Huntsville Judge Claims Marshall Ratliff 'Kidnaped' From His Court

WRIT SENDS SANITY TRIAL TO EASTLAND

Condemned 'Santa Claus' Bandit to Be Examined In West Texas

JURIST INCENSED

Huntsville Court Not Shown 'Proper Respect' in Getting Injunction

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 31. (AP)—Enjoined temporarily from having any further connection with the sanity hearing of Marshall Ratliff, condemned Cisco, "Santa Claus" bank robber, County Judge P. H. Singletary this afternoon charged that Eastland county authorities had not shown his court "the proper respect."

"The defendant, Ratliff," Judge Singletary added, "was literally kidnaped from this court." Ratliff was taken from his Huntsville death cell to Eastland county on a bench warrant from the 91st district court for trial on a robbery charge.

Stays on Docket

Judge Singletary issued an order that the Ratliff hearing should remain pending on his docket until the prisoner was brought back here. He declared he would not attempt to pass on the question of jurisdiction as between Walker county and Eastland county until Ratliff had been returned and the matter of the injunction settled. A hearing to determine whether the writ should be made permanent had been set for tomorrow in Eastland.

Special Prosecutor W. W. Hair of Abilene, County Attorney Joe H. Jones of Eastland and County Attorney R. T. Burns of Huntsville obtained the injunction from District Judge George L. Davenport of the Eastland court—the 91st. Since yesterday morning they had been here attempting to get the sanity hearing transferred to Eastland county on the contention that it should be held in the county of the offense.

Mother Files Plea

Ratliff's mother filed the insanity plea for him, claiming his long months in the death cell had unbalanced him.

The robbery occurred on Dec. 23, 1927. A band of men, their leader dressed as "Santa Claus," held up the bank and fled. In a resultant gunfight one of their number was killed as were two police officers. Robert Hill, Henry Helms and Ratliff were those convicted. Hill, sentenced to life imprisonment, escaped recently and has not been recaptured. Helms was electrocuted.

California Wharf Fire Under Control

ALAMEDA, Calif., Oct. 31. (AP)—Having caused damage estimated at $550,000 and injured 26 persons, mostly firemen, the fire in the creosoted piling supporting the loading wharf of the Encinal terminal pier again was under control today.

Fire tugs kept streams totalling 100,000 gallons a minute on the smouldering foundations, while a wrecking barge was used to tear away charred piling, chunks of concrete paving, and other debris that firemen might reach the heart of the blaze.

Holland's Magazine Pressmen on Strike

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—Between 25 and 30 pressmen and feeders, employed by the Holland's Magazine company here, were on strike today. Union men said the walkout resulted in the company refusing to meet certain demands. Frank P. Holland Jr., vice president and manager, announced their places have been filled by nonunion men.

Wright Given 10-Year Prison Term; Habitual Criminal Charge Refuted

C. A. Wright was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary for the burglary of the W. P. Killingsworth home last March when a jury in the 89th district court Thursday evening refused to assess the maximum 99-year sentence on the state's allegation of a third offense. The verdict was returned at 8:10 o'clock Thursday evening after the case had rested with the jury for more than 10 hours. Defense attorneys gave immediate notice of a motion for a new trial.

The indictment against Wright specifically charged two former prison sentences, and the state asked a life term on the authority of the Texas habitual criminal act, which calls for 99 years on a third offense conviction. The jury by its allotment of punishment tacitly repudiated the third offense clause in the indictment, although only one verdict, finding the defendant guilty as charged, was returned.

Second Charge Pends

"I'd just as soon have life," was Wright's only comment as the jury filed from the room. He indicated, however, that he would make an immediate effort to make bond. Another indictment, charging a second burglary here last spring, is pending against him. Sam Spence, district attorney, said Thursday evening that he had not yet decided whether it will be pushed.

Before he dismissed the jury Thursday evening Judge P. A. Martin publicly thanked E. M. Robertson and Walter Friberg, Wright's attorneys, for their work in the case and offered his congratulations on their conduct of the trial.

In declining to accept the third offense allegations of the state, the jury removed from the issues in the case the defense contention that the habitual criminal act can not apply when the former convictions are in other states. The defense motion against the third offense clause especially attacked an alleged conviction in Oklahoma on the grounds that the defendant had been pardoned and the offense wiped out. Defense attorneys had announced early in the trial that they were prepared to carry the question involved to the highest courts of the state.

Others Sentenced

Wright was found guilty of burglarizing the home of W. P. Killingsworth here on the night of March 16, 1929. He is the third of three defendants indicted after the recovery of several thousand dollars worth of goods stolen from Wichita Falls homes during an epidemic of burglary early this year. T. O. Cagle was given 20 years in five cases against him here after his trial several months ago, and Mae Hart is under a five-year suspended term. Cagle has since made his escape from the penitentiary and is now at large.

Wright has maintained his innocence from the time of his arrest. His defense lay in an attempt to prove an alibi through the testimony of his father and sister on the stand here Wednesday afternoon. Both witnesses said he had been in their home in Oklahoma City on the night of the burglary.

MARKET GAINS NEW STRENGTH

World Credit Pinch Lets Up; Brokers' Loans Drop

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Prices of securities in all of the leading exchanges of the country rallied sharply today in response to a tremendous investment and speculative demand created by a long succession of bullish financial developments.

When the New York stock exchange opened at noon, two hours later than usual, there was such a huge accumulation of buying orders that prices of active issues were whirled up $5 to $30 a share as blocks of 5,000 to 50,000 shares changed hands.

These gains were cut down to the subsequent waves of selling, representing profit taking by traders who had bought stocks in Tuesday's reaction, and the liquidation of stocks bought for supporting purposes, but final quotations disclosed a long list of net gains of $2 to $20 in the leading stocks.

Total sales were 7,140,300 shares, or well above the average five-hour session.

Long before the New York markets opened, London cables carried the report that the Bank of England had reduced its discount rate from 6½ to 5 per cent, signalizing the passing of the world credit stringency created by the wild securities speculation earlier in the year. This was followed by a long series of increased and extra dividends by industrial and public utility companies, and the announcement of the purchase by the United States Steel corporation of the Columbia Company of California.

After the market closed, the New York Federal Reserve bank reduced its discount rate from 6 to 5 per cent, and reported a record-breaking decrease of $1,096,000,000 in brokers' loans as a result of the huge liquidation of securities during the past week. Loans for the account of others dropped more than two billion dollars, indicating the wholesale withdrawal of funds from the call loan market by corporations and financial institutions, presumably to take advantage of the bargain prices prevailing, for a time, in the securities markets. New York bankers increased their loans more than one billion dollars during the stock market crisis.

Bandit Holds Up Man In Iowa Park Garage

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, Oct. 31.—A lone bandit about 9 o'clock Thursday evening held his gun between the ribs of R. D. Sedwick at the Central garage here with one hand while with the other he rifled $60 from the cash register before escaping out the back door.

According to accounts of the hijacking given Constable J. P. Williams, the armed visitor, a man between 35 and 40 years old, strolled into the garage and asked Mr. Sedwick about an inner tube. The employe told the officers that as he turned to fill the order he felt the bandit's gun against his ribs.

Man Sentenced For Kidnaping Bootlegger

DETROIT, Oct. 31. (AP)—Henry Andrews, 32, was sentenced to from 35 to 50 years in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette today for his part in the kidnaping last April of Fred Begeman, retired Wyandotte bootleggers. Andrews was convicted by a jury last week. It was in his home that Begeman said he was held.

Begeman was held six days. His release was purchased for $5,100 ransom and a later payment of $1,900 was made to the kidnapers.

REDUCTIONS IN PRICE OF FORD AUTOS ANNOUNCED

DETROIT, Oct. 31. (AP)—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company tonight announced substantial reductions in the prices of Ford cars and trucks. While Ford's announcement did not state the amounts of reductions, it is understood prices will be lowered $5 to $200.

Officials of the Junior chamber of commerce have issued a call for the entire membership to be present as a gesture of respect and congratulation to Mr. Hamilton.

JUDGES NAME COTTON QUEEN

Miss Lois Patterson of Grandfield Honored

By R. H. WESSEL
Record News Correspondent

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 31.—Miss Lois Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Patterson of Grandfield, Okla., tonight was revealed as the Queen of Oklahoma's first cotton carnival, now in progress here.

Judges of the contest in which the queen was selected had chosen the queen Wednesday night, but her identity was kept secret until the program tonight at the auditorium here.

Seven In Contest

The identity of the queen was made known by the three judges, who selected Miss Patterson from the seven entrants in the contest, each of whom represented a town in the vicinity of Frederick. The candidates besides Miss Patterson and their sponsors who accompanied them Thursday night were Miss Jewel Beaty, Faxon and Mrs. Dent Smith; Miss Louise Willing-

Seven Lost In Lake Disaster

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis., Oct. 31. (US)—The death list in today's Lake Michigan steamship disaster stood at seven tonight.

The freighter Senator lies at the bottom 20 miles off shore while the ore carrier Marquette which rammed the Senator is docked, badly crippled, at Milwaukee.

The two ships crashed in a dense fog shortly before noon today. Four ships have been lost on the lakes with a total of 89 lives since Sept. 11.

Fifteen members of the Senator's crew were pulled from the water barely in time by the tug Delos H. Smith, of this port. One man was rescued and died a few minutes later. Three men were saved by the Marquette.

Young Girl Prosecutor Address Women Voters

HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—A pretty young woman assistant city attorney of Houston today told the Texas League of Women voters, in convention here, that there have been two outstanding failures among her sex in public office and no successes so outstanding.

"There is," the speaker, Miss Oveta Culp, added, however, "a vast difference between the women filling elective offices today and those filling them eight or 10 years ago."

Senator Burton Buried In Cleveland Cemetery

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31. (AP)—The body of Senator Theodore Elijah Burton lay at final rest tonight in beautiful Lake View cemetery, a few yards from the grave of another of Cleveland's distinguished sons, Myron T. Herrick.

Thousands of Cleveland's humbler folk missed their lunch hour to pass with state and national officers before the flag-draped bier of the senator as his body lay in the huge auditorium of public hall.

HARRIS TRIAL NEARING CLOSE

Okla. Dry Raider's Case May Reach Jury Today

CHANDLER, Okla., Oct. 31. (AP)—The trial of Jeff D. Harris, specially commissioned dry raider, charged with murdering two farmers near Tecumseh, Okla., July 4, neared its close today with the probability that the case would be placed in the hands of the jury tomorrow afternoon.

One of the defense and one of the prosecution attorneys had completed oral arguments when district court was adjourned until tomorrow. Two defense and three prosecution arguments remained to close the case.

Roy Lewis, assistant county attorney, of Pottawatomie county, pleaded with the jury to impose the death sentence.

J. H. Mathers, defense attorney, alluded to the prosecution as "an attempt to frame an officer to put him in jail."

The defendant, on trial specifically charged with the killing of Oscar Lowery, who, with his brother-in-law, James C. Harris, was slain in a search of the James C. Harris farm for liquor, staked his case largely on his own testimony, alleging that he shot Lowery in self-defense. He asserted he fired the fatal shot after he had been wounded in the face by a charge of buckshot from a shot gun which was thrust through a door of the Harris home. He denied the assertions of Lowery in a death bed statement that the farmers were unaware that he was an officer and that he shot Lowery while Lowery was walking away unarmed from the house.

The defense closed its case in the mid-afternoon with the completion of Jeff D. Harris' testimony. Harris at that time had occupied the witness chair for almost a full day.

Razor Blade Inventor To Severe Marital Tie

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31. (US)—The marital tie of King Gaines Gillette and Mrs. Gillette is about to be severed as neatly as if by one of the safety razor blades invented by his renowned father.

Announcement that the Gillettes have agreed to a "friendly divorce" was made today by Sherman S. Clark, friend and business manager of the scion of the safety razor man. Mrs. Gillette, former Elizabeth Caldwell of Grand Rapids, Mich., was reported today by friends to be in Reno. The couple married in 1913, have a 14-year-old daughter.

Houston Rum Runners May Know Fate Today

HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Sentence will be passed Friday or Saturday on George Musey and Edgar Cantrell, convicted by a federal jury today on a charge of conspiring to violate federal laws and of smuggling into this country on a large scale liquor through the port of Galveston.

Sealed verdict in the case, which went to the jury late yesterday, was opened this morning.

BOLD PLAN TO SINK GARNER IS REVEALED

Lobby Probe Produces Correspondence Between Creager-Arnold

J. H. KIRBY QUIZZED

Millionaire Texan Denies He Knew of Scheme to Beat Noted Solon

By EDWARD L. RODDAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (UB)—How a lobbyist conspired with a member of the Republican national committee in an attempt to defeat Representative John N. Garner, Democratic leader of the house, because of his views on revenue legislation, was revealed by the senate lobby committee today.

Those in the attempted deal were J. A. Arnold, local manager of two powerful lobby organizations, and R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from Texas.

Collections Revealed

Arnold revealed that his lobbies collected from $200,000 to $300,000 a year to conduct their lobbying activities here in Washington.

Arnold and Creager planned to import C. C. Belcher, a Texas sheep raiser, into Garner's congressional district to make the race in 1930, it was revealed. Belcher lived in another district.

When Arnold sounded out Belcher out on the proposition, the prospective candidate thought it might be more "profitable" for the Republicans to "trade the district off" rather than to oppose Garner in a real fight. Later Belcher declined to run.

The story of this attempted deal, revealed in correspondence passing between Arnold and Creager, proved the highlight of interest as the committee started the difficult task of "unscrambling" the politico-tariff maneuvering of lobbyists in southern states.

Prominent Stock Market Victim Commits Suicide

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31. (AP)—S. G. H. Robertson, 46, prominent construction engineer, who friends said lost a fortune in the recent stock market crash, was found dead early today with a bullet through his head. Police believe he committed suicide.

Mrs. Grace M. Zaney, who was sued for $250,000 last January by Mrs. Robertson on a charge of alienation of Robertson's affections, found the body in the rear seat of his car, in front of her home.

Mrs. Robertson obtained a divorce early this year on grounds of cruelty. The alienation suit was dropped.

Texan Held in Slaying Case Waives Hearing

RANKIN, Texas, Oct. 31. (AP)—Harry C. Jones, arrested at McCamey, Texas, yesterday for questioning in connection with the staying Saturday of Carl Jones and his step-daughter, Elizabeth Walworth, near Arkansas City, Kan., waived extradition before Judge C. H. Latson here and was turned over today to Assistant County Attorney A. T. Boyle and Deputy Sheriff H. L. Payne of Cowley county, Kan.

Crowds Await Theresa's Testimony

Speculation is rife at Weatherford on whether Mrs. Theresa Hamilton Walton, widow of Tom Walton Jr., will testify for her father, Judge R. H. Hamilton. Theresa said in an interview she prefers to be called "Miss Theresa Hamilton."

Widow of Tom Walton Jr., Returns To Maiden Name, Miss Theresa Hamilton

Correspondent Has Hard Time Getting Brief Interview But Girl's Brother Is More Talkative

By TOM CAUFIELD
Special Correspondent

WEATHERFORD, Oct. 31.—The widow of Tom Walton Jr. says she has definitely discarded the name of the youth she wedded secretly, and who was slain by her father, R. H. Hamilton, in Amarillo, May 4.

"My name is Miss Theresa Hamilton," she said, encountered in the Parker hotel without the guardianship of her older brother, Robert. "I prefer not to be called Mrs. Walton, but Miss Hamilton," she said, confirming what her brother said earlier in the day.

Register Shows Name

Asked if she would testify in the trial of her father for Walton's murder, now under way in 43rd district court here, she said: "I don't know."

Asked if she had any pictures of Walton, she said, "If I had, I wouldn't give you any."

Asked if that meant she did not have any, she said, "I didn't say," and thereupon stepped into her room and closed the door. She did not answer the telephone.

The former Mrs. Tom Walton was with her sister, Helen, and a girl friend at the time. She is never alone. A few minutes later she issued from the elevator and literally ran through the lobby of the hotel, with her sister at her heels, returning shortly and hurrying back into the elevator the same way.

In conversation, she smiles very charmingly, even while she refuses to talk, much in contrast to her father, who shows his annoyance when questioned.

The widow was registered at the hotel by her brother, R. H. Hamilton Jr., as "Miss Theresa Hamilton."

Marriage Never Annulled

It was this same brother who earlier in the day put the quietus to a suggestion that his sister was continuing the name "Walton."

"Miss Theresa Hamilton" is what the widow of young Tom Walton prefers to be called, Robert Hamilton told reporters in her presence. The pretty 18-year-old widow herself had refused to talk beyond the simple statement, "I have nothing to say." She smiles, but stays dumb.

A second question, about anything at all, and she walks away

Utterance Preceding Firing Of Shots in Dispute; Defendant Weeps

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Oct. 31. (UP)—Defense attorneys Friday will attempt to prove that Tom Walton made written threats against the life of Judge R. H. Hamilton and slandered Theresa Hamilton's older sister, Helen. It was revealed here tonight by defense Attorney R. B. Hood, Amarillo.

The love letters from Walton to his girl wife which were identified for the record this afternoon were stolen by Mrs. Hamilton, another defense attorney said, and these

TELLING THE WORLD

WEATHERFORD, Oct. 31. (AP)—About 50,000 words a day have been sent from Weatherford to 18 newspapers and news gathering organizations since R. H. Hamilton's murder trial began Monday.

letters contain threats against the life of Judge Hamilton, Hood said.

The letters are certain to produce the sensation of the trial Friday, with trial at its antecedents and attracting more interest daily.

Defense attorneys have not revealed through whom they will be introduced, but it may be through the judge or Mrs. Hamilton. Mrs. Reeder, of the defense, did reveal tonight after the recess that letters identified from the stand by Mrs. Hamilton as those of Walton were written to Theresa.

Letters Stolen

"Mrs. Hamilton stole the letters," he then said. "They are love letters from Walton. They will be introduced in evidence Friday."

That announcement unquestionably will pack the moderate-sized courtroom to its low rafters for the Friday session, and is indicative that the dramatic moment of the trial is close at hand.

One-Word Mystery

A single word spoken either by Hamilton or Walton after the youth entered the judge's office was heard by two witnesses but neither Miss Florence Hendricks who sat behind her desk and watched the death struggle, nor J. W. Burke, real estate man, who awaited Hamilton in the next room, could say what it was or which man uttered it.

ONE ACCIDENT ON HALLOWEEN

Huge Concrete Weight Hits Youth on Head

Halloween, despite its pranks, its noise and its gaiety, passed almost quietly into the past insofar as accidents or serious trouble were concerned, only one accident of serious nature having been reported Thursday night.

With the hilarity of the night approaching its zenith, Wiley Stone, 19 son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stone, 1507 Seventeenth street, found his fun suddenly blighted by an accident which lacked inches of being grave. The young man, with a party of Halloween celebrants, was mingling with the crowds which thronged the downtown streets shortly before 9 o'clock Thursday night. A group of boys had succeeded in lowering a fire escape on the Tenth street side of the Miller-Ferguson building and were pulling the ladder down and allowing it to fly back up when the cable on the heavy concrete block which weighted the contrivance broke.

The 150-pound block fell and struck the young man a glancing blow on the shoulder and side of the head. He was rushed to the

STOLEN IVORY PANEL FOUND

Priceless Antique Is Taken From Cathedral

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (US)—The strange oddity of a priceless ivory panel dating from 1000 A. D., stolen from the cathedral of Zagreb, Jugoslavia, and found in Cleveland, was today recounted by Dr. Leonidas Pitamic, Jugoslav minister here.

Doctor Pitamic forwarded the object d'art to the Greek Catholic authorities in Belgrade today and it will be restored to its original place in the cathedral. The curator of the Cleveland museum of art, Frederick Whiting, waved all rights to the rare antique.

The Jugo-Slav legation was recently informed that a jeweled ivory panel resembling one reported stolen from the cathedral of Zagreb was on display at the Cleveland museum of art. Doctor Pitamic dispatched an attache to Cleveland to investigate and found that the panel was accorded a place of honor in the museum's collection. Its Jugo-Slav origin was frankly acknowledged in a catalog published by the museum authorities.

This rare example of the art of the middle ages had disappeared from the walls of the cathedral in far off Serbia soon after the war and was next reported in Paris. It dropped out of sight again, despite the efforts of experts to trace it, and was offered in good faith to the Cleveland authorities by a New York dealer last year.

"When I satisfactorily proved to Doctor Whiting that the missing panel and his precious ivory were one and the same he generously returned the antique to me and I have forwarded it today under special guard to Belgrade," said Doctor Pitamic. "We feel a debt of genuine gratitude for his generous gesture in returning to us the missing panel which has been so prominently identified with Jugo-Slav history.

"The good faith of any of the intermediaries has never been in question. We have been able to trace it through the hands of five persons, but the real culprit who stole it and replaced it by a cheap imitation has never been found."

Bumper Wheat Crop In 1930 Predicted For Donley County

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, Oct. 31.—While Donley county is not primarily a wheat growing county, last year one of the best crops in the history of the county was harvested and farmers are planting a large acreage this year. Especially around the Jericho section is a large acreage being planted. Practically all planting is finished at this time and will be greatly benefited by the rains that have fallen this and last week. All fields are up to a good stand and Jericho farmers today expressed the opinion that they had never in the history of their residence in that section seen such promising prospects for a bumper crop for 1930. With the completion of practically all planting and the coming of rains this week conditions are ideal for a good root system to be formed on the plant. Predictions are that the largest crop of wheat in the history of Donley county will be harvested in 1930 if anything like normal conditions prevail.

Aid Asked for Family Made Destitute by Fire

Cold weather spells tragedy for one little Wichita Falls family.

Just out of the hospital after having suffered burns in a recent fire that destroyed their home and all their belongings, a father and mother and their two small children are facing an uncertain future with very little clothing and no bedding or household furniture of any kind.

Mrs. Effie McHam, Family Relief secretary, issued an appeal for help in the case Thursday. "There is probably an old bed stored away in some attic that would help this family a lot," she said, "and I am sure that numbers of people have old bedding they are not using." Mrs. McHam can be reached at the Memorial auditorium or by telephone over number 2-2183.

The family has no other assistance except that offered by the Family Relief association, having no relatives or friends here who are able to help in any way.

Military Forces Stop Parliament in Poland

WARSAW, Oct. 31. (UP)—Military forces prevented today the opening of the first session of parliament in seven months.

Ninety officers invaded the lobby of the parliament building at 4 p. m. and prevented the speaker from convening the session. It was not clear whether the action was a demonstration for Marshal Joseph Pilsudski or an attempted coup d'etat.

LOVE TO WRITE PENSION BILL

Senator Would Allow Vets $50 Per Month

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (INS)—Senator Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, announced today he would introduce a bill in the coming special session of the legislature allowing all married Confederate veterans $50 a month; all single veterans $25 a month and all widows of veterans $25 a month pensions.

Senator Love came here to confer with Gov. Dan Moody on Confederate pension questions, and to urge him to call a special session at the earliest possible date.

Electra C.-C. to Stage Party at Clara Tonight

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Electra Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a community party at Clara Friday night, Nov. 1. A large number of Electra business men are exepcted to be present and a program of entertainment has been arranged for the benefit of the Clara community.

