MERMOZ AND HIS TWO COMPANIONS FAIL IN HOP ATTEMPT

(By Associated Press)
DAKAR, Senegal, July 9.—Jean Mermoz, noted French aviator, on the first west to east Trans-Atlantic air mail flight between South America and Africa, was forced to come down on the sea when well over half way across today.

He and his two companions, Leopold Gummé, radio operator, and Jean D'Alary, navigator, were rescued and the 600 pounds of air mail which they took aboard on leaving Natal, Brazil, yesterday were saved.

Discovers Oil Leak
Mermoz, three hours earlier had discovered an oil leak which apparently was not serious, but two hours before he came down the oil pressure dropped alarmingly and he sent a wireless message that he was heading toward the dispatch boat Pohocoe, one of several boats patrolling the route in case of emergency.

The Phocoe, being informed of Mermoz's trouble, started to the rescue and met the plane. She stood by and took aboard the three men and the mail. The mail was to be transferred to another dispatch boat and carried at full speed to Africa for relay by plane to Paris.

Mermoz came down in 7 degrees north latitude and 24 degrees west longitude, about 650 miles southwest of Dakar.

MIRAGE BRINGS RANGE CLOSE

Cleveland, July 9. L. Odenbach, astronomer and astronomer of John Carroll university.

Father Odenbach said a mirage made the mountains in the Georgian Bay territory, easily visible to the naked eye here. He said there was no doubt that he had seen the mountains and believed he saw boats on the bay.

He explained that he did not use glasses as to have done so would have destroyed the effect of the phenomenon, caused by chance peculiar atmospheric conditions.

SHOW DOWN IS EXPECTED

REMOVAL OF HUSTON AS REPUBLICANS' HEAD PLANNED

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 9. (AP)—Several responsible leaders of the republican party are planning to support a movement for the removal of Claudius H. Huston as chairman of the republican national committee, unless he voluntarily relinquishes the post.

Belief was widespread today that Huston would resign after the meeting of party chieftains which he was called for tomorrow, with the announcement campaign funds would be discussed. Others were not so certain, but all expected a show down at tomorrow's conference.

Some of the national committee officers who will attend are prepared to bring the subject up and inform Huston of the dissatisfaction with his leadership which followed testimony before the senate subcommittee that he deposited funds collected for the Tennessee River Improvement association to his private brokerage account.

The group which meets tomorrow has no power to oust the party chairman. That authority rests with the national executive committee of the party. This committee can be called into session by the petition of a majority of its members.

NEFF IS HERE TO TRANSACT BUSINESS ONLY, HE DECLARES; TALKS TONIGHT

"My mission in Lubbock is non-political. I am here to transact business."

That was the statement issued here this morning by former Governor Pat M. Neff, of Waco, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, when interviewed in his suite at Hotel Lubbock.

Unchanged by the six years which have elapsed since he left the chief executive's desk at Austin, the stately and immaculate Texan, wearing his customary hat-winged collar and black string tie, is here today to preside over bus hearings which come under the supervision of his commission.

Mr. Neff declined to talk politics

Opposition Given Freight Classification

HEARING IS HELD IN CITY DURING TODAY

PAT NEFF PRESIDING IN HEARING FOR TRUCK MEN

Strong opposition to proposed classification of freight to be hauled by motor truck lines of the South Plains and West Texas territories was developed today at a hearing held by the state railroad commission with Pat M. Neff, chairman, presiding.

Chief interest for the afternoon session will be the application of the Kuykendall Transfer and Storage company, et al, seeking to have rates established under order 1078 set aside.

Rate Pleas Heard
Applications of half a dozen or so transfer lines from over the territory to change rates were heard by the commission. Mark Marshall, director of motor transportation, is assisting the chairman, with H. A. Wheaton, Austin, of the rate department of the commission, to handle questions pertaining to classification, etc.

Sessions are being held in room 212 of the Hotel Lubbock and it was estimated that approximately 100 persons crowded into the room or stood in the halls outside.

Amarillo Men Heard
Before the hearing opened, E. W. Hardin, Amarillo, president of the Amarillo Hardware company and representative of the manufacturers and jobbers association of that city spoke. Frank C. Close, of Amarillo, representing the traffic club, also spoke. Both men expressed themselves as shippers, in favor of the flat rate proposal of the truckmen and as against the proposed classification of freight rates.

Don Saunders, Port Worth, a truck line operator, spoke for the classification and against the flat rate.

L. K. Oikerson, who operates a line from Amarillo to Silverton, gave testimony against the proposed adoption of the western classification rates.

FLEAGLE SET TO DIE ON THURSDAY

DENVER, Colo., July 9. (AP)—Indications today were that Ralph Fleagle will be hanged at Canon City Thursday.

Governor Adams gave Fleagle's attorneys until Wednesday evening to make a final plea for the Lamar killer. L. W. Cunningham of Colorado Springs and S. Harrison White of Denver are expected to appear.

The governor made it plain he is at the disposal of Fleagle's counsel. This was done, it was said at the state house, to forestall any claim that they were prevented by the governor's illness, from making a final argument for commutation of the death sentence. Governor Adams is confined to his hotel room with an infected eye.

PARRISH'S WIDOW HIDDEN FROM PUBLIC

DENVER, July 9. (AP)—The Denver Post says Mrs. May Parrish, widow of A. N. Parrish, for whose murder Ralph Fleagle is to die on the gallows this week, has taken her two children and fled from her home at Lamar, Colo., fearing a kidnapping attempt.

Mrs. Parrish's destination, says the Post, would be kept secret until the fear of reprisal had subsided. Parrish was one of four persons slain by Fleagle and his accomplices in the robbery of the First National Bank of Lamar in 1928.

Wade said he had no plans for the immediate future excepting that he expected to take a vacation, something he had not enjoyed for a number of years. He formerly was manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and prior to that of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

CONSCIENCE-STRICKEN SLAYER CONFESSES TO POISONING OF HIS BOYHOOD PLAYMATE AFTER THIRTYFIVE YEARS

FRESNO, Cal., July 9.—Identity of a conscience-stricken individual in San Diego who wrote a letter confessing the murder of a playmate here 35 years ago was being sought today by Fresno police. The letter, signed "a repentant," was received yesterday by the Fresno Republican. Investigation tended to bear out the truth of its assertions. Whether the confessor would seek the relatives of his alleged victim and confess personally to them as he promised in the letter remained to be seen.

"About 30 or 35 years ago," said the letter, "I poisoned my childhood playmate in Fresno, a little boy by the name of Conrad Bernard. He was supposed to have died from natural causes and no one has ever suspected the cause of his death."

"Will you please publish the name and address of any member of his family now living that I may locate them and personally confess my deed to them? I am compelled to sign communication anonymously because if I did not the officers might interfere before I could personally talk to some member of the family."

Conrad Bernard, 13, died April 13, 1895 after a sudden illness. Death was attributed to natural causes. Mrs. Angina E. Bernard, the boy's mother, lives in Oakland.

Victims Of "Jake" Paralysis Offer Selves In Experiment

OKLAHOMA PHYSICIANS AT WORK ON CURE OF MALADY

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 9.—Two victims of "jake" paralysis, crippled since February, today offered themselves to medical experts to be used in experimenting for possible cures for the disabling disease.

One, a druggist, has no use of his legs, and his hands also are affected, the other's feet are paralyzed and he has been unable to work for four months.

