Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

The weather has vacillated between unusually pleasant and unusually unpleasant the past week, and my spirits have followed suit. Not that is hasn't been a rather interesting week.

Charles Childress, Terry Lindsey and one of the Huff Twins, David or Donald, (never can tell the difference) brought a couple of baby Nutrias by Saturday afternoon. They were exhausted, the boys I mean, after giving chase and cutting the babies off from their mama out near Taylor Box road where there has been a lake for about the past year. The lake has dried up with the dry summer and it seems the family of varmints had moved to some water in a barrow ditch. They are perfectly horrible looking, resembling nothing so much as a giant rat, and they eat almost everything in sight. You'll find a picture in another part of the paper. It's not so good of Charles, but you can get a good idea of what a Nutria looks like. They say they grow to be about 60 pounds. Ugh! Can you imagine a 60-pound rat in your flower bed some morning?

On the more pleasant side, Wanda Stuart brought me a bushel of apples that grew on one little stem. Basil brought them in from the ranch. As long as you have friends who grow things, you'll always have food on the table. Sure beats starving. Of course, it's too hot to bake a pie. It's always something.

Things are sort of perking up around town too, with school scheduled to start soon. I've seen friends this week I have missed all summer.

Things seem to be perking up all over. McGovern finally got a running mate and the Republican convention is coming up the end of this month, so I guess the mud-slinging will get started in earnest. Take heart, only ninety some odd days of politics to go.

kk

Subscription rates to The Stockman will go up as of September 1. Due to the high cost of everything, we are forced to up the rates a dollar a year. Don't think that will add to the inflation spirial, but anyone who wishes may pay in advance as many years as they like at the present rate. Provided, of course, they do so before Sept. 1.

Attention mothers and 4-H Club leaders! Once again it's record-book time and you can't imagine the contortions we must go through to find papers from months back. Especially when the children come in for papers and they are not sure of the date. On deadline days, we just can't spare the time. It would help us a lot if the clubs would all get together and list the date of the back issues needed and the number of papers necessary, so we could make one foray through the old dusty papers do it. And please, next year prod your 4-H record book keepers to keep their books as they go along. It would be easier for you, them and us.

Funny stories always pop up about the time school opens, and here's the latest:

A football coach accompanied a prospective tackle to the Dean's office, where he attempted to get the boy admitted to school without a written examination. The boy, however, could not answer the simplest questions. In desperation, the Dean asked, "How much is seven and seven?"

"Thirteen," the boy answered.

"Aw, let him in anyway, Dean," pleaded the coach, "he only missed it by two."

RODEO QUEEN 1972-73 - Miss Debra Clayton was selected as Rodeo Queen during activities at the Ozona Youth Rodeo Saturday night from a field of nine contestants. The girls were judged by a panel of three out-of-town women. Debra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Clayton and a sophomore student in Ozona High School where she is also a cheerleader. She has been active in rodeos throughout the area this summer.

Horse Owners Urged To Revaccinate For VEE

College Sta. -- It's just good insurance to vaccinate all horses, mules and donkeys againstthe dreaded sleeping sickness, Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), even though the animals were vaccinated last year when the disease reached epidemic proportions in Texas.

"Revaccination is the surest and safest way to protect horses and other equine against VEE, even though the vaccine should provide immunity for more than a year," emphasizes Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Revaccination is not compulsory but is an extra precaution."

Armstrong notes that the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and Texas Animal Health Commission are also encouraging all equine owners to revaccinate as an added safety measure.

Other reasons for the revaccination effort are that (1) Texas is a high risk area and the only state where VEE has occurred, and (2) confirmed cases ofVEE have already occurred in Mexico this year and the disease appears to be moving northward.

As far as the vaccination of foals and pregnant mares is concerned, Armstrong points out that there has been some change according to recent hearings at an International Conference on VEE in Kansas City, Missouri.

At the conference it was resolved that foals of immune dams in high risk areas should be vaccinated when three months of age and again when weaned at about six months of age. Unvaccinated pregnant mares in high risk areas should be vaccinated regardless of stage of pregnancy.

In addition to VEE, the veterinarian stresses the need to vaccinate animals against the Eastern and Western strains of equine encephalomyelitis. Once animals are vaccinated for these two strains, a booster shot should be given every year.

Proposed Constitutional Amendments Are Discussed

The proposed amendments to the Texas State Constitution, which may be found printed in The Stockman for four issues, including this one are outlined briefly in the following paragraphs and the pro and con of each discussed.

The fourteen amendments will be on the ballot for Texas voters November 7.

Amendment #1, would amend the part of the Texas Constitution which has to do with salaries of the legislators. Should the proposal pass, the salaries would be raised from the present $4,800 to $8,400.

Amendment #2 has to do with abolishment of the Lamar County Hospital District. The amendment is purely local in character and was submitted by request of the commissioners court of Lamar County. Will be of little interest to local voters.

Amendment #3 proposes doing away with the fee-system of paying justices of the peace, long in practice in the state of Texas, and requiring county commissioners courts to compensate justices on a salary basis. This too, will be of little concern to local voters, as the office of J.P. is salaried in Crockett County.

