East Germans Building Wall In Berlin

School Blaze Probed Here

CLASSROOM RUBBLE—Desks and other equipment were left in ruins following an early-morning fire at Stanfield Elementary School. Damage to the building and equipment has not been calculated.

Stanfield Building Damaged

City firemen answered a general alarm to the school at 1:38 a. m. today when smoke began pouring from the building.

The blaze was concentrated in two or three rooms of the south wing of the building, but smoke and heat damage was more widespread. Considerable smoke damage was noted in the north classroom wing, in the cafeteria and even in the gymnasium.

Apparently the blaze had smoldered for some time and smoke spread to the entire building before heat broke windows and permitted smoke to escape.

The fire department and police department launched an extensive investigation. Fire Chief Warren Boyd said the fire apparently was started by vandals. Some two or three weeks ago it was discovered that vandals had entered the same building and had started a fire with alcohol in the school nurses room. That fire had been put out by a fire extinguisher and damage was minor.

T. E. McCollum, superintendent of schools, said it was believed that last night's fire was started in a similar manner.

McCollum said no estimate of the damage could be calculated until a complete survey of facilities is made. However, he said that the fire was not likely to disrupt plans for opening of school on Sept. 1. He said it may be necessary to forego use of the south wing temporarily until repairs can be made, but the north wing, which has only smoke damage, probably will be ready for use on schedule. If necessary, some of the Stanfield classes can be shifted temporarily to vacant rooms at West Elementary School at the outset of the term, the superintendent said.

Fred Buford of Dallas, who was architect of the building is scheduled to come here Saturday to assist in assessing the damage and in making plans for repairs.

Desks and other equipment were destroyed in two rooms, window frames were warped, floors were damaged and other equipment was ruined in the fire. Lesser damage was found throughout the remainder of the south wing.

The Stanfield School, newest elementary building in the system, was first occupied two years ago. It was constructed at a cost of more than $400,000. Over 300 pupils have been enrolled in the Stanfield school during each of the past two terms.

Guards Shoot Heavy Truck

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP) —East Germany's Communist rulers, miffed at the continued flight of a few refugees, began throwing up a brick wall inside East Berlin today to reinforce their barbed wire barricades.

Red guards shot up a heavy truck that three refugees rammed through the wire in the night, West Berlin police reported. But the men reached the haven of West Berlin unhurt. One bullet went into a house wall on the Western side.

With East Germany recruiting youths to swell its 110,000-man army, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a special session of his lower house in Bonn that West Germany will step up its military preparedness within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He gave no details. He promised cooperation with the Western Allies to get East-West negotiations started.

Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt joined at the session, called to consider the Berlin crisis, in attacking the Communist actions here as a violation of human rights.

Qualified diplomats in London said the United States, Britain and France were considering a token increase of their garrisons in West Berlin, now totaling about 11,000 troops. A British official said "Britain almost certainly will support and follow any lead set by the United States on this question."

A Western proposal to the Soviet Union for high-level talks on the future of Germany and Berlin appeared in the making.

Reliable sources in London said the United States, Britain and France are drafting new messages, probably to be dispatched to the Kremlin next week, that could lead to meetings of East-West foreign ministers or chiefs of state.

The messages would, reply to Russian notes of Aug. 3 expressing willingness for negotiations aimed at concluding a German peace treaty. The Western Big Three, however, were reported as determined as ever to reject Premier Khrushchev's demands that West Berlin be made a disarmed neutral city and that peace treaties be signed with East and West Germany as separate states.

The East Germans' new brick wall rose on a strategic segment of the 25-mile sector border through which a trickle of East Germans was still escaping to the West.

From West Berlin, Communist engineers could be seen erecting the solid new barrier well-behind the barbed wire, presumably to aid Red guards on the border with a no man's land.

At this stage of construction it was not possible to determine if the engineers intended to cover long stretches of the border or only certain spots difficult to guard.

Western authorities estimated about 150 persons daily were still outwitting the Communists.

Allied sources also said between 10 and 20 members of the East German guard force have deserted to the West this week with their weapons. They include members of the people's police, members of the workers' militia and at least one soldier of the East German army.

Many of the escapees bolted through or over the iron and wire fence flung across the city. A number swam the streams and canals that criss-cross the frontier.

Brandt charged in Bonn that the Communists are erecting a "sort of Great Wall of China" to keep the East Germans in and demanded that the United Nations deal with the situation as a "flagrant violation of human rights."

Senate Declines Veto Power On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today turned down a proposal to give Congress a veto over all foreign aid grants for development assistance projects abroad amounting to more than $5 million.

It rejected an amendment by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., to apply to such gifts the same curbs it had previously voted for economic development loans above $5 million.

Under the Treasury - financed five-year development loan program, the Senate had voted into the foreign aid bill a requirement that each proposed loan be submitted to four congressional committees 30 days in advance.

Any one of these committees would be empowered to propose a concurrent solution under which a majority of the Senate and House could stop any loan to which Congress objected.

Prouty's amendment to apply the same oversight to grants of assistance was rejected by an announced vote of 39-30.

Leaders were aiming at Senate passage by tonight of a foreign aid bill generally satisfactory to President Kennedy.

The Senate, in a crucial 51-45 vote Thursday, retained the five-year borrowing authority Kennedy requested for financing economic development loans to struggling countries by rejecting an amendment by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to limit the loan program to three years.

Meanwhile, the House headed today toward formal rejection of all long - term foreign aid financing. Administration forces shifted their hopes from an acceptable compromise House bill to an eventual conference with the Senate.

If the Senate sticks to its five-year decision and the House, as now expected, holds to Wednesday's tentative decision to give the administration about what it asked the first year and nothing more, veteran congressmen say the prospect is good for a compromise in conference on three or possibly four-year borrowing authority.

Kennedy originally asked authority to lend $8.8 billion over five years. Treasury borrowing and use of loans expected to be repaid this year were to provide $1.2 billion.

In each of the four following years, Treasury borrowings would have been $16 billion, supplemented by $300 million in repayments of old foreign loans.

The preliminary House action, now expected to be ratified formally today, would authorize the appropriation of $1.2 billion for this year only, with no Treasury borrowings and no provisions for loans in succeeding years.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York sent telegrams to Republican House members urging support for the long-term program. He asked them to vote to reverse the tentative decision.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., floor manager for the administration bill in the Senate, applauded the bipartisanship of five Republicans who joined with 46 Democrats to save the five-year plan there Thursday. Fifteen Democrats and 30 Republicans voted with Capehart.

"As of today, all is in good shape," Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a reporter. "I'll be very pleased if we can defeat any further attempts to reduce the years of authority."

