Family Battle Rages In Long's Hearing

GALVESTON (AP)— Louisiana Gov. Earl Long's court bid for freedom from a Texas mental clinic exploded into a family battle today.

District Judge J. D. Godard opened the habeas corpus hearing at 10:16 a.m. The hearing resulted from Long's petition that he was removed from his mansion in Baton Rouge, La., three weeks ago under heavy sedation, shackled hand and foot.

The 63-year-old governor's wife signed papers committing her husband to John Sealy Hospital. She claimed he was menfally and physically exhausted.

Long's flight here in a Louisiana National Guard plane followed a blowup by the governor during legislative meetings.

As the hearing opened, Adrian Levy, spokesman for Long's three court-appointed attorneys, challenged the presence of attorneys for Mrs. Long. The governor's wife was not in the courtroom.

Theo Stubbs, who represented the governor's wife, claimed the habeas corpus proceeding was in defiance of a probate court order confining Long to the psychiatric clinic of John Sealy Medical Center.

The probate court on June 2 ordered Long confined to the hospital and later set a sanity hearing for the governor tomorrow.

Levy contended the question of Long's sanity had nothing to do with today's hearing—merely to decide if Long was removed from Baton Rouge against his will.

Long appeared chipper and calm as he arrived at the courthouse, wearing a tan straw hat, blue suit and two-tone shoes. Dr. Daniel Bobbitt, director of the hospital; an unidentified man and woman nurse accompanied the governor as police led them through a crowd.

Long shook hands with Associated Press correspondent James McLean from Baton Rouge and Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate. He told them he would try to meet with Louisiana reporters later.

He told McLean and Mrs. Dixon, "they chased you away last night, didn't they," referring to his shouting to them from his second floor hospital room.

"They led me here in handcuffs," he shouted to the two last night. Emile Comar of the New Orleans States Item and Bill Lynch of the Shreveport Times were with McLean and Mrs. Dixon at the time.

"They wanted to kill the loan shark bill," yelled Long. "They wanted to pass the sales tax. They wanted to kill my election bill."

The governor referred to the recent fiscal session of the Louisiana legislature. The loan-shark bill proposed a relatively minor change in the interest rate on small loans. The election bill was designed to change the state Democratic primary from Dec. 5 to 19. The sales tax Long mentioned was not an issue. The other two bills died.

Long said he would call a special session of the Legislature to revive the bills.

None of these measures stirred public interest. It was legislative opposition to Long's proposal to liberalize voting qualifications, which would have permitted more Negroes to vote, that sparked Long's tirade before a joint session of both houses of the Legislature.

Psychiatrists at John Sealy Hospital never have publicly classified Long's mental illness. The governor has indicated he was persecuted in that he was drugged at the mansion in Baton Rouge, strapped to a stretcher, hustled to an ambulance, and flown to Texas.

Long said Sunday in a taped interview "There never has been a man brutalized and handled — governor or no governor — like I've been handled."

They really wanted to run for governor themselves," Long said in a telephone interview with Shreveport, La., television station KTBS-TV. He named Sen. Russell Long (D-La.), his nephew, Blanche Long, his wife, and Raymond Hufft, Louisiana adjutant general.

Senator Long, son of the late Huey P. Long, has said he was considering running for governor, but he was waiting until the question of his uncle's health was clarified. Mrs. Long has disavowed any political ambitions. Hufft is not an announced candidate for governor.

Of his wife, Long said she is "the most jealous woman in Louisiana."

2 Snyder Men Die In Auto Accidents

Two Snyder men were killed in separate automobile accidents which occurred almost simultaneously yeaterday afternoon.

Two other men were injured.

LeRoy Jones, 3604 Avenue M, a 35-year-old Snyder Negro shoe shine man was killed at 5:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the car he was driving overturned in a cotton field seven miles north of Snyder on the Lubbock highway.

Billy Tom Burnett, 28, an oil-well driller, was killed at 5:56 o'clock yesterday afternoon about 10 miles south of Big Spring when the car in which he was riding left farm road 33. Riding with Burnett was John Tarleton, 27, also of Snyder. Tarleton was reported to be in good condition in Cowper Hospital in Big Spring.

With Jones in his 1957 Oldsmobile sedan was a hitchhiker who had been picked up in Post. He is Clifton Rozell, 2110 Sixth Street, Lubbock, a 64-year-old white man.

Jones' Car was traveling south on U. S. Highway 84, apparently at a high rate of speed, highway patrolmen Gordon Johnson and Will Cleveland, investigating officers, said.

They said the car went off the left shoulder of the road just after passing another car. Jones attempted to bring the car back onto the pavement, but it went out of control, plowed through a fence, and overturned two and one half times in a cotton field owned by Fickas Bell.

Both men were thrown from the car as it rolled.

Jones died at 7:58 o'clock last night in Cogdell Memorail Hospital. Rozell was listed as in good condition at the hospital. Both men were taken to the hospital by Bell ambulances.

The car was demolished.

Funeral arrangments are pending at Bell Funeral Home here for Jones.

Funeral services for Burnett are to be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Lamar Street Baptist Church, Sweetwater, with the pastor, the Rev. Leonard Hartley, officiating. Burial will be in Sweetwater Cemetery under direction of Patterson Funeral Home.

Burnett is survived by one daughter, Dawn Burnett, Sweetwater; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Burnett of Abilene one sister, Mrs. Linda Jo Callaway, Hobbs, N. M.; and one brother P. C. Burnett, Hamlin.

Jones was the shoe shine man at Gardner's Barber Shop just north of the square on Avenue S here.

Man Arrested In Burglary

A man was arrested here this morning in connection with the burglary last night of Industrial Supply Co., Lubbock highway.

Officers of the sheriff's department were investigating the burglary this morning. Reportedly, about $211 was taken.

The man arrested had not been charged with burglary by noon today.

Wayland Holt, district attorney, said the case will be considered by the grand jury, which is in session, today.

30 Persons Die Violently

By The Associated Press

At least 30 persons died violent deaths in Texas over the weekend.

Highway crashes took 11 lives. Nine drowned.

A Navy man, Don Snyder, 20, of Benton City, Wash., was killed by lightning Sunday while trolling in Corpus Christi Bay.

Curtis Lubanski, 14, of St. Hedwig, near San Antonio, died of injuries suffered when his scooter and a car collided.

Alton Kulezo, 12, of Adkins, riding on the scooter with the Lubanski youth was killed.

John Freeland, 65, of Blossom, was killed in the collision of his pickup truck and a car 12 miles east of Paris.

Mrs. Aldegunda Popoca Arizmendi, 27, and Mrs. Paula Salines Sierra, 49, both of Brownsville, died Sunday while fishing in the gulf below Brownsville.

Billy Brunett, 28, of Snyder, was killed Sunday when his car overturned south of Big Spring.

Youth Nabbed For Holding Up Church

ELLSWORTH, Maine (AP) — A 20-year-old youth faces arraignment today on charges that he held up a church gathering and kidnaped a girl who had spurned his love.

Police said Ronald Grant Jr., brandishing a .22 caliber pistol, terrorized a Young People's meeting Sunday night at the Brooklyn Baptist church, about 20 miles south of here.

They said he ordered a minister's wife to turn over her purse and then forced Nora Staples, 17, to leave with him in the Rev. Charles Fore's car.

A short time later, with state police in pursuit, the car smashed into a police roadblock at Orrington, 33 miles away.

"I just wanted to see how far we could get," police quoted Grant as saying. The girl suffered minor face cuts and was treated at a Bangor hospital.

Police said Grant, who was held without bail on charges of armed robbery and kidnaping, shot himself in the stomach some weeks ago after Nora turned down his marriage proposal.

Bookkeeping Bill Is Approved By Senate

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate today approved a bookkeeping bill written to bite a 28 million dollar chunk out of the general funds 67 million dollar deficit.

The measure permits the comptroller to count August revenue in August in figuring state income. It must return to the House where it was originally passed. The Senate amended it to remove legal snarls pointed out by the attorney general.

Passage of the bill was one step toward solution of the state's growing fiscal crisis.

Whether the state's money troubles can be disposed of before the session ends tomorrow still hangs in the balance. There are many points of disagreement between the House and Senate on how to do it.

The Senate voted 31-0 for the bookkeeping bill, part of Gov. Price Daniel's original deficit-erasing plan.

Sen. R. A. Weinert of Seguin said the conference committee on taxes has not yet agreed. He said he did not know whether it could.

Fresh but unofficial word from the appropriations conference was that it hoped to reach an agreement today. It is chiefly hung up on differences between the House and Senate on the Insurance Department.

Senators have long held a grudge against Commissioner William Harrison. They have been openly gunning for him throughout the regular and special sessions of the Legislature.

The Legislature faced a fast-approaching deadline and a clock on which time was steadily running out.

The session automatically ends at midnight tomorrow.

Senate emphasis on special sales taxes and House insistence on natural gas levies appeared to be a major bone of contention.

Weinert said the Senate conferees on the main, have supported the Senate version of the tax bill with a few additions. It is a bill that will raise sufficient money to take care of our spending and the deficit, a few million in excess of 200 million.

"The House is supporting House Bill 7.

"After our several meetings, we are not in agreement. I do not know if we will arrive in agreement," he said. "However, we will meet again on adjournment of the Senate and keep working."

Weinert said he wanted to give Senate members a progress report "no matter what appears in the paper about what some House member says."

"I can't tell you the House conferees will accept the Senate version.

"I have an idea the Senate will not accept House Bill 7 because we have already voted on that."

