Ah, hindsight, how much more accurate you are than foresight.

A sports story which was delayed considerably somewhere finally reached our office Wednesday. If it had reached its destination a week earlier, perhaps it would have presented a logical forecast. But alas, a Mexican - American named Lee Trevino emerged from the Texas border and spoiled the form sheet.

Written by a nationally - known sports writer, who, in the interest of preventing embarrassment, will remain anonymous at this point, the story began as follows: "Put the names of Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper, Tom Weiskopf, Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo and South Africa's Gary Player into a hat, pick one and you might get the winner of the coming U. S. Open."

The story was distributed originally for release on June 9, four days before the USGA's big tournament started in Rochester, N. Y.

In addition to putting himself on a sound financial footing, Trevino may provide a change of pace for the sportswriters and commentators. Never at a loss for words, he appears to have an uncanny knack for being voluble with the prose without sounding like a showboat or a braggart.

He is fast with a quip, gleefully discussing the possibility of using his winnings to "buy the Alamo and give it back to Mexico." A few breaths later he was quoted as saying that he "used to call myself a Mexican until I started making so much money. Now I'm a Spaniard."

The word from Lamesa is that Amador Tijerina, the classy infielder of the Lamesa High Tornadoes the past few seasons, likely will perform for Odessa College next season.

Tijerina reportedly caught the fancy of Julian Pressley, the Odessa College baseball coach, and he wants the agile Lamesan in his line-up. There's one possible hitch. Amador has a brother, Willie, (remember?) who is in South Plains College at Levelland, and some think he might influence Amador to head north.

Other baseball teams in District 3-AAA are happy that the Tijerinas have completed their eligibility at Lamesa High. —WACIL McNAIR.

'MOVEMENT' IN PARIS TALKS

Clifford Detects Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today there is "some movement" in the apparently stalemated Paris peace talks between the United States and North Vitnam.

He acknowledged the signs of progress may be slight, but said that "I believe that both sides are there to try to arrange an ultimate disposition to the conflict."

The defense secretary reported, at the same time, that the North Vietnamese are pumping replacements for men lost in combat in South Vietnam at a high level while the talks are going on.

Reporting at a news conference, he said that infiltration in May is estimated to have totaled about 29,000 men from North Vietnam into South Vietnam.

This is about double the figures used by Gen. William C. Westmoreland for infiltration in April.

Clifford said about 26,000 of these May infiltrators were believed to be replacements for men who have fallen in battle."

He projected a probably North Vietnamese infiltration of 20,000 men a month in June, July and August.

The defense secretary, in his second full-dress news conference since taking office March 1, said casualties on both sides have gone up as a result of the enemy's "determination to increase the level of combat."

In May, he said, the United States was losing from 400 to 500 men a week, while the enemy was losing 5,000 a week.

"There is a very real question as to how long they would choose to submit their military force to such a degree of attrition," Clifford said.

On the question of negotiations, the defense secretary, who is one of President Johnson's top advisers on Vietnam war policy, indicated he expects some real progress in working out a solution when the negotiators get into private talks.

He appeared to discount the value of the formal sessions, in which both sides have exchanged charges and demands and appeared to be giving virtually no ground.

On other matters, Clifford:

—Said "I'm not persuaded" that there were any North Vietnamese helpers in the Demilitarized Zone area of South Vietnam.

He said he has sent questions to commanders there in an attempt to clear this up.

—Said that, despite intensified enemy offensive activity in South Vietnam, he does not believe his commanders there will ask for more U.S. troops beyond the presently planned 550,000.

—Indicated that as long as there is any hope that the North Vietnamese will eventually reciprocate, he believes President Johnson will not restore full-scale bombing of North Vietnam.

—Estimated that by the end of next year South Vietnam "will have a well-trained, well drilled, effective army" of a million men.

—Reported that "we have not gotten anywhere yet", in 17 meetings with North Korean representatives on the question of regaining the captured intelligence ship Pueblo and freeing its crew of 82 men. But "I continue to have hope."

Leone Tries To Organize Government

By DENNIS REDMONT
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Jovial former Premier Giovanni Leone called in leaders of Italy's main parties today in an attempt to form an interim government.

The 60-year-old Christian Democratic senator from Naples was named premier-designate Wednesday by President Giuseppe Saragat in an attempt to end a two-week-old political crisis.

Leone, one of the most popular figures in Italian politics, must pull together a government which will not antagonize the chief elements of the nation's shattered center-left coalition, the Christian Democrats and the Socialists.

The Socialists, who lost ground in the May general election, bolted the alliance when Parliament reconvened June 8 and prevented Christian Democratic Premier Aldo Moro from restoring the center-left majority with which he governed Italy for four and a half years.

Leone said he would report back to the president in three or four days.

He made clear he would rely on the center-left parties for support. The left wing of the Christian Democrats refused to take any post in the Cabinet, however, and some Socialists made clear they would vote against him.

Patrols Kill 93 Viet Cong

By ROBERT D. OHMAN

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen patrolling Saigon's outer defense ring killed 93 Viet Cong and seized 33 suspects in four clashes south and north of the capital, the U.S. Command reported today.

Inside the city and its suburbs, it was the quietest day since the Communist command launched its 'second wave" offensive on May 5.

No ground action was reported.

The biggest battle in the ring around Saigon was fought by soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division who killed at least 44 Viet Cong Wednesday around a helicopter landing zone 12 miles north of the capital.

The action broke out at 11 a.m. when helicopter landed a company of American infantrymen, trying to intercept enemy units, landed in a landing zone surrounded by Viet Cong.

While the outnumbered Americans fought for their lives, helicopter gunships raked the enemy. Both sides moved up reinforcements but the 25th Division won the race, landing another 300 men at 2:30 p.m.

The battle continued until after midnight, then the Viet Cong pulled out and left bloody trails behind. U.S. losses were 15 killed and 14 wounded.

Another 39 enemy soldiers were killed 29 miles northeast of Saigon when they were caught by troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and then hit by artillery, helicopter gunships and AC47 Magic Dragon planes with their rapid-firing miniguns. Only two American soldiers were reported killed and 18 wounded in the 90-minute fight that ended at dusk.

Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division killed 10 more enemy soldiers nine miles southeast of Saigon. Five were seen dodging into a bunker, and the infantrymen destroyed the bunker and the five guerrillas.

The 33 prisoners were gathered southwest of the capital by troops of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade.

The off-again, on-again character of the recent ground action was reflected in the weekly casualty reports from the allied commands, which reported enemy casualties last week were only about half those of the week before. American battle dead totals were the lowest in seven weeks and South Vietnamese battle dead also dropped off sharply.

The U.S. Command said 324 Americans were killed and 2,325 were wounded last week, the lowest number of fatalities since the week ending April 27. The number of enemy soldiers reported slain dropped to 1,613 from 3,176 killed the previous week.

Solons Seek More Funds

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas House members debated today ways of raising new money to balance the state budget. That is the success or failure issue for the special legislative session.

Gov. John Connally's tax bill, which would raise $127 million added taxes, counting the revenue from his mixed drinks bill, was taken up at 9:42 a.m.

A stack of a dozen or so amendments awaited action as Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the House Tax Committee, explained Connally's revenue plan, which most members view without enthusiasm.

Atwell reminded the House that "We got by without a tax bill last session" and told them "We need in the neighborhood of $130 million."

WAREHOUSE DAMAGED — Fire broke out on the inside of the Robinson Company's D & R warehouse west of Ira at 12:25 p.m. Wednesday and destroyed about half of the building. City Firemen from Snyder extinguished the blaze. A couple of electric motors and oilfield tools were damaged.

Local merchants will contribute toward several prizes, the largest of which will be a color television set.

Meanwhile, plans for the various events of the day were continuing.

