Lamesa Public Schools Will Open Fall Term On Monday, September 7th

The Lamesa Public Schools will open for the 1942-43 term on September 7th according to school calendar voted by the Board of Trustees last Tuesday night. The faculty for the next term is complete as far as elections go and acceptance of tendered contracts are expected to complete the staff of more than fifty educational workers.

Supt. Rogers reports that more than 2000 pupils were enrolled during the 1941-42 session and that prospects are present now to indicate a still larger enrollment in the Lamesa Schools. The numbers of pupils from contract schools, Sunset, Bartlett and Gail are slightly increased. The school district census is higher by about forty pupils and the number of transfers for grades not taught in home districts is about the same and there is some increase in the number of negro pupils.

The only new courses to be added for next year are those in Pre-flight Aeronautics for one credit for interested pupils in the two highest grades of the high school. These courses are designed to reduce the ground school work now required of aviation pupils and thus let them have more time for flying. Opportunity will be provided for explanation of the courses to pupils and their parents. Messrs. J. H. Bardwell and Lee Alexander are at the University of Texas this summer in attendance upon special classes for teacher preparation in this field. They will reach Lamesa about September first.

The Board of Trustees set the annual budget hearing for the public for the night of August 18th at the school tax office at 8 p. m.

Lamesans Attend Allred Rally Held In Lubbock

A number of Lamesa citizens attended an Allred speaking in Lubbock Wednesday evening. Among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harp, Carl Bourne, E. R. Yates, M. C. Lindsey and others.

Speaking to a crowd estimated to number 3,000 Mr. Allred rose to new oratorical heights in dealing with the war and discussing fully a constructive platform embodying measures to help America to victory and at the same time to bolster war-time economy at home and in the writing of a lasting peace.

Mr. Allred stressed the following points in his platform:

1. Advocated and promised to introduce legislation to provide 25c a pound, basis middling for all American-grown cotton for the war's duration.
2. Flatly stated no American should be forced to join a labor union to work on a defense job or in a war industry, pledged to introduce a bill in the Senate to abolish any enforced initiation fee, permit fee or dues in war industries. In the event a defense worker joins a union, Allred said he would fight for a bill limiting the initiation fee to $1 and monthly dues of not more than $1.
3. Advocate federal employment or some form of security for little business men wrecked in the war effort.

4. Pledged to continue the fight he started as Governor against federal oil control and added that he would fight for retention of the 27 1-2 depletion income tax allowance on oil properties and retention of the community property principle.
5. Bluntly opposed gasoline rationing for Texas with the state-

There will be no more house to house drives for records Mr. Roberts said, but the people who wish to donate records are asked to bring them to any member of the Legion or leave them at Dyer Hardware, Richardson Stores, Taylor-McCall, County Health Unit Office, Baldwin's or Jobe Furniture.

Song services will be under the direction of O. H. Tabor, local minister. Mr. Tabor has recently conducted a singing school for all those interested in singing, so that we should have an enjoyable song service during the meeting.

Dawson County Circulating Library And Lunch Room May Stop Because Of Funds

Announcement was made this week by the District Director of the Works Project Administration at Fort Worth that all projects has been closed effective August 3.

The Dawson County School Circulating Library and the Free Lunch Program, both formerly operated under the supervision of WPA, will be affected. According to school officials it will be practically impossible to operate lunch-rooms without having the labor furnished by WPA. It is believed that some plan will be worked out to continue the School Circulating Library. Mrs. Lottie Mae Nance has been in charge of the library for three years and under her supervision the library has grown to approximately 2500 volumes, all purchased in the past three years, and all on the state approved reading list for elementary school pupils. Library Supervisors have complimented Mrs. Nance as having the most complete library service for the children of the county of any in West Texas.

Rural school officials have expressed unanimous desire that a plan be worked out by which the library can continue.

