LBJ Asks Allied Aid In Isolation Of Cuba

WHAT THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT—Here's a picture of a coliseum, similar to the type proposed here. Members of a special committee backing the proposal said that several people had asked, "What would the coliseum look like?" This is the type built at Brownwood, which was inspected recently by a local delegation. The one here would not necessarily be an exact duplicate, but would be similar in most respects. Such facilities are idea' for numerous community and regional activities, such as conventions, exhibitions, sports events, etc.

Texas Solons Split On Tax Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas' senators split their vote Friday in the roll call by which the Senate defeated, 61-34, a tax bill amendment to provide for the automatic suspension of the $11.6 billion tax cuts if government spending exceeds $100 billion in any year. Sen. John Towner, R-Tex., voted for the amendment. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., voted against.

4 Americans Deported From Ghana

By KENNETH WHITING

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The government announced today it has deported four American professors on the faculty of the University of Ghana on charges of subversive activities.

"Investigation into recent events reveals they were indulging in activities prejudicial to the security of the state," a Ghana radio broadcast said.

Two other professors in addition to the Americans also were ordered deported, the announcement said.

One of the Americans, Louis H. Schuster, a Negro professor of business administration, left the country Friday night. Before departing for Rome, he told a newsman he had no idea why he was ordered to leave.

The announcement of their deportation came after a demonstration by more than 2,000 followers of President Kwame Nkrumah's Convention People's party at the University of Ghana in suburban Legon.

The demonstrators marched through the halls of the university for several hours. There were reports of violence.

Government-owned newspapers this week have been protesting Western influence on student minds and criticized those students who did not fully support Ghana's one-party Socialist government.

Claims To Head New Viet Gov't

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, South Viet Nam's 36-year-old strong man, announced the formation of a new government today with himself as premier.

Dapper in paratrooper's fatigues, Khanh read the list of Cabinet officers from the steps of his office building and vowed to "bring forth all our strength to repel Communist aggression, to bring security to our people, especially those in the countryside."

Khanh named the popular Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh as chief of state. Minh, leader of the deposed military junta, is expected to have only nominal power.

Minh will live in Saigon's Gia Long Palace, formerly occupied by the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Minh, who led the coalition of generals that ousted the Diem regime last Nov. 1, was overthrown by Khanh's swift, bloodless coup on Jan. 30.

Even as Khanh pledged a revived military effort against the Communists, official casualty figures showed Vietnamese forces had suffered one of their heaviest poundings Thursday.

A U.S. military spokesman said 94 Vietnamese troops were killed and 32 wounded in an assault on Viet Cong positions in an attempt to recapture a ring of hamlets, five miles from the Cambodian border. Five Viet Cong dead were found.

Unofficial reports said nearly 200 civilians also were killed or wounded in government artillery and fighter-bomber attacks before the Reds slipped back toward the Cambodian border.

Khanh said the Viet Cong seizure of the hamlets probably was an attempt to take advantage of the government changeover.

While a crowd of politicians, diplomats and newsmen listened in a parking lot below, Khanh disclosed his list of three deputy premiers, five ministers and 10 secretaries of state.

Explaining what he called the new government's historic mission to save the country, Khanh said: "Every act aimed at sowing disunity and act of sabotage beneficial to the Communists and neutralists will constitute a crime against the people of the motherland."

On Friday a bomb exploded in a Saigon bar, killing five Vietnamese, including a bar girl. Six U.S. servicemen were wounded, none seriously.

The explosion at the Playboy Bar was the worst terrorist act in the capital in more than a year.

Castro Will 'Permit' Base To Remain

By DANIEL HARKER

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro says Cuba has no intention of using force to evict the United States from Guantanamo Bay.

"We are not planning a fight for the Guantanamo base," Castro told newsmen Friday night.

Castro said Cuba's only reason for halting the flow of fresh water to the big U.S. Navy installation was to seek the freedom of Cuban fishermen seized off the Florida coast.

The Cuban leader rejected an interpretation by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk that the water cutoff appeared to be the first step in "a concerted campaign" to evict the United States from Guantanamo.

"We are fighting for the liberation of the fishermen," Castro said. "The problem of the base is part of a series of circumstances that constitute a source of friction and tension between the United States and Cuba and that have to be dealt within the general aspect of these relations."

Castro also rejected a claim by some U.S. officials that he provoked the arrest of the fishermen at a time when the United States was bogged down in a dispute with Panama.

"This has nothing to do with Panama," Castro said. "It is an entirely different case.

Castro said the decision to send fishing boats into the Gulf of Mexico was made Nov. 17, thereby also rejecting speculation he may have decided to put pressure on the United States in consultation with Soviet Premier Khrushchev during a visit to Moscow last month.

Castro met newsmen on a dockside at Havana harbor where he introduced a 22-year-old American fisherman who said he had come to Cuba to seek political asylum.

The tall, blond fisherman identified himself as Dennis Kirby, a native of Vallejo, Calif. He said he arrived Friday night from Key West, Fla., in a 25-foot shrimp boat owned by his employer, the Morgan Sea Food Co. of Savannah, Ga.

Suit Begins Monday To Integrate Rice

HOUSTON (AP)— Trial of a civil suit aimed at permitting Negroes to enroll at Rice University begins Monday in state district court.

Rice trustees also seek authority to charge tuition for the first time.

The petition filed last year by the trustees expresses a fear continuation of the current color restrictions on admissions might affect government grants for research and other projects.

In effect, the petition seeks removal of the words "white" and "free" from an 1891 document in which Williams Marsh Rice established the university.

The indenture specified the school "shall forever be devoted to the instruction and improvement of the white inhabitants" and that such instruction shall be "free."

Tells Cuba 'Keep Water'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is appealing to Allied governments to join in tightening an economic noose around Cuba following President Johnson's decision to separate the Guantanamo naval base completely from the Cuban economy and water supply.

Johnson in effect told Cuba to keep its water.

The presidential decision was announced by the State Department Friday night after a day-long series of conferences on how the United States should react to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's action Thursday in cutting the fresh water supply to the naval base.

Shortly before the White House announcement that Guantanamo would be made self-sufficient in water supplies, Secretary of State Dean Rusk pictured Castro as probably undertaking a concerted campaign to force the United States to abandon the big naval base on Cuba's eastern end.

"The basic fact is," Rusk told a news conference, "that we are in Guantanamo and will remain there for the foreseeable future."

Later Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos issued a statement on Havana radio to, he said, rebut Rusk's declaration that "we are making a premeditated campaign to expel the United States from Guantanamo."

"We will claim the base in the moment we consider convenient and will use the ways of international organizations that we will consider convenient for our claim," said Dorticos.

Johnson ordered the Defense Department to make Guantanamo self-sufficient.

With this order, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the statement said, issued instructions to:

"Assure the base control over its own water supply both by conversion of sea water to fresh water and by the transportation of water by ship.

"Reduce the employment of Cuban personnel who are subject to the control of the Cuban government and whose wages contribute to its foreign exchange."

Asked if the Cuban water would be used if Castro turned it back on, a Defense Department spokesman said, "No. The new instruction means that we do not anticipate having to use water again from that source."

Administration officials said the President and his advisers believe the decision on the American response is appropriate to the challenge posed by Castro in closing the pipeline to the base.

Police Here Nab Suspect For Houston

The alertness of a Snyder police officer, combined with new police teletype network which went into use just a few days ago, resulted in the capture Friday evening of a murder suspect.

An all-points bulletin issued by the Houston police department was seen by the officer on the teletype machine at about 6 p.m. It gave the physical description of the suspect, a 26-year-old Negro named Charles Nolen, and advised that he was wanted for the murder of a Houston man and the theft of his car Thursday night or Friday morning.

The suspect had been last seen in Houston, and his direction and method of travel were unknown.

Remembering this information, when the officer saw a hitchhiker alight from a truck on the East Highway who matched the description, he took him into custody. Nolen reportedly made no attempt to resist arrest.

A Houston officer was enroute to Snyder Saturday morning to return the suspect to Houston.

Houston Loads First Red Wheat Shipment

HOUSTON (AP) — The first shipment of wheat for Russia from Houston was loaded aboard ship Saturday.

Continental Grain Co. said the 14,000-ton British Inverewe would load 600,000 bushels.

Continental is under contract to sell 36.6 million bushels of wheat to Russia.

Two Soviet-bound vessels with wheat sailed last week from Galveston. A third ship, the Ggerman Birte-Oldendorff, able to carry 540,000 bushels, started loading there Saturday.

Krush Tells US 'Keep Hands Off'

By ALEX EFTY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Soviet Union has injected itself directly into the Cyprus crisis by warning the United States and Britain to keep their hands off the strife-torn island.

While his ambassador called on President Archbishop Makarios in Nicosia, Soviet Premier Khrushchev took up the Cyprus issue in Moscow Friday, describing a proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace force as "an armed invasion."

In identical notes to leaders of the United States, Britain, France, Greece and Turkey, Khrushchev accused some members of the Atlantic alliance of attempting to prevent a solution by the U.N. Security Council.

Khrushchev termed the proposed 10,000-man temporary peace keeping force a "crude encroachment on the sovereignty, independence and freedom of the Republic of Cyprus, an attempt to place this small neutral state under the military control of NATO."

He said the Soviet Union could not remain indifferent to developments so close to its southern borders.

Soviet Ambassador Pavel Yermoshin delivered another Khrushchev message to Makarios, but a spokesman for the Greek Cypriot leader refused to divulge its contents.

Although he has expressed willingness to accept a foreign police force on the island, Makarios wants the troops under U.N. control. The United States and Britain have rejected this condition because they regard it as an opening for Soviet interference on Cyprus.

In the past, the Russians have opposed U.N. peacekeeping operations in the Middle East and the Congo.

In London, the British Foreign Office described Khrushchev's note as a "gross misrepresentation of the situation."

"It is impossible to believe it is intended to be a constructive contribution towards solving the Cyprus problem," the Foreign Office statement said.

A deadlock continued at the London peace conference on Cyprus. The Turkish Cypriot delegation flew home after describing the situation as very grim.

The Greek Cypriot representatives also were scheduled to return to Nicosia.

New Mexico Crash Victims Identified

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Four persons killed when a private plane crashed in southern New Mexico, apparently during a snowstorm, were tentatively identified from papers as residents of Dallas.

Police Capt. Hoover Wimberly said the victims had papers bearing the names of Stanley Margules, 29, pilot; Billy Priddy, 34; Mrs. Marvinee Scott Wright, 24; and Gerald Jones Paty, 36.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have just celebrated my 16th birthday, and I would like to tell that 15-year-old what HAPPINESS means to me.

"HAPPINESS is no longer having to roam the streets of Seoul, begging for food, sleeping in doorways and under bridges, or being cold, hungry or dirty. HAPPINESS is having an American believe in me enough to take me in, give me my first real meal in years, buy me my first pair of socks, and leather shoes, and underwear, and give me a bed where I could sleep between sheets, let me see my first TV, and give me the first security I have ever known. HAPPINESS means being adopted, and coming to the United States. HAPPINESS is the opportunity to attend school again for the first time after three years. HAPPINESS is becoming an American citizen and making my parents proud of me."

This is what our son has told us many times, Abby. When we brought him to this country only 32 months ago, he could not speak, read or write English. Today he is a First Class Boy Scout, a De Molay, a straight "A" student, president of his class, and a member of the Honor Society. HAPPINESS for us is having a son like this.

We doubt that this letter is worthy of publishing, but we couldn't resist writing it.

Sincerely yours,
MAJOR AND MRS. R. W. M.
COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO

DEAR MAJOR AND MRS. M: Thank you for your wonderful letter. I can't resist publishing it.

• • •

DEAR READERS: I hope I shall be forgiven by my esteemed friend, Dr. Earl A. Roadman, for quoting a portion of the letter I received from him this morning. Dr. Roadman was president of Morningside College when I was a student there 25 years ago. Both he and his lovely wife, Irma, will soon be 80 years old.

