Fear And Fever Of War Grips China; Conflict Spreads

Nippon Invasion Is Expected To Extend Souuth

Jap Nationals Leave Hankow As Preparations Are Made For Trouble; Americans Flee

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Aug. 6—The fear and fever of war spread today to Central China.

Over wide areas, hundreds of miles removed from the zone of actual hostilities in the north, Japanese, Chinese and American officials acted move their nationals from regions which may be involved in the spreading conflict.

Hankow, the great trade and industrial center of the middle Yangtze valley, was the scene of feverish Japanese civilian evacuation and preparation for serious trouble.

SEEK TO ALLAY FEARS

TOKYO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Japanese officials endeavored tonight to allay fear that situations might arise in the North China conflict in which the United States could be involved.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota told parliament that the United States government was "carefully guarding" against reported attempts by Chinese officers to enlist American avintors.

Reports here from Los Angeles had quoted Russell L. Hearn as saying 182 American pilots were prepared to serve in the Chinese air corps.

(In Washington, Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared that the law prohibiting Americans from enlisting in foreign armies would be applied "consistently" in the Asiatic situation. The statute strictly prohibits such enlistments and makes them punishable by fine and imprisonment.)

Declares State Of Emergency

The Japanese naval commander there declared a state of emergency existed because of the concentrations around Hankow of some 30,000 Chinese troops, supposedly on their way to the northern war front.

Marines were landed from Japanese gunboats in the Yangtze river, sandbag barricades hastily thrown up around the Japanese concession, and all Japanese civilians except 100 ex-service men ordered aboard river vessels or concentrated at the waterfront for early withdrawal to

Scarcity Jumps Prices Of Hogs

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 6—The highest prices in eleven years were paid for hogs and the meat they yield today.

Acute scarcity of hogs, due mostly to small feed grain production in the drouth years 1934 and 1936, spurred the upturn. Livestock authorities watching developments at the world's greatest meat packing center, where receipts recently have been the smallest on record, could see no prospect of materially increased movement of swine to slaughter within the next few months.

Farmers Lack Animals

Although cheered by almost $14 hogs for the first time since 1926, Corn Belt farmers were unable to benefit from high prices to the full extent because they lacked hogs to sell in normal volume.

Consumers, paying the highest prices for some pork cuts in 11 years and correspondingly high prices for some other types of meat, pinned hopes for relief on the big corn crop now ripening.

Half of the hog alleys in the stockyards on Chicago's southwest side have been closed. Because hogs require more processing than other meat animals, their scarcity puts a strong brake on packing operations. The latest official national index

Liquor Man Is Expert Now On Insecticides

EL PASO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Alcoholic contents of insecticide is still a mystery, but its taste is nothing to stir a wine agent into paroxysms of joy, Carl Longuemere, district director for the Texas liquor control board, said Friday.

Longuemere asserted that he qualified as an expert on certain phases of insecticide merit during investigation of a stock of a Ysleta bar this week.

Notihg several whisky bottles on a shelf behind the bar, Longuemere hastened to make a check for illicit liquor. Disdaining the sense of scent, Longuemere relied on that of taste.

Tongue tests of several bottles indicated wines and all was well, Longuemere said. Sighting a lone bottle set apart, Longuemere asked the bartender what its contents were.

"Taste it," challenged the vexed bartender.

Longuemere tasted, spat and made a wry face.

"What in the world is that stuff," the liquor taster asked.

"Fly spray," grinned the bartender.

Big Spring Gets New Hospital For Insane

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—Architects stood by today awaiting only completion of certain proposals in the bid of Big Spring before starting plans for a new state hospital for the insane in that city.

The board of control, after studying propositions of 14 West Texas cities, announced it had selected that of Big Spring because it offered "the best opportunity of serving the people of West Texas."

To Be Most Modern

The $817,000 institution, authorized by the legislature at its last session, probably will be the most modern in the state system of seven hospitals.

Claud Teer, board chairman, said a year probably would be required to complete building operations and then the legislature would have to make an appropriation for maintenance. He said it was unlikely the appropriation would be made before January, 1939, unless it was authorized at a special session in 1938.

Plans will be drawn when Big Spring meets all legal requirements of its proposal, he said, including

Allred Entertained By Mexican City

PUEBLA, Mexico, Aug. 6. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred of Texas, on a vacation visit to Mexico, today motored to this city where he was greeted with strains of the Star Spangled Banner and named the city's honor guest.

Welcomed by Mayor Celsio B. Guzman, Allred paused to see the famed Indian pyramid, Cholulua, and an ancient church at San Francisco Acatepec. The architecture of the city is said to best perpetuate the Spanish colonial influence.

Allred, speaking at the city hall, praised Presidents Roosevelt of the United States and Cardenas of Mexico. Their policies, he said, "cemented Mexican-American understanding." He expressed pleasure at the welcome the Southern republic had afforded him and declared the country had won him completely.

"But I knew Mexico through Mexicans before," he added, "for there are three quarters of a million of your fellow-countrymen in my state."

The Allred party were guests of Governor Maximino Avila Camacho at lunch. They left to return to Mexico City at dusk.

Tomorrow Allred planned to visit Cuernavaca, the capitol of Morelos, a noted resort.

Pie-Eating Contests Give Her Indigestion But Not Quitting

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6 (AP)—A three-minute session of pie eating gives 16-year-old Virginia Parysch indigestion for a week, but she won't quit pie-eating contests.

"I want to eat pie as long as I can," she said today following her fourth successive triumph in a yearly contest here.

"I have indigestion for a week after each contest, but the pie, especially if its cherry, more than makes up for that."

Housing Bill Is Given Approval By Senate

Slum Clearance, Construction Of Low-Cost Homes Provided For In Legislation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. — The Wagner housing bill, calling for an outlay of more than $700,000,000 to clear slums and build low-cost homes, passed the senate today, but in such circumscribed form that the enthusiasm of its backers was dampened.

Senator Wagner (D-NY) and other administration men struggled in vain to delete an amendment restricting the cost of the housing to $4,000 a family unit or $1,000 a room.

The amendment, proposed by Senator Byrd (D-Va.), was passed by a 40-39 vote several days ago, and today the senate tabled a motion to reconsider, 44 to 39.

Final Vote 64 to 16

Though the five-date debate on the bill had been strenuous, the vote on final passage was 64 to 16.

The senate made another important change in the measure when it voted to place the administration of the program under Secretary Ickes' interior department instead of an independent agency.

The chamber also approved an amendment by Senator Tydings (D-Md) requiring that local communities put up five per cent of construction costs and contribute five per cent of annual subsidy.

The original bill would have authorized federal loans of 100 per cent of the funds needed for housing projects. An annual subsidy sufficient to maintain low rentals would have been made entirely by the federal government.

Two Forms Of Aid Provided

Two forms of federal aid, loans and outright subsidies, are provided in the bill, which authorizes a $700,000,000 bond issue in the next three

V. L. Shurtleff Dies Suddenly

Victor Lovett Shurtleff, 57, widely-known attorney of this section and Central Texas, died unexpectedly in the lobby of the Lubbock Hotel about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. W. H. Bledsoe of 1812 Broadway and Mrs. J. Y. Boyd of 2705 Twenty-second street, Mrs. Shurtleff being their sister.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 6 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bledsoe. Burial will be at Lubbock cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home. Other arrangements last night had not been announced.

Shurtleff only a few days before his death had been advised by physicians that his heart reflected a dangerous condition and that he required rest.

Slumps Forward on Divan

Shortly before his death he had been smoking a cigar and talking with an acquaintance. Paul Payne, nearby, looked over to notice that the attorney had slumped forward on a divan and that his cigar had fallen from his mouth.

Payne summoned Ely Harris, day room clerk of the Hotel, who called a physician and Sanders ambulance. The attorney was dead before the Public Hearings Scheduled On Trinity Canalization Project

GALVESTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Public hearings on proposals to canalize the Trinity river from Galveston bay to Dallas and Fort Worth will be held at Wichita Falls and Fort Worth next month by Lieut. Col. Frank S. Besson, district army engineer here, it was announced today.

The first hearing will be held at Kemp hote, Wichita Falls, starting at 10 a. m., Thursday, Sept. 9, and the second at Texas hotel, Fort Worth, starting at 10 a. m., Friday, Sept. 10.

