U.S. monthly trade marks worst deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imports of just about everything from oil to underwear increased in February, causing the worst monthly trade deficit in history and sending the embattled dollar plunging on foreign money exchanges.

Announcement of the record $4.5 billion deficit Friday sent the dollar dropping sharply in value against virtually every major world currency. As the dollar fell, gold bullion prices jumped by as much as $4 an ounce on international exchanges.

In addition to threatening the dollar, the mounting trade deficit is costing some American jobs and may worsen the U.S. inflation rate.

When the United States imports more than it exports, it means American consumers are supporting more jobs abroad than foreigners support in this country.

The decline in the value of the dollar also worsens inflation because it means Americans pay more for the foreign goods they buy. It also relieves some of the restraint on domestic prices caused by foreign price competition.

The huge imbalance in U.S. trade with other nations has undermined confidence in the dollar in other countries, especially because the problem seems to be growing worse. The United States had a record annual trade deficit last year of $26.6 billion.

The February deficit compared with a trade imbalance of about $2.4 billion in January and marked the 21st consecutive month in which

Carter makes Nigeria his first stop in Africa

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — President Carter arrived Friday in black Africa on the first state visit by an American chief of state as U.S. officials raised their estimates of the number of Cubans in Africa to as many as 17,000 and said the Cubans are playing a new combat role.

Carter was met by Olusegun Obasanjo, the general running Nigeria's military government. They will confer on relations between the United States and Nigeria, efforts to bring black majority rule to Southern Africa, and Cuban and Soviet activity in the Horn of Africa.

The president was expected to deliver a major speech here today emphasizing that African solutions must be found for African problems without U.S. or other outside intervention to avoid entangling the subcontinent in East-West politics.

A U.S. official said the White House has increased its estimate of the number of Cuban troops in Ethiopia from 11,000 six weeks ago to 16,000 or 17,000. The new figures represent a revised estimate, not an increase in the number of troops.

The official, who declined to be identified, told reporters on Carter's plane as the president flew to Nigeria that the Cubans are being deployed against Eritreans fighting to break their former Italian colony away from Ethiopia.

In Washington, the State Department also gave a new estimate of the number of Cuban troops in Ethiopia, but spokesman John Trattner put the figure at only 15,000. He said he was not certain how the different estimates were reached.

Carter's visit to Africa is aimed at showing new U.S. recognition of the importance of developing nations on the subcontinent. The president also will visit Liberia, on Africa's south Atlantic coast.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt stopped in Liberia in 1943 on his way home from the Casablanca Conference. He had lunch with then-President Edwin Barclay, but Roosevelt's brief hop to the important World War II resupply point was not considered a state visit.

During his stay in the Nigerian capital of Lagos, Carter might meet with Joshua Nkomo, a leader of black guerrillas attempting to overthrow the Rhodesian government headed by white Prime Minister Ian Smith.

British and American sources in London, who asked to remain anonymous, said U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young arranged for Nkomo to be in Lagos during Carter's visit. The sources said Young, who preceded Carter to Africa, also arranged for the presence of foreign ministers from five black African nations that support the guerrillas.

Midland man gives, then prods Texans in institute fund drive

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

ALPINE—"I like the concept," said Clayton W. "Claytie" Williams Jr. of Midland.

And to prove his faith in the Chihuahuan Desert Research Institute, Williams and his wife Modesta plunked down $26,000 to get the money-raising drive going for the fledgling institute.

Williams, an oil operator, cattleman and investor, was among the 500 or so Texans who turned out for the dedication of the 242-acre site of the institute's proposed visitor complex and nature trail on rugged ranchland within sight of the Davis Mountains and about 18 miles north of here and off Texas Highway 118.

Williams' example proved fruitful. Many of the folks who drove and flew down here for the dedication chipped in from $10 to $5,000 for the 4-year-old institute, which is committed to research into the Chihuahuan Desert. The desert covers much of Mexico, a sizeable chunk of West Texas and parts of New Mexico and Arizona.

At Williams' prodding under the hot sun, $68,845 was raised for the institute. That total included his gift.

"We've had a good day," Williams said after the auction-like fund drive. But he was hoping to rake in at least $70,000 for the institute, which needs about $3 million to bring its initial plan at the site into fruition.

At this site, directors of the institute hope to build a visitor complex to lend understanding into the vast desert, research quarters and natural trails.

"There's no big foundations, no corporations" supporting the institute, Williams noted. "Maybe tomorrow, but not today," he said.

The institute was founded by two biology professors at Sul Ross State University in Alpine: Dr. Michael Powell, a botanist, and Dr. James Scudday, a zoologist.

Their idea was to probe into the largely unexplored and unexploited Chihuahuan Desert, which has turned into a refuge for some of nature's endangered species, such as the peregrine falcon and the eagle.

And Williams, who ranches, supports the research, though he doesn't side with "environmentalists" who would save, promote and protect the eagle, and cause its kind to multiply.

". . . I hate eagles, and there are others who hate them, too," Williams said of flying predators, who, he said, kill and eat lambs and other small animals.

And, Williams noted, there are others, such as the environmentalists and scientists, who "love" the birds.

Because of those opposing views, Williams said there is a need for a compromise. And that is one reason why he is supporting the institute.

". . . I'd like to get rid of the dang things (the eagles)," Williams said.

But he flipped the proverbial coin and looked into the opposing viewpoint — that of the naturalists who would save the eagle.

"We're pretty dad-gum polarized today," he said in referring to the naturalists and the ranchers.

Aside from that, Williams said he

Golf course bond 'more like a loan'

"It's not really a bond issue. That's a misnomer. It's more like a loan," said the chairman of the Committee for the Improvement of Hogan Park Golf Facilities on today's $500,000 "bond" election to add nine holes to Hogan Park.

"The golf course improvements are not high enough priority to be taken from the general fund. What the bond issue is in effect asking is to borrow money to pay for the additions when they are completed," said Curtis R. Inman on Friday. He added that the lender would in turn be paid back at a rate of $55,000 a year — a rate which by no means would necessitate a tax increase.

"Since the (city's) general fund did have several million dollars in reserve, it could very easily be used to pay out the $55,000 annually for bonds," Inman said.

He noted, however, that the Hogan Park Golf Course produced a net profit of $12,000 for 1977, a figure that could theoretically be applied against the bond payment.

And by so doing, the actual annual expense would be $43,000, Inman said. Statistics compiled by the National Golf Foundation indicate that by adding an additional nine holes to the existing 18-hole golf course, revenues would increase from 31 to 33 percent while operating costs only increase by 18 percent, Inman added.

Using these figures, a brochure compiled by the Hogan Park improvement committee indicates that a 27-hole golf course in Midland would produce $36,000 net income. Subtracting this from the $55,000 annual bond payment would leave only $19,000 due annually.

"Midland has no natural recreational facilities. It is necessary for us to provide these recreation facilities if we are to have any," Inman said.

According to the Hogan Park committee brochure: "...it cannot be guaranteed that once a bond election is passed and the course is expanded by nine holes that the golf course will generate sufficient income to pay operating costs and take care of most of the bond payment as well. Therefore, a definite statement that approval of the bond will not increase taxes cannot be made. However, the possibility of the golf bond approval triggering a tax increase is very minimal."

'Severe differences' remain after Sadat talks with Weizman

The Los Angeles Times

CAIRO — After meeting twice in less than 24 hours with Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, President Answar Sadat said Friday "We are still speaking two different languages" and "severe differences" remain between Egypt and Israel.

Weizman flew to Cairo Thursday for a two-hour meeting with the Egyptian president, then returned to Israel after another one-hour meeting Friday morning. Both sessions were held in strictest secrecy at Sadat's Nile rest house, 15 miles north of the city.

The veil of secrecy covering the first face-to-face encounter of top Egyptian and Israeli officials also extended to Jerusalem upon Weizman's return, according to reports from Israel.

In Egypt the only news reports of the two sessions came from the official Cairo radio, which quoted a presidential spokesman as saying the Thursday meeting made no progress toward breaking the deadlock in Middle East peace negotiations, and Friday's encounter was only a continuation of the one begun the day before.

Later Friday, however, Sadat slightly and perhaps unwittingly, parted the curtain of secrecy himself, when he held a private meeting with a group of leading American business executives visiting Cairo as part of a Time magazine-sponsored tour. Reporters who attempted to cover the meeting were ejected at the request of Time. An Associated Press reporter left behind a tape recorder, however, and caught a portion of President Sadat's remarks to the executives.

Asked by one of the executives if anything constructive had come of the Weizman visit, Sadat replied:

"Well, until this moment really there is a very severe difference among us in the peace process, and it is mainly in the field of solving the Palestinian question. We had two sessions, one yesterday and one today, and still we are speaking two different languages until this moment."

Sadat added, however, that he still has hope of success for the peace initiative that he started last November with his historic trip to Jerusalem. Following the Jerusalem visit Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin renewed their direct contact at Ismailia and established parallel political and military committees to begin working out the details of an overall Middle East peace.

The political talks in Jerusalem ended abruptly on January 18 when Sadat withdrew his delegation, however, complaining of Israeli intransigence on the Palestinian question and Israeli settlements. The military committee held two rounds of talks in Cairo, but suspended its activity on Feb. 2.

The latest Weizman trip to Egypt was the Israeli Defense Minister's fifth visit since the peace initiative began. He was accompanied by about 15 aides, most of them military technicians, indicating that the Israeli minister might have held some hope when he arrived that the military talks would resume.

Voters to decide races today

Midland voters face an array of decisions today.

In the various races, two candidates are vying for mayor. Four candidates are running for two open positions on the Midland Independent School District Board of Trustees, four for two positions on the Midland College Board of Trustees and five for two Midland County Hospital District directorships.

This is the first time directors for the hospital district have been elected. The board of directors is the governing body of the district and contracts with the Midland Memorial Hospital Board of Governors to run the hospital. The governors are appointed by the hospital trustees, who are responsible for the hospital's operation. The directors will be elected at large, with each voter selecting two from among the five candidates.

Two parks also will be in the limelight in the election, as voters will be asked to approve or defeat proposals for nine additional holes of golf and a site for a new central fire station.

A $500,000 bond issue has been placed on the ballot to fund the additional holes at Hogan Park golf course.

Also on the ballot is a referendum seeking approval to use Crier Park as a site for a new central fire station.

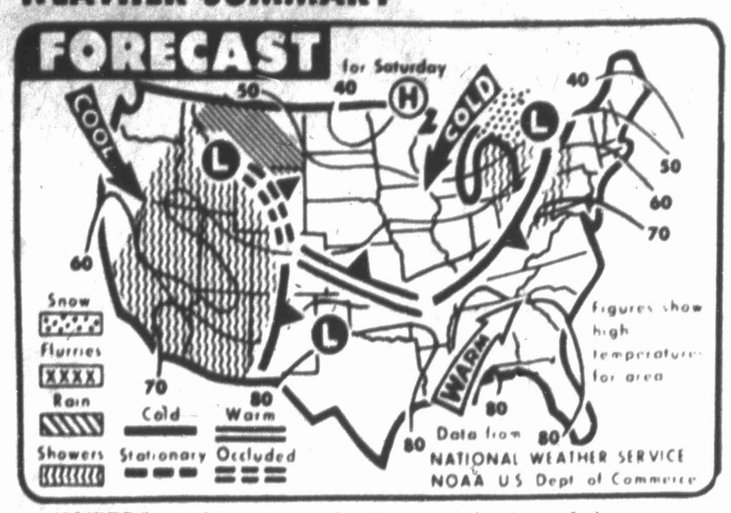

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Greenwood residents will be choosing three members for their school board.

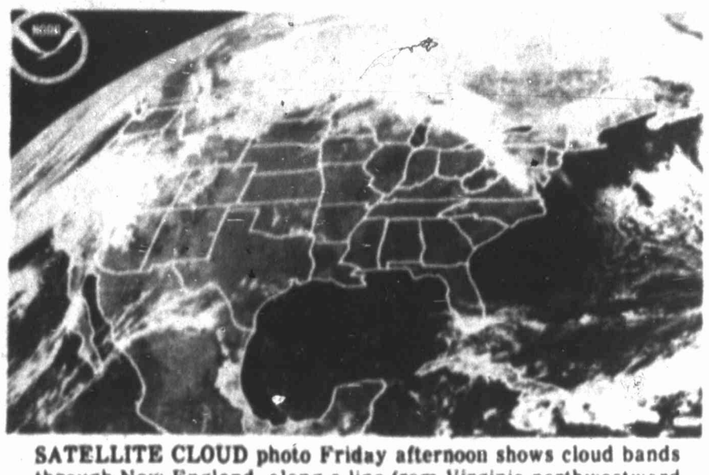

Incumbent James Brooks is running unopposed for Place No. 3.

Running for Place No. 4 are Leroy Ledford, Lonnie Taylor and Bobby J. Coffee. Vying for Place No. 5 are George "Pat" Anderson, Marvin G. Manning and Owen H. Mobley.

Midland fire official John Bourke retires

"I guess you might say I'm 'the last of the Mohicans,'" said Deputy Fire Chief John Bourke after announcing his retirement Friday.

Bourke, 62, said his decision to retire was carefully thought out and that it was time for someone else to take over the number two spot on Midland's 116-man fire department.

His 30-plus year career as a Midland firefighter included a two-year stint as a volunteer, immediately following World War II. During that time, Bourke worked for a Midland cab company. "I am the last of the group that had been volunteers," he said.

Bourke became committed to the idea of being a fireman while employed by the U.S. Civil Service as a fireman for the Midland Army-Air Force Bombardier School at what is now the Midland Regional Air Terminal.

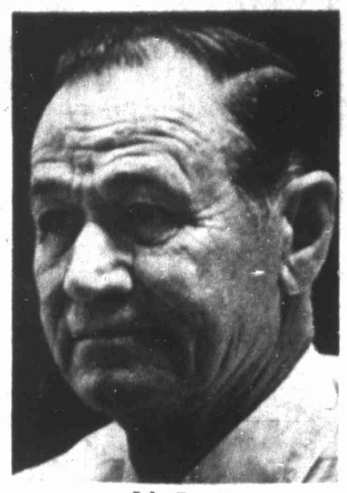

During his service there he became captain in charge of crash protection and firefighting. During this period he acquired skills in learning how to fight petroleum-fueled fires — skills that would come in handy later on.

After the bombardier school closed in 1946, Bourke said he could have accepted a civil service transfer. But the San Saba County native had too many roots in Midland to leave.

Working as a volunteer fireman from 1946 to 1948 eventually lead to a full-time paying job when the city decided it needed to hire seven professional firefighters in February 1948.

Bourke became a fire captain in 1952 and rose to assistant chief in 1954. He was promoted to deputy chief in 1974.

In 1950 Bourke directed firefighting efforts in what was Midland County's first major oilfield fire. Three paid firefighters, two pieces of firefighting equipment and scores of volunteers extinguished the blaze, using techniques Bourke had mastered as a fireman at the bombardier school.

John Bourke

"Fortunately it was during the day and the weather was nice," said Bourke of the conditions during this fire on the Sprayberry Oilfield. Volunteer firefighters, he explained, were good about showing up under favorable weather conditions, but not so good "at night when the weather is cold."

During his career as a fireman, Bourke has seen a philosophical change in firefighting techniques.

"We used to try to put a fire out with all the water we could put on it. Now we try to put it out with as little water as we can use," he said.

Modern techniques, Bourke stressed, use chemicals as supplements or substitutes for water, in an effort to minimize water-caused damage in firefighting. Bourke said he and his wife, Lucile, will continue to live in Midland and travel when they want to.

supports the institute, because "we could add one more grand stopping place" in Southwestern Texas for young people, families and tourists.

Among those existing attractions in West Texas today are the Big Bend National Park, the state park and national historic site near Fort Davis, and the McDonald Observatory, Williams said.

Prior to the "raking in" of donations to the Alpine-based institute, Williams treated the visitors and supporters here to a barbecue beef lunch prepared by his chief chuck wagon cook, Ramon Hartnett of Fort Davis.

And between the "big feed" and the money-raising drive, Dr. Powell credited Williams with "keeping the idea (of the institute) alive" with his moral and financial support.

Williams said Friday's fund-raising effort to benefit the insitute may be the "first step in a real great journey."

Later, Gene Cummings of Fort Stockton, who headed up the committee to find a site for the institute's mini-Chihuahuan Desert, joined in the money-raising try.

"Today's the day," Cummings said into the public-address microphone. "Don't put it off. It's like the preacher says every Sunday morning."

After the drive, Powell presented Williams with a framed certificate to recognize him as a primary donor to the institute.

Williams made the down payment on the 242-acre site, which is being purchased from the Billie Weston ranching family at $350 per acre. Williams said. That down payment amounted to 29.5 percent of the total cost.

Clayton Williams Jr. calls for donations.

High in the 80s to follow 93

The weatherman is predicting cooler temperatures Sunday, although it still will be warm enough.

The forecast this weekend calls for partly cloudy skies through Sunday with cooler temperatures tonight and Sunday. The high today should be in the upper 80s. The low tonight should be in the lower 50s, and the high Sunday should reach near 80. Winds are expected to be southwesterly at 15 to 20 mph and gusty.

Friday's high temperature was 93, and the overnight low was 58. All area towns reported clear skies and hot temperatures Friday.

The record high for March 31 is 97 degrees set in 1946. The record low for today is 29 degrees set in 1936.

DEATHS

R. Dee Davis

BRECKENRIDGE — Services for R. Dee Davis, 71, of Bowie, father of Roland Davis of Midland, were at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Satterwhite Funeral Home here with the Rev. Mac Cook, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Breckenridge Cemetery.

Davis died Tuesday in Bowie.

He was born May 20, 1906, in Coleman. He moved to Bowie from Breckenridge.

Other survivors include a son, a daughter, a sister, six grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Guy Fuller

SPEARMAN — Guy Reagan Fuller, 74, brother of John Walker of Midland, died Friday in an Amarillo hospital.

Services are pending with Boxwell Bros. here.

He married Blanche Archer in Amarillo in September 1927. He was a member of the Christian Church, active in Boy Scouts and the production of "Texas" in Palo Duro Canyon.

Other survivors include his wife, a sister and two brothers.

$50,000 bond set for drug suspect, 18

A total of $50,000 bond was set Friday by Peace Justice Robert Pine for 18-year-old Steven Dale Stone, charged with possession of LSD, hashish and felony possession of marijuana.

Stone was arrested Thursday night in an apartment in the 700 block of North Carrizo Street. City and Department of Public Safety narcotics officers said they found 60 paper sheets believed to be saturated with LSD, as well as about 10 ounces of a substance believed to be marijuana and a small amount of a substance believed to be hashish.

SAMPLE BALLOT for today's election in Midland

New election ordered in Crockett County

OZONA — The eternal election for county Commissioner Precinct 1 here will be held again, following a Thursday ruling by State District Judge George Thurmond of Del Rio.

This is the second time a judge has ordered a new election to determine the outcome of the race for the commissioners place. It will be the fourth election held since 1976 to determine this one position.

As Associated Press story printed in Friday's Reporter-Telegram mistakenly reported that incumbent Jesse Marley won a run-off election in June 1976 by 32 votes over Sostenes DeHoyos and that DeHoyos filed a law suit in federal court contesting the election. The story further stated that a three-judge panel ordered a new election for Dec. 10, 1977 as a result of DeHoyos' suit.