"Dear Abby,

When Irma and I occupy separate beds, we often call to each other, 'C.Y.K' — which means 'Consider yourself kissed.'

"May I say across the ether span to you, Dear Abby, 'C. Y. K.' for your emphasis on happiness just as you presented it today? It says more than an entire volume I formerly recommended on the subject."

• • •

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Fifteen and Unhappy": Happiness is knowing that you are loved by God.

DEAR ABBY:

HAPPINESS is being able to walk.

HAPPINESS is being able to talk.

HAPPINESS is being able to see.

HAPPINESS is being able to hear.

UNHAPPINESS is reading a letter from a 15-year-old girl who can do all these things and she still isn't happy.

I can talk, and I can see, and I can hear — but I can't walk.

THIRTEEN AND HAPPY

Engagement Of Princess Now Official

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Princess Irene of the Netherlands and Spanish Prince Carlos de Borbon y Parma announced their engagement today and flew to Holland with Irene's father, Prince Bernhard.

The princess is 24, Carlos 34.

Carlos is the son of the 74-year-old head of the Carlist branch of the Spanish royal family, Prince Xavier.

The engagement apparently had the approval of Bernhard, who flew here in a special plane to take Irene home, and Queen Juliana. But Irene, although second in line of succession to the Dutch throne, still must face an irritated Dutch government in The Hague.

For one thing, she secretly turned Roman Catholic about a year ago. Members of the Dutch royal family traditionally are of the Dutch Reform Church.

The Dutch also have a long-standing dislike of the Spanish, particularly because of Gen. Francisco Franco's associations with Nazi Germany in World War II.

The departure of Irene and Carlos climaxed a week in which Princess Irene remained secluded in Spain.

The return to Holland followed by an hour the formal announcement by Princess Irene and Prince Carlos of their engagement, and their coming wedding in the Netherlands. The time is to be decided after consultation with Queen Juliana.

With the French-born Prince Carlos — originally christened Hugo Carlos de Borbon-Parma, went his sister, Cecilia de Borbon-Parma.

Most Of Heart Fund To Research

"How will my Heart Fund contribution be spent?"

This is a question being asked by Snyder and Scurry County residents as the Heart Fund drive gets underway locally and nationwide and will continue throughout the month of February. The answer to this question is supplied by the Scurry County Heart Council, an affiliate of the American and Texas Heart Associations.

First, from each dollar contributed to the Heart Fund, 25 cents is allotted to the American Heart Association, and 75 cents is retained by the Texas Heart Association. American Heart Association policy further stipulates that of the 25 cents that goes to that organization, half of it, or 12½ cents, MUST go for research.

The annual report for the American Heart Association and its affiliates for the fiscal year 1962-63 indicates that, on a combined basis, the organizations allocated about seventy - five per cent of their expenditures for programs of research, professional and public education, and community service. The remainder went for fund raising, organization and development, and administration. Specifically, it was noted that research was allocated about thirty-five per cent of total expenditures.

In reporting on research expenditures in Texas, the local heart unit noted the following information. Out of the approximately $914,000 collected in Texas in 1963, thirty-four percent is going, or has gone, into research. For example, $150,000 is being directed into research by organized chapters of this state. By the Texas Heart Association By-Laws, twelve and one-half percent of the money that the councils (such as the Scurry County Heart Council) collects goes into research. As noted above, twenty-five percent of the gross receipts go to the American Heart Association with the stipulation that half of that amount must be committed to research.

It is noted that almost all of this amount contributed to AHA, which must be committed to research, has been re-invested in Texas in the form of research grants to some of this state's leading heart researchers. In other words, about $300,000 of the total money collected in Texas last year by the Texas Heart Association and its affiliates is going into research.

Local and state heart association officials indicated their sincere appreciation for the past support of the public. They have pledged their best efforts to insure that an ever increasing percentage of the public's Heart Fund dollars find their way into valuable cardiovascular research.

"More will live, the more you give to the Heart Fund." Contributions to the Heart Fund may be mailed to Doug Flynn, Scurry County Heart Fund Treasurer, c-o Snyder Public Schools.

Graphology Column Coming Soon As A Regular Feature

It's new! It's intriguing! It's a column you'll read daily in the Daily News starting Feb. 16. The column is THE "WRITE" WAY by Ruth Fowler Brown, noted graphologist.

Graphology??? It's the analysis of personality through handwriting, a technique which over the years has gained in stature as a scientifically - based method of bringing to light the fundamental characteristics within each of us.

And in the hands of Ruth Fowler Brown it becomes a delight to read, a revelation of what your handwriting can tell about you. You'll enjoy reading her provocative column, her frank answers as to what she sees in the writing [illegible] sent to her by all types of people. You'll want to know what your own handwriting shows, and you can find out by sending in the coupon which will appear at the bottom of her column. Mrs. Brown will send you a personality analysis detailing your basic characteristics — type of temperament, talent possibilities, types of appeal, plus faults to overcome.

Ruth Fowler Brown blends a tremendous interest in people with her extensive knowledge of handwriting analysis to come up with this unique column. She became enthused about graphology in her early teens, went on to study the subject intensively, and is now a recognized authority in the field. Her books include EVERYDAY GRAPHOLOGY and JOBS FOR ALL OF US, and her previous columns have appeared in more than 200 newspapers across the country.

Mrs. Brown has placed special emphasis throughout her career on the matching of people to jobs through the traits shown in their handwriting. She feels this aspect is particularly important today, and can, for instance, detect from your writing whether you have the potential to become a cracker-jack salesman, or if you have a detail - oriented nature perhaps best suited to bookkeeping — or the care and feeding of electronic computers.

Ruth Fowler Brown is not a "love-lorn" collumnist, but she can from writing samples tell if people are truly compatible, and whether a person's writing reveals an open, affectionate nature, or one that might tend toward deceit.

Neither is she a fortune teller. There are some portents of the future in the way you write or the way your writing changes: psychiatrists can and do use graphology to spot early indications of possible emotional or mental disturbances. But handwriting analysis is basically a technique of the "here and now," a method of bringing to light the "inner" you — your potential talents and abilities, your emotional stability, your strengths and weaknesses of character as exhibited in your style of writing. And after all, what can be more important to your future than realizing and developing these latent traits?

This value of graphology is recognized by business and professional people, and they use it in many ways. As an example, a trucking firm was able with the aid of handwriting analysis to weed out accident-prone drivers; as the company cut its accident rate, it reaped the benefit of reduced insurance rates.

As you read Ruth Fowler Brown's THE "WRITE" WAY, you'll be entertained by her wit, impressed by her knowledge, and intrigued by the fascinating applications of graphology. Watch for THE "WRITE" WAY, starting in the Snyder Daily News on Feb. 16.

Workers Sought For Heart Sunday

Mrs. L. A. Patterson, chairman and Mrs. Richard Stoker, co-chairman for the 1964 Heart Sunday drive in Snyder and Scurry County, have issued a call for volunteer workers.

The volunteers will conduct a door-to-door canvass of the residential areas of Snyder and Scurry County during Heart Sunday weekend, Feb. 21-23. Heart Sunday is the high point of the nationwide campaign conducted throughout February. Coverage of the rural areas and some areas of Snyder will possibly begin a few days prior to Heart Sunday itself, but area residents may identify callers by an official Heart Sunday volunteer badge.

Heart Sunday volunteers perform two important services, Mrs. Patterson pointed out. They distribute important educational information about the heart and blood vessel diseases and they give their fellow citizens the opportunity to contribute to the Heart Fund to fight these diseases.

The Heart Sunday co-chairmen invited residents to volunteer by phoning HI-3-5996, or HI-3-4031.

"Service as a Heart Sunday volunteer is a satisfying way of helping our heart association fight this nation's Number One health enemy," she continued. "Contributors appreciate the health saving information the volunteers distribute. Secondly, they find it simple and gratifying to help in the heart crusade by merely inserting a gift in the special Heart Sunday envelope presented by the volunteer sealing the flap, and returning the envelope. The size of the gift remains confidential," she explained.

The names of Heart Sunday teams will be published as soon as each team captain has a complete team of volunteer workers.

Sees Rise In US Food Consumption

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Looking to the future, the Agriculture Department predicted today that Americans probably will consume about 9 per cent more food in 1968 than now.

A food situation report said most of this projected increase will reflect a population growth. The average American, therefore, is expected to consume little more than at present.

Nevertheless, the department said it expects shifts in the consumption of individual foods. Increases were forecast for meats —especially beef, veal and poultry—and low-fat dairy drinks, as well as cheese and ice cream. But declines were predicted for pork, butter, fresh fruits and vegetables, and cereal products. Some increase may appear, the report said, in consumption of processed fruits and vegetables.

"The demands for beef is expected to continue strong," the department said. "Per capita consumption of beef increased about 37 per cent from 1950 to 1962 but consumption of pork declined 8 per cent. This shift from pork to beef is expected to continue and by 1968 per capita beef and veal consumption may increase to 106 pounds a year from 100 pounds in 1963.

"A slight decline is expected in per capita pork consumption. Per capita consumption of chicken and turkey increased 50 per cent from 1950 to 1962, as prices dropped sharply. Increased poultry consumption is expected to continue, but at somewhat slower rate, and by 1968 consumption per capita may be nearly 40 pounds compared with about 37 pounds in 1962."

The department said population growth is the major factor influencing food consumption. It said food consumption often parallels the growth of population in high-income countries such as the United States.

"People consume more food as they become richer, but only to a point: Then pounds per capita level off. It may even decline as people shift to sedentary occupations that burn less food energy. In fact, over the last 30 years total pounds of food consumed per person in the United States have declined slightly.."

But this decline has been coupled with a shift to more expensive foods such as meats, poultry and vegetables in place of such high carbohydrate foods as potatoes and cereals.

Bell Funeral Home Plans Building

Gaither Bell and Bill Seale, owners of Bell Funeral Home, have announced the purchase of property at Thirty-first Street and Avenue S.

The property there will be used as the new location of a funeral home building.

The firm, after moving to their new location, will be known as the Bell - Seale Funeral Home. Seale recently purchased the interest of Mrs. Seaton Barnes.

Seale said that his decision to move to Snyder and to buy Mrs. Barnes interest was based on his belief that Snyder was a growing, progressive city. He added that the building of a new building was further evidence of his confidence in the continuing growth and advancement of Snyder.

The new funeral home facility will be one in which all the citizens of this area can take pride, Seale said.

Construction is planned for early spring.

Tigers Smother Wolves; Still Lead In District

The Snyder Tiger cagers continued their winning ways Friday night by romping past the Colorado City Wolves 86-53. It was the seventh district win for the Tigers against only one loss.

The victory enabled the Tigers to retain their lead in district play over Lamesa and Brownfield. Those two teams were scheduled to play Friday night, but everyone was there except the officials and the contest had to be put off until Saturday night.

In the only other 3-AAA game unreeled Friday night the Lake View Chiefs kept their hopes for a playoff spot alive with a 73-53 victory over Sweetwater. The Chiefs have won 5 and lost 3 in district action. This puts them in a tie for third with the loser of the Lamesa-Brownfield game Saturday. Second spot in the district means the playoffs since Snyder has been ruled ineligible.

The Tigers put on another display of offensive power in the contest against the Wolves. Playing before a near-capacity crowd in Tiger Gym, which has been the case in all district home games, Snyder jumped out to a 23-10 first quarter lead and held it all the way. The Tigers had a 32 point lead going into the final stanza.

Ned Underwood took out all of his starters during the third quarter and the reserves played the rest of the game and managed to outscore the Wolves while they were in the contest.

Colorado City was apparently "up" for the contest, as the Wolves hustled all the way. However, they were outmanned by the spirited Tigers who played the entire game as though the outcome was in doubt.

