City Council to evaluate city manager, consider his future

By Jeff Stevens and Ian Heald
Staff Writers

Late Friday afternoon the future of Midland's city management was thrown into turmoil with the addition of an agenda item.

Tuesday, in executive session, the City Council will evaluate City Manager Mike McGregor. The item was added at 4:15 p.m. Friday afternoon in time to meet the 72 hour in advance requirement of open meetings laws.

This particular story, however, may have begun Nov. 2, and it's a story that appears to have put at odds what has been a cooperative council.

"After the election (of the new sports complex), Bobby (Burns), Lee (Wood) and Don (Washburn) wanted to place Glen Hackler over the stadium project," said Councilman Jose Cuevas. "Mike said, 'No. Rick (Menchaca) has gotten us this far. Let's let him see it all the way through.' "

According to Cuevas, that discussion has led to McGregor's current predicament. "Bobby said to me, 'If you want to change that, you've got to get rid of Mike.'

"It's just a power play," Cuevas said.

Burns contends that's not true. "That's just not accurate. We have always been very clear that this is Rick's project. We want to see teamwork in the city manager's office."

Further, Burns said the recent controversy surrounding the city manager's office is the fault of Cuevas.

"I'm very disappointed that Cuevas revealed our discussions to the media. That forced our hand on putting it on the agenda. We wouldn't be here if I didn't have the camera in my face," said Burns.

"I didn't leak it to the media," said Cuevas. "I find it quite interesting that men don't have a problem discussing a man's livelihood in private, but when it's exposed, they have a problem with it."

Cuevas apparently did have a discussion with a personal friend about McGregor's situation. That friend then passed the information along to a television station.

"If it weren't for that fact, it wouldn't even be on the agenda," said Burns.

Washburn said, "I'm very disappointed that this is out in the open. It shouldn't be discussed out in the open, as far as the early stages."

"I think it's very unfair to Mr. McGregor to discuss options in public," added Councilman Dale Brown.

Burns said that this is not a move to fire McGregor.

"Not at all, it's a move to find out what McGregor's wishes are and to find out the council's wishes," Burns said.

"He's not getting fired," said Wood. "At some point, Mike McGregor is going to retire and we've got to have our ducks in a row. That's just

Midlander survives deadly collapse of A&M bonfire stack

By Ed Todd

William "Will" Harlan, a 19-year-old Midlander who survived a headlong plunge from the collapsing Texas A&M University bonfire that killed 12 of his fellow students and injured 28 early Thursday morning, said that the bonfire tradition is "well worth keeping."

"There are some things we could improve safety-wise," Harlan said Friday from his hospital room. I would like to see it continued."

William Harlan, 19-year-old Midlander who survived a headlong plunge from the collapsing Texas A&M University bonfire.

Harlan, a 1999 Midland High School graduate and an A&M freshman in the Corps of Cadets, suffered shattered wrists in the fall from the top of the second tier of logs on the 40-foot pyramid.

"I'm doing all right," Harlan said from his hospital room at Saint Joseph Regional Health Center in Bryan. "Some of my Corps buddies have come up to see me."

Harlan figured that he plunged 30 feet among the tumbling timber where he had been wiring logs together.

More than 50 students, both members of the military Corps and others, were working to secure the hoisted logs in preparing "The Stack" for the Thanksgiving Day bonfire on eve of the Texas A&M-University of Texas football game at College Station. The annual event has since been cancelled.

Harlan said that he "looked up" and saw falling logs and "tried to get out of the way.

"I starting free-falling headfirst to the ground," Harlan said. "If the logs had landed a couple of

Midland housing survives economic downturn

By Mella McEwen
Staff Writer

Realtor Skeet Doss headed the Permian Basin Board of Realtors during a year when crude prices fell to 12-year lows, eliminating hundreds of jobs and sending hundreds out of town in job transfers or seeking new jobs.

Still, said Doss as he prepares to turn over the board presidency to Bill Scott, "it's been a good year. Midland housing held strong" despite the economy.

Though he won't officially take office until Jan. 1, Scott will be inducted as president at the board's installation banquet this evening at the Petroleum Club. In addition to the induction of officers and directors, the Realtor of the Year will be announced.

According to the most recent figures from the Permian Basin Board of Realtors, there were 761 active listings through October, compared with 683 for the same month of 1998. For the first 10 months of the year, 1,235 houses had been sold for an average sales price of $96,119. This compared with the same period of 1998 when 1,414 homes were sold for an average sales price of $86,397.

"Midland and Big Spring housing markets came through the downturn substantially undamaged," Scott said. "We anticipate a much better market next year; 1999 was not a bad year, but 1998 had been a very strong year."

Doss, a real estate agent with Langston Realtors, and Scott, a Realtor with Re/Max of Midland, credit low mortgage rates, which hovered at 30-year lows much of the year, and a lack of new houses entering the market, for keeping the market healthy.

"Building contractors have been the most adversely affected," Scott said. "New housing permits are down substantially; without those new homes, that helped the pre-owned supply of houses and prevented a glut. I think we'll see a lot more new housing permits next year."

Among the accomplishments Doss cites from the past year is a new lockbox system that increases security for home sellers.

The board also has expanded its Multiple Listing Service, bringing Big Spring into the board and members have expanded their community involvement, planning a major Christmas project with Habitat for Humanity.

The new lockbox system is a top issue, Scott said, as the board replaces traditional lockboxes with an electronic system requiring a keyfob to give real estate agents access to a home seller's house key. The system also records the time and date of entry to the house.

Violent anti-U.S. protests shadow Clinton's trip to Greece

By Terence Hunt
Associated Press

ATHENS, Greece — Hundreds of anti-American protesters battled baton-wielding riot police and set stores and banks ablaze Friday as President Clinton rode through Athens in a tight security cocoon and proclaimed a "profound and enduring friendship" with Greece.

The riots were the most violent in downtown Athens in several years — and the worst of any of Clinton's overseas trips.

Clinton, at an elegant dinner at the presidential palace a few blocks from the clashes, toasted Greece as an ally in every major international conflict of this century.

"If some engage us in passionate debate," the president said, "it is well to remember how hard both our countries have fought to do just that."

The violence erupted from bands of leftists and anarchists among more than 10,000 demonstrators blocked from marching on the U.S. Embassy in central Athens. Police hurled tear gas canisters at protesters who set up fiery roadblocks and hurled paving stones and cement flower pots.

Clinton saw none of the unrest — broadcast live on television. Warmly greeted at the airport, he rode into town on police-lined streets that had been cleared of all traffic hours before. Clusters of onlookers watched impassively as his entourage rode by.

Black, acrid smoke hung over many parts of the city center near the parliament building, known by many tourists for the ceremonial guards dressed in traditional white pleated skirts.

"I have come here as a 'fili mou' — a friend of Greece," the president said. "Through this visit, I want the American people to see the changing face of Greece, the powerhouse of southeast Europe."

Clinton's wife, Hillary, their daughter, Chelsea, and Secretary of State Madeleine Albright all were presented with bouquets of flowers as they walked down the red carpet from Air Force One.

At the state dinner with President Constantinos Stephanopoulos, Clinton said Greece and the United States "have forged a profound and enduring friendship" over the last 180 years.

"As in all friendships," Clinton said, "we have not always agreed but we have never broken ranks, because of our shared devotion to democracy and freedom."

But anti-American sentiment runs deep, from old-guard communists to Christian Orthodox activists. Many Greeks believe the United States favors regional rival Turkey in territorial disputes and war-divided Cyprus. Greeks also were angered by the U.S.-led bombing against Yugoslavia. Moreover, there are bitter memories of U.S. support for the old Greek military junta that crushed a student uprising in 1973.

Clinton's primary objective here was to promote reconciliation between Greece and Turkey, particularly on Cyprus. He raised the issue repeatedly during a five-day visit to Turkey before flying here.

Stephanopoulos staked out a tough line. "We face no problems other than those created by the aggressive policies of Turkey," he told Clinton at the dinner. He said Cyprus "is a problem which was created by Turkey's military invasion of the island" in 1974 — after a coup by supporters of a union with Greece. Stephanopoulos expressed concern that Greece would be forced to make all the concessions in Cyprus negotiations.

The Greek government, embarrassed by the president's reception, described the protests as the work of a minority that doesn't represent the views of ordinary Greeks. The government also endorsed the response of the police in containing the violence after ordering the closing of most main streets to marches. It was the toughest restriction on demonstrations since the end of military rule 25 years ago.

More than 60 stores and banks were damaged, police said. Hooded and masked demonstrators set afire piles of garbage, much of it hauled from huge rubbish piles that collected during a five-day garbage collectors' strike.

At least 16 people were injured and more than 40 people were detained by police.

The Greek Communist Party organized the rally to protest NATO's bombing of Yugoslavia. It called on supporters to go home as violence spread.

Concluding a five-day stay in Turkey, Clinton told reporters earlier in Istanbul he was not concerned about the protests. "Greece is the world's oldest democracy," he said. "If people want to protest, they should have a chance to do it."

Clinton said the protests don't bother him because Greece and the United States have been "great allies" despite widespread opposition in Greece to the NATO-led mission in Yugoslavia. The president had postponed and shortened his visit because of security worries.

"They have a right to their opinion and I have a right to mine," Clinton said. "I believe I was right, and I think that the facts will prove that I was right."

Thai trial over DiCaprio movie resumes

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Filmmakers destroyed a pristine beach in making Leonardo DiCaprio's latest movie, Thai officials testified Friday, saying the sands of Maya Bay washed away during the monsoon season because of changes made to shoot "The Beach."

Villagers, local officials and environmentalists have filed a $2.6 million lawsuit against 20th Century Fox, the Thai production company and the Royal Forestry Department over the film.

They claim the Royal Forestry Department broke the law in allowing the film to be made in a national park and that the film crew failed to return the site to its original state as promised.

Moviemakers removed vegetation, widened the beachfront and planted dozens of coconut trees, which are not native to the island.

The filmmakers say they acted within the law, and put up $80,000 against damage. The film is set for release in December.

Dead Grass
A sign you're in danger or just a bad gardener?
If you find dead or dying vegetation near a green, growing area, it could signal more than the absence of a green thumb. It's also one of the warning signs of a natural gas leak. Other signs include a distinctive odor like rotten eggs, or a hissing or roaring sound.
If you suspect a natural gas leak, take the following steps:
• Leave the area immediately on foot.
• Avoid creating sparks that could ignite the gas.
• Do not light a match, start an engine, or turn on/off electrical equipment.
• Call 911 or the local fire and police department.
• Immediately call the pipeline operator.

Germans hostile to unwanted takeover bid of 'pearl of German industry'

By Paul Geitner
Associated Press

BERLIN — Germans aren't shy about taking over businesses abroad — just ask Chrysler, now DaimlerChrysler, or Rolls-Royce, which Volkswagen and BMW now split between them.

But the rare hostile bid Friday by a foreign firm for one of Germany's crown jewels has set off an uproar in a country where consensus is king and Anglo-American style "cowboy capitalism" is decried as a job-killer.

German tabloids have been warning all week about the dangers to Mannesmann AG and its 130,000 workers if Vodafone AirTouch PLC, a British-American mobile telephone firm, succeeds with its $127 billion appeal direct to shareholders.

"Must (the Mannesmann board) watch helplessly as a pearl of German industry falls victim to greed?" the mass-market Bild newspaper fretted on its front page Friday.

Vodafone, which is interested in Mannesmann's wildly successful telecommunications operations, has said it intends to sell off the company's older engineering divisions — which employ about 80 percent of Mannesmann's workforce.

Mannesmann said last month it might itself sell some of those divisions to help finance its $33 billion acquisition of a British mobile phone company, Orange — and that prompted no outcry.

But the prospect of a potentially less-caring foreigner doing the same has led to appeals from across the political spectrum for government protection against what lawmaker Michael Mueller, from Mannesmann's home base of Duesseldorf, termed "global business cannibalism."

Even Chancellor Gerhard Schroeder, a Social Democrat often attacked by his party's left wing for being too market friendly, came out strongly against hostile takeover bids, urging the "utmost possible caution" on such moves.

"Hostile takeovers destroy corporate culture," he said in an interview published Friday in the French newspaper Le Monde. "They harm the target but they also, over the medium term, harm the predator as well."

While corporate raiders stalked the United States and Britain beginning in the 1980s, Germans discouraged such aggressive behavior, which is seen as threatening to Germany's prized stability, said Heidi Sherman of the ifo Institute for Economic Research in Munich.

Many companies, like Mannesmann, have rules limiting a single shareholder to 5 percent of the voting rights, regardless of the size of its stake. German law requires 75 percent of the voting rights for a takeover, but also allows individual shareholders to block deals with court challenges that can drag on for years.