Amendment #4 proposes to grant authority to the legislature to establish a constitutional revision commission which would report its recommendations no later than November 1, 1973, and providing that members of the 63rd Legislature would then be convened in January 1974 as a constitutional convention to serve 60 days for the purpose of drafting a new constitution

HIGHLIGHT OF THE RODEO PARADE was clown Richard Collett and his Brahma steer. Collett of Sheffield, trained the animal from a calf. It seemed right at home in the Rodeo Parade Friday afternoon, obeying to "giddap" and "whoa" better than some of the horses in the line. In fact, Richard seemed to be having an easier ride than many of the cowboys and cowgirls.

Crockett Gets Discovery, Deep Wildcat Is Set

A discovery was indicated in Crockett County and location set for a deep wildcat.

An unidentified discovery was indicated in Crockett County with the recovery of 870 feet of gas, 75 feet of free oil and 165 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling fluid on a drillstem test at Gulf Oil Corp., No. 1-B Sue Houser, et al, in 2-B2-GC&SF, 12 miles south of Rankin, five miles southeast of the depleted Corbett (Devonian, Ellenburger and multipay Clearfork) field and 2-5/8 miles southeast of the depleted Corbett, South (Wolfcamp) field.

Tool was open one hour on the test taken at 7,889-986 feet. Flowing pressure was 146-167 pounds; 60-minutes initial shut-in pressure, 1,184 pounds; and two-hour final shut-in pressure, 938 pounds.

Recovery was 125 feet of slightly oil-cut drilling fluid on a previous 45-minute drillstem test at 7,545-650 feet.

Drilling continued below 8,002 feet in lime and shale on a 12,000-foot contract.

Texas Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, will drill a 11,000-foot wildcat in Crockett County 20 miles southwest of Ozona, three miles southeast of the

Mrs. Mitchell Heads 'Friends For Tower Group

Mrs. Tom Mitchell is the new chairman for "Friends for Tower" in Crockett County, an organization supporting the re-election of Senator John Tower to the U. S. Senate.

Mrs. Mitchell took the office on the resignation of Joe Couch who has been the Tower chairman for years. Couch was forced to resign due to open heart surgery scheduled to be performed in Dallas Friday. Due to a period of convalescence, he felt he would be unable to work effectively for the Senator this year.

Crockett County Republican Chairman Jim Peck also turned in his resignation to state headquarters this week. Peck, with Shell Oil Co., has been transferred to Midland as of Sept. 1. The position has not been filled as of this date.

Rain-Delayed Rodeo Winds Up With 2 Days of Spirited Events

Cowboys and cowgirls by the dozens and a good number of spectators were on hand for the Annual Ozona Youth Rodeo last weekend, in spite of the fact that an inch of rain forced cancellation of the show scheduled for Friday night.

The parade went off as planned Friday afternoon, but officials found the rodeo arena a sea of mud, and rodeo activities were cancelled for the night. Events got underway in a still muddy arena Saturday morning, and some events were carried over until Sunday afternoon. Members of the Lions Club, sponsors of the annual event, expressed appreciation to contestants and their parents for their cooperation during the reshuffle of events.

Miss Debra Clayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Clayton was selected rodeo queen from a field of nine contestants. Debra will reign as 1972-73 queen. She was sponsored by the Ozona Woman's League.

Ozona youngsters scored very well in the various events and Ozona girls swept the 16-19 Girls' Barrel Race, with Kay McMullan coming in first; Shelley Jones, second, and Christy Davidson, third.

Best all-around trophies went to Pam Powers of Sonora in the 12 years of age and under division; to Margaret Powell of Eldorado in the 13-15 division, and Olin Rust of Del Rio in the 16-19 age division.

The dance was held both nights at the platform and was well attended each night.

Lions Club officials were very well pleased with the results, and felt that under the circumstances the event was one of the best staged here.

Complete results follow:

Boys Bull Riding - 13-15 - Joe Fincher of Iraan, first; Terry Kelly of Stanton, second; David Hanson of Midland, third

Summer Showers Add to Moisture

Ozona received an inch of rain and relief from the heat Friday when a cool front combined with a tropical depression in the Gulf of Mexico dotted the area with showers.

Monday afternoon a brief thundershower left .23 of an inch of rain on the town and cooled things off a bit, but temperatures soared Tuesday afternoon and high humidity under heavy cloud cover made the weather uncomfortable for Ozonans.

ASU Student Teaching Center For Ozonans

An agreement to create a new Student Teaching Center in Ozona has been established by Angelo State University and the Crockett County Independent School District according to Dr. Hugh E. Meredith, vice president for academic affairs at ASU, and Dr. Fred L. Mahler, head of the Education Department.

Working with the University in establishing the agreement was L. B. T. Sikes, superintendent of schools for the Crockett County Independent School District.

Under the new agreement, students from the Ozona area who are teacher certification candidates at ASUwill be able to do their student teaching there.

According to Mahler, the new center will be operated in addition to the two current centers presently being utilized in San Angelo and Big Spring. Mahler expressed his complete satisfaction with the San Angelo and Big Spring operations and explained that additional centers were being sought only to handle the increased demands for student teaching assignments from those seeking certification.

Too, he explained, having centers located out in the service area of the University does make it easier for our area students to fulfill the student teaching requirements of their certification plans.

