An Editorial

It Costs Nothing To Look

Saturday the citizens of Memphis, and the other towns which are eligible to become members of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, will go to the polls to decide if their city will become a part of the association.

There is no reason why any eligible vote should be against the confirmation election. The election does not involve any money at all and does not bind Memphis to any future commitments. It is simply to make legal the organization so that it can carry on business. The law is specific on that point. The authority can not levy taxes or can not issue any bonds at this time.

The election is only to give the authority the legal power it needs to further study the practical aspects of the dam and authorize studies of water as to quality and quantity and the cost of getting it from the dam to the seven towns in the area.

The towns in this area are in a position where they must begin making definite plans concerning the dam or their water rights will be given to an organization down stream in Oklahoma. It does not cost a cent to become a member of the organization. After the surveys have been completed, another election will be called in each of the member towns to see if each town then wants to go through with the project. It does not cost anything to look! Remember, when you go to the polls it is the last source of surface water in the area. The progress of Memphis and this area is at stake.

Hall County Farm Bureau To Hold Annual Queen Contest At City Park Friday

The Hall County Farm Bureau will hold its annual Queen Contest at the City Park on Friday evening, Aug. 30, at 8 o'clock. Robert Moss, president of the organization, announced today.

Wednesday four local girls had entered the contest to compete for the title of Hall County Queen. They were Carol Ann Monzingo, Linda Widener, Elizabeth Ann Pierce and Norma Ruth Pierce.

Daughters of all Farm Bureau members who are actively engaged in farming are eligible to enter the contest. They must be single and be between the age of 16 and 22 years.

President Moss pointed out that the deadline for entering the contest is noon Friday. Those who are interested in entering should contact Mrs. Robert Moss, Mrs. Virginia Rogers or the Farm Bureau office in Memphis.

Winner of the Hall County contest will receive a cash prize of $25, and be eligible to enter the District Contest at Amarillo on Sept. 7 where she will compete for district honors. Second place winner will receive $15 and third place winner will be given $10.

In making the announcement, Mr. Moss said the public is cordially invited to attend the meeting Friday evening. A wide selection of door prizes will be given away. Each family to attend will be given two tickets. Tickets are not restricted to Farm Bureau members.

Bob Ayers will serve as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Wednesday Last Day To Vote in ASC Election

Deadline for returning ballots for the election of Community Committeemen in the various areas over Hall County is Wednesday, Sept. 4, Lynn McKown, ASC office manager said this week.

As of Wednesday afternoon, a total of 234 votes had been cast in the election in all of six boxes. Broken down by communities the balloting was as follows: Lesley 34, Lakeview 24, Plaska 14, Memphis 62, Estelline 46, and Turkey 54.

In years past, there has been a vote of from 600 to 800 in these elections, McKown said.

1957 Dove Season Begins Sunday Aft.

The 1957 dove season will get underway Sunday afternoon at 12:01 p. m. throughout the north zone of Texas, Game Warden Walter Hicks, announced this week.

The season will run for 47 days, until Oct. 17, with hunting allowed from noon until sunset each day.

Warden Hicks stated that the limit is 10 doves per day, and 20 in possession. In reviewing the most frequent violations, the game warden reminded hunters that a license is needed if they hunt out of their home county.

He also cautioned hunters about shooting from a moving vehicle or on, across or along a public road.

Reserve Seat Football Tickets Go On Sale Monday

Reserve seat tickets for the home games at Cyclone Stadium will go on sale Monday on a first-come-first-served basis. Frank Smith, Jr., president of the Cyclone Booster Club, said this week.

The tickets will be at Tarver-Stanford Pharmacy.

Sale of the tickets has been underway this week to those persons who held tickets last year and want the same seats again this year.

Balloting To Take Place At City Hall; Polls To Be Open From 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Balloting will get underway Saturday morning at 8 a. m. at the City Hall to determine if Memphis will be a member of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority.

The polls will remain open until 6 p. m. that evening with E. "Gip" McMurry acting as the presiding judge.