Such provisions helped Continental AG tire company fend off Italy's Pirelli SpA in 1991, the last major hostile bid from abroad.

German union power also remains strong, with half the seats on corporate supervisory boards assigned by law to labor representatives. When German steel giant Krupp shocked the cozy corporate world in 1997 by trying to take over rival Thyssen, union protests — combined with political pressure — forced Krupp to back off.

However, the two agreed shortly thereafter to a friendly merger, followed by restructuring to improve competitiveness, showing that the problem with Krupp's initial bid was more style than substance.

"People are so used to the consensus framework that the changes that are taking place now, driven by globalization and the single European market, create a lot of uneasiness," said Georg Erber, a senior researcher at the German Institute for Economic Research in Berlin.

"And people dislike uneasiness very much in Germany," he added. "The whole German welfare state is set up to protect people from this kind of risk and uncertainty."

Schroeder's attempts to import some of British Prime Minister Tony Blair's pro-business credos to risk-averse Germany have met with resistance from those who fear unrestrained market forces will shred that comfortable cushion.

The fact that Vodafone is based in London — and not, for example, in more labor-friendly France — only adds to people's fears, Sherman said.

Schroeder, who recently teamed with French Premier Lionel Jospin to announce a major French-German aerospace merger, told Le Monde he too prefers Franco-German cooperation "because it is friendly."

Yet hostile moves are spreading across the continent, as the recent fights over French banks and Telecom Italia illustrate.

"Nobody is happy when a hostile takeover comes — that's why it's called hostile," Sherman said. "But we're all moving toward this Anglo-Saxon model."

FUTURE: City to discuss future of city manager position at Tuesday meeting

smart business."

Burns said that McGregor himself has discussed possible retirement plans in the not-so-distant future. He added that, had this issue not come under public scrutiny, he had intended to privately consult McGregor about his future plans.

"Mike has mentioned that (retirement) in the past. We thought it would be a good time to evaluate his performance and see what is in Midland's best interest. This is a business decision and we want to try to take a look at the city manager's office and see if we need to make changes or not," Burns said, adding that if McGregor does plan to retire soon, a decision would need to be made about the line of succession.

The city currently has two deputy city managers, Menchaca and Hackler, with no clear determination of who would replace McGregor in the event of a departure.

"I think any council is going to look ahead six months or a year, knowing we have two top flight deputies. Which one would make the move is certainly an item for discussion," Burns said.

Those deputies, despite the possibility of their being central to Tuesday's discussions, are remaining mum on the subject.

"I just flew back in town from the TML (Texas Municipal League) conference," said Hackler. "This is news to me. I don't know what it means. I have no comment on this."

Menchaca also chose to stay out of the fight, other than saying that McGregor is doing a good job.

"I think Mike has done a great job. He's one of the best manager's in the state," Menchaca said. "I don't know why council would bring this up at the time of the sports complex. I don't think we should create any doubts on our ability to see the complex through to completion."

Even though the deputies wouldn't comment on their future, both Burns and Cuevas agreed that naming McGregor's successor is a serious issue.

"I think we are certainly at risk of losing one. We have two very fine gentlemen in Mr. Menchaca and Mr. Hackler. If one took the top position one day, I would certainly imagine that the other would find another position," Burns said.

The rest of the council was somewhat hesitant to discuss their stand on McGregor or his deputies.

"I'm not going to discuss hearsay. It hasn't even come up for discussion before the council," Wood said.

Washburn said, "I couldn't comment on that right now. I don't know enough about that right now."

Brown added that it wouldn't be appropriate to discuss the item in public until he discussed the issue with McGregor.

"I do think the council has a responsibility to handle the business affairs of the city. Unfortunately this is a city matter that somebody has chosen to make a political one," Brown said, adding that he hasn't made any decisions one way or the other.

Berry Simpson and Juluis Brooks could not be reached for comment. Those who were reached, however, had kind things to say about the city manager.

"I think Mike has done a good job. The city runs smoothly and he's kept us out of financial trouble," Wood said.

"The city has been really successful with McGregor as the city manager," Washburn said.

Cuevas had similar comments.

"I think Mike has done an exceptional job. He has achieved every goal set by the council for him to achieve. As a business owner and president, I would rank him as an A as a CEO," said Cuevas.

Cuevas was the only councilman who would say how he intended to vote if the matter were presented. He said he is not in support of removing McGregor.

Other council members tended to agree that no decision had been made about McGregor's future or any planned changes in the city manager's office.

Cuevas also advanced another theory as to what may have prompted a discussion about McGregor's future.

"The most overriding comment I hear is that Mike is never in the office and that he's hard to get a hold of," Cuevas said.

That might even be an accurate assessment. In fact, McGregor himself admits to missing some sick days in previous months.

In early June, McGregor contracted bell's palsy — paralysis of the facial nerve causing facial distortion. As a result, the city manager has missed 12-15 days of work and has taken a less visible role.

"Of course, my speech was not good all summer long and I was pretty self conscious," McGregor said, who still hasn't fully recovered from the affliction. "I was in quite a bit of pain for a month or so because of physical therapy and the medication I was taking."

McGregor, who has been the city manager for seven years and with the city of Midland since 1983, said he did not know why the council is evaluating him.

He added that he is no way offended by evaluation.

"It's their right to evaluate me and I wouldn't stand in their way to do so," McGregor said.

Permian Basin residents, corporations and organizations were recognized for their generosity Friday during National Philanthropy Day, a day set aside by Congress to promote philanthropy.

"The Permian Basin's commitment to philanthropy is evidenced by your presence," said Master of Ceremonies Mike Conaway at the luncheon hosted by the Permian Basin chapter, National Society of Fund Raising Executives. The luncheon was dedicated to the memory of Johnny Warren, one of several Permian Basin residents active in area community organizations who died this year.

The keynote address was given by David Huntsman, vice president, Huntsman Polymers Corp., a former area resident now living in Salt Lake City.

Huntsman later accepted, on the company's behalf, the award for Outstanding Corporation, honored for the time and money the officials and employees give to their communities.

OBITUARIES

Tyler Strickland

Tyler Don Sanford Strickland began a new life on Wednesday, November 17, 1999 at the age of ten years old, after a courageous battle with cancer. Souls met as he joined his Grammie, Cathy Sherman. Services will be held on Saturday, November 20, 1999 at 2 p.m. at First Baptist Church in Midland. Burial will follow at Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Tyler's life began December 6, 1988 surrounded by the love he would know all of his days. One of Tyler's greatest loves began at the age of five when he started kindergarten, where friendships made, endured always. His school days at Parker and Bush elementary schools were always a source of happiness and comfort, with Tyler never wanting to miss a day. His teachers, classmates and their parents were always a special and important support. Tyler loved the outdoors, two of his greatest passions being baseball and fishing. He spent five years playing T-Ball and Little League baseball, two of those seasons having his brother as a teammate. His passion for fishing began at the age of six when at a Make-A-Wish fishing tournament he caught sixteen bass in one afternoon, leading to the endless hours he spent fishing on the family trips to the lake. Bags were always packed ready for a spur of the moment lake visit, which meant so much to everyone. His last months with us he spent preparing for his journey, being baptized and growing closer to God. Tyler's ten years, eleven months, and eleven days were spent living, loving and laughing. He would want to thank family and friends for sharing his life.

Survivors include his mother and father, Kelly and Todd Strickland; a brother, Taylor Strickland; a sister, Kayla Strickland; Granddaddy (Larry Sherman), Grandma Sandy (Hale), PaPa Jack (Strickland); Great-Granddaddy (Johnny) Sherman, Great-Grandma Shirley (Settles), Great PaPa Jack (Settles), Great Nannie (Tommie Harris); two aunts, Mimi Bledsoe and Erin Wylie; and many cherished and loved family and friends.

In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund has been set up in Tyler's name at Bank of America. Donations may also be made to the Kelsey Logan Angel Fund at P. O. Box 5072, Midland, Texas 79704.

HOUSING: Real estate agents discuss future

(From 1A)

The board also plans to take advantage of new technology by converting to an Internet-based MLS system, he said.

"The Permian Basin Board and Odessa Board of Realtors both equally own West Texas Regional MLS and we'll be moving that to the Internet rather than the dial-up-based system we have now," he said. "Even Dallas and Houston aren't even Internet-based yet."

He expects the Internet-based MLS will help the board expand from Midland and Big Spring members by attracting members from Andrews, McCamey, Monahans and other towns.

"With the e-mail capability and technology, it will be advantageous for Realtors in Andrews, McCamey or Monahans to join the board," he said.

In April, he said, during "Fair Housing Week," the board will present "At Home With Diversity: One America" training with Charles McMillan.

"It's a very big issue here in West Texas," Scott said. "Here in West Texas we have a large, racially mixed community and we need to train our Realtors to be sensitive to different cultures. The country is going that way, our clients are going that way."

He also plans a drive to increase the number of board affiliates, targeting ancillary services from bankers to mortgage lenders to termite inspectors to insurance providers.

"We will also continue our support of TREPAC, the Texas Real Estate Political Action Committee. We offer that support to influence legislation that affects private property rights," he said.

Congress approves budget deal, nears adjournment after rocky year

By Alan Fram
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Congress granted final approval Friday to its grand budget deal with President Clinton and neared the end of a rocky year that began with impeachment, was dominated by gridlock but ended in cooperation.

By 74-24, the Senate sent Clinton a mammoth, $390 billion spending measure that was the product of weeks of bargaining and covered the sweep of government from helping small businesses to maintaining the country's role in diplomacy. It also contained political victories for both parties.

The prospect of an all-night Senate session abruptly vanished after dairy-state senators consented to drop procedural delays that threatened to keep lawmakers working almost until dawn.

"The Senate teaches you patience," said a relieved Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., after the way was cleared for the year's final votes. "If there's anything in the world that's like a good wine, it's the Senate."

Senators also voted 95-1 to send Clinton a tax bill, which along with the budget package were the two remaining, high-profile pieces of legislation for this congressional session. Both cleared the House by overwhelming margins Thursday, and the president was ready to sign both.

The huge spending measure would finance seven Cabinet departments and other agencies for the new fiscal year, which allowed lawmakers to finish their budget work 50 days late and shattered spending limits they approved just two years ago.

The measure gave Clinton victories with money for hiring teachers and police officers, buying land for parks, paying arrears to the United Nations and expanding efforts to forgive debts of poor nations.

It let Republicans claim wins by saying they had limited Clinton's demands for extra spending to $6 billion and rejected his calls for higher taxes on cigarettes and other items.

"What we have done is kept the faith with those who want a balanced budget," said Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M.

The GOP also took credit for higher education spending and for finishing the year without spending Social Security surpluses. The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office and Democrats contest the latter claim, saying the bill exceeds 2-year-old spending limits by more than $30 billion and eats into Social Security's reserves.

The tax measure was a 10-year, $18 billion package extending the research and development credit and other tax provisions. Attached to it were bills delaying new Clinton administration rules for getting donated organs to the sickest patients and extending federal benefits for disabled people who get jobs.

The specter of a long night in the Senate ended after Lott and Senate Minority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., huddled for a half-hour on the Senate floor with Sen. Herb Kohl, D-Wis., leader of the disgruntled senators.

The leaders promised to try changing the way milk prices are set — next year.

"We apparently have common agreement on both sides of the aisle that we're going to work together," Kohl said.

INJURE: Survivor wants tradition to continue

feet over in either direction, right or left, I'd died. One of my buddies got crushed to death."

"A lot of people join in together and have a good time building the bonfire. It's a good tradition," said Harlan, who was an MHS honor student.

The bonfire stack was last cancelled in 1963 in deference to the assassinated U.S. President John F. Kennedy, the first cancellation since the traditional began in 1909.

MHS Principal Neil Richmond recalled Harlan as a "real good kid" who, as a member of the National Honor Society, was in the "upper 10 percent of the class" of about 580 students.

"I wish him a lot of luck," Richmond said. "Hang in there, and everything will be all right."

Harlan was listed in "fair condition" in the hospital where he was in the company of his mother, Elizabeth Kuykendall, of Midland, his sister, 16-year-old Jessica Harlan, and a stream of fellow A&M students. "All of his buddies have been in here. He was very fortunate" to have survived the fall, his sister said.

An account under the name "Midland A&M Friends of Will Harlan" has been set up at Norwest Bank of Midland to help offset Harlan's hospital and recuperation costs, noted Midlander Donny McClure, A&M Class of 1970, who is a director of the Texas Aggie Corps of Cadets Association. The bank's mailing address is P.O. Box 2097, Midland, Texas 79701.

