MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By H. N. F.

Lawmaking on Sunday is not conductive to sabbath day feelings in the part of Texas legislators, according to Eddie Newton, the Austin corrspondnt of the San Antonio Express. He was present at the press table when the lawmakers of Texas made a Sunday job of it. In his pen description of the sidelights, Correspondent Newton says those who didn't go swimming or to church witnessed two demonstrations of that fact. A motion to recess brought to a close a near-fistic encounter late in the afternoon during debate on the bill to raise salaries of the Highway Commissioners. W. W. Fly of Gonzales was urging the raise. He was interrupted by Lauderdale of Burleson with the question, "Aren't you one of that crowd who have stood her for the last several days trying to raise salaries?" Fly denied with heat. Lauderdale reasserted. Fly flushed and started after his inquisitor with a vim. Lauderdale stood his ground and each was reaching for the other when a dozen or more solons and employes rushed in and separated them. It was not five minutes, however, before the two were shaking hands and laughing about it. Earlier in the afternoon, while Speaker Thomas was out of the chair for a few minutes, John Davis of Dallas, who was acting as Speaker, recognized Binkley of Young on a point of personal privilege. Binkley came up directly in front of the Speaker's stand and told the members he had been mistreated in not having been recognized when he objected yesterday to the House standing at ease under call. He was shouting vociferously and shaking his fists at the Speaker's stand, declaring that the House was trying to insult him when Speaker Thomas returned to his place and Binkley was induced to take his seat. The incident referred to by Binkley came up yesterday when Barry Miller of Dallas held his hand over Binkley's mouth to prevent the latter from objecting to standing at ease while the members went to lunch. Another incident chronicled by Correspondent Newton has an interesting angle. On Monday, when the Senate stood at ease subject to the call of the chair, Senator Dudley announced that his action was taken until the House sent over some other business for the Senate to attend to. He added: "Lieutenant Governor Davidson and myself have sent over to Speaker Thomas several times and asked him to send over to us his free conference committee on the department bill, but he sent us back words a few minutes ago that if we would attend to running our side of the House he would attend to his side. It looks to me as if the Speaker wants another called session." Senator Robert A. Dudley represents the El Paso district where Claude B. Hudspeth the cowboy congressman reigned for many years. When Hudspeth was sent to congress the people of the district sent Dudley to the Senate. He is a rugged, hard-fighting, hard-hitting Kentuckian. He accumulated a fortune in Mexico in railroad construction and mining and is one of the solid men of that quetnly city known to the Mexicans as "The Pass to the North." Senator Dudley managed the campaign of the Hon. Robert Ewing Thomason and it is no discredit to him that the brilliant son of Cooke failed to capture the prize. He is one of the strong men of the senate, one of the strong men of West Texas and as fearless as a lion. Speaker Thomas is a business man and banker, one of the first, if not the first, to yield the gavel of the speaker. He is independent in action, believing in conducting legislation along business lines, is tactful as well as impartial and if he sent the message to Senator Dudley that the correspondent says he sent, then he acted on his own judgment and with malice aforethought. This is his third term in the lower House and his work has been constructive from start to finish. If men in public life are entitled to the posies, then why not the flowers while they are living? As Harry Galbraith of the Terrell Transcript once remarked, "The dead can't smell 'em."

Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, returned to Stamford from Austin Saturday after being absent two weeks or more attending the legislature. Whaley is very much impressed with the success of the effort of the organization in securing preliminary consideration of the state park idea for the Davis mountains. Now that the legislative department has completed its labors at Austin, Whaley will give his undivided attention and labors to prosecution of the various livestock and other campaigns of the organization during the remainder of the summer and fall. Assembling of agricultural exhibits to be shown at the various state fairs will proceed immediately through the publicity department, which this year has charge, Again, Flowers for the living. George H. Clements, secretary of the Toyah Chamber of Commerce is responsible for the state park idea and H. N. F. would not rob him of the glory. It is a splendid proposition. Texas should have a magnificent state park. It should be set aside by the legislature and when money is easier, a legislative appropriation should be made in order that the park may be made a reality. There are glorious hunting and camping grounds, there is a salubrious climate, there are mountain tops and picturesque canyons as well as ideal fishing and hunting and camping places in the territory which is to be inspected by a committee appointed by the leg-

PLANES FAIL TO REPLACE BATTLESHIPS

Bombing Tests Unsuccessful in Proving Aircraft Superior to Sea Forces in Time of War.

General Pershing Admits Army Airplanes Inferior in Testimony Before Congressional Committee.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Results of bombing tests held off the Virginia capes from June 1 to July 21 have failed to displace the battleship from its preminent position as the nation's chief defense at sea.

This was the outstanding conclusion of the report of the joint board of the army and navy made public today by General Pershing, the senior member and approved by Secretary Weeks and Acting Secretary Roosevelt.

The tests which resulted in the sinking of four ex-German warships by aerial bombs, proved, however, the board added, "that it has become imperative as a matter of national defense to provide for the maximum possible development of 'effective anti-air craft armament.'

"Instead of furnishing an economical instrument of war leading to the abolition of battleships, the development of aircraft has added to the complexity of naval warfare," the report stated.

The tests, which were conducted by the navy with the co-operation of the army air service, were reported on separately by army and naval boards of observers and these reports formed the basis of the statement issued today.

The joint board included Admiral R. E. Coontz, chief of naval operations; Major General W. G. Haan, assistant to the chief of staff; Rear Admiral C. S. Williams, naval operations; Brigadier General, Henry Mc-Vey, general staff, and Captain W. C. Cole, naval operations.

The board found that military aircraft when used beyond the radius of action of shore bases possessed "limited assistance to gunnery in the control of fire; limited assistance in the service of information and security and important strategical and tactical qualities in operation of coast defense, but might prove a decisive factor in coastal operations if used in adequate numbers.

OVERTIME PAY CUT BY RAIL LABOR BOARD

Certain Classes of Shop Crafts Workers Affected by New Ruling, Coming From Divided Body.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Presenting a divided opinion for the first time since its formation a year and a half ago, the United States railroad labor board today in a majority decision, cut the overtime pay of certain classes of shop crafts workers, while a labor member, dissenting declared the majority opinion "does not appear either just or reasonable." The dissenting opinion was by A. O. Wharton, former president of the railroad employes department of the American Federation of Labor, which, with the six federated shop crafts was involved in the dispute.

Two labor members poined the majority in signing the decision changing the rules. Those concurring in it were Judge R. M. Barton, chairman G. W. Hanger and Ben W. Hooper, representing the public; Albert Phillips and Walter L. McMenimen, representing the men; and Horace Baker, J. H. Elliott and Samuel Higgins railroad representative.

The dissenting opinion was a surprise as the board's rule has always been to thresh out disputed points in executive session, the majority's decision being issued at the unanimous verdict of the board. On one occasion Judge Barton wrote an opinion criticising the board's decision on a legal point but did not issue it as a dissenting opinion.

Seven rules affecting the overtime pay of the shop employes of 137 roads are involved in today's decision. The roads appealed for modification of the national agreement rules, entered into during the war time railroad administration and the majority while finding the war time rules to be "just and reasonable," modified certain ones in some particulars. Among the changes, the majority ruled that:

Employes regularly called for Sunday and holiday work and performing tasks absolutely necessary for continuous operation of the roads shall not receive time and a half, but only pay on the same basis as for week days. No work not absolutely necessary is to be performed on Sundays.

Employes at the completion of eight hours work may be required to work two hours overtime before being released for meals, instead of one as now provided.

Employes called for work and not working or called for work and working two hours and forty minutes or less will be paid for four hours overtime instead of five hours under existing rules.

NEFF TELLS LEGISLATURE TO "REDUCE"

Submits Cryptic Message to Solons, Giving Authority to Consider Any and All Appropriations.

Senatorial Redistricting Bill Is Sent Back to Second Special Session for Reconsideration.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Aug. 19.—Warrents for the arrest of nine members of the house of representatives were issued by Speaker Thomas tonight by direction of the house. Representative Cummins moved that the men be arrested and brought to the bar of the house and the motion carried.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 19.—In his first message to the second called session of the thirty-seventh legislature, Governor Neff opened the way for legislation on alll appropriation bills passed by the present legislature. This wholesale submission includes appropriations of the regular session and the first called session just closed.

The governor submitted these appropriations in one sentence in which he said:

"You are privileged to consider the wisdom of cutting down any appropriations made for any purpose in any bill passed by the thirty-seventh legislature."

The governor also submitted the educational appropriation bill, which failure to pass necessitated the second session. The senatorial and representative redistricting bills were also submitted. The senatorial bill was passed at the first called session but the governor objected to the senate amendment deferring effectiveness until April 1, 1924. He said in this respect that the bill does not fulfill either the letter or the spirit of the constitution or the party platform.

Reluctantly Calls Session.

