STUDENTS MUST HAVE GRADE TO ENTER ATHLETICS

High School Athletes Not Permitted to Engage in Organized Athletics Unless His School Work Is Satisfactory

There are many who do not know that our public high school has a standard school work requirement which the high school student must meet before he is eligible as a participant in any of the organized competitive athletics.

The Crowell High School is a member of the Interscholastic League of Texas, as are also practically all the high schools of this state. This League requires that all participants in high school games and meets must carry four full units of work in the school in which they are enrolled, and that they must make satisfactory grades in these subjects. Should he fail in more than one of these subjects, or should he fall below the required average in deportment, the student becomes automatically suspended from the activities of his team.

This fact leaves small room for the outgrown criticism that athletics detract from the regular school work. It is obvious that organized athletics not only does not detract from the general literary work, but that it actually becomes a stimulation and a whip to that work.

It will stand the test of reason that a boy or girl whose blood is coursing vigorously through his or her veins from wholesome exercise, and whose lungs are filled to overflowing with good clean, life-giving oxygen, will think more clearly, rapidly and powerfully than that boy or girl whose blood is slow from inactivity of body, and whose mind must first grope its way out from beneath a mass of dull, decaying tissue, dead muscle, and benumbed nerves before it can possibly take its look at the facts, figures and inspirations of school work.

Methodists Get New Pastor

The change of pastor for the Crowell Methodist church is that part of the work of the conference in which the people of Crowell are especially interested at this time. Rev. J. H. Hamblen, who has held the pastorate here for four years, goes to Stamford to take charge of the St. John's Methodist church of that city, while his place at Crowell will be filled by Rev. W. M. Murrell, who comes from Merced. The change will be made this week so that each pastor will occupy his new pulpit next Sunday. Bro. Hamblen left yesterday for his new field, moving his household goods by truck, while the new pastor came in yesterday also.

Bro. Hamblen goes to a field in which there are fine opportunities. He is young and full of energy, is a good preacher and a good man every way and an excellent mixer, so that it may be expected that he will be successful in his new field. Aside from his work as a pastor Bro. Hamblen is worth much to a town and community by reason of his public spirited nature. In his going not only does the church lose a strong man but the town loses one of its best citizens. He is loved by all our people, regardless of denominational affiliations.

The new pastor who comes to the church here is recommended to be a strong preacher. His work in other fields is reported to have been a success and the same will be expected here.

Moved Grocery Store

The stock of the Matthews-Woodard grocery store on the north side of the square was moved Monday to their stand on the west side, known as the John Ellis building. So all their business is put into one building, instead of two, as it has been since they bought the Ellis stock some months ago.

QUANAH IS CHOSEN FOR NEXT MEETING

Amarillo, Oct. 9.—Quanah was unanimously chosen as the place of the next annual meeting of the North-west Texas Methodist conference Saturday night, no other town made a bid. Rev. O. P. Clark addressed a few words reinforced by the Quanah Chamber of Commerce and the conference voted that place the next honor.

Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, prominent in the Methodist centenary and educational movement, spoke to a packed house on mission extension work of the church in Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Russia, relating many incidents showing the growth of Methodism in those countries.

The various Protestant pulpits of Amarillo were supplied Sunday forenoon, evening and night by visiting Methodist preachers. Sunday afternoon a memorial service was conducted at the Polk Street Methodist church for the lamented Bishop Walter Lambuth.

Memberships Increases

Reports on the condition of the church in the conference read and adopted Saturday night shows that there are 45,790 members, an increase during the year of over 4,000. Over $700,000 was raised for all purposes in the conference during that period.

The general conference meeting at Hot Springs, Ark., in May of 1922, was memorialized in a number of resolutions, one of which petitions that body for a $100,000 sanitarium in Colorado to take care of white plague victims among the clergy and their families in the various Southern Methodist conferences. Another memorial to the general conference asks for a $10,000,000 endowment fund for the support of superannuated Methodist ministers.