The controversy over the 1976 election began over Crockett County's reapportionment of precinct lines. Records in Ozona show that after the Justice Department objected to the reapportionment, San Antonio attorney Luis Segura filed suit on behalf of the Mexican-American Community Organization in Ozona.

In 1977, the three-judge panel ruled in favor of the Mexican-Americans and ordered a new election to be held Dec. 10, 1977.

Candidates in the December election for Precinct 1 Commissioner were Marley, Jerry Hayes and Sostenes DeHoyos.

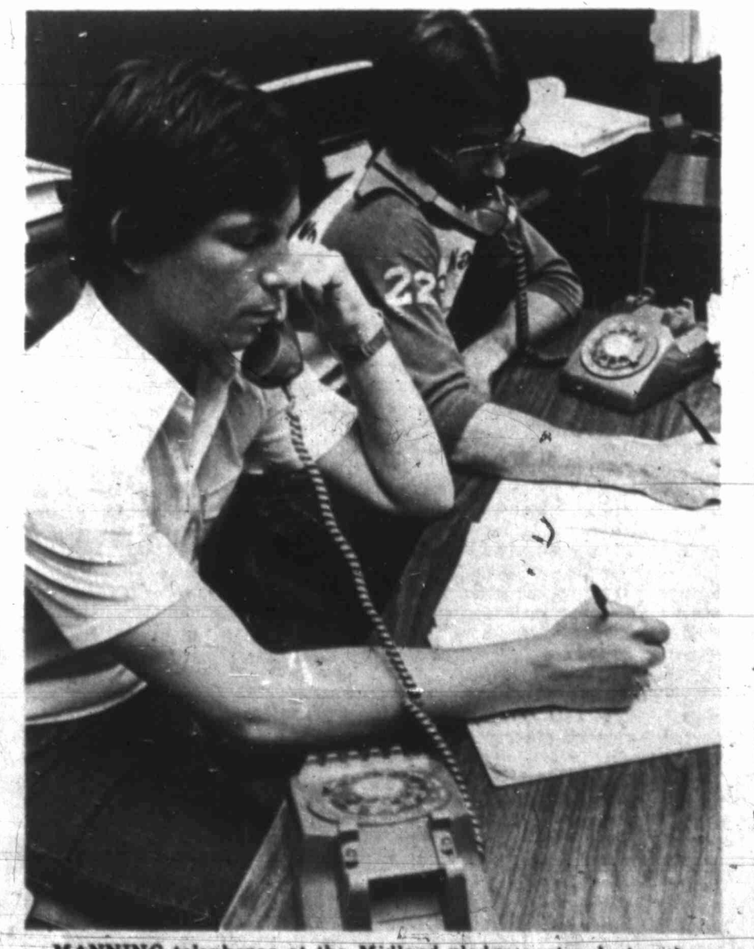

Although DeHoyos led the race, he did not receive a majority of votes and a run-off election was held in January 1978 between Marley and DeHoyos. Marley won by 32 votes.

In February, Segura again filed suit alleging that a "great many" of the votes were invalid because they were cast by electors who xere non-residents of Precinct 1.

Thurmond Thursday ruled in favor of DeHoyos saying, "In concurrence with the parties involved, I found that such a quantity of illegal votes would have been cast as to affect the outcome of the election."

The new election will be June 3, 1978.

Hector DeHoyos, spokesman for the Mexican American organization in Ozona, said Friday, "With all the irregularities in the election that were brought out during the hearing, we (Ozona's Mexican-American community) felt like we had discovered a junior Watergate."

Trade marks high deficit

imports exceeded exports. The previous record monthly deficit was $3.3 billion in October of last year.

The billions of American dollars flowing out of the country to pay for imported goods has reduced demand for the dollar, and thus its value, much like a surplus of wheat, for example, causes wheat prices to decline.

BLUEPRINTS

Back of every well-built house is a set of blueprints. Without plans how would the electrician know just where to install the outlets and switches? How would the plumber know where the pipes belong? Would the doors and windows be located correctly?

With knowledge and vision, the architect designed the house. The workmen followed his specifications. No guesswork!

Without plans, life would soon be hit-or-miss. All our intentions must be founded on some vision of the course we are going to follow . . . the goal we want to reach.

A man's religion is his primary help in determining the right plan of his life. As he grows to understand the God who created life, he learns how life can be used to bring the greatest good and richest happiness to himself, his loved ones, his neighbors, his world. That vision guides his everyday planning. His plans are right because his aims are right!

By following God's blueprints, you can put an end to guesswork in your life.

Drama group to perform

The Covenant Players, a West Coast drama group which has performed in in numerous Midland churches during past years, will come here this weekend to present a performance Sunday evening in St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

Internationally-known, the Covenant Players through its various traveling troupes has given thousands of performances on four continents since the organization began its "Christian Dynamics" drama series in 1963.

The Players will perform during a fellowship gathering Sunday evening in the fellowship hall of St. Luke's Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave. The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will be open to all interested persons.

Jung film to be shown

St. Nicholas' Episcopal Church, 2900 Princeton Ave., will show a new motion picture on famed psychiatrist Carl Gustav Jung at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The screening will be in the parish hall of the church and will be open to all interested persons at no charge, although voluntary donations will be accepted to help defray costs of renting and showing the film.

The full-length documentary was filmed in Switzerland and is narrated by Laurens van der Post. The film is actually in three segments, titled "In Search of the Soul," "67,000 Dreams" and "The Mystery That Heals." A discussion period will follow the screening, and refreshments will be served.

Performance of play set

A performance of "You Never Knew My Father," the current "Play For Living" having a series of presentations in the city under sponsorship of Family Services of Midland, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of First United Methodist Church, Main and Ohio streets.

The drama, which has a cast made up of local actors and actresses, treats of death and dying in an unusual and poignant way.

Following the performance, a member of the cast will lead the congregation in a discussion of the drama and its implications. The performance will be open to all interested residents of the community.

Driving course registration set

First United Methodist Church, through its continuing education committee, is announcing sponsorship of a defensive driving course on April 15.

The eight-hour course will be taught at Midland College but advance registrations may be made through the First United Methodist Church office, 682-3701. Reservations for places in the driving course should be made before April 4, said the Rev. Bill Weir, minister of program and education at First United United Methodist Church.

Completion of the course entitles a person to a special discount on automobile liability insurance for a three-year period.

Several members of "The Mexicas" folkloric dance company display elaborate costumes they wear in one of the troupe's dance numbers. The students from Holding Institute at Laredo will perform Sunday evening in St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

Chaplain teaches Koran

By JOSEPH D. WHITAKER
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — A dozen inmates in maximum security at Lorton Reformatory in Northern Virginia knelt on squares of white cloth with their eyes closed and heads bowed, and chanted a prayer in Arabic. Leading the group was a trim, bearded young man, who wore a black skull cap.

The occasion was regular Friday Jumah services, the equivalent in the Islamic faith of the Sabbath for Christians and Jews.

The prayer leader was Imam (minister or spiritual leader) Mikal Huda Ba'th (pronounced baa eeth), the Islamic chaplain for the District of Columbia Department of Corrections.

Before Ba'th took the $22,000-a-year post last December, the religious needs of Moslem inmates were attended to by Catholic or Protestant chaplains, who some inmates felt lacked the time and proper training to work with Islamic believers.

While D.C. is the first correctional system under federal jurisdiction to employ an Islamic chaplain, New York, New Jersey, Texas, Michigan and Connecticut were the first state penal systems to hire a Muslim chaplain, according to Adid Mahdi, national coordinator of prison services for the World Community of Islam.

Delbert Jackson, director of the D.C. Department of Corrections, said he has felt for many years that an Islamic chaplain was needed to deal with the growing number of Muslims in the city's correctional facilities.

"For a long time we had a proclivity to believe that the majority of the people in our institutions were either Protestants or Catholics," Jackson said. "That is simply not the case. We estimate that between 45 percent and 50 percent of our inmate population of 6,656 — including those on parole — are members of the Islamic faith."

In addition to being a chaplain, Ba'th, 31, is also the resident imam of Richmond, Va., and is the mideastern regional coordinator of prison services for the World Community of Islam in the West, formerly known as the Nation of Islam or "Black Muslims."

Ba'th sees his job as one that finally "legitimatizes" the Islamic faith as an accepted religion and provides inmates a figure in authority to whom they can come and make appeals.

"In the past, Moslem inmates worked at the mercy of other people who weren't obligated to follow the teachings of the Islamic faith," said Ba'th. "An Islamic chaplain is obligated to see to it that Islamic functions are brought about and maintained in all of the facilities. A chaplain under a different faith is not under that obligation."

Although other chaplains employed by the D.C. Department of Correction are assigned to duties at a specific facility, Ba'th serves as the only chaplain for Muslims in all seven of the city's detention facilities.

Ba'th said the result is a crushing work load that demands a 13-hour work day and requires him to drive about 450 miles a week, as he makes his rounds between institutions in Washington and Lorton, Va.

He is responsible for coordinating services and other Islamic activities at the seven facilities, for hearing inmate complaints, teaching from the Koran, and checking to insure that meals given to inmates are prepared according to Islamic laws.

At one recent session at Lorton, Ba'th sat down with inmates before he began Juman services to drink coffee and eat a slice of bean pie, considered a delicacy among many Moslems. The food was prepared under the supervision of Imam Herbert Sijjin Rasheed, who must see to it that only natural ingredients are used and that pork in any form is excluded.

When time came for the services, inmates donned skull caps, took off their shoes and spread clean, white clothes on the dining hall floor where they sat as Ba'th taught from the Koran.

"We're not a people who are always aggressive," Ba'th told the group as he stood behind a podium. "When we work with people in positions of authority, we must respect their authority. That's what the Koran is trying to teach us.

"I've noticed that sometimes some of you treat officers as though they are not human. In turn, they treat you as though you're not human," he said. "Allah does not want us to do this," Ba'th told the men dressed in blue denim prison uniforms.

Earlier in the day, at the city jail, Ba'th was busily investigating the complaint of another Moslem, who Ba'th said was arrested and kept in jail because he could not pay the $100 bail.

Ba'th said serious problems for the man apparently began when a guard heard him chanting Islamic prayers in his cell and a misunderstanding occurred.

"Apparently the guard asked the man to stop praying and the man told him it was his religious privilege to pray," Ba'th said. "When the guard attmepted to arrest the man, he rebelled and was put into a padded cell. Finally they chained him to his bed."

Ba'th cited it as a good example of the kinds of problems he is called on to solve daily.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Ba'th has lived in pursuit of widely differing ideals, ranging from his plans at one time to study medicine to his work in prisons during the late 1960s as an official of the Black Panther Party in New Haven, Conn.

Ba'th said he has an older brother who is a Baptist minister in Pittsburgh and a younger brother who is studying for the Catholic priesthood near Chicago.

Ba'th said he earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from Ohio State University, an associate degree in business administration from Norwalk Community College in Connecticut and a law degree from the LaSalle University extension in Chicago. He said he currently is completing work on a doctorate degree in Islamic jurisprudence from the University of London.

In the early 1970s, when various black power organizations — including the Black Panthers — were slowly disintegrating, Ba'th said he was attracted to the then Nation of Islam.

"The Moslems were still well organized and had not lost their commitment to protect our community and our families," Ba'th said.

Ba'th said that although his initial attraction to the Islamic faith was more social and political than spiritual, he is now a strict adherent to the teachings of the Koran.

And like himself, Ba'th said that many of the inmates who join the "Islamic brotherhood" do so for reasons other than because they are God-conscious.

College again hosting conference for pastors

ABILENE — Hardin-Simmons University will hold its fifth annual spring pastors' conference April 11.

Lecturers for this year's event will be Dr. David Garland, professor of Old Testament at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, and Dr. James Pleitz, pastor of Park Cities Baptist Church at Dallas.

Although aimed primarily at pastors in the West Texas area, the event will be open to all interested persons, said Dr. Lindell Harris, chairman of the religion department at Hardin-Simmons University. Pre-registration is not required.

Each of the guest speakers will deliver both morning and afternoon lectures. Dr. Garland will concentrate his messages on the Book of Daniel, with topics to be "Faith For a New World" and "A Faith That Asks No Miracle."

Dr. Pleitz will look to the 17th chapter of the Gospel of John for his morning talk, titled "The Tyranny of the Urgent." He will conclude the conference with a talk titled "Contagious Religion."

Planners of the conference point out that the event is scheduled for a time of year when pastors are preparing for their summer programs.

The conference will begin at 10:30 a.m. April 11 in Moody Center on the H-SU campus. A luncheon will be held at noon.

Catholicism taking on broader role, poll says

A new, broader kind of Roman Catholicism is emerging in the United States as portrayed in survey findings. It's more educated, more diverse in religious interpretations, its people at ease in differing with official positions, yet loyal to the church, confident and devout.

That picture is in marked contrast to the past image of a homogenous bloc of uniform religious views and practice, with dissenters considering leaving the fold. But now they're staying explicitly in it, comfortable in doing so, dedicated to the faith, even though often disagreeing with authorities about its implications.

In short, as brought out increasingly by several recent studies, Catholics have come to terms with diversity of viewpoints within the church, accepting it without being edgy or alienated by it, undeflected by it from devotion to the church.

"We're finding that large majorities of Catholics do not agree with the church's position on such key issues as divorce and birth control, but they're staying within the church, and in many cases, are the most 'devout members,'" says George Gallup Jr., head of the Gallup poll organization. No longer, he adds, do they feel compelled by such dissent to drop out.

Gallup's latest broad-scale survey on the situation, commissioned by the Catholic Press Association and its results released last week, showed that a rising proportion of Catholics are college-educated, a third of them, double that of a decade ago, with their influence mounting.

They're more active in church life than those with only high school education, attend more regularly, rate their religion more important but also are most likely to disagree with official church positions.

Overall, 69 percent of Catholics disagree with church prohibitions of remarriage after divorce and 73 percent disagree with the church ban against contraception. The figures are higher for the college-educated, 74 percent and 83 percent respectively.

Troupe to present Sunday dance program

A troupe of 20 talented young dancers, "The Mexicas" of Laredo, will be guests of St. Mark's United United Methodist Church for a special program Sunday evening.

The folkloric group will present a program of colorful regional dances of Mexico as a special highlight of a fellowship supper at St. Mark's, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the meal and the performance following.

St. Mark's Church is at 1701 N. Main St.

Members of The Mexicas troupe are all students at Holding Institute, a school supported by Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church. The school enables students to become acquainted with their own heritage and culture, to reaffirm Mexican traditions and to absorb a pride of heritage that can be passed on to future generations.

The students and their adult sponsors will be overnight guests in homes of members of the St. Mark's congregation. They will proceed Monday to San Antonio, the final stop on a current spring tour which has taken the ensemble to such cities as Sonora, Snyder, Lubbock and Amarillo, as well as Midland, for dance performances.

Members of the troupe range in age from 16 to 19 and come from varied socio-economic backgrounds. The ensemble's repertoire includes approximately two dozen regional dances of Mexico. The dances are presented in colorful and authentic costumes. The troupe is under the direction of Salvador Ibarra, a native of San Luis Potosi, Mexico and himself a graduate of Holding Institute.

Glee club to appear

The 45-member glee club of St. Anthony High School Seminary in San Antonio will sing Sunday morning in Midland's two Catholic churches.

The choral ensemble will sing at a 9:30 a.m. mass in St. Ann's Church, North M street and West Illinois avenue, and at the 11:30 a.m. mass at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, Garden Lane and Tyler street.

At both masses, the celebrant and homilist will be the Rev. Jack Franko, O.M.I., vocational director at St. Anthony Seminary. The choral group is under direction of the Rev. J. McMahon, O.M.I.

The public is invited to attend either of the special musical events Sunday morning.

Carter, church leaders hold sugar, lemon session

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Face to face, U.S. church leaders and President Carter laid out their ideas and impressions of each other's performance. They traded compliments, some criticisms and expressed thanks for both.

It was a remarkably frank, yet reciprocally supportive and friendly exchange, the first meeting between Carter and leaders of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

"I'm thankful for what you've done," Carter told them, but added he felt they should keep up a more vigorous role on social problems.

William P. Thompson, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church and president of the National Council of Churches, told Carter, "We feel a double sense of affinity with you and your hopes and dreams."

That is so, he said, because Carter approaches his duties of office "in the broader perspective of ... an active Christian layman" and also because of shared concern for the "health of our nation."

Carter said he sought to balance as best he could "within the bounds of constitutional restraints" both his responsibilities as a government official and a Christian layman, "but I have fallen short of what I should do."

The meeting took place recently in the White House with 28 leaders of denominations of the National Council, marking continuation of a once-blocked liaison between the U.S. presidency and the cooperative organization of Protestantism and Orthodoxy.

Those lines of communication, dating back to the Franklin D. Rooseveit era and maintained through the presidencies of Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson, had been broken off by Nixon, but were revived by Ford in 1975.

Carter said he looked forward to continuing the exchange, both of "mutual support and constructive criticism."

But he said he was troubled by a "growing quiescence in the churches" on social problems. "Compared to what the Christian community could do ... outreach and social programs are minimal," he said.

"I think there's a lot the churches can do that we are not doing," he said, adding that in many ways "the last bastion of racial discrimination" is in the churches. "The government has done a great deal to eliminate segregation ... The churches have done much less."

Assistant rector to be welcomed

The Rev. George Benson, newly named assistant to the rector of St. Nicholas' Episcopal parish, and wife Kathy, will be welcomed to the parish at a Sunday luncheon at the church, 2900 Princeton Ave.

The Bensons have moved to Midland from New York City where Benson has been curate at the Church of the Epiphany since mid-1976. The Bensons are originally from St. Louis, Mo., and both attended St. Louis University. Mrs. Benson is a registered nurse and has been school nurse and health education instructor at the Hewitt School in Manhattan.

The Sunday luncheon honoring the newcomers will be in the parish hall of St. Nicholas' Church following the 10 a.m. worship service.

Guest to speak Sunday

The Rev. Sidney J. Spain will be a pulpit guest for the Sunday morning worship service at First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana Ave.

Spain serves as Northeast Area minister for the Disciples of Christ (Christian) denomination, with headquarters at Tyler. He has preached in the city in the past.

The visitor's topic for his sermon during the 10:50 a.m. Sunday service will be "He Goeth Before You," based on Matt. 28:7. The public is invited to hear him.

Defense alters in Trull trial

TYLER, Texas (AP) — After defense and prosecution challenges to the truthfulness of key witnesses during the kidnapping trial of Don Trull, jurors here face the chore of sorting it all out when lawyers finish the final arguments they will begin Monday.

Before it rested its case Friday, the defense switched strategy and began challenging the credibility of a key state witness when State District Judge Glenn Phillips refused to allow the jury hear testimony by paroled swindler Billie Sol Estes.

Defense attorney G. Brockett Irwin considered Estes crucial until Phillips ruled inadmissible testimony on any debts Estes and Pyron might owe Trull.