He further said that it was with reluctance that he called hte second session but that he had no alternative as the state educational institutions must be provided for. Saying that while he did not consider it within the scope of his province to take sides on the "bitterly contested differences between the senate and house," he did not deem it out of place to express the hope that all differences would be speedily reconciled and a compromise affected and the necessary appropriations made.

There was no quorum in the house when that body reconvened at 2 p. m. today and unanimous consent was given to stand at ease until a quorum was obtained. Ninety-four members were found but there was still one lacking to make the necessary number to transact business.

After waiting the greater part of the afternoon and every available representative in the city having been brought in, Representative Williams of Montgomery hove into the house at 4:30. He was greeted with a shout by the members present, anxious to get down to business. The house then began operating and Chairman Satterwhite of the appropriation committee offered the educational bill as amended by the house for the senate bill. No action was taken and the house stood at ease until 8 o'clock tonight.

Senate Idle.

The senate did no work at all today. After convening they stood at ease all day and late today agreed to meet at 8 o'clock tonight to be ready to consider any bills the house might send over. There was no quorum present but a roll call was unnecessary as the upper branch recessed from yesterday.

STRIKE NEW OIL SAND IN ELECTRA POOL

Indicating a new pool of the original semi-deep sand of north Electra, the No. 21 Burnett of The Planet Petroleum company has been completed in the south Electra shallow field, and according to Friday reports, is dated good for 200 barrels.

The depth is said on the lease to be 1718 feet. The well started flowing late Thursday, when the swab was run, after the casing head controller had been put on, and the necessary connections made.

Those who had visited the well were very enthusiastic Friday, characterizing the strike as apparently of much importance, since it is the first time such nice production has been obtained from this semi-deep sand, in the territory which has up to this time been classed as shallow. The deepest production on this lease has been in the 1400 foot sand up to the present time. To the north the Gulf Production company recently completed a fair sized pumper on its E. D. Collet lease in a 1900 foot sand. Scattered around for a distance of several miles to the east are various deep tests that have made more or less satisfactory producers on the pump, though usually small.

The Gloria Oil company and Gates, Scott and Sheegog have had the best success so far in the amount of production in a deeper sand, their recent completions in a sand around 1730 feet showing 50 and 100 barrels respectively.

LLOYD GEORGE WILL NOT YIELD IN PROPOSALS FOR SETTLEMENT IN IRELAND

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The outline of the British proposals cannot be altered nor the basis of them changed, said David Lloyd George, the British prime minister in an address today in the house of commons on the Irish situation.

The premier was speaking just prior to the adjournment of the lower house of parliament until October 18. It had been the purpose to prorogue the commons today but uncertainty as to developments in Ireland caused the premier to consider it advisable to hold the members where they might be called at short notice for any eventuality—if the terms of the government either are accepted or rejected.

Mr. Lloyd George said rejection would be an unmistakable challenge to the authority of the crown and the unity of the empire, "and no party in the state could possibly pass that over without notice" he declared that he was not using the language of menace but that if final rejection came "steps undoubtedly will have to be taken which the executive ought not and will not wish to take without first consulting parliament and giving it full opportunity of expressing approval or disapproval of any steps it might propose to it."

Simultaneously in the house of lords foreign Secretary Curzon made a similar statement. It might, he declared, that circumstances would compel a resumption of strife in Ireland. But Great Britain would not be the one to begin it. He added that the issue was trembling in the balance. And that if any challenge was given the government would accept it and not quail before its difficult task.

Premier's Words Chosen

It was considered that the premier's language again had been carefully chosen with the evident desire not to give offense or to say anything that likely would hinder the smooth course of the negotiations. In his address, Mr. Lloyd George said he was highly pleased to be able to say that the whole world approved of the government's proposals.

NO VISIBLE CHANGE REPORTED IN IRELAND

By Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Aug. 19.—No visible change in the Irish situation has taken place in consequence of the speech delivered in the house of commons today by Premier Lloyd George.

In general, the comment heard on all sides after the premier's speech appeared in the evening newspapers was that Mr. Lloyd George understood his constituents and that Mr. DeValera understood his.

The sub-committees of the Dail Eireann today continued their work and tomorrow will go on with it. They are not having the assistance of Mr. DeValera who has gone to the country home of Speaker McNeill, at Black Rock, where it is expected he will be joined by other leaders in the republican movement. It has been the usual custom of Mr. DeValera since the truce to visit Black Rock, where he invariably served at mass in the chapel of one of the monasteries. There is no significance attached to his present visit.

Griffith Silent

The silence of Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, since the opening of the Dail Eireann has been the subject of some comment and there have been rumors dealing with the possibility of Mr. Griffith leading those of moderate opinion in the Sinn Fein against Mr. DeValera. Nevertheless, Mr. Griffith has been in constant association with Mr. DeValera and the reply of DeValera to Mr. Lloyd George was passed on by him.

There has been no move in any quarter of the Sinn Fein as yet indicating a desire to accept the British government's terms.

CONFEREES AGREE ON BEER BILL

Contested Points Adjudicated by House and Senate Conference Committee; Expect Adoption Soon.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Senate and house conferees were reported tonight to be virtually agreed on contested points in the anti-beer and hopeful of final enactment of the measure prior to the recess set for next Wednesday.

While the conferees declined to indicate the nature of the agreement their practical adjustment of differences was taken to mean at least partial rejection of the Stanley amendment, designed to protect the home against indiscriminate search for liquor, in view of the known desire of Representative Volstead, head of the house manager, to "throw the beer bill overboard" rather than accept the amendment as originally drawn, and passed unanimously by the senate.

That part of the Stanley proposal, relating to search of a man's dwelling, was said to have been retained, however, Mr. Volstead's chief objection to it as a whole was based on the ground that to require a warrant to search an automobile or other property would make rigid enforcement of national prohibtion ineffective.

When Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota, left his office tonight he announced there was strong probability of agreement. Later he conferred with Mr. Volstead and the latter agreed that unless there were unexpected overnight developments the conference report would be ready and signed tomorrow.

MACHINE GUN ENDS RIOTING IN KNOXVILLE

Twenty-Seven Are Wounded When Deputy Sheriffs Open Fire on Mob Storming Tennessee Jail.

By Associated Press.

KNOXIVLLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—More than twenty-seven persons were wounded, some seriously, when deputies guarding Knox county jail fired on a crowd which had crossed the deadline with the purpose of demanding Frank Martin, a negro, held as a suspect in a criminal assault upon a school teacher. All of the wounded are white, two are women. Deputy Sheriff Charles Lewis was wounded in the arm by return fire from the crowd.

Although the machine gun company of the 117th infantry, Tennessee national guard, was on duty at the jail, the soldiers did not open fire.

Following reports that the school teacher had identified Martin as her assailant, crowds gathered in the vicinity of the jail. They were turned back twice by the police.

Gradually almost 200 men and boys approached the jail, while several hundred persons, many of them women, in the courthouse yard, looked down upon the scene. As they came within 100 feet, Sheriff Cate stepped under an arc light and demanded that they disperse. He gave warning that an imaginary line between two telephone poles should not be crossed.

As a dozen men passed these poles, the sheriff picked up a shotgun and fired over the heads of the crowd into the air. Four deputies who were with him then fired two volleys. Two men in the court house yard and two or three in the street fired revolvers in reply. The shooting then became general, deputies firing rapidly.

Many of the loads of buckshot fired by the officers and intended to go above the heads of the crowd in the street went among the spectators in the courthouse yard. Some of the injured also are suffering from pistol and rifle wounds.

In the courthouse yard scores threw themselves to the ground to escape the hail of bullets coming in that direction while the crowd in the street ran back, panic stricken, and the deputies charged, firing over the heads of the crowd and driving all of them back to Gay street, a block from the jail.

WILL ERECT ADDITIONAL HOUSE SPACE

After Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, and L. M. Jernigan, county farm superintendent, had stated that additional housing space was necessary to care for the inmates, the county commissioners' court in special meeting Friday morning voted to erect another building at the county farm to accomodate twenty-eight additional men and women. Bids for the building will be advertised at once and it is planned to have the building erected by early fall.

With ten men and one woman being cared for at the county farm, Dr. Walker said that present accomodations were taxed and additional rooms would have to be constructed if the county was to care for other men and women in need of care of that character. He said that due to the present crowded condition he had been compelled to refuse admittance to a few. He pointed out that the condition at this time of the year was unprecedented and that with the coming of the winter the county would have a large number of additional applications for the poor farm.

Members of the court and Commissioners Curlee and Reed of the city council Friday afternoon discussed informally measures to be taken this winter to care for those in need, the opinion being that there would be more calls for assistance than at any time in the history of the county. The matter of the city and county going together and joining their funds with those raised by private subscription was discussed but no definite action was taken.

TWO SISTERS GET HELP

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it did for Them

Hagerstown, Md.—"I was weak, overworked, and my periods stopped. My body was swollen and I often had pains so I had to lie down. I was treated by a physician, but he did not seem to help me at all. My sister had taken your medicine with great results so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am able to work and feel like working. I have been recommending your medicine to my friends, and you are welcome to use my testimonial for I can never praise your medicine enough for what it has done for me."—RHODA E. CARBAUGH, R. "SILVER TOP" WELL KNOWN BY OFFICERS

"Silver Top is dead."