A resolution on Sabbath observance decried the prevalent trend toward wholesale desecration of the holy day. Comer M. Woodward, professor of sociology in Southern Methodist university, read and had adopted a resolution of law enforcement as it pertains to upholding the federal and state prohibitory laws, declaring that if the Christian people did not give aid to officers the law was likely to become a dead statute.

HELP IS ASKED FOR STARVING CHILDREN OF NEAR EAST

Extracts from a letter sent by Mr. John Mace, a member of the party of investigators for The Near East Relief, who has just returned to this country from the famine stricken land of Armenia:

"Children, some barely old enough to stand alone; so shriveled by starvation that they have lost all semblance to anything human; covered from head to foot with sores, from which they have not the strength to brush flies; moaning and whining like little animals for food, for which hunger has robbed them of the power of speech to ask; beating at the gates of the American orphanage in the city of Erivan and appealing in vain to be taken in because there is not enough room and barely enough food for those inside.

"Armenia is the land of the living nightmare. We thought we had become pretty well hardened to suffering after seeing the refugee camps in Constantinople and Batoum. But Armenia brought nothing but an uninterupted series of sights at the memory of which one sickens.

"We hastened into the orphanage at Erivan to escape the horror at the gates. But once inside the contrast only made it seem more awful. Well fed, well cared for, sturdy youngsters plainly dressed, were romping on the play ground or were busy in the class room and shops. They looked as if they wanted for nothing. It was only when we inspected the crowded living quarters, four in each single bed, that we knew that every cent was being made to do its utmost for those on the inside.

"We passed out again, almost falling over the tiny wretches that tried to drag themselves through as the gate was opened to let us out. Never have I seen such expressions of despair and hopeless agony.

"Not far from the station we saw a wagon draw along side a big hole that had just been dug, the driver jumped off and with a big hook began pulling out bundles of old rags and push them into the hole. When we came closer we saw what appeared to be rags were little human bodies, that tattered garments caused the illusion. The presence of a dozen or more of these mounds showed how many trips the dead wagon had made.

"It was not long before the dead wagon became a familiar sight to us each day it went along the streets and the roadside gathering up the corpses of children that had starved to death.

There are 60,000 children in need of immediate attention. We are unable to do much for them unless we get help from the American farmers.

This letter was sent to Dr. Dixie B. Tucker, who is organizing the State for grain for these starving children. If the farmers of Foard County, after reading the above letter, want to give a few bushels of corn, maize or wheat, to the Near East Relief for those little children you can drop me a card stating how much, and if we get up as much as a carload I will notify you when to load car.

T. M. HANEY.

Pres. Foard County Farm Bureau.

SAYS LOTS OF COTTON IN COTTLE COUNTY

L. G. Andrews made a trip to Paducah Sunday. He says the roads are fine to Paducah and that Cottle County has an immense crop of cotton. Pickers were in the fields Sunday gathering the fleecy staple. Mr. Andrews says the cotton crop is what has saved Cottle County, since the farmers there do not make much wheat, and cotton is the only leading crop for the market they are accustomed to growing.

Program at Thalia Tonight

A musical program will be rendered tonight at Thalia, after which will be given a box supper. The boxes will be offered for sale, as usual. The proceeds of this will go to the cause of the Athletic Club of Thalia.

The average person perhaps does not realize the value of athletics in the schools of the country. They are not of so much worth within themselves, but the stimulant they give to literary work in the schools. Consider the importance of a child having a healthful, active body, and one can get some idea of what athletics will mean to the school boys and girls.

CONTRACT CLOSED FOR CHAUTAUQUA FOR NEXT YEAR

Contract was closed between White & Myers Chautauqua Company of Kansas City and the American Legion Post of Crowell last week for a 4-days chautauqua here next summer. While the proposition will be put over under the auspices of the Legion, a number of the business men outside of the Legion are on the list as sponsors.

The chautauqua spirit in Crowell was just a little bit dampened a year ago because of disappointment in some of the programs put on by the company which had the contract for Crowell, but it will not be difficult to revive the spirit, provided this proves to be a good company. The fact that they put on their work in towns many times the size of Crowell is a fair recommendation for them.