The district engineer here and the civilian engineer at New Orleans have reported unfavorably on the canal plan, principally on the grounds that the transportation saving would not be sufficent to justify cost of creating and maintaining a canal.

ROOSEVELT LEAVES CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—President Roosevelt left the capital tonight on a special train at 11:01 p. m. eastern standard time, for Hyde Park, N. Y., for a brief rest over the week-end.

Senator Isbell Is To Be Governor During Day

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—Senator Claude M. Isbell of Rockwall was all set tonight to act as governor of Texas for 24 hours.

While Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul prepared to leave the state for the interval, Isbell, president pro tempore of the senate, came to the capital to take over the reins of office.

Woodul has been acting governor since Governor James V. Allred went to Mexico last Sunday for a two-weeks vacation.

He planned to fly to Oklahoma City, spend the night there, visit the Pleasant Valley school tomorrow and return to Texas tomorrow night. The school, where he taught as a youth, is near Ralston, Okla.

Isbell said he contemplated nothing "radical" while holding down the governor's job. Under the law, he could reprieve any person under death sentence, grant extradition requests, issue proclamations and even call a special session of the legislature.

Three Killed, 12 Are Injured In Car Crashes

(By The Associated Press)

TERRELL, Aug. 6.—A collision between two automobiles three miles west of Kaufman today took the life of Lillie Mize, 14, of Breckenridge, and placed 11 other persons in a hospital here with varying degrees of injury.

In an automobile with the Mize girl were her mother, Mrs. Mollie Mize, a widow whose husband was killed last May in Palestine while employed by a bridge construction company; her sisters, Catherine, 9; Helen, 8; Geneva, 3, and Juanita, seven months, and a cousin, Bobbie Dorman, 10.

Children Are Injured

Juanita was thought most seriously injured with possible head contusions. The Dorman child suffered a back injury and Catherine a broken arm. The mother and other children were brusied and cut.

Occupants of the other automobile, driven by W. S. Cook of Mabank, included Jim Marvin, 57, Whitton farmer, who suffered a fractured skull; Mrs. Marvin, face and chest injuries; their daughter, Helen, 15, and Roy Mayhew, 25, a passenger. The latter two were not seriously injured and were returned to Mabank.

Session On Economy Suggested Friday

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—Rep. Jesse James of Cameron, vice-chairman of the house revenue and taxation committee, expressed the opinion today the legislature should slash governmental expense instead of voting additional taxes at a special session.

He said he was opposed to new taxes for reducing the general fund deficit, now about $10,000,000, which he termed a "brake on legislative extravagance."

Governor James V. Allred has announced he would convene the law-givers sometime in September for revenue raising purposes.

James asserted that imposts of the omnibus bill enacted last November had produced revenue in excess of expectations and even though $22,000,000 had been added to biennial appropriations no new taxes were necessary.

"It seems to me we have gone far enough and fast enough in voting new taxes," he said.

Parity Payments Demand Urged By Co-Op Man

Farmers Shouldn't Be Pacified With Mere Gesture Of Loan, N. C. Williamson Declares

(By The Associated Press)

MONROE, La., Aug. 6—N. C. Williamson, president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, today advised cotton farmers to "demand parity payments on this year's cotton crop and not be pacified by such a gesture as a loan."

He said in a statement "it is evident now that congress will adjourn without anything constructive for agriculture having been done."

"The congress," Williamson said, "was apparently not willing to provide a sound, long time program that would give cotton growers a fair income.

May Prove More Harmful

"However, many of them are now proposing temporary expedients which may prove more harmful, in the long run, than the losses sustained as a result of lower prices."

"The 12-cent loan in 1934 and the 10-cent loan in 1933," he said, "saved our farmers many millions of dollars, and while we have had disturbed markets and loss of some foreign trade as a result of these loans, the benefits to cotton growers more than offset the disadvantages and the cost to the government."

No Excuse Now

But, he added, "there is no excuse now for going into a loan program again just at a time when cotton surpluses have been reduced almost to normal and when congress is still in session, with the administration willing to cooperate in an effort to adopt a plan that will be sound and continuous and which would assure farmers a fair income."

Parity payments to cotton growers, Williamson said, "is now recognized as fai and equitable re-

Race With Death Is Won Friday

(By The Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, N. M., Aug. 6.—A huge metal respirator occupying an entire room in a partly completed hospital here breathed new life tonight into Charles Hunt, 24-year-old Los Angeles automobile assembly plant worker stricken with infantile paralysis.

A race with "inevitable death" from El Paso, Tex., 121 miles away, was at least temporarily won when the "iron lung" closed on the sinking patient.

Was Greatly Relieved

"He was greatly relieved at once," Dr. A. H. Butler of El Paso said. "Whether he will recover is still in doubt. Without the respirator death was inevitable.'

'In simmering 100 degree heat Hunt was raced here to the Carrie Tingley hospital for crippled children, $1,000,000 WPA project not scheduled to open until Sept. 1. Frequently the ambulance was halted while oxygen and artificial respiration was administered.

Hunt's pulse improved and cyanosis disappeared almost immediately when the patient was placed in the "lung," the only one of its type between Chicago and Los Angeles, his doctor said.

Hunt was returning from Fort

Bullets Are Used To "Solve Life's Problem"; 4 Killed

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6. — Bernard Gregor used bullets today to "solve life's problem." He killed his widowed mother, two sisters and himself.

The 20-year-old unemployed bookkeeper left a note saying, "I do it in a sense of mercy and hope we go so quick and by all means demand that we be cremated."

He fired six bullets from his new rifle into the bodies of his mother, Mrs. Anna Gregor, 47; Mary Ann, 15, and Betty, 25. The seventh bullet he sent through his own mouth.

Homicide Detective Edward Scanlon said Bernard wrote three notes last Wednesday and spent $15.06 on the purchase of the rifle and ammunition in preparation for the killings.

One of the notes stated:

"I am the only one who knows what I intend to do . . . We, we are getting worse. It's terrible. We can't last very long this way, so I'll try to solve life's problems for as many of us as I can. . ."

Another brother, Frank, 27, found the bodies when he came home from work this morning.

'Kidnaped' Boy Is Claimed By Two Couples

Mr. and Mrs. John Regan, who claim to be the 'real' parents of the boy shown with them, appeared at the Chicago district attorney's office with the child after Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horst reported the child, which they said was their son, had been kidnaped. Mrs. Horst, shown left below, admitted the child was not hers and that a birth certificate had been forged. The Reagan woman bore the child out of wedlock, she said. The courts must now decide parentage of the boy, placed in an orphanage until the affair is settled.

Trade Pact With Russia Granted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—A new trade agreement between the United States and Soviet Russia became effective today, pledging Russia to increase its yearly purchases of American goods.

The United States in return granted Russian unconditional most-favored-nation commercial treatment for the first time.

The agreement went into force upon proclamation by President Roosevelt and simultaneous approval by the Soviet government.

To Purchase More Goods

Russia agreed to purchase at least $40,000,000 worth of American products in the next 12 months—$10,000,000 more than it was obliged to buy under an agreement which expired July 12.

State department officials said the pact was entered into through an exchange of diplomatic notes on August 4, with a view to "continuing favorable commercial relations, and increasing trade, between the two countries."

Most-favored nation treatment will give Russia advantage of all tariff concessions and all commercial privileges and benefits the United States grants other countries.

The compact is not, actually a reciprocal trade agreement such as those between the United States and 16 other countries, but officials said it will have virtually the same effect.

Rollie C. Burns Suffers Broken Leg When Overcome By Heat

He suffered a similar sinking spell several days ago when overcome by heat, but rallied soon after and was believed to have recovered. Attending physicians said his condition was satisfactory.

Effort Made To Win FDR Over For Loans

Swift Action Is Promised Toward Farm Aid At Next Session If Loans Are Granted Now

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—House leaders pledged swift action on new crop control legislation at the next session of congress in an effort today to win President Roosevelt's approval of federal crop loans and avoid a special legislative session this fall.

Before they made their promises to a caucus of farm state representatives, Mr. Roosevelt declared at a press conference that he had not yet received suficient assurances about enactment of a crop control law to warrant loans on this year's cotton crop.

ADJOURNMENT DATE INDICATED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas formally advised the house today that its leadership hoped to conclude the present session between August 21 and 25.

Rayburn took the floor after acting Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass) had said that congress could go home tomorrow night "if we are going to have to come back here for a special session on October 15." Cheers and applause greeted Martin's statement.