Policeman In Georgia Gives Town A Boost

Rome is one of the stops planned on some tours set up by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce industrial committee and the Scurry County Industrial Foundation. A Snyder group plans to visit Rome next Tuesday to survey the area's industrial development, and a Rome Policeman Howard Long figured in the plans.

Long stopped in Snyder during a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., and began singing the praises of Rome, which he said is a "well balanced town."

His boasting caught fire and Snyderites decided to investigate.

When the Snyder group gets to Rome, Long will be among the Rome delegations to lead the tour of the town.

LBJ Is Going To Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson plans to fly to Berlin and Bonn this weekend at the request of President Kennedy to try to reassure West Germans of steadfast American support in the developing crisis with Russia.

Another move of reassurance under consideration but still without decision is to dispatch additional United States, British and French troops to West Berlin. Diplomatic informants in London spoke of this as involving a possible token increase in the 11,000-man Western garrison in Berlin.

State Department officials declined to confirm or deny consideration of plans to strengthen the Western military contingents. But well-qualified informants said nevertheless it was true. Presumably a final determination is up to President Kennedy, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Johnson is expected to talk with West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The two rivals for West German national leadership in the Sept. 17 elections have made a series of statements this week on the Berlin situation following closing of the Communist East Berlin border. U.S. officials have been worried that critical Berlin issues would become increasingly entangled in the campaign debate, upset in any way.

The real purpose of the projected Johnson mission, however, officials said, is to demonstrate American support of West Berlin and offset evident dissatisfaction in that city and West Germany with United States, British and French reaction to the Berlin border closing.

U.S. officials have been deeply concerned about reports of sharp disappointment among West Germans at the lack of strong Allied reaction to the Communist shutoff of the refugee flood into West Berlin.

Edward R. Murrow, director of the U.S. Information Agency and President Kennedy's chief adviser on foreign propaganda operations, came out of Berlin two days ago with reports of a popular feeling of let-down. He said the danger was that a sense of resignation among the people of West Berlin might result from this situation.

Brandt sent a message to President Kennedy demanding political action, not just words, in reaction to the border closing. Adenauer initially called for strong countermeasures to the Communist crackdown of last Sunday.

Against such demands, Western officials first confirmed that countermeasures were under consideration, then virtually ruled out any reprisals or retaliation. U.S. policymakers argued that Western rights in West Berlin had not been upset in any way.

Three Major Drug Firms Are Charged With Price Rigging

NEW YORK (AP) — Three of the country's major makers of wonder drugs, and three of their top executives, have been indicted on charges of price rigging and monopoly.

The defendants are accused of maintaining unreasonably high prices which the government says were passed on to patients, druggists and hospitals.

Indicted on three counts Thursday by a federal grand jury after a 16-month investigation were: Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., and its president, John E. McKeen; American Cyanamid Co. and its board chairman, Wilbur G. Malcolm; and Bristol Myers Co. and its president, Frederic N. Schwartz.

All denied the charges.

The government claims the three companies control about 70 per cent of the market for three of the most widely used antibiotics — aureomycin, terramycin and tetracycline, all valuable in treating infectious diseases. In 1959 retail sales of these drugs totaled $250 million.

Tetracycline also is known under the trade names achromycin, tetracyn, polycycline, steclin and panmycin.

All the drugs are dispensed on a physician's prescription.

The three companies were accused by the government of withholding information and misleading the U.S. Patent Office in order to obtain the tetracycline patent.

Named in the indictment as coconspirators but not defendants, were Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., parent company of E. R. Squibb & Sons, and the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich.

The indictment charged that until November, 1953, American Cyanamid's aureomycin and Pfizer's terramycin were practically alone in the antibiotics field. In that month and year, Pfizer, Cyanamid and Bristol-Myers sought patents on the newly developed tetracycline, said the indictment.

"Pfizer and Cyanamid knew that tetracycline was directly competitive with terramycin and aureomycin and represented a threat to the continuation of their dominant positions and unreasonably high profits," it added. "Pfizer ad Cyanamid also knew that unless one of them could obtain a product patent on tetracycline, prices of broad-spectrum antibiotic products could become competitive."

As a result, the government contends, a deal was made whereby Pfizer, with the aid of Cyanamid, obtained the tetracycline patent, and then exclusively licensed Cyanamid and Bristol-Myers to manufacture the drug.

The government charges the defendant companies had refused to sell bulk tetracycline to any companies except Squibb and Upjohn, upon agreement of the latter to purchase all their supplies from Bristol-Myers.

Three Vehicles In Highway Accident

A three - vehicle accident, 1½ miles north of Snyder on the Lubbock highway at 1 p. m. Thursday demolished one vehicle, one sustained extensive damage to the front end, and one lost the left headlamp and recieved a badly crushed left front fender, all with an amazing lack of serious injuries.

A 1952 Dodge pickup, driven by Hardee Arron Sherrill, of 1214 Beall, Sweetwater, was considered a total loss.

Sherrill, driver of the pickup, received minor injuries to the lower left leg, while, in the Chrysler, Smith recieved minor cuts about the face and left knee. Eddie Ruth Spears, also in the Chrysler, received facial lacerations, one cut required a number of stitches to close. Other occupants of the car included Morris Winter and David Lee James. Scroggins, driver of the truck, was not injured.

State Highway Patrolman Royce Stowe, who investigated the accident, estimated the distance from point of impact to the final stopping place, from 150 to 200 feet.

No estimate of damage to either the Chrysler or the truck had been made.

Distraught Housewife Slays Family

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A young, attractive housewife, distraught, police said, because she was pregnant with her fourth child in three years, wiped out her family with a pistol and then killed herself.

Lummie Jean Kicklighter Richardson died Thursday night of a pistol bullet wound in the head. Early in the day, her husband and three children, aged 6 months to 3½ years, were slain in their beds, each shot several times.

Police quoted a neighbor as saying Mrs. Richardson told her several weeks ago that she believed she was pregnant again.

A post-mortem examination showed that she was two months pregnant.

"We figure that's why she killed herself," said a detective.

Mrs. Richardson, daughter of a South Georgia minister, was found on the floor of the master bedroom of the home, a bullet wound in the roof of her mouth and a pistol nearby.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: How many different kinds of dogs are there?