Plane Is Believed Forced Into Cuba

By FENTON WHEELER

HAVANA (AP)—Santiago air port officials said today that a Venezuelan airliner was forced to land there shortly after midnight, but refused to say if the plane was hijacked.

Other reports from Santiago, 460 miles southeast of Havana, said a young man armed with a grenade comandeered Flight 797 from Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and threatened to explode the grenade unless the plane landed in Cuba.

An unknown number of passengers was taken to the Hotel Versalles in Santiago where officials reported all were well. The hotel refused further information and would not let newsmen speak to passengers or crewmen by telephone.

A spokesman at the airline's New York office said 77 passengers and three crew members were aboard the plane. He said all the passengers now in Cuba boarded the plane at Santo Domingo and that passengers who had flown from Miami, Fla. to Santo Domingo on the plane all got off in the Dominican Republic.

The hotel said the matter was in the hands of the Interior Ministry's security department, but the security office in Havana said it had no information.

Viasa Airlines said that the flight landed in Cuba at 12:20 a.m. The International Air Line Guide listed Flight 797 as originating in Santo Domingo with a scheduled stop at Curacao in the Netherlands Antilles before reaching Caracas, Venezuela.

A newsman who spoke to the pilot before communications were stopped identified him as Harry Gibson.

If the Cubans follow usual practice, the plane and passengers will be delayed until it can be refueled and landing costs are paid.

Broadway's Strike Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — A contract dispute that darkened Broadway theaters and nine road shows for three days was settled early today after an all-night bargaining session at the mayor's residence.

Three shows closed during the Actors Equity strike won't open again, however, and there were hints of a possible ticket price rise. Ticket prices for a Broadway musical currently range from $11.90 to $3.50 and for a drama from $7.50 to $2.50.

After meeting through the night at Gracie Mansion with negotiators for Actors Equity and the League of New York Theaters, Mayor John V. Lindsay emerged at 6 a.m. and announced: "Performances in the Broadway theaters will be resumed tonight."

Cargile Rites Set Friday

WEEK'S TABULATION UNDERWAY

Guns Kill 79 Since Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guns have taken the lives of 79 persons in the United States since Sunday, an Associated Press showed today.

Of those, 41 were homicides, 28 were suicides and 10 were accidental deaths.

Three children were killed with firearms Wednesday, two by other children and one by a former mental patient.

The Florida Highway Patrol said Joseph McCants, 29, killed 3-year-old Francis Lee Fortune after holding her and two other children hostage. Earlier, officers said, he had shot and gravely wounded a Graceville policeman. McCants had been in a state mental hospital several times, police said.

Seven-year-old Wayne Roye f Wake, Virginia, was accidentally shot to death by his 10-year-old brother, Philip, who police said apprently was playing cowboy with a loaded gun.

Paul Alvin Witcher, 7, was shot and killed in a rural section of Franklin County, Virginia. Sheriff's police said a 14-year-old relative, Johnny Ray Witcher, was playing in the basement of his home with a rifle he thought was unloaded. He fired through the window, hitting the younger boy in the head.

Demands for gun control legislation have been increased by three assassinations, the most recent being that of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Coroner Andrew J. Toman of Cook County (Chicago) said Wednesday that more persons died from gun wounds in the county during 1967 than died in automobile accidents.

He said 607 firearms deaths were reported compared with 591 traffic fatalities.

The FBI reported that approximately 6,500 persons were murdered with firearms in 1966—an average of 125 gun homicides a week. Total homicides for 1966, the FBI said, was 10,920 persons.

This included stabbings and stranglings. The FBI said 60 per cent of the homicides in America result from firearms.

The Associated Press is making a week's survey of gunshot deaths. The count began at midnight Sunday and will continue through Sunday, June 23.

Trio Convicted Of Conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — A reputed Mafia bigwig and two other men linked with former New York City Water Commissioner James L. Marcus in a $40,000 bribery case have been found guilty of conspiracy by a federal jury. A fourth defendant was acquitted.

Marcus, 37-year-old former righthand man to New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge June 3. His case was severed from the others and he became a government witness.

Found guilty after a little more than three hours jury deliberation Wednesday were:

—Antonio "Tony Ducks" Corallo, 54, of Whitestone, Queens, whom Marcus identified in testimony as a "top guy in the Mafia," and who spent two years in prison after being convicted in 1962 in a vain attempt to fix a federal bankruptcy case.

—Contractor Henry Fried, 68, of Mount Kisco, N.Y., millionaire head of S.T. Grand, Inc., which also was convicted.

—Daniel J. Motto, 57, of Greenwich, Conn., head of Queens bakers union local.

They assertedly teamed up to bribe Marcus, then city water commissioner, in exchange for his awarding an $840,000 reservoir cleaning contract to S.T. Grand, Inc., on Nov. 23, 1966, without competitive bidding.

Acquitted was Charles Rappaport, 30, a former law partner of Herbert Itkin, a Marcus business associate also indicted in the conspiracy. Itkin, as an FBI informer and government witness, also had his case severed.

Itkin testified he expects charges against him to be dropped by the government and that he anticipates being a witness in "at least 50 more cases" in the future.

Sentencing was set for July 26. The maximum penalty is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Marcus said he agreed to the payoff because of heavy stock market losses, and that he pocketed $16,000 of the total. He resigned his commissioner post a week before his indictment last Dec. 18. Mayor Lindsay has said that Marcus "betrayed" him.

Young Work Force Seen

HOUSTON (AP)—The executive vice president of the National Restaurant Association says young persons in the 20-35 year age group will constitute 65 per cent of the country's work force by 1975.

Donald Greenaway of Chicago addressed delegates to the 29th annual Texas Restaurant Association Wednesday.

"You had better stop right now and get to know the young people who are 13 to 22 years of age," he said. "For in the coming seven years, they'll represent the best educated group in Amrica's history. Of our total population in 1975, 45 per cent will have a year or more of post high school education, the largest percentage of educated people in one bloc in the world."

Ask Probe By Neutrals

SEOUL (AP) — A South Korean news agency said today that the United States has proposed to North Korea that the Pueblo crew be turned over to neutral nations for an investigation to determine whether they violated North Korean waters.

The Dongwha news agency quoted diplomatic sources as saying that the United States wants the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission in Korea to conduct the investigation.

U.S. authorities would not confirm the report. In Washington, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said on Wednesday that the United States made "certain proposals" to North Korea concerning the captured intelligence ship and her crew on May 23, but so far North Korea has not responded.

The Dongwha report said the United States also told North Korea it would express "regrets" to the Communist government if the investigation by neutral nations proved that the Pueblo violated North Korean waters.

The Pueblo was seized Jan. 23.

Heart Transplant Dispute Erupts

HOUSTON (AP)— A simmering dispute about a heart transplanted to an Alpine man was extinguished late Wednesday when the organ was turned over to the medical examiner.

Still undecided, however, is whether the hearts of homicide victims will be used in transplants.

The particular heart involved in the dispute between scientists and the medical examiner was taken from Clarence A. Nicks of Houston and transplanted May 7 to John Stuckwish of Alpine. Stuckwish died about a week later.

Nicks had been fatally beaten by two men.

Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph A. Jachimczyk said Wednesday he needed the heart "to complete my autopsy."

Dr. Denton A. Cooley is head of the medical team that has performed five hearts transplants at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, including the Nicks-Stuckwish operation. He ordered the heart sent to the examiner.

Jachimczyk said he would not issue a death certificate until he gets the heart.

Earlier Newell E. France, administrator at St. Luke's Hospital, said hospital pathologists had the heart and "We don't recognize the medical examiner's jurisdiction over it."

"This is a precedent-setting thing. If we were to give it up to him, that might mean that in all fuure homicides the heart would belong to the medical examiner," France said.

"We have legal right to the heart," Jachimczyk argued. "It belongs to the medical examiner to complete his autopsy."