Under the new agreement with the Crockett County School District, students will be able to do their student teaching in that system beginning with the spring semester of 1973.

James Whitley To Replace Vaughn In Deputy Job

Capt. James A. Whitley, a nine-year veteran of the Ector County Sheriff's Department, will replace Deputy Jack Vaughn in Ozona Sheriff Billy Mills' department. Vaughn resigned last week.

Whitley will take up his duties here August 15.

Whitley has been a shift captain since 1968. He joined the Ector County sheriff's staff for the first time in January, 1959 and was made captain in October, 1959. He resigned in 1963 to operate a ranch near Stephenville, and rejoined the Ector department four years later. He also served as a patrolman for the Odessa Police Department from 1955 until 1959.

25 YEARS SERVICE in the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department was attained by Bill Cooper, above left, last week and he was presented an engraved pen-holder by members of the department at their regular meeting Wednesday night. Sonny Henderson, right, is current president of the Fire Department and made the presentation. Cooper is the only member left of the original group of men who organized the department twenty-five years ago. Oddly enough, he also served as it's first president.

NEW RULES FOR WELFARE STATE?

Dumitru Danielopol, the well known news columnist (Copley Press) wonders if he didn't come to this country 25 years too soon.

According to some politicians, he relates, everyone is "entitled" to a guaranteed income ranging from $6,500 to $10,000 for a family of four. Everyone would have a six-week vacation every year; government should take care of everyone's children; medical and dental care should be free for poor people; national subsidies are due everyone.

"I read a lot of testimony but no one seemed to mention hard work, initiative, or doing a better job," writes Danielopol. "As I recall, no one offered programs to the 'poor' when I arrived in New York 25 years ago. And believe me, I qualified under any yardstick you want to use."

Danielopol explains that as a non-resident alien he couldn't have a regular job. Two lawyers who owned property in New York City "took pity on him" and made him manager-cum-renting agent for 120 apartments on commission. He kept that job for five years, even after he took a second job at Radio Free Europe in 1950. He ran up and down stairs looking after contracts, repairs, cleaning, painting, and deadbeats, along with working as a writer, announcer, actor and planner.

"It never crossed my mind that anyone owed me a living," says Danielopol. "I did what millions of immigrants like myself have done for a couple of centuries. I fended for myself."

His Radio Free Europe job paid only $3,500 a year, so Danielopol taught English to fellow Romanians at $5 a lesson. He became "assistant" to a photographer, selling pictures of weddings and christenings and made 30c a copy. He supplemented his income by sometimes selling paintings, sometimes mutual funds. It was no sinecure, he says; it was either sell or starve. All of which kept him working to 11 p.m., and he had to be up at 5:30 a.m. to be in the Radio Free Europe studio at 6.

"Looking back, I suppose they were difficult years. I didn't feel sorry for myself. I just thought how lucky I was to be in this country, where I was free to take the initiative, free to try, free to exercise any talent God was kind enough to give me."

MARIJUANA IS SERIOUS

How serious should parents be about their children's taking marijuana? Herman W. Land, writing in Today's Health (August) believes that parents should indeed be concerned. There are real dangers.

Marijuana smoking loosens inner restraints or inhibitions. The user is highly suggestible. Youngsters can be led to do things for a lark which are either dangerous or criminal.

It can bring emotional conflicts to the surface. A child with a tendency toward psychosis can be pushed over the edge. There are many cases on record where marijuana smoking has preceded attempts at suicide, or has directly preceded the commission of murder.

It is often the first step to the use of harder drugs. The majority of heroin users started with marijuana.

It affects the ability to respond correctly to danger. It temporarily causes the mind to function poorly, depending on how much is smoked. Hands lose their steadiness; the sense of time is altered. Things seem to last longer.

It can lead to a withdrawal from the world. A child learns to "tune out" reality when things become uncomfortable. He retreats to a more comfortable dream world to escape the demands of his real situation.

Continued use creates genuine psychological dependence. It becomes an emotional crutch.

Land believes that parents with the most success in curbing the use of marijuana among their children are those who have explained the dangers and laid down the law. Whether or not the youngster accepts what his parents have explained about it or not, he is forbidden to use it again. The threat of punishment is not so effective as the authoritative attitude of parents who put their foot down and are stern. This is what children expect, according to Land. It is also what a mature society expects of parents.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

By a one-vote margin, the Senate has okayed a $2.20 minimum wage with 8 million more workers to be covered. This 40% increase over the present $1.60 exceeds a previously House-approved raise to $2, but with no additional coverage. A conference committee will now work on a compromise.

This enormous hike would be inflationary. It would be a severe blow to teenagers, ethnic minority workers, the low skilled, and to small business. Milton Friedman, the famed economist, calls this "legislating unemployment."

Some of the current unemployment level is traceable to the last minimum wage raise back in 1966. It triggered reduced work opportunities for thousands, especially nonwhite teenagers where the unemployed rate has risen to more than 30%.

