Fear Burkburnett Boy Slain In Tennessee

E. E. STIVERS MAY HAVE BEEN GUN'S VICTIM

No Details Available But Father Believes Son Is Dead

GONE THREE WEEKS

Seeking to Make Final Identification At Once

BURKBURNETT, Oct. 19.—A belief that a young man found shot to death Monday in Memphis, Tenn., was his son, Earl E., was expressed here tonight by L. E. Stivers who has received inquiries from Tennessee authorities relative to the youth. Mr. Stivers is seeking to establish a positive identification and stated that he was certan the body found in Memphis was that of his boy. R. W. Stivers, a brother, also expressed belief that the identification was correct.

No Details.

No details of how the boy met his death were received here. A message simply stated that a body had been found with gunshot wounds the cause of death and that papers found in the the clothing indicated the remains were those of Stivers.

The man, who was about 25 years of age, had lived in this city for a number of years and graduated from the Burkburnett high school. He had been in the employ of the Margay Oil company, by whom his father is employed, until about three weeks ago when he left Burkburnett. R. J. Vandervoort, Methodist minister, and attempted to kill his mother last August.

The lad appeared at times in a carefree mood and then again assumed a dejected attitude as he confessed the shooting.

Near the youth sat his mother, whom he shot twice in the head but who recovered. Mrs. Vandervoort has declared she would spend all of the life insurance money collected after her husband's death, as well as the funds released from the sale of her household goods, in an attempt to lessen the sentence, to be imposed probably late tomorrow. She whispered words of comfort to her son during the session and is to take the witness stand tomorrow in the hope that she may present aspects of Warren's boyish peculiarities that will mitigate the penalty.

LASTING PEACE EUROPE'S HOPE BY NEW TREATY

Lacarno Pact Holds a Promise For Future Generations

WILL BE SIGNED

Principal Powers of The Old World Agree On Final Terms

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(AP).—The fruit of the Locarno security conference was put on display tonight for all the world to see when seven treaties, which comprise Europe's newest and most promising preventative for war, were made public in the various capitals.

The first and foremost of the agreements is the security pact or treaty of mutual guarantee, guaranteeing the inviolability of the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and Germany and France as fixed by the treaty of Versailles. It will be signed at London December 1 and, assuming that all the signatory governments ratify the pact, it will become effective when Germany joins the League of Nations.

Germany Docile.

By the treaty, Germany on her side, undertakes never to trespass upon the soil of France or Belgium or make any warlike gestures in the demilitarized Rhineland area.

On their side, France and Belgium promise not to violate Germany's western frontier. Should either party violate the agreements set forth, the pact provides that Great Britain and Italy shall go to the aid of the injured party whether it be Germany, France or Belgium.

The powers parties to the pact agree to submit all their future disputes to judicial treatment, with the council of the league acting as a court. The whole plan is to work under the aegis of the league; it is for that reason that the treaties do not become operative until Germany is a member of that organization.

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch.
Frosted Glass.

The man who uses frosted glass,
That none of those who chance to pass
May ever see the things within,
Is smug security may win;
And yet I very often doubt
If he recalls that those who hide
Themselves some little house inside
Will never see a thing without.

The man who lives with sombre mien,
The heart within a heart unseen,
Who labors at some lonely task,
His soul asecret, face a mask,
Will think some day, when days are dim,
That life has little charity—
In other men will never see
What others never see in him.

For folks will very often find
That they who think the world unkind
Are they who never kindly thought.
Love is not sold and is not brought,
But even love will often pass
The house that never shows a face,
The lonely house, some sombre place
Whose windows all are frosted glass.

DRUNK CHARGE MADE AGAINST SHIP'S CREW

Negro Workmen on Board Comanche Stampeded In Flames

GRABBED LIFE BOATS

Blacks Pulled Passengers From Seats in Rescue Operations

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The New York World will say tomorrow that the negro crew of the Clyde liner Comanche which burned off the coast of Florida Saturday night stampeded madly before the flames, pulled passengers out of life boats, and precipitated men and women into the sea, according to stories of 30 survivors who reached here tonight.

Almost unanimous in their condemnations of the behavior of the Comanche's crew the passengers praised the coolness and courage of the officers and crew of the auxiliary schooner Meta, one of three rescue vessels.

All Drunk.

Irvin Gomez of Worcester, Mass., charged the negro seamen were drunk and that when the fire started they could not be controlled by the officers.

"The negro crew intoxicated and mad, rushed back and forth on the deck," he said. "As soon as the tarpaulin had been cut off a life boat they would jump in. Pasesngers, trying to get into the boats were yanked out by negroes.

"I finally got into a boat, but when it had been partly lowered the apparatus jammed and some of us were thrown headlong into the water."

Thomas M. Fanning of New York, said:

No Assistance.

"The crew was of no assistance. Passengers had to cut the tarpaulins from the tops of the boats and as fast as they did members of the crew pushed in front taking baggage with them. It was entirely the work of the passengers that saved both themselves and the crew."

As Leon Flagstone of Gadner, Mass., tried to get into the last life boat he was pushed out by members of the crew, he said.

The charge that the crew was drunk was made also by James A. Moore of St. Petersburg, Fla.

"He Run Over Me Long Enough," Is Farmer's Claim

While his wife and six-year-old son looked on, Herbert Griffin, wealthy Archer county rancher, was shot and probably fatally wounded at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon as he sat in an automobile in front of the First State bank of Dundee. Lige Griffith, Dundee farmer and a state's witness in both of Griffin's recent trials in connection with the death of Hugh Reilly, Jr., in May, 1924, immediately surrendered to officers.

Griffin was shot once through the stomach with a 30-30 Savage rifle, the ball entering the left side and lodging near the back in the right side. The liver and intestines were perforated. At the general hospital last night he submitted to an operation and blood transfusion, the results of which cannot be determined until the third day, which will be the critical time.

Attending physicians admitted his chances of recovery were remote and depended mainly on his rugged constitution and recuperative powers. They said frankly he probably could not live.

Lige Griffith was closeted with District Attorney Ben Allred in the offices of the Dundee State Bank until a late hour last night and then, in custordy of Ranger B. P. Ickert, was taken to Archer City to be held pending the outcome of Griffin's injuries.

Acerding to th story of the shooting told by witnesses yesterday afternoon Griffin was seated in a small automobile facing west and parked by the side of the Dundee bank, talking to J. E. Robbins, Dundee farmer. Mrs. Griffin and their son, Ephriam, and two or three friends were seated on a bench on the sidewalk just 10 or 12 feet away from the car. Griffith was seen to drive toward the bank in a farm wagon from the direction of the depot, his route taking him directly in front of the car where Griffin was seated.

Didn't Speak.

"I was interested in seeing whether Griffin and Griffith would speak to each other," says A. M. Maxwell, Dundee blacksmith who was seated beside Mrs. Griffin on the sidewalk bench. "I was sure that the meeting was their first since the days of the trial at Graham, and I was a little curious to see what would happen. Griffith drove his wagon on around the corner of the building as if he had not seen Griffin. Griffin, apparently did not notice Griffith, either.

"I had turned and was talking to Mrs. Griffin, then, when I heard a shot, and looked up to see Griffin fall over the side of his car. Griffith was standing at the corner of the grocery store adjoining the bank with a rifle in his hands. Mrs. Griffin screamed as she saw Griffith lift the gun again. "Get that gun," she said. I walked over to Griffith and told him that he had done enough and to let me have the gun. He turned, looked at me, and then handed the gun to deputy sheriff J. Brumlow, who had come up.

"His only remark was, 'he run over me enough; I put up with all I could stand'."

Griffin was lifted out of the car and a bed arranged for him on the ground. An ambulance was called from Wichita Falls but Mrs. Griffin, growing impatient, called a car from the Drummond garage nearby. The wounded man was placed in the car and driven as far as Ferguson City just east of Mankins before the ambulance was met. He was transferred to the ambulance there and with Mrs. Griffin carried into Wichita Falls.

At the hospital he was immediately placed on the operating table and an attempt made to find the bullet, which was of the soft nosed dum-dum variety and had left a ragged wound. This attempt failed, however, although internal bleeding was stopped. A blood transfusion, with C. C. McDonald, local attorney, was then necessary, but despite this late last night Griffin was reported rapidly weakening and with little chance to live.

Back in Dundee District Attorney Ben Allred arrived within an hour or so after the shooting with Rennie Allred, court stenographer and W. P. Belcher, special officer. Statements were taken from witnesses of the shooting and from others.

Questioning Starts.

Lige Griffith was taken into the office of the bank at about 6 o'clock. In entering the presence of the district attorney he appeared very nervous, shaking hands all around.

His opening remark was that he wanted to come clean on everything and that the afternoon shooting was the culmination of years of "bad blood" between him and Griffin. Griffith sobbed audibly once or twice during the course of the statement. He was closeted with Allred for more than two hours, and at the end of that time taken by Ranger B. P. Ikert to Archer City. District Attorney Allred would make no other statement regarding the gist of the statement than that Griffith insisted that the shooting was the outcome of aggression on the part of Griffin. The statement, it is understood, includes the narration of several incidents of friction between the two men.

It was pointed out at the hospital last night that the fact a soft-nosed lead bullet was used in the rifle probably spelled Griffin's doom. A stee

"We always expect new things of the State Fair of Texas," Mr. Margerum said, "and our expectations are always realized. The new auditorium is a wonder in appearance and almost one of the seven wonders in its acoustics qualities. Marlow Asks Council To Sell Lake Wichita

A recommendation that the city council drain Lake Wichita, cut up the 2,000 acres it covers into 5-acre tracts, sell these off for a $1,500,000 revenue and devote the proceeds to building a pipe line from Lake Kemp to Wichita Falls was made Monday night by J. B. Marlow, former mayor, who advanced this suggestion as a remedy for the local water supply difficulties.

In an address before the council, Mr. Marlow said that for $1,500,000 the pipe line could be built and a water softening plant sufficient to treat all water the city needed could be installed. This, he pointed out, would attend to the soft water cry.

Although they thanked Mr. Marlow for his interest in the matter, Mayor Shepherd and the commissioners said they were afraid this was a business deal a little too extensive for the city to handle and that for the present, at least, they could not see their way clear for such an undertaking.

MUSICAL HONOR FOR WOMEN

Two Wichita Falls Ladies Rewarded For Work

"Music is the language of the soul," so it has been said by wise men. America has at last decided to be honest with itself in the matter of art, music and the appreciation of beauty. For years we strugg'ed along with a curiously artifical policy of hypocricy, pretending to like things which we thought we ought to like, and trembling at the suggestion that some so-called authoritative opinion might not entirely agree with our own. Those who really knew something about music, pictures, sculpture and books were inclined to stick to the fetich of exclusiveness and exercise a delicate snobbery which was feared more than it was resented, one critic has written.