Asserting he thought the program for the balance of the session was "well understood," Rayburn assured the house if it was completed there would be no need for a special session.

Question Remains Unanswered

The question whether he will now approve the loans on the basis of the leaders' pledges remained unanswered late today.

Some observers expressed belief he will delay action in the hope that congress will pass a resolution introduced yesterday, pledging both houses to make crop control their first business at the next regular session in January.

Southern congressmen who urged the president yesterday to authorize crop loans to check price declines on cotton and other major farm products reported he is willing to approve the loans under any of these three conditions:

Wants Control Legislation

1. That crop control legislation be enacted this session to prevent the piling up of price-depressing surpluses.

2. That the membership of both houses made a "binding commitment" now to consider farm relief, including production control, early in January, when the next regular session of congress begins.

3. That the farm legislation be passed at a special session this fall.

James G. Allen Is Named Dean

Prof. James G. Allen of the department of English at Texas Technological college has been appointed acting dean of men for the scholastic year from September of this year to June, 1938, according to an announcement yesterday by President Bradford Knapp.

It was decided that, because of the short time remaining before opening of school in the fall, the place should be filled from the faculty so that a man on the field would be ready to do the work, President Knapp explained.

At Tech Since 1927

Prof. Allen has been at Texas Tech since 1927. He ranks as associate professor in the department of English. Born at Denison, he is a graduate of that high school. He received his bachelor's degree from Southern Methodist university at Dallas in 1924, and his Master's from Harvard university in 1928. He is working toward a doctor's degree.

For several years he has been a member of the faculty committee on student social affairs. He also has been coach of tennis without additional compensation. He and Mrs. Allen have been active in student affairs and particularly in the social life of students in the

SALARIES ARE INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—The senate passed today and sent to the White House a bill increasing the minimum salary of deputy marshals from $1,620 to $2,000 a year.

House Defies FDR In Approving Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP) — House members defied President Roosevelt today, passing sugar control legislation which he has said he would veto.

Despite pleas of administration leaders, the chamber refused, by a vote of 92 to 135, to strike from the measure an administration-opposed provision restricting refined sugar imports from Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The bill now goes to the senate, where advocates said they will insist that it be passed in its present form.

Designed to replace the expiring Jones-Costigan act, the measure would set up a new quota system for division of the domestic sugar market among various producing areas.

ON PLAYING GOLF

IT'S a Dr. Jekyll—Mr. Hyde business—playing golf. Your best friend may make the worst sort of a golf partner and your most objectionable enemy may be the best of opponents. Cream Of 1936 High School Football Crop Opens 1937 Season Tonight At Waco

North Texas Lads Favored To Beat Bible's Souths

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

WACO, Aug. 6. (AP)—High school stars of yesterday will battle for sectional supremacy here tomorrow night in a football game with a two-fold purpose.

It will be the swan song for 45 youngsters in Texas interscholastic league gridiron play and will usher in the 1937 season, though the incongruity of a cold weather game in the middle of summer causes one to perspire just to think about it.

Despite the fact that 100-degree temperature is expected, 10,000 fans are forecast when a team representing the upper eight districts of the interscholastic league clashes with a club coming from the lower eight—or, in other words, the North vs. the South.

Bible Vs. Wolf

Dana X. Bible, once leader of the gridiron destinies of the Texas A. and M. college, who returns this year to the Lone Star state from Nebraska to become coach of the University of Texas Longhorns, directs the South squad. Raymond (Bear) Wolf, who left Texas Christian university to tutor the University of North Carolina, heads the North aggregation. Each has had much experience with Texas high school football players.

Last season the North, coached by Francis Schmidt of Ohio State, defeated the South, headed by Bernie Moore of Louisiana State, 13-0 at Fort Worth, and this squad is again favored to come through. The North boasts four all-state performers in Bobby Clesson of Amarillo, Fred Shook and Marion Pugh of North Side, Fort Worth, and Odell Herman of Abilene, and in addition has the South greatly outweighed. The South has three all-staters—Henry Hauser and Roy Holbrook of Kerrville and E. L. Keeton of Hillsboro and a flock of comparative unknowns.

Souths To Use Air

Coach Bible said he expected a thrilling game despite the intense heat, predicting the South squad would take to the air in an effort to offset the superior power of the North.

The game, in which only boys who have finished their high school eligibility participate, will climax the annual coaching school of the Texas High School Coaches association.

Three hundred mentors attended the school which continued throughout the past week.

Lubbock Star On Squad

Probable starting lineups for the game, which begins at 8:15 o'clock, follow:

South:

E. L. Keeton (Hillsboro), left end; Jake Fawcett (Hillsboro), left tackle; Walter Lee (Kerrville), left guard; Henry Hauser (Kerrville), center; Fritz Braatz (Waco), right guard; Carl Paschall (Robstown), right tackle; A. Layes (Del Rio), right end; Alvis Moeller (Temple), quarterback; Odell Griffin (Cleburne), left halfback; Roy Holbrook (Kerrville), right halfback; Sig Dickson (Waco), fullback.

Other members of the squad are:

North: Cecil Alsabrook, Fort Worth Masonic Home; Robert Clesson, Amarillo; Garland Terrill, Childress; Lester Rector, Breckenridge; Buck Sloan, Breckenridge; C. L. Storrs, Lubbock; R. V. Vaught, Olney; Cooper, Jacksboro; McHam, Masonic Home; Neal, Wichita Falls, and Cloer, Gainesville.

South: Stuart Clarkson, Corpus Christi; Gus Tunnell, Van; Roy Gregory, Texarkana; Carl Payne, Rusk; W. G. Barnes, Bedias; R. C. Nelson, Bryan; R. Everett, Corsicana; Finis White, Cleburne; Jack Herring and H. Wilson, Hilsboro; Curtis Sandig, Mart and J. W. Bolton, Henderson.

Passages of the Carlsbad Caverns, N. M., have not yet been thoroughly explored, and new ones are discovered every year.

Deaf Mute Comes From New York To Waco School

WACO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Rudolph Gamblin, although unable to hear or speak a word, travelled all the way from New York to attend the Texas High School Coaches association coaching school here this week.

Gamblin copied the notes of a fellow-coach, Jess Cearley of Post, on the lectures of Dana X. Bible, Raymond (Bear) Wolf, and others.

He graduated from the Texas School for the Deaf, coached at a Louisiana school for the deaf and attended Gallaudet college at Washington. He starred at football, basketball and baseball.

Gamblin remarked, on paper, that his teams sometimes were referred to as "the dummies," which they occasionally "lived up to by playing as such."

Hartnett's Homer Blows "Ill Wind" For Bleacher Workmen

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP) — Gabby Hartnett's home run in the first game of the Chicago Cubs-Boston Bees doubleheader today was an "ill-wind" that blew—or knocked—a workman from the bleachers into the grandstand.

The Bruin catcher's circuit smash cleared the temporary left field fence and hit a laborer engaged in construction of new bleacher seats. He was knocked unconscious, but after a short rest was permitted to watch the remainder of the game from the stands—with full pay. The Cubs took both games, 12 to 6 and 6 to 2.

The noted plant wizard, Luther Burbank, won his first great triumph with the Burbank potato.

Baseball's The Best, Says Slinging' Sam Baugh, Who Also Plays Fair Football

BY LOUDON KELLY

DENVER, Aug. 6 (AP)—Most of the experts called him the best college forward passer in the country last year, but there are at least two things "Slinging Sammy" Baugh would rather do.

"I'd rather play baseball than football any day," the former Texas Christian star said today. 'And when it comes to football, I get a lot more fun out of spotting a punt out of bounds inside the 10 yard line than I ever do from tossing a long pass."

Lay Off Football

Massaging a charleyhorse suffered in a collision at second base, Baugh said he thinks baseball demands more skill and a "keener touch' than football. He played football and basketball at Texas Christian university, but counsels an athlete who has baseball notions to lay off football.

"Football hurts most fellows for baseball—slows them up and makes them musclebound," the tall, black-haired Texan said.

Baugh said he doesn't know whether he will play professional football this fall or not. The Washington Redskins drew him the draft, but he said "I won't play unless they offer me a heck of a lot more dough."

Professional baseball—well, that's different.

"Sure, I'd like to break into the big leagues," said Sammy with a grin, "but I'm not fooling myself any. You've got to have the stuff to get up there.

