One of Oldest Area Residents Dies Saturday

E. P. Langford, retired farmer and one of the county's oldest residents, died Saturday at 12:25 a.m. at the home of a son, Henry Langford, north of Wellington. He was 94 years old and had been in gradually declining health for about two years. More than 100 descendants survive him.

He had lived in the immediate area 50 years, although since the death of his wife, he had divided his time among his children.

Funeral services were held Sunday at First Baptist Church with the Rev. Russell Pogue officiating. Burial was in the West Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Grandsons were pall bearers. Enoch Poteet Langford was born September 8, 1864, in Tennessee. In the trying years that followed the Civil War, his family joined others coming west to Texas, and settled in Montague County.

He was married there to Miss Mary Jane Brock on December 24, 1888. She preceded him in death July 27, 1943.

They continued to live in Montague County until they brought their family here.

Surviving Mr. Langford are five sons and four daughters: J. V. Langford and E. E. Langford of Phoenix, Arizona; J. T. Langford of Lubbock; Bill Langford and Henry Langford of Wellington; Mrs. C. C. (Mabel) Pior of Greenlee, N. M.; Mrs. J. P. (Elsie) Masick of Abbott, N. M.; Mrs. H. P. (Bessie) Drake; and Mrs. Roy (Virgie) Jackson of Lovington, N. M.

Other survivors are 44 grandchildren, 46 grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

John W. Rodgers, Retired Rancher, Dies Tuesday

John William Rodgers, 74, retired rancher who had lived here 12 years, died Tuesday, Sept. 23, after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at Kelso Chapel, with Rev. Russell Pogue and Rev. Frank Weir, officiating. Burial will be here by Kelso Funeral Home.

Mr. Rodgers came here from Melrose, N. M. where he lived 42 years.

He was a Mason and a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors are his wife; a son, John Wesley Rodgers of Dallas; four brothers and a sister.

Youths Arrested for Car Theft

Three Oklahoma juveniles who stole a car near Oklahoma City were caught at a Childress county road block after they had driven off from a Dodson service station without paying for gas.

Deputy Kenneth Hodge said the boys, two of them 14 years old and the other 13, took the 1957 Plymouth near Oklahoma City, then burglarized a drive-in theatre at Anadarko, Okla., and a car at Hollis.

Their next stop was the Owens Service Station, Dodson, where they drove off without paying for the gas. Hodge was notified and road blocks set up at points in this and nearby counties.

The youths were lodged in Childress Jail to be turned over to Oklahoma officers.

Cracker, B Team Games Here

Harvey Millsap, junior high football coach, has announced a change in the football game Thursday night, September 25, between the Firecrackers and Rocket "B" team with the Shamrock Junior High team and Shamrock "B" team.

The game will be played here at Powell Field instead of Shamrock as originally planned. Game time will be 6:30 p.m. for the Junior High game and immediately following the end of the game the "B" teams will play.

The Rocket "B" team is coached by E. W. Clement.

Tom Cunningham, Samnorwood farmer, recently killed these two rattlers at Childress Lake in Childress county. According to Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge, who took measurement on the reptiles, the larger of the two measured 64 inches in length and was larger around than a man's arm. Five rattlers remained on the tail, and from the size of the stub, it was estimated the snake had broken off enough that he should have had around 20. The weight of the larger snake was estimated at 15 pounds.

Hoola Hoops, Oops!

Quail Stages Talent Show Tuesday Night

A big talent show that will feature the first hoola-hoop contest ever held here and the selection of the high school and grade school annual queens will be staged at Quail Tuesday, Sept. 30, under sponsorship of the senior class.

The hour-long entertainment will be in the school gym beginning at 7:30 p.m., Supt. Herman Moseley announced.

Musical and vocal numbers and other talent entries will come first, with prizes of $3, $2, and $1 for winners of the first three places.

Then come the hoola-hoops! There is no limit to age or size of the contestants—anyone may enter, the seniors assure. It will last just as long as there is anyone to keep a whirling hoop from touching the floor. Champion hooper will get $3, with second and third places receiving $2 and $1.

Another highlight will be the election of the annual queens from high school and grade school. Nominees have been named from each class. Each person buying an annual by a deposit or paying the entire purchase price of $3 will get one vote for a candidate. The girl in high school and the one

Norwood Hog Raisers Seek to Put Area on the Map

Farmers of the Samnorwood area, with a surplus of maize and barley, are turning to hog raising, building their herds on purebred stock brought in from Illinois and other leading hog sections.

"We've got that maize to feed up," commented Jim Jacobs, energetic young vocational ag teacher, who is working with the ag boys, their fathers, and other men of the community in establishing their herds.