Conference committees worked long hours behind closed doors during the weekend. They produced no money-raising bill. The spending bill was not quite ready, they said.

"Tentative agreement" on spending was reportedly reached late yesterday.

But all reports of progress, of failure to make headway, of what the arguments were for and against any and all propositions, were second hand. They were obscured by the locked door policy of conference committees.

Shreds of information seeped out around cracks in the door. Some crept through the keyholes.

Some of it obviously was planted for propaganda purposes. Some was reliable.

The salient fact that stood out was that most of the members of the Legislature not included in the two ten-member conference groups got no firm information. They hoped to get some today.

The public which pays the tax bills and which benefits or suffers from the services financed by the Legislature, had to rely on partial information.

REV. EARL CRESWELL

Rev. Earl Creswell's Rites Today

The Rev. Earl F. Creswell, former pastor of the Northside Baptist Church, died at 6:45 a.m. yesterday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital here.

Rev. Creswell had suffered a heart attack at Levelland a week before and had been returned from a hospital there to Cogdell last Wednesday.

Funeral services were to be held at 4 p.m. today at the Northside Baptist Church, with the Rev. Bruce Hibbett, pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church of Corsicana, officiating, assisted by Dr. A. J. Kirkland, president of Texas Baptist Institute at Henderson. Burial will be in Snyder Cemetery under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Rev. Creswell was born Jan. 23, 1908, in Erath County. He entered the ministry in 1939 at Carroll. He came to Snyder from Ellis County and became pastor of the Northside church here Dec. 7, 1941, serving in the capacity until late in 1952, when he resigned because of ill health. He served for a time following that as educational director for the Mount Pleasant Baptist Church at Denison, where he had his membership at the time of his death. He had been living in Snyder recently, however, at 1812 Avenue T. He was a member of the local Masonic Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Creswell were married at Sanderson Oct. 13, 1930.

Pallbearers were to be Dave Houston, Marvin Smith, Joe York, Raymond Grimmett, Bill Grimmett, and Doug Burney.

Survivers include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Roy Collier of Hermleigh and Mrs. Robert Yates of Denison; two sons, Glenn Creswell of Albuquerque and Bill Creswell of Denison; five sisters, Mrs. J. B. Tate of Hermleigh, Mrs. R. B. Fairley of Carnes City, Mrs. M. R. Gladson of Knott, Mrs. E. F. Fikes of Snyder and Mrs. Edmond McCombs of Rotan; four brothers, C. E. Creswell of Snyder, T. L. Creswell of Kenedy, the Rev. Bob Creswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Hermleigh, and A. B. Creswell of Levelland.

Grand Jury Picked For June-July Term

Work was begun at about 9:30 a.m. today by the June-July Scurry County grand jury.

The grand jury had about nine cases to consider while in session this time.

Chosen for the grand jury were O. M. Martin, foreman, Glenn Foster, T. B. Scrivner, Fickas Bell Russell Jones, Jr., C. V. Thompson, Jr., W. T. Layfield, G. C. Brumley, Bernard Longbotham, Jr., Bill Schiebel, John Lynch and Tom Shelburne.

West Warns Reds Berlin Action Due

GENEVA (AP) — The West warned the Soviet Union today, with the Big Four conference entering its sixth week, that the time has come for decisive action on the crucial issue of Berlin.

Some Western diplomats said the conference will end this week unless the Soviet Union does some retreating.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, returning here from weekend consultations in London, declared the Geneva negotiations cannot go on indefinitely. He expressed some hope that an understanding on Berlin might yet be reached, but left no doubt that in his view the talks here have reached the point of action.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter conferred with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville in midday and they arranged to meet Lloyd in a strategy session aimed at maintaining the Western solid front in dealing with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

U.S. officials said that if Gromyko came up with no new ideas today, the Western powers would expect the talks to go on for probably two more meetings.

Western diplomats still talked of some compromise which would lift the immediate Soviet threat to West Berlin and shelve the Gromyko's proposed new one-year time limit on the Western occupation.

Diplomatic sources in Moscow said they believed premier Nikita Khrushchev and the Soviet Communist party Presidium were drafting new instructions for Gromyko. One diplomatic source predicted that the Geneva conference would end in an agreement preserving the Berlin "status quo with face savers on both sides."

The Western foreign ministers apparently vary in their determination to break off negotiations if Gromyko does not modify his position. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain was reported to be far more interested in continuing negotiations than are U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Opening the sixth week of the conference, the Big Four were to meet in secret session at Couve de Murville's villa this afternoon.

At the last meeting Friday, Gromyko said his one-year deadline proposal was not an ultimatum. But he called for agreement on a summit conference even if there is no accord on Berlin.

Lloyd returned from a weekend in London, apparently with instructions from Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to stick to a strategy of firmness and patience.

The possibility of a compromise seemed to depend on whether the Soviet government would shelve its threat to hand over control of the Berlin supply lines to East Germany while prolonged negotiations over Germany and related European issues take place.

The Western powers in return could be expected to agree to trim the size of their 10,000-man garrison in West Berlin, to curtail propaganda and spy activities from there against the Communist bloc, and to agree to a ban on nuclear weapons in Berlin.

The next big forum of negotiations then would be a summit conference, probably in September, with the prospect of more foreign minister and summit meetings to follow as progress warranted.

Plans Okayed For Hospital Addition

Plans for addition to Cogdell Memorial Hospital were approved by the county hospital board and commissioner's court this morning, and will now be submitted to the state health department and federal government for approval.

The firm of Leonard F. Crockett and Associates, architects and engineers, Odessa, were paid a portion of the fee due them for the plans, and were asked to make some minor changes.

The architects estimated cost at $400,000 for the 55-bed addition and alerations necessary to the present plant.

Several alternates were included in the plans to provide methods of keeping the bids within the $500,000 available for the project. The federal government recently approved $250,000 for participation in the cost of the addition.

Cogdell Memorial Hospital presently has 50 beds.

The plans include a two-story addition to the present plant, new operating room, a new nurse call system for the entire hospital, individual room controlled heating and air conditioning, and an elevator in the two-story addition.

The elevator is one of the alternates, which might be eliminated or altered if costs prove too high when bids are submitted.

The hospital board and commissioner's court approved payment of $7,500 as a portion of the architects fee for the plans. The fee is estimated to total $20,000, and $5,000 had been paid previously. Actually $15,000 was due to have been paid when the plans were approved by the board and court, but the architect left a $2,500 retainer to assure approval of the plans by the state and federal agencies.

In the joint meeting of the board and court, the motion for board approval was made by Pat Falls, and was seconded by Sam Chorn. The motion for the court's approval was by Pat Moore, and second by T. B. Knight. Both bodies voted unanimous approval.

Members of the board are Pat Falls, Hugh Taylor, Sam Chorn, M. L. Wilson, Lester Moore, Weldon Key and Dawson Moreland.

Railroaders Bidding For More Money

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The 90,000-member Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today asked the nation's railroads for a 14 per cent wage increase.

H. E. Gilbert, international president, said the brotherhood's general committees served the wage notices on individual railroads. The union also seeks a revised escalator clause and improvement in daily earnings guarantees for all road service engineers and firemen.

Gilbert said the productivity of rail workers, coupled with technological improvements in the industry, entitle the workers to a fare share of what he termed "mounting and significant profit figures in the industry."

Crewmen Rescued From Flaming Ship

LONDON (AP)—A crew of 98, including 10 Americans, was rescued 500 miles out in the Atlantic today when fire swept a British cable-laying ship.

The ship, the Ocean Layer, was completing the first telephone cable linking the United States directly with the European continent.

Hours after the rescue by the Hamburg-bound German freighter Flavia, the Ocean Layer was still burning.

The 10 Americans picked up were employes of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., supervising the cable laying. Among them was Ogden D. Gensemer, 50-year-old mayor of Summit, N.J., in charge of the operation for AT&T.

The 4,534-ton Ocean Layer was stringing cable along the ocean-bed toward France when a fierce blaze broke out in her engine room. Within 15 minutes after an SOS asking for help, Capt. A. MacPherson Ross reported he had been forced to order the crew to take to lifeboats.

In the scramble, two men were left aboard the flame-swept hulk. But they were spotted by lookouts aboard the 5,326-ton Flavia in time and were taken off by small boat.

The sea was calm and there was no word that anybody had been injured.

Capt. Ross did not report the cause of the fire.

The cable being laid is part of a $40-million project underwritten by AT&T, and by the government-owned telephone services of West Germany and France.

Scheduled to go into service next fall, the new cable also is intended for service between the United States and Switzerland, Belgium, Netherlands, Spain and Italy.

An AT&T spokesman in New York said efforts were being made to obtain a ship to replace the Ocean Layer, the world's second largest cable-laying ship.

Lack Of Brutality Called Reason For Jury's Verdict

By HENDRIX CHANDLER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The jury which convicted four white youths for the mass rape of a Negro coed decided against the death penalty because there was no evidence of brutality, the jury foreman said Sunday night.

A. H. King, a Tallahassee plantation owner, described how the verdict was reached as an atmosphere of calm returned to Florida's capital city after weeks of tension.

King said that "on the basis of the testimony before us there was evidence of threats with a gun and knife but no brutality was involved."

The foreman said the case was decided on "the law and the evidence" without any consideration of race.

"We would have returned the same verdicts if the defendants had been four Negroes," King said.

Four Negroes are awaiting execution in the state prison for raping white women.

One Negro pastor said refusal of the all-white male jury to send the four to the electric chair would give Negroes charged with rape a double standard talking point at their trials.

Dr. A. Joseph Reddick, pastor of the Bethel Ame church and a former state president of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People, said it was his opinion the decision against a death penalty resulted from "ingrained prejudice by a white jury."