Last week at a forum, Dr. Jachimczyk recommended discontinuance "at this time" of heart transplants of homicide victims.

Dr. Cooley at the same time said he would use the heart of any person whose family gave permission for its use.

Casualties Show Decline

SAIGON (AP) — Both allied and Communist combat casualties dropped last week during a general slackening of fighting in South Vietnam, the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands reported today.

U.S. headquarters said 324 Americans were killed in the week ending last Saturday, 56 less than the previous week and the lowest count since 302 were killed in the week ending April 27.

The headquarters said 2,325 Americans were wounded last week, compared with 2,739 in the previous week. Of the total last week, 1,247 required hospitalization.

The U.S. Command reported 1,613 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed last week, or about half as many as the 3,176 enemy soldiers reported killed in the previous week.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 286 government troops killed and 1,189 wounded last week, compared with 392 killed and 1,156 wounded a week earlier.

THE COMMITTEE, by Walter Goodman (Farr, Straus and Giroux, $10)

Some Texans feel they can claim the House Un-American Activities Committee as the state's own for better or worse.

This is because the committee first reached fame when Rep. Martin Dies Sr., a Texas Democrat, headed it. Now it is generally known as the Pool Committee for Rep. Joe Pool, another Texas Democrat.

Many persons are inclined to forget that the committee had many other names in between. Ask a man on the street the nickname of the committee and in Texas, at least, he probably would reply "Dies."

Ask him about Rankin, Thomas, Velde and Walter and he wouldn't know what you were talking about probably.

Walter Goodman brings all the pieces together in a detailed book, "The Committee," which despite its length is an absorbing, readable volume and not the sort of thing people buy merely to stick on a reference shelf.

Goodman tells you at the start that he tends to liberalism so you expect to find this a hatchet job.

And it is, but in a peculiar way. It is critical not only of the committee—a resume of old charges—but also of many of those who attacked the committee.

Goodman is particularly good in describing the seedy characters who appeared before the committee without proper credentials and were permitted to voice their theories, guesses, suspicions and hate complexes without documentation.

The author reviews the complaints that the committee did not permit persons whose character was assassinated to properly defend themselves on the spot, that guilt by association was a form of attack and that both witnesses and committee members often issued broad and cruel statements without any solid facts in support.

Goodman indicates that much of the liberal criticism might have evaporated had the committee—or committees—treated the far right as it dealt with the far left.

He may be right. After all, Goodman has done some recent research. But the reviewer seems to recall considerable investigation of the far right—that is, nazism and fascism—during World War II.

It is interesting to note that Goodman says Dies was right more often than wrong about the organizations he probed.

The old-time power of the committee to "expose" is about dead. The development of the 5th Amendment technique just about did it in. And under current laws and court rulings, most prospective witnesses can tell all and ask the committee, "what are you going to do about it?" The answer is "nothing."

To an ole West Texan, a ranch is just a ranch and there is nothing very glamorous about it. But there is in the eyes of Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., descendant of the commodore, ex-owner of a dude spread and author of more than 15 books.

He is the author-editor of a handsome new volume about ranches which contains 420 photographs or drawings.

Vanderbilt traces the history of domesticated animals in the Americas and tells in text and pictures the stories of many ranches. The text is concise.

The writer-editor selects an amazing number of Texas ranches for the book. You could expect the King, XIT, DDD, 6666 and the Kenedys. Vanderbilt includes a large number of others from deep East Texas to the New Mexico line.

And if you want to identify major breeds of animals, these are included in a book that packs an amazing amount of information.

And much to the chagrin of any unreconstructed cowmen, Vanderbilt, in addition to cattle and horses, includes sheep, goats, hogs and mules. It also contains some of the best rodeo action pictures seen anywhere. —The AP.

THE SEA AROUND THEM, the Atlantic Ocean, A.D. 1250, By Vincent H. Cassidy (Louisiana State University Press, $7.50)

It may be that we can credit the Roman Catholic Church for the fact that the United Sates capital is not in Dublin or some other city.

That is one of the conclusions that can be drawn from a book just out about the Atlantic Ocean and what people thought about it before the year 1250.

There is some evidence that adventurous Celtic priests were the first Europeans to reach the American mainland. But the Church discouraged such travels in favor of pilgrimages to Rome and the important rediscovery was left to Columbus.

People have written about the earth from ancient times and sought to determine its geography. The book contains the major European theories, and outlines the major early explorations.

The compilation shows that if you were to pick this bit of speculation from one writer and another from a second and so on, you might have an excellent picture of the earty. For instance, one measurement, intended to be scientific, came within a few hundred miles of the true size.

The shape and other matters had pretty well been settled until further speculation almost was stopped in the Middle Ages by theological restrictions. — The AP.

INDIAN LIFE ON THE UPper Missouri, By John C. Ewers (University of Oklahoma Press, $7.95)

The Upper Missouri, a vast area, contained perhaps half of the Plains Indians at the time of the Lewis and Clark expedition in 1804-1805.

John C. Ewers, senior ethnologist with the Smithsonian Institution, picks a number of cultural points of these Indians for discussion. In addition to research, he interviewed some of the real old-timers.

Women Go For Indian Bit, Too

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — With their men in Nehrus and with gurus pondering over their medallions, women have had to come to the Indian thing too.

Larry Aldrich and his designer Marie McCarthy are offering a princely bit of mysticism opulent enough to awe a rajah and expensive enough to make him an ex-rajah.

"These are very wearable, if you can afford them," Aldrich said at the opening of New York Couture Groups weeklong preview of fall collections.

The Aldrich style Nehru fits into everybody's theme song for restful simplicity. The princess lines of rajah coats and Nehru or guru tunics jive with the currently revived idea of showing the body the way it is and not as some designer would have it.

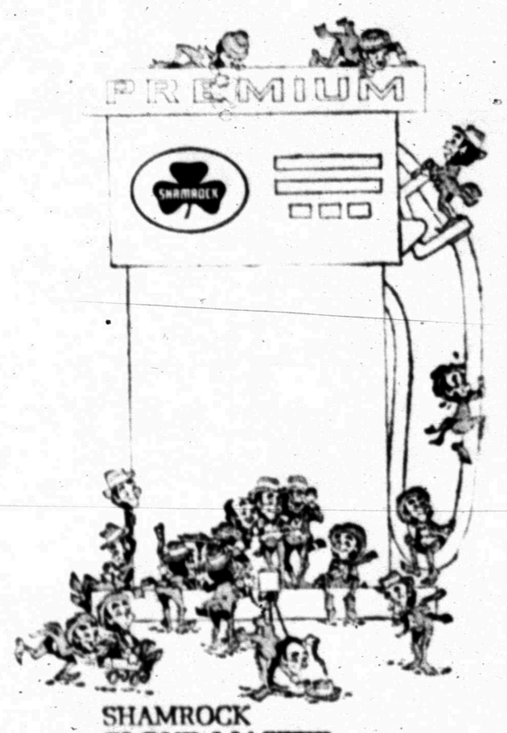

In sheer dark stockings and brown pumps, the models appeared in quiet-hued daytime dresses with Asian banded collars, some with girdled midriffs and swinging skirts and nearly all with yards and yards of chain dangling at their neck.

For evening wear the styles were simply the same, but opulently executed in gold brocades or dazzling jewels or outlined on chiffon or velvet, with bands of gold braid or jewels.

Just as establishment has given status to Indian mysticism recently popularized by the hippies, it has also glitterized and glamorized the hippie vest. The Aldrich version, blazing with jewels, slipped over a simple white satin dress with a guru neckline, of course.

Most creatures make do with what they are given by nature. The mole uses digging claws in place of a shovel, the beaver tells trees with teeth used as a saw.