Crowell people have always appreciated good, wholesome entertainment, and when they know that the American Legion has taken this step only after weighing the matter thoroughly and looking into the standing of this company, they will give them the support to which they are entitled in this matter.

What Would You Give?

What would you give for another look at the little red wagon, or the little new curly haired doll,—the very first one that you ever owned? Do you remember that first sensation—that overwhelming joy and childish wonder, that divine realization that "sure enough" it was there, and was yours to keep? Have life's later realities proven themselves to be more interesting or more realistic than this childish experience, or even its memory? I daresay not. Yet how prone we are to set aside, as being unworthy of our consideration, these, the true values and experiences of life. I know that we have the habit of saying that we outgrow these ideals and these memories; but, after all, may it not be that we are merely growing away from them? Way deep down in your heart, now, if you should be called upon to set a true value before good Saint Peter at the Golden Gate, would it be the big broad-tired, horse-drawn wagon, loaded with cotton or wheat or corn? Or would it be the little red wagon of other days, drawn by a happy, pink-checked, bright-eyed boy?

We stood on the street corner the other day and watched the High School football team swing down the street in their new regalia—a streak of bright purple and old gold—and we thought how much that experience, and this, their first football season, must mean to them. Then it was that we realized that their games not only, as a physical diversion, put new vigor into their blood and new light into their eyes, but that, as a point of common human interest, they furnish a lasting moral stimulus and a permanent mental inspiration. We could not help thinking that around these activities cluster many of the true values of life.

READY TO START BRIDGE ACROSS PEASE RIVER

H. E. Rutherford, foreman of the force which will soon commence work on the Pease River bridge, was in town Monday and stated to a News representative that everything is now ready for the work to commence on the bridge across the river except that all the material has not yet arrived. He says the bridge could be completed within three weeks if all the material was now on the ground. The bridge across Pease River will be 1900 feet long.

Considering the trouble that has been encountered with the gyp water in the engine at the Wichita River bridge force has made fairly good progress since they started a couple of weeks ago. Agreement was reached between Mr. Rutherford, foreman of the Pease River work, and Engineer Noland to move the engine at Pease River to the Wichita and finish the bridge with that engine while material is in transit for the Pease River bridge. With that engine it is stated that the Wichita bridge can be finished within a week.

It looks reasonably certain at this time that the two bridges will be ready for use within one month from this date.

Closing for Football

We, the undersigned business men and firms of Crowell, desire to avail ourselves of this opportunity to express definitely and materially our interest in our high school and high school athletics. Believing that organized school athletics is a source of valuable advertisement to the town and county, a stimulation and inspiration to the students, and one of the greatest factors in the development of a healthy, intelligent spirit of co-operation in our school, our town, and our county, we are closing our places of business today, Friday, Oct. 14, from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. during the football game at the park between Paducah high school team and the Crowell high eleven.

RAISED BILL IS PASSED IN CITY BY STRANGE MAN

One of the smoothest pieces of raising bills was discovered last week by the Waggoner National Bank. A $1 bill had been changed to a $10 and so clever was the man who did it that the work could be discovered only upon close examination.

A local rooming house proprietor went to the Texas Public Service Company's office and paid the month's light bill giving the $10 bill. The money was sent to the Waggoner National Bank for deposit and it was discovered by them while sorting the bills. The paper was returned to the Texas Public Service Company and the lady who gave the money was called in. She stated that an old man of rather ragged appearance came to the rooming house and paid for a room giving her the bill and she gave him some change. No trace has been found of the man who did the work.—Vernon Times.

CROWELL COTTON YARD INSURANCE REDUCED

The Insurance Commission has allowed a reduction of $1.50 on the hundred on the Crowell cotton yard which makes a great saving on cotton insurance. This now gives Crowell one of the cheapest rates in the county.

Car Turned Turtle

While on her way to Crowell last Sunday Mrs. J. H. Davis, Jr., car turned turtle while trying to make a short turn, upsetting the car and giving Mrs. Davis an ugly gash just above the eye and several bruised spots over the body.