Other community parties to be sponsored by the chamber of commerce to be held in the near future will be on Nov. 15 at Victory in Oklahoma, and on No. 22 at the Elliott school, when they will have a big party in conjunction with their carnival.

Sanity Hearing for Fauble Delayed

TECUMSEH, Okla., Oct. 31. (UP)—The main sanity hearing for Arthur L. Fauble, Shawnee wholesale merchant, charged with writing extortion letters to prominent business men in Shawnee, was postponed today until Monday, County Judge Jack Bradley said.

Three state's witnesses, two from Wichita, Kan., however, appeared before Judge Bradley here this afternoon to testify concerning Fauble's actions.

Fauble was arrested in Shawnee Oct. 15, after returning from Wichita, Kan., where he said he was taken by gunmen. He has been held in county jail here since that time.

Governor Holloway Considers Bank Offer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31. (UP)—Governor Holloway today was considering the offer of the Chapman-Phenix National Bank & Trust company of New York to pay in excess of 3 per cent of date of balances in consideration for being made the state fiscal agency.

The Chase National bank of New York was made fiscal agent during the Johnston administration. It pays 2.75 per cent interest on daily balance. R. T. Brewer, former president of the First National bank of Tulsa and vice president of the Chapman-Phenix bank, made the offer to Holloway who refused to discuss it until some decision had been reached.

Community Show to Be Presented at Quanah

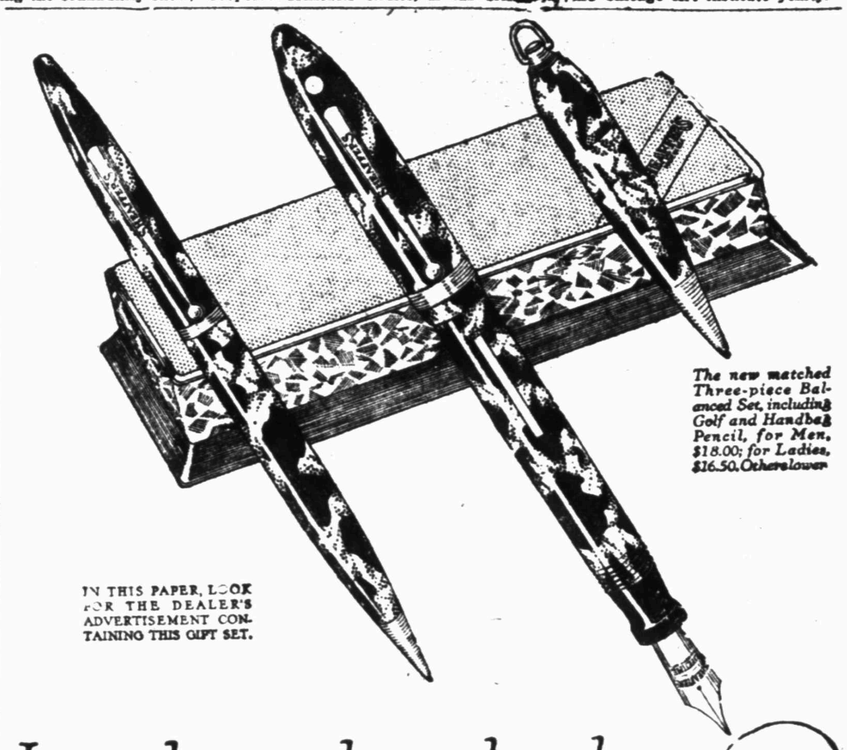

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 31.—Quanah Municipal band is sponsoring the community show, "Corporal Eagen," which is to be staged at the high school auditorium Thursday and Friday, Nov. 7 and 8.

When Babies FRET

There are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria! A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness that needs no stronger medicines to relieve. Castoria is pleasant-tasting; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

WOMAN'S TEARS SWAY COURT

Mrs. Maloney Weeps And Kinsmen Are Released

By SAM LOVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (UP)—Ah, me boys, there's nothing like a woman's tears of a colleen in distress—when it comes to serious entreaty.

And, me boys, Mrs. Katherine Maloney—she who was pretty Kitty Boland long ago—tonight held the standing, sitting, standing all-time tears-entreating record of greater New York.

Mrs. Maloney succeeded today on a spot where a lawyer would have had dubious success. She sprung the combined Maloney and Boland clans from a Brooklyn hoosegow with no more trouble than it took to fasten her big eyes on Magistrate Mark Rudich and let them brim over.

The dignity and liberty of the Bolands and the Maloneys was in a condition not less than precarious one minute. The next they were marching triumphantly to freedom to the splash, splash, splash of their Kitty Maloney's legal strategy.

Intoxication Charge

Things were proceeding in a routine way in Magistrate Rudich's court. The prisoner before the bar at the moment was Morgan Boland, aged 58; charge, intoxication. Arresting officer, Patrolman James J. Burns of the Butler street station.

The magistrate was about to pronounce sentence and Boland had ducked his head—waiting to take it—when a woman, Mrs. Kitty Maloney stepped up to the bar and asked to say a word.

"Oh, judge—my poor, unfortunate brother Morgan," said Mrs. Maloney. She began to cry.

"There, now, go ahead," prompted the court, kindly.

"Your honor, he was injured several years ago while he was working. He takes a little drop now and then, and of course it affects him. But won't you please give him another chance?"

"All right," said the magistrate, "but will you take care of him if I let him go?"

More Tears

"Yes, and a thousand blessings upon your honor," said Mrs. Maloney, smiling and drying her eyes.

Boland moved away. But Mrs. Maloney stood pat. She began to cry again.

"What's the matter now?" inquired Magistrate Rudich.

"Ah, my poor brother, Michael, is in there," sobbed Mrs. Maloney.

"Bring him out!" ordered the judge.

Michael told the court that he was 65 years old and had been arrested for intoxication.

"Michael is all right—he works," said Mrs. Maloney through her tears, "and, sure, your honor knows how it is when brothers get together."

Suspended Sentence

Michael received a suspended sentence and joined Morgan in the rear of the courtroom. But Mrs. Maloney began to weep more copiously than before. The court room rocked with the laughter of the callous. Magistrate Rudich began to show evidence of uneasiness. He leaned over his desk and peered at Mrs. Maloney. He opened his mouth to say something and changed his mind.

But Mrs. Maloney nodded.

"Judge, my poor husband is in there," wailed Mrs. Maloney.

Dennis Maloney was brought before the bar of justice. He said he was 50 years old and had been arrested for intoxication.

"Take all three of them home and take care of them," thundered the court. Mrs. Maloney, loudly praising the good heart of Magistrate Rudich, turned to go.

Magistrate Rudich pretended to study his papers. The court room water-cooler began to leak, tap, tap, tap, on the floor. Magistrate Rudich started up nervously, sat down again, and dabbed at his brow with a handkerchief.

Waggoner's Loot Basis of Litigation

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 31. (INS)—Opening guns had been fired today in the fight to determine ownership of the half million dollar loot of Charles Delos Waggoner, convicted Telluride banker.

Suit has been filed in the Pueblo district court by attorneys for Grant McFerson, state bank commissioner, to recover the residue of the $200,000 cashier's check mailed to the First National bank of Pueblo by Waggoner from New York for deposit to the credit of his bank of Telluride.

The suit asks that $144,892.78—the difference between a check drawn on the Central Hanover Bank & Trust company of New York and the amount paid out on order of Waggoner—be turned over to the state banking department.

TINY ACTRESS WHAMS CRITIC

American Player Slaps Face Of Hannen Swaffer

LONDON, Oct. 31. (US)—Lillian Foster, diminutive American actress now playing here in her own play, "Conscience," deliberately slapped the face of Hannen Swaffer, dramatic critic for the Daily Express, at lunch time today in the Savoy grill. Swaffer is notorious for the anti-American virulence of his criticisms.

When struck, Swaffer blinked and called for the head-waiter. As the latter rushed Lillian to the seclusion of an ante-room, she broke away and sharply backhanded Swaffer again. The sound of the blow resounded throughout the grill room, which is the most popular luncheon rendezvous in the city for society and the theatrical world.

The lunchers gasped in amazement at Lillian's display of pugilism. Swaffer seemed to be the only unperturbed person, nonchalantly returning to his table. In her dressing room at the Little theater after the matinee performance, Lillian tearfully unfolded her story. She said:

"I am sorry that I started a brawl in a public place. But I couldn't resist taking a smack at his smug face. He has never yet had a good word to say on American performers or plays.

"I approached him in the Savoy. 'Don't you know me, Swaffer?' I asked. 'I'm afraid I do not,' he answered. 'But don't you know my voice?' I continued—Swaffer in his criticisms said my voice got on his nerves. 'Your report of my play was unfair. Why do you always attack Americans?'"

"Swaffer then said: 'I don't attack Americans; I said I didn't like your play and I don't.'

"I then did what any other American would have done who had any spirit. I would rather that an American actor had done it—he might have been able to hurt Swaffer more. I am not a bit sorry; my only regret is that the incident occurred in a public place."

FOUND DEAD IN ROOM

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31. (UP)—A 65-year-old man was found dead in his room here today. Police found papers in his pockets indicating he was either W. C. Best of Houston or W. W. Campbell of Albuquerque. He was a specialty salesman. Physicians reported death was caused by heart failure.

Heflin Has Plan to Hike Cotton Price

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (UP)—Senator Heflin, Alabama, today said that he was preparing a resolution for the senate which would advance cotton prices $15 a bale. The resolution would close all cotton exchanges for 30 days.

Heflin said this move was reported by recent stock market developments. New York, New Orleans and Chicago exchanges would be closed, if the resolution was effective, Heflin said. He charged exchanges were not true indices of the market because they were unduly influenced by speculation.

W. B. Hamilton, elected last week as president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be guest of honor at Friday's luncheon, and will speak briefly, it was announced.

Electra Little Theater Elects Treasurer

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 31.—At the board of director's meeting of the Little Theater Tuesday night, Miss Harriett Barwise was elected secretary-treasurer of the board. Miss Barwise is connected with the First State bank.

Rev. C. C. Klingman's resignation from the board was accepted and W. D. Cross was elected to fill the vacancy. A committee composed of J. G. B. Totten, Miss Harriett Barwise and Mrs. N. D. Cooper was appointed to start the publicity campaign of the Little Theater. The membership drive will start within the week and various committees will be appointed to assist in the drive.

The publicity committee has secured Mr. F. C. McClung, director of the Little Theater of Wichita Falls, to make an address at the community rally to be held Nov. 7.

WILL VISIT POPE

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 31. (AP)—King Victor Emanuel's long-awaited visit to Pope Pius, the first that a king of Italy has made to the vatican since papal loss of temporal power in 1870, will take place in the first fortnight of November, the correspondent of the Giornale D'Italia said today.

First Methodist Wesley Girls Guests at Brilliant Party

Lovely in Halloween coloring, outstanding in personnel and principle, no more lovely party has been given this fall than the annual luncheon of the Wesley Girls of the First Methodist church which took place Thursday noon at the Woman's Forum clubhouse.

A long table went the length of the auditorium in three ways and at stated intervals, bowls of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums with Texas' native wild purple spikes alternated with orange candles surrounded by jolly pumpkin gentlemen. Place cards of black cats, flying witches and other Halloween folk stood in orange blocks on orange cards.

After the short invocation given by Mrs. W. W. Silk, Mrs. Grover C. Bullington, toastmistress, took charge of ceremonies. Her little introductory speech was a model for such talks. She gave a humorously tender history of the beginning of the Wesley Girl's class, from the time when the minister stumbled over the parked baby buggies to get into the parlor—which was not then a living room. She complimented the class for its work, stating that 28 out of the 124 teachers in the Sabbath school were from the Wesley Girls and five officers and four circle leaders in the missionary society from the personnel of the same class.

Mrs. Bullington gracefully introduced the guests of the class and then the program, arranged by Mrs. Sam Acton and her committee, was presented.

A lovely violin number was given by Miss Katherine Kriswell of the Wichita Conservatory of Music and Miss Dorothy Greathouse, head of this conservatory, gave two exquisite vocal numbers. Both artists were accompanied by Mrs. Philip Oviatt. The wonderful timber of Miss Greathouse's voices was particularly noted in the second number she gave. There was a sympathetic quality, a piercing sweetness that reached the hearts of music lovers.

The old teacher of some years ago was then introduced and asked to introduce the new teacher, Mrs. Silk responded to the "old teacher" by saying she refused to be "old." She then introduced the new teacher, Mrs. W. W. Silk.

All old officers present introduced the new officers present. Those who will serve in the coming year are: teacher, Mrs. W. W. Silk; president, Mrs. J. B. McKinley; first vice president, Mrs. Jason Walker; second vice president, Mrs. W. P. Bolding; secretary, Mrs. J. P. Tarry; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hugh Weaver; treasurer, Mrs. Elbert Hanks; social service chairman, Mrs. J. J. Jenkins; house service chairman, Mrs. W. C. Cole; program chairman, Mrs. E. E. Easton; publicity chairman, Mrs. H. O. Rupnow; cradle roll, Brs. G. C. Bullinton; pianist, Mrs. J. F. O'Brien; song leader, Mrs. M. D. Rowe, assistant secretary, Mrs. F. L. Mercer; assistant program chairman, Mrs. L. C. Ulrich; assistant first vice president, Mrs. H. C. Cheshire.

Mrs. Jason Walker toasted circle leaders in clever verse and Mrs. Sam Acton, young, pretty and fresh looking, made a great hit when she announced that the day of her life had come. She could turn over to Mrs. E. S. Easton, the program chairmanship and she bade the members of the class gaze upon her now, for at the end of the year, she would be like herself, gray haired and wrinkled of brow.

Mrs. H. C. Cheshire, house service chairman, introduced what she termed the new "janitor," Mrs. W. C. Cole, who is the new house service chairman. Mrs. Bullington introduced herself in her work in the production and supply department, saying she would be glad to report the 14 new babies of the past year. Mrs. Bullington is chairman of the cradle roll. Mrs. Silk made a short but splendid talk. Dr. McKenney, announced himself as a Wesley Girl and Mr. Hamilton took notes.

Six pupils of Miss Marguerite Fisher put on one of the cleverest skits that can be shown in parliamentary form. The dining room of the forum was furnished as a lovely living room, and this room was the scene of a club meeting in a private home. Parliamentary law was used and abused just as it is in every woman's club and the members of the class enjoyed immensely seeing themselves as others see them.

Places were marked for Mesdames W. R. Thompson, Phil Oviatt, Misses Katherine Criswell and Dorothy Greathouse, Mesdames A. D. Duck, Gene Mattox, H. F. Sanderford, Gail Trickett, Ben Lockheart, T. ## PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

On the last day of October, she donned her most brilliant garments. She chose purple and gold and rich shades of maroon with a dash of scarlet and a hint of rose.

On the fence by the side of an old home on Tenth street, morning glories braved the October sunshine until almost noon. Their trailing vines and pink and purple flowers were lovely beyond description.

A maple on Huff street gleamed like gold. Trees around it were russet, and many of them had thrown their garments of leaves away—jealous of the maple's beauty.

Around the roots of one tree, a patch of chrysanthemums looked as if Midas had touched them. And it is these glorious golden chrysanthemums that are glowing on the eastern and southern sides of so many homes.

The ivy climbing on the tower of the Church of the Good Shepherd is rich with royal color. Deep maroon and scarlet leaves cling to the velvety brick as if they had loved their support for a hundred years.

We saw a shrub in Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin's yard on Tenth street and two wands from it are waving in a gray vase in our living room. The rich maroon of the long graceful branches caught our eye and we thought at first, it was the color that autumn leaves.

The name is "calicarpa"—that is the botanical name. We feel that some one should give it a "neighborly name." The color comes from clusters of rich maroon berries, as round and true to form as if they had been cast.

The leaves come out from the center of these clusters and leave an ornamental branch that will hold its beauty for a long, long time.

A commercial fertilizer plant to cost $7,000,000 will be built at Trail, British Columbia.

SOCIAL DEBS MUST HAVE 'HOBBY' THIS YEAR

New York's Social Barrage to Start Early Next Month

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—The debutante of 1929-'30 is getting ready to cross the social rubicon.

This year she has a double objective in her campaign plans. Besides her program of luncheons, dances and teas, she is trying to make her mark in one of the arts—studying music, the drama or costume design as hard as her everlasting round of parties will permit.

Being just a pretty girl with a light foot at fox trots isn't enough to insure social success these days.

The butterfly is doing her best to shine in another light. She must have a hobby.

Her actual social campaign begins Nov. 2. Then, in a bower of chrysanthemums and autumn foliage, clad in her prettiest trailing frock, she will make her initial bow at a dance given in her honor in the Tuxedo park club.

From then until the debutante's ball at the Ritz New Year's eve, she will be the center of what promises to be one of the most brilliant social pageants this city has ever known.

After the Tuxedo ball—a general "get together" party—the deb will make her individual debut at a luncheon or dinner dance, or both.

Miss Olive Whitman, daughter of former Governor Whitman, is one of those who will make two social bows. She will "come out" first at a reception tea which her father is to give in her honor at the Colony club Nov. 15. Later she will be introduced to younger members of society at a dinner dance at the same club. Others, among them Cathleen Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyttleton Fox, and Eugenia Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nay Morris, will content themselves with one debut. They will "come out" at dinner dances in November.

Alice Vanderbilt Morris, II, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hennen Morris and a descendant of Com. Cornelius Vanderbilt, will be presented to society at a dinner given by her parents at Pierre's the day after Thanksgiving.

Clothes require a great deal of attention from this year's debutante, since the fall mode has seen a radical change.

Will she adopt the new high waist, the evening hemline that touches her heels and sometimes trails the floor, the elbow and shoulder-length gloves now in vogue? She has to concentrate to find the style most becoming to her, for on the charm of her appearance much of her social success depends.

The actual mechanics of her social campaign she leaves to her mother or an aunt or some other sponsor. And so intricate has that campaign become that many chaperones place the reins of control in the experienced hands of some woman publicity director and let her do the worrying.

Alathean Class Party Is Entertaining Event

One of the most entertaining affairs of the season's activities was the annual Halloween party given by members of the Alathean Bible class of the First Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Cliff Everts, 1717 Pearl street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The house was attractively decorated with Halloween suggestions and yellow chrysanthemums. Guests were entertained with a fortune telling booth presided over by Mrs. Rufus Alexandre and a white elephant booth at which Mrs. W. D. Maddrey was proprietress.

Mrs. Lige Lewis' group acted as hostesses and were in charge of arrangements. The hostesses included Mesdames Everts, Frank Morgan, F. M. Currin, W. A. Brown, H. C. Copeland, Austin Moore, L. A. DeLee, O. R. Burden, W. D. Maddrey, C. H. Cooper, and Rufus Alexandre.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames John Finch, Howard Weaver, H. E. Nettles, W. C. Reeves, T. P. Tibbets, George Smoot, M. C. Hays, W. O. Stewart, George A. Mobley, Thomas Holcombe, Pearl Blair, R. C. Lyon, E. W. Irvine, R. N. Berry, Bryan Lovelace, Frank Elam, Borden Morris, L. V. Abernathy, J. W. McCutchen, W. E. Young, C. D. Whitley, D. A. Naylor, C. B. Morris, Rufus Bruton, L. T. Francis, W. E. Brounrigg, W. E. George, Fred S. Roop and A. L. Fitts.

D. A. R. Picks Waco For '30 Convention

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 31. (INS)—Daughters of the American revolution in annual state session here selected Waco for their 1930 convention city, and today launched recommendations asking that D. A. R. scholarship funds be available for boys as well as girls.

Mrs. E. H. Bell was to ask for a 10c per capita gift from general membership to the state student loan fund. The society has two funds of $5,000 each at state teachers colleges.

Pledges totaling $1,042 were made to defray expenses of $1,500 toward cost of bronze doors in constitution hall clubhouse of the D. A. R. in Washington, in honor of the state regent. A $300 relic cabinet has been taken and pledges of $208 were subscribed.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Fellowship Class Has Business And Social Afternoon

Mrs. Hi Willis was hostess at her home on Tilden street to members of the Fellowship Bible class of the First Baptist church Thursday afternoon in business and social session.

The home was beautifully decorated with Halloween favors and autumn flowers.

Mrs. Fred Carter, president, presided in the business session. It was decided the class have no meeting in November, but hold a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Will Daniels in Indian Heights.

A nominating committee which had been appointed to nominate an assistant teacher, decided with the class that no assistant would be elected, but the class members, in alphabetical order, would teach the class when the teacher was absent.

Mrs. Jim Robinson was elected class reporter.

Members of the class are to make a dollar and tell how it is made. Nine members reported on their work Thursday. This money is to go to the Christmas fund.

Several interesting games were played and a typical autumn refreshment plate of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee was served to Mesdames E. D. McCally, W. R. Chancellor, Will Daniels, Willis Stott, O. M. Smith, Fred Morris, C. F. Lorenz, J. A. Morrison, Frank Cripliver, W. E. Martin, Fred Carter, A. M. Lummus, George Howery, G. E. Stampfli, A. B. Maples, V. E. Wratten, J. C. Shepherd, J. B. Maples, Ralph Hines and the hostess.

Christian Division Meets Thursday

Members of division seven of the Woman's Christian council of the First Christian church met Thursday with Mrs. D. C. Walker, with Mesdames H. G. Widner and J. M. Allen assistant hostesses.

Following the devotional by Mrs. G. R. Ellis, little Miss Ford read "The World Call" and Mrs. T. P. Kelm discussed the lesson in "The World Call."

Dr. J. L. Finnell and Dr. F. A. Bash each discussed phases of the revival now in session.

Lovely refreshments were served to Mesdames C. E. Bailey, J. M. Allen, G. R. Ellis, Paul Henry Packard, R. E. Shepherd, G. H. Widener, W. J. Berry, C. W. Delp, R. S. Harper, T. P. Kelm, W. A. Penix, Doctor Bash, Doctor Finnell and little Miss Ford.

Just "to please the folks," Thomas B. Russell, 79, of Brownsville, Texas, took his first train ride recently.

Personals

Mrs. J. H. Fletcher has as her house guests her sister and daughter, Mrs. George C. Morris and Miss Orpha Morris of Longview, Wash. They are expected to remain in Wichita Falls for a month.

Mrs. Keevil Honoree At Birthday Luncheon

Complimenting Mrs. J. Lem Keevil on the event of her birthday, officers and division leaders of the Loyal Daughters of the First Christian church entertained with a prettily appointed luncheon in the Spanish tea room at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday at 12 o'clock.

The individual tables were attractively decorated in black and orange with bowls of yellow chrysanthemums as center pieces. Mrs. C. F. Chewning, president of the class, presented Mrs. Keevil with a gift from the class.

Seated with the honoree were Mesdames L. E. Trout, G. W. Pond, O. E. Sturm, S. H. Rider, N. A. Burnside, H. T. Smart, Charles Standring, F. E. Shoop and C. F. Chewning.

"I use lipstick only once a day!"

"My dear, I've discovered the most amazing new Kissproof Lipstick! I put it on once in the morning and know my lips will look their loveliest all day long, no matter what I do! You don't believe it? Here, try Kissproof, my dear—you won't need lipstick again today!"

