering, and Mrs. Goodwin plan to leave Friday morning.

Lewis Thomas, instructor in textile engineering, who has been vacationing in Georgia, also is to attend.

The congress will be sponsored by the state-wide cotton committee.

Eight Producers Are Completed

The Slaughter field of Hockley and Cochran counties enjoyed an active day Tuesday as potential gauges were filed for a quintet of new producers. The Seminole oil pool of Central Gaines county also was in the limelight as three oilers were finaled.

Interest was drawn to Wiggins and Hyde No. 1 Stimson and Burley, southwestern Martin county wildcat five and one-half miles northeast of Midland, as it logged showing of gas from 4,260-62 feet and drilled ahead below 4,325 feet in lime and anhydrite. The well logged base of the last slate at 4,176 and first brown lime in the Grayburg horizon at 4,190 feet, throwing it high structurally.

Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 F. L. Woodley, southeastern Cochran well extending the Slaughter field four-fifths of a mile northwest made 378 barrels of oil daily on a potential gauge flowing through 5½-inch casing. It went originally to 5,010 feet and was plugged back to 4,981 feet to exclude bottom hole water. The well was acidized with a total of 10,500 gallons in three stages.

Atlantic Refining company gauged two wells in Cochran. Its No. 14 H. T. Boyd, the larger, made 1,296 barrels a day from pay between 4,956 and total depth of 5,035 feet. The firm's No. 6 H. T. Boyd proved good for 867 barrels daily at 5,049. Each well was acidized with 10,000 gallons.

Largest Slaughter completion of the day was Western States Gasoline corporation No. 9 W. G. Frazier on the Hockley side. It flowed 2,244 barrels after acidizing with 9,000 gallons at 5,009 feet. Sid W. Richardson No. 2-C R. L. Slaughter, jr., established a potential of 1,427 barrels a day following treatment with 10,000 gallons at 4,995 feet.

Magnolia Atlantic No. 1-189 Havemyer and Jenny in Seminole Townsite flowed at a rate of 97 barrels per day through one-half inch choke on tubing after treating with 6,000 gallons at total depth of 5,259 feet.

Also in the Seminole pool Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 9 Walter Turlin made 769 barrels a day after shooting with 156 quarts in pay between 5,215 and 5,320 feet, total depth. The same owner's No. 5-A T. S. Riley gauged natural flow of 712 barrels daily at 5,335 feet.

Dr. Sam G. Dunn of Lubbock No. 1 Moore, southeastern Yoakum county wildcat one mile west and a location north of the discovery producer in the one-well Ownby area, is drilling at 5,222 in gray lime.

Mrs. Benedict Named To Historical Board

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP)—Mrs. H. Y. Benedict of Austin, widow of a former University of Texas president, was appointed today by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to be a member of the state library and historical commission.

Mrs. Benedict, if confirmed by the Senate, would succeed Mrs. Emma K. Burleson, deceased.

'Hobby Horses' Yield $7.85 From Church's Dollar Bill Plan

ST. LOUIS, June 24 (AP)—The Rev. Stuart B. Edmondson is quite proud of the manner in which his parishoners are emulating the good and faithful servants in the Biblical parade of the talents.

Taking his idea from the 25th chapter of Matthew, Dr. Edmondson distributed a hundred $1 bills among parishioners to earn funds for improvements at Union Methodist church.

Seventy persons have returned their dollars along with $330 earned through parties, cake sales and the like, while one vacationing parishioner wrote the pastor a letter enclosing $7.85 "earned on hobby horses."

Davis And Dodgers Blank Cubs, 8 To 0

PITTSBURGH, June 24. (AP) — With Curt Davis hurling five-hit ball, the Brooklyn Dodgers staged a battling fest at the expense of an assortment of four Pittsburgh pitchers today to take their second straight victory over the Bucs 8 to 0. Dolf Camilli's first inning triple with two mates on base clinched the game. He and Ducky Medwick each drove in three runs.

Wheat Movement Is Under Way In Area

Wheat has begun to move into Lubbock and Plainview from the 1941 crop, as nine cars were received late Monday from the Crosbyton branch of the Santa Fe and one car to Lubbock from Floydada.

Petersburg, on the Fort Worth and Denver City South Plains line has loaded two cars, which were to be billed today, E. C. Kuykendall, general agent, said. Kuykendall said he was in Dimmit Monday and that he saw some wheat cutting in the southern part of Castro county 15 miles south of Dimmitt. Cutting in the vicinity of Dimmitt will begin in about 10 days.

Eight of the cars received late Monday came from Ralls and one from Lorenzo. Five of the cars were for Plainview.

Most of the wheat being cut is being harvested with combines according to H. B. Hankins of Burrus Elevator here. Combines can get the wheat better than the oldstyle binders, he said. Reports from Crosby and other counties indicate farmers are leaving wheat on the ground. Reports say they are leaving from three to five and six or more bushels, unable to cut it.