Would Like To Coach.

"What I would like to do best is go ahead and coach the T. C. U. freshman football team this fall, as I've been offered, and play baseball in the summer. I think I can get a tryout with Fort Worth in the Texas League next year."

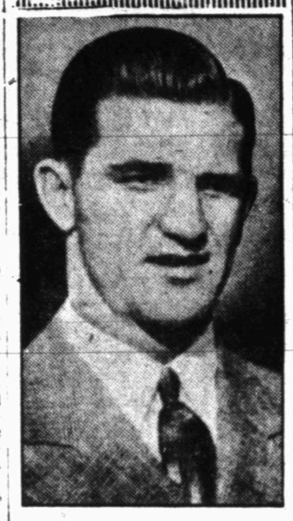

A third baseman in college Baugh is playing shortstop for the Pampa Oilers in the Denver Post Tournament. In three games he has hit for a .583 average.

Getting back to football, Baugh has a ready answer to the secret of successful forward passing.

"The end who can get out in the open—there's the boy who makes the passer look great."

"Slinging Sammy" is 22, fit as a steel cable and emphatic there are no romances in the offering.

Parker In No. 1 Place For Eastern Lawn Tennis Meet

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—As Don Budge has decided to restrict his competition to doubles, Frankie Parker, the well-built youngster from Milwaukee and Spring Lake, N. J., second to Budge in the National ranking list, has been seeded No. 1 for the Eastern Grass Courts singles championship starting tomorrow at the Westchester Country club, Rye, N. Y.

Parker and Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, teammates with Budge on the victorious United States Davis Cup team, are seeded No. 1 and 2. In the group of eight that tops the entry list of 64.

Behind them in the draw come Bobby Riggs, brilliant California youngster who lost to Budge in a five-set final last year; Frank Shields, former Davis Cupper now on furlough from the Hollywood movie lots; Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, John Van Ryn of Austin, Texas; Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., and Professor John McDiarmid of Princeton.

Besides the eight Americans, there is a foreign seeded list of three—Jiro Yamagishi, Fumiturn Maxano and Hideo Nishimura, all of Japan.

Young Forkhander Hurls Old Pete's Team To 3rd Victory

DENVER, Aug. 6 (AP)—Johnny Connors, 19 year old lefthander, pitched six-hit ball as Springfield, Ill., eliminated the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., from the Denver Post baseball tournament today, 4 to 1.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, once one of the greatest pitchers, sat on the bench and watched his young southpaw mow down 13 Oilers on strikes. Alexander's Illinois club now has three games and lost one.

Harry Stiteler, Former A&M Star, May Coach At Temple

TEMPLE, Aug. 6. (AP)—Little Harry Stiteler, former Texas Aggie athlete and coach of the Smithville High school teams the past five years, today was recommended by the Temple athletic council to the school board as the successor to George (Red) Forehand, who resigned to accept the position as head coach at Brackenridge High, San Antonio.

Stiteler's football teams at Smithville have lost but four games in five years of Class B competition.

KOCH OFFERED JOB

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Line Coach Barton (Botchey) Koch of George Washington university said today he had received an offer to become head coach at Temple, Tex., high school but had rejected it to retain his position here.

Koch, who graduated at Temple High and later starred as guard from 1928 to 31 with Baylor university, said he had turned down the offer because it was not made officially and was no greater than the $2,400 yearly he receives at George Washington university where he is under contract to September, 1938.

Melvin Walker Leaps To New World Record In High Jump

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 6. (AP)—Melvin Walker, American high jumper, broke the world record today with a leap of 2.08 meters (6 feet 9 29-32 inches.)

Walker's jump surpassed the accepted record of 2.07 meters (6 feet 9 3-4 inches) held jointly by his Ohio State university teammate, Dave Albritton, and Cornelius Johnson of Compton, Calif.

Americans won three other events in today's meet. Archie San Romani of Emporia, Kas., who failed to break the world mile record yesterday because he pulled up too soon, mistaking the finish line, won the 1,500 meters in the good time of 3:49.4. Perrin Walker of Georgia took the 100 meter dash in 10.7 seconds and Phil Levy of Stanford university won the discus throw at 49.30 meters (161 feet 8 63-64 inches.)

NACOGDOCHES, TEX., Aug 6(AP) A. W. Birdwell, president of Stephen F. Austin Teachers College, announced today Percy Burk, instructor in physical education, assistant football and head track coach since 1935, had resigned.

Birdwell said Burk's position would be filled by Ralph Murff, former Centenary college football star, of Conway Teachers college in Kansas.

Murff will assist J. E. (Red) Willis who succeeded Gene White. White went to Washington and Lee University in Virginia.

Sittin' On The Same Bench!

WHILE The Morning Avalanche views with disappointment the selection of Big Spring as site for the new West Texas mental hospital, we were not one bit surprised when sites offered by Lubbock and Slaton were not chosen. To sum the matter up, "it just wasn't in the cards" for a second big state institution to be located in this county.

Big Spring has won the hospital and won it fairly in a spirited contest with a dozen of its neighbors and for Big Spring we hope success in the future of the institution. But leaving Lubbock and Slaton entirely out of the picture, it seems to us that either San Angelo or Sweetwater would have been more logical selections, if for no other reason than for their water supplies.

We are, however, no more ambitious for Sweetwater or San Angelo than we are for Big Spring and if the latter's selection suits the Board of Control it will have to suit us, too!

To Big Spring, congratuations.

To San Angelo, Slaton, Sweetwater, Lamesa and the other contending points, move over. We want to sit with you on the mourner's bench!

The Widespread "Shirts Craze"

FOR the simple offense of wearing a green shirt, Brazil's government employes are liable to six months' suspension without pay for the first offense, and downright dismissal for the second offense.

Ordinarily, there is nothing wrong with wearing a green shirt, but in Brazil it is anathema because it has been adopted by the Integralistas, a Fascist organization. And the government, it seems, doesn't care for Fascism.

The Green Shirts of Brazil, along with the Mexican Gold Shirts, the English Black Shirts, the United States Silver Shirts, and the Irish Blue Shirts, offer an international problem as complex as the tariffs.

Honest people wondering just what it all means may be tempted to classify the "shirt" movement as more than moderately sophomoric, suggesting a motto of, perhaps, "Do or Dye."

It's Time To Start Evening Up

ONE good reason why crime continues to flourish in spite of a nation-wide campaign to wipe it out was suggested in one big city recently in a comparison of equipment used by bandits and that used by police.

Two shiny, new 1937 model automobiles, each capable of approximately 100 miles an hour, were used by a gang in a bank robbery. One three-year-old small model car, registering 74,000 miles of operation and capable of 65 miles an hour "if it is pushed," was available to police.

Against this handicap, police were fortunate in shooting the robbers down to a stop. But in many other cases, where police are similarly under-equipped, criminals have been and still are getting away with the goods.

Thus, part of the enormous tribute that crime exacts from the nation is reinvested in equipment for new depredations. Police expected to do battle with criminals deserve at least an even break when they put their lives in jeopardy. Here, it seems, is a good chance to do something about the crime wave instead of just "deploring" it.

With Our Contemporaries

"This is being written while I lie between the sheets in a hospital bed in Plainview," Old Archibald says in the Hale Center American. "Maybe you read the little piece the gang had in the paper about me being brought up here. It's a very nice place, they treat you grand—and for my first sentence in a hospital I picked a good one. When they brought me up here I had so much fever I was about as hot as a boiled lobster."

The One-Minute Sermon

Ye shall diligently keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and his testimonies, and his statutes, which he hath commanded thee.

And thou shalt do that which is right and good in the sight of the Lord; that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest go in and possess the good land which the Lord sware unto thy fathers.—Deuteronomy, VI, 17 and 18.

HALF CENTURY WITHOUT WATER

Mrs. Catherine Walch, who lived to the ripe old age of 85, during the last 50 years of her life never drank a single drop of clear water. Unboiled water gave her indigestion, and boiled water didn't taste good. So she drank nothing but coffee for half a century. Mrs. Walch lived a very hard and hearty life—was never seriously ill—always happy and tranquill—had eleven children—and at the time of her death, she had 36 grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

BY ESTHER TYLER

SYNOPSIS: In one wild and stormy night at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts, Jude Blinshop, an old flame of mine, is shot to death on the bluff; the Skipper, Mike's tall and tweedy younger aunt, disappears, and Michael dislocates his shoulder by falling into the churning surf. The Skipper returns to say she's been in the stable with her sick collie. Aunt Martha, stout and prudish, has hysterics a couple of times. Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart, keeps a fairly sane view. Next morning at breakfast, everyone has jangled nerves.