The statement has been passed around courthouse and county jail circles during the last two days following press dispatches containing an account of the killing of a man by the name of Moore at El Dorado, Arkansas. The identity was established Thursday by officers.

The body of Silver Top, who was known here on the jail roster as Rex Chandish was found near El Dorado with ten bullet holes he having been the victim apparently of enemies who took every precaution that the tow headed youth should die.

Silver Top was well known in this county. He was arrested last October and charged with attempting to murder Deputy Sheriff Shouse at Kemp City. He was tried in January and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Later he was granted a new trial and released from the county jail on his own recognisance.

His final words to officers as he left the jail were to the effect that he would never get mixed up with the law again. It was generally understood here that he was not to be tried here again.

As one of the most widely known of the oil field prisoners, Silver Top had a checkered career in the section.

RANGERS GET WINE IN RAID ON MILL STREET

A truck was required Friday afternoon to deliver to the county jail the 183 gallons of wine seized by Rangers McCormick and Gonzallaus at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Legeois, 319 Mill street, following a raid of the house.

The wine which consisted in part of two 50 gallon barrels, one 25 gallon barrel, two 15 gallon kegs, two 5 gallon bottles and numerous other smaller containers was found in the basement of the house. According to officers over 300 gallons of wine were left in the basement. It had spoiled according to the officers.

After a test had been made showing the wine to contain 6 per cent alcohol the wine was loaded on a truck and taken to the county jail. Mrs. Legeois commonly known as "mother" is out of the city. Charges in connection with the raid will be filed this morning by the officers.

TRAFFIC COPS TO BE PLACED ON DUTY SOON

Installation of three "go and stop" traffic signals at street intersections in the downtown business district of Wichita Falls by the middle of next week as a trial measure calculated to improve traffic conditions and the selection of ten members as special traffic officers was announced by the committee in charge of the plans at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers' association Friday evening at the Wichita Club. The signals, which the committee believes will give this city a metropolitan air as well as facilitate the movement of traffic at crowded corners, will be installed by Wednesday of next week, it was announced.

The special officers announced by Carl Wuelder, chairman of the committee are the following: Al Booth, Charles Nolen, W. S. Langford, F. D. Keim, L. L. Dixon, L. V. Leslie, C. C. Randle, Carl Thompson, Dan Rubsam, and J. O. Wheat. The duties of these officers, which will work in cooperation with the city police department, will consist of advising autoists how to observe certain traffic rules and to extend a helping hand to novices in automobile driving. Their recommendations, so it has been agreed by Police Commissioner Fitts, will be considered by the police department as authoritative.

A report from the road map committee, given by J. M. McFall was made, he stating that the markers had been put up at the city hall and on the possible routs in and out of the city and the work in this respect had been approved by the committee.

The matter of glaring headlights on automobiles and the possible remedy, was brought up by Mr. Markham, a representative of the Rex Headlight Dimmer company, who gave a demonstration of his device to those present. This dimmer, Mr. Markham explained, works on the principle of the resistance coil, the amount of light thrown in the road depending on the amount desired, regulated by a lever on the steering wheel. On a motion adopted a committee consisting of C. C. Randle, Lloyd Weaver and Pat Jarrat was appointed to investigate the appliance and to act for the association in any way it saw fit.

The question of an automobile show in the fall was brought up and a committee will be appointed to look into the matter and make recommendations to the association at a later meeting.

Al Booth, presidentfi presided at the meeting which was attended by 28 members. W. W. Robertson Jr., acted as secretary in the absence of C. W. Nolen.

SEEK BUYER FOR HISTORIC HOME OF JEFFERSON

Interest in Monticello, beautiful one-time home of Thomas Jefferson, is revived in the announcement that a Washington realty firm is trying to dispose of it to someone "deemed both able and worthy" to purchase the shrine. The place at present is in the hands of former Congressman Jefferson M. Levy, who is, presumably, desirous of selling.

Monticello commands a reasonable degree of national interest through its innate historical value, but visitors to the place, whatever their admiration for Jefferson the statesman, forget history in their absorption at the beauty of Monticello. There is, perhaps, no home in America so utterly enmeshed in romance and glamour. It is a spot which dedicates itself to youth and imagination and to love and rest. A summer home of summer homes it is.

If the place is to pass into new hands, let us all hope they will be hands who love beauty and seek its cultivation. Monticello should be popularized to the limit of possibility. Not only as a shrine, but also as a beauty spot it is worth the effort.

HOUSTON NURSE SO UNWELL SHE HAD TO GIVE UP

"In all of my experience as practical nurse I have never known of a medicine with the merit of Tanlac," said Mrs. Viola G. McAshan, 828 Arlington St., Houston Heights, Texas.

"I have put Tanlac to a personal test. The strain of nursing the sick proved too much for me and finally after a nervous breakdown I had to give up. I was in a terribly run-down condition, my stomach was out of order and I suffered tortures with my back. Sometimes in the morning my back hurt me so I would break down and cry and my husband would have to help me out of bed. I was under treatment two or three years and tried many medicines, but nothing did me any good. I lost weight until I only weighed a hundred and one pounds, and finally I got down in bed and was discouraged and out of heart. This was my condition when I began taking Tanlac."

"It is simply wonderful the way this medicine has put me on my feet again. I have a splendid appetite, my stomach is in first class condition, I have gained eight pounds in weight and am gaining every day and am feeling better than I have in years. I'm telling everybody what a fine medicine Tanlac is, and I hope my statement will help others who suffer as I did."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store; in Electra by Tarlton Drug Store; in Burkburnett by West End Drug Store, and by all leading druggists.—Adv.

UNCLE SAM LAYS FOUNDATION OF WORLD'S HIGHEST DAM; WILL IMPOUND WATERS FOR IRRIGATION OF 100,000 ACRES

Above: General view of the Rimrock camp, looking down river from a point just above the dam site, where work on the dam is under way. Below: John Russell homestead, which will be in center of lake that will result from completion of dam.

The U. S. reclamation service has laid the foundation of what will be the highest dam in the world. It is at Rimrock, Wash., in the Tieton canyon, forty-six miles north of Yakima. The dam, which will rise 430 feet above the present level of the river water, is to be a part of a great irrigation project that will reclaim 100,000 acres of arid land. It is estimated that it will take four years to complete the dam at a cost of at least four million dollars.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. NORTON HELD FRIDAY

Attended by a large number of representative men and women of the city, co-workers of the deceased in church, charities and in club work, and business associates and friends of her husband, funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the family residence for Mrs. Agnes Ragland Norton, wife of W. E. Norton. Burial was in Rosemont.

Dr. D. L. Collie of Polytechnic, conducted the funeral services, his presence at this time being of particular significance, since he had been the pastor of the family in Abilene, had officiated at the marriage of Agnes Ragland and W. Edgar Norton in 1906, had christened the son of that marriage, now thirteen years of age, and had only recently conducted the funeral services for Mrs. Ragland, the mother of Mrs. Norton.

The funeral services were opened by the men's quartet from the First M. E. Church South, of which Mrs. Norton was a member and an active worker before the coming of the long continued illness that resulted in her death Thursday, and Mrs. C. Y. Tully sang later.

Mrs. Norton's father, J. F. Ragland of Lockney, and her sister, Mrs. G. S. Morris, also of Lockney, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Norton of Fort Worth, mohter and father of Mr. Norton and his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hard of Fort Worth, were present from out of town. C. J. Norton, and Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, brother and sister of Mr. Norton, reside here.

Mrs. Oneal was unable to return in time for the funeral, having just started on a northern trip a few days ago, when it appeared that Mrs. Norton's condition was slightly improved.

MURDER OF AGED WIDOW DESCRIBED

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Otille Flehmer, 55 years old, widow of a porter, and her daughter, 20, have been taken to the Pietzensee penitentiary to begin serving their sentences for one of the most gruesome crimes ever unfolded in a German courtroom.

They were convicted of having killed Emilie Tiller, a widow, 70 years old, in order to get her savings bank book so that they might buy themselves nicer dresses and remain attractive to their common lover, a laborer, 45 years old.

Mother and daughter made friends with the aged and lonesome widow, who responded to the feigned affection and attention, by promising to leave to them all her property when she died, which constituted a small savings bank account. The two women, however, could not wait. Mother and daughter, as they admitted on the witness stand, have the same lover, who was beginning to show signs of drifting away.

The autopsy showed that the widow Tiller had been poisoned with a drug in her coffee.

The daughter related in detail how she dissolved poison tablets in a teaspoon, placed the solution in a small bottle and filled it with water. The solution then was added to the coffee for the aged widow.

The daughter told how the widow had coffee four or five times a day, and that they fed her this poisoned coffee for four weeks before she died.