Until research, which has isolated the cause of the paralysis, is completed, it is probable the volunteer victims will not be used.

Every resource of the state has been thrown behind efforts of Dr. H. A. Shoemaker, Dr. L. A. Turley, and Dr. W. T. Bowden. Oklahoma City medical experts, to discover exact cause of the paralysis which affected approximately 600 men and women here. Jamaica ginger consumption preceded most of the cases.

ORANGE CITY, Iowa, July 9. (AP)—John De Jong, 41, widower and father of five children, today told Sioux county officers he was captured by a band of men who tarred and feathered him and left him nude in the streets here. He said he could recognize 17 of his attackers.

Sioux county officers said they expected to make arrests today. They said they believed the attack was the result of rumors involving DeJong in a local scandal.

DeJong said he was captured at the fair grounds, driven into the country, forced to undress and tarred and feathered. He said his attackers released him in the street without returning any of his clothes.

GAS WAR ON COAST RAGES

PRICES RANGE FROM 8 TO 14 CENTS TODAY; AID IS ASKED

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—While gasoline prices ranged from eight to fourteen cents a gallon on the Pacific coast today, rumors indicated the price slugging was a fight to the finish with the extermination of weaker retailers as a possibility.

Tacoma motorists were buying gasoline at eight cents, at Los Angeles it sold at ten cents, Seattle at eleven to thirteen cents with similar prices here. It was slightly higher at other points.

Governor's Aid Asked
Oil company officials admitted the "war" was the most serious ever faced by distributors on the Pacific coast. An independent dealers association here asked Governor Young to call off companies and gasoline distributors as public utilities under jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. The group also threatened to sell gasoline at wholesale prices next week unless prices were stabilized.

Herbert H. McMillan, vice president of the McMillan Petroleum company, announced he would ask for federal intervention. Charging gasoline was being sold 7 1/2 cents below production cost "obviously to injure competitors and lessen competition through unfair trade tactics," McMillan said the Clayton act and code of ethics of the Federal Trade Commission were being violated.

Bees Kill Horses; Nothing Can Be Done

YAKIMA, Wash., July 9. (AP)—Forgetting honey, a swarm of neighbor's bees visited Eilis Bounds' ranch and promptly killed a team of horses and sent the driver to bed suffering from stings.

It seems there is little Bounds can do about it, except perhaps, bury the horses.

The prosecutor's staff, after hours of search, announced warning bees was one subject legislators apparently had overlooked.

Charles A. Junior Is Name Chosen

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., July 9. (AP)—The name is Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

A statement issued from the home of his grandfather, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, where he was born, said that the baby's parents had decided to call him after his father.

The announcement ended much speculation.

WRITING ABOUT ROOSEVELT REMOVED FROM PUBLIC DUE TO FEAR OF LIBEL

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 9.—The New York Times says today that fear of a possible libel suit over incidents related in Owen Wister's new book, "Theodore Roosevelt, the Story of a Friendship 1880-1919"—was the cause of its temporary withdrawal by the publisher, Macmillan and company, last month.

Copies of the book which had been distributed advance of the date of publication were recalled by Macmillan with no explanation other than it was made necessary by "circumstances beyond their control."

The Times says the story which led to the recall purported to tell of a ruse used by a hostess in a southern city by which she succeeded in inducing Mr. Roosevelt to enter her home while he was a visitor in the city to the great vexation of other ambitious hostesses.

Mr. Roosevelt, according to Wister's story, was much displeased when he learned several months later, that he had been imposed upon.

After advance copies had been distributed, the Times says, there were intimations of a libel suit. Wister was abroad, the publishers consulted their attorneys, then recalled the advance copies and waited until Wister could be reached.

DOCUMENTS OF SESSION ARE BEING SOUGHT

HOOPER REFUSES TO PRODUCE PAPERS FOR STUDY

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 9.—The senate today was embroiled in a bitter dispute over whether it is entitled to examine all the correspondence exchanged by this and other governments in the negotiation of the London naval treaty.

The controversy centered upon a resolution by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, asking President Hoover to produce all documents bearing on the arms limitation pact not previously made public. A vote of uncertain outcome was expected today.

Hoover Declines Plea
Mr. Hoover has already declined to produce the papers in question, on the ground such action would be contrary to public interest.

Opponents of the treaty were confident of enough votes to adopt the McKellar resolution. Several influential members of the group which favors the pact were willing to vote for the Tennesseean's measure, including Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee.

As his suggestion, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, a delegate to the London conference, proposed an amendment which if approved would have the resolution ask Mr. Hoover to give the senate the documents in question if he considered such a course "compatible with the public interest."

McKellar refused to accept the (Turn to Page 9, Column 7, Please)

SHOWMANSHIP IS USED CLEVERLY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 9. (AP)—A bandit with a flair for showmanship moved his headquarters to the lobby of the First National Bank of Artesia yesterday and staged a performance for which he exacted a fee of $750.

"I have a gun on you. Five men within and three outside," read a note he handed the cashier. "My men will stay here for half an hour after I leave."

The robber took $750 and departed. His men stroiled in silence about the bank until police arrived.

"He hired us at an employment agency to work on a ranch," the leader explained when informed he had been an accomplice in a bank robbery. "He told us to follow him to the bank where he would get payroll money."

Convinced the men transported had been "almshouse" for the robbery, police released the first known journeyman bank robbery "supers."

Left, red and white ensemble; center, red and white dotted frock; right, mask veil worn with printed chiffon ensemble.

Spectator sports costumes as seen in France vary as they do in the United States. For the most part suits and ensembles are favored, but the slightly more formal, longer skirted frocks are also in the picture.

Hats, too, vary of course with the costume with which they are worn. The tiny cap-like hats worn far back on the head, with the hair arranged about them, as great favorites, but many capeline models are also seen, and numbers of the intermediate chapeaux with medium brims and various styles.

Three chic costumes which the camera caught at Longchamps, Paris, race track recently are pictured. At the left is an interesting ensemble in red and white with a pelerin cape effect. The white is used in narrow bandings. A wide straw hat and black bag, leather opera pumps are worn with this outfit.

A pretty creation for the young girl is pictured center. It is a red and white dotted frock with solid white vester. The little turban

SECTIONAL RALLY PLANNED FOR SMALL ADDRESS HERE, JULY 19

WEST TEXAN SCHEDULED TO APPEAR HERE

OTHER TOWNS TO BE REPRESENTED IN GATHERING

A section-wide rally will be held for Clint C. Small, of Wellington, candidate for governor, when friends and supporters gather in Lubbock on Saturday, July 19, to hear the West Texan as he makes his first appearance in this city since opening his gubernatorial campaign some weeks ago.

Definite time and place of Senator Small's address has not been announced but friends here stated yesterday that advance notice will be sent out over the territory in sufficient time to assure good representation from all sections of the South Plains.

Headway Noted

Since his announcement as a candidate rapid headway has been noted in almost every section of Texas as concerns his campaign and in many cities "Clint Small-for-Governor" clubs have sprung into being. R. J. Murray is president of the South Plains organization and that body is to have charge of the speaking arrangements.

A ladies auxiliary was formed yesterday at a meeting at the Hilton hotel, with Miss Delia Wilkinson named as temporary chairman.

First session of the group already numbering over 40 women, will be held on Thursday afternoon.

