Here with him were Miss Louise Evans, immediate past co-ordinator of the Amarillo MHMR Regional board and current consultant to the board, and Harry Heyman, director of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development.

Mrs. B.M. Sims, District 6 chairman, presided at the meeting and introduced the new board member, Mrs. A.B. Dean.

The group met with the Commissioners Court for informal discussion before the afternoon session.

Mr. Bledsoe bought the horse from Clyde Henry of Lefors. He and the Wilsons hope to show him more this summer, although they point out that there are not many Paint shows in comparison to others. Skipper is registered with the Paint Horse Association, and is the first Paint from Collingsworth to win a show in many years.

Emergency Medical Course Begins Soon

An emergency medical technician course will be offered to residents of Wellington and the surrounding community, beginning this month, by Amarillo College.

This state-approved, 12-week course for emergency service personnel will be held at the Heritage Room beginning June 25, meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Teaching the tuition-free course are David Farmer and George Nussbaum of Amarillo.

"When students complete this course, pass necessary exams, document ambulance calls and hospital observation hours, they can become certified," Mrs. A.L. Crawford, supervisor of short-term health courses at AC, said.

"This course is designed to meet the community and surrounding area need for qualified ambulance and emergency service personnel," she continued.

Students will develop in-depth skill in diagnosing and treating emergencies as well as learning the use and care of all emergency equipment. "This is a good continuing education course for those who have had the emergency care attendant course," said Mrs. Crawford.

Twins Come Often In Langley Family

Charity and Chasity Gray, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gray, are the fifth set of twins in the past four generations of the Langley family.

Mrs. Ida Stuckey of Wellington and Mrs. Iva Nixon of Floydada were the first set of twins in the family. They are the daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. James E. Langley.

Betty Jo Anderson of Rollins, Wyoming and Billie Jean Williams, who now lives in Mississippi, were the second set. They are daughters of Mrs. Dan Langley and the late Mr. Langley.

Two sets of twins were born in the third generation. Mrs. Pam Neeley of Quail and Mrs. Paula Carson of College Station are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Langley. The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lowe, Carolyn and Marilyn, are married and living in Oklahoma City.

According to Mrs. Loyd Langley, this apparently defies medical history since twins are to be dominant from the female rather than from the male. The latter seems to have been the case in the Langley family.

City Council Looks at Runoff Water Problem, Ponders Taxes

Bob Goforth, newly elected city council member, was sworn into office Monday, June 10, at the beginning of a session that lasted until 11:30 p.m.

Members took another look at the runoff water problem in the 1800 block of East Avenue that threatens to run in several homes during heavy rains.

More time, however was spent in discussion of lowering the tax rate from $1.30 to $1.05 per $100 valuation, as the city committed itself to do in conjunction with voting the 1% sales tax last year.

Council members heard from Mayor Billy Hatch that preliminary work on an application for a grant to combine city and county law enforcement has been started by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission. They attended to a variety of other business, then in their final action, the councilmen divested themselves of one of their fringe benefits, the right to swim free in Marian Airpark Pool.

More ways of ridding East Avenue of its surplus runoff water will be sought before the next council meeting, which will be Monday night, June 17.

In the tax rate discussion, Councilman Tom Wilkins was firm in his stand for lowering the tax rate since it was promised to the property taxpayers. Other members, Wayne Cudd, Earl L. Bartlett and Mr. Goforth took the position that the inflation squeeze, higher minimum wages which could not be foreseen when the tax election was held, and continued rising prices may make the cut unfeasible. The homestead exemption for persons over 65 years, and the same exemption for disabled veterans which Texas voters approved in November bite further into city tax revenues.

Paul Spillman, city legal adviser, upon being asked what the law is in a case such as this, said a city council cannot bind the actions of a future council.

The first sales tax monies, covering the first quarter of 1974, are due within a few weeks.

After lengthy discussion, a motion was presented by Mr. Bartlett and seconded by Mr. Goforth that the council get more exact figures on what the city's financial needs will be next year and take it up again at the June 17 council meeting.

