Commissioners Table Three Items

In a short meeting Wednesday, the Aransas County Commissioners' Court tabled three of the four items on the agenda.

Bids were opened for patrol cars for the sheriff's department and Sheriff Bob Hewes asked for and was granted time to consider them.

The sheriff submitted a letter to the court requesting a relief jailer and vacation and sick leave funds to be considered in the 1981 budget.

The request was tabled until a study of the 1981 budget could be made and Judge John Wendell said a workshop may have to be held later for a detailed study of the budget.

A motion was tabled for further study concerning sewage treatment discharge from Candlestick subdivision.

The court agreed to endorse Senate Bill 12 in answer to a letter from Senator E.L. Short concerning court appointed attorneys' fees. The bill states that the state will pay the attorneys' fees instead of the county.

Bond was approved for new Sheriff's Deputy Doug Carroll, and the sheriff told the court that the county jail has been re-certified.

Winter Texan Activities

The Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association sponsors weekly game nights and "potluck suppers" for Winter Texans at the RFTA Recreation Building on Airport Road. The game nights are held each Monday starting at 7:30 p.m. The Wednesday suppers, followed by entertainment, start at 6:30 p.m. each week.

Alpha Omega Players Present Gideon

The Alpha Omega Players, Repertory Theater of America will present "Highlights from Gideon."

a modern play about the Biblical figure whose name is probably more familiar than the story of his heroism found in the Book of Judges.

The presentation will be at 7 p.m. Sunday, January

4 at the United Methodist Church in Rockport.

Gideon, the farmer-turned-warrior, is widely known today because of the Gideon Society that places Bibles in hotel and motel rooms across America.

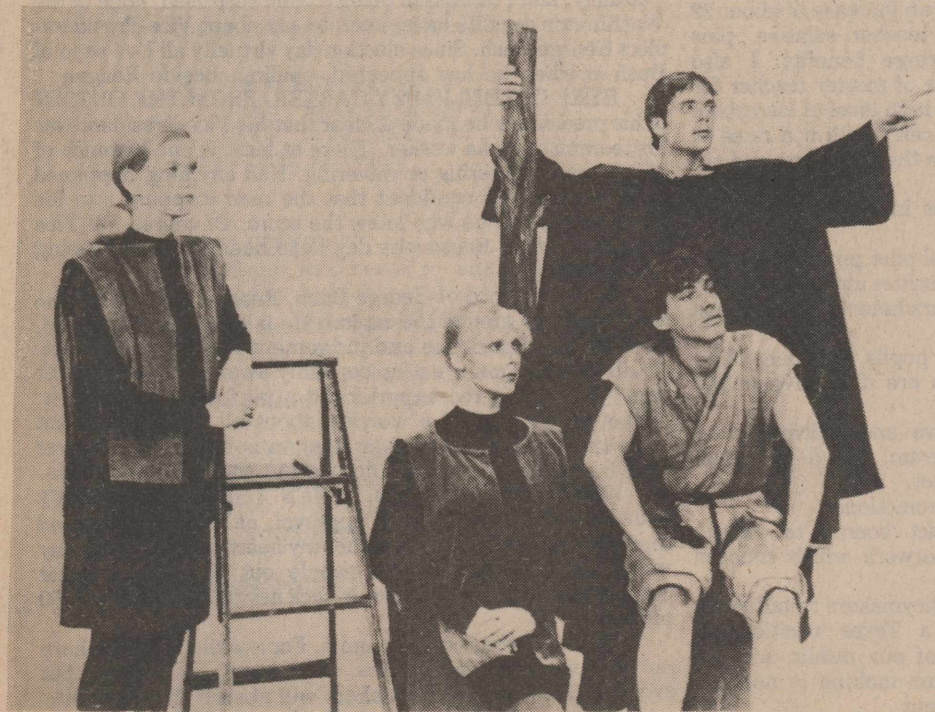

The play to be seen here was written by the noted American playwright, Paddy Chayefsky, author of the Oscar-winning movie "Marty" and stage hits "Middle of the Night" and "The Tenth Man."

It was a seven month hit in New York during the 1961-62 season with Frederic March playing the role of Gideon.

The account of Gideon's adventures given in Chapters 6, 7 and 8 of the Book of Judges has been more or less faithfully followed.