Ms. Kuykendall, office manager of Prime Time Christian Broadcasting, said that "absolutely, the Lord is with William.

"I don't believe God orchestrated any of this tragedy," Ms. Kuykendall said. "I believe I can get though this because of my faith. God had no hand in his tragedy whatsoever."

Of the bonfire tradition, Ms. Kuykendall said, "I believe that (A&M officials) will evaluate this and make the right decision if it is to continue or not. If they continue with the bonfire, I believe that this mistake will never happen again.

"I fully believe that the powers that be will be making the decisions that are best for the school, the families of those kids that have been injured as well as those who have lost their lives."

The bonfire tradition, said Donny McClure, director of the Texas Aggie Corps of Cadets Association, "definitely should be continued.

"In A&M's case, traditions are the cornerstone of that school's heritage," he said. "When you start removing the cornerstones, you lose your foundation, and when you lose your foundation, there's not a whole lot left."

The bonfire would be "classified as one of the most cherished of all traditions and not just by Aggies," McClure said, "but I think statewide even by non-Aggies," including UT Longhorns. "Some of the calls I got yesterday ... from some (UT) Longhorns probably meant as much as some of the Aggie calls."

McClure helps recruit Midland-area students for the A&M Corps of Cadets.

"There's no tragedy worse than losing a child," said McClure, who cited the "anguish and grief" suffered by the families of the A&M students who lost their lives in the collapse.

"Kids were doing what they wanted to do, working together on a tradition that has been part of the lifeblood of that school," said McClure who, in the fall of 1969, helped build what he said was the school's tallest bonfire stack of 105 or 109 feet.

The height has since been scaled down to 55 feet.

McClure said that when A&M students, alumni, and officials "get past the initial grief period, there will be an inquiry" to discern cause of the stack's collapse and "to guarantee this will never happen again."

Tim Harrison, a Midland paramedic and A&M Class of 1994, noted that the A&M-UT rivalry is "something we (Aggies) live and breathe."

Harrison said that he was distraught over the loss of lives and injuries in the stack's collapse. "My sympathy obviously goes out. It's a great loss. It was terrible. I just wish I could have been there (as a paramedic) to help" the injured and dying students.

Crash investigator: EgyptAir plunge might have been deliberate

By Anne Gearen
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The government's chief aircraft investigator said Friday that officials believe the crash of EgyptAir Flight 990 may have been deliberate, though another official said the suspicious words "I made my decision now" are not on the cockpit tape after all.

As they looked at wreckage and other evidence from the Oct. 31 crash, "our investigators began to feel that the crash might — and I emphasize might — be the result of a deliberate act," chairman James Hall of the National Transportation Safety Board said at a news conference.

That direct acknowledgment followed a week of mystery and confusion that focused on the recorded words of a co-pilot apparently alone in the cockpit as the plane began diving toward the sea.

The New York-to-Cairo jetliner crashed off Massachusetts' Nantucket Island, killing all 217 people aboard, including two pilots and two relief pilots.

Hall said speculation about words captured on the cockpit voice recorder had caused unnecessary pain and "done a disservice to the longstanding friendship between the people of the United States of America and Egypt."

Hall was apparently referring to a widely quoted statement attributed to the relief co-pilot. Hall brushed aside questions about the specific words on the cockpit recording.

On Wednesday, a federal law enforcement official said that just before the autopilot was turned off and the fatal dive began, the crew member in the co-pilot's seat was recorded as saying: "I made my decision now. I put my faith in God's hands."

But on Friday, a government official said the first of those two sentences — the one about making a decision — is not heard on the tape after all. Word of it apparently arose from confusion among investigators, the official said.

This government official, speaking only on condition of anonymity, could not say whether there was some other prefatory sentence or differing translation. Experts went over the tape this week and electronically enhanced it to prepare an exact transcript.

U.S. investigators apparently found the cockpit conversation suspicious enough that they considered turning over the inquiry to the FBI as a criminal matter. Hall said that decision has been postponed.

Many Egyptians, who pepper everyday conversation with expressions of religious faith, were not convinced that the cockpit recording pointed to suicide.

Hall and other government officials have warned all week of varying interpretations of what is heard on the tape. On Friday he decried "second-third- and fourth-hand" speculation that is some instances has produced "headlines with

Girl shot at New Mexico middle school

DEMING, N.M. (AP) — A boy shot and critically wounded a female classmate after lunch outside their middle school Friday.

The boy was taken into custody after the 12:45 p.m. shooting at Deming Middle School.

The wounded girl was treated at Mimbres Memorial Hospital for a gunshot wound to the head and was taken in critical condition to a hospital in El Paso, said Mimbres chief executive officer, Tim Schmidt.

The names of the students were not released.

Deming school Superintendent Carlos Viramontes said school officials had "heard a lot of stories," but knew of no motive for the shooting.

The school district in the small ranching town near the Mexican border had set up a safety plan for just such a situation last year, "hoping we would never have to use it," Viramontes said.

No other students were hurt.

The school was evacuated, and parents were being allowed to get their children, the superintendent said. He said counseling was being provided for students who saw the shooting.

Deming is about 100 miles west of El Paso.

Company expands juice recall over salmonella risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers should avoid drinking unpasteurized orange juice sold under several brand names by Sun Orchard Inc., the Food and Drug Administration said Friday, as it announced that another batch may be contaminated with salmonella.

Consumers should ask about the source of any unpasteurized orange juice they are served, the FDA said.

Salmonella can cause serious and sometimes fatal infections in young children, frail or elderly people and those with weakened immune systems. Healthy individuals can suffer fever, severe headache, vomiting, abdominal pain and diarrhea.

On Tuesday, the FDA warned consumers to avoid Sun Orchard's unpasteurized orange juice.

On Friday, the FDA added still another batch to the recall list: Lot No. 9308, which bears an "enjoy by" date of 11/20/99 and was sold in gallon containers under the brand names Sun Orchard and Sysco, and in gallon and half-gallon unlabeled containers.

Previously recalled lots include: Nos. "9306, Enjoy by 11/18/99," "9307 Enjoy by 11/19/99," "9303, Enjoy by 11/21/99," "9309, Enjoy by 11/22/99," and "9309, Enjoy by 11/23/99." They were sold under the names Sun Orchard, Sysco, Aloha and Zupan in California, Washington, Oregon, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado, Texas, Arizona and British Columbia, Canada.

No illnesses have been reported in connection with the latest recalled batches.

information that is just flat wrong."

Since Hall himself previously discounted mechanical failure or weather-related factors as causes of the crash, attention had turned to cockpit actions and the words of the crew, especially relief co-pilot Gameel el-Batouty.

The so-called black box containing the cockpit voice recorder was recovered last weekend. The box containing the flight data recorder was recovered earlier.

Hall said Friday the NTSB is using Arabic language software to help make a precise Arabic transcription that will later be translated into English. He would not say when work would be done or when transcripts might be released.

He also said information from the recorders will be used to program a Boeing flight simulator, which will then run tests.

Victims of A&M bonfire tragedy remembered

By Susan Parrott
Associated Press

DALLAS — Chad Powell was a natural leader — an Eagle Scout and valedictorian of his high school.

The computer engineering major at Texas A&M University was typical of the 11 people who died when a 40-foot pyramid of logs for a football bonfire collapsed early Thursday.

The victims included honor students, members of the Corps of Cadets, and others who were respected on campus.

Powell "was a great kid to know, and he had a great sense of humor, and also knew that he was a leader and assumed those responsibilities," said his former principal at Keller High School, Randy Baker.

Powell was an avid rock-climber, so it was no surprise he was helping as a freshman coordinator of the bonfire project, said Julie Zwahr, a family friend.

"He would never ask anyone to climb up there if he wasn't willing to do it himself," she said.

In high school, Powell was president of the National Honor Society, a National Merit Scholar and a member of the academic decathlon team that finished third in the state last year. The 19-year-old hoped one day to open a computer store and design software.

"He died giving himself as he had lived," Powell's parents, Greg and Jill, said in a brief statement.

Other victims included:

MICHAEL EBANKS, a 1999 graduate of Newman Smith High School in Carrollton, had a passion for two things: Aggies and airplanes.

The 19-year-old earned his private pilot's license last year and took honors courses in high school so he could attend Texas A&M, where he was a major in aerospace studies.

Ebanks also won a first-place award during his senior year in a national competition of the Distributive Education Clubs of America, or DECA.

High school principal Lee Alvoid said Ebanks had a great sense of humor. "He was always with a group of friends, laughing and smiling. He had a great smile."

Ms. Alvoid said the death was particularly tragic for Ebanks' family, which lost an older son, a graduate of Texas A&M, in a traffic accident several years ago.

JAMIE HAND, a freshman environmental design major from Henderson, was known for her athletic, academic and artistic talents.

She was a cheerleader in high school, earning All-America and all-star honors. She served on the school's student council and yearbook staff and was a member of the National Honor Society.

"She did everything she did with everything she had. She had a zest for life," said Jo Velvin, superintendent of the Henderson public schools.

The 19-year-old also sang at church with her sisters and was an artist.

Hand's father told the Henderson Daily News that his daughter was a proud Aggie.

"She loved what she was doing," Larry Hand said. "She loved being down there at school."

JEREMY FRAMPTON, 22, loved sports, hunting and the Aggie bonfire tradition.

The Turlock, Calif., native graduated in the top 20 percent of his high school class. Teachers remember him as a positive-minded student driven to succeed.

One friend said he was "the type of guy that moms really liked."

Frampton had participated in the bonfire tradition for the past five years, family members say. This year, the senior psychology major was a "brown pot" — one of the handful of supervisors charged with overseeing the construction of the bonfire.

"If Jeremy were standing here, he would tell you (the) bonfire should continue," said his older brother, Scott Frampton, also an A&M alumnus. "He would say, 'Build it higher, make it burn longer.' That's just how he felt about it."

JERRY SELF, 20, a sophomore engineering technology major from Arlington, was remembered for his school spirit. He was on the Arlington Lamar High School student council and the Spanish club, on the track team and the varsity football team.

An offensive lineman who didn't always get much playing time, Self was remembered by coaches and teachers as one who could be counted on.

"You always ask, 'Why do things like this happen to a good kid like Jerry?' But those are the kids that always get in and get involved," said a former teacher, Gayle Nelson.

Self planned to become an electrical engineer after completing a stint with the Air Force.

BRYAN ALLAN MCCLAIN, 19, grew up in northeast San Antonio and attended Madison High School, where he was a swim team member for four years and captain of the team his senior year.

McClain was remembered by neighbors and school officials as a respectful, clean-cut young man and a good student. He graduated from Madison in 1998.

At Texas A&M University his major was agriculture, but friends said he was interested in a career as an entomologist.

At the tradition-rich university, McClain realized his dream of joining the Corps of Cadets, a military-style program at A&M.

Agronomy professor Dudley Smith said McClain's quiet and unassuming manner made him stand out.

"He symbolized the dedication of a Corps member," Smith said. "He was always in uniform. He was always very neat. 'Yes, sir. No, sir.' All of that."

CHRISTOPHER LEE HEARD, 19, a freshman and pre-engineering major from Houston, dreamed of becoming a Navy SEAL commando like his father.

His uncle, Lindy Heard, said his nephew was named outstanding senior military cadet upon his 1999 graduation from Marine Military Academy, a private military prep school in Harlingen. He was attending A&M on a full scholarship.

"He was an all-around good person," said retired Marine Corps Master Gunnery Sgt. James Hager, who supervised Heard at MMA. "He was hard but fair, and he never lost sight of how he started out as a private and had to work his way up, so he could identify with the first-year cadets.

"And he had a hell of a sense of humor."

MIRANDA ADAMS, 19, a sophomore biomedical sciences major from Santa Fe, was studying to be a pediatrician. At Santa Fe High School, she was a member of the National Honor Society, student council and band, principal Gary Causey said.

"She was a good citizen, the kind of kid that you wish all your student body was made up of," he said.

Miss Adams was similarly active at A&M, serving as a co-chair of the group planning the bonfire.

"She was very excited about it," said Debbie Wentzel, a teaching assistant at Santa Fe Intermediate School who works with Miss Adam's mother, Carolyn. "Her family hadn't made any Thanksgiving plans definite because of the bonfire and Miranda being involved in it. It was her big thing."

NATHAN SCOTT WEST was a competitive swimmer who planned on a career in oceanography. The 19-year-old already had a head start among his peers as a National Merit Scholar semifinalist.

West, a sophomore from the Houston suburb of Bellaire, scored more than 1,400 on the SAT and graduated 18th in a class of 387 seniors at Westbury High School.

"He was academically competent beyond belief," said Michael Moore, a Westbury science teacher.