Reddick said the verdict represented some slight gain for Negroes, but not enough.

The four defendants appeared stunned by the verdict. They were whisked off to Raiford State Prison after the jury reported at 12:35 a.m. Sunday.

Tallahassee Negro ministers made references to the trial in their services. The Rev. David Brooks said prayers were offered for the coed and the four youths.

"We asked that God would lead them (the youths) to repent," he said.

All was quiet on the all-Negro Florida A&M University campus where the victim was a freshman. Passive demonstrations were staged by students there last month.

The four youths will remain at Raiford until their sentencing which is expected to take place in about 30 days. Motions for new trials must be disposed of and if they are disallowed Circuit Judge W. May Walker is expected to order pre-sentence investigations of the four.

Walker gave no hint of the penalties he will impose. Under Florida law he can go as high as life imprisonment or he could let them off with probation. State prisoners become eligible for consideration for parole after serving six months, but lifers convicted of rape habitually serve at least 10 years.

David Ervin Beagles, 18, a stocky sandy-haired high school senior, was the only defendant to register any emotion. Tears welled up in his eyes as he was led from the courtroom.

The others convicted are: Willion (Ted) Collinsworth, 23, an illiterate telephone linesman and father of two children; Patrick Gene Scarborough, 20, an Air Force man who is married but separated from his wife; and Ollie Stoutamire, a skinny pale-faced 16-year-old who was described by a state witness as being mentally retarded.

The jury returned with its verdict after 2 hours and 45 minutes deliberation.

RELAXES AFTER FIVE HOURS ON STAND—Ray Hamlin, right, the state's chief witness and special investigator for the sheriff's office in Tallahassee, Fla., relaxes after being on the witness stand for five hours during the trial of four white youths charged with raping a Negro college girl. The trial went into a night session with Hamlin detailing confessions reportedly made by the men. With Hamlin is State Highway Patrol Capt. A. D. Casson in charge of the heavy security during the trial. (AP Wirephoto)

LIBERACE'S BRAND

Perfume Smellier Than Antiseptic

LONDON (AP) — A witness in Liberace's libel suit testified today the American entertainer's perfume — or toilet water — was more powerful than the antiseptic applied to a wasp sting.

It was the fifth day of the pianist's court action against the Daily Mirror and its columnist William N. Connor. He claims they implied he is a homosexual in an article in 1956.

Peter Stephens, chief of the Mirror's Paris bureau, testified Liberace had a highly cosmetic smell about him when they met at Le Bourget Airport in September 1956.

Liberace had just been stung by a wasp and the airport first aid station had applied a powerfully odorous antiseptic to the wound, Stephens said he could still smell what he took to be perfume, and asked Liberace what kind he was wearing.

Stephens testified he said it was American toilet water.

"Was the perfume noticeable?" asked Neville Faulks, one of the Mirror's lawyers.

"Very. In fact it overpowered the antiseptic."

"Was there any further discussion of perfume?"

"Yes. Mr. Liberace told me he had heard they made very good perfume in France and he intended to buy some."

On cross-examination Liberace's chief counsel, Gilbert Beyfus, asked Stephens: "Most men who have wives, mothers or daughters are expected to buy perfume for them when in Paris?"

"Yes."

"But you immediately assumed the worst and thought he was going to buy perfume for himself?"

"That was the impression I got."

Both the Mirror and Connor — whose pen name is Cassandra — have denied they intended to imply that Liberace was a homosexual.

Support Given Red Medical Equipment

CLEVELAND (AP) — Soviet scientists may be going around the United States this year showing off medical equipment which a Cleveland industrialist hopes will find approval here.

H. James Rand, head of Rand Development Corp., called one device "a completely new approach to suturing." Surgeons who now sew patients back together by hand will find the suturing device will do the job much faster—with staples—said Rand.

Rand expects to have the Soviet scientists demonstrate their equipment at U. S. medical schools. If the surgical stapler and another device, a machine which puts a person to sleep with electricity, pass that test, Rand Development will exercise an option to import the "know-how."

Rand said he paid the Soviets $30,000 last week for a nine-month option, and must pay another $50,000 to exercise the option and bring the designs to this country. After that, Rand Development would pay the Soviets $50,000 a year for 10 years. Rand said his firm, primarily a research organization, would arrange for manufacture, sharing profits on a percentage basis.

The suturing device can be used on blood vessels and nerves as well as on body tissue. One operation in which it is extremely useful, Rand said, is the removal of a large section of stomach where cancer has spread.

The device has been used by Soviet doctors to replace a man's leg amputated in an accident, Rand said. U. S. doctors sent to the U.S.S.R. by Rand came back "with enthusiastic reports" on the device.

The sleep machine would be useful before surgery and also in the treatment of psychoses, "where you want to tranquilize the patient over a long period of time," he declared.

The machine induces physiological sleep by passing low frequency electrical currents through the head. After the patient is asleep, Rand said, local anesthetic would be used before operating.

Millhollon Rites Are Held Today

Funeral services were held here at 2 p.m. today for Dillon McCelvy (Sam) Millhollon of Big Spring, former Snyder resident, who died at 9:15 a.m. Saturday in Veterans Hospital at Big Spring.

A native of Scurry County, he had lived here until moving to Big Spring two years ago. He was a disabled veteran of World War II. He was born Jan. 12, 1910, in Scurry County.

Funeral services were held at the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ with Glen Pace minister, officiating, assisted by Dale Brooks, minister of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ. Burial was in the Ira Cemetery under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Jim Hartley of Big Spring, Bill Llewallen of Snyder, Aubrey Huddleston of Snyder, Glen Russell of San Angelo, James Hall of Brownfield and Leroy Wright of Big Spring.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Verah Millhollon of Snyder, four sisters, Mrs. C. M. Hicks of Roswell, N. M., Mrs. E. H. Burdett of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Mrs. D. M. Kelly of Snyder, Bill Pagan of Midland, three brothers, Homer Millhollon of Gallup, N.M., Pat Millhollon of Brownwood and E. T. Millhollon of Lovington, N. M., as well as a number of nephews and nieces living in this area.

Deer, Car Collide

ENGELWOOD, Colo. (AP) — A deer broke up a quilt Sunday drive for Charles J. Smith.

The animal landed squarely on the hood of Smith's car, broke the windshield, then limped off. A patrolman located the injured deer and killed it.

Four Dead In Georgia Gun Battle

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A Florid. businessman, his two children and a policeman were dead today as the result of a gun battle. Officers said the businessman, James Hofer, 34, killed the children.

Detective Edgar F. Beazley said officers were called to the home of the parents of Hofer's estranged wife after Hofer crashed through the living room window with a .38 caliber revolver in his hand.

The first officers at the scene were Sgt. Sumter Lewis and veteran patrolman Joe Reynolds, 48.

They were told that Hofer was upstairs with his wife, Dorothy Bailey Hofer, and their children Vicky Ann Hofer, 4, and Katherine Hofer, 2.

Beazley said the officers could hear Hofer and his wife talking in an unlighted bedroom. There was no sound from the children. Reynolds apparently opened the door, shined his flashlight at Hofer, and saw that he had a gun.

The officer shot Hofer, who fell to the floor. Reynolds walked over to him, and was within an arm's length from the fallen man when Hofer shot the officer. Lewis began to exchange shots with Hofer, but could only shoot at Hofer's gun flashes. Meanwhile, Mrs. Hofer fled.

Lewis ran out of ammunition and went downstairs to call an ambulance for Reynolds and get more bullets. At least 10 more officers had arrived.

Police heard the children talking with their father, who was firing constantly while Lewis was downstairs. When he and the other officers got upstairs, the children and Hofer were dead. One of the girls was found at Hofer's feet.

When the shooting had started Mrs. Hoefer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bailey, fled the white frame two-story home.

Beazley said Hofer rented a car in Atlanta Sunday and drove 174 miles to Augusta, where he had been arrested previously on charges of disturbing the peace in disputes with his wife.

In April Hofer had been charged with kidnapping his wife in Florida while she was on the way to Pensacola, where he lived, for a divorce hearing there.

Conference Attended By Snyder Teacher

J. C. Jackson, Snyder High School industrial cooperative training coordinator, attended a Texas trade and industrial teachers leadership development conference last week at Austin.

Jackson was one of 20 teachers selected for the meet, which was at the University of Texas. The conference was made possible through a grant from the Sears Foundation.

Group discussion leaders were M. L. Barlow, University of California at Los Angeles, vocational education division director; Earl M. Bowler of Washington, D. C., U. S. Office of Education trade and industrial education assistant director; and A. J. Edwards, University of Texas Division of Extensinn training specialist.

Government Aid To Rebels Is Probed

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza's regime today sought proof for the Organization of American States that the young socialites who tried to topple his regime got substantial help from other Latin American governments.

Somoza's aides stepped up their efforts after the government staged a triumphal parade through the capital Sunday in a show of confidence that the small-scale, two-week-old revolt was over.

Officials announced, however, that further invasion attempts by Nicaraguan exiles might be made in the near future. This belief gave urgency to the charges and hre Tuesday.

The almost bloodless coup appeared to have sputtered out with the surrender of 16 rebel holdouts who were ambushed by National Guardsmen Saturday night when they sought to buy food in a village.

The exhausted, hungry men, most of them members of prominent Nicaraguan families, were led by Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, scion of a prominent publishing family and former editor of the newspaper La Prensa. Forty-six others had given up earlier in the week.

Somoza's brother, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, commander of the country's armed forces, charged that Cuba and Venezuela probably would help 75 other Nicaraguans now training in Honduras for an invasion attempt.