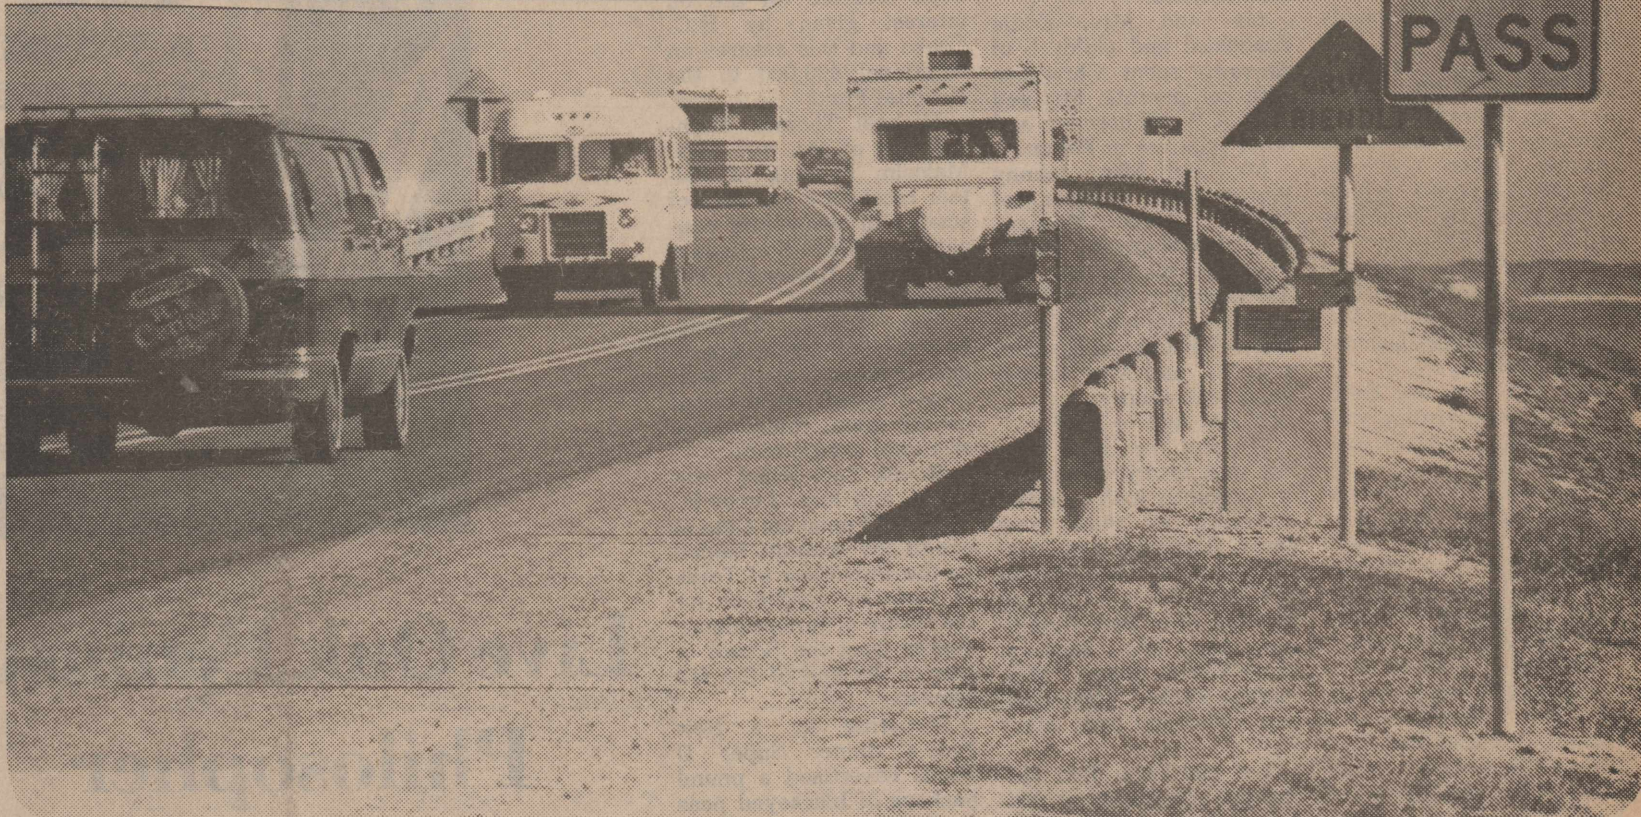

The rendering of that account in stage terms however, is not all that the play attempts. The tale has been used by the playwright to develop some provocative ideas concerning a man's ability to travel his own road as Gideon did, without following exactly the direction pointed out by God.

The play is in every way reverent, but it raises philosophical questions as to how much man may walk alone.

SCENE FROM "GIDEON"

The Alpha Omega Players will present "Highlights from Gideon" at the United Methodist Church Sunday, January 4, at 7 p.m. The play was written by the noted American playwright, Paddy Chayefsky and is a modern play about the Biblical figure from the Book of Judges.

NO PASSING ZONE

A new sign and double stripes were added to the Copano Bay Causeway last week in an attempt to cut down on accidents. Double-striping was begun at the south end of the bridge, going north to the bottom of the hump. North of that, open passing is allowed where the yellow line is not in the driver's lane. The most recent accident on the causeway involved a truck and three automobiles. [Pilot Photo by Perry Carter]

This New Year, Make a Resolution That Could Save Your Life!

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassy ranch is puzzled about a notion all First Ladies have about the White House.

There's something about the Presidency I don't understand. There never has been a First Lady the White House suited like it was when the family moved in. Every one of them for the past 50 years has insisted on redecorating the place.

A famous decorator has been hired to re-do the living quarters of the new occupants. He is so famous that the cost of the average room he redecorates comes to $50,000. And the White House is not a one-room shack.

I got to thinking about this. How could a modern decorator, if he were working back in the early 1800's, have managed to run up a bill of $50,000 to re-do the boyhood log cabin of Abraham Lincoln? I guess it'd go something like this:

"Mrs. Lincoln, you mean to tell me the dirt floor young Abe is crawling on is domestic dirt? It came from right around here? We can't have the future President of the United States crawling on anything less than imported dirt. I'll place an order right now for two tons of rich alluvial soil from the Nile valley. Won't cost over 5 or 6 thousand dollars to ship it here."

"Now that fireplace, where'd your husband get all those odd-shaped rocks? Rip it out and I'll order some Italian marble. Believe I can get some for probably 10 thousand dollars. And saw up that split log you're using for a mantel and I'll import one I know about in a castle on the Rhine. It's a bargain at 12 thousand."

"Now I ask you in all candor, where'd you get the mud those logs are chinked with? You want your son to grow up and get to remembering while he's riding up Pennsylvania Avenue that he once lived in a log cabin chinked with mud dug up in his own back yard?"

"It'll scar his personality. They make a beautiful chartreuse chinking mud in a little town in the south of France. I'll order a batch. Probably won't cost more than a few thousand dollars, maybe a little more for the fine textured kind."

"And those window curtains. Who ever heard of using gunny sacks? I'll use Japanese brocade."

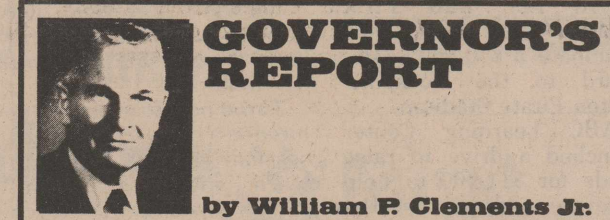

"Sir, just a minute. How much has your bill come to so far?"

"It's right on the dot. Fifty thousand dollars even."

"We can't pay it."

"Don't worry about it. I'll hold the bill till your son gets to Washington and Congress will take care of it."

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

It is my prediction that the Texas Legislature in 1981 will direct the most significant changes in our Texas public school system since the Gilmer-Aikin laws were enacted more than 30 years ago.

My recommendations in the area of education hopefully will point the way to making our elementary and secondary schools second to none in the nation.

They are based on the year-long study and report of a blue ribbon group, the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education, made up of 200 outstanding Texans from all parts of the State and headed by Dr. Willis Tate, president emeritus of Southern Methodist University.

Texans are well served by their schools. But the schools must continue to improve to meet the needs of all our students. We must develop an educational program that is right for Texas.

I firmly believe that Texans want to return to basics in the schools, and that is the heart of the proposals I will submit to the Legislature. The current curriculum is an aggregation of elements mandated by state law, State Board of Education policy, school board policy and federal law and regulation. Subjects are added to address perceived social ills and single interest purposes. None are ever deleted. The total curriculum has become fragmented and diluted.

Existing laws that mandate courses to be included in the curriculum should be repealed, and the State Board of Education should be given the authority to establish and implement a state basic curriculum. Reading, writing and arithmetic should be emphasized along with other basic subjects such as physical and social sciences, the arts, physical education and vocational education.

I will also ask the Legislature to require a state competency test for teachers before they are certified and as a prerequisite for admission to approved teacher education programs. (The bill "grandfathers" present teachers and students enrolled in teaching programs).

Teaching excellence must be encouraged and rewarded. Toward this end, I am recommending an increase of about 22 percent over a two year period in teacher salaries, plus increases in retirement pay and fringe benefits. I also advocate establishment of the position of master teacher for those who consistently demonstrate a high level of classroom performance. The designation would carry with it a raise in pay grade. It will keep good teachers in the classroom and aid recruiting of future teachers.

Some of the other priority items in my public school improvement program include:

—Establishment of a summer school pilot program to help students who are having learning difficulties and need help in certain areas, as well as to provide enrichment opportunities for the gifted.

—Creation of guidance centers for pupils with behavioral problems or character disorders who are disruptive in the classroom.

—Development of a comprehensive and efficient state vocational-occupational training program, based on actual and projected needs of the job market.

—Elimination of so-called social promotions.

—Encouragement of school district boards to relieve classroom teachers of excessive paperwork which reduces instructional time and effort.

—Cooperation of state and local policymakers to influence federal law and regulations from a Texas position on educational matters. Local control of our public schools must be maintained. Federal decision making is not the key to meaningful school improvement.