West moved to the A&M Corps of Cadets from the Boy Scouts, with whom he once helped refurbish the inner-city cemetery where Civil War hero Dick Dowling is buried.

LUCAS KIMMEL was following a family tradition at Texas A&M, the school both his father and brother attended.

Kimmel, who turned 19 on Sunday, graduated from Tuloso-Midway High School in Corpus Christi in May. The freshman biomedical science major was attending the school on several scholarships, including an ROTC award. He hoped to become a veterinarian. He also was a member of the university's Corps of Cadets.

In high school, he ran track and was on the swim team. He was a member of 4-H, the National Honor Society, and was an Eagle Scout.

Friends told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times that the smart, outgoing athlete liked to make people laugh.

A&M bonfire investigation focuses on center pole

■ More coverage/5C

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Investigators focused Friday on the 100-foot, spliced-together center pole in the Texas A&M bonfire pyramid as they tried to learn it collapsed with a loud crack, killing 11.

The last two bodies were pulled from the sprawling timber pile early Friday as a pall of grief paralyzed the campus during what is supposed to be one of the most exciting times of the year: the runup to the big football game against the University of Texas.

"We're still trying to understand it," Texas A&M President Ray Bowen said Friday. "We don't have the answers to all the questions. We're still trying to deal with the shock."

Bowen on Friday ordered the formation of a task force of engineers and experts to look into the disaster "so we'll be able to analyze all the facts and make decisions to see this horror never visits our campus again."

Attention turned to the pole that served as the central support for the massive bonfire. The pole was to tower over the rest of the 55-foot-high stack of 7,000 logs, each about 10 to 15 feet long. Each log was wired to three others in a formation that resembled a wedding cake.

The center pole actually was two logs, fused together with bolts and wire and driven about 10 feet into the ground. Rusty Thompson, faculty adviser to the bonfire project, said the splice "would be a focus of the investigation."

A&M: Kimmel was 'team clown'

(From 11A)

"He was just our team clown, always so funny and so full of life," said Dee Hargis, Kimmel's swim coach and friend. "There was never a dull moment with him around. We would go to a restaurant and he would put a spoon on his nose and two spoons on his ears. He always wanted to make people laugh."

CHRISTOPHER BREEN, 25, graduated from A&M in 1997 with a degree in agricultural development. He was a member of the Corps of Cadets in 1992-96, and was the son of University of Texas civil engineering professor John Breen.

In his last year at A&M, he was the senior coordinator for the bonfire as a brown pot. He lived in Austin and was visiting College Station to work on the bonfire when the accident happened.

Friends said he was passionate about the annual tradition.

"You could tell during the fall semester that the bonfire was his life," said former classmate Manda Hays. "He took care of things, kept the guys in order."

Frankly, Midland Lee's just better

Nation's No. 1-ranked Rebs get by El Paso's best

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

EL PASO — The state football playoffs got serious at the Sun Bowl Friday night.

Midland Lee survived a scrappy El Paso Franklin team, winning 34-20 in what many people expected a blowout. Lee defeated Franklin 35-7 here in El Paso back in September.

LEE
5A Area Game
Midland Lee 34
EP Franklin 20

But Lee coach John Parchman had warned all week that this Franklin team was a much better club than the first time the two teams met.

"They are a much better team, but we didn't play great pass defense," Parchman said. "But it's still a win and we are glad to get out of here with this one behind us."

Lee now could be headed for the most anticipated game of the year in the state of Texas next Saturday at 2 p.m. in Abilene's Shotwell Stadium. That's where Lee will face the winner of today's Lewisville-Waco High game.

If Lewisville wins that 7:30 p.m. contest, it will pit the top two ranked teams in Texas against each other. Lee fans can hear the Lewisville-Waco game on KCRS (550 AM) radio, beginning at 7 p.m.

One thing, however, Franklin couldn't handle was Cedric Benson. The junior did it again. He had 347 yards rushing, the fourth time to do it this season and the first to do it in District 4-5A history. He also becomes the first 4-5A back to have over 300 yards in two consecutive games and four of his last five.

In doing so, Benson also became 4-5A's leading rusher in career yards. He now has 4,945 career yards, passing former leader John Williams of Odessa Permian, who had 4,847 (1991-93).

And Benson broke the record in style, going 50 yards in the third quarter for a touchdown to pass Williams,

"Well, we needed those yards tonight," Parchman said. "He's got some good looking numbers for a junior."

The Cougars were tough in the first half even though Lee held a 20-3 margin at the break. Franklin had two scoring opportunities inside the Lee 10-yard line, but came away with only three points, a 22-yard field goal by Aaron Hernandez.

Benson had 182 yards rushing in the first half and 110 in the first quarter. He also had two touchdowns, the first on a 53 yard run on a juke and a blast up the sidelines. That made him the career leader in TDs in 4-5A history with his 66th, breaking the 65 that Benson and Midland High's Jay Francis both held going into this game, a mark that stood for over 50 years. Benson later had a 38-yard run to set up his second TD of the night, a meager four-yard run.

But what really gave Lee a cushion was a 50-yard drive engineered by quarterback Jon Rogers, who threw for 47 of the yards in the two-minute drill. Rogers hit Josh Perez with a 15-yard pass with 38 seconds left. Perez, who caught his first two career TD passes against San Angelo Central last week, made an astonishing catch, beating Franklin's Chris Morrow for the ball. Morrow was all over Perez, but somehow came up with the score.

Lee had to punt the first two times it had the ball, a rarity this season. Lee was driving hard on its first possession, but Rogers slipped and fell for a 7-yard loss, and Michael Wynn punted the ball out on the Franklin one.

Iraan survives Stanton scare

No. 4 Braves end Buffaloes' season

ODESSA — In games such as the anticipated "bloodbath" between Stanton and Iraan Friday night usually the winner is usually the one who makes the fewest mistakes and comes up with the biggest plays.

Jeremy Hull

In a Region I-2A area round game which pitted these two foes, the No. 4 Braves had the biggest plays of them all in a 20-11 victory at Ratliff Stadium which sends Iraan into state quarterfinals against either Stratford or Abernathy, which play today in Amarillo.

Even though Clint Smithson had a big rushing day for the Braves (12-0) with 171 yards on 29 carries with an electrifying 57-yard touchdown run in the first quarter, it was the play of senior defensive back D.J. Villanueva which sank the hopes of the Buffaloes (11-1).

With Iraan leading 14-9 late in the third quarter, the Buffs appeared to have momentum on their side and were in perfect position to take the lead with a first down and the ball at the Braves' 12-yard line. The Buffs lost a yard on the first play and then had an incomplete pass to bring up third-and-11 from the 13.

Jeremy Hull, who was a big workhorse for the Buffaloes with 158 yards on 32 carries, got the third-down carry but fumbled the ball at the 12. That's where Villanueva picked up the loose ball and ran it back 88 yards for the score to give the Braves a 20-9 lead.

Iraan's third-year coach Randy Doege said the fumble return by Villanueva proved to be huge.

"They (Buffaloes) had us on our heels, we knew that it was going to be a four quarter football game, and we needed a turnover bad," Doege said. "Poor ol' D.J., he got hurt in the first scrimmage and this is his first game back. What a wonderful way to come back."

Trinity fights for TCAL finals

By Oscar LeRoy
Sports Writer

The Midland Trinity Chargers are taking a confident but cautious approach into the Texas Christian Athletic League semifinal game against Amarillo Trinity Fellowship today.

They know that the Lions (6-4) will be out for a little revenge after the Chargers took out the whipping sticks on them two weeks ago by a score of 52-6 in the TCAL West-clinching game.

"It's feels great to come this far again but we have to take all our games one at a time. We can't look ahead and assume we're going to state," said junior back Jeesoung Yi.

It just might be a little different story when these two teams meet again at 1 p.m. today in Meadow, which is located between Brownfield and Lubbock on Highway 62-82.

Trinity's third-year coach Karl Kitto reminds his team of what happened last year in the state semifinals when his Chargers (7-4) met the same El Paso Faith Christian team they beat 45-0 two weeks earlier. In the semifinals, the Chargers needed a good second half effort to pull away 81-58 and advance to the state title game.

"We can't have the same episode that we had last year against El Paso Faith Christian," Kitto said. "We're expecting a dogfight this Saturday. The thing that's on our side this time is that we've got more experience. The kids have got a lot of pride. They've done everything we've asked. They want to go to state and they know that this is the only way they're going to get there."

Standing in the way of a repeat trip to the TCAL state championship game are the Lions, who are led by quarterback Colin Reid and backs Tim Pool and Nathan Brown — all of whom can be very explosive on offense.

In the game against the Lions on Nov. 4, the Chargers got a big game against Nathan Pirtle, who rushed for 165 yards and four touchdowns. Jeehoun Yi added 102 yards rushing.

"The last time we played them they were a tough team but I just think we executed real well," said freshman back Jeehoun Yi. "I think it'll be a good challenge facing them again."

"We're just going to go out there and do what we did last time and take it to them again," said Pirtle about facing Amarillo Trinity. "If they try anything different or new we'll just get used to it and step it up from there.

"It's a different feeling this time around but it's

Greenwood has chance to make history with victory over Dalhart

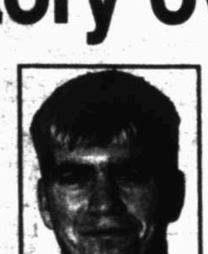
By Oscar LeRoy
Sports Writer

CANYON — Greenwood has a chance to make history this afternoon with a win against Dalhart in its Class 3A Small School Area playoff game.

A win would make 1999's Greenwood Rangers football team the best ever at the school. Greenwood (8-3) has never gotten past the area round but it's got a chance when it faces the 6-5 Wolves at 5 p.m. at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

"The kids are real excited about this game," said Greenwood coach Bob Purser. "If we could win this one, these kids can consider themselves the best Greenwood team ever. I already think they're the best Greenwood team ever."

Greenwood won its first bi-district game since 1995 when they defeated Seminole, 39-22, last Friday in Andrews.



Wes Smith

Against the Indians, the Rangers got three rushing touchdowns by senior quarterback Wes Smith and big 45-yard interception return by Justin Outlaw to pull away from Seminole.

The Rangers have gotten to the area round before but have never gone farther.

A big reason for the success of this Rangers' squad is the big senior class, which is the heart and soul of the team.

"We had a lot these kids as juniors and they've grown up so much since then. Seven of them have started since they were sophomores and that experience is valuable," Purser said of the 29 seniors on his team. "That kind of experience, you can't get any other way. As a team, they really are a good right time," said Villanueva about the big fumble return for a touchdown. "I think right there was the momentum changer."

Stanton coach Mark Cotton said the fumble return wasn't the difference maker in the game.

"For the first and second down, we didn't make any yardage," Cotton said. "That's where we got into trouble. It wasn't the third down fumble. Fumbles happen. It's not making any yardage that got us."

The Braves fumbled the conversion attempt after Villanueva's TD and it was returned by Stanton's Josh Haislip for two points to pull the Buffs within 20-11. After that, Stanton just could not get much offense going. Hull, who had 125 yards at the half, was limited to just 33 the rest of the way.

Stanton's other big weapon, quarterback Will Harris, failed to complete a pass in the game. Because the Braves started keying on Hull early in the game, junior fullback Clay White finished with 14 carries for 93 yards including a 12-yard run for a touchdown in the second quarter which pulled his Buffs to 14-7 at the half.

"We about wore Clay out and he had a great, great game," Cotton said. "I thought we made a couple of bad calls in the third quarter and we went with the things that got us here and I probably should've shifted over and gone to some different things."

"We really didn't make any adjustments at the half," said Villanueva, who also had an interception in the second half. "We knew what we had to do and our defense responded to the challenge."

Stanton got all of its 258 yards on the ground. Not getting the passing game going also proved to be a big factor.

"It killed us," said Cotton about not establishing an air attack. "You've got to complete some passes against these people to have a chance and we didn't. That was really the big difference in the football game.

"I felt like if we could go into the fourth quarter with a tie or very close we could win. We pushed them there but they (Braves) responded. We didn't play as well as I hoped too, but I attribute it to that bunch over there. We made a few mistakes and they cashed in them."

Although Cotton felt like his team didn't live up to its end of the "bloodbath" billing, the Braves felt very fortunate to get a quality win against one of their fiercest rivals.

"That's a great football team in Stanton," Doege said. "Why they're not ranked we don't know. If we play them 100 times, they're going to win 50 of them. Heck, if we play tomorrow they might win.

"That was a fun game. Coach Cotton and I had tears in our eyes after the game because both of us knew somebody wasn't going to get to move on."

U. Frank Williams Jr./Reporter-Telegram

Stanton's Jeremy Hull gets tackled by several Iraan defenders in the second quarter of the Buffaloes loss to the No. 4 Braves.