Any qualified voter can cast a ballot in the election Saturday. City Attorney Sam Hamilton explained that qualified voter is, in the case of a man, a person who has paid his county and city poll taxes; and if a woman, only the county poll tax is required.

The balloting Saturday will not obligate Memphis in any manner, Wendell Harrison, city representative to the association, stated this week. The election is only to determine if Memphis wants to be a member of the organization now in order to explore the possibilities of building a dam on the Salt Fork of Red River, he stated.

Harrison explained that the voters must approve the organization before the authority can go ahead with the surveys to determine the quantity and quality of water available. The association will also consult with engineers and prepare an estimate of the cost of building the dam.

"Before they can go ahead with this work it is necessary to approve the association in order to give it the legal standing it needs under state laws," he continued.

The water rights to the area have been in the hands of the association for several years now, but due to the drought, it was impossible to begin making accurate estimates of the amount and quality of water available, Harrison stated.

Report From Washington

By Walter Rogers

Congressman, 18th District

Examining Bureaucracy

A special subcommittee of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce has been set up during this session of Congress for the purpose of investigating six regulatory commissions. These commissions are as follows:

1. Interstate Commerce Commission, created in 1887.
2. Federal Trade Commission, created in 1914.
3. Federal Power Commission, created in 1930.
4. Federal Communications Commission, created in 1934.
5. Securities and Exchange Commission, created in 1934.
6. Civil Aeronautics Board, created in 1938.

These were originally authorized by the Congress as independent regulatory agencies, and although they may appear unrelated in name and in specific purpose, it is pointed out they are very closely related under the common theme of regulatory authority. Two have jurisdiction over carriers (railroads, buses, trucks, water carriers, pipelines) and are under the Interstate Commerce Commission; air carriers are under the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Two of these agencies regulate utilities—electrical and gas being under the Federal Power Commission; broadcasting, telephone and telegraph are under the Federal Communications Commission.

One agency regulates financial activities, such as security exchanges, security issues and holding companies. This is the Security and Exchange Commission.

One agency regulates a special field in industry. It is the Federal Trade Commission which has jurisdiction over trade practices with reference to whether or not they are fair or unfair.

The Subcommittee is called the Legislative Oversight Committee, and it has a tremendous job to do. These agencies were intended to be arms of the Congress rather than subject to the dictates of the Executive Branch of this government. In other words, they were supposed to be independent agencies to carry out in a fair, unbiased and unprejudiced manner the intent of the Congress in regulatory laws. Regulation itself, has always been abhorrent to the American, although it is readily recognized that the complexity of our economy requires certain limited regulations in various fields. Under the circumstances, it is of vital importance that the powers vested in these agencies and bureaus be exercised with the greatest of care to insure fairness and equity to all which may fall within their jurisdiction.

Many have felt that come, if not all, of these agencies have been dominated by the Executive Branch of the government and have fallen into a pattern of yielding to political expediency rather than adhering to the basic concepts upon which they were created. Whether or not such suspicions are true is a question to be answered by the Committee on Legislative Oversight. What the people want is the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth on the subject.

A Bridge or Tunnel

Recently, Congress spent one entire day arguing whether or not a tunnel or a bridge should be built across the Potomac River in order to relieve the increasing traffic problems in this area. Some members were for the tunnel, while others were for the bridge. Some wanted a fixed span bridge, while others wanted a draw bridge. One member suggested the only solution to the problem would be to build a tunnel high enough so that any ship could pass under it—in other words, a high bridge tunnel. Although he was trying to be facetious, many of the members apparently took him seriously, because at the end of the day after much fanfare, trumpet blowing and oratory, the House of Representatives refused to approve any of the proposals. It turned out to be much ado about nothing, because the authority already exists for the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to build another bridge across the Potomac River. The great need for such a span is evidenced by the terrific traffic jams which occur each day. I agree that a bridge should be built, but I vigorously disagree with many of the proponents of the new span as to who should pay for it. For some reason which seems to be of long standing, it appears that whenever the District of Columbia needs anything, a large and apparently very effective group in the District feel the entire cost should be borne by the federal government. This is so, whether or not it is for the building of a bridge across the Potomac River or for the restoration of an old stone house in Georgetown, the history of which has never yet been determined. It was this Old Stone House that I fought so hard two years ago, because the investment of federal funds would approximate 250 thousand dollars. To date, I have asked 126 taxi drivers, about 240 members of Congress, at least 400 citizens of the District of Columbia, as well as numerous strangers, where I could find the Old Stone House. The score, to date, is 4 taxi drivers, about 10 members of Congress, about 15 citizens of the District, and no strangers who knew of its existence. It is my opinion that the federal government is no more obligated to build a bridge across the Potomac between the District of Columbia and Virginia, or to restore an old stone house, simply because it is located in Georgetown, than it is obligated to build a bridge across the Canadian River or to store an old stone house in any town in Texas.

