Briscoe Sets Date

AUSTIN (AP) – Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he believes House and Senate members are close enough to agreement on public school financing that he can call a special session for July 11.

"I think we should be able to accomplish the work of the session in a week or 10 days," the governor told a news conference Thursday.

Nuclear Plant Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Environmental Protection Agency today gave its approval for construction of the controversial Seabrook nuclear power plant, paving the way for further work on the New Hampshire facility.

The decision ends a two-year dispute over the plant's proposed cooling system, which would discharge artificially heated water into the North Atlantic and, opponents charged, upset the delicate marine environment.

20 Vetoes Expected

AUSTIN (AP)-Gov. Dolph Briscoe neared the end of his review of the work of the regular session of the 65th Legislature today with a little black cloud floating over about 20 measures.

"I would guess there would be a total of about 20 vetoes," Briscoe told a news conference Thursday.

Mercy Mission

AUSTIN (AP)-Virginia Harrison, 25, was seriously injured Thursday when her car rammed a light pole as she rushed to a friend's house. What was the rush? She was taking a box of gerbils-small rodents - to be fed to the friend's python.

Americans' Income Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans' personal income rose six-tenths of a per cent in May, a smaller increase than the month before, the Commerce Department said today.

Income received last month for working, savings, investments and other sources totaled $1,507 billion, when projected over an entire year. The increase for May was $9.5 billion, compared with an increase of $11.1 billion, or eight-tenths of a per cent, in April.

Government economists said the increases are not measuring up to the average $15 billion increases in the first quarter, but said the economy was making up for losses in previous quarters.

They said the increases in wages and salaries appeared to be formidable and that declines in other areas reduced the monthly total.

Wages and salaries increased $9 billion in May, compared to $9.2 billion in April. Manufacturing payrolls went up $3.5 billion in May, compared with $2.3 billion in April. The increse reflected gains in employment, average weekly hours and average hourly earnings, the report said.

Increases in payrolls in the durable goods industries accounted for the gain; nondurable goods payrolls were virtually unchanged.

Transfer payments declined by $2.8 billion in May after increasing $800 million in April. The decline partly reflected a reduction in benefit checks received by veterans.

The SDN Column

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter expressed pleasure over Anita Bryant's victory in that Miami referendum.

"It seems that ever since the nation went through the throes of confrontation during the sixties, every time a small minority group approached any governmental unit, it caved into demands--no matter how ridiculous or outlandish the demands might have been," said Buckel.

"Every time a minority group numbering as few as two dozen approached a school board, city council, commissioners court, state regulatory agency, or any branch of the federal government and made demands in the name of civil rights, discrimination, pollution or water quality, common sense and reason disappeared out the window.

"The result of government by caving-in has been a series of laws abhorrent and repugnant to the vast majority of Americans.

"Thanks to Anita Bryant, we can finally chalk one up for the majority."

Just about every young news reporter, or would-be journalist dreams of writing a column. Many who finally do find that it usually boils down to work--mental work coming up with a topic, and physical work in actually putting the thing on paper. Even the giants of the trade have these experiences as evidenced by a disclosure the other day by Orlin Brewer, who has a daily corner on the front page of the Vernon Daily Record. Brewer discovered that Frank X. Tolbert, the Dallas Morning News columnist had dusted off one of his efforts of several years back, updated it a bit, and presented a rerun.

"About a Decade ago, Mr. Tolbert devoted a column to the residental eating establishment of Mrs. Ruby Bromley in Clarendon," Brewer recalled . ".....Mr. Tolbert in Tuesday's edition of his own personal Texas in the Dallas News devoted about a sixth of a page to Mrs. Bromley, her food, Clarendon and other associated topics."

A veteran in the business once told us that nearly everybody who writes has three or four, or perhaps as many as half a dozen columns in the back of his head, but after he has written them, it is just plain work.

ON ABORTIONS

House Eyes Fed Funding Role

WASHINGTON (AP) – The House is preparing to reconsider the federal government's role in funding abortions after voting to prevent the use of tax money to finance cross-town busing of school children.

By a margin of 225-157, the House sought Thursday to prevent the use of federal funds to pay for busing in school districts that merge, pair or cluster their schools under desegregation orders from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Amendments on abortion, affirmative action and other sensitive issues were likely to come up today as the House resumed consideration of a $61.3 billion appropriation bill for the departments of Labor and HEW.

The busing amendment, proposed by Rep. Ronald Mottl, D-Ohio, strips HEW of the power to enforce the 1964 Civil Rights Act provision barring discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color or creed.

It prevents the use of funds to bus pupils to any school other than the one nearest their home.

Opponents of the amendment argued it would not affect court-ordered busing. They also said the subject was an inappropriate topic for debate during discussion of a funding bill.

The expected debate on abortion centers on whether federal funds should be used to pay for such operations. The bill calls for prohibiting the use of federal money for abortions except when a woman's life is in danger, a position opponents say denies poor women abortions.

Last year's bill contained similar language and is being appealed in court to test its constitutionality.

The affirmative action amendment would bar hiring or admissions quotas based on race or sex. Opponents claim it would undermine guarantees against discrimination contained in civil rights legislation.

New Energy Council Formed

AUSTIN, (AP) - President Lorene Rodgers announced the formation today of a new Council on Energy Resources to promote and coordinate research on "critical" energy issues.

Making up the council will be such research institutes as the Center for Energy Studies, Bureau of Economic Research and the Marine Science Institute.

Director William Fisher of the Bureau of Economic Geology has been named council chairman.

It will report to Dr. Eldon Sutton, vice president for research at UT-Austin.

July 4 Tickets Move Steadily

Donation tickets for the annual July 4 celebration were reported moving steadily today as distribution of supplies to clubs and organizations continued.

Although there is no admission fee for the celebration in Towle Memorial Park, the donation tickets have become a traditional method of taking care of expenses for putting on the Independence Day celebration which attracts thousands of people here every July 4.

For every dollar contributed, a "ticket" is given signifying that a contribution has been made. The tickets are getting an extra push this year because the celebration wound up with a deficit last year. Also, the tractor pull, one of the highly popular events, will be staged this year at the rodeo grounds, and spectators there will be expected to obtain tickets which will be applied to the expenses.

Although no firm figures were available, Chamber of Commerce officials reported this morning that the tickets apparently were "going very well." All clubs who operate concessions in the park on the July 4 weekend have been asked to help sell them. At the outset of planning for this year's celebration the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce considered assessing a fee of 10 per cent of the gross receipts from each concessions stand. However, it was agreed later that instead of any fee, each group operating a concession would make an effort to move more of the donation tickets. A major expense item is the big fireworks display that closes the celebration. It also is the most popular of the events.

Dr. von Braun Dies Today At 65

WASHINGTON (AP) - Dr. Wernher von Braun, the German-born rocket pioneer whose talents helped the United States put men on the moon, died Thursday after a long bout with cancer. He was 65.

Von Braun had been in poor health for sometime. He had surgery in 1975 for removal of a malignant liver tumor and had maintained a sharply curtailed schedule since that time. He died at Alexandria Hospital in suburan Virginia.

Last year, he had a recurrence of cancer, coupled with an infection that developed following surgery. He spent long stretches in the hospital, including a final stay beginning last October.

Even while hospitalized he continued limited work on his job as vice president of engineering and development for Fairchild Industries. He joined Fairchild in 1972, and worked mainly on space projects until he retired last Jan. 1.

WERNHER VON BRAUN

Von Braun spent much of his time in the hospital reading, visiting with family and friends and selecting papers for a permanent collection that will be exhibited at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

Once bitterly hated by the Free World, von Braun became its top rocket expert after he and 129 other German rocket experts surrendered to the United States shortly before the end of World War II.

The man who once helped design the dreaded V-2 rocket for Adolf Hitler designed the U.S. Army's Jupiter C rocket that allowed his new country to recoup some of the prestige lost when Russia launched the first space satellite in 1957.

Von Braun told President Dwight D. Eisenhower well before the Russian Sputnik launching that his team had the capability of putting a satellite into orbit around the earth. But Eisenhower wanted to use a rocket developed for nonmilitary uses for the first effort to emphasize the peaceful uses of space and von Braun was turned down.

Sputnik and the subsequent failure of the Vanguard rocket, America's much publicized first attempt to rocket a satellite into space, forced Eisenhower to turn to von Braun.

On Jan. 31, 1958, the Jupiter C lifted off, carrying a 30-pound satellite called Explorer into an elliptical orbit and giving the U.S. program its first success.

Von Braun also was instrumental in designing a longer-range Jupiter rocket, the Saturn 1 booster and the massive 36-story-tall Saturn 5 rocket that powered men beyond the earth's gravity and sent them to a soft landing on the lunar surface.

Von Braun came to the United States in September of 1945 under contract to the U.S. Army. He and his men spent five years at Ft. Bliss, Tex., working on the V2 rocket they had developed in Germany.

Bids In For New Yuletide Decorations

It's a little over six months till Christmas and current weather conditions are not conducive to the Yuletide spirit, but Snyder is preparing for it.