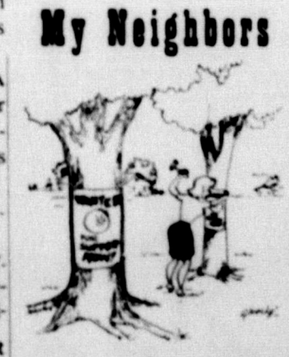

Professor James Tobin, a hard-nosed realist and a former member of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Kennedy, very wisely described the situation in these words:

"People who lack the capacity to earn a decent living should be helped, but they will not be helped by minimum wage laws, trade union pressured, or other devices which seek to compel employers to pay more than their work is worth. The likely outcome of such regulations is that the intended beneficiaries are not employed at all."

Even if the compromised level is put at $2 per hour, unemployment levels are certain to rise. Many deserving people will be deprived of employment. Many enterprises, particularly small business, will suffer. Some will rely more on automation. Some will be forced to shut down.

Whther the compromised figure is $2 or $2.20, experts insist it will be a "Pyrrhic victory."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Drag Strips

To hot rodders, the opening of a new drag strip is a cause for jubilation. But to residents of the neighborhood, the occasion may be less joyful. Do they have legal grounds for complaint?

Unless banned by local statute, a drag strip (or other kind of race track) is a perfectly lawful activity. It may become unlawful, however, because of the way it is run. That is, it may amount to a "nuisance" — subject to abatement by court action.

The noise alone may be offensive enough to justify a stop order. Take this case:

Residents living near a suburban drag strip found the noise so unbearable that they had to keep their windows shut. Residents one mile away had to keep their television turned on high. Residents three miles away said the noise ("like a chain saw") could be heard plainly.

Impressed by these tales of woe, a court ordered the track closed down.

Even if the noise itself isn't too bad, other factors may tilt the scales against the track operators.

In one case, in issuing an injunction, the court stressed the smell of burning fuel. In another case, the court called attention to the glare of lights, powerful enough to keep the neighbors awake at night. Said the indignant judge:

"To dangle restful sleep before an exhausted mortal and never allow him to taste of its refreshing juices constitutes one of the most torturesome experiences of mankind."

Still, if these assorted annoyances are kept within reasonable limits, the mere fact that the track brings some commotion into the neighborhood may be overlooked. Thus:

The main objections to a new midget race track were 1) that traffic in the neighborhood had increased, and 2) that parking spaces had become harder to find. But this time the court denied an injunction, saying that traffic and parking were problems for the city, not for the operators of the track.

The judge said the right to use the public streets belongs to all members of the public—including racing fans.

National Hunting And Fishing Day To Be Big Event

Austin--Septenber 23, 1972, is going to be a big day for Texas sportsmen.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department hopes to make the state's observance of National Hunting and Fishing Day an even bigger event by offering full cooperation with Texas outdoorsmen.

In a recent Austin meeting of the department's staff and interested sportsmen, it was decided that Parks and Wildlife personnel across the state will be available to the general public to discuss game and fish laws, conservation policies' safety and any matters relating to hunting, fishing and boating.

Cecil Reid, president of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, was present at the meeting and acknowledged support of the department in activities sponsored by SCOT-member organizations.

Reid has been a key figure in the coordination of Texas Hunting and Fishing Day.

Although the department will not sponsor any of the day's activities, all Parks and Wildlife facilities including fish hatcheries and wildlife management areas will be open to the public for informal tours on Hunting and Fishing Day.

The exception will be state parks where entrance fees are charged.

The department, of course, will have the right to limit the number of visitors if overcrowding poses possible damage to the installation.

Parks and Wildlife Executive Director Clayton T. Garrison hopes that the public will join him in making the day a success by visiting one of the department's many functions.

New Discovery Is Said to Assist Debilitated Horses

A new long acting tissue-building agent for treating debilitated horses, is being introduced nationally to the veterinary medical profession by the Animal Health Division of E. R. Squibb & Sons, Inc.

Debilitation can be caused by many things: overwork, overexertion, excessive hauling, as a result of disease, surgery, traumatic injury, or any combination of these.

The treatment is indicated as supportive therapy in treating debilitated horses when the debility is due to overwork or overexertion, and as adjunctive therapy for diseases, surgical cases, or traumatic injuries, according to the company.

NUTRIAS FOUND NEAR OZONA - Charles Childress holds a baby Nutria he and friends cornered and caught, along with his brother east of Ozona near Taylor Box Road. The boys brought the two small animals into town in a wire cage and they almost chewed through the wire. The destructive animals were brought here from South America some 20 years ago to eat vegetation from overgrown lake bottoms, before long they were cleaning out crops and other valuable plant life, and many counties put a bounty on them. They are found around bodies of water and it's anybody's guess how they came to be in Crockett County, unless they were attracted to the large lake formed by heavy rains around this time last year and recently dried up.

NUMBER 1 ON THE BALLOT (SJR 3)
General Election November 7, 1972

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article VII, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by adding a Section 6b, to read as follows:

"Section 6b. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 6, Article VII, Constitution of the State of Texas, any county, acting through the commissioners court, may reduce the county permanent school fund of that county and may distribute the amount of the reduction to the independent and common school districts of the county on a per scholastic basis to be used solely for the purpose of reducing bonded indebtedness of those districts or for making permanent improvements. The commissioners court shall, however, retain a sufficient amount of the corpus of the county permanent school fund to pay ad valorem taxes on school lands or royalty interests owned at the time of the distribution. Nothing in this Section affects financial aid to any school district by the state."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to allow a county to reduce its county permanent school fund and distribute the money to independent and common school districts on a per scholastic basis."