'Jam' Session Does More For Friendship Than Handshaking

BATON ROUGE, La., June 24. (AP)—A nocturnal "jam" session did more in promoting real friendship between a visiting Mexican delegation and Louisiana State university students than a whole evening's formal bowing and handshaking.

It happened after a faculty club reception where pleasantries were exchanged and the visiting group's string orchestra entertained with folk music from the neighboring republic.

The Mexican educators, musicians and dancers were going to their quarters in the law school to retire for the night when one, head of the Mexican education ministry's youth bureau, Professor Antonio Lomell, noticed a banjo in an L.S.U. student's room.

Fondly he asked if he might examine it and, from then on, the situation developed fast. Soon lush Latin music came strumming softly from the instrument.

The affable Mexicans began singing and, hearing the subdued strains, more L.S.U. students began drifting in, some in pajamas and equally informal attire. It wasn't long before all blended voices in a lusty "jam" songfest.

IT is to be hoped the out-pouring of votes will be commensurate with the importance of next Saturday's senatorial election.

It is to be hoped especially that no qualified voter will stay away from the polls for the reason given by a Lubbock man the other day.

"Why should I vote?" he asked. "O'Daniel will win, regardless."

True, the governor must be considered the favorite to win. The presumption should be that, as governor, he would have a large enough "vest pocket" vote to win a contest in which the top man will be victor without a runoff.

But despite the governor's admittedly favored position, there are circumstances which suggest there is more than a possibility of an upset in this election. The possibility surely is sufficient to encourage supporters of other candidates to cast their ballots.

LET'S consider some of the factual conditions which contribute to the possibility of an upset.

One is that several hundred thousand fewer persons paid poll taxes in Texas this year than last. Even the admirers of the governor admit that Mr. O'Daniel stands to lose more votes next Saturday because of the smaller number of qualified voters as compared with last year. It is a simple matter of 2-plus-2 arithmetic to discover that since most of the voters of 1940 voted for Governor O'Daniel then, most of last year's voters who can't vote this year were—and perhaps still are—the governor's supporters.

Another is the generally conceded fact the governor has lost strength since last year. To support this conclusion have been actions of the legislature which, definitely, was friendly to Mr. O'Daniel at the start, in passing measure after measure over his veto. It must be presumed that most of the legislators have been persuaded that they represented the sentiment of the folks back home in over-riding the governor's wishes.

TO be considered also is that Mr. O'Daniel is facing the most formidable opposition of his brief political career. For example, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann is a man of tremendous popularity who would be sure of a large vote against any opposition for any office.

Still further, even Mr. O'Daniel recognizes that a good many people have been dissatisfied with his administration. In contrast, there is Mr. Mann, whose service as attorney general has been as satisfactory as that of any official who ever has filled political office in Texas. Also, there are Martin Dies and Lyndon Johnson who have served with at least more than passing distinction in Congress.

Then, too, while the governor unquestionably has enthusiastic supporters, he also is confronted by the most implacable enemities of any man in the race. In contrast, we have Mr. Mann for whom admiration is warm and personal—who is regarded by the voters of Texas as something of a personal friend or acquaintance because they have known him, at least in the political sense for several years. Also we have Mr. Johnson and Mr. Dies who obviously have satisfied the constituences in their congressional districts, but whose political acquaintance with the people of Texas as a whole has been more limited than that of the governor and the attorney general.

THERE are other considerations which might be mentioned. But the point of all this is—don't stay away from the polls because you think that the outcome of the election is foregone. If you favor the governor, he may need your vote. If your choice is another candidate, then you may participate in an upset if you go to the polls.

This is one of the last remaining countries on the war-torn globe—if not the very last one—in which every qualified voter is given the freedom of casting his ballot in the way he, himself, chooses to cast it.

The right of ballot is a blood-won privilege.

Regardless of which candidate you're for, exercise your American privilege on Saturday!

Is life a necessity or a luxury, and, if so, why not?

Heart's Haven

By RUTH ROSEMARY CORBY

YESTERDAY: At first the plane trip to Heart's Haven, on an island off the North Carolina coast, was just a lark that went a little sour. But Eve and Gina, and the three young men whose interest in the girls has created a situation, and the two older women—all of them want to leave the island, and nobody can. Just now young Ham Millard and Eve have been walking on the beach, and have been shot at by someone. The question is who pulled the trigger.

Chapter 13

Walk On The Beach

It was at breakfast the next morning that Julie noticed, with happy satisfaction, that Neil Bowron was fascinated by Eve. "Fascinated" was the word she used to herself. She repeated it mentally as she observed that Neil, having asked Eve to pass the toast, was being purposely awkward about taking it, so that his fingers brushed the girl's.

"I was right all along. Sooner or later Eve will have to acknowledge it herself." The train of thought awakened by the discovery of her own rightness was too pleasant to be dismissed at once. Julie spooned up her soft-boiled eggs dreamily. Jim Droissard's voice cut into her thoughts.

