Demos Claim Tax Cut 'Phony' Campaign Ruse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressmen are being advised to tell their constituents that President Ford's proposal for a $28-billion tax cut matched by a $28-billion spending reduction is phony and designed to help his election campaign.

This is a major theme of two documents distributed to Democratic House members, one by the Democratic Policy Committee's information task force and the other by the party whip's office.

"He wants the tax cut to begin in January 1976, the $28-billion reduction in government programs would not begin until October 1976," the task force said.

CAMPAIGN BAIT

"Thus for the entire period of the election campaign he would offer voters a tax reduction plus the government programs.

"But as soon as they vote, the programs would be cut off ...

"The phoniness of this approach is fairly obvious."

The whip's "issue paper" called Ford's proposal "a pig in a poke whose full effects wouldn't be known until after the 1976 election."

"The important thing is putting people back to work," the paper continued. "It makes no sense to have them hired in 1976 and fired in 1977."

The task force analysis was distributed to Democratic congressmen before their recess began with the notation that "you might find (this) useful ... in discussions with your constituents."

The whip paper was cast in the form of "response to questions that members may be asked."

CONCERN

Both apparently reflect concern among Democrats that Ford may have hit on a proposal that would appeal to Americans worried about their own budgets.

Ford proposed holding the spending ceiling to $395 billion for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1976. In exchange, the $22.9 billion in tax cuts enacted last year would be extended and further tax cuts would be started. A family of four making $15,000 could reduce its taxes by $287 more in 1976 than it can this year, for instance.

Ford said in his news conference Thursday that his reading of opinion polls convinces him "there is a general consensus that federal spending ought to be controlled, and I believe there is a strong feeling that the federal government should take less out of the taxpayer's pocket so the taxpayer can spend it himself."

EARLIER

Reflecting Ford's confidence, the House Republican Policy Committee has put out no material on the tax-economy proposals. An aide said it is resting on the President's statements and Treasury explanations.

As for the contention that the timing of the program is geared to the 1976 election, the aide said, "as the President told us, if they want to start the spending cuts earlier, he will be glad to cooperate."

The task force said Ford and his advisers must know Congress would not agree in advance to cuts in a budget it would not see until after acting on the tax relief and the proposal "may not have been designed to be taken seriously.

VETO CUTS

"His adamant statement that he will veto any tax cuts that are not coupled with an arbitrary spending ceiling leads to the conclusion that he is proposing a sham program."

His purpose, it said, may be to find "an excuse for vetoing the tax cut that virtually all economists agree is essential."

HAWAIIAN WELCOME — Japan's Emperor Hirohito and Empress Hagako walk to the receiving line Friday night after arriving at Honolulu. A crowd of over 3,000 persons was on hand to welcome the royal couple in the place where their country's war against the United States began. On the last leg of their United States tour, the royal couple made no plans to visit the memorial at Pearl Harbor, where Japanese war planes caused 3,500 U.S. casualties on Dec. 7, 1941.

'IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SECEDE'

Panhandle Okies Plot Formation Of New State

GUYMON, Okla. (AP)—A lot of folks in the Oklahoma Panhandle feel they've been forgotten by officials in the state capital, 264 miles from here.

In fact, some Panhandle residents feel so strongly about the matter they voted 312-240 in favor of seceding from the Sooner State and joining with the bordering Texas Panhandle to forming a new state.

"We're so much for it that we'd even accept Amarillo for a state capital," said Dave Story, manager of the Guymon Daily Herald.

IMPROVEMENT

"If we had Amarillo for a state capital, we might get us a farm to market road for a state highway up here, which would be quite an improvement over what we've got."

The proposal isn't new; it was brought up first, say longtime Guymon residents, by an Amarillo newspaper publisher 20 or 30 years ago.

But Mrs. Mary Sutton Smith, co-chairman of Texas County Republicans and a resident of Guymon for some 29 years, says as far as she knows the first vote on the proposal was taken at the recent Texas County Fair here.

IGNORE PANHANDLE

"Really, I was surprised that 240 people were against it." said Norman Manning, Guymon Daily Herald managing editor, Saturday. "People around here are mostly for it. They pay a heck of a lot of taxes and they (state officials) just sort of ignore the Panhandle."

Mrs. Smith said there are a host of good reasons for joining the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles into a new state.

"Our weather out here is the same...so is the economy, crops," and other interests, she said.

But Mrs. Smith said the principal complaint is the condition of highways in the Oklahoma Panhandle.

"Look at our highways out here," she said. "Look at how many divided freeways they have in other parts of the state. We don't have any out here, and we need them."

She said a few years ago there was a proposal to build a four-lane, divided highway eastwest across the Oklahoma Panhandle, but it was shelved, apparently because of lack of interest by officials from other areas.

HAPPY TO COLLECT

"We need a divided highway," she said, "from the Kansas line to the Texas line and from downstate somewhere to the Colorado line."

And she adds that while it appears the Panhandle is forgotten at road-building time, "when taxes are ready, they're awfully happy to have us."

When asked if she thought those persons voting for the Panhandle merger were serious, Mrs. Smith said, "Oh, yes, definitely. They'd say things like 'Oh, I think that would be the greatest thing that ever happened.'"

SQUARE STATE

Story, however, said he saw the poll more as "a fun thing."

But he added that "at least we'd have neat state lines...We'd be the only square state in the union, but we don't mind being called squares out here."

Six Flee Indiana Prison, Recaptured

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Six inmates fled the Indiana State Prison with six hostages, including the warden and his wife. But their flight ended two miles away, amid a gunfire-punctuated chase, when a policeman shot out a tire on the getaway vehicle.

The vehicle crashed into a sign post along a city street, with neither escapees nor hostages hurt seriously. As the score of police cruisers converged on the disabled car, the inmates surrendered.

The right front tire of the station wagon used in the escape was shot out by a Michigan City policeman. A gun and two razors were found in the station wagon.

One of the hostages, Sgt. Gene Weis, 48, received a head injury in the crash, and inmate Alexander Nagy, 40, was slightly injured in the knee by gunfire, prison officials said.

The prison officials gave this account:

The escape began when an inmate feigned an illness and overpowered two hospital attendants who were carrying him from his cell on a stretcher.

The inmate forced the attendants and two guards into a cell and obtained a key to release five other inmates.

The inmates, three of them lifers, took Weis and Lt. John Grover, 55, hostage as they forced their way through five gates and climbed a hill to Warden Leo Jenkins' home.

Jenkins, his wife and a daughter also were taken hostage by the five inmates. Three other youngsters were left behind. The sixth convict telephoned city police headquarters and said he was armed and taking hostages.

One convict said he and his five companions would take the hostages in the warden's car to obtain "their freedom" and promised to free the hostages, but wouldn't say where or when.

The three Jenkins, two officers, and six inmates piled into the station wagon and headed for the gate.

A female guard in the gate control booth disobeyed prison rules by opening a gate for the inmates and hostages. The inmates shot at the guard but missed.

Jenkins said prison rules forbid the gate to be opened for escapees, even if they have hostages.

Other police then gave chase, and the station wagon crashed after the local officer shot its front tire.

Five Cons Escape Top Security Pen

MARION, Ill. (AP) — A dragnet of police and federal agents hunted Saturday for five convicts who opened the gates of the federal government's top-security penitentiary with an electronic gadget made in a prison shop course.

Warden Charles Fenton of Marion Federal Penitentiary said the five were last seen at 8 p.m. Friday running out the front door of the prison and into the darkened, pine-dotted hills nearby. He said a car probably was waiting for them.

Guards, blocked by two unopened gates, were unable to chase the convicts immediately and could not pick up the trail in the darkness.

"Once you get over the hill it's black — very black," a prison official said.

The breakout began while the convicts were attending a history lecture. Instructor Loren Dees was overpowered after being lured into a back room by an inmate complaining of a cut finger. The five took the teacher's keys to the main corridor and fled.

Five barred gates separate the main part of the prison from the front door, but by using keys taken from the teacher the five were able to enter the corridor beyond the first two gates. Then they brought out their electronic gadget.

The device, similar to an electronic garage door opener, was built in a shop class by inmate Edward P. Roche, 39, of Katonah, N.Y., serving 39 years for two bank robberies, Fenton said. He said Roche evidently obtained technical publications describing the workings of the softball-size signaler, which emits an audible beep.

"For all I know it's in Popular Mechanics," the warden declared.

He said later that a receiver controlling the gates was apparently installed during recent repair work and that the hand-held device was a transmitter that activated the receiver and opened the gates.

Estimates vary widely on Howard County's 1975 cotton crop, which soon will be heading for the gins.

The Plains Cotton Growers Inc., foresees a crop of 80,000 bales, a figure backed up by Gene Perry, district director for the Texas Farmers Union. Roger Miller, a farmer who has been all over the country, says the crop likely will not top 70,000 bales. Miller says some of the crop has been hurt by rust and other portions are stunted and "just standing there."

Whatever the final outcome, the county is going to fare a lot better than it did last year, when rain (though ample) fell at the wrong time.

Incidentally, Jay Naman speaks with authority when he voices an opinion about agriculture as state president of the Texas Farmers Union. (He was here last week). Jay owns two farms in the Waco area. He says he's very concerned because the "little man" may not survive as a farmer, pointing out that yearly he assumes a great risk in raising a crop that people in other lines of work are not required to take.

The picture of Gary James Tidwell, who grew up and attended public schools here, adorned the cover of a recent Huston Post TV magazine.

Tidwell works under the name of Gary James and he's described as one of Houston's Channel two's most creative producers-directors. His show, "The Eyes of Texas," is in its seventh season on Channel 2. Together with Ray Miller, the station's news director, he tours Texas looking for ideas. The two of them travel about 40,000 miles a year seeking out stories.

Nixon Stashed Millions?

DALLAS (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has investigated for the last four months allegations that former President Richard M. Nixon stashed millions of dollars in secret Swiss bank accounts, the Dallas Morning News said today.

The News, in a copyright story, said IRS intelligence agents were unable to prove any connection between Nixon and foreign deposits and the case has been sent to the IRS in Washington to determine whether the case should be closed.

The IRS opened the probe because "this is the first time a witness ever supported an allegation that Nixon had secret numbered Swiss accounts," said IRS intelligence agent Ronald E. Bergman of Fort Worth, who headed the probe.

The newspaper said last June an informant showed photocopies of five documents which he contended were 1969 deposits of $5,920,000 by Nixon into numbered Swiss bank accounts.

Escapees All Died Differently

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities said Saturday three escaped convicts whose bodies were found in a fire-gutted house after a shootout with police all died in different ways.

The bodies of the three were found after a two-hour gunbattle Friday in which a Houston policeman also was killed.

Medical authorities said Benjamin Windberry, 29, Houston, was shot to death during the gunbattle, Noel F. Smith, 29, Houston, killed himself, and Michael Robbins, 37, Dallas, was kicked or beaten to death about 10 hours before the other two died.

The three had escaped Wednesday from the Texas Department of Corrections Central Unit at nearby Sugar Land. Robbins was under a 40-year robbery sentence; Smith under a 30-year murder sentence; and, Windberry under a 15-year robbery sentence.

Goals Committee Tabs Response

The Big Spring "Goals for Progress" Steering Committee, evaluating suggestions and statistics from August's planning conventions, concluded that the program received an "excellent sample of opinions from Big Spring and the surrounding area.

The "goals" gathered in the five planning conventions are being evaluated by the committees and will be put in draft form for the consideration of the public at a Town Hall meeting slated for November.

Final plans for the November meeting, which will yield the final "goals" to be published as an objective for Big Spring and surrounding areas, will be made at a special meeting of the Steering Committee on October 22.

The Steering Committee found that:

—Every elementary school district, even those outside the city, was represented at the planning conventions.

—The age range of those attending was very equally spread and follows closely the typical pattern of the population of the county.

—Over half of the responses came from females.

—The largest percentage of responses came from families with an annual income of between $8,000 and $18,000.

—Over 80 per cent of those responding own their own homes.

—About 60 per cent of those responding have lived here over ten years.

—About 53 per cent of those responding had completed college and 27 per cent had completed high school.

COSTLY SNOOZE

Unable to break the lock in order to get at the $250-$300 in the Deep Rock Service Station cash register, burglars made off with the cash register itself, Saturday.

Police responded to a report from Bill Novian at the station, 828 Lamesa Dr., at 4:54 a.m., Saturday.

According to Novian, the theft occurred when he had dozed off for 20 or 30 minutes.

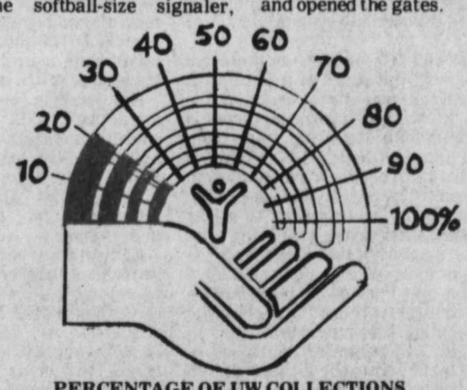
Says Patty Was Drugged By Force

BOSTON (AP) — Patricia Hearst was "drugged by force" and is "not capable of standing trial or assisting in her own defense," one of her attorneys says.

Albert Johnson said in an interview in Sunday editions of the Boston Sunday Herald Advertiser. Miss Hearst "shows no acute distress and she doesn't hallucinate, but she's confused by questions which have anything to do with time span,"

Johnson is a partner of F. Lee Bailey, who recently took charge of the Hearst defense, and was part of a defense team that spent 70 hours with Miss Hearst since her capture.

Johnson said Miss Hearst was brainwashed by her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers and was "drugged by force."



PERCENTAGE OF UW COLLECTIONS

UW Collections Pass .20 Mark

Collections in the 1975 Howard County United Way campaign have passed the 20 per cent mark, with indications that the fund will get major transfusions in the next few days.

A total of $28,119.03 or 21.4 per cent, was reported raised through Thursday. Objective is $131,975.

That figure does not include any money raised through the Combined Federal Campaign, which has already exceeded its goal. The greater portion of the money from that particular drive, which embraces all federal offices and Webb AFB here, eventually winds up in the United Way coffers.

Ron McNeil, general chairman of the UW campaign, also had collected a substantial amount of money which was not included in the Thursday report.

The Advance Gifts, Out of Town and Women's divisions of the drive signal success in their early collections. Gifts totaling $13,135 have been reported through the Advance Gifts section. The Out of Town division reported $4,370 subscribed toward its objective while a total of $4,470 has been subscribed toward the Women's division.

If all the CFC collections had been included in the latest report, the UW committee would be 42.8 per cent toward its goal.

Collections by other divisions through Thursday include:

Special Gifts, $1,650; Employe, $2,750; Employe (city), $597.25; Metropolitan, $260; Employe (county and state), $60; Rural or Area, $426.10; and Professional, $400.

A total of $123,777 was raised in last year's campaign, when collection exceeded the original goal by about three per cent.

SUNNY SUNDAY

Fair nights and sunny days. High today and Monday in the 90s. Low tonight, near 60. Southerly winds this afternoon at 8-18 miles per hour, continuing through tonight.

A Very Tolerant Society

In a speech made before a Waco audience the other day, Dallas defense attorney Phil Burleson said, in effect, that "everyone" is responsible for the tremendous crime rate in this nation.

The police, the courts, the citizens and the entire criminal justice system are not without blame, Burleson told a statewide vice conference.

Police are at one level, Burleson said, while the courts, citizens and the remainder of the criminal justice system are at another. "And the other levels just don't support them (police), Burleson said.

The Dallas attorney said it would take a concentrated effort by the business community to put it all together. Businesses are the most affected, said Burleson, because it is businesses which are being pillaged by the burglars. Their employes, Burleson reminded, are footing the tax bill for increased police costs.

Burleson, of course, is right. We tolerate crime in many instances, because of our vices. We don't really want to stamp out all evil because it might deprive us of some of our pleasures. Businessmen don't always insist that a confessed burglar or embezzeler be prosecuted, if his insurance covers the crime.

The police are all too often frustrated because the rest of the community doesn't always lend cooperation in working to correct a problem.

When Prohibition was voted in...nationally years ago, the traffic in liquor never ceased because a part of society was willing to pay the ante for bootleg whiskey. Al Capone prospered in Chicago, secure in the knowledge that he was providing services the public wanted — contrabrand whiskey, prostitution and the like.

Crime will always be with us because of the tolerance for it by the public in general, or until the time that mankind reasons it can live without its weaknesses of the flesh.

Important Election

Circle Nov. 4 on your calendar. Quite probably, the most important election in the ensuing century is coming on that date in Texas.

It could be that important because it takes about that long to produce a new constitution in Texas, and the November election will decide whether any or all of a proposed constitution will be put into effect in the state.

State leaders are going to be carrying the message to the hustings — mostly in support of the proposed changes, although a few have announced their opposition to some or all of the document.

This newspaper has carried legal advertisements outlining the proposed changes, and the Secretary of State's office is mailing copies to voters. There are available in Spanish.

But none of that will do any good unless voters take the trouble to read the materials, find out about the proposed changes, and go to the polls next month.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Will you please tell me whether you think man is basically good or evil? J.V.

It is not what I think, but what the Bible says, that is important.

Throughout the Bible, from Genesis to Revelation we are told that man, by nature is evil. In Genesis we read: "And God saw the wickedness of man was great on the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually." Genesis 6:5.

The Psalmist wrote: "Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no, not one." Psalm 53:3.

In the New Testament we read, "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23.

When we say that all men are sinful, this doesn't mean that all men are hopelessly depraved. It simply means that we have "missed the mark", that we have failed to measure up to God's standard, and stand in need of His forgiving grace. The Commandments, the Bible says, is a "schoolmaster" to lead us to Christ. What does that mean? It means that our inability to keep the commands God has given is evidence that there is something seriously wrong with us at heart. That is what the cross is all about. "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 5:8.

PICKING COTTON

You were very proud of your first cotton sack. It was probably made of a flour sack or burlap tow sack. Your mom sewed a ducking shoulder strap on it and you could hardly wait until you got to the field that day. The sack seemed to get bigger the more cotton you put into it. You kept pulling and pulling and glancing back to see if it was full. It took forever. Finally, you had enough to weigh in. Someone bigger had to help you at the scales, they were too high to reach. After it was weighed, they pitched your sack up into the wagon for you while you scrambled up to dump the cotton out, thinking about how much money you had already earned.