Bids are in on new street decorations for the Christmas season to be purchased this year, and the order is expected to be placed within a few days.

The early order is necessary to get the new items here before they are needed.Actually, the new decorations will supplement those still available.

The decorations used in the downtown area for several years have sustained considerable damage and many of them are beyond repair. However, some of the major pieces are still in good enough condition to be used and with the new order this summer, it is hoped that Snyder's appearance during the Christmas season this year will be improved. Also, plans are to replace the remaining older decorations as they deteriorate.

The Christmas decorations are a joint project of the Chamber of Commerce, the city and the County Board of Development.

Escapees Sentenced By Board

BUSHY MOUNTAIN, Tenn. (AP) - Laughing and joking among themselves, James Earl Ray and six other prison escapees appeared before a prison review board today and were sentenced to 30 days in "administrative segregation."

The sentence is the second most severe punishment the escapees could have received. It means they will remain in 'D block,' a building isolated from the main prison population, and will be allowed to leave the building only under guard escort.

Each of the seven men was also ordered to forfeit a total of three years of "good and honored" time that was to have been taken off their sentences, officials at Brushy Mountain State Prison said.

Ray and the six others appeared at a hearing before an in-prison review board, which found them guilty of being involved in the escape last Friday night.

Ray, the only one of the seven who refused to enter a plea, said "I have no statement to make."

Deputy Asst. Warden Herman Wayland said Larry E. Hacker was the only inmate to plead guilty to the charge.

"They all seemed to be in a good frame of mind," Wayland said.

Midwest Electric Loan Is Approved

Midwest Electric Cooperative will be able to provide service for an estimated 484 additional consumers and upgrade some of its lines with a new loan approved Thursday in Washington.

Congressman Omar Burleson announced that the Rural Electrification Administration had approved a $1,036,000 loan to Midwest.

Parker Wetsel, Midwest manager, said the funds from the loan would finance extensions to service and projects to convert some of Midwest's power lines to larger conductors. The extensions and improvments are due to take place over the next two years.

The loan is due to enable Midwest to construct some 79 miles of distribution lines during the two-year period.

Midwest serves consumers in Fisher, Borden, Garza, Jones, Kent, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry and Stonewall Counties.

FACING GEN. STARRY

Pentagon Mum On Discipline

By TERRENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials refuse to say what consequences are in store for an American three-star general being called on the carpet for his unauthorized warning that the United States might wind up in the middle of a Soviet-Chinese war.

Lt. Gen. Donn Starry is the second Army general to face discipline for controversial public statements within a month.

Starry, a 52-year-old West Point graduate nominated for a fourth star, was to meet in private at the Pentagon today with Army Secretary Clifford Alexander and Army Chief of Staff Gen. Bernard Rogers.

The general, who voiced his warning in a speech to a class of American high school graduates in Germany, had not complied with the required policy of submitting remarks to the Pentagon in advance for review. "It should have been cleared," Pentagon spokesman Thomas Ross said Thursday.

By mid-afternoon, the Pentagon had sent a message worldwide to all commands reminding members of the military of defense policy that they not speak out of line or contradict administration policy.

Starry seemed in good spirits Thursday as he prepared to leave Germany after 16 months as commander of the Army's 5th Corps. He smiled and shook hands at a farewell reception attended by about 200 American and German guests at the headquarters officers' club.

Starry already had been scheduled to return to the United States to take a vacation before reporting to his next assignment as head of the Army Training and Doctrine Command at Ft. Monroe, Va. After the controversy arose over his speech, he was told to postpone the leave and report to Army superiors.

In his speech to the graduates, Starry said the Soviet Union and China probably will fight a major war in the students' lifetime. He said it was likely the United States would become involved "once it became apparent that one or the other of the antagonists was about to win and gain absolute control over the bulk of the Eurasian land mass."

2 Employes Of GNC Suspended

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Good Neighbor Commission has voted to suspend without pay two indicted commission employes, executive director Manual Garza and Sharon Flippen, until their legal troubles are solved.

They were indicted Tuesday with four others for allegedly stealing more than $7,000 in state funds in connection with a scheme to collect phony consultant fees from the Texas Education Agency.

Commission chairman M.M. Vicars of Brownsville said Thursday, "We are not attempting in any manner to pass judgment as to the guilt or innocence of Mr. Garza and Ms. Flippen, as the alleged offense took place two years ago, long before either was associated with the Good Neighbor Commission.

"However, it was the consensus of the nine commissioners that the effectiveness of our agency would be severely hampered while the legal matters are pending in court."

The vote to suspend the employes was taken by telephone, Vicars said.

Deputy director Eddie Aurispa will assume Garza's duties, he said.

Garza worked for the TEA and Ms. Flippen was with the Greater South Texas Cultural Basin when the alleged offense occurred.

Assault, Theft Reported Here

An alleged assault and a theft were reported to police Thursday.

The parents of a 9-year-old Snyder boy told officers last night their son had been beaten by two other youths near the intersection of 28th St. and Ave. L. The boy, officers said, sustained what were believed to be minor injuries in the affray. His assailants, according to police reports, were two boys who appeared to be about 12 years of age.

Police were given the description of a vehicle seen leaving the scene and traced the car to a family living in Colorado City. The incident is being investigated by the Colorado City Police Dept.

In other police activity, Johnny Ellege told officers that a .22 caliber pistol and gun holster had been taken from his 1808 39th St. residence. Total value of the reportedly stolen property is set at $110. The theft, Ellege told police, occurred between 2 a.m. and 10 a.m. June 13.

Two Injured In Mishaps

Two men who were injured in separate accidents were treated at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and then transferred to a Lubbock hospital yesterday.

Pete Jasso, who was injured in a fall at the Baize Delinting Plant at about 10:30 a.m. Thursday reportedly suffered possible fractures. At 5:15 p.m. police escorted a vehicle bringing in a man reportedly injured in an oilfield mishap near Justiceburg. It was reported that a worker named William Johnson suffered a fractured arm. He also was taken to Lubbock. Details of the accident were not learned here.

Seven Cases Are Heard In County Court

Seven cases were heard Thursday in county court.

Five of the seven cases involved guilty pleas tered to charges of driving while intoxicated. Entering guilty pleas to DWI charges were James Odie Brown, Dock Junior Bailey, James H. Redden, Willie L. Doucette and Antonio Tovar.

Receiving $100 fines and 30-day jail terms probated for six months were Bailey, Doucette, and Tovar. Brown was fined $200 and sentenced to serve 60 days in jail, probated for one year. Redden was assessed a three-day jail term and fined $100.

The remaining two guilty pleas were entered by Joe Morgan Simmons and Paul Garcia Villarreal to charges of driving while their licenses were suspended.

Each of the men was fined $25 and sentenced to serve 72 hours in the county jail.

GUEST SPEAKER--Bob Bitchie of Lubbock was the guest speaker Thursday of the Snyder Rotary Club. He presented a slide program on the need for ecology and common sense in agriculture. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Program Is Given On Ag Awareness

Bob Bitchie, a representative of the Lubbock Chem-Gro company, was the guest speaker at Thursday's noon luncheon of the Snyder Rotary Club.

Bitchie presented a slide program and spoke of the need for increased agricultural awareness. The theme of his presentation to the Rotary Club was ecology and common sense, he said.

Bitchie said there is a pressing need to employ science to agriculture to achieve optimal crop production. Through employing scientific techniques to agriculture and exercising common sense, Bitchie said American farmers can continue to feed a tremendous portion of the world's population.

Prior to Bitchie's slide presentation, four new members were formally inducted into the Rotary Club. New members inducted into the club Thursday were Lonnie Payne, David Hensley, Don McLeod and Bob Schooler.

In other club activities, members voted to sponsor Miss Laurie Bethel in the Miss Tractor Pull contest.

Sorghum Generator Cops Prize

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — Neither wind nor sun nor earth-heated water propels the grand award-winning design for an alternative energy source in a recent national contest.

The winning electricity generator runs on sorghum.

Twenty-eight college teams and one from a Buffalo, N.Y., high school participated in the Student Competitions for Relevant Engineering SCORE Inc., which ended Thursday after a one-week run. The top design came from engineering students at Kansas State University who produced a combustion turbine fueled by sorghum, a cereal grass.

Lee McQueen, team leader of the Kansas State contingent, said the device used ethanol from fermented sorghum as fuel for an internal-combustion engine to drive an electric generator.

He said it was designed for use in the Great Plains where irrigators use center-pivot irrigation.

He said he envisioned a farmer planting sorghum in the far reaches of an irrigation circle and using it to drive a generator for power.

A wind turbine from the University of Oklahoma team won second place overall and first place in wind innovation.

Judging was done on power output, innovation and economic practicality of the designs. Most were built from the ground up by finalists.

An eight-member delegation from West Seneca East Senior High School of Buffalo claimed first place in the combined systems division.

The prep team, which pooled the power output of a solar reflector and a wind turbine, nearly didn't make the SCORE meet.

It took a whirlwind fund-raising drive in Buffalo to raise $1,500 for a second turbine after the first was wrecked in a freeway collision at Cleveland.

