SATURDAY NEWS WATCH

14 DWI arrests

There were 14 arrests for driving while intoxicated in Midland and two major accidents that involved drinking New Year's Eve night, according to law enforcement officials. Ten of the arrests were within the city, police reported. That number ranks above average compared to other nights and for the holiday, police said. The number of DWI arrests can be partially attributed to four police vehicles that worked strictly to enforce drinking and driving laws, officials said. The two accidents occurred after midnight, police reported.

Courthouse burns

HILLSBORO — The century-old Hill County Courthouse was destroyed by a massive fire Friday evening that required firefighters from several communities to help extinguish the blaze, officials said. The blaze, which began around 5:30 p.m., was still going strong three hours later, witnesses said. No injuries had been reported at the town's only hospital as of 9:30 p.m. "It's just like a big bonfire," said Veronica Martinez, who saw the fire about an hour after it had begun. /2A

Europe's 1st day

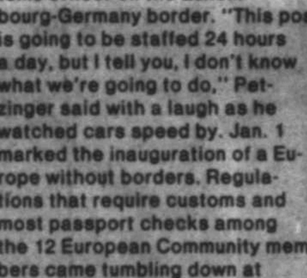

REMICH, Luxembourg — Volker Petzinger left his house Friday and stepped into a new era of a borderless Europe. Curiously enough, he was headed for his first day on the job as a lonely customs officer on the Luxembourg-Germany border. "This post is going to be staffed 24 hours a day, but I tell you, I don't know what we're going to do," Petzinger said with a laugh as he watched cars speed by. Jan. 1 marked the inauguration of a Europe without borders. Regulations that require customs and most passport checks among the 12 European Community members came tumbling down at midnight Jan 1.

Police deaths

HOUSTON — Texas led the nation in the number of police officers killed in the line of duty although fewer U.S. law officers died in 1992 than in any other year since 1965, according to a report by two police groups. The number of police officers killed in the line of duty declined to 136, marking the fourth year in a row the number of duty-related deaths went down, said the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund and the Concerns of Police Survivors.

Icy roads wreak havoc

At least six die as freezing rain pelts state

Associated Press

Icy roads wreaked havoc across Texas Friday, causing traffic accidents from the Texas Panhandle to Fort Worth. Frigid weather conditions were blamed for at least six highway deaths and another accident involving a bus carrying a Louisiana church group.

Freezing rain pelted the state late Thursday and early Friday, as temperatures slipped into the 20's in most areas.

The ice also snapped tree limbs and power lines, causing scattered power outages in North and West Texas.

Texas A&M and Notre Dame took to the wet field in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl, with gusts of 17 mph and freezing drizzle Friday afternoon.

Several flights were canceled at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport because of the icy conditions. But American Airlines spokesman Al Comeaux said

NWS: Warmer, drier weather looms

By Michael Kashgarian
Staff writer

Low temperatures and icy rain may have put the freeze on the New Year but warmer and drier weather looms ahead, according to the National Weather Service in Midland.

"We're looking to be back up in the 50s and 60s" today, a NWS official said.

The predicted warmth contrasts temperatures that remained around the 30-degree mark most of Friday.

That combined with about .07 inches of rain Thursday night left the ground covered with ice.

"We didn't get enough above freezing

Yeltsin braces for political fire over arms pact

■ Bush, Russian president to sign most far-reaching treaty in history of nuclear disarmament.

By Steven Erlanger
N.Y. Times News Service

MOSCOW — On the eve of President Bush's arrival to sign a hastily completed treaty that would sharply cut the nuclear arsenals of Russia and the United States, President Boris N. Yeltsin faces persistent criticism that the agreement serves American interests and confirms Russia's subordinate status in a post-Communist world.

Yeltsin, his authority eroded by a bruising battle with the Legislature last month, pushed the White House into a rapid completion of the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty, known as Start II. Bush had let it ride during his long re-election campaign.

For Bush, the treaty is an unexpected and dignified cap to a foreign-policy presidency. For Yeltsin, it is yet another challenge to his political skill. The assumption is that the treaty will

California man dies in one-car accident

Staff report

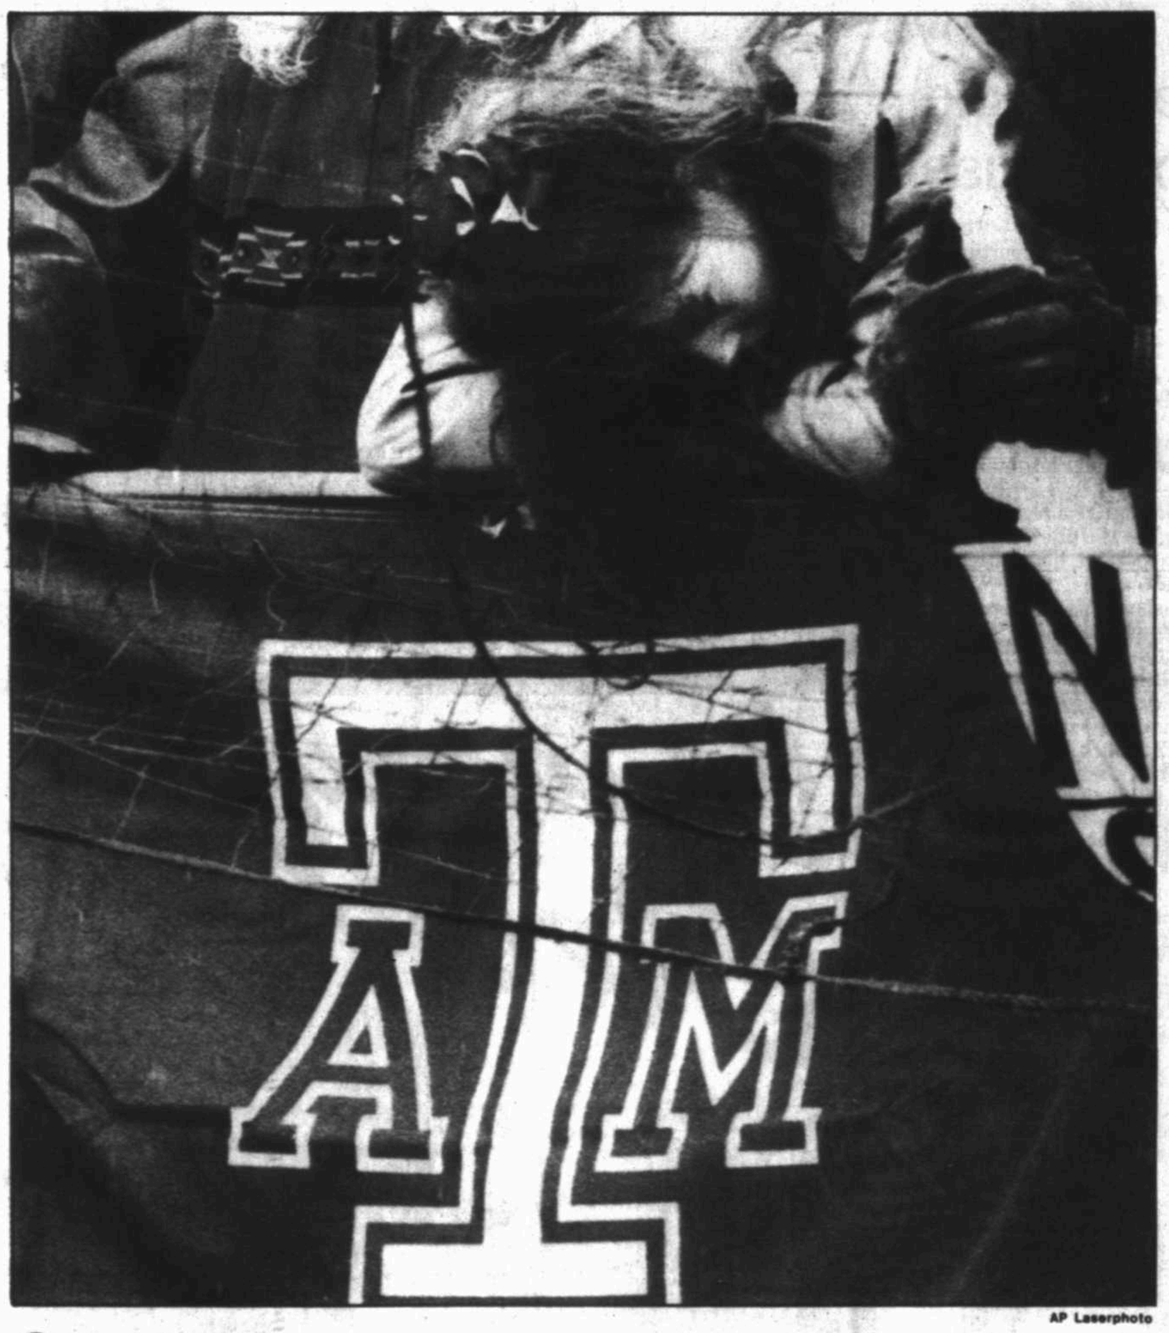

ODESSA — A 17-year-old California man was killed after being ejected from the back of a pickup about 2 a.m. Friday about eight miles west of Odessa on Interstate 20, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Stewart M. Ross of Fontana, Calif., was pronounced dead at the scene about 4:20 a.m. by V.J. White with the Ector County Medical Examiner's Office.

Two other people also were injured in the one-vehicle accident, officials said.

Neighbors: Couple who left children alone seemed 'odd,' overprotective

By Cliff Edwards
Associated Press writer

ST. CHARLES, Ill. — David and Sharon Schoo lived in a comfortable, Tudor-style suburban home with a pool, swings and a child's playhouse in the back yard.

However, daughters Nicole, 9, and Diana, 4, were rarely seen outside the home and were often believed to live elsewhere, neighbors say.

"We were always saying 'Where's the kids?' " said Toni Potts, who lives next door to the Schoos and shares a large pond with them.

"They would be driving off to go somewhere, and we never saw the kids," she said.

The Schoos were arrested Monday for leaving their children home alone while they vacationed for nine days in Acapulco, Mexico. On Thursday, Joseph Kuzma put up $10,000 to bail his daughter and son-in-law out of jail. He hadn't seen or spoken to Mrs. Schoo in eight years.

The couple face felony charges of child aban-

Americans mark new year with football, fun, dash of history

Associated Press

Americans marked the start of the new year and the end of the holiday season Friday with the traditional football game marathon, lavish parades, and a solemn celebration of the 130th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation. Espresso replaced the previous night's forms of refreshments Friday morning at Donna's Coffee Bar in Baltimore.

"They all look pretty hung over. They're all coming in like 'Unhh, Give me a cup of coffee,' " said waitress Charyn Pfeuffer, who needed a cup herself.

"It's been a rough morning," she said.

One of her customers was feeling a lot more chipper.

Steve Zinz, a builder, dropped in for a salad and coffee after an 8 a.m. business appointment.

"I've got to start 1993 making some money," Zinz said. "After the kind of year we had, we need a new one that's better."

In California, the northern part of the state struggled with a severe snowstorm that stranded hundreds. But to the south, Pasadena's nearly 40-year winning streak of good weather continued for the Tournament of Roses Parade, which drew an estimated 1 million people. The sky was cloudy but there was no rain.

Clowns bungee-jumping from a float, a cake-eating devil, grand marshal Angela Lansbury, a trombone-toting rabbit — and, of course, millions of flowers covering 57 floats of all descriptions — highlighted the parade's 104th edition.

For the second year in a row, animal rights activists critical of General Motors Corp.'s use of animals in tests charged the GM float. Seven were arrested.

But there was little or no sign of the criticism of the parade organization earlier in the week by minority activists who said there were too few minorites on the parade staff. Tournament organizers say they will work to recruit minor-

DEATHS

George R. Grable

Services for George R. Grable, 39, of Midland have been set for 9:30 a.m. today in the Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Hadley Edwards of the Hollowell United Methodist Church officiating. Ellis Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Grable

Mass will be celebrated at St. Joan of Arc Catholic Church in Asheville, N.C. at 11 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will follow in Riverside Cemetery in Groce Funeral Home.

Grable died Wednesday at his home following a lengthy illness.

Grable was born Dec. 27, 1953, in Tampa, Fla., where he was reared. He graduated from Brandon (Fla.) High School in 1971 and attended Hillsborough Community College.

He moved to West Texas in 1982 and had been a Midland resident since 1983.

He was a truck driver for Phillips Petroleum Co. in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and in Spraberry and Goldsmith.

He was preceded in death by his father, Dr. Theodore J. Grable in 1988.

Survivors include his companion of 13 years, Allen Howland of Midland; his mother, Muriel Grable of Asheville; three sisters, Ann Jordan of Fort Lauderdale, and Theresa Grable and Mary Barnett, both of Asheville; three brothers, Theodore J. Grable Jr., of Brandon, William D. Grable of Tampa and John Matthew Grable of Asheville; seven nieces and six nephews.

The family requests memorials be directed to the Permian Basin AIDS Coalition or Hospice of Midland.

Mary Hathaway

Services for Mary Alice Hathaway of Midland have been set for 3 p.m. today at St. Luke's United Methodist Church with Jarrell Sharp, pastor, officiating. Interment will follow at Resthaven Memorial Park with Ellis Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hathaway died Wednesday at a local retirement center.

Troy J. Vines

Services for Troy J. Vines of Midland have been set for 1 p.m. Monday at the Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Travis LaDuke, pastor of First Baptist Church in Dalhart, officiating. Burial will follow at Resthaven Memorial Park with Ellis Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Vines died Friday morning at his residence following a lengthy illness.

Dot Dawkins Mehlo

Memorial services for Mrs. Dot Dawkins Mehlo, a former Midland resident, were held recently in El Paso.

She died Dec. 20 in an El Paso hospital.

Mrs. Mehlo, who had lived in Midland during the 1940s, was born Sept. 15, 1922, in Combine, the daughter of Alfred L. and Ollie Green Dawkins.

She was a homemaker.

Survivors include her husband, Nevin Mehlo; two daughters, Ms. Dawn Allgood of Euless and Ms. Lora Stansbarger of Temple, Ariz.; two sisters, Erma McNew of Midland and Getty Goodpasture of Lubbock; one brother, Wayne Dawkins of Crabtree, Ore.; and eight grandchildren.

Fire destroys century-old courthouse

HILLSBORO (AP) — The century-old Hill County Courthouse was destroyed by a massive fire Friday evening that required firefighters from several communities to help extinguish the blaze, officials said.

The blaze, which began around 5:30 p.m., was still going strong three hours later, witnesses said. No injuries had been reported at the town's only hospital as of 9:30 p.m.

"It's just like a big bonfire," said Veronica Martinez, who saw the fire about an hour after it had begun.

Hillsboro Mayor Henry Moore said he saw the clock tower topple onto the third floor, where officials believe the blaze began. The building had three floors, a seldom-used upper level, a basement and the clock tower, Moore said.

"I didn't see any flames coming out of the first floor, but everything above it was totally destroyed," he said.

"Some of the walls appeared to me to be freestanding, not supported by anything on the interior. I'm not sure whether the third floor caved in entirely, but it did on the north side."

He said between eight and 10 neighboring fire departments were helping fight the blaze.

The courthouse was the town's largest building and a popular tourist site. It was located in the center of downtown about seven miles from U.S. Interstate 35.

It was built out of limestone in 1890 and is considered an architectural marvel because it combines the styles of Classical Revival, Italiante, and French Second Empire.

"It's been what has identified Hillsboro for people for many years. I think it could be a real loss if we lose the building," Moore said, adding that such a decision would be made by the Hill County commissioner's court.