After you were older it was not as much fun but the money was important. You graduated to a "real" cotton sack, though a short one, usually made from a long one that had worn out. The worst thing about picking cotton would be kinda hard to pinpoint because there were so many things. Your hands got sore to the point where they actually bled. If you tried using gloves to save your hands, you couldn't pick as much cotton. Your poor back would cramp and hurt from bending over the stalks and from pulling the heavy sack full of cotton. If you tried working on your knees to relieve the back pain, your knees got raw from the hard clods, rocks and numerous goatheads.

There were rewarding things about picking cotton, though, in addition to the money, I mean. You just might happen upon a good old volunteer watermelon vine that had a ripe one on it. Stopping at the fence row to get a drink of water from the cloth-covered gallon water jug was good, too. The short rows were good and sundown was good. The final weigh-in of the day as best of all, though.

The scales were usually hung from a tripod situated by the wagon or maybe a board hanger fixed directly to the tall sideboards. In the old days it was a balance scale, an iron bar with a heavy iron weight. The weight was placed in notches along the bar until it came to rest in a level position. The notch showed how much the cotton weighed. You then deducted some amount for the weight of the sack and the tally keeper put down the net amount beside your name. At the end of the day, if you were really lucky, you got to go with the cotton to the gin.

EDITORIALS/OPINIONS

Unfavorable Reaction Noted

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford's plan to cut taxes and federal spending equally by $28 billion, which produced immediate opposition from Congressional Democrats, had stirred some unfavorable reaction by week's end from the business community.

Henry Kaufman, senior economist with the investment banking firm of Salomon Brothers, termed the plan "inappropriate," telling a bond conference in New York Thursday it would place upward pressure on interest rates.

Kaufman said the proposal would increase the Treasury's new cash needs by $12 billion in the first half of 1976, strain the money markets even further and push up lending rates. Treasury Secretary William Simon had estimated only $5 billion in new cash needs.

Ford and Simon also spent the week defending Ford's refusal to extend federal help to debt-ridden New York City, although sentiment began to appear in Congress for some sort of assistance.

Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told a joint economic committee Wednesday that a New York City default "could produce serious strains in securities markets." Unless the crisis is resolved, he said, "the process of economic recovery now under way in our nation could be injured."

But Burns stopped short of actually advocating direct federal help for the city.

He did reiterate his position that the Federal Reserve system stood ready to make emergency loans to banks endangered by a New York City default, and two bank regulators told a separate hearing that some banks are likely to need such help.

Frank Wille, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., told a House Government Operations subcommittee that 271 banks in 34 states hold New York City debt issues equal to 20 per cent or more of their total net worth. He said another 56 banks in 18 states hold New York City debt equal to 50 per cent of their net worth.

While New York teetered on the brink of default, W.T. Grant Co. began the first part of its court-supervised restructuring under bankruptcy protection Thursday.

The ailing retailer announced the closing this year of 201 of its 1,074 stores, virtually ending its operations west of the Mississippi River. On Oct. 2 Grant became the largest retailer to file under bankruptcy laws in U.S. history.

A group of 27 banks had loaned Grant about $640 million, and over the week wrote off about a third of the debt individually under loan-loss provisions.

Citing loan losses, several major banks reported sluggish earnings reports for the third quarter this past week.

Chase Manhattan Corp., parent of Chase Bank, said its third quarter earnings were off 50 per cent from the same period last year, while Chemical New York Corp., parent company of Chemical Bank, said its earnings for the period had edged up only one per cent.

Marine Midland Bank Inc.'s third quarter earnings rose only 0.5 per cent and Bank of New York Co.'s declined 3.3 per cent.

LOS ANGELES — This vast urban sprawl interlaced by the freeways with their ceaseless movement has the look of a Martian landscape. Governing the largest state in the union must seem beyond the powers of forms of authority long outdated by the motor car and the jet plane.

Yet something like an answer to the anomaly of old laws and new mores is just visible on the western horizon. That is the emergence of Gov. Edmund G. Jerry Brown Jr. as an executive eager to find a way between lawlessness and the rigidities of "law and order" as conceived by those who exploit the fear of crime in the streets.

THIS IS TO be sure a tentative beginning, but there is a hope in it beyond the immediate results. In his nine months in office the governor is credited with initiating four principal pieces of legislation that show the balance between freedom and restraint. The penalty for possession of marijuana was reduced to a fine of $100, thereby eliminating the prison sentences that destroyed the lives of many of the young. Under a second law, consenting adults were no longer subject to criminal prosecution for acts committed in private. This removed the threat of blackmail and police intimidation held over the state's homosexual population.

These were libertarian measures meant to remove penalties long since outgrown and one reason for clogged courts and overcrowded prisons.

Two other laws were on the opposite side of the scoreboard. One requires a mandatory prison sentence for a crime committed with a gun. The other calls for mandatory prison for heroin pushers. Law-enforcement officers believe they will soon result in scaling down the crime rate.

Brown's emergence has come as a surprise to many and particularly on the right. They had seen him as vaguely a liberal with little positive identity. In a week here in the state, I have listened to independents and conservatives praise him. They believe he is showing the promise of a career beyond the boundaries of the state.

Some new admirers are skeptical of the boomlet promoting him for a place on the national ticket in 1976. Too early, they say. Let him carry forward what he has begun and run for a second term as goveror. In 1980 he will be 42 and given continuing momentum a leading contender for the highest office in the land.

His youth is one of his principal attractions. With this goes a style spurning the shiny black limousines and the other perquisites of high office. He is exploring the potentials of Zen, Yoga and the other experiments that have captivated many young.

Against the background of four years in a Jesuit seminary when he was studying for the priesthood, this is a remarkable blend of old and new.

On the national scene the dilemma of the Democrats is a flock of candidates who have been around for a long time. In many ways Hubert Humphrey may be the best qualified and most experienced man for the office. But to mention his name with the young is to draw a groan, "What: Humphrey again."

Only a bold statistician would guess at the proportion of the young who have been turned off in one degree or another. At one extreme a small minority is given over to bringing down the system by any means including crime and violence.

'Mother's Tennis'

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The explosion of tennis in the United States has produced all sorts of innovations in the game. One of the most exciting is called Mother's Tennis. It differs from regular tennis in that it requires not only four players but also a number of children, several dogs and an occasional irate husband.

THE GAME IS played on a regular court with two players on each side. But the thrill comes not from hitting the ball back and forth but from the unexpected intervention of children and dogs onto the court during play.

I was introduced to Mother's Tennis at Martha's Vineyard this summer, and this is how it went.

One of the mothers was about to serve the ball when her 7-year-old child ran up to the fence and shouted, "Mummy, Johnny has climbed on the roof and he's crying because he can't get down."

"Well, tell him to stay up there until I finish the set," she said.

"He says he's afraid of falling."

"Tell him to hang on to the chimney."

A FEW MINUTES later during a heated volley a large black Labrador walked across the court. The rules of Mother's Tennis say play must be stopped when a dog comes on the court.

We all stopped while one of the mothers shouted at the dog, "Parkinson, go home."

Parkinson sat down next to the net and stared at all of us.

The mother-owner of the dog shouted to her daughter, "Polly, take Parkinson home."

"I can't," the daughter shouted back. "I have to take a sailing lesson."

The mother grabbed Parkinson by the collar and said to the rest of us, "I'll be right back."

Fifteen minutes later she returned and play resumed.

For three minutes. Then another child appeared at the fence. "Mom, Dad wants to know where his bathing suit is."

"It's on the porch where he left it to dry."

"He says it isn't there now."

"Well, tell him to look in the laundry room."

"You better tell him. He's mad as heck. He had to make his own breakfast, and he cut his finger opening a grapefruit."

"I'll be home in a half-hour."

WE MANAGED to get through one game when a lady appeared and shouted, "Sally, do you have a list of the sponsors for the wildlife benefit next week? I need it for the printer right away."

"The list is in my car. I'll get it." Sally went to her car while the rest of us kept swinging our rackets in the air to keep warm.

Game was about to resume when Lucy's 3-year-old walked out on the court and sat on the base line.

"Peter, please don't sit on the base line," Lucy begged. "Go over there by the bench."

Peter just sat there, scratching himself.

Lucy was becoming angry. "Peter, if you don't get off the court I'm going to give you a good spanking."

Peter pursed his lips and then started to cry.

Lucy made a dive for him, but he escaped and ran to the other side of the net.

HE WAS finally grabbed by one of the other mothers and was dragged howling and kicking off the court. He didn't stop screaming for the rest of the morning.

During the set one husband showed up looking for his car keys, and two more dogs appeared on the court — one in heat.

It was a typical Mother's Tennis match, and no different than any I played all summer. The beauty of Mother's Tennis and where it differs from regular tennis is that no one keeps score. Who can remember?

Intestinal Bypass Risky

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 26 years old and have been overweight most of my life. All of my attempts at dieting have failed. I am now seriously considering having an intestinal bypass operation as a last report.

Please tell me the possible side effects I can expect if I decide to have this done. — T. W.

There are some questions that cannot be answered specifically in a health column. This is one of them. You're 26 and you're overweight. That's not much to go on.

If you are tremendously overweight, with no hope of losing, and if it is affecting your general health, which that type of situation certainly would, then such an operation might be considered by your doctor. And it would certainly be "a last resort," as you put it. By last resort is meant that a serious, supervised, calorie reduction diet should have been undertaken. Before such surgery psychologic and extensive physical examinations are made.

The post-operative period can be a troublesome one, even under the best of circumstances, because your body would have to adjust to an entirely new "digestive ballgame." Diarrhea and chemical imbalances occur.

I hope that you do not find such an operation necessary. You should consider one of several sound reducing plans around that offer reasonable (not dramatic) results over extended periods. If you cannot find one on your own, I suggest you try mine. It's included in my booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing." For a copy, send 35 cents to me in care of The Big Spring Herald and enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for return mailing.

Under normal circumstances, the decision for such an operation would be a surgeon's prerogative. I doubt that you would fine one to agree to it unless conditions such as I describe above exist in your individual case.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have white flecks in my urine. I've had a bladder infection for a long time, and am still taking medication. What are the flecks? I have asked my doctor, but he doesn't give me an answer. I drink a lot of liquid, both fruit juices and water. This worries me. — Mrs. J.E.H.

Certain crystalline material, particularly uric acid and phosphates, can appear in the urine. This often becomes more noticeable in urine left standing in a container.

If you consume a lot of fruit juice, the flecks might well be phosphates. These are harmless. And as I mentioned, uric acid material is normally present in urine.

But the flecks might also be associated with your continuing bladder infection. Pus, with a bladder infection, will produce a clouded urine. Apparently your doctor sees nothing unusual in the appearance of your urine samples. If you continue to be concerned, you can request a urinalysis.

A Devotion For Today

"He has no root in himself, but endures for a while, and when tribulation or persecution arises on account of the word, immediately he falls away."
(Matthew 13:21, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord, remind us to strengthen our faith daily by thought of Thee and service to Thy children, for without frequent exercise in these things, faith may grow weak. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Magician, 14, Has Kids' Attention

Little girls sat spellbound at a birthday party at the Neil Spencer home one afternoon this week as an amateur magician performed for the guests. Mary Lynn was the guest of honor and both she and her friends were excited over the magic tricks.

Joe Edwards is 14 years old but he already has three years experience as a magician. He has added a friend to his act and Carl Condray serves as the helper.

He performs for children's groups and recently performed for a crippled children's party in the city.

He has learned the importance of party patter along with the magic tricks and leads the group through a program that includes a lot of small talk.

He makes bottles disappear, umbrellas turn into strips of ribbon and ends with an act that includes a piece of candy for each guest.

His poise on his feet is extraordinary for such a young magician and it keeps the attention off the implementation of the magic.

Joe is really interested in the field and expands and changes his act every time he learns a new trick.

The stage at the Spencer home was the garage and he strung a curtain across the back for his props. The girls sat out front in the driveway.

When nearly 20 little girls sit spellbound and quiet, the youth has indeed performed a little bit of magic.

Joe is the son of the Bill Jacksons and they have been amazed at his persistance in his interest in magic. Acts such as he presents take patience and practice. Joe has a goal in mind and he's aiming toward it.

Reception Is Today

Glenn Cantrell, longtime director of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, will be honored with a reception today from 3 to 5 p.m. at the First Federal Savings and Loan office, 500 Main Street, in Big Spring.

Cantrell, a Howard County native, was one of the original incorporators and directors of the cooperative when it was organized in 1939.

He announced his retirement as a director of Cap Rock after serving in that capacity for 36 years. Cantrell was elected president of the board of directors in 1942 and served continuously in that capacity for 32 years.

All Cap Rock members and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell are invited to join in recognizing them for their many years of dedicated service to the cooperative and its members, according to Cap Rock officials.

PO Employes Plan Banquet

Employes of the local post office will have their annual dinner in the Downtown Tea Room across from the Post office starting at 7 o'clock next Saturday.

Postmaster Frank Hardesty will emcee the event. Aguest speaker is being lined up, Hardesty said.

One of the honor guests at the banquet will be Dave Holster, Midland, the postal department's section center manager. He will also give a short talk.

Families of the employes will also attend, as per custom. An estimated 150 persons likely will be present.

New Emphasis To Be Put On Imunization Here

Immunization Action Month has been approved for October by Mayor Wade Choate in cooperation with concerned citizens who realize diseases still remain a threat.

October has been set aside in the nation for an annual campaign to counter declining immunization levels among preschool children.

Evidence is accumulating that the effort is beginning to pay off. For the first time in more than 10 years, the percentages of children aged one to four years immunized against the major childhood diseases have taken an upward turn, according to figures from the 1974 immunization survey.

The county health nurse will be available in Big Spring at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center on Tuesdays from 8-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m.

Children should have their first diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis vaccine at the age of two months, four months, six months, 18 months and four to six years.

They should have measles, rubella and mumps shots at the age of one year.

They should have the polio vaccine at two months, four months, six months, 18 months and four to six years.

At the age of 14 to 16 years and every 10 years thereafter, persons should have combined tetanus-diphtheria toxoids, adult type.

WITH WEST GERMAN KNOW-HOW

African Leaders Fear Nuclear Arms Race

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Black African leaders say they fear their continent may be on the verge of a nuclear arms race between antagonistic racial blocs with the atomic know-how provided by West German companies.

Dr. Bolaji Akinyemi, Nigeria's chief delegate to a foreign policy symposium here last week, said the Africans were worried that West German firms were passing on potentially dangerous atomic knowledge to white-ruled South Africa — with or without official support.

He said economically more advanced black states may also try to acquire nuclear knowhow if the apartheid regime develops technology putting the A-bomb within reach. Akinyemi is head of the Lagos government's Institute for International Affairs.

His concern was publicly echoed at a news conference Friday by speakers from Tanzania, Sudan and Ghana. Kenyans and other black diplomats attending as observers said they privately shared Akinyemi's fears.

The controversy was sparked by a black liberation front's publication of what it said were top-secret documents stolen from the South African Embassy in Bonn.

The African National Congress of South Africa (ANC) said the papers prove that senior German officials have backed known plans by German concerns to supply reactors to South Africa and help it build a uranium enrichment plant by the mid-80's. Enrichment is the last step before developing a bomb.

The West German government rejected as "absurd" ANC charges that it conspired to give South Africa the Abomb and said it will not authorize exports of enrichment technology to South Africa. Neither Bonn nor South Africa has denied the authenticity of the published documents.

The government confirmed Kraftwerk Union AG of Muehlheim applied for government credit insurance to backstop its planned bid for a South African reactor contract against U.S., French and other competitors.

Armin Gruenewald, deputy spokesman for Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, said the government has sunk $7 billion into nuclear research and technology and no one can expect it to withdraw entirely from nuclear technology exports and let the investment go down the drain.

South Africa controls more than 20 per cent of the world's proved, exploitable uranium resources and provides West Germany with 40 per cent of its uranium supplies.

South Africa's nuclear experts have set up a pilot enrichment plant using a process similar to the German-patented jet nozzle enrichment process, which South Africa claims to have developed independently.

South Africa wants to operate a commercial plant by 1984 to enrich its uranium both for domestic reactor use and export. The plant would be technically capable of enriching uranium to the level required to fuel a bomb, experts say.

West Germany concluded a controversial $4 billion peaceful nuclear package deal with Brazil last June. Like Brazil, neither Pretoria nor the black African states have signed the international nonproliferation treaty limiting further spread of nuclear weapons.

Texas-OU Crowds More Civilized?

DALLAS (AP) — This year's downtown revelry before the annual Texas-Oklahoma football game ended early today with authorities counting the fewest arrests in recent memory.

After city employes hosed down Commerce Street—center of the boozy bedlam — officers listed 100 arrests, including two juveniles.

"That's the lowest figure in many, many years," said police spokesman Bob Shaw.

Shaw said 85 of the arrests were for violation of city ordinances, and most involved public intoxication.

"I didn't even hear of one good fight," he added.

Crowds began gathering along Commerce and other downtown streets early Friday evening in a noisy tribute to this afternoon's Cotton Bowl clash between No. 2 ranked Oklahoma and No. 5 ranked Texas.

"It's just the usual collection of winos and hell raisers," one patrolman, a veteran of the annual blast, said of the pandemonium.

Solid lines of cars with blaring horns inched along as Texas Longhorn fans flashed their the Hook 'em Horns sign with their hands.

Boosters of the Oklahoma team countered with inverted hand signals and shouts of "Boomer Sooner."

"All the ingredients were there for serious trouble but we just didn't have any serious incidents," Shaw said.

IT'S TOUGH ON THE SMALL BUSINESS MAN — Steve Shalita, 13, Los Angeles, thinks the government is too hard on the small businessman. Steve repairs bikes for the neighborhood kids in the family's garage. He even got a friend to help him, and that's when he got in trouble. An inspector for the state Labor Relations Board called to say he was violating laws regarding unlawful employment of minors. His mother tried to explain, but the inspector closed Steve down.

MACHINE 'LIFE'

Death Finally Comes, Controversy Remains

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Randal Carmen, kept alive by machines for nearly three weeks after doctors said his brain had died, was declared legally dead Saturday.