* * *

ANSWER: It depends on what kind of dog you are talking about. There are four general kinds of dogs. First are the purebred, then the cross breeds, then the good old mongrels, then the wild dogs. Purebred dogs are those recognized by the American Kennel Club, which lists 113 different breeds. These include 23 kinds of sporting dogs, such as pointers, retrievers, setters, etc., 19 kinds of hounds such as fox hounds and wolf hounds, 28 sorts of working dogs which include the boxer, collies, German Shepherds, Doberman Pinschers, Great Danes, St. Bernard, Newfoundland and others. There are 19 kinds of terriers, many of which were developed for hunting, such as the fox terriers. There are 15 breeds of toy dogs, among them the chihuahua, toy spaniels, Pomeranian, Pekinese. There are nine non-sporting dogs which include Boston Terrier, Bulldog, Chow, Dalmatian and Poodle. Crossbred dogs are various combinations of these thoroughbreds and there are too many to be able to give any figure. The mongrels would be even more impossible to count for they are dogs which have many different ancestors.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: By all means enjoy the fine points of your dog if he is a thoroughbred, but don't feel ashamed of him if he is not. Mongrels can be just as intelligent and attractive as thoroughbreds.

Crewmen On Cuban Ship Ask Asylum

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Eleven crewmen of a Cuban freighter bound for the Soviet Union were brought ashore today after dropping anchor off Cape Henry and requesting political asylum in the United States. Crewmen said force was used in diverting the ship.

The State Department indicated in Washington the 11 defectors from the 34-man crew of the sugar-laden Bahia de Nipe would be allowed to remain in this country. The 11 included the captain and four other top officers.

The State Department advised the Fidel Castro government through the Swiss Embassy that it could reclaim the ship.

The 3,800-ton ship radioed Thursday she was headed for Norfolk. In the late afternoon she anchored in Chesapeake Bay. A Coast Guard cutter removed the defectors after they were questioned by immigration officials, leaving the other 23 crew members under the surveillance of another cutter.

A government official who talked with the men said he was told guns were brandished—but no actual shots were fired—aboard the Bahia de Nipe before she dropped anchor. The official, who asked to remain unnamed, said there was no other violence.

After the men were put ashore and headed for the transient barracks at the naval station one of the Cuban seamen appeared to go berserk. He broke way from the group and led officers on a two-block chase before he was caught.

The man, identified as Ramon Tocorante, 41, was taken to a U.S. Public Health Service hospital for observation.

Since the freighter's top officers were among those seeking asylum, it was assumed new officers would be sent from Cuba to take her on her way.

The Bahia de Nipe is owned by the Cuban government and operated by the Vacuba Shipping line. The 323-foot vessel was built by Consolidated Steel Corp. of Wilmington, Calif., in 1945 and named the Coastal Charger. She was renamed in 1948 after her transfer to Cuban registry.

Nat'l Guard Enlistments Are Extended

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas adjutant general's office said today that enlistments for certain Army National Guardsmen have been extended for one year.

The one year extension applies to Guardsmen whose three-year enlistments are scheduled to end between Oct. 1, 1961 and June 1962.

"Other enlistments will not be affected," said Brig. Gen. Thomas Bishop, assistant adjutant general.

Bishop and other officers of his headquarters said the announcement was made first to local headquarters throughout the state. The state headquarters did not confirm the order until asked about an order reported received in Marshall.

"All ready reserve obligations and enlistments in the Army National Guard which expire Oct. 1, 1961, and June 30, 1962, are extended one year," the order reads.

The orders received in Marshall showed that they came from the office of Maj. Gen. James Taylor, state adjutant general, and originated with the chief of the National Guard in Washington.

Marshall National Guard officers said the order also restricts enlistments to those who have had prior service or at least six months active duty.

SAFETY MEASURE — Tennessee prison officials herd these inmates back to their cells after a revolting group grabbed several hostages and holed up in prison commissary. Rioting Tennessee Convicts Give Up

By ROBERT W. GILBERT

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Eight convicts, given no quarter by state penitentiary officials and facing a tear gas assault from an approaching Army tank, surrendered late Thursday and released 25 hostages unharmed.

The threatened assault, long planned by state officials for such an emergency, ended an eight-hour revolt in which the prisoners, armed with a toy pistol, pocket knives and ice picks held 5 guards, 3 clerks and 17 fellow prisoners hostage.

They dashed from the brick building and fell to the ground in front of the M48 Patton tank as it stopped 12 feet from the door.

The ringleaders were placed in maximum security cells.

Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton, recalled to Nashville from a Parole Board hearing in east Tennessee, talked with the convicts by telephone and received a list of grievances.

"Most of them are outrageous" he declared.

The complaints included lack of recreational facilities and sufficient bathing facilities, lack of television and radio, "brutality" by guards, restrictions on conversation, and lack of justice and respect.

"We're not operating a country club out here," Hampton said. "I made them no concessions whatsoever. We intended to tear a hole in the building and toss in tear gas."

The leaders were Raymond Farra and Robert Rivera, who led a similar uprising in March, 1960, which ended with promises of no punishment. Hampton said that concession was nullified by Thursday's trouble.

Farra and Rivera held 19 men and women hostage for 25 hours before ending last year's rebellion, which was followed three months later by a fire in the prison workshop. Convicts, who set the fire, crowded around the fire trucks for a time and refused to allow the firemen to combat the blaze.

"We were ready," said Gov. Buford Ellington by telephone from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he spoke to an Associated Press meeting. "We had made up our minds" to use a tank in event of another prison rebellion after the one last year, he said.

Farra, a West Virginia native, is serving life for armed robbery and kidnaping. He has been termed insane by a prison psychiatrist.

Rivera, from Texas, is serving 40 years for a kidnap-shooting.

"I had just escorted a group of prisoners to the commissary," prison Guard Tom J. Bowman, 29, said, "when one of the inmates ran outside and said a prisoner had a gun. I approached the door, and Farra ordered me inside. He had a gun and said they'd kill us if they were rushed, but they didn't want to hurt us."

The hostages told of having their hands tied behind their backs, except when they were allowed to eat sandwiches and cakes. Several of them said they weren't threatened and were made as comfortable as possible.

In addition to Farra and Rivera Commissioner Hampton identified the rebelling inmates, along with their convictions, as Leonard Franklin Sanders, armed robbery; James Edward Long, also armed robbery; John Dean Bohanan, murder; Robert Bohanan, auto theft; James W. Smitty, burglary; and Hugh Bell, rape and violating the age of consent.

Data Compiled For FPC Gas Hearing

MIDLAND — Representatives from some 20 cities and towns in the Permian Basin launched united efforts here Thursday to gather statistical and economic data showing the dependence of the area on the petroleum industry.

The group began laying groundwork for compiling a comprehensive report to be presented during a Federal Power Commission hearing on Permian Basin natural gas rates. The hearing is scheduled to begin Oct. 3 in Washington, D. C.

Also discussed at the session was a proposal to form a Permian Basin Oil and Gas Association, and indications were that such an organization will be set up.