Now we are glad to say that things have changed. This attitude along with many other unwelcome features of the past, are no more The present day artist is more democratic, the world at large is given an opportunity to share in this talent. They believe in community service. Two Wichita Falls' women, are today reaping a reward for hard work and and today receiving recognition. One Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr., who recently attended the meeting of the Texas chapter of the American Guild of Organists at Dallas, and who has enjoyed the honor of being a member of this organization for some time, and Mrs. Ida M. Harrison, who received her membership card in the Guild last Friday. Mrs. Harrison has been a member of the American National Organists for three years, but had for her ultimate goal, membership in the American Guild, which she reached when she received her notice of membership after having successfully passed the rigid examination required.

Both musicians are liberal with their talent and are heard on many occasions. Mrs. Akin is organist at the Olympic theatre and at the First Methodist church and is heard often in recitals with other artists.

Mrs. Harrison has been organist at the Sacred Heart church for 14 years and bears the record of not having missed more than 10 or 12 services (when she was expected on duty), in that time. And she never missed playing at a wedding or funeral, she said.

At one time, Mrs. Harrison decided to resign as her job which she held so long that it had become a little irksome. "I sat in the audience a few Sundays, with two members of the choir who have sung almost every time I have played, and you can't imagine how lost we felt," Mrs. Harrison said. She is now back in her accustomed place and no doubt feels very much like someone who has taken a long journey and arrived safely home.

Both women agree that to make good on the pipe organ, it takes some talent, and lots of practice and hard work.

While in Dallas at the meeting, Mrs. Akin had the pleasure of attending a luncheon given for Clarence Eddy of Chicago, dean of the American Guild of Organists. Mr. Eddy is giving daily concerts on the huge new pipe organ in the coliseum at the state fair. This organ is said to be one of the largest in the United States.

Many Wichitans remember Mr. Eddy as he was here a few years ago and appeared in recital at the First Baptist church. He was the guest on this accasion of Mrs. F. R. Collard who is one of his pupils.

GRIFFIN

jacketed bullet would have drilled a small clean hole clear through him, it was said, but unless it pierced the heart or another vital organ it would not necessarily have produced death. The lead bullet, however, spread out when it struck resistance offered by bone and sinew and tore a jagged path through the man's vital. Serious internal bleeding has resulted which is aggravated by the fact that surgeons are unable to remove the led pellet.

The shooting created a sensation in Wichita Falls and newspaper offices were beseiged with inquiries throughout the night. Dozens of persons called the Record News last night inquiring into Griffin's condition. Reports from the hospital indicated that as many nquiries were made there.

Dundee itself was given quite a jolt by the affair. After a year and a half of having North Texas attention centered upon it by reason of Griffin's shooting of Hugh Reilly in May, 1924, a daring daylight robbery of the bank in front of which today's shooting occurred; the capture and trials growing out of those incidents, it had settled down so it thought, to its old peaceful routine. The last of Griffin's two trials had resulted in acquittal and the man was back in town, once more accepted in the life and activity of the community.

But Lige Griffith was not reckoned with. Lige Griffith, whose testimony at Graham in September, 1925, had resulted in a conviction of murder and a sentence of 25 years for Griffin, and in September, 1925, had just fallen short of repeating those results, took matters into his own hands.

The first link in the sinster chain of events that has wound itself around Herbert Griffin was forged over a year ago, May 16, 1924, when Hugh Reilly was shot and fatally wounded. Since that time the wealthy Archer county rancher has spent at least half his time in jail or in court fighting for his freedom. His long legal battle was crowned with success about a month ago when, after being in the shadow of a 25-year prison sentence, a jury of Young county men returned a verdict of not guilty in his trial for murder in Graham and thus set him free.

Given 25 Years.

Before this freedom was won, though, he went through one trying trial and heard a jury of his peers return a verdict of guilty. That meant he must remain in jail until the court of criminal appeals could pass on the legal proceedings ending so ominously for him. Most of the time he was in the Young county jail at Graham, although last summer he was brought to Wichita Falls and was in the county jail here when the appeals court at Austin reversed his case and granted him the new trial that eventually gave him freedom.

Going back to the beginning.

Reilly, whose home was in Iowa Park, and Griffin were neighboring ranchers in the vicinity of Dundee and the diversion lake of the irrigation project. Both owned large tracts of land there and it was a long standing dispute over this that brought on the traedies since to follow.

Dispute Over Fence.

The immediate cause of their first trouble was a controverted fence line dividing property owned by each very close to the diversion lake. An amicable settlement, it apeared, could not be arrived at between the two men—and as a result Reilly met his death.

The two men met out on the property line early in the afternoon of May 16. Rather, they both were in that vicinity. Exactly what happened has always been a matter of question in the two trials through which Griffin has gone. At any rate, he appeared in Dundee that afternoon, told friends Hugh Reilly had been shot and was lying critically wounded near the diversion dam.

A physician immediately left Dundee for the lake while an ambulance was summoned from Wichita Falls. In the meantime Griffin awaited the arrival of officers from Archer City and surrendered to them.

Skull Pierced.

Reilly was found at the spot Griffin indicated he would be. A rifle ball had pierced his skull and it was seen from the first he had no chance for life When the ambulance arrived he was brought to the general hospital in Wichita Falls and there, under medical attention, lived until 1 o'clock the following morning when he expired without ever regaining consciousness.

Griffin was taken to Archer City where he perfected bond and when his case was called for trial there it was transferred to Graham, Young county, on the contention that public opinion against Griffin in Archer county would not permit a fair and impartial trial for him.

His case was called in district court in Graham in September, 1924, and after a long and intense legal battle he was convicted and sentenced to 25 years in prison. His attorneys appealed, of course, but in the meantime he was confined in jail under the statute that says no man convicted of a crime and sentenced to more than 15 years penal servitude shall be allowed his freedom pending the appelate court's action.

Just a year from the time her husband was killed, Mrs. Reilly started civil action against Griffin by a big damage suit filed i ncourt here. This matter has not yet been settled. She alleged that her husband's death had innured to her financial loss to this extent.

Last September Griffin's case was again called in Graham and this time another long legal battle in which Griffith's testimony played an important role for the state, the jury returned its verdict of not guilty.

HANDCUFFS AND SHACKLES FOR ALL.

A person whose desires and impulses are his own—are the expression of his own nature, as it has been developed and modified by his own culture—is said to have a character.

If, in addition to being his own, his impulses are strong, and are under the government of a strong will, he has an energetic character.

There has been a time when the personal element of spontaneity and individuality was in excess, and what is known as the social principle had a hard struggle with it.

The difficulty then was, to induce men of strong bodies or minds to pay obedience to any rules which required them to control their impulses.

To overcome this difficulty, law and discipline, like the popes struggling against emperors, asserted a power over the whole man, claiming the whole of his life in order to control his character—which society had not found other sufficient means of binding.

But in these days society has got the better of individuality; and the danger which threatens human nature is not excess, but the deficiency of personal impulses and preferences.

Times are vastly changed, since the passions of those who were strong by station or by personal endowment were in a state of habitual rebellion against laws and ordinances, and required to be rigorously chained up to enable the persons within their reach to enjoy safety.

Now, from the highest class of society down to the very lowest every one lives under the eye of a dreaded and hostile legal censorship that penetrates to their most personal affairs.

But the legal censorship is not the worst.

In what most people do for pleasure, conformity is the first thing thought of.

It does not occur to them to have any inclinations, except for what is customary.

The mind itself is bowed to the yoke.

They like in crowds; they exercise choice only among things commonly done.

Peculiarity of taste, eccentricity of conduct, are shunned equally with crimes: until, by dint of not following their own nature, they have no nature to follow.

Their human capacities are withered and starved.

They become incapable of any strong wishes or native pleasures, and are generally without opinions or feelings of home growth, or properly their own.

GOTHAM AND ITS POLITICIANS.

New York is the world's greatest city. Its municipal budget for the coming year is $440,000,000. Its total for 1926 may be 10 per cent above that figure, despite many cuts. New York will elect a mayor in November.

Frank Waterman is the republican candidate. He is a multi-millionaire manufacturer of pens. State Senator James J. Walker is the democratic candidate. He is a lawyer, less than 40, and has been a member of the New York legislature for nearly 20 years. According to the New York Times' political editor, the gamblers are betting five to one on Walker, and money is said to be in plentiful supply in these odds that Walker will be the next mayor.

Dr. John Erwin of Greater New York has the gambling instinct. He was a backer of Mayor Hylan in the two previous campaigns and in 1921 laid odds as high as seven to one on Hylan. He is said to have won a small fortune in that year.

Think of a municipal budget that carries $440,000,000. It cost less than $40,000,000 to run the entire state of Texas, and a legislature that would appropriate $50,000,000 would stir up a hornet's nest in every one of the 250 counties. Although he is a five to one favorite, Walker may be defeated, but the favorite is not often defeated in the city of Greater New York. Gamblers are cold blooded. They bet on their judgment.

They are not emotionalists. They are not sentimentalists. This applies to the professional gambler. There are hundreds of amateurs the country over who bet on friendship sake alone or on account of rank partisanship, but a professional gambler who makes his living that way goes on judgment alone. When he loses it is an error of judgment and not a heart error.

MORE VALUABLE THAN GOOD MANNERS IS GOOD SENSE.

"Good manners," Jonathan Swift observed in beginning an essay now 200 years old, "is the art of making those people easy with whom we converse."

"Whoever makes the fewest persons uneasy is the best bred in the company," he decided.

As the best laws are founded on reason, so are the best manners.

And as some lawmakers have introduced unreasonable things into the law, so likewise many teachers have introduced absurd things into common good manners.

Read, with eye unawed by any social register name on the title page, some of the ponderous Guides to Etiquette being sold to the great American public in vast numbers, and you will find an assemblage of impressive instructions largely nonsense.

The principal point of what is known as good manners is to suit the behaviour to the three degrees of men; our superiors, our equals, and those below us.

Fine manners need the support of fine manners in others.

Pride, ill nature and want of sense are the three great sources of ill manners; without some one of these common human defects, no man will behave himself ill for want of experience.

Good sense is the foundation of good manners; but because it is a gift of which very few among mankind are possessed, civilized people have agreed upon fixing some rules for common behavior, best suited to their general customs, or fancies, as a kind of artificial good sense, to supply the defects of reason.