EAST TEXANS SAID TO BE FOR SMALL

(Special to the Journal) LONGVIEW, July 9.—East Texas will select Senator Clint C. Small to defeat the professional politician at Austin in the election of G. A. Bodenheimer, former mayor of Longview who introduced the candidate before an audience of Gregg county voters here last night.

Mr. Bodenheimer, chief executive of this thriving East Texas metropolis for twenty years, brought out in his introductory address that following a careful survey of all of the candidates and their records it was decided that Small had the best chance as the "crusader" against

Seeks Parole

LINCOLN, Neb., July 9. (AP)—Mary Lowe, 17-year-old Arkansas girl sentenced to 15 months in prison by a federal judge for violation of the prohibition laws, today appeared before the Nebraska board of pardons for a parole recommendation.

As a federal charge, the girl was placed in the Nebraska reformatory for women at York, and before federal authorities can act on her application for a parole, it must be approved by the Nebraska board. The girl contends she sold liquor to the federal agents at the direction of her mother.

He Had Gained

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., July 9. (AP)—Loy Shipman, jailed as a thief, had forgotten that his figure isn't as slim and boyish as it used to be.

So it happened that Sheriff H. A. Zickert, making his rounds of the Upshur county jail, found an embarrassed Shipman, swathed in blankets, trying to look as if he didn't know he was caught fast by the cell window bars through which he had attempted to escape.

Shipman had discarded his clothing, the better to squeeze through the small space between the bars. Yellow prisoners wrapped him in blankets to protect him against the chill air until help arrived. The bars had to be pried apart before Shipman could be freed.

Volunteers

SANTA FE, N. M., July 9. (AP)—Governor R. C. Dillon has received two more volunteers for a trachoma experiment in New Mexico to further the attempts of science to isolate the trachoma germ.

A man in Maine and another in Connecticut have written the governor volunteering themselves. The governor received the first offer from an Albuquerque man. The names of the men are being withheld. One of the latest volunteers made his offer confidential upon the withholding of his letter from the press. "I am not seeking publicity or notoriety," the man wrote.

Obedient Violator

NEW YORK, July 9. (AP)—In these days of disregard of law, read about Erna Griminger, a 20-year-old miss. In order to answer a summons for parking for her uncle, Otto Haug, of Endicott, N. Y., with whom she lives, Miss Griminger arose before dawn, took a five-hour train ride and spent $10 in railroad fares to appear in traffic court here at 9 a. m., and then the case wasn't called until noon. After paying the $5 fine, she departed lamenting the unpunctuality of New Yorkers.

Cow Falls Dead

CHARDON, O., July 8. (AP)—Fred Wiman was seriously injured today when a cow he was milking died and fell on him.

Pinned beneath the animal, Wiman was unable to move for nearly an hour, until his cries attracted aid.

Cow Bites Family

NEW ORLEANS, July 9. (AP)—The entire family of Santos Conte here were bitten and scratched by a cow while trying to give the sick animal medicine.

Although examination of the cow's head revealed she was suffering from rabies, Conte and his nine-year-old daughter, Sidney, Laura refused to take the pasteur treatment. The father said he was out of a job and too busy seeking work.

Two other members of the family submitted to the treatment.

Scratch Is Fatal

MT. HOLLY, N. M., July 9. (AP)—Believed to have opened an artery in scratching his leg, Walter L. Brown, 31, of Rancho, near here, bled to death today before medical aid could be summoned.

Physicians said he apparently had scratched too severely and opened the artery with his finger nail.

FORT WORTH MEN FETED IN BANQUET HERE

BOOSTERS ENTERTAINED IN LIONS PROGRAM LAST NIGHT

Sixteen business representatives of Fort Worth who are making a good will tour of West Texas, were guests of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in the Hilton Hotel last night at a banquet of the Lions club.

One hundred officials of the chamber of commerce, clubmen, and women united in welcoming the visitors. The banquet was the regular weekly meeting of the Lions club. E. L. Pitts, vice-president of that organization, presided and Ben F. Condray was in charge of the program.

In a welcome address, Mayor J. J. Clements referred to the Fort Worth visitors "as our real friends." He stated that Lubbock's progress, during the past ten years, as based upon development of agriculture, was the outstanding event of any city in America of 20,000 population, and predicted that this city's undeveloped territory was large enough to support a city the size of Fort Worth.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, referred to Fort Worth citizens and newspapers as having been champions of this section and of the college. R. J. Murray, president of the chamber of commerce, said: "The only friends the Plains country had in the early days were the good folks of Fort Worth." He made a plea for greater recognition of West Texas politically, socially and otherwise.

Mrs. McKnight sang two numbers with Mrs. J. B. Galland, at the piano. Miss Margaret Hallwell offered violin numbers with Miss Margaret Huff accompanying.

Fort Worth visitors to "make short talks included A. J. Wylie, E. C. Lowden, B. A. Tolbert, Homer J. Fowler, while other members of the Panther City party were Sam Ross, McElreath, electrotypist, E. D. Alexander of the Star-Telegram, B. A. Tolbert of Central Electric Company, T. L. Buchanan, Stockyards, National Bank, Champ Clark, First National Bank; A. J. Wylie, Scott Brothers Grain Company; W. O. Stephens, Cities Service Oil Co.; W. T. Ladd, Hub Furniture Company; Homer J. Fowler, William Cameron and Company; Jack Corn, All Texas Sign and Advertising Company; Grover C. Moore, Economy Electrical Supply Company; Aubrey Herndon, Fort Worth Press; E. C. Lowden, Stafford-Lowden Company; John D. Jarrott, of the Casey-Swaney Cigar Company; Zeta Gossett, Continental National Bank, and E. P. Van Zandt, Fort Worth National Bank. Cotten will represent the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

The Fort Worth good will evangelists will complete their 800-mile swing through West Texas Friday, after having visited 36 towns.

NEW GUSHER SETS PEAK

TIDAL COMPANY'S NO. 1 GRIMES MAKING 20,736 BARRELS

Gauging 864 barrels of oil in one hour, a rate of 20,736 barrels daily, the Tidal Oil company's No. 1 W. O. Grimes today established a new peak for flush production in the Hobbs district of Lea county, New Mexico, with the oil which showed three per cent basic sediment and water from rotary drilling, was an estimated 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The well was tested at 4,160 feet after 4,140 feet of 3-inch tubing was run. The location is 1,850 feet from the south line and 990 feet from the east line section 29-18-38, about one-half mile north and slightly east of Shell No. 1 X state A.

Developing in Lea county over the week-end included bringing in of the Amerada Petroleum Corporation's No. 2 McKinley and making of five new locations. The Amerada No. 2 McKinley was unloaded at 4,208 feet and during the first four and one-half hours flowed 513 barrels of oil through tubing and casing.

ing. Wide open for eight hours Sunday, the well averaged 440 barrels hourly, showing 10 per cent basic sediment and 1 per cent water. Gas was estimated 10,000,000 cubic feet. The location is 2,310 feet from the north and west lines of section 30-18-38.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of Fat

Gained a Shapely Figure

If you're fat—remove the cause!

hot water every morning—exercise regularly—do not overeat—and—in three weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—seener in mind. KRUSCHEN will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest, and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

Behold the stranger!

A STRANGER moves to your neighborhood. You observe him tolerantly, but with no immediate display of interest. You are an established resident, getting along very nicely before he came.

But you do not avoid him. For reasons not entirely unselfish you wait for him to reveal himself. Possibly he may add something to your social and business life. Possibly he will take a highly respected place in the community. He may even become one of your intimates. It is up to him.