Four men from Snyder attended the session. They included Joe Cargile, president of the Chamber of Commerce and cashier of the West Texas State Bank; J. Ray Martin, county judge; Cecil Boren, vice president of the Snyder National Bank, and Herbert Feather, publisher of the Snyder Daily News.

Murray Fasken, president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, presided, and John Ben Shepperd, president of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce, explained the purpose of the meeting.

Also among the participants was Linward Shivers of Austin, assistant Attorney General, representing Atty. Gen. Will Wilson who has offered to assist in preparation and presentation of the data.

Participants were registered from Midland, Odessa, Pecos, Fort Stockton, Monahans, Kermit, Andrews, Seminole, Denver City, Big Spring, Sterling City, Lamesa, Levelland, Lubbock, Snyder, Big Lake, Rankin, McCamey and Crane, all in Texas, and Lovington, Hobbs and Roswell in New Mexico.

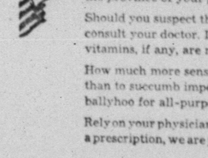

Heads of political subdivisions, including cities, counties, school and college districts were asked to complete questionnaires relating to assessed tax valuations, tax rates, delinquent taxes and bonded indebtedness.

BEWARE OF BALLYHOO VITAMINS

"Vitamin deficiency" has become a kind of catch phrase. Yet it relates to health, the province of your physician.

Should you suspect that you need vitamins, consult your doctor. Let him decide what vitamins, if any, are required.

How much more sensible a procedure than to succumb impetuously to nonprofessional ballyhoo for all-purpose, bargain vitamins.

Rely on your physician's advice. When he writes a prescription, we are prepared to fill it promptly.

VEAL SURPRISE: Stuffed with ham and cheese, veal is served with a wonderful pan gravy and an attractive garnish of sour cream and pimiento.

This Stuffed Veal Is Fit For A Gourmet

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

VEAL CUTLET goes fancy when it's stuffed. So if you'd enjoy a made-in-a-skillet meat to serve company, here's your dish.

The pan gravy that accompanies this veal is delectable; don't neglect to make it according to the recipe directions. Garnish, too, as suggested: the dollop of sour cream with its crimson pimiento. Topping looks as pretty as can be and adds a real taste fillip.

What to serve with this veal? Southern friends of ours insist on hot biscuit. We say have hot biscuit if you like, but hot buttered rice is a must. It won't hurt the rice a bit if you throw a handful of slivered toasted almonds into it. After all, company's coming. Any such green vegetable as snap beans, green peas, broccoli or cooked green celery will make another fine partner for the meat.

When we tried this veal dish in my test kitchen, there was a portion left over. Next day I reheated it and found it extra good. If you make this dish ahead and reheat it, just make sure the gravy doesn't boil. Remember that the sauce contains sour cream, and sour cream is notoiously temperamental about heat.

VEAL STUFFLETS

2 pounds veal cutlet (about ¼-inch thic)
6 small thin slices cooked ham
6 small thin slices Swiss or Muenster cheese
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 cup stock or bouillon
Salt and pepper
½ cup commercially - prepared sour cream
2 teaspoons flour
1 tablespoon cold water
Minced parsley or dried parsley flakes
3 whole pimientos (drained)

Cut veal into 6 pieces; split each piece horizontally almost to the end; open as you would a book and flatten with a cleaver or flat side of a heavy knife. Place a piece of ham and one of cheese on each piece of veal; fold over and secure with toothpicks. Brush with a little of the oil; dip in the crumbs. In a large skillet heat the remaining oil; add veal and brown, turning once. Spoon any excess fat from pan; add stock; sprinkle meat lightly with salt and pepper; cover and simmer until tender — 25 to 30 minutes. Remove meat to a hot serving dish. To drippings in pan add the sour cream. Mix the flour with the cold water until smooth and add to skillet with salt and pepper to taste and parsley. Simmer, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened and just hot. Serve gravy around meat. Garnish each serving of veal with a dollop of extra sour cream topped with half a pimiento.

Fill hard-to-clean pots and pans with hot water and dense soap or detergent suds, and let them soak to loosen food from the inside surfaces. Then a few brisk rubs with a well - lathered vegetable brush will clean them perfectly. Rinse with hot water, drain, put them atop your kitchen range, and they will dry in a jiffy.

Take Your Choice Of Two Sauces With Hamburgers

There is a timeless appeal to hamburgers cooked over an outdoor fire that makes them universally popular. Whether you serve them simply on buns or turn them into party fare with a superlative sauce, the result is always a treat.

Here are two variations of a basic tomato sauce that complements the hamburgers with a distinctive blend of flavors. Either one is quick and easy to make because you begin with a handy package of tomato soup mix. This unique soup mix, the only one of its kind, is remarkably versatile. Besides making a delicious homestyle tomato soup, you can make everything frm an elegant casserole to a glamorous party dip with it.

To give your hungry family or frjends a choice, serve both Tomato Relish Sauce and Barbecue Sauce. The first calls for the addition of sweet pickle relish, the second features brown sugar, tabasco sauce and lemon.

Tuck these easy recipes away for another day when you may want to enhance the flavor of a prosaic meat loaf or an inexpensive cut of beef. A delicious sauce will always do it.

HAMBURGERS WITH TWIN TOMATO SAUCES

1-½ pounds hamburger
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
butter for skillet cooking

Toss meat lightly with seasonings. Gently shape into 6 to 8 patties. Brown in skillet or broil. Serve with choice of Tomato Relish or Barbecue Sauce.

TOMATO RELISH SAUCE

Simmer together for 4 minutes 1 package tomato soup mix, 1-¼ cups water, and 2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish.

BARBECUE SAUCE

Simmer together for 4 minutes 1 package tomato soup mix, 1-¾ cups water, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce and 1 slice of lemon.

Don't forget that salads may be served as a first course!

4-Hers Find Key Role In Economy

Rising costs and lower average incomes for farmers point to the importance of good farm management including efficient operation of farm machinery. With more than five million tractors on American farms today, maintenance and safety are vitally important not only from an economical standpoint, but for saving lives, as well, agricultural authorities say.

Among the nation's younger farmers concerned especially with tractor operation and maintenance are 4-H Club boys and girls enrolled in a tractor project. They learn what makes the tractor run, how to drive it safely and keep it in good working order at all seasons of the year.

More than a million 4-H'ers have participated in the national 4-H tractor awards program since its inception 16 years ago, reports the National 4-H Service Committee. In addition, some 3,000 adult volunteer club leaders are trained annually to better carry out the program's objectives.

Progress and skill of the 4-H members themselves are measured in various ways. Two annual events which bring together the top tractor contestants from some 40 states demonstrate their abilities.