There are probably 75 registered hogs in the community now—a small number compared to those in many areas, but a year ago there were almost none.

With an eye on what Mrs. Housewife wants at the market counter, Samnorwood raisers are buying exclusively the bacon and

Sept. 26 Final Date for Soil Bank Applications

Farmers who are interested in signing up for the 1959 Soil Bank Program, (long term contract) are reminded that September 26, is the final date to file an application requesting the ASC County Committee to establish a payment rate for their farm. The county average payment rate is $11.00 per acre for base acreage and $5.50 per acre for non-base land unless the entire eligible cropland on the farm is placed in the program in which case the payment would be at the $11.99 rate plus 10 percent or $12.10 per acre for "whole farm" participation. However, these rates will vary between farms of the county. Those below average for the county will be set at a lower rate than quoted above, and the better than average will be set above the 11.00 average, depending on the productivity of the particular farm.

Landowners who are anticipating on signing up in the Soil Bank Program must comply with the regulations with reference to the displacement of tenants. Farms that have been operated by tenants in the past must comply with these regulations.

Farmers who file an application requesting a payment rate to be established for their farm, will have until October 17, to complete Part 11 of the application, accepting or underbidding the rate set by the committee and requesting a contract for the desired acreage on the farm.

Rain Measures Up to Inch

Rain measuring up to an inch fell Monday night and Tuesday, Sept. 22 and 23, enough to stop cotton and maize harvesting.

Wellington got .77 inch for the two day period.

Other recordings were:

Samnorwood: .50 inch Monday night, a trace Tuesday.

Dozier: .50 inch to noon Tuesday. Rainfall spotted: total .80.

Rolla: 1.3 total.

Loco: .30 Monday night; .40 Tuesday; total .70.

Church to Have Special Speaker

Dr. Roy H. Cantrell, president of Bethany College, Bethany Oklahoma, will be the speaker in a special service at the Church of the Nazarene in Wellington Sunday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. John R. Ferguson, pastor, has announced.

With him will be the Troubadour Quartet.

Dr. Cantrell will speak on "Christian Education." The public is invited.

Collingsworth county's maize crop, like the wheat crop before it, is producing yields that break all records, and when the crop is cut, grain buyers believe it will be as good, if not better, than that of 1957, and certainly one of the best in many years.

Approximately six and a half million pounds of maize has been bought—the equivalent of between 60 and 65 cars—which has brought growers around $100,000 already. In this unusual crop, one thing stands out in the Dodson area. More than half the 2,000,000 bushels shipped out to date has graded No. 1 milo, quality seldom found. The milo market is based on No. 2 yellow. Ironically, those farmers producing No. 1 maize are getting no more for it than those with No. 2 quality.

"I've shipped more No. 1 maize this year than I have altogether in my life," Ed Crowder, manager of the Farmers Co-op Gin, grain buyer at Dodson, said.

Moisture is the big problem this year, even before it started raining.

So far, all the milo around Wellington has had too much moisture to go in the loan, Velman Warrick of Warrick Feed Store said. Fifteen per cent is the limit for loan milo, it was explained.

"You name it and we've had it," Jones Singley of Singley Mill and Elevator declared, adding that the average moisture content for all milo he has handled has been from 15 to 17 per cent, and some has had so much moisture it wouldn't even test.

Crowder said that since all milo must be shipped out of Dodson by truck, with the shutting down of the Katy Railway, and since there is no drying facility, all milo with moisture content above 15 per cent is being turned down.

Maize was bringing from $1.50 to $1.55 in the county Tuesday evening.

Hybrids have been the big difference in production.

The heaviest yield sold in Wellington was harvested by Hayden Williams of the Fresno community, who averaged a little over 3,700 pounds per acre on 71 acres. Williams used DeKalb F62 hybrid. There has been a number of other yields of from 3,000 to 3,500 pounds per acre.

"These yields are more like the Plains than anything we've ever seen around here, Singley commented.

There is a definite trend toward the hybrid milos, he added.

"I've already booked more hybrid seed for spring delivery than I sold all last year," he added.

Heaviest yields have been in the Fresno-Kelley and Dodson areas. Farmers not using hybrids are planting principally 7078 and Martin varieties.

All of the grain from the Dodson area is now being trucked to Houston terminals, where it has been "as good as any we've seen."

Yields up to 4,500 have been produced on dryland farms around Dodson, with Glen Lewis, a mile east of town bringing in one of the highest yields.

When cutting of the irrigated crop begins, it is expected that some of the milo will cut 5,000 pounds per acre or better, Crowder said.

It is estimated that around 40 per cent of the crop is gathered around Dodson and from 15 to 20 per cent in the remainder of the county.

Milo acreage is short this year, with approximately 50,000 acres planted, according to figures from the county ASC office.