So you note his manners, talk with him, and form an opinion. If he comes up to your requirements, you accept him, and often he proves a welcome addition to your group of friends.

It is with exactly the same attitude that the intelligent newspaper reader regards the advertisements of products new to him. These strangers may add something to his civilized enjoyment. They may contribute to his comfort, safety—even his success. In many ways they may prove valuable. Certainly it is wise to give them careful consideration.

Read the advertisements in the Avalanche-Journal. They may be the means of introducing you to products that will take important places in your life. And every day they will give you information that enables you to buy intelligently and make your money go farther.

Thought For Today

A companion of fools shall be destroyed.—Proverbs 13:20.

Friends are good—good, if well-chosen.—DePoe.

Too Old

The wise virgin will fill her lamp with oil and be ready when the bridgroom comes, exactly as her great, very great grandmother was almost 2,000 years ago. The chances are that a husband will last considerably longer than a job, according to statistics gathered in a recent survey of employment agencies and industries which employ women.

An increasingly large number of employers are refusing to accept a girl who has reached the age of 35.
Twenty-nine percent of a ripe old age, the last year in which it is possible for a maiden to attempt economic independence.

The survey further reveals that those who have already obtained places in the business world may find themselves classified in the category of the "too old" upon reaching their 34th birthday. A woman's usefulness is on the wane, so far as industry is concerned, at that stage.

That women themselves are aware of this is witnessed in the attempt to maintain personal youth. Instead of being old, etc., at gracefully and gracefully as possible, women, the last few years, have tried to achieve a perennial 16.

Economic independence for women will suffer setback if the recent survey is true. They will not be able to count the blessings, one by one, of those who ride shoulder to shoulder with men in the pursuit of life, happiness and a career.

It is a generally accepted fact that a woman's chances of marriage are on the decrease after 25. If the business opportunities are to be placed on a sliding scale, it is quite probable that she will brush up on her beauty and charm instead of on her typing. It would seem that it is wiser for a maiden to prepare a batch of apple sauce and leave the kitchen for Adam to bring home.

Thirty-five is generally accepted by critics as the age at which a woman is supposed to be in the prime of her charms. This may be true, but according to industry she is an old lady. Fortunately a woman is still efficient as a wife and mother after 35. And maybe she will function more completely in this dual role if the chain of age is firmly implanted for married women, who are attempting to increase the family bank account, may find themselves in the retired list.

But those women who secure their jobs under the old regime, forgetting that it would have to give way to the new some day, will have to brush up on their efficiency.
Thirty-four is old—too old.

Upswing Is Near

The monthly business bulletin issued by the Cleveland Trust company is one of the most sober, analytical business and industrial charts now available; and the current issue brings the cheering prediction that the return of prosperity cannot be very far distant.

Pointing out that production has declined more rapidly than consumption, so that shortages are in the making in many important lines
the bulletin says:

"The combined forces of under-production and of abundant credit at low rates are causing to remain conditions, and to bring about business recovery, as they always do in times like these. Ease of credit facilities business recovery, and under-production compels it. We have both in combination, and confidence that they will be effective in the near distant future is fully justified.
All the history of past periods of slow business indicates that the end of this one is approaching."

Fremmen in an Illinois town have been instructed to "snow" all alarm clocks in their pajamas. With hose to match, probably.

The plane that made the record drop in our opinion is the one built last year for the Schneider cup races at a cost of $50,000 and set up for sale the other day for $1.

The war has playing now. Art shows even as valuable as he is naive.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says if we were all in such a hurry to get to work as we are to go places maybe there'd be more prosperity.

B. SHERROD, called "Beatrice" for short, is another home town boy who has made good in the city. B. has just returned from St.
Louis and Washington and Atlantic city, attending hardware and Kiwanis conventions and he's had a large time. He's got more to tell about than anybody.

Last winter there was a quite unassuming young fellow residing in Lubbock. His name is Sammy West and he's a star of the Washington baseball club in the American league. He used to come into The Journal office frequently and while The Plainsman didn't know him very well he put young West down as a "regular fellow," even if he is a big diamond star.

According to B. Sherrod, The Plainsman had Sammy down right but not enough. The local hardware dealer says West is one big leaguer who hasn't let success go to his head and who manages to withstand public praise in a most commendable manner.

While B. was in Washington
he looked West up, knowing that the outfielder had wintered here and was registered in the baseball world as having been in Lubbock. Says B.: "While I didn't know Sammy before going to Washington, I know him now and want to say that my best friend couldn't have shown me a better time." West, who married Miss Grace Cross, former Lubbock school teacher, gave B. pieces to the ball games, entertained him in his home and upon several different days took him about to the various places of interest in Washington.

West, recently adjudged the fastest outfielder in the American league, will winter in Lubbock again this season, along with Fred Mar-berry, Washington pitcher. Both expect to have put a share of world series dough in the old sock before coming home.

ITS mighty nice to hear of fellows who reach success and a high place in the public eye and don't let it spoil them. Too often a bit of luck will elevate some bird, who can't stand the pressure and becomes high-bait on the rest of us ordinary folks. The Plainsman likes to hear of Sammy West's success as a ball player—he drove in four runs against Boston Monday—but he likes better to hear that in spite of that success the young athlete is still wearing the same old hat he wore before crashing the big top. Such a report is refreshing and one that a lot of us who haven't made the success West has made may still consider.

A Lubbock man, left orphaned by a vacationing faun, is earned in the morning that you can't turn your eyes with a fly away.

That Man on Avenue Q says some people never know when they are well off because they never have been that way.

It happened out at sunset school
just the other day.

Teacher—Conjugate the verb to swim.
Pupil—Swim, swim, swim.
Teacher—That's right. Now conjugate the verb to dim.
Pupil—He? What you're trying to do, kid me?

The modern girl, from all we hear,
can meet the wolf at the front door
and come back with a fair coat.

One half of the world may not know how the other half lives but that situation doesn't exist in Lubbock, Texas.

THE Plainsman has received—and declined—a very courteous invitation to join a glider club which is being formed in Lubbock. The idea of course, is to purchase a glider and let a small portion of the local citizenry find out how to fly one in safety, if possible.

While The Plainsman hasn't any desire to join the glider club he welcomes it to Lubbock because it will probably result in some good front page stories. Broken necks are still news in this portion of the country and even smashups, which result in plain fractured skulls, busted arms, ribs and legs and similar jollies, are regarded as news.

We suggest that honorary membership in the club be given to Rix-Sanders and Bynum Brothers.
Funeral homes, in exchange for last rites privileges and ambulance service, and that several well known doctors be similarly served in return for professional services. There is nothing which prepares like preparedness.

The Plainsman is an old fog-
ey. He's leery of these contraptions that fly on behind automobiles and tied to planes equipped with motors. Learning to glide over the meadows and brooklets may be one form of contributing to aviation's progress but "they also serve who only stand and wait." We prefer the latter category.

Labor Statistics Bureau Discovers More Employers Are Giving Extra Wages To Man They Lay Off, Dutcher Says

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The next time three or four millions persons become unemployed through no fault of their own a larger percentage of them will receive wages to cover the period immediately after they lose their jobs.

Payment of a dismissal wage to workers discharged because of lack of work is increasing in increasing numbers among employers, although the practice is still extremely limited in application, according to a recent study by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Bureau found that there was a slowly growing recognition among some employers that they were responsible in large measure, when workers were dismissed because of curtailed production changes in production methods and other reasons over which workers have no control.