Miss Laura Wilson, who is here to offer local merchants and their employees a series of retail training courses met with a group of local merchants Wednesday morning in the District Court Room. These merchants represented the Dry Goods stores, ready-to-wear shops, drugs and furniture stores.

V. Z. Rogers opened the meeting and welcomed Miss Wilson back to Lamesa and explained that the course offered by her this year was approved by the local school system and by the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Wilson spoke of the course she would teach and stated that it had been adopted to meet the war-time need. She explained the four-point program which was organized by representatives of leading Retailers and Trade Associations, who met in Washington recently.

The two main courses that Miss Wilson will stress are, Wartime Emergency Training for New Store Workers, which is a part-time employment replacement training program to provide trained workers to replace those who have entered military service or who have gone into defense industries. Special War-time Training Experienced Store employees, this is to train employees to help create and maintain morale among fellow store workers and customers; to explain to customers such war emergency program as shortages alternate simplification of lines and special taxes. To bring about conversation and supplies and materials; to train store workers to be more adaptable, flexible and versatile in their work.

The merchants approved the following program of meetings for their employees, which will continue for a period of three weeks.

Friday, August 7, a meeting will be held for all employees of variety stores, in the Jury Room at the Court House, beginning at 8:15, at which time they will register and have a brief meeting.

Beginning on Tuesday, August 11, and continuing on Tuesday and Thursday each week, all dry goods and ready-to-wear shops, drug and furniture stores will meet at 8:15 a. m. to 9:15 and from 9:20 to 10:20, in Jury Room.

On Wednesday and Friday morning beginning August 12, the variety store employees will meet at the same time and place.

People out side these groups mentioned above who are interested in taking salesmanship training are asked to meet with Miss Wilson on Friday, August 7, in the Jury Room at 2:30 p. m. The course offered this group will be a replacement training course, and anyone who satisfactorily completes this course will be given first consideration for employment by the list of merchants who are cooperating in this plan.

Wages Received Should All Be Reported To SS

All wages paid for services rendered, regardless of the length of time involved, should be reported on the regular quarterly Social Security tax returns, Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Big Spring office of the Social Security Board, announced today.

The announcement was made to correct the false impression of employers that work of a short duration need not be reported.

"Temporary, part-time, intermittent, or casual labor, which is in the course of an employer's trade or business should be reported, even though the amount of wages involved is small," Adams said. "Employers should record the name and Social Security account number of each such worker, and the required information should be reported the same as that for regular employees who work steadily for one employer."

Adams added that night watchmen, janitors, and others who may be employed by several firms at the same time are entitled to the old-age and survivors insurance benefits which are provided by the Social Security Act. The benefits are computed on the basis of the total wages received from all employers who are covered by the Social Security Act.

Vancouver Island, with an area of 12,400 square miles, is almost as big as Massachusetts and Connecticut together, but has a population of only 125,000.

LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:
Section 1. That Section 33 of Article 16, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 33. The accounting officers of this State shall neither draw nor pay a warrant upon the Treasury in favor of any person, for salary or compensation as agent, officer or appointee, who holds at the same time any other office or position of honor, trust or profit under this State or the United States, except as prescribed in this Constitution. Provided, that this restriction as to the drawing and paying of warrants upon the Treasury shall not apply to officers of the National Guard of Texas, the National Guard Reserve, the Officers Reserve Corps of the United States, nor to enlisted men of the National Guard, the National Guard Reserve, and the Organized Reserves of the United States, nor to retired officers of the United States Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, nor to officers of the United States Army or Navy who are assigned to duties in State Institutions of higher education."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at a special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1942, at which time all voters favoring such proposed Amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the following:

Eyes Have It

Bombight Bessie, mascot at Midland, Texas, Army Flying school, is doing her bit to double the strength of the air forces. The terrier, whose one black-encircled eye resembles the imprint left on a bombardier by the bombsight eyepiece, recently gave birth to this male puppy with two "bombsight Eyes." He was promptly named "Double Salvo," Cadet Bill D. Hughes, Spokane, Wash., holds them atop a hooded bombsight.