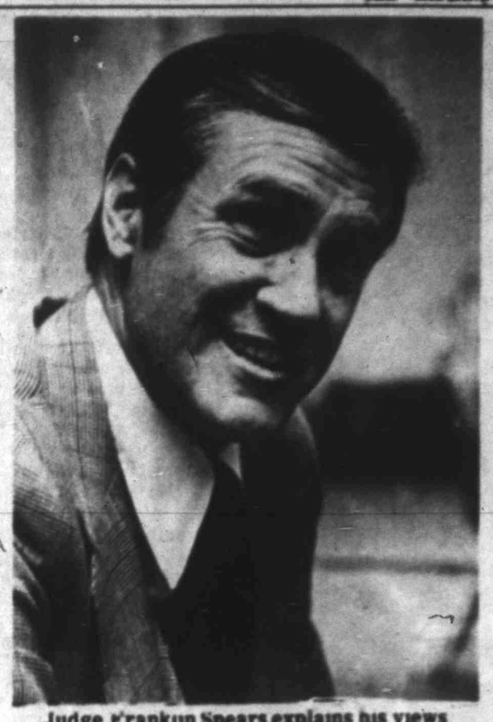

Irwin then altered his tactics and concentrated on attacking Pyron's truthfulness.

Attorneys for both sides suggested Estes and Pyron had lied under oath.

Trull is charged with holding an employee of Tyler millionaire Billy Pyron hostage last summer in Pyron's gasolinesplashed office.

Most of the defense witnesses, including Estes, were required to testify to an empty jury box because of successful objections by the state challenging the admissibility of their testimony.

Smith County District Attorney A.D. Clark III indicated Estes might be guilty of perjury, and Irwin's efforts to discredit Pyron as a truthful witness reached new heights when Estes branded the East Texas investor a "bald-faced liar," and a "perjuror."

Yarbrough case brings court to light

This is a low visibility race," state District Judge Franklin Spears said of the Texas Supreme Court campaign.

Franklin, a Democratic candidate for Place 1 on the Supreme Court, was in Midland Friday.

Speaking at a press conference, Spears said the lack of public knowledge about appellate court races was shown when Don Yarbrough was elected to the Supreme Court. Yarbrough later left the bench and was convicted of perjury.

But Spears believes that incident ultimately helped the court because people are more aware of the job now.

The judge said the State Bar of Texas poll showed him to be a four-to-one choice over his opponent, O'Neal Bacon.

"Lawyers and judges are not only the most knowledgeable, but also the severest critics," Spears said.

In Texas, the Supreme Court hears only civil cases, while the Court of Criminal Appeals is the final appellate court for criminal cases.

"It's been rather amusing to me to hear a lawyer explaining legislative intent on a bill which I passed. I always let him go all the way through his speech before I tell him," Spears said.

"I know many states only have one court of last resort" Spears said, but he noted that the dual system in Texas allows for specialization among judges.

Spears said he has had only a few of his decisions as district judge reversed by appellate courts. "Even on some of those I was reversed on, I was right," he added.

On the topic of speeding civil litigation through the courts, Spears said the way in which the court docket is managed many times can make a difference, as would "a system for accountability become more interested of all judges, whatever (in the elections)."

That system now is the district judge in San ballot box, Speers said. "I Antonio 10 years. Prior to would hope if we were that, he served in the going to continue that Texas Legislature for two system, people would terms.

Grenade explodes in home

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — A hand grenade exploded inside the grounds of President Ferdinand Marcos' summer residence Easter Sunday, but no one was hurt, officials said.

Mrs. Marcos had planned to visit the vacation home in Baguio, 120 miles north of Manila, but canceled the trip at the last minute, officials said.

Investigators said a cache of explosives was found beneath the bedroom used by the president and his wife.

Lawyers disagree with financing of State Bar Building in Austin

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Two Austin lawyers Friday revived challenges to the financing of the $6 million State Bar Building as the bar mailed ballots to members asking if they wanted to pay for it.

Jodi Lehman and Janet Stockard said a $3,835,000 note is due the American Bank of Austin in August.

They told a news conference Texas' 30,100 lawyers are being asked whether a one-time assessment of 125-150 per lawyer should be levied to pay off the mortgage.

The posh glass-and-granite building was dedicated July 4, 1976.

The two women lawyers listed events, beginning in 1974, that led up to its construction.

The events already have been made public, Ms. Lehman said she did not think reiterating them would necessarily hurt the chances for approval of the assessment.

She and Ms. Stockard said they felt lawyers outside of Austin were not familiar with the financial details surrounding the building and should know about them.

They said the bar and its directors decided to arrange financing through American Bank without asking memberlawyers' opinions.

"At the time the money was borrowed," they said, "the executive director of the state bar was also sitting on the board of directors" of American Bank.

Although the Texas Constitution prohibits mortgaging state property, they said, the bar leadership borrowed $4 million to build and furnish the law center and mortgaged state property to secure payment of the loan.

This information was first revealed in 1976 and apparently helped defeat a proposal to raise bar dues a maximum of $35 a year. A bar director, Joe Longley, contended the increase was going to be used to pay off the mortgage.

The women said the bar leadership claims that voluntary contributions "have fallen short of their goal" as a result of a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service that contributions made for the building after July 5, 1977, are not tax deductible.

This is contrary to a previous IRS letter that stated such contributions would be deductible, Ms. Lehman said.

The two women are on a five member committee appointed by Longley to collect information for the Sunset Advisory Commission, which has scheduled a hearing for June on whether the bar should be continued as a state agency.

The building's financing is an offshoot of their research for that hearing, they said.

Need for GOMA questioned

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Officials of three local manpower programs in widely separated parts of Texas said Friday they feel there may no longer be a need for the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs.

All three made similar remarks the day before at a meeting of the Prime Sponsor Planning Council, which advises the Texas Department of Community Affairs on job training programs.

Questioning the need for GOMA were Gaines County Judge Marcus Crow, former Diboll Mayor Clyde Thompson and Gainesville Mayor Glen Loch.

Thompson presented a resolution from the Deep East Texas Council of Governments that criticized GOMA and asked that "the current delivery system of manpower programs in rural Texas be changed to reflect the needs and desires of local people, and that state level politics be reduced to a minimum."

Criticisms from the three officials, all of them appointed to the council by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, boiled down to two points:

—Local job training or public service employment programs suffer because Briscoe decreed that GOMA must get 19.5 percent of all federal manpower money dedicated to rural Texas.

—Services performed by GOMA contractors often duplicate those offered by local manpower programs.

"We are all aware of migrants and seasonal workers now and know they are a special group," Loch said, adding that local manpower programs could meet their needs without GOMA.

Loch said repeated requests for an audience with Briscoe were met only with a December meeting with the governor's executive assistant, Dickie Travis.

"The governor knows their concerns," said Don Adams, the governor's general counsel and former acting director of GOMA.

Crow said that after two years of serious duplication of effort by GOMA in his county, GOMA now "at least checks with us to see if we approve or disapprove of their soliciting clients."

"The extra administrative cost is my main concern," he said.

Thompson said federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) money should be distributed according to the "population of those to be served."

"The people who are getting hurt are in North Texas and East Texas, where there is no migrant work force," Crow said.

A GOMA official who asked not to be named said GOMA "got into manpower because existing programs didn't provide services for farmworkers."

He said areas that left the "balance of state" program administered by TDCA for rural areas and obtained federal money directly showed no interest in farmworkers.

Once out from under state supervision, "not one has made any effort to provide programs for farmworkers," the official said.

VW's Rabbit jumps ahead of others in EPA ratings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new automotive mileage champion is the diesel-powered Volkswagen Rabbit but the Honda Civic and the Datsun B210 tied for most economic automobile using gasoline, government figures show.

The diesel-powered Volkswagen Rabbit costs more than a gasoline model, but it can still save you money if you drive it more than about 22,000 miles.

The EPA's tests show that the diesel Rabbit gets 40 miles per gallon in city driving and 53 mpg on the highway for an overall weighted average of 45 mpg.

When the government calculates the average mileage, it gives more weight to city driving than highway driving because more driving is done in cities.

However, the Honda Civic and the Datsun B210 shared the honor of having the best mileage among cars fueled with gasoline. The Honda Civic had been rated No. 1 in 1977. It achieved 36 mpg in city driving and 44 mpg on the highway for a combined average of 40 mpg.

The only other auto to achieve an average of 40 mpg or more was the gasoline-powered Datsun B210, which averaged 36 mpg in city driving and 48 mpg on the highway.

Despite the slight mileage discrepancy, the Honda Civic and the Datsun B210 finished in the tie when city-vs-highway driving was taken into account.

Volkswagen of America reported Friday that a diesel engine for the Rabbit cost $195 more than the gasoline powered model, which recorded a weighted average of 29 miles per gallon.

But, according to the American Automobile Association, diesel fuel averages 57.8 cents per gallon around the country, while regular gasoline averaged 63.4 cents a gallon.

This means if you drive the diesel Rabbit 27,624 miles you would save the $195 extra the engine cost compared to the gasoline powered version. And driving 50,000 miles would mean a saving of $255.88 cents over the costs of the gasoline driven Rabbit.

Savings would be more in Western states, where the AAA says diesel fuel is cheaper, and less in the East where it costs more.

The VW's victory over Honda was the only surprise on the new mileage list. The Volkswagen mileage figures had been released in September, when the EPA published a list that included most cars sold in the United States.

MC ceremonies slated April 10

The formal opening of the Lyndon Baines Johnson Forum and the dedication of the new fine arts building at Midland College are planned for April 10, college President Dr. Al G. Langford said Thursday.

"We are delighted to announce that Lady Bird Johnson has agreed to cut the ribbon for the recently completed LBJ Educational Forum and that Texas Secretary of State Steven Oaks will make the dedicatory address for the official opening of the new Fine Arts Building," Langford said.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony for the LBJ Forum is scheduled at 10 a.m. and the dedication of the fine arts building at 11 a.m. Both are open to the public.

The LBJ Forum, located in the learning resource center, is a research and teaching facility first envisioned by Veda Hodge of Midland. Constructed with private contributions, the forum was designed by Charles Paramore of Dallas, who also designed the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame here.

The forum includes a large selection of historical recordings, representative of the persons, events and entertainmemt of the Johnson era. Displays include photographs of the Johnson family, copies of historic bills passed while Johnson was president and a time-line mural showing major events which occurred during his lifetime.

Visitors may watch a short movie about the late President Johnson's lifelong involvement with education and two videotape recordings about activities in which he was involved.

Designed as a teaching center for government, history and social science classes, the LBJ Forum has space for 24 students. The instructor can operate all of the audio-visual equipment, lights and drapes hrough a central lectern. The forum is open to the public during regular college hours.

Recently completed, the fine arts building is a 60,000 square-foot structure and is part of an expansion program authorized by voters during a February 1976 bond election.

Included in the building is a wing with 16 general-purpose classrooms and another wing for architectural drawing, art, journalism and publications. The center area contains a large gallery display area; a 250-seat lecture hall with stage; choir, string laboratory, band and piano areas, and individual practice rooms, radio studio and offices.

Now on display through April 10 in the gallery are 11 large paintings by artists Fritz Scholder and Bill Schenck, pottery by Paul Soldner of California and representative works by Midland College faculty members and former students.

WINNING first place in general merchandise competition at the recent State Leadership Conference of the Distributive Education Clubs of America Texas Association in San Antonio is Midland High School student Sherry Clark. She is eligible to participate in national competition May 7 through 12 in Washington, D.C. Receiving certificates for making the final rounds of competition at the conference were three Lee High School students. They were Janet Palmer, who did a study in apparels and accessories, and Janiece Teichmann and Kevin Wilton, who took a three-part test in petroleum competency. (Staff Photo)

Solar energy, heat pump deliver in cold climate

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

For two winters now — unusually cold winters in a cold area — the Edneys have been keeping down their energy costs by teaming solar-heated water with a heat pump.

Since David Edney, a 32- year-old engineer, sells solar equipment and knew he could get parts at wholesale prices, it was natural for him to decide on using a solar energy collector system when building a new house in blizzardy Belfast, N.Y., 60 miles south of Buffalo. It's a 1,128-square-foot ranch with a small basement and an attached garage and shop. There are 6 inches of fiber glass insulation sandwiched between ⅝-inch plywood and a combination of gypsum board and pine boards; an extra strong nearly flat roof on the theory that it holds an insulating load of snow; and 6 inches of insulation in the ceiling. The garage-shop shields the house from north winds, grape vines ward off the hot western sun in summer.

A 280-square-foot solar energy collector leans against the south walls, angled at 58 degrees from the horizontal to get maximum sun in November and February. It supplies solarheated water for a 1,500-gallon underground storage tank.

A York heat pump extracts its heat and supplies it to a forced air system. Edney says the big advantage of this system is that water alone must be 100 degrees to heat air, but the pump can pull heat from water that is down to 50 degrees. The solar-assisted pump supplies most of the Edneys' heat and, by reversing the system, provides air conditioning for the few weeks a year it is needed.

When the solar-heated water goes above 85 degrees, it is pumped directly to a radiator installed in the hot-air duct. If the stored water goes below 45 degrees (which happened only 9 or 10 days throughout the winter), the Edneys use their wood-burning stove, which heats a water-filled coil to supplement the storage tank and draws its combustion air from the outside rather than wasting the home's heated air.

The heating system cost $4,600 for the parts, most at wholesale. Edney estimates that a similar setup today, including installation, would run about $8,000. Does it pay? The Edneys say that, averaging the past two winters, both very cold, 55 percent of their home's heat was supplied by the solarassisted heat pump, 36 percent by solar-heated water alone and 9 percent by the stove. Their total electric bill for the calendar year was only $146! They didn't have to pay for wood because they were able to get it from their own property.

"Are you sure," Edney was asked, "about that $146? It sounds rather small for an area where utility rates are fairly high."

'Sesame' creator honored

PARIS (AP) — "Sesame Street," the internationally-acclaimed children's educational TV program, has earned a prestigious "French connection" for its creator.

Joan Ganz Cooney, president of the Children's Television Workshop, has been awarded the 1977 prize for education by the Institut de la Vie here for her "remarkable work in the field of education" as exemplified by Sesame Street.

The $50,000 prize, voted jointly to Mrs. Cooney and the Educational Broadcasting Division of BBC, has been awarded bi-annually by the Institut since 1973. Past winners have included Swiss psychologist Jean Piaget for his research on child development and French school teacher Marcellin Bachalard, who is cited as an example of teachers everywhere who have devoted their lives to their students.

Sesame Street is now in its ninth year on American television.

DO YOU REALLY UNDERSTAND?
YOUR HOSPITAL DISTRICT

Last September Midland County voted to create a hospital district. It is like a school district, and is designed to collect taxes for and operate a hospital through elected officials. Before that, Midland Memorial Hospital was a private hospital, built and operated by the Midland Memorial Foundation. After this election, the foundation is scheduled to turn over ownership of the hospital to the district. The present plan is to have the hospital district sign a management contract with foundation. The foundation would then run the hospital as they have in the past. The board of the hospital district would simply collect taxes for the hospital. I represent no group or organization. My responsibility is to the people who depend upon local health care system our people deserve.

I am seeking a place on the Midland Hospital District Board of Governors. Two and a half years ago, my wife and I made Midland our home. I felt a responsibility to contribute to the community in the field which I know best, medical health care. There are many patient services which must be improved, and there remains a pressing need to attract and retain additional physicians for the community. The needs of the local health care system require clear definition and public discussion. Taxpayers are going to be paying the bills and property taxes must not be allowed to creep out of control.

Brilliant finesse great if it works

"East played the king of clubs, and I ruffed," my friend reported. "I thought I was down two, but I noticed a chance to make the contract."

"You took the deep finesse," I suggested.

"Exactly," he agreed. "I led a low trump and finessed with dummy's eight. If this held, I could lead the queen of clubs to ruff out the ace. Then I could get back to dummy with the ten of trumps to cash two good clubs."

"Very pretty," I commented. "The opponents must have been very annoyed as well as startled."

NOT ANNOYED

"As a matter of fact," my friend admitted, "they weren't annoyed at all. When I took the finesse, East actually showed up with the nine of spades. I was down three instead of only two, and I had to listen to a few remarks about smart Alecs."

"That's too bad," I sympathized, "but why did you show me the hand with the nine of spades in the West hand?"

"That's easy. Just look at the date on today's paper."

Stranded animals center saves orphans of Pacific

The Los Angeles Times

RANCHO PALOS VERDES, Calif. — Storm-tossed orphans, battered by rough seas and hurricane-force winds, have been plucked from the Pacific in recent weeks and brought ashore for treatment.

Five pelicans, nearly a dozen sea lions, an elephant seal and an assortment of other sea animals are the new residents of Marineland of the Pacific's "stranded animals" center, according to Tom Otten, curator of mammals at the facility.

And while the center provides animals with the comforts of home year-round, its accommodations currently are stretched to the limit because of the month's storms, he said.

"We only have so much room," Otten said. "There are just more than we can handle."

More than 30 animals — double the center's capacity — now are residing there, officials said. Housed in every nook and cranny of the center's kennels, the animals occasionally are placed in other areas — such as offices.

Five of the recently arrived sea lions are held in a kennel made for two, Otten said, adding "This is just the beginning of the (birthing) season."

Newborn elephant seals and yearling sea lions commonly are tossed ashore during the early spring months, he explained.

"Most of the animals are separated from their mothers in heavy seas or are not capable of making it on their own because of health problems," he said.

Kym Murphy, Marineland's director of operations, said the storms were particularly damaging to the local pelican population. Five pelicans were brought to the center shortly after the storm, he said.

"Some birds just couldn't stay in the water (because of the rough seas) and had to stay in the air," he said. "The older ones, more prone to injury, tired out."

When the animals recover, they are returned to their natural environment or given to oceanariums, Murphy said. But some, like 5-month-old Spike, show a marked desire to stay with their keepers.

Spike, a California sea lion, was found when he was three days old, crying for his mother on the rocks below Marineland. After five months of bottle-feeding, his keeper said he has shown a reluctance to give up the comforts of the center.

"He will do real good for a while and when you least expect it he does something bad," keeper Art Thomas said. "He knows how to get the best of you.

"When you get them so young, they stay babies longer," he added.

Pelicans, dolphins, loons and even a pilot whale have been treated at the stranded animals center since it went into operation several years ago, Murphy said.

Today, when animal control agencies or citizens find sea animals washed ashore, "they bring them to us," Murphy said.

The center has drawn up plans to expand its facilities and double its present capacity.

Ceremonies launch construction of Gibraltar Savings facilities

Groundbreaking ceremonies took place Thursday morning for the 15-story Gibraltar Savings Center and parking facility, located at Texas Avenue and Loraine Street in downtown Midland.

The development, estimated to cost in excess of $8 million, will consist of 185,000 square feet of office space and includes a 321-car parking garage. Mark Lee & Associates Inc. of Houston have started work on the project.

The center is designed by the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill and will have a triangular shape with rounded corners, offering a panoramic view of the surrounding area. A large part of the site will be devoted to a landscaped plaza complementing the Midland County Courthouse square across the street, as well as the new Civic Center development, a Mark Lee & Associates spokesman said.

Gibraltar Savings Associations, a $2 billion financial institution, with 64 offices statewide, will occupy the entire ground floor at the center.

Mark Lee & Associates Inc. will develop, lease and manage the new office tower. The three-building Wall Towers Complex is also a project of the company, which has been active in Midland for 15 years.