"What happened then?" asked the presiding judge.

Frou Flehmer then related in detail how she disposed o the body.

"I pocked the body in a large basket of the kind which working women carry on their backs and carried the body to the attrie. There I took the body out of the basket, and with a hatchet cut her head off.

"I put the head in the stove and burned it, which took one and a half hours. Nothing remained of it. When he head gas gone, I cut off one arm and put in the stove."

Frau Flehmer then told how on the following day she had cut up the body further, and burned it in the stove, leaving only the torso.

The daughter told how the mother said that the torso "would not burn well," wrapped it in a sack and threw it into the Spree River in the evening.

The Court sentenced the mother to serve 12 years in the penitentiary and the daughter to serve six years.

Drilled into the sand, after the usual period of waiting for cement to set, the J. J. Perkins No. 1, Coffman, a location west of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 6 Gose, is estimated as a 200 barrel producer, and is now being put on the pump.

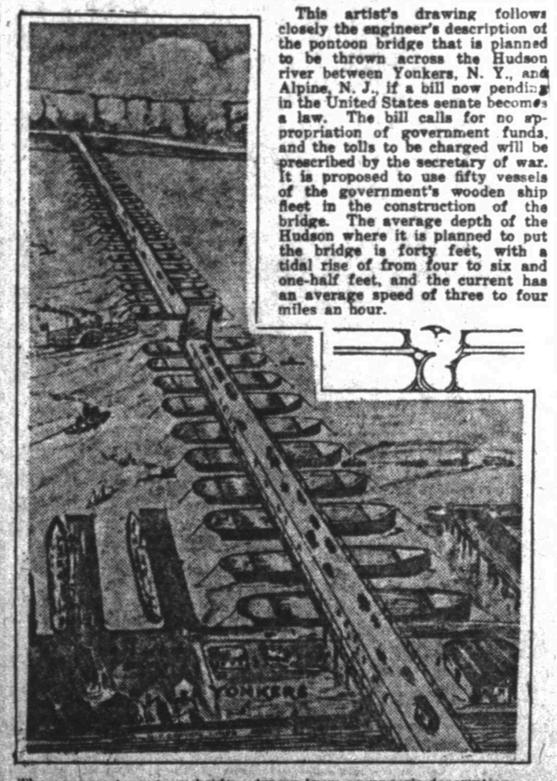

The Texhoma's No. 3, Taylor, was put on the pump Friday, and is a 175 barrel producer, according to the company's report from the field. The Texhoma's No. 8 Gose is reported rigging up to drill in, with Monday as the probable date of completion.

FIFTY U. S. SHIPS MAY SPAN HUDSON, LINK NEW YORK WITH NEW JERSEY

This artist's drawing follows closely the engineer's description of the pontoon bridge that is planned to be thrown across the Hudson river between Yonkers, N. Y., and Alpine, N. J., if a bill now pending in the United States senate becomes a law. The bill calls for no appropriation of government funds, and the tolls to be charged will be prescribed by the secretary of war. It is proposed to use fifty vessels of the government's wooden ship fleet in the construction of the bridge. The average depth of the Hudson where it is planned to put the bridge is forty feet, with a tidal rise of from four to six and one-half feet, and the current has an average speed of three to four miles an hour.

GOTHAM YET WETTEST CITY IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Four reasons combined—despite almost daily raids, arrests and seizures by Federal agents and city police—to keep Greater New York the wettest spot in the whole Volstead map.

First, obviously, is the city's immense foreign-born population, among whom racial tradition and life-long habit utterly are opposed to prohibition.

Second, is New York's intimate contact, as a great port, with nonprohibition countries, where liquor easily is obtainable.

Third, is its proximity to the wet Canadian border.

Fourth, is the fact that New York is "playground" of all America, and that thousands of persons who advocate law enforcement at home come here to frolic with John Barleycorn.

Sheer size, too, plays its part. New York is the bootlegging center of the United States for the same reason that it is the banking center, the musical center, the insurance center.

Ring Dominates Business.

The biggest single group the enforcement agents are in conflict with here is powerful, secret alien whiskey ring, which has won practical control and domination of the wholesale liquor business.

This whisky ring is not a figment of detective story imagination. It actually exists and, perhaps, is the most powerful of all bootlegging rings in America. It dominates particularly the crooked element among the wholesale liquor dealers who still are operating under the famous "B permits."

These wholesale dealers, who have thousands of barrels of whisky, alcohol and wines in bonded warehouses in and around New York still are permitted by law to sell to drug stores, hospitals, medicine and perfumery manufacturers. A few of them operate within the law. But many use their permits as a screen for disposing of their wares through bootlegging channels on a gigantic scale.

Wholesaler Is "Surprised."

Agents check up the bonded warehouse stock of a certain wholesale dealer whom they suspect of having released 50 barrels of alcohol to the ring. They find the 50 barrels of alcohol are gone. The wholesaler, however, produces withdrawal permits which had been presented to him by the persons to whom he sold the alcohol for cash. These permits are in the name of a legitimate-sounding drug concern. They have the government stamp, the signature of Federal officials, even the watermark of the Treasury Department paper.

But when the agents scrutinize these papers they prove to be clever forgeries.

"Oh, how surprised and shocked I am," says the wholesale dealer. "Who'd have thought it? What wicked people! How they fooled me! Of course you can't blame me. And I gladly will lend every assistance to help catch them and bring them to justice."

The Federal agents know they are deceived by the wholesaler but they can't touch him. He escapes through this clever loophole, and tracing the man who got the alcohol is like looking for a needle in a haystack. The names and addresses on the permits all were faked, and the alcohol itslef has been moved by trucks at night out of the way back cellars. New York is full of cellars. The 50 barrels have been scattered. Maybe not more than two or three are in any one place.

Cellars Hold Mysteries.

What goes on in these cellars would make material for a dime novel "thriller."

The cellars themselves are unpretentious, dirty, shabby, cheap. But behind them, in the aggregate, are big fortunes and the biggest criminal brains in the world today, in whose employ are expert counterfeiters, engravers, printers, carpenters and chemists.

The stuff goes into the cellars as crude alcohol. A few days later it comes out magically transformed. Wooden cases, stencils, bottles with names blown into the glass, lithographed labels, revenue stamps, printed cautions against refilling, impressive assurances that "the genuine is always sealed with the government stamps." And the whole business is faked, forged, false.

Out it goes now to the unsuspecting public, retailed by an army of petty bootleggers. It is circulated in suitcases, satchels, hip pockets, wash baskets, golf bags, guitar cases, tool kits,—anything to divert suspicion. Bellhops, store clerks, taxi drivers, fruit venders, moving men, salesmen for anything from soap to steel railway cars—under a thousand different disguises—operate all over Manhattan Island.

The stuff is counterfeited so well that only an expert can tell from appearance or taste that it is not real. Crude alcohol and colored water—yet they sell it from $5 to $15 a quart.

Most of the bootleg stuff in New York today is this faked concoction made from dishonestly obtained alcohol. But there also is a great deal of real liquor smuggled over the Canadian border, brought from abroad in boats, or obtained from a wholesaler who had it in stock. Occasionally some individual or group atempts a little surreptitious distilling, but comparatively speaking, there is very little "moonshine" on the bootleg market in New York.

The bulk of violation in Greater New York today is by the sale of this bottled, peddled goods. It isn't nearly so easy as it used to be to buy a single drink. Through the combined activities of Federal agents and city police there is much less violation by saloons and restaurants than there was six months ago.

The time has passed when it is possible for a stranger to enter almost any saloon and restaurant and get it with a whispered word or a wink. Of course, there still are hundreds—possible thousands—of places, particularly foreign restaurants, where clients who are known still may obtain alcoholic drinks with their meals. There are saloons that are violating the law. But police and Federal agents are getting this situation better in hand every day, and violators of this class are finding it to be necessary to "cover up" more and more.

Broadway Drying Up, Too.

Throughout the whole of the "White light" district of Broadway and around the "Roaring Forties" there are not now a dozen places openly engaged in dispensing drinks indiscrimately to the general public.

Less than siv months ago there were hundreds, including some of the biggest and best known cabarets and dance palaces.

On the other hand there probably isn't a single hotel, scarcely a city block, in the whole of Greater New York where the stranger, if he is "wise," cannot purchase "something off the hip."

Prohibition enforcement in New York, both city and state, now is in the hands of Judge H. L. Hart, director of the Federal Bureau. For seven years he was Judge of the City Court in Birmingham, where he made such a record for law enforcement that when he last stood for re-election he was indorsed by Republicans, Democrats, and Prohibitionists alike.

Judge Hart is an active ad optimistic. He believes that New York can be made practically dry—at any rate 1,000 per cent drier than it now is.

He purposes to do it by striking at the root. Here is his tentative program, backed by Washington headquarters. It is believed that it will work for New York, and that if New York can be made dry the country can be made dry.

To Strike at Wholesalers.