"Everybody is so quiet this morning," he remarked. "Almost as if they were worried."

"Well, I'm not, for one," retorted Julie with spirit. "This island is really in sight of the mainland. It's only a question of time before some way of getting back pops up. These things always adjust themselves."

"And Mrs. Jackson was just being silly with her talk of moans and groans. Every one knows that the winds play odd tricks in a lace like this."

"It certainly does," Gina interrupted suddenly. "It woke me up during the night and I could positively make out words!"

"What words?" asked Droissard quickly.

"Oh, I don't know. I didn't try to remember them. I knew it as just my imagination all the time. There was one word though that did seem to keep coming back. You'll laugh when you hear it—it was 'money.' Every once in a while there'd be somethin that sounded like: 'I want my money.' The 'money' I could hear quite plainly."

"Gina, you're priceless," laughed Ham. "Has anybody else been hearing things?"

"I can tell you what I didn't hear. I didn't hear Lord MacTavish bark. He would bark if there were anything going on, wouldn't he?" Mrs. Marbury asked.

"He would if he were in his own home," said Ham. "He's used to traveling and hotels though, and he has learned to keep his mouth shut in strange places."

"Speaking of strange places," said Eve, "Im going to explore the one we're in. This is by no means a desert island we've been cast upon, and I think we might very well take an inventory of its assets."

"Is it still raining?" inquired Julie.

"It's stopped, for the moment, anyway," said Brett, staring intently through the window which he faced.

"In that case I'll take some fresh air myself," said Jim Droissard, "and have a look around. There may be something worth investigating on this island."

Eve and Brett started away together. They went down the front path to the beach, wet branches reaching out from the overgrown bushes to slap dripping leaves across their faces.

"Droissard went on ahead of us," observed Brett, watching the other man make his way down toward the water. "He seems to be heading for that old boathouse."

"Let's go the other way then," suggested Eve. "Queer isn't he?"

"Oh, him . . ." Brett dismissed the subject of Jim Droissard lightly.

"We might begin by exploring that line of rocks there, that runs out into the sea. It doesn't look very promising, but you can't tell; they may hold a clue to the strange goings-on here."

Exploration

When they reached the foot of the last terrace they turned with one accord to look back at the house, as Brett had done that first time.

"I liked it better the first day I saw it," said Eve. "I suppose it's the rain that has made the difference. On a gloomy day like this no old, dilapidated place could look attractive."

"It's not a bad house, really," said Brett. "Of course some of those later additions will have to come off. Why do people always keep changing houses, even when they are perfect architectural examples of their type? Just the urge to leave their own mark on the structure perhaps," he added.

Eve reached for one of the huge rhododendron blooms just above her shoulder and broke it off amid a spatter of raindrops.

"Now that you've got that huge flower, what are you going to do with it?" Brett wanted to know.

"Oh," laughed Eve, "I haven't any plans. . . ."

"Here," said Brett, "I know. It's just the size of the new hats you girls are wearing." He took it from her and slipped the stem beneath the ribbon with which the Eve had tied back her soft cloud of dark hair.

"How is it?" inquired Eve with mock anxiety. "Sartorially perfect as I am"—she glanced down at her rumpled skirt, which had not been improved by Mrs. Jackson's ministrations— "I'd hesitate to spoil the effect by a misplaced flower!"

"You'll do," Brett said soberly, "but let's put it a little more over one eye—like this." He tweaked the flower down well over one eyebrow. "That's it—perfect!"

Eve was oddly contented as he helped her over a deep gully which the rain had washed out in the path. They made their way along the narrow beach in the direction of a headland formed of rocks that served as a bulwark against the sea.

"N . . . we've gone far enough," Brett conceded. "Apparently it's just what it looks like, a lot of mysterious old rocks. Certainly there's nothing to explore out here, except the bottom of the ocean, and we're getting too close to that for comfort."

They retraced their steps along the beach. Jim Droissard had long since disappeared. Except for themselves the beach was deserted.

"The coast is clear. Now is our chance to explore the boathouse," said Brett.

"Maybe I could fall through the floor, or something really serious like that."

Eve's voice was chilly.

"Tell you what I'll do, you stand outside while I go in snooping. If there is anything to see, and it's safe, I'll shout for you to come in. If I fall through a trapdoor, I'll shout for help. You can run back to the house and give the alarm. Or, if you prefer it, go back quietly to the house and say nothing. We'd be even then, wouldn't we?"

Eve could not resist his appeal and smiled at him. "No, I'm going with you," she said.

They rounded the curve of the beach in silence, approaching the front of the house again.

"That ocean looks unusually full of water," Eve broke in. "In fact, it looks as if it could swallow the whole island, if it had a mind to."

"It could, but the chances are it won't, if it didn't night before last," said Brett. "That was some terrific storm last night. Did you hear the wind? The sea looks angry yet, doesn't it?"