But the controversy over use of life support machines to keep the body breathing and blood circulating remained very much alive.

Randal's father, Richard Carmen of Wellington, said he has asked his attorney to pursue the possibility of legal action.

He said he and his wife would like to spare others from "going through what we've been through."

Elyria Memorial Hospital, which had refused the request from Carmen and his wife to end life supports and let their son "die mercifully," said Randal died at 2:55 a.m. Saturday.

"His heart finally gave out," said Carmen. "It was on the machine. But the heart can take only so much from the machine."

Randal lapsed into a coma Sept. 21 after being struck in the head during a neighborhood football game.

"The brain was dead. He had no brain whatsoever," Carmen said. "Clergymen, doctors, ..almost everyone I talked to agreed that where there is no brain pattern, the patient is dead."

But hospital administrator James C. Brown said, "We do everything in our power to maintain life saving procedures regardless of the condition of the patient."

Carmen's attorney, Joseph J. Cirigliano, said that with Randal's death the issue appeared to be "a moot point as far as the parents are concerned, but if there is some kind of action that could be sustained in the courts, I'm authorized to go ahead with it."

Carmen and his wife said Friday that in view of their son's rapidly deteriorating condition they would not press legal action at that time. However, Cirigliano said they changed their position after a lengthy family conference Friday night.

Carmen said he had been informed that at least one state legislator is preparing a bill which would provide a legal definition of death, permitting removal of life supports in such cases.

The father suggested use of committees in similar cases. "I'd like to see a couple of doctors, perhaps a lawyer ... let them decide with the parents what should be done in cases where the brain is dead."

Cirigliano said the hospital's reluctance to end life supports apparently stemmed from fears of possible lawsuits.

The case of Randal differed from that of Karen Quinlan, a young New Jersey woman who has been in a coma since April, in that Randal's brain was dead, while Miss Quinlan's physicans say only that she has suffered irreparable brain damage.

Miss Quinlan's parents want her taken off life support systems and have gone to court for permission. On Friday the state prosecutor filed an argument saying that would be the same as a premeditated killing.

Possibilities Of HC Blood Bank Explored

For years, the hospitals of Big Spring have depended on Blood banks in San Angelo and Abilene as sources of blood when the need arises. This has not been ideal, because the city's needs were supplied only after those of the two cities were met, according to Norman Knox, administrator at Malone and Hogan Hospital.

Paul Ausmus, lab manager at MHH, has been concerned about this situation for quite some time, and recently began looking into the possibilities of establishing a community blood donor center here in Big Spring. This would put the patient in this community first when it comes to the need for blood.

Anne Looney, chief technician at MHH, estimates that Big Spring uses 60 to 80 units of blood per month. Through the mobile blood service units operated by the Jaycees in July, donors only provided 27 units. This is obviously short of the city's needs, but Ausmus believes that if the citizens know of the need for blood there would be no problem in getting donors.

Because it is a community service which will benefit all hospitals and patients in Big Spring, the Volunteers have accepted the responsibility of setting up and operating a service at MHH. Big Spring donors will come to MHH where trained technicians from the West Texas Blood Bank Service will take blood for the bank. From there fresh units will be delivered weekly to hospitals in Big Spring.

Volunteers will act as hostesses on the designated day, and will serve as official representatives of the Blood Bank for Big Spring.

A committee of Volunteers has been named which will meet with Grady Simms of the West Texas Blood Service, as well as various representatives from community hospitals on Tuesday at MHH. They will make plans for beginning the weekly service as soon as possible.

Former Resident Appears In Play

Robert Beal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beal, Gail Route, will appear at Granny's Dinner Playhouse in Dallas with the cast of "Bottoms Up '76" for a six-week run.

The play, which has just completed a three-month stay at Harrah's, in Reno, Nevada, has been called "an entirely new and refreshing departure in the local dinner scene" by the drama editor of the Dallas Morning News.

Beal has been with the group for two years and performs a solo number with two women of the ten member cast during the revue.

The show, which has never been seen in the round before, opened its six week run on Oct. 7.

After Dallas the cast will go to Australia for a two-month stint.

Juvenile Board To Add Member

LAMESA — The Dawson County commissioners court will appoint a member to the county juvenile board, act on the handling of insurance, water and lights for the Dawson County Community building, appoint a county historical commission and review an audit of the South Plains Health Unit when it meets in regular session here Monday morning.

In addition, the court will appoint an election judge for Box 17 to replace Mrs. W. T. Snellgrove, deceased.

The second lecture of the Principles of Land & Leasing course, will be presented Monday evening, October 13, from 7-10.

The speaker will be Jack Huff, oil operator, who graduated from The University of Texas at Austin Law School.

His lecture will deal with oil, gas and other minerals lease forms; definition of terms; mineral and royalty deeds; and delay rental payments.

The second lecture of the Oil and Gas Fundamentals course will be presented Thursday evening, October 16, from 7-10 by Dr. Jack G. Elam, consultant, Midland.

DEATHS

Regina Rios

Services for Regina Rios, stillborn daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rios, 808 N. Gregg, will be held at 1:00 p.m. at Trinity Memorial Park.

Bicentennial Town Crier

Here comes Homecoming Oct. 17th and 18th and so much is afoot that we can't tell it all! But the parade is shaping up as a blockbuster, and you can still enter a float by calling Craig Fischer, vice-principal, at Big Spring High School. A number of antique cars are expected to spice up the show. The Friday, Oct. 17th, assembly is open to the public at both 9:30 and 10 a.m. Tentative plans include our own Medal of Honor winner, George O'Brien, Uncle Sam Paul Ruiz, and those tremendous Meistersingers and pit band performing the bicentennial theme music composed and directed by Gene Currie. Since this assembly will be this year's tribute to Veteran's, you won't want to miss it! See you there.

Way out front! That's the way the 1953 Hyperion, headed by president Janet Middleton, rates in bicentennial concern! Not only have they just about completed arrangements for their own unique bicentennal gift to the community (Beverly Taylor, Shirley McKenzie, Luan Stallings, and Grace Peters led the way on this) but they are the first local organization to agree to help finance "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere". The play is to be performed twice on Nov. 25th under auspices of Big Spring Schools. If your club can contribute, contact Dr. Emmett McKenzie at 7-8245.

Rave reviews came to us about the Bicentennial Tea hosted by the Philathea Class of First United Methodist Church last Sunday. Banners decorated with blow-ups of the Liberty Bell, American Eagle, and Statue of Liberty will continue to grace Fellowship Hall for other affairs in months to come. Entertainment was furnished by the Nuts and Bolts and Margaret Baum provided incidental piano music. A little bird told us Mrs. Paul Guy was responsible for part of the decorating, but such an ambitious affair (around 300) attended surely required the help of all those pretty ladies dressed in red, white and blue. Thanks to Anne Darrow for keeping us informed.

Shades of Martha Washington! Time seemed to roll backward on Washington Blvd. on Oct. 10. Strolling colonial dames were on every hand at the Colonial Luncheon of the Modern Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles. President Mrs. W. E. (Lois) Singleton thinks this is a sure way to get the club off to a smashing bicentennial year. We agree!

Tid-bits: Riet Kionka and the hard-working Concert Association used bicentennial decorations for their fall dinner . . . Mansfield rides again — but it was Mary Nell, not Toots, hosting the elegant party for the Country Store Art Show at Heritage Museum. All done up in red, white and blue, it was a timely bicentennial salute . . . Wouldn't you know Arah Phillips and her staff at Jack and Jill Kindergarten would find a way to impress even the youngest about bicentennial? Their parade was a living memorial to our 200th birthday!

THE WEEK

Tidwell, who married a local girl, started his career in Big Spring at the age of 16. He walked into a 250-watt station and asked for a job. The station manager suggested: "Go to a smaller station and get experience." Tidwell replied, "I didn't KNOW there was a smaller station."

He worked for a 100-watt station a couple of days when the first manager called and said: "You have your experience. Come on to work."

Tickets for that Nov. 29 performance in Midland of "Give 'Em Hell, Harry," starring Ed Nelson, are now on sale exclusively at The Record Center, located at 2507 West Wall in Midland, and are priced at $5.50, $6.50 and $7.50. Those who write for them should include a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the return of the ducats. The show will be in the Lee High School auditorium

Critics have been ecstatic in their praise of the one-man show which, of course, is about the late Harry S. Truman. When Margaret Truman Daniel, daughter of the president, saw it, she explained "My God, it's my father!"

This promises to be a very good year for the Heritage Museum here. Attendance is running ahead of last year and memberships are at an all-time peak.

The recent Country Store art show attracted more attention than any exhibit the museum has ever shown.

When the Primitive Baptist Church opened here 32 years ago, B. R. Howze was the elder. (The membership prefers that title over preacher). Howze is still going strong as the church's chief spokesman. The church had 16 charter members. Its membership now totals 130. It's in the midst of its anniversary meeting this weekend.

Don Slaton of Abilene expressed great interest when Howard County voters approved bonds to build a Howard College coliseum.

Slaton promotes wrestling and would like to bring a regular show in here. He's drawn some impressive crowds in the municipal auditorium — a place not built for his type of program.

Over the years, the former Big Springer, Pat O'Dowdy, has paid more rent money to the Ector County Coliseum directors than any other tenant, and is still doing a banner business in Odessa.

The Waxahachie (Tex.) Chamber of Commerce is the latest agency to express interest in Big Spring's painted fireplugs. The city's school kids will undertake a similar project.

Things I didn't know until recently:

That you have to teach a hawk to kill if it has been in captivity since birth....That the average American is paying $1.70 today for the same goods and service he bought for only $1 a decade ago....Has your income kept pace accordingly?....That when Gilbert Stuart painted that famous "unfinished" portrait of George Washington (it hung in every school room 50 years ago), he did so with the knowledge that Washington didn't like him because he was a Tory.

Willie (The Knuck) Ramsdell, who pitched with great distinction for the Big Spring baseball mercenaries prior to World War II and who went on to reap many headlines in a stint with the old Brooklyn Dodgers, died several years ago of cancer in Wichita, Kansas.

Word received here recently revealed that Ramdell's son, Willard Jr., has also departed this vale of tears. Willie's mother still lives in Chanute, Kansas.

Willie was brought here on the recommendation of a barber named Smith and more than lived up to all promises made for him. He was a winner for Fort Worth in the old Texas League and for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League before Brooklyn called him up. It was his madcap adventures away from the diamond that kept him in the headlines.

'BUG STAINED TEETH'

Ballad Of Ticketing Cop Popular Song

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — William "Ticket" Taylor just sat and grinned with those "big ol' bug-stained teeth" as the songwriter plucked his guitar and sang about the motorcycle cop's exploits.

Officer Taylor doesn't deny he would ticket his own grandmother or a moving train if he got the chance. That's why he takes a new country-rock ballad about himself "pretty well."

He is not one to interfere with a living legend.

The song was written by Marine Sgt. Verlon Thompson, 21, who never wound up on the other end of a Taylor ticket. But according to Thompson, just about everybody else in this small community south of Miami has.

Sgt. Thompson put the ballad on tape, took it to a radio station and it's on the air so often that even Taylor hears it when he stops at a roadside diner for coffee.

"It was getting late in the afternoon. I was cruisin' down Krome Avenue," goes the ballad of Ticket Taylor. "I got to get to my baby's house on time. I looked into the ol' rear view. I saw a man on a motorcycle dressed in blue. It was Ticket Taylor cruisin' up behind...."

"I guess I got that name laid on me about 4½ years ago when I started laying tickets on violators around here," Taylor said.

"Ticket? That ain't all they call me. I guess it's because I seem to write more tickets than anybody else. Accidents, parking tickets, moving, non-moving violations. I'm just doing my job."

Sgt. Thompson would like his song to become a national country hit. He's plugging it every chance he gets.

THE BALLAD OF TICKET TAYLOR — Word has it around Homestead, Fla., that motorcycle cop William (Ticket) Taylor (L) would ticket his own grandmother. A budding country-rock musician, Marine Sgt. Verlon Thompson, 21, (R) has written a song about Taylor called "Ticket Taylor" and hopes to make it into a national country hit.

WORKING ON EXHIBIT — Arbry Simpkins of Sweetwater is shown working on the tin craft and glass art he will be exhibiting at the October Occasion Arts and Crafts Show to be held in Colorado City next Saturday. The Cultural Committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the third annual event. It will be held from 10 a.m., until 6 p.m., at the Civic Center at Third and Oak Streets. More than 50 persons have requested space to display and sell items like pottery, oil paintings, watercolors, weavings, jewelry, wood carvings, leather craft and other items. Admission is free to the public.

Raza Unida Split Said Arrest Cause

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — Mayor Arturo Gonzalez says the charges against him and 19 other persons in this South Texas town are politically motivated and follow a split of the Raza Unida party.

Gonzalez and the others, including the school superintendent and the local director of urban renewal, were arrested Friday following a complaint by County Judge Jose Angel Gutierrez.

Gutierrez alleged in the complaint he believed the persons named in the peace bond complaint were "about to commit an offense against my person, family and property."

Those arrested were released on bonds of $1,000 set by Justice of the Peace Frank Moreno.

Gonzalez and Rodolfo Palomo, director of urban renewal, said Gutierrez filed the complaint as a reaction to a suit against him for slander which was filed by Gonzalez and other city officials.

Palomo said Gutierrez "is just playing politics and is trying to gain strength in his defense against our lawsuit against him."

Gutierrez is national chairman of the Raza Unida party.

Variety Of Services Is Offered By Agency Here

Permian Basin Planned Parenthood is another agency in Big Spring that relies on funds from United Way to keep it going.

The purpose of Planned Parenthood is to offer family planning services to the community to help assure that every baby born may be a wanted, healthy child.

The agency offers a variety of services, primarily to indigents but open to anyone. Planned Parenthood will perform complete physical examinations which test for sickle cell anemia, pregnancy, breast and cervical cancer, and venereal disease.

Expert counseling is offered regarding all forms of birth control. The agency has an all-woman staff that specializes in helping to choose the form of birth control that is right for each individual.

Planned Parenthood also provides an expert referral service for abortion, sterilization or any needed treatment.

Planned Parenthood educational service presents a variety of lectures and programs to area schools and community organizations concerning such topics as sex education, personal hygiene, and birth control. The agency is planning to begin an education program at the U.M.C.A. in Midland.

Permian Basin Planned Parenthood is now helping 478 regular patients. If in need of assistance, contact Planned Parenthood at the Permian Building, 113 W. 2nd, 263-7591.

District Plans For Election

The Howard Soil and Water Conservation District will conduct an election for a member of the board at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Federal Building.

Persons 21 years of age and older owning farm or rangeland in the zone are eligible to vote. Spouses of these land owners also may cast ballots in the election.

Jerry Iden now serves as director for the zone. The zone is bounded by the county line, State Highway 176, U. S. 87 and Farm Road 1584, Jack Elrod, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), said.

Board officers also will be designated at the Tuesday meeting.

Other business includes setting priorities for Great Plains Conservation program applications and hearing a report on SCS activities.

Tower Speaker To Rotarians

U. S. Sen. John Tower will address the intercity meeting of the Rotary Clubs of West Texas Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Fair Park Coliseum in Lubbock.

Five Big Springers, Jimmy Anderson, Charles Beil, Malcolm Patterson, Dub Pearson and District Governor Ralph McLaughlin, will attend the meeting.

Tower will also appear at a 4:15 p.m. news conference at the Hilton Inn.

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND"

Public Offered U.S. Surplus 1937 Art Prints

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special) - A series of rare coincidences has led to the historic discovery of several thousand sets of full color antique art prints that were "lost since 1937." They are now being offered to the American public.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th centuries - the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Gainsborough, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

ABANDONED IN 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

The lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agree that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction is incredibly accurate. Over $100,000.00 had been spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates.

These authentic original 1937 prints are literally collector's items and have been appraised by a member of The Antique Appraisal Assoc. of America, Inc. at $7.00 each print. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC

Now, after 38 years these full color 11"x14" (ave. size) prints are finally available to the public at $12.95 for a collection of 12 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Art Surplus, Dept. D11, 4816 MacArthur Blvd. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and BankAmericard OK (give card number and expiration date).

Token Pickets Return Here

Token picketing of Furr's Cafeteria in the Highland South Shopping Center started anew Saturday.

Three striking employes of Furr's Cafeterias Inc., Central Kitchen of Lubbock engaged in picketing immediately in front of the cafeteria here at 11 a.m., Saturday and were due to depart about 7 o'clock last night. They were Frank Arebalo, Joe Peña and Delfino Cruz.

Arebalo, spokesman for the group, said members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters District Local P-777, which represents the striking employes, will go to Furr's locations in other states to start picket lines the coming weeks, specifically in New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado.

Three company representatives met with four striking employes and two officers of the local for an hour in Lubbock Friday, but no concessions were made by either side. This was the 18th meeting held since the strike was declared.

Basic items sought by the strikers include seniority, probationary periods, job bidding, recall rights, lunch breaks, union security and weekly guarantees.

'Blithe Spirit' Due Oct. 24-25

Members of the Hawk Players are deep into rehearsals for the Oct. 24-25 production of "Blithe Spirit," which will be presented in the Howard College Auditorium nightly at 8:30.

John S. Gordon is directing the Noel Coward comedy hit, assisted by Kathi Spannaus while Mark Sheedy will be the stage manager of the production.

"Blithe Spirit" was written in a couple of weeks during the early WW. II years, when Coward was resting from assignments entertaining British overseas troops.

Impressed by the gallantry of the British people under the battering bombardment of the terrible air raids of that city, Coward decided to write a farce to help the people take their minds off their troubles. "Blithe Spirit" was the result.

In the play, Coward conceived of the notion of a man happily married to his second wife who is suddenly confronted by the ghost of his first wife. The ghost calmly announces that she intends to live with the couple indefinitely and proceeds to do so. This is the starting point for a series of the most hilarious episodes written into a play.

Included in the cast are Cindy McDonald as Edith, Debbie Martin as Ruth, Lee Gordon as Charles, Robin von Rosenberg as Violet Bradman, Kay Hepner as Madame Arcati and Jan Cass as Elvira.