Kissproof, the modern waterproof lipstick, is changing the cosmetic habits of women everywhere. No longer is it necessary to be bothered with constant retouching—to be embarrassed with ordinary lipstick that stains handkerchiefs, teacups and cigarettes.

Kissproof is such full natural color that just a touch on the lips rubbed in with the finger tips is needed. And you have the peace of mind of knowing that your rich, red youthful coloring is as natural as if it were your very own—and as permanent as the day is long!

We urge you to find out for yourself how Kissproof stays on—what healthy coloring it gives.

To Prevent "Soap Eat" of Fabrics in Washing Machine

Simple Way To Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Inexpensive Soap Is Used

Soap eat of fragile things and fading of delicate colors in either washing machine or tub can easily be corrected now, even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or, delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called Climalene and use just One-Fourth the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For light washing in small wash basins, a teaspoonful of Climalene is enough.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for Climalene.

No Husband Ever Gets Ideal Wife, Says Dorothy Dix

Every Man Feels That He Could Be Happy With a Wife Whose Charm Never Failed, Whose Good Temper Was Unfailing, and Who Knew How to Run a Household Without Running Up Bills.

Of course, no man ever gets his ideal wife for the excellent reason that there isn't such an animal. But if he did she would be: Perpetually young and beautiful. She would stop the clock on her wedding day and never grow a year older. She would never lose her slim, girlish figure. Her hair would never get grizzled and lose its luster. The roses would never fade on her cheeks and at 50 she would still be a flapper. Naturally he wouldn't expect to keep her in a glass case. He would expect her to hold up her end of the domestic partnership and to bear and rear children and to cook and scrub and sew and do all the labor necessary to making a comfortable home and to worry over keeping bills down. But this wouldn't make the ideal wife hump-shouldered and put corns on her hands and wrinkles in her cheeks as it does the real wife. The ideal wife would dash off all the household chores and still look like a lady love.

The ideal wife would always be a vamp whose charms never staled from familiarity. She would never get to the bottom of her box of tricks. She would always be weaving some new sorcery about him that would keep him on tiptoe wondering what was coming next. No matter how long he was married to her he would never get to know all of her moods and tenses and what she was going to say next, as he does with his Maria. She would always keep him guessing.

She would impart a kick to domesticity that would make it a thrilling adventure instead of the dull dozen of daily duties it is now. She would never nag nor fret nor complain nor remind him of his faults and shortcomings, as real wives do, but instead would sing a siren song that would make him deaf to the blandishments of all other women and thus keep him faithful because he wanted to be instead of because he should be.

The ideal wife would be a miracle-worker who could do stunts in finance that would put Mr. Mellon in the amateur class. She would be able to run a house on air and thus avoid running up those bills which in real life do so much to disillusion men with matrimony. She would be able to make a few hocus-pocus passes with her hands over a table and presto! a delicious dinner would appear by magic upon it.

Imported hats and gowns would grow upon her spontaneously as fine feathers do upon birds, so that she would always be beautifully dressed and a credit to her husband without ever costing him a cent. Nor would she ever appear frowsy and slouchy. She would be able to do the family washing and still keep the gloss upon her manicured nails and to walk a sick baby all night and get the breakfast in a pink silk and lace negligee and without disturbing a hair in her marcel.

The ideal wife would be a mind reader. Her husband would never have the annoyance of having to say to her: "What, roast beef again! Why can't we have mutton once in a while?" Or, "Good gosh, sheep again! Isn't there any more beef in the market?" because she would know by the pricking of her thumbs just what he would prefer for dinner.

Nor would she have to shed any tears over the fact that he had apparently ceased to care for her because he never paid her a compliment or spoke a word of affection or noticed how she looked or exhibited the slightest interest in her. She would know by intuition that his neglect meant nothing, that he still loved her and thought her the greatest ever, but that he just didn't see any sense in chasing a street car after he had caught it.

Nor would the ideal wife's feelings be hurt as real wives' feelings so often are by her husband's venting all his temper and meanness on her and saying things to her that he wouldn't say to anybody of his own size and weight. She would just know that he really had the kindliest sentiments toward her and that he was just taking out on her his chagrin because he got on the wrong side of the stock market or his boss gave him a bawling out.

Nor would the ideal wife make a fuss over her husband's philandering and let him in for divorce and alimony the way real wives do. She would know that he didn't mean anything serious, that he was just playing hookey from home as a naughty boy plays hookey from school and that when it was all over he would come back to home and mother.

her stamp of her husband. She would never have any opinions and

The ideal wife would be a rubber stamp of her husband. She would never have any opinions and views of her own that she was ready to defend to the death as real wives are apt to and which give rise to those unpleasant arguments that cause a man to jam on his hat and slam the front door behind him.

Splendid Talks and Music Feature Literature Meeting

Lovely music and splendid speakers featured the meeting of the Literature department Thursday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse. The opening numbers were two exquisite songs by Mrs. M. M. Garrett, "Life" and "It Is Day," with Mrs. W. L. Underwood at the piano.

B. D. Donnell editorial director of the Wichita Times and Record News, was the speaker of the afternoon. Quite a number of high school students attended the meeting in order to hear his talk on "The Modern Trend and Changing Ideas in Journalism."

Mr. Donnell's talk was short, to the point and extremely interesting. He spoke of the development of the newspaper from a journal of opinion and an advocate of special causes to a daily publication which might or might not express opinions or advocate any cause, but which might claim to inform, instruct, amuse and entertain its readers and serve the business interests of its community. He mentioned the development of a number of vigorous newspapers in the smaller cities of the state.

"With one exception," he said, "no newspaper claims to be a national newspaper. The exception is the Christian Science Monitor."

A particularly interesting part of Mr. Donnell's address was that in which he talked of personal feeling and personal views in newspaper work.

"I think there is a distinct trend toward greater accuracy and fairness in the reporting of news," he said.

"You have no idea how impersonal a newspaper man gets to be about the publication of news. His duty is to report things as they happen and not as he would have them. Some people think an editor is a sort of dictator and can print what he wants and that he can wield great influence merely in what he prints or what he does not print or in coloring what he does print. The truth is that an editor has little choice; he's got to print what people will read and like it happens. He can neither reward his friends nor punish his enemies. He can never condone wrong and escape the penalty of lost prestige and confidence.

"The newspapers are criticized because of the amount of the crime news they print and the prominence they give it," Mr. Donnell said. "I think the criticism is to some extent a just one.—Crime news comes into the newspaper office in a sickening flow and too often that is about the only kind of news carried on the wires or developed locally. Sometimes I think we get a lot of crime news because it is the most obvious and the easiest to report. But the people will always read crime news and maybe they would not read the newspapers without it.

"Although I would curtail the ordinary reports of crime, I do think there is drama in the report of almost any trial where human life is at stake. In such trials are laid bare the impulses and motives that govern human conduct and I believe that we can gain from reading reports of them."

Mr. Donnell spoke of the increase in the amount of space devoted to sport, business, market and news of especial interest to women. "Newspapers," he said, "are supposed to mirror life. They are imperfect and sometimes distorted mirrors, mirroring only the froth and the evanescent things. They ought to go deeper than to merely skim the surface and I think there is an unlimited field for American journalism in interpreting to the readers of newspapers all the significant things of this wonderful new age of ours. I think it is the function of the newspaper to lay before the public in language that the man in the street can understand, the discoveries, the new methods, the new thought of science, industry, philosophy, education, religion and of all thought and human activity. Who can do this so well as the newspaper man?"

In concluding, Mr. Donnell said he hoped some day to see a genius arise in the field of journalism, who would do what Greely and Dana and Pulitzer have done in other days and set a new pace with a newspaper that will mirror life far better than any now published and that will be more vital and useful to its readers. "I believe," he said, "newspaper men of today are as courageous but more tolerant and more accurate and careful than their predecessors. I believe they are still inspired with a desire of service to their readers and the public. I think they are better equipped than ever before to discharge their obligations. I believe a more vital and useful newspaper is coming in the not distant future."

Following Mr. Donnell's talk, Mrs. Cantwell, chairman of the Literature department, announced a surprise for the audience. She introduced two members of the Kiowa tribe in full Indian costume, Harry and Frank Keoth were educated Indians, visiting the high schools throughout the country and trying to show to the white race what education and religion had done for them. Their largest audience, they said, had been in Nashville, Tenn., where they appeared before 2,700 high school students. They did the Indian ghost dance and made interesting talks.

Though the Indians owned little of the land west of the Mississippi, the young men said they were content in the exchange for education and religion. A trace of humor showed when they announced that the 116 tribes in the United States speak today 67 languages but there are no curse words in the Indian languages.

They changed their costumes, appearing as modern Americans and sang a group of popular songs, accompanying themselves on guitars.

Miss Eva Weber gave interesting book news.

5 reasons for Rinso... the safe laundry soap

1... It washes clothes the whitest you ever saw.
2... Its thick, creamy suds last and last—even in hardest water.
3... It soaks out dirt — saves scrubbing and boiling; thus clothes last longer.
4... It's economical. One cupful gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. And no softener needed.
5... The makers of 38 leading washing machines recommend it.

For these 5 reasons change to Rinso! You'll like its thick, safe suds for dishes and other cleaning, too. Get the BIG package.

Mrs. Lena Rolling

Texas Mother Has Healthiest Child

Mrs. Lena Rolling is perhaps the happiest mother in Houston, and it is all because her little son Royce Lee finally got over a spell of sickness which pulled him down terribly.

"His blood must have gotten very thin because he broke out so badly all over his little legs," said Mrs. Rolling in her home at 3011 Harrisburg Blvd. "From the time I started giving him Nature's Remedy Juniors it so thoroughly cleaned out his system that all the broken out places healed and others did not come back as they did before. Now he is in so much better health that I wish every mother could see him and see what those little chocolate candy NR Jrs do for ailing children."

All drug stores which sell Nature's Remedy, the safe dependable laxative and corrective also have NR Jrs. They are just 25c.—Adv.

Herbert Kaufman's

HIS HIDE ON THE DOOR

Daily Editorial

YOUR SON is looking at a cleaner flag this morning.

The dirty spot which the oil scandal left there has disappeared.

For several years, it had been stained with a suspicion that very rich men and very powerful politicians could break laws, breach trusts and escape scot free.

The Elk Hill and Teapot Dome leases put democracy itself on trial.

America was co-defendant with Sinclair, Fall and Doheny, pending proof that national courts and conscience were not toadies of wealth and influence.

If legal quibbles had protected Sinclair and left his defiant jeers ringing through posterity—if the scales of justice had feared to weigh an ex-cabinet member's guilt—if the Supreme court of the United States had hesitated to denounce the evident skullduggery which bestank the naval reserve transactions, tomorrow would have been a fruitful field for cynicism and socialism.

How might one urge his children to vest their faith in the impartiality of our government, or continue to imbue them with patriotic fervors, while they stood witness to the successful corruption of statesmen and the consummated theft of public resources?

A government impotent against private power and its prostituting instrumentalities, cannot command respect of fealty.

A government which does not prosecute haughty and humble criminals with equal severity, soon destroys confidence in its efficiency and integrity.

A GOVERNMENT that permits party expediency to smother administrative treason and stifles the exposure of its own recreant confreres, is unfit to endure.

And the government of these United States faced the alternative of these very imputations, had congress hesitated to probe Fall's dealings with Sinclair and Doheny—if two Republican presidents had not zealously pressed indictment and trial against a former associate and party leader and persisted until a decisive victory was won for right and decency.

Fall is not an individual, so much as a symbol. He represents the false servant—the Judas Iscariot in religion, and the Benedict Arnold in war.

The verdict which brands him with the acceptance of a bribe also attaints the entire group which consciously contributed to the bribery and plotted to profit from his seduction.

Edward H. Doheny must still convince judge and jury that his supposititious "loans" to "an old friend" were not "thirty pieces of silver." And he has only himself to blame if general opinion questions his motives, resents his pose of disinterested patriotism, jeers at his cheep histrionics and relishes the hope of seeing him tarred with the same brush that marks Fall.

That would make the score complete.

With Stewart out of Standard Oil, Blackmer, a man without a country, and O'Neill in exile, the Walsh committee promises to win all down the line. None of 'em got away with it.

The heritage of '76 and the proud memories that wreathe the Washington monument and Lincoln's shrine, remain unblemished.

Whether he is fated to serve time, or live under the stigma of a suspended sentence, is a trivial consideration.

The important fact is that Fall is a declared felon, with his hide nailed on the door of the interior department, to warn corruption away from Washington.

Thank God, for your son's sake.

"He who seeks to profit from the misfortunes of others is anti-Christian."

Business men who forwarded their interests over the ruins of another's business have nothing to be proud of, though we often hear such boasts.

Heroes on the Lakes

THE CAR FERRY MILWAUKEE founders in a storm on Lake Michigan and more than 50 lives are lost; and the tragedy calls attention to one more of those little known trades in which a tradition of heroism and endurance is so much taken for granted that no one ever thinks about it.

One who does not live near the Great Lakes may, to begin with, be slightly puzzled by this story of a shipwrecked car ferry. On the Atlantic and Pacific coasts a car ferry is about as exciting a craft as a mud-scow. It is simply a long, open barge, on which trains are carried across the harbor. But not on Lake Michigan.

Of all the ships that sail that occasionally tempestuous body of water, the car ferry is the one that runs into the most excitement and danger. It is a full sized steamship, in the first place; a high sided craft of steel, with overhanging bows and considerable breadth of beam, quite capable of sailing any sea on the globe.

In the second place, it is about the only lake steamer that follows its schedule all winter.

The regular lake freighters seek snug berths when November comes and lie there until April. The car ferry keeps at it. And of all the jobs calculated to make a sailorman old before his time, cruising about Lake Michigan in the dead of winter is one of the very best.

Lake Michigan's winter storms would do credit to Cape Horn. The lake, more often than not, is jammed full of pack ice. The winds come howling down all the way from Hudson's bay, bringing snow, sleet, fog and other menaces. Trying to bring a ship to harbor at the end of night in a January storm, when the swirling snow makes the lighthouse invisible and an error of 100 yards in direction will put you on a reef, to be battered by 25-foot combers, is no soft task.

But the ferries have a tradition—"damn the weather, the ferries always run"—and they live up to it. Once in a while, in wintertime, a car ferry gets stranded in the ice, miles from shore, and stays there for a few days, or a week, or more; but that's all part of the job. Once in a great while something goes wrong below, as it did with the Milwaukee; one of the freight cars breaks loose and goes rampaging about like a malevolent trip hammer. In that case the sailors are very lucky if they ever see their homes again.

This doesn't happen often, of course. The men who operate the car ferries are real sailors, and they bring their ships through with splendid regularity. But it's no weakling's job.

The world is full of callings like that; callings in which a high tradition demands that danger be ignored and discomfort forgotten. The men who follow them are heroes. But we never notice them—until, once in a while, something like this Lake Michigan tragedy occurs and calls them to our notice.

Place Your Bets at Home

COLLAPSE of stock prices in New York has produced many humanly interesting stories in Wichita Falls, just as it has in the larger operations on Wall street. A Wichita Falls financier commented to The Record News a few days ago of the case of one Wichita Falls man who had been dissuaded from selling a valuable piece of property here to buy stocks on the hunch that a certain issue was "due for a ride upward." He was sharply nipped a short time later in the collapse of prices, but he would have been almost wiped out had he followed his first hunch of disposing of property here to send the money to Wall street.

Another Wichitan, who made a down payment on certain stocks, with the provision that the balance was to be paid by draft with the stock issues attached, lost his down payment but escaped further harm when his stock arrived here in the midst of the market debacle. He simply had the draft refused, took his loss, and felt good that it wasn't more.

These two incidents serve to illustrate the risks that have been taken by small speculators all over the nation in their margin purchases. To The Record News the crash in the stock market has not meant such a disaster, but correctly viewed, has meant that a lot of Wichita Falls money, or such of it that remains, is coming home where it is needed in legitimate business enterprises. Purchase of good stocks for investment purposes, or for the dividends they may yield, is sound business. Only a major economic crisis will prevent the basic industries of this country from paying reasonable dividends to stockholders. This is a quite different matter, however, from the speculation which has set sales records on the New York exchange.

Wichita Falls residents who have a little money to risk would do much better with it if they placed it nearer home. There are many sound business enterprises here, conducted by capable, honest men, that are needing additional capital for legitimate expansion. In a few instances, stock of these firms has been offered to the public, and more of such issues should be taken by the public. If you want to bet on future values, bet on those in Wichita Falls. The prospects here are about as good as those anywhere, the market on the town has been "bearish" for some time, and your money at home will bring many dividends to you and to others in adidtion to the funds you draw on semi-annual statements.

Properly Indexed

ANY DOUBT which citizens in this community may have had as to whether financial participation in the coming campaign of deep oil drilling should be classed as legitimate investment or friendly contribution should be completely dispelled by the act of a score of representative business men who subscribed to $300,000 worth of stock in the corporation Wednesday morning.

From the hour when the project first was launched at a meeting held in September, emphasis has been placed invariably upon the proposition that the exploration of deep oil producing strata believed to exist in this area can be successfully engineered only through the wholehearted cooperation of the entire citizenship of the district concerned. That fact was stressed again in Wednesday morning's meeting. Some may have been inclined, on first thought, to regard the project somewhat in the light of numerous altruistic movements for which "public cooperation and support" are sought.

Practical purchase of one-third of the capital stock in the new corporation by men on whose shoulders will rest the burden of carrying out the drilling campaign definitely classifies the purchase of such stock in any amount as an investment. Men whose business acumen has made them able to invest the amounts represented by Wednesday morning's commitments do not dispense such sums on a contributory basis for unsound promotion. Their action undeniably verifies their confidence in the adopted program, and classifies the purchase of stock definitely as an attractive business venture.

Novelettes

It happened ever so many theatrical seasons ago but it is among the more interesting dramas that they still recite over highballs in the various dimly-lit places. Today he is considered a very expert exploiter for showthings, but in his day he was a first-rate producer.

The renowned actress wife he adored starred in his biggest hit, and after great prosperity here he took the attraction to London. It duplicated its success there until she was rushed by a Lord, who had a way with him.

"I want to marry you," he told her, "but it would never do for me to marry an actress. Will you retire from the stage?" She agreed, and he arranged for a speedy divorce.

The show closed and the newlyweds retreated to the nobleman's grand estate near London.

The next day the producer-husband hired several trucks and loaded them with the show's properties and scenery and delivered them to the man who wrecked his career and happiness.

Dumping the stuff on the Lord's estate he left a note with it, which read: "Here is everything. You took my wife, you may as well take the rest of the show."

One is brunet and the other is blonde. One has beautiful limbs. The other has twigs. One is ravishingly beautiful and the other is better described as being sweet and nice. The sort you enjoy talking with about the more serious things. They met in the chorus of a recently arrived musical show and when they were in Philadelphia they located at The Cushman club, a homey place for girls only, where the cuisine is delicious and reasonable as are the spotlessly clean rooms.

It was in that place one night shortly after the show polished off its rough edges that they decided to be pals, and, among other things promised that neither would go out without the other. It was a form of protection, they figured, against men. And so it transpired that every time one was asked to dine with a John, he was told: "But my pal is lonesome and it would please me so if you would bring her with us."

Men, you know, seldom go gay in a cab when there is a third along. And so they had jolly times and everything was simply "ducky," and they always returned to their room intact.

The ravishingly beautiful blonde contented herself with what she liked to call her "career." And she was always so busy buying knick-knacks and other furnishings for their apartment near Broadway. And because they were getting along so well, the ravishingly beautiful thing tore up her little red address book one night, and when there wasn't a party to join or a night club to go to, she read a book or wrote home to mamma.

Then one afternoon her brunet chum, who never deserted her, said that she had to keep a date with a hairdresser. But it wasn't with a hairdresser. It was with a handsome lad she used to know, who had seen her in the show and sent a note backstage.

That night after the performance she told her little chum to go home; that she would be there shortly after. Instead, she went to the Mayfair at the Ritz and had a delightful time. It was a new thrill for the little brunet who never "got around much." She almost rubbed shoulders or hips while dancing to the contagious music with Marilyn Miller, Adele Astaire, Ona Munson, Judith Anderson, Helen Morgan or this good-looking leading man or that one. Celebrities she called them and "it was so thrilling."

In the meantime her ravishingly gorgeous pal was home in their apartment alone, weary of reading books and the cigarets became tasteless. "Golly," she mused, "she never stayed away so long before. She must be ill somewhere or hurt." During the week the brunet found other excuses so that she could "live," but one dawning in the vestibule of the apartment the boy friend asked her why she never invited him upstairs. "You say," he said, "that you are living with a girl friend, but you make me feel that you are not telling the truth. Is there a husband or another man?"

She wept and told him that she adored him and that she never realized that she could care so much for anyone, but that she couldn't invite him to the apartment, and couldn't tell him why. And so he pouted and told her that it all seemed suspicious and that he did not think he'd see her any more. Then when he left her, she went upstairs to have a long cry.

And told her neglected chum what had happened.

"But why didn't you bring him up?" said the gorgeous blonde. "It would have been all right, my dear."

"It wouldn't have," said the homely one between sobs, "after he had seen you."

Among other revolting melodramas is the one that could be appropriately christened: "All Over a $1.50 Cab Fare." It unfolded itself with terrific rapidity in front of a Harlem night club the other 3 o'clock in the yawning, and when the curtain descended, at least a dozen casualties were jotted down in a policeman's notebook.

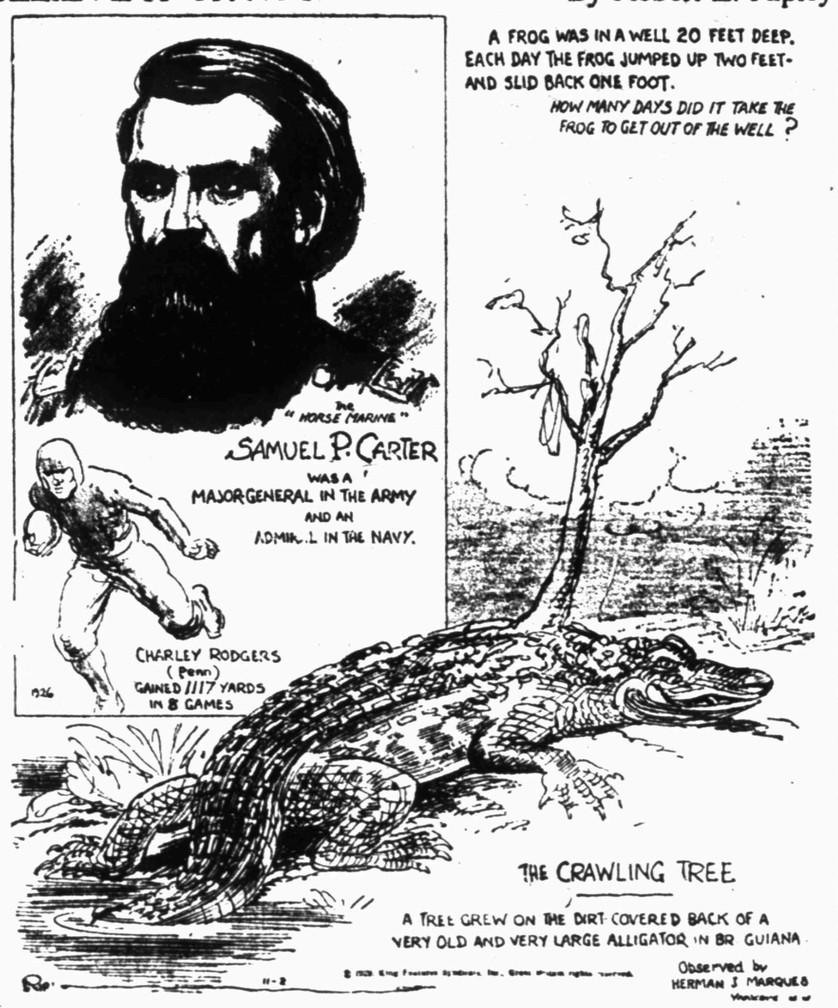

A leading lady of a musical comedy, who had a matinee the next afternoon, excused herself from the party she joined in the gay place, and said: "I don't want anyone to escort me home. I live but a dollar and a half away by the 15 and 5 cab meter, and I've gone home alone before." She was permitted to leave unescorted, and as she left the night club, she approached a cab driven by a white driver, who had just delivered a fare to the location.