I am confident that a big percentage of these recommendations will be acted upon by the Legislature during the 1981 regular session. Toward that end, I have renewed the membership of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education to assure strong, coordinated support of this program before the Legislature.

Austin at Wharf

ALL THINGS CONSIDERED I MUST GIVE RONNIE Reagan high marks for the appointments he has proposed for his cabinet and the top command in general. Especially do I like Al Haig for Secretary of State. A week or so ago when his name was first mentioned for the job a great deal of static resulted. Since, or so it seems to me; it had quieted. Demo liberals who protest are almost certain to get mud in their eyes and it begins to appear that they realize this.

Also it seems that Reagan has, to a degree at least, appeased that category of the electorate who are always in the wings waiting to see how any elected person will react to jobs or appointments for women and minorities. A dumb, totally stupid concept. Anyhow a woman and a black have been named for cabinet status. So, let me back up and qualify my dogmatic but considered estimate offered in the sentence preceding the last one.

IN MY BOOK ANY OFFICIAL, ELECTED OR OTHERWISE, who allows himself or herself to be influenced by bleeding hearts who would apportion posts on race, color, creed and sex isn't worth the powder it would take to blow him/her up. In the beginning they demonstrate weakness and the potential for certain failure.

Responsible positions should go to people who are demonstrably best fitted for the job. That is of course a judgment that must be made by whoever stands to make the choice.

Let's be realistic. Start with women who comprise slightly more than half our population and nearly half the work force, the last a circumstance that has evolved in relatively few years.

Someday, and almost certainly, I should say there will be a distaff president and what used to be respectfully called the "gentler sex" will dominate the Congress and Senate. However, that remains a circumstance that has yet to come. Shall I say that suffice that women who have achieved high office and ranking positions in business, industry and the professions are not those who have spent and wasted their time weeping in their beer over equality and rights. They have been too busy achieving, admittedly achieving in our present world under varying adverse circumstances.

Much the same things might be said about blacks and browns. We don't hear much if anything from the yellow race, a circumstance worth pondering. In days gone by it too suffered from as much prejudice and bigotry as any others, and for as long. Those of you who have read James Micheners "Centennial" may find a simple way to understanding if you will recall the farmer who went west and established farms rather than ranches and his experiences with the various nationalities and races he employed to work his fields.

IN ANY EVENT I SAY AGAIN THAT RIGHT CHOICES or bad choices, Reagan appears to be clearly seeking the best. For those who disagree let me say — it doesn't much matter. People in the cabinet especially, increasingly come and go. It is a circumstance more prevalent with each passing administration, although here let it be said that Jimmy Carter tried perhaps as hard as any president to make "cabinet government" work.

Yet in the end he came down from Camp David in 1979 and ousted about half the cabinet and to wind up with the sort of "inner cabinet" that first became clearly evident in the Roosevelt administration and has continued ever since. Yet, none of this is to say that with Reagan things will be different. Who's to say, much less judge — yet.

TO ME IT SEEMS THAT THE INCOMING REAGAN administration has received much more attention than those past. This brings me a concern that I hope will not be justified. In truth to even mention it may be bad form. Certainly, and I confess to being a trifle surprised, none of the Washington pundits have much to say about Vice-President-elect George Bush. Since election day virtually all I've seen of Bush is when he has appeared, smiling, beside Reagan.

HERE CREDIT JIMMY CARTER. FROM THE OUTSET of his presidency he made it clear that his Vice President was his teammate and a worker. There at least is one instance of Jimmy never faltering or wavering. Had anything happened to Carter one felt confident that the man stepping into his shoes would be one who knew the score. Of course, all Vice Presidents since Roosevelts day have been given increasing responsibility.

In the instance of George Bush, Reagan has a man who knows his way around the capital. He is liked and respected, both for his experience and judgement as well as intellect. Of all this Reagan must be certainly aware. Does it bother him? If so he is too experienced a performer to show it. Although we might be worried about all this except that once the honeymoon is over Reagan is bound to discover that he needs, even can't do without the Bush expertise.

FIRST TIME AROUND, WHEN THE GOVERNMENT bailed out Chrysler, I voiced approval, although I wondered then even more than now whether my heart was not ruling my mind. No one likes to see people out of work, a great corporation fail. Now Chrysler is back asking for another $400 million.

I think it's time to call it quits. For a while it will be hard on the workers and others in related industries, but eventually the other auto makers will absorb those people, and trusting of course that Ford and GM will regain prosperity, the workers will again know job security. Meanwhile no government can come to the rescue of every business in trouble, large or small.

I am inclined to ponder whether a dangerous precedent has not already been started. —ahah

Sheriff's Report

Bill Knox, owner of the Running Bear Drive In, reported to the Sheriff's department December 23, at 3:15 p.m. that several items, including a 1969 Ford Ranchero pickup had been stolen from the premises.

Knox told investigator Rick McLester that he hired Nathan Allen Blye, December 11. Blye told Knox he had no money, food or clothing and a wife and two children to care for.

Knox allowed the family to stay on the premises and on Monday, December 22, he went to San Antonio. Upon his return he found Blye and his family gone.

Reported missing from the Running Bear Drive In besides the pickup valued at $500, were a black and white television valued at $71.74, a 23 channel CB radio base station, $500, a Victor adding machine $200, black and white portable television, $125, four cases of Miller lite beer, $30.50 approximately $200 in cash and an unknown amount of food.

The case is under investigation at this time.

Student College Aid Qualifications

Most students, regardless of scholastic achievement or financial need, can and do qualify for various forms and amounts of financial aid. The problem, according to Student College Aid, a nationwide computerized scholarship locator service, located at 3641 Deal Street, Houston, Texas, is that the students just don't know that they qualify. That is why last year alone one hundred thirty-five million dollars of student financial aid went unused.

Eight person years were spent developing this data base for Student College Aid. The data base contains $500,000,000 worth of non-federal and non-state aid along with approximately 2 1/2 billion dollars worth of federal and state aid for undergraduate college students.

Student College Aid uses a computer to match students with available scholarships. The student fills out a data form requesting information about religion, ethnic background, special interests, etc. This data is read into a large computer crammed with information about a quarter of a million possible sources of financial aid. This aid comes from unions, philanthropic organizations, corporations, colleges and other public and private organizations. The student then receives a computer print out listing up to 25 potential scholarships, grants or loans.

In fact, Student College Aid is so sure that it can find sources of funds for students ready to enter college or students in undergraduate college that it makes a money back guarantee. They guarantee to find at least five sources of financial aid for which the student is eligible to apply. Otherwise, their payment is refunded along with any sources of funds discovered for the student. Most students receive 10 to 15 listings valued at $10,000 to $15,000.

FIJI ANNEXED

Britai annexed the Fiji on Oct. 25, 1874.

Texas Futurity Deadline Nears

Large numbers of entries in the Texas Futurity Breeders Stake and the South Texas Derby are pushing the 1981 editions to an all time record.

The Futurity had 177 nominated while the Derby entries totaled 55.

"The estimated purses of $225,000 and $50,000 respectively are within reach," said La Bahia Downs Track Manager, Leonard Von Dohlen III. "We only have a $100 penalty through January 1, 1981 on either race, and this should invite a large number of late entries."