Leslie Brown led all scorers of both teams as he hit 9 field goals and 6 of 9 free throws for 24 points. Jimmy Wilson dumped in 7 field goals and 2 free throws for 16 points. For the Wolves, Freddie Fox and David McKay tied for high - point honors with 16 each.

Wilson led the Tigers in rebounding as he pulled 12 off the boards. Three more Tigers got in the "double figures" in this department. They were Billy Stewart with 11, and Brown and Phillip Floyd with 10.

The Tigers were fairly consistent from the floor, after being cold at the beginning of the game. They hit for about 42 per cent the first half and a little better than 46 per cent in the second half. They wound up hitting 37 of 83 tries for almost 45 per cent.

The Snyder B team won over the Colorado City B team 45-35. The Wolves slowed down the pace throughout the contest, playing a deliberate type of basketball. Snyder pulled out to a 12-6 first period lead and maintained the lead from there on.

Reed Robinson led the B teamers with 14 points on 6 field goals and 2 free throws. Steve Crowell connected with 6 field goals for 12 points. The Wolves were led by Wayne Snowden with 11 points.

Snyder journeys to Sweetwater Tuesday night for an important engagement with the improved Mustangs. Final action for Snyder will come next Friday night as they host Brownfield. The Tigers edged the Cubs in their first meeting 60-58 as Floyd connected just as the final buzzer sounded.

Snyder now stands 7-1 in district play and 11-9 for the season. The Tigers got off to a slow start, dropping 8 of their first 10 contests. Since then they have come on fast, winning 9 of their last 10 games.

Detroit Shakes Lineup And Wins

By The Associated Press

Coach Charley Wolf of the lowly Detroit Pistons has shaken up his lineup, but it's Los Angeles that should be shaking.

Wolf, angered at lackadaisical play of his National Basketball Association team, benched veteran Don Ohl altogether Friday night as the Pistons whipped the Lakers 111-103.

That was the seventh loss in the last eight games for Los Angeles, which dropped into a second-place tie with St. Louis.

In other games, Willie Naulls sparked Boston to a 133-112 triumph over New York and Cincinnati overcame Philadelphia 126-114 behind the scoring of Oscar Robertson and the rebounding of Jerry Lucas.

Los Angeles knows what is wrong with its play. Jerry West isn't in the lineup. He hasn't been for about two weeks.

The Lakers didn't score for nearly four minutes while the Pistons built an 8-0 lead. Elgin Baylor tallied 24 points in the first half, but the Lakers trailed 52-47 at the half.

Baylor scored 40 points in all. Bailey Howell had 30 and Ray Scott 26 for Detroit.

Boston held its 3½-game Eastern Division lead over Cincinnati as Naulls came off the bench and scored 27 points, 21 in the first half. Naulls' proficiency helped the Celtics take a 70-49 halftime advantage.

Sam Jones pitched in 26 points for Boston while Johnny Egan had 28, a career high, for the Knicks.

14 Bouts Are Staged

Fourteen bouts were reeled off Friday night in the Scurry County Boys Club Intramural Boxing Tournament.

Another full card of activity is scheduled for next Friday night.

In the action Friday night "Horse" Loper won a split decision over Charles Porter, Bobby Arguijo decisioned Roy Arguino, Bobby Bell decisioned Ronnie Garrison, Bobby Terrell decisioned Joel Loper, Angel Reyes decisioned Jackie Callaway, Mitch Butler decisioned Floyd Jackson, Danny Rios won a split decision over Ronnie Porter.

Also, Kerry Clay decisioned Feliz Diaz, Richie Rios decisioned Terry Clay, "Horse" Loper decisioned George Pacheco, Johnny Alvarez decisioned Rudy Arguijo, Manuel Campos decisioned Pancho Costello, Mitch Butler decisioned Angel Reyes and Danny Rios decisioned Charles Leach.

'Jarrin' John's' Son Starts On Road To Fame

HASKELL, Tex. (AP)—The son of one of the Southwest Conference's most illustrious football players—Jarrin' John Kimbrough of the Texas Aggies of 1939—is looking toward his start on the road to equal fame.

Johnny Kimbrough, who's bigger than his dad, will report to spring training at Southern Methodist Feb. 17. He's a sophomore.

It always had been figured that Johnny would go to Aggieland but the youngster, who wound up his high school career here in 1962, chose Southern Methodist.

His father didn't suggest any school that he should attend. In fact, Johnny said his dad didn't particularly want him to play football anywhere.

Johnny took music lessons for 10 years and he said "I think he sorta wanted me to play in the band."

But Johnny won't be playing "Peruna" in the Mustang band. Instead, he will be trying for fullback on the SMU varsity.

That's why he went to SMU. All of the Southwest Conference schools sought him, but Johnny says they kept talking about him being a lineman because of his size—he weighed 235 pounds.

But Pug Gabrel, Southern Methodist assistant coach, told Johnny he wanted him to play fullback.

This, pointing up the possibilities of playing the same position in which his father gained AllAmerica fame, made a SMU convert of Johnny.

That and the fact that Gabrel looked him up "back in the woods" where Johnny was hunting with a buddy.

Those who know Haskell County terrain also know that's quite an accomplishment. But Gabrel had an advantage—he came from Rule, just 10 miles west of here, and was familiar with the lay of the land.

"I think I learned the value of desire, determination and all-out effort under Coach Ray Overton here in Haskell High School," said Johnny. "The coaches and players have a similar attitude at Southern Methodist."

So Johnny will be up in Dallas soon battling for a berth in the SMU offensive backfield. Everybody here thinks he'll make it.

If not, he can play in the band. He's pretty good there, too.

Patterson Faces New Challenge

AUSTIN (AP)—A new coach, Jack Patterson, will try to rebuild the University of Texas track team that once dominated the Southwest Conference. Last year the Horns fell to fifth place, lowest finish in 42 years.

Patterson was hired last year after 11 years at the University of Houston and eight years at Baylor, where his teams broke a string of six Longhorn track titles by winning the 1960 championship. Texas won again in 1961 then Patterson's Baylor squad repeated in 1962 and 1963.

Only six men who placed in the 1963 conference meet return this year. The season which opens Feb. 29 with a triangular meet with Rice and Texas A&M at College Station.

Some good freshmen track prospects are on hand.

Those who placed last year and will compete are co-Captain Loy Gunter, second in the 880 and fifth in the mile; co-Captain James Cooper, who ran on the fifth - place mile - relay team along with Charles Barnhill and Larry Rhodes; Charles Jordan, fourth in the shot and javelin; and Steve Guynes, fourth in the pole vault.

Top newcomers are Preston Davis, distance runner; Richard Romo, conference freshman mile champ; Chuck Frawley, 880; hurdler Steve Sansom; and Ken Sunderland, a miler from Australia.

Hurdler Bob Sewell, injured much of last year: Larry Rhodes in the 880, and sprinter David Colley should add strength.

Harry Combes is in his 16th season as basketball coach at Illinois.

Archer Defeats Mims; Now Wants Fight For Title

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Contender Joey Archer hopes middleweight king Joey Giardello was watching the fight on television Friday night when he barely beat aging Holley Mims on an unpopular split 10-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

"I was sluggish and slow and got nailed too often with rights," said the handsome, 25-year-old New Yorker. "Mims is real cute and I learned plenty from him. Maybe if Giardello was looking in he'll give me the title fight."

"Yeah, Joey gave him the invitation all right," said Jimmy Archer, a one-time fighter who manages his brother. "He gave him the invite by sticking his chin out to some of those right hand punches."

They were hoping that the Garden would offer Giardello $100,000 again for a title fight. The Garden, however, offered Archer, the No. 2 contender, a return fight with unranked Mims in March instead.

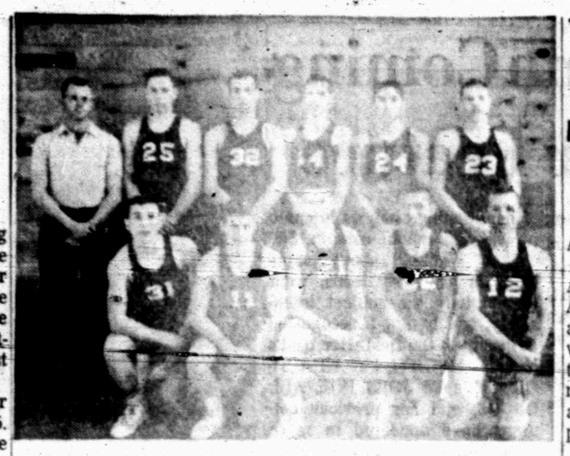

"That's okay with me," said the disappointed Mims. "I beat Archer even if I didn't get the decision. But that's an old story with me."

Mims must hold the record for losing split decisions. His record is 58-25-6.

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Johnny Dran each scored it 5-4-1 in rounds for Archer, the 4-1 favorite. Judge Tony Castellano had it 5-4-1 for Mims. The Associated Press scorecard had Mims ahead 6-4. A poll of the ringside showed an 8-5-1 edge for Mims.

It was Archer's eighth straight victory although he wasn't very proud of it. His record is 38-1.

Archer weighed 161 pounds to Mims' 159½.

DALLAS (AP)—Three [illegible] to be in shape to give between teammates [illegible] light the annual Dallas [illegible] Track and Field Meet Saturday, Feb. 15.

Billy Foster of Southern Methodist, who tied the world's [illegible] door record for the 60-yard [illegible] in six seconds, and John Roderick, the SMU football player who [illegible] was sprint champion of [illegible] west Conference freshmen [illegible] year, will hook up in a blazing [illegible] 60.

Roderick didn't run against [illegible] Foster at Lubbock last week, but [illegible] has been only inches away [illegible] 60 feet.

Another top duel matches Ray [illegible], Texas Southern's crack quarter-miler, with James [illegible], the Dallas schoolboy [illegible] now at Texas A&M, in the 300-yard dash.

The mile run will have Laurie Elliott of University of Houston, Morley Wade of Southern Methodist and Richard Roma of Texas Wesleyan last week set a Lubbock record with 4:24.0.

Larry Thorne of McMurry, who does the 880 in 1:49, and Robert Beals, University of Houston freshman, match strides in the 1,000-yard run.

Pat Miller, former McMurry College star, has entered the broad jump and will be aiming at the indoor record of 25 feet 7 set by Ralph Boston of the Los Angeles Striders at Lubbock.

There also will be a women's duel with the girls running both the 60-yard dash and 60-yard hurdles. Janice Rinehart of Snyder, who holds the 60-yard dash record of 7.1, will head the feminine field.

There will be 168 individual entries, 140 of them coming in the college division. The open and university classes will have the 60-yard dash, 60-yard high hurdles, 300-yard run and 500-yard run, with the open class also scheduling the 1,000-yard run and the university division including the two-mile and mile relays.

Heart Fund Sport Meets Slated Here

Two local sports tournaments, golf and bowling, will get in full swing this week in Snyder. Proceeds from both events will go to the local Heart Fund drive being conducted here and throughout the nation during the month of February.

Golf Tournament

The golf tournament has both a ladies' and a men's division with winners in flights in each division being determined by medal play - 18 holte for the ladies and 36 for men. Ladies are to play a nine hole qualifying round prior to regular ladies' day play on Tuesday, Feb. 18, with the final nine holes to be played on that date. Men are to play a 18-hole qualifying round by dusk, Saturday, Feb. 15, with the final 18 holes to be played on Sunday, Feb. 16.

Entry fee is $1.50 for ladies and $2.50 for men, green fees not included where applicable. Charles Bruce, golf professional at Snyder Country Club is chairman for the Heart Fund Golf Tournament.

Bowling Tournament

The Heart Fund Bowling Tournament will be conducted at Snyder Lanes as part of regular league play the week of Feb. 10-14. There will be trophies for winners and runners-up for high line and series for both men and women. The tourney is a handicap style event, and bowlers may enter as many times as they bowl in regular league play during the week. Entry fee is one dollar for each time entered, with the stipulation that each entrant is eligible to win only ONE trophy. Howard Crenshaw, chairman for the event, urges all league bowlers to enter and "roll a 'strike' at heart disease and have fun to 'spare'."