Gasoline Tax Refund Deadline
You barely have time to make a last-minute rush to the Internal Revenue office for that gasoline tax refund!

The first day of September is the deadline for Texas farmers to apply for refunds on gasoline used for farming between July 1, 1956, and June 30, 1957. The rebate amounts to three cents per gallon on gas used in farm operations during that period.

The opportunity for a small return is also available on gasoline purchased during the first six months of 1956. The Dallas office of the Internal Revenue Service says that two cents will be repaid on each gallon used during that period.

Texas farmers are reminded, however, that only one refund claim per farm operator will be permitted. Each claimant is cautioned to make certain that his refund request includes all eligible fuel used.

Form 2240, for filing the 1957 tax refund claim, has been mailed to each farm and ranch operator who applied for the tax refund in 1956.

Farmers who desire to claim their refunds and have not received

Form 2230 can probably obtain them from their county agent or from the nearest Internal Revenue office.

Fishing License Increase Effective Monday

New fishing licenses which will cost sportsmen $2.15 instead of $1.65 as in 1956, will be on sale at the Fish Commission, 1001 Main St., starting Monday.

The increase in price was one of the provisions of a law passed by the Legislature last session. The price of the hunting license was increased from $2.15 to $3.15.

The past 30 years the price of the hunting license had increased only 15 cents and the fishing license only 50 cents, the recent bill, the Texas Fish and Game Commission has

The new law is not concerned with the kind of bait (artificial, natural, or live) used. The old license was referred to as the "artificial license."

Summer Care Of Fish Ponds Is Important

Fish certainly aren't human beings, but they are like people in one respect—they can't live without oxygen.

Weed control and fertilization of farm ponds are important. However, Ed Cooper, wildlife conservation specialist, says that certain precautions should be taken to prevent oxygen depletion.

If mosses and other plants are sprayed with chemicals during the hot days of August and early September, the masses of decaying vegetation will cause a loss of oxygen in the water. Without this oxygen, fish will die very suddenly, warns Cooper.

The application of fertilizers to farm ponds will also bring about an oxygen depletion. There should be no more fertilizing until cooler weather this fall or next spring, advises the specialist.

If the pond owner will fertilize properly in early spring of 1958, the fish will be aided by increased food supply brought about by fertilization. Too, the resulting change in water color will not allow the mosses to get a start.

If oxygen is deficient in a fish pond, Cooper advises taking a motor boat ride across it to stir up the water. This helps aerate it and provides more oxygen for the fish.

Questions & Answers For Veterans

Q. I am a World War II veteran and I live in a home I bought with a GI loan. If through no fault of my own, I am forced to dispose of the home for some compelling reason after July 25, 1958, the World War II deadline, would I still be able to get my GI loan entitlement restored?

A. Yes, under certain conditions. Your reasons for selling must be acceptable under the law, and VA must be relieved of its guarantee liability. If your loan rights are restored, you have until February 1, 1965, to obtain another GI loan, despite the fact that the World War II deadline will have passed.

Q. Under the War Orphans Education Program, is it possible for a student to take a number of unrelated subjects in school?