It's up to the workers himself to determine whether he is interested sufficiently to assist his Government in saving money, time, white paper, and other valuable time in the issuance of duplicate social security account numbers because it is the worker's fault if he loses or misplaces his number and must ask us to issue him a duplicate, according to Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Big Spring Social Security Board field office.

"The ever-increasing number of requests for duplicate account numbers is creating a difficult problem," Adams said, "which involves loss in money and manpower, and until the worker makes up his mind that he will be more careful in safeguarding his account number, the situation will remain unchanged."

It was pointed out that very often a worker, when applying for a duplicate account number, fails to specify on the request form that he wants a duplicate instead of an original. "The obtaining of an original number by an individual who already has an account number," explained Adams, "means that individual has established two old-age and survivors insurance accounts—a situation which results in confusion, difficulty, and the possibility that the worker's future benefits under the Federal insurance system may be jeopardized."

"A worker needs one social security account number which he should use throughout his working lifetime," Adams continued, "and by all means and under all conditions he should preserve the original number and safeguard it against loss. Such care protects the worker in his future claim for benefits, or his survivors in case of his death, and results in economy in the administration of the program."

A worker is entitled to a duplicate account number card, it was stated, but he should use every care to avoid the necessity of applying for one.

FORT GEORGE G. MADE, Md.—The first non-commissioned officers' club in the nation now has held its first formal dance—one buck a couple and all the beer you can drink—so please place it in the top bracket.

Take it from Sergeant H. H. Church, who is president of the "Non-Coms Club." It has everything and more than the commissioned laddies can offer, and no "shavetails" allowed.

"Where, I ask you," asks the sergeant, "could you get a dinner, floor show, orchestra, dancing and all the beer you could drink for the sum of one dollar?"

No answer. Sergeant Church didn't expect any. He waved expansively at the various features of the remodeled farmhouse, with its taproom, clubrooms, magazine library, then said:

"This doesn't cost Uncle Sam one thin dime. The government gave us this clubhouse, opened in March, 1941. It was an old farmhouse, formerly the residence of the commanding officer of the post. We did the remodeling. We plan everything. We are NOT a military organization. Just a private cooperative club composed exclusively of sergeants. When a man becomes an officer, he's automatically dropped. Some want to come back, but our by-laws won't let them."

The club was established in 1934 and now is the model for similar organizations springing up all over the country.

The dinner party honored three sergeants who had been commissioned as captains, and who were making their farewell club appearance. Their going made place for a few more sergeants, since the organization is limited to membership of 750.

Workers Should Keep Social Security Cards

It's up to the workers himself to determine whether he is interested sufficiently to assist his Government in saving money, time, white paper, and other valuable time in the issuance of duplicate social security account numbers because it is the worker's fault if he loses or misplaces his number and must ask us to issue him a duplicate, according to Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Big Spring Social Security Board field office.

"The ever-increasing number of requests for duplicate account numbers is creating a difficult problem," Adams said, "which involves loss in money and manpower, and until the worker makes up his mind that he will be more careful in safeguarding his account number, the situation will remain unchanged."

It was pointed out that very often a worker, when applying for a duplicate account number, fails to specify on the request form that he wants a duplicate instead of an original. "The obtaining of an original number by an individual who already has an account number," explained Adams, "means that individual has established two old-age and survivors insurance accounts—a situation which results in confusion, difficulty, and the possibility that the worker's future benefits under the Federal insurance system may be jeopardized."

"A worker needs one social security account number which he should use throughout his working lifetime," Adams continued, "and by all means and under all conditions he should preserve the original number and safeguard it against loss. Such care protects the worker in his future claim for benefits, or his survivors in case of his death, and results in economy in the administration of the program."

A worker is entitled to a duplicate account number card, it was stated, but he should use every care to avoid the necessity of applying for one.

