Austin. — Arrival at the mid-way mark in the 30-day special legislative session touched off an explosion of activity in key areas of spending, taxation and liquor-by-the-drink.

Both House and Senate passed versions of the 1969 budget and want to conference committee to work out differences.

House passed by a narrow margin (78 votes to 67) Gov. John Connally's bill to permit liquor by the drink sales in mini-bottles under taxation and strict regulation.

House Revenue and Tax Committee sent out for debate and full House action Connally's $119 million tax package. This controversial measure hopefully will land in conference committee this week after amendments in both houses.

Representatives voted overwhelmingly for a $474 million general revenue budget, senators for a $479.7 million general fund appropriations measure. House version would require $132.6 million general fund appropriations measure. House version would require $132.6 million in new revenue. Senate bill $137.9 million. All phases of Connally's tax liquor-by-the-drink legislation were designed to raise $127.2 million, so addition revenue must be found.

House fought a bitter battle over the mini-bottles bill which has combined with proposals of a sub-committee for strengthening liquor laws. Tax on little bottles and increased fees will produce over $8 million. An additional $6.5 million would come from a gross receipts tax on private clubs, as called for in Connally's tax bill.

Margin on mini-bottles in the Senate is said to be even closer than in the House. Poll takers said 14 to 15 senators would be counted as sure supporters.

A sales tax increase to three per cent is certain to figure in the final tax package. This whether the legislature votes a straight rate hike or goes along with Connally's plan to raise the rate and rebate 75 per cent of the take to cities (in lieu of their present local option sales tax levy). Connally also proposes to put sales tax on many services and cigarettes.

Mini-bottles bill would make one-drink-sized containers available in licensed hotels, clubs, restaurants, planes and trains. Sellers would have to do at least a third as much business in food sales as on liquor. Mini-bottles probably will be expensive, since they would carry a tax of about 10 and a half cents each. Sellers will have to pay the state permit fees ranging from $500 in the smallest towns to $1,250 in cities over 250,000. Furthermore, cities and counties can match the charge.

Bill also sets specifications for private clubs and raises fees, although it will allow managers and most other employees to issue guests cards to the drop-in trade and it authorizes credit card sales.

Legislation would further permit 16-year-olds to sack beer in groceries and serve as bus-boys where mini-bottles are handled. It would outlaw gambling, increase punishment for permitting minors to buy or consume alcohol.

Miss Jannie Newman returned home Sunday to Ft. Worth with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Newman, after spending the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hanks.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Perdue, Friday in the Titus County Memorial Hospital. He weighed 7 lbs., 6 1/2 ozs., and was named Waylon Zan. Grandparents are Mrs. W. A. Perdue and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Black, all of Talco.

Visiting during the week with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fussell Sr. were Mrs. Fussell's sister, Mrs. Florence Womack of Texarkana, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fussell Jr. and family of Dallas. Mike Fussell remained for an extended visit with his grandparents.

Visiting Mrs. Veria Elliott and George Elliott during the week end were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Williams of Marlin, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott of Holdenville, Okla. Joe, Kathy, Ellen and Cecelia Lynn Hendricks of Greenville, are spending the week with their grandmother and great-grandfather.

holic beverages, raise beer dealers' license fees from $30 to $150, provide for faster sales of confiscated liquor by the state and make most of the Texas Liquor Control Board records available to public inspection.

Barring logjams the legislature has a fair chance of beating its deadline and winding up must business in a single special session.

GIN DUST — One of the differences between the Senate and House is whether the Texas Air Control Board is going to be allowed to require cotton gins to put in dust-abatement devices.

Senate voted to strike out a "rider" which would prohibit the board from spending any money on activities connected with cotton gins. But the House voted to keep it in by a vote of 95-47.

This prohibition was put into the present appropriations law in 1967. It led to a blast at the Legislature by some members of the Air Control Board. But a provision put into the air pollution control law in 1967 cannot be changed by this session of the legislature . . . so it operates effectively to keep the Air Control Board out of the cotton business.

However, the ginning industry has been working with the Board and has been doing research aimed at reducing the air pollution problem caused by gin operations.

DRUNK TEST ADVANCED — A bill to require those suspected of driving while intoxicated to submit to breath or blood tests on penalty of having their licenses suspended has been approved by the House State Affairs Committee.

Legislation provides that a driver gives implied consent to undergo chemical testing to determine if he is drunk when charged with the offense.

Most other states have similar laws as required by the 1966 federal highway safety act. Tests showing a blood content of one-tenth per cent alcohol by weight would be prima facie evidence of being under the influence of alcohol. Arresting officers would have to appear in court. Those with religious objections to blood drawing could take a breath test.

RURAL ROADS — That long-quiet farm-to-market roads fuss has come back to life. Some city legislators are pushing a bill to do away with the $15 million a year of general tax money which is being spent on rural roads. They want it spent on city streets. But their efforts have failed so far.

TAVERN "MONOPOLY" — Fort Worth Dist. Atty. Frank Coffey, testifying before a House committee on a bill to regulate vending machine companies under the Liquor Control Board, claimed a single coin machine concern controls hundreds of Texas taverns.

Coffey says 85 per cent of taverns in Fort Worth owe money to the concern which operates under many names. He said the same conditions exist in most other cities. Vending machine chain, the district attorney testified, started with B&B Music Company in El Paso. Former CB Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. recommended regulation of the vending machine operators and that they be barred from the tavern business.