One is the Eastern United States 4-H Tractor Operators' contest which this year will take place September 26 at the Virginia State Fair in Richmond. The other is the Central and Western contest to be held October 15-17 during the Texas State Fair at Dallas.

These events test driving, mechanical know - how and safety practices. Appropriate awards are given in recognition of outstanding achievement.

Then there are three types of awards offered in the state tractor program itself. Medals of honor are provided for four champions in each county, while the 4-H'er having the best project record in the state receives an all - expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. From a 48 - state winner group, 12 will be selected for 1961 national honors, and each will get a $400 college scholarship.

All of this support is made possible by private industry through program arrangements made by the National 4-H Service Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H work.

The Humble Oil & Refining Company, for example, has provided tractor awards, educational material and other assistance since 1957. Four other oil companies make similar contributions in other sections of the country.

At a recent conference of 4-H tractor sponsors, Kenneth H. Anderson, associate director of the 4-H Service Committee, had this to say: "It is a program that has helped bring about more efficient agricultural production, and has led to tremendous savings in fuel and repairs. Thousands of parents and neighbors have benefited because 4-H members have shared their practical skills and knowledge."

Agricultural surpluses notwithstanding, today efficiency is definitely the key to making farming profitable, he added. And that is just what the 4-H tractor program aims to teach.

A Medieval Monument On Banks Of Hudson

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. (AP) — High on the banks of the Hudson there is a monument to the Middle Ages, an era when patience was a supreme virtue. Now American patience has added to this monument a gem of the Middle Ages.

The scene is The Cloisters, the large museum of medieval art and architecture which is a branch of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Opened in 1938, its chief benefactor was the late John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Rockefeller was a man who enjoyed collecting the treasures that went into The Cloisters, but he always deferred to the professional expert when it came to a final choice.

He would turn to James J. Rorimer, then curator of medieval art and now director of the Metropolitan itself, and say "The decision is yours."

While Rockefeller was abroad in 1935, a Paris dealer showed him a portfolio of photographs of a 12th Century Romanesque apse. The story goes that Rockefeller brought the photographs back to Rorimer and said:

"I'm just acting as your errand boy, but if you want the apse, we might be able to find the funds."

It proved there was a bigger problem than money. The task would be about as easy as for a Spaniard to acquire a house where George Washington slept. This specimen of architecture was all that remained of the Church of San Martin in the town of Fuentiduena, near Segovia in Spain. In 1931 the Spanish government had declared it a national monument and the Roman Catholic Church still claimed jurisdiction over it.

There were echelons and echelons of national and church officials to negotiate with, not to mention the several hundred citizens of Fuentiduena. The villagers' parish church was the Church of San Miguel, but the ruins of San Martin still contained a cemetery that no one wanted to disturb.

The talks went on for years, were interrupted by the Spanish Civil War, and then resumed in 1952. The final deal hinged on a legal fiction called an "exchange loan," which avoided the actual sale of a national monument.

Six Spanish frescoes which were as the market in New York were acquired and "loaned" to the Prado in Madrid. The Rockefellers contributed to the repair of the parish church and the cemetery.

The 3,300 golden limestone blocks of the apse were numbered as they were taken down. This huge jigsaw puzzle was shipped to The Cloisters in Fort Tryon Park in 1958 and the reconstruction began. Rockefeller did not live to see the completion, but he knew the main tasks were over.

This summer the apse was opened to the public as a wing of the museum. Nearly three stories high, one of its main attractions is the variety of Romanesque sculptures on its columns, cornices and arches. A Spanish mural and a Spanish altar of the same period have been added.

It took years of patience to bring this project to fruition. You can imagine what consternation would arise if Spain should ever ask for the return of its "loan." But don't worry about it.

MEDIEVAL GLORY: Visitors gaze in awe at the medieval Spanish apse transplanted to The Cloisters on the banks of the Hudson river.

Everywhere Man Looks, He's Already Called Dead Today

BY INEZ ROBB

These are times that try men's souls, and one of the items that keeps them while - but is the fact that everytime a man picks up a magazine or newspaper, he's dead.

It is my hunch that mankind has already faced up to the trying fact that in case of nuclear war, most of us will be atom - hot dead wherever we are. We have looked truth and its consequences in the face. It seems unlikely that anyone in this country, no matter how brave a face he puts on the matter, is living in a fool's paradise or under any illusions that a me exploding atom wouldn't have his name on it.

It's one thing for Khrushchev to say, with the chop - licking joy of a mass murderer that "hundreds of millions" will die in the event of nuclear war. That we accept as absolute zero in the cold contest, knowing a a hydrogen holocaust would be a two - way street.

But it's something else again when the home experts turn burial detail and keep pouring out macabre predictions day by day in every way. This country is already running intelligently scared, as it should. Look at the money a reluctant Congress has finally appropriated for the first intelligent Civilian Defense program in its history of dealing with this issue. Even Congress has voted its intelligent apprehensions.

So the voters and their representatives are living on no Cloud Nine in the above matter. There is no one to rouse. The nation is already alerted to the danger. We don't need a new Paul Revere crying out new alarums every day.

And, yet, that's our cross. The latest sombre warning comes in a publicity release from Look Magazine. Its beginning paragraphs read:

"If the Polaris missile is ever fired at an enemy, it's very likely you'll never know about it.

"You'll probably be dead.

"Because the Polaris is a weapon that will be combat - ready only after most of the civilian population has been killed."

Would that the printed word could spare me such cheerful little earfuls — or is it eyefuls? — regularly as clock work. That is the sort of war of the gangila that drives people to sedatives and Scotch, and not necessarily in that order.

Okay, so I'm dead. There's no argument. But I don't want to be exhumed and buried every 24 hours. It's this restless poking at the radaver that gets under the skin and makes one think of the uselessness of writing a will.

If "most of the civilian population has been killed" as Look predicts, I can only assume that great - grandmother's rocking chair — the one she carried by covered wagon across the plains — Grandma's quilts and crocheted afghan, Mama's silver, and Papa's walking stick will be one with the dust and rubble, too.

Why sit up nights trying to figure out which of the heirs and assigns should get the books, the pictures and the bibelots if there ain't gonna be no leavin's? Either heirs and assigns or goods and gear?

A man can face the certainty of death with equanimity and dignity. But it is hard to summon either in the face of the old water torture. The present situation is comparable to the horrendous prophecies of doom, falling drop by eternal drop on victims whose only crime is to ante up manpower and taxes for the Polaris to avenge the fact we're dead ducks.

There is cold comfort in the summation of one admiral who says, "The minute we launch Polaris, we've lost the war and they have, too." The only ray of murky sunshine is the prediction that the Polaris missile "keeps alive the threat of awesome retaliation so that no one will start anything."