It certainly did. Eve agreed, looking out over the vast expanse of gray, roiled water. Underfoot, the beach was soggy beneath the stones that overlaid the sand. Bits of foam flecked the shore far above the water line, tossed off when the storm had lathered the sea into a fury. Eve caught some of the bubbles on the toe of her shoe.

"Just like soap bubbles," she observed.

New Puzzle

But Brett was staring hard at the outlines of the boathouse just ahead. It was not as decrepit as he had thought it would be. In fact, the foundation seemed to have been repaired at a fairly recent date. He said as much to Eve.

"Maybe somebody used the house as a summer camp," she suggested. "Or maybe someone used the island for picnics, running boating parties over here."

They had reached the long ramp that led from the shore to the building itself, built out over the water.

"Do you want to wait here while I go see if it's safe?" asked Brett.

"Oh, I want to come, too. If it wobbles, I can stop any time."

But the ramp proved fairly steady, and when they entered the boathouse a moment later they found it in surprisingly good condition.

The building consisted of one large room from which steps led down to the boat landing below, at the water's edge. What surprised them most was to find the room furnished after a fashion. There were chairs and a table, and on the shelves along the walls were dusty dishes and rusty pans, as if somebody once, not so long ago, had lived there, or at least stayed overnight.

A bunk stood in one corner, with a few worn blankets heaped upon it. An oil stove was half-hidden behind a pile of boxes. Beside it stood an empty oil can.

"This place looks as if it had been occupied recently," observed Eve.

Brett strode across the room and picked up a paper bag that lay on the shelf. He drew out from it the remains of a sandwich wrapped in waxed paper.

"This sandwich is no relic of early Colonial days," he admitted. "I think somebody brought it here this week."

"What does it mean?" asked Eve.

"That's what I'll have to find out," said Brett grimly. "And I

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE War department has arranged for expansion of the Regular-draftee-National Guary Army from its present strength of 1,400,000 to a total of 2,400,000 men. Blueprints have been prepared for 35 additional cantonments and training centers.

This move is believed here to mean that the draftees and National Guardsmen now in federal service will not be released from military duty at the end of the year for which they were inducted. They will be kept on to help train the million newcomers and to provide centers for the new units to be formed. The high command has discovered what the experienced have known all along but did not publicize. A year is not time enough to initiate rookies into the complexities of a mechanized and motorized machine. The shortest time in which a civilian can be transformed into a blitzkrieger is believed now to be two years, possibly three. And this assumes the presence of equipment for training purposes.

The additional 1,000,000 will not be called up until camps and equipment are ready for them. The War department will not repeat the mistake it made when it sent draftees to centers which had neither housing facilities nor weapons. Some may be summoned next fall, but the majority probably will not be ordered into the Army until Winter or Spring. When they will be called depends upon the production achievements of defense factories, and upon how much of their output is retained in this country for our own use.

UNCONVINCED: Price Czar Leon Henderson argued the imminent need for a completely controlled and managed economy, at an executive session of the House Appropriations committee. Some of his schemes for government regulation of production, prices, profits, wages and stock market levels made his listeners' heads swim.

Forecasting drastic cuts in the output of ordinary consumers' goods, Mr. Henderson warned that there will be acute danger of inflation. Heavy taxes alone, he added, cannot repel that threat. He expressed belief that John Maynard Keynes' suggestion of compulsory savings may have to be employed to prevent an orgy of spending and spiraling of prices. Even more stringent measures, he said, may become necessary when and if the United States spends 40 or 50 billion of a presumptive $100,000,000,000 annual income on war stuff. All the regulatory powers once utilized by NRA and now exercised by the SEC may need to be invoked, according to Mr. Henderson, for control of commodity and even stock market prices.

Mr. Henderson assured the committee that such a system would operate only during the war emergency. But his voice did not carry conviction to some of his hearers.

SPOKESMAN: President Roosevelt is learning what it means to face a shortage of skilled workers. He is having a difficult time trying to fill the shoes of that excellent political mechanic, Jimmie Byrnes of South Carolina. There are moments when FDR must wish that he had not named the able and popular Senator to the Supreme court.

He has two candidates on his hands. Both are smart and friendly but they fall far below the Byrnes standard. Lister Hill of Alabama is waging an active campaign for the position, despite several handicaps. He has been too zealous a New Dealer, believing that the president can do no wrong, and some of the oldsters hold him suspect for that reason. Others resent his attempt to grab off too many defense contracts for his state. Tom Connally of Texas is wiser, more experienced, and a cleverer negotiator and trader. But he has had a few run-ins with the White House and some of FDR's friends advise against his selection.

Oddly, the two men are campaigning for a position which does not really exist. Byrnes was drafted as White House spokesman because of Majority Leader Barkley's general ineptitude. Now FDR may feel that he doesn't need an extra hired man. He usually gets what he wants by insisting that it is necessary to "national defense."

LIMOUSINE: Oil Czar Ickes has made the oblique suggestion to Interior Department employes that they lay up their automobiles or economize on gasoline. He wants to know how many use a car to travel to and from work.