"As the common forms of good manners were intended for regulating the conduct of those who have weak understanding; so they have been corrupted by the persons for whose use they were contrived," Swift observes.

"For they have fallen into a needless and endless way of multiplying ceremonies, extremely troublesome to all who practice them.

"Wise men often are more uneasy at the over civility of refined people, than they could possibly be in th conversations of peasants."

There is a pendantry in manners, as in all arts and sciences; and sometimes in trades. Pedantry is the overrating any kind of knowledge we pretend to. And if that kind of knowledge is a trifle itself, the pedantry is the greater.

Persons who pretend to the most intmate knowledge of good manners always are very tiresome.

Ignorance of forms cannot properly be styled ill manners; because forms are subject to frequent changes.

Besides, they vary in every community.

Terence sums up the matter in one line: "Suit your manner to the man."

This is the significance of, "when in Rome, do as Romans do."

JOHN BULL ON WHEELS.

John Bull reports the biggest automobile show ever held in Europe. It opened in London with a private view for buyers. Within half an hour between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 worth of contracts were signed, a record in the British motor world.

A London correspondent says one British firm obtained an order for 10,000 cars from a single buyer, another company got one for 7,000, and a third agent had a contract for 5,000, all within five minutes of the opening of the doors of the great show. Some show? Yes.

There are $2,500,000 worth of cars on exhibition. It is estimated by the London correspondent that 100,000 English made cars will be sold within the next 12 months, thus increasing by more than one-sixth the existing British total of 580,000 cars, or one for every 78 persons.

Last year 80,000 cars were sold, the highest total recorded. Texas has a population of 5,000,000 and more than 800,000 motor vehicles. Great Britian has a population nearing the 35,000,000 mark which shows that a vast number of people may be on wheels at times but they do not step on the gas. Four-fifths of them walk.

It is said that the 217 models on view, 96 are British. There is a London manufacturer, Morris by name, who is selling a cheap car at a price of $750. This is for the buyer of a limited purse. As for the man of wealth he can go as high as $15,000 for a British made car.

They are after Henry Ford, a long way after him as the Michigan wizard is said to be selling thousands of cars in the British Isles as well as on the continent of Europe.

American manufacturers are making a new record this year. They are putting out more cars than ever before, and the buyers are to be found everywhere under the flag. Not so in Canada. In French-Canada the farmer remains true to his horse and buck-board. He has from nine to eleven children. No car has been invented that will carry a family of thirteen. There are wagonetts that are popular.

They are not gas driven. They are drawn by horses or mules or oxen. A thrifty individual is the head of a French-Canadian family. Rapid transit does not appeal to him. Some day in the near future after the population has been Americanized by tourists from the states it will be different.

Crash Postpones Paris-New York Flight

This is why Lieutenants Tarascon and Coli, French aces, have postponed their Paris-New York flight until next spring. The plane especially built for the first attempt to cross the Atlantic from east to west crashed in a Chartres forest on a trial flight. The airmen escaped injury.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

LIBRA.
BY MARK BLAKE.

Today's planetary aspects are adverse during the early hours of the morning, but, thereafter, change and become favorable at noon, and continue in this condition for the remainder of the day, except for two complex periods of short duration, one just before sunset and the other just prior to midnight. The signs denote that the good influences will benefit all classes of endeavor, but especially those related to the Arts, or social intercourse. They indicate vision and comprehensiveness, and will encourage a desire to excel in any task that may be undertaken. They will even take away the monotony of the daily routine, and give it a zest that it does not generally possess.

Children born today will, in their infancy, cause a great deal of worry and anxiety, as they certainly will be heirs to the ills from which flesh suffers. Their growth and development along normal lines depends entirely on the kind of alimentation they are given, the environment with which they are surrounded, and the care they receive. Temperamentally, they will be, in early days, fretful and peevish. As they reach into their 'teens" and good health is vouchsafed them, they will change, becoming vivacious, cheerful, and affectionate. They will, in all probability, evince a desire to marry young, and, unless there is some powerful reason for not permitting this, they should be allowed to follow their fancy.

If today is your birthday, you are complacement, contented, and comfort loving; but this desire for ease and comparative luxury does not interfere with, or restrain, the vigor with which you do your work. You possess a happy knack of devising short cuts and quick methods, and are never influenced by what others do or think. You not only believe in labor saving devices, but exercise mental economy, without apparently, failing to achieve that which you set out to do.

You are both capable and reliable, and your associates depend upon you in a marked degree. You are fond of good literature, and devoted to your home, as well as to your family.

HOW IT STARTED

"Sound As a Bell."

Many objects can be broken and mended again with a result 'good as new." There are pastes and glues and cements galore that guarantee to do this with your broken bric-a-brac china or glass. But there is one thing which once broken cannot be mended, and thatis a bell. The merest crack is ruinous, making the bell useless. Therefore a bell that is a bell is certain to be perfectly flawless! Hence the well-known phrase "sound as a bell" is easily comprehensible.

The first recorded use of the phrase is almost four hundred years old, dating back to 1630 and the "Workers" of Taylor, where we find the following:

"Blinde fortune did so happily contrive that we, sound as bells, did safe arrive at Dover."

Waits 2 Hours To Tell of Disaster

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—(AP).—Captain John Diehl waited almost two hours before he filed a radio that the City of Rome had rammed and sunk the submarine S-51, Harold H. Kelley, radio operator on the steamer, testified here today before the naval inquiry board investigating the disaster which resulted in the loss of 33 lives off Block Island on September 25.

Kelley also said that a few seconds before the collision just after the steamer had sounded a short series of warning whistle blasts, he looked out of the door of his radio room and saw the lights of the submarine about 175 feet off the City of Rome's starboard bow.

The submarine was so illuminated by the steamer's lights that he could distinguish a man standing on the forward deck of the submarine, he said.

CRIME WAVE IN EAST

Robberies and Shooting Grip New York and Maryland.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A band of five robbers, one of them wearing a policeman's uniform, committed a series of holdups in Brooklyn early today while in Manhattan two gunmen shot and probably fatally wounded the proprietor of a lower East Side restaurant in which there were 18 patrons, including five women.

The boldest robbery by the Brooklyn band was the holdup of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldman and their chauffeur, as their car was passing along Eastern Parkway. After they had crowded the Goldman automobile to the curb the five robbers took $5,000 in jewelry and $350 in cash from their victims.

SYNOPSIS

At ten P. M. Connemara Moore slipped out of her Aunt Celimena's Connecticut home, hailed young David Lacy—whom she doesn't know—as she was driving by and announced that she proposed to drive toward New York with him. She is dressed as a nun. By midnight Connemara must announce her engagement either to Bing Carrington or Salt Adams or be disinherited by auntie. But midnight is fast approaching and Connie is speeding away rapidly.

Why, he thought, should he suddenly remember that American girl, seen but once, who had had the power of upsetting him? It was a long time ago that he had seen her and spoken to her for five minutes—more than two years—and yet there she was, stuck in his brain. By Jove! A girl like that! One might marry her and be satisfied for life. That would be an experience to be underlined three times in red.

All at once, moved by an overwhelming impulse he turned and said, "I say, Sister Dannemora——"

"Connemara" she corrected him in a cool, level voice.

"I say—" But he did not continue. One glance at her was enough. The nun had outwitted him. At some time or other during the past ten minutes she had slipped from somewhere in the folds of her white robe a mask of white silk that now hid her face, all save the eyes, which regarded him with a roguish air out of all keeping with her shining garments. And her hair. It too lay hidden beneath the cowl. Why hadn't he noticed that until this moment?

"What the hell d'you think this is?" began the policeman.

"I say," he began again, "you can't wear that thing—the mask, I mean. We'll be in Greenwich in a moment or two, and the police will hold us up. They'll take you for a bandit! We'll be arrested!"

For a moment Sister Connemara hesitated. Then in a voice like a choir of innocent angels, she said, "I throw myself at your mercy, sir, I dare not show my face. There are reasons. I trust you to protect me."

Again he turned to look at her, so sharply that the car veered suddenly and very nearly collided with a vegetable stand which stood before the gate of a roadside farmhouse.

"We jest missed the tomatoes," observed Sister Connemara. "What a smash they would have made—and me all in white too."

On the road before them the lights of Greenwich began to appear, little lozenges of light twinkling through the faint mist which had begun to drift up from the salt marshes.

The redoubtable Mr. Lacy grew sulky. He resolved not to speak to this sophisticated nun by his side. For a time he drove without paying any heed to her. She might have been a part of the motor itself, the speedometer, or the piston rod, for all he cared. Yet, after two or three minutes, he said, quite unwillingly, "But what am I going to do with you when I get to town? I can't turn you loose in the streets. You'd be arrested in that rig."

From behind the mask came the faintest gurgling sound, as if Sister Connemara were laughing at him. "Just like a man," she murmured, "putting all the blame on the woman."

Lacy swore. "My God!" he said, "are you saving me or am I saving you?"

"My Aunt Celimena," retorted the mimosa-scented mask, "says there is no more chivalry in the world. I've had two proposals tonight and I believe her. You would too if you had heard their language."

A nun having two proposals in one evening! A nun. . . . ! Lacy decided this adventure must be underscored twice in red. There had never been anything quite like it.

The villas were now whizzing past in a stream of neat lawns, well-trimmed privet hedges, porch swings, and canna beds.

"I have an apartment in town," he began helplessly. "On Park Avenue. It's closed, but I've kept a room open for myself. I might take you there and hide you until you got some other clothes."

"Oh, I couldn't do that," cooed Sister Connemara, "that would compromise me."

This time Lacy swore violently and not altogether under his breath. Then, remembering the white-robed figure beside him, he checked himself in time to hear a voice say sweetly, "I don't know what all those words mean."

And then into the midst of Lacy's fury came the sound which was an omen of the worst that could happen. Steadily from somewhere behind the big Isotta-Franchini there rose with increasing volume the chug-chug of a motorcycle. He turned fiercely to his companion.

"Now you see what you've done," he muttered. "There's a motorcop after us."

"Blaming it on the woman again," came the sweet voice.

He couldn't increase his speed, for they were now in the heart of Greenwich. If they had been on an open country road. . . . chug. . . . chug . . . chug-chug! The fatal sound came near and nearer until David Lacy, swearing silently this time, drew up to the curb and the motorcycle came alongside. It was hopeless.

"What the hell d'you think this is?" began the policeman, balancing himself on the motorcycle. "A speedway?"

"I hadn't thought much about it," replied Lacy. "I had my mind on other things." And he gave his companion what is known as a dirty look.