A considerable acreage went in the soil bank, and additional acreage was hailed out and blown out in communities scattered through the county. Around Dodson, it was estimated the maize acreage was cut 20 per cent from these three factors.

Highway Men to AASHO Meeting

Palmer Massey, of Childress, district highway engineer, and Clyde Drake, resident engineer, were in Dallas recently to attend the meetings of the committee on design of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Massey and Mrs. Drake.

The men attended meeting of the committee and the field trips to new highways of that area.

Annual Salt Fork SCD Tour Slated for October 3

The annual Salt Fork Soil Conservation district tour will be held Friday October 3, when farmers and business men will observe outstanding work being done by co-operators, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service announced. Most of the farms visited this year will not have been included on earlier tours.

A high point will be the noon meal, eaten with the Wellington Kiwanis Club.

The luncheon speaker will be Duane Barteet, area conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, Pampa. This will be his first public appearance in Wellington since he took over that office a short time ago. Barteet met with Salt Fork SCD supervisors and SCS personnel at a recent dinner.

The SCD tour will start from the court house at 10 a.m., with school buses carrying the visitors.

The first stop will be the Salt District Farm, a mile and a half north and one mile west of the Salt Fork River Bridge on Highway 83. This is on land owned by Horace Small, and made available to the district for experimental purposes.

Here the group will see a bindweed control experiment with chemicals and another where an attempt is being made to choke out the bindweed with grass. They will look at a waterway and grass plantings of side oats and blue grama grasses.

The next stop will be at the Dan Henard ranch, where an excellent brush control project is being carried out. The group probably will visit one of Henard's farm ponds.

After noon a series of farms visited will show the use of soil building crops such as rye and vetch, range management, and grass plantings for seed production. The tour will end before 3 p.m.

Squyres requested that those planning to make the tour notify his office ahead of time if possible.

Pirates State Favorite

Crippled Rockets Go to Lefors Friday

The Rockets travel to Lefors this Friday night, September 26, to challenge the Lefors Pirates in a non-conference game.

Coach Lindsey is worried this week. Lefors is rated second in the state in District 1A and is undefeated, while the Rockets have several injuries.

Ray Henry, co-captain, will be unable to play due to a blow on the head received in the Memphis game. Gary West and Bill Estes were hurt in the Friday night game: West has a pulled ligament in his hip and Estes received a broken nose. However, Estes may be able to see some action.

Harry White, the Rockets' heaviest tackle, received a head injury in practice before the Memphis game and didn't play in that game, either.

The Coach also reported two failures for the week, Ronnie Rudy and Weldon Cleveland. They aren't eligible for any action this week but will probably be with the team when they play Canyon.

The Lefors team, coached by H. W. Callen, is considered the greatest team Lefors has had in years. They have 3 victories to their credit this season including Shamrock, whom they beat 48-0 and Sunray who lost 26-6.

Housing Work 85% Complete

Wellington's low rent housing project is approximately 85 per cent complete and work is going forward on schedule, Robert Bruce, project engineer, reported to the Wellington Housing Authority.

This means it should be finished by around November 15, N. M. Higdon, chairman said.

Bids will be opened for furnishing the project with 31 apartment size gas ranges and 31 electric refrigerators on Monday, October 6, and on October 23 bids will be opened for providing public liability insurance and fire and extended coverage insurance on the project.

El Paso Stakes Three Locations

Three applications to drill have been filed by El Paso Natural Gas Co. with the Rail Road Commission. All are in an area approximately 20 miles north of Wellington.

Hale-Akin School Survey on Right Track

The Hale-Akin school study committee, which under legislative directive has obtained a grass-roots survey of public school needs, has made some thought-provoking recommendations for the forthcoming session of the Legislature. On the whole, the committee did a constructive job, getting the sentiments and statistics from just about every school in the state.

One of the most important recommendations is that each school district continue to provide its own funds for school construction, without accepting federal aid. The same recommendation would apply to any state aid to school construction which might be proposed. The basic idea is that each district is better able to know its needs and to have an economical construction program approved by local voters. Once school construction financing reaches the state or federal level, especially the latter, citizens are going to be taxed far more than is necessary to provide funds actually needed for school construction.

Local school districts in Texas are doing a very creditable job in providing the necessary classrooms and other educational facilities to meet the increasing enrollment.

It is a good suggestion, also, that the state withdraw from the ad valorem tax field, making additional tax resources available to counties and school districts. Cities should be included in the political subdivisions getting additional tax resources. The federal government has preempted so many tax sources that states are hard put to find ways of raising necessary revenues. They, in turn, have preempted tax sources from local units of government. This puts a financial squeeze on school districts, cities and counties.