The trials for both stakes have been scheduled for the last two weekends of the meet to allow horsemen running at other meets a two-week rest before running at Goliah.

The 20th annual Spring Meet is scheduled for March 21-22 and 28-29, and April 4-5. One of the track's largest stake and feature schedules will be offered.

The other features include the Anticipation Feature, Great Texas Championship, Goliah Graded Championships Series, La Bahia State Bred Feature, Yellow Rose of Texas Dash, Mission City Dash and Zaragosa Sprint.

Deadline for nominations for these other Stakes without penalty is February 1, 1981. Nomination blanks will be mailed January 1, 1981.

This sounds good on the outside, but it really isn't. It has caused several U.S. plants to be shut down and caused us to be more dependent on imports.

I hope we don't experience what Japan experienced. After Japan became dependent on Russian ammonia, there was a drastic increase in the price of imports.

It is estimated that from 20-25 percent of ammonia used in the U.S. will be imported by 1985. A disruption of the nitrogen supply could greatly affect our ability to produce and seriously hurt the American economy, which is increasingly dependent on agricultural production and exports.

Energy affects transportation costs, which contribute to the price farmers must pay for fertilizers.

What about anhydrous ammonia? Anhydrous ammonia prices are currently abnormally low due to low cost of imported ammonia from Russia and Mexico.

The primary intent of the present study is to determine the amounts and kinds of chemicals used on various agricultural crops.

Additionally, secondary information, such as an estimation of the propriety of use, knowledge concerning safety practices, and farmer awareness of pest control information, etc., will be collected.

Remember if you need any information concerning what I've written here, or other agriculturally related problems, contact me at 364-2334 or write Texas Agricultural Extension Service, P.O. Drawer 1340, Sinton, TX 78387.

Eyes And Answers

HOW DO YOU DO IT?

Dear Dr. Pettie: How do you examine the eyes of very young children and illiterates, with neither knowing letters or words?

You could add the profoundly deaf, the non-English speaking, and the mentally retarded, all a definite challenge, each presenting a separate communication problem. For the quite young and the illiterate, tests are similar, using several different instruments. One test presents charts with a picture for each eye which blends into one picture. In those pictures are dots of different sizes indicating the clearness of vision both at distance and near. Arrows pointing in various directions tell us of eye movements. Yet another has objects placed actually at different distances, telling us about the patient's depth perception.

With a small light we can rather adequately determine a focusing problem and its approximate amount. Pupil contraction and size, the absence of disease, and eye movements both together and separately are checked.

Vision charts (slides) for distance and near with figures of a dog, cat, horse, fish, etc., in sizes from 20/200 down to 20/20 provide much information. The "tumbling E," also in sizes, is most valuable. The patient is asked to use three fingers on one hand to indicate the direction the E arms are pointing — up, down, sideways, and at different angles. A favorite slide of mine showing a line drawing of a plane and pilot, is viewed through 3-D spectacles. As the patient looks, the plane elongates and has brought a gleeful giggle from many a small fry, telling me volumes about the two-eye coordination.

CPL explores new power sources for long-range needs

Because of the shortage of natural gas—and resulting restrictions on its use by utility firms—Central Power and Light Company is turning to other fuels to generate electricity for its customers in South Texas. For the immediate future, CPL will rely heavily on nuclear and coal-fired plants, drawing more than 40% of its production from these two sources by the late 1980s.

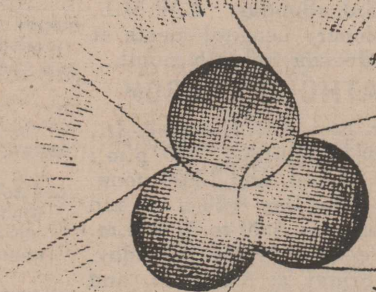

But the company is doing long-range planning, too. In cooperation with research agencies and other utilities, CPL is presently studying several new areas that have the potential to become energy sources many years from now; gasification of solid or liquid fuels, geothermal steam, solar repowering, and nuclear fusion.

At CPL's La Palma Power Station in San Benito, a gasification research project is being conducted on conversion of solid and liquid fuels into a gas that can be burned in place of natural gas in existing boilers.

Sustained generation of electricity already has been achieved with gas produced from heavy fuel oil. Other fuels, such as coal and lignite, also will be tested. The experiment will determine whether the gasification process will allow utilities to continue using existing boilers when natural gas is no longer available.

CPL also is participating in a project to examine the possibility of using geothermal energy for production of electricity. The project, which involves wells drilled into geopressured sands along the Texas coast, is being coordinated by the Center for Energy Studies and the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas at Austin.

As a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, CPL has supported since 1957 nuclear fusion research at the University of Texas. Researchers at the Fusion Research Center in Austin are optimistic that the scientific feasibility of nuclear fusion can be proven by 1982, but it will take another 15 to 20 years to design a reliable fusion power plant.

Besides sharing in these studies, the company also is represented on a Utility Advisory Committee for a Solar Repowering Study on the possible utilization of solar energy to repower an existing gas boiler.

South Texas can depend on CPL to investigate and develop the alternate power sources necessary to assure continued electric service far into the future.

Worship in Church This Week

Probably coming down with something

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever — she always fears the worst!

Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all!

It is a HESITATION; hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face it today! Do something about it next week! Choose YOUR place of worship. And make attendance a regular habit. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child... HIS place of worship.

THE GOFORTH'S

By Jim Campbell[s]

Why do we only say the blessing when the bishop comes to dinner?

The Shepherd's Staff

By Rev. Bob Cantwell, Associate Pastor
Sacred Heart Catholic Church

Another year is behind us and we are launched into a new year full of its hopes and dreams. This could easily be the greatest single year in your life if you but make it so.

Positive thinking is the key to how successful this year will be for you. To think positive when negative things seem to be happening around us is a property we are given by Almighty God. This almost god-like quality is within our inner self that we call our soul. It is there, if we but put it to use.

The way we can put it to use best is to remain close to God all day, every day. By walking in God's way we are constantly availing ourselves of this awesome power of positive thinking.

We must understand that adversities come our way for us to overcome. When we really think about it we realize this and through the power of positive thinking we are able to thank God for our adversities just as we thank Him for our joyous gifts.

If this year is a year of positive thinking for you it will be a year crowded with success no matter what comes your way. Through the communion of saints we draw from an endless reservoir of graces and love. The joy of such an existence defies description. We truly become invincible. It is as close to a heavenly existence as one can be in this life.

The year 1981 can be that year of years for you if you will but let it be through positive thinking.

Congratulations on your good fortune!
God love you.

Accent On Health

"If you are looking for better health in the coming new year, start with an evaluation of your current health habits," advises Dr. C.R. Allen Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Personal Health Services of the Texas Department of Health.

"You'll be surprised how much you can do for yourself. In fact, you could say that good health today is a do-it-yourself proposition in many ways," Dr. Allen has the following suggestions:

(1) Learn to manage stress and try to enjoy life more. "Each of us whose work is not physically demanding should have an exercise program and hobbies or outside interests to relieve the stress. We should make sure that we are not exceeding pressures that our bodies or minds can tolerate," he said.