Chapter Nine

Searching The Grounds

Lighting a cigarette, the Skipper contributed, "Martha's breakfasting upstairs. She'll be down later." And silence descended upon the dining room.

For the space of about five minutes we crunched bacon and consumed coffee without incident. Higgins, looking rather seedy, appeared with fresh toast, opened his mouth to ask about Michael, discreetly closed it again, and took himself off. The Skipper smoked furiously, and the rest of us kept our eyes on our plates. Then, monotonously and with irritating force, Gay's fingers began a steady tatoo on the tablecloth. At least two sets of nerves promptly began to act up again. Michael's cup went down with a bang that bathed the surrounding territory in coffee.

"Damn it, Gay, quit that, can't you?"

Gay flared. "Don't be so touchy!"

Before I could get in my two cents' worth of sunshine, the Skipper interposed. "Easy, kids! Let's talk this over."

That being the one thing we all had in mind, we lapsed into silence. The Skipper smiled.

"We might as well look it in the face. These storms always last at least three days, which means that we must stick together or go mad. There's been a tragic accident which we must certainly explain to the satisfaction of everyone, if we're to keep from each other's throats—not to mention Jude's family or the local police."

Michael was breathing so fast and so heavily that I could distinctly hear him across the table. The Skipper waited for someone to speak. No one did. She sighed.

"Obviously there are two possibilities. Jude was killed either accidentally or intentionally, and in either case by some member of this household. If it was accidental, we should be able to establish that fact immediately. If it wasn't—"

Another pause, this time a breathless one.

Then "—we shall have to establish that fact too," concluded the Skipper.

Michael's voice was hoarse. "But what can we do?"

I answered him with more hope in my voice than conviction. "For one thing we can search the grounds. There must be a thug of some sort out there. It's the only logical answer."

Michael shot me a peculiar look. "Why not let it rest?" he demanded. "You know damn well that there's no one out there, Jim. We can't help Jude now. Old Foster would give us a fake certificate if the Skipper asked him, and we could say that she'd fallen off the bluff in the storm and —and forget about it."

I had known Michael since we were 17, but I had never heard him make such a proposal. Neither had Gay. She gasped in amazement. Once more the Skipper climbed into the breach.

"Michael, don't be ridiculous. Accidents don't need hushing up. And if it's not an accident, Jude's parents and we, her friends, have a right to know it. And no right to let a deliberate murderer remain at large."

Out of the numbness his speech had produced in my head came an idea. Mike thought the Skipper was guilty! Wild elephants could never have dragged that suggestion from him otherwise. And there she sat, insisting that we investigate. I grasped at a feeble straw.

"Mike! The footprints! The footprints on the tennis courts. There must be someone out there. We'd have noticed the clay on anyone's feet in the house."

Michael's eyes were far away. "Drop it, I say. For God's sake, Jim, what good will it do? I tell you there's no one there. It just keeps things boiling to pretend there is."

"There must be!" Gay was on her feet. "Mike, don't be a sap. These grounds must be searched, and if you won't go with Jimmie, I will and so will William."

"And so will I", said the Skipper, "and so will Michael!"

Michael looked at her, a long look that to save my neck I could not decipher. "All right, Skipper," he said at last.

We took all sorts of precautions. Heavy jackets, oilskins, boots, plenty of brandy, and Higgins' revolver. With the exception of Cook and Annie, we all assembled in the library and none of us looked cheerful.

My own state of mind was a bad jumble. My thoughts were whirling from Jude and the past to the ghastly reality of the present, spurred on by a certain insistent suspicion that made my blood run cold. Action of any sort was a godsend. The probability of accomplishing anything was another matter. I should have preferred leaving both Gay and the Skipper in the house, but there was a glint in the former's eyes that invited no interference and I had never given the Skipper an order in my life. Furthermore, I wasn't counting on Michael for anything. M. Farrington voiced my feeling to the letter.

"It strikes me, Barbara, that you and Grace will be more in the way than anything else. And Michael has no business out of bed. I should think that James and William would get along much better alone."

Gay's chin came up with a jerk and I braced myself for the deluge, but the Skipper spoke before it could get started.

"Two people can't search these grounds, Martha. Gay and I can take care of ourselves, and I think Michael's mind will be easier if he goes. He's well wrapped up. Don't fuss."

"Barbara, I will not allow it." Her voice was rising. Unless I missed my guess, she was warming for a scene and it was going to be a corker. "I absolutely insist—"

But Michael's patience snapped. He winced on M. Farrington.

"Rot, Aunt Martha! All the servants are here but William, and the doors and windows are locked."

His words were rude, and his manner ruder. But M. Farrington amazed us. The explosion for which we breathlessly waited never came.

"Very well, my dear," she said quietly. I could have knocked Mike down with pleasure.

Footprints Still There

We went out the west door from the game-room, a wet, cold wind howling up to meet us. Since I had suggested the expedition, it was more or less up to me to engineer it. Accordingly, I stationed William halfway between the edge of the bluff and the house, with Michael and Gay at intervals along the drive. That left the grounds divided into four sections. I too the Skipper with me. Beginning at the edge of the bluff to the west, we went down toward the boathouse. In one way and one only were we better off than on the previous night. At least it was now possible to see more than 10 feet ahead of you.

Water still lapped the former side of the boathouse steps. A large section of the pier had washed away and the boathouse was completely flooded. We went up along the path to the courts, which we scrutinized thoroughly.

The footprints were still there. They ran clear across the courts to the drive, seeming to start from the rocks just above us. It was impossible to tell how large had been the foot that had left those prints or in what direction they had been heading. They were just shallow impressions in soft clay, rather like the marks left by walking across a melting sheet of ice.

The wind was still at our backs. Up the steep and slippery rocks we scrambled, the Skipper disdaining my help. The beaches below us were completely covered with thrashing water that boiled up into our faces. Silently I pointed to the scene of Michael's disaster and the Skipper nodded. We went down cautiously, separated at the foot of the rocks, and compassed the remaining section of the lawn between us. Nothing. A short distance up the drive stood Gay, looking like a drowned rat. She waved, but only half-heartedly.

We went up the drive toward the stable, the wind in our faces and the rain cutting like lashes of a whip. With every step the haunting thought that Jude might have lain for a long time wounded and still conscious in that fiendish whirlwind followed me. It was slow progress.

The east beach was completely flooded. By following the drive, we got a clear view both of the section of lawn between us and the house and of the section between us and the beach. I stationed the Skipper at the corner of the garage and went laboriously around both it and the stable, slipping and sliding along on my hands and knees most of the way. Rounding the corner, of the stable in safety, I could see the solid figure of William far down the bluff where I had stationed him. And be-

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ira Bennett

BEHIND the smoke and fury of a backfiring congress extremely important moves have been made in international finance and diplomacy. These moves are not divulged, of course; but their purpose is known and some of their effects are clear.

The prime purpose of financial moves is to ward off the danger consequent upon borrowing money with which to buy gold in unlimited amounts at an extravagant price and then burying the gold. Something had to be done to check the flood of cheap gold pouring in from British Empire countries and Soviet Russia. Something has been done—enough, at least, to serve as a diversion dam. Gold imports since July 1 have averaged only $4,100,000 a day, as against an average of $6,400,000 daily for the first six months of 1937.

For value received, the British government tightens the spigot and kindly refrains from putting Uncle Sam in a hole. For good and sufficient reasons Soviet Russia diverts $300,000,000 gold which was headed this way.

ASSIMILATION: What was the value received? What are the good and sufficient reasons? Many lawmakers and financiers are trying to find out what quid pro quo has been given to Great Britain to induce it to forego profits, so that the U. S. could maintain its $35-an-ounce gold rate and not go broke. The answer is not revealed in full.

It is known, however, that the State and Treasury Departments are up to their necks in this business. Finance and foreign policy are intermixed. Apparently the sweeping reorganization of the State Department and its remodeling along British lines is part of a accord with Great Britain on such vital matters as economic stability and world

If Secretary Hull should be transferred to the Supreme court and Under Secretary Sumner Welles should be appointed Secretary of State, as some well-informed sources predict, the process of assimilating American and British policy could go on more smoothly.