Chamorro and his bedraggled group of holdouts were brought into Managua before dawn Sunday and hauled before Gen. Somoza.

Refusing to address them directly, he ordered them to about face, then delivered a 15-minute tongue-lashing.

He said later the surrender had marked the "end of a would-be attempt by these nonsensical kids to emulate Fidel Castro."

The government says the original invasion force of about 100 men has dwindled to fewer than two dozen stragglers, wandering about the Nicaraguan jungle in isolated groups. About 17 rebels were killed or wounded.

Somoza has said those captured will be tried for treason. The maximum penalty is nine years imprisonment.

The victory parade celebrating the end of the revolt brought a show of popular support for Somoza. A huge crowd jammed the capital's narrow streets applauding the troops, as air force planes zoomed overhead.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.® At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Spiritualists In Convention

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A former Navy officer who tells of spirit visitations from Abraham Lincoln and Alexander Hamilton presides here today over a convention of U.S. spiritualists.

The International General Assembly of Spiritualists is holding its 22nd annual meeting, and they are particularly concerned that the public realize they are not crystal gazers or gypsy card readers.

The presiding office is a tall erect and distinguished gentleman of 65. He isn't exactly the kind of fellow you would figure to be the national leader of spiritualists.

The Rev. Fred Jordan of Norfolk, Va., is a retired lieutenant commander of the U.S. Navy. He was the Navy's heavyweight boxing champion in 1915. And during his long career he became noted as a torpedo specialist.

He says that 34 years ago he received a remarkable manifestation in which the spirit of Abraham Lincoln told him to become the leader of the spiritualist movement. The Rev. Mr. Jordan has worked at it ever since. As with most spiritualist ministers (they are ordained and officiate at weddings and funerals) he is a practicing medium.

State B&PW Talks For Equal Rights

TYLER (AP)—The Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs spoke up yesterday for equal rights for women. The group said the Texas Constitution should be amended to guarantee this.

The federation picked Houston for its 1960 convention.

Installed as president at yesterday' final convention session was Mrs. Hermine Toblowsky, Dallas, president. She succeeds Miss Mary M. Ryan, McAllen.

Large patterns used in controversial chemise dresses call for simpler jewelry or just earrings. Perhaps this explains an increased interest in neckchains with a simple drop of a cultured round pearl or rhinestone ball for interest.

Now's Time To Divide Those Mums

LUBBOCK—Now's the time for the division and planting of chrysanthemums to make yards and gardens brighter in the fall, a Texas Tech horticulturist advises.

Ed Zukauckas, assistant professor of horticulture to Tech, reminds gardeners that purchased seedlings or divided mums may be set out from June 10 to almost the end of July with success.

"Planting now," he said, "will give the average South Plains homeowner and gardener an opportunity to have mums ready to enter in Tech's Fall Horticultural Festival slated Oct. 17-18."

Many of the better Tech-tested mum varieties are now available at Lubbock plant dealers, he added.

Based on the large number of inquiries about varieties seen last year in the Tech trial beds, Zukauckas predicts a great number of gardeners will be planting mums this summer. Undivided chrysanthemum plants should have been cut back at least once by this time, he said.

Mums in the chrysanthemum trial gardens this year will be from divisions planted in the next week. Cuttings are slated for planting later this month.

"This year the Tech mum trial beds will have approximately 150 previously untested varieties. These have been added to the 40 to 50 more outstanding varieties grown in past years," the horticulturist said.

He said the trial area has been enlarged and changed so the plants will be in more typical garden-like beds.

New varieties of petunias, to be introduced next year, are being planted in the area between the green house wings. Interested gardeners are invited to visit the trial areas.

For Those Who Have Eaten Everything

LOS ANGELES (AP) — How about a luncheon of quail eggs, shark fins, reindeer steak and caterpillars?

Or perhaps lily bulbs and grasshoppers broiled in butter?

These and other unusual foods are on exhibit at a wholesale market fair that opened Sunday at a downtown hotel.

On display are exotic snacks from all over the world — hams soaked in whisky, candies, caviar, cheeses, pink beer, and grasshoppers.

"These," confided the fair manager, Ted Dohl, pointing to a plate of the broiled insects, "are for people who have eaten everything."

"Taste and correct" is a phrase used in recipes prepared by and for commercial restaurateurs. Homemakers also pause to "taste and correct" when preparing an unfamiliar dish. Frequently the simple addition of a little more seasoning will win high compliments for a dish that might have been a failure.

Chevy Gives You Smarter Style Today...
FOR HIGHER TRADE-IN TOMORROW!
Don't take it from us—take it from independent experts and from facts and figures that are now a matter of record. POPULAR SCIENCE sums up Chevy's unmistakably modern style this way: "The fact is, in its price class Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." This is one more reason your new Chevrolet will bring a higher allowance at trade-in time, as Chevy has over the years. A look at last year's "used car prices" shows Chevrolet averaged up to $128 more than comparable models of the other leading low-priced two.
*Based on official Guide Book figures of the National Automobile Dealers Association.
PLUS 5 MORE BIG BESTS OVER ANY OTHER CAR IN CHEVROLET'S FIELD!
Best Brakes. Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in repeated highway speed stopping tests conducted by NASCAR.* And no wonder. Chevrolet's brakes, built for up to two-thirds longer lining life, are the biggest in the low-price field.
*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.
Best Engine. Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."
Best Economy. No doubt about this: a pair of Chevrolet sixes came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car.
Best Room. Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.
Best Ride. A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

Fishing Trouble

THE SAN ANGELO STANDARD

You may think that recognition of Red China is a burning issue before the United Nations. Actually, it's not. Right now the big thing is recognition of the herring as a member of the sardine family.

When scientists meet in Rome this September to talk about the biology of the sardine, under sponsorship of the U. N.'s Food and Agriculture Organization, they don't plan to include the herring.

This decision may not create much of a stir in La Paz, Bolivia, but up in Maine it's brewed a storm. For Maine each year packs about two million cases of herring-type sardines. And the state's Sardine Council wants its sardines to have a place at the Rome conference table.

Council chairman Calvin Stinson got off a hot cable to the FAO.

We demand our just recognition and consideration, and will get it if we have to call a truly world-wide conference of our own.

It doesn't sound like a threat to be taken lightly. Before you know it we may have TWO sardine conferences on our hands. At the moment it's not even clear that we can bring off one successfully.

We just have to hope the Communists keep out of this. If they don't someone's sure to say the whole thing is a red herring.

Lutherans In East Germany Struggle

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — The Evangelical Lutheran church has begun a last-ditch fight for survival in East Germany.

Under mounting Communist attacks, the centralized authority of the old state church is crumbling.

The isolated local pastors, now the main guardians of the faith, carry the brunt of the struggle against Communist harrassment.

The satellite regime technically still recognizes the official status of the Evangelical faith, but is gnawing away at its foundations through atheist propaganda.

"The Christian is being turned into a second class citizen," says Bishop Otto Dibelius, titular head of the All-Germany church.

Fear of Communist persecution has dwindled church attendance at an accelerating rate over the last year. Most youngsters now undergo Communist consecration rites instead of church confirmation.

Church officials express confidence that Christianity will persist in East Germany, but they see the Communist vise inexorably tightening on the church itself.

The Catholic minority faces much the same problem.

The regime has made the Evangelical church its No. 1 domestic target. With 82 per cent of the 18 million East Germans born Evangelical, the church has ranked as the most influential and stubborn voice of freedom in the satellite.

"Today in carrying on our work in East Germany almost everything depends on the individual pastor," a responsible church official said.

"He must be ready to fight local injustices and ready to face up to Communist officials without reliance on his superiors for help.

"We have some very successful pastors of this kind. They have learned how to bypass the Communists. The church is surviving in their parishes."

Since the Reds set up their regime in 1949, only 200 pastors have left the country—75 without permission of the church. About 5,000 pastors remain, with some 1,000 parish posts vacant.

Outside of the church organization, a church official said, there are countless Christian cells—social groupings of perhaps 8 to 10 people—who keep the faith alive.

It is in the field of education that the church encounters the most serious Communist challenge.

When an East German youngster turns 14, he must choose between dedication to the state in a Communist ceremony or church confirmation.

Boys and girls who decline Jugendweihe — Communist consecration—have little chance of getting higher education or good jobs.

Under this kind of pressure, an estimated 80 per cent of eligible East German youngsters are undergoing Jugendweihe this year. This is double the number in 1958.

The Communists have not yet succeeded in completely splitting the East German branch of the church away from its West German wing.

But now about one-third of the church's hierarchy in East Germany feel they must cooperate with the Communists.

The regime has encouraged this trend by refusing to deal with the central offices of the church. State officials negotiate with East German clergymen and distribute revenues from church taxes only on a district or local level.

Many church officials see this dismemberment of the church as the first step by the Communists towards its dissolution.

It was this anxiety that made Dibelius recently cry out from a pulpit in East Berlin:

"No matter what happens to the Evangelical church, the name of Jesus Christ will never be erased from the life of the German people."

Contestant Gives Up On Vacation

GREAT BEND, Kan. (AP) — Officials of the Great Bend Chamber of Commerce wanted to notify Mrs. Walter Rugan that she had won a contest sponsored by the chamber. The prize was a week's vacation in Colorado.

They finally located Mrs. Rugan. She's vacationing in Colorado.

How Government Counts Employed

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) —How does the government know what it's talking about when, every month, it issues figures on how many people in the previous month had or didn't have jobs?