For Cotton, the season proved to be his most enjoyable in his five years as Stanton's head coach.

"I told our kids that there better not be one of them hanging their heads," said Cotton, who was trying to choke back some emotion. "They are so much fun to be with. This bunch of seniors, I remember in junior high everybody was saying, 'Oh goodness! They'll never be players' and look at them now."

MHS' Johnston earns 100th victory as player

Staff Report

EL PASO — The Midland High Bulldogs moved into the semifinals of the McDonald's basketball tournament with a milestone victory for senior guard Blake Johnston.

The Bulldogs' 71-62 win over San Elizario Friday night improved MHS to 2-0, and it was the 100th victory of Johnston's high school varsity career. That's a rare enough feat for a senior at the end of his final season; it's even rarer for a player starting his senior season.

"He's the only player I've had that's lettered as a freshman, and he's been playing for four years," MHS coach Jack Stephenson said. "We'd won 98 going into this season with him. I think we're 100-9 with Blake playing on this basketball team."

Johnston scored 19 points, while Randy Gardner chipped in 15 and Ronnie Brewster added 13.

MHS took control early with a 24-11 lead after the first quarter, giving some of the inexperienced Bulldogs a chance to get some experience.

The Bulldogs advanced to play El Paso Hanks in a semifinal at noon today. Hanks defeated Midland Lee, 74-46, Friday night.

MHS opened the tournament with a 79-68 win over El Paso Socorro Thursday. Johnston led the way with 29 points, and Chris Oldham and Brewster each scored 10.

Lady Rebs fall to Frenship in Crossroads semifinals

Staff Report

BIG SPRING — The perfect start to the season for the Midland Lee girls basketball team came to an end here at the Crossroads Tournament Friday.

The Lady Rebels, who had won their first two games of the season soundly, fell to Frenship 52-47 in the tournament semifinals. Lee (2-1) stayed close the entire way, but couldn't get untracked offensively against the Lady Tigers (2-1).

"We just couldn't ever get jump-started," said Lee coach Elise Kail. "We played a fairly decent game on the defensive end but never came together offensively."

The only Lee player in double figures was freshman Adrianne Ross, who led the Lady Rebels in scoring for the third straight game with 10 points, although that was well below the 51 points she scored in the first two games.

Lee had to contend with Frenship's size, which left the Lady Rebels at a distinct disadvantage in rebounding.

"If we don't block out we definitely will get outrebounded," said Kail. "It was good to face that kind of pressure at this point in the season."

Lee will play in the third place game today at 4 p.m. against San Angelo Central, a District 4-5A foe. Central lost to Odessa High, another 4-5A team, in the other semifinal and OHS will play Frenship for the championship at 6 p.m.

"We wanted to play Odessa High in the finals since we play them in our first district game, but we play Central in the second district game so that's OK," said Kail.

LEE: Rebels give up 250 yards passing

(From 1B)

Franklin quarterback Omar Durate threw for 250 yards against a struggling Lee defense. Durate led his team to a second half surge in which the Cougars closed the gap to 26-20. Durate hit Kirk Dillard with a 7-yard scoring toss and Hernandez kicked his second field goal of the game, a 40-yard boot and Franklin got a fourth quarter TD from Jonathan Gibson, who was subbing for Jason Armendariz, who broke a rib. Armendariz went out of the game in the first half, taking his 1,200 yards for the year to the bench with him. Still, Franklin hung around.

But Lee put the game away in the fourth, using seven minutes to drive 70 yards as Clint McNutt covered the final eight for the final margin.

Rebel Notes: Tickets for next Saturday's region round playoff in Abilene will go on sale at the Memorial Stadium ticket office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday only. Tickets are $7 for adults and $4 for students. All tickets will be $8 on game day at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene... Lee has now won 20 games in a row... Only two penalties were walked off in the game as the refs let the teams play...

MHS girls move to 4-0

Staff Report

EL PASO — It's been so far, so good for the Midland High girls basketball team.

The Lady Dawgs improved their record to 4-0 in the first week of the season by crushing El Paso Andress 86-31 Friday night in the semifinals of the championship bracket in the El Paso Tournament. The win kept Midland High perfect in the first season under coach Terry Gray.

Eastwood provided little resistance for the Lady Dawgs, who jumped out to a 29-4 lead in the first quarter and never let up. Edrea Rogers, who led MHS with 22 points despite playing less than three quarters, scored 10 in the first quarter and 20 in the first half. Laura Koch had eight in the first quarter while Rebecca Nobles added six.

Koch had 12 points for MHS while Terri Meldrum added 11, as everyone who entered the game for the Lady Dawgs scored.

"I think its been a learning experience if nothing else," said MHS assistant coach Lisa Harris. "(The Lady Dawgs) are just starting to see what we want from them both offensively and defensively."

MHS will play El Paso Andress in the finals of the championshp bracket today at 11 a.m.

Rebels lose to EP Hanks

Staff Report

EL PASO — A slow start doomed the Midland Lee boys basketball team Friday night at the McDonald's Tournament and the Rebels never recovered in a 74-46 loss to El Paso Hanks.

The loss deprived Lee of a chance to face crosstown rival Midland High in the semifinals of the championship bracket. Instead, the Rebels will face San Elizario today at 9 a.m. and play another game later in the day with nothing better to play for than fifth place.

Lee (2-1) suffered its first loss after getting into a huge hole early which it could never climb out of. The Rebels trailed 11-0 at the outset and were forced to play catch-up the rest of the way with Hanks, which is generally considered one of the best teams in El Paso.

Chris Packer was the only Rebels in double figures with 19 points. Cory Simmons added eight. For Hanks, Garrett Richardson, grandson of Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson, scored a game-high 23 points, including four 3-pointers.

Stampede runs over Jacks

Staff Report

BELTON — The Odessa Jackalopes were little more than targets Friday night against the Central Texas Stampede.

The Stampede lived up to its name offensively, unloading 54 shots on goal against the beleagured Jacks en route to a 5-1 victory. Odessa goalie Billy Pye made an impressive 49 saves, but it wasn't nearly enough.

It was the Jacks who started peppering the goal early, but Central Texas goalie Jason Carey stopped all 14 shots in the first period, and by the middle of the second period Odessa had fallen into a 3-0 hole.

The Jacks got their only goal off the power play as Jacque Rodrigue scored off assists from John Bossio and Paul Vincent. That was the lone highlight of the period for Odessa, which was outshot 23-8 in the second.

The Jacks now head into Austin for a 7:30 p.m. game tonight. The trip could become longer due to the loss of defenseman Wynn Henricksen with a torn groin and forward Jason Pellerin with the flu.

OU game may be finale for Texas Tech's coach

By Chris Newton
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK — The future of Spike Dykes career as head coach of Texas Tech probably has nothing to do with the outcome of the Texas Tech vs. Oklahoma game Saturday.

Most likely, his fate is already sealed.

Fans were calling for Spike Dykes' job months ago when the team lost to North Texas, arguably one of the worst teams in all of Division I college football. A 58-7 drubbing by Texas last weekend, the worst loss in Red Raiders history, solidified the local sentiment.

Now, there are rumors that Tech is considering the possibility of a postseason resignation from Dykes. And some say the university is already hunting for a new coach.

Clemson offensive coordinator Rich Rodriguez has said that a school contacted Clemson officials to talk with him about a head coaching slot, but he refused to release the university's name.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported Thursday that sources close to the situation said that school was Tech.

Dykes, who is the winningest coach in Tech history (81-67-1), refused to comment on his future until after the season. He said his main interest is winning Saturday.

"Oklahoma presents a lot of problems and does a lot of things well, so we have our work cut out for us," Dykes said. "We'll need to bring our 'A game' to the field and that will be hard with the injuries we've had."

Texas Tech comes into the game 5-5 and needing a victory to qualify for postseason play. Oklahoma is 6-3 and closes it's season next week against rival Oklahoma State.

Dykes mused that his team will have to overcome the burden of being blown out by Texas and losing quarterback Rob Peters.

"I think if you're beat up mentally, in college football today, you're less than resilient," Dykes said. "If you can't handle losses you don't need to play.

The Sooners had to answer quarterback questions of their own this week.

Although quarterback Josh Heupel completed 24 of 42 passes for 180 yards — with two touchdowns in last weeks 31-10 thumping of Iowa State — he threw nine wild passes during the game.

The errant throws prompted speculation that he was playing hurt.

The future of Spike Dykes as the head coach of Texas Tech probably has nothing to do with the outcome of the Red Raiders' game with the University of Oklahoma today. Fans were calling for Dykes' job months ago when the team lost to North Texas.

"I don't think he's particularly sore," said Mike Leach, the offensive coordinator. "It's that time of year; we're on the 10th game. I think he's fine, and I think he'll do a good job this week."

Heupel said he will be 100 percent when he takes the field Saturday.

"Obviously I was disappointed with the way I performed," Heupel said. "I was happy with the win, but I know I can play a lot better than that. I'm going to get ready this week, and I'll be ready to play on Saturday."

Chaps fall to Weatherford

Staff Report

WEATHERFORD — A shot by Midland College's Armon Tillman fell short in the final seconds Friday night at the Weatherford Basketball Classic, letting pre-season No. 6 Weatherford College exact revenge for a loss two weeks ago.

The Chaparrals fought back from a 46-32 halftime deficit to a three-point deficit with five seconds left, only to see Tillman's three-pointer go in and out. Ricky Duff's rebound and put-back at the buzzer provided the final score: Weatherford, 80-79.

On Nov. 6 in Midland, the Chaps knocked off Weatherford, 78-75, in overtime.

This game almost wasn't close.

"We were down 14 at halftime. They really shot the ball well in the first half," said Chaps coach Junsie Cotten, whose team is 4-2.

A change in defense helped the Chaps come back.

"We went to our zone defense, which made them stagnant, and we started attacking the basket," Cotten said. "We had a lot of easy baskets; we just missed them. If we'd made a layup or two — but, hey, we fought. We got down, but we made some plays and we had a chance to tie.

No statistics were available from the game.

The Chaps play Cisco College at 4 p.m. today in their second game at the Weatherford Classic.

Gators DB gets chance to atone for mistake

By Eddie Pells
AP Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Some plays can change a game, others can change a season and, on rare occasions, a single snap can alter a player's life.

Last year, Marquand Manuel was part of a play that did all those things.

The Florida safety dropped into coverage early in the third quarter and read Florida State quarterback Marcus Outzen's eyes perfectly. Manuel broke as the pass was thrown. It was coming right into his hands. Only empty field stood between him and a huge, defensive touchdown.

Inexplicably, the ball ricocheted away. It bounced into the hands of Florida State receiver Peter Warrick, who juked another Florida defender and scored a go-ahead touchdown that sparked the Seminoles to a 23-12 victory and a trip to the Fiesta Bowl.

As No. 3 Florida (9-1) prepares to play No. 1 Florida State (10-0) in a rematch Saturday, again with national title hopes at stake, there is no player more prepared than Manuel.

"I think he's been waiting a whole year for this game," Gators wide receiver Travis Taylor said. "I think he blames himself for that loss, but he shouldn't. He's working hard to make sure that never happens again."

How hard?

Try an estimated 10,000 catches over the past 365 days. That's an average of about 27 per day, most of them after the rest of the team has left, in one-on-one drills with a position coach who came to the program during the offseason and quickly learned how big one play was to this player.

"It has become a ritual," assistant coach Buddy Teevens said. "He has not missed a day — rain, shine, academics."

It might sound like overkill, but Manuel has learned to walk the fine line between learning from his mistake and letting it ruin him.

Not a week goes by when someone doesn't remind him of the play that changed the game last year. But through this, he has found some perspective, the kind many players never gain until it's too late.

Rather than hiding from his problem, he confronted it, along with anyone who said he wouldn't be able to bounce back.

Coach Steve Spurrier says Manuel might be the only "rah-rah guy" he has on his team this season. He is only a sophomore, but clearly he's not afraid to lead.

Having been on the biggest stage and failed can help a player overcome lots of anxieties.

In a game rife with plot lines — Spurrier's rotating quarterbacks, Bobby Bowden's quest for a perfect season, Warrick's unending search for redemption — the story of an otherwise obscure safety could be the most compelling.

Manuel knows that rivalries like Florida-Florida State are "history games," contests where significant plays and players wind up in an unpublished log of memories good and bad.

He knows he already has a place there.

On Saturday, he hopes to make a more satisfying entry.

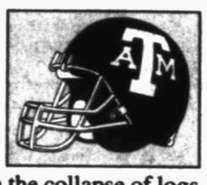
Season of Sorrow: Ags try to deal with Bonfire tragedy

By Michael A. Lutz
AP Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION — Football was far from the players' minds as Texas A&M approached its most emotional game of the season.