Mayor Hatch said that He, Mr. Spillman, Mr. Daniel, County Judge Zook Thomas, Sheriff Rainey Deputy Henry Hobbs, Policeman Mike Gilmore, and probation officer Bob Watson met with John Scott of PRPC to discuss the combined law enforcement plan.

Mr. Scott recommended an application for $40,000 from the Criminal Justice Council for a two year period and said he will begin processing the application. In the meantime, the city and county can work out details of the unification.

The new combined law enforcement agency would be headed by Sheriff Rainey. It would provide for four dispatchers (there is one now); four deputies; a new car and equipment.

The sheriff would receive an increase in salary. As an elected official, he does not come under the minimum wage law and receives $550 per month from the county, it was brought out. Deputy Hobbs gets $540 and Police-

Amonett Resigns As School Head

Thayne Amonett, superintendent of Wellington Schools, submitted his resignation to the board of trustees Monday night, June 10. It will be effective August 1.

Mr. Amonett is moving into the Lubbock School System in an administrative position.

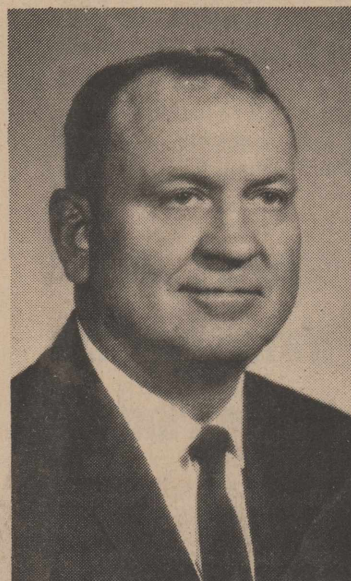

No action has been taken by the board to fill Mr. Amonett's place.

Speaking of his regret at leaving Wellington, and of the difficulty in making his decision, the superintendent added:

"I appreciate the co-operation while I have been in the Wellington Schools, and of the school board, which has been very good to me."

"Lubbock is kind of like home to me," said the Texas Tech graduate. Other factors in his decision is the university, where his son, Randy, will be a third year pre-medical student, and where his daughter, Robin, can attend upon graduation from high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Amonett and their children came here 7 years ago from Crowell, where he was elected head coach and athletic director. A year later he was given the added duties of elementary school principal.

SUPT. THAYNE AMONETT

He was assistant superintendent one-half year before becoming superintendent three and one-half years ago.

In this period, three major objectives have been achieved, consolidation of the Dodson and Wellington school districts, introduction of Plan A Special Education, and the addition of Kindergarten.

"I feel the school has progressed, especially in view of the declining scholastic population."

Boaters Should Watch for Skin Diving Flag

AUSTIN -- Skin divers become understandably upset when they are underwater and they hear a high-revving motorboat coming their way.

For this reason, they usually float a flag on a small buoy to warn boaters of their presence.

The generally accepted skin diver's warning flag is easily recognizable as a white, diagonal bar on a red field.

It is important that boaters not approach this flag under any circumstances since skin divers could be at any level, from the bottom of the lake to just under the surface of the water where they are especially vulnerable to a propeller blade.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department water safety officials urge boaters to learn the meaning of all the flags and buoys they may encounter while enjoying their sport.

This information is available from Water Safety, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

man Gilmore, who now comes under the minimum wage law draws a salary depending on the number of hours he works, and figures up to $700 were mentioned in the meeting.

There was agreement among the council members on the need for combining law enforcement work and Mr. Bartlett suggested that they look for alternate means of financing the plan should CJC funds not materialize.

In other business, the council - Reappointed Dr. Chas. B. Jones city health officer. - Canvassed the city election.

- Reviewed the list of city employees and were told of two resignations.

- Approved a $50 per month increase in salary for Walter

Castor, street superintendent. - Were briefed on the city's running out of water one evening recently, and the condition of pumps.

- Heard a report that the swimming pool is bringing in about $180 every two days.