Cindy McDonald is a sophomore biology major at HC. She graduated from Sands High School at Ackerly, where her 1974 role as Ruth Warren in the UIL one-act play, "Still Stands The House," won for her district and area competition honors as a member of the all-star cast.

She also appeared in the high school senior class production of "The Girl That I Marry" and as the little girl in an earlier UIL one-act play, "The Happiest Scarecrow." Cindy's busy schedule also permits her to serve as a cheerleader for HC.

Debbie Martin, of Forsan, is a freshman at HC. She appeared in several productions while in high school. Her roles included Matilda in "Huckleberry Finn," Ann in "Cheaper by the Dozen," Peggy in "Goodbye to the Clown" and Cindy in "Of Poems, Youth and Spring."

The last two were UIL one-act plays, which brought her all-star cast honors in both 1974 and '75.

She has also achieved recognition for her competitive prose interpretation, placing first in her high school district her senior year. Debbie has received additional drama training at Angleo State University. While there, she appeared as "Natalie" in "The Darkest Hour."

Hazelip Will Be Speaker

NCOA To Name Committeemen

The Permian Chapter of the Noncommissioned Officers Association will elect two members to the executive committee at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The monthly meeting will be held in the NCO Club at Webb Air Force Base, SSgt. Bill Richardson said.

Lubbock Amputee Stays Busy Helping Others

By JAMES WERRELL

Loyal Lockard, a quiet, pleasant man, lost his right leg in 1972 to gangrene and accompaning complications. A year later his left leg was amputated for the same reason.

Reflecting on those trying days, Lockard said, "There was a phase of encouragement after the operations when I said to myself 'I can't quit. I have to learn to walk.' It was then I saw that I could help others, especially older men."

Since then Lockard has been a familiar face around the Big Spring Veterans Hospital where both of his operations were performed.

He makes the drive from his home in Lubgock every Wednesday in his specially equipped Toyota station wagon. Manual acceleration and cruise controls have been installed in the car, along with special manual brakes. Lockard says that the car is also built conveniently low to the ground, with plenty of room in back for his wheel chair. "This is especially important for the amputee," he said.

He first became interested in volunteer work at the hospital when he went there with representatives of the Lubbock Artificial Limb Co. " I saw men that I thought I could help. I was an older, walking example of what could be accomplished", he said.

With the help of Dale Freeman, the hospital's head of prosthetic activities, and Richard Arnold, corrective therapy assistant, Lockard became acquainted with the workings of the therapy room. "At first, I would just go to the room and sit and talk with the patients. Gradually I got to the point where I thought I was being helpful," he said.

"I have to be very careful when I try to help. The psychological aspect of a patient's recovery is still a problem. There is a right time and a wrong time to encourage and I am still learning about this. You have to ease into it," Lockard explained.

"There was a time when I felt helpless and useless," he said. "Then I adjusted to a wheelchair and eventually regained the freedom of walking," he added.

Lockard now lives alone at his house in Lubbock and is almost entirely self-sufficient. He cooks for himself, and requires only a once-a week visit from a housekeeper to do the chores he can't manage.

"I am very wrapped up in books and music. I especially enjoy fiction set in Biblical times. It makes the Bible come alive for me, and makes those days easier to picture," he said.

"As far as music is concerned, I listen mostly to my old records, big band music," said Lockard. "I bought a record by the Carpenters the other day, though, and it is just great," he said.

This last summer Lockard made a 1500 mile trip through Kansas by himself. At the request of a friend, he examined mobile homes in Wichita Falls, specially designed for amputees. From there he travelled to his birthplace in Norton and visited friends and relatives before returning to Lubbock. "I managed pretty well at motels and filling stations, too," he said.

As he got behind the wheel of his car for the trip back to Lubbock, Wednesday Loyal Lockard said, "The VA Hospital has done so much for me. It is such a small thing that I do for them." It seems certain, though, that those who have been helped by him would heartily disagree.

Air Lift Next Sunday To Benefit Campaign

March of Dimes' annual Airlift will be next Sunday, Vaughn Martin, Caprock chapter chairman, has announced.

Planes donated and flown by local pilots will be taking off all afternoon for 15-minute circuits of the city. Tickets will cost $2 for adults and $1 for children. Proceeds will be used in March of Dimes work against birth defects.

New Caprock chapter board members were introduced at the meeting. They are Gloria Ochotorena, Felice Logan, Sandy Silbilsky, Mattie Watson, Kathy Hopper, Norma Porter, Angie Alderton, Andra Hoharte, Terry Howell, and Mike Evans.

The chapter which met Tuesday night, decided to sponsor a bus to the Nov. 1 birth defects youth conference in Odessa. This conference is patterned after a highly successful birth defects symposium attended by 180 West Texas students last year in Lubbock.

Chapter executive secretary Rose Teems announced that she has placed March of Dimes educational packets in the Howard County Library and with Big Spring radio stations. She also is preparing to send packets to all libraries in the chapter area.

Mrs. Teems said that she had arranged March of Dimes educational booths at three area county fairs during September. The Lamesa Optimists Club sponsored the MOD booth at the Dawson County Fair, a Snyder study club manned the Scurry County Fair booth, and the Big Spring Kiwanis Club donated the Howard County Fair booth.

One of the birth defects educational programs Mrs. Teems has presented this month was for 8 mothers-to-be who are members of the Big Spring Individual Guidance Class for Student Age Parents.

Field representative Ed Ramey from Lubbock reported to the chapter that the National Foundation March of Dimes raised $49 million last year, a $3 million increase over the previous year.

"Birth defects research and medical service grants received $26 million of that $49 million last year," said Ramey. Birth defects public education took the largest share of remaining MOD proceeds.

Ramey noted that part of the money raised locally helped finance a grant for a field heart monitor based out of Lubbock.

Midlanders Hurt In London Blast

LONDON (AP) — One person was killed and 20, including five Americans, were wounded slightly when a bomb exploded at a bus stop shelter in London's Piccadilly district.

No group claimed responsibility for the Thursday night blast, but detectives said the charge could have been planted by Irish extremists.

Fifty-six persons have now been killed and about 800 wounded in terrorist bombings in England in the last three years.

Most of the casualties Thursday night were people standing at the bus stop when the bomb went off. Witnesses said the blast tore off the shelter roof and hurled chunks of metal across the broad thoroughfare.

Police said the single fatality was a man in his early 20s. He had been standing almost on top of the bomb, hidden in a parcel left at the bus stop a few yards from the subway entrance, police said.

Hospital officials said the other casualties only had minor wounds. They included Larry Land, 33, his wife and two sons, from Midland, Tex., who were taking an evening stroll through Piccadilly—one of London's main tourist attractions— when the blast went off.

'COMPUTERCIDE'

Computerized Society Creates New Crime

DALLAS (AP) — A dishonest employe steals a company's master file on magnetic tape and sells it for a large sum of money.

A disgruntled employe destroys virtually every magnetic tape file and computer program possessed by his company and auditors doubt that enough information can be salvaged to save the firm.

A bank programmer alters a savings account computer program and causes the bank to lose thousands of dollars.

An employe steals more than $1 million by rigging computer programs at a New York bank.

These are examples of "computercide," a crime which is growing as the nation's businesses become increasingly dependent on electronic gadgetry to store their financial data.

And, it's a crime that a Dallas man, Louis Scoma, has set out to stop.

Scoma, president of a security firm that specializes in protecting computers, said in an interview that at least 80 per cent of the nation's more than 110,000 computers are used to store financial information.

"Commercial empires will tumble unless management takes immediate steps to prevent computercide—the destruction of their computer or the manipulation of state which is stored in them," he warned.

"Data processing is the nerve center in many corporations, and many companies have been caught by surprise at their dependency on this equipment," Scoma said. "They often know little about how to protect their valuable information."

Scoma has been in data processing since 1954, working for companies such as IBM, American Telephone & Telegraph, and with government agencies such as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

He became intrigued with computer security while working at NASA in the early 1960s during Project Mercury.

"When I saw the amount of security the government was taking to protect this mission and assure it would be flawless, I began to see the need that many corporations would have at a later date. They would be just as dependent on computers as NASA and they would need similar security measures to insure against interruption of their businesses," he said.

A number of the nation's major companies are now using the services of Scoma's Data Processing Security, Inc. Scoma employs about 25 computer experts as consultants. They work with companies to spot their security weaknesses and make recommendations for protection.

As an example, Scoma's consultants may recommend the use of a device that sounds off any time someone tries to leave a room with a reel of magnetic computer tape. Scoma's company, however, does not sell the security hardware. It only designs security systems.

Clients may pay from $6,000 to $20,000 for this service, in addition to the money they may spend later to implement a security plan recommended by Scoma's company.

Claims Phones were Tapped

KELLER, Tex. (AP) — The FBI said today it is investigating reports that a telephone conversation between Mayor George Richardson and Police Chief Lloyd Bailey was wiretapped.

"We have received a complaint," said Fort Worth FBI agent Ronald Brown. He said the alleged wiretap was made last summer.

A hearing was held Sept. 9 on whether to remove Richardson from office. At the hearing, an alleged tape recording was mentioned.

The City Council voted last week to oust Richardson from office on allegations of incompetency. The move was blocked when Richardson secured a court restraining order.

A hearing on the order is set for Friday.

Rotary Governor Will 'Visit' With BS Club

District Governor Ralph McLaughlin of Big Spring will make his official visit to the Big Spring Rotary Club, holding a club assembly on the evening of Monday, Oct. 20, and speaking at the regular Rotary Club meeting, Tuesday noon.

McLaughlin will discuss the program of the coming year for the 45 Clubs in this 573rd District of Rotary International, which covers most of Northwest Texas. The theme for Rotary this year is "To Dignify the Human Being".

McLaughlin is a native of Ralls, and is a 1949 graduate of Texas Tech. He has been in business in Big Spring for 25 years in the wholesale firm of Saunders Company Inc., distributors of plumbing, piping, valves and pumping equipment. He is president of that firm. He is also a director of the Security State Bank & Trust Co. of Ralls.

He and his wife, Billye, recently flew their plane to the International Assembly at Boca Raton Florida, on to the International Convention at Montreal Canada, and back by the International Secretariat at Evanston, Ill.

In Civic work, he has been active in a host of affairs. Recently he has served on the Big Spring Independent School District board, has been president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and is serving on the Big Spring Industrial Foundation. He has been active in his church, serving as senior and junior warden several times, and is a lay reader.

Finds Indian Community

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — A Southern Methodist University anthropologist says he has found evidence that "marrow bone springs" in Arlington was an Indian gathering place.

William Westbury, who teaches anthropology classes at SMU while engaged in graduate study, found portions of flint arrowheads on the historic site.

Shooting Probe Is Progressing

SWEETWATER — Peace officers here say they are making progress in their investigation of a shooting in which John McDougal, publisher of the Sweetwater newspaper, was the supposed victim.

McDougal's automobile was hit by gunfire as he and his family neared their home after having their evening meal in a restaurant.

The shooting occurred during a crackdown on illegal sale of alcohol and following an election which legalized the sale of liquor for off-premises consumption.

The newspaper had come out in support of the legalization of liquor sales.

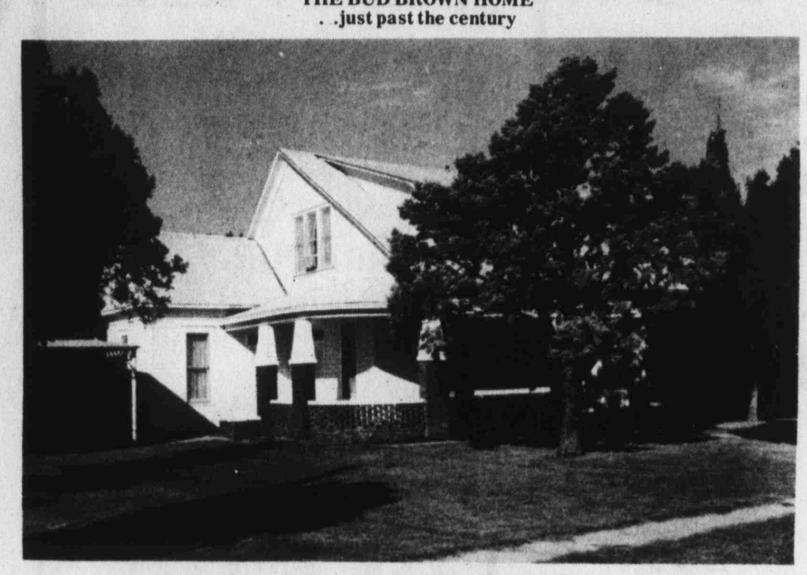
THE BUD BROWN HOME
. .just past the century



THE N.W. WOMACK HOME
. .with a face lift

Home's Original Owner Often Changed Decor

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series about homes built in Big Spring prior to 1915. They will each by certified by the Horizons committee of the bicentennial. Anyone interested in nominating a home, call Mrs. Carol Hunter at 263-8956.

By MARJ CARPENTER

The G. L. Bud Brown home located at 608 Ayleford was built shortly after the turn of the century in order that the Browns could move into Big Spring from west of town so that their three children could attend school.

Brown, along with W. P. Edwards, began the West Texas National Bank in 1903 and Brown served as president. Mrs. Brown, a gregarious and vivacious woman who loved to entertain family and friends in the 11 room house, was a great lover of music and played both the piano and the fiddle.

Mrs. Brown liked to remodel homes about the way many women like to move furniture. Every few years, she would change something. Major changes were made between 1922 and 1927 when the cupola which held her sewing room was torn out to make the master bedroom larger. At that time, windows were added across the front, changing the whole appearance.

Mrs. Jack Clark, a granddaughter born in the house, fondly recalls warm memories of the house and of her grandparents. She can recall several weddings in the home, many taffy pulls and a famous fish fry.

Her grandfather caught an 80 pound catfish and with no way to freeze it, her grandmother cooked it and invited at least half the town.

The Browns were close friends of John and Dora Roberts throughout the years. Both were from ranching families as well as being neighbors on Ayleford.

Mrs. Brown died in 1934 and he died ten years later. At that time, the home was sold.

Today, the house is owned by the N. W. Womacks, who purchased it in the late 40s and have raised their three children there also.

They also remodeled the home, modernizing it and yet keeping the mill work and even the staircase and the transoms of bygone days.

Mrs. Clark recalls that the youngsters in that home used to eavesdrop on their elders through those transoms. They could spy from the staircase into the parlor via the transoms while supposedly they were asleep.

It's very possible that the Womack children later discovered this secret.

From the beginning, for the almost 75 years, it has been a real family home.

TUS Is Suing Westinghouse

Texas Utilities Services Inc., a subsidiary of Texas Utilities Co., today announced that it had filed a suit against Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Federal Court in Dallas to require Westinghouse to furnish uranium at the price stipulated in an agreement dated May 11, 1973, or to pay damages in lieu of performance of its contract.

Texas Utilities Co. is the parent firm of Texas Electric Service Co.

W. G. Marquardt, President of Texas Electric, said "we contracted for this fuel well in advance and at a favorable price. Since Westinghouse has now informed us that they will not fulfill this contract, we find it necessary to file this suit to protect the interests of the people we serve."

Texas Utilities Services Inc., as agent for Texas Electric, Dallas Power & Light Co. and Texas Power & Light Co., had entered into the agreement with Westinghouse to purchase uranium at prices substantially below today's market. This fuel would furnish the first two years' requirements for each of the two 1.15 million kilowatt generating units now under construction at the Comanche Peak Steam Electric Station near Glen Rose, Texas.

On Sept. 8, 1975, Westinghouse notified the company that it would not supply all of the uranium at the contracted price because of substantial increases in the market price of uranium brought on by the world energy crisis.

Five More Legislators Are Backing Document

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Five more state legislators have announced their support of the proposed new Texas constitution, saying the document would close loopholes in the present constitution "through which $2 billion in state debt has been incurred."

The legislators, Reps. Bill Sullivant, D-Gainesville; Bill Coody, D-Weatherford; Tom Cartlidge, D-Henrietta; Ed Mayes, D-Granberry; and Walt Parker, Denton; put thier backing behind the proposed constitution Friday.

"The new document allows farm and ranch land to be taxed according to its productive capacity, rather than according to its speculative value, and forbids state taxes on food, medicine, farm machinery, feed,seed and fertilizer," they said.

"Our new constituion streamlines our antiquated judicial system and gives us the tools to greatly speed up the administration of justice incriminal cases," they said.

Texas voters will either accept or reject the proposed constitution in a Nov. 4 referendum. The proposed document was passed by he 1975 Texas Legislature.

In other developments Friday concerning the proposed constitution:

—Baylor University President Abner McCall joined a State Bar committee backing adoption of the proposed judiciary article.

"We need to arm ourselves with every weapon possible to fight the war on crime," McCall said.

Deadline Looms For Nominations

Nominating petitions for the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee election are being sought from persons and their spouses with farm and ranching interests in Howard County.

Oct. 28 is the last day for nominating by petition, Tim D. Hall, ASC county executive director, said.

Community committeemen elected by the voters will choose one county committeeman Dec. 10. Donny Reid, Sand Springs, is serving a term which expires Dec. 31.

Sixteen teams will be entered in the celebrated 13th Annual High School Girls' Caprock Volleyball Tournament Friday and Saturday sponsored by Howard College.

The first ball will be thrown up at 9 a.m., Friday with the championship set for 8 p.m., Saturday. Both the Steer and Hawk gyms will be used for games Friday and through quarterfinal play Saturday.

Big Spring, under the rookie tutelage of Nancy Deason, could well be a strong threat for honors based on an 11-4 over-all record.

Big Spring, 5-1, off to a slow start, has moved into a contending role in District 5-4A, trailing league leader Midland by one game.

Last year's champ, Midland, returns to defend its crown. Big Spring won the title three years back. Plains, coached by Deason last year, will also be present.

Wanda Fergason, women's athletic coach at Howard College, will serve as tournament director.

Big Spring's Charley Johnson, Denver Bronco quarterback, will again serve as the team's offensive captain. Rich Upchurch and Jack Dolbin add a new dimension to the Broncos' receiving corp that Johnson calls, "as good as any in the league."

The two newcomers join Haven Moses and Billy Van Heusen as targets for Johnson's passes. "Haven can do everything," said Johnson. "He's very subtle in his approach to a pattern. Billy is driving hard all the time. 'Church' gets to the break point so quick he sneaks up on them and Jack is very, very definite and quick in his moves."