The motor had stopped in the shadow of a great elm, so that it was impossible to distinguish the face of himself or his companion. With the air of one accustomed to such episodes, he had switched off the tail light.

"It'll cost you twenty-five—" began the cop.

"Here," said Lacy, drawing his wallet from his pocket.

"None o' that stuff either," retorted the policeman. "Don't you read the papers? They've been digging up dirt on us."

The wallet slipped back into the pocket just as the policeman switched an electric torch full into the motor.

"Ah," he began; with an exasperating drawl. "What's this? A woman in a mask. . . . Some kind of dirty work. So that's it."

Now the glib and worldly Lacy had faced in his time many trying situations. For days he had held at bay a band of head hunters in wildest New Guinea; he had negotiated the escape of the notorious Baroness Simkovich, across the Russian border through the very teeth of the Bolsheviks into Finland; he had stabbed to death a gorilla with a table knife when the monster invaded his tent during a shooting expedition in the wild regions near Mount Hokmoji; he had. . . . All these things flashed through his mind, but none seemed the proper solution.

"I— I—" he began, stammering. The subtle frail scent of mimosa smote his nostrils. "I—mean to say . . ." But he was unable to get any further.

Then the soft, insinuating voice of the nun beside him reached his ear. She had removed the mask and was now facing the full glare of the policeman's light, but her back was turned: he could not see her face.

"Don't stop us, officer," she was saying in a voice that would have wrung the heart of a stone idol. "We're on our way to see my sick aunt. I'm sure she can't stand much longer what she has been going through. It's—" Here her speech was interrupted by a heartrending sob. "We must get there. Why Aunt Celimena has been more than a mother to me."

A second corporation also is formed, each concern owning one-half. The second company is to be the means of further expansion for the benefits of both owners.

CRIME EXPENSIVE

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Crime in Chicago costs the city so much each year it could well afford to pay each of its estimated 30,000 crooks $20,000 annually or $600,000 to leave town, C. R. Holden president of the Chicago crime commission told a church audience yesterday.

DOROTHY DIX ADVICE

Dear Miss Dix:

There are no more pitiful people in the world than the middle-aged widows and widowers whose homes hae been broken up by death and whose children are married and gone and who are forced to lie about in dreary lodging and boarding houses. Many of these men, probably most of them, would like to marry again, but they feel that they cannot afford to support a wife. All that they have made has gone to rearing their children and now they feel that they must save up something for their own old age. Doubtless there are thousands of women in the same position, and I often wonder why these lonesome old people cant' get together and pool their earnings and be company for each other.

It is because women are still bound by the tradition that the wife must not work outside of the home, no matter what the necessity? Are customs stronger than conditions? Are women really standing where they stood 30 years ago?

A READER.

Answer:

I think your suggestion is an admirable one, Mr. Reader, and that thousands of lonely old men and women might act upon it with advantage.

For there is this curious thing about matrimony, that it unfits people for the single life. Even those who have been unhappily married and who have longed most for freedom find that when their bonds are broken that their liberty does not bring them the happiness that they expected. They cannot go back to their unwed days. They have established the habit of domesticity.

The man who has been used to home cooking finds that restaurant meals have no flavor. To the man who is accustomed to coming home after his day's work to the eager welcome of a wife, it is desolation to come home to a dark and lonely room. He misses even being fussed over and nagged about putting on dry shoes after he has been out in the wet and being told not to sit in a draft or eat the things that are bad for his digestion.

The woman who has been accuctomed to her own home can never be happy in any one else's home or with no home to run. And even when she establishes a home of her own, it lacks all savor to her if there is no man in it. She hasn't interest or ambition to get up a good dinner just for herself.

We always think of romance as belonging to youth, but in reality it is the elderly who need the companionship of husbands and wives far more than youth does. There may be no thrills to a fat, gray-haired couple's second wedding, but you mighty seldom hear of it ending in the divorce courts.

It is, of course, a pity that the woman should have to continue work after marriage. It is unfortunate that every man cannot make enough money to enable his wife to devote her sole attention to her home, but that is one of the conditions of the present economic situation and many a woman, young and old, has to keep on with her job os else stay single.

And inasmuch as the woman would have to work anyway, it seems to me that she is better off with a husband and a home, and the love and cheer they bring her, than she would be living alone with no companionship of an evening save her own dreary thoughts.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix:

I am a woman of 35, wildly in love for the first time, and with a young man of 23. This young fellow takes me out quite a lot and tells me I remind him of his mother. Do you think he loves me? What should I do?

AN UNCLAIMED TREASURE.

Answer:

The thing to do is to wake up out of the love dream into which you have doped yourself and face situation with a little common sense.

Cease to delude yourself with the thought that the boy is in love with you. When a youth of 23 tells a woman older than himself that she makes him think of his mother, he is simply megnaphoning the fact to her that he regards her as an elderly person entirely out of the range of any sentimental consideration. He is putting her in the old-age class. You can bet your bottom dollar that he isnt telling any little flapper that she makes him think of his mother.

This boy doubless admires you and reveres you and enjoys your society, but that isn't love and he would probably be horrified and shocked if he even suspected you of having matrimonial designs upon him. And believe me, no matches between 35-year-old women and 23-year-old boys are made in heaven.

There is never anything in such an unequal marriage except misery for the woman, because the man almost invariably gets tired of her and deserts her for some girls who is of suitable age.

And whether he does or not, the old wife with the young husband is always torn with jealousy every time she sees him speak to a girl, and she wears herself to skin and bones attempting the impossible task of keeping young with him.

Set your affections on some man who is 12 years older than you are rather than 12 years younger if you want your marriage to be happy. Cradle snatching is an unprofitable occupation for a woman to follow.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young man of puritanical tendencies, engaged to a young girl whom, in spite of the fact that she is a modern girl who smokes continually, stays out until all hours of the night and indulges in cocktails. Do you think that we will be happy with such a difference in our viewpoints? P. R.

Answer: I do not. I think that a marriage between a puritanical man and a wild woman is very sure to go on the rocks.

The rounder husband is bad enough, heaven knows, but generations of good, pure women have had centuries of experience in forgiving men for wandering off of the straight and narrow path and in waiting up at night for husbands who rolled in with the milkmen. But who can picture a good, pure husband enjoying sitting up waiting for a wife who is out joyriding until 3 G. M. and who comes home all lit up with bootlegger booze?

Deep down in every man's soul is the need to reverence the woman he loves, to believe in her goodness as he does in the goodness of God. That is why men find it so hard to forgive a woman with a past, and why no man is really happy with a wife who shocks his ideals and whom he is constantly trying to reform. The most important thing in matrimony is congeniality.

For a husband and wife to be really one, they must see things from the same angle; they must have the same tastes and habits; they must enjoy the same things. Therefore, you will be wise to marry a girl who has the same strict puritanical ideas that you have and let your flapper marry a cake-eater who smokes the same brand of cigarettes that she does and who also thinks that the chief end of life is to jazz and who carries a flask on his hip.

It is true that the attraction of opposites draws men and women before marriage, but after marriage it drives them as far apart as the poles.

Poison Victims To Recover, Belief

BEEVILLE, Texas, Oct. 19.—Forty of Beeville's most prominent young women, poisoned by refreshments served at a bridge party, will probably recover, local doctors said Monday. All are critically ill.

The women, members of the "500 Bridge club," are violently ill after having eaten chicken salad at the home of Mrs. Joseph Timon.

Although the salad was made in a wooden bowl, and with a wooden spoon, it remained upon ice until served, doctors are convinced it caused the poisoning.

Mrs. Timon, busy with her duties as hostess to the bridge club, ate none of the salad. She was the only one to escape illness, according to Dr. C. H. Reagan.

Among the most seriously ill were Mrs. James Pettus, Mrs. Tom Ferrell, Mrs. J. C. Beasley, wife of Judge Beasley and Mrs. Lancaster, wife of a Beeville physician.

Handcuff Kings Bother Captors

KENTSVILLE, Nova Scotia, Oct. 19.—(AP)—James C. Burgess and Arthur Johnson, two men from Roxbury, Mass., arrested last Friday and brought here to face an automobile theft charge, have proved themselves good amateur "handcuff kings."

A fellow prisoner yesterday scribbled a note saying the two men were planning to break jail. The jailer's daughter found the note and took it to her father. Handcuffs were placed on the prisoners, but no sooner had the jailer left the cell than they easily discarded the "darbies." It was then found that none of the handcuffs in the jail could hold the prisoners whereupon they were placed in a steel cage which is used only for the most violent of prisoners.

THERMOMETERS DROP ALMOST TO FREEZING

First Touch of Real Winter Felt Here Monday

A temperature only five degrees above the freezing point was noted in the city yesterday morning as Wichita Falls felt its first breath of cold weather for the 1925 winter season. A minimum of 37 degrees was reached, and the thermometer climbed only 20 degrees higher during the day, and at 5 o'clock stood at 50, gradually falling as night drew near.

Lowered temperatures are reported at other places, and a frost within a 100 miles of this city and was evident. Ice was reported in western Oklahoma, but the weather was above freezing at Mangum, Okla. Northwest Texas and southwestern Oklahoma escaped the norther which chilled this section of the state.

RAIL CASE DROPPED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The supreme court today refused to interfere in the dispute raised by the Kansas City Southern railway over the interstate commerce commission's valuation methods.

The company contended the commission did not comply with the terms of the valuation act and that its property was worth approximately twice that fixed by the commission. The court declined to review the question.

EXTENSION OF ACME OPPOSED BY SANTA FE

Railroad Commission Holds Hearing Monday in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19.—(AP).—Extension of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific railroad from McBain to Floydada ,28 miles, was opposed by the Santa Fe railroad as a "waste of money" at a hearing here today before the Texas railroad commission. The Santa Fe presented the only opposition. Resolutions and petitions passed by citizens of five towns along the proposed extension were offered by the applicant. The hearing adjourned at noon, applicant and protestant agreeing to put into the record evidence given at the July hearing in Plainview in which extensions in the South Plains were asked.

The resolutions and petitions favoring the extension declared that the project is necessary for adequate service and development.

Thomas J. Norton, Chicago, chief counsel for the Santa Fe, told the commission his railroad system took the position that if additional lines and service are required on the South Plains under the transportation act the interstate commerce commission could order the Santa Fe to extend and meet the demand.

Enjoy Eating

If your blood is pure~ You like to eat

REMEMBER how you used to come in from play hungry as a bear? Bet you could hardly wait until Dad filled your plate!

And didn't everything taste good! Seemed like you never would get enough. Didn't you feel good those days. Yes, they were the red blooded days.

