Seventh Annual Clark Reunion

The second Sunday in June was a lovely day- cool and mostly cloudy - with a few showers throughout the day. When we arrived at the Pavalion in beautiful Garner Park, near Leakey and Uvalde, Texas - the "Kin" had begun to gather - and the takes was already beginning to fill with food. (Most of we weight watchers couldn't eat).

The first order of business was getting our "Name tags" pinned on so we would know who the "strays" were. Then we enjoyed reading Edna Clark Millers genealogical material which she has been working on for seven years. Her "Clark Reunion Scrapbooks." of old family Photographs, census records and pictures from our reunion were very popular items with those attending.

We, ladies always get close to the door to await Dr. Fletcher Clark, "Our Kissing Cousin" from San Antonio to arrive. Each of us wants to get there First-Well seems like Edna Beats the rest of us just a little. I can say one thing he certainly lives up to the reputation of Great Uncle Reverend Flethcer Clark - for whom he was named. Uncle Fletcher was a Methodist Preacher with long chin whiskers - The girls called him "Kissing Fletcher" and ran and hid when he appeared.

Barbecue and all the trimmings were served to about eighty people at the noon meal. after lunch there as a short "worship service", a business meeting, the annual picture tookin (as Uncle Josh used to say) and pickin and singing.

And so we parted until next year enriched with good food, good fellowship, a heightened sense of kinship and an increased interest in our common heritage. In more ways than one - the second Sunday in June was indeed a lovely day!

Those attending from this area were; Shorty, Barbara, Frank and Philena Farmer, Edna Miller, Virgil and Edith Clark. and two grandchildren Tommy and Jeanie Clark from Kansas City, Mo - and Vivian & Pauline Clark.

PS we didn't get to take our annual pilgrimage up Dry Frio Canyon, to visit the Pickett house our grandfather W.K.

(Dock) Clark, built in 1880-and see the big tree close by where he kept a bearchained. He moved to Borden Co. in 1890 - andmost of us had never seen the old house until 1966 - when we had our first reunion.

The Frio Country is still Frontier! (These articles appeared this year in Uvalde's Paper.

In returning from work - Joe Chisum was driving a heavy truck - a bif Panther jumped over the fence and into thepath of the machine. Joe ran over it - and killed it - It weighed 147 lbs. This happened about four miles from Leakey, Texas.

As Hattie Chisum (daughter of Gertie White, granddaughter of of Frank Clark) (our kin) walked into the barn at their place- a bobcat, crouched on the rafters overheard, leaped onto her back. Hattie sought oo dislodge the cat by slinging the loose jacket which she wore forward over her head. As the cat came over he clamped his teeth into her brand and refused to let go until her husband - came to her rescue and cut the cat's throat with his pocket knife. Her hand was very badley lacerated and the cat proved rabid - making it necessary that she take rabies shots.

Rapid City Flood Victims

Borden County friends, relatives and loved ones were saddened to learn of the loss of Bill and Winnie Miller's home at the foot of the Black Hills in Rapid City, South Dakota. Their home was located on the bank of Rapid Creek and though a few walls still stand, the home is a complete loss and all their life's treasures.

The water was four foot deep in the second story and as the walls gave way, the furniture floated from the home. With the help of their neighbors, they managed to escape to the roof top through an upper bedroom window. There they rode the storm out through the night watching parts of their home, garage and guest house wash down stream in the ravaging waters. Their neighbors, being younger in age jumped from the roof top to the mountain side which was in their back door and fled for help but found the whole city in great turmoil of flood waters and no help was availablefor the night.

Rescue workers did all they could through the night but Daylight was a welcome sight. The Miller's son Jim and his daughter Melanie tried to reach them horseback at daylight but the waters were so swift and deep, a horse still could not make it. Finally they were reached by their two sons, Jim and William by boat. As if the night had not brought them enough horrifying experience, the boat turned over with all of them as they were trying to board for safety. Once again they were saved by their sons.

Bill and Winnie will be arriving in Borden County in a few days to decide just where they want to settle once again.

There has been great tragedy in the Black Hills and our prayers are with all those who have suffered great losses of homes and loved ones. We are truly thankful for the safety of Bill and Winnie lives and though their loss is great, we are still just "Thankful."

I'm not fat—I'm just too short for my width.

IT DOES IT ALL

A man walked up to a vending machine, put in a coin, and pressed the button labeled: "Coffee with double cream and sugar."