Bush visits Somali orphans, vows not to abandon country

By Ruth Sinai
Associated Press writer

BAIDOA, Somalia — President Bush jumped into a foxhole with Marines Friday and reached out to 700 Somali children chanting his name, declaring that the United States won't leave "these good ... people in the lurch."

With billowing clouds of dust in his wake, Bush traveled by helicopter and heavily armored personnel carrier to see first-hand the misery of the people and the determination of the Americans who had come to save them.

While Bush visited Baidoa, clan fighting erupted anew on the outskirts of Mogadishu. A minor faction unsuccessfully tried to seize a compound full of tanks and artillery from one of the country's main warlords.

Bush clearly relished the last foreign trip of his presidency, standing for hours under the searing sun to shake hundreds of hands, sign autographs, and pose for picture after picture.

"I have a lot to look forward to, a lot to be grateful for," Bush said, reflecting on his four years in office. "It's been a wonderful ride."

Bush wished the troops a happy New Year as he hopped into a foxhole on the outskirts of this town in Somalia's famine belt, a mosque minaret in the background and a donkey grazing nearby.

At an orphanage in Baidoa earlier, more than 700 children chanted "Welcome Bush" and clapped their hands throughout the half-hour visit.

Bush offered his hand to some children at the orphanage, patting some on the head, hoisting one smiling child into the air and wrapping another in a bear hug.

"It's a wonderful, wonderful mission of mercy," said Bush, wearing a necklace of orange and purple bougainvillea flowers tossed around his neck by a relief worker. At one time, 50 children a day were dying at the orphanage, but this week none had died, the worker said.

Amid the joyful receptions, there was no escaping the big question facing U.S. troops in Somalia: When will they go home? "We'll leave, but we're not going to leave these good Somali people in the lurch," Bush said at the orphanage.

Before returning to the USS Tripoli for a second night at sea off the coast, the president spoke to about 3,000 troops on the tarmac of Mogadishu's international airport, now a sprawling allied military complex.

"I expect everyone is wondering, "Well that's great, but how long?' " and I wish I knew the answer, I wish I knew the answer but I do know that it's not an open-ended commitment," Bush said.

U.S. officials accompanying Bush said the United States is — so far unsuccessfully — pressing the United Nations to put together a cohesive plan for gradually taking over most of the U.S. military responsibilities and handing them over to the 19 countries which have already sent troops here.

U.N. Secretary General Boutros Boutros-Ghali, due on a visit here this weekend, has told the United States that it's too soon to discuss firm plans for the departure of U.S. troops, said one official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

U.N. embargo on Thailand rebels begins

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A U.N.-mandated oil embargo against Cambodia's Khmer Rouge guerrillas went into effect Friday but officials doubtful it would be effective.

The embargo, approved by the Security Council on Nov. 30, is intended to pressure the Khmer Rouge to stop undermining U.N. efforts to bring peace to Cambodia after 13 years of civil war.

A ban on log exports, imposed by Cambodian leaders to save their nation's forests from depletion, also went into effect.

Thailand, which shares a 425-mile border with Cambodia, has said it will help enforce both bans. But U.N. peacekeepers have been denied access to the 15 percent of the Cambodian countryside that the Khmer Rouge controls, and thus can not monitor the effectiveness of the bans.

"The border closure to enforce the oil embargo will not be effective," said Thanit Traivuth, a member of Thailand's Parliament, in Friday's Bangkok Post. "The 'ant armies' will continue to smuggle goods across the border."

Hundreds of thousands of Cambodians perished under the Communist rule of the Khmer Rouge during the 1970s. The Khmer Rouge was chased from power by Vietnam in 1979, but fought a guerrilla struggle until a peace accord was signed in October 1991.

It has repeatedly violated the treaty by refusing to disarm and by harassing U.N. peacekeepers and denying them access to its territory.

On Thursday, Khmer Rouge shelling forced 36 U.N. peacekeepers to evacuate their post from a village in the northwest. U.N. officials said the shelloing was aimed at keeping their personnel from registering people to vote in May elections.

Kenyan leader holds edge in latest election

NAIROBI, Kenya (NYT) — Citing what they said was across-the-board cheating and vote rigging, leaders of Kenya's three strongest opposition parties announced Friday that they would not accept the outcome of this week's elections, which appear to have returned President Daniel arap Moi to office with the prospect of a majority in Parliament.

The three opposition figures, in a joint statement, said they would not take their seats in the legislature, and they called for new elections.

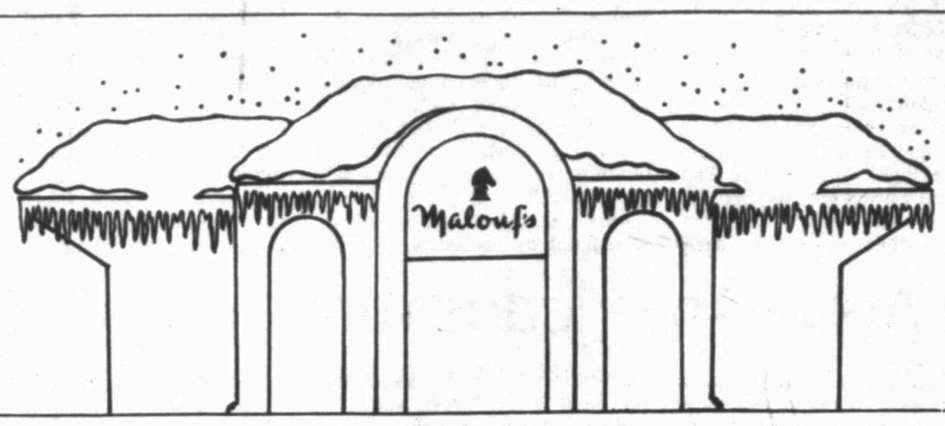

Final results will not be known until early next week, Kenya's National Electoral Commission said.

But unofficial returns with three-quarters of the votes counted show Moi and his ruling Kenya African National Union leading by half a million popular votes out of 3 million tabulated.

But top aides to the president fared much worse, with 15 of the 21 members of his Cabinet defeated for re-election.

Moi, 68, the East African nation's second president since independence in 1964, has ruled for 14 years.

The opposition's statement Friday was read at a news conference at a Nairobi hotel by Mwai Kibaki, leader of the Democratic Party and a former vice president.

FORECAST: Warmth to come

to melt it" on the ground, the weatherman said. The high Friday — 32.4 — barely surpassed the freezing point.

Freezing rain created icy patches on bridges and overpasses, according to area law enforcement agencies.

Weather conditions contributed to a several minor accidents in the city late Thursday and early Friday, police officials said.

No delays were reported at Midland International Airport.

But Midlanders probably won't have to worry about traveling conditions today.

Today's forecast calls for cloudy skies becoming partly cloudy by noon, a high in the mid-50s and southerly winds from 10 to 20 mph, according to the NWS.

Tonight will be mostly fair with a low in the upper 30s.

Sunday is expected to be mostly sunny with a high in the lower 60s.

After an overnight low of 27, Friday's high was 32 compared with the record high for that date of 73 set in 1965. The record low for today was 0 set in 1979.

STATE

New Year's Day was a good day to stay inside and watch college football as cold weather blanketed most of the state, with patches of freezing rain and drizzle in several areas.

Icy conditions were blamed for many traffic accidents from the Texas Panhandle through North Texas.

Similar conditions were expected to continue throughout the weekend, with sunshine not likely for the first few days of 1993.

The west and central parts of North Texas were under a freezing rain and freezing drizzle advisory through Saturday.

Cloudy and cold conditions were forecast for overnight Friday, with light freezing rain in the west and central parts of the region and rain in the west. Lows were to be around 28 in the west and 38 in the southeast.

Conditions should slightly improve today, though it will still be cloudy with a rain possible. Highs could reach the high 40s or 50 and even into the low 60s by Sunday.

Cloudy skies covered most of West Texas, with afternoon temperatures ranging from the upper 20s to the 40s in the far west and Big Bend.

There was some non-freezing rain south of the Panhandles, though temperatures Friday were below freezing.

Rain was expected to remain in the area, except for the far west.

The South Plains and Permian Basin were to receive freezing rain or drizzle today and the Panhandle could become partly cloudy and warmer.

Lows Friday night were to be in the 20s and 30s with today's highs in the 40s and 50s over most of the region. Highs in the far west and the Big Bend could reach the 60s.

South Texas avoided the brunt of the cold front, but had fog and drizzle most of Friday afternoon.

Temperatures in the region ranged from the 30s in the Hill Country to the 60s along the lower Gulf Coast.

The forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies and a chance of rain through today. Rain mixed with freezing rain was possible for Friday night in the Hill Country and the northern part of the area.

Today, highs will be in the 40s and 50s, except along the coast where temperatures likely will reach the 60s. Lows will be in the 30s and 40s, except for 50s along the coast.

NATION

Heavy snow returned to California's Sierra Nevada on Friday and freezing rain made highways hazardous in the south-central part of the nation.

Rain fell Friday over the northern and central Pacific Coast, changing to snow at higher elevations of the coastal mountains, the Sierra, the Colorado Plateau and the northern Rockies, the National Weather Service said.

Heavy snowfall closed Interstate 80 and U.S. 50 through the Sierra Nevada. The two major routes also had been closed by up to 8 feet of snow earlier in the week, stranding hundreds of travelers.

In northern California, I-5 was reopened. As much as 8 feet of snow had fallen in the area of Mount Shasta.

Snow advisories were in effect through Saturday morning over the mountains of north-central Wyoming.

Freezing rain extended over northern Texas, Oklahoma and western Arkansas, glazing highways and causing scattered power outages. Rain was scattered from southern New Mexico across central Texas.

Winter storm watches were in effect through today over northern and central Arkansas, northern and central Missouri, and the eastern half of Kansas.

Snow also fell across the Ohio Valley, Michigan and the lower Great Lakes into northern New England.

Rain and thundershowers extended across southern Florida.

Heaviest rainfall during the six hours up to noon CST was 1.06 inches at West Palm Beach, Fla. Heavier snowfall during those six hours included 4 inches at Grangeville, Idaho; 3 inches at Muskegon, Mich.; and 1 inch at Baker, Ore.; Kalispell, Mont.; Lewiston, Idaho; and Missoula, Mont.

International Falls, Minn., got a record 43.9 inches of snow in December. Spokane, Wash., wrapped up its snowiest December on record, with more than 37 inches of snow.

ICE: Conditions cause bus crash, fatal accidents

(From 1A)

delays were typical under the conditions.

"But for the rest of the afternoon, we will be running about 50 or 60 minutes late," Comeaux said.

A bus carrying a church group home from a ski trip went off an icy road and overturned about 10 miles north of Dalhart on Friday, injuring several passengers, officials said.

The bus, carrying 47 people, was chartered by Trinity Heights Baptist Church of Shreveport, La. It slid off icy U.S. Highway 87 around 8:30 a.m., the Texas Department of Public Safety said.

Dalhart is about 75 miles northwest of Amarillo.

Pastor's secretary Dot Ritch said the young adults had gone to Glenwood Springs, Colo., to ski. The group left Shreveport on Dec. 26, Ms. Ritch said.

Several other vehicles also went off the road after the bus rolled on its side.

Five people were in satisfactory condition Friday afternoon at Coon Memorial Hospital in Dalhart, said administrator Larry Baggett.

Alan Rock, a church youth worker who was driving the van, said people in the Panhandle community were offering food and shelter to the group.

Lunch was served at the Dalhart Fire Department, while other officials were making plans to host the group for the evening, Rock said.

"If you have to crash someplace, I guess Dalhart, Texas, is the place to do it. The whole community has opened up," Rock said.

One man was killed Friday morning in Fort Worth as he got out of his car on a busy street, said dispatcher Tom Branton.

Carlos Acosta, 23, of Fort Worth, was struck by another vehicle, according to the Fort Worth medical examiner's office.

Another incident in Fort Worth had one car veering off an icy road and into a creek, Branton said.

No one was killed in the incident, and no further information was available, police said.

In Amarillo, slick roads led to two separate 10-car pileups on Interstate 40. The first accident occurred around 2:30 a.m. when one driver lost control of his vehicle and flipped over on the highway.

The second happened about an hour later when a police car parked behind a stalled truck was struck from behind by another vehicle.

Parts of the Panhandle and North Texas were under a freezing rain advisory through Friday night.

Cloudy skies and drizzle dominated South Texas, with fog reducing visibility along the lower Gulf Coast.

Two Amarillo residents died following a two-car collision before 9 a.m., according to police reports.

Jefferson Henry Hawthorne, 36, died at St. Anthony's Hospital and Teressa Ann Hawthorne, 31, died at the accident scene when their vehicle hit another car, according to police reports and a hospital spokeswoman.

An 18-year-old Colorado woman was killed Friday in an ice-related one-car accident on U.S. 385 shortly before 9 a.m., according to Department of Public Safety reports.

The car overturned two times in a west ditch and Laura Gammage was ejected. She died at at Dumas Memorial Hospital, according to DPS reports and a hospital spokeswoman.

Also, a 42-year-old Kentucky woman was killed when her car hit ice on Interstate 20, slid off the road and flipped several times near Ranger.

START: Americans mark end of holiday season

ity volunteers and expand community outreach efforts.

The Mummers Parade in Philadelphia, even older than the Pasadena extravaganza, was revamped this year because of falling attendance. The city established a no-drinking policy and asked the clubs to cut two hours off the show, which took 12 hours last year.

The changes failed to boost attendance; police said 100,000 people lined Broad Street, about the same number as last year, as about 15,000 performers in glittery costumes strutted 2½ miles down the street on a crisp, sunny day.

But the new policy did make families feel more comfortable.

"It took me a long time to come here. There are a lot of nuts out here," said Jessie Petty, crouched on a curb next to her wide-eyed 5-year-old daughter, Joy.

Not everyone followed the no-alcohol policy.

"This is our celebration," said Mike Perry, a Mummer drinking beer with three others. "This is our New Year's Eve."

In Middletown, Del., more than 1,000 people turned out to see the Hummers hit the streets, parodying the Mummers in Philly. Among the participants this year were a local minister and schoolchildren on roller skates, and some hearty souls wearing bathing suits and water skis on wheels.

In Milford, Del., people gathered at the Mount Enon Baptist Church for a much more solemn celebration, a yearly service marking President Lincoln's signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, which abolished slavery in Confederate-held territory on Jan. 1, 1863.

ALONE: Couple seemed peculiar, neighbors say donment and cruelty to children and misdemeanor charges of child endangerment. A preliminary hearing is set for Tuesday.

Neighbors say the Schoos seemed withdrawn — almost reclusive — in the close-knit 12-home community in an unincorporated area outside St. Charles, where the doors are unlocked during the day and folks socialize regularly. The town is about 35 miles west of Chicago.

They say Schoo, a 45-year-old engineer with a smoke-alarm company, waited until well after dark before cutting the grass and that Mrs. Schoo, 35, rarely spoke to neighbors, even when they said hello first.

"I had my baby and was taking it over to see my best friend when I saw Mrs. Schoo out front," Potts said Thursday. "I turned the baby carriage around to show her the baby, since we had spoken once or twice when I was pregnant. But when she saw me coming, she dropped her rake, turned around and ran into the house."

Neighbors say Nicole waited for the school bus at the edge of her own driveway instead of standing with other children at the designated bus stop. Younger sister Diana was rarely, if ever, seen. Many neighbors said they didn't even know the Schoos had a second child.

"We always thought they were peculiar," said Connie Stadelmann, who lives across the street. It was to Stadelmann's home that the girls ran Dec. 21 after a smoke alarm was accidentally triggered in their home.