Realtors Face Court Ruling Calmly

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most real estate men and local officials polled on the potential effects of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling this week barring racial discrimination in all housing are approaching the question with studied calm.

Many expressed confusion over how the decision will be implemented and how it will affect local and state laws on open housing.

Typical of reaction from realtors was the comment of Frank R. Hart, president of Walker and Lee, a residential brokerage firm in Orange County, Calif.

"In actual practice it will have very little effect," he said. "We sell minority people at this moment . . whether a seller can be forced to sign a deed even against his own wishes is getting close to another issue of basic constitutional rights."

And C. D. Lebey, a director of the Atlanta Real Estate Board, summed up the feeling of many, saying the decision "is just one more factor that in many instances will cause confusion, concern and perhaps misunderstanding on the part of many home sellers and home buyers. I don't think anyone can really say to what extent real estate will be affected."

Gene Cosner, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said the Supreme court decision, holding that an 1866 law bans discrimination in all housing, "makes any further open occupancy legislation unnecessary.

Robert Karpe, president of the California Real Estate Association, said he did not believe the ruling "will have any effect on association members in the day-to-day operation of their businesses.

"We have had for many years in our association code of ethics stipulation that we will offer property equally to any person without regard to race, creed or color. In this regard, I think we have gone further than the Supreme Court, since its ruling only covers racial discrimination. . ."

Jack Kleeman, executive vice president of the Chicago Real Estate Board, said he felt it was "too difficult to make a judgment" at this time.

Saying that local laws have done little "except to cause a little more talk," Clifford Robedeaux, past president of the Milwaukee Board of Realtors noted:

"This probably puts us back to where we were before the agitation started. We had been making good progress, and there had been sales to Negroes. But all this agitation and violence caused a hardening of attitudes. Maybe people can relax now."

GIVE REPORT — These are some of the 15 Snyder teachers and principals who attended a seminar on the use of the newspaper in the classroom at the University of Texas at Arlington. Here, they discuss what they learned with local school administrators and press representatives. They are, from left to right, front row, Mrs. D. D. Shelburne, Mrs. Robert J. Boren, Mrs. W. E. S. Dickerson II, and Mrs. James Lowe; and, back row, James Lowe, Wacil McNair, editor of the Snyder Daily News, Bill Hood, school superintendent, and Herman Trigg.

Local Teachers Back From 'Living Textbook' Session

Fifteen Snyder teachers have just returned from attending the fourth annual Living Textbook Conference at the University of Texas at Arlington. The three - day seminar is co - sponsored by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the University.

Local schools represented by the group were West Elementary, Central Elementary, North Elementary, and Travis Junior High. One substitute teacher also attended. All elementary grade levels from first through sixth had at least one represent.

Snyder participatns were Mrs. Dean Floyd, Mrs. D. D. Shelburne, Mrs. Marilyn Crownover, Mrs. Jack A. Nesbit, Mrs. John W. Brinner, Mrs. Elton Donelson, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. R. D. White, Mrs. James Lowe, Mrs. Tommy F. Williams, Mrs. Charles Blakey, Mrs. Robert J. Boren, Mrs. Lois Powell, Mr. James Lowe, and Mrs. W. E. S. Dickerson II.

Mrs. Hope Shackelford, award - winning English teacher from Wichita, Kan., and featured speaker at the conference, told the 220 teachers attending that teachers who fail to use the daily newspaper in the classroom are "two - by -four teachers." The "two -by - four teachers," Mrs. Shackelford said, only use what is contained between two covers of a textbook and do it inside the four walls of a classroom. "The newspaper can bring to class the reality of the entire world," she said.

Mrs. Shackelford told how the Living Textbook concept was begun 10 years ago in Iowa and today more than 10,000 schools offer the programs involving 48,000 teachers. Until the concept became a reality in the school room, little exposure to the problems facing the nation's youth was offered by the schools.

Calvin Sutton, managing editor of the Morning Fort Worth Star - Telegram headed a panel of editorial staff members who told of "A Newspaper of Many Interests."

J. Faires Kuykendall, circulation director of the Star Telegram, conducted another panel that answered questions on "Newspaper Management, Production and Distribution."

Panels of teachers for the elementary and secondary levels told of specific techniques for using the newspapers in the classroom. Mrs. Robert J. Boren, sixth grade teacher at West Elementary, served on the elementary panel. She gave suggestions on teaching the newspaper as a unit in communicative arts and as an aid in teaching social studies. Mrs. Boren also told of films available to be used in connection with the unit study and challenged teachers to return home and share the knowledge gained at the seminar with fellow teachers.

Other teachers from West Texas who appeared on the teacher panels were Mrs. Virginia Riggs of Ector High School in Odessa and Roland Rose of Andrews. Mrs. Riggs told how she uses the newspaper exclusively in teaching English to remedial students. She also gave a classroom demonstration with a group of students from Arlington High School.

Rose demonstrated the varied ways that he has used the newspaper in the teaching of social studies and arts and crafts in junior high. He also conducted a sectional meeting for the junior high level.

One highlight of the conference was the entertaining luncheon speech presented by George Dolan, author of the column "This is West Texas" which appears daily in the Morning Star - Telegram. Dolan was applauded frequently as he told tall tale after tall tale. He also told of his book, "Slightly Left and Right of Center" which is a collection of some of his columns.

Miss Antoinette Miller, President of Texas State Teachers Association, of Houston was among those who extended welcome addresses at the opening dinner meeting.

Dr. Allen J. Herndon, head of the Department of Education at the University of Texas at Arlington, served as conference director. He was assisted by Mr. James Gambrell, educational consultant of the Fort Worth Star - Telegram.

More Than Luck Needed For Prize

WASHINGTON (AP)—It may take more than luck to win all those cars, dollars and other prizes in gasoline giveaway games, says the chairman of a House subcommittee investigating the contests.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., says dealers participating in the games claim they can easily pick out the winning cards and arrange for their distribution in any way they wish—including not giving them to anyone.

Dingell planned to put several dealers on the witness stand today when his Small Business subcommittee opened hearings on the contests now being widely used by major oil companies.

He said they would give specific examples of cases in which winning cards were distributed according to pre-arranged plans designed to produce the biggest sales impact for the sponsoring oil company.

Dingell said the dealers have promised also to break open a fresh supply of contest cards and pick out all the winners.

He said one aim of the hearings is to determine whether the practices of the oil companies in connection with the contests violate any antitrust laws or federal regulations against deceptive rade practices.

Officials of the oil companies and the firms manufacturing the contest cards and equipment will also be called during the hearings.

Work Done On Nuclear Arms Treaty

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations has completed its action on the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons, and the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are expected to open it for signature in Washington, London and Moscow before the end of the month.

The Security Council welcomed declarations Wednesday by the three atomic powers that they would seek the council's immediate aid for any non-nuclear country subjected to nuclear aggression or threat after accepting the treaty.

The three pushed such a proposal through the council by a vote of 10-0, with Algeria, Brazil, France, India and Pakistan abstaining. A week earlier, a resolution commending the treaty had gone through the General Assembly by a vote of 95-4 with 21 abstentions.

After the council acted, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov said the road was now clear for opening the treaty for signature.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the United States would "move as speedily as possible" to do that 'at a very early date," in concert with the two other powers.

The treaty, drafted by the United States and the Soviet Union and sent here from the Geneva Disarmamen Committee, commits countries with nuclear weapons not to transfer them to other countries and those without them not to acquire them. It will take effect when ratified by those two, Britain and any 40 other signers.

Freeman Feels Farms Will Suffer From Protectionisms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trade with other nations should be a two-way street, with the United States willing to buy as well as sell, says Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

If Congress succumbs to what Freeman considers a spreading fever of trade protectionism, he says, the American farmer will suffer by having fewer of his products move into world markets.