No cup appeared, but the nozzles went into action, sending forth coffee, cream, and sugar. After the proper amounts had gone down the drain, the machine turned off.

"Now that's real automation," exclaimed the customer. "This thing even drinks it for you."

Guest Editorial

By Steve Monk

When I took the job of interpretive reporter last semester, I had absolutely no idea what an interpretive reporter was supposed to do. Now, with a week's experience under my belt, I'm still wondering.

I was told that I would write a column called Issue in which I would answer questions from readers about university policy and so forth. When I came to work and found that nobody had written in any questions this week, I started asking people to ask questions. I asked Ellen Moore, our deep-thinking editor. She thought deeply a minute, then said, "Is there such a thing as a female bullfrog?"

Undaunted, well maybe slightly daunted, I asked Gary Morton, a page editor if he had a question. "What kind of cheese do they make in the Orient?" he asked.

When I took this job I had visions of fame and fortune and blowing the lid off some scandal like Morton did last semester with the overpriced textbook story. Now I would settle for just getting my name put in the staff box.

I would think that people were completely ignoring me, but some nice coed wrote me a letter. I appreciated that, even if she did call me a male chauvinist pig.

Oh well, Mom always said the first week of a new job is the worst part. Mom never lied to me, so when I start my second week, I fully expect to find my desk overflowing with good, meaty questions. If I don't, I'll just write another column. That's a threat!

Attends Conference

Doris Rudd attended the annual Conference for County and District Clerks held in Del Rio, Texas June 13-16. Among the many subjects discussed concerning County and District Clerks and County Offices were the changes in the Texas Constitution. The majority of Clerks went on record as opposing the changes in the Texas Constitution pertaining to the revision of Article 5, Amendment No. 1 as pertains to the District and County Clerks. (Anyone wishing a copy of this amendment may get a copy at the County Clerk's Office in Gail.)

Marybell Dismuke, Austin, Texas Civil Judicial Council, conducted a question and answer session on reporting Civil Judicial Cases had in District Court. Tom Ellis, County Clerk, Dallas, warned of the seriousness of accepting Federal Aid with strings attached. Nell Cosby, County and District Clerk, Tulia, Hortense North, County and District Clerk, Jayton and Lorene Harz, County and District Clerk, Boerne, conducted General Sessions concerning any problem of combination County and District Clerks. The changes in the Texas Election Laws were discussed at length.

James Craddock, Andrews Co, Nell Cosby, Swisher Co, and Ann Prince, Hunt County were in charge of a very impressive memorial service for five clerks who have passed away during the year.

Monks Choose Gail

It seems back in the early sixties, Marvin and Maryzella Monk then of Abernathy, bought a cabin on Lake Thomas.

While traveling back and forth from Abernathy to the lake they fell in love with the town of Gail. Even though they were advised by a few people that Gail people were unfriendly and clanish, they bought them a house in the shadow of Gail Mountain, and on May 1, 1968, after Marvin's retirement they moved to Gail. They had dreamed of long leisurely days of fishing and strolling around the country side away from all the hussle and bussle of larger towns.

Now almost before you can say Maryzella Monk three times the Methodist Church had appointed Maryzella Communion Stewardess. She was so apt at this job in no time at all she found herself teacher of the Intermediate Class. She has now become Treasurer. But as Bob Dyess remarked one day, "You can't remain a stranger in Gail because the minute you go to the Methodist Church they appoint you to a job."

However the Church wasn't the only one who became aware of Maryzella's talents. She has also served as President of Gail Homemakers Club. She is a member of Borden County Historical Society, and serves on the Borden County Museum Committee.

Now while Maryzella was fulfilling all the duties, Marvin wasn't sitting home rocking.

When Brother Haynes decided to retire and move to the lake. Marvin was appointed Justice of the Peace. Now everyone knows the duties of a Justice of the Peace and most of them are unpleasant. Marvin was aware of this, however he didn't know they would mean being dragged away from a Dallas Cowboy game not once but twice in one season to go to the court house to hear some one explain they really weren't guilty of going ninety miles an hour, their speedometer was just twenty miles off. Or how a fellow was driving 115 miles to see a sick sister although the sister hadn't actually seen a Doctor.

If Marvin can just make a Cowboy fan out of the Sheriff so he won't be running radar on Sunday afternoon, he will have it made.

Even though we have kept the Monk's rather busy they say they have never regretted choosing Gail for their retirement home and wouldn't live anywhere else.