"This is a family neighborhood with a million kids," Stadelmann said. "Why would you move here if you didn't like kids or didn't want your own to socialize with them?"

The children were placed in the custody of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services after they told authorities their parents had jetted to Mexico on Dec. 20, leaving them home alone. The state has placed them into a foster home pending the hearing next Tuesday.

Neighbors said they wrote off the Schoos, who moved into the development in July 1991, as being uncomfortable around people and overprotective toward their children.

The couple often called police to keep other neighborhood children out of their pond and off their property, but "were very caring toward animals," said a neighbor who asked that his name not be used.

"They had a bird feeder and worried about a bird that laid its eggs on the ground. They didn't want a cat to get at it," he said.

Chicago television stations reported Thursday that Mrs. Schoo and her first husband gave her then 4-year-old son up for adoption in the late 1970s, at about the time they divorced.

N.G. Berrill, an expert on child and parental behavior and director of the New York Forensic Mental Health Group, said that might have influenced Mrs. Schoo's behavior.

At a news conference with the couple's lawyer, Kuzma said he believed the couple and the children need psychiatric care.

FIRE: Yeltsin girds for battle over arms treaty be ratified here and in the United States, but that in Russia there will be a fight and a noisy one.

Having been forced to abandon his choice for prime minister, Yegor T. Gaidar, to a rebellion against the pain of radical economic changes, Yeltsin is clearly using this summit as a chance to shore up his political stature and to remind his legislative opponents that the world is watching their actions.

It will allow Yeltsin to begin the new year on an elevated, statesmanlike note after a 1992 that he described, in his New Year's message to the Russian people, as "the most difficult of my entire life."

But it also will give Yeltsin's opponents in Parliament, who must ratify the treaty, another opportunity to criticize him on nationalist grounds for "selling out" Russia's interests for American cash and approbation.

While the treaty, which will cut both sides' strategic arsenals by two-thirds, is likely to save Russia many billions of rubles in the long run, it also undermines Russian assertions of superpower parity with the United States. And it bans the very weapons Russia spent so much time and money developing in its long rivalry with America: heavy, land-based, multiple-warhead missiles. Washington, then as now, concentrated on sea-based missiles.

The Russian military already faces enormous budget difficulties and a more primitive kind of ethnic warfare within the old boundaries of the Soviet Union. The military formally supports the treaty, which Defense Minister Pavel S. Grachev helped to negotiate alongside Foreign Minister Andrei V. Kozyrev.

Grachev, an admired veteran of the Soviet war in Afghanistan, provided important cover for Kozyrev, a primary target of criticism from Yeltsin's foes, who have considerable weight in the Legislature.

Together, they were able to negotiate some important concessions from the Bush administration involving the preservation of more of Russia's existing nuclear investment and new inspections of America's most modern Stealth bombers. The concessions should make the new treaty more palatable to a Legislature still touchy about the humiliating collapse of the Soviet Union.

If the coming battle over the treaty is expressed in military terms, its fundamental territory will be political.

But Yeltsin is being regularly criticized now for behaving like the former Soviet president, Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who was widely ridiculed for making dramatic concessions to secure successes abroad while his country disintegrated at home.

Bush is expected to spend only about 24 hours in Moscow, arriving at about 2 p.m. today and leaving at about the same time on Sunday for Paris, where he will have talks and dinner with President Francois Mitterrand.

As officials of both countries struggled in great confusion on Friday to hastily reorganize a hastily organized summit meeting and move it from its original site, Sochi, on the Black Sea, to Moscow, they were already working to deflect criticism that in this matter, too, the United States was calling the tune. Russian officials stressed that the decision was mutual and based solely on bad weather in Sochi, but White House advance teams were said to have been unhappy about the services in Sochi, including the lack of de-icing at the airport.

With Russia's newspapers silent for the New Year holiday and prominent politicians out of touch at dachas and bathhouses, discussion of this issue, at least, was muted.

Lines were being drawn for what will be an energetic debate over ratification. The powerful speaker of the Russian Legislature, Ruslan I. Khasbulatov, has already raised reservations.

up, remained in stable condition at Odessa Medical Center late Friday.

Sherry C. Jones, 17, of Rialto, Calif., a passenger was treated and released from the hospital.

The vehicle, driven by Damon Newton of Fontana, was traveling east in the left lane of the interstate, veered toward the median and went into a broadside skid when overcorrected to the right, the report stated.

The truck overturned once, shearing off its camper shell. Ross and Davenport were thrown from the vehicle.

The roadway was wet but weather was not reported as a contributing factor.

■ Four people beheaded in Saudi Arabia

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — Four people were beheaded in Saudi Arabia on Friday, including two Pakistanis convicted of smuggling heroin into the kingdom, the Interior Ministry said.

Saudi Arabia has beheaded more than 40 drug smugglers and dealers, mainly Pakistanis, since the country's religious leaders ruled in the mid-1980's that the crime merited the death penalty.

Beheadings in Saudi Arabia, which follows Islamic law, are usually carried out on Fridays outside mosques as the Muslim sabbath ends.

The Pakistanis were executed in Jiddah. The Interior Ministry also said a Saudi was beheaded in the western region of Abha for clubbing to death a member of his clan and injuring the man's wife, and a Yemeni was executed in Jiddah for sexually abusing several boys.

■ Rocker, skinhead groups clash; 10 hurt

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany — At least 10 people were injured in New Year's Eve clashes between anti-establishment rockers and skinhead groups, police said Friday.

Police said a group of rockers started the trouble when they smashed the door and windows of a downtown bar shortly before midnight, and shot fireworks and tear gas in a room crowded with skinheads.

Brawling ensued, and the skinheads raided a neighboring rockers' bar before police ended the melee, police said.

At least 10 people were hurt, several seriously, police said.

A police spokesman said there apparently was no political motive, and an investigation was continuing.

Kaiserslautern is about 72 miles southwest of Frankfurt.

Rocker groups are generally described as apolitical, anti-establishment gangs who wear leather jackets and motorcycle boots. The head-shaven skinheads are classed as radical rightists, but officials say many are also apolitical.

■ Soldiers to be disciplined for youth's death

JERUSALEM — Three soldiers involved in the recent shooting death of a 15-year-old Palestinian in the occupied Gaza Strip will be disciplined, according to preliminary army findings released Friday.

The army found that the soldiers, including a lieutenant, opened fire without justification, said an army spokeswoman, who cannot be identified under military regulations.

Mohammed Hussein Zatar was shot dead last Saturday as he stood on the roof of a U.N. clinic in Gaza City. Arab reporters said at the time that Zatar was stoning soldiers.

Army regulations say soldiers may shoot to kill only when their lives are in danger.

The army has tried 35 soldiers for wrongfully killing Palestinians since the uprising against Israeli occupation began five years ago, according to the military prosecutor's office.

During the uprising, 1,008 Palestinians have been killed by Israeli soldiers and civilians, and 682 Palestinians have been killed by fellow Arabs, most on suspicion of collaboration with Israel. Some 112 Israelis, including 39 soldiers, have died in the violence.

Eleven Palestinians were killed by army gunfire in Gaza in December.

A group of 40 Israeli reservists who served in Gaza complained to Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin that they were in a no-win situation. Three members of their unit were killed in an ambush by Muslim extremists in Gaza on Dec. 7.

The army has confirmed it is reviewing the circumstances under which soldiers can fire without warning at armed Palestinians.

Bosnian leaders arrive for last-chance talks

GENEVA (AP) — Leaders of Bosnia's three warring factions headed to Geneva on Friday for their first face-to-face talks and what is widely regarded as the last chance to avert Western military intervention.

The death toll in Sarajevo, meanwhile, continued to climb.

As pressure mounted for the United Nations to enforce its no-fly zone against Bosnian Serb aircraft, Yugoslavia's lame-duck federal premier, Milan Panic, flew to the United States in hopes of dissuading U.S. officials from backing such a move, his office said.

U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali has urged the international community to await the outcome of the Geneva talks on Saturday before resorting to any military action, which he fears would escalate the conflict.

The meeting will bring together the political and military leaders of Bosnia's Muslim-led government, Croats and Serbs. It marks the culmination of four months of work by international mediators Cyrus Vance and Lord Owen, who have guided the U.N.- and European Community-sponsored peace talks.

On the eve of the meeting, however, the omens for peace did not look promising.

"These negotiations were forced on us, just as this war was forced on us, but we will not accept peace being forced on us," Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic said in a New Year's message on Sarajevo radio.

"We have just one solution left: Continue the combat, preserve what is liberated, liberate what is stolen and punish the criminals," he said.

Peru guerrillas black out capital, launch attacks

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Maoist guerrillas marked the New Year by blacking out the capital and setting off car bombs under cover of darkness, one near an elegant restaurant packed with holiday revelers. One person died in a gunfight.

A spectacular fire burned down a marketplace a block from the presidential palace, injuring 10 people, including firefighters. Tito Huaman, a vendor, told reporters the merchants saw several incendiary devices, of the type often used by the Shining Path.

Electrolima officials said rebels dynamited power pylons in the Andes foothills east of Lima just as the clock struck midnight. An area stretching from Lima to Huancayo, 120 miles east, was plunged into darkness.

Power was completely restored within an hour in most areas, after the Shining Path rebels set off two car bombs.

Police said a private guard was killed in a shootout with rebels as they tried to bomb the restaurant in the upper-class La Molina district.

Guerrillas tied down the accelerator of the car and aimed it at the front door of the restaurant, police said, but it missed its target and slammed into a wall around an empty lot 80 yards away.

The explosion shattered windows in the restaurant and homes.

Police found a second car nearby containing six small bombs. They said it may have been an abandoned getaway vehicle.

Guerrillas detonated another car bomb outside a battery factory along the Pan American Highway on Lima's northern outskirts. It caused little damage.

The Shining Path's guerrilla war has claimed at least 25,000 lives and caused $22 billion in damage since it began in 1980.

At least 10 people died and 25 were wounded in guerrilla attacks in Lima in the last week of 1992.

EC marks 1993 and unity; stampede kills 20 in China

By Michael West
Associated Press writer

Europe welcomed the New Year with bells and two new countries Friday. But there was fighting in Somalia and Bosnia, and British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd spoke of a world filled with growing troubles.

Celebrations in Hong Kong turned to tragedy when 20 people died and 69 were injured in a stampede. Ten people were reported killed in the Philippines during festivities featuring fireworks and gunshots into the air.

Americans settled in for a day of parades and televised college football after unusually mild temperatures brought more than 300,000 cork-popping revelers out to see the ball drop in New York's Times Square at midnight.

President Bush saw in 1993 aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Tripoli stationed off the coast of Somalia. He offered thanks to appreciative American troops for working to end the famine-stricken nation's suffering.

"I Don't Pay My Servicemen a Commission on Repairs"™

If your furnace breaks down...
Don't panic
Don't pay more
and get it fixed today

Guaranteed Flat Rate Service™ protects you from getting overcharged for furnace repairs. Some companies pay servicemen based on the parts they sell you. This, of course, can lead to abuse and you end up paying the bill.

Other companies charge for their service on an hourly basis. And sometimes they advertise what seems to be an attractive low hourly rate. But it might take the average technician (who is less skilled) two or three hours to make a repair that my Champion Technician™ can fix in 45 minutes.

So what appears to be a savings can actually cost you twice as much.

Here's how I've solved this problem.

I only charge you a low Guaranteed Flat Rate for the diagnosis and repair. I never charge you an hourly fee. After all if one of my Champion Technicians gets "stuck" on a difficult problem why should you be penalized?

One more thing. It's important.

I never charge you for "hard-to-find" parts. I keep over $10,000 in parts and equipment on each service truck. So 96% of the time the exact part you need is there. And if it isn't? I don't charge you extra to get it.

Retired electrician shoots carjacker during scuffle in driveway

LOS ANGELES (NYT) — A carjacker was shot and killed when his 67-year-old victim pulled a handgun from the back seat of his vehicle and two shots were fired during a scuffle in a driveway, police said.

Los Angeles police Detective Steve Fisk of the Van Nuys Division said that Roderick Mack, 31, of suburban Lake View Terrace, died at 4:25 p.m. Thursday at Holy Cross Medical Center in nearby Mission Hills.

Fisk said it was not clear whether the car owner intentionally shot Mack or whether the gun fired accidentally.

The car owner, Frank Dawson, a retired electrician, was "a very fortunate man," Fisk said. Dawson was hit in the face during the altercation on Thursday, but otherwise was uninjured, the detective said.

"Mr. Dawson was within all his legal rights to do what he did," Fisk said. "But I wouldn't recommend this."

Fisk said Dawson had just pulled his Pontiac Fiero into the driveway of his suburban Van Nuys home at 11:45 a.m. when Mack approached him and demanded his car keys.

"Dawson reaches in the back seat of the car and removes a handgun and a fight ensues between Dawson" and Mack, Fisk said. Mack "gets shot twice in the upper torso."

"When the first officer arrived at the scene, the suspect was on the ground, trying to get up and Mr. Dawson was standing over him telling him not to move," Fisk said.

Police believe that Mack and two accomplices were trying to replace a disabled van they had stolen from a woman in a carjacking Wednesday night.

The three men first were spotted by a United Parcel Service employee in Van Nuys earlier Thursday when they got out of the van wearing ski masks, Fisk said.

After he saw the three men, the employee telephoned police. Meanwhile, the van was involved in a collision near Saticoy Street and the San Diego Freeway (405), Fisk said.

Mack, who was not armed, and one of the accomplices, who had a handgun, ran a couple of blocks to the area near Dawson's home, apparently intending to steal another car, Fisk said.

Mack accosted Dawson, while his companion remained a distance away, the detective said.

After the shots were fired, Dawson's wife, Cecelia, said that she saw Mack lying on the driveway. "He started to get up a couple of times. My husband said, 'Don't try to get up, I'll do it again,'" she said.

Truck carrying Army anti-aircraft missiles crashes

MONROE, La. (AP) — About 1,000 residents returned home Friday after ringing in the new year as evacuees because a truck carrying Army anti-aircraft missiles swerved across an interstate highway and crashed.

The tractor-trailer rig jumped a 30-foot canal and came to rest in the carport of a house where about 16 men were playing dominoes Thursday.

"We heard a bang, one hell of a bang," said Frederick Hayes, one of those inside the house when the truck hit.

Bomb experts from Barksdale Air Force Base, about 100 miles to the west, were brought in to take the Hawk missiles off the flatbed and check them for damage. A three-mile stretch of Interstate 20 was closed for about 18 hours until they finished their work late Friday morning.

The missiles were not damaged, said police Capt. Tommy Poland.

The truck spilled some diesel fuel, which fire units washed down and covered with dirt and sand to prevent fire, Police Chief Joe Stewart said. He said the only other thing that could have set off the missiles would be compression.

The shipment, with a driver and a backup driver, originated in Concord, Calif., he said. It was en route to the Red River Army Depot in Texarkana, Texas, following stops in Illinois and Alabama. The truck was owned by a private company contracted by the Army.

"It was westbound on I-20, just entering the city limits," Stewart said. "For some reason we do not know at this time, the 18-wheeler crossed the median, crossed the eastbound lanes, jumped a 30-foot concrete canal, went through a chain link fence and came to rest under the carport of a house."

"It is a classified shipment. It is not classified due to the explosives, but probably because of the technology," Stewart said.

Stewart said he was not warned that the shipment would be moving through his city.

"This military ordnance is shipped by interstate highway on a regular basis," Stewart said. "But on New Year's Eve, this came as a hell of a surprise."

No charges had been filed Friday. Stewart said investigators had been able to talk to the driver only briefly.

Remains found in tank may be of missing boy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The remains of a small child, possibly one missing for nearly two decades, have been found in a septic tank and police are treating the case as a homicide.