The night club is in the colored sector, and the long line of cabs in front of the place features sepia chauffeurs. Naturally, the colored cab caller steered the unescorted woman to one of his clients (who pay a percentage) and the white driver squawked. He was punched in the mouth, and when he picked himself up resumed his place at his wheel.

The other cabmen proceeded to "jam" his car, and during the excitement that followed one of the cabs smashed into a handsome Cadillac. The couple owning the Cadillac were just leaving the same night club and the woman member became furious. She jumped on the cab that rammed her car and began scratching the colored cabbie's face, screaming hysterically. The cabbie left his machine and hit her a terrific wallop on the nose, knocking her unconscious. Another cabman struck her husband a mighty blow, leaving him prone on the pavement. Other colored drivers left their cars to enter the fray and police rushed to the scene, and started banging domes with their sticks, leaving several prostrate in the gutter. Another colored cabbie, trying to get away from the mess, couldn't handle his gears and ran onto the sidewalk, knocking down a young brownskin lass and her escort, both of whom were rushed to a hospital seriously injured.

All over a $1.50 cab fare.

'EASY' The Love Story of a Modern Girl

By BEATRICE BURTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann Marie Macy is the "easy" type of girl who is continually imposed upon. Young and pretty, she dreams of a future as an artist, saving from her earnings by painting cards and working in her father's bookstore. but, as her selfish, flapper sisters, Alice and Jeanie, borrow her dresses for their own ends, so her brother, Howard, borrows her savings. The art course plan is shelved when Ann Marie uses the money in entertaining Howard from an entangling alliance with Leota Ingram, the town's bad girl. Even her mother's pendant is pawned to pay Howard's fare to the West when he loses his bank job. Neal Forsythe, dashing Don Juan, visiting the wealthy Lawlers, wins Ann Marie's heart. Mrs. Lawler forbids her son to further accompany the Macy girls, calling them "night-time friends." Alice evens accounts by getting herself engaged to John Lawler. To celebrate, Johnny, Alice, Ann Marie, Neal, Jeanie and Brookie have a party at a roadhouse. Neal proposes to Ann Marie. Ann Marie goes on a Dutch-treat party with Neal, who forgets to return her change. Instead he steals a coffee pot for her from the roadhouse. He returns to New York and Ann Marie begins to save to join him there. Late at night she is aroused by a noise outside her door. It is Howard, her brother, who has returned with a wife.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXVII

After a minute or two Ann Marie knocked on the door again.

There was another long wait. Then the door was thrown open and Neal stood there in the light of the room behind him.

"It's Ann Marie," he said, as if he couldn't believe what he was saying. "Why, where did you drop from? You were going to call me up."

He came out into the hall and closed the door behind him, holding the knob in his hand.

"I decided to come to see you, instead of telephoning," said Ann Marie breathlessly. "Aren't you glad to see me?" Her own gladness trembled in her voice.

"Of course I am, but you should have telephoned," he answered.

But he did not look particularly pleased.

He seemed to be nervous and ill at ease, frowning down at her as he talked.

"Look here," he said. "I've some people in the studio and I can't ask you in. But—"

He took out his watch and looked at it. "Let's see, it's almost 6 o'clock," he went on, slipping the watch back into his trousers pocket. "Suppose I meet you somewhere in an hour and we'll have dinner together. How does that strike you?"

Ann Marie laughed and shook her head. "You think I've come here just for a visit, don't you?" she asked him, "but I've come to—stay. My trunk and my bags are down in the vestibule of this building this very minute."

Neal gave a start and his frown deepened.

"They are!" he exclaimed. "Well, this is a fine way of doing business, Ann Marie. You should have let me know you were coming. You should have telephoned me. Now, what are you going to do with your trunks at this time of night? Where are you going to sleep?"

"It's only one trunk," said Ann Marie shakily. "I hadn't made any plans for the night, but when I saw that there were studio apartments in this building I thought maybe I could rent one—if they weren't too expensive. Neal, you aren't a bit glad to see me, are you?"

"Oh, sure I am." But he sounded as if he were annoyed still.

Then, after a second or two, he came close to her and tilted her face up to his. She saw that he had begun to laugh.

"You crazy kid!" he said, speaking to her as if she were a bad but fascinating child. He kissed her.

And at his touch all of Ann Marie's doubts and anxieties melted away into nothing, as they always did when he made lover to her. . . .

She was positive that he did care for her after all, and that he was a little bit glad that she was here, and that he had not been trying to break their engagement when he telephoned to her the day before.

"Jeanie thought you were trying to ditch me," she said, dreamily, "after you called me up yesterday."

"And so you thought you'd come and find out," Neal said, "didn't you?"

She shook her head. "No, I never doubted you really for a second. I came because I wanted to be near you and look after you. A man can't take care of himself properly. And then, I've always wanted to be here to study painting and drawing. For years I've been promising myself this."

"Well, now you have it, haven't you?" the man asked. "You're here and we'll have to find a place for you, won't we? We'll go down and see the janitor of the building. He can show us the empty studios."

They started down the stairs, their arms around each other, locked closer at every step.

At the bottom of the light Neal turned and glanced uneasily at his closed door on the landing above.

"Wait a jiffy. I'll tell those people to clear out," he said, and ran up the stairs.

Ann Marie watched him until he disappeared. After a minute or two the door opened and he came running down to her again, looking much more cheerful than she had seen him that day.

He had put on a coat over his shirt with its open collar, and his hair, which had been rumpled, was smooth and wet from brushing.

"Gosh, I didn't know how much I wanted you," he said, and kissed her once more.

"I know you didn't," thought Ann Marie. "That's why I came."

A short flight of steps led from the vestibule to the janitor's suite in the basement.

The janitor himself, a short, red-headed man in blue overalls, was sitting in his little dark kitchen, reading a paper and smoking a clay pipe.

"Sure, the studio on the same floor as yours is for rent, Mr. Forsythe," he said to Neal. "It rents for $60 amonth, the same as yours."

"Sixty dollars a month!"

Ann Marie's heart took a plunge. Sixty dollars a month! . . . Why, that was highway robbery, she thought.

"It's dirt cheap," Neal was saying. "Let's take a look at it, Ann Marie."

The janitor took his bunch of keys from a nail on the kitchen wall, and the three of them started up the steps.

Ann Marie went first.

"You may as well bring up my baggage," she said when they reached the vestibule. "I know I'm going to take that flat, and so—"

The words died in her throat.

A girl was just opening the door that led out into the street. A girl with red gold hair that glinted like burnished brass under her cheap, black straw hat—Leota Ingram!

Some sixth sense—the intuition of a woman who is in love—told Ann Marie that Leota had just left Neal's flat on the top floor. She knew it just as she knew that two and two make four, and that Monday comes after Sunday.

"Oh!" she said. It was a small, unhappy sound.

She turned to look at Neal. His face was a dull red, and it wore the guilty, silly look of a boy who has been caught stealing jam.

"Wait a minute!" she said sharply to the janitor, who was lifting her trunk, "Please set that down. I just wonder if I want that flat after all—" She felt as if she were going to burst into tears, and there was a sick, trembling feeling in the pit of her stomach.

"Sure, she wants it! Don't put that trunk down—take it upstairs," Neal said to the man, and held the vestibule door open for him.

In silence he and Ann Marie followed the janitor up to the top floor.

Ann Marie had always known that artists owned studios and did their work in them.

But she had never seen a studio-apartment in all her life.

She looked around the one that was for rent with wide and curious eyes.

There was a huge window at either end of it, and in front of them there ran a long window seat covered with a dark red cushion.

The carpet was gray and worn in spots. The furniture looked cheap, and the mirror above a little table was dim and spotted.

Beyond the big room was a tiny dressing closet with a day bed in it. Hidden behind a tall screen was a kitchen table.

"We'll take it," said Ann Marie, opening her little handbag.

"It would have been the loveliest place in the world to me — if I hadn't seen that Leota girl," she said in her straightforward way the minute the door had closed upon the janitor. "Neal, why did you lie to me that day when I asked you if you knew her?"

"That day? I don't know what you're talking about," he answered roughly. "I told you that girl knew where I was in this town—"

"You told me you wouldn't know her if you met her on the street," Ann Marie interrupted. "And then I come here—to be with you because I'm so crazy about you—and I find her here. That common, ordinary, good-for-nothing girl. Why, none of the decent fellows back home will even look at her."

She looked around at the big, bright room. How she had dreamed of having a studio in New York! How she had looked forward to the time when she could come here to study and work. And later on, how she had longed to be here with Neal!

Well, she was here. But all the joy of being here was gone. All her happiness had been crushed into nothing by the sight of Leota's red hair, and her shining, gray-green eyes that seemed always to be on the lookout for some man or other. Leota! . . . Leota and Neal!

"You've been seeing her all along," she said dully. "She told me the truth when she said you had promised to find a job for her here, didn't she?"

Neal made an angry movement with his head. "Oh, stop heckling me, for the love of Mike," he begged her in his nervous, irritable way. "Suppose I did promise to get a job for her. Suppose I gave her a job myself posing for some pictures I am doing, what of it? Whose business is it? She's a good-looking girl, and that's all she is. To me, at least. So shut up about her."

Ann Marie stared at him. She had heard Howdy talk like this dozens and dozens of times, but she had never dreamed that Neal could speak to her as he was speaking to her. That he could look at her in that ugly, angry way!

"I will shut up," she said quietly. "And you please go back to your own flat." She set her lips. Her eyes were bright with anger.

Neal started for the door. Then suddenly he turned and came back to her.

"Ann Marie, don't be like this," he said, and put his arms around her. "I did tell that girl I'd find a job for her, posing, if I could. I was a fool to lie to you about it. But I was afraid you couldn't understand—" He kissed her.

"That's all she is to me. A girl who has a pretty face," he went on after a minute or two still holding Ann Marie in his arms. "I've been trying to do a picture of a girl for a magazine cover—that is, I thought maybe some magazine would buy a picture from me, and Leota has been posing for me. Please believe me. Please do. I'm telling you the truth."

And he held up his right hand as people do when they are swearing to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Long afterward Ann Marie remembered how he had held up his hand when he told her that.

She believed him now.

"I'm a silly, jealous, little fool, I guess," she said.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Mr. Twitchell Makes a Report on Football Evils

With all due apologies to the report made by the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching and its verdict of overemphasis, commercialism and the subsidizing of college football players, Elmer Twitchell today announced he had completed an investigation into conditions governing public attendance at football games to clear up the following points:

PHILLIPS

1.—Do football fans overemphasize the game?

2.—Where are all those pretty girls dug up, and are there any phases of this search which should be remedied or extended?

3.—Does the fur trade subsidize boys to wear oversized raccoon coats?

4.—Do the various medical associations of America pay the colleges vast sums every year to have the big games played in cold weather and the stadia so constructed as to be extremely drafty?

5.—Are the traffic arrangements made by the local police chiefs on the days of major games the result of a subsidy from the American puzzle manufacturers?

"Everything that is wrong with football can be traced to the fans," his report states. "As long as men, women and children are willing to make an all-day trip, rain or shine, eating nothing but sandwiches and hot dogs on the way, in order to sit on stone slabs in a wintry gale and pay $5 to watch a contest they do not understand, the game and the conditions surrounding it will never be improved."

His conclusions on other phases follow:

The Pretty Girl Situation

"Sixty-two per cent of the best looking girls in America are in football stadia Saturday afternoons. Is this right? Is it fair to denude the surrounding countryside of pretty creatures and force the non-football going classes to get along with the kind of girls you wouldn't look at twice? An investigation covering seven years shows conclusively that 37 colleges keep exhaustive data on good looking girls and that whenever reports are received of girls who give promise of becoming good looking they are approached with the idea of attending the big games. Yale, Harvard and Princeton are particularly active, as each is determined to have the best lookers at its home game. Cases have been found where particularly handsome girls were given pennants, souvenir programs, chicken pies and sterling silver flasks (filled) to attend a big game. Only one college in the East was found where the authorities didn't give a whoop whether the girls attending the games were good looking or not.

Fur Trade Subsidies

"There is ample evidence that the fur trade pays plenty to perpetuate the raccoon coat as a football institution. It is a well known fact that a good heavy woolen overcoat, a windbreaker or a piece of newspaper under the vest would do just as well, yet 78 per cent of the boys attending football games appear in raccoon coats which do not even fit them. There's something wrong somewhere."

Medical Associations and Cold Seats

"Stadiums don't all have to be built on windswept hills, do they? Very well then."

Traffic Plans, Misleading Signs

"It is obvious to anybody who has ever motored to a football game that there must be some reason for all the bad handling of traffic. Without a vast expenditure of effort no such confusion would be possible. It might be impossible to locate parking spaces so far from the stadia and assign such roundabout routes without a deliberate effort. It is my conclusion that in 32 university towns the police are bribed to create chaos, in 36 the confusion is due to drunken sign painters, and in 12 other towns nobody seems to care."

"All in all," concludes the Twitchell report, "the situation is pretty terrible and steadily growing worse. I recommend as a solution an immediate return to amateur tennis."

Huh?

"Says Stock Slump Is Only Temporary"—headline. "I knew," said the man who had been waiting for a rally for seven weeks, "that it wouldn't be permanent."

CHEST FUND HITS $54,000

Volunteer Subscribers Aid Welfare Work

A total of $54,033.94 and indications of a number of late contributions yet to come in combined to give an optimistic note to the community chest campaign Thursday night, according to A. E. Kelly, campaign director.

Thirteen firms not yet reported in the 100 per cent list who had turned in a full quota of contributions were: Hamilton-Davidson Motor company, Northside Lumber company, Moore and Richolt Lumber company, Taylor Wheel and Body Works, Auto Spring company, Gessner Grocery company, C. D. Shamburger Lumber company, Railway Express Agency, Inc., City Laundry, Lehrack employes, Coca Cola plant and city park department.

A number of people who were missed by solicitors have come by the chest headquarters on the lower floor of the Hamilton building during the past few days to leave their contributions, and it is asked that others do this during the remainder of the week.

World's Greatest Need Is Religion Of Christ, Evangelist Says Here

"Not the need of millions of persons in Russia, China and India for bread, but the dire need of multiple millions the world over for the redeeming spirit of Jesus Christ constitutes the world's greatest need today," declared Dr. J. L. Finnell of Fort Worth Thursday night in the second service of a nine-day revival meeting now in progress at the First Christian church.

Speaking from the text, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto Myself," Doctor Finnell emphasized throughout his sermon the great need for a united front on the part of "all churches which serve the cause of Christ." Church unity will come, and must come, he declared, for the same reasons that we have unified organizations for fire control and the education of our children.

Among the detailed evidence of closer approach to common ground among Protestant denominations, the speaker referred to steps now being taken toward the consolidation of the Northern Baptist church with the Christian church organization, and described a recent case of denominational cooperation in a Missouri town. A Methodist pastor, wearing a baptismal suit borrowed from the Baptist minister, baptized a Presbyterian church member in the Christian church baptistry.

"We have little conception of the present appalling conditions in Russia," the speaker said. "Authenticated reports reveal the fact that 50,000 die daily from starvation; more than 8,000,900 have perished for want of food, and at least 15,000,000 more will starve unless saved by private aid. It is now an admitted fact that children are consuming their smaller mates in Russia, and that mothers slay their young in some cases, unable longer to bear the pitiable cries for food. India and China present situations almost as bad."

Such economic conditions are symptoms, and results, of a deeper, more fundamental need, according to Doctor Finnell. When the spirit of unselfish service which Christ personified becomes uppermost in human life, he said, the distress now caused by unequal distribution of food will be taken care of.

Doctor Finnell, who is pastor of the Magnolia Avenue Christian church of Fort Worth, is being assisted in the meetings here by Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor of the local congregation. He announced his subject for Friday night as "The World's Greatest Fraternity." Meetings open at 7:30 p. m. and will be continued daily through Nov. 8.

A 30-minute song service, conducted by R. E. Shepherd, precedes the sermon each evening. Mr. Shepherd sang, "A Little Bit of Love," with Mrs. Shepherd accompanying, at Thursday night's service. Mrs. R. E. Strange is serving as organist for a large adult choir.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug store. Renfro Drug Co.—Adv.

Cantwell Speaker At Teacher Meet

Progress in the scientific study of education has reached the stage where the schools are developed so much as to overreach the desires of the common citizenship in matters of education and where there is a real danger of harmful reaction through sheer lack of acquaintance on the part of the people with the purposes of all new ideas in education, declared Dr. J. W. Cantwell in an address which served as the principal feature of the first meeting of the year for the Wichita Falls Teachers association, held Thursday afternoon at Reagan high school auditorium.

Roy J. Daniel, newly elected executive of the teachers, presided over his first meeting.

B. T. Adams, chairman of the board of trustees of the new enterprise, presented the outline for the plan of teacher health and accident insurance now being developed in Wichita Falls on lines similar to practices in Dallas and other Texas cities. It was announced that the minimum quota of 150 teachers to put the plan in force Nov. 2 had almost been reached and that the plan would then go into effect. Teachers are to be insured against illness when such becomes of longer duration than the five days allowed by the board of education.

Miss Chella Hendrick, chairman of the resolutions committee, presented a set of memorial resolutions in honor of Miss Verna Sellers, college teacher and member of the association recently called by death.

BEER SEIZED

A man and a woman were arrested and 40 bottles of beer were seized by police Thursday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock in a raid on a house on Lake street. The pair were lodged in the city jail pending investigation Friday, officers said. The raid was made by City Detectives F. E. Summers and A. L. Stubblefield.

BORGER SLAYER SENT TO PEN

New Regime Gets First Murder Conviction

STINNETT, Texas, Oct. 31. (AP)—The first murder conviction in Hutchinson county's new regime was returned by a jury here late today which sentenced W. C. Alsbrook to 15 years' imprisonment for the murder of Melvin T. Hotchkiss in Borger last Sept. 15.

The jury returned the verdict for Hutchinson's militant new district attorney, Clem Calhoun, a leading figure in the sensational cleanup of Borger, oil boom town, and Hutchinson county, in the past few weeks.

Alsbrook's conviction was the second murder conviction secured in the three and one-half years the Borger oil fields have been opened. During that period, more than two score murders were committed.

While a defense attorney said Alsbrook would appeal, it was reported the convicted man had asked Sheriff Moore if the sheriff personally would conduct him to Huntsville prison.

Spooks Roam On Wichita Streets

Hargrave-Walker hospital in a Merkle ambulance. Physicians stated he had suffered no fractured bones but was badly bruised and cut. He was reported resting well at a late hour Thursday night. The huge concrete block could easily have crushed his skull had it fallen a few inches to the left, observers said.

Police were kept busy until early hours of Friday morning answering calls to houses where Halloween pranksters were disturbing the peace or damaging property. One man, appearing to be about 40 years of age, was arrested by officers after he was said to have administered a sound whipping to a boy who was one of a crowd which had been, it was claimed, pounding on his house with sticks and boards and creating a disturbance in the neighborhood.

Police were called while he was allegedly beating the youngster because the boys refused to leave the premises. He was held for a short while but was released after questioning.

Traffic police were kept busy on the downtown streets until a late hour directing the heavy traffic which poured into the business districts from all sides. At times automobiles were tied up for three and four blocks, the shrill sound of police whistles mingling with the honks of automobile horns and noise makers and the babble of hundreds of costumed and masked celebrants.

Cases of drunkenness appeared lacking on the police register, only two such charges having been entered on the book, a smaller number even than on an average night, police said. Other arrests were for the usual infractions of the law, none having resulted from celebration of the Halloween season. Police calls, which came in almost at the rate of one every two minutes, were largely futile, the officers finding only the results of some Halloween prank when they reached the addresses given.

Crowds of boys roamed the residential section of the city and many a telephone pole was decorated with this or that loose object. Roofs in many localities were topped with empty boxes, chairs, old tires or odd bits of rubbish. Many yards were strewn with sticks, stones and all kinds of trash. The downtown streets were almost covered with confetti, bits of paper and torn newspapers.

Eczema Sufferers Now Get Relief

Belgian Specialist Recommends Famous American Antiseptic

"My son, now studying in a Belgian university, wrote telling me how happy he was in at last getting relief from his skin troubles. D. D. D. recommended by a famous Belgian specialist healed him. Could this be the same D. D. D. sold in America? I heard that it was. Having suffered from the same skin tortures as my son, I, too, tried D. D. D. Now, after years of agony I have at last found relief." D. D. D. is the same the world over, the prescription of Dr. D. D. Dennis. Chafed skin, eczema, rash, and other skin troubles quickly yield to D. D. D. This pure, cooling liquid quickly penetrates the skin, soothing and healing the irritated tissues. Stops itching instantly. Clear, greaseless and stainless, dries up almost immediately. Try D. D. D. today. A 25c bottle will prove the merits of this famous antiseptic, or money back. At all drug stores.—Adv.

MAN HELD IN ELECTRA THEFT

Second Arrest Made in Raid On Clothing Store

A prisoner believed to be the second man involved in the theft of more than $1,000 worth of goods from the Loma Walker shop at Electra several months ago is being held for identification in the county jail at Tyler, according to information given Thursday evening by Sheriff W. G. Bralley after a day spent in completing investigations at Electra.