★★★

Dallas will be out to keep its winning streak intact today, visiting New York and the Giants. The Cowboys preserved their unblemished mark with a 36-10 victory at Detroit last Monday night, after the Giants had dropped a 26-14 decision at St. Louis Sunday.

Dallas is one of five unscarred NFL teams, joining Minnesota, Buffalo, Oakland and Cincinnati in that category. The Cowboys lead the 16-year-old series, 16-9-2. New York won last year in Dallas, 14-6 and Dallas won in New Haven, 21-7.

The game will be televised by CBS starting at 12 noon, CDT.

★★★

Sportsmen who own 1975 pickup trucks and passenger cars equipped with catalytic converters need to think twice before driving through a pasture of dry grass during the hunting season.

Temperatures inside the converters reach 1,200-1,300 degrees Fahrenheit, twice the temperature of regular exhaust systems. Since converters are slow to cool, such equipped vehicles could start a grass fire — no way to treat a hunting lease.

WHAT'S IT WORTH DEPARTMENT — Texas Hall of Famer Sammy Baugh and Kansas City Chiefs' owner Lamar Hunt will be in Midland Wednesday for a kickoff drive to locate a permanent home for the state athletic Hall of Fame.

The two will meet at 5 p.m., at the Midland Petroleum Club.

An eight-acre site on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike near Beltline Road in Grand Priarie for the building has been donated and now a statewide drive is underway to raise $2,500,000 for development of the site.

Mississippi State Lucks Out, 28-14

Houston, Tex. (AP) — Walter Packer and Terry Vitano scored touchdowns on one-yard plunges in the first 3:52 of the game to ignite Mississippi State to a 28-14 college football victory over luckless Rice University Saturday night.

Mississippi State, recently placed on probation by the NCAA, pounced on a fumble and interception by Rice and turned them into a quick 14-0 lead as the game started. Mississippi State moved to a 21-0 lead in the second quarter on a 46-yard pass from freshman quarterback James Harris to Galvin Rees.

Rice finally got on the scoreboard with a five-yard run by Rice quarterback Tommy Kramer for a 21-7 halftime score.

The owls pulled within a touchdown of the Bulldogs on James Sykes' three-yard run in the third quarter but Packer came back with his second touchdown of the game, a zigzagging 44-yard run with 2:46 left in the third period to give MSU its winning bulge.

Mississippi State, which had lost 10 of 14 fumbles in its first four games, had to survive four first half turnovers in route to its 21-7 halftime lead.

Vitrano, Packer and Harris each lost fumbles and starting quarterback Norman Joseph threw an interception.

The victory gave MSU a 3-2 record and Rice dropped to 1 and 3.

Irwin Defends Crown

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Hale Irwin rolled in a 30-foot putt on the 34th hole Saturday for a 4 and 2 victory over Al Geiberger and the $20,500 top prize in the Picadilly World Match Play Golf Championship.

Irwin thus became only the second man in the 12-history of this tournament to successfully defend his crown. The only other player to do so was Gary Player of South Africa, who has won this title a total of five times but did not compete this year.

The 36-hole final on Wentworth club's 6,997-yard, par-73 course see-sawed in the early going as a gallery of 3,500 watched. Geiberger twice led during the morning round, but Irwin went ahead to stay at the 16th hole and wrapped it up with his birdie putt on the 34th after he had laid a perfect six-iron shot to the green.

Geiberger, who earned $10,250 as runner-up, played par golf on the first 12 holes of each of the final two rounds but then ran into trouble at the 13th each time.

In the morning round, after twice being in the lead, he missed a putt from six feet on the 13th, allowing Irwin to pull even. In the afternoon, Irwin was two-up as they came to the 13th, and again Geiberger bogeyed while Irwin parred.

Despite his victory, Irwin, the 1974 U.S. Open champion, was not satisfied with his game.

"I played awful compared with the last two days," he said. "I missed the fairways more often than in the first two days put together."

OVERFLOW CROWD

A&M Slides By Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Sixth-ranked Texas A&M, angry and awesome, rode Bubba Bean's touchdown romps of 47 and 94 yards to a 38-9 Southwest Conference verdict over Texas Tech Saturday night.

The fleet Aggie halfback cut through the Tech defense like a killer shark, compiling 180 yards on eight carries and scratching out a couple of school records.

An overflow crowd of 52,254, second largest ever here, watched the unbeaten Cadets roll to their fifth straight victory.

The underdog Raiders, now 2-3 for the year and 0-2 in SWC action, rattled the nation's No. 1 defensive unit with a quick gift touchdown in the first quarter and A&M trailed, 6-3, for the first time this season.

However, Bean flashed 47 yards on the first play after a fumble recovery by Blake Schwarz and the Aggies moved ahead for keeps.

A&M broke the Raiders' spirit with twin sledgehammer blows in the third period, starting with Pat Thomas' interception at the Aggie 1.

A moment later, Bean burst 94 yards down the sideline, giving the Aggies a 17-9 lead. The dash broke school records nearly every step of the way.

The run eclipsed an 81-yard mark set by Bob Smith in 1949 and Bean's total at that point of 2,467 yards swept him past Smith's career Aggie record of 2,415.

Skip Walker scooted five yards for one TD and Bucky Sams twice banged one step for two others as the Aggies opened SWC play on a resounding note.

Bean's glittering performance shoved him past TCU's Mike Luttrell and Texas' Steve Worster and into the No. 8 berth among the all-time SWC runners.

Tony Franklin booted a 49-yard field goal for A&M into the wind to trigger the opening fireworks, but the Red Raiders struck back after Jim Krahl's fumble recovery at the A&M 14 laid the groundwork for a three-yard touchdown run by Rufus Myers.

Big Ed Simonini, who along with Garth Ten Napel flogged the Tech ground game all night, rushed the kicker and the extra point try failed to leave Tech ahead 6-3.

Bean got his first touchdown on a nifty end sweep, twice cutting sharply to avoid defenders, and waltzed into the end zone standing up.

A 30-yard field goal late in the second quarter by Tech's Brian Hall pulled the Raiders to within a point at 10-9 and Tech threatened to seize the lead as it moved through the air to within striking distance in the third quarter.

But Thomas' interception scuttled the drive and Bean's record run literally cut the heart out of the Raiders' upset bid.

A&M put it out of reach on a 62-yard drive late in the third period and then a bad snap on a Tech punt set up Sams' first TD at the four. His second touchdown capped an 80-yard drive.

The Aggie defense held the Raider ground game to just 101 yards while Bean and his colleagues rolled up 343 rushing yards.

Pair Of Texans Head Up Field

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Lee Trevino and John Mahaffey, a pair of Texans, head up the field for the ancient Texas Open, which begins here Thursday.

The $125,000 tournament is antedated by only three other professional events in the United States and was the beginning of the Winter Tour when it was first held in 1922.

Mahaffey is the top money winner in this field, which is always less than super because of the poor dates in conflict with football and the World Series.

The Kerrville native is eight on the money list with $140,446 and will be remembered as the loser to Lou Graham in the playoff for the U.S. Open this summer.

Trevino, the winner of the Citrus Open earlier this year as well as 17 other tour tournaments and two British Opens, is the sentimental favorite in San Antonio.

Saying the residents here are "my people," he vowed to play in this event every year.

He also likes this tourney because he's never won a tour event in his native state.

The defending champion is Terry Diehl an upstate New Yorker (Rochester), who was faced with the certainity of losing his playing card if he did not cash a big check here last year.

'Cats Race By Austin

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Jim Reese fired two touchdown passes to pace Abilene Christian to a 24-3 Lone Star Conference football victory over Stephen F. Austin here Saturday.

Reese threw a 25-yard scoring pass to Wilbert Montgomery and a 50-yarder to Johnny Perkins, both in the second quarter as the Wildcats overcame an early 3-0 SFA lead and took a 15-3 halftime advantage.

ACC is now 2-2 for the season and 1-2 in confernece play. SFA is 1-3-1 and 0-3 in the conference.

Ron McMullin also scored for Abilene Christian on a 12-yard run and Jay Reeves kicked field goals of 37 yard and 34 yards.

Hunter Mullikin kicked a 23-yard field goal for SFA in the first quarter.

Houston Handled By North Texas

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Ken Smith triggered a three-touchdown outburst in the third period Saturday night and underdog North Texas State whipped Houston 28-0 in a nonconference college football game.

Smith ran for one touchdown, rifled a 38-yard touchdown pass to J.T. Hollings and completed a 33-yard pass to set up a third score.

The 6-foot-4, 191-pound transfer from Arkansas took over the helm after starting quarterback Ken Washington suffered a seperated shoulder on a seven-yard run to the Cougar one-yard line in the second quarter.

Smith handed off to Brad Hammit for the score that gave NTSU a 7-0 halftime lead.

Karras Present For Ceremonies

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The stars of the movie "Babe" — Alex Karras and Susan Clark — along with former heavyweight champion Joe Louis were on hand Saturday for the groundbreaking ceremonies of the Babe Didrikson Zaharias Memorial.

More than 1,000 persons attended the event, honoring one of the greatest female athletes in the nation's history.

The Babe was an Olympic star, winning two gold medals, and later became a professional golfer, at one time capturing 17 tournament victories in a row.

The premier of "Babe" — produced for television — was shown at a theater in the Babe's hometown of Beaumont.

Louis spoke briefly at the ceremonies and said he had played many a golf game with the Babe and "she got a lot of my money."

Susan Clark plays Babe in the movie and Karras, a former professional football lineman, portrays George Zaharias, the one-time wrestler who married Babe.

Babe died Sept. 27, 1956, of cancer.

Arkansas Whips Fumbling Bears

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Scott Bull surged four yards for one touchdown and ran 67 yards for another score Saturday night as Arkansas grabbed the Southwest Conference lead by whipping fumbling Baylor 41-3.

Arkansas, 2-0 in the SWC, meets Texas 1-0 at Fayetteville, Ark., next Saturday in a mid-season conference showdown.

Seven bobbles ruined Baylor's chances, with defensive end Johnnie Meadors of Arkansas recovering two.

Baylor's top runner, Cleveland Franklin fumbled at the Baylor 45 and 14-yard lines setting up two Arkansas touchdowns in the first half.

Baylor fullback Pat McNeil also lost the ball twice, at the Arkansas 29 and eight, costing Baylor possible scores and setting up a 71-yard Arkansas touchdown drive.

Bull and speedsters Ike Forte and Jerry Eckwood raced for more than 100 yards each.

Eckwood, the SWC's leading rusher, ran for 120 yards on 15 carries, his fifth consecutive game of more than 100 yards rushing.

Forte had 106 yards on 22 carries and Bull, subbing for injured Mike Kirkland, had 116 on 10 runs.

Bull's 67-yard rollout in the third quarter pushed the score to 28-3 and sealed Arkansas' victory. On the play, a third and one, he raced to his left, cut back to the right and slipped through Scooter Reed's diving tackle to complete the scoring run.

Baylor's only score came on a second quarter 19-yard field goal by Bubba Hicks. Hicks' 52-yard attempt as the half ended bounced off the goal posts and back into the end zone.

A near capacity crowd of 47,200 watched the game in a sweltering 80 degree temperature.

Rams Rip Bearkats

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Lynn Leonard passed for 154 yards, including two touchdowns, here Saturday night as the Angelo State Rams trampled the Sam Houston State Bearkats 52-0 in a Lone Star Conference football game.

Leonard hit split end Steve Wilson with a 42-yard scoring pass in the opening quarter and then repeated the trick with Wilson on a 27-yarder in the second period.

Tailback Johnny Cole, who picked up 157 yards, scored two touchdowns.

The victory gave the Rams a 4-1 season mark and tied them with Texas A&I for the league lead with a 3-0 mark. Sam Houston dropped to a 1-4 record for the year and a 1-2 mark in league play.

Sooners Survive Serious 'Horn Rally, 24-17

DALLAS (AP)—Oklahoma fullback Horace Ivory rumbled 33 yards untouched for a touchdown deep in the fourth period Saturday and the No. 2-ranked Sooners survived a serious Texas rally to whip the No. 5-ranked Longhorns 24-17 in the 70th renewal of their bitter rivalry.

DALLAS (AP)—A spectator at the Texas-Oklahoma football game Saturday came out of the stands at halftime and attempted to throw red paint on the Longhorns, mascot Bevo.

The spectator, who was wearing Oklahoma red pants, succeeded only in splattering the paint on the ground and splashing a few drops on the bull's horns.

He was hustled out of the Cotton Bowl by police.

Senior quarterback Steve Davis whipped hard-pressed Oklahoma 79 yards in seven plays after Texas freshman Russell Erxleben kicked a 43-yard field goal into the wind that barely crossed the bar for a 17-17 tie with 8:19 left.

With 72,000 fans on their feet in the Cotton Bowl, Davis gained a crucial first down himself to keep the drive alive. On the Texas 36, he rolled around left end for a vital three yards to keep the Sooners going. Ivory slashed off guard and skipped down the left sideline for the touchdown on the next play and the weary Longhorns could never recover.

Playing in brutal 90-degree heat which reached almost 100 on the field, Oklahoma extended its string of games without defeat to 34 and kept Coach Barry Switzer's unbeaten record alive.

Switzer is now 25-0-1 in his three years at Oklahoma.

It was the fifth consecutive victory for Oklahoma in the intense rivalry which took on new dimensions because of an off-season feud between Switzer and Texas Coach Darrell Royal over recruiting.

Oklahoma took advantage of three Texas fumbles for its first three scores in a bruising contest which saw numerous players limp to the sidelines.

Tony DiRienzo kicked a 45-yard field goal after a Texas fumble recovery and defensive end Mike Phillips fell on a wild Marty Akins pitchout for touchdown to give Oklahoma a 10-0 first quarter lead.

Texas narrowed the gap to 10-7 just before halftime on a 38-yard scoring bomb from Akins to Alcy Jackson.

Another Longhorn bobble placed Oklahoma in position for All-America Joe Washington's flashing nine-yard touchdown run to put the Sooners in front 17-7 in the third period.

The Longhorns blocked a punt and Jimmy Walker bolted 25 yards for a touchdown with an Akins pitch to make it 17-14.

Texas then tied at 17 after Jim Gresham recovered a fumble by Oklahoma's Jim Culbreth.

The heat was so bad that Texas fullback Earl Campbell staggered out of the game in the first half with heat exhaustion but returned later.

Texas lost starting center Billie Gordon on the second play from scrimmage and Akins had trouble making connections with new snapper Jimmy Wyman. Billie Selmon pounced on a ball at the Texas 46 to set up De Rienzo's field goal.

Washington sped 83 yards for a touchdown on a punt return but it was called back because of a clip.

However, Akins made a critical mistake deep in his own end of the field. Sooner Safety Scott Hill forced Akins to pitch wildly and Phillips outscrambled the Texas quarterback in the fight for the ball in the end zone.

Akins then took the Longhorns on a 90-yard drive in 10 plays climaxed by the pass to Jackson.

Oklahoma appeared to put the game out of reach on Washington's touchdown run in the third period.

But Joe Bob Bizzell blocked a punt and Akins narrowed the count to 17-14 by running five yards and then pitching to Walker who dashed 25 yards for a touchdown.

Oklahoma's fumble was turned into a 43-yard field goal for Texas by Erxleben to make it 17 all.

Davis, a licensed Baptist minister who had been booed last week when Oklahoma defeated Colorado 21-20, then directed a pressure drive which sent Oklahoma fans dancing in the isles after Ivory's 33-yard run.

Texas still leads this football series 42-26-2.

Oklahoma is 5-0 for the season and Texas is 4-1.

Lions Wallop Mountaineers

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) - Ninth-ranked Penn State's defense recovered five fumbles and shut down West Virginia's 441-yard per game offense as the Nittany Lions walloped the previously undefeated and 10th-ranked Mountaineers 39-0 Saturday in a college football game.

While the Penn State defense was frustrating the 35.3 point per game West Virginia scoring machine, Lions' running back Woody Petchel ripped the Mountaineers' defense for 122 yards and one touchdown.

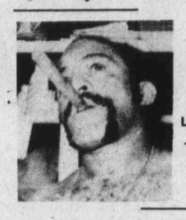
Crafty Tiant Baffles Cincinnati's Sluggers

BOSTON (AP) — Crafty Luis Tiant baffled Cincinnati's sluggers with a variety of speeds and motions and started Boston's winning six-run rally with his first hit in three years Saturday as the Red Sox trimmed the Reds 6-0 in the opening game of the World Series.



LUIS TIANT
Smoke Too Strong For Reds

Tiant, a pitching patriarch, who, according to the record books will celebrate his 35th birthday next month, was locked in a tense, scoreless pitching duel with young lefthander Don Gullett until the seventh inning.

The veteran right-hander, who finished with a five-hitter, led off the seventh for Boston and surprised the sellout crowd of 35,205 with a single to left field. Deprived of his bat by the American League's designated-hitter rule, Tiant had been to the plate only once since 1972 and was the last guy the Red Sox expected to start a rally for them.

Manager Darrell Johnson, playing for a single run, ordered a sacrifice by Dwight Evans. The bunt was fielded by Gullett, who tried to get Tiant at second base. But his throw was too late and the Red Sox had men on first and second with no outs.

Denny Doyle followed with a single between third base and shortstop and Tiant, no gazelle on the basepaths, stopped at third. Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, who had seen Gullett squirm off the Red Sox hook all afternoon, decided to stay with the southpaw against Carl Yastrzemski.

Yaz, who had made a clutch catch earlier in the game, delivered with a line drive to right field. the runners held, waiting to see if Ken Griffey could catch the ball but it dropped in front of the Cincinnati right fielder and Tiant headed home.

The trip wasn't simple. Griffey rifled a throw home that might have forced the pitcher if first baseman Tony Perez had not cut it off. That gave Tiant a break he needed because he missed touching home plate on his first pass. The Cuban born right-hander went back and touched it before the Reds knew what happened and the Red Sox had the game's first run.

That finished Gullett. Clay Carroll relieved and walked Carlton Fisk on a 3-2 pitch, forcing in a second run.