A. No. There must be a definite goal and an education program leading to that goal. Unrelated subjects, not leading to a goal, could not be approved under the law.

Frank Ellis and granddaughter, Cindy Belle, and R. C. Ellis returned Monday following a trip to Gravelly, Ark. and Boonville, Miss. They visited in Gravelly with Mr. Ellis' daughter, Mrs. Jim Caviness, who accompanied them to Boonville, where they visited other relatives.

Hilda Lindsey of Canyon visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Lindsey on Sunday.

It takes 400 bolls of cotton to make a dress containing 5 yards of fabric, according to research findings of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Editorial

Vote Saturday for Your Future

Saturday should be a red letter day on the calendar for citizens of Memphis. On that date they will decide if this city will be a member of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority. The election Saturday will only be to determine if Memphis will join with Wellington, Childress, Hedley, Clarendon, Paducah and Quanah to investigate the feasibility of constructing a dam on the Salt Fork of Red River.

The balloting Saturday will not in any way obligate the citizens of Memphis. It will only establish the authority as a legal organization and give it power to conduct surveys of the proposed dam and arrive at an estimate of the cost of the project. The authority can also conduct tests as to the amount and quality of water available, and finally arrive at an estimate of the cost of the entire project.

Memphis and the surrounding area stand a good chance of losing the water on the Salt Fork unless they began some definite action on the project. Several years ago the Legislature passed an act providing for the establishment of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority. In the original bill there was a provision which led some to doubt about whether a city could withdraw after they had entered the project. This was changed by an amendment to the act by the last session of the Legislature, and it is now clear that a city can join the authority now and then withdraw at a later date if they find out that the project will be too expensive. There is some possibility that the sale of water from the lake might completely pay for the construction costs.

The urgency of approving the authority can be easily seen when it is made known that the present water rights to the area will expire in May of next year. This right to the water on the river was granted by the State Board of Water Engineers several years ago after the Legislature passed the act making the provisions of the Greenbelt bill clear. The Board of Water Engineers stated that they would not renew the water rights again unless the citizens of the area showed some definite action toward establishing the dam.

They were forced to this decision by a group in Oklahoma who have made requests for the water rights on the river downstream. If the dam is built here, there will not be enough water left in the river for the Oklahoma group, and conversely, if they are allowed to build a dam, we cannot later build one which would cut off their water supply.

There is no reason why the citizens of Memphis should not vote "For Confirmation" 100 per cent. It will not cost us a red cent to look into the possibility of building a dam on the river. If the dam is feasible, it will be the greatest boon to Memphis if we had an unlimited water supply. So, go to the polls limited number of industries who could be interested in Memphis if we had an unlimited water supply. So, go to the polls Saturday and vote for the confirmation.

Cruel Hoax

J. Edgar Hoover ranks highway killings with major crimes such as kidnapping and armed robbery, and is convinced there should be an end to listing speeders and careless and reckless drivers as "petty offenders." Is a child killed by a kidnapper deadlier than one lifeless under a speeding car? he asks. Is a person crippled by an automobile less pitiable than a person permanently maimed by the gun of a robber?

He also finds that much of juvenile disrespect for law can often be traced to the "miserable examples" of adult motorists who "beat the law" on the highways and boast about outwitting traffic officers.

In concluding an editorial quoting Mr. Hoover, the Portland, Oregon, Journal states a plain fact: "There will be no safety on the roads until motorists obey the laws willingly or are made to under sure and certain sentences to jail, if necessary. Fines and suspended sentences are a cruel hoax."

Press Paragraphs— QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Justice Like Charity . . .
Must Begin at Home

Says The Dallas News: "The President says we ought to respect the Supreme Court; it is 'one of the great stabilizing influences in this country to keep us from going to the extreme.'"

Replies Editor Homer Steen in the Floyd County Hesperian: "That is what the Court ought to be, yes. And a court which is one of the great stabilizing influences in this country is not hard to respect. But when the referee insists upon carrying the ball himself, who then is referee?"