"I think it's important to remember that what might be the minimum amount of emotional or physical stress you can handle, might be the maximum for someone else."

(2) Learn more about good nutrition. Too much weight contributes to high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and other medical problems. So, maintain your normal weight. Don't overlook fresh fruits and vegetables. Eat three balanced meals a day and try to reduce the intake of salt, saturated fat and sugar. It is estimated that the average American consumes more than 125 pounds of sugar each year.

(3) Avoid substance abuse. Stop smoking. Smoking has been linked to lung cancer, pulmonary disease, heart disease and other health problems.

Avoid too much alcohol. "Certainly one can't deny the relationship of alcohol to the number of auto accidents and homicides occurring in Texas yearly. During 1979, accidents were the fourth leading cause of death, homicides the seventh, and suicides the tenth in Texas.

(4) Use your seat belts. "Once again," Dr. Allen said, "I think it's important to remember that accidents were the fourth leading cause of death in Texas last year, right behind deaths from heart disease, cancer, and cerebrovascular diseases."

(5) Get regular exercise and proper rest. There are many ways to exercise. Jogging might be right for some, while brisk walking might be better for others. Getting plenty of sleep is important during the cold winter months, when the body's defenses should be at their peak.

(6) Develop a sense of health awareness. "This includes having regular physical examinations, following your doctor's instructions, and learning basic first aid such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR)," Dr. Allen said. "Learn to take care of yourself by adopting an overall healthy lifestyle."

Dr. Allen cited research done a few years ago by Dr. Lester Breslow, Dean of the School of Public Health, University of California. The studies were directed at 7,000 adults for five and one-half years.

Results showed that seven simple health habits — three meals a day at regular intervals, eating breakfast, moderate exercise, seven or eight hours sleep at night, moderate weight, no smoking, and no alcohol or only in moderation — were associated with longer life," he explained.

These specific studies showed that a 45-year-old man who practices at least three of these habits can expect to live to about age 67. But a man who has six or seven of the habits can expect to live to age 78, a difference of 11 years. Also, the study showed that the physical health of those following all seven was consistently about the same as those 30 years younger who followed few or none of them.

(7) Don't forget the pet in the family. Be sure that they're fully protected against rabies and other animal-borne diseases.

For more information, contact Dr. C.R. Allen Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Personal Health Services, Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756.

Bold Spirit Banishes Blahs

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. We have a very small guest room we're planning to redecorate. We'd like to have sleeping accommodations for two but the room is pretty small for twin beds.

The room now has a faded floral wallpaper that needs freshening up. So we think it is time to do over the whole room.

Please give us some ideas. — T.B.

A. If you want an upbeat room, leave the soft floral wallpapers for somebody else and choose a classy, brassy modern geometric in bright colors — blue and yellow or green and hot pink or salmon and brown. Choose the lighter of the colors for the carpeting.

Double your sleeping accommodations with a trundle bed. This can be done by building a box around the trundle bed. And for a smart, built-in look designer Ann Heller covered the box in matching carpeting. The box supports one twin and conceals another.

Wrap both mattresses in matching solid color throw spreads in one of the bright colors from the wallpaper. Or simply choose brightly colored sheets and blankets and do without a spread.

Q. I have a small dining room with breakfast on one wall and a server on another.

er. What should I hang over the server?

I like lots of interest on the walls but I can't figure out what to use. I have had a painting there but somehow it isn't right. All furniture has just a hint of Oriental. — W.M.

A. You may find your single painting isn't heavy enough to balance the large, heavy breakfast on the other wall. A collection of nine or 12 framed pieces of art might be better.

Frame a grouping of interesting Oriental prints with simple antique gold molding. Use a non-glare glass for a softer look. This kind of arrangement can give weight to the wall space over your server — and plenty of dramatic appeal, too.

Q. My bedroom badly needs something done to it. The carpet is gold (as throughout the house) and the furniture is mahogany. The drapes are solid white and the bedspread is a brown-white floral print with a touch of yellow. Everything can be removed except for the basic furniture.

Any suggestions you have will be appreciated. The room is dull, drab and colorless. The sun doesn't shine into the room so it is a very boring room. I'd like to pick it up. — S.E.V.

A. Very often a new color scheme, bringing with it new wall colors and new bedspread fabric can transform a bedroom in unbelievable ways.

If your gold carpeting looks well, why don't you keep it and eliminate that expense of replacement just now.

My first step would be to decide on a great fabric for your bed. If your previous bedspread fabric was refined and delicately colored, choose something quite different. Perhaps deep rich colors in a contemporary tapestry pattern — giving a stained glass brilliance to your room. Or if you've had a noisy print, maybe the contrast of a solid, interestingly woven fabric would please you. Very frequently a simple change like this can do wonders.

When you first choose the fabric, then you have established your color scheme. From the fabric choose a nice warm color for the walls — a deep peach or apricot, a smooth coffee au lait or even a rich russet tone would add a liveliness to the room. Replace the white drapes with bedspread fabric or match them to your new colorful walls.

Accessorize wisely, too. Add interesting new art work — it needn't be expensive — such as prints or drawings that seem to be compatible and complement your mahogany furniture.

I MUST CLARIFY a statement I made a few weeks ago about Aggies and bumper stickers.

When I said I might change I only meant change bumper stickers.

Nothing could ever make me ashamed of being an Aggie's mom. No way.

LAST NIGHT I went home and took a crocked chicken out of the pot, poured the broth into another pot on the stove, cooked rice in it, opened a can of corn, made salad and invited the family to eat.

Poultry wasn't the wisest choice I could have made right now. But I decided that crock pot was my best bet and the chicken was the closest thing I had to throw in it.

My feelings were "Eat it or do without."

That means I love my family very much. I read somewhere where "they" have decided that mothers who cook too much and try to feed their family too much really don't know how to express love, so they put food in front of them.

Not me. They know I love them — but not so's you could tell in the kitchen.

The other night I asked one of them what they wanted for supper and the cutesy reply was "Whatever blows your skirt." Well nothing blew it, so nothing got cooked.

My husband was irritated with our daughter, rightly so, because she had stayed home most of the day in a kitchen filled with things to eat then asked him for money to buy a submarine sandwich. He gave in and told her to keep the change for the next time she couldn't find anything to eat.

I figure if they want the extra money, I'll work and cook what I can. If they want huge, fine meals — I'll stay home and cook them. But they won't have money for extras like shoes, clothes, education, haircuts, etc.

All families have this little problem.

All wives have to face resentful husbands whether they work or not.

But somehow the working woman is supposed to be exactly like the sexpot in the Enjoli commercial.

Sorry Marabel, it just doesn't work that way.

Nursing Home News

Activities at the Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center continued to be plentiful right up through Christmas Day last week.

Monday morning, the ladies of the Rebekah Lodge #96 of Ingleside, came out and brought Christmas cards for all of our residents to enjoy.

Also, Jean Windham and Pauline Ivey, on behalf of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Aransas Pass Fire Department, brought out tray favors of candy for all of our residents. Thanks go to Dorothy McCaleb for the nice men's clothing which she brought out to us.