Mr. Welles already holds in his hands the executive strings of the department.

QUESTION: A close friend of Secretary Hull confides to Whirligig that changes in personnel made in Mr. Hull's absence were displeasing to him. The incoming functionaries are not in sympathy with Hull. The outgoing ones were among his stand-bys. He dislikes personnel problems and departmental politics. His heart is wrapped up in his trade-agreement policy.

The new deal in state department policy seems to be hard-boiled diplomacy in concert with British policy, instead of Mr. Hull's altruistic mutual tariff and commercial concessions. This change is now so evident that Mr. Hull's friends think he will be quite willing to be promoted "up and out."

The situation causes observers to wonder how far the new policy is to go. "How strong is British influence in the State department?" is a question that's going around. "What is the British Empire's price for refraining from making $15 profit out of Uncle Sam on every ounce of gold?"

PROGRAM: No retirements from the Supreme court during this recess—that's the conclusion of close friends of the justices, who are in constant touch with them. All eight will be on hand in October if their plans go right.

No left-over business awaits action. All cases argued have been decided, except several that are to be re-argued. The opening of the court will be dull, so far as litigation is concerned. But it may be highly interesting if a New Dealer appears to take the oath.

One of the justices eats no more than a canary and can not walk upstairs because of a weak heart—doctors say such men live forever. Another has a bad heart, but is a hard worker. A third has not been in good health. All the others are fit. One of them, over 75, recently turned in a low score for 18 holes at a cool resort.

The T.V.A. act, a National Labor Relations Board test case, and the new wage-and-hours bill if passed are expected to be before the Supreme Court at the next term.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

REPORTS have been circulating that the revivified Good Neighbor League and Labor's Non-Partisan League are preparing to work in double harness for the furtherance of New Deal aims—particularly Supreme court reform. Their backstage collaboration to punish senators and Congressmen who had the temerity to buck M. Roosevelt on this issue has been represented as the prelude to formation of a straight-out New Deal party—with or without the Democratic label—for the 1938 and 1940 elections.

Actually the teamwork between the two Leagues is tenuous. The Good Neighbor outfit is President Roosevelt's personal vehicle designed to carry him to fresh electoral triumphs. The Non-Partisan League is in John Lewis' vest pocket. Lewis will allow it to be used to promote Roosevelt objectives only so long as he feels this course is in the C.I.O.'s own interest.

A much sharper cleavage between Roosevelt and Lewis is possible. In that case, the League will drop their cooperation like a shot and fly at each other's throats—which would be very helpful to the prospective coalition of Republicans and rightwing Democrats.

T. W. O. C.: Since the beginning of the C.I.O. drive to organize textile workers, in April, 1937, the Textile Workers Organizing Committee has secured signed agreements with 440 textile firms, covering 150,000 workers. There are 5870 textile mills in the country and an estimated 1,250,000 workers, which means the T.W.O.C. has 7 per cent of the industry organized in terms of mills and 12 per cent in terms of workers. Pay raises from seven per cent to twelve per cent, the forty-hour week, overtime pay, vacations with pay and other benefits have been obtained.

In New England the T.W.O.C. has had little difficulty in signing up mill owners because the northern mills are anxious to even up the labor cost with the southern owners. In the south the milles are putting up a stiff fight, but so far there have been only isolated cases of violence.

The American Federation of Labor has no organization in the textile field, although Bill Green has threatened to start one.

FINANCES: The Textile Workers Organizing Committee is headed by Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. It employ 500 organizers, 400 of whom are paid between $25 and $35 a week plus expenses. The pay rate is determined by living costs in the area where the organizer works.

The T.W.O.C. payroll, exclusive of office workers, is close to $12,000 a week. Total cost of the campaign per week is estimated at $25,000.

The textile organizing drive started with a half million dollar nest-egg contributed by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Membership dues in the T.W.O.C. are a dollar a month. Five cents of this goes to the nation C.I.O. treasury. The rest is plowed back to finance textile recruiting.

CRACK: Financial insiders learn that Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia is winding up to take a crack at American Telephone for alleged fancy profits in hand phones.

Nothing would delight the mayor more at this point than to show up the White House and Congress in a matter affecting public utilities.

tween us—nothing.

In front of the stable the Skipper joined me. Both it and the garage were securely padlocked. It seemed to me that to search either of those buildings would be a tacit admission of disbelief in her alibi. I hesitated, but not so the Skipper. Producing a key, she unlocked the stable. Without a word I followed her inside.

We find someone has slept in the room over the garage Tuesday.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 24

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Jane could not repress a laugh. "This is becoming a comedy of errors—rifles without ammunition, and our only serviceable firearm in possession of the enemy." But her laugh merged into the angry, ominous roar of the lion which was their jailer. . . . . Tarzan, too, was a prisoner, with far less chance of escape, for his jailers were sly, savage men. The Jungle Lord tested the tight bonds that secured his wrists and ankles, but he soon realized that it was hopeless to attempt to liberate himself. There was nothing to do but wait. Unlike an ordinary man, he wasted no time speculating on his fate, Instead, he composed himself for sleep. And while he slept a council of warriors sat in judgment on him. It was they who wondered what his fate should be.

Some feared to kill him; others feared to let him live. They dreaded the revenge of the Kavuru, who they believed were Tarzan's people. "But if we kill him," one reasoned, "he cannot tell them we killed him!" That seemed to be the clinching argument!

Precautions In Epidemic Cited

Laboratory proof Friday that a dog killed in the 2200 block on twenty-sixth street was a victim of rabies brought renewed reminder from Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, that Lubbock citizens must continue precautions to guard against danger of an epidemic.

Although several children were reported to have played with the dog, investigations by W. W. Stafford, city sanitation superintendent, failed to locate any who actually may have been exposed. Reports likewise were lacking to other city departments that it may be advisable for anyone to take precautionary serum.

The laboratory test was made by Miss Dora Snyder, city bacteriologist.

Necessity For Precautions

The fact that an infected dog was found was not unexpected because other rabies cases have occurred recently near that neighborhood, Dr. Rollo explained. It tended to emphasize, however, he said, the necessity for precautions. He recalled that a dog killed only eight blocks away a week ago has caused 5 persons to take anti-rabies treatment.

The dog killed Thursday night, health officers were advised, belonged to Sumner Haynes, 2206 twenty-sixth street. Several of the Haynes and neighboring children, information continued, had played with the dog but none, so far as could be ascertained, had actually been bitten.

Most disturbing of other reports Friday was that a sick cat which has been under observation in the 2300 block on Eighth street has disappeared. Health officials have no way of telling whether it may have been infected.

Big Spring Selected

furnishing an abstract on 580 acres of land it will give the state, and obtaining assurance of a railroad company and county for constructing a spur to the site.

The site overlooks the city about one and one-half miles north of the center and is bounded on three sides by public highways. In addition, the city agreed to furnish all utilities, including 300,000 gallons of water at 10 cents per 1000 gallons, or deed to the state a tract of land containing five wells which will produce 300,000 gallons daily. Under the latter arrangement, the state could pump water through city mains at $1 per year.

In a statement, the board said it acted after a careful study of all sites offered and going into every phase of the problem of locating the institution, which the legislature decreed must be located west of the 98th meridian or in a county through which it runs. The new institution will supplement those at San Antonio, Austin, Terrell, Rusk, Wichita Falls and Galveston.

Dr. George McMahan, formerly on the staff of the San Antonio state hospital for six years, has been chosen superintendent. He was graduated from Baylor Medical college at Dallas.

Big Spring To Arrange For Final Requirements

BIG SPRING, Aug. 6. (AP)—Jubilant over decision of the state board of control to locate the West Texas hospital for the insane here, Big Spring citizens set about today to meet final requirements for the institution. The city will raise funds to provide the state the hospital site, on which options are held.

Proffered and accepted was a tract of 580 acres, located a mile and a half north of the city, a parcel of plains land just above the Cap-rock. The city made concessions on water and sewerage rates and tentative contracts have been offered for other utilities. Preliminary arrangements have been made for a railroad spur to this site.

Business and civic leaders have been called to meet Saturday morning to finish the city's campaign for financing the land.