Freeman told the House Ways and Means Committee during recent hearings on the proposed Trade Expansion Act of 1968 that the United States would lose the most in a global protectionist trade war.

The weapons used in such a conflict are many and complex but basically their functions are similar: To keep foreign-produced goods from serious competition in a country's domestic market.

High tariff rates on foreign goods coming into a country is an example of the protectionist weaponry. Quotas, which tell foreign producers how much a country will buy from them, are other devices.

As Freeman spoke in support of the Trade Expansion Act, President Johnson was busy issuing an order setting quotas on certain dairy imports. The agriculture secretary had recommended them.

This is a form of protectionism and, at first glance, is inconsistent with what Freeman preaches about freer trade and two-way streets.

But Freeman describes the dairy situation as different and draws a line between what he considers all-out protectionism and selective protection.

The action on dairy imports restricts immediately the entry into the United States of condensed and ecaporated milk and cream. Several other dairy products were recommended for investigation and possible restriction by the U.S. Tariff Commission.

Briefly, Freeman said foreign producers—mainly in Europe—are being paid higher support prices, thus creating a surplus. These surpluses, he said, have been pouring into this country through loopholes in dairy import quota regulations proclaimed last year.

The foreign dairy products have been coming into the United States at cut rate prices. Bulk shipments of sweetened condensed milk, for example, entered New York last month at 13 cents a pound, duty paid, compared with the U.S. domestic price of around 20 cents a pound.

Evaporated milk imports, Freeman said, totaled 1.5 million pounds the first four months of this year—more than for all of 1967.

The emergency quotas are provided under Section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, which permits them whenever the secretary of agriculture believes imports are interfering with the price support programs of the government.

The United States is the world's largest exporter of farm products, with total shipments rising from $4.5 billion in 1960 to a record of $6.8 billion last year.

Farmers are frequently bombarded by the immensity of these exports and their importance to the agricultural economy.

On an over-all basis, exports account for 16 cents of every dollar the farmer receives in cash marketings.

Thus, in a broad sense, Freeman is adamantly opposed to any move by Congress to pursue seriously a trade protectionist policy. What he calls "selective" regulation of specific foreign products—yes. A general base of high tariffs and quotas—no.

jbut Congress has been besieged by scores of people and interests who feel they have special problems, too. They suggest—as Freeman has about dairy imports—that some controls are required.

Eggers Favors Tax Sharee For States

AUSTIN (AP)—Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls, Republican candidate for governor, said Wednesday night he favors returning to the states part of the federal income tax collected.

"These funds would be used by the states at both state and local level to improve education, law enforcement and to establish programs in the lower economic strata," he said in a speech to Bluebonnet Girls State.

Eggers said the "dole system, which has grown since the '30s, has not proved to be a successful method of solving the problems of the underprivileged."

Scoggins Is Named Minority Leader

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Charles R. Scoggins of Corpus Christi, the first Republican elected to the legislature from South Texas in 100 years, has been named minority leader in the House.

Scoggins got the job on the basis of seniority among the eight GOP lawmakers in the 150-member House. He was elected in 1963.

Long Talk Session Likely Before Issues Are Faced

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The U.S. delegation at the Vietnam talks in Paris is facing a tough, uphill struggle as it tries to convince North Vietnam's leaders that they are misreading American and world opinion.

If it succeeds at all, the delegation may be at the job for the rest of the summer.

The Americans appear convinced that the major reason for the deadlock is that North Vietnam expects in the long run to win a propaganda victory which it hopes will force the United States into making a major concession.

North Vietnamese leaders, say the Americans, see it this way: The United States has gone part of the way toward ending bombing and acts of war against North Vietnamese territory, so why not go the rest of the way and then see what happens?

The United States, as of now, does not intend to do this without some reliable assurance that North Vietnam will do something in return toward de-escalating the war in the South.

One reason why week-long recesses have been agreed to, the Americans say, is that the Hanoi delegation must check back with the ruling politburo in North Vietnam on virtually every word it says or intends to say in Paris.

The process involves regular meetings of the politburo each week to consider strategy and to assay the effects of each meeting upon world opinion.

Th Americans say, however, that Hanoi is reading world and American opinion from its own vacuum, and is reading it the wrong way. The U.S. delegation members appear convinced that there has been a steady change in favor of the American side since President Johnson made his March 31 speech renouncing renomination for the presidency, limiting the bombing of North Vietnam to the panhandle below the 20th parallel and opening the way for the Paris talks.

The talks, however, settled down into a propaganda war. The North Vietnamese delegation not only has rejected the efforts of the chief U.S. negotiator, W. Avrell Harriman, the change this, but has re-emphasized the propaganda aspects of the Paris conference.

A week ago, Harriman asked Xuan Thuy, chief of the Hanoi delegation, once again to abandon the practice of giving out prepared statements, full of accusations and vitriol, after each session, and to get down to less public negotiating. Thuy said he would take the proposal under advisement, and for the moment the Americans thought they might have made some progress.

If the proposal was taken under advisement, it went back during the week-long recess to the Hanoi politburo. The answer was more than plain as the delegation emerged from their ninth session Wednesday. Not only did the Hanoi delegation release yet another statement, but it did so even before the session ends, a new departure.

Hanoi apparently is bargain hunting: perhaps hoping to get a bargain in the form of ending the bombing without cost to North Vietnam, perhaps in the form of a cession of some of the South's territory, or perhaps in the form of a coalition in the South with the Viet Cong's Liberation Front in an influential role.

Ghana, once Britain's Gold Coast, and Mali, formerly the French Sudan, adopted the names of medieval African empires. Mali also means hippopotamus, which its tribesmen regard as a symbol of strength.

Listening In On Girls At Lunch

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It was an ordinary luncheon meeting for the office working ladies at their nearby quick service grill and beanery, the "In-and-Out Club."

They were hen-pecking their problems as usual. A curious male bystander heard these typical examples of current female prose in the industrial arena:

"I would rather stay single forever than marry any of the available jerks in my place."

"He isn't a bad guy to work for if you don't mind spending eight hours a day with a person who wears a clip-on 75-cent bow tie and whose mind falls apart at 9:02 a.m."

"I would describe him as an employer who is just finding out he is tied alive to a wife he doesn't want to be found dead with."

"When he uses a word I don't understand, I simply cross my legs—and he starts the sentence all over again."

"His basic problem is that his wife does understand him —and so do I."

"Watch out for Maude. She always orders a third one because her boss has four at lunch—and that means she doesn't have to worry about him being able to smell her breath after lunch."

"I hate to go to business and have the kids come home to an empty house. But if I don't go to business, how can we afford a color television set, and you know how important color television is to the modern child."

"Mabel . . . Mabel, honey . . . don't look so blue. You were right and he was wrong. Anyway, none of them are worth it."

"I don't care how much trouble men are, I'd rather argue with one of them than to spend my life cutting up beef kidneys for a cat."

"Well, if the rest of you girls think we should have another round, heaven knows I don't want to be the only kill-joy in the crowd."

"Yeah, don't look at the table to the right now. It's the homely guy who is staring at us. Pretend you don't notice. Maybe the guy next to him—he's better looking—will turn this way. I think he's playing hard to get."

"Well, girls, shall those of us who are free go to an educational program this evening, or meet at somebody's house and take off our shoes and have fun?"

"See him over there—the one with the blue eyes and his mouth full of corned beef and cabbage? Ny-uss, huh. Ny-uss! For him I'd give my blood to the Red Cross."

"I could get a merit raise anytime I want to, but up to now I don't need a merit raise that much."