To accept the hint would work a hardship on hundreds of the underlings. Many live at distant points in Maryland and Virginia. They will accede if they must make the sacrifice to keep their jobs. But they are wondering whether their boss, whose Maryland estate is 20 miles from his office, will stable his limousine and commute in a slow, smelly bus. They doubt it.

NEW YORK
By S. Burton Heath

PREDICTIONS of a gasoline shortage on the eastern seaboard, and the appointment of Interior Secretary Ickes as oil czar, have created a tempest likely to loosen someone's shingles. There are those in position to be well-informed who question the seriousness of the situation. They incline to fear that a straw man has been set up in order that—in process of knocking him down—Washington can assume that control over the petroleum industry for which heretofore the New Deal has sought in vain.

The best obtainable information supports the fears only in part. So far as is possible to ascertain from available data, certain conclusions fit together into a comprehensible picture. In summary these are that:

1. There does not exist currently an actual shortage. 2. By late summer or early Autumn, transportation facilities will have become inadequate to bring oil east as fast as ordinarily it would be used. 3. Probably around October or perhaps November, a pinch will develop which will be reflected in prices (unless Washington intervenes effectively) and in deliveries. 4. The administration is far from displeased at having a valid excuse for moving in on petroleum, and the New Deal's connections in New York predict there will be no hesitation in taking advantage of the opportunity.

FACILITY: The situation as to gasoline, motor and fuel oil, kerosene, etc., is complicated by a maze of conflicting interests, desires, jealousies, and personalities, besides economic, political, and international considerations. Some factors have dramatic elements, while others inherently are dry as dust. But all add up to the possibility of gasolineless Sundays, insufficiently heated homes, and at least minor discomforts for our non-belligerent populace.

We were caught unawares. We had been told, correctly, that the United States has more oil awaiting the twist of liberating valves than it can use. Also we were assured time after time, by government spokesmen, that there would be no transportation problem. This time, it was said, Washington safes were overflowing with carefully prepared war plans, and everything would tick with the smoothness of a fine timepiece.

But Nazi submarines and bombers took heavy toll of British shipping, which apparently the strategists had not anticipated. We agreed to become Britain's arsenal, and promised a bridge of ships to take Lease-Lend goods to her. As material for the bridge we pulled shipping off its normal runs, including a preliminary 25 tankers with an additional 25 to follow soon. This threw an unexpected burden upon the railroads. And meanwhile, to keep Japan from Jumping the Netherlands East Indies and precipitating us into a Pacific war, we utilized rail and water facilities to transport petroleum for the Axis' oriental partner. Whatever advance plans there may have been don't seem worth hauling out of their pigeonholes and dusting off.

Here And There In Texas

By BILL RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE NYA, with thousands of underprivileged Texas boys and girls on its rolls, visions itself as an instrument of exploration.

NYA strives to give its youth a chance to explore the capabilities of its hand and brain—a chance to discover what kind of work it wants to do.

The National Youth administration's long-range view of its prime function, as set forth by Texas Administrator J. C. Kellam, is:

"At no time do we make any attempt to turn out well-rounded skilled craftsmen. There are established and well recognized means for him to develop further.

"Our work may be described as merely putting his foot on the first rung of the ladder."

Is Decentralized Agency

That partly answers a question the NYA frequently confronts:

"How can you take 25,000 youngsters, most of them with about eighth grade education, and get the 400 projects that you're running in Texas completed?

"How do they learn enough mechanical, arithmetic and chemistry and trade vocabulary in the few months you have them to get them anywhere when you've finished with them?"

Another part of the answer is:

"Our work is all with young people, who are the most challenging segment of American population," Kellam explains. "We pick our supervisors on two counts: their knowledge of their job, and their ability and desire to work with young people. The second qualification is as important as the first one."

The other reason that we get things done is that NYA is a decentralized federal agency. By this I mean that broad rules and regulations have been set up by the national agency to safeguard the expenditure of federal funds, and there are general directions to be followed. But we are told by our national administrator, Aubrey Williams, to set up state programs, within the frame-work of the national organization, to best suit the needs of each state. Then within the boundaries of Texas, we operate in much the same way. The 22 area directors devise their own programs, with the help of the state office at Austin."

CITY Manager A. E. Graeser of Marshall has expressed the approval felt by many governing bodies for NYA, with his statement that it has been the most potent force to give otherwise idle young people a chance, and to wake civic groups up to assets that they never realized they had.

Graeser's experience typifies that of civic officials with the NYA program. The young man who directed NYA activitivities in his city visited him and enlisted his interest early in NYA days. The death of a man who had operated a trailer-building shop left the shop for sale, and the NYA supervisor outlined to Graeser the possibilities incident to buying and sponsoring a boys' work project there.