Bud Wants Popular Name To Be Legal

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Former Oklahoma football coach Charles Burnham Wilkinson has asked District Court to change his name to one already familiar to football fans—Bud Wilkinson.

Wilkinson is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate. His petition said he has been known as Bud for many years to family, friends, football fans and writers.

U. S. Takes Two Medals

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—A pair of daring 20-year-old American students, Billy Kidd and Jim Heuga, rocketed to silver and bronze medals today in the slalom for the finest U.S. men's Alpine skiing performance ever in the Winter Olympic Games.

Kidd, of Stowe, Vt., and Heuga, of Tahoe City, Calif., a 145-pound college boy from the University of Colorado, stunned the skiing world with second and third place finishes behind Josef (Pepi) Stiegler of Austria.

Olympico observers called it the "biggest upset in Olympic skiing history."

Stiegler maintained Austria's supremacy in the event, unbroken since 1952, by shooting down the two, gate-dotted courses on Birgitzkoepfl Mountain in 2 minutes, 11.3 seconds.

Kidd was timed in 2:11.27 for the two runs and Heuga, unseeded and an unfavorable 24th in the original starting list, was clocked in 2:11.52.

The United States never before had won a medal in men's Alpine skiing in the Olympic Games, although its women have fared well.

The two medals raised the American cache to six, including two Alpine skiing medals—a silver and bronze—for plucky Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore.; a bronze for the 14-year-old figure skating whiz, Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N. J., and gold—the only one—for barber Terry McDermott of Essexville, Mich., in speed skating.

The Russians continue to dominate the Games, with a total of 24 medals, but after a sluggish start the Americans have finished the big ice and snow spectacle on a high note.

The Soviets picked up their 24th medal earlier in the day—a bronze third—in the back-breaking 40-kilometer men's ski relay race, won by Sweden.

Assar Roennlund of Sweden put on a tremendous spurt over the final 10,000 meter leg—6.2 miles—to overtake the Russians and finally the flying Finns, who had shot into second place.

The United States finished 13th in the field of 15 teams, beating out only Britain and Canada. The Americans were timed in 2:39.17.3.

Members of the relay team were Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt.; Mike Elliott of Durango, Colo.; Jim Shea of Lake Placid, N.Y., and John Bower, of Auburn, Maine.

A crowd of 30,000 swarmed the narrow Lizum Valley to see the exciting slalom races, considered among the most dramatic and difficult events in the winter spectacle.

It was so tough that the heavy advance favorite, Francois Bonlieu of France, winner of the giant slalom, took a tumble on the lower slopes in the first run and had to abandon the race.

Kidd, a high school student, made the most fantastic comeback, rallying from sixth place after the first run.

He skied in a low crouch and worked hard with his poles. He made the turns somewhat wide but glided beautifully over the tricky course and finished the second run in 1 minute, 31 seconds.

Heuga, skiing without cap or goggles, shot down the track at breakneck speed, cutting the flags so finely that it appeared his skis shaved the poles.

The Russians captured their 10th gold medal Friday, making it impossible for any other country to overtake them in the medal count in the remaining competition.

TU Begins Baseball Workouts

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas opens baseball practice next week with prospects of mustering a defense of its Southwest Conference championship but not finding the path easy.

For one thing, Texas Christian, which tied Texas for first last season but had to bow to the Longhorns in the NCAA, has its team back almost intact.

For another thing, Coach Bibb Falk starts the season with three big gaps in the batting order—spots filled last year by all-conference players.

Lema Bids For Double Winner

By DICK STUART
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Champagne Tony Lema, campaigning to become the first double winner of the winter golf trail, carried a one-stroke lead into today's third round of the $50,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

One stroke behind Lema's six-under-par 136 were a half dozen players — U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, British Open king Bob Charles, Jack Nicklaus, George Bayer, Gary Player and unheralded Bobby Brue.

The traffic jam at the top found no fewer than 18 within three strokes of the leader and jockeying today for the lead.

This gathering did not include Arnold Palmer, who is seeking an unprecedented fourth straight Phoenix Open crown. He is six strokes back at even par 142 for the 36 holes along with six others.

Lema, annoyed by amateur cameramen, shot his second straight three-under-par 68 over the Phoenix Club Course for his 136. His card for Friday's round included an eagle, five birdies and four bogies.

Grouped at 138 were Don January, who fired a tourney best 64 Friday, Dave Marr, Bob Rosburg, first round leader Don Fairfield, who posted a one-over-par 72 Friday, Don Whitt and Herman Scharlau.

Gene Littler, Bob Nichols, Bernard Hunt, Rex Baxter, Frank Beard and Gay Brewer were next at 139.

The cut was 146, and today's field included 86 pros and 10 amateurs, the latter led by George Boutell of Phoenix. The Arizona State University sophomore, who has won the amateur prize in this tourney three consecutive years, had 144 after 36.

Summer Olympic Hopes Boosted

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A couple of U.S. Army swifties who equalled Olympic champion marks and a one-time Marine have given a new boost to blossoming American Olympic hopes.

Army enlisted men Roy Hicks and Mel Pender, escaping at least briefly from the shadows of Hayes Jones and Bob Hayes, flashed to meet record-equalling victories in the Philadelphia Inquirer Games Friday and La Salle's John Uelses soared again into the 16-foot stratus.

Uelses, who became the first man ever to pole vault 16 feet when he was competing for the Quantico Marines, set a meet record of 16-1 in something of a personal comeback before a sellout Convention Hall crowd of 10,650.

It was the first vaulting attempt since he suffered a minor muscle tear while competing in Toronto two weeks ago. At the time, there was no indication how long he might be out.

Uelses floated over 16-1 on his first try and, along with Villanova's Rolando Cruz, ordered the bar lifted to an American indoor record, 16-5.

Cruz, who cleared 16-1 on his second try and took second when it was all over, missed three times at the record height. Uelses, however, skipped his first two vaults at that height, then brushed off the bar on his one attempt.

Both surpassed Cruz' old meet record of 16-0¼, one of four meet marks wiped out.

The others included Pat Traynor of the Delaware A.A. in an 8:52.6 two-mile run, Charley Mays of New York in a 49.7 440-yard dash and a 7:38.2 two-mile relay by Seton Hall.

Two of the marks with the greatest Olympic potential, however, could have been the meet record-equalling times of 5.2 by Pender in the 50-yard dash and the 6 flat 50-yard high hurdles by Hicks.

Grandfather Demaret Banks Another $4,000

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Jimmy Demaret, 53 and the grandfather of three, banked another $4,000 and said his golf game is as good as ever.

"I could do as well as ever before on the pro tour if I had the desire and could hold up to it physically," said Demaret, the first golfer to win the Masters title three times.

"I'm hitting the ball just as good as ever but my putting is not as consistent because of old nerves."

Demaret won the $4,000 last Sunday as runner-up in the Palm Springs Classic which Tommy Jacobs won on the second sudden death hole after Jimmy had missed an 18-inch putt on the first extra green.

Demaret says even today's young stars — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and others — should take frequent breaks from the tour.

"I sometimes think they are pacing themselves a little too fast," he said. "I think one reason my game is still in good shape is I've done a pretty good job at pacing myself. I've been a pro since 1927 but I've really never made but one complete tour. That was in 1947 and we had only about 17 tournaments then. Now there are 45 or 50 tournaments, plus all the pro-amateur events."

Jimmy won his second master's title in 1947 and was the year's leading money winner with $27,936. He also won in Augusta in 1940 and 1950 and collected $3,600 there in 1962 for a fifth place tie.

Jimmy's surprise finish at Palm Springs boosted his official money since 1947—when the PGA began compiling totals — to more than $165,000.

He has done a good job of increasing his income with real estate, club and equipment endorsements, television and other projects.

Demaret and Jack Burke Jr. soon will open a second 18-hole layout at the swank Champions Course they opened here six years ago.

Demaret offered advance to the weekend golfer who, like himself is past 50 and, perhaps, a grandfather.

He shouldn't make any drastic changes in his game just because of age but my advice is to lighten up on clubs," he said. "Get clubs that are a heck of a lot lighter and have shafts with much more whip in them. At that age, a man should let his clubs do more of the work."

All hunters and shooters are invited to attend the first match of the year of the Canyon Gun Club.

The 1964 matches start this Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at the club's range southwest of Snyder, across from the old Lemons Camp.

The matches for the day will be "shooters choice" — any rifle with 10 shots at 100 yards, bench rest, and scopes up to six power. Prizes will be given.

A total of 15 matches are scheduled through the final shoot of the year which will be held on Dec. 15, and will include small bore shoots, large bore, trap, pistol, and moving targets.

Noise Does Not Frighten UCLA

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can toot that horn, but it doesn't mean a thing to the all-conquering UCLA basketball team.

The nation's only undefeated major college team and top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, the Bruins made it 18 in a row Friday night by walloping California 87-67.

Fanatic Cal rooters packed Harmon Gymnasium at Berkeley, Calif. to its capacity of 7,200 but their screeching and the blaring of student bands, didn't scare UCLA as it has other teams in the past.

The playmaking of Walt Hazzard and his 21 points plus the shooting of Gail Goodrich, good for 28 points, gave UCLA a 40-30 halftime lead and the Bruins ripped the game open with their customary second half burst. They now are 7-0 in Big Six competition to Cal's 5-2.

Davidson, No. 5, walloped Georgia Southern 95-76 and Vanderbilt, No. 8, trounced Tulane 96-84 in the only other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten. It was Tulane's 17th consecutive setback and left the Greenies still the only winless major team.

Georgia Tech nipped Louisiana State 51-9 on R. D. Craddock's jump shot with five seconds left and moved into a first place tie with Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference. Georgia and Kentucky each are 6-2 in SEC play with Vandy right behind at 5-2.

Things got all jammed up in the Ivy League as Harvard upset Princeton 88-82 and Yale knocked off Cornell 79-67 to create a five-way deadlock. Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Cornell and Penn each are 4-2 in league play. Penn crushed Dartmouth 97-66 to gain its share of the top.

Syracuse snapped Pitt's eight-game winning streak 96-84, Boston University upset Army 73-62 and Tennessee Tech downed Western Kentucky 92-83 in overtime.

In other Friday games, Washington beat Southern California 66-60, Colorado State U. downed Wyoming 66-56, Oregon overcame Idaho 61-58, Stanford defeated Washington State 80-69, Oregon State whipped Portland 97-82 and Utah State nipped Montana State in overtime, 77-73.

Royal Dons Robes Of Professor

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Darrell Royal, college football's coach of the year in 1963 when he guided the University of Texas to the national championship, has donned professor's robes, at least in theory.

University regents Friday conferred the title of full professor for life on Royal and raised his salary $1,000 a year to $24,000. This was the first time such action has been taken at the university.

Royal, 39, will remain as athletic director and head football coach at the school, the state's largest, with an enrollment of about 20,000.

Only a few professors on the campus make more money than Royal will be receiving.

Royal's boost in pay and additional title, which did not carry with it a teaching assignment, obviously were the school's way of rewarding him. Texas won the national championship and he later removed himself from consideration for the Oklahoma coaching job when Bud Wilkinson quit to enter politics.

Regent chairman W.W. Heath had promised Royal "more than vocal appreciation" after the highly successful coach halted rumors he would resign at Texas and replace Wilkinson at Oklahoma, where Royal was a quarterback in the late 1940s.

His 1963 team, winning 10 and losing none in the regular season then defeating second-ranked Navy 28-6 in the Cotton Bowl, was the finest of a succession of solid teams.

Tom Nowatzke, 220-pound Indiana fullback from Michigan City, Ind., led the Big Ten in rushing last season with 486 yards.