- Clarified the position of the city in clearing titles to property against which paving liens were once assessed. It was brought out that in the mid 1920s paving liens were taken by the city against certain properties and later assigned to Panhandle Construction Company. Still later, they were reassigned to Fain-Townsend. No records have found as to which were paid. The last lienholder has been out of business many years, and the statute of limitations ran out four years after completion of the paving. The statute of limitations, however, does not run out for the city. The action the city will take on requests to clear title is that it will tell property owners that no lien exists with the city.

This has no bearing on those paving liens taken by the city in recent years.

- Passed a motion requesting that the city secretary be present at council meetings to take minutes.

- Voted away their right to free swimming, saying that in this matter, they were no different from any other citizen.

The Amarillo group praised the work of the Wellington Satellite Training and Work Center, which is unique in that it includes persons of all ages in its training program.

Mr. Heyman said plans are being made for psychological reevaluation of the 12 satellite centers in the Panhandle by September 1. This will be done by Harold Orr, psychologist with the Amarillo Center, and Allen Walker, outreach co-ordinator.

A similar center in Memphis was discussed in the meeting.

Most pressing needs in the field of mental health and mental retardation for the area were pinpointed as those relating to drug abuse among teen agers, alcohol related problems, the battered and abused child, returning institutional patients and the problems of the aged.

Mrs. John Beauchamp and sons, Drake and John Stuart, of San Antonio are visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Drake. The family went first to Dallas, where Dr. Beauchamp attended a medical meeting.

Mr., Mrs. Temple Slay to Observe Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Temple Slay will be honored Sunday, June 16, on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary, with an open house and reception at their home, 6404 Dreyfuss, Amarillo.

The reception will be hosted by the couple's children, Mrs. Nell Knox of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. James Slay of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Slay of Houston.

A number of Wellington friends are due to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Slay request that no gifts be sent.

The former Bessie Fraser of Boydston, near Groom, became the bride of Temple Slay of Groom on June 17, 1924, in the parsonage of First Baptist Church, Amarillo. Dr. Virgin officiated.

They made their first home in Wellington, and this continued to be their home for 40 years. In November, 1963, they moved to Amarillo, but still maintain their farming and business interests in Wellington.

Mr. Slay's first job in Wellington was in 1922 in the grocery store belonging to his uncle, the late Charley Slay. After several years, he bought the Brantley Grocery and went into business for himself January 8, 1929.

Ko Shari Plans Summer Events

Ko Shari, Wellington's girls' social-service club, began making tentative plans for the pledge presentation, an outing at Altus Lake, a bake sale, and a slave sale at a meeting June 3 in the Heritage Room.

The outing to Altus Lake will be held June 21.

The formal pledge presentation will be held immediately prior to the beginning of the fall school term. At this time the pledges officially become members. According to Mrs. Willie Gragson, the public may attend the presentation and the dance that follows. The presentation theme was also discussed.

Dates for the bake sale and the slave sale have not been set. During the slave sale members of the club may be hired by persons in the community to raise money for the club.

The next Ko Shari meeting will be held June 17.

Club members recently helped with the animal vaccination program.

In the future, consumers may buy milk by the liter, rather than by the quart. A liter is slightly larger than a quart.

Happy Homemaking

If the binding on your blankets split before the blankets, themselves, are worn, take a piece of old soft sheet at least 12 inches wide and long enough to cover the width of the blanket. Baste it over the binding on any quilt or blanket. When it gets soiled, remove the band, wash it and stitch it back in place.

If your floor waxer cloth wears out, cut a piece of old carpet to fit the waxer and fasten it on with several rubber bands. The waxer works as well as a new one.

To keep your pie crust edges from getting too brown, take another foil pie tin, cut the inside out and put the rim over the pie edge until the crust is half baked. Then remove the rim and, when the crust is baked, the edges are a perfect brown.

Mr. Jones explained that Mr. Ashcraft indicated he would approve any reasonable proposal and felt that the phased program with funding worked out within the framework of current tax and income structure exhibited good thinking and planning on the part of the Hospital District directors.