Not a Final Solution
While the dismissal wage does not contribute materially to the final solution of the unemployment problem, it is pointed out, it is of very real assistance in giving the dismissed worker the opportunity to conduct a wider search for a new job or to adjust his standard of living to a reduced income. It may also have the effect of reducing unemployment in the individual plant in which it is in effect by curbing any tendency on the part of the employment manager or foreman to discharge employees for insufficient reasons.

The Delaware & Hudson railroad terminated a group of employees which provided for all dismissed workers as early as 1922. Employees are eligible to three forms of contributing insurance and if they carry two of these and have worked for the road 24 months, the company insures them so that in case of discharge they are paid so much a week for not more than six weeks.

Some concerns give reduced pensions to employees laid off after a certain period of service, and pension plans, mostly contributory, sometimes benefit employees who must be discharged for one reason or another before retirement age.

Frequently employees are warned of the probability of production curtailment bound to result in dismissals and sometimes such notice is required in agreements between employers and labor unions, although in countless instances workers have been fired without warning.

Specific instances of American practice cited by the Bureau of Labor Statistics include the following:
The Amalgamated Clothing Workers have an agreement with employers providing for equal distribution of work among regular cutters in slack seasons, rather than dismissals. But when machinery forced reduction of working force Hart, Schaffner & Marx of Chicago co-operated with the union to pay the dismissed men $500 each on the understanding that they would leave the industry and enter other lines of work.

The Dennison Manufacturing Company, when forced to discharge workers in depression periods other than those employed on a purely temporary basis, gives two weeks' notice or two weeks' pay as part of its unemployment insurance plan.

Other Firms Follow Suit
The Columbia Conserve Company pays a dismissal wage of two weeks'
pay to help tide the discharged

GO SEE PSYCHIATRIST TO AID

MENTAL CASE, IS ADVICE

TO A MOTHER

"Dear Doctor, My son of 28 suffers from a mental condition. Our local doctor attended him occasionally, but he is not getting anything out of it. He is very nervous and that seems to be one of the things my son cannot do. Please advise me." MRS. H.

I must say you didn't go to the right doctor. Mrs. H. is absurd to say that mental illness cannot be helped. It can be helped just as can physical illness. It is also very hard for him to say that the best way to help him is to go to a physician who specializes in mental cases. A psychiatrist is a physician who specializes in such patients and a great deal of help and they never can help themselves without proper guidance. A good small town doctor, who has been to a school of psychiatry, can probably help you to go to a larger city to find a psychiatrist. Do that and ring up the County Medical Society of that city and ask them for a list of such physicians.

I also suggest you get a copy of Merringer's "The Human Mind"
Read it and have your son read
it. That may help considerably.

When I wrote on Sinitzka recently, I said that a situation apparently to draw out the put and at the same time bring fresh blood to the surface, was used in the treatment.

Quite a number have written me asking for the name of the apparatus. I can't give names, but you could get one in surgical supply houses. However, you should see a nose and throat specialist first to see if that is the treatment you need, and if it is, and he wants you to have home treatment, he will advise you what type of apparatus to get.

"Dear Doctor, My mother is suffering from gastritis. She wants to make a trip to Europe this summer. On former trips she was always seasick from the day she left until she reached her destination, and was unable to eat.
She would like to ask you whether you think it would be advisable for her to go, as she doesn't suppose she will be able to take any food at all for five days. MISS H."

You should have your mother's personal physician advise her whether a long trip on which she knows she will be seasick and have to go without food for five days will be harmful to her.

Gastritis, or lowering of the stomach, to the pathological degree, is much more prevalent among those who are undernourished, so I imagine she is underweight already, and needs gradually to increase her diet until she gains, and her tissues have more tone. A properly fitting abdominal binder will help meanwhile.

We have exercises called the Tummy Ten which will strengthen her abdominal wall and organs as well. I suggest you also send for the Petersinger pamphlet on gaining and losing for her. See column rules.

Mr. G. I regret that it is against the law to give information such as you desire; otherwise I would gladly do so. In the large cities there are now clinics where proper information is given. If you will write to the Birth Control Society, 104 Fifth Avenue, New York City, they may be able to put you in touch with some clinic.

Otis Chalk Visits
With Lubbock Men

Otis Chalk, wealthy oil man and owner of the Chalk Field located 22 miles southeast of Big Spring, was a visitor Tuesday with his friends J. A. Rix, W. W. Rix and
B. C. Rix, former residents of Big Spring.

Mr. Chalk says the proration has materially interrupted activities in the Big Spring area. The field which bears his name is famed for chalk-oil production.

A pioneer of West Texas, Mr.
Chalk has seen rapid development of the West during his 33 years of residence near Big Spring.

Mount Vesuvius In

NAPLES, Italy, July 9 (AP)—Mount

Observatory officials did not believe neighboring fertile slopes were endangered.

Three fountains of burning lava yesterday invaded the entire northwest section of the vast platform of the crater, falling over 80 feet into the opening. The flames could be seen for many miles.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Around the radio studios; Way back, when Michigan was Michigan and our own home state, and grandma perched a tiny bonnet upon her gray hair and took us down to the little white church at the crossroads. I remember that my favorite hymn became—for reasons now forgotten—"When the Mists Have Rolled Away." Such recollections as I have, cause me to believe that I was hearing a voice—When the mists have rolled away... rolled away.

What's this got to do with a radio station, you ask?
Well the other night, making my rounds of the big stations, I stopped in at NBC to cool off and tip-toed my way into one of the broadcasting rooms. And it was as though time had stood still—for here, in the heart of New York, I
was hearing a voice—When the
mists have rolled away... rolled
away.

Maybe I've heard it somewhere, sometime in the intervening years
—but I can't remember when or where. The singer, if you please, was none other than Mrs. Banker, who kept the crowds in grandma's day. For he was the gospel singer for the famed evangelist Dwight Moody in that far-away day of great revivals. He had been a government employe, it seems when Moody came through back in 1870 and heard his voice, inducing bankers to "go up."

Here, sixty years later—an old man, with a fine, resonant voice still—sending the old songs of the revival circuits out to the strangely changed children of today.

James Wallington, the 22-year-old announcer and one of NBC's youngest came to radio direct from the golf links. He was a professional at the Hillcrest Club in Rochester, N. Y. His average was 36 holes a day and led business men to the contrary, even golf can get on your nerves after a time.

The Rhodora of Columbia, tells me of a venerable street fiddler who weeks ago haunted the doorway of the Madison Avenue building from which the broadcast, emerge having noticed him there, night after night. But approached him last evening and asked why he lingered about.

Well, said the old fellow, "I thought that maybe sometime someone would give me a chance. I used to play some pretty good tunes. And before I die, I'd like to think I'd played on the air."

El sent him upstairs with a check to one of the announcers.
The old fiddler was taken into a bath and given a hearing. His tunes were pretty terrible. But he didn't want to disappoint the audience. They stood him before a mike and he wheeled away for several tunes. And the announcer explained that the fiddler was just a typical street player of the New York variety. After all—you can't tell what will be a novelty on the air. And to dozens who hadn't the music was just what they thought. Some wrote in. Some such as millions have heard. A number of people wrote in. Some brushing up the old gent might prove a future novelty.

But the next night and the night
after he did not appear at the doorway. He had had his moment and wandered off into the city's byways again.