Wendland Defends Golf Championship

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Lonnie Wendland of San Antonio defends his Life Begins at 40 championship against Henry Richards of Jacksboro today.

Wendland won his way to the finals Friday with a 3 and 2 victory over John Waters of Alexandria, La.

Richards took out Billy Bob Coffey of Weatherford 1-up to become Wendland's foe in the showdown.

Tickets Scarce For Tech Games

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Minks, split-levels and foreign autos are out as status symbols in this city. In are tickets to the Texas Tech-Texas A&M basketball game Tuesday night.

Or, for that matter, tickets to any of Texas Tech's remaining home game this season.

Four games remain in the coliseum here and the only tickets Texas Tech has on hand are a few general admissions for Texas Christian Feb. 18. It has been that way since mid-January.

Getting the Texas Tech athletic office on the phone the first try is almost impossible.

Outsiders can't understand why tickets are so hard to get. After all, Tech plays in the largest arena in the Southwest Conference, the 10,000-seat Lubbock Coliseum on the Tech campus.

The Red Raiders weren't world-beaters last year, winning six, losing 17 and finishing in a fifth-place tie in the conference. They lost four of their first five games this season.

Still, through eight home games the Raiders are averaging better than 8,300. That figure is all the more impressive when it is recalled that three of the games were played with a majority of the students at home, either for Thanksgiving, Christmas or mid-term.

Athletic Director Polk Robison, whose cagers in the past helped spark enthusiasm, is studying a plan for closed circuit television next year. The picture would be piped into the 3,000-seat Lubbock auditorium adjoining the coliseum.

How come these crowds?

It started back in the Border Conference days when Robison's Raiders won converts through their style of play. Turnaway crowds became a habit since Tech played in a gymnasium seating only 2,000 fans.

When Robison viewed plans for Tech's proposed coliseum (finished in 1956), with 7,506 permanent seats, he suggested it was too small. Skeptics, figuring the overflow crowds to be the result of the cracker-box gym, told him 9,000 would be the absolute maximum to be expected in Southwest Conference basketball.

Texas Tech played its first conference game against Texas Christian Jan. 7, 1958, and 10,000 fans squeezed in.

It's been that way ever since. Every year the Raiders have led the conference in attendance. The full-season mark is 105,050 for 13 home games in 1961-62. The one-game figure is 10,380 for the Texas game clinching the Raiders' 1961 conference title.

That total can't be repeated unless the place is enlarged because folding chairs on the coliseum floor have been re-arranged to permit better visibility and to allow sufficient room for the band.

Other factors enter into the mania. Fans from the South Plains and Panhandle have been brought up to appreciate good basketball. Most of the Tech players are drawn from this area so fans follow their schoolboy favorites into college play.

Students To Visit Laboratory

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. — Twenty - one science students from Snyder High School will tour three major technical facilities at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory Feb. 14.

The young people will be among nearly 700 from high schools in four states who will visit Los Alamos for the eighth annual observance of Edison Day, an international commemoration of the famed inventor's birthday anniversary Feb. 11.

Because of the great number of visitors, two days are set aside for the tours at Los Alamos; some students will come Feb. 13, others the next day. They will come from schools in Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and California.

Accompanying the Snyder group will be Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cardwell and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Zeck.

The visitors will see particle accelerators (atom smashers) in the Physics Division, radiation research facilities in the Health Division, and the machines used in Project Sherwood for research in controlling thermonuclear fusion.

The Los Alamos nuclear research center is operated by the University of California for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Duke Snider hit safely in his last 15 world series games in Ebbets Field.

New X15 Looks More Like Bug

By RALPH DIGHTON

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—It doesn't look like an X15 anymore. It doesn't even look like an airplane.

But, man, will it go.

That's the word from a preview of the X15A-2 rocket plane which soon will begin trying for speeds up to 5,450 miles an hour—or 8,000 feet a second.

The rebuilt X15 has two external tanks carrying an additional 13,500 pounds of propellants. The tanks extend half the length of the 52-foot fuselage and make it look like some weird water bug.

For the first time since X15s started flying in 1959, this one will be decked out, for record flights, in a coat of bright white instead of the traditional black.

The white is a sealer sprayed over a coating of heat-resistant material similar to that used on missile warheads. The material will be sprayed over the entire surface before each record flight in thicknesses varying from three-quarters of an inch on the nose and leading edges of wing and tail to a tenth of an inch on the aft fuselage.

E. W. Johnson, X15 engineer at North American Aviation, Inc., in Los Angeles, says the heat resistant chemical compound will slough off from air friction at 530 degrees Fahrenheit, dissipating the heat before it can sink into the plane and weaken its structure.

Standard X15s have withstood skin temperatures of 1,300 degrees at speeds up to the current record of 4,104 m.p.h.

"Without the heat-resistant ablative coating," Johnson says, "the new X15 at 8,000 feet per second would heat up to about 2,400 degrees."

The white coating will not be used on all flights of the X15A-2, only on speed runs at the comparatively low altitude of 100,000 feet, Johnson says.

It won't be needed on purely scientific flights, when the rocket plane will be used as a space truck to carry a star camera to 250,000 feet, well above the atmosphere.

Johnson says the X15A-2 had not been designed to exceed the standard X15's altitude record of 354,200 feet but could if such a mission were required by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which conducts the X15 research program with the Air Force.

Primary mission of the X15A-2, modified during repair after a crash landing a year ago, will be high-speed level flight to test ramjet engines, he says.

Plans call for the X15A-2 to be delivered here this month, Johnson says, and it will undergo several test flights before attempting new speed records. Meantime the other two X15s will continue making high-altitude flights to test procedures for re-entering the atmosphere safely from space at high speed.

Opposition Favors Ordaz For President

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico (AP)—Salvador Nava Martinez, once a leader of opposition to the government's Institutional Revolutionary Party, has come out in favor of the government party's presidential candidate, Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

He said he favored Diaz Ordaz "because of his personality and knowledge of the real problems of Mexico should be a good president."

Nava Martinez ran for governor of his state and claims of election fraud led to riots that brought out troops.

Epileptic Boy Found Dead In Fire

HOUSTON (AP) — Jimmy Lane Roberts, 13, was found dead Friday. His body lying face down in a fire in the back yard of a vacant house. The boy's stepfather, John L. Freeney, 32, said he was re-roofing the house and had taken the boy with him. He said they had built the fire to warm their hands and while he worked on the roof, his son, an epileptic, apparently fell into the fire.

Says Loss Of Affection Cost Heavy

CHICAGO (AP)—A businessman has testified that loss of his wife's affections to a Roman Catholic priest cost him $14,378 in actual paid-out expenses.

Robert P. McArdle Jr., 39, of North Tarrytown, N.Y., testified Friday in U.S. District Court, where he has filed a $250,000 suit for damages against the Rev. Donald B. Runkle, 50, now assigned to St. Mary's Church in Odessa, Tex.

McArdle, who lived formerly in Highland Park, Ill., obtained a divorce July 3, 1963, on the ground his wife, Patricia Rice McArdle, 36, had adulterous relations with Father Runkle, then assistant pastor of Immaculate Conception Parish in Highland Park. Mrs. McArdle obtained the custody of their five children.

Neither Mrs. McArdle nor Father Runkle was present at the hearing before Judge Julius J. Hoffman when McArdle listed the expenses for investigative, legal and medical services which he said the romance entailed.

McArdle also testified that, as a result of worry over the affair, he lost his $17,000-a-year position as president of Congress Paper Box Co. Chicago. He now is a salesman. The couple had been married 15 years.

McArdle was represented by his father, Joseph P. McArdle Sr., who asked that the hearing be closed to the public. Judge Hoffman denied the motion.

At the close of Friday's hearing, Judge Hoffman directed the elder McArdle to submit detailed facts by Feb. 14 for a decision as to its acceptability as proof of basis of action.

Testimony included the assertion by McArdle that, "I forgave them both—three times."

He said he had taken his troubles to the chancery of the Chicago archdiocese, but, despite efforts of church authorities, the relationship between Mrs. McArdle and Father Runkle persisted.

Arrival Of Beatles Is Big Event

NEW YORK (AP)—The Beatles, Britain's rock 'n' rollers with the haystack hairdos, blew up a teen-age storm by arriving here.

At Kennedy Airport Friday, about 3,000 delirious, shrieking, hooky-playing youngsters, many of them carrying Beatle banners, strained against police barricades to welcome the singing, guitar-strumming quartet.

It was mostly girls, girls, girls.

"I love them, I love them!" cried one.

"They're so cute!" said another.

"Their singing tears me apart and lets out all frustrations," sighed a Brooklyn girl.

Pelted by jelly beans and candy kisses, all loving every bit of it, were Beatles Paul McCartney, 21; George Harrison, 21; Ringo Starr, 23, and John Lennon, 23. Lennon's pretty blonde wife, Cynthia, accompanied the group but stayed well in the background.

The Beatles, their records best sellers for months, were almost an American institution before they got here. Already on sale are Beatle wigs, boots, T-shirts, sweatshirts, toss pillows and scarves. In Britain, 20,000 rag-mop wigs have been sold.

The adulation of the Beatles is reminiscent of the grip Frank Sinatra had on teen-agers some years ago and, more recently, of Elvis Presley.

But when a newsman described them as "four Elvis Presleys" the foursome shouted in unison: "No, no, no!"

The Beatles began their debut in a Liverpool jazz cellar 15 months ago for about $20 a week. They now command $10,000 a performance and are reputed to have earned $17 million.

Zooming into Manhattan, each in his own limousine, the Beatles created consternation at the staid old Plaza Hotel, where they're staying. There was a screaming crowd waiting there, and foot patrolmen and mounted troops had to take over.

The Beatles appear Sunday night on television. On Tuesday they go to Washington for a concert. On Wednesday they will give two shows at New York's Carnegie Hall—already sellouts. Another stop during their tour, which ends Feb. 17, is Miami Beach.

Arrests Told Of Internal Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service expects to make additional arrests in the next few weeks as it steps up its campaign to root out corruption in its ranks.

Thirteen persons have been arrested this year, including seven IRS employes, in bribery and embezzlement cases. Six were arrested last week in New York City.

More arrests in the New York case are predicted by U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau. Arrests also are expected in other areas.

Mortimer M. Caplin, IRS commissioner, declined to make any predictions about future arrests although he had said previously that the New York investigation is continuing.

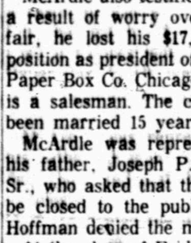

Caplin said increased arrests stem from the IRS' three-year campaign against internal corruption.

Attempted bribes have been reported by 126 IRS employes over the past three years.

Of 101 arrests involving internal corruption during that period, 45 were in the New York region. Next highest was Cincinnati with 16. Boston had 9, Philadelphia 8 and Chicago 7.

The IRS conducts about 10,000 investigations and 350 audits a year as checks on its own employes.

Fisher Working Hard At Singing

By DAVID FARMER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Two broken marriages have put Eddie Fisher into the floodtide of publicity, so much publicity that people are losing track of the fact that he continues to work as a singer.

To overcome that situation, Fisher is on the comeback trail—running hard.

"I work hard at singing now," he says. "Before, I didn't. I didn't come up the hard way. I was lucky. I went up the ladder without too many hard knocks. I used to just go through the motions. Now I go through the emotions."

Fisher's activities have been overshadowed by the fantastic amount of attention focused on the romance of his second wife, Elizabeth Taylor, and actor Richard Burton. This, he says, doesn't bother him.

He's going ahead with career plans as though Burton and Liz do not exist.

"I'm working hard, trying to make up for mistakes. I think I'll make a lot more. I'm no saint."

Eddie, now 35, burst into songster stardom in 1950 at 22. His rich tenor-baritone voice flooded American homes. He had his own radio and television shows.