University of Texas claimed the overall innovation award, with University of Wisconsin getting the nod for innovation in organic power applications.

Kids Intrigued By Practice Of First Aid

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — The questions are a little less inhibited when students learning mouth-to-mouth resuscitation are first graders.

An hour-long course called "First Aid for Little People" is conducted by Red Cross volunteers for first through third graders in Rochester schools.

A recent class at Harriet Bishop Elementary School was intrigued by "Resusi-Baby," a doll used in teaching artificial resuscitation.

Concerned questioners inquired whether there was any danger the doll might blow its nose during the resuscitation effort. Several of the children were not sure they should be getting so personal with a baby of undetermined sex.

One boy bargained, "First I gotta see another boy do it, then I'll try it."

Besides the essentials of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, the children learned how to dislodge an object from a baby's throat, identify characteristics of shock, how to apply pressure to stop bleeding and what to do in case of fire.

Lemon Cream Shapes Up

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

During the '40s a dessert called Frozen Lemon Cream became popular. It was made with whipped light cream, lemon rind, lemon juice, sugar and eggs. But in later years the recipe got left behind. Perhaps because whipping the light cream took some doing. Perhaps because cholesterol-watchers cropped up and they weren't eager to include the eggs.

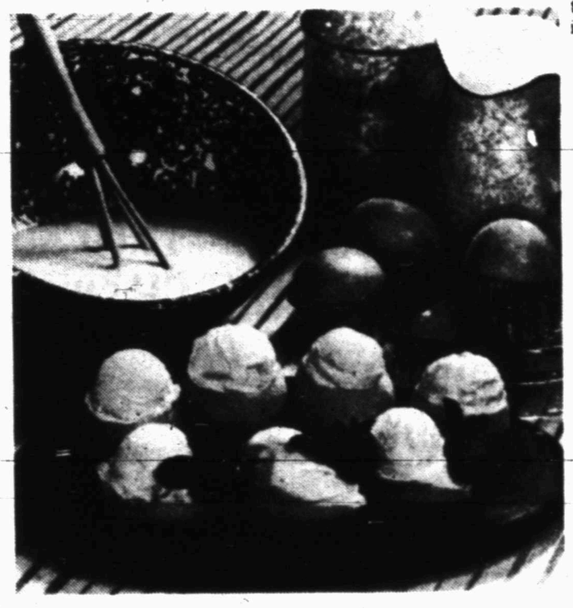
Now an innovative cook has updated the old-fashioned formula. She found that using plain half-and-half without beating it and omitting the eggs made a quick, easy and delicious frozen offering. It has a sherbetlike texture and our tasters thought it refreshing.

We like the Frozen Lemon Cream served in sherbet glasses or in squares on dessert plates. But if you enjoy doing fancy work in the kitchen, you can make lemon shells or boats and offer the Frozen Cream in them. For each shell cut off one-third of a large lemon at one end. (You can use the ends to garnish and flavor fish.) Carefully ream out the juice and with a sturdy teaspoon scrape the shell "clean." For boats cut large lemons in half lengthwise; make a shallow "V" cut in each half so you can lift out the white center core. Carefully ream out the juice and with a sturdy teaspoon scrape the boats "clean." The shells and boats may be made ahead, wrapped appropriately and frozen until you are ready to thaw and use them.

FROZEN LEMON CREAM

- 1 pint half-and-half
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon freshly grated lemon rind
- 1-3rd cup freshly squeezed lemon juice

In a medium bowl stir together the half-and-half and sugar until the sugar dissolves. Stir in the lemon rind and the lemon juice. Pour into a shallow rectangular container — at least 1-quart size. Cover tightly. Freeze without stirring — it will take at least 4 hours before the mixture is firm. Before serving, let stand briefly in the refrigerator to soften enough to cut into squares or serve in scoops. Makes 1½ pints.



FROZEN LEMON CREAM—Serve it in lemon shells or boats if you like to do fancy work in the kitchen; if not, just scoop it into sherbet glasses.

The trump lead made it impossible for South to ruff two hearts in dummy. Every card was wrong in the side suits, yet South found a play for his contract in spite of the bludgeonings of chance.

He won the lead in dummy, cashed the ace and king of hearts, ruffed a heart, drew trumps, led his last heart to catch East in an end play at trick seven.

East had done his best to avoid this by throwing the eight of clubs on the third trump lead so as to keep that fifth heart in his hand, but this did him no good at all. When East led that fifth heart, South just chucked his singleton club.

Now if East led a diamond, South would lose just one diamond trick. If he led a club it would set up dummy's king and again South would lose just one diamond trick. Either way, South was sure of 10 tricks.

Helpful Freezing Food Tips

By Gaynor Maddox

Norma McCullach hails from New Zealand. She is a home economist with a flair and a pleasing voice. She knows more about deep freezing than anyone else in her part of the world and she has recently invented a gadget.

"My invention is a small hand pump that removes most of the air from packages of foods about to be frozen. This assures a more flavorful and wholesome product. I got the idea from watching my young daughter pump up her bicycle tires. If a pump could force air into tires why couldn't it also be used to draw air out? So that explains my Freezer Vacuum Pump and my visit to the United States," she explains.

Mrs. McCullach, mother of two, was born in England and educated there as a nutritionist and home economist. She is widely known in New Zealand and Australia as an expert on home freezing and has written several books on the subject.

"The Deep Freeze Handbook" is her latest. (It can be purchased for $4.99 through the Poly-Commodity Corp., 1350 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019.)

Mrs. McCullach says, "The women I met in small and large towns in my travels throughout the United States are so open and friendly. Your home economists are so alert and interested in my freezer pump and many have written about it."

She continues, "We drive along the road until we see a sign PYO (pick your own). We stop and everyone in the car jumps out and starts picking peas or beans or whatever the farm grows. By the day's end we present our bags at the gate and pay five cents a pound. Then we go home and everyone pitches in to prepare our food bargains for the freezer. Of course, we always use my Freezer Vacuum Pump. We often have enough vegetables for a year.

The Freezer Vacuum Pump is actually a simple gadget, consisting of two telescoped tubes, about 10 inches long and about one and one-half inches wide. It is simple to operate.

"We do the same for meats," she says. "We buy at the meat works which you in America call a wholesale butcher shop. We buy large pieces of beef or lamb and they will cut it for us if we ask. The prices are so low that we buy large quantities. Then we freeze it for many meals ahead."

Plaque Is Installed To Commemorate Caper

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the rear stairwell door of an office on the sixth floor of the Watergate building is a plaque commemorating a "pipsqueak" burglary that occurred five years ago today.

The plaque is one of the few tangible reminders of the June 17, 1972, break reminders of the June 17, 1972, break-in at the Democratic National Headquarters that eventually forced Richard Nixon out of office and his chieftains into prison.

Now the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences occupies the offices. For the many curious visitors who want to peek at the famous spot, the institute installed the plaque and hands out pamphlets.

Although the Watergate office complex remains one of the big attractions in a capital city that has many, the event has become so passe to those who work there that few could say who now occupies the offices.

"We're not holding a celebration," a desk clerk said when asked Thursday night about the fifth anniversary.

Neither are H.R. Haldeman, Nixon's chief of staff, or former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who surrender to prison officials next Wednesday for their roles in the Watergate cover-up, ending finally the Watergate cover-up, ending finally the Watergate criminal cases.

Some Watergate figures became rich. Two reporters who tracked down the nation's biggest political scandal and several congressmen who picked up the ball at the impeachment hearings became heroes. Some once-promising careers were shattered, and many new authors were born. A president on the brink of impeachment resigned and was pardoned, an historical first.

The special prosecutor's office, which itself had a tumultuous history, went out of business recently after winning 61 convictions and seeing six other persons acquitted of criminal charges.

Counting Haldeman and Mitchell, 25 will have been locked up.

John Ehrlichman, the third major lieutenant of the Nixon administration, already is behind bars. The three kingpins drew 2½ to 8 year terms after their convictions for conspiring to impede a grand jury investigation into the break-in.

Besides Ehrlichman, only G. Gordon Liddy, one of the actual burglars, is spending the fifth anniversary of Watergate in jail. Liddy, who masterminded the White House "plumbers" unit, has refused to make any public statement about the scandal.

Four other men, all from Miami, were arrested with Liddy inside the Watergate offices of the Democratic National Committee. Bernard Barker, Eugenio Martinez, Virgilio Gonzalez and Frank Sturgis were convicted of conspiracy, wire-tapping and burglary. They pleaded guilty and all served more than one year in jail.

James McCord Jr. and E. Howard Hunt also were part of the original seven Watergate defendants. Hunt, who demanded hush money from the White House for himself and his fellow defendants, pleaded guilty to conspiracy, wiretapping and burglary and served 30 months in prison. McCord, convicted of eight counts, was relaeased after four months.

Gays Protest As Anita Sings

HOUSTON (AP)—Anita Bryant, whose appearance at the Texas Bar Association convention prompted about 4,000 supporters of gay rights to stage a downtown candlelight march Thursday night, was to speak today at lawyers' prayer breakfast and then meet with newsmen.