The general contractor for the center is Quanah Construction Company of Houston. Permanent financing is provided by Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, and was arranged by Northland Mortgage Company in Houston.

Federal union leaders notified Carter may limit fall pay hikes

By MIKE CAUSEY
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Carter administration officials have formally notified federal union leaders Wednesday that an upcoming anti-inflaton program may be kicked off by a White House pledge to hold this October's federal-military pay raise below 5.5 percent.

Insiders believe the president will call on industry and labor to put a "voluntary" lid on 1978 wage and price hikes shortly after he returns Monday from his trip to South America and Africa. That program, asks business and labor leaders to hold 1978 increases "significantly" below the average of 1976-77.

The mandatory "cap" on federal-military pay would be the cornerstone of the Administration's anti-inflaton program. Federal and military salaries are the largest single wage item in the nation, and the only one that the president can control directly. (Congress could overrule him, but that is considered unlikely since this is an election year and members of Congress are scheduled to get the same pay raises as other federal employes.)

Federal union leaders reacted angrily to the statement of a possible federal pay ceiling, which was made at a meeting of the Advisory Committee on Federal Pay. That committee includes the secretary of labor, director of the Office of Management and Budget, chairman of the Civil Service Commission and various union leaders representing civil servants.

By law fedral and military pay is adjusted each October based on a government survey of wage increases in private industry. Part of the process involves consultaton between White House officials and unions in determining a catchup-with-industry pay figure. That data is not public yet, but Carter's budget estimated that the amount due the 3.5 million federal white collar workers and military personnel could be between 6 percent and 6.5 percent.

More than 300,000 white collar civil servants, and about 80,000 military personnel stationed in and around Washington are due an October pay raise designed to keep them current with wages for similar jobs in industry.

Normally, the president doesn't designate the amount of that catchup-with-industry raise until August or September. But officials say that big cost of living jumps for the past two months, coupled with the economic impact of the coal miners strike will require quick action to avoid "double digit" inflation for the 1978 year.

Administration economists concerned with slowing the rate of inflation have argued that the government must make a "gesture" to the private sector if it is to voluntarily limit 1978 wage and price gains. Barry Bosworth of the Council on Wage and Price Stability has recommended that the President make that gesture early by announcing his intention to hold federal-military pay to between 5 percent and 5.5 percent.

Administration officials say the president is opposed to any mandatory wage-price controls for the private sector, but is leaning toward a voluntary program that would be spearheaded by a government promise to slow the growth of $69 billion-a-year federal white collar and military payroll.

Kenneth T. Blaylock, president of the 300,000 member American Federation of Government Employees said that federal workers would carry "their share of the burden" under any wage-price restraint program "but we won't carry all of it."

Indiana senator charges Korean testified falsely

By ROBERT L. JACKSON
The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., charged Wednesday that Tongsun Park had testified falsely when he told the Senate Ethics Committee he had made a cash donation to Bayh's 1974 re-election campaign.

Bayh called a press conference to denounce statements by Park, first reported in the Los Angeles Times. Bayh said the chairman of the Ethics Committee had acknowledged to him that Park gave such testimony in closed session.

Park said his "best recollection" was that he had given $1,500 to $1,800 to Bayh's campaign through Jason S. Berman, then Bayh's administrative assistant, knowledgeable sources reported. Park said he had no reason to believe Bayh knew about the contribution.

Bayh, whose denial of such a campaign gift was reported in the Los Angeles Times story, told the press conference; "For damn sure I didn't know about it. And I trust and believe Mr. Berman that it didn't happen."

While describing Park's testimony as false, Bayh shied away from accusing the Korean businessman of perjury. He said Park apparently had cited his own recollection in such a way as to avoid the possibility of perjury.

Bayh said he was unable to explain such testimony by Park, who once had been a social friend. "I have no reason to believe Mr. Park holds any malice toward me," Bay said.

Berman, now a Washington public relations consultant, repeated at the press conference his earlier statement to the Los Angeles Times that he had never asked for or received any money from Park.

"I'm damned unhappy about this," Berman said. "I have my private reputation at stake. If he (Park) has perjured himself, I might be able to sue him for libel."

Bayh said he had attended large dinners given by Park and once had lunch with the Korean in the Senate dining room.

"We were together on several social occasions," Bayh said. "Just about everybody in Washington knew Tongsun Park. But never once did he approach me on any subject that had to do with Korea."

Bayh has been considered unfriendly to the South Korean regime. He has spoken out against alleged human rights violations there and consistently has voted to withdraw U.S. troops from Korea.

Bayh said Park asked "if he could be helpful" in 1973 or 1974, "and I assumed he had in mind a campaign contribution of some sort." But the senator said he gently rejected the offer.

"Frankly, it was our assessment we didn't need help from anyone who was not an American citizen," Bayh said. "I said at the outset I hoped he understood. I didn't want to offend him."

ONE MAN SHOW
APRIL 1st & 2nd
ROBERT ALDRICH GARTLAND, A.W.S.

Artist and author-illustrator Robert Aldrich Garland has been a professional in the arts since 1952. His paintings are in approximately 300 private collections as a result of one-man shows in such diverse areas as Spain, Mexico, New York, and Oklahoma, where he now lives.

Gartland added author to his credentials in 1962 when he wrote and illustrated "Cowboys and Cattle", a book for young people published by Howard McCann Co., New York City. Prior to this book, he worked for 10 years as a staff artist at the American Museum of Natural History in New York city. While at the Museum, he did several murals, illustrations for the Natural History Magazine, freelance work for Life Magazine including Life's "The World We Live In" series and illustrations for children's books.

Gartland will be showing original oils and watercolors and introducing two new limited editon prints taken from paintings done in Rankin and McCamey. The public is invited.

Ramsey named Carrier of Month

Jay Ramsey, a newspaper carrier for The Reporter-Telegram, has been named "Carrier of the Month" for February.

Jay, who throws more than 200 newspapers daily, has logged only one customer complaint in the past two months.

He is the son of Virginia Ramsey of 3335 Fannin Ave. and is a student in Goddard Junior High School.

Jay will receive a $25 U.S. savings bond for winning the honor.

Runners-up for the award were Ann Morrow, Tim Woodlee and Chris Kreidel.

Jay has been throwing The Reporter-Telegram since December.

He has maintained a 3.7-grade-point average at Goddard, where he is in the seventh grade, and has received perfect-attendance awards in his school years.

Jay was on the starting line-up on his school's basketball team and will be a starting pitcher in a Class A Little League team.

Arizona scientist says world's arid lands could produce many food items

The Los Angeles Times

The tropics are by no means the only potential source of new crops.

One-third of the earth's land mass is arid or semi-arid, and in many dry regions — notably sub-Saharan Africa — local agriculture offers at best a tenuous defense against starvation. To Richard S. Fleger of the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum near Tucson, Ariz., the logical place to look for new foods for the inhabitants of arid lands is a desert.

Rather than basing arid-land agriculture heavily on wheat and other plants imported from temperate or tropical climates, Felger suggests that it makes more sense to develop food sources from indigenous plants adapted to a scarcity of water, the most precious desert resource.

Far from being a barren wasteland, he notes, the Sonoran Desert — which encompasses 12,000 square miles of northern Mexico and the Southwestern United States — contains about 2,500 species of flowering, seed-producing plants. Of these, by Felger's count, at least 450 have been used as food by native populations over the centuries and 40 were major food resources.

Some of these plants are nearly extinct. Others have simply been forgotten. All of them, Felger says, have the singular advantage of conserving water.

There is, for example, the buffalo gourd, a tough perennial that researchers at the University of Arizona are trying to domesticate. The plant produces a starchy root that gropes 6 feet or more into the soil in a few years and may weigh as much as 300 pounds.

The 200 or 300 gourds that a high-yielding plant turns out each year contains a seed oil comparable in quality to commercial cooking oil. The buffalo gourd's main drawback as a commercial crop, Felger says, is that "once you plant it you can't get rid of it."

Then there's eelgrass, an underwater grass that grows along shallow coastal seas in much of the Northern Hemisphere. Only along the shores of the Gulf of California, however, has eelgrass been known to serve as an important food resource.

The Seri Indians harvested seed from the great masses of grass that drifted ashore along the gulf each spring. The eelgrass became known as trigo del mar, or wheat of the sea.

Greenish flour made from the seeds is comparable in starch and protein to wheat. Because eelgrass can be grown in pure seawater and presumably requires no fertilizer or pesticide, Felger believes it offers a new dimension to prospects of "farming the sea."

Along the Colorado River delta, a dead land now that northern water consumption has reduced the river to a trickle, Cocopa Indians once domesticated and harvested seed from a variety of salt grass, a plant — as the name suggests — that flourishes in saline soil, the bane of arid-land agriculture.

Reno school keeps judges up-to-date

RENO, Nev. (AP) — While lawyers go to school to become lawyers and doctors to become doctors, where do judges, who deal with the crucial issues of our time, go when they need education on how to perform their duties?

Increasingly, judges throughout the country are coming to school in this gambling city at the foot of the Sierra Nevada.

They come to the National Judicial College, located in a split-level, brick building on the University of Nevada-Reno campus.

Formed in 1964 in Boulder, Colo., with only 94 judges attending classes, the college eventually moved to Reno and this year expects to play host to some 1,500 judges.

Dean Ernst John Watts, a former Wisconsin judge who heads the college, said the day was long past when a judge could simply don a robe and become an effective judge.

He said judges attended classes from one to four weeks. A week-long course costs $300.

Watts said a critical aspect of teaching judges was to "sensitize" them.

By using videotape cameras, the college shows a judge on the bench how he conducts himself. Other judges will analyze the film and discuss with the judge in question how he might better conduct himself.

The college operates on a budget of $1.6 million and receives considerable funding from the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation established by the late yeast millionaire.

The late U.S. Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark was instrumental in setting up the judicial college and for years it was known as the National College of the State Judiciary, a title it shed early this year when it changed to the National Judicial College and became an independent, non-profit Nevada corporation. The college is affiliated with the American Bar Association.

Between 1964 and 1967, the college issued 7,573 "certificates of completion" to judges who have taken the courses.

Dean Watts said judges couldn't "flunk" in a pass-fail sense, but certificates weren't given to some judges who, in the eyes of the faculty, didn't deserve them.

The courses range from court administraton to jury management, evidence, civil proceedings, sentencing and judicial discretion.

"These are things law schools don't teach because law schools aren't teaching judges, they're teaching lawyers," Watts said.

The question often asked by the public is why there is such a difference in sentencing between one judge and another. Shouldn't there be one sentence to fit one crime?

"We discuss sentencing disparity here and we demonstrate sentencing disparty and we discuss why there is disparity," Watts said.

"If you're going to talk about justice, there ought to be disparity," he continued. "We've gone through many wars and revolutions to see that everybody wasn't treated the same because justice says that after you're guilty you should take into consideration mitigating circumstances, extenuating circumstances,that's where justice really fits the picture.

"But people don't look at it that way today. They want to standardize everything and in overstandardizing it, it just could be you'd lose the quality of justice because people find it's OK for the other guy, but if it's me, I want you to listen to the special circumstances of why I'm involved in that."

Watts said the college attempts to teach judicial knowledge, skills and values.

"Then we also teach a very sensitive area of what we call judicial understanding," Watts explained. "This has to do with sensitivity training, perceptions, sensitizing judges to the effect of the awesome powers they have.

"Many of the issues of the day are going to the courts to get resolved. I would say that the selection process, whether judges are elected or appointed, doesn't take that thought into mind. Without the training we give them here they wouldn't be any more equipped to handle it than anyone else."

APTLY NAMED IN view of its susceptibility to flash flooding is Devil's River, which wells up out of a large spring 50 miles south of the town of Ozona and flows into the Rio Grande at Amistad Lake. One of the few remaining wilderness streams in Texas, the Devil's boasts several unusual life forms—including prawns (large shrimp-like creatures), rare freshwater clams and the hump-headed Rio Grande perch. The view here is upstream from just above Baker's Crossing. An upper branch of the same watershed is known as the Dry Devil's River. (Staff Photo by Tom Nickell)

Capp Homes invites you to a very different

OPEN HOUSE

Right now, people are moving into homes they once thought they couldn't afford. And this special kind of open house will show you how you can too. Come see one of our custom homes before it's all finished. Examine a unique, money-saving concept called the Finish-It-Yourself House.™

Finishing a custom-built Capp home yourself enables you to save thousands, compared to the cost of having a general contractor build the same house on your lot. You'll see how a homebuyer can custom design his dream home... and work step-by-step with Capp in making his dream come true.

Because the house you'll see is unfinished and ready for its owner to complete, you'll get a chance to see Capp custom-built quality close up. At this open house, nothing is hidden. And you'll learn how you can finish your home with materials and instructions we provide. Please come. You owe it to yourself.

HERE'S HOW TO GET TO THE OPEN HOUSE.

Time: 1:00 to 5:00 P.M.
Dates: Saturday and Sunday, April 1st and 2nd
Directions: Go south on Rankin Hwy., to 132 E. Turn east and go 3/4 mile. The house is on the left facing 132 E. Just follow the Capp Homes Open House Signs.

Florentino Molina from Buenos Aires, Argentina, reacts as he misses a birdie putt during second round of Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Friday in North Carolina. Molina and Wally Armstrong share the lead going into today's third round of play after Armstrong fired a 70 Friday. (AP Laserphoto).

Armstrong, Molina share lead in Greensboro Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Wally Armstrong, often a challenger but never a winner, posted a 2-under-par 70 and moved into a tie for the second-round lead Friday with Argentine Florentino Molina in the $240,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"I've been in the lead, or tied for the lead, probably 15 times in the last 5 years," Armstrong said after recording his 137 total, 7 under par for two trips over the hilly, 6,984-yard Forest Oaks Country Club course.

"I'VE LED the first round and the second round and the third round — everything but when it was over," Armstrong said. "My game just hasn't fallen together. But I feel I'm right on the right track now."

Molina, a 39-year-old who has won some 40 tournaments in his native Argentina but has yet to take a title in the United States, shot a 71 in the bright, warm sunshine.

"Too commercial," he said in broken English. "All my second shots too commercial. Just hit green, no go for flag."

HE MISSED only two greens and bogeyed only once, his 18th, which prevented him from retaining sole control of the top spot in the chase for a $48,000 first prize, more than he has won in his 4-year American tour career.

Molina and Armstrong shared a single-shot lead over 21-year-old rookie Jack Renner, whose 66 ranked as the best round of the day. He was at 138.

Peter Jacobsen, who had a 69, was another stroke back at 139.

THE GROUP at 140, 3 strokes off the pace, consisted of John Mahaffey, Dave Eichelberger, Alan Tapie and Australian Bob Shearer. Tapie shot a 68, Mahaffey 69 and Shearer and Eichelberger had 71s.

Lanny Wadkins, the PGA champion and easily the top attraction in a relatively weak field, managed a 72 and was in contenti on at 142. Defending title-holder Danny Edwards rallied for a 69-145.

"I play only one bad hole," said Molina, a 5-time Argentina Open champion and twice a representative of that country in World Cup competition.

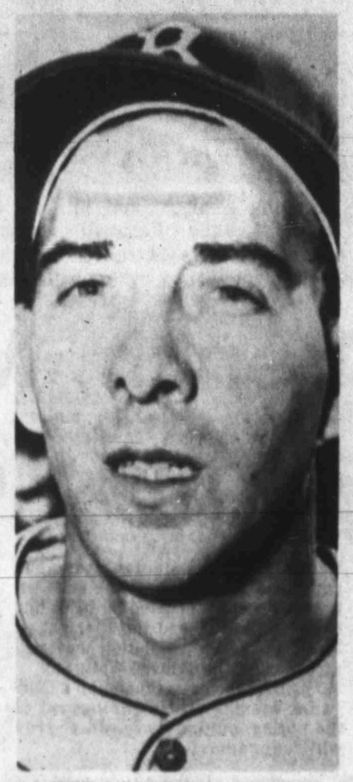

That was his 18th, where he topped his second shot, dumped his third in a bunker and eventually scored bogey-6. He had two birdies, a 15-footer for a deuce and a chip to 3 feet for birdie 4.

ARMSTRONG, 32, had the lead alone until he bogeyed his final hole after driving into the rough. A key to his round was a series of three consecutive saves on the front side.

Aeros looking familiar

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—Watching the Wichita Aeros take batting practice in Scottsdale Stadium the other morning was enough to cause a guy an acute case of homesickness.

Jeff Albert was doing the pitching and squatting behind the plate regaled in the tools of ignorance was Duane Gustavson while crowded around the batting cage waiting to get in their licks were Kurt Seibert, Steve Davis, Mike Gordon, a new economy-sized Scott Thompson, Ed Putman and Mike Umfleet, all former Midland Cubs, vintage within the last two or three years.

In contrast, outside of Aaron Randall and some players who were with the team last spring, like Brian Rosinski, Eric Grandy, Jack Uhey and Jared Martin, the current Midland Cubs are a group of strangers.

As matters stand now, Midland figures to inherit a good pitching staff when Chicago and Wichita finish trimming, but there may not be too many changes in the rest of the lineup.

Rather than manage his Midland team against Jersey City in Scottsdale Stadium Friday, Manager Jim Saul will watch the a clubs (Pompano and St. Petersburg) at El Dorado Park in hopes of uncovering another Harvey Fierro he can promote to the AA club.

The Cubs are short on power and hitting and there is no Karl Pagel in the wings waiting to blossom into the Texas League's most valuable player and no Tony Pepper available from another organization.

"It looks like we'll have a club built around pitching and defense," Saul forecasts. "Last year we were last in our division in pitching and first defense, so we can live with that."

On the plus side, Saul feels Steve

Macko, the rookie from Baylor, "is going to be my shortstop, even if they send someone down from Wichita. And Fierro is the best third baseman I've seen. He's aggressive, wants to play and has made all of the plays for us."

There is some interesting experimenting going on at Wichita where Steve Davis, last year's thoroughly competent Midland shortstop, is playing second base and Kurt Seibert, last year's Midland second baseman, is playing short. Putman, a former catcher, first baseman and outfielder at Midland, is learning first base and Mike Umfleet, Midland's third baseman the last two years, is also learning how to play second.

Davis claims second is simple enough, but the big problem is "all of the plays require you to stop and throw the ball, whereas at short you are always moving toward first and the throw is more natural."

Seibert, on the other hand, is simply going back to his natural position. He was a shortstop at Clemson.

Although Chicago must cut two or three infielders, Mike Sember, Rudy Meoli or Mike Adams, Davis figures he will remain with Wichita. Seibert

M-Cubs blanked, 3-0

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Jersey City's A's made it two in a row over the Midland Cubs as three pitchers combined for a four-hit 3-0 Cactus League win at Scottsdale Stadium Fri Friday.

Infielders Kevin Drury and Harvey Fierro singled while first baseman Aaron Randall and outfielder Brian Roskinaki hit doubles for the Cubs.

Midland travels to Tucson today to play the Cleveland Indians' Chattanooga, Southern League farm club.

Ron Davis went the first five innings and was touched for the run that gave him the loss on second inning a walk and triple. The 6-4, 205-pounder from Houston Milby is trying to make it with Midland this season after 8-8 and 8-7 seasons at Pompano Beach in the Florida State League.