He intends to put the permit by wholesalers out of business. Under the law they have the right to dispose of their present stocks. But it is believed his stock will be exhausted within five months. They are to get no more stock, and when what they have now is exhausted their permits will be revoked. Importers, operating under "B permits," will be handled in the same way.

Then only wholsale druggists, retail druggists and manufacturers will be permitted to withdraw whisky or alcohol from government control. All of these houses will be reinspected carefully, with the active co-operation of committees from the legitimate wholesale druggists, retail druggists and manufacturers. By this means the crooked ones will be exposed and put out of business.

With this situation under control the biggest single flow of bootleg liquor will be damned at its source. The program already is underway. Meanwhile, the department, with the active co-operation of police, is busy fighting the smugglers, counterfeiters, fake whisky makers and bootleggers and making the situation increasingly "hot" for all violators of the law.

MONEY PINCH HITS "CORN" PEDDLERS

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 19.—Bootleggers at last are hit by the industrial depression and say that it would not be so bad if so many had not attempted to break into the "game" when they lost their jobs, one of the "brotherhood" said today.

"It is discouraging to stick out a prospect, pull him off to one side and make a sale and then find that he has a pint on his hip that he was figuring on selling to you.

"It seems like every fellow I tackle is a bootlegger, and we can't sell to each other. I could pick up several cases of liquor at a good price, but I'm not going to tie up any more money with all these freelances running wild."

SPUDS LOSE IN NINTH AFTER TOUGH BATTLE—BUT PANTHERS AND DALLAS ALSO HIT CHUTES

By C. F. CARTER

The optimist, we are informed, sees the doughnut, while the pessimist sees the hole. Such being the case, the pessimistic side of our New England nature sees another defeat for the Spudders yesterday—while our optimistic side gives three loud cheers for the doughnut victories of Galveston and Beaumont over Fort Worth and Dallas.

'Tis the only way to view yesterday's 1 to 2 defeat in the ninth inning, fans; to pound one another on the back cheerfully today, and say:

"By golly, Bill, ol' kid, wasn't that great stuff, Fort Worth and Dallas getting bumped off that-a-way! That sure musta cheered our Spudders up, eh, and filled 'em with the old fight and hustle for the next game. We'll hook 'em today, Bill, ol' kid!"

Yea, verily, 'tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all; and although the Spudders lost a pitchers' battle in the ninth frame, we love 'em still. That's us all over, Mabel.

Jake Miller Hurt.

The only cloud that hangs on the horizon today concerns the seriousness of an injury to Jake Miller in the second inning yesterday, when Jake hurt his leg sliding into first base. Miller was forced to leave the game, but it was impossible to learn whether his injury is a minor one or one that may keep him out of the game for some time. With Bob Bescher still out, it would be mighty tough at this stage of the race to lose the sure-fielding, hard-hitting Jake also. But we'll hang in there just the same; no whining; no whimpering, gang. Stay in there, boys, and fight 'em to a fare-thee-well. That's the old spirit.

Holly and Barfoot battled on even terms yesterday up to the fatal ninth. Although Barfoot yielded two more hits than did Holly, the Houston twirler had a world of stuff on the ball when hits would have meant runs, and the Spudders over a stretch of seven innings were unable to break a 1-1 deadlock. A double and a single in the ninth, the same combination that gave the Buffs their lone run in the second frame, broke up the duel, and spelled defeat for the Spuds.

The game was peculiar in that only two extra base blows were recorded by either team, Houston getting both and turning each into a score. Each team chalked up eight singles, but the Spudders were unable to bunch their blows when they were most needed. Buddy Tanner who went hitless in the slugging match with the Bears Thursday, turned in three hits out of four times up yesterday but the punch behind Buddy in each case was lacking.

The Spudders shoved their only marker over in the second frame, when Jake Miller led off with an infield single, hurt his leg sliding into the bag and was forced to quit the game. Bischoff was sent in to run for Jake, and was forced at second by Griggs. Caddy Works poked a hot single through the box, and Cecil went to second, scoring a minute later when Frank Kitchens kept up the good work with a one-timer to left. Holly fanned, and McElwee was tossed out by Barfoot.

Buffs Tie It Up.

The Buffs came back in their half and tied the count, when Blades pasted a double to left, and George Whiteman brought him home with a single to center. C. Miller went out to Works unassisted, Whiteman advancing; Bottomley flied to Griggs and Danny Clark threw out Griffith.

From that point on until the ninth the game see-sawed back and forth with neither club able to break the tie. The Spudders had a chance in the sixth, but simply couldn't put 'er over. Danny Clark led off with a single through the box, and went to second when Bischoff followed with a one-slack clout to left. Griggs, attempting to sacrifice, bunted to Barfoot, and Clark was forced to third. Works struck out, and Whiteman in deep center grabbed Kitchens' long fly for the final out.

After Whiteman had flied to Griggs in the last of the ninth, Charlie Miller soaked a two-bagger to right, and the deciding run of a hard-fought game came home when Bottomley placed a single in left field.

The series is still young, gang. We'll get that Buffalo hide today. Don't weaken.

The score.

MISS BROWNE MEETS MOLLA IN NET FINALS

By Associated Press.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The women's lawn tennis singles championship of 1921 lies between Mark K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal., and Mrs. Molla Bjustedt Mallory of New York. Tomorrow afternoon these sole survivors of the thirty-fourth national titular tournament will meet for the crown now worn by Mrs. Mallory. In the semi final round play on the courts of Westside here today, Miss Brown, champion in 1912, 1913 and 1914, won the right to compete for premier honors again today by defeating Mrs. C. V. Hitchins of Mexico City, 6-3, 6-0, while Mrs. Mallory became the finalist by eliminating Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, the international champion of the courts almost two decades ago 8-6, 6-2.

BLACK SPUDDERS AND DARK OILERS TO TANGLE TODAY

Out at Athletic Park this afternoon there will be a battle royal between the Wichita Falls Black Spudders and the Beaumont Black Oilers. It will be the last time these two clubs will meet this season in the local camp. The two teams are about equally matched in stick work, and it is said that this series will decide which team has the best pitching staff.

The clubs will play four-game series, Saturday, Sunday and Monday with a doubleheader Sunday. Added to the double fracas Sunday the manager of the Black Spudders announces that he has arranged to show the returns by innings of the Wichita Falls (white) and Houston. Game called today at 4 p. m.

GREYWORTHY SETS MARK IN WINNING TROT STAKE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19—Greyworthy, driven by Walter Cox, won the Wingo stake at $3,000 for 2:08 trotters, the feature event of today's card at the Grand Circuit meeting at Narberth. The race was divided into three heats with a purse of $1,000 cash. Greyworthy won all three events. In the first and third his time of 2:05 1-4, set a new record for the event.

Emma Harvester finished second and Wiki Wiki third.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 19.—Walter Mace, widely known among college men as a conditioner and assistant trainer of Yale athletes, has been appointed trainer of the American Davis cup tennis team.

MARIES DROP SERIES' FIRST TO EXPORTERS

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 19.—Delmaggio's double, Mathes' infield hit and Smith's sacrifice fly gave Beaumont the winning run in the ninth inning of the opening game of the series with the Dallas Marines here today. Rusie, Once King of Pitchers Back at N. Y. Polo Grounds

Amos Rusie as he looks today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(Special)—From 1900 to 1921 Amos Rusie never saw the Polo grounds. Nineteen hundred was Amos Rusie's last year with the Giants, and from 1900 to 1921 he did not see a big league ball game. The once star pitcher and one of the best pitchers of all time—speed like Walter Johnson's and the fastest curve ball extant—is now assistant superintendent at the Polo grounds after ten years on the Pacific coast. John McGraw made the position for him.

EGG SCARCITY BOOSTS PRICE IN LOCAL MART

Eggs mounted the price ladder from $6.60 to $7.00 a crate in the local markets Friday, caused by a scarcity of good candled eggs for the past few days. The quality of the eggs brought in to the local markets in the past few days, the jobbers say, has been bad, the loss due to sandling running as high as 30 per cent.

The hot weather and the fact that this particular time of the year is an off season for laying, are reasons for the raise in price, they report. No changes in supply nor in price has been reported in the various poultry lines.

Fresh fruits continue active but without any price changes. Grapes, of the extra fancy California variety, are coming into the market now for the first time this season, the price being $4.50 a crate. Other fresh fruits that are new include California pears at $5 a crate.

EARLY RISE HOLDS GOOD THRU TRADE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—An early advance on continuation of the covering movement which started in the cotton market early yesterday met a renewal of scattering liquidation around 13.52 for December or about 40 points above the low level of Thursday morning. This sent the price back to 13.33 but the market steadied up again in the late trading, closing at 13.44 for that position. The general list closed steady net 6 points higher to 1 point lower.