While Miss Bryant sang a medley of religious songs at the State Bar's annual presidential dinner, gay right backers paraded in front and in the rear of the hotel where the singer performed.

A few blocks away at the city hall mall about 300 persons listened to the Rev. Joe West, a Baptist minister from San Antonio and organizer of a group called Save Our Cherished Kids, speak in support of Miss Bryant.

The protest march ended at the mall, minutes after the conclusion of the prayer meeting.

Policemen in riot gear stood by, but there was no violence as leaders of both the pro and the anti-Bryant groups called for peaceful demonstrations.

The Rev. Mr. West said, "Display no violence or they may hit you with their purse or a powder puff."

Gary J. Van Ooteghem, chairman of the Texas Gay Political Caucuses, told the gay rights supporters to do nothing to incite violence.

Ooteghem said the protest march was staged because "Anita Bryant is currently using a mixture of sex, fear and religion in what appears to be a national campaign to make lesbians and gay men third class citizens."

Miss Bryant was far removed from the sounds and scenes of the protest. However, 10 or 12 attorneys walked out of the dinner when she took the stage.

Don Maison, a Dallas lawyer, said he refused to stay because "what is happening here gives the impression the State Bar endorses Anita Bryant and that is not the case."

Among the speakers at the gay rights rally was Ginny Apuzzo, co-chairman of the Gay Rights National Lobby and a professor at Brooklyn College in New York. She said the repeal of the Dade County, Fla. (Miami) ordinance giving equal housing and employment rights to gays was "the first real evidence of perversion in this nation. And if people want to know who the gays are in the nation, well, they are the ones who fought the wars, nursed the sick, and served as our representatives in government."

Miss Bryant led the successful fight to repeal the Dade County ordinance.

The Rev. Mr. West told the supporters of Miss Bryant that "homosexuality is a perversion of the God ordained plan of love, marriage and fidelity between man and woman."

When the gay rights backers marched the 10 blocks through the main section of the city there were only a few catcalls from those in passing cars and an occasional remark from the few persons who had gathered along the way to watch.

Sunny Skies Cover Texas

By The Associated Press

Sunny skies began reclaiming most of Texas today as thunderstorms slipped out of the state under cover of darkness.

The heavy rains that left East Texas waterlogged crossed state lines into Louisiana and Arkansas late Thursday night, leaving some clouds hanging over East Texas and clear skies over the rest of the state.

Temperatures just before dawn ranged from the chilly 50s in the mountains to the 70s at most other stations.

Forecasters said some widely scattered thunderstorms could pop up tonight in Southeast Texas. Most Texans were expected to be under sunny skies, watching themometers soar into the 90s and the mid-100s in West Texas.

Renewed Fight Pledged Over Religion Ruling

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress soon will be asked to wipe out the effects of a Supreme Court ruling that says workers have no legal right to take a day off for religious reasons.

"The Supreme Court decision is wrong," Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said Thursday after hearing the high court's ruling. "I shall renew my legislative efforts in this issue."

It was Randolph who in 1972 pushed legislation through Congress making it clear that under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 employers would have to accomodate religious employes whenever possible.

But the Supreme Court, in a 7-2 decision Thursday, ruled that employers are not required to give an employe certain days off because of religious beliefs if a seniority system bars such accommodation or if such action would amount to preferential treatment.

"In the absence of clear statutory language or legislative history to the contrary, we will not readily construe the statute to require an employer to discriminate against some employes in order to enable others to observe their sabbath," Justice Byron White said in the majority opinion.

The ruling is a major legal defeat for millions whose religions dictate that they not work on particular days of the week. It carries impact for Orthodox Jews, Seventh-Day Adventists, Seventh-Day Baptists and members of the Worldwide Church of God.

Randolph, a Seventh-Day Baptist, indicated he would seek a new law that could not be misinterpreted by the court.

"Our great tradition of religious freedom and our nation's accommodation of religious diversity has been severely damaged," he said in referring to the high court's decision.

The court's two dissenters used even stronger language.

"All Americans will be a little poorer until today's decision is erased," said Justices Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan. "The ultimate tragedy is that, despite Congress's best efforts, one of this nation's pillars of strength—our hospitality to religious diversity—has been seriously eroded."

The cause decided by the court involved a Trans World Airlines worker, Larry Hardison, who was fired in 1969 for refusing to work from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday, observed as the sabbath by the Worldwide Church of God.

Hardison sued TWA and his union, the International Association of Machinists, charging religious discrimination. He won in the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, but TWA and the union appealed, arguing that the 1964 Civil Rights Law and its 1972 amendment violate the Constitution's ban on government entanglement in religion.

The Justice Department urged the high court to rule for Hardison, saying TWA did not do enough to accomodate him.

SC Receives 1st In Series Defeat

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)-College baseball has found its answer to The Bird.

Arizona State do-it-all Jamie Allen doesn't talk to the ball like Mark Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers but it seemed that way as he kept the top-rated Sun Devils alive Thursday night in the College World Series by preserving a 6-2 victory over South Carolina.

"I'm not showing off out there," said the enthusiastic Allen, "It's just something that helps me get ready. Most of the time, I'm more subdued. But I really bring it out for big games."

The freshman righthander wiggled out of a bases-loaded jam and pitched three innings of one-hit relief to hand South Carolina its first loss of the series.

Southern Illinois, 41-11, is matched against top-rated Arizona game Friday night with the survivor facing South Carolina for the series crowd Saturday night.

South Carolina, 43-11-1, received a bye into the finals by beating Southern Illinois 5-4 Wednesday.

Macko Makes Top

TEN LOCKED AT PAR 70

Record 7 Hold Open Lead

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Arnold Palmer provided the electricity, Jack Nicklaus was happy to get out alive, and the brutal 18th holde at Southern Hills scored a clear kayo of the field Thursday with defending champion Jerry Pate its prime victim in the first round of the 77th U.S. Open.

Seven players who have never captured a major championship shaved a stroke off par over the 6,873 yards of one of the toughest par-70 courses in America.

Rod Funseth, Terry Diehl, Larry 'Nelson, Hubie Green, Grier Jones, Tom Purtzer and Argentina's 38-year-old Florention Molina struggled to 69s in pleasant 80-degree weather that featured gusty, tricky winds. Never in Open history had so many players been clustered in first place.

There was a logjam of 10 players at par including the 46-year-old Palmer, who had to qualify to get here and sent his "Army" into a frenzy by holing a wedge for a birdie on his roller coaster round of four birdies and four bogies.

Nicklaus shot 74, Masters champion Tom Watson, looking for the Grand Slam, also floundered to a 74, and Pate suffered an agonizing six on the unforgiving final hole for 72.

"The best thing for a man to do is come to that hole Sunday with a three-shot lead," said Al Geiberger, who bogied it for a 70.

The 449-yard, dog-leg right last hole was strickly x-rated by the 153-man field which fired and fell back in headlong retreat against the monster.

Only Molina had a kind word for the hole-a back-handed compliment since he parred it.

The hole averaged 4.9 strokes Thursday with par out-numbered 2-1 by mini-disasters.

Palmer, using only 29 putts, charged up a large majority oif the total crowd of 14,818 with the some of his old magic. He made three putts longer than 15 feet.

Nicklaus, the dreaded giant of the game with 16 major championships, bogeyed two of the first four holes.

Pate played the last hole like a 16-handicapper. He plunked his second shot into the sand, hit the green with a wedge, dubbed a chip and two-putted.

Tommy Bolt, the 59-year-old who won here in 1958 and was given a special exemption, shot a creditable 75. Sam Snead, 64, who has captured more titles than any golfer but always let the Open escape his grip, fired a 74.

There were 53 players within four shots of the lead.

The usually fiery tempered Weiskopf made one of the classiest comebacks of the day. He went double bogey-par-triple bogey then rallied for 71.

Teens Allow One-Hitters

The Oilers shot out to a solid second-round start in Teenage League action Thursday night as pitcher Keith Bryant struck out nine in a one-hitter over the Braves, 16-2. In other play the Dodgers downed the Buffs, 11-1, also on a one-hitter.

Bryant's lone giver came in the third period as Kyle Short swatted a single. The Braves, who shared the first-round lead with the Oilers, got both of their runs in the third period.

Meanwhile, the Oiler batting staff smacked 14 base hits, including three doubles. Keith McClain shattered a pair of two baggers, and Mike Roemisch and David Hill each got one. Bryant bounded a trio of singles, followed by two apiece from Dwayne Hicks and William Robinson. Mike Hicks, David Hill and Perry Echols each had one.

Earlier in the evening, the Dodgers, who were fourth in first-round tallying, smothered the Dodgers, 11-0. Dodger hurler Steve Tate gave up only one hit, that to short stop Gary Atwood in the fourth period.

Scott Crenwelge smashed a triple for the Dodgers, followed by three singles from Bryan Vincent, two from John Igo, and one each from Marty Hammond, Steve Tate, Neil Evans and John Bloom.