The righthander was the Cubs' third draft choice in 1976 out of Blinn Junior College in Brenham.

CUB BRIEFS: This is Chicago's last year in Scottsdale with the National League club moving to Mesa next year...The Chicago White Sox are rumored possible tenants here with Oakland shifting to Sarasota, Fla, depending on who owns the A's...Relief pitcher Byron Wilkerson has been assigned to Midland from Wichita, Kan. while pitcher Dan England, who started the 1977 season with Midland, has been given his outright release.

Rangers topple Houston by 7-5

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Designated hitter Rickie Zisk, one of the Texas Rangers' high-price free agents, slammed a home run in the seventh inning to give the Rangers a 7-5 victory over the Houston Astros in exhibition baseball Friday night.

Houston had overcome a 5-0 Texas lead to tie the game in the top of the seventh before Zisk greeted the third Astro pitcher, Gene Pentz, with a line shot over the 330-foot sign in left field of the Louisiana State University stadium.

Earlier, Zisk had singled in a run and scored himself in a three-run rally in the second inning which helped stake starter Jon Matlack to a 5-0 lead.

Matlack, left-handed free agent who came from the New York Mets, was touched by a long solo home run by Caesar Cedeno in the fourth inning.

Cedeno had been scheduled to miss the game because of a strained right knee but played as the designated hitter and got two hits.

After Matlack yielded a runscoring double to Willie Howard and a triple to Roger Metzger in the fifth, Ferguson Jenkins came in to pick up the victory.

Knicks post 117-116 win

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lonnie Shelton scored 9 points in the final three minutes, including a crucial 3-point play with 1:15 left, to give the New York Knicks a 117-116 victory over the New Orleans Jazz in a National Basketball Association game Friday night.

Shelton finished with 23 points, second-high for the Knicks. Jim McMillian had 24 points to lead the Knicks.

The loss was the fifth in a row for New Orleans and just about slammed the door on its hopes for a first appearance in the playoffs. The Jazz fell 1½ games behind Atlanta in the race for the final spot in the Eastern Conference.

The Knicks were up by 12 several times early in the contest but the Jazz battled back several times.

Spurs defeat Boston five

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Kenon and George Gervin combined for 57 points to lead the San Antonio Spurs to a 120-117 comeback victory over the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball Association contest Friday night.

The Spurs trailed by as much as 17 points in the first half, but took the lead for good, 104-103, with 5:40 remaining in the fourth quarter and extended the margin to 6 points in less than a minute.

The Celtics, behind three baskets apiece by Dave Bing and Dave Cowens, managed to come within 117-115 with 1:15 remaining, but a Celtics turnover and Gervin's conversion of a free throw put the game out of reach.

The Celtics led 64-58 at the half, paced by Kevin Stacom's 11 points.

In the third quarter, the Spurs took a brief lead, 76-74, but the Celtics on 3-point plays by Cowens and Sidney Wicks rallied to take a 92-88 lead at the end of the period.

Kenon finished the night with 32 points while Gervin tallied 25 and center Billy Paultz chipped in with 15 for the Spurs.

For the Celtics, Cowens led the scoring with 25 points while John Havlicek 18 and Bing added 17.

Lee tries Big Spring; Pack on road

Lee's Pat Moore
...hitting at .375

By BOB DILLON

Coach Ernie Johnson's Robert E. Lee Rebels hope to keep chasing Odessa Permian in the District 5-4A baseball race today when they entertain the Big Spring Steers at the Lee diamond.

While Lee and Big Spring are squaring off, Coach Larry Peel's Midland Bulldogs hit the road for a game with San Angelo Central's Bobcats today with both games set for 2 p.m.

Lee trails Permian by one game as the Panthers chalked their fourth 5-4A win against no losses with a 3-2 win over Cooper in Abilene Thursday.

The Rebels and Abilene are currently in second place with 2-1 reading going into today's games. Abilene tries Odessa High in Odessa today in the other loop game.

GARY GIBSON, 6-3, 225-pound senior lefthander is Johnson's choice to face the Steers today. Lee takes a season mark of 12-6 into the game while Big Spring is 8-8 on the year and 0-3 in 5-4A play.

Joining Gibson in the starting lineup for Lee will be Chris Sapyta at first base; Don Rasure, second base; Steve Pitts at shortstop; Terry Willis, third base with the outfield made up of Todd Clements in left; Pat Moore in center and either Tyler Alcorn or John White in right.

Craig Van Horn will handle the catching chores for the Rebels who need to win today since Permian is resting and Lee plays Mojo in Odessa Tuesday in could be a big showdown battle for the First half title.

Midland will call upon either Tracy Gann or Archie Booth to pitch against Central. The Bulldogs are 7-9 on the year and 1-2 in loop play compared to the Bobcats, 7-7 and 0-2 reading. In the other game, Central and Odessa fought to an 8-8 10-inning tie which was called due to darkness last Tuesday.

IF BOOTH pitches, Gann will be at second base with the rest of the Bulldog infield being made up of Steve Cole at shortstop; Jimmy Zachry at third and Mark Mead at first base.

The outfield will include Joe Mowles in right; Ricky Goode in center and Rick Foster in left.

Zachry is leading the Bulldogs in hitting with a .449 average and the talented junior has knocked in 18 runs in 16 games.

Catcher James Allen is next with a .349 average with Gann hitting at a .321 clip. Allen also has 18 RBIs on the year.

Cole and Goode ripped homers in Tuesday's 12-6 loss to Abilene in Abilene and the main Bulldog problem has been the lack of consistant pitching.

Booth owns a 3-1 mound record while Gann is 2-2 on the season.

CLAY CALHOUN leads the Rebel hit parade with a .385 average on the year while Moore and Richard Josefy, who has a pulled hamstring muscle, are hitting .375.

Alcorn is next with a .367 average followed by Clements' .340 mean. John Bob Hopkins, a utility player is hitting .333 and White owns a .304 average.

Van Horn, hitting .279, leads in RBIs with 13 followed by Willis with 12. Calhoun has 11 while both Alcorn and Moore have 10 RBIs each.

Gibson is 0-3, but has pitched well. He has struck out 26, opposing batters in 20 and one-third inning and given up only nine earned runs while issuing eight walks.

LEE FACES a must situation today and the Rebels played sharply despite losing to powerful Lubbock Monterey, 7-6, in nine innings on Thursday.

Big Spring most likely will pitch Charles Vernon against Lee while Steve Bennett gets the nod against Midland in the Concho City.

Tony Mann, 220-pound Steer catcher, leads the Big Spring attack with two homers already in 5-4A play while the big stick for the Bobcats has been Valdez.

Armstrong, Molina share lead in Greensboro Open

By BOB GREEN

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Wally Armstrong, often a challenger but never a winner, posted a 2-under-par 70 and moved into a tie for the second-round lead Friday with Argentine Florentino Molina in the $240,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"I've been in the lead, or tied for the lead, probably 15 times in the last 5 years," Armstrong said after recording his 137 total, 7 under par for two trips over the hilly, 6,984-yard Forest Oaks Country Club course.

"I'VE LED the first round and the second round and the third round — everything but when it was over," Armstrong said. "My game just hasn't fallen together. But I feel I'm right on the right track now."

Molina, a 39-year-old who has won some 40 tournaments in his native Argentina but has yet to take a title in the United States, shot a 71 in the bright, warm sunshine.

"Too commercial," he said in broken English. "All my second shots too commercial. Just hit green, no go for flag."

HE MISSED only two greens and bogeyed only once, his 18th, which prevented him from retaining sole control of the top spot in the chase for a $48,000 first prize, more than he has won in his 4-year American tour career.

Molina and Armstrong shared a single-shot lead over 21-year-old rookie Jack Renner, whose 66 ranked as the best round of the day. He was at 138.

Peter Jacobsen, who had a 69, was another stroke back at 139.

THE GROUP at 140, 3 strokes off the pace, consisted of John Mahaffey, Dave Eichelberger, Alan Tapie and Australian Bob Shearer. Tapie shot a 68, Mahaffey 69 and Shearer and Eichelberger had 71s.

Lanny Wadkins, the PGA champion and easily the top attraction in a relatively weak field, managed a 72 and was in contenti on at 142. Defending title-holder Danny Edwards rallied for a 69-145.

"I play only one bad hole," said Molina, a 5-time Argentina Open champion and twice a representative of that country in World Cup competition.

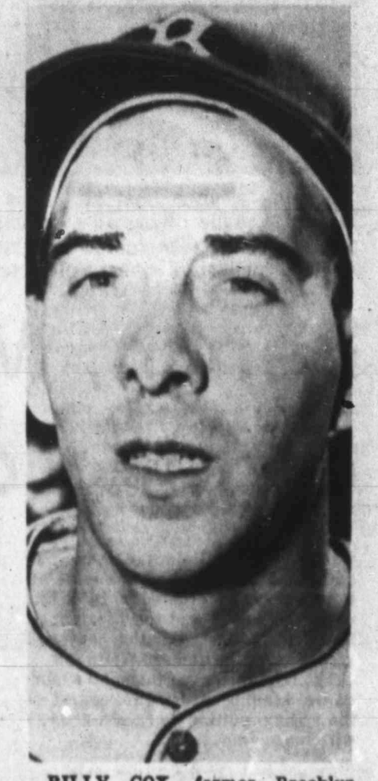

That was his 18th, where he topped his second shot, dumped his third in a bunker and eventually scored bogey-6. He had two birdies, a 15-footer for a deuce and a chip to 3 feet for birdie 4.

ARMSTRONG, 32, had the lead alone until he bogeyed his final hole after driving into the rough. A key to his round was a series of three consecutive saves on the front side.

Aeros looking familiar

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—Watching the Wichita Aeros take batting practice in Scottsdale Stadium the other morning was enough to cause a guy an acute case of homesickness.

Jeff Albert was doing the pitching and squatting behind the plate regaled in the tools of ignorance was Duane Gustavson while crowded around the batting cage waiting to get in their licks were Kurt Seibert, Steve Davis, Mike Gordon, a new economy-sized Scott Thompson, Ed Putman and Mike Umfleet, all former Midland Cubs, vintage within the last two or three years.

In contrast, outside of Aaron Randall and some players who were with the team last spring, like Brian Rosinski, Eric Grandy, Jack Uhey and Jared Martin, the current Midland Cubs are a group of strangers.

As matteps stand now, Midland figures to inherit a good pitching staff when Chicago and Wichita finish trimming, but there may not be too many changes in the rest of the lineup.

Rather than manage his Midland team against Jersey City in Scottsdale Stadium Friday, Manager Jim Saul will watch the a clubs (Pompano and St. Petersburg) at El Dorado Park in hopes of uncovering another Harvey Fierro he can promote to the AA club.

The Cubs are short on power and hitting and there is no Karl Pagel in the wings waiting to blossom into the Texas League's most valuable player and no Tony Pepper available from another organization.

"It looks like we'll have a club built around pitching and defense," Saul forecasts. "Last year we were last in our division in pitching and first defense, so we can live with that.",

On the plus side, Saul feels Steve Macko, the rookie from Baylor, "is going to be my shortstop, even if they send someone down from Wichita. And Fierro is the best third baseman I've seen. He's aggressive, wants to play and has made all of the plays for us."

TED BATTLES
BATTLE SCENE

There is some interesting experimenting going on at Wichita where Steve Davis, last year's thoroughly competent Midland shortstop, is playing second base and Kurt Seibert, last year's Midland second baseman, is playing short. Putman, a former catcher, first baseman and outfielder at Midland, is learning first base and Mike Umfleet, Midland's third baseman the last two years, is also learning how to play second.

Davis claims second is simple enough, but the big problem is "all of the plays require you to stop and throw the ball, whereas at short you are always moving toward first and the throw is more natural."

Seibert, on the other hand, is simply going back to his natural position. He was a shortstop at Clemson.

Although Chicago must cut two or three infielders, Mike Sember, Rudy Meoli or Mike Adams, Davis figures he will remain with Wichita. Seibert

M-Cubs blanked, 3-0

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Jersey City's A's made it two in a row over the Midland Cubs as three pitchers combined for a four-hit 3-0 Cactus League win at Scottsdale Stadium Fri Friday.

Infielders Kevin Drury and Harvey Fierro singled while first baseman Aaron Randall and outfielder Brian Roskinaki hit doubles for the Cubs.

Midland travels to Tucson today to play the Cleveland Indians' Chattanooga, Southern League farm club.

Ron Davis went the first five innings and was touched for the run that gave him the loss on second inning a walk and triple. The 6-4, 205-pounder from Houston Milby is trying to make it with Midland this season after 8-8 and 8-7 seasons at Pompano Beach in the Florida State League.

The righthander was the Cubs' third draft choice in 1976 out of Blinn Junior College in Brenham.

CUB BRIEFS: This is Chicago's last year in Scottsdale with the National League club moving to Mesa next year...The Chicago White Sox are rumored possible tenants here with Oakland shifting to Sarasota, Fla, depending on who owns the A's...Relief pitcher Byron Wilkerson has been assigned to Midland from Wichita, Kan. while pitcher Dan England, who started the 1977 season with Midland, has been given his outright release.

Rangers topple Houston by 7-5

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Designated hitter Rickie Zisk, one of the Texas Rangers' high-price free agents, slammed a home run in the seventh inning to give the Rangers a 7-5 victory over the Houston Astros in exhibition baseball Friday night.

Houston had overcome a 5-0 Texas lead to tie the game in the top of the seventh before Zisk greeted the third Astro pitcher, Gene Pentz, with a line shot over the 330-foot sign in left field of the Louisiana State University stadium.

Earlier, Zisk had singled in a run and scored himself in a three-run rally in the second inning which helped stake starter Jon Matlack to a 5-0 lead.

Matlack, left-handed free agent who came from the New York Mets, was touched by a long solo home run by Caesar Cedeno in the fourth inning.

Cedeno had been scheduled to miss the game because of a strained right knee but played as the designated hitter and got two hits.

After Matlack yielded a runscoring double to Willie Howard and a triple to Roger Metzger in the fifth, Ferguson Jenkins came in to pick up the victory.

Knicks post 117-116 win

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lonnie Shelton scored 9 points in the final three minutes, including a crucial 3-point play with 1:15 left, to give the New York Knicks a 117-116 victory over the New Orleans Jazz in a National Basketball Association game Friday night.

Shelton finished with 23 points, second-high for the Knicks. Jim McMillian had 24 points to lead the Knicks.

The loss was the fifth in a row for New Orleans and just about slammed the door on its hopes for a first appearance in the playoffs. The Jazz fell 1½ games behind Atlanta in the race for the final spot in the Eastern Conference.

The Knicks were up by 12 several times early in the contest but the Jazz battled back several times.

Spurs defeat Boston five

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Kenon and George Gervin combined for 57 points to lead the San Antonio Spurs to a 120-117 comeback victory over the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball Association contest Friday night.

The Spurs trailed by as much as 17 points in the first half, but took the lead for good, 104-103, with 5:40 remaining in the fourth quarter and extended the margin to 6 points in less than a minute.

The Celtics, behind three baskets apiece by Dave Bing and Dave Cowens, managed to come within 117-115 with 1:15 remaining, but a Celtics turnover and Gervin's conversion ofa free throw put the game out of reach.

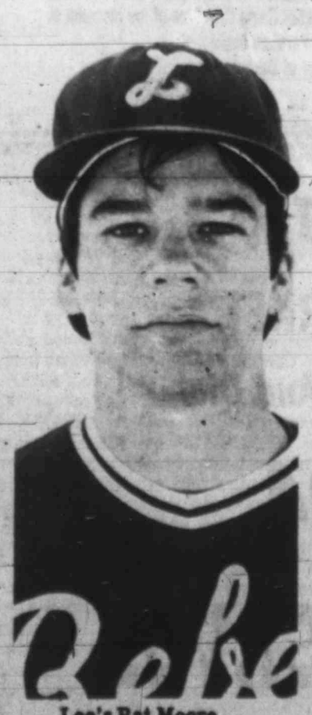

The Celtics led 64-58 at the half, paced by Kevin Stacom's 11 points.

In the third quarter, the Spurs took a brief lead, 76-74, but the Celtics on 3-point plays by Cowens and Sidney Wicks rallied to take a 92-88 lead at the end of the period.

Kenon finished the night with 32 points while Gervin tallied 25 and center Billy Paultz chipped in with 15 for the Spurs.

For the Celtics, Cowens led the scoring with 25 points while John Havlicek 18 and Bing added 17.

Lee tries Big Spring; Pack on road

Lee's Pat Moore
...hitting at .375

By BOB DILLON

Coach Ernie Johnson's Robert E. Lee Rebels hope to keep chasing Odessa Permian in the District 5-4A baseball race today when they entertain the Big Spring Steers at the Lee diamond.

While Lee and Big Spring are squaring off, Coach Larry Peel's Midland Bulldogs hit the road for a game with San Angelo Central's Bobcats today with both games set for 2 p.m.

Lee trails Permian by one game as the Panthers chalked their fourth 5-4A win against no losses with a 3-2 win over Cooper in Abilene Thursday.

The Rebels and Abilene are currently in second place with 2-1 reading going into today's games. Abilene tries Odessa High in Odessa today in the other loop game.

GARY GIBSON, 6-3, 225-pound senior lefthander is Johnson's choice to face the Steers today. Lee takes a season mark of 12-8 into the game while Big Spring is 8-8 on the year and 0-3 in 5-4A play.

Craig Van Horn will handle the catching chores for the Rebels who need to win today since Permian is resting and Lee plays Mojo in Odessa Tuesday in could be a big showdown battle for the First half title.

Midland will call upon either Tracy Gann or Archie Booth to pitch against Central. The Bulldogs are 7-9 on the year and 1-2 in loop play compared to the Bobcats, 7-7 and 0-2 reading. In the other game, Central and Odessa fought to an 8-8 10-inning tie which was called due to darkness last Tuesday.

IF BOOTH pitches, Gann will be at second base with the rest of the Bulldog infield being made up of Steve Cole at shortstop; Jimmy Zachry at third and Mark Mead at first base.

The outfield will include Joe Mowles in right; Ricky Goode in center and Rick Foster in left.

Zachry is leading the Bulldogs in hitting with a .449 average and the talented junior has knocked in 18 runs in 16 games.

Catcher James Allen is next with a .349 average with Gann hitting at a .321 clip. Allen also has 18 RBIs on the year.

Cole and Goode ripped homers in Tuesday's 12-6 loss to Abilene in Abilene and the main Bulldog problem has been the lack of consistant pitching.

Booth owns a 3-1 mound record while Gann is 2-2 on the season.

CLAY CALHOUN leads the Rebel hit parade with a .385 average on the year while Moore and Richard Josefy, who has a pulled hamstring muscle, are hitting .375.

Alcorn is next with a .367 average followed by Clements' .340 mean. John Bob Hopkins, a utility player is hitting .333 and White owns a .304 average.

Van Horn, hitting .279, leads in RBIs with 13 followed by Willis with 12. Calhoun has 11 while both Alcorn and Moore have 10 RBIs each.

Gibson is 0-3, but has pitched well. He has struck out 26 opposing batters in 20 and one-third inning and given up only nine earned runs while issuing eight walks.

LEE FACES a must situation today and the Rebels played sharply despite losing to powerful Lubbock Monterey, 7-6, in nine innings on Thursday.