Monday afternoon, Belinda Ritz and Karen Stinch, representing the Tri-County EMS Auxiliary came out and gave the residents a very nice party. They served trays of cheese, smoked ham, pickles and crackers, which everyone really enjoyed. Assisting them were Sissy and Chip Ritz, who helped pass the cold drinks to the people.

Wednesday morning Delma Rodgers and Mary Portenier came to visit.

Wednesday afternoon the Port Aransas Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department and the Moore McDonald VFW Post 8967 brought a crate of apples, a crate of oranges and a big box of candy to our residents. Also, that afternoon, which was Christmas Eve, the staff played Santa to our residents by giving out all the gifts which had been brought by the many groups of the greatest people which I have mentioned in my articles. We cannot say "Thank you" enough for your wonderful generosity which you have shown our home for seven years. We love every one of you!

Wednesday evening the Church of the Latter Day Saints brought their groups out to sing Christmas carols up and down the hallways. Also, a group of CYOs of St. Mary Star of the Sea Catholic Church of Aransas Pass were out to sing carols to our residents.

Friday, December 26, was the eighth anniversary of our being in the business of caring for those entrusted to us.

Girl Scouts To Sell Cookies

Girl scouts in 23 south Texas counties will be knocking on doors and making calls for orders for the 1981 cookie sale beginning January 10, 1981. Girls will take orders through January 23, and the cookies will be delivered February 20 until March 7.

The price this year continues to be a $1.50 per package.

Cookies for 1981 are supplied by the Burry Company and the varieties are: chocolate chip, thin mint, chocolate and vanilla creme sandwich, peanut butter sandwich, sugar, and two new items, a crispy granola cookie called Dutch 'N Such, and a new cracker made with real cheddar cheese called Golden Yangles.

Funds earned by the troops will go to support individual troop projects and trips, council owned scout properties, the council's resident camp, Green Hill, located at Lake Mathis, and for general support of the operation and support services of the Girl Scout program in the south Texas communities.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) — Also Aries Ascendant — Problems or disagreements with mate or partner may best be handled by professional counseling. At work you could come up with answers to some sticky problems. Good time to construct a workable budget for your family.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) — Also Taurus Ascendant — Frustrations could really get to you and there is the danger of losing your temper. Try dispersing the energy through physical exercise instead. Give some responsibility to others and work toward cooperative efforts.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 20) — Also Gemini Ascendant — Your creativity is at a peak so use it in cooperation with others. There are opportunities at work to advance your position so make important contacts and forge ahead. Set up a spending plan for the month with Christmas coming up.

CANCER: (June 21 to July 22) — Also Cancer Ascendant — Try to keep family matters and job matters separated. Guard your pocket book and evaluate carefully any moneymaking scheme that is presented. Not the time to risk your savings. Romance and artistic creativity bring much joy.

LEO: (July 23 to Aug. 22) — Also Leo Ascendant — Emotional problems could lead you into depression unless you turn your attention and energies into your work. Openly state your point of view and don't take criticism from a loved one personally. The result can be a happy team effort.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Also Virgo Ascendant — Concentrate on routine jobs and try not to worry too much about money. Later in the week you can get the cooperation you need from co-workers. Don't spread yourself too thin — concentrate on one favored project just now.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Also Libra Ascendant — Domestic squabbles can be upsetting because of differing points of view. Agreement can be reached if you put forth the effort, however. Concentrate on routine matters at work and forget the big deals for now. Be reliable on the job.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Also Scorpio Ascendant — Energy could be low and you will receive cooperation from co-workers if you but ask. Friends and money don't mix well just now, and you should read the small print on any documents you sign. Demonstrate your creative ability to bosses.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Also Sagittarius

Ascendant) — An inner restlessness could be clarified by discussing your feelings with a valued friend. Business associates may let you down but you have the understanding and support of loved ones. Look forward to a happy weekend.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) — Also Capricorn Ascendant — A heavy workload and deadlines can require concentrating your energies. Good time to check over your personal financial accounts such as taxes, insurance and the like. Not the time to take any financial risks, especially with friends.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) — Also Aquarius Ascendant — Don't let personal romantic problems take your mind off your work. Show your talents to superiors by top performance. You could get the go ahead on a pet project and move forward under your own steam. Bring household accounts up to date.

PISCES: (Feb. 19 to March 20) — Also Pisces Ascendant — The time could be ripe for going into business with someone you've known a long time and trust implicitly. Discuss the venture with family members before finalizing the arrangements. Get professional advice before signing any documents.

Learn which signs will benefit you most for money, marriage, romance, business, etc. Send name, address and birth date, along with $1.25 (USA Funds) to: Gina, Box 22671, San Diego, Ca. 92122.

Antique or junkie?

By JAMES G. McCOLLAM
Member, Antique Appraisers Assoc. of America
Copley News Service

Dear Mr. McCollam: I have one 10-inch plate and seven 7½-inch luncheon plates in excellent condition. The picture clearly shows the artist's signature, A. Kach. On the back is the mark as shown below the picture of the plate. Do you know the age and value of these pieces? — F.M.G., Whiting, Ind.

Dear F.M.G.: These plates were by Rosenthal and Company, in Selb, Bavaria. The company was founded by Philip Rosenthal in 1880. The large plate is worth about $50, the small plates about $30 each. Rosenthal china is still being made today.

Dear Mr. McCollam: This Oriental rug has been in our family for almost 100 years. Its principal colors are red and blue with a beige field. Miscellaneous other colors appear in the border and elsewhere. It measures 4½ feet by 6½ feet and is in exceptionally good condition. I would like to know its vintage and value. — N.T.A., San Diego, Calif.

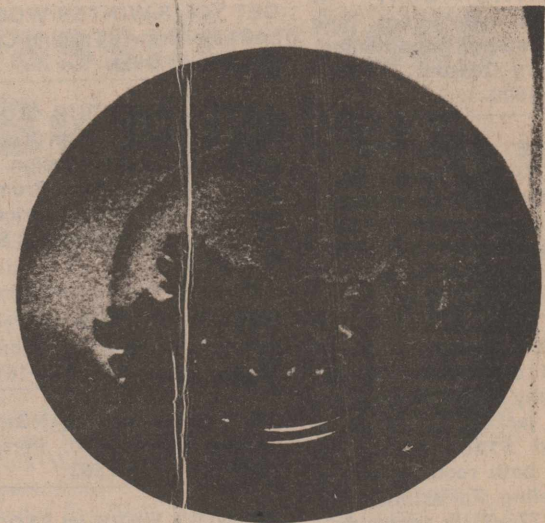

Dear N.T.A.: This is basically a Persian rug, probably a Sarouk. However, since rugs like this were made by nomadic tribes, identification is elusive. Sarouk is a town on the Plains of Afghanistan and many of the rugs casually called Sarouk were made by the tribes in the surrounding area. Yours was made in the third quarter of the 19th century and would sell in the $1,000 to $2,000 range depending on condition.

BOOK REVIEW: "Collecting American Craft Antiques," by William C. Ketchum, Jr., $7.95 plus 75 cents postage, E.P. Dutton, 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016. If your bag is tramp art, bead work, shell art, dried flowers, pine cone work, etc., this is for you. It covers both collecting 19th century items in these categories and also how to make them if you can't find or buy them.