Lynn County Youth's Body To Be Brought From Austin Today

Edmond Stapp, 15, son of Mrs. D. E. Ramsey, residing in northern Lynn county, who died Friday morning in a hospital at Austin, will be taken overland to his home today and burrial will probably be held today or Sunday relatives said Friday.

A Rix ambulance will probably arrive about noon today at the Lynn county home. Burial will be in the Idalou cemetery, under the direction of Rix funeral home of Lubbock.

LEADERS FALL BACK

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP) — Buying in mining and specialty issues failed to bolster a wavering stock market today and many leaders fell back fractions to 2 points. There were a few heavier losses.

While selling pressure was comparatively light—only 679,880 shares changed hands against 794,760 yesterday—pivotal steels, rails, utilities, rubbers, oils and farm implements gave ground easily.

Inability of recent bellwethers to respond to cheerful earnings and dividend declarations, brokers said, had much to do with the tendency of traders to step out of the picture over the week-end and wait for more stimulating developments.

There was little in the immediate news to point the list in either direction.

With the trading pace slow from the start, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks drifted downward .4 of a point to 68.9.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6. (AP)—Cotton was two sided today two sided today but in late trading hedge selling increased and there were some offerings attributed to uncertainty over government loans and the market closed steady at net declines of 3 to 14 points.

A lower start on disappointing foreign advices met renewed trade buying and covering by shorts in advance of Monday's official production estimate and before the demand was supplied all active positions traded above the 11-cent line to levels 6 to 8 points above the previous close.

The continued favorable weather over the belt, however, and private reports of good crop progress brought out liquidation by tired longs and increased hedging sales. All the early advance was lost and prices drifted to new lows for the day.

The close was at or near the bottom with Oct. and Dec. at 10.90, Jan. at 10.93, Mch 10.98, May 11.02 and July at 11.03. Middling spot was 3 points lower at 11.25 in quiet trading.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—With sentiment uncertain over the forthcoming bureau crop estimate cotton prices fluctuated nervously today with traders inclined to even-up accounts. At the close December sold at 10.78 with final prices showing net losses of 7 to 16 points.

The opening was 1 point higher to 5 lower with the near positions relative firm owing to trade price fixing. The later months felt the influence of hedge selling and liquidation.

Foreign orders were on both sides of the market and late reports from Washington that the president was not satisfied with the promises of crop legislation resulted in renewed liquidation as well as southern selling.

Spot markets continued quiet while textiles improved somewhat in sales or print cloths.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 11.18 cents a pound; average for the past thirty days 11.86 cents a pound.

Housing Bill Passed

years and an initial appropriation of $26,000,000.

Supervision of the program by the interior department was approved by a 40-37 vote, on an amendment by Senator Logan (D-Ky.)

Effort Hotly Contested

The effort to obtain reconsideration of the Byrd amendment was hotly contested. Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) asked reconsideration, asserting that "the nation is taking a great step forward" and that the bill "should not be hampered by anything that might be short-sighted."

He said Senator Wagner had assured him he would offer a substitute to establish the ceiling of expenditures at $1,400 a room.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) agreed that there should be a limitation, but said $1,000 is too low. The $4,000 family-unit restriction, he added, would make it impossible to construct individual apartments of more than four rooms.

Opposing reconsideration, Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich) declared 73 per cent of the nation's home owners live in dwellings "which cost less than those it is proposed to create for slums."

Byrd asserted that 50 per cent fewer underprivileged families could be housed if the cost were increased.

"Rarely in the history of the senate has there been such a lobby as that put in motion during the last 24 hours to get a reconsideration of this amendment," he declared.

"Six powerful housing organizations have been bringing their pressure to bear on us."

Principal Provisions Given

Here are the principal provisions of the Wagner housing bill as it passed the senate:

Authorizes a United States housing authority, under the interior department, to make loans, grants and annual subsidies to state or community housing authorities.

Authorizes $700,000,000 bond issue during next three years and an initial appropriation of $26,000,000.

Restricts use of federal funds to clearing slums and construction of homes for lowest-income groups, at cost of not more than $1,000 a room or $4,000 a family unit. All work would be done by local agencies. The government's function would be to provide funds and enforce standards.

Compels slum clearance in proportion to new construction.

Requires local contributions of not less than five per cent toward cost and five per cent toward annual subsidies.

Limits expenditure of federal funds in any one state to 20 per cent of total.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Jarred by tumbles of quotations at Liverpool and Winnipeg, the Chicago wheat market fell 3⅝ cents a bushel maximum today, with little rallying power shown.

Vanishing of any indication of European demand of consequence either for Canadian or United States wheat did much to pull support from under prices, especially at Winnipeg, whr valus collapsed an extreme 4⅝ cents. Reports of moisture suggesting an end of drought conditions both in Argentina and Australia added to the downward market trend.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 2¼@3¼ cents under yesterday's finish, Sept. $1.12⅝@$1.12¾, Dec. $1,13@$1.13¼, May $1.14¼@$1.14⅜, Corn 1¼ off to Z up, Sept. $1.00@$1.00¼, Dec. 66⅜@66¾, May 68¼@68⅜, oats ⅛@⅜ down, Dec. 30⅜@30½, and rye varying from Z setback to Z advance, Dec. 1.⅛@1⅛. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 12 cents lower.

Shanghai.

The United States consul-general at Hankow, according to reports reaching Nanking, advised all Americans in that part of his consular district which extends above the Yellow river to withdraw southward to places of safety.

This follows closely the Japanese official intimation, delivered to the senior foreign consul at Tientsin, that hostilities might spread southward to the Yellow river and advising that foreigners living in the districts involved be warned.

If conflict should flare up in Hankow many Americans would be involved. About 100 were reported in Hangkow and its sister cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, scores more in mission stations nearby and about 300, mostly of missionary families, summering in the famous resort of Kikungshan, 100 miles north of Hankow in Honan province.

Chinese said they had information large new Japanese offensives were in preparation. Japanese insisted that huge movements of Chinese forces into southern Hopeh, including troops of the central Chinese government, brought war on a national scale much closer.

Strong air squadrons, including great bombers, supported the Japanese advances.

Withdrawal of Americans from the interior of Shantung province, in progress for several days, continued. Near all Americans at Tsinanfu, capital of the province, were reported to have left for Tsingtao, on the coast, although 20 Catholic sisters stayed behind.

The United States embassy was informed nearly all American missionaries had left the vicinity of Techow, in northern Shantung, already bombed by Japanese war planes, although three women doctors stayed at their posts.

Crop Control Is Pledged Friday

sion if a farm bill is not passed before the forthcoming adjournment, expressed confidence a majority of senators will sign the petition. Forty already have signed.

The idea of a special session was opposed, however, by house leaders—Speaker Bankhead, Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas and Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agriculture committee.

Promising that farm legislation will be made the first order of business when congress re-convenes in January, they said they would assure the president, congress and farmers that a crop control law will be enacted in time to apply to next year's crops, excepting winter wheat.

Call Upon Leaders

The farm state congressmen afterward called upon both house and senate leaders to assure Mr. Roosevelt directly that farm legislation will be given the right-of-way in January.

Although Bankhead appealed to the farm group not to press for immediate action on crop control, arguing that "we don't want any more patchwork farm legislation," all nine Oklahoma house members issued a statement requesting the agriculture committee to place a farm bill before the houe prior to adjournment.

"We further agree," they said, "to oppose adjournment until farm legislation effecting stabilized prices is passed."

In another statement, Representative Whittington (D-Miss) called for subsidy or adjustment payments, such as those used in 1935, to stabilize cotton prices.

gardless of where the cotton is consumed."

He said the proposed farmers bill and the Jones bill both provided parity payments to cooperating farmers on normal production for cotton," being the difference between the season's average market price and parity each year."

Southern Leaders To Meet In Washington Monday

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 6 (AP)—Southern agricultural leaders will meet in Washington Monday to urge congress to enact legislation stabilizing the price of the 1937 cotton crop before adjournment of its current session.

Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana's commissioner of agriculture, said he expected other commissioners and deans of agricultural schools of cotton-growing states "to turn up nearly 100 per cent" for the meeting.

President of the southern commissioners of agriculture for 12 years, Wilson earlier this week invited them to join in a united effort to obtain an "immediate" remedy to a situation arising from a "weak market" in the face of prevailing predictions of a huge fall cotton harvest.