Liverpool did not fully meet yesterday's local advance, but private cables reported that shorts were covering on bullish crop news and Liverpool was a moderate buyer at the opening. First prices were one to 3 points higher and the active months soon showed net advances of nine to 14 points, with covering stimulated by prospects for higher temperatures in the southwest. The more urgent demand from shorts seemed to have been supplied on this advance, as support tapered off during the midde of the morning and the falure of buying to become more rapid to encourage a renewal of scattering local pressure or liquidation.

Port receipts today were 12,259 bales. U. S. port stocks 1,333,693. Exports, 24,504, making 203,212 so far this season against 109,645 last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. -9.—The cotton market moved rather nervously back and forth from small declines to small advances today, not getting very far in either direction and final closing at net advances on the session of four to seven points. The usual run of crop complaints and the drought in Texas were the main supporting influences in the early trading for the week caused more or less buying. Hester placed world takings of American cotton at 225,000 bales against 157,000 this week last year and 156,000 this week two years ago.

After a drop of four to six points around the opening, under poor cables, the market came back on bullish weather and crop news and for a while was very steady finally standing nine to 11 points higher than the close of yesterday. October traded up to 12.66, the highest price for the day on that month. A little later selling pressure increased and in the early afternoon the market was at its lowest, eight points under yesterday's final prices on the more active months with October at 12.48. The large mill takings made the market steadier in the late trading.

CASH WHEAT DROPS TO $1 A BUSHEL HERE

Cash wheat dropped 5 cents a bushel in the local markets, it now being quoted at $1.00 a bushel on the basis of No. 1. No. 2 brings 97 cents and No. 3, 94 cents on this change. This change is due, local grain men say, to a general market drop and not to any local condition.

The movement of wheat to the local elevators has about ceased except in cases where wheat is moved from small country stations, local elevators report.

N. Y. COFFEE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Reports reaching the coffee trade from London to the effect that the consignment of 1,000,000 bags of coffee to Havre by the Brazilian government had been as good as arranged seemed largely responsible for the steadier tone of futures here today. The official cables from Brazil were considered about a standoff, but after opening unchanged to two points higher, the local market sold 7 to 8 points above last night's closing figures with December touching 711 or 14 points above yesterday's low level on a little trade buying and covering. The close was 3 to 5 points net higher. Sales were estimated at about 30,000 bags. September 6.63; October 6.78; December 7.08; January, 7.21; March 7.47; May 7.67; July 7.87.

N. Y. SUGAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—There was no change in the local raw sugar market today with uncontrolled sugars quoted at 4.50 for centrifugal, while Cubas were held at 3 1-4 cost and freight, equal to 4.86 for centrifugal. There were sales of 50,000 bags of Porto Ricos and 21,000 bags of Philippine Islands to local refiners at 4.50 for centrifugal.

Raw sugar futures were firmer on covering but after showing advances of 5 to 8 points prices reacted somewhat under liquidation, closing unchanged to 7 points net higher. September closed at 2.93; December at 2.75; March 2.62 and May 2.66, all bid.

In refined there was no improvement in the demand and prices were unchanged at 6.00 to 6.15 for fine granulated. Secondhand sugars are still obtainable below refiners quotations.

In refined futures were a little scattered covering and closing prices 10 to 20 points net higher. September closed at 5.85; December 5.70; March 5.60 all bid.

TRADING IN STOCKS HAS IRREGULARITY

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Trading on the stock exchange today retained most of its recent irregular and professional aspects. Investment shares were fairly steady but speculative issues again lacked support. Apart from the money market, in which perceptible relaxation was observed, developments affecting quoted values were unchanged. According to board room gossip no small part of the further liquidation emanated from abroad, notably London.

Selling continued to center around equipments, steel, motor and shipping shares at gross recessions of one to three points. Specialties of food, tobacco, leather and paper varieties fell back to the same degree and a few miscellaneous issues sustained greater losses. Sales amounted to 425,000 shares.

For the first time since early in the month call loans on the exchange opened and renewed into the coming week at 5 1-2 per cent. In the open market funds were available at 5 per cent. Bank acceptances also eased and commercial paper was in better request.

Dealings in foreign exchange were perfunctory and again influenced by London where German interests were reported as heavy purchasers of American bills. High grade railway bonds were firm to strong, but convertibles sensed on lighter inquiry. Domestic industrials were not materially affected by the heavy tone of related stocks. Liberty bonds reacted on another sharp decline in the 3 1-2's but the most foreign war flotations were inclined to harden. Total sales par value, $8,175,000.

FITTS BUYS NEW AUTOS FOR POLICE

"The best addition yet" was the greeting accorded two new additions to the city police force, put into effect Friday by Police Commissioner Fitts.

The new members of the force consisted of two shiny new five-passenger Ford automobiles, fully equipped with starters, shock absorbers, demountable rims and specially constructed braces for the fenders.

Commissioner Fitts announced that he will sell the seven-passenger Studebaker automobile, now owned by the department and have the old Ford remodeled.

The purchase of the new cars was authorized at the last regular meeting of the city council.

STRONG TONE DEVELOPS IN WHEAT MART

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Wheat traders showed less disposition today to press the selling side, and the market developed comparative strength. Prices closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish at 3-4c higher with September 1.16 3-4 to 1.17 and December 1.17 3-4 to 1.18. Corn closed 3-4 off to 1-4 up and oats at 3-4 decline to 1-4 advance. In provisions the outcome varied from 17c decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Broadening of the volume of business did a good deal to help the bullish sentiment regarding wheat. Exporters were said to be more keen to purchase and the seaboard estimated that sales to Europe totalled 1,200,000 bushels. In addition many short sellers apparently took the view that the market having had abreak of 10 cents this week, something of a rally was due, and that caution was required as to further commitments on the bear side. Meanwhile, with country offerings remaining light, and with receipts from the spring crop in the northwest failing to come forward as predicted the market, except during ocasional brief intervals, averaged a little higher throughout the day.

Continued liquidation on the part of holders of corn carried all deliveries of that grain to the lowest prices yet this season. Oats also went to a new low level.

Higher quotations on hogs together with packers buying tended to steady provisions.

CALF MARKET HAS ACTIVE AND BUSY DAY

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 19.—The calf market was active today, the market being steady with 1200 head offered but a run of 1500 head of cattle had to be peddled on a weak and lower market. Most of the supply consisted of steers and buyers claimed that with the exception of 3 or 4 cars the run was of an undesirable sort. Two cars of southern steers sold at $3 and $3.50, representing the low range of the trade. A car of choice calves brought $6.00.

The hog market was active at an advance of 15 to 25 cents. One car brought $9.70 and most of the supply cleared at $9.25 to $9.50. Pigs brought $7 to $7.50 on a steady market. Receipts were about 1000 head.

Sheep prices were unchanged. Most of the supply of 1000 head was mixed. Quotations:

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

MARKET RECORDS LARGER SALES AT HIGHER PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Bradstreets tomorrow will say:

The moderate gain noted last week in wholesale and jobbing trading in wearing apparel lines for fall has been sustained and there seems to be a further accentuation of the optimistic feeling. In some lines notably silk goods, shoes, canned goods, raw wool and iron and steel, the movement has found expression in larger sales at higher prices. In no case has the expansion assumed big proportion, and there is no evidence of any reduction in the caution with which purchases are being made.

In fact the phase 'immediate needs' is more frequently met with than any other words descriptive of the volume of buying. However, the advance of the season, the rather better tone of crop advices, the fear or the absolute knowledge of small stocks held in distributors hands, and the loosening up of credit consequent upon the less tense condition of the money market, all make for rather more confident tone in purchasing. Weekly bank clearings $5,809,905,000.

JUNE RAILROAD EARNINGS SHOW BIG INCREASE.

Practically complete reports of railroad operations in June show that the net operating income of Class I carriers amounted to $51,778,000, or $1,778,000 above the previously estimated total, $14,607,346 more than in May, and comparing with an operating deficit of $14,612,000 in June of last year. The marked improvement was not due to a gain in gross earnings, which, in fact, were below those of June, 1920, but rather to the rigid economy enforced on all lines, as reflected in the heavy decreases in expenses. Net operating revenues for the 202 railroads aggregated $461,127,000, a decrease of 6.7 per cent. as compared with the corresponding month a year ago. Operating expenses, however, totaling $379,688,000, were 20.7 per cent. less than in June of last year.

In the eastern district operating revenues were $211,173,000, representing a decrease of 4.1 per cent. from the preceding June, but operating expenses of $174,896,000 were 22.4 per cent. less, and net operating income of $22,724,000 compared with a deficit of $19,706,000 in the like month of last year. Gross earnings of $72,501,000 in the southern district were 3.8 per cent. below those of June, 1920, while operating expenses fell 21.2 per cent. to $62,846,000, leaving a net operating income of $5,905,000, as against a deficit of $7,280,000. Railroads in the western district reported operating revenues of $177,453,000, showing a decrease of 10.8 per cent., and net operating income of $23,149,000 or an increase of 87.1 per cent. compared with June, 1920.