Why isn't your appetite like that now? Why don't you like to eat just the same as you did in those days? Here's the reason—your system is simply starving for the lack of rich, red blood! You've lost your appetite because you've lost your red blood power. No red blood nourishment for the tissues of your body.

Build up your blood to where it is pure and red and rich and watch that appetite come back! S. S. S. is the way to do it! S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells — builds them by the millions!

You'll get hungry and you'll enjoy eating when S. S. S. helps Nature build pure red cells in that weak blood of yours. And you'll look better—your skin will be clear and unblemished—your flesh will become firm and solid—strength and power will come to your flabby muscles—you'll be yourself again.

S. S. S. will bring back the joy of eating—the joy of living. It's done it for thousands for generations. It's going to do it for you, too. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

The class voted to hold meetings of the class each second and fourth Wednesdays of the month in the auditorium at 9:30 a. m. Evan Harris, president, was in the chair. The committee reporting on the rings and pins is composed of Edna Preckel, Vernon Gee and Johnnie Jobe. Charles Weeth, business manager of the college annual, reported on the campaign for subscriptions.

The regular meeting of the Blue Curtain club has been postponed from Monday until later in the week. Postponement resulted from the unpreparedness of a number of applicants who were to have spoken at the tryout.

Miss Mary Tancred was elected president of the freshman class of Junior college in a class meeting held Monday morning at the college; Mildred Mayes was made vice president, and Lucile Pitts, secretary. Other officers will be elected later. Enthusiastic plans for the year's work were discussed. The class selected rings and pins, the design showing an Indian in the center, with "Wichita Falls" around it. The letters, "J. C." are engraved inside the ring. The design was selected by the first class of the college and the succeeding classes have continued orders for the design.

"We like the fine spirit Mary Meredith displayed when she 'threw' her party Friday night after the football game, when she entertained members of both football teams," is the comment made by high school students Monday. A party will be held Friday night when the class will work out plans for the year. Committees were announced by the president.

Maybe He's Still All Right—But?

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 19. — Whether a Brooks field cadet, whose social prestige imported from New York has gained him an entree to San Antonio's best circles, has deserted with an automobile belonging to a driverless automobile company or is merely on a party, is a question engaging the attention of detectives.

Renting the car Sunday morning the cadet promised to return within 24 hours. Giving a check for protection in case of accident and the name of a prominent family as reference of his own stability.

Uneasy after the student-officer became overdue several hours, the company manager telephoned his quarters at the field. None of his fellow cadets had heard of him since six o'clock Sunday afternoon when he dropped by the barracks to change his clothes.

SUES FOR $500,000

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(AP)—A breach of promise suit in which Miss Anne Caldwell of New York city, a newcomer in theatrical circles, asks for $500,000 damages from John W. Hubbard, wealthy Pittsburgh business man, was filed in United States district court here today.

Miss Caldwell charged that in January, 1922, the defendant entered into an oral agreement with her to be married within a few months. On or about September 10, 1924, Miss Caldwell claims, "without any cause or justification whatsoever and without plaintiff's consent defendant repudiated his said agreement, declared that he would not marry plaintiff, stated that he had no intention of marrying the plaintiff and did not want to see her any more."

Modern Apartment Goes Up in London

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(AP).—A modern apartment building is to rise shortly in aristocratic Park Lane where for generations only England's peers and wealthy subjects have had their palatial homes.

Negotiations have about been concluded under which the heirs of the late Lord Leverhulme will dispose of famous Grosvenor House, lately the residence of the Duke of Westminster, to a company which will erect on the premises an apartment building. Lord Leverhulme bought the house in 1924 with the intention of turning its famous ball room with a capacity of more than 1,000 persons, into an art gallery which would rival the national gallery.

Many mansions along Park Lane in recent years have been turned into clubs, embassies and studios, but the avenue has not yet suffered the indignity of having an apartment house raised in its heretofore sacred precincts.

DALLAS TAKES RAP AT STATE HIGHWAY WORK

County Commissioners In Mood to Withhold State Taxes

DALLAS, Oct. 19.—(AP).—Voicing opposition to the policy of the state highway department, Dallas county commissioners today voted to send a representative to confer with the attorney general to ascertain whether the county can withhold county taxes from the commission until the present controversy is settled. Commissioner G. W. Ledbetter will be sent to Austin to devise legal steps if possible, to restrain tax remittances.

This action followed submission of a written resolution by Mr. Ledbetter calling upon the court to hold up payments and criticizing maintenance expenditures in Dallas county. The resolution was not adopted, though all members expressed dissatisfaction.

It was contended that the county had not received proportionate expenditures in county for the largest tax payments paid to the commission.

Chairman Frank Lanham of the commission who has returned from a brief trip to Austin, said, when informed of the action of the Dallas commissioners, that the criticism was unwarranted. He declared the commission awarded $173,000 for maintenance work in Dallas county last year and this year the work was let under private contract for $119,000. "I submit the roads are in as good condition now as last year," he said.

BLINDING HEADACHES LIVER OUT OF ORDER

"For about 20 years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known resident of Newburg, Kentucky, "one of our home remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable.

"We have been married 51 years, and in all that time we have never found a liver medicine that gave the satisfaction that Black-Draught has given.

"I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order.

"I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work—just couldn't go. I used Black-Draught and it relieved me.

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. We tried for a week to help her, but she didn't get any better.

"One day I said to the doctor, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught for her. It helped my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions, which I did.

"Before she took Black-Draught she suffered pain in the lower part of her body, and soreness, dizziness in her head, and just wasn't able to sit up. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest.

"She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved, and in a week she was up.

"I didn't think it possible for anyone to improve so fast as she did. She has taken Black-Draught ever since and it keeps her up and going."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Thedford's Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for indigestion and constipation, due to a torpid liver.

Thousands Have Banished Gray Hair with this Clean, Colorless Liquid

Make a Test of Kolor-Bak Today

People everywhere praise Kolor-Bak for its remarkable power to banish grayness. The results are really astonishing, for no matter what the original shade was, it quickly reappears when this clean, colorless liquid is used.

According to scientists, grayness comes when age, illness, shock or disease causes a lack in the normal supply of coloring matter furnished to the hair—but whatever the cause, Kolor-Bak soon brings back the former shade, and the shade is uniform throughout—no "dyed" or streaked appearance. Results appear quickly—often in a week. Kolor-Bak is the most satisfactory substitute for the natural pigmentation. It also removes dandruff, stops itching of the scalp and keeps the hair from falling out.

"My Hair Was Quite Gray" "Only a short time ago my hair was quite gray. It was falling out. My scalp itched and dandruff appeared. Kolor-Bak stopped the itching, dandruff and falling. Most wonderful of all, however, is that my hair is its original shade. I look 10 years younger." (A typical letter)

If your hair has turned or is turning, do what thousands of others have done—let Kolor-Bak make your grayness a thing of the past. No need to supply samples of your hair as this one clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Just ask for a bottle of Kolor-Bak. Money returned instantly if desired results do not appear.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE RAVEN

Written after hearing a modern version of Annable Lee.

Mr. Raven, Mr. Raven,
Don't you know you're misbehavin'
When you jazz around my chamber
With that syncopatin' strut?
Do you kind o' fancy deary
That you make me awful weary?
Well you're right about it Raven
You do simply nothin' but.

Mr. Raven, Mr. Raven,
You can't scare me with that wavin'
On that pallid bust of Pallas
With that Senegambian tail.
Quit pirootin' on that statue *
Or I'll throw the inkstand at you—
I'll get peeved in just a minute,
So you'd better hit the trail.

Mr. Raven, Mr. Raven,
If your carcass is worth savin'
Spill a little conversation,
Do not be so doggone dumb.
Do not pull that "Nevermote!" stuff.
Or I'll feed you some pre war stuff—
And the minute it's inside you,
You'll be sorry that you come.

Mr. Raven, Mr. Raven,
Ain't you ever goin' to cave in?
Stop that everlastin' croakin'
And go jazzin' out of sight?
Are you bird or are you devil?
Are you false or on the level?
Am I seein' things I wonder?
Say, what did I drink las' night?

Yale should defend the "prestige" of of the big three, the dope has it, bye defeating Brown. The Eli performed a notch ahead of schedule in holding the powerful Navy eleven to a tie score the past week-end.

But in Dartmouth, the triumvirate may spring a tartar. Harvard after its dismal showing Saturday, on paper doesn't appear as strong as the Green. The Crimson is expected to go down under a two touchdown defeat.

Alanso Stagg's Maroons have chewed off a tough one in the fracas billed with the Blue of Pennsylvania. Pennsy may slip a cog in the big ten championship machine, early season performances indicate.

Of great interest will be the Notre Dame battle with Minnesota. The Micks, defeated Saturday by the Army in decisive manner, nevertheless are doped to grab the victor's end of this encounter.

The Wolverine, a serious menace to big ten title contenders, are expected to find Red Grange far slippier a customer than did Nebraska. The Illini twice defeated this year, statistically speaking are rated the under dogs, however.

S. M. U. Rates Shade.

Southern Methodist university Mustangs, caught flat-footed Friday and turned back in 7-0 defeat by the Texas Aggies should fare better in the intersectional meeting with Oklahoma. Many of the critics, nevertheless, are giving the Sooners an edge.

Outside of the non-conference Mustang tilt the Southwest conference does little this week. Stewart's Longhorns engage in their initial conference game at Austin with Heisman's Owls. Texas university earns a shade in pre-game prognostications. The writer looks for a two-touchdown victory by the varsity.

Bible's Aggies have picked a soft one in Sam Houston, a non-conference affair. Baylor is expected to break into the win column over Howard Payne. There is little interest attached to the non-conference game between Arkansas and Phillips, very much of an in-and-outer, usually an outer as far as play with conference clubs is concerned.

Frogs May Surprise.

The Horned Frogs, ever a menace and heretofore a jinx to Oklahoma's Aggies, journey to Stillwater for the Fort Worth school's second conference scrap. The Aggies have departed the conference, but T. C. U., having billed the game before the Oklahomans moved out, have been granted permission to count this as a conference tilt. The odds favor the Sooner Farmers, but Matty Bell's Frogs have a habit of staging the unexpected, both Arkansas and the Farmers will testify from experience.

Hurray for Them Farmers.

Walter W. Craig, an old Fort Worth friend and sport fan, wires:

"Why don't you say something for Texas A. and M. in your Top o' Morn stuff? I think they warrant it."