Now it was Will McEnaney's turn. Anderson called on the left-hander to face rookie sensation Fred Lynn. For a while the move looked great. Lynn, looking overmatched, struck out. But the Red Sox got to McEnaney after that.

Rico Petrocelli, the only man besides Yastrezemski from the Red Sox 1967 American League champions, drilled a single to left field for two more runs, making it 4-0.

Then Rick Burleson rifled his third hit of the game for another run and Cecil Cooper's sacrifice fly completed the big inning for the Red Sox.

Six runs were considerably more than Tiant needed on this cold, overcast day. Tiant struck out three and walked two, both intentionally.

WIDNER UNWINDS

'Dogs' Bark Scares Off Steers

By Clark Lesher

MIDLAND — Quarterback Kevin Widner passed for three touchdowns and scored one himself to lead Midland High to a 53-25 District 5-4A victory over error-plagued Big Spring here Friday night.

Philip Ward was the main bolt of lighting being on the receiving end of Widner's TD strikes with Kim Madden helping out the Midland cause with a pair of TD's followed by single contributions by James Wortham and backup quarterback Thomas Anderson.

The Steers experienced their second district loss in a row, third straight setback for the season and now stand 2-3 over-all. Midland in wining is 1-1 in 5-4A and 3-2 across the board.

Big Spring was smacked with costly TD interceptions plus a fumble which led the way for a paydirt drive.

The quickness of the Bulldogs proved to be mightier than Abilene's, runing up an astonishing 41-13 halftime score. During this onslaught, Midland pounded away for 297-yards total rushing to Big Spring's 62.

Big Spring's Mark Moore showed the crowd a brief glimpse of his aerial wizardry by throwing three TD aerials, one each to Mike Harris, Greg Spears and Ken McMurtrey with teammate Mike Abreo grounding out one score.

Midland started off the firework show, by driving for a TD on the opening kickoff with Widner diving over from the five. Time left: 7:41. Kevin Pearce's extra point kick was good.

Widner then went to the air for Midland's second score in the first period, hitting speed Merchant Ward for a 34-yard TD. The PAT kick was blocked. The Widner to Ward combination netted the team's total yards passing, 136.

Big Spring closed in briefly on Midland with 1:31 left in the same period with Moore firing a strike to Harris for a nine-yard TD at 2:42. Spears' extra point kick was good.

Then disaster struck. Midland electrified the crowd with three rapid fire second quarter touchdowns, all taking place close to within two-minutes.

Midland knocked on Big Spring's door with Madden's TD at 11:57, followed by a Widner to Ward end zone pass at 9:52, followed again by Worthan intercepting an aerial attempt and returning it for a 30-yard score at 9:37, followed by a fourth TD by Madden's one-yard plunge at 3:40.

Madden ran over the first PAT with Pierce credited with the remaining extra points, all boots. Madden's score was aided by Big Spring losing the ball on a fumble. The first two Midland scores took only one-play each to complete.

The Bulldogs wasted no time to wheel and deal for two more TD's in the third with Big Spring collecting its No. 2 TD of the game.

Abreo put Big Spring on the scoreboard first on a 10-yard run at 8:19. The PAT was no good. The bright lights caught the Widner to Ward act again, good for a 63-yard TD at 6:33 followed by Anderson's five-yard plunge on the second play at 4:24.

Tommy Churchwell blocked the PAT after the Ward TD with the second Midland extra point try also unsuccessful.

Anderson's points were made possible as a result of Wortham's nab of a Big Spring pass attempt on the 30 and returning it 25 yards. There finally Midland's scoring subsided.

Big Spring had the last say in scoring, fourth period, but of little significance. Moore unleashed two long TD aerial throws, one to Spears for 50 yards at 10:45 and the other to McMurtrey for 40 yards at 1:07. Both PATs failed.

On the road for two straight games, Big Spring returns home Friday for homecoming with state-ranked Permian.

DAWSON — In District 1-B eight-man play here Friday night, Dawson with quarterback Walter Kitchens leading the way, dropped previously undefeated Borden County, 48-28.

The Coyotes now stand at 4-1 while Dawson stays unbeaten, holding forth a 5-0 record.

Kitchens passed for three TD passes in the first half and then turned his attention to defense in the third quarter with a 32-yard interception return. Gene Cooley got Borden County on the scoreboard first with a 70-yard return of the opening kick-off. The PAT failed. Ben Phipps answered for Dawson with a one-yard run and Sid Turner ran for the two-point conversion.

Turner tallied on an 11-yard run to open the second quarter and set the stage for Kitchens' touchdown passes of 33-yards to his brother Jess Kitchens and 45 yards to Ray Bennett. Kitchens had already hit Bennett in the first quarter with a 45-yard bomb. The half ended with Dawson leading the Coyotes 34-12.

Phipps opened a 14-point second quarter for the Dragons with a one-yard run and Kitchens followed that up with his interception return. Borden County came up with 16 points in the final quarter to make the game closer than it really was. Cooley tallied both scores.

Golden Tors Drop 5th Loss In Row

By BARRY CANNING

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes lost their fifth straight game of the 1975 season to the San Angelo Lakeview Chiefs by a score of 33-0 here Friday Night.

The Chiefs, who are under the direction of former Big Spring head coach Clovis Hale, won their sixth game of the season and so far have only a total of 12 points scored against them.

The Lakeview offense was overwhelming during the whole game. The Chiefs had a total of 416 yards offensively. Of that total, 281 yards were on the ground. The leading rusher for the Chiefs was John Maberry who had a total of 99 yards. Close behind was Ted Butts with a total of 98. Quarterback Gilbert Montanez was very successful in passing. He hit 10 times out of 18 attempts for a total of 125 yards.

Lamesa had little success on offense as turnovers again hurt them. The Tornadoes suffered eight turnovers. Five of those were interceptions. Their inability to score resulted from the lack of ball control.

Lamesa's deepest penetration was to the Lakeview 17, but an interception of a Guy Price pass ended the drive.

The Lakeview Chiefs, who many feel will win the district 3-AAA championship showed that they have the power to do it, but they face a strong test next Friday night as they travel to Snyder.

WELLMAN — The Wellman Wildcats opened 1-B eight-man play here Friday night with a 40-19 win over Garden City. Brent Tankersley and Joe Nunez tallied three TD's each for the home team.

On the game's first play from scrimmage, Garden City scored on a 35-yard run by Mark Frysak. The Wildcats roared back with four paydirt drives, two by Tankersley on runs of 21 and three-yards and two by Nunez, breaking loose for four and 40-yards.

Tankersley threw a 57-yard halfback pass for a touchdown in the third period and Nunez closed the gridiron-burning for Wellman with a one-yard run in the fourth.

The Bearkats tallied twice in the closing minutes on 57 and 13-yard TD passes. Norwin Bingham to Ramiro Garza.

Washington Outguessed

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Willie Shelby tore loose for an 84-yard punt return during a 21-point outburst in less than three minutes of the first period and seventh-ranked Alabama defeated Washington 52-0 in college football Saturday.

Shelby's darting run and the bruising runs of fullback Johnny Davis, who gained 155 yards on 13 carries, spearheaded the rout of the outmanned Huskies.

Missouri Flattens Cowboys

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Steve Pisarkiewicz penetrated Oklahoma State's highly rated pass defense for 371 yards and two touchdowns Saturday and 12th-ranked Missouri flattened the 14th-ranked and previously undefeated Cowboys 41-14 in a Big Eight Conference football game.

Pisarkiewicz had the finest day of his career. So did split end Henry Marshall, who caught touchdown passes of 32 and 75 yards from Pisarkiewicz in the first quarter against a pass defense which had been rated best in the Big Eight.

Pisarkiewicz's passes fired Missouri on a 10-play, 80-yard drive for the Tigers' first touchdown. The junior sharpshooter hit Randy Grossart for 17 yards and Marshall for 29, then a 14-yard surprise toss by tailback Tony Galbreath to Joe Stewart put the ball on the one. From there, Galbreath dived into the end zone.

Leo Lewis, a 144-pound freshman, returned a punt 48 yards for another Missouri touchdown and Steve Mally ran in from the five for the final Tiger score. Tim Gibbons kicked field goals of 32 and 40 yards for the Tigers, now 4-1.

Scott Burk passed 72 yards to Gerald Bain for one Oklahoma State touchdown.

Coahoma Still Stands Unbeaten In District

ANSON — The extra point pass from Charles Tindol to Tim Higgins in the second period proved to be the eventual clincher as Coahoma edged previous unbeaten Anson, 15-14 here Friday night.

Coahoma playing in the new season district combat, stands unbeaten at 2-0 and 3-3 for the year. Anson is now 5-1 and 1-1 in 6AA. The Bulldogs now catch Winters at home next Friday.

The Tigers scored twice in the first period with Coahoma breaking the ice with a pair in the second quarter.

Anson's first marker was made on a 22-yard run by Tiger quarterback Tony Watts, who was instrumental in his team's 28-24 upset win over Hamlin last week. The drive covered 87 yards and Mark Guffey added the two-point PAT.

Guffey, replacing injured Tiger standout halfback Joe Brooker, set up the second Anson TD on a pass interception. Eddie Munzo ran over the score from the four. The two-point conversion try was blocked.

Coahoma quarterback Charles Tindell scored on a four-yard run, then passed to George Herrera for two extra points to open the Bulldog scoring in the second quarter.

The eventual winning points came after a 31-yard drive by Coahoma later in the period. Ricky Patterson ran in from the two,

BATTLE FROM BEHIND TWICE

Wolves Finally Bow Out

By TROY BRYANT

COLORADO CITY — A large homecoming crowd watched the Colorado City Wolves battle from behind twice here Friday night before they finally bowed to the Stamford Bulldogs 27-20 in a District 6-AA contest.

Three touchdown passes by Wolf quarterback Ray Torrez kept the home team in the game until the final gun sounded. Two third quarter touchdown passes of 34 yards and 10 yards to Pete Parham and Benny Arispe brought the team from a 12-0 deficit with 1:29 left in the half, to a 13-12 halftime lead.

Toni Wulfjen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Wulfjen, was crowned homecoming queen at halftime ceremonies.

Stamford took the opening kickoff and drove 72 yards in 10 plays to get on the board first, with the final burst coming on a 16-yard run by Don Earl. Earl, a 165-pound junior, provided most of the punch for Stamford, rushing 18 times for 122 yards, scoring 21 points on three touchdowns, a two-point conversion, and an extra point kick, and passing one time for 33 yards, setting up the final touchdown.

Stamford quarterback Bryan Tabor's 11-yard touchdown scamper put Stamford ahead 12-0 with 4:01 left in the first half.

Colorado City fought back, taking the kickoff following Stamford's second touchdown and driving 66 yards for a touchdown. The final 34 yards came on the pass from Torrez to Parham with only 1:29 left in the half, cutting the lead to 12-7 after Steve Belvin's kick.

Stamford took the ball on its own 35-yard line after the kickoff. As Tabor dropped back to pass, Colorado City's Jackie Ellis, a defensive end hit Tabor, forcing him to fumble. The ball was recovered by the Wolves on Stamford's 25 yard line with 1:18 left in the half.

After several running plays and Colorado City had used its last time out, Torrez hit Arispe for the 10-yard touchdown with only :19 left in the half. Steve Belvin's extra point try was no good, but Colorado City had the halftime lead, 13-12.

In the third quarter, Stamford took over the ball on downs at Colorado City's 48-yard line and went back ahead with 5:59 left in the quarter on Earl's 38-yard run. Earl then punched across the goal line for the two-point conversion, giving Stamford a 20-13 lead.

Colorado City again battled from behind, taking the kickoff at its own 32-yard line and driving the 68 yards on just three plays. The bulk of the yardage came on the 64-yard pass from Torrez to Parham, which was deflected into Parham's hands by a Stamford defender.

Belvin's kick gave Colorado City a 20-20 tie with :59 left in the third quarter.

After battling more than a quarter, Earl hit Rory Mays on a 33-yard pass at Colorado City's six-yard line, setting up his final touchdown on an eight-yard run two plays later.

Earl kicked the extra point this time, giving Stamford the final 27-20 lead.

The win gave Stamford a 1-0 district record and a 4-1 overall record. Colorado City was dropped to a 0-2 district record and a 2-3 overall record.

'Hawks Winged

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Mike Coyle kicked three field goals and Terry Luck tossed a scoring pass to Brad Jenkins in the fourth quarter as fourth-ranked Nebraska defeated Kansas 16-0 in the first Big Eight Conference football game for both teams Saturday.

The Jayhawks' defense stifled Nebraska's offense most of the first half. Coyle accounted for the only first half scores, booting a 38-yard field goal with 5:02 remaining in the first quarter, and adding another three-pointer from 22 yards out with 1:06 remaining in the half.

The Huskers took the second half kickoff and marched to the Kansas 12, but the Jayhawks' defense stiffened and Nebraska had to settle for Coyle's third field goal, this time from 31 yards out.

The lone Nebraska touchdown came when Luck hit tight end Jenkins with a 26-yard scoring pass with 12 minutes left in the fourth quarter.

USC Dazes Cougars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Explosive Ricky Bell ran for 217 yards, his third 200-yard game of the season, and Danny Reece put on another dazzling punt return show Saturday as third-ranked Southern California whipped Washington State 28-10 in Pacific-8 Conference football action.

The 215-pound Bell was virtually all of the Trojans' offense as he carried 38 times, 21 in the first half, and his touchdown early in the fourth quarter gave Southern Cal a 28-3 lead.

Reece, a 187-pound senior defensive back, countered some great punting by the Cougars' Gavin Hedrick by returning five of his booming kicks for a total of 125 yards.

Dry Spell Still Holds

ROBY — The dry spell for Forsan continued here Friday night as the Buffaloes were handed an 8-0 defeat by Roby.

Forsan is winless in five games and 0-2 in 3-B while Roby stands at 3-2 over-all and 2-0 in league activity.

The Lion's roar was heard only in the third period as tight end Mitch Welch recovered a teammate's fumble in the end zone. Time left: 6:25. The two-point conversion was made by Ricky Morton.

Forsan returns home next Friday, eyeing Loraine.

Senior Pixes Are Delivered

By Leslie Welch

Monday morning, school began with a bang! — especially for the Seniors. The Senior Class pictures came in. Everyone's pictures turned out great! Monday afternoon was a busy time. At 2:30 p.m., we had an assembly on rope, whip, and gun tricks given by Mr. Ed Eldridge. Mr. Eldridge is a professional movie stunt-man and rodeo performer. It was really good. Monday afternoon, at 5:30 p. m., the FFA had a meeting. They discussed a booth for the Halloween Carnival coming up Oct. 24. Monday night the Lions Club met for their bi-monthly meeting.

Tuesday began a whole new day. The pep squad met after school to make posters for the Grady vs Smyer game. Tuesday night the Booster Club met. We should be really proud of our Booters!

Wednesday and Thursday were just another couple of days — just full of Spirit! Keep it up Wildcats!

Friday marked another new day — full of excitement for the games. Last week we played Klondike and we were defeated with a 38-6 score. We had three guys out with one injured during the game. We played Smyer Friday night, 8:00 p.m. on the Malcolm Tunnell Field at Grady. The Junior High also played Smyer Friday afternoon just before the High School game at 6:00 p.m.

Pep Rally Boosts Team To Snyder Victory

By Gina Robertson

As you walked on third floor Thursday, you saw a huge sign that read "Pardon Me for Living, but Yearlings are Best." To anyone but the eighth grade students, the sign would not seem to make sense. The reason for this is the eighth grade has been reading a story in literature in which the character always says "Pardon me for living," before he says something. All of the eighth graders were to sign it and later that night it was taken to the Yearling game. Before the game a pep rally was held to give the boys a boost before they played Snyder Lamar. At the pep rally the seventh graders also had a mascot, dressed an a yearling. Their mascot this year is Sherri Key. With the band playing and doing an excellent job as usual, the pep club fans, cheerleaders, and football team yelling the pep rally was a big success. The eighth grade broke the tie for winning the "spirit Jug". They out-yelled the seventh graders! Thursday was red and white color day, and only the people who wore those colors were allowed to sit on the floor part of the gym. The others sat in the bleachers. To end the pep rally everyone stood and sang the school song as the band played.

Thursday the game between the Yearlings and Snyder Lamar was played at 6:30 at Blankenship field. Runnels again was very well represented, and the final score was 14-8 in favor of the Yearling.

Annuals were sold for the last week during advisory. Students who bought annuals went to Mrs. Barron's room during advisory. Word is that we will have an excellent annual this year, and everyone is anxious to get them in the making.

To get started on materials for the annuals, pictures will be made at the school this Thursday, so everyone look real nice.

Oct. 21 the band will perform the entertainment for the band boosters meeting which is to be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Runnels band hall. The band has really been working hard to prepare for this meeting and we are sure they will represent Runnels well. Runnels will enter a float in the homecoming parade. On the float will be the advanced boys choir and several others who will dress to fit the motto of the float. The theme for the parade this year will be "America's Great Moments." The parade will be held Oct. 17.

Report cards for the first six weeks have been viewed, some with pleasure, and some with sorrow, but almost everyone could be heard saying, "I'm sure I could have done better."

IN WEST TEXAS STATE BAND — Bobby Gene Fishback, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fishback of 502 North First Street, Coahoma, is a freshman member of the West Texas State University band at Canyon. The musicians march during half-time shows at Buffalo home football games.

SANDS HIGH SCHOOL

Glamour Girls Are Chosen For Contest

By Kelly Zant

Greetings, from the "little city". Personalities were chosen at dear ol' SHS last week. Most Popular: Lynn Hopper, and Frosty Floyd; Best All-Around: Frosty Floyd and Lynn Hopper; Most Hnadsome: Andy Anderson; Most Beautiful: Ann Nichols; Mr. and Ms. SHS; Connie Hughes and Andy Anderson. These folks may not be renowned throughout the globe but at Sands they're just fairly good kids. Congrads to all of 'em.

Student council met last Friday to discuss the Halloween carnival which has been set for Oct. 30th. Classes have all chosen their glamour girls for the carnival's queen contest. Also, the grades have picked the booth they want and everyone's really working extra hard on it all. (P.S. Everyone's invited).