According to the Association of Railway Executives, the June earnings, on the basis of the tentative property valuation fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate-making purposes, would be at the annual rate of 3.1 per cent., as compared with 2.4 per cent. for May. Statistics compiled by the association show that in June the carriers fell short $47,295,000, or 47.7 per cent. of earning the 6 per cent. return allowed by the transportation act. Through continued efficiency in management and as a result also of retrenchments, the railroads gained even better control of their expenditures than in preceding months. In June 82.34 cents out of every dollar of revenue went for expenses, as compared with 85.43 cents in May, 96.84 cents in June a year ago and 95.69 cents in May of 1920.

From September 1, 1920, when the government guaranty period ended, to June 30 of this year, the net operating income, according to a statement made by the Railway Executives' Association, amounted to $368,445,000, which on the basis of their tentative valuation would be at the annual rate of return of only 2.5 per cent. In other words, the amount fell short of that expected to be earned under rate fixed by the Commerce Commission by $516,626,000. For the month of June net operating income of carriers in the eastern district was at the annual rate of 2.9 per cent.; in the southern district it was also 2.9 per cent., and in the western 3.4 per cent.

Returns for July are not yet available, but in view of the exceptionally heavy wheat shipments, it is expected that gross revenues will make a very favorable showing, and possibly be in excess of those for the corresponding month of 1920, while the wage reductions which went into effect July 1, together with continued economies, will probably show further substantial decreases in operating expenses. In some quarters it is predicted that the net operating income for all Class 1 railroads in July will amount to $54,000,000, or perhaps more.

Dallas has been selected as state headquarters for the Texas republican party and Col. W. E. Talbot of that city chosen supervising director of republican organization work in the state. A large campaign fund has been pledged. Republican leaders are to be congratulated. An aggressive minority party would banish from legislative halls and the seat of government many democratic minnows, political pee-wees and boll weevils who bore from within as well as from without. This should be a hint to State Chairman Frank C. Davis that there is work to be cut out for him in the coming campaign.

Charles Evans Hughes has notified John M. Garner that the United States did not convey a threat to President Obregon; that America is not trying to dictate the internal policies of Mexico. Texas lawmakers adopted a resolution asking for the recognition of Mexico by the United States. Why should the secretary dodge the issue? Mexico has a stable government. Mexico would not dare confiscate the property rights of foreigners. Then why the delay in recognition?

RICHARD SPILLANE ON FORTUNE AND INCOME TAX OF JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. says his father's wealth never reached a billion and has been reduced materially by gifts in recent years. This announcement was provoked by the publication of an estimate by Henry H. Klein, deputy commissioner of accounts of New York city, putting the elder Rockefeller estate at $2,400,000,000.

People will gossip and guess about the Rockefeller fortune until they get the official figures after his death. Even then there will be speculation as to what he had before he began distributing part of his holdings.

Probably no man that ever lived had so much discussion as to his wealth as John D. Rockefeller. The bankers are as much muddled on this subject as the public. Nearly 15 years ago a high officer of a Rockefeller bank told a New York editor that the Rockefeller income for the preceding year was $65,000,000, yet it's an open secret that the largest individual income tax ever paid in one year in this country through its Internal Revenue Department was under $36,000,000. That means gross about $54,000,000 and $18,000,000 net after paying the tax.

The general public has an idea that everything John D. Rockefeller owns is gilt-edge. It is not. He has been terribly stung in many of his investments. He is the largest stockholder in at least two rather important railroads that never have paid a dividend on their common stock. He is the largest stockholder in another railroad whose shares have sold close to 200 and now well around 20.

It is the old story of the shoemaker sticking to his last. Mr. Rockefeller has been a wizard in oil and anything but that in various of his other ventures. His income has increased from his investments in United States Steel, but not particularly from the money he put in Colorado Fuel and Iron. He probably never would have had a return from the latter property but for turning his holdings over to his son.

As a matter of fact, the government unwillingly did much to increase Mr. Rockefeller's wealth when it split the Standard Oil into 33 parts. Mr. Rockefeller expected this would be ruinous. Instead, it created a competition among the various Standard Oil companies and developed business they had never before. One of the greatest of all agencies in increasing Standard Oil wealth was the automobile.

A list of the holdings of the late J. P. Morgan showed he had a remarkable collection of "cats and dogs" along with the high and middle grade securities that represented the bulk of his many millions. Mr. Rockefeller probably has not so wide a variety, but he certainly has made some of the worst investments of any very rich man in America.

Men who have great wealth sometimes are hard pressed for money. A gentleman whose property inventoried $134,000,000 within the last seven years had to sacrifice the bulk of his holdings in the last 12 months to meet obligations that could be settled only with cash.

Mr. Rockefeller has had trouble all through his life finding men to do exactly what he desired of them. There are various railroad presidents today that represent the Rockefeller interests and were selected by him. The present writer asked one of them recently if he knew what particular quality he possessed that actuated Mr. Rockefeller in choosing him.

The railroad executive smiled as he answered: "I don't mind telling you," he said, "that Mr. Rockefeller thinks I have considerable ability as an organizer. The railroads suffered greatly in the war period from disorganising influences."

Mr. Rockefeller has a pretty good record as a picker, but by no means a perfect one. Perhaps the best pick he ever made was of his physician, Hamilton F. Bigger Sr. Were it not for Dr. Bigger it is doubtful whether Mr. Rockefeller would be alive today. The doctor has changed an abominable digestive appartus into such a good one that there is talk of Rockefeller living to be a hundred.

What would Rockefeller's wealth be worth to him without good health?

Senator Cartwright makes it plain in his talk on "Compensation" that the Creator has equalized things so that neither rich man nor poor man can eat more than is good for his stomach—and enjoy the eating; neither rich man nor poor man requires more than one suit of clothes to wear at one time or one hat or one pair of shoes; that he cannot take his money with him when he dies and that a rich man must put his money to work in productive enterprises or it diminishes and withers and that great wealth does not mean happiness, but entails obligations.

It doesn't matter particularly how much wealth John D. Rockefeller has today. So far as eating is concerned, he is one of the simplest feeders in the world. For more than 10 years the main article of his food was cheese.

And he is just as plain in his friendship as in his diet. Probably he is getting tired of being called a billionaire. That may explain the disclaimer put out by his son.

Richard Spillane is an interesting writer on men and business and his pen picture of John D. Rockefeller, the wealth of the Standard Oil King, his fads and his fancies, his gains and his losses, his simple diet and his democratic simplicity—always makes very illuminating reading. Richard Spillane is a former Texan. That is, he pushed the typewriter or pencil for several years on the Galveston newspapers, and employed his talents as the Texas correspondent of the paper founded by James Gordon Bennett Sr., directed from Paris for forty years by James Gordon Bennett II and absorbed after the death of the Parisian expuisite by the money of Frank Munsey, its present owner. Gone are the glories of the Bennetts. Gone is the splendor of The Herald of other years, but many of the products of the Herald workshop are in the land of the living and daily enrich the columns of the influential newspapers of America.

Democrats will fight the tax program.—Washington dispatch. Of course they will fight the tax program. Republicans, made it. That is the way the game is played. When the democrats make a tax program, republicans fight it; when republicans make tax programs, democrats fight it; but as Jones has often said, "It is a helluva way to do business."

Now the West Texas Chamber of Commerce says the failure of the legislature to consider the alien land law will have its effect in preventing large sums of English capital from being invested in Texas. Porter Whaley appears to be on the job.

WOMEN IN AGRICULTURE.

Women engaged in farming as enumerated in the Fourteenth Century numbered 261,553 in 1920 as compared with 6,186,813 men so occupied. While slightly over 4 per cent. of the agriculturists in number, women owned 4.8 per cent. of the farm area. Of the men farmers 3,737,326 were owners, 67,726 were managers and 2,381,725 were tenants of farms. Of the women agriculturists 187,769 were owners, 763 were managers and 73,021 were tenants. A larger proportion of women than of men farmers were owners; the percentage of men being 60.4 per cent. and of women 71.8 per cent.

The percentage of farms conducted by women ranged from 1.9 per cent. in Nebraska to 7.2 per cent. in Rhode Island. The proportion reached 6 per cent. or over in seven states, namely, Rhode Island, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Alabama, Massachusetts and South Carolina. Ten states in the south and southwest reported over 10,000 women farmers each, namely, Mississippi, 18,932; Alabama, 16,264; Texas, 16,128 Georgia, 13,982; North Carolina, 12,161; South Carolina, 11,570; Kentucky, 11,399; Tennessee, 11,374; Arkansas, 11,027, and Virginia, 10,028. The total land area in farms at the census date in 1920 was 955,676,545 acres, of which women operated 25,798,400 acres, or 2.7 per cent. The average size of the farms conducted by women was 98.6 acres, while the average for men was 150.3 acres.

Rippling Rhymes

THE COMMON LOT.