"Antiques and Their Values - Ivory," by Tony Curtis, $3.95 plus $1 postage or send for complete catalog of books on antiques to Apollo Books, 391 South Rd., Poughkeepsie, N.Y. 12601. Since the elephant has become an endangered species, the prices of articles made of ivory has skyrocketed. If you have any of these items or get a chance to buy them, you need this book. Every piece is both illustrated and priced.

Help is just a phone call away at the local K.O.A. Campground, Highway 35 South in Rockport, where a new emergency telephone station has recently been installed. Shown trying out the new service is Merle Campbell of Hastings, Michigan. Also on hand for the "inauguration" of the new service were Dutch Koppenhaver, Bell Telephone installation supervisor; Paramedic Leonard Collier of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service; Steve Huren of Sparta, New Jersey; and Alex and Donna Knox, owners of the local K.O.A. The new emergency telephone station, believed to be the only one in use in a campground in Texas, is designed to get emergency service to residents at the campground faster through an automatic connection to the Emergency Communications number at the county sheriff's office. All the resident does is lift the receiver and he or she will be in communication with the sheriff's dispatcher who will then be able to provide the necessary emergency service. The Postal Service claims that the three Dallas firms have misrepresented work-at-home projects in advertisements soliciting home

If successful in obtaining the mail stop order, the Postal Service will return to sender all mail received addressed to the firms relating to the work-at-home offers. Postal Inspector in Charge W.R. Newsome stated that the action being taken against the firms was the result of an investigation by Postal Inspectors from the Dallas Office. Inspector Newsome indicated that the issuance of the mail stop orders was one of several methods currently being used by Postal Inspectors in their continuing efforts to prevent postal customers from being defrauded through the U.S. mails.

THE ORIGINAL WORD MAZE PUZZLE

DOUBLE...

ALL WORDS TO BE CONSTRUCTED PERTAIN TO THE ABOVE TOPIC. TO YOUR ADVANTAGE ONE WORD HAS ALREADY BEEN TRACED. YOU MUST TRACE THE THREE REMAINING WORDS, USING ONLY THE LETTERS DESIGNATED BY THE DARKENED CIRCLES. WORDS MAY BEGIN AND END FROM EITHER COLUMN BUT EACH LETTER CAN ONLY BE USED ONCE.

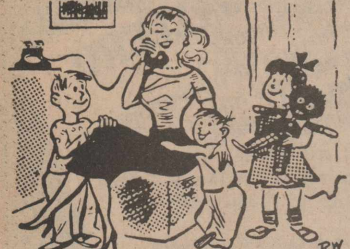

EACH PUZZLE HAS A DIFFICULTY RATING (ABOVE). FOUR STARS SIGNIFY THE HIGHEST DEGREE OF DIFFICULTY.

GIVEN BELOW ARE THE POINT VALUES FOR EACH WORD. YOUR WORDS MUST CORRECTLY MATCH THESE POINT VALUES.

The seventh grade class which my brother teaches was holding a magazine-subscription sale. The morning after the sale started one boy reported that he had already sold $20 worth.
"How did you manage to sell so many so quickly?" my brother asked. "I sold them all to one family," the boy replied. "Their dog bit me!"

BENCHWARMED SPORTS TRIVIA
Who was the quarterback for the winning team in the first Cotton Bowl game, what year, what teams?

The Hollywood Columnist telephoned the movie star. "Is it true," she asked, "that you are divorcing your fourth husband?"
"Don't be silly," giggled the star. "Why should I divorce him? I barely know the man!"
Editor: "Did the play you saw tonight have a happy ending?"
Critic: "Oh, yes. Everybody was happy when it ended."

Terry: "Why did they hang that picture?"
Mary: "Probably couldn't find the artist."

TONGUE TWISTER

THIS PUZZLE CONSISTS OF TWO SEPARATE CHALLENGES:

1. SEE HOW MANY DIFFERENT WORDS YOU CAN UNSCRAMBLE WHICH CONTAIN ALL THE LETTERS AT LEFT.
2. SEE HOW MANY OF THESE WORDS YOU CAN TRACE WITH A CONTINUOUS LINE.

EACH TRACING MUST BEGIN AT THE BLACK SPOT. NO PASSAGE OR INTERSECTION MAY BE USED MORE THAN ONCE PER WORD.

A Grandfather's Letter

Editor's note: A local grandfather wrote this to his grandson recently. He has asked to remain anonymous, but we wanted to share the letter.

My Dear Grandson, Kevin,
Now that you are fifteen and have aspirations of becoming a Chef of some renown someday, as an amateur or professional, you should start collecting Recipes now. The Rare and Unusual ones, you'll always cherish, and don't be too free in giving them away. I'll start your Recipe Collection with the one enclosed. It's Rare, and was conceived aboard a Sailing Ship in the Far East. It came to me in a most unusual way and should be cherished and passed down through the family - Grandfather to Grandson.

On a trip to Maine, when I was working out of New York City, one afternoon I was strolling along the Water Front of one of Maine's old Harbor Cities. The Clipper Ships once sailed from there to all of the World's exotic Ports. It was in the late 1950s, so the merchant Sailing Ships had all long since passed into oblivion, but not all of the old Sailors.

I chanced upon this very old gentleman in a Water Front Bar. He must have been well over one hundred years old, but he still had a very fine appearance, with a full white beard. After we became well acquainted, he related some of his early experiences to me. He had been a Cook on some of the old Clipper Ships, not in their heyday, but later on. Still, he's sailed on Sailing Ships that, in his day, still followed the Ocean Routes of the early Spice and Tea Trade. He was familiar with all the Far East, the Spice Islands, South China Sea, Indian Ocean, Bay of Bengal, and he had been to Ceylon, Bombay, Bangkok, and Rangoon, just to name a few of the places he mentioned.

He was munching on a sort of round Cookie Ball, while he sipped his drink. He told me he had made them and asked me to taste one. Well, it was delicious, had a taste that a man appreciates. He said it was a secret recipe he had conceived while serving as Cook on a voyage to China. After more conversation, during which I picked up several checks, he finally consented to give me the Recipe, provided I solemnly promised to give it only to my first Grandson, if I ever had one. That's why I've never given it to your Mother.

He related how it was very difficult in his day to sign on New England Blue Water Sailors for a long voyage, unless the Ship's Captain had stocked the Ship's Galley with enough American Cheddar Cheese to last the whole voyage. The men loved this taste of home during the long months at Sea.

Also, when they anchored in a Port that had cured Olives, they'd always put a hoghead aboard. From these two staples, he developed his Recipe and served it as an appetizer to the Sailors, when they were issued their daily tot of Rum.

I'll have to warn you though, your Grandmother doesn't believe a word of this story, and claims the Recipe came out of her Recipe Box, but what does a woman know about what is passed between a Grandfather and his Grandson anyway? It's the giving and receiving that's important. You'll remember that old Sailing Ship Cook for a long time, and the Recipe gives you a direct tie to that Romantic Era of the Clipper Ships, that passed long before your time.

Merry Christmas and with much love,
Grandpa

County's alligator man, was still being sought after officers confiscated $2,000 in marijuana growing behind his house.

Aransas County residents cooperated in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout.

Winter Texans began arriving in the area in record numbers.