NUMBER 6 ON THE BALLOT (SJR 30)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article VIII, Section 1-b, of the Texas Constitution, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 1-b. (a) Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the assessed taxable value of all residence homesteads as now defined by law shall be exempt from all taxation for all State purposes.

"(b) From and after January 1, 1973, the governing body of any county, city, town, school district, or other political subdivision of the State may exempt by its own action not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the assessed value of residence homesteads of persons sixty-five (65) years of age or older from all ad valorem taxes thereafter levied by the political subdivision. As an alternative, upon receipt of a petition signed by twenty percent (20%) of the voters who voted in the last preceding election held by the political subdivision, the governing body of the subdivision shall call an election to determine by majority vote whether an amount not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) as provided in the petition, of the assessed value of residence homesteads of persons sixty-five (65) years of age or over shall be exempt from ad valorem taxes thereafter levied by the political subdivision. Where any ad valorem tax has theretofore been pledged for the payment of any debt, the taxing officers of the political subdivision shall have authority to continue to levy and collect the tax against the homestead property at the same rate as the tax so pledged until the debt is discharged, if the cessation of the levy would impair the obligation of the contract by which the debt was created."

The Comptroller of Public Accounts, the Treasurer, the Commissioner of the General Land Office, and any statutory state officer who is elected by the electorate of Texas at large, unless a term of office is otherwise specifically provided in this Constitution, shall each hold office for the term of four years and until his successor is qualified. The four-year term applies to these officers who are elected at the general election in 1974 or thereafter. Each shall receive an annual salary in an amount to be fixed by the Legislature; reside at the Capital of the State during his continuance in office, and perform such duties as are or may be required by law. They and the Secretary of State shall not receive to their own use any fees, costs or perquisites of office. All fees that may be payable by law for any service performed by any officer specified in this section or in his office, shall be paid, when received, into the State Treasury."

Sec. 4. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to provide a four-year term of office for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Comptroller of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Commissioner of the General Land Office, Secretary of State, and certain statutory State officers."

Tips For Gardeners

From the
Ozona Garden Club
By

Though August is one of our hottest months usually, you may take advantage of this, for many shrubs and ornamental trees will grow very rapidly if given adequate water. It seems that the task of watering during the hot dry weather is the most constant chore.

Water requirements of plants vary, so a list of a few may be helpful for the summer. The soil around shallow-rooted plants such as fern, dog wood, hydrangea, camellia, and azalea should not be allowed to dry out even once.

Plants with moderate water requirements should be next on the list. This group includes juniper, nandina, pyracantha and Chinese holly.

Among the drought-resistant plants are lantana, pampas grass, yucca, vitex and oleander. They are able to go without water for longer periods of time without adverse effects.

Perhaps you have noticed how the crepe Myrtle likes su summer heat. As the temperature increases, many garden plants lose a good bit of their enthusiasm, but not crepe Myrtle. Heat seems only to stimulate this plant to better flower production. They are easy to grown and have few insects and disease problems. Give them sun, good drainage, moderate water and reasonably good soil and they present a colorful spot. Heavy pruning in the fall will result in large flower clusters but fewer in number. Plan to put one in your landscape for next year.

Someone asked what caused the lower leaves of their jade plant to wilt and then fall off. You may be giving it either too much or too little water. Treat the plant like a cactus; give it plenty of drainage but only enough water to prevent wilting. Frequency of watering will depend upon its size and condition of the plant, the container, humidity and temperature of the plant's surroundings.

TALK ABOUT APPLES -- There were 35 of them on this one stem. Wanda Stuart brought them by the office and said that if we were interested in pictures of a 1½-lb. tomato, we ought to really ponder this phenomenon. Basil Dunlap brought them in from a tree on the Dunlap ranch near the Pecos River.

WE ARE NOW GOING THROUGH A NEW ERA IN HOME DECORATION

During the last few years there has been a quiet revolution going on in the furniture and decorating BROWN field concerning the proper way to furnish a home.

In the past, anyone could buy a book on decorating and follow the rules concerning what goes with what, which colors may be used together, how to recognize and use different periods of furniture, etc.

While there are still many such books, and while they still contain much that is helpful, there have been vast changes in the thinking of decorators and furniture personnel.

More and more people are disregarding all of the old rules.

There are new ideas and concepts in decorating. There is more emphasis today on furnishing a home with individuality rather than furnishing it like all other homes.

It's an exciting time in home decoration, and we invite you to come in and share in this excitement -- come in and see all the new items. . . . the new colors and color combinations. . . . and the new ideas. And then you can enjoy the thrill of starting to furnish your home in beautiful new ways.

There aren't many of us left who remember Sixbey's General Store. It was more than a store; it was a gathering place, a news bureau, a bright spot in a boy's summer afternoon.

You would come in from the hot dusty street, and the shaded store was cool. Immediately you encountered a tantalizing blend of scents—apples, licorice, spices and smoked ham. Grown-up conversation enhanced your feeling of excitement as they viewed and reviewed town happenings. You always took a long time to decide between a chocolate or a lemon drop, so that this exciting visit could be prolonged.