Big Spring most likely will pitch Charles Vernon against Lee while Steve Bennett gets the nod against Midland in the Concho City.

Tony Mann, 220-pound Steer catcher, leads the Big Spring attack with two homers already in 5-4A play while the big stick for the Bobcats has been Valdez.

Cleveland nips Washington '5

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — A 3-point play by Campy Russell, followed by a steal and a basket by Foots Walker with 26 seconds remaining, gave the Cleveland Cavaliers a 102-101 National Basketball Association victory over the Washington Bullets Friday night.

The Cavs, who led 78-73 at the end of three quarters, fell behind 98-96 when Elvin Hayes scored on a driving layup with 1:50 remaining.

Russell, who ted Cleveland with 24 points, put the Cavs ahead 99-98 with his 3-pointer after being fouled by Bob Dandridge. Walker's basket made it 101-98.

Mitch Kupchak, who scored 11 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter.

Bench, Morgan coming alive

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench and Joe Morgan, who had combined for only five hits in 61 at-bats this spring, erupted for three hits each Friday to lead the Cincinnnati Reds to a 5-3 exhibition baseball victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The triumph gave Cincinnati a four-game winning streak, its longest of the spring, putting its record at 11-10 with four games left.

Bench drove in three runs, belting a two-run homer, a single and a double. Morgan had three singles and drove in a run. Morgan went into the game 3-for-35 while Bench was 2-for-26.

The White Sox got all three runs — two on a double by catcher Bill Nahorodny—in the second inning off starter Paul Moskau. Doug Capilla earned the victory, his first of the spring, with three innings of orfe-hit relief.

Francisco Barrios suffered the loss, giving up all five runs in six innings of work.

Fisk triggers Red Sox to win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Carlton Fisk's leadoff home run in the eighth inning off reliever Randy Miller snapped a 3-3 tie and Boston Red Sox went on to a 6-3 victory over Montreal Expos in an exhibition baseball game Friday.

The Red Sox added two insurance runs in the ninth against Montreal pitcher Don Demola. Jerry Remy walked with one out, stole second and scored on a triple by Jim Rice, who came home on a wild pitch.

Boston took a 2-0 lead in the second inning on a two-run single by Remy, but the Expos tied it with a single run in the bottom of the second and another in the third.

Larry Parrish had an RBI single after a double by Warren Cromartie in the second, and starting pitcher Rudy May doubled to lead off the third inning and Ellis Valentine drove him home with a single.

The Red Sox scored a run in the fifth inning as Remy tripled and scored on an infield out by Rick Burleson. Montreal tied the score 3-3 in the sixth a pinch-runner Pepe Frias scored from first base on a double by Roberto Ramos.

Bob Stanley pitched the final three innings for Boston in relief of Allen Ripley and picked up the victory, while Miller was the loser.

Oakland downs Seattle, 9-7

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The Oakland A's erupted for six runs in the fourth inning, with Garz Thomasson's two-run triple the big blow, and went on to a 9-7 exhibition baseball victory over Seattle Friday.

Thomasson's triple and RBI doubles by Rob Picciolo and Manny Sanguillen highlighted the big inning as the A's sent 10 men to the plate. The Mariners led 5-2 before the outburst.

Thomasson and Picciolo each contributed three hits to Oakland's 13-hit attack. Thomasson drove in four runs and Tony Armas hit his fifth homer of the spring, a solo drive in the first inning.

Seattle's Danny Meyer drove in three runs with a homer and a double. Bruce Bochte collected three doubles, running his total for the exhibition season to 10 two-baggers.

Oakland catcher Gary Alexander was removed from the game in the seventh inning after injuring his left knee.

San Francisco trips Brewers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Larry Herndon, Mike Ivie and Terry Whitfield had three hits each as the San Francisco Giants defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 8-7 in an exhibition baseball game Friday.

San Francisco had 17 hits and the Brewers 15. Herndon and Whitfield both slammed two singles and a triple and Ivie had two singles and a double.

Milwaukee rallied in the seventh inning with five runs on seven hits to take a 7-6 lead. The Giants tied it when Willie McCovey scored Jack Clark on a sacrifice fly.

San Francisco sewed up the game after Herndon led off the eighth with a triple to the right field corner. Ivie singled him home for the winning run.

Randy Moffitt was awarded the victory that boosted the Giants' record to 15-7, the best in the Cactus League. The loss dropped Milwaukee to 8-13.

Baltimore downs Royals

MIAMI (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles struck for all three runs in the fifth-inning Friday night to defeat the Kansas City Royal 3-2 in an exhibition baseball game.

Eddie Murray, playing at third base for the fifth game in a row, drove in two of Baltimore's runs with a double. The other runs scored in Ken Singleton's ground-out with bases loaded.

All the runs came off Steve Busby, who was trying to make a comeback from an arm operation that sidelined him all last season.

Wing pitcher Dennis Martinez allowed five hits in seven innings and Don Stanhouse hurled the final two innings.

The Royals had taken an early lead, scoring on a delayed double steal in the second inning. They added another run in the sixth on a throwing error by Martinez.

The Orioles have won 10 of their last 12 games and are 12-8. Kansas City is 9-11.

Boxer warned before death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Clarence "Jodie" White, the Trenton, N.J., boxer who died after a loss here March 21, was warned by a physician earlier that day not to fight because his body had been weakened by a stomach ailment, according to a medical examiner.

The 28-year-old boxer was pronounced dead at St. Joseph's Hospital in Philadelphia only an hour after his bout with Curtis Parker. The fight ended in a fourth-round technical knockout.

Dr. Dmitri Contostavlos, of the Philadelphia medical examiner's office, said Thursday he had talked to the doctor who told White not to fight but that professional ethics prevented him from revealing the doctor's identiy.

Medical examiners now suspect White died of heart failure because his body, weakened by the illness two days earlier, probably could not withstand the physical strain of the fight, Constostavlos said.

Francis Walker, Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission executive director, said White had signed a mandatory form before the fight in which he stated he was "not withholding information" concerning his physical condition and had no recent illnesses.

Grambling SID resigns post

GRAMBLING, La. (AP) — Collie Nicholson, sports information director at Grambling for more than 31 years, resigned Friday to seek the job of commissioner of the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

Nicholson said if he is named to succeed Andrew Brown in the position, he would seek television contracts for the conference basketball tournament and for the top league games.

While at Grambling, Nicholson is credited for arranging games between Grambling and Texas Southern in the Astrodome before 50,000 fans and between Grambling and Morgan State in Yankee Stadium before 85,000 fans.

He also is responsible for arranging for Grambling to play in Japan.

Conference officials will meet later this month in Baton Rouge, and Nicholson said he would actively seek the job then.

New Orleans keeping Baylor on as coach

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Elgin Baylor will stay on next season as head coach of the New Orleans Jazz, the National Basketball Association team announced Friday.

"We think Elgin has done a helluva job with the situation this year, and he'll be back next year," said Larry Hatfield, chief executive for principal Jazz stockholder Sam Battistone.

There had been speculation that Baylor, who was first hired as temporary replacement to fired Jazz Coach Butch Van Breda Kolff, might not be back next year. However, Hatfield said the Jzz brass were satisfied with Baylor's performance as a coach.

"Baylor knows how to handle players and he's made a lot of progress," Hatfield said. "But even more, Elgin continues to progress as a coach every month."

The Jazz currently is fighting to keep alive its hopes of winning a spot in the NBA playoffs. The team has lost its top scorer, Pete Maravich, to a knee injury.

Hatfield said injuries to Maravich and other players had to be considered in rating Baylor's coaching. "When you look at the injury situation with Pete, the guy's done a great job with the club," Hatfield said.

Jazz forward Leonard Robinson agreed. "Elgin is a good coach," Robinson said.

Aggies down Baylor on two home runs

WACO, Texas (AP) — The Texas Aggies gave up 12 hits but held on for a 5-3 Southwest Conference victory over Baylor Friday, the first loss of the season for Bear pitcher Burl Coker.

Mike Hurdle and David Pieczynski hit home runs late in the game to give Texas A&M its winning margin. Coker gave up six other hits in droppingto 5-1 for the season.

Mark Ross gave up a secondinning homer to Luke Prestridge but picked up his fourth victory against three losses.

The teams meet at 1 p.m. today for a doubleheader. Friday's decision raised A&M's record to 20-10 for the season and 7-3 in SWC play. Baylor fell to 17-10-2 and 8-5.

New coach

BOSTON (AP) — Richard A. Pitino, assistant coach at Syracuse University, has been named head basketball coach at Boston University, Athletic Director John B. Simpson announced Friday.

Pitino, a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, succeeds Roy Sigler, who resigned at the end of last season. Pitino worked at Syracuse for two seasons, coming to the Orange from the University of Hawaii.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves sent pitcher Frank LaCorte and infielder Rob Belloir to their Richmond farm team Friday and reassigned two other players.

Red Rum will miss Grand National race

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Red Rum, one of the greateet British race horses of all time, has run his last race and will not compete in Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase, his trainer announced Friday night.

Winner of the Grand National a record three times and favorite for Saturday's race, Red Rum failed to recover from lameness in time for the race, said trainer Don McCain.

He will now be retired.

The 13-year-old horse injured his left hind leg in a gallop a week ago and was still limping badly after a fast workout Friday.

"It's all over. There is no way we can get Rummy fit for the National," said a dejected McCain after working desperately this week to prepare the veteran jumper for an attempt at a record fourth Grand National victory.

Red Rum is the only horse to have won the grueling race three times — in 1973, 1974 and 1977 — and he finished second in 1975 and 1976.

"It's a great pity. I really thought we had a great chance of winning right up to the morning of the injury," said McCain. "I was delighted with the progress he was showing."

McCain had been running Red Rum along frothy ocean beaches and giving him heat treatment to get him fit.

Earlier Friday, McCain said there was only a 50 percent chance Red Rum would be fit. More than $1.9 million already had been bet on the horse that was 6-1 favorite before his injury became known.

The Grand National, run at Aintree near Liverpool, is Britain's leading steeplechase and the nation had been following Red Rum's progress with something approaching devotion.

Spectators may still see the animal in the pre-race parade, his farewell appearance before retirement.

Red jrum would have made further history by winning Saturday's race. Since the Grand National was first run in 1873 — over four miles and 30 massive fences — it has only once been won by a 13-year-old horse, Sergeant Murphy in 1923.

Without Red Rum, the race becomes wide open.

Longhorns trip Rice with Creel

HOUSTON (AP) — Freshman Keith Creel tossed a six-hitter as the Texas Longhorns defeated the Rice Owls, 5-1, in a Southwest Conference baseball game Friday.

Creel went the distance to boost his season record to 8-1 and his conference mark to 3-0.

Matt Williams was the losing pitcher. He allowed just one earned run but he gave up seven hits and walked eight.

Texas' big inning was the third when the Longhorns scored twice on two Rice errors, a walk and hits by Bobby Thompson and Mark Chelette.

Jerry Stanridge scored the only earned run for Texas when he walked, stole second and crossed the plate on Terry Salazar's two-out single.

Gottfried has easy time

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Only Brian Gottfried, the top-seeded player in the $75,000 Dayton Pro Tennis Classic, had an easy time winning his way into the semifinals Friday.

Post holds slim lead in LPGA

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — JoAnne Carner shot a second-round 66, Nancy Lopez carded a 70 and opening day leader Sandra Post ran into trouble on the front nine Friday as the $305,000 Dinah Shore Winners Circle golf tournament tightened at the top.

Post still held a one-stroke lead on Carner, making the turn at five-under-par 103 for 27 holes of the tournament at the Mission Hills Country Club. She had fired an opening 65, but saw her three-stroke lead slip away as she took two bogeys on the front nine Friday.

Carner was among the early groups teeing off for the second round, and she clipped three strokes off par on both the front and back nines of the par 36-36—72 Mission Hills layout which plays at 6,302 yards for the women. That gave her the lead among early finishers at four-under-par 140 for 36 holes.

Lopez, winner of two Ladies Professional Golf Association tournaments already this year and one of the favorites in the Winners Circle, had a firstround 73, but birdied five of the last eight holes on the second day to move into contention.

Hollis Stacy, the opening day runner-up at 68, made the turn in 36 and remained four-under. Jan Stephenson, Penny Pulz, Shelly Hamlin and Kathy Postlewait made the turn at one-under for the tournament. Stephenson shot a 36, while Pulz, Hamlin and Postlewait all had 35s as the group finshed 27 holes with totals of 107.

The tournament, sponsored by the Colgate-Palmolive Co., ends Sunday with both today's and Sunday's rounds on national television.

Roth holding bowling lead

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Mark Roth held a 78-pin lead over Jeff Mattingly heading into the final eight games of head-to-head match play in the $70,000 Long Island Open professional bowling tournament Friday.

Roth, the 1977 Player of the Year, who lives in Staten Island, N.Y., has led each of the last four rounds of the Professional Bowlers Association event and is looking for his 12th PBA championship and fourth this year.

Mattingly, who began the round in sixth place, won six of eight matches to move directly behind Roth in the standings. Roth, who had be averaging 242 for the first 26 games, slipped to a 237 average by was able to hold onto the lead.

Mattingly hae a chance to narrow that lead even more in the seventh game of the day when he met Roth, but the Staten Islander won 232-214. Roth leads Mattingly in total pinfall 8,311-8,233.

"That win over Mattingly was important, because he was bowling well," Roth said.

Two-time champion Steve Westberg of Cottage Grove, Ore., went into Friday night's sixth round in third place with an 8,144 total. In fourth was Nelson Burton, Jr., St. Louis, 8,143, while John Petraglia of Staten Island, N.Y., was fifth at 8,099.

Petraglia, who qualified for match play in second place, had dropped all the way to 5th during Thursday night's round. He won just one match opponents averaged better than 250.

After Friday night's round of match play, the top five will bowl for the tournament championship.

feels he will be returned to Midland. "It's a question of numbers," says Kurt, "And I'm probably the one they'll send back."

Jeff Albert also is planning on being in Midland. "I'd rather start in AA ball than be the spare wheel at Wichita. I don't care where I play as long as I get my regular turn."

Jim Buckner, who batted .313 at Midland last year and was with the Texas League club this spring, was promoted to Wichita, which leaves Saul with a hole to fill in the outfield.

Tony Pepper, on loan to Midland last year from the Giants, was acquired by the Cubs during the off season and has been enjoying a lusty spring at the plate. He's destined to be the Aeros DH. Thompson, a skinny youngster with Midland, has matured into manhood in the last two years and will be at first.

That should leave the first base job to Aaron Randall at Midland. A slick fielder, Aaron was forced to play the outfield and alternate at first with Pepper last year.

Just which pitchers will wind up at Midland remains to be seen, but minor league pitching coach Fred Martin feels Randy Martz, the No. 1 draft choice from South Carolina, and Jim Butler, so impressive after coming to Midland from Geneva late last season, will be a good start. "No matter who they send down, I think you'll have a strong staff in Midland," says Fred. And, after all, isn't that where it all begins?

Bobcats hold golfing lead

The San Angelo Bobcats dropped two strokes in their District 5-4A golf lead Friday at Hogan Park, but still own a comfortable 15-stroke lead after three rounds of play.

The Bobcats seem to be a shoe-in for the title since only two rounds are left on the 5-4A tour, and one of the rounds will be played on the Bobcats' home course April 14.

Odessa Permian moved into second place Friday on the Midland course by passing Abilene Cooper. San Angelo leads the field with a three round score of 903 while Permian stands at 918 and Cooper at 921. Midland Lee follows with 927 score and passed Midland High for fourth place. The Bulldogs fell to a 932 total.

MIDLAND HIGH held a one-stroke lead over the Rebels going into Friday's round, but now trails Lee by five strokes.

Cooper's Mike Orren fired a 71 Friday to open a big lead in the medalist chase. San Angelo's Marshall Brown, a one-stroke medalist leader after the first two rounds over Orren, got bit hard by the Hogan course and ended up with an 81. Orren has a three-round score of 215, seven strokes better than the rest of the field.

Kyle Rowland of Midland Lee fired his third straight 74 of the tour to jump into the medalist chase. Rowland's 222 ties Villareal of Abilene and Salughter of Cooper for second place. Keith Moran of Permian and Brown follow with 224 totals.

THE BEST round of the day, however, came from San Angelo's Kyle Kolls, a junior varsity member of the Bobcats, with a fine 69. Orren's 71 was the next best score turned in.

Rowland paced Lee with his 74 while Greg Spencer matched that total. All of the Lee golfers were under 80, their best showing on this year's tour.

Mike Mahan and Tim Walker paced Midland High with 76s.

Midland's Mahan and Lee's Spencer are both in the top 10 in the medalist chase with 229 totals.

Next Friday the teams move to Odessa where Permian will have to make its bid, and then the teams end the season in San Angelo April 14.

scored another after doubiing Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Detroit Tigers 3-1 in exhibition baseball.

The Cardinals, who lifted their spring record to 9-12, got consecutive singles in the opening inning from Lou Brock, Garry Templeton and Hernandez to score their first run off Jack Morris. Then, with one out, Morales grounded out to send home the second run.

In the fifth inning, St. Louis added a run against Milt Wilcox when Hernandez doubled and came home on a single by Morales.

Detroit, which fell to 16-7, got its run in the opening inning off winner Mark Littell.

Braves post win

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gary Matthews' third-inning run-scoring single broke a 1-1 tie to give the Atlanta Braves a 2-1 victory over their Richmond farm club in exhibition baseball Friday.

Atlanta scored both its runs in the third.

Bruce Benedict walked and moved to third on a double by Barry Bonnell. Then a ground out by Rowland Office scored Benedict, and Matthews followed with his single, scoring Bonnell.

Five Atlanta pitchers held Richmond to six hits.

Craig Skok got the victory for Atlanta, now 11-9 in exhibition play.

Paschal is named Southwestern coach

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Bobby Paschal was named head basketbal coach at the University of Southwestern Louisiana to succeed Jim Hatfield, who is expected to become head man at Mississippi State on Saturday, school officials said Friday.

Paschal, 36, has been an assistant under Hatfield at USL since 1974, when the NCAA ended a two-year suspension of the school basketball program.

Although USL officials said Hatfield resigned to go to Mississippi State, officials there would say only that they were holding a news conference on campus Saturday concerned the basketball coaching position. Athletic Director Bob Tyler could not be reached for comment.

Hatfield, whose team went 198 last season, would replace Ron Greene, who resigned three weeks ago after one season to take over the coaching job at Murray State.

Hatfield, 33, had been the chief recruiter for Kentucky Coach Joe Hall before coming to Southwestern to reorganize the disrupted program in 1974. Paschal was an assistant at Livingston and Florida Southern before joining him.

USL was 7-19 in Hatfield's first season but went 21-8 the next as Hatfield was named Southland Conference Coach of the Year.

The only other coach to be interviewed on campus by Mississippi State athletic officials was Barry Dowd, an assistant coach at the University of Texas. Sources said Dowd was on campus Tuesday and would have been offered the job if Hatfield declined.

Greene, a graduate of Murray State, guided the Bulldogs to a second place finish in the Southeastern Conference and was named the conference's coach of the year by the Associated Press the same day he resigned.