Last week the government announced 66,016,000 people were working in May and that in the same month 3,389,000 were jobless. Did it ask questions of those almost 70 million people?

No, it couldn't, possibly. Its figures on total employed and unemployed are estimates, based on samplings. But the government thinks they are, nevertheless, amazingly accurate.

This is the main way it gets those figures.

The Census Bureau hires 600 part-time peoples—mostly housewives and college students—who go to 35,000 homes with prepared questions about who, among those living in each house, has a job, lost a job, or is looking for work.

That seems like a tiny sampling to come up with the announcement on the total number of people working or jobless in the United States.

But the Census Bureau says — because the questions and the locations of the houses are scientifically worked out — that a total estimate of 66,016,000 people working will not be wrong by more than 100,000.

The 35,000 homes visited by the 600 Census Bureau workers are spread over 330 sample areas in 638 counties. They are not the same every month.

Because of the way the areas are chosen — they include city and farm homes, industrial, commercial and farm areas — the government feels it has a pretty accurate picture of the whole country when the answers to the questions are analyzed.

But the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which works with the Census Bureau in reaching totals and conclusions on employment, has some other checks to guide it, too.

The BLS has arrangements with factories around the country to send it each month their payroll count—meaning how many people they have on their payrolls. These include not only production workers, but white collar people, salesman and bosses, too.

The BLS gets other information from the factories. For instance, the number of hours their employes worked, their hourly and weekly earnings, and the kind of industry they're in.

Still another check is made through the claims jobless workers around the country put in for unemployment compensation.

This is not always a precise rundown on the unemployed. Each week many unemployed people being out of a job so long they have used up all their unemployment benefits, disappear as a statistic from unemployment compensation books.

Before the 1930s there were no direct measurements of the number of jobless persons. The present system of checking got its start during the depression when, because of mass unemployment, there were widely conflicting estimates on the total.

Think You're Hot? It's In Your Mind

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—So you're hot?

Your clothes hang limp on you, sweat beads trickle down your chest, your vision fuzzes, your brain goes numb?

Nonsense. It's all in your mind. You can beat the heat in a matter of seconds if you will just follow one simple rule: Think cool.

Close your eyes. Imagine you're an ice cube. Shrink yourself and pour yourself into an imaginary little plastic tray. Tuck yourself into a refrigerator and drink in the delicious smells of celery, salami, and other goodies as you slowly freeze.

Or play iceberg, hunk of the frothy cool North Atlantic lapping your chin, with the bulk of you submerged in that blessed salty coolness.

Don't make the mistake of being as cool as a cucumber. Once, in the interest of science, I took the body temperature of a cucumber. It was two degrees higher than mine, which averages 102.3.

Think of frigid mountain lakes, or a car motor on a January morning in Alaska.

Turn yourself into a mint julep. Slosh around luxuriantly in your frosted glass shell. Don't drink yourself, however. Alcohol raises the body temperature.

This cool-think bit won't work for everybody, though.

Some people get more relief by hot - thinking. That is. Imagine yourself even worse off than you are.

Like you're unloading bananas on a New Orleans dock with the sun pouring globs of hot lava on you.

Or you're a steak sizzling frantically on an outdoor grill, abandoned by a cook who has reeled off in search of something tall and cooling.

Whew! It's enough to bring out a cold sweat. And that's what you're after, isn't it?

This system of identifying yourself with something or somebody else, is not entirely original. A Russian named Stanislavsky made quite a name for himself by teaching actors to make like chairs, cabbage leaves, mandrake roots and other unlikely objects.

Bride Is Slain In Row Over Finances

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— Margaret Plump, 34, wed only nine days, was slain Sunday in her honeymoon cottage with an iron bar after a dispute over finances. Her husband, Herman, 74, was held for investigation.

Detective Sgt. Harry F. Dietrich said Plump signed a statement that he beat her over the head in wrath over taunts about his having to support her.

Dietrich said Plump, a retired Yonkers, N. Y., milk route driver, told him his bride deposited a $2,000 check of his to her account and refused to let him draw against the account. Sunday morning she woke him up and said, "I've got you where I want you, and you have to take care of me the rest of my life."

Enraged, he grabbed a 20-inch pinch-bar and fractured her skull.

TCU's Mackey Sweeps To Snyder CC Title

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

Frank Mackey, 20-year old sharp-shooter from Colorado City and a member of TCU's golf team, breezed to a 4-3 victory over Bernard Rains of Big Spring to win the championship of the 5th Annual Snyder Country Club Invitational yesterday.

Mackey, who earlier had won medalist honors, pulled a "mild" surprise yesterday morning when he ousted defending champion Donald Ray Scott of Snyder, 2-1, in the semi-finals.

Rains gained the finals by edging past Gus White, Jr., of Lamesa, in the semi-finals, by 2-1.

In yesterday afternoon's championship match, Mackey led all the way after he ran down a 25-foot putt for a birdie three on the second hole of the scheduled 18-hole match.

The senior-to-be at TCU proceeded to a blistering 3-under par 32 on the front nine to go 4-up. Rains, the school teacher from Big Spring carded a 37 on the outgoing nine.

Rains rallied briefly on the back when he took No. 10 with a birdie four to narrow the gap to three holes and then the two halved Nos. 11-12-13. Rains' last chance to catch up came on No. 13.

The Big Springer's chip shot from 40 feet in front of the green hit the pin and stopped an inch away from the hole and he took a "gimme" par four. It still looked like Rains might win the hole as Mackey had a 12-foot putt facing him for a par. But the young Colorado City lad calmly ran the putt down to halve the hole and preserve his three-hole lead with only five to go.

Both got down in par 3s on No. 14 and Mackey then closed out the match on No. 15 when he ran down a 26-foot putt for a birdie three to win the hole and the championship, 4-3.

Mackey was one under par in his semi-finals match with Scott that ended on the 17th hole. Mackey reached the green on the Par 5 17th hole in two and had a 12-foot putt for an eagle. He missed his eagle putt and took a birdie but Scott took a par 5 and the match ended there.

Scott was two over when the match ended.

Out-of-towners virtually dominated the championships in all flights of the tournament.

Cecil McClatchy was the only localite that came through with a flight championship. McClatchy captured the Senior Flight crown but he had to go two extra holes to turn the trick.

McClatchy and Red Alston of Sweetwater each finished with 221 for 54 holes of medal play and a "sudden death" playoff was then held to determine the winner.

The Snyder veteran parred No. 2 to close out Alston who carded a bogey five. McClatchy, two strokes down when the final 18 holes came up yesterday, fired a 73 to Alston's 75.

Snyder had one runnerup in O. K. Fletcher in the Second Flight and one consolation champion, Ed Free, in the Second Flight.

John Gandy of San Angelo won the Championship Flight consolation title. Gandy bested Tiger coach John Conley in the semi-finals Sunday morning, 1-up and then defeated Buster Tuttle of Lamesa in the finals, 2-1.

Other flight winners were Jimmy Stewart of Lubbock in the First Flight, R. L. Montgomery of Sweetwater in the Second Flight, and Frank Levens of Abilene in the Third Flight.

Following is the card on the Mackey-Rains championship match and complete results of yesterday's semi-final and final matches:

Casper Surprise U. S. Open Champ

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Almost anybody could have won the 1959 U.S. Open Golf championship if he could have shot a good final round in the wind and cold at Winged Foot.

Billy Casper won it with his first three rounds and a putter that stayed red hot through the fourth Sunday. His 72-hole score was 282.

It could have been Ben Hogan, who won the British Open in worse weather conditions than these. It could have been Rob Rosburg or Mike Souchak, who were very much in the running up to the last few holes.

It could have been Sammy Snead if the weather had permitted two rounds on Saturday when he shot the best round of the tournament and was raring to go.

Instead it was Casper, a paunchy, pleasant 27-year-old who has been a professional only about five years and who isn't regarded as an outstanding player from tee to green.

The weather at the handsome 6,873-yard Winged Foot in suburban Westchester County was a tremendous factor. Within a week it ranged from searing heat to pleasantly cool, and drenching thunderstorms that forced the first postponement of a round in the history of the tournament. Finally it turned up a day of strong, variable winds and low temperatures.

It didn't make much difference on the putting greens and that's where Casper won the $12,000 top prize — and where bespectacled Bob Rosburg took second place.

Casper is the youngest and least experienced player to win the Open in recent years.

He started chipping and putting when he was a kid in Chula Vista, Calif., because he thought that was more fun and less work than flailing away on the practice tee.

During the four rounds of the 59th Open, Casper used 115 putts in putting together rounds of 71-68-69-74—282.

Three strokes ahead of Hogan at the start of the final round, Casper saw his lead begin to evaporate. Five one-putt greens saved him at the start as he hacked his way through traps and the still soggy rough. He still was one under par at the 63-hole turn, but bogies on the 10th and 12th holes sent him over.

At this stage Rosburg and Souchak, playing behind, pulled up on even terms.

Face Chalks Up 10th Win For Pirates

By The Associated Press

Who is the top winner among major league pitcher?

The name is Elroy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates. As of June 15, 1959 he stands at the head of the class with a shiny 10-0 record. In fact, he hasn't lost a game since May 30, 1958. The only other pitcher who can say that is Bobby Feller and he has been retired for years.

Danny called for his face-saver yesterday in the first game against Los Angeles. The score Face came in and shut the door in the face of the Dodgers, striking out four while the Pirates pulled it out 6-3. They also won the second game, 3-2, Vern Law beating Carl Erskine on a pair of home runs by Dick Stuart.