DISCRIMINATING CHARGED
CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Directors of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs reported today they had noted a tendency to discriminate in business against a woman of more than 40 years.

The board meeting in annual session, voted to conduct an immediate survey with the aim of helping the older business woman adjust herself or increase her opportunities.

The return of horses is being

will still be with us.

Flapper Fanny

Jumping at conclusions is about the only mental exercise some people take.

"Congressmen," says Art Shires, "are just a bunch of plow-hands." The Great One shouldn't

ENTRY SOUGHT FOR LUMBER

SHIPMENTS SAID TO BE CONVICT-MADE IN RUSSIA

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 9.—Representatives of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the official Russian trading organization, and of lumber and pulp wood importers sought in arguments before assistant Secretary Lowman today to have the action of customs officials in barring from this country shiploads of Russian lumber on the ground it had been produced by convict labor.

Entry of such goods is forbidden by the tariff law. While treasury details would not disclose the source of their information the shipments had been the result of convict labor, it was said government agents had reported convicts had been used in Russian forests where lumber was produced.

Reserves Decision
After the hearing Lowman reserved his decision but announced he expected to settle the question within a few days.

Two of the six ship loads of lumber arrived in American ports last week and were denied entrance at Providence, R. I., and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where they were being held until the assistant secretary hands down his decision.

The British freighter Carmen is at Poughkeepsie and the Danish freighter Draugenborg at Providence. Four ship loads of the lumber are on the high sea.

OLD SUBMARINE TO BE REBUILT FOR WILKINS' EXPEDITION TO ARCTIC

The discarded submarine O-12 will be equipped for Arctic haards for use on trip proposed by Sir Hubert Wilkins (inset).

WASHINGTON, July 9.—A battered and discarded submarine of uneventful history now has the opportunity of blating a new path of adventure over the top of the world.

President Hoover has given his approval for the shipping board to charter the decommissioned submarine O-12 to agents of the Arctic exploration party being assembled by Sir Hubert Wilkins. The rental will be $1 a year.

Soon the old ship will leave the back channels of the Philadelphia navy yard for Bridgeport, Conn., where it will be remodeled for the proposed 2,000-mile trip next summer through ice of north pole regions.

The O-12, launched in 1917, was first commissioned in October, 1918, too late for war service. Later the submarine was used for training purposes. It was then transferred to the Philadelphia navy yard for storage. The ship is being prepared for the proposed 2,000-mile trip next summer through ice of north pole regions.

TEXAS BUILDING IN WORLD'S FAIR IS UP IN PLANS
SAN ANTONIO, July 9.—(Special.)—Popular subscription was favored as a means of raising funds for the Texas building at the Chicago World's fair in 1933 at a meeting of the Texas World's fair committee at the chamber of commerce Monday.

Following an unanimous decision that Texas would be adequately represented with a building at least equal to those of other states, the committee discussed the type of building to be constructed and ways and means of raising funds. As soon as the type of building is decided upon, an architect's competition will be held to select the design most suitable.

A meeting will be held in Austin about August 1 to select a permanent chairman who will appoint a committee to visit the fair grounds and select a site for the building. It is hoped to have Texas the first state to select a site on the ground which is being prepared on the Chicago Lake Front.

ITALY ANSWER GIVEN FRANCE

DISARMAMENT MUST BE ONE CONDITION, NOTE CITES

(By Associated Press.)
ROME, July 9.—Italy has made known to France that disarmament must be one of the conditions upon which she would be willing to enter into discussions of a "United States of Europe," in a reply to the recent memorandum of Aristide Briand, French foreign minister.

Other conditions were unfolded by the formal note sent by the Italian foreign office to the French. Cooperation as members of a union but not of a unity, with the absolute independence of all participants; the participation of Russia and Turkey; and the rejection of a combination of such a federation for security without disarmament summed up the Italian viewpoint as expressed in three "principles" enunciated.

Nothing short of a diplomatic refusal to take part in parleys over the project had been anticipated. It is now believed that although Italy has declared herself willing to participate in discussions of the Federal union scheme, she has expressed so many principles radically divergent from those of France that her ultimate participation in the United States of Europe as conceived by M. Briand will be impossible.

JAY GOULD'S DREAM COMING TRUE AS VAN SWERINGENS NEAR COMPLETION OF PLANS FOR TRANS-UNITED STATES RAIL SYSTEM; ONE LINE NEEDED NOW

ST. LOUIS, July 9. (P)—The first transcontinental rail system under unified control may be the result of recent activities of the Van Sweringen brothers.

Their present holdings in the United States comprise the world's largest network of railroads privately owned, according to views expressed in New York financial circles.

With the acquisition of a controlling interest in the Missouri Pacific railroad by the Van Sweringens, they need only one more railroad to complete a coast-to-coast chain.

Only recently L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific, was quoted as saying that company is interested in the acquisition of the Western Pacific and the Denver & Rio Grande Western.

By gaining control of these two railroads, the Van Sweringens would have a network of lines stretching from coast to coast.

The hookup then would include: Western Pacific, San Francisco to Salt Lake City; Denver & Rio Grande Western, Salt Lake City to Pueblo, Colo., owned jointly by the Missouri Pacific and the Western Pacific; Missouri Pacific, Pueblo to St. Louis; Nickel Plate, St. Louis to Buffalo, N. Y.; and Erie, from a connection with the Nickel Plate, Buffalo to New York City.

—letter two are Van Sweringens.

Workmen Changed To Texarkana Shops
TYLER, July 9. (P)—About 35 men have been transferred from the Cotton Belt shops at Commerce to Texarkana, E. J. Peasey, division superintendent, said today. He said the Commerce shops would not be discontinued but that all heavy repair work would be done in Texarkana, thus affecting a saving of about $80,000 annually.

Peasey said the most heavily loaded trains now operate through from Texarkana to Fort Worth without a stop at Commerce.

BACK FROM COLLEGE
CROSBYTON, July 9. (Special.)—Miss Bernestine Buck, who has been attending the New England Conservatory of Music, has returned for the summer. On her way home she visited a brother, Quinn Buck, in Philadelphia.

The trans-continental rail system (map) Jay Gould (inset) dreamed of 50 years ago may be the goal of recent activities by the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland, O. P. (below, left) and M. J.

The Van Sweringen brothers are not the first to cherish dreams of a transcontinental rail system. Jay Gould half a century ago conceived the idea. He bought the Missouri Pacific interests in 1879 for $3,000,000 and then acquired other smaller lines to form a great network which he called the southwest system. However, the system failed during a small panic in 1884.

the STANDINGS

While Philadelphia is the natural rival of the New York Yankees, the men of Bob Shawkey fear Washington more than the world's champions. The Senators boast better pitching than the Yanks and this season have whaled the apple on a wholesale basis, much on the order

In Washington, in a game with the American League club, the New Yorks drew a larger crowd by far than any other club in the circuit. Fred Marberry was picked the second game of the July double bill with the Yanks. But Ruth hit for the circuit on one of his early trips to the plate but his four-ply wallop found the bases empty. On his next trip there were two Yankees on the sacks. As the Bambino took his stance, both infielders and outfielders were in a crouch, expecting the expected off his big bat. But the foxy Babe crossed em up in a big way by laying down a perfect bunt down the third base line and beating it to the runner on third scored easily.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Since starting with the caravan the bunch had had a chance to see a lot of open country and the scenes had been real fine. The kids still had a heap of pep and proved it by the way they stepped. In fact all things had turned out great. No one had cause to whine.