The remains were found Thursday by Tim Scanlon, who was helping pump out the tank for his father's septic tank company.

Authorities suspect it is the remains of Matthew Allen Alred, who was 3 when he disappeared Jan. 27, 1974, from his yard directly across the street.

Matthew was last seen in cutoff jeans, a white T-shirt and cowboy boots. Everett Scanlon, owner of the septic tank company, found a tiny cowboy boot in the debris from the tank.

"I broke down when I got that boot out," he said.

The elder Scanlon said there is no way a child could have gotten into the buried, sealed tank accidentally.

Hillsborough County sheriff's spokesman Jack Espinosa said Thursday the discovery was being treated as a homicide.

Vicki Howell, now 26, said her father, Sonny Howell, and Matthew's father, Vernon, sought out an ice cream truck that had been in the neighborhood about the time Matthew was last seen. Thinking the boy had run away, they had the truck driven around the area, hoping Matthew would hear its music and follow it home.

The search was halted after four days. No arrests were made.

The house where the skeleton was found was owned by Reinaldo Paiz at the time of the boy's disappearance. Paiz died several years ago and left the property to his daughter, who is attempting to sell it.

The boy's parents have since divorced. Vernon Alred still lives in the area. Matthew's mother, Virginia, resides in Connecticut.

Center for alcohol rehab purchases Alex Haley's farm

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Alex Haley's estate is selling the late author's farm for $1.1 million for use as an alcohol rehabilitation and research center, principals in the sale said.

A contract to sell the 127-acre farm was completed this week, said lawyer Paul Coleman, who represents Haley's estate.

The sale agreement with Behavorial Medicine Concepts of Tennessee includes plans for a public museum at the site.

Behavioral president Jo Anne Walker said the group had offered to buy the property, about 25 miles northwest of Knoxville, before Haley's death, but he died before he could act on it.

"Because the property is so secluded, no one will even know that we are there," Ms. Walker said. "It will be a wonderful location for people to get their lives back in order."

Haley's brother George, who is administering the estate, had attempted to sell the property in early October during a three-day auction. George Haley and Coleman rejected a bid of $850,000.

Haley paid $360,000 for the property 10 years ago.

Parkfield residents respond to earthquake prediction without panic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The government's only specific earthquake prediction expired Friday without a strong jolt in Parkfield, but the experiment showed that people could prepare for predicted quakes without panicking.

"Some earthquake predictions succeed and some will fail, but the important thing is we continue to learn more about earthquakes and people translate that into intelligent, rational action," said Al Lindh, seismology branch chief for the U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park.

The Geological Survey said in 1985 that a quake measuring about 6 on the Richter scale would rupture a 20-mile-long section of the San Andreas fault near Parkfield by the end of 1992.

But 1993 arrived and "Parkfield is still here. It didn't shake off the map," said John Varian, co-owner and manager of the Parkfield Cafe in the tiny town halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"Probably when you least expect it, our little quake will jump up and show us it can still do it," Varian's father, rancher Jack Varian, said Friday by phone.

A few hundred people descended on the town of 34 residents for a country-western style New Year's Eve party at the cafe, which has done booming business because of tourists drawn by the prediction.

"We've enjoyed all the hoopla and the press and everything that brings a little notoriety to Parkfield," Jack Varian said. "What other town can boast that their No. 1 economic return comes from earthquakes?"

The Geological Survey's $19 million Parkfield project has been the world's most intensive quake prediction experiment. More monitoring equipment was installed along the San Andreas near Parkfield than along any other fault segment.

The experiment had two parts: to determine if the prediction was accurate, and to issue a short-term warning within three days of the quake, based on smaller tremors and other possible precursors.

Some scientists have said the Geological Survey went out on a limb by making the prediction.

Volcano-exploring Dante enters potential inferno

GREENBELT, Md. (AP) — A spidery robot named Dante began inching its way down into an Antarctic volcano early Friday in a daring display of technology delayed earlier by cold weather and an unexpected eruption.

"Everybody watching it here is real excited," said Randee Exler, a spokeswoman at the Goddard Space Flight Center where scientists gathered to watch TV pictures transmitted by the robot.

As of 1:30 p.m. EST, the 8-foot tall, spider-legged machine had traveled 6.5 meters, or about 21 feet, since it began its descent between 1:30 a.m. and 2 a.m. EST, she said.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientist Dave Lavery, in a statement relayed from the control center near the volcano, Mount Erebus, said:

Dante, laden with scientific gear and cameras, was to have started its stroll into the volcano's crater Thursday morning, directed by researchers in a hut more than a mile away. But weather and the restive volcano interfered.

A minor eruption shuddered through Mount Erebus as Dante sat at the rim of the crater. The robot wasn't damaged, but clouds of gases made it hard to see.

The project is being directed from NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center here.

While it waited, the robot sent pictures from its TV cameras, showing a stark landscape of rock and snow.

Temperatures at the rim of Mount Erebus on Thursday were minus 13 degrees Fahrenheit — about like springtime on Mars, where a robot like Dante might be needed for a mission to the Red Planet.

Schott, Klan give city 'unfair reputation'

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan cross displayed on a downtown square and racial remarks by Cincinnati Reds owner Marge Schott have stirred debate about the city's image.

Some residents say the attention provides an opportunity to confront racial discrimination and improve relations. But others say both episodes could give other Americans the wrong impression of this Ohio River city of 364,000 people, 40 percent black.

"There's no city in the whole country free of race problems," said James Calhoun, 42.

"They think it's a racist town after that (cross) and the Marge Schott thing combined," said Fred Lutt, 33. "I think it's disgusting."

Police cited at least 10 people on charges of disorderly conduct for toppling or damaging the Klan's cross display, which was up off and on over 10 days in Fountain Square. The evening before the display first went up, several hundred people rallied in protest, saying the cross was divisive and was being used by a racist organization.

Mayor Dwight Tillery said he was thankful there were no large-scale, violent demonstrations.

"I'm looking for answers. I'm looking for bringing the community together," he said.

Police charge 3 men with arson in apartment fire

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Three men have been arrested on first-degree arson charges in an apartment building fire that killed one person and injured seven others, police said Friday.

Authorities also will seek murder warrants against all three, who were arrested Thursday and Friday in nearby Winchester, Va., said Martinsburg Police Capt. Ted Anderson.

The three were being held without bond and will be arraigned Monday, said Winchester jail Sgt. Chris Cunningham.

The fire started Wednesday night when a flammable liquid was poured onto the hallway floor and steps leading to the entrance of the brick building, which included four apartments above a store, said fire Capt. Phil Martin.

Police said witnesses told them the three arrested men arrived at the building shortly before the fire and left together soon after, Anderson said.

The fire apparently was started during an argument, Anderson said. He said police are still trying to determine an exact motive in the fire.

Hoops shifts into high gear

■ All four Midland high school teams play today as basketball gets started in the new year.

By Bill Price
Staff writer

While the Midland Lee Rebels have fashioned a 17-3 non-district basketball schedule, not a single one of those 20 games means anything in the District 4-5A boys basketball race. That all changes today.

As the 4-5A boys begin league play, the Rebels hit the road for an 8 p.m. game at San Angelo today. Midland High's boys will wait until Tuesday for their district opener, but the Bulldogs do host Crane in non-district play at 8 p.m. tonight in the MHS gymnasium.

In girls play, Lee (9-8, 0-1) hosts San Angelo (10-7, 1-1) at 8 p.m. in the Lee gymnasium, while MHS (14-5, 2-0) takes on Snyder in a noon affair at the MHS gym.

For Lee's boys, the 4-5A opener comes against a Bobcat team that has taken a nosedive after being one of the league frontrunners in recent years. The 'Cats are off to a 3-13 start, but surely look at tonight's contest as a way to wipe the slate clean and get a head start in the 4-5A race.

In order to do that, San Angelo has to find a way to shut down the Rebels' potent offense. Lee is averaging 81.7 points a game, having scored 139 three-pointers for an average of almost seven a game.

Giant fans vote

NEW YORK — After a season-long deluge of publicity, including columns by writers urging the New York Giants to fire Ray Handley, one of the city's newspapers wants its readers to vote on the team's new head coach.

The Daily News is running a clipout coupon containing a ballot. On it are the names and photos of three nominees — one of them Bill Parcells, who led the Giants to two Super Bowl victories during his eight-year stint as head coach — and space for a write-in candidate.

The others nominees are former Giants assistant Tom Coughlin, head coach at Boston College; and Dave Wannstedt, defensive coordinator of the Dallas Cowboys.

"The Giants are conducting a search for a head coach, and the Daily News wants the readers to have their say," the "You Make the Call" coupon reads.

Irish put the whip on A&M

■ With a 28-3 loss Friday, the Aggies' have amassed five points in their last two Cotton Bowls.

DALLAS — The new year didn't begin any better than the old one ended for Texas A&M.

Playing without suspended Greg Hill, its top rusher, Texas A&M's bid for a perfect season was shattered Friday by Notre Dame 28-3 in the Cotton Bowl. Rick Mirer and the fifth-ranked Irish's improving defense destroyed the Aggies' hopes of being the third team with a 13-0 season — even though that probably would not have gotten them a national title.

"This is a disappointing way to go out and we have to live with it," A&M coach R.C. Slocum said.

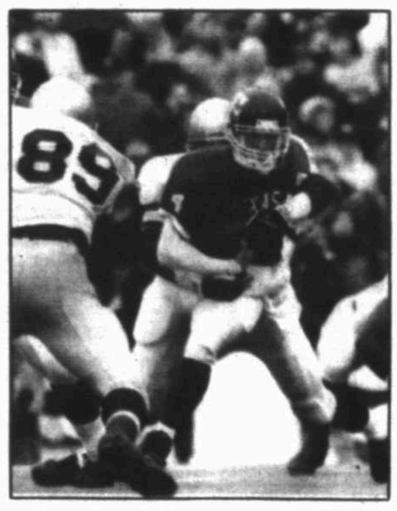

"You can't blame the suspension on our loss," said tackle John Ellisor. "Notre Dame just whipped us plain and simple. We were dominated."

The Aggies let Mirer escape to make big plays and throw for two touchdowns as the Irish finished the season 10-1-1 with a victory over the Southwest Conference champions on a field made slippery by a freezing drizzle.

"Rick is the most underrated quarterback in America," said Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz. "He was almost perfect and this just may be the best game we've played since I've been coach at Notre Dame. In the last seven games, this may just be the best team I've been around.

"I think today we could have beaten any team in the country. I think the last six or seven weeks, we've played

Alabama in line for top prize after 34-13 win

By Rick Warner
AP Football Writer

NEW ORLEANS — Alabama recaptured the glory of the Bear Bryant era Friday night by winning the national championship and depriving Miami of its fifth title in a decade of dominance.

The Crimson Tide defense humbled the No. 1 Hurricanes 34-13 in the Sugar Bowl, giving No. 2 Alabama its first championship in 13 years.

Alabama will be officially crowned college football's champion Saturday when The Associated Press poll is released.

Miami was trying to become the first back-to-back champion since Alabama in

■ Sugar Bowl

1978-79 under Paul "Bear" Bryant, and the first school ever to win five titles in 10 years.

But the Tide controlled the showdown between the last two unbeaten, untied teams in the country, helping Alabama capture its sixth national title and snapping Miami's 29-game winning streak.

"We had a great game plan for the the Miami offense," said Alabama linebacker Antonio London, "They talked a lot of noise all week long. They was talking a lot of trash (but) they couldn't get it done."

The Tide's top-rated defense, inspired by a screaming, Crimson-clad crowd of 76,789 in the Superdome, broke the game open by intercepting Heisman Trophy winner Gino Torretta on Miami's first two plays of the second half and scoring two touchdowns within a 16-second span.

After Tommy Johnson's interception led to a 1-yard TD run by Derrick Lassic, George Teague picked off another Torretta pass and returned it 31 yards to put the Tide ahead 27-6 — Miami's biggest deficit since a 35-7 loss to Tennessee in the 1986 Sugar Bowl.

"I've been dreaming about one of those for about four years now," Teague said of the interception return for a touchdown. "Gino just happned to throw it right to me."

Miami pulled to 27-13 on a Sugar Bowl-record, 78-yard punt return by Kevin Williams with 12:08 left in the game. But the Hurricanes could score no more points against a stifling Alabama defense, and the Tide padded its cushion

BILL PRICE

Cooper, Lee, MHS the teams to beat

As the District 4-5A boys basketball schedule kicks off tonight, some may be tempted to gauge who will win what games based on non-district records. Good luck to those misguided souls.

Price

That's because non-district records don't amount to a hill of beans, and maybe even less in the game of high school basketball. Why? It's time for the coaches to experiment, and not just with different offensive and defensive schemes, but with personnel as well.

As an example, let's say one coach carries 15 players on his roster and they all get plenty of minutes in holiday tournaments. But in the district opener, seven (at most) will have the opportunity to take off their warmup suits, barring foul trouble. Another coach might decide that one player who was such a discipline problem in November has really straightened up his act in January. Instant redemption, you see.

Then there's this whole matter of tournament play, where after travelling 300 miles a team must play four or five games in three days. Fans can rest assured their players will be rested for district games, however.

Be that as it may, it is my sworn duty to muddle through this pre-district mire and find if the preseason favorites still seem to be the teams to beat in 4-5A.

1. Abilene Cooper still occupies this spot, even if Midland Lee's 17-3 record is better than the Cougars' 14-6 mark. With 6-8 forward Andrae Patterson and 6-11 center Chris Paddock topping a lineup that has four players over 6-5, this team should be hard to knock off. Then how did six other teams do it? Abilene observers attribute it to streaky play by Paddock, who has at times been benched. Best guess here is that he will play tonight when Cooper plays at Odessa High.

2. Conversely, the Lee Rebels are seriously lacking in the height department, with just 6-6 Ryan Tucker being an inside threat. That leaves head coach Jon House's squad playing this risky, yet dangerous, outside shooting game. Lee has made 139 three-pointers in 20 games, averaging nearly seven a game and 81.7 points an outing. In Lee's opener it made 14 treys. If the Rebs are hot, it's string music, baby. If they get cold, it's going to be a long winter's night.

3. At 11-5 in non-district, Midland High is the only other 4-5A team with double-digit wins. And though that bean hill still isn't very tall, the Bulldogs should battle it out with Abilene High for the third playoff spot. With Antwan Goodley no longer playing for MHS, Mike Melzer (11.5) and 6-7 Andre Gill (10.5) have picked up the scoring slack.

4. Abilene High (8-10). I haven't yet been able to put a handle on the Eagles, who just might slip past MHS for that third playoff spot; Yet it is obvious that AHS' talent base has dropped off this season, and a recent realignment of the AHS-Cooper boundaries in Abilene may have something to do with that.

5. Odessa Permian. The Panthers are over .500 for the season at 7-6, and they have also beaten lofty Lee in the Tall City Tournament, 63-58. But in basketball, more than any other sport, the old "on any given night" cliche rings truest. Until Permian proves otherwise, that game will be considered an anomaly.

6. Odessa High. The Bronchos have some talent, but just haven't been able to get over that basketball hump in a few years. Coach Greg Baucom is working with a short, inexperienced bunch.

7. San Angelo was 3-13 in non-district. Now that's a mound of beans to take seriously. Nuff said.

Numbers good, bad for Cowboy Super Bowl win

By Tim Cowlishaw
The Dallas Morning News

DALLAS — Some of the signs out there say that Dallas is on its way to its sixth Super Bowl. Other signs tell us that the Cowboys don't have a chance.