Then in 1955, bachelor Fisher married actress Debbie Reynolds in an ideal Hollywood love match. They had two children. The ideal match ended when he comforted Miss Taylor, who was widowed when producer Mike Todd was killed in a plane crash. There was a national uproar over his divorce from Miss Reynolds.

Fisher and Miss Taylor married in 1959. During the first three years of the marriage to the raven-haired Miss Taylor, his career was in an eclipse. He sang little, and devoted his time to being her companion.

He was at Miss Taylor's bedside when she almost died of pneumonia in London in 1961. She recovered her health and all seemed well until she began working with Burton in "Cleopatra" in 1962.

Fisher finally announced it was all over between him and Miss Taylor.

"I've been through a couple of lives. I've been given a second chance. I think I'm on the right track now, and I'm going to try to stay on it," he says.

"I'm a very determined young man about doing some good. I just want to do what I do—perform—and work at it hard. This is a strong force and it can be used for good."

"People in show business can do things ambassadors can't."

For example: "I'm doing some work for the Olympics. I've made myself available to go anywhere in the world to raise funds for our athletes.

"You know, there's no government subsidy for American athletes who want to go to the Olympics."

Fisher is busy with business as well as singing. He has his own recording company, plans to perform in television specials and movies.

He also plans a nationwise concert tour in nightclubs and auditoriums.

"I like concerts and clubs best. I love to make records next. I could stay in a studio all day and all night. I'm small and skinny, but my vocal cords are very strong."

He said Alan Lerner, of "My Fair Lady" fame, is working on a Broadway show for him.

Will he marry again?

"My inclination is to remain a bachelor," he confesses. "By striking out twice, I've learned I can't see myself married in the foreseeable future.

"I'm going to watch everybody else get married. I'm very, very happy with my life. If only a few of my dreams come true, I'll consider myself lucky."

Diane Tells Why Movie Succeeds

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Diane Cilento, the lusty, busty wanton of "Tom Jones" gives this word an why the movie turned out to be one of the best and funniest in years.

"Tony Richardson the director imparted a holiday spirit by choosing only experienced actors and then trusted us enough to let us all do scenes the way we felt.

"When a director trusts you that much, then you knock yourself out to justify his faith in you."

Diane is probably the only movie actress ever born in Rabaul—site of a heavily bombarded Japanese stronghold of World War II.

She's also the girl who said yes to Dr. No's nemesis, James Bond, as played on the screen by her husband, Sean Connery.

In "Tom Jones," Diane wore a black wig, and slovenly dress but rebelled when the director wanted her to blacken her teeth.

In person—and in her next movie, "The Third Secret" with Stephen Boyd—the public sees Diane as a luscious blonde with the kind of figure that makes sailors whistle.

"I suppose one shouldn't go in for these drastic changes of appearance," she says, "because people fail to recognize you. "Recognition is important to an actress—but when you don't look like yourself, then acting becomes fun and a challenge."

She's probably the only actress who lives in a onetime convent.

Soaring Imports Blamed In Depressed Beef Prices

HAMLIN — "An all-time high mark for the marketing of beef and veal was reached in the United States in 1963," said Cecil L. Sellers of Hamlin, president of the National Lovestock Dealers Association, "but, despite that record, the average price received by the producers of those primary food items declined approximately $6 per hundred pounds for live, marketable cattle during the year."

"Much of the blame for the big decline in prices, which started in early 1963, and which has not yet shown any appreciable indication of turning upward, is attributed by producers and others in the livestock industry, to the large increase in the imports of beef and beef products from foreign countries — especially Australia and New Zealand," said Sellers.

"This is a serious situation, not only for the producers but also for the entire economy of the United States and particularly of the Southwestern producing regions where thousands of commercial enterprises in towns and cities exist wholly or in part on the business of agriculture in which beef production is a major item," continued Sellers.

"Ninety - eight per cent of all raw materials from the farms and ranches in Texas pass through Texas business concerns before reaching the final consumer," said the Hamlin man, who is a farmer, livestock producer and co-owner and co-operator of a livestock auction company at Coleman.

"During 1963, the best available statistics indicate that 16,191,000,000 pounds of beef and veal was consumed in the United States. This was 95.1 pounds per capita.

"Ten years earlier — in 1953 — beef consumption in the United States averaged 76.6 pounds per person and in 1943 it was 52.9 pounds. In 1932 the per capita beef consumption in this country was 46.4 pounds.

"In the face of the increased sale of beef and veal during last year the price of choice, steer beef fell from an average of $30.13 per hundred pounds in November, 1962, to an average of less than $24 per hundred pounds in late 1963, on the Chicago market, and very little upward change has been reported since," said the NLDA president.

"The prices of lower grades of beef and beef products declined during 1963 by the same or larger percentages as did that from the choice animals," he declared.

"When you review the rise in imports of beef, veal and beef products into the United States during recent years you readily can understand why the producers, marketers and processors are alarmed.

"These are the facts from records of agencies of the federal government:

"In 1957 imports of live cattle, beef and veal was 3.9 per cent of our domestic production. In 1962 the imports were approximately 11 per cent of United States production, and for 1963 the figure is more than 12 per cent.

— During the first eight months of 1963, on a carcass weight basis, beef and veal imports were 22 per cent above those for the same eight months of 1962.

— On a carcass weight equivalent the U. S. in 1953 received 9.3 per cent of the total world meat imports. This jumped to 24 per cent in 1962. This nation — the largest producer and consumer of meat in the world — also now is the largest importer of beef.

— Australia and New Zealand currently furnish approximately 80 per cent of the U. S. beef and veal imports.

"Cost of producing beef in those countries is approximately half of the cost in the U. S.," he said. Those countries allow beef producers to write off, as expenses against their taxes, the investments they make for improvements on grazing lands which they lease from the government.

In the U. S. the cattle producers have an investment of between $700 and $1,000 per cow unit. Ranch land in Australia and New Zealand is owned by the government and leased for approximately $100 per section last year."

"It has been estimated," Sellers pointed out, "that if 450,000 cattle are slaughtered during one week in the U. S., with the imports being even 11 per cent of that figure, the boned meat represented by those imports would be equivalent to about 25,000 live, average - weight, slaughtered cattle. That many cattle would require at least 15 trains of 60 cars each to move them from the ports."

"Imports of cattle, beef and beef products in 1962 were about 12 times the value of exports of those products. In that year this country exported $34,600,000 worth of beef and products and imported $412,000,000 worth of the same commodities.

"The latest calculations are that beef imports into the U. S. in 1963 were slightly above 12 per cent of our domestic production and indications are strong that unless something is done to change the trend the figure will rise still higher this year.

"The United States imposes only a small tariff on livestock imports and efforts are now being made to lower or even eliminate that duty.

"The livestock industry in this country — particularly the beef cattle sector — is not asking for all meat imports to be cut off," Sellers said. "However, the leaders among the producers and in other intergal parts of the business do feel that the domestic producers cannot indefinitely compete with imports averaging 12 per cent or more each year of our production, especially when those imports are produced at a much lower cost than that of the U. S. producers.

The most widely supported plan is to have this government and the government of the importing countries agree on a quota of not more than five per cent of domestic production for all cattle, beef and veal imports each year.

The domestic livestock industry is not asking for a cutback in imports in order to bring an increase in the returns to producers to the point where beef and beef products would be priced out of reach of the average consumer."

Nope, Wasn't Me You Saw On TV

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — A cocktail lounge in New Albany is going to put on its own television program, using patrons for the cast.

The camera, which will be mounted in the lounge and relay pictures to a television set in the front window, will enable passersby to see what's going on—as required by Indiana law.

The bar is in an area with no windows on the ground floor of a motel. That created the problem because the law says you must be able to see inside.

Senate Vote Supports Chamizal Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to the House Friday night a bill authorizing appropriations up to $44.9 million to implement the Chamizal Treaty under which some 400 acres of disputed lands along the Rio Grande at El Paso, Tex., are ceded to Mexico.

The money is to be used to buy up private homes and businesses of persons who will have to move out of the area and to compensate them for additional costs in obtaining comparable properties elsewhere.

The bill also provides that additional compensation for losses and damages resulting from the move shall not exceed 25 per cent of the fair market value of the property.

The Chamizal treaty, signed Aug. 29, ends a century old dispute caused by a shift in the Rio Grande, the boundary between the two nations.

The United States will take over some land from Mexico, but the 400 acres is approximately the net gain for Mexico.

The bill, passed without objection, authorizes funds for construction of river channel work, a new immigration and customs building and relocation of some roads and utilities. It does not include money for a new modern highway system or a reconstruction of the irrigation works in the area.

The measure provides further that no money received as an award under the treaty shall be considered in the gross income of individuals or concerns involved so long as it is used within a year to replace the properties from which they have had to move.

Florida Has Storm Alert

By The Associated Press

Heavy rainstorms and winds that gusted up to 60 miles per hour lashed Florida today. Tornado warnings were in effect for several hours in the Daytona Beach-Tampa area.

The Southeastern storm dumped rain over most of Florida and the Carolinas. Gainesville in northern Florida reported 1.3 inches during a six-hour period. About .25 inch fell in the Carolinas.

The tornado warnings were lifted early today in Florida after strong winds snapped power lines. No tornadoes were sighted.

Much of the Midwest had snow flurries. Snow squalls whirled through some isolated areas. Muskegon, Mich., reported 2 inches of new snow in a six-hour period.

The Santa Fe Trail had several starting points in Missouri — Franklin, then Independence and Westport. It ran southwesterly across Kansas.

Mrs. Carroll Hostess For Acacia Club

The Acacia Study Club met Wednesday afternoon at Martha Ann Woman's Club with Camille Carroll, hostess.

Mrs. Lucy Dysart brought the Federation topic on the subject of education.

Jane Womack presented the program titled "The Westward Movement" with the administration of the Jacksonian era people beginning to think about expansion. After the election of Van Buren, the American economy began to drop and there followed a period of reform. It touched upon education and recognized cultural aspects and scientific progress.

During the frontier movement women achieved a certain type of equality to their men. The manifest destiny meant that Americans would be destined to settle the country, far to the north and south and to the Pacific coast.

A film was then shown entitled "Texas and the Far Southwest," a history of part of the great American westward movement.

Mrs. Womack ended a very colorful program by singing two folk songs and accompanying herself on a large ukelele.

Cold winds outside call for hot filling meals with lots of homemade goodness. When was the last time you served your family chicken with dumplings prepared with enriched flour. This nutritious old - fashioned treat is a favorite with both kids and husbands.

WE GAVE this platform a few weeks ago to a vocal opponent of sawdust mulching. The militant views expressed caused Frank Vomacka of East Longmeadow, Mass., to raise his voice in protest and to rightfully contend that there should have been some qualification.

Vomacka may have missed the columns in which I related my own experienced with sawdust in working successfully to build humus. Our advice is to proceed slowly in using sawdust, because it drains vital nitrogen. Don't spread a thick layer year after year.

Even though sawdist does break down into humus fairly rapidly, compared with some other mulches, our Virginia opponent is right in saying that overdoses settle in so tightly as to keep moisture from penetrating.

As a mulch around plants, any damage that might occur would be due mostly to exhaustion of nitrogen. Worked into the soil in the same fashion as peat moss, but in moderate quantities sawdust, wood chips and shavings will help moisture and act to keep down weeds somewhat.

These wood products, while containing small amounts of nutrients, are not a substitute for fertilizer. Thick layers of sawdist should not be spread on top of the soil and left there. Small amounts should be worked about six inches into the ground.

What shall I do with the tulip, hyacinth and daffodil bulbs I didn't get a chance to plant before the ground froze hard? The question has been asked many times since snow began to fall.

Get some wide, squat clay pots, build a drainage system of bits of broken pots and pebbles on the bottom then add equal parts of loam, leaf mold and sand, or some peat moss. Leave three inches of space at the top (after pressing down) and set in the bulbs, with an inch of space between them.