Because we believe firmly in a government of law, and because the courts of our country are the backbone and muscle of the law, we have been profoundly disturbed in recent years by the lack of respect for the courts . . . from the highest to the lowest . . . among our citizens. It is a lack of respect which we have often shared, and occasionally expressed. And it is bad.

But it is difficult to feel respect for a Court which demands no respect . . . or for a judge who is unwilling or incapable of commanding it.

The foundation of our system is at the bottom . . . not at the top . . . and it is in our lower courts, at the precinct, county and district levels, that the lack of sense of the dignity and majesty of the law is most painfully apparent.

Our control over the character of men who make up the Supreme Court is remote, at best, since these Justices are appointed at the highest levels of government. But we, the people, can exercise direct control over the judges of our local courts because we elect them. We can demand higher standards of conduct from them by the simple process of withholding our votes from those who fail to meet the standards we demand.

Speeders Must Be Stopped

This nation spends some $40 billion a year to maintain its military defenses, in the hope that another war and the toll of death, destruction and human misery that would follow can be prevented.

Yet, each year, the toll of death, destruction and human misery caused by accidents—of which the major cause is excessive speed—rivals the casualty list of wars of the past fought with conventional weapons.

It is true, of course, that a nuclear war would undoubtedly produce casualty lists infinitely greater than those of conventionally-fought wars. It also looks as if there is a percentage of drivers who are hell-bent on sending the highway and city streets accident toll up to the potential nuclear-war level. THESE ARE THE DRIVERS WHO MAKE RACE-TRACKS OUT OF PUBLIC HIGHWAYS AND THOROUGHFARES, and though they have none of the rare special skills of the accomplished race-driver, are at the wheels of the cars which, whatever their own virtues, have none of the special characteristics of race cars.

The speeder is as much a menace as an enemy soldier bent on our destruction.

Last Sunday morning, in Stanton, while the churches of the city were observing worship hours, a couple of self-designated drag-race boys decided to use one of our longest city traffic arteries for a contest. Thundering and rolling up the street they tortured the town with the cut-outs and loud-mufflers and only by the grace of God finished their blood-chilling chase without gruesome tragic results.

Just a few short seconds before the smart boys started their rolling weapons of death down St. Peter's a little boy crossed one of the intersections along their uncharted speed lane alone—we still wonder what might have happened to that lad had he been caught beneath the bumper of one of the on-rushing vehicles. And we wonder what would have remained in the life for the hot-rodder who cut him down. IT IS TIME THIS WILD AND RECKLESS DRIVING WAS STOPPED AND IMMEDIATELY!

COVER CAN PREVENT THIS—Members of the local Soil Conservation Office this week urged area farmers to begin thinking about cover crops to hold their land during the coming winter and early spring months. The technicians pointed out that several thousand acres of crop land will soon be bare and subject to blowing unless a crop is planted to hold the soil.

Cover Crops Should Be Planted Now To Prevent Blowing Later, SCS Says

Farmers and ranchers of the Hall County Soil Conservation District are again urged to plant a cover crop this fall, Charlie Cape, work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, stated this week.

A survey by technicians of the SCS shows that several thousand acres of land will be bare and subject to blowing unless operators plant some type of cover crop.

A cover crop is one that is established for the purpose of protecting the soil from severe blowing. Cover crops will also help prevent water runoff, increase water intake, add organic matter, and will help prevent nitrogen from leaching from the soil, Cape said.

Close growing crops, legumes or non-legumes, are needed as a part of a crop rotation system in any row crop farming area, the conservationist said. These may include Austrian winter peas, hairy vetch, oats, barley or rye. Legume seed should be inoculated before planting to insure a good stand, while hairy vetch should be planted with a nurse crop such as oats, barley or rye.

A small drill or inter-row seeder is available to the farmers and ranchers in the district through the SCS. This drill is located with the vocational agriculture department at the Memphis High School and is especially adapted to interseed cover crops between row crops. Cover crops can be seeded with two rows in each middle soon after the last cultivation or before harvesting without damage to the crop to be harvested, Cape said.