Dallas' first home playoff game is 10 days away. The Cowboys' 13-3 record is part of history now, the most regular season wins ever for a Dallas team. But there is no shortage of other numbers to be examined in determining how effective a Super Bowl run this team will launch next week.

One of the oddest statistics in sports is this business about the team with the NFL rushing champion never having gone to any of the 27 Super Bowls. And, for whatever it is worth, it is what the Cowboys must now overcome since Emmitt Smith won his second straight title Sunday.

For the most part, Super Bowls have been populated with strong running teams. Certainly a solid ground game has proved more valuable than a great passing attack in the big game. But as for actual rushing champions, more than half of their teams did not even make the playoffs. Of the 11 that have reached the playoffs during the 27-year Super Bowl era, four have advanced to conference championship games before losing.

Perhaps this is nothing more than coincidence, although the longer streaks such as this survive, the more one has to pay attention.

Smith insists, "I am not superstitious."

Said offensive coordinator Norv Turner, "I hope it's a coincidence. I think one of the reasons might be that I know when we were in Los Angeles (with the Rams) and Eric Dickerson won the title (in 1983 and 1984), we were not a real balanced team.

"We like to think that this team has great balance, that we can throw when we need to and throw when we want to. I think if Washington had just gone with one back last year instead of (Earnest) Byner and (Ricky) Ervins, they might have won a rushing title. It's just that when we run the ball, we give it to one guy."

There is another omen that does not bode well for Dallas. This is the pattern of the last six Super Bowl winners — Giants, Redskins, 49ers, 49ers, Giants, Redskins. What else can this mean but that San Francisco is set to win this year and next?

However, there are signs in Dallas' favor, such as this one mentioned by a Dallas assistant coach, who asked to remain nameless in order to avoid ridicule: "We won three and lost to Philadelphia. We won five and lost to the Rams. We won three and lost to Washington," he said.

If you missed his drift, the suggestion is that Dallas was due to start a five game winning streak after the Redskins' loss. The Cowboys have won the first two. Three more wins will mean Jimmy Johnson getting carried off the field in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 31.

But the statistic that probably bears the most relevance speaks highly in Dallas' favor. The Cowboys ended the regular season with the league's No. 1 defense, having allowed the fewest total yards. Seven of the 27 league leaders have gone on to Super Bowls, including four winners. The 1972 Miami Dolphins, 1974 Pittsburgh Steelers, 1977 Cowboys and 1985 Chicago Bears all led the NFL in total defense on the road to Super Bowl glory.

"We believe in ourselves," said veteran safety Ray Horton, who went to Super Bowl XXIII with Cincinnati. "That team had an air of cockiness or confidence. We had the best record in the AFC and we went into the playoffs, knowing we were the best in the AFC. This team here doesn't talk that much. But inside each individual, I think we all believe we're one of the two best teams in the league."

No one at Valley Ranch is counting on history or any strange pattern of success to carry them to Pasadena any more than they are writing off Super Bowl hopes because of any bizarre omens that do not favor them. They are thinking and talking about the Super Bowl because of their own merits.

"Everybody in the back of their minds knows we're a Super Bowl caliber team," defensive tackle Russell Maryland said.

As a rookie last year, Maryland wasn't sure the Cowboys possessed the confidence needed to go all the way. Both the playoff victory over Chicago and loss to Detroit will help them this year, he believes.

"We'll know what to do in order to win a game," said Maryland. "And we'll know what not to do."

Now it seems the Cowboys have the defense to do whatever they wish. Even those on the other side of the ball recognize it.

"There's no question that one of the reasons we're a better football team today than we were a year ago is because of the way our defense has played this season," quarterback Troy Aikman said. "Everybody talks about how defenses win championships, and there's a lot of truth to that."

The Cowboys hope to be living proof.

Michigan's Tyrone Wheatley runs for an 88-yard touchdown, one of three scores he had in Friday's Rose Bowl.

Michigan wins thriller in Pasadena

Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif. — Michigan's fight song, "The Victors," hasn't been appropriate for the Rose Bowl on many New Year's Days.

Friday it was.

"The only thing that Michigan wanted to do was to sing 'The Victors' in Pasadena," said coach Gary Moeller, who seemed to be choking back tears after his seventh-ranked Wolverines beat No. 9 Washington 38-31 in a Rose Bowl rematch.

"I couldn't be happier. I want to be right back here next year. There isn't anything greater."

Michigan improved its record in the Rose Bowl to 3-9 in recent years. Moeller was 0-1 going into the game, and his predecessor, Bo Schembechler finished with a 2-8 record in Pasadena.

Tyrone Wheatley turned in one of the most spectacular performances in the 79-year history of the Rose Bowl, rushing for 235 yards and scoring three times — on runs of 56, 24 and a Rose Bowl record 88 yards.

Wheatley, who carried only 15 times, missed the Rose Bowl rushing record of 247 yards only because he sat out the entire fourth quarter with back spasms.

"I had a couple of goals," Wheatley, a sophomore, said after his fine outing. "I knew that Washington was going after a three-peat in the Rose Bowl and we wanted to stop that, and I also wanted to send the guys who were leaving, the seniors, out with a bang.

"The way they (the offensive line) opened it up for me, it was just there," said Wheatley, who, once he cleared the line of scrimmage, sprinted away from the Huskies' defenders on each of his touchdown runs.

"They (the Huskies) play close on the line, so once you're through, you're gone. I wasn't even touched on two runs. The rest of it was just speed."

"The thing about Tyrone is that he has the tremendous speed and doesn't look like he's running that fast," said Moeller, whose Wolverines avenged a humbling 34-14 defeat by the Huskies in the 1992 Rose Bowl.

Michigan drove 80 yards to the winning touchdown, a 15-yard pass from Elvis Grbac to Tony McGee with 5:29 remaining, while Wheatley was on the bench trying to work the stiffness out of his back.

"Early in the first quarter I got hit in the back with a helmet and I just kept getting spasms," Wheatley said. "It just kept tightening and there was a sharp pain down my leg.

"I wanted to go back in, but we have two other excellent backs and there was no need for me to go back."

Said Moeller: "I grabbed Tyrone and said, 'Tyrone, I've got to throw you back in there.' He said, 'I'll try it coach.' I knew the way he said it, that I couldn't do it."

While the Wolverines' win erased the pain of last year's Rose Bowl loss, and perhaps the disappointment over their three ties this season, the Huskies (9-3) will be left to wonder what happened to them after they were 8-0 and ranked No. 1 late in the season.

■ Rose Bowl

They wound up losing three of their last four games, and the Washington program also was hit by a number of off-the-field problems, including the suspension of last year's Rose Bowl MVP, quarterback Billy Joe Hobert.

Asked if the Huskies folded, Washington coach Don James said: "I wouldn't use that word at all. That's a bad word. These players tried hard all season, but it's not easy to go 12-0.

"This was a great effort by both teams."

Last year, the Huskies capped an undefeated season with the win over Michigan that gave Washington the USA Today-CNN national championship (Miami won The Associated Press poll).

Wheatley's performance overshadowed a strong outing by Washington's Mark Brunell, the 1991 Rose Bowl MVP. Brunell threw for a career-high 308 yards and two TDs, completing 18 of 30.

"They (the Wolverines) came out very fired up and they fought to the end," Brunell said. "That was the best defense we've faced all year."

Playoff grind may be wearing down Bills, player says

Associated Press

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — The Buffalo Bills have played 67 games — including two Super Bowls — since their 1990 training camp.

And Steve Tasker says years of extra playoff pounding may prevent the Bills from reaching their third straight Super Bowl.

"It's something to think about," special teamer Tasker said as the battered Bills prepared to play the Houston Oilers in Sunday's AFC playoff game. "A lot of teams have an extra month and a half or two of rest than we do. Maybe it's adding up."

For whatever reasons, the Bills have a lengthy injury list, topped by quarterback Jim Kelly, who won't play after sustaining a sprained knee in last week's 27-3 loss to the Oilers in the Astrodome.

Six more Bills are considered questionable. Included are Pro Bowlers Tasker, who has a sore knee, and Cornelius Bennett, who has a hamstring injury.

"Percentage-wise, some of those questionables ought to be ready," coach Marv Levy said. "If not, (others) will have to step up and be counted."

As a team, the Oilers are looking to stand up and count themselves among the AFC's best. After a string of playoff failures in recent years, Houston's core of aging veterans knows it has to produce in post-season play — or else.

"For a lot of us, this year or next year, if we don't get it done, we'll probably see ourselves making some major changes around here," 36-year-old quarterback Warren Moon said. "The urgency is that we have the chance to do it this year. "That should be the only urgency, not looking down the road that we're getting old.

"It should be that the opportunity is right here in our face and we should take advantage of it."

The reason the Oilers haven't had success in the playoffs in the past, Moon said, is because the team didn't play well down the stretch in the regular season.

That's not the case this year. Houston four of its last five games, including last week's throttling of Buffalo's no-huddle offense.

"This year, we're playing better at the last of the year than we have since I've been here," Moon said. "That's what propels you into the playoffs. Hopefully, that momentum carries you through.

"If you do not do well down the stretch of the season, you're not going to do well in the playoffs."

If that's true, Buffalo is in big trouble. A four-game winning streak at the start of the season, during which the Bills outscored their opponents 153-45, is nearly forgotten.

The Bills' once-feared offense was misfiring even before Kelly went down. His replacement, longtime backup Frank Reich, faces a formidable challenge in trying to revive it.

Reich wasn't particularly impressive after replacing Kelly in the second quarter last week, but Reich has historically played better as a starter than as a reliever.

Among the four wins he's had in six starts are a memorable Monday night comeback against the Los Angeles Rams in 1989 and a division-clinching victory over the Miami Dolphins the next year.

"Frank's not as outgoing and as vocal as Jim, but he commands as much respect and confidence as Jim does," tackle Will Wolford said.

Oilers coach Jack Pardee refused to name his starting quarterback, although Moon, who returned for spot duty last week after a five-game layoff with a broken arm, is expected to get the call over Cody Carlson.

Pardee said his team can't put much stock in last week's humbling of the Bills.

"They were so close to making so many big plays on us that we worked our way out of," he said.

Even with Kelly, the Bills' passing game hasn't done well lately. Buffalo has had consistent success running, though. So, expect Thurman Thomas carry the load again.

Florida State defeats Nebraska, 27-14

Associated Press

MIAMI — It has become as much a part of New Year's Day as resolutions and champagne: Florida State wins, and Nebraska loses.

Friday night's Orange Bowl followed the holiday tradition, with elusive Charlie Ward dodging blitzes all night and throwing two touchdown passes to lead Florida State past the Cornhuskers, 27-14.

The third-ranked Seminoles (11-1) broke an NCAA record by winning a bowl game for the eighth consecutive season. UCLA set the old mark in 1983-89.

No. 11 Nebraska (9-3) extended its losing streak in bowl games to six, three of the defeats coming against Florida State.

The dominating performance gave Seminoles coach Bobby Bowden more ammunition to argue that he had the nation's best team at the end of the season. Florida State won its final seven games.

Ward helped the Seminoles build a 20-0 lead with touchdown passes of 25 yards to Tamarick Vanover and 4 yards to Kez McCorvey.

Florida State's Sean Jackson also scored on an 11-yard run, and Dan Mowrey added field goals of 40 and 24 yards — his first attempts on the Orange Bowl turf since missing a last-second 39-yarder in a 19-16 loss to Miami three months ago.

Nebraska's Tommie Frazier connected with Corey Dixon on a 41-yard touchdown pass and hit Dixon again for 37 yards to set up the Cornhuskers' other score. Two other threats ended when Byron Bennett was wide left on field goal attempts of 23 and 39 yards.

The Cornhuskers borrowed a page from the Florida State playbook on their first play: Frazier lined up in the shotgun and completed an 18-yard pass to Dixon. But that was Nebraska's only first down until the final seconds of the first quarter.

Frequent blitzes by the Huskers, meanwhile, failed to fluster Ward. Improvising often under pressure, he directed scoring drives of 75, 58, 70 and 85 yards.

Ward completed 15 of 30 passes for 187 yards, with one interception.

Frazier's errant pitchout set up another Florida State score. Defensive end Dan Footman recovered at the Nebraska 2, and Ward hit McCorvey on third down for a 17-0 lead.

■ Orange Bowl

Any hope the Huskers had of a second-half comeback dissolved in a downpour that hindered both offenses.

Adding to Nebraska's gloom was an injury suffered by second-team All-America linebacker Travis Hill. The senior left the game in the third quarter with a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee.

The crowd of 57,324 included Bowden's son Terry, who became head coach at Auburn last month.

He watched the Seminoles win the Orange Bowl Classic for the first time. They've now won every major bowl except the Rose Bowl, which matches the champions of the Pac-10 and Big Ten.

Walsh's Cardinal stings Paterno's Nittany Lions

Associated Press

MIAMI — Bill Walsh's matchup with Joe Paterno swung, not surprisingly, on the passing game as Stanford completed its first 10-victory season in 52 years Friday, beating Penn State 24-3 in the Blockbuster Bowl.

Walsh, who returned to college coaching this year after a super career in the NFL, got the best of Paterno as Steve Stenstrom threw for two touchdowns.

Stanford's last 10-win season came in 1940, when quarterback Frankie Albert led the Cardinal to a perfect season, including a Rose Bowl victory over Nebraska.

Walsh, known for his innovative passing games, left Stanford in 1978 and won three Super Bowls with the San Francisco 49ers. He then spent three years in the broadcast booth before returning to the schoole. He was successful in the Cardinal's first New Year's Day bowl game in 20 years. The last time Stanford won as many as nine games in a season was under Walsh in 1977.

The 21st-ranked Lions, ranked a contender for the national championship when the season began, finished a disappointing 7-5. That is the fourth five-loss season since Paterno became coach in 1966: the Lions have had only one losing record under Paterno.

■ Blockbuster Bowl

Stenstrom, a 59 percent passer in a 10-3 season, completed four passes in a first-period drive leading to a 2-yarder to Ryan Wetnight for the score. He teamed with Glyn Milburn on a 40-yard screen pass for another TD in the third quarter. Stenstrom completed 17 of 29 for 210 yards.

Stanford, ranked 13th, also got a 5-yard TD run by J.J. Lasley in the second quarter and Eric Abrams' 28-yard third-period field goal.

Penn State's only score came in the opening period, a 33-yard field goal by V.J. Muscillo that made it 7-3. The Stanford defense frustrated Lions quarterback Kerry Collins, who wound up 11 for 29 for 139 yards and had one interception. Paterno's customary hard-hitting running game also was missing in action.

In addition to Stenstrom's passing, Ellery Roberts carried 17 times for 98 yards, and Wetbnight caught five passes for 71. For Penn State, All-American receiver O.J. McDuffie caught six for 111.

Stanford took the opening kickoff and drove 71 yards on eight plays.

Hearst rushing leads Georgia to Citrus win

Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla. — Garrison Hearst ran for 163 yards and two touchdowns Friday as Georgia completed its first 10-win season since 1983 with a 21-14 victory over Ohio State in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Hearst, third in the Heisman Trophy voting behind Miami's Gino Torretta and San Diego State's Marshall Faulk, scored the Bulldogs' first two touchdowns — from a yard out in the first quarter and on a 5-yard run in the third — and set up the game-winner. Frank Harvey's 1-yard run with 4:32 left broke a 14-all tie and gave the eighth-ranked Bulldogs (10-2) the victory.

For the 15th-ranked Buckeyes (8-3-1), it was their fourth straight bowl loss, all under coach John Cooper. But they had chances in the fourth quarter.