Our fantastic booster club, which backs up every single solitare thing that the Ponies do, has set the Football Round-up game for Nov. 7, on which we shall participate in a game with Roby. Half-time events shall include the crowning of a round-up queen, football hero and a sweetheart. Good luck to all those involved.

Sands really toppled Forsan last week to the tune of 19-7 at the game played there at Forsan. Sands hummed the same tune to Bronte the past Friday and will try it again, this next Friday against the Jayton Jaybirds at Sands. Kick-off takes place at 7:30 (p.m., of course)

The few hundred wonderful students here at Big "S" are still awaiting the arrival of their report cards. New cards have been ordered to go along with the new quarter system and have not, as of yet, come in. I, personally for one, don't believe that there are just too many kids upset about the whole deal, though.

Basketball fans saw a wonderful exhibition of basketball quality, last Thursday at the annual girls' Brown & White Game. Coach Pulliam had quite a time trying to caoch both teams, but, he really didn't mind too much. After all, there was no way he could possibly loose, right?

At the regular meeting of the FHA last Monday, Big Sisters were revealed to the Little Sisters. Then, Little Sis's drew the names of Big Sisters so that they could do those delightful and dewonderful things in return. This, I like!

My ending quote for this week comes from a man named Harry Legz who says "Why put off til tomorrow what you can put off till day after."

GOLIAD

Present Concert

By Lucian Grathwol

Goliad band students nominated the following girls as candidates for the Band Sweetheart during advisory rehearsal period on Thursday: Sondra Bell, who plays the French horn; Kim Deel, who plays the alto saxaphone; and Debra Hart, who also plays the French horn. The band will vote, and the sweetheart will be announced by the president, Kent Cook, during the pep rally Thursday of this week.

The Goliad choirs will put on a concert Monday, Oct. 20. The concert will be held at the high school for the Choir Boosters.

In the seventh and eighth grade boys P. E. football intramurals, the final over-all champions were Team 1 of fourth period. They defeated team 1 of fifth period by a score of 14-0.

In the pep rally Thursday, spectators were entertained by a cheerleading skit. Acting as cheerleaders for Snyder were Ronnie Burleson, Brad Pearson, John Pfeiffer, and Joe Goodwin. Students cheered the Mavericks on before the game in Snyder at 5:30 that afternoon. The final score of the game was Mavericks 12 and Snyder 6. It was a well played game by both teams.

School Goals To Be Stuided

FORSAN — The Forsan school board will consider the accreditation study on school philosophies, goals and the community it serves at a meeting starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Also, the board will discuss procedures to follow in revising school policies, J. F. Poynor, superintendent, said.

In other action, school trustees will:

Discuss contracting with Pritchard & Abbott for updating the delinquent tax roll of real and personal property.

Study the audit and consider contracting for auditing for the 1975-76 school year.

And learn about Dub Day's work on two houses at Elbow.

Losing String Remains

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Christian extended its futility string to 15 games in a row Friday night but won the respect of the 15,883 souls present at the Cotton Bowl in a 28-13 Southwest Conference football loss to Southern Methodist.

TCU, owning major college football's longest streak without victory, pulled within 14-13 of SMU Friday night and Coach Jim Shofner went for the win instead of a tie.

The Horned Frogs didn't pull it off and the scoreboard collapsed on them in the final minute with SMU scoring two meaningless touchdowns in a span of 17 seconds.

"I would still go for a two-point conversion if I had to do it over," said Shofner. "This team might have killed me if we hadn't gone for the win. It was the only thing we could do."

Safety Dave Hill of SMU tipped a two-point conversion pass away with 7:46 to play after Ronnie Littleton had dashed two yards to make it 14-13.

The pressing Horned Frogs, now 0-5 for the year, fumbled on their next possession and David Bostick scored from a yard away.

Stanton Hands McCamey Homecoming Win, 21-19

By TERRY NEILL

MCCAMEY — A disputed call led McCamey to win out over Stanton, 21-19, here Friday night. The Buffaloes, 3-3, now take the week off from football play.

The fighting Buffs had stormed from behind midway through the final period and had a first down at their own 20-yard line. Quarterback Gary Hanson rolled to his right and stopped to throw.

As his arm came forward, a McCamey defender smashed him to the turf and the officials gave McCamey the ball on a fumble recovery. The ball call ended Stanton's comeback hopes and handed the Badgers a Homecoming victory.

The "Big Red" team's defense secondary had a tough time of it in the first half, so the Badgers completed several passes in crucial situations.

The pass defenders toughened up in the final half, however, as the Buffs gradually grabbed the momentum.

Against the rush the Buffs were excellent, holding All District running back Clifton Pettis well under 100 yards and letting him gain only four yards in the first half.

Offensively, the locals looked good, but failed to get a two-point conversion in the final that would have deadlocked the contest.

If the win would have gone to the team with the most heart, the Buffs would have won hands down.

An example was receiver Terry Smith, who made two clutch catches to keep Buffalo touchdown drives going. One was a diving, shoe string catch that set up the Buffs final score.

Fullback Elvin Brown and running backs Kevy Allred and Marvin Jones all notched scores for the red team, but the Buffs were stopped short of paydirt on a couple of two-point conversions that could have meant a SHS win.

"The whole team played well. Of course, we would have liked to win but we feel like we learned a whole lot out there. We know that without those mistakes we made we could have won it. I would like to thank Bill Young who came into the dressing room before the game started and talked to our kids. He really inspired them," Coach Bob Richardson said.

The new Buff head mentor was particularly pleased with the play of Smith, the offensive line and Tim Glynn, who played well on offense and defense. Alan Douglas and Ruben Sanchez also drew praise from the coach, as did Kevy and Bimbo Allred.

The Buffalos received the opening kickoff and could not move, punting to the Badgers at their 35-yard line. McCamey got a penalty and Pettis was tackled for a loss, necessitating a Badger punt from the 15-yard line.

The Buffs got the pigskin on the SHS 32-yard line. Jones and Brown carried and Stanton had a first down at the 50-yard line. Allred, Jones and Brown each carried for another first down at the 38.

From that point Allred ripped up the field on a trap play and stiff-armed the last tackler for a score. Bobby Richardson added the PAT and SHS led with 4:44 on the first period clock.

McCamey got possession on the 31 and began to drive as the first period ended.

Two passes later the hosts scored from 13 yards out and the PAT was good, knotting up the score with 10:13 on the clock.

Another long pass play netted MHS 63-yards, with Jones running the end down at the SHS eight-yard line. With 0:12 on the clock Pettis scored and the PAT was good. The teams left the field at 14-7.

The Badgers scored again in the third period in six plays from the 10-yard line and added the PAT with 3:34 left.

The Buffs then got it together beginning a scoring march as the third stanza ticked to a close. Jones carried twice and Hanson got a first down on the 41.

Hanson then went to the air, spearing Smith for 24 yards to the MHS 35.

Three plays misfired before Hanson hit Smith at the 20. Brown got eight and then a first down on the seven.

Two plays later Jones scampered in from five yards out. With 11:47 on the fourth quarter clock a Hanson pass was too high for end Ronnie Mims and it was a 21-13 game.

After "McCamey moved to the Buff 34, where Bimbo Allred almost knocked himself out stopping a fourth down running attempt, the Buffs took over at the 31. Stanton moved to the MHS 47 and punted down to the 17.

On first down Pettis fumbled and SHS recovered at the 16, Hanson then threw the ball to Smith at the four. Brown scored with 6:02 left in the game, but was tackled short of the goal line on the conversion attempt, leaving the final score.

'Cats Let Smyer Get Away, 50-38

By PRESTON PATTY

GRADY — The Grady Wildcats let Smyer get away from them in the first quarter as the Bobcats scored four TD's and went on to score a 50-38 win over the young but determined host.

Statistically, the Wildcats outplayed the Bobcats with Frank Cantu and Tim Nelson trapping the visitors for big losses. But the deciding factor was contributed to Smyer's polished offensive machine.

In the first quarter, the Wildcats fumbled to Smyer on the second play of scrimmage, giving the Bobcats the ball on the six-yard line. After two plays, Danny Gholson scored the first six-pointer of the game. The Wildcats couldn't move on the next try as Smyer took over on downs and drove 50-yards capped by another Gholson TD run of 14-yards.

Grady tried to pass on its next try only to have it intercepted at its own 35-yard line. On the first try Robert Mosley scampered 35 yards for the TD. Grady then fumbled, following the kickoff and Gholson took the ball across on an 18-yard run.

During the second quarter, Grady stopped a Smyer's drive and Richard Parra completed a double reverse for a 60-yard TD scamper and Grady's first. After kicking off to Smyer. Grady held and took over the ball and drove 47-yards for the TD, capped by a Leland Key to Daniel Lozano pass.

Grady kicked off to Smyer and Gholson returned the kick 68-yards for the final TD of the second period.

After coming out of the locker room after halftime, Grady looked like a new ball club. The Wildcats held Smyer at bay and controlled the ball well. No scores were made in the third period. In the fourth quarter, Grady scored following a fumble on a 25-yard pass from Daniel Lozano to Parra.

Danny Gholson returned the kick off to score again for Smyer. Grady drove 56-yards with Frank Cantie scoring from 15-yards out. Again Gholson scored for Smyer on a 14 yard run.

Grady mounted a 65 yard drive to finalize the scoring as Lozano skirted right end for the final TD of the game. Richard Parra ran the PAT over for the extra two points.

Grady will travel to Whitharral in three weeks after two open dates.

Bronte Saddles Mustangs, 31-7

BRONTE — Nineteen points were scored by defending champion Bronte in the final period as the Longhorns galloped by Sands, 31-7, in a District 3-B contest here Friday.

Bronte is undefeated in five games and 2-0 in the district. Sands now stands at 1-1 in 3-B and 2-2-1 over-all.

The Longhorns had commanded only a 12-7 lead at halftime on the strength of a three-yard TD run by fullback Kerwin Denton and a 33-yard run by quarterback Nelson Coulter.

The Mustang only TD was set up on a 25-yard scoring pass from quarterback Ronnie Kenemer to end Steve Bodine. Ishmael Casas's kick provided the PAT.

After a scoreless third period, Coulter ran 16 yards for the clincher, and Billy Wren Lee had a 10-yard TD run. Coulter got another TD and Kerwin Denton kicked the PAT to end the scoring.

Duke Defeats Army, 21-10

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Freshman linebacker Carl McGee raced 68 yards with an intercepted pass and Mike Dunn, a first-year quarterback, directed two scoring strikes in leading Duke to a 21-10 college football victory over Army on Saturday.

Chuck Williamson's four-yard run capped an 81-yard drive midway through the second period, giving Duke a 14-0 lead. Mike Barney, who rushed for 109 yards in his first start, scored the final touchdown.

Keep On Fighting, Bold Gold Steers!

STEERING FOR HOMECOMING—When the Big Spring Steers encounter predators called the Odessa Permian Panthers at the Big Spring Homecoming next Friday night, these cheerleaders will be very much in evidence, pumping up the enthusiasm for the home crowd. They are, from the left, Jill Odom, Laura Bickford, Cynthia Fierro, Chris Davis and Paige Little.

Permeate The Panthers

Local Steer fans and visiting exes will gather in Big Spring next weekend for the Homecoming activities, culminating with the football game Friday evening between the Big Spring Steers and the Permian Panthers.

The Steers cheerleaders, sponsored by Mrs. Janice Rosson, play a large part in boosting spirit throughout the week and during the games. Sparked by the cheerleaders enthusiasm, students and fans raise the rafters during pep rallys and the games.

Support the Steers and participate in all Homecoming events. And give a vote of thanks to the cheerleaders, twirlers, band and Steer Boosters who support the Bold Gold Steers throughout the sports season.

Collector Says Hobby Adds Zest To Living

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Time erases all things except memories." That is what a sign outside Lester C. Wilbanks amateur museum claims.

And Wilbanks believes it. He is 68 and says, "A lot of people think I'm nuts because I go around collecting old things, but I have more fun than they do and enjoy life a whole lot more."

Wilbanks is a retired fireman after 36 years. He was most recently a captain of fire inspection at Webb Air Force Base prior to retiring.

Among his relics in the museum which is set back from the street at 1206 Harding, are some nine badges that he wore in different fire departments through the years. He also has a picture of his older brother, when a fireman in Dallas in 1921, and other mementoes from his fire fighting days.

Wilbanks has a fantastic gun collection dating back to an old flintlock that is pre-Civil War era on up to more recent collector's items.

If the gun laws called for registration of guns, Wilbanks would be a busy man because he has a lot of them. He recalls that in the early years of his marriage, he found an old gun that he liked and asked his wife if it would be all right to hang it on the bedroom wall.

"Two walls are yours," she quipped. So he hung up the gun. He decided to get another and point them at an angle. Then he decided to get a pistol and place in the middle. From then on he was hooked. He soon had a wall to wall gun collection and has been collecting ever since.

Nowadays, he leans toward painting and making shadow boxes with old west scenes as his main hobby. But he's still a collector and horse trader at heart.

He has a van he loads up and heads for the ghost towns looking for antiques and old forgotten items.

As you walk through the three rooms of his fuller-than-full museum, you realize that he has captured not only the sights of the old days, but the sounds as well.

As you are busy trying to view the old coins, old stamps, old guns, old churns, old bottles, old this and old that, he will guide you to a corner of old radios and turn on four or five of them that still play, including a 1920 model.

In the next room, as you look at old telephones, old figurines, old ice boxes, old books, he will suddenly flip an original Bob Wills record on an old phonograph. Or you can thump out a tune on an old piano or organ.

If you prefer nature, you can look at the rock collection. Or there are old cracker barrels, antler horns, spurs and old clocks.

A figurine of a Klu Klux Klansman, saved from a Dallas carnival of many years back, looms out at you. Old dishes dot an old round dining table.

You can't comprehend it all. But Lester Wilbanks can tell you the history of each item.

He likes to trade or sell them. Or he even likes to talk about them and show them off.

Life is full of history and everything is worth saving — to Lester Wilbanks.

A FEW ITEMS — Just a few of many items displayed at the homemade museum of Lester Wilbanks are shown out front of his establishment, which has a collection of a little bit of everything.

Miss Fryar Weds J Epley In Home Of Grandparents

MRS. J LOYD EPLEY

Miss Kathleen Fryar became the bride of J Loyd Epley in a candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Fryar, grandparents of the bride.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Travis Fryar, 4001 Wasson Road; and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ray Epley, Sterling City Route.

Dub Moore united the couple before an improvised altar featuring an arch accented with boxwood greenery, gypsophila, blue carnations and lavender satin bows. A unity candle tree was centered beneath the arch. Palm trees adorned with white mums and blue satin streamers and topped with crystal chimneys holding lavender tapers flanked the arch.

An a cappella choir composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Yarbrough, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bogle and Mrs. Marge Sorrells provided nuptial selections. Bill Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Bogle were soloists.

The bride is a graduate of Forsan High School and is employed by the Howard County Tax Office as a tax deputy. The bridegroom attended Big Spring High School and is presently working at Rip Griffin Truck Stop.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of candlelight organza over satin styled with a natural waistline and a full flounced skirt. The bodice was designed with a sabrina neckline and Victorian sleeves. An embroidered yoke was enhanced with imported French lace and pearl buttons extending down the front.

The bride's layered elbow-length veil of illusion tulle and seeded pearls fell from a candlelight satin bow.

The bride's bouquet was a starburst arrangement of blue carnations, orchid roses, stephanotis and gypsophila.

Mrs. Debra Kay McMillan attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a formal length dress of orchid and blue knit with princess lines featuring a V-neckline and flared short sleeves. Mrs. Darla Jo Barton of Forsan was the bridal attendant. Her dress was identical to the honor attendant's dress.

Jessie Don Doss was best man with Terry Carter as groomsman. Terry Fryar, brother of the bride; Perry McMillan, brother-in-law of the bride; and Michael Epley, brother of the groom, were ushers.

Before leaving on a wedding trip through Northwest Texas, the newlyweds were honored at a reception held in the bride's grandparents' home.

The harvest table was covered with a blue cloth with a white tulle overlay and centered with a candelabrum enhanced with blue carnations and gypsophila. A Bible with one white long-stemmed rose laid on it was also featured on the table.

Serving at the table were Mrs. Patricia Bennett, Mrs. Jeannie Lockhart, Mrs. Jimmie Sue Lockahrt, Mrs. Carol Yarbrough, and Mrs. Pam Thompason.

At a Trestle Table, there's always room for one more.

The very earliest colonists used trestle tables—as did their medieval ancestors—so they are, indeed, authentically Early American.
At a trestle table, there's always room for one more—which makes it ideal for a family. The rough barn siding, exposed beams, and polished plank flooring of this living-kitchen make a perfect foil for Tell City Hard Rock Maple. Notice the brass and copper utensils and chandelier that tie the kitchen and dining areas together. A most individual note is achieved by adding the elegant corner cupboard against the rough-hewn wood, and filling it with china that repeats the blue of the fabric, and of the sea beyond.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Seed Toasting, Storage Hints Given

By SHERRY MULLIN
County Extenson Agent

The past few weeks there have been many calls to the office requesting information on toasting sunflower seeds and storing dry peas and beans.

SUNFLOWER SEEDS

You can harvest your own crop of sunflowers, and toast them so they'll be like the ones you buy.

Gather the sunflowers when stalks are dry (average of 3 cups seeds to a flower). Wash and then pat dry. Spread on cheesecloth or screening and let them dry in a warm place at least a week.

When seeds are thoroughly dry, you are ready to toast them. Add ½ cup salt to 4 cups dried sunflower seeds in saucepan. Add enough water to cover. Bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes. Drain and spread on paper towels to dry.

Place on cookie sheet and toast at 325 degrees 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool thoroughly and store in a dry, air-tight container.

STORING DRY BEANS AND PEAS

High prices of vegetables in the supermarket have kindled a new interest in home gardening. Many new gardeners are keenly interested in storing beans, peas, and cowpeas either as food or for next year's planting. But they'll need to take some preventive steps against insect damage to these stored products.

The primary pests of beans, peas, and cowpeas are small, mottled, brown to olive-brown bruchid weevils. Some of these weevils attack beans and peas only before harvest, while certain others are capable of attacking before harvest and then continuing their activities in storage.