THE UNDERWENT AN OPERATION TO ENLIST SHEPPARD FIELD, Tex. (AP)—A 63-year-old private, whose military service in times of emergency dates back to the Spanish-American War, has joined the Army Air Forces technical training command at Sheppard Field. He is Private Harry Rudolph, of Brooklyn, who gave up a veteran's pension and underwent an operation on both legs to qualify for enlistment and a chance at specialized training for a ground crew post.

CHORUS GIRLS ECARCE LONDON (AP)—The war has brought about a shortage of chorus girls. Producer Jack Hylton said he had two plays he couldn't put on because of difficulty in casting and added only 25 per cent of chorus girl applicants are suitable these days.

Called for EXTRA DUTY On the Home Front

• Sizzling summer weather demands extra duty from your electric refrigerator in its battle to protect you and your family from harmful bacteria and to save food. The hotter the weather, the harder and longer your electric refrigerator works to keep your food fresh and wholesome, and to make added quantities of ice cubes for cooling drinks.

No matter how hot the weather, you can depend upon your electric service to provide constant food-saving cold. And, if hot weather adds a little to your electric service bill, that is just a sign that your electric refrigerator is paying you far more in food savings.

MITZ'S IN A CLASS BY HERSELF

DOVER, Ohio. (AP)—Meet Mitzi, whose owner, Charles H. Raynor, says she's the only trained silver fox in the world. "Mitzi likes to smoke, putting her muzzle against the end of a cigaret butt and inhaling and exaling," the former silver fox rancher says. Raynor found day-old Mitzi abandoned by her mother. A cat adopted the fox and Mitzi thrived, but the cat's litter of kittens nearly starved. Dogs give Mitzi a wide berth and she doesn't take to strangers, Raynor says.

INSURANCE AGENCIES OF JESSE CARROLL AND M. Q. MARTIN

The State Fire Insurance Department Has Reduced Rates in Many Instances (See Report to Left)!

New Rates Will Start On Aug. 1

By The Associated Press
AUSTIN, July 20.—A statewide reduction in fire insurance rates, announced today by Marvin Hill, state fire insurance commissioner, will result in an estimated saving of $3,200,000 to Texas policy holders during the next 12 months.
The new rates, affecting many classes of insured property, amounting to as much as a 25 per cent saving in future premiums, will become effective on August 1.
The greatest saving in any class will apply to dwellings. Estimated to exceed 2,625,000, the new rates on insured property will reach more individual property owners than any other class. Premiums on insured fire insurance last year accounted for approximately 40 per cent of the fire insurance business written in Texas.

We will adjust your fire insurance policies just as quickly as possible after receipt of proper forms from the State Fire Insurance Department, and we will advise you of your savings.

Jester To Open His Campaign Friday Night

Opening his runoff battle for the State Railroad Commission, Beauford Jester will discuss the importance of his campaign in a radio speech to a state-wide audience from his home town, Corsicana, at 9:30 p. m. Friday, August 7th. The talk will be carried over a fifteen station network.

"Texas oil and transportation are vitally important to our war effort," Mr. Jester said. "Most of the oil that will fly our planes, power our mechanized divisions, and fuel the ships of American and her Allies will come from Texas. There must be no bottlenecks in Texas' oil production and transportation facilities."

"The people of Texas need a war veteran and a fully qualified Railroad Commissioner who will see to it that every industry regulated by the commission can and does function at its maximum in our war effort," Mr. Jester declared.

A native of Corsicana, Jester is graduate of Texas University and served from 1932 to 1935 as chairman of the university's board of regents. He interrupted his law studies to go overseas in 1917 as an infantry captain in the 90th Division. He saw action in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. Returning to the law after the Armistice, he completed his studies and has practiced in Corsicana ever since. He has taught a Sunday School class in his Methodist Church since 1924, and since 1925 has been a member of the State Advisory Board of the National Youth Administration.