As it happened she was near a farm house and received aid. A physician was called from Crowell and Mrs. Davis was able to come home the next day.—Paducah Post.

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE FOR FOOTBALL THIS P. M.

Town Will Be a Closed Shop from 4 to 5 p. m., Today in Interest of High School Athletics

The manner in which the entire community has thrown its shoulders to the wheel in giving the high school football team its first boost is extremely gratifying.

Interest and enthusiasm have grown from the very day of the team's organization until now, and we feel that we have accomplished through the help of that outside co-operation and sympathy a great deal for the high school athletics and the high school spirit.

Of course, we do not expect that every individual will understand either the game itself or the many advantages that the game affords the boy, the school, and the community. That would be a miracle. But we sincerely hope that those not familiar with the game will come out today and see for themselves.

We want to make this guarantee to those who have not witnessed a game of football: If you buy a ticket to the three games that we are to have, and do not say that today's game is worth the entire price of the season ticket we will gladly refund your money and pass you to the other two games.

Practically the entire town will be closed today for the game as the list of the names of thirty-three business houses signing the closing agreement will show. This list will be found in today's News.

We especially desire to thank these unselfish, progressive, helpful co-operative firms who have so cheerfully made this sacrifice in the interest of the boys and girls of this community.

Sincerely,

DOW W. TATE,
Coach and Director.

Measurements Show Flies Travel Long Distances

That the house fly not uncommonly makes a journey of 5 to 6 miles in the space of 24 hours, is shown by experiments conducted by the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture. The ease with which flies travel many miles shows the importance of general sanitary measures to destroy breeding places.

Fly flight tests were conducted in northern Texas, where approximately 234,000 flies of many different species were trapped, then dusted with finely powdered red chalk, and liberated. Fly traps baited with food highly relished by the flies were placed at measured intervals in all directions from the points of release. By means of these secondary traps, it was possible to determine the direction and flight of different species of flies.

The tests showed that the flies, after regaining their freedom, would travel distances up to 1,000 feet in a few minutes. The screw-worm fly evidenced its power to cover a half mile in 3 hours, while the black blow-fly traveled anywhere from half a mile to 11 miles during the first two days release. The house fly covered over 6 miles in less than 24 hours. Observations at the Rebecca Light Shoal off the coast of Florida seemed to show that flies come down the wind from Cuba (95 miles distant,) and at times from the Marquesas Keys (24 miles distant), and even from Key West, Fla., 46 miles away. The maximum distance traveled by the house fly in these experiments was 13.14 miles.

The tests proved that the injurious forms of fly life were not disturbed on any large scale by artificial means, but rather that many of the far-flying species showed marked migratory habits.

Bird Migration to Siberia.

With the autumn season comes the migration of birds. From Britain they migrate to Africa; in Australia the birds fly away to eastern Siberia. During the Australian winter the snow melts in Siberia and it becomes an elysium for birds from every country of the East. A few days after the snow has gone pansies, anemones, and dwarf roses appear in flower and the birds find a rich store of cranberries, crowsberries, and Arctic strawberries for food. The influx of birds into eastern Siberia at migration times is one of the most marvelous sights in the world; every pool left by the melting snow is black with them. The Australian birds have the longest journey to make of all, coming from 8,000 miles away.

Inconsistency

Wherever you find a Catholic official, you find a lambasting of the K. K. K. activities. Mob law is always bad, but mobs frequently do the right thing.—Hall County Herald.

How do you get that, Mr. Jonsing? What is a mob but the mob spirit put into concrete form? How can you have a mob without mob law and how can you have mob law practiced without a mob? If one is good, both are good. If one is bad both are bad. But according to your way of thinking one can be bad and the other good.

We do not believe a mob ever does the right thing except when it disbands. The only difference between a mob taking the law into its hands and a single individual taking the law into his hands is the fact that one is made up of one individual and the other of several. Each assumes authority that is not possessed.