The directors authorized Mr. Jones to proceed with drawings and specifications as soon as professionally possible.

September, 1972—Mr. Jones and Mr. Altom met with Mr. Ashcraft, TSDH, in Austin and agreed to proceed with first phases of program as soon as drawings can be submitted to bidders.

June, 1973—After much unavoidable delay, Phase I of the Building Rehabilitation Program bids had been received. Mr. Altom and Mr. Jones had gone over the bids and Mr. Jones had written each of the bidders on behalf of the hospital board that the board by common consent, because of the prohibitive high bids had rejected all bids. Architect's estimate was $10,085.70. The bids ranged from $19,478.00 to $24,000.00. Mr. Jones indicated all three were courtesy bids and unreasonably high, and he would now join with the hospital in exploring new avenues of solution to our problem. Mr. Jones said he would contact TSDH, Licensing Division, seeking alternate solutions. Mr. Jones wrote Mr. Ashcraft on June 25, 1973, reporting on the bids and requesting further information of Mr. Ashcraft.

May, 1974—Have had no further communication from Mr. Ashcraft. Mr. Jones, architect, will again negotiate with Mr. Ashcraft, TSDH, Licensing Division when necessary. In the meantime, the Hospital Board continues with the long range planning for financing the inevitable demands which will eventually come from TSDH Licensing Division, Medicare and Accreditation agencies.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

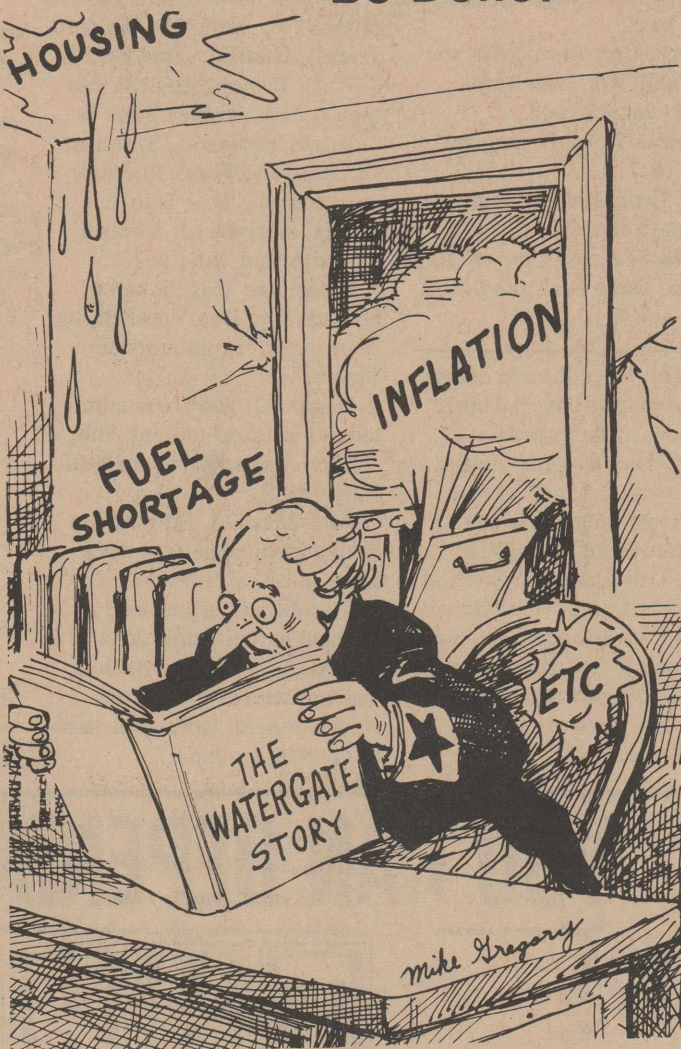

I see where it is proposed to disband our Democrat and Republican parties and choose up sides as Conservatives and Liberals.

As of now you can't tell who is what without a program, and even with that you often get fooled.