Central Power and Light Company decided to no longer show a separate adjusted fuel charge - but will continue to charge.

Dr. Charles Gregory, director of the EMS division of the Texas Department of Health in Austin was in Rockport. In an interview he told the Pilot "The Aransas County Emergency Medical Service has a very successful bootstrap track record and I'm going to stimulate as many communities as possible to emulate Rockport."

DECEMBER

Fire engulfed a Key Allegro home at #2 Flamingo. The house belonged to John D. King who was away from home when the fire started.

The United Fund drive reached $14,165.88 with less than a month to go.

A reward was offered for apprehension of vandals who broke into 13 boxes at the local post office.

County Attorney Jim Anderson announced his intentions to "close down" six or seven houses on Highway 35 South after a "task force" of health and law officials determined they were health hazards.

Plans are underway to expand and modernize the carbon black plant and cut down fuel consumption and emission.

As a special treat to young readers, The Pilot offered North Pole Delivery Service for letters to Santa.

Elgin Dietz was sworn in as the new Fulton alderman.

Christmas was in the air as the Key Allegro Garden Club sponsored a Luminary Festival; the ACSMSI sponsored a bazaar; St. Peter's Episcopal Church held a white elephant sale; the Band Boosters held a drawing; AARP held a party and officer installation; ladies of Woody Acres held a Cookie Exchange; the Rockport-Fulton Junior and Senior High Choirs entertained with a Christmas concert; and the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association planned activities for Winter Texans.

The city abandoned plans to find land for a city park on the south side of town.

A freightliner and three automobiles involved in a collision on Copano Causeway. There were no fatalities.

Two drowned in a collision of a shrimp boat and a Texaco tanker.

Olive Holmes was named alternate City Judge.

The Christmas Tree Forest was open to the public at the Aransas County Woman's Club Building and the Allegro Club's tree took first place in the tree decorating contest.

Fire destroyed the Island Grocery Store in Port Aransas.

The DECA Club at the high school gave $200 to the Lions Club for the Toys for Kids campaign.

The Council on Aging held a Christmas Open House.

Local churches held special Christmas services and a group of citizens held a week-long posada.

Houses on Highway 35 South were cleaned up after major violations were corrected.

The search for two missing tugboat crew members was suspended one day before a hunter found one of the bodies near Lydia Ann Channel. The second man was still missing.

The United Fund topped $16,000.

Copano Bay Causeway was double-striped for no passing after three accidents occurred, two of which were fatal to the motorists, and the third injured several persons.

WAY TO RELAX

On days when the weather is cooperating as it did last week - this is the way to spend some extra time before cold weather puts folks before the fireplace. This fisherman may be alone - but probably not lonely as he enjoys the south Texas winter.

What do guys talk about in a duck blind, after a day on the water fishing, or around a poker table in a deer camp?

Politics? Women? Sometimes, but not always. Subjects like how fast does a duck fly, how far can a frog jump, how big does a gorilla grow, and so forth frequently flavor man-to-man conversation. And, in the interest of perpetuating this sort of thing, I'm going to devote this column to this subject.

Now, I know that a dove darting by looks like it's going as fast as a Braniff jet, but this is not the case. The spintailed swift for instance, has been clocked at 219 miles per hour and is probably the speediest living creature in the world. Our fastest land critter is a cheetah. This spotted African cat can cover 700 yards in 20 seconds; that's 71 miles per hour. The cheetah is strictly a sprinter, though. A pack of saluki hounds, capable of moving 43 miles per hour, will eventually run the cat down. These fast dogs are no match for a pronghorn antelope though. This speedster can go a mile a minute and can maintain an average cruising speed of 40 mph for a half hour or more.

The tallest living creature is a giraffe, of course. This long-necked African beast towers 20 feet in the air. The largest living animal is the great blue whale which is known to reach a length of 100 feet and a weight of 200 tons. During the golden days of whaling, a female blue, taken in the South Atlantic, was 107 feet long.

The largest land animal is the African elephant which can stand 13 feet high at the shoulder, and weigh 24,000 pounds. The largest carnivores, however, are our great bears. Biggest on record is a 10-foot brown bear, which was bagged in Alaska in 1948, and tipped the scales at 1,700 pounds. There is another report about a giant polar bear taken in the U.S.S.R. which weighed 2,167 pounds. I don't know about this one, though. We take it for granted that our fishermen stretch the truth a mite when describing a catch, but they're no match for the Russian propaganda machine.

While we're on the subject, though, the largest of the great cats is the Siberian tiger which can be 13 feet in length and weigh 800 pounds. By contrast, the average male lion only weighs 450.

I thought I had seen large crocodiles in Africa, but the really large reptiles of this species are the saltwater crocs of southeast Asia. These monsters are said to reach a length of 33 feet and have a girth of 13 feet.

Speaking of monsters, the largest carnivore in the fish line is the great white shark. This known man-killer inhabits all oceans and is frequently found along both American shores. Largest on record is a 43-footer landed in 1935 off the coast of South Africa.

Remember Mark Twain's famous jumping frog of Calaveras County? Well, the longest on record is a 1966 hop of 22 feet and 10 inches.

Hair analysis a rip-off

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY
Registered Dietitian
Copley News Service

Dear Shirley: My hairdresser has suggested some new kind of super vitamins especially for hair, because I seem to be losing mine since I have been taking diet pills. I have lost 48 pounds, but I feel tired all the time, and I have no pep. The hairdresser also told me to get a hair analysis to find out what minerals or vitamins I am lacking.

Are there special vitamins for hair? Can a hair analysis tell what my nutrition is lacking? I sure would appreciate your opinion, because I don't want to spend the money, if it won't do any good. — Jo-Anne, Pennsylvania

Dear Jo-Anne: There are no special vitamins supposedly for hair. Hair analysis is often an inaccurate method of determining anyone's true nutritional profile. It is sometimes used as a gimmick to sell overpriced vitamins and mineral supplements that are supposed to cure deficiencies shown by the "hair analysis." Save your money and don't get ripped off.

Your general health will improve to a much greater extent, and more dramatically, if you stop the diet pills and substitute foods that are low in calories, but high in nutrition - fruits and vegetables, skim milk and low-fat dairy products, fish and chicken, whole grain cereals and breads.

You may need one daily multi-vitamin and mineral supplement for awhile, that you can easily get at your corner grocery or drugstore at a very reasonable price.

Increase your daily exercise to help circulation and weight loss. Your body will best respond to total nutrition from foods, not pills or gimmicks.

Dear Shirley: We recently went to a lovely Oriental restaurant for dinner. They served raw fish that had been marinated in a special sauce. It sounded awful, but our friends who went with us, said it was very chic and exotic, so I ate it.

I was sick most of the night with stomach cramps and diarrhea. I think it was the raw fish that bothered me, but our friends say it was just a coincidence, because they eat raw fish all the time, and it doesn't bother them, and it's higher in nutrition than when it's cooked.

What do you say about raw fish? — Helen, Ohio

Dewey's Catholic wife hurt cause

On July 5, 1900, war hero Adm. George Dewey tried at the Democratic National Convention in Kansas City, Mo., to win the Democratic presidential nomination from William Jennings Bryan. But Dewey had married a Catholic, and this troubled the public, which turned down his bid.