We are in accord with the argument that sometimes punishment is not inflicted that ought to be, but the only proper avenue through which to extend such punishment is through that of the law of the land. That law rests upon the will of the people, and if they want the law enforced it is up to them to see that it's done.

Unappreciative

The editor of this paper, like the editor of every small town newspaper, gives largely of his time for public enterprises. Then he comes back into his office and donates column after column of space for the public good. Then sometimes in the few hours he has left to look after his personal business he finds out about Smith, Jones & Co., sending out of town for a piece of job printing because they could save fifty cents on the order. The next day along comes young Jones, the junior partner of Smith, Jones & Co., with a subscription list for the widow who lost her home by fire, or the cemetery association, or some other equally worthy cause, and the country editor puts down about the same amount as the banker or any other of the town's leading business firms. Who ever heard of the Near-City Printing Company making donation on local distress calls, or sending a representative to do committee work on public enterprises? Stay with your home printer—he is the man to tie to and never fails to do his part on community enterprise. Reciprocity is a great doctrine and this old world needs more men who will practice it.—Clarendon News.

Team Work

Where does a boy get his first notions of co-operation? Where does he get his first and strongest impressions of the necessity of working in harmony with his kind? Where does he get those first inklings of that true citizenship which when matured is, after all, but the grown-up, unselfish spirit of community team work? Where does he first learn to consider the other fellow, to lay aside the purely selfish aims, and to plunge pleasantly and sympathetically into the bigger games of life in which all strive to accomplish some common good, to reach some common goal? Where else but in the organized team-work games of his school?

That is the secret and the benediction—the crowning glory—of modern school athletics. Isolate a boy in his early training, and he becomes a narrow, selfish man; let him touch elbows with his kind in the recreative school games that require team work, and he develops into the progressive, intelligent, co-operative citizen, who knows how to work in harmony with his fellowman in business, education and religion for the good and glory of human society and human advancement.

Let's encourage the boys in their school athletics.

Let's get with the boys, for they'll soon be with us.

They report having a wonderful time, and seeing several old-time friends, former residents of Crowell. They visited Mrs. C. B. Williams and Mrs. J. A. Shawver in Clarendon on their way to Amarillo.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The Bayern, first German liner to enter New York harbor in seven years, docked within 100 yards of the office of the American Legion's national commander there, but the Legion took no part in the official welcome which New York's mayor extended. It is reported that Herr Captain Oscar Schwamberger of the Bayern commanded a German U-boat during the war of 1914-18, but a Legion representative's effort to board the ship to confirm the report met with no success.

Marshal Foch will not come to America to be officially heard at the international disarmament conference in Washington, Paris dispatches are pointing out, although he will let his views on armament be known. The marshal's visit is a private one, it is being carefully explained, in response to the invitation of the American Legion to attend its convention. Premier Briand will head the French delegation to the conference, sailing Oct. 29, a week after Marshal Foch.

In the Missouri state convention of the American Legion, it was announced that a resolution concerning Grover C. Bergdoll, draft deserter, was about to be introduced. As a member rose to read it, another shouted: "I move its adoption." A roar of approval came from the assembled delegates and it was unanimously adopted without having been read.

The only ex-service men who can vote in the coming city election in Birmingham, Ala., are those who became disabled from wounds or sickness during the world war, provided they do not own $500 worth of taxable property. The state legislature recently passed a law exempting ex-service men from payment of polltax. The court held the measure unconstitutional, automatically disenfranchising the former soldiers and sailors. The American Legion found a law however, which enabled permanently disabled citizens to vote without payment of polltax, and obtained a ruling that minor physical defects will constitute the required disabilities. A man who lost his finger can vote, it is held, whereas a soldier who came through with all ten of his digits cannot.

Several thousand longshoremen who struck and tied up shipping on the Hoboken, N. J., waterfront, returned to work long enough to unload the army transport Wheaton with 2,624 soldier dead on board, allowing American Legion posts to hold funeral services. The strikers, many of whom were ex-service men, declared they would take care of the bodies of their dead comrades despite the wage controversy and added: "we'd do it free if necessary."