Well, sir, I certainly hope the editors of Look send a copy of this issue of their magazine to Nikita.

Goodness knows, I don't want to live forever. It's just that, in the interim, I don't want to be scared to death.

Portugal Loses Two Tiny Areas

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Portugal, last holdout of the great colonial powers who ruled in India, lost two tiny landlocked enclaves near the West Coast Thursday.

Ignoring protests from Portugal President Rajendra Prasad took the final constitutional step by giving assent to a parliamentary act to integrate Dadra and Nagar Aveli into the Indian republic.

Under persistent protest from India, the Portuguese still hold the larger West Coast enclaves of Goa, Daman and Diu. They actually had lost control of the lesser enclaves through inability to reach them across intervening parts of India.

SBIC Stock Popularity Stirs Market

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Popularity of small business investment companies (SBIC) stocks enlivened the summer season well before the Berlin crisis stirred the market in general.

But the rush to buy SBIC shares also raised some Wall Street eyebrows. Old-timers regard these new investment firms as still high in speculative despite some impressive growth records in the short time they've been around, and some flashy advances in the price of their stocks.

Many businessmen also are wondering about this new source of financial aid, although about 1,500 of them already have used them to raise capital. Many old-line lenders, such as banks, regard SBICs with less than enthusiasm. For one thing the newcomers have certain tax advantages and have access to some government financial aid themselves.

What are SBICs? What kind of business concerns do they aid?

Congress in 1958 authorized the Small Business Administration to license investment firms to specialize in financial aid to small concerns. Total assets must be under $5 million and net income under $250,000 a year for a firm to qualify for a loan from a SBIC.

Of the 331 investment companies the SBA has licensed, most are small and serve limited areas. But some have grown and cover side sections. There are now 31 publicly held—that is, they have offered their stock to public subscription. Eleven more have registered stock applications with the Securities & Exchange Commission.

The first of SBIC stock offerings hit the market in June 1959. But the SBIC Evaluation Service, Chicago, says in its initial monthly analysis that offerings really got rolling only this year. It says the biggest spurt has come since late June and will bring the total assets of publicly held companies close to $250 million by the end of this month. A big booster of sales is that almost all of the stocks offered earlier quickly rose to prices well above the issuing quotations.

The top five, in order of assets, are: Electronics Capital Corp., San Diego, Calif., $33.3 million; Boston Capital Corp., Boston, Mass., $21.2 million; Midland Capital Corp., Buffalo, N. Y., $16.4 million; Electro Science Investors, Dallas, Tex., $14.9 million; and Capital Southwest Corp., Dallas, $10.1 million.

Some SBICs specialize in one or two types of business. Electronics Capital, for example, as of midsummer had made 18 investments, 12 in firms in being 11 years or less, but all closely allied to electronics and technical fields. Only two of the companies have publicly traded stocks.

Educational TV Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee has approved a bill to provide $25 million in federal funds to build educational television facilities.

The money would be matched by the states, and some states which are said to have pioneered in the educational TV field would be reimbursed. One of these is Alabama. The bill is sponsored by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts, D-Ala.

PHY RUNNING AT HALF

Snyder, Seminole Slate Scrimmage

A "prevue of [illegible] practices" will be provided Snyder football fans here Tuesday when the Seminole Indians invade the city for a practice scrimmage session against the 1961 Snyder Tiger crew.

It will be the first appearance of the year for "public consumption" of the local eleven, which swung into initial practice sessions the past Monday.

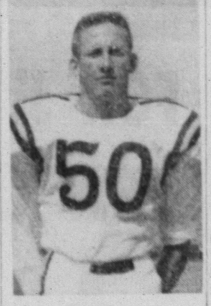

The squad is basically sound and healthy with one notable exception — letterman Joe Robinson, who sprained an ankle in practice and is currently on crutches as a result. The injury is not thought to be serious, however, and he should be able to return to at least part-time duty this coming week.

Meanwhile, line coach V. V. Shearburn reports that his charges for the most part have succeeded in working out the early "kinks" and seem to be progressing well from a physical standpoint.

One position switch has been made, and concerns veteran quarterback Eddie Phy, a 160 - pound senior. Phy lettered at that position last season, but is being shuffled to halfback due to there being an overloading of senior talent at the quarterback post.

Two other seniors are currently vieing for the man under spot— Steve Free, who was last year's starter—and Tim Marcum, who was ineligible for varsity play the past season due to the residence requirement.

Junior Dalton Walton has been inserted to help man the quarterback slot in order to fill the vacuum created by the shifting of Phy to half.

Physicals Set For Travis Footballers

All prospective Travis Junior High School gridders — including seventh, eighth, and ninth graders — are asked to meet at 7:30 Monday morning at the Travis Field House for the purpose of taking required physicals.

Immediately following the administration of the physicals, the ninth graders will be issued uniforms. The tentative date for issuance of uniforms to the seventh and eighth graders has been set for August 28.

Travis Ninth coach Wayne Tyrone urges all boys interested in taking part in football to be present Monday at the designated time, as it will prove to be much quicker and easier for all concerned. Those missing the Monday physicals will have to "go out on their own" and get them, he added.

Grownups Take Over

AUSTIN (AP)—Adult competition began today in the 19th annual water ski championships with men's slalom and women's jumping events.

Junior boys' and girls' events continued and veterans competition began.

In Thursday's action two records were set in girls' events.

Terri Shrader, 11, of Omaha, Neb., jumped 65 feet for a new world's record in the junior girls division.

A California girl, Vicki Van Hook, 17, of Long Beach, set a national record in winning the girls' tricks division for the third straight year by scoring 2,593 points.

Barbara Elizabeth Lynch of Corpus Christi won the junior girls slalom title.

McKinley Going Up Against Mexican Power Hitter Today

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Two tennis competitors with the willingness to gamble under any circumstances face each other today in the opening Davis Cup singles match of the American Zone championships.

Chuck McKinley, 20, of the United States squad, a hustler from St. Louis, plays Rafael Osuna, 22, a power hitter of the Mexican team.

They were selected Thursday to open the best-of-five matches over the weekend on the Cleveland Skating Club's clay courts.

Two old pros will oppose each other in the second singles match today. Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, 33, of Dallas, Tex., battles Mexico's Mario Llamas, a poised, steady, sure-stroking retriever. Llamas, also 33, is almost a carbon copy of Bartzen.

The American team, never beaten by Mexico, enters the matches as a slight favorite only because it is playing on home soil. The Mexicans, however, have looked sharp in practice and will be swinging to end the U.S. supremacy.

McKinley and Osuna, both collegians who play a similar game, are fast and continually try to blast their opponents off the court.