The technicians reminded farmers and ranchers that it takes nature from 400 to 1000 years to replace a single inch of topsoil once it has blown away. They stressed the fact that now is the time to begin planting cover crops while there is still enough warmth in the ground for the crops to get started.

Operators desiring additional information are invited to contact the local SCS office.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dickey of Wellington were visitors in the Herchel Combs home Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. McClure visited here from Wednesday until Friday with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McClure and new daughter Nancy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shadid are in Dallas to attend market.

Miss Shirley Ashley of Groom spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johny Brewer and Tommy.

is employed at Whitley's Beauty Shop. We have known Mr. and Mrs. McKinney for many years as they are long-time Wellington citizens. Not once but several times have we cast our ballot for Mr. McKinney for sheriff of Collingsworth County while we resided there... quite a few others voted for him, too, as he served as sheriff for many years. We don't remember the exact number, but it must be somewhere around 20 years.

We do not know if the stars had anything to do with it or not—but we definitely decided Tuesday of last week was our lucky day. Early in the morning Honoria Helm came by and left us some of the freshest black-eyed peas and corn from their farm... then later in the day Wendell Harrison, from across the street, brought us delicious apples for a pie from a tree in his back yard. Wendell doesn't believe in growing elm trees as his neighbors do—but has apple and pecan trees. We think he's right!

If we could have talked Ace Gailey out of some of the fish he caught in Colorado we could have had a feast. However, we're not sure but that he arrived home empty-handed. When we inquired if he caught lots of fish, he replied, "well, yes, I did something I didn't know if I could do or not—eat fish eleven straight days."

Knowing it would be lonely around our house this week, the husband bought us a new pair of clippers to trim the grass. Now, those clippers have us in the doghouse. Without a chance to do more than try them out, we managed to lose them by leaving them on the fender of Billy's car... he drove away, and the clippers are gone! If you found a pair, please remember us.

Mrs. Ed McCreary visited last week with her daughter, Mrs. Benie Dennis, in Borger.

Visitors from Thursday until Monday in the O. R. "Doc" Saye home were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Saye, and his sister, Mrs. Doyle Caffey and son, O'Neal, all of Hawkins.

Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Alexander have returned after being in Almont, Colo., for two months.

The grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Roberts, Charles and Margaret Ann Roberts of Lubbock, spent last week in the Roberts' home. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Roberts, Jr., came for the children Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scott of McLean visited here the past weekend with his sister, Mrs. Dick Watson.

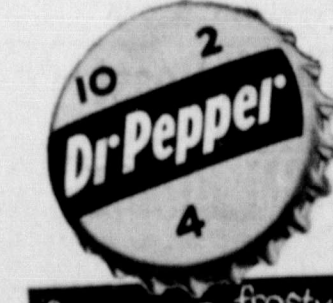

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Baker and son Bobby left Monday for their home in Houston after visiting for several days with relatives and friends in Memphis.

Hedley Boy Scouts Enjoy Annual Barbecue, Overnight Camp at Memphis

The Boy Scouts of Troop 36 of Hedley held their third annual barbecue and overnight camp at the Memphis Swimming Pool Friday evening, according to Scoutmaster Boaz Stotts.

The scouts arrived at the swimming pool at 5:30 p. m. Friday evening. After making camp they enjoyed swimming. At 7:00 p. m. the scouts, committeemen and guests enjoyed a chicken barbecue with all the trimmings. After the barbecue, they hiked out to the Tower Drive-In and attended a show, then returned to the pool area where they spent the night in the open.

Saturday morning the day's activities started off with an early morning swim at sunrise. The scouts also participated in various aquatic games and races, after which they cooked their breakfast over outdoor fires.

The group returned to Hedley about 10 a. m. Saturday morning.

Making the trip were: David Moreman, Don Cox, Lonnie and Joe Darnell, Tony and Eddie Jenkins, Tinsley and Leonard Mullins, Roger and Loyd Messer, Rusty Mosley, Doyle Baggett, Carol Kennedy, Jack Doherty, Monte Rogers, S. A. and James Younger, Wayland Fronterhouse, Gary Alexander, Jerry Kinney, Wendell Stone, Earnest Houdasell, Bobby Wiggins, Pat Chesher, Alvin Alexander and Donald Meadows.