The proposal to extend the school year to 10 months, in place of the present nine months, should be given a lot of thought before being adopted. The additional cost—$28,485,247 for the whole state—is only one factor to consider. The extension would give only 15 more days of classroom instruction. It is doubtful how much value these extra days would be to the students. If school systems take full advantage of the time they now have and get rid of some of the frills and emphasize the basic instructional program, extra days would not be needed.

The recommendations that starting salaries of teachers be raised from $3204 to $3800 will depend a lot on how well the Legislature is able to solve its thorny problem of the anticipated $100,000,000 state deficit for the next two years. Adequate pay for teachers is desirable, if funds are available.

A fourth recommendation was that the state discontinue the policy of accepting federal funds for the reimbursement of vocational education and school lunch and milk expenses. As this newspaper has maintained since this federal aid controversy came up years ago, there is no point in Texas not taking the aid as long as it is offered and Texans are helping to pay for it. It is unfair for Texas to pay part of the costs of a program and get no benefit from it. Opposition to the federal aid principle is fine, but if it is going to continue, Texans should get the share they pay for.—The Houston Chronicle.

102,328 Government Units Ride Herd on United States Citizens

In a civics study published this year under the title "Principles and Problems of State and Local Governments," the authors, John M. Swarthout and Ernest R. Bartley, make these statements:

"With the exception of a few isolated settlers in Montana, all residents of the 48 states live under at least one unit of local government. Most of us live under several and some, as many as 10 or 15: Counties, municipalities, towns, school districts, park districts, irrigation districts and even mosquito control districts, for example."

In all, they found 102,328 units of government in the United States.

But if this might seem astonishing, consider another angle of government: In 1955 sessions of the Legislatures in the states, 77,624 new bills were introduced. New York led the list with 6,677, followed by California with 5,841. But even in Wyoming, where the legislators were most restrained, the total was 437.

Daniel Webster once said: "Whatever government is not a government of laws is despotism." However, it is beginning to appear we are living under too many laws and too much government.

Elementary principal Jack Davis inquired of fifth grade teacher Sara Jones not long ago... "when you get home with an arm load of groceries, how do you get in the house?" "I holler, how do you in," she replied. "I bark. If I holler, no one pays any attention. If they think it's the dog, everybody comes to open the door," he told her.

When the town sold out of hula-hoops, little Nancy Thomas was disconsolate. Her father, Zook, in St. Joseph's with an infected leg, even offered to make her one out of a length of plastic hose—which is what they are—when he got out. However Nancy was seen with one a day or two later.

I see where Widow Liz Taylor is said to be in the market for a replacement husband and shopping around for a good used one.

Reports are that Songster Eddie Fisher is a candidate for the job and the newspapers have used up about $9 million worth of space to bring this matter to the attention of the public and Mr. Fisher's wife-as-of-this-date, Miss Debbie Reynolds.

My gossip neighbor says printing this news is a public service, because nobody could keep track of the movie world of clay feet and foam rubber bosoms without a program.

I see where some expert says in a magazine article that women's skirts go along with business trends.

Claims that during the past 40 years skirts have gone up and down according to the economy, and you can tell whether they will be long or short next season just by figuring out what shape business will be in.

My pointing out neighbor says he has noticed that men's faces also get shorter with prosperity and longer with depression.

I note that Congress has let out the National Debt Limit another notch, like a man who don't practice any table restraint is always having to get him a longer belt.

Trouble is, same as a man trying to curb his corpulency, Congress does the spending and also the debt limit setting, and while it is very strong in people-control it is mighty weak on self-control.

My mortgaged neighbor says the lawmakers ought to hire his banker to set up the country's debt limit. Says this would guarantee it to be conservative and non-raisable.

I see where the Republican and the Democrat party chairmen have signed a pledge to run a fair and honest campaign this fall.

Which sure ought to prove to the world what high calibre leaders we have got, when two of them will come right out in the open and promise in writing to be fair and honest for the next couple of months.

But my misadjusted neighbor says this is going to work considerable of a hardship on many candidates by making them have to operate in strange territory.

"Never Was the Need Greater"

Higher Education Gets Boost at Fair

BY SARA LOVE TYLER

(Editor's note: Mrs. Tyler, the daughter of Mrs. Ray Love, is a former Wellington girl who has done publicity work in Dallas for a number of years. She is a former staff member of the Wellington Leader.)

A salute as immense as the Lone Star State, herself, will be given higher education in Texas during the 1958 State Fair here, October 4-19.

Governor Price Daniel has proclaimed the period "Higher Education in Texas Days". Exhibits and events throughout the 387-acre fairground will nudge visitors' minds on the relationship between Texas and higher education—its importance today and its vitality in the future.