Both contests went only a five-inning distance. Losing pitchers were Tommy Gresset of the Bluffs, and Kyle Short of the Braves.

An error in Thursday's paper reversed the pitchers for the Oilers and Braves. Correcting that error, according to the league scorebooks, and consisting only of first-round play: The Oiler pitchers were Bryant 3-0; Roemisch 1-0 and Robinson 0-1. The Brave pitchers were Ragland 2-1 and Short 2-0.

The Bullets and Rebels play at 7 p.m. today.

Fidrych Hastens Tigers Past Toronto

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Thursday night, Mark Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers needed just 81 pitches to beat Toronto 4-1. That is pretty close to baseball's version of shooting a 59 on a golf course.

Backed by Ron LeFlore's two home runs, he collected his fourth complete game in five starts since returning to duty after spring knee surgery.

He collected two of Detroit's five hits off Toronto's Jerry Garvin, 7-4. One of the others was a two-run homer by Steve Kemp in the eighth.

Twins 7, Angels 6

One thing is certain when Nolan Ryan pitches: that the strikeouts will come in bunches for the veteran right-hander. He struck out 14 Minnesota Twins but contributed to his undoing with a throwing error, a balk, two wild pitches and a costly walk.

He fanned Lyman Bostock in the eighth inning for the 2,250th strikeout of his career, reaching fourth place on the all-time strikeout list. But he walked Butch Wynegar in the bottom of the ninth with the score tied and Wynegar later scored the winning run on Rob Wilfong's single.

Yankees 7, Royals 0

Young Ron Guidry solved mental block about pitching complete games, burling a nifty three-hitter and cruising to victory on three hits by Mickey Rivers.

Rivers cracked a two-run homer in the fifth inning in support of Guidry. Four times this season the pitcher had carried leads into the ninth inning, only to leave before the game's conclusion.

Orioles 6, Brewers 0

Andres Mora and Al Bumbry smacked two-run homers for Baltimore in support of Rudy May's six-hit shutout of Milwaukee. Mora's second homer of the season followed an infield single by Doug DeCinces. Bumbry connected for his third after a single by Rick Dempsey.

May, 9-5, erased sporadic Milwaukee threats in winning his third straight game and recording his 20th victory for the Orioles since being obtained from the Yankees last June 15.

White Sox 7, Red Sox 3

A two-run homer by Oscar Gamble and a five-run seventh inning gave Chicago its victory over Boston and knocked the Red Sox out of first place in the AL's East Division.

Mariners 3, A's 1

Seattle right-hander Glenn Abbott pitched a five-hitter and beat his former Oakland teammates with his first complete game since 1975. Dan Meyer hit a fourth-inning home run and Bob Stinson contributed a two run single for the Mariners.

Mets Play Catch Up; Giants Corner Cards

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The Mets rallied from a 3-1 deficit to win over Houston last night, 4-3. Starter Nino Espinosa, 4-4, doubled in a run and John Milner hit his seventh homer of the season, but the tying and winning runs scored on a two-run error by Houston shortstop Julio Gonzalez.

In the other National League games, San Francisco downed St. Louis 5-1, San Diego broke Chicago's six-game victory streak with an 8-6 triumph over the Cubs and Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 3-2 in 11 innings.

Giants 5, Cardinals 1

Jim Barr's seven-hitter, his ninth lifetime victory over the Cardinals against three losses, paced the Giants.

"I'm not putting down the St. Louis hitters," said Barr, "but they tend to have more singles hitters than power hitters. They swing at more pitches. Power hitters wait for pitches they want."

Terry Whitfield had three hits, including his fourth homer of the season, in support of Barr, 8-5.

Padres 8, Cubs 6

San Diego ended the Cubs' winning streak behind some power hitting by Gene Tenace and George Hendrick. Tenace hit his eighth homer of the season as he went 3-for-3 and Hendrick slugged his eighth homer.

That offset Manny Trillo's three-hit performance. Trillo moved his league-leading average to .382.

Dodgers 3, Pirates 2, 11 innings

Dusty Baker's sacrifice fly drove home Bill Russell with the winning run for the Dodgers. Russell had allowed the Pirates to tie the score in the ninth when he booted Bobby Tolan's two-out grounder.

The Dodgers carried a 2-0 lead into the ninth on the strength of Reggie Smith's two-run homer, his 15th of the season.

Doug Rau had a seven-hitter through eight innings before surrendering a double to Bill Robinson and a run-scoring single to Jim Fregosi.

Skin ulcer on foot

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is there any cure for a skin ulcer, which is the result of poor circulation. The ulcer is on the top of my husband's foot at the ankle area. He is a victim of strokes.

DEAR READER — What needs to be done depends entirely on what is causing the ulcer. I suspect from its location that it is caused by varicose veins, not from inadequate blood flow through the arteries to the foot. If it is arterial disease the bottom of the foot or the toes are more often affected first.

Varicose ulcers of the ankle area are a complication of varicose veins. The best approach is to decrease the pooling of blood in the lower part of the foot by using support stockings or elastic bandages. Another solution is to get the foot up above the heart level so that the veins drain down hill toward the heart. If a person can stay in bed enough that will sometimes help heal such an ulcer. The problem is that the bed rest can be harmful too.

A good compromise is to wrap the foot or put on effective support hose before getting out of bed and then when sitting up keep the foot elevated as much as possible.

To give you more information about the treatment of varicose ulcers and the role of surgery invaricose veins I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What exactly is cancer? What actually causes it?

DEAR READER — Our cells are capable of reproducing themselves. Your skin is a good example. The skin cells constantly produce new cells. The older cells migrate to the surface and are flaked off. The reptiles shed the old skin.

A cancer is nothing more than the normal cell growth gone wild. Let's say it is a cancer of the liver. The liver cells involved become abnormal in that they rapidly reproduce and the new cells are different from the original cell structure of liver cells. Usually the greater the difference is the more malignant the cancer will be.

This cancer would be a primary cancer of the liver. If some of the abnormal cells are carried by the blood or lymph to distant parts of the body they can start another area of cancer growth there. The cells in this new area will be similar or even identical to the cancer cells in the liver. This is a metastasis or spread of cancer. When a pathologist looks at the cancer tissue, regardless of where the tissue comes from he can usually tell where the original or primary cancer started.

We know there are many different things that can cause normal cells to become abnormal and start the wild growth pattern. Tars as found in cigarette smoke is one example. Radiation is another example. At least in some animal experiments virus infections can be a factor. Apparently anything that upsets the cell's normal reproduction cycle is capable of triggering cancer growth. That is why cancer may be several different diseases and may be caused by many factors.

Because of the volume of mail Dr. Lamb cannot answer your letters personally but he will answer representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, New York 10019.

Girl Leaps To Safety

ANDREWS (AP)-A 10-year-old Odessa girl leaped to safety from a speeding car Thursday night moments before it left Texas 181 north of Andrews in West Texas and rolled more than 500 feet, killing the girl's stepsister, Department of Public Safety officers said.

After landing in soft sand, Tenna Herring then walked more than five miles to a farmhouse to summon aid.

Justice of the Peace Jay Williams pronounced Latricia Ann Fourd, 18, dead at the scene. Her body was found more than 100 feet from the wrecked car.

Officers said the two females were en route to Hobbs, N.M., to visit a brother.

Pipeline Road Raises Question

PRUDHOE BAY, Alaska (AP) --Thanks to the trans-Alaska pipeline, the United States has a road to the top of the world. Now the question is what to do with it.

Environmentalists say it presents a far greater threat to the Arctic than the pipeline and its construction ever did. For once, oil men agree.

But there is pressure to open the road for tourism. And the trucking industry opposes the state's plan to impose a toll on industrial vehicles.

Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., which built the 367-mile-long road from the Yukon River to Prudhoe Bay on the Arctic Oceans, has called off its plans to turn the road over to the state.

Alyeska president Dr. W. J. Darch says the consortium feels turning the road over to the state this year "would be a bit untair. We've got to give them lead time."

Robert LeResche, state natural resources commissioner, concedes. "We aren't really anxious to have it now." He and Gov. Jay Hammond want to study what impace there will be if they open up a pristine area to potential hordes of tourists.

Le Resche says "clearly the largest long-term impact of the pipeline is the haul road." Jim Kowalsky, Alaska field representative for Friends of the Earth, agreed.

Darch also is concerned about security problems along the pipeline that could result from opening the road to the public.

The first oil is to be pumped into this end of the pipe on Monday. It won't reach the southern end, at Valdez, for a month or more.

The road, crossing the first bridge ever built over the Yukon River, opens up an area almost as large as the state of Texas.

Alyeska has permitted a few reporters to drive the road, and it's quite an experience. Imagine barreling down a fairly smooth dirth road to see a grizzly bear in the right lane - on your side - and a truck coming in the left lane. Wolves walk out onto the road looking for handouts.

The road crosses the Arctic Circle and the majestic Brooks Range, whose peaks reach 8,000 feet. The scenery isn't necessarily more spectacular than in some national parks in the lower 48, but there's a feeling about where you are.