"I got so interested that I took it up with the city commission," says the city manager. "I told them there was a chance to buy a lot of valuable equipment at a small cost, and to give boys an opportunity to do some useful work to develop some basic skills. I asked for $2,000 to do it. They thought the idea was pretty foolish, but they finally said 'If Graeser is so sold on it, let's give it a try.' So we bought the shop. Then it occurred to the NYA supervisor and myself that we could use a lot of old abandoned flues that the railroad shops here had, provided we could get our hands on them.

Business Man Helps

"We went to the president of the company and said: 'Look here, you're spending at least six months, and giving yourself a lot of expense in training apprentices who will eventually hold jobs in your railroad shops. You don't know whether they'll turn into good workmen or not. You have to take a chance on them, and maybe lose some money on them. Give us this old material and we'll set up an NYA shop that will serve as a weeding our process for you, where boys with the aptitudes can develop some fundamental skills.'

"He liked the idea, and gave us the old flues, which we used in construction. That wasn't all. Before we left the office, he said 'Do you need some money?' and I said we did. So he wrote us his personal check for $500 to supplement the $2,000 the city had given us. There's no doubt in my mind about the usefulness of NYA. Boys who work in the shops—and our city-sponsored one is being added to every once in a while—go right on into private employment. We don't have idle youngsters standing on the streets wondering what to do with themselves any more."

Schools Co-Operate

NYA has worked out an arrangement with the State Department of Education. Congress, appropriating funds for continuation and enlargement of the NYA program last fall, at the same time provided funds for related information and training for youth employed on NYA projects. These funds are being administered, in Texas, through the State Department of Education and local school boards.

Editor, The Avalanche: "Get Acquainted Week" in Lubbock is indeed a superb suggestion. It is about the finest thing I have ever come across in any community. it promotes sociability and good fellowship. Your Sunday paper was unique and surely will prove constructive in community progress and growth. I think that cities over the land ought to emulate your example in getting out their papers. You have rendered this community a really great service by promoting so effectively this "Get Acquainted" idea and program. Everywhere I go I expect to tell the people about it. This is the way a visitor feels about this vital and significant matter.

Sincerely,

An East Texan recently was fined $21 and costs for deliberately striking a deer while it was thirty feet from the road. Automobile repairs cost him $19.50.

A state game warden, finding remnants of the deer, glass and part of a damaged radiator, checked garages and located the deer killer in a town 70 miles away.

"He" Telephone Aperators

Wise cracks from other soldiers on the line are a trial to nine soldier "Hello boys" who have replaced women telephone operators at Camp Wolters but the soldiers are rapidly learning to manage the complicated switchboards, according to Lt. J. E. Barbee, camp signal officer.

One of the new operators was a Colorado farmer, two were oil field workers, one taught history in a Texas high school, and another worked on a railroad construction gang.

Ferry Pilots To Be Trained At School

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 24 (U.P.)—A school where junior army air corps pilots and civilians who will fly planes across the Atlantic to England will be trained, has been established at Albuquerque, N. M., by Transcontinental and Western Air, it was announced today.

The school, which is expected to turn out 100 especially trained fliers every four weeks, will be under government supervision and will be known as the "Eagle Nest flight center."

STAR SULPHUROUS COMPOUND
Given in water or feed. Destroys as they enter the fowl, intestinal germs and worms that cause most all disease and loss in egg production. Also rids them of lice, mites, fleas and blue bugs. Keeps the appetite good. Then you will have good, healthy egg-producing fowls and strong baby chicks. Costs very little. Money back if not satisfied. Mark Halsey Drug Stores.

As An Expert Sees It—

Behind War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Morning Avalanche Special News Service.

Germany is clearly trying to deal Russia a swift knock-out blow in the vital Ukraine sector of the 2,000 mile eastern war front.

Creditable if unconfirmed reports from Turkey say that the Nazis and Rumanians have advanced on three fronts in that area ranging in depth from 80 to 125 miles. Whether that means that the Red army is already crumbling or is merely engaged in a strategic retreat to absorb the initial force of the Nazi attack is not certain. Such retreats were the ancient and never-failing strategy of old Russia against western foes.

A Grave Danger

Yet so far as the German-Rumanian stabs can be discerned from meagre and conflicting reports, there is grave danger of virtually all of the Ukraine being swiftly engulfed. Odessa, Russian left flank bastion on the Black sea is already threatened. The Dneister river forming the old Russian-Rumanian frontier and probably the first formidable Soviet defensive system for the Ukraine may already have been crossed from Bessarabia; and in Poland ominous twin thrusts north and south of the marshes of the Pripet river are developing.

That is the gist of reports relayed from Turkey and from Vichy. Accounts of a Russian-German air-sea battle in the Black sea also indicate the vast scope of the German-Rumanian operations in the center and south, all focusing on the Ukraine. What may be happening to the north seems of secondary consequence although German occupation of the Baltic states and capture of Leningrad is threatened. The drive in that area seems to be a diversion calculated to draw Red army forces away from the real German goal, the natural storehouse of the Ukraine.