Our town has changed since then. For those of us whose memories linger in Sixbey's Store, it hardly seems the same place.

Yet one thing's the same. At the corner of Elm and Main, St. Mark's steeple still points skyward. Man's need for God never changes. And the Church remains constant as it teaches the truths of God's love and presence.

Pipeline Troubles

Rocky terrain was one of the problems encountered along the Oasis Pipe Line Company right-of-way in West Texas. To provide ditches for the pipe, it was necessary to blast through the rock. In contrast, the soil in the Texas Gulf Coast area made ditching comparatively simple. The $150-million pipeline began full operation August 1.

Slide Film Gives Answer to U.S. Economic Bind

A fast-paced 95-color slide presentation, "Joe Smith Wakes Up" narrated by the veteran radio and television personality Art Linkletter, gives a down-to-earth analysis of our present economic "bind" and how it may be solved.

Produced by the National Association of Manufacturers, the slide-film shows the impact on a typical family of foreign competition, excessive wage demands, low productivity growth and expensive government.

The production, according to the NAM, has been timed to coincide with the beginning of this year's political campaigns and stresses the need to elect more responsible public officials as a means of securing positive solutions to economic problems.

To facilitate the ease of presentation, slides are provided in a tray ready for the projector and Mr. Linkletter's narration is on a cassette-type cartridge which may be played on any machine of this type.

The price of $25 includes slides in a Carousel tray, the cassette recording and the script. It may be ordered from the NAM, 1133 15th Street, N. W. Washington, D.C. 20005.

First Pleasuring Ground

National Parks Celebrate 100th Birthday

Old Faithful — known the world over as the symbol of Yellowstone National Park — will be seen this year by more people than ever before as the National Park Service celebrates one hundred years of the national park idea.

It was on March 1, 1872, that President Ulysses S. Grant signed the bill which provided "the tract of land . . . lying near the headwaters to the Yellowstone River . . . is hereby reserved and withdrawn from settlement, occupancy, or sale under the laws of the United States, and dedicated and set apart as a public park or pleasuring ground for the benefit and enjoyment of the people." By this Act, President Grant created Yellowstone National Park — the first public park in the world.

From this beginning the Park Service has grown to include almost 300 areas — natural, historic, recreational and cultural. The world's system of national parks also has grown with about 100 countries having systems of their own totaling 1200 national parks or equivalent reserves.

President Nixon has officially proclaimed 1972 as National Parks Centennial Year. Posters, brochures, films, slide shows, and special exhibits are available at national park sites calling attention to the beginning of the national parks idea.

The culmination of the year-long celebration will be the Second World Conference on National Parks to be held in September at Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks. Delegates from about 90 countries are expected to attend the Conference.

Through this Conference and other public events scheduled during the year, the National Park Service intends to use the Centennial not as a time of self-congratulation, but as an opportunity to re-examine its values and chart a course for the next hundred years of national parks.

Taken in 1871, this is one of the earliest known photographs of Old Faithful. The photographer was William Henry Jackson and the picture was made with a large view camera on a wet plate. Before making it, Jackson had to crouch in a small tent darkroom, coat a plate of glass with a silver solution and rush the wet plate into the camera. For his "speed" work, such as this picture, Jackson had rigged up a shutter, powered by a rubber band, which gave exposures of about one-tenth of a second. Normally, the lens cap served as a shutter, and exposures ran from 10 to 15 seconds. The plates were developed immediately after exposure. Most of Jackson's 300 pound photo kit was carried on the back of his mule, Hypo.

Food Stamp Ban For Strikers Urged

Use of food stamps for strikers, "constitutes a major threat to effective collective bargaining," according to W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Most experienced fishermen learned early in the game that no two bodies of water are alike. In fact, that goes for areas too. Even the Texas coast, with all its water, has many personalities.

A good fisherman can catch fish in most any water. This is mainly because he takes a good look around before he ever casts a lure.

Texas is blessed with many fine lakes, all stocked with game fish. Basically they are the same species—bass, crappie, catfish and bream.

There are several species of bass. In most Texas lakes and ponds, it is possible to take the largemouth black bass, sometimes up to seven or eight pounds.

But, the abundance usually goes to the white or sandy.

The Kentucky spotted bass is in the minority in most lakes of Texas. In fact, there are many fishermen who apparently don't recognize a Kentucky.

There are also several species of catfish, usually all found in the same waters.

But catching these fish is another thing. What works fine in some impoundments, or even streams, doesn't work in others.

Naturally, there is a difference in the fishing of East Texas and West Texas. In the East Texas pine timber area even the water is different. Although fairly clear, it still has a dark color, caused by the tanic foliage. In that area the lakes are generally devoid of rocks, but many of them are loaded with dead timber.

Because there is so much timber in these lakes there are many floating logs. Usually they hang up in some of the brush. Naturally, the brush, trees and logs make an ideal habitat for fish of all species.

Needless to say, such water must be fished differently. Underwater lures are difficult to use because of the multiplicity of brush on the bottom of the lake. On the other hand, many fishermen are finding that plastic worms work wonders in this water, when fished in the approved manner with a slip sinker and weedless rigging of the worm.