The Buckeyes used Robert Smith's 45-yard run on a screen pass to reach the Bulldogs 15 early in the fourth quarter, but three plays later Kirk Herbstreit and Jeff Cothran collided on a handoff, causing a fumble that Georgia's Travis Jones recovered.

On the game's last play, Herbstreit's Hail Mary pass into the end zone was intercepted by the Bulldogs.

Earlier in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs reached the Ohio State 28 before Eric Zeier lost a fumble on a snap.

Hearst had runs of 13 and 11 yards and Zeier completed a 21-yard pass to Shannon Mitchell before Harvey scored.

Smith, the Buckeye's talented running back, had 107 yards on 24 carries and, like Hearst, also scored on runs of 1 and 5 yards.

Georgia had an impressive opening drive after forcing the Buckeyes to punt on their first possession.

The Bulldogs went 80 yards in 14 plays — their most in a scoring drive this season — to take a 7-0 lead when Hearst ran left for a score with 6:48 left in the opening period.

Hearst had eight carries for 43 yards, including a 14-yarder, and backup Terrell Davis had runs of 13 and 6 yards, in the drive.

The Bulldogs reached the Ohio State 29 on their next possession, but were forced to punt when Zeier was sacked for a 10-yard loss by Jason Simmons.

The Buckeyes fought poor field position throughout the first half, starting at their 16, 20, 4 and 11 before getting the turnover that led to the 54-yard scoring drive just before halftime.

OSU took over when Zeier fumbled the snap and Randall Brown recovered on the Buckeyes 46.

Smith started the drive with a 14-yard run and ended it on a 1-yard sweep left 1:17 before halftime.

Georgia threatened in the final minute, getting to the Ohio State 9 on a 38-yard pass from Zeier to Andre Hastings on the final play of the half.

Fulmer wins 1st as Vols head coach

Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla. — Tennessee ushered in the Phillip Fulmer era with pizazz. Boston College may have closed out Tom Coughlin's reign with a thud.

Fulmer won his first official game as coach of the 17th-ranked Volunteers on Friday, 38-23 over BC in the Hall of Fame Bowl. Coughlin, in his second year as coach of the 16th-ranked Eagles, reportedly is being eyed by the pros.

Heath Shuler ran for two touchdowns and threw for two more to pace Tennessee, which built a 24-point lead with him in the game and then surrendered two TDs and a pair of two-point conversions in the fourth quarter.

Shuler, the versatile sophomore quarterback, scored on runs of 1 and 14 yards and also threw TD passes of 27 yards to Cory Fleming and 69 yards to Mose Phillips, who broke three tackles after taking a short flip from Shuler.

■ Hall of Fame Bowl

Although the Volunteers (9-3) finished with four victories under Fulmer, Friday's game was the coach's first since succeeding Johnny Majors, who was forced out after 16 seasons at Tennessee.

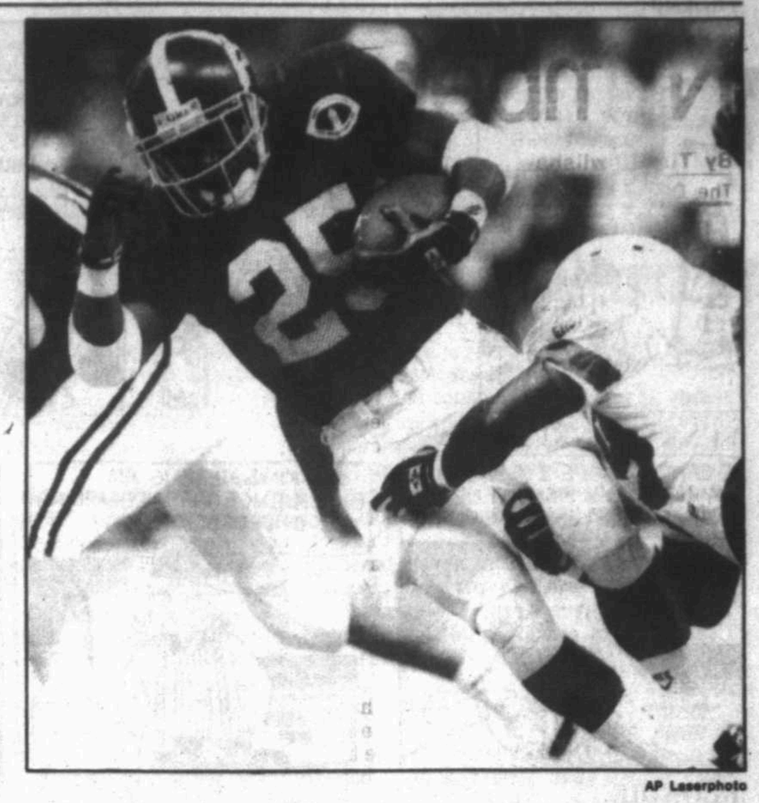

The long-time Vols assistant won three games while his former boss was recovering from heart bypass surgery in September.

Boston College (8-3-1) was making its first appearance in a bowl game since 1986 and may have played its last game under Coughlin, who reportedly is a leading candidate for the New York Giants vacancy. Coughlin refused to speculate on his chances of succeeded Ray Handley as coach of the NFL team.

The Eagles fell behind 14-0 in the first 10 minutes of the game and never recovered. Glenn Foley threw two touchdown passes to Pete Mitchell, covering 12 and 17 yards, and Darnell Campbell scored on a 7-yard run.

Shuler, meanwhile, completed 18 of 23 passes for 245 yards and gained 31 yards rushing on six attempts in just under three quarters. He was replaced by Jerry Colquitt, who threw a 28-yard TD pass to Fleming in the fourth quarter.

Ball control was one of Coughlin's biggest concerns before the game. He figured Boston College needed to control the clock to have a chance to win and the Eagles did that early, holding the ball for more than 11 minutes of the opening quarter — yet still found themselves trailing by two touchdowns.

with a 4-yard touchdown run by Lassic.

The victory extended Alabama's winning streak to 23 and made the Tide only the third Division I-A team to go 13-0 and win the national championship. The others were Nebraska in 1971 and Brigham Young in 1984.

It was a particularly rewarding win for Alabama coach Gene Stallings, who played for Bryant at Texas A&M and worked for him as an assistant at Alabama. Stallings is one of "Bear's boys," a group of Bryant disciples who have carried on his tradition of hard-nosed defense and simple, straight-ahead offense — a formula that helped Bryant win five national titles in the 1960s and 1970s.

Lassic, the Sugar Bowl MVP, provided the offensive punch. He rushed 28 times for 135 yards and two touch

SATURDAY, JANUARY 2, 1993

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Keeping your New Year's resolutions will help you find rare success in both your career and personal relationships. Be on the lookout for new employment opportunities in the spring. An inspired diet and regular exercise will boost your energy and self-esteem. August brings exciting travel and thrilling romantic adventures. Be sure to attend a family reunion held during the winter holidays. A wonderful reconciliation is possible.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: author Isaac Asimov, baseball player Bill Madlock, singer Roger Miller, actress Wendy Phillips.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be more patient with someone who is slow to admit mistakes. A friend may be going through a difficult period. Be supportive. There is plenty of time for romance later on!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Show enthusiasm for a new project. You could be getting in on the ground floor of something big! A sizable windfall is possible. Be certain to let children know how things stand.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Do not take off in a new direction until you have given it further study. Those in pursuit of romance should redouble their efforts. Love and good luck go hand-in-hand!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your imagination is very active today. Use it to make new profits! Steer clear of negative thinkers. You need to surround yourself with positive people in order to prosper.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Romance is on a smoother course. Remember past mistakes when making management decisions. The time is ripe for reintroducing an old idea. Travel with friends if you can.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Too many errands or a demanding travel agenda could wear you out; your pocketbook might suffer, too. Why not stay home and play catchup with paperwork? Begin to gather material for taxes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Familiar surroundings feel good today; and so does splurging a little tonight! Plan on spending the evening with that special person. Meanwhile, tackle odd jobs around the house.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This is not a good day to push for changes in an alliance. Exercise greater patience. Time spent alone with a loved one is precious. Protect your privacy from intrusive neighbors or relatives.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You may be the guest of honor when influential people gather today. Their wealth could trickle down to you like pennies from heaven! An urge to socialize grows stronger.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Impulsive moves will cost you money or a romantic opportunity. Curb a tendency to take unnecessary risks. Sticking to a routine for a while could prove beneficial.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Someone close to you has been feeling disenchanted lately. Try not to take this person's negative comments personally. Rational discourse may be in short supply.

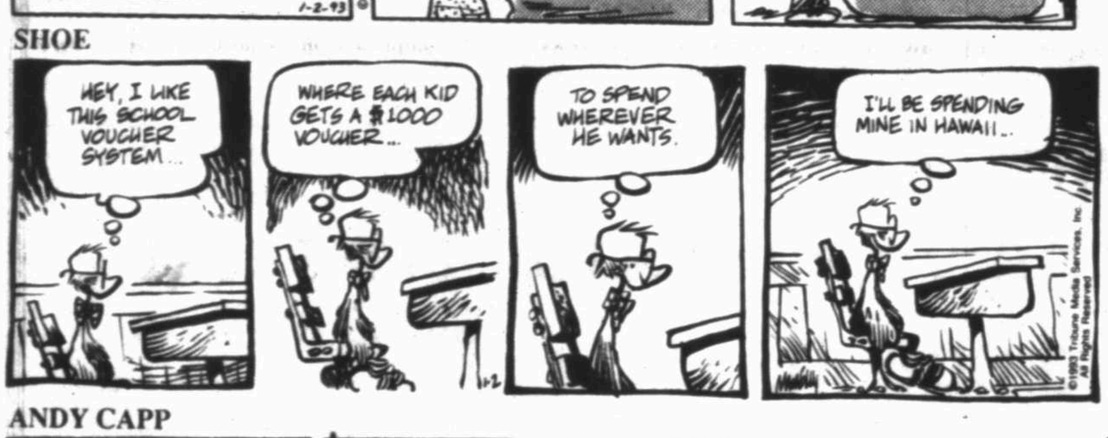

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Idealism is a strong force this morning. You want to share your hospitality with those in need. Evening could find one spouse making too many demands on the other. Seek a compromise.

TODAY'S CHILDREN: Drive and ambition are the hallmark of these industrious Capricorns. Yet they invariably put family needs ahead of career concerns. Belonging to the "in" group is very important to these status-conscious youngsters. Concerned parents will point out the hazards of following the crowd. Their romantic attachments tend to be strong and long-lasting. Do not be surprised if they marry their high school sweetheart many years later.

'Bad hair day' earns actress Prima Donna of Year award

Happy New Year, and let's take a moment to reflect on someone-or-other's pronouncement that, as the year turns, serious chanteuse Sinead O'Connor is out and serious "Beverly Hills 90210" actress Shannon Doherty is in.

Last year's icon incited public outrage when she tore up a picture of the pope while performing on "Saturday Night Live" and later pouted when she was booed at a Bob Dylan tribute.

This year's icon has been named Prima Donna of the Year by Glamour magazine for allegedly insisting "while working on a TV movie that she receive 10 bottles of Evian a day to wash her hair." When only eight bottles were provided one day, it is said that she "threw a fit."

But what meaning can be drawn from these tales? Picking on the pope is always a no-no, but everybody understands a bad hair day.

COMPTON, Calif. — Citing bad publicity from his recent arrest on drug charges, actor Todd Bridges resigned as head of a youth center he founded.

Bridges

Bridges, 27, told about 20 people at the center Thursday that he was leaving because he didn't want the center to suffer.

"When things happen, people tend to shy away," said Bridges.

He maintained that he was clean and sober now despite his history of drug abuse. "Everyone knows the battle I've been fighting all of my life and more and more people are fighting," he said.

The former child star of TV's "Diff'rent Strokes" founded the Todd Bridges Youth Foundation two years ago in Compton, a city about 10 miles southeast of downtown Los Angeles. He did so after he was acquitted in 1989 in the shooting of a drug dealer in a crack-cocaine house.

Bridges was arrested Tuesday while driving in Burbank. Officers found methamphetamine, or speed, and a loaded 9mm Ruger handgun in his car, said Sgt. Don Goldberg. He was released from jail Wednesday on $10,000 bail.

Bridges said he was using someone else's car and didn't know what was in it.

DALLAS — Songwriter Paul Simon and his wife, singer Edie Brickell, are parents of their first child, a boy.

"I'm finally a grandpa," Edie's father, Eddie, told The Dallas Morning News. "I thought I never was going to have a grandchild." The happy grandfather lives in Mesquite, near Dallas.

The couple's child, born Monday in New York City, is named Adrian Edward Simon. He weighed in at 7 pounds, 2 ounces.

His mother, former lead singer for the New Bohemians, and Simon were married last spring at Simon's home in Montauk, N.Y.

It's the first child for Brickell and the second for Simon.

NEW YORK — Mayor David Dinkins will appear under a different spotlight when he makes a guest appearance in the Broadway musical "The Will Rogers Follies."

Dinkins will play flier Wiley Post. The script calls for the mayor, wearing an eye patch, to sit in an upper mezzanine at the Palace Theatre and say the line "Let's go flying, Will" five times. Rogers, the beloved Oklahoma-born humorist and actor, and Post died together in a plane crash in 1935.

The mayor plans to donate the union-scale fee of about $200 for his Jan. 9 appearance to a Broadway AIDS charity.

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Free-lance tabloid photographer Bob Calvert was arrested near the Kennedy estate, where he had been charged with trespassing a year earlier.

Palm Beach police caught Calvert caught early Thursday as he shot photos of two unidentified bathers on the beach.

Calvert, whose previous charge was dismissed, said the new charge was a police mistake.

"It is a public beach. It is out in the open," Calvert said.

Officer Michael McClure spotted Calvert's van parked near the Kennedy compound about 1:45 a.m. and walked toward the seawall, where he saw Calvert lying on his stomach taking pictures. When McClure walked back with Calvert to the van, the officer saw a gun in the van, reports said.

The cameraman was charged with carrying a concealed firearm and trespassing after warning. He was taken to the county jail and released on $1,500 bond.

In November 1991, Calvert was charged with trespassing after an incident at the estate involving attorneys for William Kennedy Smith. A judge eventually dismissed the charge.

Smith was acquitted of rape in December 1991.

100-yard kickoff return seals Fiesta Bowl win for Syracuse

Associated Press

■ Fiesta Bowl

TEMPE, Ariz. — Kirby Dar Dar took the low road to high fives with a game-breaking kickoff return that lifted Syracuse over Colorado in the Fiesta Bowl.

With the area between the hashmarks a sea of sand in Sun Devil Stadium, Dar Dar used the grassy left sideline in returning a kickoff 100 yards to lock up a 26-22 victory on Friday.

Qadry Ismail took the kickoff on the 6 and handed off to Dar Dar, a sophomore tailback who broke free of one tackle and covered the rest of the distance untouched.

The extra point, the second in three attempts by John Biskup, made it 26-16 after three periods and the sixth-ranked Orangemen (10-2) were well on the way to improving to 5-0-1 in bowls in the last six years.

The Buffaloes (9-2-1) scored with 4:28 left on a 6-yard run by Lamont Warren, but Ismail returned the ensuing kickoff 42 yards to the Syracuse 45, and Colorado was unable to challenge thereafter.

Colorado led 7-6 at halftime, a lead which stood up the first 8½ minutes of the third quarter when the respective offenses came to life, combining for 29 points in the next 6½ minutes.

Syracuse's David Walker made it 12-7 on a 13-yard run, Mitch Berger of Colorado kicked a 38-field goal, and Marvin Graves ran 28 yards for a TD off a scramble.