Under the banner, "Keep Higher Education Growing in Texas," the governing bodies, faculties and students of 72 Texas colleges and universities, together with leading Texas businessmen, industrialists, financiers and State Fair officials, are planning a program of special exhibits and topflight performances designed to broaden the public image of our institutions of higher learning.

In his official memorandum the Governor said "never before in the history of our Western civilization has the need been greater for every citizen of the Free World to give his wholehearted interest, support and encouragement to our institutions of higher learning."

"It is timely to remember the immortal words of Marabeau B. Lamar, President of the Republic of Texas, that a cultivated mind is the guardian genius of Democracy, and while guided and controlled by virtue, the noblest attribute of man. It is the only dictator that free men desire!"

The Higher Education in Texas

Steering Committee Chairman, J. R. McLemore said, "we extremely gratified that the Governor should so honor the program. His proclamation supports our efforts to convince the citizens of Texas of the value of higher education, both to them personally and to the future of our state."

Other steering committee members representing the private and state-supported, junior and senior colleges participating are James Rogers, North Texas State College; R. Henderson Shuffler, Texas A & M; Marshall Terry, Southern Methodist University; and Alvin I Thomas, Prairie View A & M College. Roy J. Cates of The University of Texas is executive director.

One of the State Fair's permanent buildings, the arena theater, is being transformed into the Higher Education Center and will serve as headquarters for the schools participating in the Higher Education Project.

An entire gallery at the Museum of Fine Arts will be devoted to the "Top Talent from Texas Colleges" exhibit. Fifteen paintings submitted by 10 Texas colleges and universities have been selected for display, October 4-26. The paintings were selected from a field of 37 entries from 21 colleges.

A crushed-marble map of the state on the lawn of the Higher Education center will form a background for display of penants pinpointing the location of Texas colleges and universities. In a terrace area, the history of higher education in the state and a projection of its aims will be illustrated in graphic display using films, slides and other visual education aids.

The building will house the higher Education Information Center, where prospective students and others interested in Texas schools may secure information on the state's colleges and universities. Members of faculties and student bodies of participating schools will form the staff of the information center.

They will provide information on teaching facilities and special courses of study. Forms for securing a wide variety of information direct from Texas schools will also be available.

The 200-seat theater section of the Higher Education Center will be a showplace for varied daily performances of college theater, music, opera, dance and informative lectures. Seventy one performances by students and staff members of 25 schools will be given in the two-week period.

Schools represented include: Abilene Christian College, Austin College, Baylor University, Bishop College, East Texas State College, Hardin-Simmons University, Howard Payne College, Lon Morris College, Mary Allen College, Navarro Junior College, North Texas State College, St. Mary's University, Sam Houston State College, San Angelo Junior College, Southern Methodist University, Southwest Texas State Teachers College, Texas College, Texas Christian University, Texas Southmost College, Texas Technological College, Texas Western College, Wayland College, Wylie College, The University of Houston and The University of Texas.

State Plaza. These will range from symphony concerts and a capella choirs to marching bands and rifle teams. Thirty-three schools from across the state will be represented in these 47 events outside the Higher Education Center.

Overall, the Higher Education in Texas Project will offer more than 150 entertainment features, all of them free of charge.

Special educational exhibits covering the areas of communications, education, architecture, design and others are scheduled for the Museum of Natural History and the Garden Center. Major commercial exhibitors will also salute various aspects of higher education in their exhibits.

The FAIR Store

.....Diary of a Dollar.....

It has been a busy day. Early this morning I was swapped for some medicine for his baby by a fellow who got me in exchange for farm produce.

The druggist gave me to the boy who sweeps out for him, and the boy spent me to get his suit cleaned and pressed for the school dance tonight.

The cleaner took me and some of my brothers and paid his school taxes. I sojourned in the bank for a few minutes. Then a school teacher cashed her pay check and I started around town again.

Before the day ended I had changed hands 20 times, and had put $20 worth of goods and service into people's hands ... had accounted for $20 worth of trade in the community, and had been in one poker game. Not a bad day's work for one little old dollar.

I'd like to hang around this nice community for a while. But I wound up the day in the hands of a city-shopper. Tomorrow I'll be on my way to go to work for city folks. It seems that some people want to get us dollars out of their sight and reach, for fear we'll make their community a better place to live.

List Gas OwnersEqualization Board Files Final Report

The Commissioners court, sitting as the county equalization board, Sept. 8 filed its final report which shows an increase in property valuations of $1,973,710. This was the regular meeting date of the court.

New oil and gas valuations accounted for $1,696,800, and un-rendered property put on the tax roll for $276,910, minutes of the meeting show.