The pipeline is visible in some areas along the road, although Alyeska has spend millions to hide it.

Once you cross the Brooks Range, the scenery changes abruptly. There are few trees even at lower elevations; just miles and miles of tundra. That monotony is largely unrelieved even when you reach the Arctic Ocean here, since it's frozen much of the year.

The Price Is Right But The Service Poor

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My dentist does very good work for a reasonable price. Many people go to him because his price is so right.

What bothers me is his office, which always looks so dirty. Even his towels and his "white" jacket don't look clean. His instruments look rusty and dirty, and while he works he puts them down on an unclean surface.

Sometimes he leaves me in the chair for a few minutes to work on another patient, and when he comes back he goes right to work on me again without even washing his hands!

Abby, how can I tell this doctor to wash his hands between patients and to clean up his office?

Sign me...
MR. CLEAN

DEAR MR. CLEAN: You can tell him what you've just told me. He might clean up his act, but I wouldn't bet on it. If I were you, I'd find another dentist. What does it matter if the "price is right" if you risk infection?

DEAR ABBY: Our dear and saintly minister preaches a beautiful sermon every Sunday morning, and at the conclusion of each service he goes to the rear of the church to shake hands with all the members of the congregation as they go out the door.

The problem is that he grasps each hand and squeezes it as though he were cracking nuts!

My poor mother, with her hands gnarled by arthritis, waits in line as though she were going to her execution!

I'm sure our minister reads your column, Abby, so if you print my letter, he may recognize himself and take the hint. Thank you.

W.

DEAR W.: Your mother—and all the rest of you out there for whom an enthusiastic handshake is painful—should not hesitate to say, when extending a hand in greeting, "Gently, please—arthritis!"

DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. I am 29, considered intelligent, and "a lot of fun," and everyone admires my jolly, outgoing personality. I have had a few dates, but no man has ever taken me seriously. I am the "pal, buddy and big sister" the men come to for advice about the girls they "care about."

To get to the point, I weighed myself yesterday for the first time since September 1975, and the needle hit the highest number and just stayed there. It was one of those inexpensive bathroom scales, but it goes up to 300. Need I say more?

I have played Santa Claus at our office Christmas party for the last time, Abby. In plain language, can you give me a diet I can stay on? Don't tell me to see a doctor. The last one I went to weighed more than I did.

FAT AND MISERABLE

DEAR FAT: If you want my advice, DON'T tell me what NOT to tell you to do. You MUST see a doctor! Find a thin one if a fat one inspires no confidence. But follow his instructions to the letter--and no cheating.

Don't expect miracles. It will take all the willpower and self-control you can muster. But anything that's worth having is worth working for. Good luck.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Ann-Margret Is Sunny, Uncomplicated Lady

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Sometimes, you can walk into a room and know who lives there.

That's the way it is at Ann-Margret's house. If you know her at all, you know she's basically a sunny, uncomplicated person dedicated to the proposition that the best thing to be is happy.

And so you walk into her living room and it's her. It's bright and airy, done in tones of green and yellow, full of flowers and fluffy pillows and populated with cats, both real and embroidered.

I told her the room looked like her and she said that was the nicest thing I could have said to her. I could think of a few nicer things, but that's her business.

Anyhow, she fits her room and her house and her life. At this point, she appears to be the happiest person this side of the continental divide. And she talks about her happiness so much even she realizes it's almost too much.

"Sometimes I know I sound like a Pollyanna," she says. "But I can't help it — it's all so wonderful. I really am a happy lady."

There are two chief contributory causes to her radiant happiness. She's happily married and she's happily occupied. She loves being Mrs. Roger Smith and she loves being Ann-Margret and doing the professional things Ann-Margret does.

"I can't believe," she says, "that Roger and I have been together for 13 years. On paper, it's 10 years, but we lived together for three years before we got married."

Despite that record, she's hardly the domestic sort. You won't find any Ann-Margret recipes in "The Collected Cooking Secrets of the Stars."

"I still do not cook," she says. "I've never had the slightest interest in cooking. My mother tried and tried to teach me, but it wasn't any use. Actually, my mother and my grandmother were great cooks — they had a bakery in Sweden.

"But I don't cook, and you know something? I don't feel guilty about not cooking, either. And I guess that's what's really rotten."

She considers herself a totally liberated woman, and says she was liberated even before that term became fashionable.

ANN-MARGRET says she was liberated even before the term became fashionable. She doesn't know how to cook and doesn't feel the slightest bit guilty.

"I've been liberated since I was 13," she says. "That's when I first won some money singing in a contest. From then on, I knew I could take care of myself."

Still, taking care of herself does not mean she wants to be completely independent. Far from it. In fact, she says she likes the feeling of being dependent on a man.

"I am dependent on a man," she says, "because I choose to be, but I could exist alone. Just the same, I find I'm more comfortable with a man around. I find it a comforting feeling to have a man protecting me and looking out for me."

Roger, who has abandoned his acting career to guide her career, makes a good counterpoint to Ann. They enjoy each other's foibles and peculiarities.

"I call Roger 'Garry Gimmick,' " Ann says. "He runs out and buys every new electronic gadget that comes along. Last night we ate dinner outside, in our gazebo. He'd seen an electronic bug killer in Miami Beach and bought one. But it makes so much noise as it disintegrates the bugs — zzzzt! — that I asked him to disconnect it."

He has his gadgets. She has her animals, mostly cats. She's down to a manageable five cats now. She used to have so many that Roger and the rest of their friends called her "The Cat Lady of Benedict Canyon." But a few of the cats have fallen victim to the coyotes that roam the canyon, and Ann hasn't replaced them.

Mostly, that's because she's so seldom home. That's the only problem with being as popular and successful an entertainer as she is.

She loves her home. In a culture where most people, particularly stars, move on an average of once every three or four years, she is something of a stick-in-the-mud. She's lived in the same garden spot for nine years now.

It's a 10-acre place, far up in the canyon, off the beaten track and yet convenient to the city.

"I knew when I walked in the entry hall," Ann-Margret says, "that this was my house."

Still the demands on her time — movies and doing her stuff in Las Vegas and other places — keep her away much of the time. In the calendar year, 1976, she was at home only for one month. For five months, she shot "Beau Geste," for three months, she shot "Joseph Andrews," and three months were spent rehearsing and performing her act.

So, when she's home, she indulges in her favorite luxury — entertaining.

If you have to find an area where Ann-Margret is less than totally happy, it is in the fact that she has no child. She has three stepchildren — 19, 18, 15 — but none of her own.

"Yes, I'd like a child of my own," she says. "That's all I really need. We'll see what happens."

Her health, considering the terrible accident she had on stage in Las Vegas a year or so back, is remarkably good.

"The only thing from the accident I notice," she says, "is that I can't turn my head all the way around to the left. And when I get tired, there's a slight tremor in my right hand.

"I can see the difference in my face — there are some bones missing in my cheek — and Roger can, too, but nobody else can.

"I just don't invite trouble any more — Roger has grounded me from my motorcycle for a year."

Otherwise, she's the picture of a contented lady, and she's smart enough to realize she's got it made.

"I am so fortunate," she says. "So many people my age have no joy at all. I'm really a very lucky person."

Lo-Vaca Told To Wait On Rate Case

AUSTIN (AP)-State Dist. Court Judge Herman Jones has ordered Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. not to dispose of its profits from out-of-state natural gas sales until the railroad commission decides the Lo-Vaca rate case.

Jones heard the company's appeal, after the commission ordered in April that Lo-Vaca refund to Austin and other customers up to $2.6 million a month.

That amount represents the money Lo-Vaca said it made transporting gas for, and selling to, Transcontinental Gas Pipeline and Columbia Gas Co. last winter. Those firms serve northeastern states.

Jones said Thursday the revenue is "extricably involved with the many issues presented in commission docket 500," the four-year-old Lo-Vaca rate case, which the commission has indicated it will settle this summer.

Orchard Spraying System Saves Water, Pesticides

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-Research scientists in Poland, in co-operation with the Agriculture Department, have developed a new scrimpy method of spraying orchards which can save water and pesticides.

The Agriculture Department says that the system involves ultra-low volume ULV sprayers which officials say "may revolutionize the industry" if the system is adopted widely by fruit growers.

The project in Poland has resulted in techniques in which apple orchards can be sprayed against diseases with as little as seven-tenths of a gallon of spray an acre.

As recently as a decade ago, apple growers applied as much as 400 gallons of spray an acre, says Dr. Harry L. Keil, of USDA's research center at Beltsville, Md. Since then, low volume sprayers have been used but those utilized 20 to 40 gallons an acre.

Keil said that the improved techniques developed in Poland have great promise for U.S. agriculture "and that the advantages are numerous.

"The Polish ULV spray machine is small and less expensive than machines formerly used," Kiel said.

The apparatus can be pulled through orchards by light-weight tractors of 15 to 18 hp instead of the heavy 50 to 60 hp machines formerly used. This means a saving in fuel as well as less compaction of the soil.

Keil said that chemicals for the ULV system can be premixed at the factory and delivered in easily handled five-gallon containers which eliminates the need for mixing chemicals at the orchard.