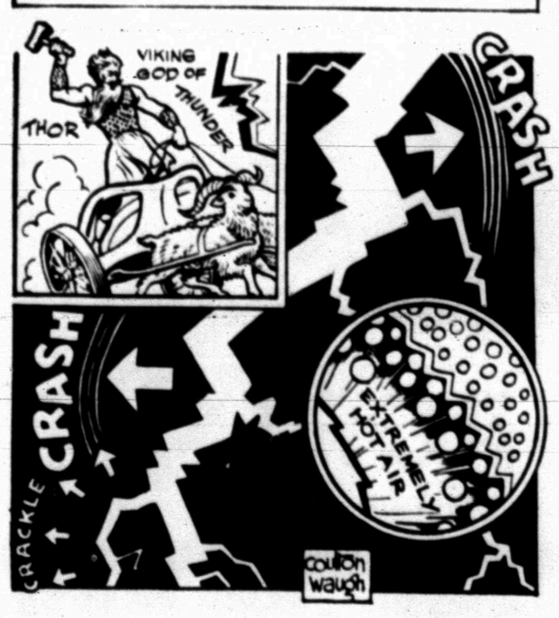

"Will somebody please tell Mildred to pull her skirt down? This is a business girls' luncheon, not a free burlesque show."

"My husband will probably meet me after work. After all, he should. I lent him the money to put gas in the car."

"Well, girls, shall we head back to the salt mine and start finding out where our bosses are trying to hide out for the rest of the day?"

"Yes, here comes Freddy with the check. Okay, girls, everybody get out their pens and pencils and start figuring. Was it you, Agnes, who ordered the chicken salad or the super club sandwich?"

Junior Editors Quiz on THUNDER

QUESTION: How do thunder and lightning come about?

* * * *

ANSWER: The ancient peoples were terrified by thunder. They could not understand how it was produced. They imagined that one of the gods was angry with them, such as the Viking god Thor, whom we show raising the hammer which he was supposed to use in making thunderbolts. We still respect the mighty force of lightning but it is no longer a mystery. It is something we can understand. Lightning is caused by powerful electrical charges which build up inside certain kinds of clouds. When this electric pressure becomes very strong it is released by lightning, which may strike within the cloud or connect with something on or near the earth. A very large amount of electrical energy passes through the thunderbolt. This instantly heats the air it passes through to a very high degree. The heat expands the molecules of the air and these fly violently outward, crashing into the smaller molecules of the cooler air beyond. It is this collision which produces the thunder, symbolized in the circular diagram by larger circles ramming into smaller ones.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter Lisa is 17, and if I have to say so myself she is a very beautiful girl. She was invited to a formal country club party by a 21-year-old fellow who comes from one of the best families. He asked her if she could stay all night at his home as it would probably be a late evening and it would save him a lot of driving. (They live in one of those big homes on a nearby lake.)

I told Lisa to tell him, no, that we want her to come home to sleep no matter how late the party lasts.

This morning I got a call from this young fellow's mother urging me to let Lisa stay at her home all night. Abby, I have never met this woman. She is high society and she may be very nice, but just because people have money doesn't always mean they're nice. Anyway, I told her I was sorry, but I wanted Lisa home. Now Lisa says I'm square. Am I?

DEAR MOM: If you are "square," I want to be in all four of your corners.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are middle - aged and we're watching our weight. We do all right at home, but our troubles begin when we're guests in someone's home. (I don't mean for dinner. I mean those late midnight "snacks" after cards, etc.)

We count our calories all week, and then the hostess puts all this stuff on the table, and pushes it onto our plates, saying, "O, I've worked so hard, you've GOT to eat this!" Or, "IF you don't eat it, I'll have to throw it out!"

We have come home stuffed and uncomfortable because we couldn't get out of eating. We tell ourselves, 'Never again," but on the next week-end it's the same story. How can we protect ourselves?

GORGED

DEAR GORGED: First, a word to the well - intentioned hostess who makes her guests feel guilty if they decline her snacks. Shame on you! The only defense a guest has against such a hostess is to say, "No thank you." And then keep his trap shut.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for the woman whose husband suffered a heart attack out of town at 2 a.m. in the apartment of another woman. I have just gone thru a similar experience that left me shaken and close to a breakdown.

My husband is 52, handsome, charming, and hard - working. He said he wanted to go away alone for the week - end to "rest." He didn't tell me where he could be reached in case of emergency, but when he came back I found a receipt for a motel stay indicating that a "Mr. and Mrs." had stayed there.

I was crushed. After loving him and struggling with him for nearly 25 years, I felt betrayed and rejected. I consulted a lawyer and came within an inch of filing for divorce. I could have thrown him out and taken most of his worldly goods, but I thought, "What for? I love him. Why should I send him straight into the arms of a gal who can't get a man of her own, and thinks its fair game to go after a middle-aged lothario whose wife doesn't understand him?" (I understood him only too well. He reached the age where a man needs reassurance, and I wasn't smart enough to give it to him.)

I took him back and I'm not sorry. Now he thinks I am the greatest. He says he's always loved me, and I believe him. We all make mistakes and this was his. I can truthfully say that we have a much better marriage now than we had before.

Full Year Combat Slated For Pilots

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today that all pilots flying combat runs against North Vietnam will have to serve a full 12 months of duty, rather than leaving as soon as they complete 100 missions.

An Air Force spokesman said the action was taken to eliminate inequities between pilots who fly missions against North Vietnam and those who operate against targets only in South Vietnam.

Under the old system, the Air Force said, "some aircrew members were allowed to return from Southeast Asia upon completion of 100 combat missions over North Vietnam . . ."

Most pilots have been able to do this in about 10 months, the Air Force said, but there have been flyers who finished their duty in as little as eight months.

On the other hand, Air Force crewmen flying solely against targets inside South Vietnam had to serve a full year of combat duty, the usual length of time for most U.S. troops in the war, regardless of the number of missions, which sometimes mounted to 300.

The Air Force denied the new order has anything to do with a pilot shortage, but it appeared obvious that extending the tours would slow up personnel rotation and thus relieve the pressure to provide replacements.

The old system allowing pilots to leave the war zone after 100 missions regardless of time was set up because flying against North Vietnam was considered a greater risk than faced in South Vietnam.

Air Force officers said that if a pilot must remain on combat duty beyond 100 missions over the North, efforts will be made to keep him out of what is called the "high risk" areas.

Navy and Marine pilots flying from carriers against targets in North Vietnam operate under no mission limit. They normally stay in the combat zone only as long as their carriers do, generally about six months at a time.

Smuggling Is Big Business

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — All along Cambodia's 500-mile border with South Vietnam enormous quantities of rice are being smuggled to the Viet Cong.

The illegal trade is a threat to neutral Cambodia's precarious economy. The government of Prince Norodom Sihanouk is making vigorous efforts to stop the smuggling but seems powerless to prevent Cambodia from being the Viet Cong's principal granary. Western diplomats here estimate that at least 100,000 tons of milled rice — enough to feed a million Vietnamese for a year — was smuggled from Cambodia into Viet Cong controlled areas of South Vietnam in 1967. This estimate is supported by U.S. officials in Saigon.

Despite stringent new control measures, the trade is continuing in 1968.

The clandestine exports, nearly half of Cambodia's exportable surplus of rice, are lost to the country's trade balance and create one of Sihanouk's most pressing economic and political problems. He fears that the Viet Cong's massive purchases may border areas to reprisal attacks from allied forces.

Although he maintains friendly relations with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, he has ordered a big government drive against the illegal export of rice. An able army officer, Maj. Gen. Soukham Khoy, has been appointed director of the Cambodian Customs Service and put in charge of the war against the smugglers and the corruption that helps them.

Chinese merchants in Phnom Penh are suspected of being involved, and action has been taken against some of them. Communist China's embassy is also suspected of playing a role, particularly in arranging payment for larger shipments.

Cambodian officials feel that neither the North Vietnamese Embassy nor the National Liberation Front's diplomatic mission here has directly helped to organize the racket.