Visiting during the week end with Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lemay were Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lemay, Jane Hodge and two children, all of Shreveport, La., Mr. and Mrs. John Collins of Kilgore and Rev. C. H. Paxton of Ft. Worth.

Mrs. Troy Lewis and Mrs. Dora Frye visited Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Lewis in Texarkana, Friday. They also visited in the Texarkana funeral home with the family of Mrs. Goree, who passed away Wednesday. Mrs. Goree was the sister of Mrs. Loyd Lewis.

Edward Frye Jr., Tony and Tracy visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frye Sr., Friday. They were enroute to Denton to visit Mrs. Edward Frye Jr., who is attending college there. They returned Sunday afternoon and Tracy remained with her grandparents for an extended visit.

Mrs. Gerard Schinellin, Eric, John and Laura Virginia of Paris, France, are visiting her sister, Mrs. John D. Wright and family and her brother, Lemuel Hargrove here and her mother, Mrs. Monty Hargrove and other relatives in Mt. Pleasant.

National Guard At Fort Hood

Nearly 6,000 National Guardsmen of the 72nd Infantry Brigade are at North Fort Hood in Central Texas for the unit's summer camp. The Dallas-based mechanized infantry unit was created in January as part of a general reorganization of the Army National Guard. It is descended from the 49th Armored Division, which was deactivated.

The 72nd Infantry Brigade is under the command of Brig. Gen. D. A. Thompson of Fort Worth, a former assistant commander of the 49th.

The Guardsmen, who come from 47 Texas cities and towns, will be in some form of training nearly every hour of their 15 days of camp — and frequently will work into the night. The Fourth of July will be just another training day.

Families, friends, and employers of the brigade's men are invited to its open house on Saturday morning (June 29) at the mid-point of camp. Instead of the traditional mounted review, visitors will see a display of the brigade's weapons, armored personnel carriers, tanks, and other equipment. Visitors also will be invited to join their hosts for the noon meal in unit mess halls.

The brigade will return to its home town armories on Sunday, July 7.

Thirty-six from Titus County are members of the First Engineer Platoon of the 272nd Engineer Company.

Men making the trip from Talco are Sgt. Ernest S. Carroll, Spec. 4 Robert Mills, and Pfc. Albert Whitney.

Jerry Bruce Singleton, 29 and his son, Jerry Dale Singleton age 5, were killed Saturday afternoon about 7 p. m. when their car went out of control and hit a slough bridge in White Oak bottom between Hagansport and Mt. Vernon. Services for the father and son were held Monday at 3:30 p. m. in the Sam Harvey Funeral Chapel with burial in Fairview Cemetery.

FEMININE FISHING FUN

When my wife, Barbara, advised me she wanted to learn how to fish I greeted the news with a certain lack of enthusiasm. If teaching her the art of angling was to be anything like teaching her to drive — forget it. But two factors convinced me that I had to try. First was the national trend toward increased participation by women in man's favorite outdoor sport. Today, nearly 30 per cent of the 30 million fishing folks in the U.S. are ladies. Second, Barbara declared that if she couldn't share the thrill of a catch, her kitchen would be closed to any delicious string of fish I might bring home.

I learned a few things about exposing a neophyte to fishing while taking my sons on their early outings. The initial trip must be comfortable and successful.

On a warm, sunny Saturday morning in May, Barbara and I made the short drive from our home to nearby Sprout Lake in Peekskill, New York. This quiet, sheltered pond, surrounded by lush shade trees, held an abundant supply of panfish — yellow perch, blue gill, crappie.

For Barbara, I selected an Abu-Matic 120 spincasting reel filled with 8-lb. test Bonnyl, and a Conolon 2524 light action rod. Such light, easy-to-use and easy-to-maintain tackle is largely responsible for the tremendous influx of women to fishing.

For myself, I chose a Mitchell 408 fast retrieve spinning reel with 6-lb. test Bonnyl and a Conolon 2503 rod. This ultra-light rig would turn those panfish into respectable gamefish for me.

Barbara and I discussed the operation of her tackle the night before, and after a few apprehensive casts she relaxed and felt quite secure with her pushbutton reel. So far, so good. Next, I introduced her to our bait worms.

Being the mother of two boys who have brought home for "adoption" every species of animal and insect that crossed their paths, Barbara was not disturbed by a face-to-face meeting with a garden variety worm. After one lesson she could bait a hook with the most seasoned angler. All that remained now was to catch a fish.

Barbara began casting from shore, retrieving very slowly. Panfish are not rapid swimmers, and quick movements scare them. King Neptune, or Isaac Walton, or both, must have been smiling down at us that day. Within five minutes a small, but ambitious yellow perch took the bait. But he was no match for my determined student.

Once she stopped jumping up and down, Barbara held the perch in her hands and stared at it. "Fishing fever" had struck again. She landed three more panfish before we called it a morning. For the rest of the day, Barbara was on the phone recounting to her friends every cast she made.

I had been so busy watching Barbara, I never picked up my rod and reel. Still, it was one of the most rewarding outings in memory. After all, how often do you develop a lifelong fishing companion?

Dick Wolff's useful and unique handbook, "Fishing Tackle and Techniques," is now available to readers of this column. The 190-page book is a complete guide to the purchase, use and maintenance of every kind of rod, reel and line for both salt and freshwater fishing.