I TAKE THIS MEANS OF EXPRESSING TO THE VOTERS OF DAWSON COUNTY, TEXAS, MY SINCERE THANKS FOR THE HEARTY VOTE OF CONFIDENCE GIVEN ME IN THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY ELECTION, JULY 25, 1932. IT HAS BEEN A PLEASURE AND A PRIVILEGE TO BE OF SERVICE TO YOU IN THE PAST, AND I SOLICIT YOUR CO-OPERATION AND SUPPORT IN A CRITICAL TIME WHEN COURAGE, FIDELITY AND EXPERIENCE ARE ESSENTIAL IN PUBLIC OFFICE.

HOWARD HUMPHREY

County Clerk

I wish I were able to express to you my appreciation of your loyal support of the first primary. I am deeply and sincerely grateful for your encouraging words, your helpful suggestions and your show of confidence at the polls. Thank you so much for putting me in the "Run Off" and may you continue the good work and help me win the county treasurers office, August 22.

And to those whose friends are not in the second primary, may I have your support, please.

During my High School days I studied bookkeeping and have since that time have been connected with the bookkeeping department of the Earnest & Nix Implement Co. and The Lamesa Auto Supply Co. My experience in this work has qualified me for the office of Treasurer and if elected I promise to care for the duties of this office in a satisfactory manner.

I am asking you for this trust because I feel that I can serve you efficiently and because I need the job.

I received my army classification card a few days ago and I have been placed in group IV. F. This is because of a physical defect caused by a car accident a few years ago.

Thanking you again for the happiness you caused me in the primary. (pd pol adv.)

Very sincerely yours,

By BETTY CLARKE

Wide World Beauty Editor
Just in case you haven't heard, nylon and silk hosiery are out for the duration. Until we beat the Sox off the Axis, these precious yarns will go for more important items, and you'll wear rayon or nothing.

Wearing nothing (we're speaking only of legs) has its attractions. The bare-legged fashion is just as popular along Fifth Avenue as it is at the beach these days.

There's no problem in getting the right shade of fake stockings either. You regulate the color by the number of applications. One make-up that is especially easy to apply is in thick form. It goes on almost as quickly as pulling up a pair of stockings. One application gives you a light golden beige tone, another a darker shade.

Perhaps you want to fool the public and make them believe you're really wearing stockings. In that case, use your eyebrow pencil to simulate the seam. Unless you have a steady hand and a good eye, however, forget about it, or you'll receive advice to straighten your seams.

'Collars Away' '43 Fashion Headline

"Collars away" is a 1943 fashion headline. And this means that if you have an old coat or suit you want to give a new look to, have your "little tailor" remove the collar and gently round the neck closing. Or cut in a long V from the shoulder and wear with bright colored scarf.

Make something of last year's suit with saddle stitching. Simply run the saddle stitching around revers and collar, and outline pockets. Stitch a navy suit with white, a brown suit with beige, a grey suit with black, or use gayer colors if you like them.

Make a dressmaker suit look entirely new and feminine. Edge the pockets and possibly the collar with perky ruffles of bias taffeta. The New York shops are showing this. They are also featuring edgings and darts of bright color which can be added at home.

USO Drive For Dawson County Over The Top

According to W. D. Arnett, Chairman for the Dawson County U. S. O. Drive, Dawson County's quota of $3,073.40 has been over subscribed. He states that when this campaign first started a number of local business men contributed from $50 to $100 each and when the main drive started under the supervision of some seventeen captains that there was approximately $900 of the quota already raised. With this splendid start practically everyone upon being solicited responded most generously. Henningsen-Lamesa Inc. and their three hundred employees contributed to this fund 100 per cent and the same is true of the employees of the Victor J. Nelson Construction Company who has the contract for the construction work at our Glider Field. Victor J. Nelson, head of the Victor J. Nelson Construction Company personally duplicated the contribution made by the employees. His personal check to U. S. O. amounted to over $100, and we are told that on every defense job erected by the Nelson Construction Company in both Texas and California, Mr. Nelson has made generous personal contributions and has given unstintingly of his time to U. S. O. In fact, at Sweetwater, Nolan County, where the Nelson Construction Company has recently finished a Flying Field, Victor J. Nelson headed the U. S. O. Drive in that county with a contribution of $100.