With the entire nation paused at noon in two minutes of silent prayer, American Legion service men of the world war from each State and territory will do homage to the unknown American soldier at Arlington national cemetery on Armistice Day. Medal of Honor men also have been designated by the government as official mourners. Honorary pallbearers will be eight generals of the army and four admirals of the navy, with

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. . . I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85 non-commissioned and petty officers as body bearers. President Harding will deliver the funeral oration.

"The teacher will be hanged, the books be burned. Hurrah for vacation." Wherein the sentiments of school kids the world over are spoken by a French urchin, Marcel Sevel, who writes to his several hundred foster fathers, members of the Evanston Ill., post of the American Legion. The boy, constant friend of the doughboys during their stay in France, was adopted by them and now is supported by the Legion post.

Oscar E. Carlstrom, Aledo, Ill., newly elected commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, was one of the original committee of fifty members of the A. E. F. which organized the American Legion in Paris in 1919. He also is a member of the G. A. R. of Illinois by adoption.

Leo Hartley, Santanta, Kas., the tallest American in service during the world war, will carry the colors of his post at the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City this month. He stands seven feet, two inches in his socks. He was in the air service.

Barns Are Dollar Savers

Storm proof barns for your live stock make big savings in your feed bills. You can't afford to shovel corn against the blasts of winter, yet that is what you are doing if you do not have your stock housed properly.

The barn shown in this cut is well adapted for general purposes. Four roomy stalls are provided and ample room is allowed for granaries and feed bins. The hip roof gives added hay storage room.

Adequate farming facilities depend largely on ample shelter for stock and grain.

Free Building Helps

We have blue prints and working plans for this and other barns that may be suited to your needs. They are available for use FREE. We also will be glad to furnish you with complete and accurate cost estimates.

Come in and talk over with us your building plans and you will be surprised how much we can save you.

850 DISASTER DEATH TOLL FOR ONE YEAR

Red Cross Gives $1,871,000 Relief When 65,000 Families Are Made Homeless.

Forty-three disasters, resulting in the death in the United States of 850 persons and the injury of 2,500 called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,871,000 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, says an announcement based upon the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross. These disasters caused property damage estimated at $30,000,000, affected sixty-seven communities and rendered 65,000 families homeless.

The year's disasters were of varying types, including several which previously had never been thought of as falling within that classification. The Red Cross furnished relief in seventeen fires of magnitude, five floods, seven tornadoes or cyclones, one devastating storm, three explosions, including the one in Wall street; one building accident, two typhoid epidemics, the most serious being that at Salem, Ohio, which affected 9 per cent of the population; one smallpox epidemic, in the republic of Haiti; one train wreck, the race riot at Tulsa, Okla.; the famine in China, emergency relief in famine among the Indians of Alaska, the grasshopper plague in North Dakota and an earthquake in Italy.

Pueblo Most Serious

By far the most severe of the disasters in the United States during the period covered by the Red Cross report was the Pueblo flood early in June, 1921. The rehabilitation problem confronting the Red Cross in Pueblo was one of the most difficult in recent years. When the first news of the horror was flashed throughout the country, the American Red Cross National Headquarters responded with a grant of $105,000 for relief work. Governor Shoup of Colorado, appreciating the long and successful experience of the Red Cross in organizing disaster relief work, placed the entire responsibility for the administration of relief in its hands.

In response to appeals from President Harding, Governor Shoup and other governors of western states and through local chapters of the Red Cross and other community organizations, public-spirited citizens brought the total contributed for Pueblo's rehabilitation to more than $25,000.

The terrible havoc wrought by the flood waters is a matter of record. More than 2,300 homes were affected and 7,351 persons were left homeless. Estimates of $500,000 as an absolute minimum for rehabilitation were made by Red Cross officials in charge of the relief work.

Fast Work in Wall Street

The Wall street explosion was notable in that relief workers of the Red Cross were on the scene twenty minutes after the disaster occurred. The race riot at Tulsa also was unique in disaster relief annals in that outside of a small emergency relief fund contributed by the Red Cross, the only relief measures outside the city consisted of the service of social workers, nurses and a trained executive whose object was to assist local forces in directing their own efforts.