Theoretically, the new party set-up would put all who wish to be liberal with conservatives' money in the Liberal Party, and all folks whose money the Liberals want to be liberal with would be members of the Conservative Party.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fresh Salesman

Shopping for a studio couch, Myrtle followed the friendly salesman to an obscure nook at the back of the furniture store. Suddenly, while they were talking about fabrics, the salesman seized her in a violent embrace.

Myrtle was so outraged that she not only had the man fired but also sued the owner of the store for damages.

"This was a clear case of assault and battery," she charged in court. "And every employer is responsible for the acts of his employees."

But the court disagreed and rejected her claim. The judge said the owner was not responsible for an act that was so completely separate from the job of selling furniture.

This is a general rule of law, that an employer is not liable for an employee's personal misconduct outside the scope of his job. Thus, the owner of a bar was held not liable when a mischievous waiter gave a customer a painful foot.

It is a different story, however, when the employee's duties do include a certain amount of physical contact with the public. Take this case:

At a movie matinee, a noisy teen-ager was ejected from the theater by an irate usher. In doing so, the usher used considerably more roughness than was necessary.

This time, when the teen-ager sued the management for damages, the court pointed out that policing the customers was part of the job of ushering. Even though the usher overdid it, the court said that the theater, as his employer, would have to pay damages.

Furthermore, certain employers may be held liable because of an extra duty they owe the public. For example, a railroad had to pay damages after an amorous conductor forced several kisses on a reluctant woman passenger.

To be sure, kissing passengers was not within the scope of a conductor's job. But the court said that the railroad, as a public carrier, owed an extra duty to protect its passengers from harm—a duty which in this case it had clearly not performed.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Secretary of State Mark White, Jr., disturbed over low voter participation in recent elections, is planning a massive, coordinated get-out-the-vote campaign for the general election.

White indicated he will seek to harmonize efforts of business, labor organizations, educational groups, the news media and lobbying interests to improve the turnout.

As chief Texas election officer, White is studying election systems used in other states, and he has outlined preliminary plans for a bi-partisan fall drive to stir the voters to action.

He has asked State Sen. O.H. (Ike) Harris, Dallas Republican, to assist with the initial contacts with groups whose assistance will be sought.

Only 30 per cent of eligible Texans took part in the May 4 primaries, and far fewer voted in the June 1 runoff.

White hopes to get a new registration push going and to encourage businesses to devote part of their promotional budgets to "innovative" get-out-the-vote appeals. Labor, which traditionally conducts its own campaigns to get union members to the polls, will also be asked to join in the overall effort.

"People must be made aware of the danger of ignoring the political system," said White.

He said he may even recommend a system of sales or property tax credits for practicing voters.

REVISION "INSURANCE" SOUGHT — Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene wants legislative powers to amend the constitution extended — just in case the voters reject proposals of the Constitutional Convention.

Jones has offered a proposal which would give the legislature power to submit to voters constitutional revision proposals on an article-by-article basis.

The Abilene lawmaker argues the legislature has gained expert knowledge of the constitution while sitting as a revision commission.

DIVIDENDS DUE — Allstate Insurance Company will pay $4 million in dividends to auto policy holders whose policies expired between last October 3 and May 31, 1974.

The company bowed to State Insurance Board pressure in agreeing to pay the suspended dividends.

An attorney for the company said a court battle over the issue might have lasted for years. Distribution of the dividends will be made "as soon as mechanically possible."

COURTS SPEAK — Life sentence for heroin sale was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals because a paid informer who could have offered defense evidence left town and didn't testify.

In other cases, the Court:

* Ordered a new trial for a Dallas man on burglary charges.

* Ordered a new trial for a Houston man convicted of embezzling $40,000 and sentenced to life imprisonment.

* Reversed a sentence of a Houston man on charges he harassed a woman by telephone.

Austin and Lower Colorado River Authority face suit by 22 Fayette County landowners on plans for a coal-fired electric power plant near La Grange.

HEARING PUT OFF — A hearing on an industrial waste dump proposed for Limestone County near Groesbeck has been postponed until a series of Texas Water Quality Board hearings on waste disposal are completed in November.