When Milwaukee was shut out 6-0 by Chicago's Dick Drott, just off the disabled list, the San Francisco Giants missed a chance to take over the National League lead. Instead, they dropped 1½ games behind the Braves by losing two at Philadelphia 7-5 and 6-3. Gene Freese's hitting carried the day for the last place Phils with a three-run homer in the first and three FBI's in the second.

St. Louis won its sixth in seven starts 5-4 on Gino Cimoli's single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning of the opener but Cincinnati came back to get a split, 3-2.

Athletics Win AL Farm Tilt

The Athletics beat the Yankees, 18-11, in an American Little League Farm League game Saturday night.

The Yankees surged ahead 4-0 in the first innings but couldn't hold back the Athletics in the late innings.

The Athletics moved ahead with three in the second and four in the third for a 7-4 lead and then put the game virutally on ice with a 9-run uprising in the fourth.

D. Browning, Jones, and R. Elkins each got two hits to lead the Athletics offensively.

Perser got two-for-two for the Yankees.

Maxwell Saves Best For NY Yankees

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The woods are full of Yankee killers these days. Men like Tito Francona, Gene Woodling, Frank Lary, Don Mossi. But the greatest of them all is Charley Maxwell.

They call Babe Ruth "The man who built Yankee Stadium." Well, Maxwell could be the man who tore it down.

Maxwell has hit 14 home runs this year. Seven of them were against the Yankees. Against the rest of the league he is hitting .209. Against New York he is batting .390. Putting them together you have a man batting .250 with 45 hits and 42 runs batted in, 18 of them against New York.

"We keep this man working," moans Casey Stengel.

Maxwell did it again Sunday. Whitey Ford was rolling along with a four-hit shutout. He had a 2-0 lead with two out in the eighth. Two singles then boom. Maxwell hit a tape measure drive into the first row of the third deck in right field. That did it, 3-2. Just to rub it in, the winner was Frank Lary who had just left the game for a pinch hitter.

It was Maxwell's ground rule double that drove in the first run of the second game when the Detroit Tigers knocked out Duke Maas in a four-run first inning. They went on to sweep the doubleheader 8-2, moving into third place.

Chicago clung to the American League lead by a half game. The White Sox came from behind twice to top Baltimore 9-6 and 3-2 in 10 innings, dropping the Orioles into fourth place. Cleveland kept right on Chicago's heels by beating Washington twice 9-5 and 12-6 with Minnie Minoso driving in nine runs. Boston's erry Casale held Kansas City to five singles for a 6-1 victory. Their second game was called off because of rain and cold.

A crowd of 50,183 saw the surging Tigers demolish the Yanks in New York. With Larry and Paul Foytack winning, Detroit finished the day only two games behind Chicago and charging fast.

Early Wynn was credited with his 258th victory in the White Sox' first game. He helped himself with two singles and two doubles. A dropped ball by Bob Boyd set up Chicago's winning run in the 10th inning of the second game, giving Luis Aparicio a reprieve. Singles by Nellie Fox and Al Smith drove him around with the winning run.

Arizona 9 Unbeaten In NCAA Tourney

OMAHA (AP)—Two of the pre-tournament favorites, Arizona and Oklahoma State, are in the driver's seat today as the only undefeated clubs in the NCAA baseball championships.

The two schools noted for strong pitching and power at the plate, will meet tonight in the feature game of the third round play.

Arizona defeated Fresno State of California, 5-1, and Oklahoma State edged Penn State, 8-6, to set up their meeting.

Cats Take Lead; Dodgers Run Wild

The Optimist Cats pulled into sole leadership in the Graduate Pony League Saturday night with a 4-2 victory over the Walter Hales Lumber Buffs in a make-up game.

In the Pony League game, the league leading Scurry Butane Dodgers got back on the winning trail with a smashing 25-10 victory over the Von Roeder Red Sox.

Mike Moffett hurled a four-hitter for the Cats Saturday and struckout 11. But the Cats had to come from behind twice to emerge victorious.

The Buffs took a 1-0 lead in the first inning and after the Cats tied it up in the third at 1-1, the Buffs again moved into the lead, 2-1, in the fifth. Once again the Cats battled back, tying the score in the sixth at 2-2 and then pushing across two runs in the 7th for the victory.

Reg Scarborough drove in the tie-breaking run in the seventh and the second run of the winning was forced home on a bases loaded walk.

Bob Pena pitched five-hit ball for the Buffs and struck out 11 but he also walked 11 and hit one batsman. Catcher Ronnie Wylie of the Cats drew four consecutive walks before striking out his fifth trip.

Darrell Rains collected two hits for the Cats to lead the winners offensively while catcher Tommy Minton got two of the four Buff hits, one a homer in the fifth that broke a 1-1 tie.

The Pony game was a "night mare" from the word go. It was all tied at 9-9 after two innings with the Dodgers finally pulling away with four in the third and 12 big runs in the fourth.

Red Sox pitchers issued 15 walks, hit one batsman and gave up nine hits. Rob Hall walked five times in as many trips.

Lupe Lopez led the Dodgers with three for three. Jim Wilson and Albert Rainwater each got two hits to lead the Red Sox.

Cubs Continue Undefeated, Win By 11-0

David Cadena hurled a one-hitter to lead the undefeated Lions Club Cubs to a 11-0 victory over the Kiwanis Braves in a National Little League make-up game Saturday night.

Tom Bennett's single in the fourth spoiled Cadena's no-hit bid.

The Cubs broke loose for five runs in the second and added four more in the fifth to turn the game into a rout.

Catcher Tom Kincaid led the Cub attack with three hits in four trips, including a three-run homer in the second.

Leftfielder Ronnie Mebane collected two hits for the Cubs in three trips.

SNYDER BUSINESS NEWS

GULF STATIONS not only have top service but are pleasant places to stop. Noticeably clean, they give in outward indication of the efficiency of operators and employes. Dealers invite motorists to try Gulf Crest every 1,000 miles to renew peak power. (Lee Watson photograph)

Gulf And Service Are Synnoymous

It takes experience and technical know-how to operate a service station properly, and emphasis on these points, plus provision of top products in the field, are things which have contributed to the popularity of the well-known Gulf station for many years.

Gulf dealers are "Men of Action," as their slogan puts it, because they stress and carry through with programs of service to motorists, service to the community, and station cleanliness.

Gulf dealers do not operate stations in a haphazard way. They combine their experience with study of the Gulflex Technical Manual, kept handy in their stations so they will have all the right answers in service to the automobile, even the latest models.

The Gulf product and the above-average service of dealers combine to make the Gulf-station popular.

Gulf dealers not only sell the standard Gulf gasolines and oils and other automobile needs, they have such specialty needs popular in this area as Gulfpride outboard motor oil.

One of the most popular Gulf products is Gulf Crest, a high quality gasoline which renews peak power. Gulf dealers recommend use of a tankfull of Gulf Crest every 1,000 miles for renewing peak power in the auto.

Gulf Crest restores clean engine performance, because its exclusive formula has the quality of neutralizing the effects of engine deposits which have resulted through use of conventional gasolines.

Misfiring is caused by deposits built up on spark plugs, and other combustion chamber deposits quickly become red hot, causing the mixture of fuel and air to ignite prematurely. Special ingredients used in Gulf Crest modify these deposits so they no longer cause misfiring or false firing. A tankful every 1,000 miles will produce a noticeable improvement.

And the car owner can expect fuel knocks to be eliminated and engine roughness and noise to reduce, as well as misfiring being corrected. Upper cylinder lubricants or engine conditioners will not produce the same results, since the necessary additives to correct these conditions must be balanced and fitted to the gasoline of the refinery. Crest contains upper cylinder lubricant, but it is one of eight different ingredients used in the exclusive Crest formula. These additives are more effective than any combination sold in cans. There is no need to add aything to Crest to make engines operate more smoothly.

Crest allows the engine to develop more power and produce better mileage. It is good for all automobiles, however its effect is more noticeable in newer high-compression engines. While one tank of Crest every 1,000 miles will improve performance, using it all the time gives greater assurance of satisfactory operation at all times.

One tank of Crest will cure most engine ailments caused by conventional gasolines except in cases where spark plug fouling or engine deposits have become so severe that new plugs or an engine overhaul are required. When this situation is remedied, a tankfull of Gulf Crest every 1,000 miles will keep the engine functioning at peak performance.

Connally-Type Eloquence Is Revived By Rep. Jim Wright

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth decides to wax eloquent, he is reminiscent of former Texas Sen. Tom Connally.

During dull House debate on a bill to extend the Stream Pollution Control Act, involving proposed federal spending of 100 million dollars the next 10 years, Wright let loose with a flow of oratory that beguiled both colleagues and spectators.

He took the floor in opposition to an amendment which would have cut the funds in half and sharply tighten requirements to be met by states and municipalities before they could get any federal money. Wright's mellifluous voice quickly gained attention and as his words registered, real interest was registered by his audience.

"Through a great part of the State which it is my pleasure to represent, courses a stream which is known as the Brazos River", he said.

"When Coronado and his conquistadores were attempting to find the fabled Seven Cities of Gold, they wandered for days through the sun-baked prairies of New Mexico and West Texas.

"Finally, their water supply exhausted, they faced a stark and terrifying prospects unless they could find water very quickly.

"The leader of the expedition called his band together and asked the priest who always accompanied them as a chaplain to offer a prayer for divine intervention that they might find water to sustain their lives.

"They knelt together there on the dry prairie, and the story is told that following this they proceeded in a direction which seemed natural to them, and, rounding the crest of a gently rolling hill, looked down upon the waters of the Brazos River, then unnamed, in the sunlight.