Twin Drive Pressed

Of the indicated main Nazi-Rumanian thrusts, that north of the Pripet marshes seems the most dangerous. How far it has advanced through the Brest-Litovsk gap, already in German hands, is not clear but it is aimed along the main road from Warsaw to Moscow via Minsk.

Almost certainly a twin drive south of the Pripet marshes is also being pressed. They threaten not only Moscow; but if driven home would turn the northern flank of the successive river defense lines guarding the Ukraine from the west.

In partial offset to these grave threats of a swift and stunning Nazi victory in Russia, Britain's sustained air offensive in the west can be cited. It has been pressed day and night against the invasion coast and German industrial centers with ever mounting fury.

Could Beg Down

London contends that it has taken a four-to-one toll of the Nazi air force in these encounters and adds that the Nazi air resistance is steadily decreasing.

The obvious explanation is concentration of the Nazi luftwaffe eastward for the attack on Russia. The equally obvious necessity being forced on Hitler is to shift a substantial part of his air force westward again to meet the British attack.

Yet it is upon air power he is relying primarily to break or paralyze Russian resistance swiftly. Lack of absolute air mastery there could leave him bogged down in a long two-front war that ultimately would destroy him.

Magnolia Building's Observatory Is Closed

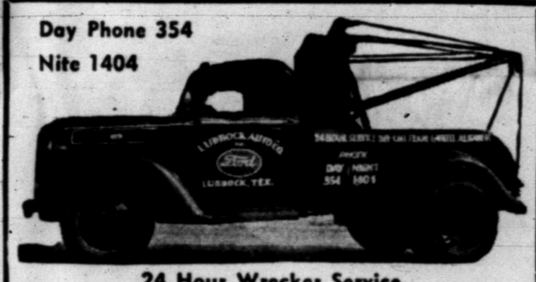

DALLAS, June 24 (AP) — The Magnolia building—Dallas' tallest structure—has closed its observatory to visitors as a national defense measure.

Alvin C. McNabb, manager of the 30-story building, said "people were always wanting to go up there and take pictures. We didn't know whether they were friends or foes, so we concluded the best thing to do was to close the observatory."

Texas Federation Of Labor Pledges No Defense Strikes

Full Cooperation Will Be Policy

EL PASO, June 24. (AP)—The State Federation of Labor today promised a no-strike policy on defense construction.

A. S. McBride, state president, followed a speech by James Mitchell, labor relations representative of the army constructing quartermaster, with the statement:

"You may take back to your chief and to the government the word that Texas labor will continue its cooperation." McBride specifically promised a no-strike policy on army construction.

The state federation, in annual convention, also received a communication from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, urging full cooperation with the national defense program.

Dan W. Tracy, assistant secretary of labor, in answering criticism of the labor department, said the department is being administered "in fairness between workers and employers and between each group and the public as a whole so as to accomplish its purpose as defined by Congress.

"We hear false charges, misrepresentations, deliberate and otherwise, coming from foes of labor, their dupes, or those who for political purposes or self-publicing reasons snipe and snarl and second-guess, but we know them for what they are."

Winners In Recreation Contests Announced

Announcement of city parks champions in box hockey and tether ball concluded in Carlisle park on Twenty-seventh street Monday night was made Tuesday by Miss Imogene Douglas, superintendent of the joint city-WPA parks project.

Competing in the finals, she explained, were the champions of various parks.

Winners and the parks they represented were:

Box hockey—Junior boy, Arlin Hinsley, Carlisle park; junior girl, Barbara Berry, Rollie Burns park; senior boy, Alfred Thomas, Rollie Burns park; and senior girl, Mary Waldrop, Carlisle park.

Tether ball — Junior boy, Chubby Stubbs, Carlisle; junior girl, Barbara Berry; senior boy, B. J. Stubbs, Carlisle; and senior girl, Betty Waite, Carlisle.

McKee Bid Only One On Wichita School

DENISON, June 24 (AP)—Robert E. McKee of El Paso submitted a figure of $1,758,359 today as Denison district United States engineers met to open bids for a hospital unit and utilities for the army aviation mechanics school at Wichita Falls.

The government estimate was $1,233,947.48. McKee submitted the only bid.

The work is to be completed in 75 days and includes material, equipment and labor for 79 buildings, a half mile of street and steam and all utility systems.

think when I do find out it will be a matter for the police. Let's get going."

"Where?" said Eve.

Brett took her arm firmly, propelling her through the door and back across the ramp. The trip to the house was made in silence, Brett walking so fast that Eve was half breathless. It had begun to rain again, too—a fact which further hastened their progress up the series of terraces.

As they entered the hall, they caught sight of Jim Droissard and Mr. Howe nearly at the top of the stairs. The lawyer appeared to be assisting Jim to walk. Brett looked up in astonishment.

Robert Montgomery To Report To Navy

WASHINGTON, June 24 (U.P.)—Robert Montgomery, movie actor who drove an ambulance in the battle of France, has volunteered for training duty in the Navy.