The illegal traffic moves in trucks or sampans or is carried in individual sacks traved to Viet Cong representatives at the border. The trade is so profitable that it is causing a labor shortage on Cambodia's rubber plantations.

Innumerable peasants can be seen any day on the dirt tracks of the Mekong Delta with sacks of rice tied to their bicycles. They are usually headed toward the border. The Viet Cong pays $3 for a 22-pound sack of milled rice — usually in American currency — and asks no questions.

The fixed Cambodian buying price is 54 riels for this amount, the equivalent of 90 cents at the black market exchange rate.

The larger organized shipments go by truck. No cash is exchanged for these loads except for bribes paid by the driver at Cambodian roadblocks. When rice has been unloaded on the Vietnamese side of the line, Viet Cong officers had the driver a signed receipt. Payment is made later by a bank transfer through Hong Kong or Paris.

Cambodia produces an average of 1½ million tons of milled rice per year. Average annual exports before the Vietnam war were about 500,000 tons, contributing more than $50 million to the country's balance of payments. By 1966, Cambodia's legal rice exports were down to 190,000.

Marichal Wins 13th, Mets Clip Astros 8-2

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The strong young arms were at it again in the National League Wednesday night. A couple of strong old ones did pretty well, too.

Juan Marichal, who's pushing 30 . . . years and maybe victories as well . . . won his 13th game and ninth straight, pitching San Francisco to a 5-1 victory over Philaeelphia. Elderl Bob Veale, all of 32, hurled a six-hitter and Pittsburgh won its eighth straight, 2-1 over Los Angeles.

So much for the senior citizens.

Steve Carlton, 23, headed the kiddie corps' show with a one-hitter, hurling St. Louis to a 4-0 victory over Chicago. Jerry Koosman, 24, won his 11th game for the New York Mets, pitching a five-hitter to beat Houston 8-2. And Ron Reed, 25, fired a four-hitter for Atlanta's 3-1 victory over Cincinnati.

In the American League, Boston dropped Detroit 8-5, Minnesota shut out Washington 4-0, Cleveland topped Chicago 3-1, Oakland downed Baltimore 5-3, and California nipped New York 3-2.

Marichal, 13-2, leads the majors in victories, and has achieved his total with just over one-third of the season over. It's a timetable that could lead to 30—a plaeau that hasn't been reached since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

The Giants' ace had help against Philadelphia from another elder operative—Willie Mays. The Amazing One slashed consecutive triples in the seventh and eighth innings, scoring two runs and knocking in one, as the Giants snapped a 1-1 tie. The two triples tied Mays with Ty Cobb for fourth place on the alltime extra base hit list with 1,139.

Carlton, 8-2, allowed only a fourth inning single by Glenn Beckert and hurled his fourth shutout. He struck out nine and permitted just four base runners.

Orlando Cepeda provided all the offense Carlton needed, hammering a three-run homer in the bottom of the third inning against loser Rich Nye. It was Cepeda's eighth homer of the season.

Veale outpitched another of the strong young arms—Los Angeles' Bill Singer—as the Pirates beat LA with a Dodger-like attack.

Maury Wills singled in the sixth inning, moved to second on a sacrifice, reached third on a passed ball and came in on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly, tying the game at 1-1. In the seventh, Gene Alley walked, stole second, took third on Skinger's wild pickoff throw and scored on Jerry May's single.

Koosman, 11-2, tied a Met club record with his sixth consecutive victory and breezed past the Astros.

Cleon Jones sparked a four-run first inning rally with a triple and then homered in the fifth as the Mets accomplished the fastest knockout of a pitcher in their history by disposing of Don Wilson after the first three baters reached base in the first inning.

Reed, who won his first six decisions and then dropped three in a row, finally won No. 7 by beating the Reds.

The young right-hander had a two-hitter through eight innings before consecutive ninth inning doubles by Vada Pinson and Fred Whitfield cost him his shutout.

Felix Millan had four straight hits and Clete Boyer tagged a home run for the Braves.

Patsy Leads Net Field

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Quarterfinals today in the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association's women's championships matched the eight seeded players, led by Patsy Rippy, the 20-year-old defending champion.

The four seeded doubles teams were in action also in the second and third rounds of doubles.

Miss Rippy of Odessa (Tex.) Junior College scored an easy 6-2, 6-0 victory Wednesday over Maricaye Christenson of USC.

Advancing with her were Royalee Bailey, USC; Becky Vst, Trinity (Tex.) Emile Burrer, Trinity; Tina Layman, California; Diane Matzner, Odessa; Wendy Overton, Rollins (Fla.) and Peggy Michels, Arizona State.

Miss Rippy, 13th-ranked U.S. woman player, and Miss Matzner form the top-seeded doubles team. They received a bye Wednesday along with the second-ranked duo of Miss Burrer and Miss Vest.

Other seeded doubles teams advancing were Miss Overton and Judy Dixon of Rollins and the Arizona State team of Miss Michels and Carol Gay.

Wake Forest Sets Pace

By PAT THOMPSON

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Grier Jones and Allen Miller, studying toward business degrees, put a little of their schooling to work on the golf course—saving strokes.

Jones, a 22-year-old Oklahoma State money and banking student, and Miller, 19, an insurance major at the University of Georgia, went into today's second round of the NCAA Golf Championship tied.

Their golf was hotter than the 98-degree sun rays beating on the New Mexico State course Wednesday as each fired NCAA record-tying 65s—six under par.

They held a two-stroke lead over Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, N.C., golfer Jack Lewis Jr. and Houston's Doug Olson, whose 67 saved his defending champion Cougars from falling in the middle of the pack.

As it was, Wake Forest at 269 strokes or five-under par, took a three-stroke lead into the second 18-hole round. Arizona State, paced by Paul Purtzer's 68, was next with 282.

Sun Kings Shaded 7-3

Texas League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Albuquerque won the first battle in the war for first place in the Texas League's western division Wednesday night, gunning down El Paso 7-3 for a one-game lead.

The two teams meet again in El Paso tonight and the Sun Kings could even things again with a victory.

In other games Memphis shut out eastern division leader Arkansas 3-0 and 1-0 in a twin bill and Dallas-Fort Worth finally whipped Shreveport 2-1 in a rain-delayed 10-inning game. San Antonio and Amarillo were idle.

Top Grid Rookies Are In Demand

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The first five men picked in the pro football draft are among the 21 rookies who will play in both the Coaches' All-America game at Atlanta June 28 and the Tribune All-Star game against Green Bay at Chicago Aug. 2.

Ron Yary, the big tackle from Southern California who was the No. 1 special bonus pick by Minnesota, acquired in the Fran Tarkenton deal a year ago, heads the list.

Bob Johnson, Tennessee's All-American center who recently signed with the new Cincinnati Bengals was No. 2. Then came Claude Humphrey, the giant defensive end from Tennessee A&I, picked by Atlanta, and Russ Washington, offensive tackle from Missouri, taken by San Diego.

Fred Carr, Green Bay's first-round pick and No. 5 over-all will be tried at tight end when he gets to the Packers but will be a linebacker in the two All-Star games.

Others who have been picked for both Atlanta and Chicago are Gary Beban of UCLA and Greg Landry of Massachusetts, both quarterbacks; Larry Csonka of Syracuse and Max Anderson of Arizona State, running backs; Fred Hyatt of Auburn, Dennis Homan of Alabama and Charles Sanders of Minnesota, ends.

John Williams of Minnesota, offensive tackle; John Garlington of LSU, Wayne Meylan of Nebraska and Adrian Young of Southern California, linebackers; Curley Culp of Arizona State, Kevin Hardy of Notre Dame, and Tim Rossovich, Southern California, defensive linemen; Jim "zazoo" Smith of Oregon, defensive back, and Jerry DePoyster of Wyoming, kicker.