In decided contrast with the previous year, only one tornado assumed the proportions of a major disaster. This occurred on April 15, in the border sections of Texas and Arkansas with the city of Texarkana as the center. The significant feature of this disaster relief work was the fact that it covered so much rural territory as to make necessary a large number of relief workers.

The famine in China, necessitating relief expenditures totalling more than $1,000,000 by the American Red Cross was by far the most serious of the foreign disasters in which the Red Cross gave aid.

Builds Up Its Machinery

In connection with the administration of disaster relief measures, an increasing effectiveness on the part of the Red Cross to deal with emergencies was manifested during the past year. In 328 chapters of the American Red Cross there have been formed special committees to survey the resources of their respective communities and to be prepared in case of disaster. In others of the 3,402 active chapters, a network of communication has been formed through which instantaneous relief may be dispatched to any part of the United States.

That its work in this field may be continued with ever greater effectiveness, the American Red Cross is appealing for widespread renewal of membership during its Annual Roll Call, to be conducted this year from November 11 to 24.

LIFE SAVING CORPS ENROLLMENT 10,000

Growth of Red Cross Life Saving Corps throughout the country continued unabated during the last fiscal year, a summary of the year's achievements by that Red Cross Service shows. There are now 100 Corps with a total membership of more than 10,000 members, of which 1,275 are sufficiently skilled in the work to act as examiners. Among the outstanding achievements of the Red Cross in this field during the last year was the organization at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, of what is perhaps the largest life saving corps in the world.

Dollar With Two Heads

The only genuine silver dollar with two heads, i. e., a head on each side, is owned by a southern man, who obtained the curio in New Orleans some time ago.

The southerner got this dollar in change, and for some time was unaware that he possessed anything unusual in the coin line. Under one head are the figures "1900," the date of the initial stamping, and under the other head "1909."

After investigation it was found an employee in the New Orleans mint, whose duty it was to run the silver coins through the dies in order that the head might be stamped on it, substituted a current silver dollar for the coin immediately after the head had been stamped, leaving the other side unstamped. This was in 1900. Three years later, he ran the coin through the stamping machine for the reverse side. The fact that a coin had been put in, in the first instance, to replace the halfcent dollar, prevented detection.

CALOMEL MAY TURN ON YOU NEXT TIME

Next Dose You Take May Salivate and Start World of Trouble

Calomel is mercury; quicksilver. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. 64

SAVE THE RACE FROM POISON

Work That Nature Has Ordained for the Leaves is Indispensable to Humanity.

That we owe a big debt of gratitude to the old elm tree, and to the cinnamon rosebush, and even to the big pigweed that jeers at us from the corn rows, is driven home to us by Solita Solano in an article on the microscope in the American boy.

Every one learns, says the writer, that animals live through breathing in from the air pure oxygen and breathing out poisonous carbon dioxide. But how many ever stop to think where the poison goes after it is breathed out and where our fresh supply of oxygen comes from?

Leaves are four-fifths water and almost all the rest carbon. They get the carbon from the air, breathing it in through multitudes of tiny mouths. In one square inch of a lilac leaf there are 100,000 mouths. These orifices take into the leaves of the world the 1,000,000 carloads of carbon dioxide that are passed daily into the atmosphere. The leaves break up the carbon dioxide into its original elements, carbon and oxygen. They retain the carbon and give us back pure oxygen in return. Thus they maintain a natural equilibrium; we owe our very existence to the trees and plants.

Without the microscope we should never have known about the mouths of the leaves and what an all-important part they play in our lives.

Mexicans Dry Many Foods.

Although experts of the United States Department of Agriculture have been endeavoring to teach Americans dehydration of foods as a novel process, it is an old trick with the Mexicans.

In Juarez, Mexico, and in Mexican quarters at El Paso, Texas, Mexicans are dehydrating all sorts of fruits and vegetables. They take advantage of the climate's hot sun and dry atmosphere to dry their food on the sides of their houses, on the roof and in the yard.