Ex-Kaiser Bill rears up and roars; he says he's taxed too much; his eloquence he vainly pours upon the stubborn Dutch. "'Tis as your guest," I hear him say. "I ornament these halls; yet, donnerwetter, every day the tax collector calls. From visitors it is not good that taxes are required, yet when I sell a cord of wood the war tax makes me tired. Three kroners on my dachshund pup, two guilders on my cat, a tax upon my mustache cup, and on my Sunday hat. Can Wilhelmina sit her throwne and feel no deep concern, when she must know I'm taxed a bone whichever way I turn? I have to pay an income tax like any common knave; they tax my buckaw and my ax—I have no chance to save. I paid my polltax yesterday, three bucks it set me back; and tax collectors ever stray around my humble shack. It isn't fair, it isn't just, for I'm the country's guest, and Holland has an awful crust to touch my treasure chest." The stolid Dutchman make reply, "We did not ask you here; and if you think the taxes high, you'll find them worse next year." O'er all the world the people groan 'neath taxes, in despair; and Bill, the exile from athrone, helped put the burden there.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

GRANDPOP.

(Dedicated to Old Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul Phantom, who is still turning them down in the ring at a ripe old age).

The Kill-Em Quick Athletic Club was sitting very nice,
They'd trimmed the world at everything from harmony to dice.
I took my grandpop down there grandpop's fourscore and ten.
I took my grandpop down there once, I never will again.

I made my grandpop comfy in a great big morris chair.
I polished up his spectacles and told him not to care
If any of the lads got rough or make a bit of noise.
My grandpop beamed benignly and remarked, "Boys will be boys."

Young Arson and the Mayhem Kid were boxing pretty strong,
For each one held a grouch and thought the other'd done him wrong.
And they were using everything that they lay in fist or soul
Till grandpop hopped up from his seat and knocked them for a goal.

Our champion giant wrestlers were wrestling for a grudge;
They struggled for an hour at, and neither budged a budge.
One solid hour both stood there as steady as a rock,
Till grandpop yawned and threw them with an ancient scissors lock.

This opened up a free-for-all, the crowd surged on the floor,
And puched and bit and scratched and kicked till everything was gore.
Then grandpop turned up both his cuffs and wrenched the mob apart,
And next he looked at me and asked, "When does your program start?"

The kill-Em-Quick Athletic Club seems sort of changed a mite,
Most of its members joined the church and stay home at night.
I'd hardly recognize the same old roughneck bunch at all.
I can't see what's got into them since grandpop paid his call.

Now they're talking about a home for chorus girls. But when does a self-respecting chorus girl ever go home?

CLUBS ARE TRUMP.

Patrolman Smith
Was a dangerous lad for a crook to fool with.
He was strolling his beat on a bright August day
When a bold, legless bootblack hobbled his way.
"Shake a leg," yelled the cop. The boy couldn't because
He had none—and was crowned for defying the laws.

Patrolman Brown
Was known as the kindliest cop in the town.
He met a young lady and, though he looked pained,
He slugged her because, as he explained:
"I been readin' the papers where some fellers' wives
Have pinged 'em. I beaned her to save other lives."

Patrolman Jones
Had a skullpiece made of the choicest of bones,
A golden-haired baby said "da-da" to him.
So he pulled forth his blackjack and knocked out inglim.
He later admitted: "I'm sorry, I am,
But when she said "Da-da" I thought she said "Damn."

And that is the essence and that is the pitch
Of the stories of Jones and of Brown and of Smith.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

islature. George H. Clements has had a unique career. He was born in the city of Dublin under the British flag. After his education he escaped to America and became a magazine writer and newspaper free lance. In Mexico, he saw Diez dethroned. He saw Madeiro sent to a bloody grave; he witnessed the rise of Carranza, he saw the tragic passing of Huerta in the cell of an American prison; he knew Villa better than any American correspondent knew him; Obregon is his friend; El Paso was his headquarters for years until the oil boom hit Toyah and in that thriving town, the state park idea evolved from the brain of the free lance correspondent and soldier of fortune. H. N. F. hereby pledges in advance George H. Clements any influence of voice or pen he may command with the legislators in the work of giving the people of the state an ideal state park where the tourists may spend their summers and the health seekers their winters in that paradise created by nature in the foothills of Davis Mountains.

It may be an inappropriate to name a county for a man before he has crossed the Great Divide but that is what the lawmakers of Texas did for John G. Willacy. He served in the senate sixteen years, was chairman of the finance committee and the author of many important laws. Then he became a reformer and with tongue and pen attempted to educate the people of the menace of Mammon trol, backed by the whiskey and other alleged rings or combinations. He hasn't held office since, but when the reformers and the retrenchers won control of the legislature a county was created from portions of Cameron and Hidalgo at the last regular session. Willacy was born in Kentucky. He became a railroad engineer and he ran an engine almost up to the date of his elevation to a seat in the state senate of Texas. In many ways he is a remarkable man and in many ways he rendered valuable service to the people. Well, in the new county of Willacy, the people held their first election the other day and the democratic nominees won by a two to one majority. This is in the territory presided over by the Hon. R. B. Creager, said to be the personal representative in Texas of President Harding. It must be that the Mexicans deserted the Republican reservation on election day.

INVENTS SPRING LAMP POST.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Enter now the spring lamp-post—a preventive, so its inventor claims, of many automobile wrecks.

In the old days when lamp-posts were the main support of certain gentlemen in the early hours of the morning, a spring lamp-post, of course, would have been out of the question. But today it is different. When an automobile hits this safety post, which was invented by C. C. Veneman, of Chicago, the post bends, allowing the auto to pass over it without serious injury. Then the spring will pull the post back to its upright position.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF WICHITA COUNTY, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon Charlie Ramsey by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Eighty-ninth District Court of Wichita County, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls on the first Monday in October, A. D., 1921, the same being the 3rd day of October, A. D., 1921. Then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of September, A. D., 1920, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 8954-C wherein Beulah Ramsey is plaintiff and Charlie Ramsey is defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant about September 24th, 1911; and continued to live together until about June 3rd, 1916, when defendant abandoned plaintiff; that no children were born to this union and there is no community property. That during the time they lived together plaintiff treated defendant with kindness and forbearance; that defendant abandoned plaintiff as above stated without cause or provocation on her part. That because of the foregoing facts their further living together as husband and wife has been rendered insupportable.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited in terms of law to appear at the next regular term of this court and answer herein for judgment dissolving the marriage relation now existing between them, for cost of suit and for general and special relief, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 18th day of August, A. D., 1921.

NEW ORLEANS FREIGHT TERMINALS CONGESTED WITH CARS.

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—Watermelons are rotting in the railroad yards of New Orleans, according to railroad men, although an embargo was established by the Louisville and Nashville railroad on August 8th.

Shipments receiver prior to that time have in many instances been dumped along the railroad tracks or sold for freight charges, it was said.

This surplus, however, has not affected the price of melons which are being sold here at 15 cents a slice and up.

COUNTY WILL SUE STONE CO. ON CONTRACT

The county commissioner's court after a brief discussion Friday morning, authorized J. M. Isbell, county engineer, to give notice to officials of the Lone Star Stone company that unless the company agreed to certain supplementary features to the contract it now has with the county the contract would be cancelled and suit brought to recover the balance of the $100,000 due to the county on the contract. The company was given until September 1st to agree to the supplementary contract.

The action was taken after members of the court had questioned Mr. Isbell regarding the amount of stone being shipped and prospects for the future. Mr. Isbell told of his recent inspection visit to the quarry of the company and expressed the opinion that without additional equipment the company would be unable to furnish the stone to the county as agreed under the contract.

He said that he made a check as to the stone shipments of the company from the Chico quarry for the first ten days of this month and that he had found that the company had shipped 57 per cent of the stone to other contractors in spite of the fact that the county has use for more than their entire output during that period the amount being less than that stipulated by the terms of the contract.

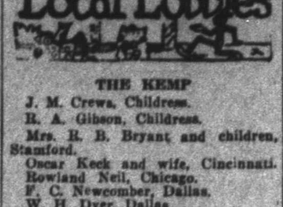

He cited several other occasions where the company in his opinion had failed to carry out the terms of the contract. He suggested that the company be requested to enter into a supplementary agreement in which the county can call for the company to refund the balance due the county from the $100,000 advance payment when the county has expended nine-tenths of its road money. Another supplementary agreement to be insisted upon by the county provides that the company shall at any time refund the balance due provided they fail to carry out the terms of the contract.

Some sentiment was expressed by members of the court for cancelling th contract at once.

"I see no reason why we should enter into a supplementary agreement with the Lone Star company when time after time they have failed to live up to their present agreement with the county," Commissioner L. L. Kuntz said. He pointed out in this connection that the failure of the company to deliver stone had cost the county considerable money in the past. Mr. Isbell said that it now appeared that the work on all concrete pavement would be shut down for a week pending the arrival of additional stone.

The letter asking the supplementary agreement was sent out Friday afternoon to the directors of the Lone Star company. No official of the company was present at the Friday meeting and it is not known what action the company will take in the matter.