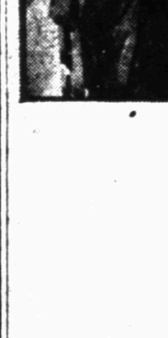

Earl Freeman, alias Earl Franks, is under indictment here in connection with the loss. The second prisoner is thought to be the man who spent the night with Franks in a hotel room immediately above the ready-to-wear shop on the night of the burglary. Mr. Bralley said Thursday evening that the identification will be completed in the near future. Meanwhile the prisoner will be kept in custody at Tyler where he is charged with a similar offense. Around 300 silk dresses and as many pairs of hose were taken from the shop.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, fervishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kindeys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

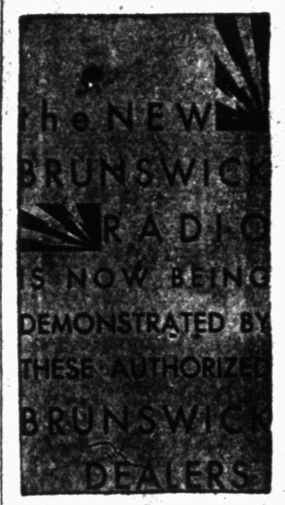

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

Chinese President Leaves for War Zone

LONDON, Oct. 31. (US)—Chiang Kai-Shek, nationalist president of China, today left Hankow by railway to take over the command of federal troops facing the revolting General Feng Yu-Hsiang, according to dispatches from Hankow.

Chiang arrived at Hankow last night, and after being informed that government forces had sustained serious reverses west of Suchow, immediately prepared to entrain for the front.

LOBBY PROBE REVEALS PLOT

Creager Joined in Move to Scalp Garner

ciations to influence the course of federal legislation.

When they finished with Kirby, the committee turned to J. A. Arnold to complete the picture. Arnold was on the stand at adjournment and will return tomorrow.

The story they unfolded, aided materially by documents produced by the committee, was one of the most amazing tales of wholesale lobbying ever uncovered by a congressional committee.

Four Organizations

Kirby and Arnold, it seems, have an interest in four different organizations, all of which apparently are operated out of the same suite of offices in Washington. Two of these organizations have a combined income running from $200,000 to $300,000 a year.

Thus Kirby is president and Arnold vice president and manager of the Southern Tariff association. Arnold is also manager of the American Taxpayers league, operating both at the same time.

Kirby is president of the National Council of State Legislatures and Arnold is his "voluntary helper." The other organization in which they have an interest is the conference of Southern Commissioners of Agriculture.

Kirby Quarrels

One of their able feminine helpers, Mrs. Ida Darden, of Fort Worth, Texas, drwe over $20,000 last year for her work with the tariff association and the taxpayers league.

Throughout his testimony, Kirby quarreled constantly with the committee as it tried to unravel the connections between these various lobbies.

Senator Blaine, Republican of Wisconsin, charged Kirby with withholding information. Kirby countered that Blane was trying to confuse his testimony.

Senator Caraway asked Kirby if his association paid the expenses of the meeting here yesterday of the secretaries of the chambers of commerce. The witness replied, "Not all of them."

Caraway charged that Arnold asked this gathering to meet here before Kirby went on the stand and then perhaps the committee might be less "vicious" with him.

Correspondence Shown

When Kirby, a Democrat, denied knowledge of Arnold's dealing with Creager, Caraway produced the correspondence. Creager wrote Arnold on the stationery of the Republican national committee, on Aug. 19 as follows:

"As you know, our fixed policy in this state during the approximately eight years, I have been in a position of influence with the Republican organization has been to split the Democratic party and have a coalition with one or the other factions.

"Mr. Belcher was down and spent a couple of days in the valley with us. I entertained him here and we had a little luncheon up at San Bernite. I am favorably impressed by him, and I think he could make it rather warm for Garner in this district if he would run on the Republican ticket. However, we would absolutely have to change his residence and come within the district. This seems to be the difficulty."

In reply, Arnold wrote to Creager in June:

"I talked with C. C. Belcher of Del Rio, and Mr. Frank Landrum, of Uvalde, concerning affairs in the Rio Grande valley congressional district. They just left the office, returning to Texas.

"Mr. Belcher seems willing to make the race, but he expresses some uneasiness over the position of the Republican organization, national, state and local, whether it might not be more profitable for the party to trade the district off than to make a winning fight. If he goes into it, he wants to go into it to win."

Kirby insisted that he knew nothing of this correspondence and that Arnold had no authority to represent the tariff association in the matter.

Grandfield Girl Named Carnival Queen

Miss Lois Patterson of Grandfield, Okla., city editor of the Grandfield Enterprise and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Patterson, was announced as queen of the Cotton Carnival at Frederick, Okla., Thursday night. The queen had been selected Wednesday night, but the result of the judges had been withheld. All surrounding towns had entries in the contest. Miss Patterson represented Grandfield at the Texas-Oklahoma fair at Wichita Falls two years ago.

Nervous Headaches Yield to Capudine

Overtaxed nerves cause nearly all headaches as well as other pains, such as pains in the back and sides, women's pains, and neuralgic and rheumatic pains. To relieve headaches and other nerve pains and to soothe the tense nerves nothing gives such quick results and such delightful comfort as Capudine. Being liquid, Capudine acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. It contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach.

For over 30 years Capudine has proven a joy and comfort to millions who have suffered from headaches, nervousness and other nerve pains. At drug stores; 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

Judges in the contest were State Senator Jim Nance of Walters, W. L. Loftland of Vernon, and J. M. Clark.

Style Show Held

The announcement of the identity of the queen was the feature of the program tonight. A style show was held in which most of the dresses were made of cotton, and a varied program of musical selections and addresses was given.

Thursday noon the candidates for queen and their sponsors were guests at a luncheon given by the Frederick Lions' club. The luncheon was held at the Methodist church.

The cotton carnival, which has attracted hundreds of people here, is to end Friday.

October Temperatures Lower Than In '28, Despite Absence of Norther

Despite the delayed arrival of the norther predicted for the Wichita Falls territory before Nov. 1, the temperatures during the past month of October have been considerably lower than those of the same month last year, according to the monthly report issued Thursday by the Texas Electric Service company weather bureau.

A maximum of 91 degrees was recorded early last month in comparison with a monthly maximum of 100 degrees recorded on Oct. 1, 1928, while the minimum for the past month was 35 degrees compared with a 42-degree minimum for the same month last year, the report indicated. With the close of October, 1928, there were no indications of an approaching cold wave, but during the last few days of the past month a norther has appeared imminent. The months were almost identical in precipitation and in the number of clear, cloudy and partly cloudy days as well as in the absence of snow, sleet, hail and frost.

Two Aviators Killed In California Crash

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 31. (UP) Wilson Clark and Gordon Goodman, licensed fliers, were killed late today when a monoplane they had borrowed without authorization went into a tailspin and crashed 800 feet to Camp Kearney mesa.

The ship was said to have belonged to a student at the Airtech School of Aviation, who did not know that Clark had taken it into the air. The plane was demolished.

Prof. Robert McKinnon of Harvard university is spending a year in the remote Sussana district of Alaska studying Tinnes, or Athabascan, Indians.

Electra Oil Field Workers Union Meets

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Electra Oil Field Workers Union No. 156 met Tuesday night at the I. O. O. F. hall with the president, W. P. McCarty, in charge of the meeting. About 50 men were present at the meeting. One new member, J. E. Kolburn, was initiated.

Announcement was made in regard to the American Federation of Labor convention to be held Nov. 18. Frank Merris of Washington, D. C., secretary of the convention, in a letter to the union urged that their head representative be present at the meeting as all the main leaders of all the unions would be there and the ways and means would be provided to organize a union in every oil field in the United States.

J. M. McCarty was in charge of the entertainment and presented several local Electra boys in musical scores. It was voted at this meeting to have some form of entertainment at every meeting.

Four Arrested for Raids On "Five and Ten" Stores

Five and 10 cent stores in Wichita Falls appeared to be favorite spots for petty thieves Thursday when police arrested four persons for stealing trinkets from the Woolworth and Kress stores on Indiana avenue.

Two negro women were jailed about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon after officers had arrested them at the Woolworth store with lipstick and several other small objects which they had picked up from the counters.

Two small boys were arrested at the Kress store about 15 minutes after the first arrest when employees of the store saw them take a knife, a pair of dice and several other trinkets from the counters. They were released after police had taken their names and addresses and had obtained a promise from them never to steal again.

Reformation Sermon of Pastor Tells of Resurrection of Church

Reformation rites for members of the Trinity Lutheran church, Fourteenth and Bluff streets, was observed Thursday evening at 8 o'clock with Rev. A. H. Muehlbrad, pastor, discussing "The Wreck and Resurrection of the First Apostolic Church."

"Out of every 100 people, 99 think that Oct. 31 is noted only as the day of Halloween," the pastor said. "But for every Protestant the Oct. 31 has a greater meaning. It means the re-establishing, the resurrection of the Christian church.

"The Apostles built the first Apostolic church on the truth confessed by Peter: 'Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.' They received the assurance as long as this truth was upheld. 'The gates of hell shall not prevail against it.' The greatest question of religion is: 'How is man saved?' This question was asked by Cain, by the rich young ruler, by the jailer, and is asked today by many. The Bible teaches, man is saved by grace alone through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. The world recogizing the church as her greatest enemy tried to take this truth from her. By filling the leaders of the church with selfishness and greed she succeeded. The main doctrine of the Bible: 'The just shall live by faith,' was changed into man is saved by his own good deeds. That was the wreck of the first Apostolic church," Muehlbrad said.

"On the 31 of October, 1517, Luther, yet unconscious of the fact that he should be the reformer, nailed 95 thesis to the door of the Castle church of Wittenberg. This was, however, only the beginning of the resurrection."

In conclusion Reverend Muehlbrad said: "Though outwardly the Protestant church, seemingly, is in no great danger of losing the truth of the Reformation, 'Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.' The church has the Bible. More Bibles are bought, sold and distributed today than during any other period. But inwardly the church will go to the rocks if she will not come back to the Rock of Ages. Too many are seeking their salvation through their own good deeds, their sums of money, charity, brotherly love, tea parties, sewing circles, and secret societies. Others think their salvation is sure if they attend church, or if they call themselves Christians. I do not care who or what you are, how many Bibles you have, how much you give to the church or charity, how often you attend services, if you do not possess the treasure of the reformation, 'By grace alone through faith in Jesus Christ,' and if you do not practice that faith, all else is of no avail'."

Wichitan Fined $10 and Costs for Selling Lake Fish

Wichita Falls fishermen were reminded Thursday that the fish and game laws forbid the sale of perch, crappie, catfish and bass from Lake Kemp or Lake Wichita, when a would-be monger at Lake Wichita paid a fine of $10 and costs in the justice court here. The complaint was filed by Deputy Game Warden Jack Cage, and the defendant entered a plea of guilty before R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace. The sale admitted by the defendant took place at Lake Wichita. The evidence did not show whether the purchaser was seeking a ready-made string to take home after a luckless day.

HAMILTON WEEPS AS BAYLOR PRESIDENT LAUDS DEFENDANT

WITNESSES TO SHOOTING TALK

Stenographer and Caller at Office Testify

it. But both said they heard it and that they witnessed a grapple between the two men that ended in Tom Walton's death.

There arose in the minds of listeners a speculation as to what that single utterance might have been. But whether it was something that provoked the struggle that resulted in the shooting, or was the word of the aggressor, whoever he was, remained a mystery.

State Hammers Away

State's attorneys even challenged the state that anything was said, still building up a theory of deliberate murder. They demanded to know of J. W. Burks, one of those who said he heard it, what it was, and if he didn't know, how did he know anything at all was said.

It was even considered possible that the word may be a pivot in the defense, it being apparent that defense attorneys wanted to get testimony into the record that something was said, and perhaps for the purposes of attributing it to Walton.

Their memories of the tragic incident made vague by the excitement it caused them, neither Burks nor Miss Hendricks could say whether Tom Walton ever had his hand on the .44 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver by which he died, or whether it was he or the judge who was the aggressor in the struggle that preceded the shooting.

Spectators Thrilled

Their testimony required most of the highly theatrical afternoon which kept spectators bending forward in their seats, and occasioned many lively tilts between attorneys.

One dramatic moment after another worked interest to a high pitch, and Judge Hamilton's fight for his life was not without emotion that finally overcame him.

Eyes fixed on the witness chair where Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, was giving testimony to the good character of the defendant once were turned to Judge Hamilton himself at the counsel table, for tears streamed down his cheeks as his young manhood was recalled by his former professor.

Notables Testify

Friends from all over Texas—men in high positions—came to the aid of the jurist whose life is at stake. All of them testified that he was of good character.

But against the mountain-high offering of character testimony, the state spread out the broken blossoms of young Walton's romance with Theresa Hamilton, which ended tragically in his father-in-law's office on that morning last May 4.

Intent on having Walton's handwriting sufficiently identified, the defense also used as witnesses D. R. Chambers, faculty member at Oregon A. & M. college, and an instructor at the Universti yof Texas last spring; Miss Dorothy Carrington, assistant to the registrar at the university, and William D. Newman, manager of a rent-a-car station at Austin. All said they were familiar with Walton's handwriting and identified it on the exhibits.

A photograph of Tom Walton was then offered and Newman identified it.

Character Witnesses

More character witnesses were put on as the day closed. Among them were Walter A. Keeling, Austin, former attorney general; Alex Pope, Dallas attorney; Douglas Johnson, vice president of the federal land bank at Houston; O. L. Albritton, Corsicana, land dealer, and former County School Supt. J. W. Hudington, Amarillo.

Court recessed at 4:50 p. m. until 9 a. m. Friday.

Miss Hendricks declared she was at her desk when Walton entered. A few seconds later, she declared, Hamilton stepped into the reception room from his adjoining office with "the gun in his hand." There was a scuffle, several shots, and Walton fell to the floor. Miss Hendricks, somewhat confused on the stand, said she did not remember everything that happened because she was nervous and excited.

Burks, however, had a clearer memory. He described the position in which the men were standing when each of the five shots was fired. He slapped his hands to indicate the rapidity with which they were fired. It took him 12 seconds. Burks said Hamilton had his back to a bookcase when a bullet plugged into it, breaking the glass.

Didn't See Pistol

At no time Burks declared, did he see the .44 caliber revolver with which Walton was killed. The state was balked in every effort to get him to say Hamilton had the gun.

Tears rolled down Hamilton's face while Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor universtiy, Baptist institution, was on the stand. Doctor Brooks declared Hamilton's reputation while he was a student at Baylor, and later while a professor, wa sgood. Hamilton covered his eyes with his hand and E. A. Simpson leaned forward and put his hand on Hamilton's shoulder, asking a question.

"Oh, I'm all right," Hamilton replied.

As Doctor Brooks left the stand Hamilton wiped the tears from his eyes.

When Miss Hendricks was testifying Hamilton seemed restless, but listened attentively.

Scuffle Described

Miss Hendricks declared that after Walton entered the office and asked for Hamilton the lawyer came out of his office, the gun in his hand, there was a scuffle, several shots.

"Did you see Walton make a move of any sort before the first shot was fired?" she was asked.

"No, sir, I didn't."

"Who fired that shot?"

"I don't know."

"Well, who had the gun?"

"Judge Hamilton."

"Did you ever see Walton with the gun?"

"I don't believe I did."

Burks Better Witness

Burks' description of the shooting was more complete. He said he was in Hamilton's office when Hendricks entered, saying:

"Judge, there is a young man to see you."

Hamilton walked toward the reception room and the witness said he heard a voice but could not distinguish the word or words.

Then, he declared, he heard scuffling and a shot, almost simultaneously. He jumped up and went toward the door in time to see the men scuffle and heard the second shot. Burks insisted that after Walton fell to the floor no more shots were fired. Hamilton, he declared, walked back into his office with a pistol in his hand, put it into a desk drawer and said: "Mr. Burks, I hated to have to do that but I had to save my own life."

Burks denied he heard any one say, after the first shot was fired: "Oh, oh, don't do that," as Mrs. Loraine Hill, elevator operator and state witness, had testified.

Didn't See Pistol

The state attempted to establish that Hamilton had the pistol in his hand as he walked into the reception room, but Burks insisted he did not see the pistol. In Hamilton's hands before or during the scuffle. He did not see the weapon, he declared, until Hamilton walked back into his own office after the shooting.

State counsel also attacked Burks' credibility, using a statement he made to the grand jury as a basis for that attack. Burks contended that he did not write or read the statement but that it was written and read to him by District Attorney Thomerson.

Burks was on the stand nearly two hours.

As the story of the shooting was being told by the eye witnesses, a horseshoe game continued, uninterrupted, just outside the courthouse. Less than two blocks away the Parker county fair, which opened yesterday, was almost deserted until court recessed shortly before 5 p. m.

Mrs. Hamilton on Stand

Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the accused man, took the stand for a few minutes to identify letters which she sent to her husband while she was in Austin with Theresa, then ill in a hospital. In most of the letters she enclosed another which several of Walton's instructors at the University of Texas, where he was a student when he married Theresa, identified as being in Walton's handwriting. One typewritten, they said had his signature at the end.

Nine more character witnesses testified, bringing the total of that class of witnesses to 29.

Miss Hendricks said she had not known Walton before the shooting, but that she saw him when he came to the office. She was at her typewriter when he appeared.

Although she told Walton "good morning," he said nothing except to ask for Hamilton. At that moment her father entered, Miss Hendricks said.

Then Hendricks left, Hamilton entered and he and Walton were standing there.

"I heard some shots, and they were there wrestling and scrapping," she declared.

She said she did not leave the room.

Objection by State

C. B. Reeder had difficulty getting Miss Hendricks to say the defendant and Walton were "grappling," and the state objected.

"They were going around," she would say.

"Were they facing each other?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did they have hold of each other?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now, just tell the jury what happened."

"When I looked up I saw Judge Hamilton standing there with his gun in his hand, and then they began going around and grappling. Then there were some shots. That is all I know."

That ended her direct testimony.

"Did Walton and Hamilton have their hands on each other when the gun was fired?" the district attorney asked on cross-examination.

"Yes, sir, I think so."

"You don't remember having heard either one say anything?"

"Not that I remember."

Saw Hamilton With Gun

"And you saw Judge Hamilton standing there with a gun in his hand?"

"Yes, sir."

"You didn't see Walton make a movement of any kind until you looked up and they were grappling?"

"That is right."

District Attorney Thomerson, standing up with County Attorney V. P. Craven, attempted to get the witness to show how Walton and Hamilton had scuffled, but she said she "couldn't remember exactly."

"They were at all times close enough together to put their hands on one another?"

"Why, yes, they were."

"You're positive of that?"

"Yes, sir."

The prosecutor asked Miss Hendricks whether she had made a statement to him the day of the shooting. She replied she had, and he took the statement to the stand and showed it to her. She identified it, and Thomerson asked her to read it aloud.

The defense objected and court was recessed for an hour to allow defense counsel time to read the statement.

Statement Not Admitted

After the recess Thomerson attempted to introduce the statement as evidence, but it was ruled out when the defense objected on the ground it was taken when the defendant was not present.

Then followed a lengthy examination of the witness on the question of whether she said she saw Judge Hamilton coming in the door with the gun in his hand or whether she said she saw him enter and then saw him with the gun in his hand.

The statement:

"Sitting at typewriter, facing door, young man came in and I said good morning. He asked if he could see Judge Hamilton, if he was not too busy. I did not call Judge Hamilton. Saw father in the door of Judge Hamilton's office. Saw Judge Hamilton come out of his office. The boy was in front of my desk between the book cases that is front of my desk.

"I do not remember any movement at all that the boy made after I saw Judge Hamilton. When I saw Judge Hamilton he had the gun in his hand. He was to the left of the left line of my desk. The boy was still in between the lines of the book cases but far enough to see in Judge Hamilton's office. When I first saw Judge Hamilton he was coming through the door from his office into the reception room. He had the gun in his hand. The boy was facing Judge Hamilton's door when Judge Hamilton came out. I do not remember hearing a word spoken by either party after Judge Hamilton came into the room. I saw the boy after I saw Judge Hamilton come through the door and he was just standing there. I did not hear a word said by either one of the men after I saw Judge Hamilton come through the door out of his office. The boy could have made some movement that I did not see for I was not looking at the boy all the time. Judge Hamilton might have been a step or two inside the reception room when I first saw him but he was near his door. I don't remember the facts distinctly or clearly. It happened so quickly and I was excited and unnerved."

Argument over the admission of the statement and her testimony before the grand jury launched attorneys into one of the hardest fought battles of the case.

Miss Hendricks returned to the stand after the noon recess for cross-examination.

She admitted that she had signed the statement after reading it when the document was handed to her by Thomerson.

The statement was made within a short time after the shooting but the witness said she was excited and had requested that some corrections be made in it at the time it was signed.

Statement Altered

Testimony offered in the trial Thursday altered the statement given to Thomerson that "when she first saw Judge Hamilton he was coming into the reception room. He had a gun in his hand." She testified that Judge Hamilton was in the court room when she looked up from her typewriter.

The witness said she saw no weapons in Walton's hand but was not clear on just what happened.

The admitted that she was excited and could not be certain as to actual occurrences.

Miss Hendricks was struck in the right foot by one of the bullets fired in the shooting, she testified.

Her statement to District Attorney Thomerson and her testimony before the grand jury were submitted by evidence by the prosecution.

After allowing Thomerson to introduce for impeachment the statement she made the day of the killing, Judge Carter sustained a defense objection to a question asked by the state on a second statement Miss Hendricks made to the grand jury.

J. W. Burks, Amarillo real estate operator, testified he went to Judge Hamilton's office about 9 a. m., to see him about a real estate deal.

LAWYERS KEEP UP SKIRMISHES

Clash After Clash Over Testimony Occurs

Hamilton was sitting at his desk facing the door as Burks entered, he testified.

A few minutes after Burks arrived Hamilton received a telephone call, Burks testified, the jurist answering "hello" several times, but apparently no one responded, for the lawyer replaced the receiver without talking.

Hendricks then came into the office, Burks declared, and said, "Judge Hamilton, there is a young man here to see you."

Hamilton got up from his desk and walked toward and into the the other room.

"After he went into the other room what, if anything, did you hear?"

"I heard a man's voice."

"Did you understand what was said?"

"No, sir."

"Then what did you hear?"

"Feet scuffling on the floor."

"Then what happened?"

"I heard a shot."

"And what did you do?"

"I jumped and went toward the door."

"At the time the second shot was fired what were the men doing, if anything?"

"Scuffling."

Glass Crashes

Burks said he saw Hamilton and Walton scuffling beside a book case when the third shot was fired and saw glass from the book case fall to the floor.

"And Hamilton's back was toward the bookcase where the glass broke and fell?" Hood asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Were you there when the shooting ceased?"

"Yes, sir."

"What happened?"

"One man fell to the floor on his face, and his hands dragged off Judge Hamilton's arms."

"And after the young man fell to the floor were there any more shots fired?"

"No, sir."

"What did Hamilton do?"

"He came back into the middle office and said, 'Mr. Burks, I hated to have to do that, but I had to to save my own life.'"

Burks said he was in a position where he could see the defendant and Walton all during the time of the scuffle. At all times, he said, they were close together, "scuffling."

"Did you see Hamilton's hands when he walked into the adjoining room?" Hugh H. Cooper of Amarillo special prosecutor asked.

"Yes, sir."

"And did he have a pistol in his hand?"

"No, sir."

"Isn't it a fact that Harry Hendricks shut the door into the other office?"

"Absolutely not."

Cooper had Burks clap his hands to show how rapidly the shots were fired. It took 12 seconds.