The best reply we can give Mr. Craig is to say this column picked the Aggies to defeat S. M. U. when the rest of the state except the Aggies and Aggie followers themselves expected the Mustangs to win hands down. Top o' Morn carried a victory prognostication for the Farmers and straightaway was ridiculed at every angle by the wise boys. After the Farmer victory, it was not necessary to say anything but "I told you so." And that in this section, is exceedingly untactful.

Electra Would Organize Cagers

ELECTRA, Oct. 19.—Electra is alive with a rumor of a city basketball club this winter. Basketball should go good in this city as the game has many followers here. Last year basketball showed its popularity by the way the crowds turned out for the high school cage tournaments.

With the backing they had from the home town fans the Electra Tigers met and defeated the best of the clubs in the county and district meets. A city team could call in several of the big favorites of last year's team. Guy Thomas and Porter Hayes are both open for positions on the quintet.

These two were rated as about the best forwards to perform in the games of the tournament last winter. Graduation called both from the high school five.

There is some talk about the town of forming a Wichita county league, but no certain steps have yet been made toward doing this.

M'CALLUM BILLS GRANDFIELD INSTEAD OF INDIANS--DISPUTE MAY BE IRONED OUT TODAY

Lions Resume Scrimmage in Preparation for Electra Tiff—Tribe Still Has No Opponent

As predicted, there's a grid agrument on now, but not on the gridiron. It has to do with that Quanah-Wichita Falls game billed for this week-end, or is it billed at all?

With announcement a week or more back from interscholastic league headquarters at Austin that Quanah is a class B Team advertised as a member of district 1 class A by mistake, Wichita Falls Coach Bud McCallum made other plans than that of playing the Indians. A game with Grandfield, Okla., which had been postponed once already was dated for next Saturday with the Coyotes invading Oklahoma. That's the same day the original Quanah-Wichita Falls game was slated.

Now Coach Barnette of Quanah declares Wichita Falls will play his team Saturday at Quanah or forfeit under a more recent interscholastic league ruling that Quanah can go, either calss A or B, the Indians deciding in the meantime to enter class A.

McCallum's retort is he doesn't want to play in Quanah but here in Wichita Falls, and for that matter doesn't care to stage the game this week regardless of where.

The argument is to be settled today, it was agreed last night by long distance telephone with The Record News sports editor listening in.

As it stands right now, Barnette declares he's going on with his practice plans this week in preparation for a game with the Coyotes Saturday. McCallum says he's working for the Grandfield game, also Saturday.

The Coyotes went through a hard workout yesterday. The squad came away from the Electra game of Saturday in fair shape. However, Ed Powell, quarterback, is handicapped with a sprained wrist; Flippin, guard, has a bad arm; Joe Bailey Bell, center, is carrying a wrenched neck, and Coyal Francis, fullback, was injured pretty badly about the chest Monday during scrimmage. The extent of his hurts are not known at present. No bones were broken, but he seems in sore plight.

Zeke Taylor, 175-pounder with Junior high last season, is beginning to look like the center position choice for the next game. He has been showing nicely. Walter Penney, center, out of the game Saturday, is expected to be ready to go this week.

Mosley Points for North Texas Aggies

All efforts Sunday and Monday by Coach Mosley to match a game for Saturday with his Junior college Indians were futile. He tried Quanah as a last resort when other teams produced a full slate at Barnette is centering his interest on the Coyotes right now.

The Tribe is in fairly good shape following the game Friday with the Cameron Aggies. Every man on the squad is in good condition with exception of Riley Rawls, big halfback, who sprained an ankle in the late stages of the game right after making a long running catch of a forward pass and ensuing advance which brought the Indians within scoring distance. Rawls may not be able to play this week end should a game be lined up.

However, the squad is pointing for the North Texas Aggie encounter scheduled for Spudder park Oct. 31, and Mosley intends to drive his men at top clip in daily workouts whether or not a practice mill is obtained for the week.

Vernon May Have Full Strength

With the Quanah argument settled in favor of the Lions, interest is centered on the Electra-Vernon fray which is to take place next Saturday at Electra. According to present indications, Vernon Coach Baggett's club will have its full strength again by Saturday.

The club fared well in the Quanah game, and no serious injuries were sustained. Crouch, who has been in the hospital since the Sayre game, nursing an injured knee, was able to leave the sanitarium Saturday and the Lion mentor is hopeful of being able to use the speedy back if it is necessary. Hollar, first string end man, will likely be back in the line-up this week also.

Some points of the Vernon club were strengthened and others were weakened by the drastic changes made in the Vernon line-up in Saturday's game. Roy Key, who has been flashing at right guard this year, was sent down to the left terminal position, and won credit for himself there. Hutto, who has been warming the side lines most of the year, took Key's place at guard. Newth, another new man, played a good game at end. The terminal positions appeared to be stronger than at any time this year, but the line was weak on the offensive, although the Indians could never gain through it.

C. Key took Crouch's place in the backfield, and closely rivaled Gellhausen for high honors. It appears that this substitute has won a place on the first string. He made consistent gains through the line during Saturday's game, running slow and picking his hole.

That Vernon will display a strong aerial attack in the league games, was strongly indicated in the Quanah tilt. Both wing men were running far down the field on the open plays, and Ryan was tossing the oval 30 yards consistently.

Baggett says his club will scrimmage again this weke in preparation for the Electra tilt. Last week the team was drilled only in fundamental, abandoning scrimmage because of the many injuries.

Olney Primes for Jacksboro Tilt

Coach Hill's Olney eleven has no game as yet billed for this week. Hill is putting his squad through intensive training for a contest Friday a week from next scheduled on the Olney gridiron with Jacksboro.

The Olney crew away victorious the past week end in its third game out of four, defeating Bridgeport, 14 to 6. eral first string men looked bad at the

The team with the absence of sev- beginning of the tilt, but came back later and snapped out of it. Neither club tabulated in the first half. Olney appeared hard pressed, and it looked as though Hill's warriors would be unable to score. But early in the third period, K. Kragg, with two ribs broken in scrimmage several days before, began piloting the team. Olney became imbued with new spirit, and began a steady march of 60 yards to the goal. Watkins carried the ball over. Kragg kicked for the extra point.

Bridgeport recovered a fumbled punt in the fourth period on Olney's 15-yard line. The visitors scored on a fake play around end.

Olney kicked to Bridgeport with four minutes to go, and the ball was grounded on the five-yard marker. Bridgeport kicked, and Olney took the ball on straight football and marched to the goal. B. Dupnagan went five yards through the line for the score. Kragg kicked for the extra point.

Harville, Lunn, Barclay and Wells pllayed exceptionally well at their line positions. Six backs were used. They are K. Kragg, who called signals but did not run with the ball because of his injury, B. Dunagan, W. Kragg, C. Russell, P. Watkins and E. Teague.

Coach Hill, who is a former Abilene Christian college athlete, expects much of his squad in the future. He's not counting so much on winning the class B championship of his section, but hopes to make the rest of the teams fight for it. With only a few experienced men as a nucleus for his eleven, Hill already has made a commendable record.

FOOTBALL INSIDE OUT

THE WHY AND HOW OF THE RULES

AFTER THE FAIR CATCH.

If the side which has successfully made a fair catch elects to put the ball in play, after the catch by kicking it, the ball must be kicked from the spot on which the catch was made or a point directly back of it. Having announced their intention of so kicking the ball no player of the team having possession of it can advance beyond the point at which the catch was made, with the ball in his possession.

After the referee's whistle is blown, signaling the start of the play, the ball must not be permitted to touch the ground by the kicking side without being immediately thereafter, kicked as announced.

All members of the side in possession of the ball must, of course, be behind the ball when it is so kicked.

The kick must travel more than 10 yards to be legal. It is quite obvious that this ruling is made to prevent any possibility of trick plays being executed with a short kick, which the kicking side might easily recover.

The penalty for violations of the rules mentioned is the replacement of the ball five yards behind the original mark of the catch.

Too Many Bears In Baylor Yard; Here's a Chance

WACO, Oct. 19.—For Sale: One Bear, fairly gentle and about five months old. If you are in the market for a real live bear, here is your golden opportunity. Make your price, come and get him. For further information, apply to Jim Crow, assistant football coach at Baylor university, or Boots Marshall, student manager of the Baylor Bears.

There is no catch to the above. Baylor was presented a live mascot at the beginning of the football training season and that mascot has done nothing but bring trouble in huge goits to the Baylor cause. If the bear is not sold witain the next several days, it will be given away, and if the Baylor athletic department cannot give it away, it may pay somebody to take the animal away.

Anyway the bear is not going to be roaming around the Baylor athletic field when the day of the next conference game with the Texas Aggies dawns.

Leo, Off to Bad Start, Whipping Back With Doc

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Coach Doc Stewart of Texas university went on a man hunt when the Texas Longhorns turned out for practice today. A man is wanted to take the place of Matt Newell who played end. Newell will be out of the game for three or four weeks with a torn hand, a result of the game with Auburn at Dallas.

Penney, who was shifted from end early in the season to guard, was tried out at the old position. Heavy and quick, he was plugging a hole in the Green Texas line and was especially good on the offense. If he is put on the wings, Homan or Gooch, probably will be the best men for the guard position.

Leo Baldwin, who got off to a bad start, is whipping into shape as a wing man, but the ability of Newell, a veteran will be missed in the game with Rice Institute here Saturday, Texas university's first conference game.

In a check-up today, it was found that Texas was unscathed except for Newell. Coach Stewart put his men through a stiff workout to loosen the Longhorns' muscles, a result of the Auburn encounter.

Will He Get This Or Brown Tonight?

Matty Matsuda is shown here applying a double wrist lock from a standing position, but he won't get Jim Brown that way tonight in the feature tiff of the Wichita Falls wrestling association mat card at the Majestic theater, so declares Brown.

Brown believes it's better to stay on the floor as much as possible with the Jap, and so to the mat they're going as much as the Greek can make it, he says.

This bout will be the culmination of a week's long and loud argument between the two wrestlers, Matty declaring Brown too heavy for him to risk his belt with whereas the Greek says Matty is afraid of him.

Brown, however, in a calm moment yesterday admitted that the Jap is the greatest man at his weight in the world, saying: "Matty knows more about wrestling than any man living."

LITTLE STUDY IN NATURE

When you change on the college almunus
Who is grieved by the trend of the day—
Who points out the curse and the turn for the worse
Of his school on a perilous way,
Who thinks that our sons and our daughters
No longer are learning at all,
If you pause to inquire, you will find that his ire
Is born of a bad team this fall.

When you come on a grad who is joyous,
And solid on his college's class,
Who thinks that the school is one grand golden rule
Of success it will shortly surpass:
If he has only praise for professors
Are that his team is winning its games,
And never looks glumly or blames,
The chances, my friend, if you'll search to the end,

WELL, anyway, when the French debt is paid, you will know whether Dempsey or Wills won.