"We can save the situation by having congress adopt a resolution authorizing 15-cent cotton loans on the 1937 crop," he said today.

physician arrived. Harris said it was 3:20 o'clock when he noticed Shurtfell was ill.

Muttered Something

"I had to go around the desk to a door before I got to him, and we stretched Mr. Shurtleff out on a divan," he said. "He muttered something, but it was unintelligible."

Shurtleff was born Oct. 31, 1879, near Waxahachie in Ellis county. He was graduated from the University of Texas law school in 1900 and practiced law many years in Hillsboro, where he was a member of the firm of Shurtleff and Cummings, one of the most widely-known firms of Central Texas.

Later he moved to Breckenridge and in recent years he had represented oil interests at the Texas Legislature. He opened an office here last year, but was at Austin when the legislature was in session. He had just returned here to re-open his office.

He is survived by his wife; his mother, Mrs. Mary Shurtleff of Dallas; and two sisters, Miss Stella Shurtleff and Mrs. R. H. Ames, both of Houston.

Hog Prices Hiked

of the industry's employment was around the lowest since last summer.

Receipts Half of 1936

Today's hog market peak was $13.75 hundredweight, but receipts were only half of what they were a year ago. The price was more than $2 higher than last year and more than triple the lows reached in 1932 and 1933.

So far this week receipts in Chicago have been only 38,000 head compared with 45,000 last week and 77,000 a year ago. The run last month was the smallest for July on record and receipts of all livestock were the lowest since 1878, reflecting the shortage af corn.

Livestock experts said that in addition to two drouth years in which corn crops were the smallest in half a century, governmental crop and swine production control measures were contributory factors in reducing the nation's hog population to 42,000,000 head on January 1—A decline of 20,000,000 head in four years.

Principal food of livestock, corn, was the key, they said, to possible rebuilding of the nation's meat reserves. This year's crop, largest in five years, was a start, but they said it would take several years. Government experts estimated hog slaughter could not reach the level that prevailed prior to 1934 before 1940 at least.

CCC Enrollee's Ambition To Become Flier Causes His Death; Littlefield Crash Probed

The ambition of G. A. Baxter, 18, CCC Camp Enrollee at Littlefield, to become in airplane pilot caused him to make the flight which ended in a crash at Littlefield last Sunday and the death of himself and three occupants of the plane.

This information was given by acquaintances Friday after CCC authorities had made an all-day inquiry into the accident at Littlefield Thursday. Baxter was from Wellington, Texas.

CCC regulations specifically forbid enrollees to make airplane flights, it was explained. Young Baxter had enrolled only 13 days before and still was in the probationary or "conditioning" period of 14 days required of all enrollees before their enrollments become final.

Companions of Baxter quoted him as having declared on various occasions that it was his life's ambition to become an airplane pilot.

Findings of the investigation, which were made by First Lt. Harry Jacobson, medical corps reserve, assistant district surgeon newly assigned to Lubbock camp, and Lt. Chas. C. Cook, in command of Littlefield camp, must be transmitted directly to district headquarters at Fort Worth and from there to corps area headquarters at San Antonio. If they are made public, it must be done there.

The investigation was one of the first assignments for Lt. Jacobson, following his transfer to Lubbock from the Dallas camp at White Rock. He succeeds Capt. O. D. Groshart, who was promoted from the Lubbock station to district offices at Fort Worth.

Lt. Jacobson is a native of Texas and a graduate of the University of Texas Medical school at Galveston. He has been with the CCC about two years, having been assigned to western Kentucky district at Fort Knox prior to his transfer to Texas. He is unmarried.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Forty teams, representing virtually every state, as well as Hawaii, engaged in practice rounds today in preparation for Sunday's best ball foursome, a preliminary to the National public links golf tournament.

last few years.

In estimation of the administration of the college, Prof. Allen is recognized as one of the best teachers of English here, President Knapp said.

To Teach one or two Classes

Prof. Allen will devote his time to the position of acting dean of men with a possible exception of one or two classes, it was explained. In accordance with the policy of the college to promote men on the staff, Professor Allen will have a chance to become permanent dean of men if he likes the work and decides to devote himself to it, Knapp said.

Calvin Hazelwood, assistant to the dean, will work with Acting Dean Allen on student employment and student housing. New office of dean of men probably will be in the room now known as 210 in the Administration building.

The discipline committee for men consists of dean of men, assisted by dean of arts and sciences, dean of engineering, and dean of agriculture, Knapp explained. Work of new dean of men and work of dean of women will be carefully coordinated in the next year, officials of the college said.

Nevada Officers Leave With Wilson; Girl, Father Along

ELECTRA, Aug. 6. (AP)—Nevada officers left today with Earl Wilson, 24, accused of second degree kidnaping of pretty Olive Carr, 13-year-old girl from Tonopah, Nev.

In the car with Sheriff W. H. Thomas were Edward Carr, the girl's father; Olive, Justice of the Peace Walter Bowler and Mrs. R. V. West, a neighbor of the Carrs.

The party had left Nevada in two cars but wrecked one in an accident en route here, where the girl was picked up some time after Wilson was arrested in Archer City, Tex.

Olive said Wilson had promised to marry her.

Last night the officers went to Archer City and took custody of the prisoner.

The party expected to reach Santa Rosa, N. M. tonight.

Commission To Hold Session

Although called for the specific purpose of authorizing issuance of $28,000 in city warrants to buy land to use for garbage and sewage disposal purposes, other matters may come before a recessed meeting of the city commission at 9 o'clock this morning, according to reports at city hall late Friday.

One among them for possible consideration may be the appointment of a city recorder to succeed C. E. Luce, who resigned last week to become deputy U. S. Marshall here. The appointment, however, may be deferred until the regular commission meeting next Thursday.

Lewis Kittrell, a member of the police traffic department more than three years, has been serving as temporary recorder and, according to city officials, is likely to receive the appointment. He has the endorsement of his superiors, is in line for the promotion because of meritorious service in the department and is qualified by education and experience for the job, those officials pointed out.

Board's Work Is Closed Friday

Work of the city equalization board was brought to a close two days later than originally had been expected after members had devoted most of Friday to personal inspections of property on which valuations for taxation had been protested.

The fact that sessions were prolonged beyond Wednesday was attributed by a city tax official to the fact that newspaper stories had given reminder that protest hearings, which began July 29, were in progress.

"I there hadn't been anything in the papers, there wouldn't have been so many protests," was the remark.

In most cases, the board decided immediately whether protests against their increases in valuations from renditions by the owners should be granted. In a few, however, decisions were held under advisement pending today's personal inspections.

Valuations Unchanged

Completions of hearings for approximately 220 property owners protesting changes in valuations, city officials disclosed today, left valuations as made by the tax assessor and approved or revised by the board virtually unchanged. Few of the protests were granted, the report continued, and they of small amount in comparison with general valuations. What the aggregate change may be, it was explained, cannot be determined until the laborious task of tabulating them has been completed.

Final adjournment of the board will permit City Tax Assessor E. C. Young and his staff to concentrate on obtaining a tentative total of property valuations in the city so that the city commission can proceed with the task of considering the city budget for the next year and establishing the tax rate. Hope is that preliminary totals will be available for the semi-monthly meeting of the commission next Thursday afternoon, but the task is voluminous and uncertainty exists as to whether it can be completed by that time, city officials were advised.

All Are Problematical

What valuations may total, the city budget may be and what tax rate may be set all are problematical, each depending somewhat upon the other. "Guesses" as to valuation totals range from about the same as last year to an increase of perhaps $2,000,000. An increase in the budget, in the opinion of officials, is inescapable, but valuation totals will determine in large degree whether improvements now needed will be made at once or be postponed another year or two. Slight increase in the present tax rate, say the officials, is likely, but members of the city commission have declared that the boost will be ordered only as a last resort and then will be held to a minimum.

Work of the tax equalization board elicited warm praise from various members of the city commission. The task was described as having been larger than faced by any such board in several years because of the many changes in tax rolls, resulting from a survey in the city to revise valuations in keeping with Lubbock growth, which was made just before compiling of present rolls was begun.

During its session, according to the report, the board held an average of about 50 hearings a day. The fact that the valuations originally set were generally satisfactory, officials said further, was reflected in that fewer than one-eighth of those invited to make protests made any appearance to offer objections to valuation changes. Members of the equalization board were Rufe Williams, W. E. Inmon and W. E. Baskin.