The applicant requested the delay. Legislators said all similar applications should be postponed until TWQB concludes its hearings.

"NEW CURRENCY"

People in the town of Exeter, N.H. (population 8000 plus) recently tried an unusual experiment in the battle against inflation. For a year and a half 180 of the town's inhabitants pooled their dollars, ranging in amounts of $50 to over $15,000, in a huge joint checking account. People could make dollar deposits and withdrawals and the administrator, Arbitrage International, handled all the paperwork and bookkeeping. The dollar value of all the accounts fluctuated with the monthly changes in the Consumer Price Index. This is "Indexing." The participant could liquidate his Constants (100 Constants were issued for each $20 initially) or add to his account at the current value of the Constants. Arbitrage International stood ready to redeem the Constants at any time according to the current monthly values which were printed and widely distributed around the town.

Some holders regarded their Constants as only an investment to hold while they appreciated in value. The majority of participants used their Constants

Firemen Attend Panhandle Meet

Issues concerning fire fighting methods and equipment were discussed at the annual meeting of the Panhandle Fireman's Association. Those from Wellington attending the meeting were Jim Sikes, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Settles, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Baker and Buster Hughes. State Senator Max Sherman spoke during the meeting hosted by the Villa Inn of Amarillo.

to pay bills, buy groceries, dining out, even paying traffic fines.

Each participant who paid $20 for 100 Constants in June, 1972 received $23.30 in January, 1974 when the experiment was closed out 18 months later. If one of the experimental commodity indexes developed by Ralph Borsodi, originator of the idea, had been used, 100 Constants could have been worth over $35 as a result of the tremendous rise in commodities prices during the 18 months.

The Secret Service looked into the experiment to make sure that the Constants did not in any way resemble U.S. currency and was satisfied that they did not. The Securities & Exchange Commission got into the act over whether the Constants were technically "securities." So, the originators decided to terminate the experiment since the important point had been proved. There is a form of inflation-proof money. The governments of the world wouldn't be too happy with the idea, though, since the whole system can be run by the banks and it takes the creation of money completely out of the hands of the governments.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sikes visited Mr. and Mrs. James Branch in Amarillo last weekend.

New Breed of Cattle Comes to Panhandle

A new breed of cattle has arrived in the Panhandle. Seven Barzona bulls have been delivered to the Fain Ranch in northern Potter County by Pioneer Beef Cattle (Southwest).

The bulls are products of Pioneer's bull evaluation and sales center at McGregor, Texas.

The Barzona breed was perfected in the 1940s on the Bard Kirkland Ranch in Arizona. Barzona cattle are crossbred from four breeds, Africander, Hereford, Angus, and Santa Gertrudis.

Barzona cattle were developed to withstand the heat and cold, drought and sparse grazing of the Southwest. They inherit hardiness from the Africander breed, meatiness from the Hereford, motherability from the Santa Gertrudis and marbling from the Angus.

Bob Brandenburg of Amarillo, Pioneer representative for the Panhandle, said that, to his knowledge, the Fain Ranch bulls are the first Barzonas ever sold in this area.

Ranch manager Bob Morris said the Fain Ranch is interested in the breed because calves sired by Barzona bulls have lighter birth weights and finer bone structures than those from many other breeds.

The ranch is breeding the new bulls to first-calf Hereford heifers to reduce calving problems for the young mothers. Brandenburg said that calves from Barzona bulls will weigh 55 to 70 pounds at birth, compared to 70 to 90 pounds from calves from Hereford sires.

After birth, calves sired by Barzonas are fast growers and

Johnny Breeding A&M Graduate

In award ceremonies prior to the spring commencement exercises at Texas A&M University, John R. Breeding, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Breeding of the Dozier community was the recipient of the Ernest H. Langford Award. This award is presented by the faculty of the college of Architecture and Environmental Design to a graduating senior exhibiting, "Integrity of Character, Capacity for Leadership, Scholarly attainment and Interest in Civic Affairs."