When storing beans and peas, take adequate steps to provide the least favorable conditions for insect developments. Temperature and moisture are the two most important factors in the ecology of stored product insects. Up to certain limits, their rate of development and reproduction increases in direct proportion to increase in the temperature and moisture content of the products. Storage temperatures above 95 degrees Fahrenheit are not favorable for development of most of these insect; conversely, temperatures below 65 degrees F. or 12 per cent moisture content retard their development. Clean, sound, dry beans and peas should be stored in airtight containers that will resist puncture by insects and rodents. Such storage, however will not prevent the development of insects present at the time of storage.

Beans and peas held for future use as food can be protected from significant insect damage by cold or heat treatments. Cold treatment can be used for small quantities of products by storing them in a freezer at or near zero degrees F. For heat treatment, beans and peas spread in a shallow pan and placed in an oven heated to 150 to 160 degrees F. for about 30 minutes before storage in airtight containers should be safe from insect damage.

New Evidence On Heart Disease

By LAURENCE M. HURSH, M.D.

For years researchers have pointed to the Japanese as having far fewer heart attacks and they have credited this to the diet of the Japanese. Specifically, it has been said that the Japanese diet features fish and rice and is much lower in the fats common to the meat, dairy and fried foods loved by Americans.

Rarely, of course, was it ever pointed out that the Japanese have more strokes. Emphasized instead was statistical evidence that as Japanese migrated to Hawaii or America, heart disease increased, supposedly because of a more American diet.

But now there is evidence produced at the University of California at Berkeley that Japanese in America have more heart disease if they subscribe to American aggressive ways.

In a ten-year study of some 4,000 Japanese men living in the San Francisco area, those men who clung to their traditional Japanese life style which "defuses tension by emphasizing acceptance of the individual's place in both family and society" have fewer coronaries. Even those who indulge in high-fat diets are better off than their American counterparts.

But if the Japanese men "adopt the aggressive, competitive and impatient traits of most Americans" they can suffer up to two-and-one-half to five times as many heart attacks as those who continue to follow Japanese ways.

On the heels of this news, the Journal of the American Medical Association JAMA published a final report from the research of Drs. Meyer Friedman and Ray Rosenman of San Francisco.

These are the men who believe "Type A Behavior" is the dominant factor in heart disease. A "Type A" man is aggressive, impatient and so forth and has more heart disease. The JAMA report reaffirmed the earlier Friedman-Rosenman findings.

Thus, doctors now have more evidence that it is our emotional patterns and our ways of responding to our responsibilities and life around us that may be critical in whether we will or will not have a heart attack.

As readers of this column know, I don't believe in drastic diet changes for fear of heart disease unless your own physician prescribes such dietary change.

Don't Call Me Mamma

DEAR ABBY: How can I break my husband of the habit of calling me "Mamma"? And are there other wives who dislike it as much as I do?

I don't mind his referring to me as "mamma" when he talks to one of the children — for instance, "Go get Mamma."

But when he says to me, "Mamma, will you please hand me the paper?" it irritates me to no end!

I am NOT his Mamma. And I do not want him to call me "Mamma." If I had wanted to be his Mamma I would have adopted him, not married him.

Will you please put this in your column? He reads you religiously and maybe it will take effect. Telling him hasn't helped.

NOT "MAMMA"

DEAR NOT: Here's your letter. Now tape it to his bathroom mirror so he can see it every time he shaves.

DEAR ABBY: I'm going straight to the point of my problem. What does a married woman do when her husband rapes her — which happened to me?

After my assault, I ran to a neighbor's house and called the police. After they arrived and asked the customary questions, they told me it was impossible for a husband to rape "his" wife! They also told me I must have a screw loose to call the police for such a complaint, but I didn't know what else to do after having repeatedly raped for hours.

The definition of rape is forcibly having sexual intercourse with a girl or woman without her consent. It ways nothing about being married or single. Now, because of the way the police sided with my husband, he thinks that I am crazy.

First, I want you to know that in the 10 years of our marriage, I have never refused my husband's advances. If anything, he has been the one with the bedtime "headaches." I thoroughly enjoyed our sex life. As a matter of fact, I didn't even understand the complete meaning of sex until I met this man. To me, it was the most beautiful way to express the ultimate in mutual love and understanding.

Now, since this rape, I can't bring myself to feel as I formerly did. However, I'm sticking with him, hoping I'll be able to forgive and forget.

Can you understand my feelings? Or am I really crazy?

GOLD-BANDED RAPEE

DEAR RAPEE: You most certainly are not crazy, and I can understand your feelings. The legal definition of rape is "the illicit carnal knowledge of a woman without her consent." This makes it LEGALLY impossible for a man to rape his wife, but it is still morally wrong for a husband to force himself physically upon his wife. And let's hope that archaic law changes soon.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069 Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Miss Gotcher Marries Friday In Webb Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Franklin Justice are on a trip to the Big Bend area following their wedding held Friday evening at Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

The bride is the former Kim Shayne Gotcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Mallicote of Hurst and the late E. H. Gotcher. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Justice, 3622 Dixon.

Loyd K. Morris of the Church of Christ on West Hwy. 80 united the couple before a fan-shaped brass candelabra holding votive lights. The bridal aisle was graced with satin bows in matching colors of the bride's bouquet.

Nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. John Wilson, organist; Miss Dianne Dunagan and Miss Patti Swindell, vocalists.

The bride chose to wear a Victorian-styled gown of white peau De Soie styled with a high neckline and softly gathered empire waistline. The gown was enhanced with wide Ventian lace inserts extending down the front bodice to the bottom of the skirt into which flowed into a full chapel-length train. The full cameo sleeves and wide cuffs were also enhanced with wide lace inserts. Matching lace accented the fingertip-length veil. She carried a Victorian bouquet of pastel-shaded flowers accented with English ivy and gypsophila arranged on a Bible given to the bride by a late uncle.

Miss Tammy Lee Pettitt served as maid of honor. She wore a formal-length gown of baby blue crepe featuring a lace bodice. A baby blue picture hat with white streamers completed the ensemble.

Miss Toni Ann Pettit and Miss Karla Kay Small were bridesmaids. They wore gowns styled identically to the honor attendant's dress in shades of yellow and apricot.

James B. Thompson acted as best man with Gage Mims and Mike Aslin serving as groomsmen.

David Spence and Paul Justice, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Miss Misty Gotcher of Lubbock was the flower girl with Chad Douglas Small as ring bearer.

Joseph Michael Justice, brother of the bridegroom, lit the altar tapers.

After the ceremony, the newlyweds were honored at a reception held in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. The refreshment table was covered with a yellow satin cloth with a net overlay. A branched candelabrum accented with the bridesmaids' bouquets centered the table. Mrs. Wendel Payte, Mrs. Bob Bell, Mrs. M. J. Francis, Mrs. Carl Small and Mrs. Dealon Stanley served at the reception.

The bride is a graduate of L. D. Bell High School in Hurst and is currently attending the Academy of Hair Design in Big Spring. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and is employed by Atlas Van Lines.

Relatives attending the wedding were Mrs. J. C. Nowell of Everman, grandmother of the bride; Eddie Gotcher of Lubbock, brother of the bride; Mrs. Ray Engelhardt of Snyder; Mrs. Don Davis of Hurst; Miss Nancy Nowell of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Berry of Plainview; Mrs. R. H. Hay of Amarillo; and Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Gotcher of Odessa.

HC To Participate In 'Glamour' Contest

Howard College has been invited to participate in "GLAMOUR" Magazine's Top Ten College Women Contest. Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery has been designated contest coordinator and will have the 1976 contest brochures available containing regulations governing the contest, entry blanks and information about judging.

The Top Ten College Women Contest has evolved over the past twenty years along with the changing interests and concerns of college women. Ten years ago, it was a contest to select the best-dressed on campus, but since 1969 the emphasis has been on what college women have accomplished.

Each interested student obtains information and an entry blank from Mrs. Avery, assistant to the president, at Howard College. The applicant completes the entry blank with a list of her major activities, submits an essay describing her area of involvement and includes two photographs of herself. This material must be submitted to Mrs. Avery by Jan. 30. Judging will begin Feb. 16, by a panel of "GLAMOUR" editors. The judges will be looking for the ten young women from colleges and universities throughout the country who are outstanding on the basis of their solid records of achievement in academic studies and — or in extra-curricular activities on campus or in the community.

The ten national winners are photographed by the "GLAMOUR" photographers and appear in the August College Issue of "GLAMOUR." In addition to national recognition in the media for themselves and their colleges, the winners receive a trip to New York in April, May or June during which they visit the "GLAMOUR" offices, meet the staff and enjoy entertainment arranged by the magazine. While in New York they receive a cash prize of $500.

Gum Disease Research Done

Hope for immunization against periodontal (gum) diseases, the leading cause of tooth loss in adults, has been raised by a University of Buffalo professor, who found that specially treated bacterial secretions taken from diseased gums reduce the disease-producing bacteria for some patients.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives.

But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

Lt. Wilson Speaks To Older Adults

Lt. Nollie Wilson, a squadron Administrative Officer at Webb Air Force Base, presented a bicentennial program at the Senior Citizens Center on Thursday afternoon.

The program, entitled "Ancestors of the U. S. Flag," traced the symbolism and development of the flags that led to the first Stars and Stripes.

Ducks Fed By UAW Contract

NORTHVILLE, Mich. (AP) — About 600 assorted ducks, provided for in a United Auto Workers-Ford Motor Co. agreement, are doing better than some laid-off workers. They're fat, fed and happy.

The birds, including mallards, domestic whites, muscovies and crossbreeds, have been at the Northville Valve Plant since 1946 and in the contract with Ford since 1964.

Norman Fultz, UAW Local 896's plant building chairman, said four workers in 1964 asked that bargaining demands include a provision requiring Ford to pay for the ducks' food.

"I guess they about fell out of the windows laughing at world headquarters," Fultz said. "They didn't really want to write it into the contract,so we withdrew the demand and made a verbal agreement on it."

Since then, Ford has footed the bill — about $190 a month — and the flock has grown and flourished, Fultz said.

Volkswagen Priced Out Of U.S. Economy Market

DETROIT (AP) — Volkswagen, which parlayed its lowpriced Beetle into one of America's great success stories, will not compete in the economy end of the U.S. car market this fall, ending its two-decade reign as America's leading importer.

The West German auto maker, long the epitome of low-cost private transportation in this country, has been driven from the U.S. economy car market by soaring costs at home and the increased value of the German mark relative to the dollar, company officials concede.

This week, the company announced 1976-model prices that will push VW's lowest-priced U.S. car to $3,499 to start — some $600 above the small economy models being offered this fall by the domestic companies and leading Japanese importers.

"With our 1976 models, we're going for a different market where engineering and quality are emphasized more than price," explained a spokesman for VW of America, the company's importing arm. "We're going for a more select market rather than the large volume we had before."

VW's latest increases cap several years of price boosts accompanied by a sharp decline in sales which has allowed its main competitors for the import market, Toyota and Datsun, to pick up ground. Both Japanese makers, still strong in the economy-car market, are expected to surpass VW in total sales by the end of this year. Volkswagen's increase on 1976 cars averages $182 or 4.2 per cent over comparably equipped 1975 models. The percentage hike is similar to those announced by the domestic and foreign competition.

However, VW also is dropping its lowest-priced Beetle and adding more standard equipment to its other models, boosting the actual base price by $341 or 7.5 per cent.

The other companies have moved in the opposite direction, stripping their 1976 cars of equipment in order to lower sticker prices.

VW has sold 6.5 million cars in this country since the late 1940s.

Ford Gets New SUit

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — President Ford's schedule includes fittings for two new sport coats when he visits Detroit on Friday.

Jim Auzins, owner of Lloyd's Gentlemen's Tailor in Ford's hometown of Grand Rapids, says he will go to Detroit for the fittings.

Ford has patronized Lloyd's for more than two decades.

The jackets are made of material imported from Scotland. One is a red and blue glen plaid, while the other is twotone brown with shades of blue and beige, Auzins said. Another tailor is making Mrs. Ford a coat made from the brown material.

Priest Halts Ali Backing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Citing Muhammad Ali's marital problems, the Archbishop of New Orleans has withdrawn his support for a youth rally the boxing champion is supposed to attend in the Superdome.

Ali is scheduled to participate in a ceremony Oct. 14 honoring the late Elijah Muhammad, former head of the Black Muslims.

"The Catholic Church has always been a very strong proponent of the sanctity of marriage," an official said.

Judge Orders Dallas County Jail Reforms

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes has ordered Dallas County commissioners to eliminate overcrowding in the county jail or she will close the facility "to any additional inmates until the situation is corrected."

Judge Hughes said today, "There is an insufficient number of bunks and men are sleeping on the floor; there is an insufficient number of guards to provide minimum security, thus creating a serious security problem."

She told the commissioners to come up with a plan by Feb. 1, 1976.

The judge said, "The sheriff is specifically directed to report on the capacity of the jail and the number of daily inmates from Jan. 15, 1976 to Feb. 1, 1976, and the sufficiency of security measures.

"Unless the overcrowded condition and the security problems have been taken care of, this court will order the closing of the jail to any additional inmates until the situation is corrected," Judge Hughes added.

The order was the result of a report by Sheriff Clarence Jones to Judge Hughes Tuesday stating he had 133 men in jail without bunks.

Registration Continuing

The Division of Continuing Education of Howard College has announced the fall schedule of its special interest courses. Some classes began last Monday, with others starting at later dates.

Enrollment has been extended through this week for the courses which started last week. Those wishing to register for any of the 11 classes which started last week are encouraged to register this week. This will assure them of receiving the complete courses.

Many people in the community have benefited by taking one or more of these courses in the past. These classes offer a chance to pursue a hobby or perhaps begin learning a vocational skill. In several instances a group of people with a common interest have organized a course through the college. All that is needed is ten or more people and a qualified instructor. The college will plan the rest.

For more information and preregistration, one can call the Office of Continuing Education, 267-6311, ext. 71.

TV Shows Pretested

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — We all know how ratings usually determine the life or death of a television series. But ever wonder how the networks decide which new series might click on TV, aside from fortune-teller visits?

Well, a fascinating part of the process involves the showing of a series pilot to a live audience — before the show airs nationally — and asking said audience what they like or dislike about the program.

Only CBS says it recruits its own screening-room audiences. It dispatches ticket-bearing pages here and in Los Angeles to ask folks if they'd like to see what could become a new TV series.

NBC — which also conducts cable-TV-only audience tests — and ABC rely on outside testing firms for their screening-room testing, usually hiring a Los Angeles company called ASI Market Research, Inc.

Jay Eliasberg, CBS' vice president for research, says screening-room testing of possible series goes on year-round at his network, with the average audience numbering about 20 viewers.

He says each person is given a machine on which to register favorable or unfavorable reactions during a show. Viewers also fill out questionnaires about the show, and discuss it afterwards with CBS officials.

After that, he says, "we analyze those reactions to try to determine whether we think the show will be successful and what can be done to improve it."

ASI, which has no direct say in a network's decision on a potential series, does pretty much what CBS does in recording the reactions of a test audience to pilot shows.

C-W Singer Hates 'Everything I Do'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two years ago Gary Stewart was making $90 a week playing with a country-rock band at a old hotel in his hometown.

Now he makes more than $50,000 a year performing at top country music clubs and appearing with Charlie Pride at auditoriums and fairs.

"My bank account has become one of my most prized possessions, and that's not me," he said, plopping down on a couch in the office of one of the executives of his record company.

"I hate myself is what it is," he said. "Being in this business has turned me into a fellow that I don't like."

Asked what it is he doesn't like about himself, he slumps his shoulders, looks up with a touch of pathos and quietly says, "Everything I do."

Stewart has had four top records in the past year, beginning with his first RCA release called "Drinkin' Thing." All of them are the honky-tonking, drinking and cheating type songs that have long been a staple of hard-core country fans.

The second hit was called "Out of Hand" and the third was "She's Acting Single and I'm Drinking Doubles." His fourth, "You're Not the Woman You Used to Be," was recorded for another label six years ago and is now rising on the charts.

That's why he was back in Nashville last week.

"I've got to record while I'm sick and get one out or the other company is going to put one out on me," he said. "They're a bunch of things I did a few years ago and they're no good."

Stewart first came here 12 years ago. He hung around for about 2½ years, wrote a few songs and then went back to Ft. Pierce, Fla., because he was homesick. His recent success has even spoiled his hometown for him.

When he's there, which is about half the time, he locks himself up in his house with his family. He complains that he can't go to the store without someone running up to him.

"It seems like I've lost my friends because I'm gone so much," he said. "I've got a 'deal' now and don't run in the same circles they do any more.

"One came over that I hadn't seen in a long time and the first thing he said was, 'I haven't seen you since you've become a star.'

"So, I don't feel like one of the boys no more. They all look at me like I'm something else and it makes me feel like a freak in a carnival show."

He pauses for a while and a slight smile appears on his face.

"Man, I had some great times playing at the hotel," he said. "It was a scroungy place. The curtains on the wall were torn, but there were lots of good people and things were really happening there.

"I was making $90 a week with a group called The Phoenix, and making house payments and buying groceries on it. We could have made more by cutting the band down to four, but it was such a big family type thing—like who was going to buy the wine tonight.

"Hell, none of us had the extra money, but one of us always ended up buying five or six jugs of jug wine, putting it up on the band-stand and getting drunk."

Stewart admits he's the classic example of someone who may have found his fortune too fast and too soon.

"I keep trying to analyze myself and find out why," he said. "It's just like watermelon. I love it, but I ate too much of it one day and now I can't eat it no more."

In a recording studio, Stewart's personality changes. There, he is away from the interviews, the color-coordinated suits and the business dealings that he says make him feel like he's selling out for a dollar.

Recording a bluesy-country song he wrote called "I'm an Act Natural-Born Good-Timin' Man," he smiles more while running in and out of the studio to listen to playbacks.

There's more of a sense of purpose in the studio. He asks for advice from his backup group, the Jordanaires, and listens carefully when a studio musician explains how he might hit a lick on the guitar.

"I love music and I really get off on people liking my music," he said. "I was really making better music before I had all these records. I'm really rusty on my guitar because I'm doing the same songs over and over with different bands at different clubs every night."

"I just want to sing," he said. "But, I can't hack doing all the other things that you're supposed to like if you're going to be a country singer.