Attorneys Quarrel

Burks and Cooper quarreled violently at this point. Burks said he did not know if Hendricks moved or not. He admitted hearing a voice in the other room but he could not tell whether it was a word or not. Again Judge Cooper plied a question that forced Judge Carter to call for order as the spectators laughed. He testified he heard the noise as Judge Hamilton went out of his sight. He next heard a shuffling noise and almost simultaneously heard the first shot. He clapped his hands to denote the intervals of the shots at the request of the state's attorney.

Burks was asked to show on the plat of the room where glass fell on the floor. At this point Attorney Hood of the defense and Attorney Cooper for the state quarreled over giving Burks more detailed explanation of the map. Burks said he heard glass fall at the case where the glass was shattered. He said Walton was facing the book case.

He declared he did not see a gun in Hamilton's hand until he came into the room. The witness detailed the position of the boy's body on the floor it being practically the same as that given by other witnesses. He did not go about the boy's body and he did not see who fired the fourth shot. He said that he did not see who fired the fifth shot but he saw the smoke. Mr. Burks guessed that three or four seconds elapsed between the last two shots.

The boy slumped down, pulling on Hamilton's clothing, he declared.

Hamilton Unruffled

Hamilton walked toward his room and Burks did not notice his clothes disarranged or any scratches about his person.

After a short recess Cooper began asking about the telephone conversation Hamilton had a few minutes before Walton was shot and questioning Burks about alleged discrepancies in his statement on direct examination and before the grand jury. He could not recall what he testified and there was considerable argument over admitting the statement.

Asked if he saw a newspaper reporter at the scene of the homicide Burks replied that he did and the reporter had talked to him trying to get him to make a statement.

"I told the reporter I had no statement and did not want my name mentioned in the paper," he replied.

"You told him that and he went ahead and made one for you anyway and put it in the paper?" Judge Reeder asked the witness.

"Yes, sir, he did," replied Burks.

On further questioning he did not recall whether Judge Hendricks was in the office or not.

The witness denied making a statement to W. C. Foster, Grover Fairey, Ed Holloway, and Chief of Police Gaither. He reiterated the statement that Hamilton is alleged to have made that he would rather be dead than to kill a man but he had to protect his family. He said that was only part of the statement he made before the grand jury.

Attorney Hood interrupted here to say: "As I understand it, you did not make a bob-tailed statement."

Cooper continued hammering away with questions and then released the witness. The defense paused long enough to confirm the witness' statement that he told a newspaper man not to quote him nor use his name at all and also that Mr. Thomerson wrote out and read his statement before the grand jury.

Letters Exhibited

Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the defendant followed Mr. Burks on the stand and the tedious process of identifying Tom Walton's letters was begun.

Mrs. Hamilton identified herself as the mother of Theresa Hamilton, wife of the slain youth. She said Theresa was 18 years old on last July 29. She named her other children and gave their ages, Robert, 23 and Helen 21.

Six letters, which Mrs. Hamilton said she wrote and mailed from Austin to Judge Hamilton at Amarillo were exhibited by the defense. Five of the six letters contained enclosures Mrs. Hamilton said and identified the enclosed letters as being in Tom Walton's handwriting. The letters were dated from April 12, 1929 to April 25, 1929.

No mention was made of their content and they were carried carefully one or two at a time from the defendant's pocket to the witness chair and returned after they were exhibited to the witness.

Prosecution attorneys reserved the right to question Mrs. Hamilton and four other witnesses on handwriting as soon as the letters were introduced in evidence later in the case.

Other witnesses who identified the handwriting were: B. F. Williams, chemistry instructor at the University of Texas; O. R. Chambers, professor of psychology at Oregon A. & M. college, formerly of the faculty at the University of Texas; Miss Dorothy Carrington, assistant to the University of Texas registrar and William David Newman, manager of an auto rent agency at Austin.

More Character Witnesses

They were followed on the stand by four more character witnesses, Walter A. Keeling, former attorney general of Texas; Alex Pope, Dallas attorney; Douglas Johnson, vice president of the Federal Land bank at Houston; O. L. Albritton, Corsicana investor; and Judge J. W. Crudgington, an Amarillo attorney. All testified that the defendant's reputation was good.

After court had adjourned this evening several character witnesses who had just arrived were called to the stand and the trial was reopened for a few minutes' session. Each of them testified that the defendant's reputation was good and that he can be believed under oath. They were James W. McClendon, Austin, chief justice of the court of civil appeals; C. V. Terrell, Decatur, railroad commissioner; H. Baugh, Brownwood, associate justice of the court of appeals at Austin, and R. B. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control.

When court opened, District Attorney Edward Thomerson of Amarillo asked District Judge J. E. Carter to instruct defense witnesses to make themselves available for questioning by the prosecution. Defense counsel promised to aid the state in its efforts to confer with all witnesses.

The first witness was Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard-Payne college at Brownwood. He said he had known Hamilton since the defendant was president of Howard-Payne from 1910 to 1911 and that Hamilton's reputation was "absolutely good."

Bige Tinkle and Charles H. DeLaforce, both of Corsicana, said Hamilton's reputation as a "peaceable and law-abiding citizen" in Navarro county had been good.

J. F. Riggs Witness

The first witness to discuss Hamilton's reputation in Amarillo, the town where he allegedly slew his 17-year-old daughter's husband, was J. F. Riggs, who declared he met Hamilton in an Amarillo Baptist church. Hamilton, he said, was of such character he would be believed under oath.

Another resident of Waco, where Hamilton was a professor in Baylor university, Nat Harris, was the eleventh character witness.

Then the defense introduced its first fact witness of the day, Roy Slay, employe of an Amarillo undertaking company. Slay said he went to the second floor of the Amarillo building, where Walton was slain May 4, shortly after the shooting. Slay said he did not make a thorough examination of Walton's body, but from what he saw he "believed the bullets all entered from the front."

Cross-Examination

On cross-examination, the district attorney asked whether a bullet which struck a bone as it pierced a body made a ragged hole as it emerged. The witness declared it would. Thomerson showed Slay two bullets, already introduced as evidence, asking whether they would make wounds of entrance and exit which differed much. Slay said there would be only a "slight" difference.

Slay declared he had stitched up the wounds and covered them with a solution which hardens the flesh before other physicians had made a visit to the undertaking parlor to examine Walton's body. He "did not remember" whether the stitches were cut during that examination.

Room Full of Smoke

E. D. Holloway, fingerprint expert with the Amarillo police department, said when he entered the east room of the Hamilton-Hendricks suite, where he found Walton's body, the room was "full of smoke."

"Did you talk to Walton?"

"I tried to, but he couldn't talk."

Holloway later returned and made a sketch of the office, he testified. A blue-print of the office, which he made at the instruction of the district attorney and defense counsel, E. A. Simpson, was exhibited to the jury. The print showed the location of all furniture in the office, the spots bullets were said to have hit, and the location of Walton's body. When the jury had difficulty seeing the print it was tacked on the wall, the district attorney driving the tacks with Judge Carter's gavel.

Location of Bullets

Holloway said one of the bullets, which he found lodged in a book, broke a glass in a bookcase. There was another bullet mark in the case across the room, Holloway declared, while a third hit a corner post in the stenographer's desk. A man, to have fired that third bullet from a pistol in his right hand, would have had to wedge himself between a safe in the office and a bookcase, the witness declared, after the defense had withdrawn an objection to the question. Holloway said he believed that bullet was discharged from a pistol held in the left hand.

The fourth bullet was found under the safe, without any indication as to its route, Holloway said.

When he first entered the office, Miss Florence Hendricks was standing near the desk, the witness declared, while H. L. Gaither, police chief, was with her.

Before Holloway left the stand, Thomerson asked him whether he would pose as an "expert" on the line a bullet would follow.

He said he would not, since there were so many points from which a bullet could ricochet.

Court Takes Short Recess

When Holloway left the stand, Judge Carter declared a short recess and as the jury returned Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the Texas supreme court was called to the stand as a character witness.

The justice testified he had known Hamilton for nine or ten years, beginning when Hamilton was assistant attorney general. Then Hamilton was appointed by Gov. Pat Neff as a member of the court of appeals which aids the supreme court.

He said Hamilton's reputation as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen of truth and veracity was good.

"Is he such a man that he is entitled to credence under oath?" Hood asked.

"Yes, sir, I think he is."

The state asked no questions and another character witness, Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university at Waco and Dallas, was called.

Dr. Brooks testified he had known Hamilton 34 years, ever since Hamilton was a student at Baylor.

Tears in His Eyes

During the examination of Dr. Brooks, Hamilton, his head bowed and his eyes covered with his hand, breathed deeply and tears rolled down his cheeks. When Dr. Brooks said Hamilton's reputation was good, the accused man raised his head and wiped his eyes with his handkerchief.

The Rev. J. L. Ward, president of Decatur college, told he believed Hamilton was a man who could be believed under oath. The defendant continued rubbing his eyes and nose with his handkerchief.

Alva Bryan and Frank Tirey, both Waco attorneys, said they had known Hamilton in Waco, and his reputation was good.

Theresa's Brother Guards Over Widow of Walton During Trial

with her mother or sister. She is always attended by one of her family, generally her brother, Robert.

"No, the marriage has never been annulled," said Robert. "There is no question of its legality as far as I know. My understanding is that the name is a question the widow is allowed to decide for herself, and Theresa prefers to drop the Walton part of the name. Her name is Miss Theresa Hamilton. That's all there is to it."

Judge R. H. Hamilton, on trial on a charge of murdering Tom Walton, the youth who married Theresa secretly last February while both were students at Texas university refuses to talk about the case or about anything beyond purely extraneous matters to reporters. Asked simply about when he graduated from Baylor, he answered, "The records of the school show. Go look it up," and turned his back on the questioner. He said once:

"I'll take the stand and testify to everything you want to know about. Just get all that testimony right and you'll have a story that will make me a lot of friends. But off the stand I don't care to talk."

The judge becomes very irritated when questioned. He scowls and his brown eyes narrow and his under lip shoots out. He has a very genial smile when he chooses to use it, and a hearty manner, until he is annoyed. He became annoyed today when he noticed a newspaper man sketching him, and turned his back at once, after leaning over and saying to the reporter, "Don't you use that thing."

Printed Stories Unfair

Mrs. Hamilton, who is sitting by her husband's side throughout the trial, ventured to say, "We have tried to keep out of the papers as much as possible. Heretofore the press reports have been very unfair to us, and we hope that whatever is published about this will be fairer."

She is a slight, sad looking woman, well dressed. Her two pretty daughters look very much like here, even to the blue eyes. Robert the 23-year-old son, is dark like his father, and has brown eyes, but they are quieter eyes than Judge Hamilton's. The judge's eyes burn and smoulder between narrowed lids as he sits in court.

Young Hamilton, when asked whether he thought parents have a right to interfere in the marriage of their children, said: "The question is not pertinent in the present case."

He said that his father killed Walton in self-defense, knowing nothing of the marriage. Pressed for an opinion without reference to Judge Hamilton and young Walton, Robert said:

"It all depends on the circumstances. Sometimes I think so," and would not commit definitely more than that. He's an instructor in chemistry in the University of Minnesota, where his sister, Theresa, is now a student.

Young Hamilton said he did not know his sister was friendly with any such man, and had never heard the affair mentioned.

"The first I knew of the marriage," he said, "was after the shooting, when I returned from school."

Explaining his sister's refusal to talk, Robert Hamilton said that in addition to prefering not to say anything, she was ill. "She is, of course, upset by all this distasteful publicity," he said, "and she also has a very bad cold."

He stands guard over her and tells reporters that "she prefers not to talk;" but if a reporter nevertheless "goes over his head" and asks a question of the girl, the answer is the same.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

TERRELL AIRS PRISON VIEWS

Commissioner Opposed to Moving Plant

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Declaring that he favors centralizing the penitentiary on farm lands now owned by the state, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, said in a statement recently that "any attempt to go into manufacturing on a large scale with convict labor, using costly machinery, will cost the state $10,000,000 during the next few years with no assurance that the state will ever recoup the losses."

"The legislature seems to be the only hope now of averting greater losses than we already have in prison management," Terrell said.

"Manufacturing of cement for road and bridge building, automobile number plates, certain articles for the use of the prison system and state institutions, might be profitable, and this, with intelligent and capable farm management may eventually put the system on a self-supporting basis. Demagogic, destructive criticism should have no place in solving this problem. It should be handled with care and caution combined with capable management."

He said that if the central prison plant is to be located away from the major farming operations, as now indicated by a majority expression of the locating commission, it should be relocated in Huntsville, where it is now, on land owned by the state.

"There is no use in buying lands at exorbitant prices when the state owns plenty of better land," he said. "There is no economical or financial reason for locating the main prison buildings near Austin.

"The legislature should go slow about selling the large farms below Houston as there are oil fields around them and they will be developed some day when the big oil operators get possession of the state lands, or when they are convinced the state will not sell them. These farms will be worth millions to the state in the future. They are now the richest farming lands in the state and should not be sold for a song."

He said his investigations for many years had convinced him against his will that farming operations must always be the major business of the prison system.

Wichitans Guests Of Burk Rotary Club

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 31.—President Butler Westerfield presided over the regular meeting of the Burkburnett Rotary club Tuesday at noon in the annex of the Central Christian church. The entire program was set aside in the observation of "Guest Day." Thirty-three guests, including 17 visiting Rotarians from Wichita Falls, were in attendance.

The principal speaker for the occasion was Rex Smith, manager of the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce, who spoke at length on the construction of a paved road from the Red river to Lawton, Okla. Mr. Smith will accompany the junior chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls on a business trip to Graham, Texas, in the near future for the purpose of securing sufficient funds to make possible the improved roads. This will be one of the many means of defraying expenses.

INDIANS ENGAGE IN MORTAL COMBAT WITH GAINESVILLE

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Another Large Afternoon

The first Saturday in November brings on another large football afternoon where outstanding contests can be divided into two groups—

Sectional

Far West—Southern California and California.

Southwest—Texas and Southern Methodist.

South—Vanderbilt and Alabama; Georgia and Tulane.

Midwest—Illinois and Northwestern; Purdue and Wisconsin.

East—Yale and Dartmouth; Cornell and Columbia, Navy and Penn.

Interscectional

Notre Dame and Georgia Tech.

Pittsburgh and Ohio State.

Harvard and Florida.

Princeton and Chicago.

Five of the strongest teams in the country — possibly the five strongest—all get well tested. They are Southern California, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Purdue and Dartmouth. All five should win, but there is no certainty of a clean sweep. Southern California has a hard game with California; Pittsburgh should beat Ohio State; Notre Dame looks too strong for Georgia Tech, but the latter is always dangerous at home; and the Yale game will prove whether Dartmouth is as strong as the Green looked to be, once it hit its stride against Harvard, with Marsters geared up to go. It is impossible to get away from the promise of a Marsters-Booth duel, and while Dartmouth looks to have too much all-round stuff for Yale, it has become quite evident the Blue is not going to be anybody's doormat, especially with little Booth stepping around.

Marsters and Booth are two of the best backs of many years, and they are bound to unloose a whirl of action before the day is over. It would seem to be asking entirely too much to expect 144-pound Booth, a sophomore, to match or outmatch Cagle and Marsters on successive Saturdays, but he seems to be able to look after himself and his team, no matter what the competition is.

Dartmouth figures to win her first victory over a Yale team, but not without a lot of hustling.

The Still Unbeaten

Unbeaten and untied teams that move into action include Southern California, California, Pittsburgh, Dartmouth, Purdue, Minnesota, Notre Dame, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Texas and Cornell. There is a good chance, now that Purdue, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and Dartmouth will all finish the year with clean slates. Southern California and Notre Dame meet in Chicago on Nov. 16, and this contest will be one of the most important of the season, so far as any national ranking is concerned. Both are unusually strong, and when they crash together before what will probably be football's greatest crowd the detonation will be heard a long way off.

If Texas can get by Southern Methodist and Tulane can beat Georgia these two teams also have better than outside chances to romp the rest of the distance without a blot to worry about.

The list of unbeaten teams will be much longer this season than it was a year ago, unless an unexpected amount of skidding and slumping takes place in the next four weeks. Purdue's hardest game should be against Iowa, but Purdue looks strong enough to keep on winning, with a strong line and a trio of able backs—one of the best backfields in football today.

Tomorrow will be a busy day for southern football, as Florida comes to Harvard, Georgia Tech meets Notre Dame in Atlanta, and at least three decisive meetings will take place when Vanderbilt faces Alabama, Georgia goes after Tulane and Texas mixes affairs with an improving Southern Methodist outfit that is now good enough to bother any one.

Texas has one of her best teams —and it will take one of her best teams to pull away from Ray Morrison's delegation.

Fifth in a Row

Notre Dame has already slipped by Indiana, Navy, Wisconsin and Carnegie Tech. The latter was figured as one of N. D.'s roughest spots, where in the past Carnegie had dished out a flock of woe in the direction of South Bend.

This was the fourth hard game in a row, and now the roving Irish invade Atlanta, to look after Georgia Tech. Last year Wisconsin, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech and Southern California all whipped Notre Dame. The South Bend team has already picked up its revenge from Wisconsin and Carnegie Tech. Georgia Tech and Southern California still remain, and the latter, through its victory over Stanford, has already served notice that only a great team will remove its scalp. Georgia Tech at home is no mushy spot, although the Golden Tornado of 1929 is not the cyclone of last fall. North Carolina and Tulane have already proved this and Notre Dame is a much stronger outfit than the Irish were a year ago, stronger in every department of play.

There is always the chance that a team playing a schedule of this type will run into a slump at any moment, but Rockne's squad seems to have enough in the way of quality and quantity to escape any such turn this fall.

Harvard would esteem it more than normal bliss to beat the team that beat Yale. Georgia beat Yale, and Florida whipped Georgia. Florida's comeback against Georgia means trouble for Harvard, although Harvard is just as thankful that another Dartmouth array isn't coming to Cambridge.

Electra High Volley Ball Teams Play Valley View

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Electra High school senior and junior volley ball teams will play the Valley View teams at Valley View Friday night at 7:30. The teams have shown great improvement during the past two weeks, and should make a good showing Friday night.

The line up as announced by Miss Ethel Varnell, coach, will be: Center net, Mary Brown; right net, Lois Chesher; right back, Louise Lewis; center back, Rose Nell Lowrie (captain), left back, Leona Mae Parr; and left net, Blanch Butler.

Eighteen thousand communities are linked together in England and Wales by 3,312 regular motor coach services.

BAGGETTMEN IN BETTER SHAPE

Overhead May Be One Big Factor in Tilt

Probable lineup for the teams:

Reserves for Gainesville: Bell, Harp, Blakely, Wofford and Howard.

Reserves for Wichita Falls: Hutto, Waggoner, Smith, Fudge, Johnson, Hurd.

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp the Wichita Falls Junior college Indians will open their heavy artillery against the rampants of the Gainesville Junior college Tigers on their own grounds. The football battle Friday will be the second conference start of the season for the Indians. Two weeks ago they locked horns with the Paris Dragons and came off with a scoreless tie. Last Friday the Indians lost a hard fought battle with the powerful Terrill school eleven by the close score of 6 to 0, but the game had no bearing on their conference standing.

Team Has Stalwart Backs

The Baggettmen will go into the thick of battle against Gainesville with a better and stronger team than the one that engaged the Terrill eleven. A week ago the two stalwarts of the line, Captain Hutto and Waggoner were out of the lineup and saw the game from the sidelines. Though these men have not fully recovered from their injuries, they are in reserve and will be able to take their post for duty should the going get too rough for the stubstitutes who have been filling their shoes since injuries beset the team. Eggleston Ramee who has also been on the casualty list is very likely to make his return to the game, according to Coach Baggett's last minute outlook.

Offense More Impressive

In their last scrimmage session of the week before departing to the lair of the Tiger the Indians looked eminently more impressive on the offense than they have any time this season. The overhead attack, a passing combination from Cox to Davis, was a bearcat, as they say in the sports vernacular. Cox throws the inflated pigskin like a baseball and looks like a second Brick Muller. Habern always good on the receiving end of a pass was better in the last scrimmage than we have seen this season. And Davis shagged his passes with unerring accuracy throughout the session.

Thus it appears that the Indians will use a lashing aerial attack with much effectiveness in the game Friday afternoon.

On the other hand reports from Gainesville stated that Coach Alva Sheppard's Tigers were in the pink of condition and growing for meat. The Tigers have spent a hard week getting set for the visiting Baggettmen and are anxious for the scalp of the Redskins. Coach Sheppard is centering his defense around the unusual ability and strength of Captain Priddy, center. The Tigers will have a favorable balance in the punting department of the game in the person of H. Phillips. His kicking has been above the average and consistent throughout in the other games of the season.

Elks Club Bowlers Win Three in Row Off Spectralite

The Elks club bowlers won three straight games from the Spectralite pin toppiers Thursday night at the Spudder alleys in the only match played in the City league. The match between Oriental cage and Huff Insurance was postponed until Friday night at 7:30.

Joe Steinkoeing, anchor man for the Elks, had high three games with a total of 555 points, while Thurman, Spectralite, rolled up a total of 220 for high single man.

Electra Charity Drive Promsies to Be Success

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 31.—According to Robert P. Hall, manager of the chamber of commerce, the charity drive being held now will be a great success. The "Tag day" held last Saturday with Mrs. W. A. Gault, chairman, netted $95.

The main drive began Tuesday when the board of directors of the chamber of commerce met with the 26 working committees at a luncheon at the Marriott hotel. The committees were given directions in regard to carrying the drive to the $2,000 goal set. Reports from the committees late Wednesday were very satisfactory and they reported 500 prospects. Cards have been mailed to the prospects.

Too Perfect

Salesman: This car is a wonder. It goes so gently that you do not notice the motion, the engine is silent, the gas burns so well that there is no smell, and the speed is such that one can hardly see the car fly by.

Prospective Buyer: But can't I see another make of car? What is the good of one that I shall not know I have?—Passing Show.

LIONS AND COYOTES POINT FOR GRUDGE SCRAP

Mustangs Pronounced Now Ready For Epochal Fray With Texas Longhorns

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—Equipped with at least 60 plays, drilled to the minute and in top physical condition, Southern Methodist university's grid machine was pronounced ready tonight for Saturday's epochal fray here against the undefeated untied Texas university Longhorns.

A final brisk scrimmage against the reserves today put the finishing touches on Coach Ray Morrison's 1929 gridiron edition. Very little work is on tomorrow's program. After a brief limbering up, the Mustangs probably will be permitted to watch the clash between their freshman eleven and John Tarleton college from Stephenville. The team is primed to the last notch for the Orange.

Radical Lineup Change

Morrison has announced another radical change in his plans for the important battle. In order further to take the burden off his outstanding star, Weldon Mason, he has decided to let Joe Davidson, another halfback, do the punting. Davidson was booting 60-yard spirals in practice today. Morrison previously had announced that Louie Long, an end, would call signals against the Longhorns.

From these two changes it was evident that Morrison wants Mason free to devote his time to carrying the mail. In other games "Speedy" has been doing a little of everything except trundle the Methodists' rubber-tired "tea cart" about the field. Kattman and Mason likely will divide passing duties Saturday.