Mr. Arnett states that he wants to take this opportunity of thanking everyone who has so generously contributed to this fund and he wishes to thank each one who has given of their time in the raising of this quota. He believes that sometime in the near future that a U. S. O. center will likely be established in Lamesa to help take care of the welfare of our Glider students and that he will continue to work to that end.

LOCAL BIGWIG BRINGS IN PRIZE COTTON

M. Q. Martin, local insurance broker, associated with Arch Moore in the operation of a farm six miles southwest of Lamesa, has on display at the Lamesa National Bank a prize stalk of cotton. According to available information most of the credit for the actual work goes to Moore while M. Q. furnished the brain.

The cotton stalk on display was secured from a field of 101 1-2 acres after a careful survey by the owners to make sure that the poorest stalk in the field instead of the best one was brought in. Sixty-three forms, bolls, etc., were found on the cotton stalk.

Cooperation Is Complete Between AAF And RAF

Cooperation between the U. S. Army Air Forces and the British Royal Air Force in the Far East is complete, according to advices received by the War Department.

The reports show that the R. A. F. has turned over continents, complete airdrome facilities and personnel accommodations to the A. A. F., and that ground transportation and other assistance has been provided.

The R. A. F. now is building for the AAF at sites selected by United States Army officers airdromes capable of handling heavy bomber operations, with accommodations at each base for necessary personnel. The British are supplying all labor. At all points where Army Air Force troops have been stationed in the Far Eastern theater the British have cooperated in providing working facilities and quarters according to the reports. The British have aided in obtaining blocks of rooms in hotels for administrative headquarters and officers' quarters and have shared air conditioning units from a limited supply.

Tips On How To Brine Vegetables For Home Use

Brining vegetables is preferable to allowing them to spoil when no other means of preservation is available, says Winifred Jones, specialist in food preservation of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

If necessary, string beans, cauliflower, corn, green peppers, green tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and turnips may be preserved by brining. Beans, corn and cauliflower may be cooked after soaking out the salt and prepared for serving as fresh vegetables. Miss Jones says. Green peppers may be used for stuffing and green tomatoes in pies.

Vegetables which may be preserved in a 10 per cent brine are string beans, cucumbers, green tomatoes, beets, turnips and corn on the cob. The amount of brine necessary to cover the vegetables is equal to about one half the volume of the material to be fermented. To make the 10 per cent brine use 3 1-4 cups of dairy salt to 1 1-2 gallons of soft water. Pour over the vegetables and the next day add one pound of salt (2 3-8 cups) for every 10 pounds of vegetables used.

At the end of the first week and the end of each succeeding five weeks, add one quarter pound of salt (approximately 5-8 cup) or each 10 pounds of vegetables. Place the salt on the cover to prevent sinking and skim off the scum.

Before using, brined vegetables should be placed in a suitable vessel, covered with fresh water and slowly heated to lukewarm temperature. Hold at that point, stirring frequently. Then pour off the water and repeat the process if necessary until the vegetables have only a slightly salty taste.

Plenty Of Laying Mash Essential To Egg Production

"The cost of laying mash is getting so high that I cannot see where it will pay me to continue to feed all the mash that my hens will eat. Can I cut down on the amount of mash I am feeding per hen per day, and make any money?"

The above problem that is facing many farmers right now. How can I hold my production? How can I cut costs? Can I afford to cut down on Mash?

Fortunately we have the results of an experiment available at this time. At the time the experiment was started the mash was costing -3.00 per 100 pound, and the eggs were selling for 25c per dozen. The hens were all of the same breeding and productivity. The hens were divided into three pens, each being equal in type, conformation and productivity.