But Clowdy seemed to think that he must be impatient as could be, so while they all sat in a home of sunny Persian make, he said, "Oh, let's be on our way. I'd like to reach Tehran today. Just how far is that town from here and how long will it take?"

"Well, let me see now. Not so far," replied the Travel Man. "We are about ten miles from Tehran. We can make it pretty quick. Hop in the basket now, with care, and hang on tight till we get there. Gee, I should think of riding you all would be rather sick."

"Oh, no," snapped Clowdy. "This is fun. We'll gladly ride till day is done. And then we'll all be ready for a very good night's rest. The man of sand we're crossing now just makes me want to sleep some more. We're lucky, cause the weather we have had has been the best."

Soon Clowdy whispered, "Clowdy's gone. I'll bet he'll sleep until the dawn if we just leave him where he is. I guess he's all tired out. It wasn't long until someone exclaimed, 'Our trip is almost done. See a small town just ahead and it's Tehran, no doubt!'

It happened that the guess was right. They reached the town and that a sight some little Persian youngsters came a-running down the street. Wee Clowdy shouted, "Howdy-do! We'll hop right down and play with you. Most any little fellows we are always glad to meet."

(The Tinymites watch a rug maker in the next story.)

VACATION LUGGAGE

An investment in new luggage before your beginning your vacation is an investment that will add greatly to the pleasure of the trip—a pleasure that will come from the consciousness that you are just as properly "lugged" as you would have yourself be clothed. Both, you know, are decided factors in your appearance.

Cases For Ladies

You can choose the smartest fitted cases with every toilet article embodied or if you prefer an unfitted bag or case. Then there are hat boxes and overnight cases—many choose entire sets to match. An investment in luggage is a long time investment when you purchase these better pieces—one that after all means moderate cost in the end.

Priced $6.50 to $42.50

Cases For Men

Men like sturdy appearance that real leather gives together with roominess and convenience of arrangement. In such cases for men we feature both Gladstones and English Kit cases—luggage items that men will be proud to claim. (With apologies, "Look at your bag, the Porter will" might suggest the thought that a new one is in order.

CLOUDS OF DEPRESSION HAVE SILVER LINING IN LIVING FOR WAGE EARNER

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The clouds of the business depression have a silver lining for the wage earner sure of his job with no reduction of pay, and for the person with a fixed income.

Old high cost of living, ome of the war and postwar period, isn't the terrifying figure it used to be, and the slump in commodity prices threatens to make it still less formidable. The consumer's dollar now goes much farther than it did in 1920 and a bit further than in 1929, and may go even further before the end of 1930.

Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics, says the purchasing power of the retail or "home" dollar applied to foodstuffs last May was $1.036 compared with $1 on July 1929 for a family whose monthly outlay for food is about $50; the saving is from $2.50 to $3 a month, no small item in homes where pennies are potent.

Government economists say that while a decline in retail prices is virtually never commensurate with drop in wholesale prices, the current slump in the latter should add some power to the home dollar.

The wholesale price level of all commodities in May was the lowest it has been since September 1916. The wholesale purchasing power of the 1926 dollar for all commodities was $1.12 in May. It is greater today, farm products, foods, cotton and woolen goods, silk, rayon, fuel, drugs and furniture have dropped in wholesale prices.

While up to the minute figures on the general cost of living are not available, the comparative recent survey of December, 1929 shows a big drop from the peak of June, 1920. In 22 representative cities the average cost of living decreased 20.8 per cent. In nearly all of these cities the decrease in the cost of clothing since the silk shirt era, has been tremendous.

Rentals have decreased steadily since 1925 and house furnishings goods have had a similar decline.

MARIE DRESSLER FINDS FUN BEATS SEX IN COME-BACK IN POUNDS PROVE NO HANDICAP MOVIES; SIXTY YEARS AND 200

BY GILBERT SWAN

NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, July 9.—Marie Dressler, who at the age of 60 finds herself heroine of the most spectacular "come-back" since the talkies were born, views this achievement as a triumph of laughter over sex appeal.

Having upset all the rules of Hollywood concerning the supremacy of youth and beauty, Miss Dressler, who chose early in life to dub herself "the ugly duckling," will tell you that creating laughter is a very mature job, and the toughest in the world.

"The first 50 years may be the hardest, but the last 50 are the funniest," she philosophized while vacationing here between pictures. "You can't really be funny on the stage until you've grown old enough and sensible enough not to care how you look. There have been a few cases where beautiful youngsters really let themselves go in comedy—as in the case of Mabel Normand, or Marion Davies, who is a very fine comedienne.

Where Old Trampers Win

"But youth, in general, is vain. It insists on a sort of pseudo-dignity that the years can remove. You've got to forget all about your appearance if you're going to make the public laugh. Sex appeal may come and go, but all the world loves a laugh. And don't forget that comedy requires a working knowledge of the psychology of life. That's where we old trampers come in. We've lived long enough to know how human beings behave."

And, as every film fan knows, Miss Dressler has achieved her purpose so well that she has "stolen" half a dozen pictures right out from under some of the most appealing beauties of the cinema.

And besides, she knew she was going to get a big "break" because the stars told her all about it several years ago. She admits a mystical interest in astrology and several of the world's famous horoscopes charmed her rise for the current year.

Yet nine years ago it seemed that after all her years of trouping the famous Marie Dressler was "through." One generation had known her well. They had followed her career through the old Weber and Fields period, through the Lillian Russell years and the days when "La Macabre" and "The Black Hussars" were the music show favorites. She became a sort of international personality. She has gone to Europe every year since she was 20; she has appeared before every royal personage of the last generation; she has known personally every celebrity of this era. She is credited with a sufficient number of friends to elect a president—for she mixes with wit, laughter and kindness in endless assortments. Her fellow players pay her the greatest of tributes, that of displaying no professional jealousy where she is concerned.

Will Play Any Part

How to laugh your way to 60, in the face of all sorts of discouraging circumstances, is Miss Dressler's particular secret. And sitting on top of the talking picture world at that age, with all the world waiting for another chance to chuckle at one's antics, is her immediate position.

"A trouper, as all the stage world knows, takes things as they come," she comments. "When I left the behind and went into pictures, I got a big break right off the bat. The picture was 'Tilly's Punctured Romance.' And it was a riot. But Tilly's romance wasn't half punctured as my hopes were when no other similar picture came along."

"That's where the trouper comes in. The trouper is willing to play any part. They'll tell you out in Hollywood that I took the parts they gave me and asked no questions. All around you could see the youngsters going temperamental and demanding this role or that—it's a big laugh."

The talks came and those "small parts" she played began to attract attention. Hollywood began to demand her and whereas, less than two years ago, she had decided to put the theatre completely on the shelf and retire on the money she had saved, "The Callahan" and "The Mumpshires" made this escape almost impossible.

Miss Dressler started her career with a circus. It so happened that the tent show she took, winter quarters near her home town, which is Coburg, Canada. A youngster of 13, or thereabouts, she tried to ride horseback and to learn other circus stunts and then changed her mind.

Pleasant Valley plans to do the same thing this year. Mr. Wright said.

At 14 she was playing with a stock company.

And then, by one of the amusing flukes that have kept projecting her into comedy, she found herself in a chorus in an autobiography. Miss Dressler refers to herself as the "ugly duckling" for she was a "funny looking cuss." They gave her a job, not because of pulchritude, but because she looked funny, and the managers thought it would be a novelty to have one girl in the group who wasn't the usual carbon copy chorine.