Vast Repertoire of Plays

Those who watched a final rehearsal of the Ponies' vast repertoire of plays yesterday estimated conservatively that the men of Morrison had 60 different ways of going places with the pigskin, most of them deceptive. Some placed the figure as high as 75. The Longhorns are due to see a dazzling attack, everything from double and triple passes to simple thrusts at the tackles.

The Mustangs are confident they will put a damper on the running proclivities of Dexter Shelley, Nona Rees, Eddie Beular, Pap Perkins and the other Texas backs, thus forcing the Longhorns to go into the air for their gains. The Pony line, featuring Capt. Choc Sanders and Marion Hammon, will outweigh the Steer forwards several pounds to the man. It is the same line that held the Nebraska Cornhuskers scoreless.

24,000 Expected to See Game

Twenty-four thousand spectators are expected for the clash, which will have no real rival as a gate attraction in this section. Unless rain falls the day of the game a fairly fast playing field is assured. Ownby stadium gridiron is "turtle-backed" and heavily sodded and drains rapidly.

Memphis Cyclone Defeats Shamrock Eleven by 12 to 8

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Memphis High school Cyclone eleven defeated the Shamrock High school Irishmen in a fast, close contested game on the fair park gridiron here this afternoon to a score of 12 to 8.

That fight and grit that so plainly dominates the teams of Memphis High, literally swept the fighting Irishmen off their feet for the first half but the second half the Irishmen rallied and played a good game until the final whistle blew.

From the first down of the game until the end of the first quarter, the Memphis Warriors ran, passed and kicked at will. They had their way through the entire quarter, making their first touch down early in that period after a series of long end runs and short passes. Stargel, rookie back, tallied first after a short run through the Jerry Sitton, Cyclone end, was largely responsible for this tally due to the long pass he caught that put the ball in good scoring distance.

The officials of the game were Vaughn, Simmons university, referee, Haynes, Baylor, headlinesman and Rumph, Texas university, umpire.

Dalhart Will Play New Mexico Eleven

Special to The Record News.

DALHART, Oct. 3.—The Dalhart Wolf eleven as a result of their overwhelming victory over Dumas high last Friday is planning a defensive against the Tucumcari, N. M., gang here next Friday that will be full of thrills.

Clayton boys who scored 14-6 over Tucumcari triumphed over Dalhart by a scant 6-0 with the Dalhart squad away from their own den. This gives the Dalhart Coyotes a fighting chance for supremacy over the New Mexico team.

Charlie Mitchell, captain and fullback, who raced across the field for a touchdown in the first two minutes of the Dumas game last Friday, is building up a clever wall against the Tucumcari bunch in the game here Friday.

The two teams are old rivals with honors during the past eight years being equally divided.

The first conference game of the season will be played with Perryton on the latter's gridiron on Armistice day with a large delegation from Dalhart planning to accompany the Wolves on their forage for the game.

Olney Cubs Beat Caddo Hi 21 to 17

Special to The Record News

OLNEY, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Olney Cubs won from Caddo high here this afternoon in a practice game, 21 to 17. The game was one of the most closely contested of any the Cubs have featured in this year. The Cub second string started the game and played even ball the first quarter with the score 7 to 7. In the last of the second period Adams, Caddo half, received a pass and raced 50 yards for a touchdown and the Cub first string were sent in.

Adams and Gracy, Caddo backfield man, carried the brunt of the visitors' attack while Graves, E. Gilmore and Grier showed up for Olney. Caddo presented one of the cleanest and best coached teams that have appeared on the local field this season. The team is coached by E. I. Bacon.

Sport Loose Ends

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

They love that game of football up in Amarillo and they don't fail to show it in public. The way the people of the town get behind the team and back them up, and support them in every possible manner is an inspiration to the players and an example to the rest of the state. Why, it's the talk of Texas from Dallas west to the Colorado line and from South Central Texas to the Oklahoma border.

Giant pep meetings attended by every boy and girl in school and by scores of citizens are being held every day. And do they have the old enthusiasm? Friday night before the big game on Saturday the citizenship of Amarillo will turn out practically en masse for a great demonstration, so it is reported. Speech making, cheering and music by the band, and yelling will urge the boys on to do or die for their school and Amarillo.

Now, that's the old spirit that helps to make a great ball team, such as the Sandies have. Small wonder that the Sandies have pushed to the top of the heap in district 1, with all that loyalty, pep, enthusiasm and confidence manifested in them by the home folks. The team simply couldn't lose and disappoint their followers. So they simply go out on the field with that "They shall not pass" idea in their heads and win their games. Again we say that it is an example and a lesson to the rest of the state.

We don't know which side you are on in this big game down in Dallas Saturday between the Mustangs and the Longhorns, but it is beginning to look as if the Pony followers are sowing the seeds of an alibi, should they lose the game. Now it is the talk that a muddy, slippery field would tremendously handicap the Mustang's vaunted aerial attack. The Southern Methodist know that they will have a terrible game on their hands when they play Texas university and they are fearful of the outcome. And after all, there's nothing like a well prepared alibi to fall back on in an emergency. The Mustang is a tricky animal, doncha know.

Something is wrong up in Michigan. The Michigan Wolverines have lost all three of their Big Ten conference starts this year. Last Saturday's 14 to 0 loss to Illinois was the straw that broke the camel's back. Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost who announced in the early season that he was done with his 20-odd years of coaching at Michigan, was back on the field in a drizzling rain Tuesday afternoon helping to direct the team's training maneuvers.

The Wolverines haven't been performing so well for Harry Kipke, former all-American backfield man and student of Yost. We are afraid it is too late for "Hurry Up" to recoup the lost fortunes of his old team. Michigan is out of the running for the conference honors now. They can only save their pride, if any is left, by refusing to bow to the weaker teams on their schedule. But that's something.

Knute Rockne is low and may be in a gravely critical condition. His physicians have ordered him to quit the field and take his bed. Suffering increasingly from a blood clot in the leg since early season training, and against medical advices, he accompanied his team to direct them Saturday last in their game with Carnegie Tech. They beat Tech 7 to 0, the first time in three years. The team won their game but lost their mentor for the rest of the year. The loss is greater by a dozen times than the victory won. But his spirit of Rockne's which he has been able to carry over and instill into his fighting teams is partly what has made the Notre Dame Micks the famous teams that they are.

Rockne is not the grand old man of football but he is the master of football. His grave condition is of deep concern to hundreds of thousands all over the land and his recovery will be watched with anxiety until he is out of the shadow of danger.

Electra-Plainview Game On Friday Closes Stores

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 31.—It was unanimously voted by the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce that the stores would show their interest in the schools and in the athletic association and the football team by closing their stores between the hours of 3 and 5:30 Friday afternoon, Nov. 1, when the Electra Tigers play the Plainview team on the local gridiron.

It was also agreed that the stores would open at 5:30 and remain open until 6:30 that evening to accommodate late shoppers and others who had gone to the game.

COACH HOLTON MAKES SPEECH

Vernon Will Have Full Strength

Wichita Falls football fandom will see their second gridiron grudge battle of the season when the Vernon Lions journey here to mix it up in mortal combat with their ancient rivals, the Coyote pack. Both the Lions and the Coyotes have been sharpening their football claws all this past week in one of the hardest training programs that either has gone through with this year.

Rehearse Plays

The Coyotes put in their last hard session of the week on Thursday afternoon when Coach Barry Holton rehearsed his entire repertoire of plays which he intends to use against the Lions. The Pack displayed proficient familarity with the plays old and new and now look to be in shape for both a hard and a smart fight with the Lions. Two new plays were included in the Coyote list this week and they have been mastered thoroughly enough that Coach Holton will order his charges to try them against the vaunted Vernon eleven.

Three Coyotes Back Again

The Pack will have their full regular lineup when they meet Vernon. Three men who suffered from the law of ineligibility two weeks ago have now negotiated the rocky road of academic deportment and are back in the good graces of the team. They are Chick Holton, punter extraordinary; Harlan Ray, back field man, and Raymond Allen, also a backfield performer.

Holton Harpoons Students

A big pep rally and cheering demonstration was held Thursday morning, both in anticipation of the Junior college game on Friday and in preparation for the Coyote game with the Lions. After the big yelling and yipping, Coach Barry Holton climbed onto the rostrum and made a speech in which he hauled the student body and the team over the coals about certain manifest lack of school spirit during the Electra game. He said in part that the game was lost because of a lack of the old fighting spirit. Then he urged the student body to get behind the team and show some enthusiasm for the game and not a luke warm response that was a reflection on school loyalty.

The team also came in for their castigation from the verbal guns of the mentor. He told them that they lost the game last Saturday to the Tigers because they were outfought. They took the game from you, he maintained. A team that will not get in there and scrap to the very limit does not desire to win a game, the mentor observed.

VERNON, Oct. 31.—Coach W. C. Weir indicated after the practice session here today that the Lions had practically completed training for the Wichita Falls game. Today's workout was comparatively light, scrimmage having been concluded Wednesday. Nothing but signal drill and fundamentals remain on the program for the Lions before their traditional battle with the Coyotes Saturday. Coach Weir would make no comment on the game, and he and Assistant Coach Ralph Binnion are the only ones that have had a chance to compute the strength of the team as training has been behind closed gates this week. However, Weir let it be known that he is fairly well satisfied with the way his squad is shaping up.

The Lions are almost certain to have their full strength when they take the field against the Coyotes. All the regulars except Rodman, center, have been taking part in the training sessions this week and the regular string center, although still on crutches while allowing a sprained ankle to get back into shape, insists that he will be in the game.

Beck Lawrence, flashy ball carrier who has been out of the lineup most of the year, is not likely to start the game, but will get into it later without a doubt. However, a trick knee is likely to remove him at any stage. Weir's closing lecture to his squad today stressed the fact that both teams were primed for the battle of the year and that the dope on games played heretofore means nothing. "The game will be won by the team that out fights," he said.

Perryton Hi Meets Borger Team Friday

Special to The Record News.

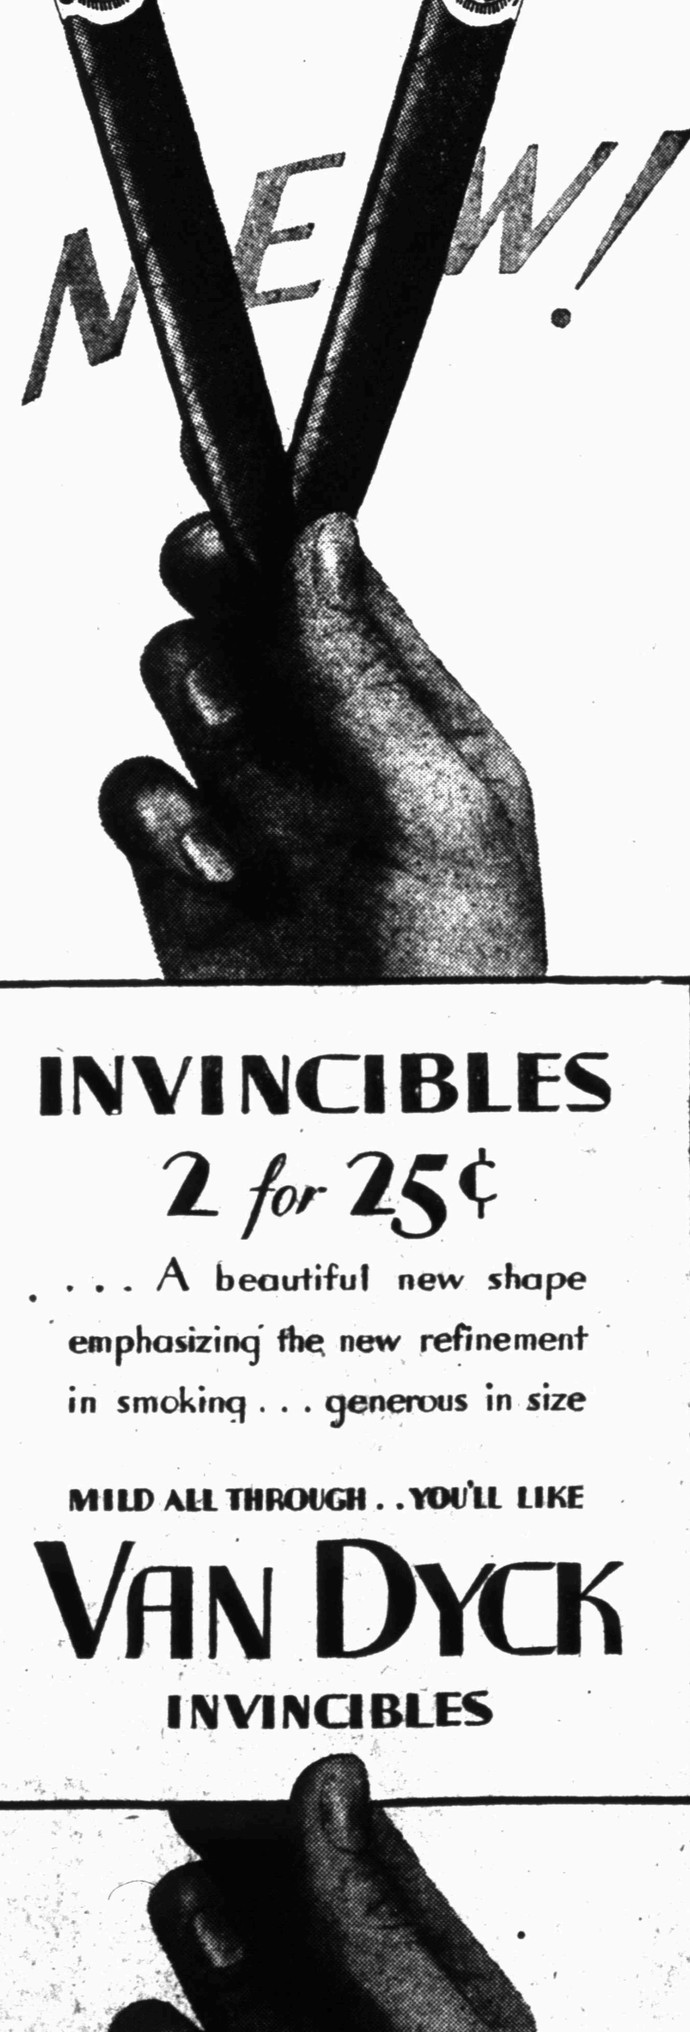

PERRYTON, Oct. 31.—A large portion of Perryton plans to move into Borger Friday for the hot battle that will be staged between the Perryton high school Rangers and the Borger eleven. The "pep" squad, the high school band, a number of the faculty members and business men of Perryton, will go with the Rangers to Borger Friday. They plan to parade through the business section with the school colors flying, then they will make a huge effort to win a football game.

The Rangers have not been scored on during the last four games and have subdued some worthy foes, but Coach Shupe is not taking any chances, and is working his boys hard for the tilt. He will start his strongest lineup and will use the most elusive plays that he has, regardless of the fact that Pampa, Dalhart and probably some of the teams from the south part of the district will have scouts on the sidelines to get a slant on the tricky Rangers.

Reports from Borger show that they have the best team in the history of the school, and they are planning to fight hard for this game. Local fans expect a real game with many thrills when they invade Borger Friday.

An exhibition of foreign periodicals will be held in Tokyo in November.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright, 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, Nov. 3:

Sunday—Breakfast: French omelet, waffle, (browned through), applesauce. Lunch: Cream of tomato soup, baked eggplant, raw celery and ripe olives. Dinner: Broiled Belgian hare, baked parsnips, cooked lettuce, salad of slice cucumbers (no dressing), prune whip.

Monday—Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins, peanut butter, dish of berries (canned without sugar). Lunch: Glass of buttermilk, with 10 or 12 dates. Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, cooked string beans, stewed tomatoes, salad of chopped raw cabbage and celery, jello or jell-well with cream.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Coddled eggs, melba toast, pear sauce. Lunch: Steamed rice, cooked beet tops, head lettuce with olive oil. Dinner: Broiled lamb chops, cooked beets, salad of molded vegetables (green peas, string beans and celery), no dessert.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Oatmeal with butter or cream, no sugar, stewed raisins. Lunch: Glass of grapejuice. Dinner: Roast pork, cooked okra, baked eggplant, McCoy salad, baked apple.

Thursday—Breakfast: Baked eggs, melba toast, stewed apricots. Lunch: Celery soup, cucumber and olive sandwiches. Dinner: Veal chops, cooked squash, string beans, salad of chopped cabbage, ice cream.

Friday—Breakfast: Poached egg on toast, shredded wheat biscuit, stewed figs. Lunch: Raw apples or oranges as desired. Dinner: Baked halibut, spinach, cooked cauliflower, salad of sliced tomatoes (no dressing), no dessert.

Saturday—Breakfast: Genuine wholewheat bread slightly toasted, peanut butter, stewed prunes. Lunch: Spaghetti (wholewheat product) boiled and buttered, salad of cold cooked asparagus (canned) on lettuce. Dinner: Vegetable soup, salisbury steak, steamed carrots, *cooked lettuce, salad of crisp raw spinach leaves, raw celery, pineapple sponge.

*Cooked lettuce: The mention of lettuce instantly brings to mind a raw salad vegetable, crisp and cold. However, as a change, it is surprisingly palatable in the form of a cooked green, prepared in the following manner which eliminates the draining away of any excess liquid and thus destroying the valuable mineral elements contained in all vegetables.

Separate the leaves of as much lettuce as desired, or cut the heads into quarters or eighths as in preparing cabbage, and wash thoroughly under running water. Put lettuce into a heavy aluminum pan over a low fire. The water that clings after the final washing affords sufficient moisture. When lettuce is heated through, which will take about three or four minutes, turn the fire higher, cover the pan, and cook for about 10 minutes. Serve hot with butter.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ankylosis

Question—K. D. W. writes: "I am suffering from ankylosis in the hip. It is on the ball joint that goes into the body. I have had X-rays taken, and all kinds of medicine and rubbing. I have been getting worse for five years, until now I can hardly walk. Some doctors advise an operation by scraping the bone. I am 50 years old."

Answer—It is difficult to advise you about your condition without first having the opportunity of making a personal examination. The treatment I employ is by fasting and dieting to remove the toxins which may have accumulated around the joint. I also advise the application of a deep therapy lamp. This regime should be continued until all inflammation has subsided, after which time osteopathic or other manipulative treatments usually prove advantageous.

Gastritis or Cancer

Question—Mrs. A. W. writes: "At present I am being treated for gastritis. Am getting some relief from gas, but I seem to have a dull ache in the stomach continually. No sharp pains to amount to anything and no vomiting. Have had this for about four months and it is making me think there might be something besides gas, perhaps cancer."

Answer—It would be impossible to diagnose cancer of the stomach, yourself. This is sometimes difficult even for a trained physician, and it would be necessary to have a number of X-rays taken as well as a physical examination of the stomach contents. A continual dull ache in the stomach with gas would likely indicate gastritis. Sometimes this requires a long time to cure, but you should be persistent in following strict fasting and dieting instructions which I will be glad to send you upon request. If you did have cancer or ulcer it is likely that you would have sharp pains and vomiting unless of course they were in the incipient stage, which would be very difficult to diagnose.

Oklahoma Gasoline Collections Increase

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31. (UP)—For the third consecutive month gasoline tax collections exceeded $1,000,000, October collection figures showed today. October collections totalled $1,099,701.10.

Of this amount the state highway department will receive $820,186.11 while $273,874.51 will be apportioned to the counties. October collections a year ago were $738,388.90 or $361,312.20 less than last month's collections.

State Auditor A. S. J. Shaw said exemption of farmers from paying the increased 4-cent a gallon tax for tractor fuel was not reflected in October's report but will be shown in the November report.

Condemned Convict to Undergo Jaw Operation

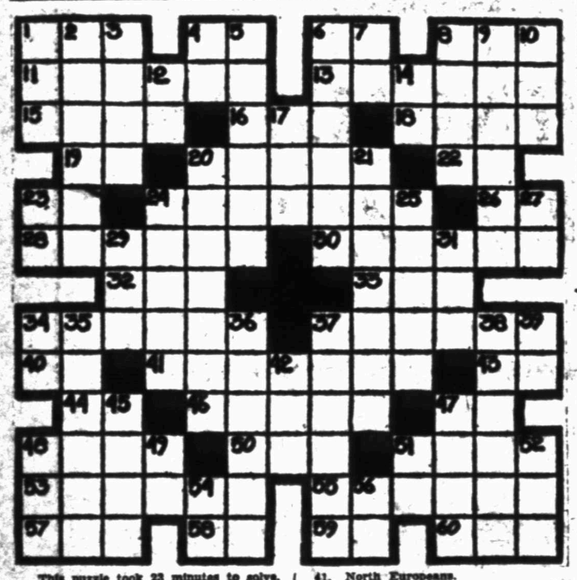

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 31. (UP)—Howard L. Royston, six foot four inch giant of San Andreas, Calif., under sentence to hang for the murder of A. N. Parrish, president of the First National bank of Lamar, Colo., during the $210,000 holdup there 18 months ago, must undergo an operation on his jaw, physicians announced today.

The convicted slayer was shot in the jaw by Parrish during the holdup and spent several weeks in a St. Paul hospital before he was captured.

POULTRY MART HOLDS DULL

Pools to Market Many Texas Turkeys

Practical quiet prevailed in all branches of local produce business Thursday, due principally to the concentration of efforts in the rural district of harvesting remaining cotton, and to preparations for marketing one of the largest turkey crops in Texas history, it was said.

Produce dealers have predicted that this state will show from 10 to 20 per cent more turkeys for this year than were raised in 1928. No definite date for opening the Thanksgiving market has been announced since Nov. 8 was named as the tentative time for beginning the annual kill.

One explanation of the almost complete absence of early deliveries is that turkey raisers in numerous communities are holding their birds for a "pool" of all turkeys in their respective communities. Such marketing is carried on, often through the county farm agent, it was said, by placing all birds in one lot and advertising for bids. The plan is another phase of the marked tendency toward cooperative marketing which has made much progress in the country during the past decade.

According to poultry dealers, the pooling plan of selling turkeys appears to bring the raiser an increase of possibly one or two cents per pound for his birds, at least during the first few years in which it is followed in a community. Ultimately, however, they pointed out, it usually works a hardship on the growers through prejudice against their stock which develops in the large markets, and through its taking from established resident poultry dealers the most attractive, if not the only attractive, market of the year.

Through the pooling of thousands of birds in one lot, to be sold to the highest bidder, it was pointed out that the buyer has only poor opportunity for grading the birds he buys. Because the buyer often comes from outside the community in question, he can offer a slight premium because of having no property investment or local overhead, it was said. So often have such buyers found themselves loaded with more poultry than they can handle in one bunch, and with birds of poor grade because of insufficient opportunity for grading at the time of purchase, that they refuse to buy again in the community from which that experience was drawn, it was stated.

On other other hand, farmers have utilized the pooling plan as a means of minimizing the labor of delivering to the market, and for the purpose of realizing a slightly higher price than the prevailing quotations in the wholesale market.

Wichita county crowded its total cotton harvest almost to the 15,000 mark Thursday, reporting 243 bales as having gone through the gins during the day to raise the total for the season to 14,906. Burkburnett moved to an even 4,500 bales, and lead the day's ginning with 68 bales.