FROM PHILLIE HELM

Mauch Stoical About Ouster

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Mauch said he had no kicks about the way the Philadelphia Phillies handled his dismissal as manager.

The 42-year-old Mauch held a news conference Wednesday. He said there was no graceful way to fire a guy.

Mauch also refused to knock slugger Richie Allen, whose feud with the manager was one of the major factors in Mauch's firing Saturday by Phillies' owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn.

"I'm not knocking Richie Allen," he said. "That son-of-a-gun gave me many a thrill."

As for the Phillies firing him while he wasin California at the bedisde of his ailing wife, Mauch said there was no other way to handle the situation.

"When two people know something there is no secret. Bob and John made up their minds to fire me. They had to get somebody and had to tell the guy.

"It made me almost ill to hear the organization rapped. It would have been 10 times worse if I heard it elsewhere."

Mauch said he hopes to remain in baseball. "Number one, of course, you have to be offered a job. But I don't intend to stay out of baseball unless baseball stays away from me.

"I want to be in uniform on a baseball field. It's the greatest way of life."

Mauch said, however, he hadn't talked with a soul about a job. "Until I got in the plane Monday to come back to Philadelphia I hadn't given one thought to my future. I was scared about my wife. But she is okay."

Mets Climb Up Ladder

NEW YORK (AP) — Smooth-throwing Jerry Koosman and the scrambling New York Mets have turned another corner in their separate but closely related flirhts up the National League ladder.

Koosman fired a five-hitter Wednesday night and passed the halfway mark in his quest for a 20-victory rookie season as the Mets pounded the Houston Astros 8-2.

The Mets, whose bid to reach the break-even mark for the first time this late in a season was frustrated in a doubleheader loss to the Astros Tuesday night, bounced back with a 10-hit attack that swept Koosman to his 11th victory in 13 decisions.

The victory left New York at 30-33, tied with Chicago and Cincinnati for seventh place and two games out of the first division.

"I'm throwing more off-speed pitches because I'm learning how," said Koosman, who has completed eight of his 14 starts and boasts a 1.52 ERA.

Jack Likes It Rough

TORONTO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says St. George's Golf Club "is pretty" although in his opinion beautiful courses have no place on the professional golf tour.

"If I had my way, every golfer would have to walk single file down the fairway in shoulder-high rough," Nicklaus said Wednesday on the eve of the opening round of the 72-hole Canadian Open Golf Championship.

The Open runs through Sunday and carries total prize money of $125,000 with a first-place purse of $25,000.

Nicklaus was one of the last of the field of 150 to arrive here late Wednesday afternoon and tested the par 70, 6,792-yard layout.

He contended that most of the courses on the PGA circuit played the "same way every club member plays them."

"They're not tricked up at all. I personally like them tougher 8the tougher the better—because then the best golfers have the best chanc of winning."

Harmon, Dean Reach Goals

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Harmon Killebrew and Dean Chance reached personal milestones and Frank Quilici 4-0 victory over Washington reached cloud 9 in Minnesota's Wednesday night for the Twins' sixth straight victory.

Killebrew drove in the 1,000th run of his career for the Twins' first run in the fifth inning, while Chance notched his 100th major league victory with a three-hit, 10-strikeout pegformance.

Quilici, Minnesota's forgotten man until Rod Carew went away for two weeks of Marine Reserve duty, collected three hits in four times at bat, making him 11-for-19 since he began playing regularly at second base in the stretch drive.

Killebrew, who professes to pay scant attention to goals and records, admitted that bagging his 1,000th RBI "means a little exra."

Harmon quoted chapter and verse on his first major league RBIs.

'I hit a double to drive in two runs of Alex Kellner of the Tletics in old Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia in June 1954," Killebrew said.

'It was my third time at bat in the major lagues. I had pinch hit twice, and this was the first game I started."

Killebrew was 17 years old when he drove in those first runs.

"It seems like a long time since the first one," he said. "It makes me feel like an old man."

Chance was nonchalant about about his 100th victory, and he pitched it so routinely it lacked much drama.

Asked if this wasn't a pretty workmanlike job, Chance replied, "When you're ahead, you can make them look like that. I had four runs and excellent fielding behind me."

Russians Stop BackhandedPraise

By HENRY S. BRADSHER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets have stopped doing a free propaganda job for the United States.

Kremlin leaders are no longer reminding their people that U.S. industry is the biggest and best, the U.S. standard of living higher than almost anyone else's.

Instead, Soviet propaganda concentrates on trying to depict things in the United States as awful. It seeks to destroy the image of a prosperous, successful counry.

The deaths of Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert F. Kenaedy have served this propaganda well. But it goes deeper, into denials of good things about American life.

For decades the headlong Soviet drive for economic progress in this underdeveloped country was spurred by comparisons with the U.S. economy. Russians continually were told that they must catch up with the United Sates.

The inevitable result was to create an image in Soviet minds of America as an economic ideal, a place where the good life really existed rather than just being a promise slowly fulfilled.

Joseph V. Stalin began this use of U.S. examples when he was using dictatorial methods for Soviet industralization in the 1930s. He brought in experts from the Ford Motor Co. and other Americans to show how things were done in the United States, and he hoped the peasants who built new industrial towns would imitate U.S. techniques.

Nikita S. Khrushev inherited them when he became the top Soviet leader in the 1950s. He made it more explicit by talking often of U.S. examples and setting goals to surpass U.S. production.

The United States is agriculturally rich and it grows more corn than the Soviet Union, so we must grow more corn, Khrushchev said. He promised greater milk and meat output per person than the United States. He prodded industry to catch up.

"In the current decade the Soviet Union, in creating the material and technical basis of communism, will surpass the strongest and richest capitalist country, the U.S.A., in production per head of the population," said the Communist party program issued in 1961 under Khrushchev's guidance.

In theory, that party program still stands. But the theory is allowed to exist only because it would be embarrassing to admit what everyone knows. Much of the program has been quietly abandoned.

"The task set by the party," Leonid I. Brezhnev said after Khrushchev's ouster, "to surpass the per capita output achieved by the most developed capitalist countries, is being steadily fulfilled."

Occasionally there is mention these days of such claims as that Soviet coal production exceeds U.S. output. On most things the Soviet Union cannot within the foreseeable future catch up.

The old tendency to compare seems to have been brought under a control which avoids backhanded praise of the United States. Instead, Soviet propagandists seize upon all the ills of U.S. society, whether poverty or violence. They depict the illnesses as the reality.

Nine Texans Get Medals For Heroism

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Nine Texans were awarded medals and cash for heroism Wednesday by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. One Oklahoma man also was given an award for a heroic act in Texas.

Hale B. Ingram and Joe E. Savage, both of Houston, were awarded bronze medals and $750 for their rescue of three persons from a burning oil drilling platform off the Louisiana Gulf Coast last July 19.

Delbert Chance of Moore, Okla., Jimmy Dool of Aspermont, Tex., Clifford A. Kolb of Aspermont and Carol J. Brazee Sr., of Guthrie, Tex., were also awarded Bronze medals and $750 each for the rescue of an airman from a crashed Air Force plane near Guthrie last Oct. 12.

Jerrol P. Lowe of Houston was given $750 and a bronze medal for the rescue of a 4-year-old girl from a lion that escaped from a cage in Houston Aug. 15, 1967.

Ross M. Lynch Jr. of McQueeny, Tex., and Frank B. Roberts III of San Antonio were awarded medals and $500 each for the rescue of a woman from a burning boat June 14, 1967, near McQueeny.

The widow of Emery Lee Folks of Orange was awarded a bronze medal and $80 a month for the next five years. Her husband drowned last Nov. 27 while trying to save the life of a fellow worker who had fallen into an artificial lagoon while working in Orange.