The deaths of 12 Aggies in the collapse of logs stacked for the traditional bonfire had many players focusing on the tragedy, rather than their meeting with No. 6 Texas.

"They are still in a state of shock," coach R.C. Slocum said after a meeting Friday.

"Young people tend to consider that it's old people who die. It's hard for them to realize their fellow students died working on a project to recognize the spirit that comes with the game," he said.

The bonfire, the torching of a 55-foot stack of logs that annually precedes the Aggies' battle with archrival Texas, is one of the most visible traditions at a school that prides itself on togetherness and school spirit.

"We have lost fellow students and that is hard to take, but with every trial there is a rainbow," cornerback Jason Webster said. "People come first. This is just a game. Our hearts go out to the families who lost their loved ones."

The team canceled practice for Thursday and Friday, some of them helping remove logs at the accident site. But the players will return to practice on Saturday and say they plan to play their best on the day after Thanksgiving against the Longhorns at Kyle Field.

Quarterback Randy McCown said those who died would have wanted the game to go on.

"They gave so much effort and they gave their lives to support us," he said. "The least we could give back to them would be to go and beat Texas."

It's been an emotionally draining year for the players, coaches and fans and it goes far deeper than a season that didn't quite live up to their expectations. The Aggies (7-3, 3-3 in Big 12) are out of the title chase.

"These players were dealt a real dose about what life is all about," Slocum said. "They will have to deal with the fact that life is very precious. They need to take time to hug that little sister and spend time with their families."

Before Thursday's accident, this season of sorrow had already given the Aggies plenty of reminders that a football game can become very insignificant.

In April, a week after spring training Slocum's son John Harvey, an A&M student, underwent successful reconstructive heart surgery to repair a congenital defect.

More Sports/8B

In the summer, the Aggies learned that quarterbacks coach Ray Dorr was battling Lou Gehrig's disease.

Dorr, who declines to speak about his illness, sensed that something as wrong but he delayed getting tests performed because he didn't want to give Slocum added worry.

When Dorr did get tests in June, they revealed the unwanted news. He has remained on the job this season, defying the effects of fatal amyothropic lateral sclerosis.

ALS is a neurological disorder in which the muscles slowly atrophy. It causes weakness and eventual paralysis and pain in the latter stages. There is no cure and treatment generally is aimed at easing discomfort.

Players talk about Dorr with tears in their eyes in admiration of his determined fight.

"We are athletes but we are people, too," Webster said. "I look at this and think how I would feel if some of my family passed away. We are a family here so it's kind of like some of my family did pass away. We will stick together and we will push through this."

The Aggies plan Friday's game as a tribute to their lost classmates.

"We would be negligent if we didn't push through this pain at least when we are practicing," Slocum said. "It would be such a loss to say they lost their lives and the team didn't play its best."

Hoosiers down Tech

■ Red Raiders miss beating Indiana before a sellout crowd at the new United Spirit Arena.

LUBBOCK (AP) — A.J. Guyton scored 22 points as Indiana held off Texas Tech 68-60 Friday night in the season opener for both teams before a sellout crowd of 15,050 in the debut of the $62 million United Spirit Arena.

Lynn Washington and Dane Fife added 11 points each for the Hoosiers, who held the Red Raiders to 26.3-percent shooting in the second half of the game, nationally telecast by ESPN.

Andy Ellis, of Lamesa, led Tech with a career-high 30 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Rayford Young chipped in 12 points, and Mario Layne added 10 points for the Red Raiders.

Indiana held a 35-34 lead at halftime before Ellis put Tech up with a pair of free throws just 30 seconds into the second period. But the Hoosiers responded with a 16-4 run capped by a pair of Fife free throws that put Indiana up 51-40 with 12:27 remaining in the game.

After a basket by Young at the 12:16 mark, Fife scored six consecutive points with two coming on a steal and a layup. Indiana then had its biggest lead of the game at 57-42 with 11:16 to play.

Indiana held a 63-51 lead with five minutes remaining. That was before Tech went on a 9-2 run that trimmed the deficit to 65-60 with 58 seconds left.

Sacramento beats Mavs

DALLAS (AP) — Chris Webber scored 24 points, including six down the stretch, as the Sacramento Kings won their fifth straight to match their best start in 47 years with a 103-94 victory over the Dallas Mavericks on Friday night.

Predrag Stojakovic and Jon Barry came off the bench to score 15 points each and Vlade Divac had 14 points and 11 rebounds to help the Kings (6-1) equal the best start in franchise history. The 1952-53 Rochester Royals also started 6-1.

The Kings' reserves outscored Dallas' bench, 52-13.

Dallas' Michael Finley had 24 points, 12 rebounds and 8 assists.

AREA: Dalhart squad averages 270 on D-line

group of people who enjoy playing together."

Second, the Rangers are healthy in the post-season. They lost tailback Brandon Audas and backup fullback Kevin Thornton early in the year to injuries but the Rangers aren't as banged up as they were a year ago.

"We got healthy when we needed to," Purser said. "Last year, we got crippled in the last part of district play. So that's also been a factor of why we've been successful."

The Rangers go against a Dalhart team which has really clicked at the end of the year. The Wolves got to the area round by defeating Shallowater, 15-14, thanks to a last-minute drive that culminated in a touchdown and a game-winning two-point conversion.

"We ended up having to go 86 yards to win the game," said Dalhart coach Bill Henly. "These kids tend to produce when the time is called for them to do so."

Dalhart, out of District 1, is led on offense by tailback Garland Swecker, who's rushed for 1,280 yards. The Wolves are well-rounded as they love to pass with quarterback Bubba Gallo, who's thrown for 1,000 yards.

But if there's one area that concerns Purser the most about the Wolves is on defense where the line averages 270 pounds per man.

"They are just big ol' farm boys," Purser said.

Call it equal admiration but Henly doesn't think the Rangers are midgets in a flea circus either.

"Greenwood's a very tough team," Henly said. "They look like they're awfully fast, awfully quick and awfully big. They look like a very well rounded football team. The wishbone looks like its hard to defend and their quarterback (Wes Smith) is an exceptional young man who makes a lot of plays for them.

"What we have to do is get around those big boys, who look real quick for their size."

The Wolves also have to get around the Rangers' quest on making history.

CHARGERS: Trinity goes for TCAL final spot

a feeling we've had before because we faced (El Paso) Faith Christian twice last year. We're pretty sure they're going to come out from the very beginning and try to take it to us."

The Chargers took a big step toward the Nov. 27 TCAL title game when they pounced on Galveston Heritage, 59-13, last week in a rematch of last year's TCAL title game, which Galveston Heritage won.

"Galveston Heritage was a good game for us," Kitto said. "It got the monkey off our backs that we couldn't beat Galveston Heritage. I didn't think we beat them like that because they have such outstanding talent. They were undermanned in the backfield and I guess we physically mauled them 'cause our kids were sick and tired of hitting each other."

Trinity's defense has really stood out, especially in the past four games where the Chargers have allowed just 32 points, including a shutout against Wichita Falls Episcopal.

"Our defense has really come on," Kitto said. "I investigated this, and last year by this time we averaged winning games by six-tenths of a point. This year the average margin of a win is 26 points for the entire year. And that's because the defense has stepped up and shut everybody down."

Being in the semifinals before just has to be an advantage for the Chargers... at least that's what Kitto hopes.

"I want to think we do," Kitto said. "We're not the rah-rah team that's down in the trenches screaming and hollering. They're quiet but they're the ones you have to watch out for. Last week all the coaches were sick to their stomachs and uptight thinking about Galveston Heritage. The kids were taking it easy."

Pirtle thinks the experience from last year is a plus.

"Being in that situation before, the junior and seniors are used to being in that situation where the freshman aren't," Pirtle said. "We have a lot of confidence since we did beat them last time, but we don't want to go in there overconfident and just thinking we can beat them."

Big 12 tourney to switch sites

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Big 12 Conference likes the home it has had for years for its post-season tournament, but it is ready for a second home beginning in 2002 as Oklahoma City and Arlington, alternate as tournament sites.

■ Big 12 Baseball

Games will be played through the year 2001 at the Bricktown Ballpark in Oklahoma City and will move to the Ballpark in Arlington in 2002. The sites will then alternate through 2005.

The Big 12 said Friday's announcement marks the first time a major NCAA Division I conference has taken its conference tournament into a major league ballpark.

Oklahoma City has been home to the conference tournament since 1976. The tournament has become the best-attended college tournament other than the College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

GOLF ROUNDUP

Woods, O'Meara trail Spanish team by one shot

Associated Press

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — With the queen of Malaysia in the gallery, the U.S. team of Tiger Woods and Mark O'Meara pulled within one stroke of the lead Friday at the World Cup.

O'Meara shot a 6-under-par 65 and Woods had a 68 to put the Americans at 273 after two days. Spain leads the 32-team tournament at 272.

Miguel Angel Martin and Santiago Luna each shot 66 for Spain. Martin joined Woods and Philip Price of Wales in the individual scoring lead at 135.

The United States has won 21 of the 44 World Cups but none since Fred Couples and Davis Love III swept four in a row from 1992 to 1995.

O'Meara, the 1998 U.S. Masters and British Open winner, rebounded after shooting a 73 in the opening round.

Lehman, Roberts share Pebble Beach Invitational lead

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. — Tom Lehman shot an even-par 72 on the Del Monte course for a share of the second-round lead Friday in the Callaway Pebble Beach Invitational Pro-Am.

Loren Roberts, the 1997 winner, had a 71 at Del Monte to match Lehman at 4-under 140 in the $300,000 tournament that includes male and female players.

Sweden's Helen Alfredsson and England's Barry Lane were a stroke back. Alfredsson shot a 71 at Del Monte, and Lane had a 72 at Spyglass Hill.

Do you believe in miracles?

Event may be simple sunset, unexplained healing

By Johnnye Montgomery
Religion Writer

What constitutes a miracle? Webster defines it as "an extraordinary event manifesting divine intervention in human affairs."

Readers, in response to an invitation issues by the Reporter-Telegram, think that miracles may be found in unexplained healings, near-accidents, family reconciliation and cosmic occurrences such as daily sunrises and sunsets.

Pam Logan wrote to tell of the everyday miracles in her life:

"Miracles happen daily; i.e., the birth of a child, a sunrise, the blessing received in God's comfort. Miracles as those performed by Jesus during his earthly ministry ended with the death of his apostles.

"We live in the miracle of God's creation; much is beyond our understanding, especially the human body," she wrote. "The apostle Paul warns that we will suffer in this world, some will suffer more than others; but God's comfort is available to all. Those who have lost loved ones to death, even after intercessory prayer, can find refuge in knowing God loves all of us without favoritism."

Pam Logan

Ginger Johnson

L.G. Daughtery

Larry Ashlock, pastor at Crestview Baptist Church, told of the healing of a former Crestview congregant, Elizabeth Hyde.

"She had a crippling nerve injury, and had been wheelchair-bound for years, and racked with pain, and we had prayed and prayed for her. It was obvious to us that she was deteriorating rapidly. She had dark rings under her eyes, and even her skin tone had changed.

"At this point, I went to England, and when I returned, this woman came running up to me and hugged me. It was so incredible."

Ashlock said the woman told him that she had looked up one day to see Jesus at her door, and that he had said "Elizabeth, come to me." She immediately felt that she was healed, and she stood up without pain.

Ginger Johnson, parishioner of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, also experienced a healing that she considered miraculous.

"I was at a 7 a.m. breakfast, when I became violently ill, and had to go home. I didn't know what to do. I went to a doctor who told me my gut was blocked. After lots of X-rays and CT scans, they labeled it as carcinoma.

"But something in me rose up strong, and I said 'No, I'm a Christian, and there is no death in me.' The Daughters of the King

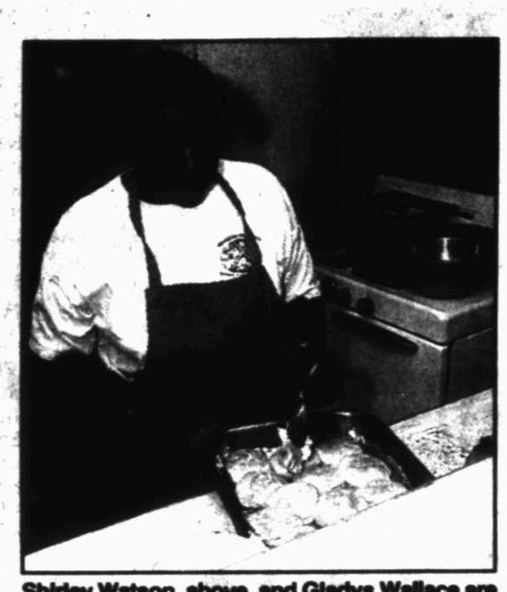
Bacon and eggs ministry



Shirley Watson, above, and Gladys Wallace are among the parishioners who help prepare and serve Sunday mornings at St. Paul's CME Church.