WILLIAM WRIGLEY'S selection of Joe McCarthy to manage the Cubs next year will come in for considerable criticism, especially from the major league playing ranks. The fact that he has never managed a major league team will be taken against him. The fact that he has never been a major league star will constitute another dark blot on his prospects, they will say.

This is the history of similar promotions. Doubtless, the major league young men are honest. They do not believe that one who has not been of them can lead them. The prima donna does not like to be told how to sing by an instructor, after she has become a prima donna. Yet once she had to learn.

Our guess is that the best man to hire to put at the head of a given job of work is one who has delivered on the same job. McCarthy has delivered at Louisville—and the man who comes through for Cap Neill comes through for one who demands results. He is quite likely to deliver for William Wrigley.

One of the most foolish criticisms that can be summed up is that of the major league leader who told the Dallas club Earl Snapp had made a fine leader of class D clubs, but he doubted if he could handle class A.

That same critic was a great class D ball player—and he made a great major leaguer, one of the greatest. But suppose his prospects of advancement had been killed because scouts thought he would not deliver higher up. As a matter of fact, they nearly were.

He should have remembered that.

WRIGLEY says he will shoot a million to put the Cubs over, necessarily. All he will have to do will be to shoot McGraw and McKechnie.

BASEBALL, says the old AP, puts bull fighters out of jobs in Mexico. What a reversal of form. It gets 'em jobs in these United States.

The Fight Game.

HOW times have changed! Once upon a time in the fight game all that was necessary was a pair of dukes, an opponent, a ring and a couple of friends to look out for the police.

Now when the gents of fistiana meet they have to have two managers, a promoter, a contract, six months of preparation, an utter willingness to do anything except fight, and a doctor's certificate that on the night of the encounter they were too sick to appear.

Far from being either burlesque or an attempt at humor, that statement can be accepted as a literal fact. Of the five leading contenders in any weight division you might name, not 30 per cent in the last two years have not had difficulties with state commissions over the appearance question. Try to figure 30 per cent.

And if they do fight, the loser has a busted mitt or had the flu.

Fighting used to be staged in a ring. Now it is a press agents game.

And the best one wins.

A PROPHET may demonstrate to his country that he has honor. But it is doubtful if Frank Bridges derives any pleasure out of saying, "I told you so."

BABE NOT HEARD FROM.

Babe Ruth, deep in the Maine woods, stalking deer, hasn't yet been heard from regarding the new home run clouting record of Tony Lazerre in the Pacific Coast League. Tony surpassed Ruth's mark by a single circuit blow when he made his sixtieth homer Sunday.

DYKES AND HOUSTON SWEEP GRANDFIELD TO 30-0 VICTORY OVER LITTLE HAWK MACHINE

The Grandfield eleven invaded the Iowa Park lair and came out with the long end of a 30 to 0 score Monday. The Hawks fought hard and consistently, but the Oklahome club was too heavy, and too much for the little squad coach R. E. Brester has gathered at Iowa Park. Despite the defeat the outstanding feature of the play was made by Burney, Iowa Park fullback. This youngster took a kickoff on his own 10-yard line and raced 76 yards to the Grandfield 14-yard marker.

Consistent gaining through the line by Houston, Dykes and Eversole, the Grandfield club battled through the first half. The Hawks gave them a great fight and at the close of the half of the score stood 6 to 0.

For the first touchdown Grandfield took a bunt on the Iowa Park 43-yard line and bucked through for a touchdown, Dykes taking the ball over the last white line.

Grandfield made another grand march up the field in the second quarter, but the whistle stopped activities with Grandfield bolding the ball on the Iowa Park 10-yard line.

A bad throw from the center in the third quarter resulted in another touchdown for the visitors. Hosch covered the ball and raced 35 yards to the goal. Late in the same quarter a long pass, Speckman to Clemmer, gave them a 35-yard gain for a touchdown.

Again in the final quarter Grandfield staged one of her marches down the field. Starting on the Iowa Park 40-yard line, they marched on over the goal with Houston giving it the final thrust. Later in the final period they again marched through and sent Houston over for the final score.

Five touchdowns were made, but none was followed by the free kick. The most consistent ground gainers for the Hawks were Burney and Enloe.

Wiggley, Fields and Beasley played a great defensive game for the Hawks.

Dykes and Houston made up the biggest part of the Grandfield ground, gaining. Smart, Miracle and Hosch were the outstanding stars on the defense for Grandfield.

Grandfield played their second string men in several places on the team. A tackle, end and a pair of backs were on the sidelines.

Iowa Park plays Bellevue Friday on the Iowa Park field. Coach Brewster announced before the game.

TRAMMEL WINS K O ROUTE ON ECRANBRACK

Monte Grabs Decision In Hard Mill With Sherrod

Duke Trammel, Fort Worth walloper, just as was predicted in these columns Monday morning by Lee Moore and "Wild Bill" Spencer, made quick work of Jack Erernbrack, Houston welter, in the main event of the American legion fight program last night at the Majestic theatre.

Trammel slammed the dream poke to Ercranbrack in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-rounder. A left hook to the mug followed by a right to the jaw were the finishing blows. The knockout could have come in the first round or any stage thereafter if Trammel had cared to push the milling.

Ercranbrack came from his corner crouching low in the opener. Trammel straightened him up with a series of southpaw hooks, nearly upsetting the Houston tin ear, and then heaved an overhand right flush to the cheek bone. Ercranbrack tottered drunkenly all over the ring. Duke stood back, waited a moment and then stepped in with a series of methodical punches that shook, but failed to upset the Bayou City sock absorber. The bell caught him in a bad way.

Monte Down Once.

The second frame was a duplicate. Trammel took his time, apparently sure of himself and not caring when the knockout came. He bopped Ercranbrack almost at will, swinging slowly and mechanically.

Ercranbrack went to the canvas twice in the third, all but out, took the nine count, and then came up gamely for more. It didn't matter, he managed to stick out the round, and struggled from his corner in the fourth heavy footed and groggy. Trammel pecked around easily, rattling short hooks and jabs to the head, and then suddenly followed a left at close quarters by whipping over a vicious right. Ercranbrack flattened. It was not necessary for Referee Mickey Savage to toll the count. He didn't.

Wildcat Monte, Wichita Falls feather, although knocked down in the second round by a hard swinging right served up by Johnny Sherrod of Fort Worth, came back and forced the fighting to earn a referee's decision in a ten-rounder slugfest.

Tommy Coming Back.

Johnny Walker kayoed Clarence Lawson in the second round of a scheduled four-rounder prelim.

Toughy Robertson, negro welter, was awarded the decision on a foul in the third round of a scheduled four-rounder with Sundown Kid who walloped his opponent while he was down.

There was a curtain raiser put on by a pair of little fellows.

Announcement was made Tommy White, Texas City welter and Wichita Falls favorite, will meet Elmer McMullen, Dodge City, Kan., miller here next Monday.

COTTON.

Frost in northwestern sections last ght. Official predictions of frost over l northern sections tonight and forecast smaller ginnings than expected were e chief factors in today's market. They duced quite a fair amount of covering the start but hedging was of good olume and supplied all the shorts needed d a little more.

There was some selling on the bulge wing to the smallness of outside buy- g but selling was not aggressive owing possibility of frost damage tonight. rices dropped about 15 points around e middle of the session as a result of is selling, but came back in the after- oon and closed with a net gain of 11 e 15 points.

The late buying was due to forecasts ginnings of 9,303,000 by a private reau and wires telling of falling tem- ratures in the northwest.

Such ginnings as predicted are consid- rably smaller than expected as they in- cate only 2,176,000 ginned for the per- d against 3,088,000 for same period year ago.

The weight of sentiment still leans to e selling side but sellers are not likely become aggressive until danger of frost past.

STOCKS.

A stormy first hour today, then a little clearing of the atmosphere. The motors were the chief sufferers. Today railroads profitted from the abandonment of the motors. Traders turned to this group as opportunities minus the big risk in the industrials. Attention has been called to the fact that speculation in the industrials has been carried to the point of danger. It is up to each individual to do as he thinks best, but it seems that the wise course is to recognize the danger of over-speculation and to get away from the overbulled industrial and seek the opportunities that are plentiful in rails and oils that have been practically neglected for a lon gtime.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Another sharp reaction in the motor shares and a sustained investment demand for the rails, the general average of which touched the highest level since the war, were the outstanding characteristics of today's confused stock market. Total sales fell just short of 2,600,000 shares, compared with 2,705,600 on Friday, which were the largest in nearly twenty years.

Convulsive movements characterized the trading in motor shares. There was a large accumulation of week-end buying orders in these issues, the execution of which ran prices up one to five points. The buying soon exhausted itself and bear traders launched another vicious attack against that group. General Motors fell ifrom 131½ to 130¾. Fisher Body from 115 to 108. Hudson from 97¾ to 91. Studebaker from 63¼ to 59, and Dodge from 43¼ to 37⅞. A subsequent rally wiped out part of the earlier losses. General Motors closing at 124¼ for a net loss of 2⅝. Fisher Body at 109½ for a net loss of ½; Hudson at 93⅝, off 2¾; Studebaker at 60¼, off 3⅛ and Dodge at 30, off 2. Mack Trucks were independently strong, closing nearly 10 points higher at 220⅝.

Meanwhile, there was persistent accumulation of the rails. New York Central was run up three points to 127¾, the highest price in 15 years. Louisville and Nashville jumped over five points to 124¾, also a new top, and Atchison, Atlantic Coast line, Baltimore and Ohio, Jersey Central, Lackawanna, Kansas City Southern, "Katy" preferred, "Nickel Plate," New Haven, Norfolk and Western and Reading showed net gains of 2 to 5 points. Buying of these issues was based on reports of high current earnings and speculative expectations of higher dividends.

The general industrial list developed market irregularity. American Can soared 7½ points to 245 and Associated Dry Goods, Foundation Company, International Paper, Frank G. Shattuck, Worthington Pump and Wright Aero closed 2 to 4 points higher. In addition, a few issues such as Marland Oil, Howe Sound, American Safety Razor and Tide Water Oil preferred were pushed to new high prices or the year.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Material setbacks in the value of wheat today accompanied reports that Canadian weather conditions permitted threshing to be resumed in parts of the territory where work has of late been at a standstill. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 1¾ to 2¼ net lower, new style, December $1.45⅝ to $1.45⅝ and May $1.42½ to $1.42⅝, with corn three-fourth to one cent down, oats ⅛ to ¼ and ⅜c off and lard 17 to 30c lower, whereas other provisions were unchanged to 50c higher.