California Oil Cut to Succeed

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31. (AP)—Judge E. D. Reiter, arbiter for Southern California in the campaign to conserve oil production, announced today plans to cut the output of two of the state's largest fields by 203,000 barrels daily within the next two days showed every possibility of being consummated.

R. A. Broomfield, president of the Barnsdall Oil company, announced today a voluntary curtailment of his company's oil production in the Elwood field near Santa Barbara, Calif., amounting to 9,000 barrels daily. The present production is 34,000 barrels a day. A further cut might be made, he said.

Death Claims Mother Of Wichita Woman

BAYLOR TEST SWABS FIFTY

Consolidated-Producers Get Wildcat Producer

The Consolidated Oil company and Petroleum Producers company No. 1 W. H. Portwood located in section 1281, T. E. & L. survey, in Baylor county, is swabbing at the rate of 50 barrels from two feet of sand topped at 1412 feet.

The well, a wildcat, is located approximately five miles southwest of Megargel, and two miles south of the W. B. Mills pool in section 2428, T. E. L. survey, Mills land. It is in a semi-completed condition and will take a few feet more of pay when the output of the well is expected to show a big increase.

TEXAS COMPANY LOCATIONS

The Texas company made locations for three more tests to be drilled on its leases on the W. T. Waggoner lands in Wilbarger county. No. 366 is 1490 west and 330 feet north of the southeast corner of section 7, block 13, H. & T. C. R. R. survey. No. 367 is in the W. B. Alfred survey, abstract 1881, No. 369, is in the southwest corner of section 19, G. C. & S. F. R. R. survey, but in section 1, T. C. R. R. survey.

HICKMAN AND OTHERS—CLAY

Hickman and others No. 1 Byars Brothers located in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of block 16, a south offset to the Art-Taxman No. 1 Stine in the Petrolia field is spudded in.

WALTER CLINE-HAYTER

Walter Cline No. 1 L. M. Hayter located 750 feet south and 450 feet east of the northwest corner of section 2423 T. E. & L. survey southeast of Megargel in Archer county is drilling at 760 feet.

NORTH OF HARROLD

L. C. Heydrick and associates have a derrick up on their wildcat location for No. 1 H. H. Rhodes, 150 feet south and west of the northeast corner of block 79, Waggoner Colony Land sub-division, about four miles north of Harrold in Wilbarger county.

MONTAGUE COUNTY WELL

The Arco Oil company No. B-1 M. H. Salmon in the Robertson survey, in the Nocona pool of Montague county, is completed and swabbing 70 barrels per day from the sand at 998-1010 feet. Location for No. B-2 is rigging up 300 feet north of No. B-1.

SOUTHEAST YOUNG COUNTY

Atlantic Oil Producing company No. 1 Mrs. Jarnigan located in the Orrick survey, east of Herron City in Young county, is drilling at a depth of 2740 feet.

CUNNINGHAM-KISSINGER

J. B. Cunningham No. 1 Kissinger, located in the Conner survey east of Herron City, south Young county, is drilling at a total depth of 2250 feet.

GRISHAM-BARNSDALL

Grisham and Barnsdall Oil company are rigging up a rotary for their No. 1 W. H. Portwood to be located in section 1281, T. E. L. survey, five miles southwest of Megargel and in Baylor county. The new test is located 1,000 feet southwest of the Consolidated Oil company wildcat in the same section.

WILBARGER COUNTY

The Zenith Oil company No. 1 Dill located in section 82, block 14, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, and a north offset to the Zenith Oil company's No. 1 M. J. George in the J. Pointevent survey, southeast of the South Vernon pool in Wilbarger county, is drilling at 1360 feet.

Wichitans Attend Slaughter Rites

Relatives and friends of Mrs. Elizabeth Slaughter, 51, of Coopertown, Okla., who died Wednesday in Amarillo, left Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon to attend the funeral services which will be held from the family home in Coopertown Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Slaughter was a frequent visitor in Wichita Falls, having spent the greater part of last September in this city with her sister, Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, 1000½ Broad street. She was well known here and her death came as surprise to her many friends. Death came following a brief illness while she was visiting her brother, T. B. Donnell of Amarillo.

Besides the sister here and the brother in Amarillo, Mrs. Slaughter is survived by her husband; three children, Mrs. Steve Miller, Donnell Slaughter and Eugene Slaughter, all of Coopertown; two other sisters, Mrs. Jennie Funk and Mrs. Ida Boyd of Los Angeles, Calif.; and one other brother, J. C. Donnell of Los Angeles.

Gas Range Stolen From Servant House

J. W. Farabee, 2313 Ninth street, reported to police the theft of a three-burner gas range from the servant house in the rear of his home Thursday. The servant house had not been locked for some time, he told police. The Nehi Bottling company reported the stealing of two tires, tubes and rims from a company truck at 2709 Baltimore street Thursday.

Building Permits For Month Total $20,312

Building permits during October totaled $20,312, according to the monthly report issued in the office of the city engineer. This amount, with the total of $316,750 previously recorded for surburban permits for the entire year, brings the total for 1929 to $1,276,566.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Rallies from an irregular opening were promoted by unfavorable weather reports in cotton here today, but prices later weakened under a renewal of liquidation and southern selling. January contracts sold off from 18.29 to 18.02 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 20 to 22 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 1 point but light initial offerings were absorbed readily and the market soon steadied. Selling on relatively easy Liverpool cables seemed to be just about offset by covering on reports of further rains in the South with low temperatures in the West and for a time the market showed a pretty steady undertone.

The volume of business tapered off on the bulges and the market was very quiet later in the morning, as if traders were inclined to wait for the reopening of the stock market. This was reported firm at advances and brought in a little flurry of buying which sent the price of December contracts up to 18.17 and March to 18.57 with the general list showing net advances of about 4 to 8 points. The advance met some southern selling and the market eased on reports that the stock market had reacted from its opening advances. This seemed to cause reselling by some of the early buyers and the market became rather unsettled during the late afternoon.

December sold off to 17.90 and March to 18.31 and the market closed within a point or two of the lowest. Except for a flurry of business at the start and again at the close the market was generally quiet.

Liverpool cables said that continental buying and covering on the local bank rate had been supplied by hedging and liquidation in that market.

Port receipts today 84,209. U. S. port stocks, 2,337,236, exports 62,783, making 2,090,808 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31. (AP)—After fluctuating narrowly for most of today's session due to the holiday here tomorrow and the closing of the principal financial markets after today until Monday, cotton trading became quite active towards close due to some pre-holiday liquidation.

Prices which had advanced moderately, eased rapidly. December contracts sold off from 18.12 to 17.86 and closed at 17.87. The general market closed easy at net declines of 1 to 22 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively easier but the local market opened irregular. Initial trades were unchanged to 3 points net down and prices receded after the start until active positions showed losses of 2 to 3 points compared with the previous close.

Offerings were absorbed at the decline by a demand stimulated by the unfavorable weather in the belt. January reached 18.23 and March 18.50, or 6 to 7 points above the previous close.

After mid-session the market turned decidedly weak due to pre-holiday and the usual week-end liquidation and evening up. All active months made new lows for the day in late trading with January at 17.97 and March 18.23, or 26 to 27 points below the highs. Final prices were at about the lowest.

Burk Church to Plan New $75,000 Building

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 31.—The board of directors of the local Central Christian church will convene Sunday afternoon and officially appoint building committees for the new church building. The committees will follow the procedure of securing options for the new building, and carry out financial plans. The new building will probably be located near the old one, and calls for the expenditure of $75,000.

Stocks Settle Down After Rather Exciting Start; Big Advance Made

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (US)—Stocks settled down in good manner after a very excited opening today, in which advances of from 5 to 30 points were scored through the list. The outstanding strength of the opening invited some profit taking as the session progressed. Offerings were taken in good style, however, and Steel finished 8¼ higher, Anaconda gained 5, Erie 5, Radio 4⅛, Montgomery Ward 8, American Telephone 6¾, Consolidated Gas 10, Westinghouse 15¾, and Union Carbide 6 points. All groups benefited again as expressions of confidence poured into Wall street from business leaders throughout the country. Call money held at 6 per cent throughout and turnover reached over 7,000,000 shares for the three hours of trading.

"Get the stock market off the first page" is the desire expressed by leading bankers and business executives. They mean their one desire is to stop the exciting trading. They express belief that the three day shut down of trading will help materially to bring this about and that the resumption of trading after election day will find the market approaching "normalcy" once again. When that happens, however, it is to be expected that a very quiet trading market will be experienced for quite a while. During that period the actual results of the most trying period in stock exchange history will become known and the effects thereof gradually taken care of. Bonds should come in for ever increasing popularity and while it is the belief of bankers that the more active bond market will be a "temporary affair" it should last well into next year at least.

Treasury officials voiced firm belief that easier money would be experienced. With time rates at 6 per cent such statement indicates that call money is likely to drop to 4 per cent or lower. As trading volume is likely to steadily decrease however, that will not have much of a stock market influence until a new bull stimulus is found. The lowering of the Bank of England was rather a surprise as it was felt that that would wait on action here. It was regarded as evidence of how international banking leaders are keeping in closest touch with each other and that the "spirit of cooperation" never was greater.

The day was more replete with good news than any session in many years. Many of the favorable dividend actions undoubtedly were taken somewhat sooner than the directors of the respective corporations had planned up until the stock market disturbance. However they all were warranted by the splendid earnings the corporations have been showing up to this time and the fact that business leaders are getting out every possible piece of good news demonstrates the manner in which they have all rushed to the rescue of the investing world. Wall street veterans maintain there never has been a time when public hysteria was greater and the manner in which the situation has been handled, they point out, demonstrated the courage of the business leaders of the country.

Allred to Give East Texas Talks

James V. Allred, local attorney, who is a candidate for election as state attorney general in 1930, has accepted an invitation to address a group of East Texas American Legion posts in Nacogdoches on Armistice day, Nov. 11. Mr. Allred will discuss "The Unfinished Task." The invitation came from leaders in the Nacogdoches post, which will be host to a large number of organizations from that section of the state on the anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

On the evening of the same day Mr. Allred will be one of the principal speakers at an American Legion banquet at Center.

The driving park near Memphis, Tenn., where Lou Dillon, famed trotting mare of 25 years ago, stepped a mile in less than two minutes, is no more. A factory will be built on the park.

MIDWEST REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31. (AP)—Further weakness developed around the 11-market circuit on the lighter weight of beef steers and long yearlings. Chicago, however, reported an upturn of 25 cents on weighty fed steers. Eastern dressed beef market reported a poor demand with trade at Boston especially dull. Chicago had a top of $15.35 on yearlings and $14.75 on best weighty steers. Adverse weather conditions this week have had a tendency to slow up demand for replacement stock and some price concessions have been necessary in order to effect a clearing. High quality offerings, however, continued to meet a good demand.

Aggregate receipts 30,200, a decrease of 2,000 from last Thursday and 5,000 short of a year ago.

Opening hog trade unevenly steady to 25c lower. On the close packers at most points enforced a big 25c decline. The day's extreme top of $9.50 was paid in St. Louis. Total offerings 72,700 against 79,639 a week ago and 83,919 the corresponding day last year.

The sheep supply approximated 51,400, a decrease of 32,000 from a week ago and 30,000 less than a year ago. Killing classes were on a fully steady price basis. Choice native lambs in Chicago cleared at $12.75 while rangers at several of the river markets cashed up to $12.50.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Extremely uneven values prevailed in practically all divisions of the cattle and calf market here today, with pronounced dullness attended by a lower trend. Slaughter steers, low cutter cows, bulls and grassy slaughter yearlings, 15c to 25c lower.

Low cutter cows sold $4.65. Other low cutters at $4.00 and less.

Slaughter calves had a further decline of 25-50c. Choice heavy fat calves $9.00 and others at $8.75 and less.

Declines of about 10c occurred in carlots of butcher hogs and truckers cleared at levels steady to 10c lower. Best truck hog top $9.40 and medium to choice light rail butchers sold at $9.25. The rail receipts confined to one carlot.

Sheep and lamb trade poorly tested on account of short receipts and most sales appeared steady. Some fat yearlings sold at $9.00; 2-year-old fat wethers sold at $8.00 and a few aged wethers sold at $6.75.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Over enthusiastic profit taking on the part of recent speculative buyers, thrust wheat values downward today after a lively fresh upturn. Extra energy of efforts to realize gains was tempted by the fact that at one stage today's wheat prices had mounted to 16c a bushel higher than last week's bottom level.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅛c to 1⅛c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c to ⅝c down, with oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 12c.

To a great degree, wheat trade here was dominated early by knowledge that foreign markets had reflected in full the sharp advance of wheat values which had taken place yesterday on this side of the Atlantic. Fresh speculative purchasing, largely for houses with connections east, was stimulated also by indications of continued big export business again today, signs pointing to heavy additional amounts of breadstuffs being taken for transatlantic shipment both from the United States and Canada, whereas Argentine wheat exports for the week were figured as totaling only 1,470,000 bushels compared with 4,612,000 bushels the week previous.

A specially tonic effect on friends of higher prices for wheat came from announcement that No. 2 northern wheat available for immediate delivery at Winnipeg, had gone to a premium.

Helping to steady prices late were statements from influential sources that wheat production south of the equator promises to be 150,000,000 bushels short of last year, and that the peak of breadstuff supplies for Europe either through native harvests or through imports from Argentina appears to have been passed.

Action of stock market values today had little or no effect on wheat prices.

Despite wet mild weather, likely to interfere with conditioning and marketing of new corn, late weakness of wheat led to a decline in corn prices. Oats, also were unsettled, advancing early but reacting later with other grain.

Provisions kept about steady notwithstanding downturns in the value of hogs.

50. FLORIST-NURSERYMEN

KILLING FROST may occur now any time, making shrubs and trees dormant and safe to plant. Let me have your inquiries. Mr. Mackechney, 1602 Travis. Phone 9679.

PLANTING TIME IS HERE

We, as nurserymen, have kept pace with the advancing years. The old idea that Nov. 15 is the exact date on which to begin fall planting is as antiquated as some of the old methods and prophecies in the medical profession and other lines of business. Our experiments have been masterful teachers. Some of the largest and most successful nurseries of the South are advocating the summer planting, and especially do we recommend the early fall planting. Do not let the fellow who is behind the time influence you. What is being done in other localities can be done successfully here. John H. Kerr Nursery company, O. L. Phillips, representative. 2011 Grant. Phone 2-1957.

Teachers' Association Holds Meet at Quanah

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Hardeman County Teachers' association held its first meeting of the 1929-30 season at the auditorium of the Acme school, with 12 schools of the county represented by 36 teachers. Attendance at these meetings is not compulsory for merits, and the fact that teachers from the extreme ends of the county attended this first session is an indication of the interest taken in rural school work in the county.

Dr. T. D. Frizzel, mayor of Quanah, spoke on "Personality Disorders." Music by the Acme glee club, under Director Earnest Witt; extemporaneous debate by W. R. Lindsey, Douglas Henson, C. E. Brown and Noah Phillips; and a discussion by Miss Myrtle Porterfield, county superintendent, on the Texas State Teachers' association meeting to be held in Dallas during the Thanksgiving holidays, and distribution by her of literature on National Education week, which is from Nov. 11 to 17, made up the program for the meeting.

U. S. COURT TO OPEN NOV. 18

Order for Drawing of Jurors Sent Atwell

Miss Jesse Cowan, deputy United States district clerk, Thursday afternoon prepared an order calling for the drawing of 36 petit jurors and 23 grand jurors in preparation for the November term of the United States district court which opens here Monday morning, Nov. 18. The order will be mailed at once to Dallas for the signature of Judge W. H. Atwell. The juries will be drawn early next week as soon as the signed order is returned here, Miss Cowan said.

In the letter asking for the preparation of the jury order Judge Atwell asked also for information about the docket for the coming term. Records in the office of the clerk show that 40 law cases and five equity suits are pending, and that 104 new criminal complaints have been filed with the United States commissioner here since the last term of court.

Nine criminal cases were held over from the last term in March, according to statistics in the office of Miss Cowan. Of the number, three allege mail fraud; three violation of the national prohibition laws; one forgery; one violation of the Dyer act; and one of the Harrison anti-narcotic act.

Eighty-five of the new complaints are concerned with violations of the whisky laws; 10 with narcotic violations, five with the Dyer act; and two with forgery and the Mann act.

The complaints will be laid before the new grand jury when it is empaneled here at 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 18. The work of the investigating body is expected to be completed within a few days.

Of the 40 cases awaiting action on law docket, 12 involve war risk insurance cases against the government and 13 act for workmen's compensation. Six of the suits seek damages; four deal with income tax controversies; one is a contested bankruptcy petition and another alleges violation of the national safety appliance law. The remainder of the law suits are concerned with efforts to collect alleged debts or to enforce contracts. The work of the court is expected to be completed within the regular four week period.

Passports Issued Two Wichitans for Long Trips

Plans for a two-year round-the-world tour were made known Thursday when Miss Mildred V. McCarthy, 710 Wofford street, filed an application for a passport with Miss Jesse Cowan, deputy United States district clerk. Miss McCarthy plans to sail from Los Angeles on Jan. 10. Her itinerary calls for a first landing in Japan and includes China, India, New Zealand, France, and England.

Miss Cowan also filed a passport application for Mrs. R. L. Tilton and baby son. Mrs. Tilton, who gave her address as 1653 Collins, plans to sail from New York aboard the "Eastern Price" for Bolivia and Argentina early in December. She will join her husband, who is associated with foreign oil development and make here home temporarily abroad.

Fort Worth Rotary Leader Speaks Here

Methods used by the educational committee of the Fort Worth Rotary club in training new members in Rotary principles were discussed by that club's secretary, Lewis D. Fox, before the weekly meeting of the local Rotary club Thursday noon at the Kemp hotel.

The humorous epic of childhood, "Little Orphant Annie," and the old English "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," were sung by the Bluebonnet quartet, composed of Mesdames P. M. Cordell, R. M. Wilhite, C. H. Evans and J. A. Stratton. Miss Elizabeth Cole played their accompaniments.

C. E. Stevens and Edgar Ratcliff were welcomed by J. H. Allison as new members of the club.

Today At the Theaters

By W. L. UNDERWOOD

MAJESTIC: Richard Dix and June Collyer in "The Love Doctor." Rollicking comedy, with R. Dix in his element. "Lady Fare," (Birmingham high-browns). Musical revue, "Favorite Melodies." "Hunting the Hunter," talking comedy. Movietone news.

STRAND: "The Two Black Crows," Moran and Mack, in "Why Bring That Up?" Evelyn Brent in a wicked mood, Harry Green's talkative hands. Talking comedy. Paramount sound news.

OLYMPIC: Hoot Gibson in "The Winged Horseman," with Ruth Elder. Honey Hank Harris, burlesque. Comedy. Pathe news.

GEM: "Wyoming Tornado," with Art Acord. Chapter 5 of "Queen of North Woods." Comedy.

If the present entertainment at the Majestic and that which opened at midnight Thursday at the Strand were chosen as "chasers" for Ruth Chatterton's tragic "Madame X" and Letrice Joy's serious melodrama, "A Most Immoral Woman," somebody must be commended for so apt a prescription. The "Two Black Crows" are the epitome of black-face nonsense, while the bill which closes at the Majestic Friday night is 120 minutes of amusement without one serious thought to cast a shadow.

In a delicate farce called the "Love Doctor," Richard Dix wipes out the apprehension felt for his talking-picture future following the screening of "The Wheel of Life" here several weeks ago. Perhaps the major handicap with which that showing was burdened was a miserable sound record. It even slipped out of time with the actors' lip movements. Combined with stilted action, the vocal defalcations of that picture served only to sharpen one's appreciation of Richard's silent film comedies. But in "The Love Doctor" a clear, incisive voice proves delightfully adequate in the playful moods which should be Richard's steady menu.

Apparently, no bit of stage humor has a better chance of "getting over" with every customer than a caricature of foibles to which we all are heir. Young Buddy (Morgan Farley) in "The Love Doctor" furnishes one of the highlights of the farce in his first call at the doctor's office. The portentious prodding of the thermometer under the tongue and the ominous pressure of the stethoscope on the chest quickly made a diseased wreck out of the luckless Buddy. Hence the gooseflesh on his arms and the facial marks of dire affliction. Ripples of laughter pointedly indicate just how many of the audience have feebly responded to that ominous command: "Say 'ah!'"

June Collyer was given "something different" in the role assigned her with Mr. Dix in the current film. In fact, she is allowed to stay around the stage a good deal more than in "Illusion" and "River of Romance," in which she has been seen here recently, and to initiate a few ideas herself in the dialog. But, without wishing to be too personal with June, it will be nice if some really platonic friend steps right up and tells her about one little facial trick that "Miss Moore" used. A peculiar drawing in of the cheeks when pursing her pretty lips coquettishly at the doctor had a devastating effect on Miss Collyer's beauty. The general contour of her countenance would indicate no need for Hollywood's famous reducing diet, and when those cheeks were reefed in snugly against June's molars, recent emergence from a siege of typhoid was so good as proven. Of course, that's just too morbid—but she really ought to know.

Jack White and Al Christie, both of whom are creating quite distinct fields in the art of talking-motion pictures, contribute two very acceptable numbers on the present Majestic bill. And these really are talking-motion pictures, not photographed plays. The lines spoken in "Hunting the Hunter," the White comedy, play a minor part; but one ludicrous action follows another with great hilarity. Mr. Christie's offering brings Florian Slappey and other O. Roy Cohen duskies to the screen in "Lady Far." Above a general level of unusually effective burlesque the team of tap dancers stands out with a surprising exhibition of toe synchorny.

Believe it or not, (as some great man once said) Evelyn Brent in Moran and Mack's talking-screen autobiographies now at the Strand will really play the bad girl. Unscrupulously and with serpentine wiles, she will wean George Moran away from his faithful partner, will make him a ruthless squanderer, will undermine his blossoming career—Evelyn does that, and all for money—think of it! But its all done very convincingly, and it surely is a real Dempsey wallop she hands the catty blonde.

CITY GREETS C.-C. MANAGER

Harrison Given Welcome By Longview Residents

Hubert M. Harrison, of Wichita Falls, new manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce which has headquarters at Longview, was given Longview's warmest welcome when he arrived there Thursday, according to dispatches to The Record News.

He was met at the station by a large delegation of citizens, and his arrival in the city was heralded by the best efforts of the Longview Municipal band. After these preliminaries, he was escorted to the East Texas Chamber of Commerce building, where he was presented the key to the city by City Manager B. N. Taylor.

The mythical key was not the only gift bestowed. Mrs. A. S. Latham, repressenting the city of Longview and the Woman's chamber of commerce, presented Mr. Harrison with a large bouquet of roses. A number of other friends had sent flowers to the new executive. Placards bearing welcoming words to Mr. Harrison were displayed in shop windows by all the merchants.

Mr. Harrison, whose resignation as general manager of the chamber of commerce here was accepted to become effective on Oct. 31, was granted special permission to leave his position at the close of the day on Oct. 30, in order to arrive in Longview Nov. 1. He left Wichita Falls early Thursday morning.