This total gives the county its $10,250,000 valuation figure on which the 1959 county budget was set up and approved August 16.

The Equalization board final report sets out the major owners of gas lease properties in the county, with El Paso Natural Gas far outstripping the others with a $1,325,000 valuation. Other major valuations include La Cima Corp, $66,500; W. J. Clay, $18,055; Chas. J. Hughes, Lafayette M. Hughes Jr. and Wm. E. Hughes, trustees, $24,870; Shell Oil Company, $75,000; R. C. and E. C. Sidwell 39,020; and Sunray Mid-Continent, $21,070. There are a number of others listed for smaller valuations. The valuation for taxing purposes is 40 percent of what is regarded as the real value.

On the un-rendered property list was business and residential property, and personal property.

In this and other court meetings August 29, Sept. 3 and Sept. 5, the court agreed to collect the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District taxes for 1½ per cent of the money collected, with the taxes to be based on the same valuations as the county and state taxes.

County Attorney Paul Spillman was instructed to obtain an opinion from the attorney general on whether the Wellington State Bank should pay taxes on the surplus capital stock of the First National Bank for the full year 1958.

Spillman was authorized to apply for federal financial assistance under U. S. Public Lay No. 875. (This was done within a few days after the order was passed.)

On Sept. 3, the court agreed to furnish the right of way on the next Farm-to-Market road program. A jury of view was appointed to condemn and acquire necessary right of way for a current FM program, but in the September 8 meeting this order was cancelled.

Claims were approved.

Sheriff John Rainey was authorized to make certain repairs in the sheriff's office, not to exceed $100.

County road administrator Gene Jenkins was authorized to exceed certain items in the 1958 budget for emergencies, upon approval of Collingsworth county as a disaster county. Certain amendments also were made within the road and bridge fund of this year's budget.

Something New -- Different

The FOWLER Cotton Harvester

Here is something new and different in a Cotton Harvesting machine. It is THE FOWLER COTTON HARVESTER — a high capacity machine designed and built especially to handle irrigated cotton. It can handle up to two bales to the acre with ease and at the same time keep it free of baky cotton. It also performs perfectly on dry land cotton with less-er yields.

This machine is now on display at our place on 8th Street. Come by and inspect it. It has a three-point hitch and can be connected to the tractor in a matter of ten or fifteen minutes. The supply of these Harvesters will be limited this year, but we would like for you to get acquainted with its features now. Come in today.

Demonstration

Soon we will have a demonstration on the Hubert Mauldin farm eight miles south and one east of Wellington, at which time we will harvest 10 acres of cotton to show you how it operates.

The cotton has already been defoliated so WATCH FOR THE DATE—either in The Leader or by circulars.

Rockets Knock Wind Out of Memphis Cyclone Friday

BY ALTA AND DON WHEELER

Friday night, September 20, the mighty Rockets proved what they could do. Some thought that the Rockets could have done better in the game with Hollis if they had gotten in the first touchdown.

However, Memphis felt the Rocket's strength 30-0 in the game played at Cyclone Stadium.

The Cyclone coached by J. P. Jones, Kenneth Miller, and Charles Mote, was picked 14 points favorite. They had the same number of defeats as did the Rockets: losing to Tulsa 30-0 in the first game and 28-6 to Elk City in their second game. Also the average weight of both teams were equal.

Coach Lindsey's boys were in good shape for the Memphis game with only one new injury. Harry White was injured in practice.

Lindsey and Coach Mc Odell had been working the boys hard and smoothing out the rough spots that showed up in the Floydada and Hollis games.

The toss up went to Memphis. Phil Wooten, Memphis center, kicked and Ronnie O'Rear, fullback from Wellington, received on the Rocket's 27 yard line.

A penalty of 5 yards for backfield in motion gave the Rockets 15 yards to go for a first down. They started their drive with Kent Peeples, and John Duncan gaining enough yardage in two plays for a first down.

In the next few plays the Rockets weren't so lucky, getting a penalty and fumbling, with Vance Grisham, Memphis guard, recovering.

Memphis tried hard for a first with Jerry Burnett in quarterback position handing the ball to either Ted Wheeler, 155 halfback, or Tomie Tucker, 150 pound halfback, but hit by the blocking of Bill Estes, Rocket guard, and John Duncan, and others, plus a five yard penalty, the Cyclone lost the ball on downs.

Wellington again couldn't get warmed up and returned the pigskin to the Cyclone when they were unable to make a first down.

Parmer County Man Reports—

Increased wheat yield 24 bushels per acre

Leon Billingsley, successful High Plains farmer, says: "I applied 100 pounds per acre of Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia pre-plant to my irrigated wheat and increased my yield from 18 bushels to 42 bushels per acre. I figure my net profit increase to be around $40 per acre."