Then add soil so that only the tips of the bulbs show an inch from the pot rim. Water well, cover the pot with an empty inverted clay pot of the same size and place in a deep trench or coldframe for 8 to 10 weeks to root. The tops of the pot should be covered with 4 to 6 inches of soil and a protective layer of leaves or hay.

In two months, dig up the pots, remove the top one, put the bottom one in a cool north window (50-55 degree temperature) until the shoots turn green. Then move it into a sunny window and keep the soil watered.

An enterprising nurseryman whose specialty is African violets has built a portable greenhouse to help promote his sales. During holiday seasone he plans to haul the greenhouse with his truck cab to stores which do not have enough space for large displays of his plants.

Stores will provide sales help and he will care for the plants.

The greenhouse shelves will hold about 1,400 violets (from among his 500 varieties.) The mobile unit has its own heating system (a small generator) and is lighted with 800 watts of fluorescent lights.

Girls who just naturally love anything made for men and boys are wild about male surfing trunks, especially when they have flat figures.

The girl versions are hip-hung in stretch denim or madras check string tied and with watch pockets. The really big difference is that the girl types have bras.

Bold Colors Are Shown For Spring

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Being a clothes horse is an expensive proposition for the average - income woman.

This became more self - evident to newswomen here for Press Week activities with each of Monday's shows arranged by the New York Couture Group and the American Designers.

Although no more extravagant than last year, couturier designs still are astronomically out of reach of all but one of every 1,000 women.

The styles, even reproduced at ready-to-wear prices, will require larger wardrobes. The woman who sews her own will find that design piracy is difficult. If she does acquire the garments, she will spend a mint pawning them out of the dry cleaners.

In place of the basic dress that nobody quite remembers are unforgetable costumes in screaming color combinations and bold, attention - demanding patterns. Both Adele Simpson and Donald Brooks made use of these in their collections. Naturally, a woman needs more of these, since the same shouting costume wears on the memory.

Further, shouting fabric linings in jackets and coats match up with blouses or dresses, and a new coat for every dress is a strain on anybody's budget.

The semi-fitted suit is not as easy to make as last year's box jacket, Harry Frectel explained to the writers, showing a variety of such silk and men's wear worsted suits. Bias-cut dresses, miserable to fit and sew unless you are a professional, were among the challenges offered by designers Brooks and Roxanne of Samuel Winston. Models floated onstage in romantic chiffon clouds, all bias cut, and a small fortune in yardage alone.

Dust catchers, along with those floor-sweeping skirts, are voluminous sleeves, pretty and romantic, but as dry - cleaner prone as Roxanne of Winston's white knit dresses with striped panels.

Lady finger pans are available they come with six or 12 compartments.

If I were king and had a queen who had a son and heir—I'd buy up every flower in Hinshaw's to grace the royal pair.

Altrurian Daughters Hear State Game Warden At Meeting

The Altrurian Daughters met Wednesday, February 5 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Mrs. Jake Green presented Mr. William H. Pratt, State Game Warden, who gave a most informative talk on the game birds.

Mr. Pratt showed a film on the white wing dove and told of the State's conservation program in the valley to keep these birds from becoming extinct. The white winged dove migrate to Mexico in the winter and return to the valley in the spring to nest. Since the valley has become such an agricultural section, most of the nesting grounds for the dove have been cleared and is now being used for cotton and fruit. The Conservation Department, in an effort to save this specie, purchased some 450,000 acres of land for a refuge. Here the dove are protected and it is the hope that these birds will multiply and remain a part of Texas heritage.

People Who Lived On Frontier

THE LAND BREAKERS. By John Ehle.

If you would know the heartbeat of a certain time and place, do not look into dry-bone chronicles and histories. Search instead through the stories of individual, breathing, hopeful, fallible human beings who have worried out their mortal strife in such a place.

And look into the pages of this novel for an eloquent narrative of pioneer life in early America. It gives you greater understanding of the spirit of that time than you would find in a whole rack of textbooks.

The scene is a virgin valley in the beautiful but ominous western mountains of the Carolinas. The story begins in the summer of 1779 and ends in the spring of 1784.

The first to reach this valley was Mooney Wright, a young giant of a man, a Scotch-Irish orphan who had been apprenticed to a Virginia family and wanted in his self - reliance to establish a home of his own. The first winter in his lonely cabin cost him the life of his young wife.

Then came Tinkler Harrison, a comparatively wealthy, avaricious man who brought with him a second wife who was a child-bride, and his daughter Lorry, with her two young boys. They had been deserted by Lacey Pollard, a restless adventurer who had disappeared into the Indian country. There also came a feckless man with a crew of nubile daughters, one of whom plays a major part in the drama. But Mooney and Lorry, reaching an understanding of their own, are the central figures.

It is a story of primitive courage and primitive emotions, of prodigious battles against a sweet but threatening natural world; a tale of Lacey's return, a prolonged battle with a giant bear and a disastrous gamble with a storm on the mountain trail.

The author is dealing with characters who can express their inarticulate thoughts only in the crude, halting language of the frontier. He has blended this homely tongue with a tinge of that sturdy but poetic, Jacobean awareness that has graced an earlier literature. It is an appropriate word - melody, a style of rugged grace.

Read this moving story of indomitable spirit and reflect on its message of the rough, proud spirit of an earlier world of brave integrity.

Royal Family Has Tough Luck

By HARRY UYTENHAAK

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Princess Irene is the second of the four Dutch princesses to have a blighted romance. Crown Princess Beatrix, older sister of Irene, said no to a commoner six years ago.

Attractive, blonde Beatrix was then 20 and a student at Leyden University. Her boy friend was Bob Steensman, tall son of a notary public and five years older than the princess.

They had a good time together, but Beatrix later made clear she thinks as the future Dutch queen, she should marry royalty.

The heiress to the throne explained that the constitution requires approval of her marriage and she added, "A royal match might make it easier."

The Dutch now are wondering if this question of parliamentary disapproval might have broken up the romance of Princess Irene, 24, the second child of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard. She is next in line for the throne behind Beatrix.

Romance with a Spanish suitor was widely rumored for Irene. Tuesday night Juliana in a broadcast told her people there had been the "happy possibility of an engagement." But she added that Irene had informed her "this engagement will not take place." The young man was not identified.

Irene's whereabouts are a mystery. She is believed to be in seclusion in Spain, where she had been visiting since Jan. 9.

The third princess, Margriet, is 21, born in Canada while her mother was a refugee during World War II.

The fourth princess, Christine, 16, is the pet of the family because she is blind in one eye and has only partial vision in the other. All the family has concentrated on helping her to lead a normal life.

Despite her eyesight, she is at a public high school at Amersfoort, near Baarn, and reportedly is a good swimmer who likes reading, folk dancing and handicraft.

Christine's eye ailment was at the root of much publicized difficulties in the royal family in 1956. Seeking help for her daughter, Juliana turned to a faith healer, Miss Greet Hofmans, despite the objections of Prince Bernhard. The Dutch government was reported deeply concerned over Miss Hofmans' influence on the queen.

Finally an announcement was issued that the queen and her husband had reconciled their differences. Miss Hofmans disappeared from the queen's circle.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

CONSTIPATION IN INFANTS—By John Lester Reichert, M. D.
Chicago - Pediatrician

The complaint of constipation in infants seems to mean different things to different parents. To some it means long intervals between baby's bowel movements. To others it means a particular type of stool.

Actually, a baby should be considered to be constipated only when he has hard and dry stools that are passed with difficulty. The number of movements a day is not important, even if it's only one every 24 hours. Some babies with one or two movements a week are not constipated.

The cause of constipation in infants is their diet. It may result from underfeeding or too little roughage. It occurs when solid foods are withheld or strained foods continued too long. In the bottle fed baby it may be due to an unbalanced diet; too high in protein and fat, too low in carbohydrate.

Regulating the diet will correct almost all cases of constipation in the infant. It is just as important in the young child, though at this age, it is complicated by poor bowel training. The parent of a constipated infant or child should seek the advice of the family pediatrician or physician. If the regulation of the diet is indicated, the physician usually will recommend any of a number of corrective procedures and roughly in the following sequence:

1. Increase the quantity of food if it is inadequate. Mild constipation is often the first indication of a grossly inadequate diet.

2. Increase the carbohydrate if the volume of food is adequate or if making it adequate does not correct the constipation. Excessive amounts of carbohydrate, however, may aggravate constipation.

3. Change slowly absorbed carbohydrate such as salt and dextrins. A valuable product in treating constipation throughout infancy and childhood is a malt soup extract available as a syrup or powder which can be added to the formula or other food.

4. Reduce the fat. Reducing fat by using skimmed milk or a skimmed milk powder has the further advantage of increasing the appetite and thereby increasing the bulk of the diet.

5. Add prune juice, a time-honored method known to all mothers.

6. Increase bulky foods, such as fruits, leafy vegetables and bran. Since lack of appetite is often a part of the picture, this is not always easy.

THE CHURCH IN POLITICS?

When Jesus was at the height of His popularity, the people tried to make Him king (John 6:15) but He said, "My kingdom is not of this world" (John 18:36). He taught His disciples to pay taxes and be good citizens but they were also taught not to become entangled in the affairs of this life (2 Tim. 2:4).

Christ taught that His kingdom was a spiritual kingdom with spiritual aims (John 18:36, 37). He did not seek to control men by military or political compulsion. His was a conquest of the heart. "Seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness" (Matt. 6:33). "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments" (John 14:15).

When a church dabbles in politics, or worse, becomes politically powerful, it is functioning in a way the Master never intended. It is fundamentally contrary to the spirit of true Christianity for the church to function as a political power. The church has a higher and holier mission, that of spreading the gospel (Matt. 28:19-20). It is common knowledge that at least one very large church is extremely active in the political field. In countries where one church is dominant and politically powerful, other religions have a difficult time. Their efforts are severely restricted. Religious freedom, as we know it, is unknown in such situations.

Our forefathers recognized this fact. After being persecuted by political-religious groups that made life intolerable in the old world, they came to these shores and set up a new nation where church and state were completely separate, each functioning within its own sphere. The church has one function; the state another (Rom. 13:1-7).

If we remain true to the principles of God's word, and remember the aims of our forefathers, we will keep the church out of politics and keep politics out of the church.

Here Come Easter Fashions So Fresh And Feminine

Easter is early this year — March 29th, to be specific. Remember when you were a little girl and your mother dressed you in lovely new clothes for Easter? What a thrill it was and how wonderful you felt! That thrill is never lost, it is always a delight to dress up for Easter whether you are six or sixty (or more). Once again designers have made it easy to do so with their charming, flattering Easter-into-Summer array ready to enchant the most particular.

The costume — the complete look — is very much the story for Spring, 1964. Suits, very important, often have their own blouses and even coats or capes to match or harmonize. Coats not infrequently are shown with skirts of like fabric with a blouse added to complete the ensemble. Dresses with matching tailored jackets may appear to be suits or, with the addition of a cape or coat, become costumes. The trend is all very interesting and makes lots of sense.

Fashions, shown in sufficient variety to please just about everyone look new and fresh and the light, airy wools so important right now are legion. In line with what the Wool Bureau calls "naked wools", so delightful for Spring and actually most of the year, many are light in weight and soft or crisp to the touch. Included are open, lofty tweeds, lacy boucles, eponges, many sheer crepes, baskety and linen - like textures, and in the more tailored types men's wear worsted, whipcords, cavalry twills and other light, but firm fabrics. Garadeine reappears after quite an absence.

Colors are enchanting and very important with white near the head of the list, lots of pinks from pale shell to vivid fuchsias and the "hot" shades, sunshiny and daffodil yellows, blues from pastels to bright navy which is excellent for Easter, a bit of a trend to lilacs, wisterias, mauves. Minty, cool-looking greens, many off-whites to pale beiges are other favorites and all sorts of mixtures of neutrals and whites with color appear in both coat and suit collections. . . in tweeds, large and small plaids and the like.