McKinley, a finalist at Wimbledon last month, said of Osuna: "I know how tough he is, but I'm hitting the ball well. I was hitting it real good last week the won the Eastern grass courts championship then and I've kept it sharp here this week."

Francisco (Pancho) Contreras, Mexican team captain, does not think the McKinley-Osuna match will last long. "It should be one heck of a match though, because they're both so strong," he said. "Osuna doesn't care who's across the net, he figures he can beat him."

U.S. team capt. David Freed shared his rival skipper's sentiments. "This really will be exciting," he said. "McKinley has the desire and is willing to sacrifice to be a champion. Osuna is the same way. They'll be all over that court."

Bartzen, national clay courts champion, and Llamas, longtime hero of Mexican tennis, will play a more scientific game.

Because of their ages, they will not rely on overpowering shots. They simply keep the ball in play, waiting to catch their foe off balance.

WITH COMFORTABLE FOUR-GAME LEAD

Yankees Take To Road

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle put the show on the road tonight as the New York Yankees, their race for the American League pennant strictly a side attraction, open a 13-game tour with the first of four games at Cleveland against the Indians.

Maris, with 13 to go to break Babe Ruth's 60 home run record, has belted four of his five homers off Indians pitching at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. Mantle, trailing Maris by three home runs with his total of 45, has tagged the Cleveland staff for just one homer so far. He socked it in the Injun's pork off Jim Grant, the right-hander who opposes Yankee Jim Coates in tonight's game.

For the record, Maris is 14 games ahead of Ruth's record pace of 1927. He has hit nine home runs in the four parks the Yankees will visit on this trip—Cleveland, 4; Los Angeles, 1; Kansas City, 3, and Minnesota, 1. Mantle has collected seven in the same parks—Cleveland, 1; Los Angeles, 2; Kansas City, 2, and Minnesota, 2.

Neither managed to add to his total Thursday as the Yankees ended a home stand with a 5-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox. That gave them a four-game bulge again over Detroit when the second place Tigers lost their second in a row to Baltimore, 3-1.

Cleveland beat Boston 4-3 in 14 innings and Washington defeated the Los Angeles Angels 4-3 in the only other AL games scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis spilled San Francisco 2-0 behind Larry Jackson's three-hit pitching, Philadelphia set a modern NL record when Milwaukee handed the Phils their 20th consecutive defeat 7-6 in 11 innings, and Pittsburgh split with Chicago, the Cubs winning 11-4 before the Bucs took the second game 4-3. Cincinnati and the Los Angeles Dodgers were idle.

Maris, after hitting home runs in each of his last six games, was 0-for-4 against losing southpaw Frank Baumann (9-10) and right-handed reliever Russ Kemmerer of the White Sox. Mantle, who has failed to connect for a home run in his last three games, had one hit, a triple, and drove in two runs as the Yanks put away their 12th victory in 15 games.

A three-run fourth inning did it. Bill Stafford (10-6) was the winner.

Whitey Herzog drove in all three Oriole runs with a home run and a single off Paul Foytack (7-9) while Jack Fisher (6-11) limited the Tigers to five hits.

A bases-loaded walk on a 3-2 pitch to Ken Aspromonte by losing reliever Mike Fornieles (6-7) gave it to the Indians. Bobby Locke (4-1) was the winner in relief.

A walk, an error and Bud Zipfel's sacrifice fly brought in the deciding run for Washington. The victory went to Bennie Daniels (3-6). Ryne Duren (5-11) was the loser.

Joliet Unchecked In Abilene Series

ABILENE (AP)—Joliet, Ill., is in the finals of the Colt League baseball world series and awaiting the result of the Monterrey, Mexico-Rancho, Calif., game tonight to see who its opponent will be.

Joliet slammed Rancho 14-6 early today to emerge as the only undefeated team left in the tournament.

Earlier Monterrey downed Charlotte, N.C., 7-6 to eliminate the latter and remain in the race for the title with one victory and one loss.

Witnesses Preparing For Assembly

Special instruction was given last night to Jehovah's Witnesses, Clairemont Rd., relative to their circuit assembly Sept. 1-3 in Pecos.

J. D. Cook, presiding minister told the local group, "Christian development never ends and the Christian minister must always advance ministerial qualifications."

According to Cook, Jehovah's Witnesses conduct a regular schedule of five weekly classes in all their twenty one thousand Congregations world wide. The object is to develop each believer into a preacher. Two classes are conducted as advanced studies of the Bible, another is to improve speech and speaking ability with practice sermons given by the student enrolled. Another is a ministry improvement class, where the problems of the ministry are discussed. The fifth meeting is a public sermon on a timely Bible subject.

"All features of the regular training program will be covered at the Pecos assembly", Cook said. "However, these meetings will be under the direction of W. L. Mackey, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society sent out from New York. Mackey will climax the meeting Sunday, Sept. 3 at 3 p.m. with the public talk 'Uniting Men In a Split - Up World'."

The Pecos program will draw a number of ministers from the local area according to Cook. In addition, a number of interested persons are planning to attend the sessions, all of which are open to the public.

Hundreds of other witnesses, representing surrounding congregations along with an unestimated number of the public will be present.

Alligator Too Tough

FT. STEWART, Ga. (AP) — A 6-foot alligator proved too rambunctious for three Army officers from Ft. Stewart.

Capt. H. E. Motley said he and the other officers were driving a truck on the Army reservation last week when they spotted the reptile crawling along the road and "stopped to have a little fun."

"We took a canoe paddle out of the truck and poked it at the alligator," he said. "It snapped the paddle in two. We started back toward the truck. So did the alligator.

"We got another paddle and tried to beat the alligator off but it splintered that paddle, too."

Motley said they climbed into the truck and the alligator then crawled under the vehicle, chewing off the tailpipe and muffler and biting the axle.

At that point, Motley said, the officers decided they were no match for the reptile and drove away quickly.

Nehru Sends Note To Sikh Leader

AMRITSAR, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru sent a letter Thursday to Master Tara Singh, 76, Sikh leader who has embarked on a fast vowing to starve himself unless the government grants the Punjabi-speaking Sikhs their own state.

The contents of the letter were not disclosed. Nehru's government has opposed formation of a Punjabi state, although it has reorganized some states on language lines. It contends the Sikhs want to institute religious control over an area rather than preserve the language.

Negro Coeds Attend Theater In Carolina

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Two Negro coeds attended the Carolina Theater without incident Thursday night as the motion picture house first opened its doors on an unsegregated basis.

The new policy applies only to University of North Carolina Negro students, of whom there are 69 in a summer school enrollment of 3,600.

Illiteracy Fight Spreads Rapidly

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Fourteen years ago a newly ordained young Roman Catholic priest arrived in the Colombian Andean hamlet of Sutatenza to take up his first assignment as parish priest.