On one street in El Paso there is a stretch of Mexican vegetable and fruit stores. The dealers have converted the edge of the sidewalk into a dehydration plant. Rows of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers are spread on boards to dry.

On being told that dried cucumber slices are not known to the average American, one of the storekeepers declared they were "fine fried with eggs." He said he preferred dried vegetables to those in cans and that most Mexicans did.

FOOTBALL ANNOUNCEMENT

(By Senior Reporter)
The entire school spent a profitable period in chapel Wed morning, receiving their first knowledge of the rules and regulations of football. The team, dressed in their suits of purple and gold, gave a good demonstration of their yells, songs, and different line formations. It was very interesting, but Mr. Tate made it more so by his talk on the game, itself.

We all became football enthusiasts; and we are very anxious for the first game to be played. It is scheduled for Friday, 14th, with Paducah. Ticket-school would be glad if the whole town would turn out for the first football game ever to be played here. Cheer for our boys and let them know you are backing them up. The best playing is not always done on the field, but sometimes on the sidelines. The boys are going to do their best, and if we do ours, they are bound to win. Let's show Paducah we have a real football team!

QUANAH CHILD IS INJURED BY AUTO

This afternoon at 12:30 o'clock when the parade of the Gentry circus started up Main street, a Ford car, belonging to Pres Watson of the Q. A. & P., ran against John Aiguier's little boy, the car knocking him down with considerable force.

He was picked up and carried to Dr. Frizzell's office, across the street. The child was bleeding profusely from the nose and ears, but showed no marks of the collision save a small abrasion on the right ear, which might have been caused by it.

The boy was unconscious, and after receiving first aid from the physician, was carried to the sanitarium for further investigation.

At present it is hard to determine how serious his injuries may be. No bones seem to be broken, but it is too early to find out for certain about possible internal injuries. It is to be hoped that the injuries will prove to be light as the alternative would be terrible to the child's parents who lost a little girl a few months ago by having choked to death in a post hole.

A bystander tells us that he saw the child run in front of the roadster as it was going north at a speed of about ten miles an hour. That Mr. Watson put on the brakes when six feet from the little fellow, and that one of the wheels knocked him out of the way.

The accident happened at the street crossing in front of the J. R. Wilson Grocery store, while the street was crowded with people.—Tribune-Chief.

The Adelphian Club

On the afternoon of October 5th, promptly at 3:00 p. m. our president, Mrs. Carter, called the club to order. Twenty four members answered to roll call.

After the business session, Mrs. Carter brought to us a message from the "Near East Relief." In her message was much food for thought, as she graphically told us of the starving, suffering little ones of harassed Armenia. A free-will offering was taken among the members, amounting the sum of eleven dollars, which will be turned over to the proper authority and sent to these people.

Our program on "Civil Service" was well rendered under the leadership of Mrs. Henry. Many of us were rather ignorant of this subject at the beginning of the lesson, and felt the afternoon most profitably spent in being enlightened.

The date for our annual Christmas Bazaar was announced as December 10th.

Mrs. McGonagle, our hostess for the afternoon, passed a most tempting plate at the close of the lesson. Not even those of our members "on diet" could refuse, but all did justice to the occasion.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Cole.—Press Reporter.

Football is faster than basket ball; it is more scientific than baseball; it is more fascinating than a West Texas rodeo. Don't fail to see the high school squad face that Paducah eleven at the park at 4:15 p. m., today.

Miss Jessie Haney was here from Harrold and spent last week-end with friends. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Haney who left Crowell about seven years ago and now reside in Waco.

Seymour has paved several blocks in the business section of the city and is considering the proposition of paving more. The residence streets of the town are being graveled.

J. L. Showers of Vernon, general manager of the Herring-Showers Lumber Co., W. H. Holt, manager of the yard at Harrold, and J. G. McCarrroll, bookkeeper, were in Crowell Sunday.

Outings, the heavy kind.—Self's.