Southwestern also named Mary Jo Castell to be its new women's basketball coach Friday. Castell has been coach at Hammond High for four years, winning the state AAAA championship the last two years.

Borg to face Smith next in World net semifinals

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Second-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden moved into a semifinal clash against Stan Smith of the United States Friday by defeating Italian Adriano Panatta 6-3, 6-3 in a quarterfinal match at a $175,000 World Championship Tennis tournament Friday.

The other semifinal match today pairs Americans Vitas Gerulaitis, the top seed, and fourth-seeded Sandy Mayer.

Borg, 21, relied on his backhand passing shots and precise serves to down Panatta at the Milan Sports Palace in one hour and 15 minutes.

Panatta took a 2-0 lead in the first set after breaking Borg's service. But the Swede quickly returned the serve break in the third game and added breaks in the seventh and ninth games to take the set.

In the second set both players held their own service through seven games. As the 28-year-old Italian continued his attacks, his only possible tactic, Borg fired three straight crosscourt backhand shots to break Panatta's serve and climb to a 5-3 lead. He then served out the match.

Panatta, who had the backing of 8,000 partisan fans, said he played at his best "but could do nothing against such as Borg."

Friday's win was Borg's ninth in 15 matches against Panatta.

Mayer, attacking the net with confidence, overpowered fellow American Bob Lutz 6-4, 6-2, and Gerulaitis outlasted Spain's Jose Higueras 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Veteran Stan Smith made it three Americans in the semifinals, beating young Gianni Ocleppo of Italy 7-6 6-3 at the Milan Indoor Sports Palace. Smith, 32, relyed on his precise and powerful serve and on the inexperience of the 21-year-old Italian in the key moments of the 90-minute match.

Lutz, 31, tied Mayer 4-4 in the first set through a series of broken ss. Lutz, playing top class tennis which allowed him to eliminate seventh-seeded Ilie Nastase in the opening round, broke Mayer's serve three times in the first five games.

Mayer, however, kept up the pace and after climbing to 5-4 broke Lutz' serve for the fourth time to win the set.

In the second set Mayer, winner of the WCT event at St. Louis earlier this year, played more aggressively, volleying and smashing from the net, always moving up behind his serve. He attacked also on Lutz' serves to score a 3-1 break. The second break of the set came in the eighth game.

Gerulaitis, continuing a series of unconvincing performances, was in trouble against Higueras, who was playing an almost faultless game from the baseline and often passing the American when he tried to move to the net on the Spaniard's serve.

Chap golfers remain fourth in WJCC play

BORGER—Western Texas College of Snyder maintained its lead in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference golf race here Friday by winning the Frank Phillips Invitational tournanent with a 283 total.

Odessa College kept hold of second place overall with a 291 score while third place New Mexico Junior College lost ground to fourth place Midland College.

The Chaparrals took third place in the Frank Phillips round with a fine 295 while NMJC fell to a 304.

WTC's Ron Koerth won medalist honors with a 70. MC was paced by Kelly Ing with a 72 while Shayne Berry followed with a 75 round.

Ted Sizemore happy with his contract

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Ted Sizemore talked himself out of some $30,000 last season and he loved it.

"I was crazy like a foy," Sizemore insisted before a spring training camp exhibition game.

"I'd do the same thing all over again," said Sizemore, the Philadelphia Phillies' second baseman.

Maybe you ought to visit a shrink, it was suggested.

"Aw come on," responded Sizemore. "There are things in this world more important than money."

Name one, the 155-pound guy his teammates call "Size" was asked.

"Playing regularly," Sizemore replied unhesitatingly. "Not sitting on the bench believing you can do the job better than the guy that's out there, but the manager doesn't believe it."

That was the situation Sizemore found himself in after the 1975 season. He played 153 games that year. The next, he shared second base on the Los Angeles Dodgers with Dave Lopes.

And in the winter of 1977, Dodgers' management told Sizemore pointedly that Lopes was the second baseman. So, Sizemore asked to be traded. He suggested the Phillies, who had just lost Dave Cash in the free agent re-entry draft.

Sizemore got his wish. The Dodgers won the National League West. The Phillies captured the East. The Dodgers won the playoffs and reached the World Series. Size got a losing share of playoff money and watched the series on TV.

Was it worth the price?

"It was fulfilling to play regularly," he began. "I played regularly seven straight years (with St. Louis and Los Angeles).

Razorbacks down Mustangs by 5-2

DALLAS (AP) — Rob Kaufman drilled a two-run homer and Arvis Harper added a solo shot Friday night as Arkansas increased its lead in the Southwest Conference baseball standings with a 5-2 victory over Southern Methodist.

The victory raised Arkansas' SWC mark to 10-3 and its season record to 17-6.

Tim Lollar and Harper got RBIs in the first inning as the Razorbacks took a 2-0 lead. The Hogs increased that to 4-0 on Kaufman's homer in the fourth and went up 5-0 on Harper's solo homer in the eighth.

Briscoe posts win

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Veteran Bennie Briscoe stopped contender Tony Chiaverini with a series of deadly combinations in the eighth round Friday night, marking a major setback in the Kansas City middleweight's world title hopes.

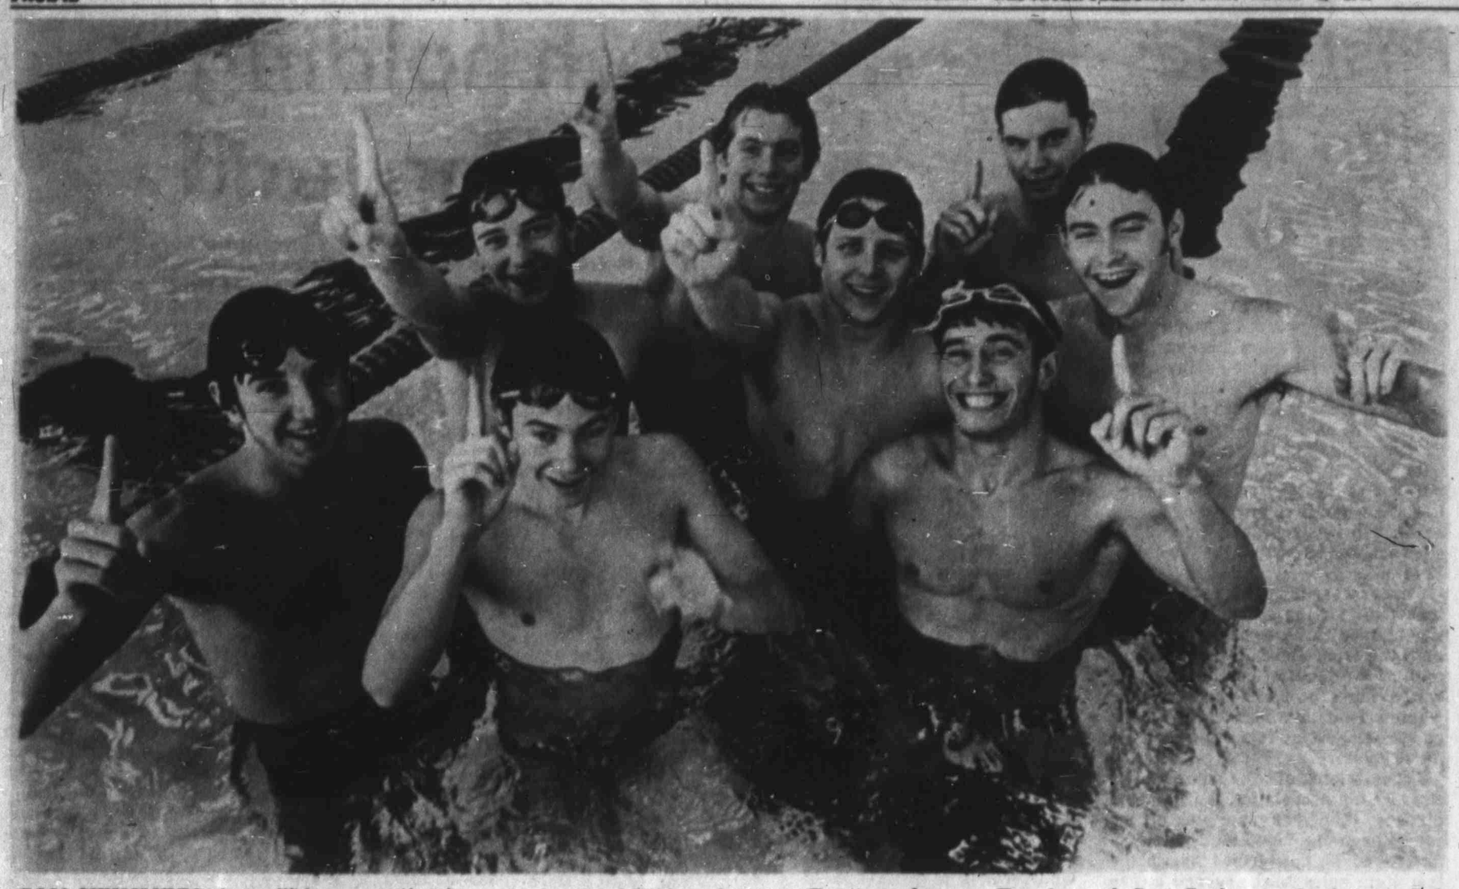

Briscoe, spotting the 25-yearold Chiaverini 10 years in age, dominated the slugging match from the first round and consistently found the range with both rights and lefts.

The shaven-headed Briscoe from Philadelphia steadily penetrated Chiaverini's defense and capitalized on the younger fighter's lack of movement.

Briscoe closed Chiaverini's right eye, then pushed him to the ropes where he landed a series of shots to the head, forcing the referee to call the fight 1:05 into the round.

Chiaverini suffered his first loss in 11 bouts and saw his record fall to 21-2-1.

Billie Jean withdraws

OAKLAND (AP) — Rosie Casals, unaware that she was eliminated from title contention, overwhelmed Virgina Wade in the third set and won 7-5, 3-6, 6-0 Friday night in the women's pro tennis tour $150,000 championship tournament.

"It makes me want to cry," the veteran pro said after learning that her victory was a somewhat wasted one.

The withdrawal of Billie Jean King from the tournament because of severe leg cramps complicated the situation in the round-robin event. King had been scheduled to play Evonne Goolagong Friday night, and Goolagong was awarded a victory by default.

Wimbledon champion Wade will play Goolagong Saturday night, and one of them will face the winner of the Martina Navratilova-Wendy Turnbull match, also scheduled Saturday, in Sunday's finals.

Casals will get a victory by default over King, but she lost earlier to Goolagong, so finishes with a 2-1 match record with four sets won.

Gambling 'dirty word'

By JIM MURRAY
The Los Angeles Times Syndicate

When I was a kid growing up in Connecticut, "gambling" was a dirty word. I know this because I had an uncle who — come closer, we still don't want Mrs. Clancy to find out about this — bet on horses!

Now, when I say he bet on horses, that's not entirely true. He bet AGAINST horses. You were the one who bet ON them. You had one horse and he had the other 11. That passed for "vice" in the Nutmeg state in those days. It was a pretty dull place.

They had no racetracks in Connecticut. The legislature kept them out. But, they were all around the place. Rhode Island had three tracks. So did Massachusetts. New Hampshire had one close enough. Connecticut money supported all of them. The state paid dearly for its halo. It was only a two-hour train ride to New York where there were a half-dozen or more tracks. Connecticut, in short, was a supplier. What Joe Pamer would call a producer for the game.

I BRING this up because I am in receipt of a broadside of missives from an energetic PR man, Bob Besolve, in, of all places, Bridgeport, who brings me the astonishing information that Connecticut River punters can now not only bet in public but on an athletic crapshoot called "jai alai," which may be the purest form of hatpin-in-the-program betting known to man. A man who would bet on jai alai would bet on license plates.

Poor Connecticut! Jai alai has made an honest woman of her. Of course, a lot of people predicted this would happen when they let New York people move into the southern suburbs, and they started electing Democrats and other riffraff to high office.

But no one expected the grand old dame to start kicking off her high-button shoes and bombazine blouses with the cameo brooches, and letting the pins out of her hair, and throwing away the lorgnettes the way she did. In three months this year, 411,351 persons have bet $35,245,385 on the ancient Basque sport. The state takes 5 3-4 percent of this, the city, 1 percent, and the management, 11 1-4 percent. With another fronton in Hartford, and one projected for Milford, it is the fastest-growing industry in the state. It is apparently a pleasure for a southern New Englander no longer to have to commute over two state lines to lose his money.

HOW YOU can persuade Connecticut Yankees in King jai alai's court to bet on uncommunicative Spaniards, playing a game for money against what appears to be a field of blood relatives, baffles old Puritan-watchers. But most of the patrons shrug and ask: "What's the difference between betting on a Panamanian jockey on a South American horse and a Spanish pelotista playing handball with a wicker basket?"

The game has been rigged from the doubles competition favored by the Basque township teams into a game featuring a half-dozen betting interests, with quinielas, perfectas, and trifectas. It's a lottery with seats. The best players in the world are featured at Bridgeport, however, because they were barred from Florida and sent packing home to Guernica when they struck for higher wages down there. At Bridgeport, they get a percentage of the house take over $9 million.

Bridgeport's $16 million fronton was constructed by a group that took out a loan from the Teamsters. Their license was revoked when the entrepreneur took the Fifth in hearings as to exactly how the license had been obtained, and a half-dozen political figures, conveniently deceased, had been implicated. Connecticut has always had plenty of those, gambling or no gambling. A Detroit group picked up the pieces, and now runs the game in Bridgeport.

SO THE Nutmeg state, once a paragon of Puritanism, a government that used to bust you for taking quarter bets on street corners, is now a partner in the purest form of gambling known to man, people betting on something they don't even understand. A far cry from the days of Cotton Mather, Calvin Coolidge and other New England traditionalists of thrift, silence, hard work and prayer.

Connecticut joins a world it never made. A world of odds, parlays, incantations, and cocktails. It will never be the same again. I mean, what's next? A casino where George Washington slept? Bookies at Yale-Harvard? Staid old Connecticut is now Macao East. The least they could do is refund my uncle's fines.

TCU upends Houston in SWC baseball

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — John Shelley and David Novey each belted home runs Friday to catapult Texas Christian to a 9-6 Southwest Conference baseball victory over Houston.

Shelley smashed a two-run homer in the second inning off Cougar reliever David Bailey, while Novey drilled a solo shot in the eighth inning.

Danny Lopez slugged a tworun homer for the Cougars, who dropped to 19-15 for the season and 7-6 in the SWC.

Lopez' homer chased TCU starter and winner Dale Arnold, 2-3. John Shannon, 0-3, was the loser.

TCU, which rattled Houston for 12 hits, raised its record to 10-14 for the season and 4-6 in the SWC.

Star won't return

LONDON (AP) — English soccer star Alan Ball will not be joining North American Soccer League's Philedelphia Furies on a permanent basis, his club, Southampton, said Friday.

Boston star is suspended

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Schmautz of the Boston Bruins was suspended Friday for two weekend games because he shoved a National Hockey League official after a fight during a game in Washington last Tuesday night.

Schmautz, a right wing, will sit out — and lose pay for — the Bruins' games in Montreal Saturday night and at home against the New York Rangers Sunday, said Brian O'Neill, NHL executive vice president.

O'Neill said he made his decision after viewing tapes of the game. Following an altercation with Capitals defenseman Yvan Labre, Schmautz reportedly shoved linesman Kevin Collins while being escorted to the penalty box. He was immediately given a game misconduct penalty.

Bond issue work over

By REX WORRELL

The committee for the improvement of Hogan Park golf facilities has completed work on the bond issue for the expansion of Hogan Park Golf Course.

Curtis Inman, chairman of the committee, has worked extremely hard for the game of golf and especially for you as golfers and citizens of Midland, and would appreciate you doing your part by going to the polls today and casting your vote.

It looks like the girls high school golf teams are off and running again. After two district tournaments, Midland Lee owns a comfortable 65-stroke lead.

LEE HAS a 708 total for tournaments at Big Spring and San Angelo while Big Spring is second with 830. Lee's junior varsity is third with an 838 while Midland High follows with a 852.

Permian's Jackie Daiss won medalist honors at San Angelo with a 73 while Lee's Wendy Goodwin was second with a 76.

Other Lee varsity members include Sheryl Guthrie, 83; Sally Reavis, 87; Paige Worrell, 95; and Gayle Rowan, 95. Lee's JV members are Teresa Stoltz, 94; Angie Wills, 103; Brenda Heath, 107; Gayle Watson, 110; and Kim Lewis, 118.

MIDLAND HIGH'S team includes Kim Woods, 95; Cindy Cowan, 102; Patty O'Neil, 106; Nancy Spaugh, 107; Nancy Brimberry, 109; Dana Bostwick, 115; and Kim Hopkins, 116.

The Hogan Park Women's Golf Association held a playday Thursday with each player allowed to throw out the three worst holes on each nine. Linda Ballard won the 18-hole division and was followed by Ella Heath, second; Jane Wagner, third; Jean Elkin, fourth; while Marilyn Philpy and Wilma Cox tied for fifth.

In the nine-hole division, Betty Williams took first while Frances Stahl and Kennie Ashland tied for second. There will be no pairings for Thursday since it will be the final day of the three day handicap tournament for the HPWGA.

THE FOLLOWING is the Sunday pairings for the Hogan Park Men's Golf Association Two-Man Partnership:

1 p.m.—Hernandez, Moreno, Barthel, Walker; 1:07: B. Harris, Freeman, Carter, Copper; 1:15: Mack, Goodwin, Gray, Tomerlin; 1:22: Standley, Sutton, Munsel, Hood; 1:30: Dishman, Hawkins, Kurc, Flournoy; 1:37: Olgin, Morales, Perales, Madrid; 1:45: Nobles, Nobles, Hughes, Doan; 1:52: Hudgins, Hudgins, Wayburn, Littlejohn; 2:00: Sitton, McGraw, Howle, McGuire; 2:07: Schwinkendorg, Kirkes, Riggins, Peters; 2:15: Ratcliff, Hartsell, Meade, Hines; 2:22: Walker, Robbins, Ayers, Taylor; 2:30: Mattina, Thorne, Tate, Airhart; 2:37: Mathews, Schulz, Kitto, Cope; 2:45: Wilson, Calvert, Coggan, Harkrider; 2:52: Winger, Falk, Smith, Overcash; 3:00: Bellis, Bernal, Taylor, Taylor; 3:07: Johnson, Macklem, Corwin, Edgerton; 3:15: Henderson, Rhea, Thomas, Partner; 3:22: Miller, Partner.

Turner sparkles in Pony drills

DALLAS (AP) — Darrell Turner, a transfer from Navarro Junior College, ran for 94 yards and caught four passes for 36 yards Friday to lead the offense to a 26-14 victory over the defense in Southern Methodist's first football scrimmage of the spring.

Only two touchdowns were scored, but Coach Ron Meyer allowed both the offense and defense points for various achievements.

Quarterback Mike Ford scrambled 13 yards for one of the offense's touchdowns, and Alan Stephenson passed three yards to Elton Garrett for the day's only other score.

Stephenson completed both of his passes for 19 yards. Ford completed nine of 12 passes for 90 yards, although cornerback David Hill intercepted one.