"When they had slaked their thirst, the leader of the expedition said, 'We were saved by los brazos de Dios!' — by the arms of God.

And for many years that river on all maps was known as El Rio de los Brazos de Dios, or the river of the arms of God."

The 36-year-old Wright who served in the Texas legislature and whose name is sometimes mentioned when there is talk about likely U.S. senatorial candidates of the future spoke without benefit of notes.

His story of the river's discovery having won the attention of his colleagues, Wright then proceeded to reel off from memory facts and figures to show that water is as important to the nation today as it was to explorers of old.

And, in responding to the arguments of those who said the states would do more to solve the pollution problem if the federal government did less, the Texan said:

"If you follow that reasoning to its logical conclusion, you would have to say that for the federal government to do nothing in this field would evoke the maximum response from the states."

The problem will become increasingly acute, Wright added, as the population mounts by 10,000 persons a day for the nation as a whole.

"The entry of the federal government into this field," he continued," was preceded by a demonstrated unwillingness on the part of the states to act.

"I think some of the states are awakening from their Rip Van Winkle slumber. I know my state, for example, is attempting at last to do something in helping to solve this crucial domestic problem in the United States, which is the problem of usable water supply.

Demos Hit At GOP 'Veto Government'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Advisory Council has taken a lusty whack at Republican "veto government." By implication, it also said it doesn't think Democratic leaders in Congress are doing enough to make a clearcut party record for 1960.

"Until there is a Democratic president in the White House," the council said in a statement Sunday, "we face the retarding and corrosive effects of veto government."

"The Congress has been continuously threatened with presidential vetoes in the attempt to thwart one constructive and necessary measure after another."

The council said Congress should ignore the veto threats, rather than yielding. But with implied criticism of Democratic leaders, it added: "Time-consuming efforts have been made to water down proposed legislation to the limits of what the President might accept or to what might win the support of the two-thirds majority in each house necessary to override a presidential veto."

The council, headed by National Chairman Paul M. Butler, has 27 members, including former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson.

It does not include the Democratic Congress Leaders, Speaker Sam Rayburn in the house and Lyndon B. Johnson in the Senate. These powerful Texans declined to join when the council was formed and are not bound by its policies.

The council, mostly Butler's brainchild, is aimed at setting party positions on national issues. But without the active backing of Johnson and Rayburn, many observers feel its effect is somewhat limited.

The council laid down what it called a minimum program for congressional action this session.

Still Suffer From 1957 Accident

HOUSTON (AP)—Two workmen contaminated when two pellets of radioactive Iridium 192 disintegrated say their physical conditions have steadily deteriorated since the 1957 mishap.

Harold E. Northway, 53, was to undergo survery today for removal of a tumor of the bladder. Northway and Jackson McVey, 38, suffer cataracts of the eyes and say they have been unable to work.

The accident took place March 13, 1957, at the W. M. Kellogg Co. plant. McVey contends he contaminated his family and that his wife, 36, and son, Ed, 19, also have developed cataracts.

"It seems like things are getting progressively worse," Northway told a newsman.

The pair joined in a suit seeking $426,635 from Phillips Petroleum Co., who they contend was responsible for the accident.

Northway said he is getting a new pair of glasses next week. "My sight is getting worse all the time," he said. "This will be the fifth different pair of glasses since the accident. I only used glasses for reading before."

Northway said he tires easily and cannot hold a job. "I've had to borrow money from the bank. I spent all my $6,000 savings. $5,200 from an insurance company settlement, and I'm thousands in debt now."

McVey said he had perfect vision before the incident and now has ordered his second pair of glasses. His wife, he said, is on her fourth pair.

29 Dope Arrests By El Paso Police

EL PASO (AP)—El Paso vice squad officers and state agents Sunday arrested two suspected narcotics pushers to bring to 29 the total persons nabbed in a weekend drive in this border city.

The two were Roberto Alonzo Carreon, 20, and Nicholas Rocco Mezzacappa, 18. Of those arrested during the weekend, Carreon and Mezzacappa were the first to be charged with selling narcotics. The other prisoners were charged with use of narcotics.

No-Roach Effective Against All Types Of House Pests

bus Page with 4 col plastic no-roach 2cal 24 No-Roach Judy

A housewife really has to be a detective these days to investigate just why she can't seem to get rid of troublesome cockroaches.

Although the chlorinated hydrocarbons DDT, chlordane and lindane still are effective against the American roach (this is the large roach which breeds in the open and in some localities is called the Palmetto bug), these chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides are no longer effective against the resistant German roaches. The German roach is the small gray roach, generally no longer than a finger nail, which frequents kitchens and indoor locations. This is the little roach which is giving such trouble now all over the country.

The only insecticides which are effective against this resistant roach are those of the orgame phosphate family which have been derived from the nerve gases developed by the Germans during the Second World War. The most effective and least toxic of these organic phosphate insecticides is malathion and it is this chemical which is the active ingredient in NO-ROACH. NO-ROACH is the most effective insecticide against these now nearly ubiquitous roaches. When a housewife uses NO-ROACH, she does not have to move dishes or breathe harmful sprays, and in using malathion, formulated to make a long lasting coating effective for months, she is much more likely to be completely satisfied with her purchase than if she buys any insecticide containing the ineffective chlorinated hydrocarbons. 8 oz. bottle or pint available at D & H Furrs, Piggly Wiggly, Safeway, Sunbean, B & B Parkway, Rainbow's, and your local food or drug store.

Denmark, which is about half the size of the state of Maine, produces half the bacon and one-fourth the eggs and butter moved in world trade.

Botanists regard pumpkins and squash as fruits.

Austin Minister Is 'Elder Statesman'

INDEPENDENCE, Tex. (AP) — The first "Elder Statesman Award" of Texas Baptists went yesterday to Dr. J. M. Dawson of Austin, a minister, editor and denominational worker for more than 50 years.

Dr. Dawson served as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Waco for 31 years and spent seven years as the first executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs in Washington, D.C.

He is the author of 10 books on religious liberty, sermons and church history.

The ceremonies were part of the 85th annual Independence Homecoming Assn. meeting, at historic Old Independence Baptist Church, third church of the denomination orghnized in the Republic of Texas.

Baby Killed, Nine Injured In Wreck

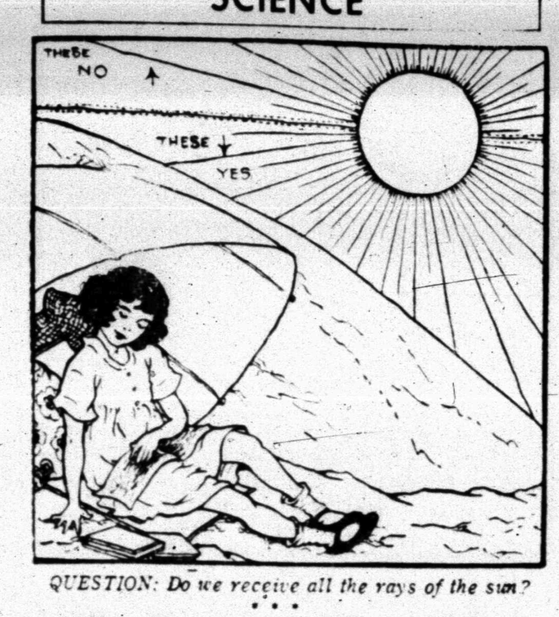

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — A car driven by Francisco Ortiz, 19, Brownsville, was involved in a two-car crash in which an 8-month-old baby was killed and 9 other persons were injured Saturday.

The crash occurred 10 miles west of here in Illinois.

The victim was Danny Alan McDaniel.

Ortiz and three companions were injured, none seriously.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE

QUESTION: Do we receive all the rays of the sun?

• • •

ANSWER: The sun is a great ball of fire nearly 865,000 miles in diameter or more than 100 times the size of our earth. Because it is round, it gives off its rays of light in all directions.

Only a very tiny part of the sun's rays strike the earth and the eight other planets that revolve around it. Most of the rays travel millions and millions of miles out into space and finally disappear.

The amount of rays — that is, heat and light, — that the planets receive from the sun depends upon their distance from it. The closest planet to the sun, Mercury, which is only an average of 36 million miles away, has an estimated temperature of 750 degrees.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: An electric light bulb is a lot like a small sun. Study an electric light bulb. Notice how the rays of light proceed from it evenly in all directions, like rays from the sun.

• • •

Paper Plans Expansion

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — The Texarkana Gazette and Daily News will begin immediately the expenditure of $750,000 for the improvement and expansion of their production facilities, Walter E. Hussman, publisher, announced Saturday.

The project is an enlargement of an expansion program which was delayed in 1957 by the unexpected death of C. E. Palmer, publisher of the papers.

The newspapers already have placed a $600,000 order for a new printing press, fully equipped to print all colors in addition to black and white. The press was ordered for delivery and installation during the first quarter of 1960.

The remaining $150,000 of the planned expenditure will be used in remodeling the entire building and streamlining all production facilities.

Although the new press will be installed within the first three months of next year, the remodeling program will require three years for completion in order that there will be no interruption or interference in the day to day production of the newspapers.

"Our entire expansion program will be functional rather than ostentatious," Hussman said. "Every appropriation approved has had to meet the simple test as to whether it was essential in producing a better newspaper faster. This we believe to be of great importance to Texarkana and of even greater importance to the four states area."

Hospitals Trying Paper Gowns, Sheets

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Patients in hospitals may sleep in paper gowns on paper sheets and be treated by doctors and nurses wearing paper uniforms, if tests at Brooke Army Medical Center prove successful.