In the final 87 seconds of the period, the Buffaloes drove 82 yards in four plays, the last a 16-yard pass from Kordell Stewart to Charles Johnson. Berger missed the extra point on a field so cut up that NFL kickers missed six of seven field goal attempts last Sunday. Then Dar Dar built the lead back to 10 points on the last play of the period.

Biskup connected for field goals of 46 and 34 yards in the first quarter, and Stewart found Sean Embree with a 7-yard TD pass to account for the first-half scoring.

The Buffaloes drove 80 yards in 14 plays to score, accounting for much of their first-half total of 107 yards. It appeared that the field, site of 19 games since the season began, was too big an obstacle for the offensive units that averaged over 400 yards a game.

Bob Grosvenor of Syracuse gave the Orangemen a lift just 1:18 into the third quarter, however, with the second interception off Stewart.

Colorado stopped Syracuse's initial possession without a first down, but Orange nose guard Kevin Mitchell made two big plays after Colorado took over on its own 10. He threw Warren for a 3-yard loss and, two plays later, slammed into Stewart just as he got rid of the ball, the pass falling incomplete.

Starting from the Buffaloes 40 after a punt, Graves turned a sputtering drive into a winner with a 21-yard keeper on the option.

On the next play, Syracuse got the lead back for good when Walker burst untouched up the middle to score.

Mitchell had a sack on the next Colorado possession, but Stewart bounced back a play later with a 43-yard pass to Michael Westbrook, who made a diving catch at the Syracuse 28.

Berger, who missed a 23-yard field goal in the first half, capped the drive with a field goal to make it 12-10.

Ismail's 27-yard kickoff return got the Orangemen going, and Syracuse went 72 yards in five plays, scoring on Graves' run.

James Hill, who gained 109 yards on 11 carries, got most of them on a 61-yard run that set up the next Colorado score, but the missed extra point left his team down 19-16.

In the fourth quarter, Tony Jones killed a Colorado drive with an end-zone interception, the third off Stewart.

HOOPS: Midland High awaits Tuesday for league openers

thal 1-2 scoring punch for the Rebs, as Wilson comes into the game averaging 22.4 points an outing and Lattibeaudiere 19.2. Also offering Lee the option of the inside game is 6-6 Ryan Tucker, who is scoring points at a 9.4 ppg clip. Other Rebels near double-digit averages are Corodon Watson (8.9) and Sean Low (8.3).

The Bobcats have three players averaging over 10 points a game, though Noble Free is the only returning starter from a year ago. Forward Danny Robledo is San Angelo's leading scorer with 15.4 points a game, while Free, a 6-4 post, is next with 13.8. Guard Greg Metz is also scoring 12.8 points a game.

For the Lady Rebels, tonight provides the opportunity to even their league record. Lee's season record went over the .500 mark for the first time just this week when the Lady Rebs participated in Lubbock's Caprock Tournament, as inside players Tekeira Strambler and Krissy Woodard, and wing Tanisha Mills appeared to bring their game into top form.

After scoring more than 16 points a game in Lee's four outings at the Caprock Tournament, Strambler is the Lady Rebels' leading scorer with a 13.8 average. Mills is next with 10.5 points a game, while Woodard (a 6-2 sophomore) has an 8.6 average.

The Lady Bulldogs, who along with the Lee boys also played in the Caprock Tournament, are unbeaten in district and hope to tune their game up today against nondistrict foe Snyder. Sophomore wing Amy Alcala is MHS' leading scorer with 16.7 points a game, and junior guard Julie Chancellor is scoring 12.9 points a game. Also, 6-4 senior post Lisa Koss adds eight points a game along with her rebounding and shot-blocking prowess.

The MHS boys are just returning from a tournament at Fort Walton Beach, Fla., where a 1-2 showing moved their record to 11-5 for the season. Senior guard Mike Melzer is the team's leading scorer with 11.5 points a game, while center Andre Gill averages 10.5.

Head coach: Boyce Paxton, 5th year.
District opener: Tonight, vs. Midland Lee.

USC coach quits under fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Larry Smith, who guided Southern Cal to the Rose Bowl three times in six seasons, resigned Friday under pressure following an embarrassing Freedom Bowl loss to Fresno State.

During an evening news conference, an emotional Smith broke into tears saying he was pressured into leaving but he understood the expectations.

"A victory over Fresno State would have given me another year," Smith said. "The bottom line is you gotta win 89 percent of the time. I came into it with my eyes open. It's one of the realities of the business."

The 53-year-old had to compose himself near the conclusion of the brief press gathering. His wife, Cheryl, gave him a hug of support and encouragement.

"My biggest regret," he said, "is that I won't be able to coach this team next year because I was really looking forward to it."

Outgoing athletic director Mike McGee said the school would try to pick a replacement as soon as possible.

"This resignation comes after discussions the past two weeks with Larry about the future of the program, given the circumstances, and the concerns we had," McGee said in a statement.

"Firing Larry was not an option. Reassignment was," McGee said at a news conference. "Larry was fully aware of the erosion of confidence in the program here on campus."

Smith said he was sorry he didn't have a chance to talk to players before USC announced his departure.

"I walk away from the program with my head up," he said in a statement released by the school. "I feel our staff did much to improve the USC football program."

"I will remember Larry for some of the sensational wins we had, unfortunately a lot of those wins were some time ago," McGee said.

Smith, 53, compiled a 44-25-3 record in his six years at USC.

Coming off a 3-8 record, USC's worst in 34 years, the Trojans opened this season 5-1-1. But the team faltered, losing big games to UCLA and Notre Dame to finish 6-5-1.

The 24-7 thumping at the hands of Fresno State was particularly embarrassing to many fans who had openly scorned the Bulldogs before the game.

"Not to take anything away from Fresno State — That was a hard time," McGee said when asked if the resignation was pegged to the Fresno State loss. "It's not ideal but this is the situation we're in."

Smith's teams were also widely criticized for not defeating Notre Dame in six tries.

Under Smith, the football team's grade-point average increased every year, from 2.0 to 2.46. He also increased the team's five-year graduation rate from 33 percent in 1986 to a projected 85 percent this year.

OPEN WIDE!

NO MENTION IS MADE IN THE BIBLE OF THAT SCOURGE OF MANKIND, THE TOOTHACHE! BUT AN ANCIENT SAYING PUT IT, "ONE CAN BUY ANYTHING IN THE MARKETS OF JERUSALEM FROM A CAMEL TO A FALSE TOOTH!" MODERN ARCHEOLOGICAL FINDINGS HAVE REVEALED SKULLS WITH EVIDENCE OF DENTAL TREATMENT AND REPAIRS, AND SOME EGYPTIAN MUMMIES HAVE BEEN EXCAVATED COMPLETE WITH GOLD-FILLED MOLARS. IN FACT, EGYPTIAN DESCRIPTIONS OF DENTISTRY METHODS ARE IN THEIR RECORDS DATING AS FAR BACK AS 3700 B.C.!

ABOUT 500 B.C., HERODOTUS MENTIONED ANIMAL TEETH BEING FILED DOWN TO FILL A GAP IN THE HUMAN MOUTH. THESE SUBSTITUTE TEETH, HOWEVER, WERE CEMENTED IN BETWEEN TWO OTHER TEETH AND NOT USED IN BRIDGES, BUT BY EARLY ETRUSCAN TIMES, ETRUSCAN SKELETONS REVEAL TEETH HOOKED TOGETHER WITH GOLD BANDS, THE EARLY FORE-RUNNER OF THE MODERN DENTAL BRIDGE. SO OUR ANCIENT SAYING WAS, IN ALL PROBABILITY, TRUE—ONE COULD BUY DENTURES IN THE MARKET PLACES AND BAZAARS OF ANCIENT JERUSALEM!

NEXT WEEK: BIBLE MISPRINTS!

Dean: Rise of religious, ethnic conflict is serious

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Assessing 1992's main religious developments, the dean of Vanderbilt University Divinity School says the rise of religious-ethnic conflict is "clearly the most serious thing we're seeing."

Joseph C. Hough said the conflict is most evident in emergence of neo-Nazism in Germany, in Slavic republics of the former Soviet Union and in India, but is simmering elsewhere, including the United States.

He cited these other developments:

— Political failure of the religious right to make "family values" a winning issue in the presidential campaign, and influence of conservative Christians exerted on the Republican Party.

— Approaching showdown over lesbian and gay ordination in Protestant churches.

— Ethical questions surrounding physician-assisted suicide by the terminally ill.

— Reopening of churches in Russia after years of religious oppression and influx of fundamentalist religious organizations.

— The human genome research project to map genetic information so as to better understand creation and humanness, a project which could bring new medical benefits but also lead to abuses.

Here's a Quick Message About a Long-Winded Subject

There are probably as many ideas about religion as there are people, and that's what Unitarian Universalists discovered several hundred years ago. Since then, Unitarian Universalists have revered personal thought and action within the religious community.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Brunch planned

The Unitarian-Universalist Church of Midland is having a New Year's Brunch this Sunday at 10:30 a.m. to ring in the New Year. A sign-up sheet is posted on the bulletin board in the foyer.

Church offers series

Beginning Sunday, January 10 at 9:00 a.m. Life Unlimited Church (4224 E. Loop 338 in Odessa) will be offering a teaching series entitled "Successful Single Parenting." These teachings have been put together by the staff of Chuck Swindoll and will cover all the problem areas single parents have to deal with.

It will contain partial video and partial interaction. Teachers will be Ralph and Becky Martin, who both come from broken homes, and have valuable single parent experiences.

Don Palmer, Pastor of Life Unlimited, would like to invite all single parents who would like guidance in raising their children. For more information please call Life Unlimited Church at 362-1911 or 550-0005. A nursery will be provided.

Church to fellowship

Greater St. Luke A.M.E. Church, 401 South Adams, will hold its annual New Year's Music Fellowship this Sunday at 3:00 p.m. at the church.

This year's singing will feature Greater St. Luke's choirs and singing groups: The Lukettes, directed by Marie Woods; Voices of Greater St. Luke, directed by Carol Vaughn; the Cherub Choir, under the direction of Carolyn Gilbert; and the Adult Choir, Jodie Porter president. Featured visiting soloists and singing groups are the Senior Citizens and Virgie Johnson. Anyone wishing to participate call 682-9936 or 684-8558 so that we may include you on the program. Hazel Pace is program director, Tammie Burnett is director of music and Rev. I.C. Cooper is pastor.

The public is invited.

News service moves

Jean Caffey Lyles, director of the Evanston, Ill., office of United Methodist News Service, has moved from temporary offices at Kendall College to the United States Methodist Building, 1200 Davis Street, Evanston, Ill. Her new address and phone numbers: Jean Caffey Lyles, United Methodist News Service, P.O. Box 5406, Evanston, IL 60204-5406. (For deliveries: 1200 Davis Street, Evanston, IL, 60201-4193). Phone: (708) 492-0426, Fax: (708) 492-0427.

Seminar scheduled

CLER Ministries, Trinity Presbyterian Church and St. Luke's United Methodist Church will be sponsoring a seminar on mid-life dimension issues. It will be held Sat., January 9, 1993 at Trinity Presbyterian Church, Louisiana at Andrews Hwy.

This seminar led by Jim and Sally Conway will be targeting persons entering or in the midst of mid-life changes. Schedule: 8:30-9:30 a.m. Breakfast, 9:00-1:00 p.m. Seminar, Break, 6:30-7:00 p.m. Dinner, 7:00-8:30 p.m. Seminar.

Registration fee is $25 per person or $40 per couple, which includes breakfast and dinner. To register, please call Trinity Presbyterian Church, 682-2514.

On Sunday, January 10, the Conways will be involved in Sunday morning church school at Trinity Presbyterian Church and Jim will preach during the 10:55 worship service.

Jim and Sally Conway are co-founders of Mid-Life Dimensions, a non-profit organization which ministers to people at various stages of life through radio, television, conferences, books and tapes. The Conways have appeared on national television and radio, including "700 Club," "Regis Philben Show," and "Focus on the Familym" radio show.

Jim Conway holds a doctorate in adult development from the University of Illinois and a master's degree in psychology from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School. Jim served as pastor for almost 30 years and then was director of the Doctor of Ministry program and associate professor at Talbot Theological Seminary for five years.

Sally Conway earned her master's degree in human development and family ecology from the University of Illinois and was adjunct professor at Talbot Seminary for five years.

Jim and Sally have authored and co-authored ten books dealing with mid-life crisis, divorce, strengthening marriages, menopause, and friendship.

For more information or to register for the seminar, please call Trinity Presbyterian Church at 682-2514. Contact person for Trinity is the Rev. Mary Alice Lyman.

Super Sunday can be year's best outreach

Super Opportunity

Pastor, is your church empty on Super Bowl Sunday?

That is the question that Tom Landry, the former coach of the Dallas Cowboys, asks in a letter to 250,000 churches promoting his new "Halftime Video Kit."

"The Super Bowl is coming Sunday, Jan. 31, 1993," he writes. "I believe Super Sunday can be your biggest outreach event of the year. How? With the Tom Landry Halftime Spectacular. Make the Super Bowl work for you rather than compete against you."

First, set up a big screen television in the sanctuary and then invite the neighborhood in for the game. "Serve up some hot dogs with all the fixin's, and at halftime, play the 12-minute video, hand out some literature and talk about our Lord," he writes.

The Super Bowl competitors will not be known until two weeks before the game, but that is time enough for taped interviews with the teams' players who are born-again Christians. These will be spliced into the Landry video before it is shipped to churches. In the interviews, Landry says, the players will "talk about their love for Christ."

"Many Americans look up to athletes as their heroes and role models," he adds. "What a terrific way to point your friends to the Lord!"

The video, which comes with books and magazines about Christian sports figures, along with their trading cards, sells for $59.95. It is available from Sports Outreach America, P.O. 720, Church Hill, Md. 21690. Sports Outreach is a consortium of 140 evangelical ministry organizations, including the 700 Club, Radio Bible Class and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Landry said the opportunity offered by Super Sunday "represents the kind of thinking the Apostle Paul had in mind" when he wrote in 1 Corinthians 9:6, "I have become all things to all men so that by all means I may win some."

State settles with charter hospitals

By Chip Brown
Associated Press writer

AUSTIN — A national chain of psychiatric hospitals has agreed to change its marketing and admission standards in Texas following an investigation by the state attorney general's office, officials said Thursday.

Charter Medical Corp., which operates 11 psychiatric hospitals in Texas, agreed in a final judgment filed in state district court in Travis County to refrain from a number of practices considered questionable by patients and state regulators.

Investigations of psychiatric hospitals statewide have uncovered a pattern of incentives being offered to employees to help fill hospital beds while overlooking patients' needs, officials in the attorney general's office said.

Patients have also been admitted without being told of the costs for services, officials said.

"This settlement is the continuation of the reform of the psychiatric hospital industry in Texas," Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said Thursday.

Without admitting fault, Charter Medical, which is based in Macon, Ga., agreed in the final judgment to refrain from:

■ Admitting patients without full disclosure of costs for services.

■ Establishing occupancy goals, or quotas, and providing any incentives to Charter employees for meeting those goals.

■ Placing Charter counselors in public schools for the purpose of making referrals to their hospitals.

■ Admitting children under 10 without a second medical opinion unless the initial diagnosis was made by a child psychiatrist.

■ Admitting any patient without a prior evaluation by a psychiatrist.

■ Admitting patients without explaining the Patient's Bill of Rights, which sets forth the means by which a patient's freedom may or may not be restricted during treatment.

"Charter is committed to remaining a significant provider of mental health care services in Texas," said William A. Fickling, Jr., Charter's chairman and chief executive officer. "We hope that by helping to establish comprehensive operating standards for private psychiatric care, we will help restore the public's confidence in our industry."