Guests were Eddie Stewart Stinebough of Fort Worth, Mrs. Ira Foster and grandson of Amarillo, Mrs. Conley Ward, Miss Mary Noel, Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Miss Grace Wilson of Memphis; M. D. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Darnell and Charlie Gene, Boyd Johns and Burl Stone of Hedley.

The scouts of Troop No. 36 and their scoutmaster issued a statement thanking the following people for courtesies extended and help given to make the barbecue a success:

Transportation was provided by M. D. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Darnell, A. G. Alexander, W. B. Wiggins and Monte Rogers; Mrs. Ethel L. Smith cooked the beans and salad; Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Miss Grace Wilson made iced tea and salads and treated the scouts with a free swim Saturday morning; the Texas Company supplied barrels, and the Memphis Lumber Company supplied lumber for the serving table; Wood Bros Super Market barbecued the chicken, and W. L. Mosley of Mosley's Cafe arranged for the chickens.

"To these people go our most hearty thanks," Stotts said.

Linda Lu Ford Faces Possible Heart Surgery: To Go to Dallas in Sept.

Dainty Linda Lu Ford, who leads a life that is almost normal, will enter Childrens Hospital in Dallas September 6, for further diagnosis and possible treatment for a heart condition that has existed since birth.

The little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, of Memphis, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crowder and Mr. and Mrs. Ford of Dodson.

Doctors will determine at the time of the examination of surgery is to follow.

A hole in the child's heart is thought by the doctors to be her trouble. The family has been aware of a heart ailment from the beginning.

Definite diagnosis was made in January of this year when Linda Lu made her first trip to Children's Hospital. Through the help of Dr. Robert Clark, the family was fortunate in being able to consult Dr. Fashina, an Australian woman doctor practicing in Dallas.

At Dodson, where she is staying during an illness of her mother, Linda Lu is a fourth grade student who spends much of her spare time reading. She she has

Snake Found Shopping Around In Business Area

Jimmy Sexton, employee at Lemons Furniture, received a shock last week when he came down one morning and opened the door to find a snake lying in the middle of the floor.

The snake was approximately seven inches long and was solid grey on its back. Immediately behind the head was an orange ring and the stomach of the snake was orange and grey striped.

Citizens who first viewed the reptile thought that it might be a coral snake, but Miss Neville Wrenn, local science instructor, said that it was not of that species.

Added to this, two rattlesnakes have shown up in Memphis during the past two weeks. The first was found at the Tommie Robinson home on 12th Street last week.

Thursday the second rattler was discovered underneath the floor at the home of Mrs. Maude Hill on South 7th Street. The snake was found when workmen were preparing to crawl underneath the house to spray for termites.

Greenbelt Water

has granted extensions to the authority from time to time in order to give them a chance to explore the possibilities of building the dam. Last year the board stated that if some definite action was not taken by May of 1958 then the water rights would not be renewed again.

They were forced to this position by a request from an Oklahoma organization which also wants to place a dam on the river, Harrison continued. If the Greenbelt dam is constructed, there will not be enough water left in the river for the Oklahoma group or, if they are allowed to build a dam, another could not be built here at a later date which would cut off their water supply.

This is the reason that a definite move must be taken toward the organization of the authority, Harrison said. The approval of the authority will be the move that is needed to hold the water rights until surveys can be completed to determine if a dam is feasible.

After the survey is completed and the cost estimated, then another election will be called in each town to see if the citizens want to continue with the project, Harrison explained.

In concluding, the representative stressed the fact that election Saturday will not be held in Memphis in any financial whatsoever.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Sweet children returned to their home in Fort Worth Tuesday after being several days here with parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Sweet and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McNeely three sons of El Paso visited last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Combs and Debbie Nicol and Combs were rooming while attending college at Tech.