Corn and oats receded with wheat, and as a result of colder weather favorable for conditioning the corn crop. Country offerings of new corn to arrive were small.

Selling to realize profits weakened the lard market. Ribs were offered sparingly.

GRAINS.

Wheat—Failure of Liverpool to reflect strength in our wheat market on Saturday restricted buying power today, but did not produce any important selling. The unavailability of immediate supplies is shown in all markets by the relative differences between the December and the more deferred deliveries. in Minneapolis, December and May are same price, in Chicago December is 3 cents higher, and in Kansas City six cents over May, while Winnipeg where the olad of cash is supposed to be burdensome, the October delivery is 5 cents over December.

We believe that all depressions should be accepted as buying opportunities on theories that importing countries must soon turn to North America for supplies.

Coarse Grains—These markets continue without individuality being simply a minor reflection of the action of wheat. Offerings of old corn from country were reported slightly larger, but little if any of the new crop is being sold.

There is nothing in the new or trade to suggest advancing prices.

THIMBLE THEATRE —By Segar

Two marriage licenses were issued Monday by the county clerk. They went to R. L. Heath and Miss Maude Estelle Simms, both of Wichita Falls; and Murl Sprinell and Miss Daisy Williams, both of Iowa Park.

Mrs. Belle Wisdom of Houston arrived Monday in this city to attend business matters here.

Dr. Walter J. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church, south, returned last night from Greenville, where he attended the yearly conference of the North Texas conference of Methodist Episcopal churches. He came back by way of Sherman where he visited his daughters who are in Kidd-Key college this winter.

The Business and Professional Women's club will hold their regular weekly meeting at the Y. W. C. A. this evening at 6:30 o'clock. The entertainment program will be furnished by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pitman.

W. J. Stewart, 65, of Holliday was brought to the general hospital in this city late Monday afternoon from his home in a Hines ambulance. The aged man had fallen earlier in the day and broken his hip.

Theatres

For eleven long years a wronged wife waits patiently for her erring husband's return. When she sees him again he is the husband of another. She tries to nurse him back to health. When he dies she cares for the other widow, her rival, and the late husband's little son. These are some of the developments in the story of "Tides of Passion," the new Vitagraph photoplay, which comes to the Mission theatre today.

It's a powerful story, as this brief outline indicates. The injured wife, in showing herself the most forgiving of creatures, even imperils her life to save that of the woman who wronged her. But it wasn't that she was namby-pamby, for she was nothing of the sort, but a person of extraordinary force of character. It's just that the story itself develops situations which make these manifestations natural, for all they are extraordinary.

Mae Marsh, starring in the production, impersonates the heroine, and, from all accounts, gives a marvelous characterization. J. Stuart Blackton, who made the picture for Vitagraph, surrounded her with an excellent cast, so all the strength and power in the story are brought out impressively in the picturization. With the coming of this superior attraction picture-goers are promised a rare treat.

At last the South Sea Islands have been brought to the screen in a completely enchanting and effective story; "Never the Twain Shall Meet," adapted from Peter B. Kyne's novel of the same name, beginning at the Strand today.

Picturized in the South Sea Islands, "Never the Twain Shall Meet" brings to the screen a note of realism and a series of gorgeously beautiful backgrounds that vie with any ever recorded by the motion picture camera. Tahiti and Moorea are used as the South Sea Island backgrounds for this torrid story of love, romance and adventure. As Tamea, the half-caste princess, Anita Stewart has an unusual opportunity to portray the various facets of a dual nature—the passionate and stormy temperament of her native mother and the more civilized and reserved disposition of her French father.

The Island Spell.

Bert Lytell has the role of the American youth who is lured away from his ambitious and civilized mode of living by the bewitching Tamea, only to be compelled to return to his former state of life by the knowledge that a continuance of his lazy existence in the islands will spell destruction to his moral and physical nature.

Huntly Gordon, as the newspaper man, does exceptionally interesting work in a difficult role, while Justine Johnstone, as a beautiful young woman of society, has a splendid opportunity for depicting a highly polished interpretation.

Lionel Belmore a Hit.

Special mention should be made of the work of Lionel Belmore, whose role of Tamea's father is one of the outstanding characterizations of the year. Combining a semi-humorous situation with a tragic incident, Belmore accomplished the almost impossible on the screen in bringing to his portrayal a stoicism and philosophical understanding of the native Tahitian and the temperamental qualities of the wellbred Frenchman. Others in the cast who give adequate performances are George Siegmann, William Norris, Emily Fitzroy, Florence Turner, Ernest Butterworth, Princess Mariede Bourbon and James Wang.

Maurice Tourneur, who directed the production, adds another triumph to his long list of successes. He has overlooked no opportunity to make the picture one of interest from start to finish. Eugene Mullin adapted the story to the screen and Joseph Urban designed the lavish interior decorations.

"Never the Twain Shall Meet" is a Cosmopolitan picture, distributed by Metro-Goldwyn.

Reception Is Held For Dr. Johnson

An informal reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Johnson last night at their home, 906 Tenth, honoring Dr. Johnson on his return to this city as pastor of the First Methodist church, south.

A group of friends met the train last night when Dr. Johnson returned from the conference at Greenville and accompanied him to his home. A fine spirit of co-operation was exhibited by the members who welcomed his return.

Mrs. Dudley W. Moore of Tulsa, Okla., arrived here with Dr. Johnson, her father, and will visit her parents here for several days.

KIWANIANS IN UNIQUE PARTY MONDAY NIGHT

"Ladies Night" Observed At Country Club With Dinner and Dance

Wives, daughters and sweethearts of Kiwanis were entertained in a unique party last night at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club when they, with James L. Powell of Muskogee, Okla., immediate past governor of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis district, were guests of honor at "Ladies' night." Dancing followed the program of the evening.

Preceding the address, given by Mr. Powell, a delightful program of a variety of numbers was presented by J. L. Jackson, Jr., chairman of the program committee. Misses Juel and Adele Ray, two well known local artists, were introduced. They sang "See the Pale Moon" (Campana), and answered the applause of the audience by singing a popular song entitled, "Suppose I Had Never Met You." Accompaniments were played by Mrs. F. R. Collard.

Miss Zona Marie Ehlert, talented young dancer, appeared in a solo dance, "The French Ballet," which was appreciated.

The "Maskat Chanters" came in for their shade of popularity in the entertaining features of the evening.

"Kiwanis believes in the golden rule and Kiwanis stands for the golden rule," Mr. Powell declared in his talk on the "Ideas of Kiwanis."

"The organization stands for solidarity of purpose, Kiwanis believes in the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man and the laboring man. The problems of each are believed in by all."

White Hospital Fund $26,000

Reports were made Monday at noon that $26,000 for the necessary $50,000 of six per cent first mortgage bonds had been sold for the construction of the sanitarium of Dr. Frank S. The meeting was called by the chairman of the special committee of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, J. C. Mytinger. Another luncheon meeting will be called at the Kemp hotel Monday noon for final reports.

$7,000 Outstanding In Welfare Pledges

Approximately $7,000 are outstanding on pledges to the United Charities of Wichita Falls, and unless these pledges are paid, the welfare organizations will fall short of the amount allowed them in their budget, Mrs. E. B. Gorsline, Jr., secretary of the Municipal Welfare board, said yesterday.

The secretary expects to close the books within the next 30 days, and if collections do not come in rapidly, the secretary will be compelled to make personal calls.

"I feel sure that those who have not paid their subscriptions have done so because they simply forget them, rather than any other reason," Mrs. Gorsline said.

Kells Go for Trip Through East

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kell have gone to New York where they will meet their daughter, Miss Sybil Kell, who is returning from a several months' visit in Europe. Mr. Kell will also be in Washington where he will make a plea before President Coolidge and Andrew Mellon of the United States treasury department for the repeal of the federal inheritance tax law.

Millions Die Of Indigestion

Most Common, Yet Insidious of Fatal Disease, Strikes Like Lightning and When Least Expected.

Protect yourself by strengthening your digestive organs with Ferraline—then eat what you please without trouble.

Nature, with her infinite wisdom, has provided in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of that dreaded disease—Indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which Nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs of digestion.

Indigestion and weak blood march hand-in-hand. No dyspeptic can have pure rich blood until his digestion is made perfect again. Stomach disorders always weaken the blood and weak blood causes anaemia, weakness and nervousness.

If you have had warnings of Indigestion do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be misled into believing that heartburn, gas, bloating, constipation, biliousness, sick stomach, heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. These are danger signals warning you that the dread disease Indigestion, is gradually sapping your very life. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. A 10-day's treatment of Ferraline will cost you only One Dollar at your druggists.—Adv.

Have You Too Much "Acid?"

A TIRED, achy, listless feeling is a common sign of sluggish kidneys and excess uric acid. This subtle body-poison causes many mysterious aches and ills. One feels tired, is lame and stiff, obliged to get up at night and has other annoying kidney irregularities. The back aches; there are headaches and dizzy spells; one feels nervous and depressed.

Don't risk serious sickness! Assist the kidneys to more active elimination by drinking plenty of water, eating less heavy foods and using Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands in similar cases. Ask your neighbor!

Here Is Wichita Falls Proof:

Mrs. Jno. Woodhouse, 1103 Travis street, says: "My kidneys acted irregular and I had headaches and dizzy spells. If I stooped, spots came before my eyes, blurring my sight. I felt weak and had a tired feeling all the time and at times I had a dull pain in my back. After using Doan's Pills I was cured of the attack."

Commissioners Call For Bridge Bids

Bids have been called for and will be opened Nov. 23 for the construction of a new bridge across the Wichita river west of the city. The county commissioners court Monday morning instructed County Auditor Walsh to advertise for the bids and call them in on Nov. 23.

The bridge agitation for which has been voiced at some length lately, will provide another means of crossing from the city proper onto the Iowa Park and Electra road. It will materially shorten the distance to Iowa Park for residents of the western part of town who are now forced to drive in at least as far as Burnet Street before they can get across the river.

Wallace Revival Runs This Week

Services which are being conducted at the First Church of Christ by Rev. Foy E. Wallace, evangelist, will be continued through this week, according to the minister, Rev. L. S. White.

Three services will be held Sunday, one beginning at 11 o'clock, another at 3:30 and the last one at 7:30 o'clock, when the series of meetings will be closed.

"The services are fine," Rev. White declared yesterday. "The largest audience ever assembled in the church during its history was present Sunday morning."

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 809-M Marcellus avnue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.