Pen 1 was given all the mash it would consume; produced 182 eggs per hen per year; consumed 4.4 pounds of feed per dozen eggs produced at a cost of 13.2c per dozen; and had a net profit of $1.79 over feed costs.

Pen 2 had its mash ration reduced 12 1-2 per cent below the amount fed to Pen 1. Pen 2 averaged 124 eggs per hen per year; consumed 5.6 pounds of feed per dozen eggs produced; feed costs per dozen eggs climbed to 16.8c per dozen; profit per hen above feed costs dropped to 85c for the year.

Pen 3 had its mash lowered 25 per cent below the amount fed to Pen 1. The egg production per hen dropped to 88 eggs; it took 6.8 pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs; the cost per dozen eggs produced rose to 20.4c per dozen; and the annual profit per hen dropped to 34c per hen.

In other words when the mash was reduced 12 1-2 per cent the egg production decreased 32 per cent, and the profit 27 per cent. When the mash was decreased 25 per cent the production dropped 52 per cent, and the profits dropped 54 per cent.

Do not make the mistake of limiting the amount of mash to laying hens and thereby reducing the profits of your flock.

WOMEN HELP WIN "BATTLE OF WEEDS"

WASHINGTON (AP) — An army of men, women and children — at times 3,000 strong — has won the "battle of weeds" in the Department of Agriculture's emergency rubber production project in Salinas Valley, Calif. More than 40 per cent of the weedeers were women from nearby communities who answered the call for help when it looked as though weeds might win out over the newly-planted guayule seedlings.

They have completed the chore of weeding 890 miles of four-foot-wide nursery beds planted last spring.

These 530 acres of seedlings, which represent the only substantial supply of guayule planting stock in the Western Hemisphere, will provide stock for field planting of some 50,000 acres of guayule next winter.

Miss Marie McDonald accompanied Mrs. George Hickey to her home in Denver, Colorado this week, and will visit there for several days.

d. Possess the required occupational skills—to be determined by trade tests given by the United States Employment Service.

Interest applicants who possess qualifications of any of the specialties listed are referred to the nearest recruiting and induction station or sub-station for processing. Such applicants may be furnished transportation to a recruiting and induction station at government expense provided the applicant is obviously not physically or otherwise disqualified for enlistment.

The Caucasus; Target Of Nazi Conquest

Wide World Features

Oil for the war machine; minerals for the steel industries; a good electric power to operate them; grain to swell food reserves; a strategic hold on Turkey; threat to rich Iran, and blockade of important sea-lanes—these are possible prizes at stake as the Nazis strike for complete domination of the Caucasus. This isthmus between the Black and Caspian Seas, its 137,180 square miles covering an area no larger than Montana, contains 16 autonomous states — a patchwork of peoples, races and religions. In the Caucasus mountains, which include Europe's highest peaks, a little nation of mountain miners produces one-fourth of Russia's lead and one-third of her zinc. In another mountain state Moslem shepherds now raise corn and wheat in addition to goats and sheep. In Transcaucasia, the country south of the mountains, the patchwork is less complicated. Largest of its three republics is Azerbaijan on the Caspian side of the isthmus, with its capital the oil city of Baku. Rugged Armenia lies to the west, with its high mountain lakes and roving flocks, while subtropical Georgia, beside the Black Sea, was a source of manganese for the U. S. steel industry before the war.

HE'D BE THE ENVY OF VON RIBBENTROP

SEATTLE (AP) — Police arrested a 52-year-old man for investigation. He was wearing an army uniform with technical sergeant's chevrons and nine hash marks. On his coat lapels were the insignia of a cavalry regiment, on his left shoulder and cap were the insignia of the Alaska Defense Command. In addition to the Victory medal of the first World War, he wore a British-American war relief emblem, Eagles' pin, service pin designating one son in the service, an enameled American flag set with bits of colored glass and a second-class Boy Scout badge pinned upside down. He carried a nickel-plated badge engraved with his name and the words: "Mineralogy, Geology, U. S. Army, National Defense." The national defense detail and military police joined the inquiry.