Suits are showing real strength for the new season, offered in a wide variety in which there are many changes but none of them startling. Jackets tend to be a little longer, shoulders are often a bit wider and may even be lightly padded; some are dropped a bit and are rounder with sleeves set in, raglan types, placed low or not there at all, having been replaced by the long sleeves of a companionate blouse. A belt placed low on the jacket often lends an elongated appearance. Some packets are greatly shaped but not many are actually fitted at the waistline and some are straight as a little boy's Sunday suit. There are single and double breasted blazers, a la Chanel, with buttons and pockets playing a role. Capelet jackets look new, exposing handsome blouses to match the lining. While slim skirts predominate, more A-shaped styles and more pleats are to be seen, as well as ease at the top through gathers all around or just in front or back. Skirts are fully pleated, sometimes bias, have front or back panel pleats, or short hemline folds.

The full length cape with matching skirt and harmonizing blouse makes news and has been well accepted. Many coats have swinging backs, some with a panel fold, others cape-like, and lightly shaped body lines in front. A martingale belt may hold in a loose, panel back, as in a model with yoke, sleeves and back panel cut in one. The military touch shows up in trench adaptations, epaulet effects, welt seaming, broad notched lapels, a double row of buttons marching down the front and adding zest. The Norfolk look ties in with the elongated line and looks youthful and gay.

Some double - face, almost weightless woolens are used in reversible coats as another facet of the new fashions.

Now let's be on our way to find that new Easter wardrobe-it will be fun!

Oldtime Biscuits

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup milk

Into a mixing bowl sift together the flour, baking powder, cream of tartar, salt and sugar. With a pastry blender cut in the butter until the particles are tiny. Add milk. With a fork stir just until a dough forms. Turn out on a prepared pastry cloth; shape into a ball; knead 8 to 10 times. Roll out a little less than ½-inch thick; using a 2-inch round cutter- cut out biscuits. Re-roll tag ends and cut out the same way. Place a few inches apart on a cookie sheet and bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve hot or reheat. Makes 11 biscuits.

Best-Known American

THE MANY LIVES OF OTTO KAHN. By Mary Jane Matz.

The man who brought Toscanini, Pavlova, Nijinsky and Caruso to America; the man who helped to bring Eugene O'Neill, Elmer Rice and Katharine Cornell to Broadway; the man who became the greatest railroad financier of his time, and the man who almost gave New York a new opera house in 1929 are described in reasonable detail in this book.

They are, in fact, one man — Otto Kahn, whose German - British - American - Jewish - liberal - artistic - financial background was as complex as his operations.

Though his name probably means about as little to the current generation as that of Genghis Khan, in the 30 years prior to his death Kahn was one of America's best - known figures in a half dozen fields.

Clemenceau called Kahn the greatest living American, Max Reinhardt and Will Rogers called him the King of New York. Famed columnist O. O. McIntyre found Kahn to be better known in New York than Will Rogers - when Rogers was one of the world's best known entertainers.

The author traces Kahn from his birth in Germany, hrough his relatively brief residence in London, to his arrival in New York in 1893, when he accepted a position in an investment banking firm and thus launched a career that not only made him fabulously wealthy but gave him the contacts, time and money to become one of the worl's leading backers of musical, poetic, artistic and literary endeavors.

Adequately if not brilliantly she portrays the man who among other things, gave $5 million to the Metropolitan Opera but whose monetary contribution pales beside his accomplishments in turning the Met into one of the world's great opera companies.

He merges as an eccentric millionaire, though not at all the stereotype of the eccentric millionaire. For Kahn believed in living life to the fullest in such a way that he enriched the lives of all around him — and of millions of people he never saw.

If I were a King and knew a queen whose love was not quite mine—I'd send her flowers from Hinshaw's and ask her to be my VALENTINE.

Britain's Coal Industry Is Finally In Black Again

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — Britain's coal industry is in the black and its boss, Lord Robens, promises it never will be in the red again.

"The delicate and difficult years of the National Coal Board are through," Robens said in an interview. "We are now taking the lid off production. Now it's a case of mining more coal to meet increasing sales."

Productivity in the nation's mines went up 6 per cent in 1963 to above the 200-million-ton mark for the first time in six years. That's the figure at which Robens says he can maintain a stable industry. He has set his sights on 220 million tons for this year, and believes a 6 per cent increase can be maintained for several years to come.

When British coal was nationalized on Jan. 1, 1947, it was a sick industry and promised to get sicker. It had finished the war in poor shape and was so beset by labor troubles and by mounting deficits that it threatened to be a burden on the entire economy.

The government lent its new state coal board about $2.8 billion to get things started on the road back. However, the switch from coal to oil was on. The coal board lost 31 million tons in three years.

When Alfred Robens took on the job in 1961, there were 35 million tons of coal lying around the pitheads awaiting buyers. Consumers were favoring oil, which was stable in price while coal prices were rising. The new chairman went into action.

"I believe things don't just happen — you have to make them happen," said Robens.

The coal empire that Robens directs from his office a few blocks away from Buckingham Palace is the biggest single commercial organization in Europe today. It has 700,000 employes, and its coal comes from more than 600 pits.

Robens' first task was to get production properly balanced in relation to sales. The second was to call a halt to rising prices.

"We made an analysis and cut the subsidies," Robens said. "We just could not allow wages to go on rising.

"This accounted for 60 per cent of our total increased cost.

"On the other hand it was impossible to isolate the miner's wage from the pay in other industries. The only way to keep down the wag cost per ton was by a substantial increase in productivity. We decided on a big mechanization program."

Mechanization brought its special problems. Forty per cent of Britain's coal output comes from seams less than three feet thick—so thin they wouldn't even be mined in America. After engineering research, cutting and loading machines were devised that could work in a 22-inch seam.

"We will go on until we are 100 per cent mechanized," Robens said. "Any seam that can't be mechanized won't be worked at all. We will at some stage operate a pit entirely by automation and I hope that within the next six years we shall be able to show the world a fully automated pit, which will be the pit of the 21st Century."

With production changes have come new marketing and sales drives. The board has 200 salesmen who are technicians too. The board is now one of the top ten advertisers in the British press and on television. I bear cub symbol is everywhere, singing the praises of solid fuel.

"All this," says Lord Robens, "has immensely improved our public image."

Latest figures for British coal exports show they rose 58 per cent, to 7.6 million tons. Robens sees good prospects for selling British coal to power stations and steel plants built on the Continental Seaboard, to Venezuela, Brazil and Japan.

As big cheerful, extroverted man of 54 with a plump smile and relaxed manner, Alfred Robens comes from a Lancashire working family. He left school at 15 for his first job as messenger boy for an umbrella firm, worked as sales clerk in a cooperative store, then as a full-time trade union official. He became a city councillor of Manchester, then a Labor Party member of Parliament for 15 years. He was minister of labor in Clement Attlee's government in 1951.

Big Change Slated For Coast Ranch

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — An old Gulf Coast ranch that has produced hundreds of millions of barrels of oil is being converted into a $1.5 billion residential and industrial complex.

The 30,875-acre West Ranch near Galveston Bay will still be an oil producer but 22,250 acres adjacent to the new training for the nation's astronauts have been earmarked for a big real estate development.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. officials say the long-range project is in line with a diversification trend within the industry and means conversion of a valuable asset into something of even greater value.

Humble, the U.S. operator for Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, bought the ranch in 1938 for about $40 million.

The ranch includes all of the Clear Lake Oil and Gas Field and part of the Friendswood (Webster) Field. Clear Lake has produced more than 17 million barrels of oil since 1938. Friendswood, with Humble as one of the major operators, has produced more than 262 million barrels since 1937.

Humble maintained the property as a ranch until 1961 although development rumors persisted long before the National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided Sept. 19, 1961, to build its $250 million Manned Spacecraft Center 25 miles east of downtown Houston.

Construction of the space center is nearing completion. The site was selected after Humble conveyed about 1,700 acres of the ranch to Rice University with an understanding it be made available to the space agency.

On Jan. 19, 1962, Humble disclosed plans to develop a 15,000-acre residential district. Plans for a 7,250-acre industrial complex were made public this week.

Oil and gas will continue to flow from 91 producing wells on the ranch but Humble officials visualize these developments within 15 to 20 years:

— A city of 180,000 residents and an investment in excess of $500 million by homebuyers and others.

— a $900 million industrial district with emphasis on chemicals, basic metals, glass, and space-oriented plants.

Junior Editors Quiz on PEARLS

QUESTION: How are pearls formed?

• • •

ANSWER: Most gems are some form of mineral which has been cut and polished to bring out it's beauty, so it can be used for ornament. The pearl ranks as a gem, but is different from the others because it is not made of stone and because nature fashions the shape so we do not have to recut it to bring out the beauty. Pearls grow inside six tropical species of pearl oysters. They begin as a tiny speck of sand or other foreign matter which gets inside the oyster. This irritates the soft body, so the outer edge of the body, called the mantle, covers the speck with the smooth delicately colored material, or "nacre" which is used to line the inside of the two shells. Gradually, more and more nacre is added; a pearl forms, getting larger and rounder until it is free from the shell (top picture.)

Many oysters must be brought up by divers before good pearls are found. But when the captain of a pearling ship finds a really splendid one, it is a most exciting moment, for pearls can have a fabulous value if they have a perfect shape and if the color has that mysterious luster for which these gems are so famous. If a pearl has one single blemish it is as valuable as an unblemished one. Can you figure out why?

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Did you get the answer? Almost all pearls are drilled for mounting on necklaces. You could start drilling through the single blemish and the pearl would then look like unblemished ones which are also drilled. Try this question out on your friends—if they figure it out, they're smart! 2-8

Remove Kitchen Odors

The best way to keep cooking grease and fumes from soiling kitchen walls is to install a hood and fan over the range. The hood should be deep enough to cover most of the cooking surface, placing it 26 to 30 inches above the cooking surface for most effective removal of odors.

World Day Of Prayer To Be Observed Here Friday

First Methodist Church will be host church for the annual World Day of Prayer Observance on February 14th at 9:30 a.m.

The United Church Women of Scurry County are sponsors of the World Day of Prayer Observance. Their membership consists of women from the following churches; First Methodist, Trinity Methodist, Union Methodist, First Presbyterian, First Christian, Grace Lutheran and St. John's Episcopal.

"Let Us Pray" is the theme for this year's observance. The primary purpose of this prayer service is to lead participants into an active experience of prayer. It will consist of litanies, petitions, meditations, hymns and intercessory prayers. Mrs. W. R. Everett will read the scripture selections from Genesis, St. Luke and St. Mark offering meditations on each selection.

The World Day of Prayer, observed each year on the first Friday in Lent, is sponsored by women of the major Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox Communions. It has a meaningful history of more than 75 years. Prayer and giving for worldwide mission of the Church have been its primary purpose. It is truly world - wide in character. Basically the same service is used by groups in approximately 150 countries and areas in the world.

When it is true to its original purpose and meaning, the World Day of Prayer observance has five elements. The first is an awareness of and a commitment to the reality and power of prayer. The second is a concern for the need of all peoples for the message of the Christian gospel. The third is openness — a service open to all, without denominational, racial, national, or cultural distinctions: the participation of all persons in a community. The fourth, the use of the same theme and service as the basis for planning and observing the day everywhere in the world. The fifth, offerings made are for the united outreach of the Church through interdenominational cooperation in the mission divisions of the National Council of Churches.

There will not be a social or business period since this is a prayer service. A nursery will be provided by the women of First Methodist Church.

An invitation to join us in prayer this day is extended to the public.

Causes of Baking Failures

Most baking failures can be traced to poor techniques in mixing, incorrect measuring, undermixing, overmixing and old recipes that need to be adjusted for modern ingredients and equipment. If you suspect your oven thermostat is not accurate, call your gas utility to have it tested and adjusted.