He brought with him a home-made radio transmitter, three used battery radio sets, and a determination to fight illiteracy and a growing Communist influence among the Colombian peasants.

After the radios were put in farm homes, Father Jose Joaquin Salcedo launched his Radio Sutatenza School of the Air—a project in self-education that today covers all of rural Colombia and has its counterpart in 15 other Latin-American countries.

"I didn't realize what a potent thing we had begun until a group of men came with a complaint," said Father Salcedo recalling the humble beginnings of his radio project. "They said the classes were held in the evenings when they were tired from their day's work. They asked me to change the programs to 6 in the morning when their minds would be fresh."

The Radio Sutatenza classes mix skillful planning with simplicity. They teach the three Rs, agriculture, hygiene, geography, history, civics and religion.

"These people," said Father Salcedo of his radio audience, "have minds like virgin soil, unused but fertile. You would be surprised at what they can grasp even before they can read or write, so long as it is made to touch their lives practically."

More than 40,000 battery radios receive the programs in rural Colombia. The radios are built specially to receive only Radio Sutatenza programs and thus prevent Communists from cashing in on a windfall for their propaganda broadcasts.

The radio schools are organized into two types, for family and for group listening. The group is headed by a volunteer leader, an interested student who sees that the instructions from the radio teacher are followed. Schoolroom implements are provided free.

A UNESCO survey made in 1958 reported at least 490,522 persons received radio instructions that year over Radio Sutatenza. The survey said some 77,000 persons had learned to read and write during the project's first 11 years. More than half the listeners were over 15 years of age, the survey said.

Inventor Is Dead At 80

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Edwin S. Pridham, whose inventiveness made the world a much noisier planet, celebrates his 80th birthday quietly today.

Pridham, some 50 years ago, invented the dynamic loudspeaker—the coil that powered untold billions of decibels in public address systems, radios, high fidelity phonographs and television sets.

Pridham recalled that his invention grew out of an effort to develop a telephone receiver to be more sensitive than those in use in 1911. He worked in a converted farmhouse laboratory in Napa, Calif., after graduation from Stanford in 1909 with a degree in physics.

Other inventions included the single - dial radio, radio - phonograph and an intercom system developed for use in military planes in World War I.

Magazine Editor Fired By Nasser

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser fired the editor of the Mussawar magazine Thursday for writing an article recommending that Israel be incorporated in an over-all union of Arab states, the Middle East News Agency reported.

The agency said the editor, Mohammed Fikri Abaza was relieved of his post and also of his post as chairman of Dar el Hilal, a publishing organization that puts out many magazines.

Quoting unnamed responsible sources, the agency said the action was taken because the article, among other things, "throws suspicion on the Arab position toward Israel."

By WALTER R. MEARS

BOSTON (AP) — A song line about "all those Kennedys" drew a smile and applause from Jacqueline Kennedy Thursday night as the President's wife watched the musical comedy "Sail Away."

The First Lady got the first and last ovations of the evening when she came and left the crowded Colonial Theater.

She told author Noel Coward she thought the play was wonderful.

Hundreds of people jammed the lobby and the street outside to catch a glimpse of Mrs. Kennedy, who wore a white sleeveless blouse and a black skirt.

She got to the theater, seven minutes before curtain time, and the lobby was mobbed. Coward tried to go out to take her arm, but he couldn't make it through the crowd.

He gave up, waited at the door to the inner lobby, and took Mrs. Kennedy's arm when she got there.

Coward sat behind the First Lady's fourth-row center seat. Also in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mellon, Kennedy neighbors in Hyannis Port and Middleburg, Va., and Hogue Kelland, a friend.

Comedienne Elaine Stritch had the Kennedy line. It went: "Why do the wrong people travel when the right people stay back home —with all those Kennedys?"

Mrs. Kennedy applauded enthusiastically during the musical about shipboard romance on a Caribbean cruise.

When it was over, she went backstage and told the cast, "You were all marvelous."

Newsmen and photographers were not permitted backstage, and Mrs. Kennedy asked that no pictures be taken as she left the theater.

Show Mgr. Morton Gottleib said the First Lady had shaken hands with members of the cast, said the musical was wonderful, and told Coward "I loved the show."

She spent a few minutes with the cast, then was taken to an office off the lobby to wait for the crowd to thin out. The crowd stayed.

Finally, she left through a side exit and was escorted through the 1st crowd to a car waiting in front of the theater.

The party flew back to Hyannis Port, where the First Lady is spending the summer.

Two Workers Are Missing On Mountain

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — Two young summer workers at this mountain resort are missing—for the third day—on 14,255-foot Long's Peak, swept by severe storms.

Rescue efforts, hampered by rain and low clouds, centered on a major search for them today by 18 trained mountain men.

Rocky Mountain Park officials said the boy, 20, and his girl companion, 18—both Midwesterners—were not equipped for extensive mountain climbing and were clad thinly to withstand two rugged nights on the rain-soaked mountain where freezing overnight temperatures are the rule.

Unreported since they checkd out for a hike up the peak about 8 a.m. Wednesday were Richard Boldrey of St. Clair Shores, Mich., and Joyce Karolyn Mast of Richmond, Ind.

Chief Ranger Stanley Spurgeon said one of the worst storms for this season of the year in his memory had blasted the peak on Wednesday afternoon. Rock slides accompanied the driving rain, wind, lightning and thunder.

Conditions for a search continued bad Thursday, and prospects for finding the two "just don't look good," Spurgeon said.

Nine persons who signed the climbing register were unreported at sundown Wednesday, but an all-night search by park rangers returned seven to safety. No trace was found of the girl and boy.

Spurgeon said Boldrey was employed for the summer in a restaurant just outside Estes Park and the girl in a village coffee shop.

"Don't Chunk That Brick!"

...let him who is without sin do it." Of course we live in an imperfect world but we have no right to point a guilty finger. The cynic's seat is filled with accusers. The finger of scorn does but little good. This is the way of the Pharasee, the hypocrite. It is characteristic of a vain, boastful person who thinks everybody else makes mistakes but himself. Are you one of those low-principled, finger pointing, chunk throwers? Then, it is time for you to straighten up and show your compassion for your fellows. The sinner needs your help. He has to be understood. He requires assistance. He must be healed. We are, each of us, our brother's keeper. We cannot afford to betray God, nor our brother. The penalty is too great. The American Indian would ask us to walk a moon in his moccasins before we criticize another. What a plan they used to bridle the tongues of the weak...the boisterous. Neighborliness is at the heart of democracy. Then, since we believe in men, in all men, let us help each other. Let us invite someone to worship with us in church this week.