Charter Medical is an international health care company which operates 93 psychiatric and general hospitals in 26 states and two foreign countries.

Named in the judgment were Charter psychiatric hospitals in Austin, Sugarland, Corpus Christi, Plano, Fort Worth, Grapevine, Kingwood, Laredo, McAllen, Lubbock and San Antonio.

The Charter group, which referred to the agreement as a "voluntary settlement," will reimburse the state $550,000 for costs of the investigation and future costs incurred in funding a compliance review program, Morales said.

Charter also agreed to withdraw $1.1 million in claims pending against the attorney general's Crime Victims Compensation fund, Morales said.

Charter will also volunteer $1.6 million in charity mental health care to be distributed by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation over the next two years, Morales said.

"Complete and regulatory reform will be realized through legislation proposed to the Texas Legislature by Sen. Mike Moncrief," Morales said. "We will be working with Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and Sen. Moncrief to develop legislation that will eliminate opportunities for abuses within the psychiatric hospital industry in Texas."

Moncrief, D-Fort Worth, who is chairman of a Senate interim committee, says he will introduce a package of seven bills addressing psychiatric hospitals during the regular Legislative session beginning Jan. 12.

The bills include reforms in patients' rights, insurance billing, access to medical records and whistle-blower legislation, Moncrief said.

The agreement with Charter represents the second settlement reached by the attorney general's office in psychiatric hospital cases.

Homeless family finds lost dog, housing

AUSTIN (AP) — A homeless family who lost their medical alert dog a week before Christmas is having a happy holiday season after all, thanks in part to a 12-year-old Austin girl.

"Everything is right with the world," said 41-year-old Sue Alexander, who has epilepsy.

That's not the way it was two weeks ago, when the Alexander's dog, Rosie, was lost on Dec. 17.

Although not trained for it, the Pekingese tries to alert others when Ms. Alexander is having a seizure by jumping on the legs of people who may be in another room, Ms. Alexander said.

The family put up fliers and offered $100 — which had been earmarked for Christmas gifts — as a reward for Rosie's return.

Four days after her disappearance, Rosie was found by employees of an Austin appliance store. One of the employees found the dog, which had no tags, a home.

But then the store owner's daughter, Hana Choe, read about Rosie on Christmas Eve and began trying to locate the dog.

On Tuesday, thanks to Hana's efforts, the Alexanders and Rosie were reunited.

And Hana says she doesn't want the $100. "I'm just happy I can help them," she said.

Nation's rig count drops by six this week

HOUSTON (AP) — The nation's rig count finished out the year with a six-rig drop, ending 1992 at the 922 mark, Baker Hughes Inc. said Thursday.

The rig count is the widely watched index of domestic drilling activity.

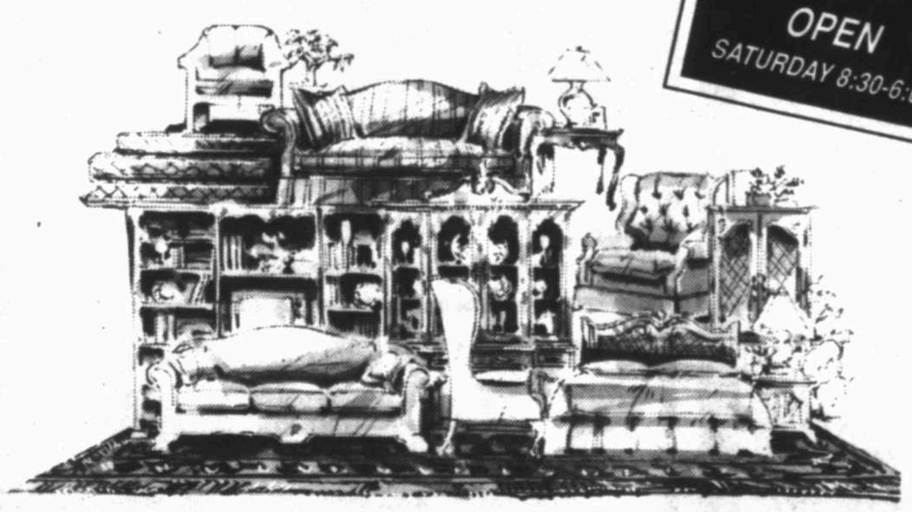

Despite this week's decline, the tally continued a more than two-month trend of exceeding the total for the same week a year ago. Last year at this time the total stood at 764, Baker Hughes said.

Richards has gays meet possible Senate pick

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards has set up a meeting between gay rights leaders and U.S. Rep. Jim Chapman, who some Democrats say is her top choice to fill U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's seat, a newspaper reported Friday.

The Dallas Morning News said that Richards has arranged the meeting, which was requested by gay leaders who have concerns about Chapman's voting record on gay rights, to take place during the New Year's holiday.

State Rep. Glen Maxey, D-Austin, who is gay, said Thursday that the governor had arranged for him to meet with Chapman. He declined to provide any other details.

Other sources said Ms. Richards asked Maxey to coordinate the meeting this weekend between Chapman and others opposed to his possible appointment.

"He has some bad votes in the past, and I want to talk to him face to face," Maxey said.

Maxey cited an amendment that Chapman tacked on to the 1989 Americans With Disabilities Act during debate in the House. The act prohibits discrimination against disabled people and those with AIDS.

Chapman's amendment would have exempted from the law's protection food handlers in restaurants who had AIDS or the virus that causes it. A conference committee later removed the amendment from the bill, which was signed into law by President Bush.

Maxey said the amendment was particularly galling because there is no evidence that the disease can be transmitted by food. "It (the amendment) was based on hysteria," he said.

Chapman was vacationing out of the state this week but is scheduled to be in his Washington office next week, said Jim Rooks, Chapman's district office administrator.

Even if the Sulphur Springs lawyer gets the appointment, he is expected to face contenders from both parties in the Senate special election, probably to take place in May.

Plus, Democratic constituency groups Thursday began an effort to block Chapman's's possible appointment, the Houston Chronicle reported Friday.

In addition to his voting record on civil rights, Chapman also has been criticized for receiving funds from individuals involved in the thrifts scandal.

Chapman and Railroad Commissioner Bob Krueger appear to be the main contenders for the job, followed by U.S. Reps. Mike Andrews of Houston and John Bryant of Dallas.

Many close to Richards said she is leaning toward appointing Chapman. His candidacy is being promoted by Texarkana businessman Truman Arnold, who has close ties to both Richards and President-elect Clinton. Chapman also reportedly has Bentsen's backing.

Crash hurts six on icy road

DALHART (AP) — At least six people returning from a Colorado ski trip were injured Friday when their bus and several other vehicles collided on an icy road, the Department of Public Safety said.

The bus was chartered by Trinity Heights Baptist Church of Shreveport, La.

Pastor's secretary Dot Ritch said the young adults had gone to Glenwood Springs, Colo. to ski. The group left Shreveport Dec. 26, Ms. Ritch said.

Freezing rain was reported in the area at the time of the crash.

Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox said the five-vehicle accident happened about 10 miles north of Dalhart, on US Highway 87. The accident was reported at 8:37 a.m., said Cox.

The bus carried 55 people, with at least two believed seriously hurt. Six people were transported from the scene on stretchers, said Cox.

At least five people had been trapped. Law officers and even passersby worked to free the youngsters, said Cox.

School buses from Dalhart were used to transport the uninjured passengers to shelter in the Texas Panhandle community, he said.

"The weather is real bad. At one point, it took a trooper one hour to travel 31 miles to get to the scene," Cox said.

Dalhart is about 75 miles northwest of Amarillo.

Texas' mango ice cream goes to inauguration

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Here's a scoop.

The Menger Hotel's famous mango ice cream — described by Bill Clinton as "one of the great treasures in American life" — will be served during the president-elect's inauguration.

The exact event has not been determined, "but at some point during the week, there is going to be mango ice cream served," said Kerry Gurtler, a spokeswoman for the 52nd Presidential Inauguration.

The slightly tart, yellow-colored sweet piqued the president-elect's interest in 1972, when he was coordinating Democratic candidate George McGovern's Texas campaign.

Last summer, when Clinton was in San Antonio to speak to the League of United Latin American Citizens, he asked a local aide whether the historic Menger Hotel still served its mango ice cream.

Within minutes, Clinton and his entourage were at the Menger, happily eating what Clinton called "one of the great treasures in American life."

"Clinton and I had a nice chat about the mango," Menger Hotel General Manager Mac McMillin told the San Antonio Light.

Mental health patient wins suit against state

By Mike Erickson
Associated Press writer

AUSTIN — A 74-year-old San Angelo woman who was judged wrongfully held for 51 years in mental institutions can collect $250,000 in damages from the state, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Thursday.

The court, voting 5-4, rejected arguments from the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation that, as a state agency, it was protected from liability claims by Opal Petty because of limited sovereign immunity.

Under Texas law, limited sovereign immunity protects the state against claims for damages because of negligence unless the negligence involved the use of personal or tangible property.

Ms. Petty's attorneys argued that the misuse of her medical records, which they said were tangible property, caused her damages.

State attorneys said that Ms. Petty was damaged not by property, but by the judgment of mental health personnel in diagnosing and treating her. They said that the records themselves could only have harmed Ms. Petty "if a large stack of them had fallen on her head," according to the court opinion.

Jim Harrington, one of Ms. Petty's attorneys and the legal director for the Texas Civil Rights Project, called the court's ruling "an enormous victory."

"I think it will have consequences for anyone confined in Texas institutions," Harrington said.

The ruling allows others who believe they have been wrongfully held or mistreated in Texas mental institutions to find relief in the court system, Harrington said.

Justices Oscar Mauzy, Jack Hightower and Lloyd Doggett concurred with Justice Bob Gammage's majority opinion. Justice Eugene Cook agreed only that Ms. Petty should prevail, without stating whether he agreed with the reasoning of the majority opinion.

Justice John Cornyn, joined by Chief Justice Thomas Phillips and justices Raul Gonzales and Nathan Hecht, authored a dissenting opinion, arguing that the Legislature, and not the courts, should make changes in established laws.

Cornyn also wrote that because the decision is a plurality, without a clear majority backing the opinion, the court failed to clarify the status of limited sovereign immunity.

"While I can respect honest disagreement over difficult legal questions, our failure to decide the issue presented is a disservice to similarly situated litigants, an egregious waste of taxpayers' money, and a squandering of judicial resources," Cornyn wrote.

Newspaper: Military gives officers option

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. military has allowed generals and admirals to avoid court martial and retire, while lower-ranking personnel have gone to prison, according to a newspaper report.

The Dallas Morning News said it reached that conclusion after a study of cases.

The military has failed to prosecute alleged breaches of military such as sexual misbehavior, misuse of aircraft, neglect or criminal investigations and attempts to influence the courts-martials of subordinates, the newspaper said.

In one case, The News said, an Air Force general in Austin known for being tough on consentual sex crimes — such as adultery, sodomy or romancing even an unmarried subordinate — was allowed to retire after an investigation concluded he had sexually harassed several female subordinates.

Another investigation showed that a general used military aircraft for personal travel. The same generals had recently suspended two top aides for misusing planes. One aide committed suicide.

The newspaper said the Navy allowed three top admirals to retire in September despite the Pentagon inspector general's findings that each officer failed to properly investigate the Tailhook Association sexual abuse scandals.

In contrast, Maj. Gregg Reinecke, an Air Force judge, was removed in December 1990 after accusing the Air Force's chief trial judge of improperly attempting to influence his sentencing practices.

"There is no sense of equal justice in the Air Force," Reinecke said. "An enlisted person, or a lower-level officer, they'd have been hung out to dry for doing something like that," Reinecke said.

"If we want to talk about general deterrence, why don't we put a couple of generals on trial. That would be deterrence," Reinecke said.

What are the 5 most frequently asked questions about cellular?

Q. What is your local coverage area?

A. Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems is licensed to provide cellular service in Ector and Midland counties. It takes not 1, not 2, not 3, not 4, but 5 cell sites to insure seamless, high quality service throughout this area. That's why we have 5 cell sites throughout Midland and Ector counties. And there are more where these came from!

Q. Will I be able to use my phone when I go to Dallas for the weekend?

A. Yes! As a matter of fact, you can talk all the way from Odessa to Dallas with our service!! Our extensive Roaming Agreements with other providers of cellular service give you automatic use of your phone without having the hassle of registering and without giving out your credit card information to complete strangers. You can use your phone in every major city throughout the U.S. and Canada and in many rural areas as well. Wherever you're going, we've probably gotten there ahead of you and made all the arrangements. Just think of us as your travel agent - Bon Voyage!

Q. Is it long distance if I call my grandmother in Monahans?

A. No, absolutely not! Actually, Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems is billed a long distance charge - but we don't pass that charge on to our customers. You can see the whole list of "toll - free" calling cities in the background of this ad. Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems is big on Grannies - why do you think they call us "Maw Bell?"

Q. How much does a cellular phone cost?

A. A lot less than you'd expect! As more and more manufacturers get into the cellular business, the prices on cellular phones have plummeted! We know you have to have a phone to get what you really want - THE SERVICE! So, we make sure our phones are affordably priced. We're very particular about the phones we carry. Our phones are all new, fully warranted and each comes with a professional sales person to train you on it's use and a team of certified installer/technicians who know our phones inside and out.

Q. How much does it cost to use my phone?

A. You need to know what to expect as a cellular customer. With basic access at less than $1 per day and with a choice of rate plans designed to meet individual needs, Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems allows you to stay in control of your communication costs. You decide which plan will give you optimum service for the minimum charge. That makes cents!

This leads to the next most-asked question...
How soon can I get my phone?

COUNTRY-STYLE CABINET

Here's a country-style collector's showcase that will enhance any dining area. The plans for building this project include step-by-step directions, photos, and a complete materials list. This cabinet features an open display area for your knickknacks and collector's plates while storing silver and linens in the 2 drawers and lower compartment. It stands almost 5' high by 2½' wide. Use a good hand-rubbed lacquer finish.

DAILY & WEEKLY BONUSES

"I enjoy the atmosphere, meeting new people while making some darn good money! - Carey Watson, Telemarketing Sales Representative

"After retiring from Texaco as a secretary, I was looking for a part time job. I've never sold a thing in my life until I worked here, and now I'm a top producer! - Peggy Woody, Telemarketing Sales Representative

INTERESTED? Contact Mr. Lee Campbell at 687-8802. If not in, leave name and phone number, which shift you would be interested in, and the best time to return your call. All calls will be returned promptly.

WEEKLY & MONTHLY INCOME

The Midland Reporter-Telegram will have an opening January 1 on one of its few "special allowance" routes. This larger route receives a $50 check each Friday, in addition to the regular monthly route profits. The route is in the Washington Park area.

As with all newspaper distributorships, this opportunity requires a 7 day a week commitment (when you go out of town, you must arrange a substitute for yourself) and it is early morning work. $100 deposit required

Newspaper distributorships provide great supplemental income for housewives/ mothers, senior citizens, college students, or any other adult wanting to "moonlight".

WHAT! NEWSPAPER ROUTES?

That's right...one of the best part-time income supplements around. Doesn't conflict with your "day job." Doesn't require day care. And it's dependable income.

Fact: 95% of our Distributors NOW are ADULTS supplementing their income with Route Distributorships!

Fact: Our Distributors make from $400-$800 monthly AFTER expenses, some even more!

The catch? You've gotta be able to handle early mornings and weekends! And when you take a few days off, you'll need to find a substitute for yourself.

So...are you serious about MOONLIGHTING, or what? If you are, and you have dependable transportation and can put up a $100 deposit...

Call 688-2700 and start making that extra car payment today!