St. Paul's CME wants everyone to start their Sundays with a hearty breakfast

Every Sunday morning for the past four years, members of St. Paul's Christian Methodist Episcopal Church have been rising before sunrise to get down to the church and start cooking breakfast.

The substantial breakfast, consisting of scrambled eggs, sausage, bacon, biscuits and jam, with juice and coffee to drink, is not so much for St. Paul's congregants, although they're always welcome, as it is for neighborhood residents who may be in greater need of nourishment.

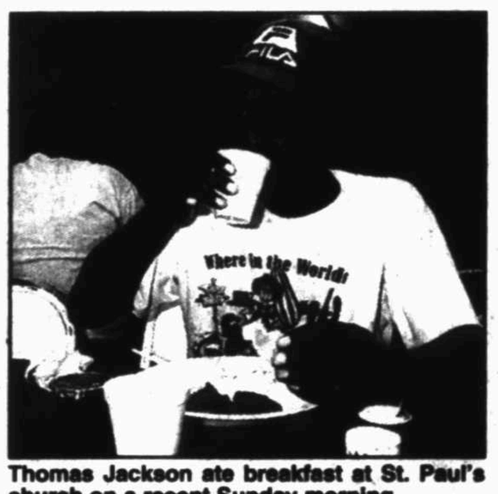
St. Paul's pastor, Ora Roberts, said the program began out of concern for the needs of the neighborhood children after a Halloween incident in 1995.

"The children all wanted to go trick or treat on Halloween, but we had decided that we really didn't want our children out on the streets, so we planned a little get-together with games and different family activities, and selling snacks and sweets in our church activities building.

"At one point in the evening, a mother and four or five children came in, and we noticed that this mother was digging all through her purse trying to find enough pennies to buy snacks for her children," Ms. Roberts said. "We knew we couldn't just point her out to give her children those snacks, so we just decided to give away everything. That gave us an opportunity to meet the needs of her children without embarrassing her.

"That night we began talking, and we realized that there was hunger out there among our children, and homelessness and needs that weren't being met."

The people of St. Paul's resolved to do what they could. Ms. Roberts said they prayed about it, then decided that if they could offer the children a nutritious breakfast on Sunday mornings, they would at least break up the long weekend interval between the school lunch on Friday and the school breakfast on Monday.



Thomas Jackson ate breakfast at St. Paul's church on a recent Sunday morning.

They started cooking at 6 a.m. the first Sunday in November 1995, and they started serving at 7 a.m. They haven't missed a Sunday since.

Ms. Roberts said the people who come to breakfast are neither expected to pay, nor are they expected to come to church.

"The sign outside says breakfast is free, and we mean that," she explained. "We operate strictly on donations. There's a box in the foyer of the church if somebody wants to donate, but if people can't, then all we ask is that they pray for us and for this ministry."

She said that from the beginning, the people involved in the breakfast ministry had decided never to make this a burden on the church budget.

"So far, God has provided enough to keep us going from week to week," she said. "There are times when we don't know where the money is going to come from, and sometimes it comes at the last minute, but we've always had enough to purchase food for the next breakfast."

She also stressed that no one is ever urged to come to church, in exchange for the food.

"God will send us the people. We are not going to interfere with God's work," she said.

Ms. Roberts said the ministry serves anywhere from 50 to 70 every Sunday morning, and more than half of them are children.

"We're always saying that homelessness and hunger don't exist in Midland, but it does. We've seen hungry people come into our kitchen. It's hard to say this, and it's even harder to see it. But we feel like, now that we've seen it, we can never again turn our back and ignore it.

"We feel that God has led us to this ministry, because he continues to bless it. People give donations and God provides, week to week."

'Town crier' looks like Johnny Cash, jokes like Johnny Carson

By Jim McElhatton
Associated Press

DEVIL'S POCKET — The cowboy preacher knelt before the carpeted altar with its velvet picture of Jesus. The Sistine Chapel has its Michelangelo. The Pocket Community Full Gospel Holiness Church has a slightly worn and torn velvet Jesus.

Neither piece of artwork could fit quite so perfectly anywhere else. The same could be said of church pastor Bill Jackson.

Dressed in black jeans, black vest and snakeskin boots, he doesn't look like a pastor. He looks like Johnny Cash. And he doesn't talk like a preacher, but cracks jokes like Johnny Carson.

A copy of a recent Jackson sermon sits on a pew behind him. It's titled "My Appetite is My Shepherd."

"It leadeth me in the path of Burger King for a Whopper," one passage proclaims. "It destroyeth my shape."

But somehow in the Pocket Community Full Gospel Holiness Church, the velvet Jesus and a locksmith preacher from Mississippi find a place to fit in. Jackson says he belongs in Devil's Pocket — off, way off, Texas 87 about 20 miles north of Orange — because God told him so.

AP Photo
Bill Jackson is pastor of the Pocket Community Full Gospel Holiness Church in Devil's Pocket. The church has a 12-member congregation; the goal is to have at least 50 people attending.

Like Frank Sinatra boasted of New York, New York, Jackson figures if he can preach in here, then, of course, he can do it anywhere.

It's unclear exactly how Jackson ended up here, just as everyone has a story on how Devil's Pocket got its name. Theories range from how horses used to drown while crossing the Neches River to how pirates used the banks to find a haven.

As a boy in rural Mississippi, Jackson planned to take his guitar strumming to Nashville instead of church.

"Hank Williams was my hero," he said. "But the Lord didn't let me learn to play the guitar to go to Nashville.

"He wanted me to go to Unpleasantville. I went from the pits to a palace. I was the town drunk and now I'm the town crier."

The Unpleasantville crack isn't a shot at Devil's Pocket, but a reference to the depths the good-humored preacher once sank.

Jackson said alcoholism, while he lived in a Texas border town, cost him his job, family and possessions. Then Jackson said he found God and started preaching on street corners — which he still does occasionally.

A history buff, Jackson likened himself to the old town criers. He not only gave himself that title, but had town crier painted onto his truck and put on business cards.

Jackson says his job as town crier is to "warn people about the impending storm."

"Everybody thinks everything's going along all hunky dory with the millennium," he said. "But it's not. Nobody wants to hear the end is near."

His next-door neighbor, at least hears. Hughie Culver, a 1992 West Brook graduate, calls himself assistant to the assistant pastor, who is his mother. Culver and his brother and sister-in-law make up the church's youth group. The total congregation is 12 people.

Culver works as a certified nurse's aide making only enough to get by and pay the bills, barely more than $5 an hour. But the church services have given him a chance to preach, and now he's considering attending a Bible college.

"If I saw everyone from high school and said I was a preacher," Culver said, "they wouldn't believe it."

Jackson hopes his church membership doesn't slip into the single digits. A sign on the side of church shows it has an attendance goal of 50.

"People don't want the old-fashioned anymore," he said. "They want the modern. They want the jukey jukey. But I tell them, God gave me a Bible, not a pacifier. I'm not going to baby anyone."

The Good Book: 2 John (Part 62 of 66)

Overview:
Second John is a note written by "the elder" to praise a particular church for "walking in the truth" and to warn the church about those false teachers "who do not confess that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh." The elder keeps his letter brief because he hopes to visit with the church face to face in the near future.

Key Passage: vs. 5-6
"But now, dear lady, I ask you, not at though I were writing you a new commandment, but one we have had from the beginning, let us love one another. And this is love, that we walk according to his commandments; this is the commandment just as you have heard it from the beginning — you must walk in it."

Attitude of gratitude is often contagious

Kituku

Some of life's lessons are learned in unexpected ways and places. For six years, I wondered whether God had designated Laramie, Wyo., as a Winter Misery Testing Site.

I arrived in Laramie on Feb. 10,1986. It was a cold winter morning. The temperature must have been below anyone's survival level, or at least that is what I thought. Welcome to Wyoming!!!

When I left Nairobi, Kenya on Feb. 7, the thermometer's range was around the 100s.

They told me in Wyoming that I should expect two seasons, the 4th of July and winter. Rodney, my friend, told me that snow could be expected during any month except July. The snow problem was always amplified by wind. The speed of the wind was phenomenal. There was no need for raking and bagging leaves in the fall. Wyoming winds blew them to Nebraska or Colorado!

I disliked the winter conditions of Wyoming and looked forward to the day I would leave. On April 6, 1992, I started to work on an ecological project for Idaho Power Co., which generates its electricity mainly by use of water power. The main source of the water is snow. Indeed my very livelihood depended on snow. Soon, I joined the others at Idaho Power in praying for snow, especially given that there had been snow scarcity for about six years before my coming. The decorations of the Christmas tree that year were centered around one theme: Let It Snow! Let It Snow!

The forest fires of 1993 covered the Treasure Valley with smoke, and the air was stifling. Migraine headaches became a problem, thus prompting me to wish for the Wyoming winds. If only we had some of the wind in Wyoming, I wouldn't have migraine headaches. I learned to appreciate and being thankful in any situation

(From 2C)

(an Episcopalian order of women who regularly pray for people who request such prayers), and a niece who lives in London was praying for me, and Stockton, our rector was praying with my husband, Merion.

"I went to Temple, and the surgeon agreed with me," she said. "They did an appendectomy, a sigmoidectomy (removing part of the colon above the sigmoid), then removed a tumor larger than a grapefruit.

"While I was in surgery, I was praying, telling the Lord how to take care of everybody, and he said, 'I have told you that I will never leave you nor forsake you. Behold I have given my angels charge over you...' and I looked up into the top of the surgery, and the whole area above me was filled with angels."

Ms. Johnson said she continued to hear the voice of God through the rocky days that followed and during her trip home.

"All I can do is glorify God, because he's in charge," she said.

L.G. "Copper" Daugherty wrote to say that he also experienced a miraculous healing.

"I believe in miracles because I am one! On July 31, 1996, after a series of four operations and a diagnosis of cancer of the lung, I was given four to six months to live.

"God's people prayed, my church family at First Baptist prayed, a precious lady from St. Anne's asked me if she could put me on their prayer list and I said, 'Please do!') Robert Latham, pastor of Mount Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, came to visit me, and told me the church had taken me into their church family.

"Individuals who had a prayerful relationship with the Lord Jesus prayed and those prayers were answered, and three years later, I am blessed with clear lungs," he wrote.

"I believe ... my wife, Faye, was a large part of the successful treatment, and the doctors, Snyder, Watkins and Corwin, and those precious nurses and cancer center personnel doing their jobs. Thank you all, and I love you so much!

"The cancer can return, as it came before, but I believe a miracle will continue to work in my life," he concluded.

Leslie Williams, a member of Midland College's English department, told of another type of miracle.

"When I was 14, my family was driving back over Monarch Pass (in Colorado) after a day of skiing, when our station wagon hit a patch of ice, went into a tail spin and slid backwards off the side of the road, down the mountain.

"We were goners. Then as the back end of the station wagon hung in the air, the back tires caught on six inches of frozen gravel. We considered that a miracle."

Ms. Williams said our scientific understanding of natural laws comes long after the fact of happenings that were not understood at the time.

"For example, Jesus' miraculous healing of demoniacs — really epilepsy — or the discovery of 'miracle' drugs such as penicillin or Salk vaccine — we participate in creating miracles, because we reverse our previous understanding of God's law of nature.

"God's understanding is always one step ahead of ours, no matter how sophisticated our knowledge becomes," she said. "Every time God breaks from the spiritual realm into the ordinary, it's a miracle."

The Rev. Ora Roberts, pastor of St. Paul C.M.E. Church, said one of her earliest memories of a miracle happened 40 years ago.

"We had been meeting in homes, and then in Dorcas Kindergarten, and we needed a building. Dr. (Viola) Coleman and some others were helping us, but we needed a building. First Presbyterian had some buildings on a lot that they had bought. We went down and asked them if they could consider letting us have the buildings.

"The only problem was, St. Paul's had no money to pay for the moving, let alone the buildings."

Ms. Roberts said they did the only thing they could do.

"We had a prayer meeting. We asked the Lord to show us a way to get those buildings. Then one evening we were in church, and they called and said the board had unanimously voted to give us those buildings," she said.

The church wasn't out of the woods yet, however. The buildings still had to be moved.

"Dr. Coleman and some other members found somebody to move it, and he didn't charge near what he should have. But we still had to go to the bank to borrow money.