He holds the rank of lieutenant in the naval reserve and will report next Tuesday for duty in the office of the chief of naval operations. Officials did not say what his assignment would be.

Total Of 102 Years Would Be Required To Take Every Course Taught At Texas Tech; New Catalog Lists 1,296 Subjects Offered

A total of 102 years would be required for one person to take all subjects taught at Texas Technological college.

The newly issued college catalog lists 1,296 subjects, providing 3,270 credit hours of work, said Dean A. H. Leidigh, chairman of the catalog committee. Some subjects have been offered in as many as 42 different classes, in cases where the subjects were required of all students.

Since a student receives from 128 to 150 credit hours before graduation, there are enough subjects for 23 persons to go through college without studying the same subjects at any time.

Cover 61 Major Lines

Six divisions offer instruction leading to 61 different major lines of work offered by 38 separate departments.

A total of 264 subjects carrying 1,692 credit hours are open to graduate students and of that total 146 are open to graduates only.

The 287-page catalog contains information concerning the 1940-41 session and announcements for the 17th long session that will open in September.

Must Submit Transcripts

New students are to submit their high school transcripts to Registrar W. P. Clement's office before Sept. 6. Advance payment of fees will be accepted from Sept. 8 to Sept. 12, dormitories will open Sept. 10, registration will be conducted Sept. 11 and 12 and classes will open Sept. 13, five days earlier than last year. Absences will count from the first day of classes.

Estimated cost is $207.90 for the first semester and $187.50 for the second, a total of $395.40. That total is $4 above the total for last year, but since the session is a few days longer represents no increase in costs. The expenses listed include tuition, breakage, medical service, student activities and artists course fees, board and room in college residence halls, books and incidentals and laundry and pressing.

The medical service contract will be filled by Lubbock sanitarium after Sept. 10.

Electrification Said Way To Check Labor Shortage On Farms

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—The growing shortage of farm labor can be checked if electrified farms are equipped with a washing machine, a refrigerator, and an electric water pump.

That was the prescription today of Robert B. Craig, deputy administrator of the U. S. Rural Electrification administration, who characterized the farm labor scarcity as "already acute in some regions, merely threatening in others, but bound to become serious everywhere."

Hobbs Child Will Be Buried Here Today

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in Rix chapel for 14-months-old Kay Cornelia Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ferguson of Hobbs, N. M.

The child died of encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, at 9:10 o'clock Tuesday morning in Lubbock sanitarium.

The child had been stricken about two weeks ago and had been a patient in the sanitarium since June 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have no other children. A grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Alexander, lives at 2426 Twenty-first street in Lubbock.

Singing And Barefoot Driving Recommended

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP) — That barefooted automobile driver, singing loudly, was not drunk.

He was merely following the advice of State Police Director Homer Garrison. He advocates driving without shoes to relieve the monotony of night driving, and to prevent sleeping at the wheel. He added:

"If there's no one along to suffer for it, you can break the monotonous purr of the motor by singing or talking aloud."

Negro Boy Scouts Camping At Post

Thirty negro Boy Scouts from Lubbock are among the 50 enrolled in the encampment which started Monday and will continue until Saturday at Camp Post, Jack O. Stone, South Plains council executive, was notified Tuesday.

Special events today will be followed by a full program of activities the rest of the week, Stone said.

The special events will include instructions and exhibitions in archery by Howard Schmidt and in nature study by Dr. E. L. Reed. Campfire programs are scheduled each night, including a special Indian ceremonial and court of honor Friday night.

Lubbock scouts and leaders enrolled in the camp are R. D. Washington, A. W. Williams, Dillard Harris, Robert Hastings, Richard Forrest, Roosevelt Silas, Clyde Roberts, Leroy Hall, Charles Johnson, D. C. Fair, Jessie Loyd, Homer Gamble, Sidney Roberts, Edgar Gamble, Claud Williams, Joe Graves, Robert Priestly, jr., Robert Banks, Leander Johnson, Thomas Perry, Oscar Love, Leroy Brown, Edward Lee Smith, Norris Ward, Harold Chatman, J. L. Holmes, Marion McBride, C. A. Henderson and Scoutmasters Claude D. Smith and Henry D. Patterson.

Supervising leaders of the camp are white. They are Harold Holmes of Abilene, camp director, and Stanley Mate, field executive at Big Spring, assistant.

Mercury poisoning is considered the oldest industrial hazard.

Public Is Invited To Attend Programs

Three community night programs the remainder of the week will be conducted, beginning tonight, and Miss Imogene Douglas, superintendent of the city-WPA parks recreation project, extended invitation to the public to attend them.

The schedule is to be: Wednesday night, Booker T. Washington negro park, with a special invitation to whites to attend; Thursday night, skating party on the roped-off pavement at Seventh street park; and Friday night, program of music and other numbers at Carlisle park on Twenty-seventh street.

Numerous contests will feature the Thursday night skating party, Miss Douglas said. She emphasized that participants must supply their own skates.