Other successful Southwestern farmers use Phillips 66 ammonia to give them higher grain yields . . . and more profitable grazing. The 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia gives young wheat a fast start, supplies plenty of lush, protein-rich forage that puts on more beef at less cost per pound.

Many of these farmers plow down Phillips 66 ammonia in the fall on maize land. They know that the 82% nitrogen helps decompose crop residue, to provide extra plant food and make the soil more productive. Remember, Phillips 66 ammonia gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.

John Duncan, Memphis managed to make 5 first downs in the next few minutes of the game. One was a 30 yard run by a Cyclone who was hit hard by Duncan before he made it clear for a touchdown.

On a first play Memphis lost two yards; on the second play, 6 yards; making the third play eighteen yards for a first. In the next two plays, Burnett of Memphis kept the ball but gained little yardage, losing the ball on downs.

Duncan made a first down, followed by two first downs made by Peeples and Nunnelley. This last first down was made when Wellington's third play had sixteen yards to go for a first down and Peeples raced 34 yards before being tackled.

The Rockets tried hard for another first down but failed giving the ball to Memphis on downs.

On regaining the ball from Memphis, Crosby, on a keeper, sidestepped Memphis for a touchdown and Nunnelley passed to Roark for the conversion. It was good and the score was 8-0 in favor of Wellington.

Robert Carter was hurt during this period and to the fans it seemed it might be serious but he chose to remain in the game. Two other boys, Bill Estes and Gary West had more serious injuries. West hurt his hip and Estes, his nose.

The pigskin again went to the Rockets on downs but the half ended the action.

Kicking off at the half, the Rockets didn't have a long wait before they gained control of the ball. In the fourth play with 17 yards to go, Memphis punted and O'Rear, fullback, received.

The white suited Rockets chalked up two first downs when Nunnelley was able to plow through for a touchdown. While the grinning faces of Wellington Coaches and fans looked on, Peeples ran the ball over for two extra points, making the score 16-0 in favor of the Rockets.

Hardly before the Cyclone got over their stunned looks, Nunnelley ran 45 yards for another touchdown. The try for points was no good.

Memphis made two first downs only to have Peeples intercept a pass intended for Jimmy Boudes, 118 pound halfback, and sidestepped would be tacklers for another touchdown of 45 yards. Despite a five yard penalty for backfield in motion, Nunnelley ran the ball over for two points, making the final score 30-0.

During the final quarter the ball exchanged back and forth between the teams but Memphis was only able to make short yardage due to the hard hitting Rockets.

All of the boys made a showing that Wellington can be proud of. The second string boys saw plenty of action in the fourth quarter.

Exceptionally good players were Nunnelley, Peeples, O'Rear, Duncan, Lonnie Roark Bruce Cosby, Frank Garrison, and Bill Estes.

Exempt Cards for Older Sportsmen Available Here

Exempt identification cards for hunters and fishermen over 65 years age are now available through Judge Raymond Horton, justice of the peace, working in co-operation with the State Game and Fish Commission.

Judge Horton will take the applications for the cards, which will then be filled out by the game warden.

The Exempt Identification cards are good for all hunting except deer and turkey, Judge Horton said. However, they are good for hunting in Texas only.

Not required by law, the card is being issued free as legal proof of age for those persons who might be questioned by game wardens. The cards will not have to be renewed.

The card will be issued on proof of age. The judge suggested several documents or receipts acceptable to the State, which include birth certificates, driver's licenses, poll tax receipts, military identification cards, old insurance policies, and Biblical records.

SINGLEY MILL & ELEVATOR

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The more I see of his voting record, the higher is my estimation of Congressman Walter Rogers. I note that the ADA, which is a front used by labor leaders to "educate" their sometimes recalcitrant members, says that Senator Ralph Yarborough is the best member of the Congress from the standpoint of the labor leaders. Yarborough voted "right" 82 per cent of the time. Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock voted right half the time; but poor old Walter Rogers practically flunked out with a right score of only 27 per cent according to ADA standards.

This is one of those cases where thinking people should judge their congressman in inverse ratio to his ADA rating. If he makes a low grade on the ADA score card he ought to get a high score on the cards of the consumers, the farmers, and the public in general. If you think our congressman ranked low with ADA you ought to look up the voting record of Olin Teague of College Station—a proven friend of agriculture. Teague was rated only 18 per cent correct. In our opinion he is even a better congressman than Walter Rogers.

Virginia Robey sailed into the office Tuesday morning with a pleased smile on her face and exclaimed:

"Wasn't the rain wonderful?"