Maj. Gen. William E. Shambora, medical center commander, said the Army Quartermaster Corps is conducting the tests on the theory that paper items would be useful when laundry facilities were scarce and during emergency shortages of conventional cloth equipment and clothing.

Space Medico Is Also Auto Racer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Thomas R. A. Davis is a man of speed.

During the week he is chief of the Environment Medicine division of the Army Research Medical Laboratory at nearby Ft. Knox. He had charge of getting monkey Able ready for her Jupiter space flight.

Sunday he came in sixth in a sports car race here.

Any connection between racing and space medicine?

Yes, Davis, 42, admitted.

"I use hypodermic syringes to squirt oil into hard-to-reach auto parts."

'Pentagonese' Is Threatening To Sweep Country

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagonese, a dialect of English, has burst the boundaries of the Pentagon.

Members of Congress may snort at uniformed witnesses who lapse into this strange tongue, with its cadences of an engineering manual, its verbs fabricated out of nouns, its phrases riveted together with plenty of extra words to insure rigidity. But Pentagonese expressions crop up in the speech of the members themselves and are heard at White House news conferences.

Obviously it is only a question of time before Americans who wish to "communicate freely with an important segment of their countrymen will have to master the dialect for general use.

How will it sound? For a sample, here is the biography of a purely mythical inhabitant of Pentagon, as it might be written in Pentagonese.

"The marriage 13 May 1911 of Angus Inbasket and Penelope Scruggs may be considered to the activation of Gen. Marcus T. Inbasket.

"Production was finalized 13 February 1912.

After appropriate lead time, emphasis was shifted to a phased training program, during which a wide spectrum of possible career configurations was evaluated.

The program was definitized with an appointment to the military academy in August 1929. Growth potential was apparent at an early date and typically confirmed by a standing in the upper 15.72 per cent of the class of 1933.

"Implementation of the Inbasket potential was maximized by the entrance of the United States into World War II, with attendant timewise compression of the officer promotion structure and the initial deployment of Capt. Inbasket into the upper staff echelons.

"It was during the period under consideration also that utilization with Miss Honeysuckle Picketline, daughter of Lt. Gen. Shiloh Picketline, was accomplished.

"Satellization of the new establishment was initially inhibited by problems of distance and logistics. When these were solved by the termination of hostilities, increments were annualized in the following order: Marcus T. Inbasket Jr.; Penelope S. Inbasket; Shiloh P. Inbasket. A domestic facility was established on the suburban perimeter of Washington, D.C., when Brig. Gen. Inbasket was redeployed to the Department of Defense.

'A period of steady transitioning to cognizance of matters of higher administrative responsibility followed. Outstanding accomplishments were a study of systems control of management tools, direction of a task force on paperclip procurement in its relationship to unobligated balances, and the chairing of a study group on continuous refinement of functional criteria for stenographic pools.

"Gen. Inbasket was deactivated yesterday by a random encounter with a civilian-type vehicle in the approaches to the Pentagon north parking lot.

"Funeral plans have not yet been formalized."

Count Heavy On Racial Violence

ATLANTA (AP)—A report by three agencies lists an average of 132 cases of racial violence, reprisal and intimidation per year in the South since the U. S. Supreme Court's school integration decisions.

The report, covering from an. 1, 1955 to Jan. 1, 1959, cited 530 killings, beatings, bombings and mob action as indications of widespread erosion of individual liberties. An introduction said the incidents listed were taken from newspapers, and other reports, however reliable, were not used.

The compilation was published by the American Friends Service Committee, High Point, N. C., the Department of Racial and Cultural Relations of the National Council of Churches of Christ, New York, and the Southern Region Council. The latter group, which has headquarters in Atlanta, is a bi-racial organization working toward better race relations.

Southern political leaders have declared their opposition to lawlessness, the report said. But the document suggested that legislative and executive policies of evading and defying federal court decisions may have "set an example whose contagion is uncontrollable."

Resistance groups have spread across the South, the report said, typified by the White Citizens Councils born in 1954 in Mississippi. By 1956 they had an estimated 300,000 members, the document added, and the groups' characteristic tactics have been economic pressure, lobbying and propaganda.

According to the report "other groups, such as a revived but disjointed Ku Klux Klan and some extremist off-shoots of the Citizens Councils, have advocated and participated in cruder methods of intimidation.

Rats Ruining Crops

TOKYO (AP)—Aomori Prefecture in northern Honshu pushed its farm frontiers out in the past decade by hacking fields from the wooded mountainsides. Now the farmers report expanding swarms of rats estimated between 500,000 and 600,000 are ruining soy bean, red bean and corn crops.

MRS. AMERICA CONTESTANTS—Fifty-one of the nation's top home-makers representing every state in the union, including Alaska and Hawaii, are shown in a group as the Mrs. America contest got underway at Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Each contestant will be tested at cooking, baking, tablesetting, and other home-making duties. The winner will be named June 20. (AP Wirephoto)

Deputy Prosecuter Quits, Raps Senate Committee

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Metro Holovachka quit under fire as deputy prosecutor of Lake County (Indiana) Sunday after issuing a bitter blast at the special Senate committee which sought to link him to organized crime in the county.

"I can no longer tolerate the abuse which has been heaped on me and my community," declared the 30-year-old prosecutor.

Denouncing rackets probers insinuations he received hundreds of thousands of dollars in protection money from crime syndicate bosses, Holovachka maintained he had not taken "one thin dime" from gamblers or hoodlums.

Immediately after Holovachka's announcement, his boss, Prosecutor Floyd Vance accepted the resignation and then fired all three investigators in his office. "I want to start with a clean slate," he said.

The discharged investigators are Walter Conroy, James Dent and Michael Kampo. Conroy, who was chief investigator, and Kampo appeared before the Senate committee last week.

Holovachka, a veteran Democrat who served six years as prosecutor, made his announcement on a Chicago television program which was taped Friday. Irate Gary citizens had been demanding his ouster for days and the resignation was made on the eve of a mass meeting called to boom their efforts.

"I have been a whipping boy and victim of the most vicious character assassination ever made in this country," Holovachka said of the investigation by the committee headed by Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark).

He blamed his downfall on the committee, the Gary Post-Tribune and the Women's Citizens Committee of Gary and added he was the victim of a "vicious and malicious" smear and perjury by witnesses who testified in the Senate probe.

Of the committee's counsel, Robert Kennedy, he said: "About two months ago I was informed that I was to be a victim of a character assassination by Robert Kennedy and believe me he did the job well."

The resignation followed a series of committee hearings in which Holovachka and his top investigator, Walter Conroy, were pictured as recipients of money for putting independent coin machine operators out of business by confiscating their machines and allowing reputed racketeers to substitute their machines instead.

Holovachka was asked how he managed to accumulate $327,000 from 1952 to 1958—the years he served as prosecutor—on a $12,000 salary.

At first he told the committee that information was none of its business. Later he said held in trust $325,000 for clients in private law practice. no money was not his personally, he said.

He made General denials when McClellan asked him if the money came from reputed hoodlums Steven Sohacki and George Welbourn, who Kennedy said, made a monopoly of gambling in Gary and Hammond with Holovachka's aid.

Holovachka declared Sunday: "I know of no syndicate in my community now or in my time in office since 1950." He denied any association with the pinball machine racket the committee said flourished amid other forms on vice in Lake County.

12-Foot Shark Kills Diver

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — A shark killed a skindiver while several persons watched from the beach 50 yards away Sunday.

No trace was found of husky Robert Pamperin, 33, a San Diego aircraft engineer.

"I was swimming about 15 feet from Bob," said his companion, Tom Lehrer, 30. "I heard him calling, 'Help me, help me.'

"I swam over to him. He was thrashing in the water and I could tell he was fighting something underneath."

Lehrer said he ducked under the water and through his face plate saw a shark. "It was so big I thought at first it was a killer whale," he said. "It had a white belly and I could see its jaws and jagged teeth. It was a whopper—about 12 feet. It was between me and Bob and I could see him kicking his legs at it but it kept biting at him."

Lehrer said he popped to the surface.

"But it was too late to do anything. Bob just went out of sight and I couldn't find him. So I swam to shore."

William Abitz, 18, standing on a rocky promontory, heard Pamperin's screams and saw him thrashing in 30-foot deep water.

"He was trying to get out of the water," Abitz said, "he looked like he was trying to run."

Pamperin's wife, Carolyn sat on a porch at a nearby house, hysterical and sobbing, while lifeguards in a boat and a Coast Guard helicopter scanned the water for 40 minutes.

They found nothing of Pamperin, an ex-lifeguard. But the copter crew reported seeing a large shark cruising beneath the sunlit water.

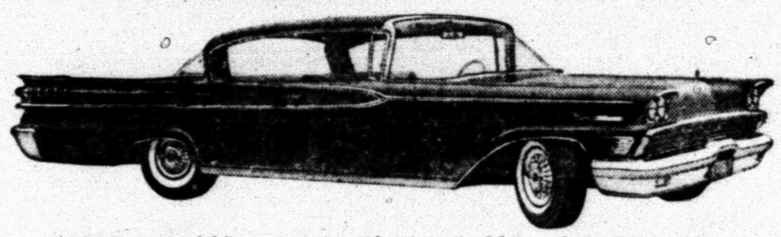

Lifeguards believed Pamperin was hit by a white shark—the same species blamed for fatally injuring Albert Kogler, 18, near San Francisco last month.

The white shark is a jagged-tooth brute which grows to 15 feet.

Pamperin was the third known victim of sharks in recent years. A white shark was believed the killer of a youth in Monterey Bay in 1952. Three white sharks have been caught in the San Diego area this year.