Meyer said the No. 1 defense played "extremely well" even though the defense lost the scrimmage.

"I'm very happy about the progress of our young players, our sophomores to be. Charles Bruton and John Simmons are both starting at cornerback, and they are playing real well. The young guys are really coming on strong," Meyer said.

He also had praise for Turner, a 5-11, 180-pounder from Grapeland.

Meyer said the team looked ragged for its first controlled scrimmage, but he was pleased with the Mustangs' enthusiasm and hustle. He termed SMU's progress through its first three weeks of spring practice as excellent.

The SMU spring drills end April 14 with the annual Red-Blue game in Ownby Stadium.

Tech sweeps 2 from NTSU

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech extended North Texas State's losing streak to 29 games Friday, coming from behind twice to record 13-8 and 12-6 victories in a non-conference baseball doubleheader.

Leftfielder Larry Selby went 3-for-4 and knocked in four runs for the Red Raiders in the opener, while shortstop Brooks Wallace was 3-for-4 and Steve Elder 2-for-5 with three RBI's in the nightcap.

North Texas led 5-4 in the second game until the Raiders exploded for nine runs in the bottom of the sixth.

The Mean Green had a 5-1 lead in the second contest but a seven-run Tech rally in the third inning broke that game open.

Rick Hall tossed his third complete game of the season in winning the first game, his fifth victory against two losses. David Bolton started and went the distance the second game and upped his record to 4-1.

Dan Ford lost the first game, but had a 2-for-4 day at the plate for NTSU. Mike Collins absorbed the loss in the second game.

Weber gains hall

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — St. Louis bowler Dick Weber, 48, youngest man ever elected to bowling's Hall of Fame, has been named to the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Weber is a former multiple selection as Bowler of the Year, and a four-time winner of the national All-Star tournament.

Ferraris top trials

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The 12-cylinder Ferraris of Carlos Reutemann and Gilles Villeneuve led a 1-2 assault Friday in the opening training sessions for Sunday's U.S. Grand Prix West. Defending champion Mario Andretti was tangled in a tight group, fifth on the provisional grid.

That information was supplied to the press by respected statistician Michelle Dubosc, who works for the Ligier team. Officials admmited their own timing and scoring were badly off because recurring problems that have plagued this event each os three previous years.

The official rundown had Jacques Laffite of the Ligier team first. The only problem was that Laffite crashed in the morning session and the car was barely repaired in time for the final session.

Officials later recognized the times used by the Associated Press because of problems with their own equipment. They expressed hope that everything would be corrected in time for Saturday's final qualifying session, which is likely to result in a complete reshuffling of the grid.

If Laffite was fastest, the captain of the Ligier-Matra team Gerard Ducarouge wasn't aware of it. "Everything went wrong today," he groaned.

Dubosc is employed as Ligier's team statistician. She said, "If we had the fastest time, I would know it."

Dubosc, whose information was recognized as correct by the individual team captains, showed Reutemann of Argentina with a big advantage, with a lap at 1 minute, 20.99 seconds around the 2.02-mile street course.

His teammate Villeneuve, a French-Canadian, was well back at 1:22.15, followed by Austrian Niki Lauda in a Brabham at 1:22.38, James Hunt of England in a McLaren at 1:22.39 and Andretti in a Lotus at 1:22.57.

Reutemann credited the Ferrari's 12-cylinder engine and the team's brand of tires — different from every other team — with his superior speed. Villeneuve said, "The big problem we have is wheel spin, keeping the wheels on the ground as much as possible. When the wheels are off the ground, they spin, and we lose time.

"This is a very bumpy course. It is hard on the gearbox and axles."

Andretti and Hunt were involved in seperate brushes with the wall, neither of which were serious. Andretti grazed the wall with a tire coming on to the front straightaway.

Forever Casting big choice in Arkansas Derby

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Forever Casting, rated the fourth best 2-year-old in the country last year, will try to strengthen his 3-year-old credentials today in the $100,000-added Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park.

Forever Casting, owned by W.S. Farrish III and G. Watts Humphrey Jr., is expected to be the favorite in the 1⅛-mile race.

A total of 15 3-year-olds are entered in the race. Oaklawn Racing Secretary Frank Arsenault expects a field of 10 or 11 to go postward.

Eight of the 15 are entered in other races today and some are expected to opt for the easier competition.

Forever Casting will be ridden by his regular rider, Eddie Delahoussaye. Delahoussaye was aboard March 18 when Forever Casting scored an impressive victory in an allowance race of 1 mile, 70 yards.

The prevous week, Forever Casting finished third behind Chop Chop Tomahawk and Abidan in the Rebel Handicap. Both Chop Chop Tomahawk and Abidan are entered in Saturday's Derby.

Forever Casting, Aesops wfoibles and Chop Chop Tomahawk will carry high weight of 126 pounds apiece under the allowance conditions of the race.

Bud Wilkinson in new start

By JOE GERGEN
The Washington Post

ST. LOUIS — The coach was leaning back in his swivel chair, embellishing a point with a wave of his cigar, when the light began blinking on his telephone console. There were 16 buttons on theconsole, all color-coded. The coach pressed xutton of a pastel persuasion and nothing happened.

He pushed another button. Again, no response. Finally, the disembodied voice of his secretary filtered through the console speaker. "It's the pink one," she said. And, smiling sheepishly, Bud Wilkinson made the connection.

"Didn't you have that many buttons at Oklahoma?" a man inquired when Wilkinson had finished his conversation.

Wilkinson leaned back and smiled again. "We didn't even have that many buttons in the White House," he said.

At 61, Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma legend and advisor to presidents, is starting a new career as a professional football coach. He is not overwhelmed by the complexities of the task. Even if the telephone gives him trouble, he knows how to push the button on the film projector. "I think it's a very sophisticated game," he said the other day, "but not mysterious."

His manner was calm, relaxed, informal as he sat behind his desk in the offices of the St. Louis Cardinals, a team whose image last season was as muddy as the nearby Mississippi. The Cards dropped their last four games, including an abomination against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, coach Don Coryell openly sought other employment and was locked out, and a busload of disgruntled players departed Busch Stadium in pursuit of more lucrative contracts. The franchise, traditionally unstable, appeared to have suffered a mental and emotional breakdown.

ENTER WILKINSON, owner Bill Bidwell's nobel experiment, Fifteen years removed from the college game and a pro football novice, the man has been charged not only with winning football games but restoring stability to the organization. "The first thing any coach has to accomplish," he said, "is to have the players respect him and his system. You can't go anywhere without that."

To that end, he has met with veterans Tom Banks, Jim Otis and Roger Wehrli and anticipates establishing a dialogue with as many players as his schedule permits before the start of training camp. His staff is almost complete, talent evaluations have to be made and the college draft is only weeks away. But so far so good. "I haven't got any crank calls yet," he said, laughing.

It is no small project he faced, but that's no reason for pressimism. "I am under no illusion as to how tough the National Football League will be for me," Wilkinson said. "The skills are so much better at this level. But then, all players are bigger and faster and stronger, so there's no advantage to offense or defense. And there still are a fixed number of people out there. The field is a certain size. There are mre variations in defenses now but it's just disguising what you want to do, which is what you always did."

The man was an innovator in college. His Oklahoma teams, which won 145 games, lost 29 and tied four, utilized the split-T formation, ran a hurry-up offense and played a defense which later became a foundation of the pro game. But it was a different era, so long ago that the Big Eight Conference was the Big Seven, and Wilkinson could pick and choose from a legion of swift, tough kids who salivated at the prospect of playing for the Sooners. It was a time when the president of the school was said to have asked the Board of Regents for a university of which the football team could be proud.

Bonnett earns pole position

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP) — Neil Bonnett of Hueytown, Ala., earned his third pole position on this season's Grand National stock car circuit Friday when he captured the No. 1 spot for Sunday's Southeastern 500 at Bristol International Raceway.

Bonnett, driving a Dodge, turned in a fast lap of 110.409 miles per hour to edge Benny Parsons of Ellerbe, N. C., for the pole in the $100,000 race. Parsons, driving an Oldsmobile, had a fast lap of 110.029 m.p.h. on the high-banked .533mile track.

Winning the second-row spots were Dave Marcis of Wausau, Wis., who had a speed of 109.853 m.p.h. in a Chevrolet and Richard Childress of Winston-Salem, N. C., with a speed of 109.721 m.p.h. in an Oldsmobile.

Defending chamlion Cale Yarborough, who won both the Southeastern and Volunteer 500 races here last year, will start in the sixth position in an Oldsmobile with a qualifying speed of 109.452 m.p.h.

He will be on the same row with the No. 5 starter, Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., whose qualifying speed was 109.596 m.p.h. in a Thunderbird.

The major casualty Friday as the first 10 spots were decided for Sunday's race at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Writers honoring Bob Lanier

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Lanier, the center of the Detroit Pistons who spends much of his time in the off-season working with youth groups, has been voted the winner of the 1978 Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award by the Professional Basketball Writers Association of America.

The award, named in honor of the late commissioner of the National Basketball Association, is presented annually to the "player, coach or assistant coach in the league adjudged to have performed outstanding and humanitarian achievements within the community."

Past winners were Wes Unseld in 1975, Slick Watts in 1976 and Dave Bing in 1977.

The 29-year-old Lanier, who recently underwent knee surgery, holds summer clinics and demonstrations in conjunction with a local brewery, the Police Athletic League and the Metropolitan Area Boys Club of Detroit, in addition to donating his time for public service and charity events. He is this year's honorary chairman of the Easter Seals telethon.

"When I was growing up," he said, "nobody took the time to teach me how to play basketball. It wasn't until I went to a Boys Club in Buffalo, when I was about 10 years old, that I was able to get started properly in fundamentals.

Jack Nicklaus stalks Masters Golf crown

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An invisible challenger — unseen and unlisted among the field, but the most relentless and implacable of all the foes an athlete must face — will be stalking Jack Nicklaus in the 42nd Masters golf tournament.

It is the calendar, time, the passing of the years.

It is an ally of the young men who would replace Nicklaus as the dominant force in golf, the unbeatable enemy of the man who has compiled the most awesome record in the history of the game.

Nicklaus recognizes the challenge.

"It is safe to say that most of my golf is behind me," the 38- year-old Nicklaus said.

But he's still the man to beat, the one towering figure, the larger-than-life-sized favorite in the annual spring rite that gets started Thursday on the flowered, rolling hills of Augusta National where so many of golf's legends have come to life.

IT WAS HERE, last year, in one of the great duels of sports' history, that the Huck Finn-figure of Tom Watson shot down the Golden Bear and established himself as the heir apparent. Another Nicklaus-Watson confrontation is possible. It's a exciting prospect. But if it happens, it will happen by accident, not by the design of either Nicklaus or Watson.

"The Nicklaus-vs.-Watson thing is, largely, an invention of the press," Watson said. "The goal is to win the golf tournament, to beat the whole field."

It was an echo of Nicklaus' long-time, standard comment — and in almost the same words.

"The idea is to win the golf tournament, not beat one man," Nicklaus has said on numerous occasions. "If you beat one particular man and lose the golf tournament, you haven't accomplished anything at all."

His accomplishments are unmatched. He holds almost all the records worth having, including an unlikely accumulation of 14 major professional championships, including a record five Masters.

With time running out on his career, Nicklaus, who takes the long view of history, is grimly determined to add to that record.

"I have an opportunity to set a record in the majors that will be very difficult to beat," Nicklaus said. With that in mind, he has rearranged his schedule to place even greater emphasis on the Big Four — the Masters, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

And, apparently, it has worked.

"I'm very pleased with my new schedule," he said earlier this season. "It has enabled me to do the things I want to do. I'm very happy that, when I have faced the situation where I needed to make things happen, I was able to make things happen."

IN HIS last four starts, he has won two (Inverrary and the Tournament Players Championship), finished second in two (Los Angeles and Doral) and collected $155,600. It is the best record of the year.

"I can't remember a better start," Nicklaus said.

Watson isn't quite so sure.

"Jack, obviously, is scoring well. He's getting the ball in the hole. But he's chipping in and making long putts to do it. I don't think he's actually hitting the ball as well as he could be," Watson said.

AND TOM is having his troubles, too. After a brilliant start in which he won two of the first three tournaments of the year, he tailed off badly and missed the cut in two of his last three appearances.

And he isn't quite so pumped up this time.

"I'm not as excited about the Masters as I was last year because I'm not playing as well," the forthright Watson admitted.

"I'm having a little trouble with my swing," he said, and flashed that boyish grin.

"But I haven't lost it. It's just hiding in there somewhere. I just have to find it again."

Should Nicklaus fail to find the magic he has worked so well earlier this year, should Watson's swing troubles fail to respond to his remedies, a solid corps of challengers are primed and ready to make their own bid for sports' most famous plete of haberdashery, the green jacket that goes to the winner.

CHIEF AMONG them is Hubert Green, the current U.S. Open champion, second only to Nicklaus on the money-winning list, holder of two 1978 titles, a winner his last time out and quite obviously at the peak of his game.

Elliott Maddox suffers injury; placed on the disabled list

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Outfielder Elliott Maddox was placed on the 21-day disabled list by the New York Mets Friday because of a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg.

Maddox, signed by the Mets as a free agent this winter, will remain in Florida when the team heads north next week.

He was placed on the list as of March 22 and will be eligible to return to action April 12.

"This is not my idea and I don't feel good about it," said Maddox, who signed a $950,000, five-year contract with New York. He had five hits in 15 at bats this spring.

Maddox hurt the leg March 17 and reinjured it three days later. He has not played since March 20.

"Elliott is so close to being 100 percent, why not lose a week instead of a whole year?" reasoned Mets Manager Joe Torre. "This way we'll keep him away from temptation."

"I'm being ultra-conservative to make sure he gets off on the right foot," said the bmets' team physician, Dr. James Parkes. "It's really not that serious, but this way we're making sure he'll be okay for the rest of the season."

The Mets also sent pitcher Roy Lee Jackson to Tidewater of the International League, where he had a 13-7 record last season.

BOWLING BEAT

Moore shoots 693 series

By RANDY ISENBERG

Torrid Richard Moore stacked up a blazing 693 series to lead bowlers in the Tall City this past week. Moore cracked with games of 223-233-237 for his set which is the highest reported in Midland for league series bowled this season three games.

Glenda Williamson scored a 696 which bowling in the Ladies Invitational Tournament held at Super Bowl in February.

The Petroleum American League found three bowlers breaking the 250 barrier on the same night. Gentlemen Bill Thorsen paced the big men's loop with a 626 series back up by a 254 game, while Richard Dunnan led all bowlers in the league with a 258 game.

Mike Reed powered out a 254 game to become the third kegler to crack 250 in the league for the evening.

MEANWHILE, in the High Sky Ladies League, Rita Edwards reached 600 for the first time with a 604 three games set backed up with a strong 244 game, while the previous week, Cindy Isbell rolled into the 600 Club with a 634 series paced by a 234 game.

TV blackout hearings are set for April 28

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will open public hearings in Miami April 28 on legislation to permanently ban television blackouts of National Football League home games sold out in advance.

The House communications subcommittee, under the chairmanship of Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., also will take testimony in Washington sometime in May, although no date has been set.

The initial hearings in the renewed battle over the football TV blackouts will be held in Miami because, as one committee staff member said, the Florida situation "is a good case study."

The Miami Dolphins have complained that the anti-blackout rule — the three-year law that expired after the 1975 season and the subsequent voluntary compliance by the NFL — has caused a loss in season ticket sales.

Two years ago, Joe Robbie, Miami's managing general partner, told the House Professional Sports Committee that his team's season ticket sales had increased every year since the club's inception in 1965 until they had reached 78,000 in 1972. The following year the law was passed, he said, and season tickets had fallen off to the point that only 50,000 were sold in 1975.

A communications committee spokesman said the Dolphins would be asked to testify at the hearing, although a complete witness list has not been set. He said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle might be asked to testify in Miami or at the Washington hearings.

Rep. Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach, who represents a district that includes Fort Lauderdale, introduced earlier this year one of four bills in Congress to reinstate the requirement that blackouts be lifted on home games sold out 72 hours before kickoff. Rogers, a Democrat, is a member of the full House Commerce Committee that would handle the legislation passed by the subcommittee.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., ranking GOP member of the Senate communications subcommittee, has introduced a bill that would ban TV blackouts forever if the game is sold out 48 hours in advance.

Our need is as immediate as your desire to join a rapidly expanding organization with above average growth potential. If you qualify, this could be your last move! Your opportunity to MOVE UP with Northwest Pipeline Corporation. In order to develop our energy transmission to its fullest potential, we have immediate need to expand our engineering force.

MIDLAND INTERVIEWS
Saturday & Sunday, April 1 & 2
PHONE (915) 683-6131 FOR INTERVIEW APPOINTMENT

WE HAVE IMMEDIATE OPENINGS FOR THE FOLLOWING:

Gathering Systems Engineers
We need Engineers with a BS in Petroleum, Mechanical, Chemical or Civil Engineering with experience in the natural gas industry. Strong background in design, construction and operation of field gathering systems is essential. Knowledge of DOT, ASME, & ANSI codes a must. Additional experience in the following areas is desirable; sour gas, well connections and dehydration equipment. The successful candidates will manage projects that will connect new gas systems to the Northwest Pipeline system.

Process Engineer
BS in Chemical Engineering with a minimum of eight years experience required. LPG plant process experience is essential. Experience with acid gas extraction and turbo expanding plants desirable. Position will involve process studies, consultant interface and ultimate preparation of documents to implement projects to completion.

Electrical Engineer
BSEE and a minimum of two years experience required, preferably in the gas, oil or petrochemical industry. Compressor station experience desirable. Successful candidate will prepare supporting documents to implement various projects to constrtuction status in the electrical/instrumentation field.

Pipeline Design Engineer
Appropriate Engineering degree and two to five years experience required. Will be responsible for the design and cost estimating of gas transmissions and related facilities. Knowledge of DOT, ASME, & ANSI codes a must. Measurement and cathodic protection experience desirable. Successful candidate will execute construction contracts to implement projects to completion.

Planning & Scheduling Engineer
Engineering degree or equivalent experience in construction scheduling, project coordination and project management required. Will be responsible for scheduling all projects from inception to completion and assist in the development of project management programs and procedures that will aid in the implementation and execution of capital projects.

Reservoir Engineers
Immediate need for entry and senior level Engineers. A petroleum or Geological degree preferred with heavy reservoir engineering experience an added plus. Responsibilities to include estimating reserves for potential gas supplies, economic evaluations of drilling and property ventures, monitoring drilling activities and discoveries, and negotiating reserves for new well connections. Experience in reservoir and economic evaluations, gas reserves, and log analysis desirable.

All positions will be based in Salt Lake City, Utah, with project responsibility throughout the Pacific Northwest, including Northern New Mexico, Western Colorado, Southern Wyoming, Washington and Oregon. Northwest Pipeline offers a comprehensive benefit package and relocation assistance.

Please call Juanita Reid at the Midland Hilton, Suite 203. PHONE (915) 683-6131, Friday afternoon or anytime Saturday or Sunday for interview appointment and/or additional information. If you are unable to arrange a personal interview, please send your resume including salary history to: Employment Office, NORTHWEST PIPELINE CORPORATION, P.O. Box 1526, Salt Lake City, Utah 84110.