But when you get out of this black land country, through the cross timbers and into central and west Texas, fishing is entirely different. It too is difficult to fish. There are many rocks, ideal cover for fish. There are deep canyons leading into the main body of the lake and water backs up into these canyons. Such tributaries are the spawning area for white bass. Blacks like this water, too.

These lily pads of the East Texas waters are absent, but much of the water is covered with algae. This is hard on the fisherman, but the covering of the green stuff does provide some protection from the hot sun for the fish. So, fish hide there.

Naturally, the best bet for fishing is to know the water. But if you don't know it, then take time to study the impoundment. Try to learn something of its personality.

Most of the lakes have maps, some of which show the various depth of the water. Get one of these maps, then try to stay on the curves. Better yet—get yourself an electronic device—commonly called the fish finder.

Remember, however, that this equipment does not suffice unto itself. You must pay attention to the things around you. This is what makes fishing worthwhile. Furthermore, it adds not only to your enjoyment but to the number of fish on your stringer.

THE GRINGO IN THE SOMBRERO is none other than Ozona's C. O. Spencer showing off his 9'6" sailfish and one just smaller, 9'3", caught last week in the bay off Acapulco, Mexico. He said the larger fish took quite a spell to land. He and Mrs. Spencer recently returned from a tour of Mexico City and Acapulco.

Exotic Animals Reproduce Well On Texas Ranches

Austin-- Exotic animals on Texas ranches are experiencing a population boom, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

Between 1963 and 1971 the number of exotic animals has increased by 254 percent.

Department biologists say 35 species are represented by 46,611 animals.

The majority of the animals are found behind deerproof fences in the Edwards Plateau region.

The animals, according to a 1971 census, include mouflon sheep (17,069), axis deer (11,171), blackbuck antelope (5,491), nilgai antelope (4,120), auodad sheep (3,217), fallow deer (2,617), sika deer (2,036), red deer (307) and four-horn sheep (150).

Other species make up .9 percent of the state's total exotic population. They are sambar deer, eland, barasingha, oryx, impala, llama, graeter kudu, sitatunga, pygmy deer, gazelle, blesbok, giraffe, waterbuck, sable antelope, ibex, pygmy goat, springbuck, gnu, Thompson gazelle, topi, suni antelope, addax, argali, zebra and nyala.

The only introduction sponsored by the Parks and Wildlife Department was the stocking of aoudad sheep in the Palo Duro Canyon. With the exception of aoudads in that area and axis deer in Kendall County, exotics are not subject to regulation, even if not confined to the owner's ranch.

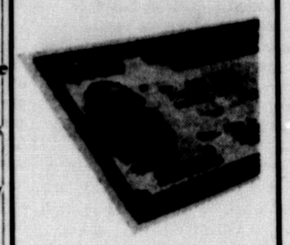

Biologists have been studying these animals' life histories food habits and habitat preferences for several years. Presently, studies are underway to determine the degree of competition between the exotics and native white-tailed deer.

GRASS ROOTS

by PETER G. HAMMOND
Executive Director, National Coordinating Council on Drug Education

It was almost three years ago that Art Linkletter's drug tragedy was front page news. What has happened since then is just as spectacular and far more newsworthy.

Recently, in his final message as President of NCCDE, he stated: "I'm amazed at the tunnel vision of so many so-called drug experts, social workers and drug users... tunnel vision because they are constantly interpreting the answer to the drug problem in terms of their own experience."

He went on to say that efforts founded purely on experience tend to be narrow-minded panaceas. These are words from a man who once thought the solution to drug abuse was beefed-up law enforcement.

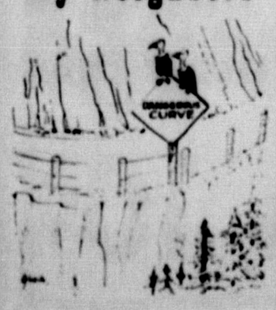

The revitalized Art Linkletter pointed to the confrontation between the materialism of his own generation and the idealism of the counter-culture. He spoke of tolerance and understanding and change.

Like most people in drug education, it was a heartfelt response that started Mr. Linkletter's involment. But, slowly and rationally, he channeled these emotions towards constructive activity, the most important, and yet the least tangible, of which is his understanding that drug abuse is only a symptom of discontent.

Itching results from mild stimulation of the pain nerves.

It's a woman's WHIRL

by MARY LEE THOMPSON

Big news comes in small packages for the home this fall. At a recent home furnishing show in Chicago accessories were the kind of important accents that make a room sing.

Wall decorations, planters, art objects, striking lamps—all had a touch of decorator showmanship about them. Even traditional lighting styles took on new finishes and colors. Sleek modern chrome accessories and Oriental designs also were enriched.

For example, 32-inch high lamps in Chinese ginger jar shapes set on raised Chippendale fret-work were standouts. Some had black walnut bases and white pleated linen shades for sharp contrast.

Wicker, which continues popular, had new sophistication in white framing a plate glass mirror. To match, there were wall sconces in wicker with burnished brass candle arms, and a console table in the same theme completed the group.