"We went to the bank, and the bank asked for a financial report and how many members we had. We were ashamed to show them our financial report. But the bank let us have the money. I regard this as a miracle," she said. "Our minister, Rev. Brown, had told us that we'd never get those buildings, and that if we did, we wouldn't be able to use them. He came back for our 40th reunion, and we showed him what we had done with those buildings.

"When God opens a door, no man can shut it," Ms. Roberts said.

The Rev. Alan Williams, chaplain at Midland Memorial Hospital, said he sees miracles every day in the hospital.

"I hear patients say that this and this (good thing) happened, and the doctors don't know why.

"I saw a 14-year-old with leukemia, who had asked for her priest to administer the sacrament. She waited, and he came; she received the sacrament, prayed with him, said 'Thank you,' and 30 seconds later, she died.

"A young child died of cancer, and parents and pastor were praying for her to be resurrected. After a time, the pastor said, 'Lord, if we can't have the miracle of resurrection, then begin the miracle of healing in the hearts of these parents.'

"That, too, is a miracle," Williams said.

KITUKU: Experiences often determine attitude

(From 2C)

rainy day that ruins fishing, shopping, or golfing plans. Maybe somebody else's prayers are being answered by the conditions we think are making our lives uncomfortable. The list of things to be grateful for is endless in every situation. Often, our attitude of gratitude is impaired by the fact that we focus on the storms in our lives. We only see the desert we are traveling through.

However, there is always a rainbow behind the cloud and a stream in the desert. When we keep our eyes and hearts on the rainbow and the stream, we maintain an attitude of gratitude. We thank God despite the prevailing circumstance.

At times, the rainbows and streams seem not to be there at all. Actually, we just don't see them. This is where family, friends, and associates help us.

No one can be ordered to have an attitude of gratitude. However, it is contagious. It can flow naturally from parents to children and from friends to friends. We can cultivate an attitude of gratitude by being thankful for the daily portion of fresh air, unpolluted water and three meals a day, shelter, freedom, health, jobs, opportunities to be creative, and chances to enrich the world with our uniqueness.

Attitude is determined by how we respond to experiences. It is how you react to incidents, not the incidents themselves, that determines our attitude. We have basically little control, if any, over natural forces like tornadoes, earthquakes, floods, disasters, illness and pain. What really matters is our internal response systems. How we respond to these calamities is something each individual can control.

Life is difficult at times and easy at other times. Tranquility depends on how we respond to difficult times. Relying on ancient wisdom, Cicero, in the year 45 B.C. said, "Gratitude is not only the greatest of virtues, but it is the parent of all others."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Nov. 20, 1999:
You are goal-directed and know what you want. Don't let insecurity or fear stop you. Take a deep breath as you slam one door shut and, at the same time, walk through another. You might often need time to reflect on what you want before acting on it. Your work and day-to-day life remain high priorities. If you are single, your love life gets dicey in late spring. You beam in what you want — be sure you know what that is! If attached, be careful about how you use your words. You might often come off as too blunt, or a touch callous. Learn to show your caring in a way that has meaning to your mate. ARIES spurs you on to success.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★★★ Another knows how to pull the switch and get you going. Don't be surprised! Evidently, you cannot avoid a must appearance, but (surprise of surprises) you actually enjoy yourself. Tonight: Play the night away.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★ Maintain a low profile and let others reveal what is on their minds. Though you might not be absolutely thrilled by what you hear, good news comes your way, anyway. Share a secret with a loved one you trust. Relax. Tonight: Be a little mysterious.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
★★★★ Aim for what you want, even if you feel that a friend is working against you. Getting into a fight won't improve the situation. Get together with friends and make a must appearance. A partner might not feel like joining you. Give him space. Tonight: Having a good time!

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
★★★ Quite clearly, you aren't going to be able to please everyone today, even though it is certainly a lovely idea. Others seem testy. However, your attention will thrill an older relative or someone quite important to you. Tonight: In the limelight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
★★★★ Split the workload with another; it's not necessary for only one person to be responsible for everything. Though this could become quite a topic of discussion, you will both be happier. A loving attitude comes back many times over. Tonight: Try a new spot.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
★★★★★ Be sensitive to a child or in a budding friendship. A close tie might have stronger needs than you are aware of. You can't just shrug off this person. Remain aware of what is going on. One-on-one relating comes back to you in many positive ways. Tonight: You'll have the most fun as part of a duo.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
★★★ Defer to others and make that extra effort, because someone is on the warpath! You might want to take a detour and avoid conflict if possible, though it is most likely close to home. Accept a wonderful invitation. Tonight: Say yes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
★★★ News received today could upset you. Take time for yourself or to get extra work done. Don't focus on the negatives; rather, choose to look at the glass as half-full. Putting your heart and soul into a project helps you get past any anxiety or nervousness. Tonight: Whatever puts a smile on your face.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
★★★★ You could make yourself unhappy, with the amount of spending you do. Think about what you are causing before you do the damage, if possible. Your flirtatious ways draw others to you. If attached, you add some snap, crackle and pop to your relationship. Tonight: Dance the night away.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
★★★ You could be irritable with a family member. You might have to step back and look at what is going on within you. Don't be surprised if you have to go back and make amends. Consider making a major purchase or doing something to make yourself happy. Tonight: Invite others over.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
★★★★ Your temper flares when you least expect it. Be careful with your choice of words. You are liable to do harm where you shouldn't. Keep communication flowing; remain upbeat. A fun outing, perhaps a movie and a meal out, really hits the spot. Tonight: Surrounded by friends.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
★★★ You can zoom in and get what you want today. You are happy to have things more to your liking. However, there could be a cost here. Do know how much you want to spend before you become a shopper? A friend eggs you on. Be careful about how you respond. Tonight: Do what is good for you.

PEOPLE TODAY

Borgnine to be named Veteran of the Year

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Ernest Borgnine will be honored on Pearl Harbor Day for his 10 years in the Navy — the real Navy.

The actor who played a PT boat skipper on television's "McHale's Navy" served during World War II and will be honored on Dec. 7 as the Veteran Foundation's Veteran of the Year 2000.

"I've done 50 years in show business, over 100 pictures, series, including 'McHale's Navy,' and I've gotten some wonderful honors," Borgnine said Friday. "But my 10 years in the Navy still bring me some of my greatest memories."

Of America's veterans, he said: "Let's not forget them when they put their lives on the line for us."

The nonprofit group is working on construction of the National World War II Memorial in Washington.

LOS ANGELES — Tim Allen's wife has filed for legal separation and wants custody of their 9-year-old daughter.

Laura Deibel cited irreconcilable differences in her petition filed Thursday. The two have been married for 15 years.

"There are just some things in my life that I pray will remain personal," the "Home Improvement" star said in a statement. "This is one of them. I hope that our plea for privacy during this very painful moment for my family and me will be respected."

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — An anonymous bidder paid $244,500 for the Oscar that Herman J. Mankiewicz won for co-writing "Citizen Kane."

The winning offer was made by telephone in a spirited battle Thursday at Christie's.

"We had at least four bidders," said Beth Shepherd, a spokeswoman for the auction house. "It came down to two bidders, both of whom were on the phone."

The auction house valued the statuette at $200,000 to $300,000. The 1941 Academy Award for original screenplay was the only Oscar won by "Citizen Kane," considered one of the greatest films of all time. Orson Welles and Mankiewicz shared the honor.

The film was nominated for nine other awards.

ATLANTA — Newt Gingrich's estranged wife is asking for correspondence, personal items and other records connecting the former House speaker and his girlfriend, whom he started dating in 1993.

The girlfriend, Callista Bisek, has agreed to turn over some documents but is fighting over having to answer questions posed by Marianne Gingrich's attorneys. A hearing is scheduled for Tuesday in Washington.

Gingrich, 56, has acknowledged the affair with Ms. Bisek, 33, and filed for divorce in July.

BLACKFOOT, Idaho — Daniel Baldwin lost control of his pickup on a slick highway, triggering a six-vehicle pileup.

The 39-year-old actor wasn't hurt Thursday. His dog was treated for cracked and bruised ribs. There were no other injuries.

Baldwin was on his way to Canada to do a film.

DEARBORN, Mich. — Darryl Strawberry says his faith has sustained him through years of drug and alcohol abuse and his battle against cancer.

"The world will turn on me, but God won't. I've been through some battlefields," the 37-year-old New York Yankee said Thursday at a gathering sponsored by the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence.

"My joy is not in baseball. My joy is not in making a lot of money. My joy is down inside. I've got this secret place where I go and get down on my knees and ask for help. I know prayer has worked in my life."

BANGKOK, Thailand — Thai censors banned the previews and posters for "Anna and The King" as disrespectful to the Thai monarchy, dampening chances the movie will be shown here, a newspaper reported Friday.

The national film board had already barred 20th Century Fox from making the Jodie Foster film in Thailand.

"The previews are unacceptable," Pattamavadee Jaruvorn, a member of the board, told The Nation this week.

He complained of historical inaccuracies, and censors objected to Ms. Foster's name being placed above the king's in posters.

The board hasn't decided whether to allow the film into Thailand, but its rejection of the previews and posters was a strong sign the movie will be banned.

❶ Promote Your Merchandise - The more descriptive you are the more likely your merchandise will appeal to someone.

❷ Check The Market Value - The most common mistake that occurs is over or under pricing your goods.

❸ Always Include The Price - People are more likely to respond when they know the price range.

❹ Keyword Your Ad - Begin each ad with the name of the item, such as "Stove" or "Guitar" rather than "Kenmore" or "Gibson", "Ford 1987" instead of "1987 Ford", or by its key reference point, such as location or area in real estate ads.

2000 OLDSMOBILE BRAVADA SUV

RoadWorthy!

By Ken Chester, Jr.

Oldsmobile received a version of the compact sport utility based on the Chevrolet Blazer, then called the S-10 Blaze, in 1991. When the Blazer was redesigned in 1995 and moved to the new S-10 truck platform, Oldsmobile almost lost their beloved truck. Strong lobbying by then General Manager John Rock preserved the Bravada as Oldsmobile's entry in a market that has been white hot ever since. This vehicle is more than a Blazer with an Oldsmobile emblem glued on. While the front grill of this Oldsmobile bares a passing resemblance to the discontinued Ninety-Eight sedan, the five-door Bravada is for people who want the luxury of a upscale sedan with the best of no-brainer all-wheel drive. This vehicle comes one way – loaded! In fact, the option list only consists of 16 items. All this goodness includes leather and is thousands less than the competition! The Bravada received an updated interior during the 1998 model year.

The wonderful 4.3L six-cylinder (L35) Vortec engine bolted to a (M30) four-speed automatic transmission makes this vehicle easy to drive and maneuver. On the road, it's hard to realize that this is a truck! The full time all-wheel drive system used in the Bravada is called SmartTrak. This system is designed to transfer power from front to back wheels and side to side without driver intervention in order to enhance and maximize traction. This system is so smooth the driver may never realize when it engages and disengages. The result is a go-anywhere sport utility that allows the driver to enjoy cruising around and let the vehicle worry about the nasty stuff in the way. Inside the cabin, the Oldsmobile coddles its occupants with a minimum of fuss and a maximum of comfort. Full instrumentation and a good view of the road defines the cockpit. The dashboard also features three power points for portable electronic appliances. Seating is comfortable throughout the interior with 60/40 split fold down rear seating that flips and folds flat providing additional cargo space. Dual front eight-way heated power leather seats for driver and passenger including adjustable lumbar support are part of a $57 optional Value Package which includes steering wheel mounted controls, heated side view mirrors, heavy duty towing package/wiring harness and raised white letter tires.

The result is a go-anywhere sport utility that allows the driver to enjoy cruising around and let the vehicle worry about the nasty stuff in the way.

By the numbers

The engine performance rating for the 4.3L V-6 engine is 190 hp at 4,400 rpm and 250 lb/ft of torque at 2,800 rpm. EPA fuel economy numbers are 16 city/21 highway using regular unleaded gasoline. Underhood fluids are easily accessible but not consistently marked.

Properly equipped, the Bravada has a maximum payload of 1,232 pounds and can tow a trailer with a maximum weight of 5,000 pounds when equipped with Heavy Duty Towing Package Z82, a $210 option.

Standard safety/security equipment includes dual front airbags, four-wheel disc brakes with anti-lock, daytime running lamps, fog lamps, keyless remote lock control package with illuminated entry, Passlock theft deterrent system and side impact door beams.

The Manufacturers Suggested Retail Price for the Oldsmobile Bravada starts at $31,398. Destination charges add $525. Supplies are good and Oldsmobile is offering $1,500 in customer cash on the Bravada that ends December 31st.