"I had no schooling," she relates, "but believe me, I certainly learned my geography at first hand, because I played every town in the country. And I came back with a can't say that I had any special talent, but I did learn to sing and dance and because people laughed, I worked up a specialty act of my own and began to be featured. But after the toughest sort of polishing."

"The other day Joe Weber came out to Hollywood to work in a picture. I was with Joe back in the Weber and Fields days and he said, 'You are as thin as you used to be. Marie, but you're four times as funny.' And I came back with a can't say that I had any special talent, but I did learn to sing and dance and because people laughed, I worked up a specialty act of my own and began to be featured. But after the toughest sort of polishing."

Miss Dressler, by the way, hits the scales for a little better than 200 pounds. She pays no attention to diet and figures that the fatter she gets the funnier she looks. "Well, I should worry about my girlish figure. What I want is to get the laughs."

She takes a maternal interest in the young players who come to her with their troubles. She gives them the same advice she has given often set down. Never carry sore throats and come into the lives of others; and "A smile is more soothing than a check."

GETS THE "TURKEY"

Post has acclaimed its "best dressed" in the person of George E. "Go Easy" McPherson, foreman of the state highway department for Garza and Lynn counties who was decorated Friday by the Post Country Club G. E. defeated J. Samson hands down. According to officials of the club, Bobbie Jones has nothing on the Postie when it comes to emulating Jimmie Walker as mayor of New York. G. E. appeared on the links on Independence day all topped out in a white oxford cloth shirt, Scotch plaid trousers with bow to match, and of the same color too, a polka dot necktie and a white cap. The huge gallery, without the least hesitation, awarded the palm to the highway man.

BARRED ONE CANDIDATE

Eddie Warren, editor of the Post Dispatch (not the St. Louis paper) made an unexpected "cleaning" of the political aspirants of Post and Garza county. Eddie had the job of checking the thing carefully before he delivered the ballots. By on delivery, the chairman observed that there was only one candidate for congress instead of two. He called the editor, who went over the copy and found that the papers sent to him had but one name. Just as he was about to ditch the type, so he saved the job.

POPULAR MAN

Bill Donaldson owns a lake near south of Post and is one of the popular men in that section. The reason is the lake is well stocked with fish and it is a sort of "fisherman's paradise" for the angler who likes to have some real sport. One afternoon last week George Samson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and a number of friends from the lake.

SCOUTS IN POST

Post is entertaining some boy scouts this week. Nine troops were represented in a camp closing Wednesday. Thursday another group comes for a ten day stay. D. T. Jennings, scout executive at Lubbock is camp director and K. N. Clapp, also Lubbock, scout commissioner, is assistant. There are more than a hundred boys in camp and all of them report a splendid time. The Post chamber of commerce sees that the boys are sent over to Two Draw lake every day for their regular swim, free of cost.

BOYS TAKING PRIDE

Some of the boys from the several towns have fixed up their tents very neatly. For example, the Lamson troop has a stone border walk in front, with the stones all painted a pale blue. There are two flag standards, one for a huge American flag and of the same for the troop flag. Inside the tent everything is as neat as a pin. There are shoe trees made of sticks for the shoes and all wearing apparel when not in use, is kept hanging just so.

OTHERS DECORATIVE

Next door the Taboka troop has worked out a scout badge design in stones with the scout laws in the petals of the lotus. Other troop tents, while not so elaborate as these, are more or less decorative.

LOSSES EXPENSIVE

In Scout Executive Jennings' tent is a box for lost articles. At dress parade each evening the lost articles are reclaimed by owners. Payment is one, two or three spans with a huge paddle, generally administered by one of the scoutmasters. The boy owner announces his price. Once the scout executive forgot his small pocket mirror. He paid four or five spans, hard ones too, at the hands of a scout. Instructors Clapp also paid for losing his cap.

GRAIN MOVEMENT FROM SECTION IS ABOUT 3,500 CARS

(By Staff Correspondent)

SLATON, July 9.—With most of the wheat harvest on the Slaton division of the Santa Fe between Canyon and Lubbock over with, the movement of grain this year is estimated to be in excess of 2,000 cars. Probably nearer 2,500 cars is correct, it is indicated here.

Station agents of the Santa Fe have reported to the division offices here that as high as 75 per cent of the crop is being held by the farmers for possible higher prices.

Cars Are Stored

The company prepared for the movement by having in storage on division more than 2,000 empty grain cars. These were moved to the wheat shipping points as rapidly as the demand for cars was developed.

At this time it is said empty cars are now coming back onto the division from Houston, Galveston and Texas City, the chief ports for exporting grain along the Santa Fe lines in Texas. This is unusual at this time of the grain movement, officials say. In other years the cars have been held loaded with wheat at the ports because the elevators there were full and there was very little exporting of grain.

Demand Is Greater

"We have plenty of cars for grain movements, although just now the demand for cars is greater than our reserve," one official explained.

However, with the empty cars being returned from the seaports faster than in years past, I believe that we will not see a shortage of grain cars.

The same official said he had been unable to run down reports of grain being piled on the ground and finding any instances of that practice, as has been frequently the custom.

None of our agents have reported grain being piled on the ground and I do not believe there has been very much of it," the official added. "We have been able so far to fill every order for cars and I think we have enough now on hand or due here from the ports to ensure possible demands being met in the immediate future."

The same official added that he personally doubted that as much wheat was being held as some sources indicated. "Most of the small elevators were full," he continued. "Aside from the big elevators at Lubbock, Plainview and Amarillo, and a pretty fair sized one at Tulsa, we do not have many large elevators on the Slaton division."

Most of these average 10,000 to 25,000 bushels. I think a good many of these were full of old grain so stored in the elevators as one would think that there has not been as much believe."

Second Cutting Of Alfalfa Crop Held

PLAINVIEW, July 9.—(Special)—Second cutting of Hale county alfalfa is now under way. The average is around a ton to the acre.

It is estimated by Winfield Holbrook, manager of the Texas Land and Development company, that there are 2,500 tons of alfalfa produced in Hale county a year. The land company has 900 acres of alfalfa.

SURVIVE ATTACKS

PARIS, July 9.—(Special)—The cabinet of Andre Tardieu today twice survived attacks of its enemies in the senate, winning votes of confidence. The second test came this evening, following upon an afternoon ballot by which the government won by only five votes. This evening the margin was 63, on a question of special army furloughs of farmer boys.

C. to his home in Oshkosh, Wis., collided with a coal truck in Chicago Heights. Tuesday was Representative Lampert's 67th birthday.

MEMBERS OF DOYLE'S FAMILY BELIEVE HE WILL TALK TO THEM AFTER DEATH

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, July 9.—The family of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle today expressed belief that their father would communicate to them from the spirit world as he had promised.

Adrian Conan Doyle, son of the novelist and spiritualist, asked if his father had spoken of communicating with his family after his death said:

"Why of course. My father fully believed that when he passed over he would continue to keep in touch with us. All his family believe so, too."

"There is no question that my father will often speak to us just as he did before he passed over. We will know when he is speaking but one has to be careful because there are practical jokers on the other side, as there are here."

"It is quite possible that these jokers may attempt to impersonate him. But there are tests which my mother knows, such as little mannerisms of speech which cannot be impersonated and which will tell us it is my father, himself, who is speaking."