A planter of fired ceramic in square, hexagonal or geometric shapes was made with interlocking bases so that they could be stacked or formed into geometric groups in matte black, white or glossy bright colors. The natural look of fine woods also was highlighted in unusual ways. Typical was an octagonal lamp of yew wood with a brass base and shade.

Not included in the Chicago show, but following in the trend for natural woods is a group of modern clocks fashioned from butcher blocks and smoky plexiglas. One floor version, priced at around $500, stands as tall and proud as a Grandfather clock.

Great American Dream Machine.

USA

America is the place that is made out of dreams. And, U.S. Savings Bonds have been helping to make happy dreams come true for years.

Now, Bonds mature in less than six years. That means your dreams can come true faster than ever before.

You can buy shares in your particular dream by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month plan where you bank.

Before you know it, your American dream will be a reality.

Now E Bonds pay 5½% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

Amendments—

for submission to the voters of Texas.

Arguments for the proposal say there is a real need for a more workable basic law such as that of the proposed amendment, which would require less periodic revision, and as the legislature has always been entrusted with the function of proposing constitutional changes, the legislative body is the logical choice for responsibility in the preparation of a new or revised constitution.

Arguments against the proposal state that constitutional reform cannot and should not be effected through an entirely new document, and that constitutional revision is not a legislative function and should not be delegated as such. Also, a constitutional convention should stem from the people, and if the State of Texas needs a new constitution or a thorough revision of this basic law, then members of the convention should be elected by the people and subject to them.

Amendment #5 proposes a tax exemption on certain property owned by a disabled veteran, to be made on a scale in line with a veteran's disability. Arguments "For" contend that persons disabled in the military service of the United States deserve to be compensated for their sacrifice, and the tax exemptions proposed by Amendment No. 5 would be a token appreciation from the people of Texas. "Against," contends the compensation of disabled veterans is a federal rather than a state responsibility. Generous benefits are already available to disabled veterans, and the state should not be deprived of income necessary to provide state services to all Texas citizens just to benefit a few.

Amendment #6, providing that the various political subdivisions of the state may exempt not less than $3,000 of the value of homesteads of all persons 65 years of age and older from ad valorem taxes under certain conditions. Among arguments "for" the proposal are the fact that the senior citizen who lives on a fixed income is hurt by inflation and needs the relief the proposed amendment would allow. In arguments "against" the reduction of tax revenues of city, school, and other taxing districts could handicap the political subdivision in performing essential functions and services. Also, a basic concept in Texas law demands that property taxes shall be equal and uniform.

Amendment #7 proposes to amend Article 1 of the constitution to provide that equality under the law shall not be denied because of a person's sex, race, color, creed, or national origin. Proponents argue that discrimination exists in many fields and only a comprehensive equal rights amendment can change completely the status quo. Arguments "against" contend that discriminatory laws now existing may be repealed, and adoption of the amendment could result in confusion and litigation as to the meaning of "discrimination."

Amendment No. 8 has to do with providing four-year terms for most high state officials, who now serve two-year terms. The proposal would seem to be a matter of voter choice.

Amendment #9 would seek to exempt directors of soil and water conservation districts from prohibitions against dual office-holding and compensation. Proponents of the proposal argue that in many of the less populous areas of the state, a shortage of qualified people renders positions as director of soil and water conservation districts difficult to fill. Those against say the existing prohibitions are intended to prevent concentration of public jobs among a relatively few people.

Amendment #10 would revise the constitutional provisions on the time of proposing amendments to the state constitution and the time and method of publishing notice. Arguments "for" contend that passage of the ammendment would permit greater flexibility in the time at which amendments may be proposed in order that emergency situations may be met. Opponents of the amendment contend that basic law should not be proposed in haste and that passage would open the door to submission of proposals made without proper consideration and deliberation before being acted upon by the legislature.

Amendment No. 11 would add a new Section 24a to Article III to provide a salary of $22,500 for the Lt. Governor and speaker of the House of Representatives. Both offices at present receive the same compensation, $4,800, as other legislators. The increase would designate both offices as full-time state officials.

Amendment #12 would amend the constitution to allow state employees and certain other officials to serve on governing bodies of school districts cities, towns, etc. without forfeiting their state salary and revise generally the restrictions on dual office-holding and dual compensation.

Amendment #13 would increase the maximum interest rate which may be borne by certain bonds issued under constitutional authority.

Amendment #14 would add a new section of the constitution by adding a new Section to permit the commissioners court of a county to reduce the county permanent school fund and to provide for the per scholastic distribution and use of the money obtained from this reduction. The amendment is of little consequence to Crockett County voters, as there is only one school district in the county and no permanent school fund as such.

Fisher Against Welfare Benefits To Illegal Aliens

Secretary Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare has been urged by Congressman O. C. Fisher to allow no tax-supported welfare benefits for illegal aliens now in this country.

"I am very much opposed to proposed regulations which would allow any tax-supported benefits being used in behalf ofillegal aliens," Fisher wrote Richardson.

"I do not believe such a policy to be consistent with the intention of Congress," he continued.

The proposed HEW regulations, to require the States to provide such welfare, is based on a recent Supreme Court decision. Congressman Fisher and others have maintained, however, that the Court action related to legally admitted aliens, not to those who enter illegally.