Deloyce Savage, whose husband had started harvesting cotton the day before, hoping to get some of that good priced white cotton, looked up from her typewriter with a dour grin and grunted:

"Well, you don't need anybody to tell you that she is a wheat farmer and not a cotton farmer."

About the only person who can afford to work on a weekly newspaper these days is somebody who owns a farm. But you can turn that around and still be right. Unless you are trying to farm one fourth of the county like Jim Wood and his brothers, you can't afford to farm unless you have a job in town.

The Rockets showed what they could do last Friday, but they paid a pretty high price for the Memphis victory in injuries. Maybe they will back up to something like full strength by the time they play their first conference game against Childress. The game against Floydada was no disgrace by any means. The Whirlwinds continue to breeze along against good teams and may go far beyond their district.

Ray Peeples must be recovering from his accident this summer in good fashion. Right after his son Kent had intercepted a pass and carried it back for a touchdown, he was heard to remark:

"When he makes a touchdown he's my boy; when he fumbles the ball, he's Helen's son."

Cotton farmers are studying their A's and B's all over again. If Congress ever gets the course into the C's it is presumed that more room will be needed in the eleemosynary institutions of the state.

As the owner of a farm, I can see that plan B for cotton would make more money for me and I suspect that it would for tenants on dry land farms. It is a different matter on the irrigated farms. Farmers are thinking of more humus, use of soil building crops such as alfalfa, winter peas and fertilizer on the irrigated land; but you can't get one to express too much of an opinion. If they knew what the majority of the cotton farmers of the nation would do, a lot of them could figure out a choice. If a big percentage of the cotton growers take plan B, it is likely that those who take plan A will fare better. But if a considerable portion of those who till the better land, select plan A, it is obvious that the growers on the B plan will do much better over the combined period of 59 and 60.

Well I have just completed the circle of the reasoning on the plans that I hear on the street even though it may be an ellipse instead of a perfect circle. Now you readers can start spinning the wheel. If it comes out red you win. If it comes out black you win, provided you have selected the right color. And there is still the matter of the number. Did anybody ask anything about the number of acres?

Carl Shilling of Chickasha was here visiting Mrs. B. F. Wseer this weekend. His wife, who had been here a week, returned with him.

Area Hogs Now Nearer Market, Growers Told

Hog raisers of Collingsworth and Wheeler counties heard of the advantages of swine production in this area, along with a discussion of pasture vs dry lot feeding, in a meeting held recently at Samnorwood.

Vernon Jelley, representative of the American Cynamid Company, Amarillo, told the group that hogs grown in this area are now nearer the market than ever before, for the population of the nation is moving west. This, he told the men, is shaving shipping costs.

He reminded them of the abundance of milo for feeding, which gives weight gain of approximately 90 per cent that of corn.

He recommended castration of pigs at the age of one day to one week, in contest to the usual three to eight weeks, and stressed vaccination for cholera and erysipelas. The place of anti-bio-

Suit Filed on School Accident

A suit was filed in 100th District Court Saturday, Sept. 13, in which Douglas Davidson, 17, by his next of friend, F. L. Davidson of Hollis, is seeking $4,900 in damages from Kenneth B. Hunt.

The suit is the outgrowth of an accident which allegedly occurred Nov. 19, 1957. The plaintiff's original petition, filed by John H. Merchant of Merchant and Fitzgerald, states that Davidson was struck by a car driven by the defendant on the Dodson school ground, and he suffered a broken leg and other leg injuries.

terms of pig parlors.

Only a few days ago, a Clarendon buyer came to Samnorwood and wanted to buy 500 weaning size pigs. About 100 was all that could be promised him. An Oklahoma man recently bought 50. Jacobs has delivered a dozen pigs to the Clarendon FFA chapter and will deliver about 50 more.

As soon as cotton picking vacation starts at Norwood, Jacobs is heading for Illinois with a trailer, he'll come back with about 30 breeding hogs, 8 to 12 week old, for Norwood raisers. At that age, boars will sell for $50 each and sow pigs $30 to $40—if they can be found. Jacobs hopes to bring home Poland Chinas, Durocs and Chester Whites—and more Hampshires.

Jacobs is doing some experimental breeding on his own, trying to design a pig for the pig parlors adapted to this area. In one group he is using a Yorkshire-Hampshire cross, then crossing back with Poland China. Another is the Duroc-Hampshire-Yorkshire cross.

What kind of a hog is the working toward?

A prolific, fast gainer, with sows having at least 14 tits so he can raise more pigs. Already he has gilts that have had—and raised—12 pigs. He wants them lean and meaty, and faster growing. They're cheaper to raise that way.

Samnorwood FFA hogs look good in the show ring, too, and during the past year they have won championships at the county fair and Youth Projects Show, along with ribbons at that top Texas livestock event, the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.