"The smaller per acre applications of pesticide formulations require little or no water and result in a lower over-all pesticide level in the orchard and reduce likelihood of environmental hazards," he said.

Keil said, however, that more research is required on the various types of chemicals which might be used in the ULV system as well as more study on machines.

Movie Back To Drawing Boards

LOS ANGELES (AP)-Paramount Pictures has sent "Citizens Band" back to the drawing boards for a new approach to the movie's release.

The new film opened in 200 theaters throughout the country last month and drew an apathetic response, despite generally good reviews. It ran into competition from two other movies about CB radio, "Breaker Breaker" and "Smoky and the Bandit."

the biggest lobbies

Right after Congress had handed President Carter his first major energy defeat, supporters of the Administration plan flatly blamed the defeat on the big and powerful oil company lobbies.

Such talks leads one to believe that perhaps the oil lobbies and other big business lobbies in fact control or have a monopoly on the influence upon legislation.

We hear about big business and big labor, but the fact is that neither is the biggest lobbyist on the Hill.

With information obtained from reports that registered lobbyists are required to file on a quarterly basis, the biggest lobby in terms of money spent was the American Postal Workers Union which led by a wide margin with 12 million spent.

This translates into more than $48 for each of the union's 240,000 members.

Third in line was the 151,000 member national Association of Letter Carriers who spent $4.7 million.

It is also interesting to note that the second biggest lobby was the public interest organization, Common Cause, one of whose most important causes is to bring about reform of lobby laws. This group spent $5.8 million.

Fifth largest was a group whose members indeed do rule America, the National Federation of Federal Employees, with $1.6 million.

The only industry group to make the top five who spent more than one million dollars on the national lobby scene was the National Coal Association, which at $1.7 million was No.4.

In terms of individual issues, abortion and gun control are the subject of the most intensive lobbying efforts. The National Committee for the Human Life Amendment spent more than $900,000 and 20 pro or anti gun control organizations spent a combined total of $1.5 million.

Compared to these, your oil and gas lobbies which some senators like to politically assault, are mere misers.

"Excuse me, but has anyone seen a golf ball bounce by here?"

no waste on water

It is apparent that there will be no meeting of minds between President Carter and a majority of the members of Congress concerning the priority rating of water projects. Soon after he took office President Carter issued an executive order suspending work on 18 of a list of 20 water projects in different parts of the country.

Legislation now under consideration leaves no doubt that the President's evaluation of these projects as wasteful, unsafe or economically and environmentally unsound is flatly rejected. And just to make sure the President understands the situation old projects are scheduled for approval along with several new ones.

Nobody would be so naive as to deny substantial accuracy of the President's position. Nearly all projects of this type cost too much. Some have relatively minor economic value. But water is a necessity. There is no substitute for it. And we don't have to wait until some future time to realize that in many sections of the country it is cheap at any price and will become increasingly precious with the passage of time.

If Congress is going to waste money - and none doubts that possibility - it is far better to waste it on water than most of the extravagances of our Federal Government.

a father is ....

A father is a thing that is forced to endure childbirth without an anesthetic.

A father is a thing that growls when it feels good and laughs very loud when it's scared half to death.

A father is sometimes accused of giving too much time to his business when the little ones are growing up.

That's partly fear, too.

Fathers are much more easily frightened than mothers.

A father never feels entirely worthy of the worship in a child's eyes.

He's never quite the hero his daughter thinks, never quite the man his son believes him to be, and this worries him, sometimes.

So he works too hard to try to smooth the rough places in the road for those of his own who will follow him.

A father is a thing that gets very angry when the first school grades aren't as good as he thinks they should be.

He scolds his son; though he knows it's the teacher's fault.

A father is a thing that goes away to war, sometimes.

And learns to swear and shoot and spit through his teeth and would run the other way except that this war is part of his only important job in life, which is making the world better for his child than it has been for him.

Fathers grow old faster than people.

Because they, in other wars, have to stand at the train station and wave goodby to the uniform that climbs aboard.

And while mothers can cry where it shows, fathers have to stand there and beam outside--and die inside.

Fathers have very stout hearts, so they have to be broken sometimes or no one would know what's inside.

Fathers are what give daughters away to other men who aren't nearly good enough so they can have grandchildren that are smarter than anybody's.

Fathers fight dragons---almost daily.

They hurry away from the breakfast table, off to the arena which is sometimes called an office or a workshop.

There, with calloused, practiced hands, they tackle the dragon with three heads: Weariness, Work and Monotony.

And they never quite win the fight, but they never give up.

Knights in shining armor, fathers in shiny trousers--there's little difference, as they march away to each workday.

Fathers make bets with insurance companies about who'll live the longest.

Though they know the odds, they keep right on betting.

Even as the odds get higher and higher, they keep right on betting, more and more.

And one day they lose.

But fathers enjoy an earthly immortality ... and the bet's paid off to the part of him he leaves behind.

I don't know where fathers go when they die.

But I've an idea that after a good rest, wherever it is, he won't be happy unless there's work to do.

He won't just sit on a cloud and wait for the girl he's loved and the children she bore.

He'll be busy there, too, repairing the stairs, oiling the gates, improving the streets, smoothing the way.

DIAPAUSE

If you don't think the Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program is worthwhile, take a gander at the following statistics. Participating farmers produced an average of 370 pounds per acre. Non-participating farmers produced 307 pounds. This 63 pounds differential multiplied by the number of acres farmed computes to an additional county-wide production of 7,137 bales. At the average price of $308 per bale, producers taking advantage of the Diapause Program earned $2,198,196 more than those not participating.

As a dollar earned in a community turns over an average of five times before it leaves, the program provided more than $10 million in total economic benefit to Snyder and Scurry County.

What's even more interesting is that agriculture specialists say the greatest results are seen during the second production year. For the participating farmers, their $6 per acre cost for the program has already resulted in a 6,000 percent return on investment. Not bad, eh?

BLOOD PRESSURE

The National Observer, one of America's leading publications, has presented a study done by the U.S. Commission on Intergovernmental Relations on the fiscal blood pressure of the states in years 1964-1975.

The commission presented a summary taking into effect all state and local levies including real estate, income, sales, inheritance, severance, license and corporate taxes.

In likening the state and local tax load to human blood pressure, the study groups the states according to the amount of tax pressure and the rate of that pressure's change from 1964-75. It includes four groups, high pressure and rising, low pressure but rising, high pressure and falling, and low pressure and falling.

Texas, which stands tied for the third lowest "pressure" is listed as low and falling. The state's pressure is gauged at nine percent of personal income. New York, high and rising, stands in the top level at 18. New Hampshire and Arkansas are tied for the lowest with 8.2, followed by Oklahoma and Florida at 8.3--all are listed with Texas as "low and falling."

California, "high and rising", is the third highest tax collector in the nation at 13.8. Massachusetts, 15.2, is also "high and rising." Hawaii, 13.5, was listed as "high but falling" along with Wisconsin, Vermont, Washington, Utah, North Dakota and Indiana.

Except for California, the fastest-growing states are listed in the "low and falling" category. Let's not jeapordize that by asking the state for more "handouts."

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - A fledgling public interest organization called New Directions could soon become an influential force in the public debate on a host of global issues - if it abandons its apparent misinterpretation of the biblical proclamation that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches."

New Directions is so transfixed by "good names" that it has collected scores of politicians, businessmen, financiers, lawyers, union officials, academics, civic leaders, political activists and assorted do-gooders to adorn its letterhead.

No self-respecting Washington organization lacks a healthy list of "sponsors" or "advisors" to display on its stationery as a means of establishing its credentials and certifying its reputability - but New Directions has carried the practice beyond any logical limit.

The group's first mass mailing seeking new members was encased in a large envelope, one side of which was totally covered with the titles of its big-name backers. The result was a typographical melange neither attractive nor decipherable.

The enclosures in that and several successive mailings contained the names of so many officers and members of the organization's "governing board" and "council" that a special flap had to be added to the stationery to list all the sponsors.

New Directions' most recent mail appeal for members still includes the names and titles of no fewer than 123 such supporters, but they now are listed in smaller type and confined to the back page of a letter which identifies the organization's goals.

The group's decision to emphasize issues instead of celebrities is a welcome change because New Directions is an organization which deserves a chance to gain the stature and support necessary to make it a contribution to the national dialogue on a series of crucial issues.

Washington already has more than its share of citizen groups concentrating on virtually every imaginable domestic issue, as well as a handful of elite organizations working in the foreign policy-national security sphere. But there is no broadbased institution whose concerns are focused on the international arena.

That is the specialty New Directions has chosen for itself, with initial emphasis on the issues of worldwide energy conservation, nuclear proliferation, reduction of indiscriminate arms sales, global food production and expansion of low-cost delivery systems for health, education and family planning.

"When you look ahead now, it's frightening," says Russell W. Peterson, New Directions' president. "All the unresolved problems about energy resources and nuclear development, the population bomb, the arms race, the confrontation between the have and have-not nations."