HE'D GIVE FIRST AID OR TAKE THE TIRE

PHOENIX, Kas. (AP) — In a first aid class, the instructor asked a student what he would do if he came upon an automobile with the driver slumped over the wheel. "Well," was the reply, "if he were conscious I would remove him from the seat, lay him on the ground and apply treatment. "If he were unconscious, I'd jack up the car and remove the tires."

Paint Supplies Becoming Scarce

Before long, paints of many types are going to become scarce. Mrs. Bernice Claytor, specialist in home improvement for the A. and M. College Extension Service, says shortages will be felt especially in paints, varnishes, and enamels for interiors. The reason is, these require natural or synthetic resins. For some time synthetic resins have been earmarked for exclusive war use, and lately the War Production Board has ordered a 50 per cent cut in the amount of natural resins manufactured for civilian purposes.

Here are some of the specialist's suggestions for choosing and using interior paints to the best advantage.

Semi-gloss paint, which washes well and is not too harsh in appearance, is suitable for kitchens and bathrooms. Flat paint gives a "soft" appearance and is best for large areas such as walls and ceilings. It soils less quickly than gloss paint, but it will not stand up as well under washing.

Calcimine is the cheapest wall paint available. Though it cannot be cleaned, it can be washed off entirely and a new coat applied. The specialist cautions: "Don't use calcimine on smooth woodwork or on walls which have been covered with oil paint." The coating eventually will chip off and make later re-painting far harder.

Enamel should be used only on very smooth surfaces, for it makes holes, chips, and scars more noticeable. Homemakers who want to avoid the trouble of sandpapering and planing uneven surfaces, should use a gloss or semi-gloss paint instead of enamel.

Free Training For War Industry Jobs Now Available

Free training is now available for both men and women wishing to prepare for war industry jobs at good wages, according to O. R. Rodden, manager of the Big Spring office of the United States Employment Service. He urged that Lamesa people wanting to enter National Defense trainings schools contact him as soon as possible, since there are many openings in the schools which must be filled at once.

The training courses offered in these schools, which are operated jointly by the state and federal governments, are designed to prepare workers for jobs in aircraft, shipbuilding, munitions and other essential war industries in which there is an extremely heavy demand for workers of certain types. Thousands of graduates from these free schools already have found good-paying jobs in these industries through the United States Employment Service. It is almost impossible to obtain such jobs without training.

Machine Shop, Aircraft Engine Mechanic, Aircraft Sheet Metal (including Riveting), are the courses offered. The training is open to men between the ages of 18 and 65 years, and to women between the ages of 18 and 45. There is an increasingly good market with war plants for women workers, many thousands of whom will be hired in Texas plants during the next few months.

Mr. Rodden stressed the fact that the training is entirely free; that the only cost to a trainee is that he must support himself while in school. Even this can be avoided in the case of many younger trainees, who may be assigned to National Youth Administration war work centers where they will be boarded and paid a small wage while training.

The training period runs from six to 12 weeks, according to the subject and the rapidly with which each trainee can learn. The schools are operated on a 24-hour basis so that all equipment is in constant use and trainees can attend during the hours of their own choice.

Any one in or near Lamesa who is interested in training, Mr. Rodden said, should contact him for further information. He may be located at the United States Employment Service office at 105 1-2 East Second Street, Big Spring, Texas.

LONDON (AP)—A Polish worker in Stettin, Germany, was sentenced to death by a special tribunal because he "offended the honor of the Fuehrer." The Pole hoisted a pair of old trousers from his window instead of a swastika flag on Hitler's birthday, the newspaper Pommersche Zeitung said.