Adds Peterson, a Republican who was an outstanding governor of Delaware from 1969 to 1973: "All of these issues are inextricably tied to national policies. 'You cannot separate our problems into 'domestic' and 'foreign' anymore."

Beneath Peterson's name on the letterhead is that seemingly endless list of supporters. Indeed, New Directions wins this year's politics-makes-strange-bedfellows award by alphabetically juxtaposing liberal folksinger Theodore Bikel with conservative politician Shirley Temple Black.

Their colleagues on the "governing board" include officials of such irreverent boat-rocking organizations as Amnesty International and SANE along with senior partners in the "establishment" Wall Street investment houses of Dillon, Red & Co. and Brown Brother, Harriman & Co.

All of that window dressing probably won't do a great deal of good for New Directions. Just as many Americans have become cynical in recent years about the value of society's once-revered institutions, they also have become less enthralled with the men and women atop those organizations.

New Directions will succeed or fail on the basis of its accomplishments, not its letterhead.

jobless picture improves

NEW YORK (AP)-Some nongovernmental job surveys made in recent weeks suggest that the employment situation is undergoing a decided improvement that might stretch well into 1978.

Information in the surveys tends to support those analysts who feel the jobless rate, now 6.9 per cent, could fall toward 6.5 per cent by the end of the year, instead of inching back over 7 as some fear.

The Help-Wanted Index, a monthly measurement of want ads in 51 key newspapers, continues to move steadily higher after having plunged during the recession, reaching a low of just 74 in March 1975.

The index standard is 100 for 1967, the alltime high 132 in 1973. The April reading of 109 represents a tremendous improvement and also suggests considerable improvement to come.

Kenneth Goldstein, in charge of the survey for the Conference Board, a nonprofit research organization, considers it an accurate barometer of things to come. It is used by the Commerce Department as an official figure.

Another survey, a quarterly study of 5,000 businessmen by Manpower, Inc. and the University of Michigan Survey Research Center, is expected to confirm the brightening picture when released June 28.

Job forecasts by the Manpower-Michigan group for the first two quarters were highly optimistic and, said survey sponsors, "were very accurate predictors of what has actually happened."

Based on answers from 700 employers, the College Placement Council expects job hunting for college graduates to continue to be easier in 1978. The current year represented a decided improvement over 1976. Employers hired 18 per cent more grads than a year ago, and more than half the respondents said they expected to employ about the same number in the 1977-78 school year.

The Council, a nonprofit organization of career counselors and placement officers at colleges and personnel officers of corporations, found that only 7 per cent anticipate a drop in job offers and that 6 per cent are uncertain.

Those with technical training, especially engineering, will continue to be the most sought after, the council believes, along with graduates in computer science, geology, geophysics, metallurgy and business.

The Endicott Report also found summer job prospects strong, with 32 per cent of 107 companies planning to hire more than a year ago.

Officials figures from Washington show the May jobless rate fell one-tenth of 1 per cent to a seasonally adjusted 6.9 per cent, lowest in 30 months and symbolically important because it cracked the psychological barrier of 7 per cent.

65-YEARS PERFECT ATTENDANCE

Sunday School Is No Problem For Dallasite

By LEIGH WILSON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Procrastination is a vice for some, and many people find it easier to stay in bed Sunday morning than to charge out to Sunday school. But it's never been a problem for 82-year-old George W. McDaniel Jr.

He's been doing it for the past 65 years straight.

In fact, the sprightly silverhaired gent says he can only recall missing one day of Sunday School during all of his life and that was when he was growing up in Abilene around the turn of the century.

Instead of going to church, his mother left early one Sunday in the horse and carriage to visit her sister at a hospital.

McDaniel recollects his mother phoning from the hospital and telling her children: "Your aunt has just died, you won't be going to Sunday school this morning."

In retrospect, McDaniel says he "should have gone ahead and walked."

"I never anticipated making a record like this," he beamed.

The Presbyterian church and some others award Sunday school attendance medals through the Cross and Crown system under which a person gets a medallion for attending 50 out of 52 Sundays in a year.

Each subsequent year is recognized with a numerical pendant that hangs in succession from the wreath. McDaniel has 63 such pendants.

He didn't start forming the year-pin chain until he was 17, when the Presbyterian church in Abilene started using the system, so the childhood miss didn't count, he said.

At first, he wore the medal and chain on his coat lapel. As it grew longer, he made a watch fob of it.

The chain is nearly a yard long now. McDaniel says he keeps it now tucked away in a dresser drawer.

His 65 years in attendance total 3,380 Sundays.

McDaniel makes an exception in his attendance record for the year he spend in the U.S. Navy in World War I.

But he says he attended as often as possible, even during the war.

One Sunday, he rooted out a service in Brest, France. "I couldn't understand a word they said, but I recognized the tunes they sang," he said.

Another time, he and his mother were on their way to South Texas from Abilene, and stopped at Bradshaw for Sunday school. It was during the depression of the 1930s, and McDaniel got some curious looks when he dropped a silver dollar into the collection plate.

McDaniel recalls the astonished usher asking him: "Do you want some drag back?"

"I said 'no,' of course."

McDaniel is now a deacon of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas and works every Sunday as an assistant treasurer.

And if the rest of this year is a full of Sunday School as the past 65 have been, McDaniel will receive his 66-year pendant January 1, 1978.

TO CLOSE BAPTIST CONVENTION

Billy Graham Issues Challenge To Christians

By ROBERT MACY
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Calling for an all out war to win souls, evangelist Billy Graham closed the annual Southern Baptist Convention Thursday night by challenging Christians to stand up to mental, possibly physical persecution.

Earlier 16,000 delegates reaffirmed their position that homosexuality is a sin, passed a resolution praising singer Anita Bryant for her stand on the issue, and heard U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young Jr., describe the world as divided in a "balance of terror."

An estimated 20,000 persons were on hand for Graham's speech, the concluding event of the three-day convention for the nation's largest protestant denomination. Southern Baptists claim some 13 million members nationwide, including Miss Bryant and President Jimmy Carter, who addressed delegates opening night via videotape.

Graham, in a news conference earlier in the day, said he admires Miss Bryant for heading the effort to repeal a Dade County, Fla., law that made it illegal to deny housing and job opportunities to homosexuals.

But he said he does not feel God has called him to join particular groups to oppose certain kinds of sins.

The resolution praised Miss Bryant for her "courageous stand against the evil inherent in homosexuality."

Young, who is a minister of the United Church of Christ, said "There is something wrong when the people of the world, because of differences in ideologies, will spend $350 billion annually to have the capacity to destroy one another as a means of keeping peace."

He called for a "meaningful, reconciled community, one great fellowship of love that surrounds the whole wide world."

Graham warned of a fast-approaching world that would be capable of producing a computerized human race, with genetic engineering controlling the type of men and women who are born.

He said Christians of every generation have had to suffer for their faith, and this generation is no exception.

"God has not called us to a sports arena or a playground - but to a battleground," he said. "We're in a war - a great, gigantic spiritual war. The devil is after their souls and so are we."

In their final day of meetings, messengers also condemned the Internal Revenue Service for trying to define an "integrated auxiliary" of the church.

Congress passed a measure requiring church agencies that are not integrated auxiliaries to file reports on income and disbursements. The IRS ruled that hospitals, schools, homes for children and the elderly and similar institutions are not integrated auxiliaries.

The convention maintains it is for churches, not the government, to decide which institutions are integrated auxiliaries.

The convention, after 50 minutes of debate, also approved a resolution directing agencies of the church to disclose salaries and fringe benefits for their executives to "any inquiring Baptist."

Lyndon Baines Johnson was born on Aug. 27, 1908, on a farm near Stonewall, Tex. He was the eldest of five children.

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

This Series Made Possible by These Business Firms and Individuals Who Support Our Right to Worship Freely.

WHO IS CAPTIVE?

"He came to Nazareth where he had been reared, and entering the synagogue . . . they handed him the book of Isaiah. He unrolled the scroll and found the passage . . . 'The Spirit of the Lord is upon me . . . to set captives free . . . to bring glad tidings to the poor . . . to heal.'" (Luke 4:16-19)

The call that Jesus experienced led Him into His own town, His own community where He had been reared and was known as Joseph's son. The call—to set the captives free. Actually, who is the captive one? My brother who experiences want which is not being fulfilled or myself who experiences a sense of alienation because of non-involvement? Perhaps we all suffer and need to be set free—each in his own way . . . giving and receiving.

Oftentimes we think that the needs of the poor, the aged, the lonely are being taken care of by our tax monies and that's all we owe them. But does our responsibility end with donations? What about our talents given us through no merit of our own? Who really is responsible for the gifts, the talents that are ours? And if Jesus has given us the right parents, the right moment in history to develop ourselves, then are we not also responsible for sharing these gifts with others?

Jesus not only read the scriptures in His place of worship, but lived them in His everyday life. What a challenge to make religion an everyday thing, real to our community, to the lonely, to the hungry, the derelict. In setting this captive self free, in setting free others who share our captivity, the glad tidings will certainly ring out for all to participate in joyfully.