Mr. Breeding completed his Bachelor of Science in Landscape Architecture May of this year. He and his wife the former Cecilia Sneed of Samnorwood, are presently living in Bryan, Texas where Mr. Breeding is an Associate with Robert W. Caldwell, Planning Consultants of Bryan. Mr. Breeding will begin his graduate studies at Texas A&M University in the field of Urban and Regional Planning in the fall of 1974.

were Jim Bob Nall, 1606 Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nall, and Douglas Coleman, Jr., Dozier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Coleman, who were sponsored by local American Legion Posts.

Following registration, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties - the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party, he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

Boys State helps to develop civic leadership and pride in American citizenship. This program arouses a keen interest in the detailed study of our government. These civic workshops stress the importance of maintaining our form of government and bring better understanding of our national traditions and beliefs to the more than 28,000 young men who are participating this year.

In Boys State, The American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

The program takes an added significance since the vote has been extended to 18 year olds. Most Boy Staters are in the 16 to 17 age category.

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol on Tuesday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 18,351 junior high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

NO DRUMS OR THUNDER by Irene Brown Bartel is the story of a farm family in Western Oklahoma before World War I. It could have been the story of a farm family in the Panhandle between 1900 and 1920. The simple direct style of Mrs. Bartel turns to memorable story telling as she recounts the events of her childhood.

THE CHAPTER on women work with its account of cooking for ordinary work days and cooking for holidays and special occasions will be a revelation to young housewives who sometimes buy a frozen dinner at the grocery store and get their biscuits from a can. Her description of canning fruits and vegetables, butchering hogs, caring for milk and eggs and other household tasks are vivid and factual and are recounted with an infinite amount of exact detail.

IRENE BROWN must have loved the outdoors for narration of the activities in the fields and of the animals are presented in such detail that the whole farm scene becomes a moving picture. This is a book that everyone here over sixty years of age should read because of the memories it will bring back. It is a book that everyone under sixty should read because it is authentic and will give them a better understanding of how their parents and grandparents once lived. It was not an easy way of life; but it was interesting and fruitful and the activities and accomplishments of those days should be recorded. No Drums Or Thunder makes these people live again.

NO DRUMS OR THUNDER is a wholesome book filled with kindly insight, droll humor and penetrating observation. Concerning the man who was too stingy to buy a herd bull, Irene Bartel writes: "He would drive his cow or heifer in heat along the line fence of a man who owned a good bull. Well, a bull takes no account of who owns the cow or who owns him; he follows his own bullish notions and crashes down the fence—." If you want to know more about this story, home remedies, funerals and weddings and suchlike, you need the whole book.

THE Wellington area has received good rains and the moisture is excellent for this time of the year. Unfortunately there are thousands of unplanted acres that are still barren and this is June 13. Hail, sand and static electricity have damaged the young plants that were up and forced replanting in many instances. The time for getting seed in the ground is growing short especially for those who want to put more acres in cotton. Some of the wet land will not be planted in cotton this year; but there is still time for milo and sorghums.

THESE are anxious days for the farmer and stockmen; but name a time that is not. If it is not the weather, it is the price and if it is not the price it is disease or something. But it all seems to work out fairly well by fall.

ADD Mrs. Bura Handley and Mrs. Charlie Hill to the names of those who would like to see angle parking at the curb around the square returned. They recognize that single parking in the center may be necessary, but they prefer to park at an angle.

EARLIER this year A&M sent out a bulletin recommending mini-garden for people who do not have enough yard space due to trees or lack of space. A mini-garden is one in which containers are used to grow tomatoes, peppers, egg plant, green onion, lettuce, squash, radishes and herbs. Besides being easy to water the containers can be moved to positions of full sunlight.

HENRY and Bennie Sullivan became acutely conscious of their grocery bill this spring and they decided they would do something about it. At least they would eliminate much of the expense of fresh vegetables. So they planted an entire acre near the irrigation well in garden truck. They planted everything, corn, beans, potatoes, tomatoes, okra, cucumbers, cantaloupes - everything. The big garden started to flourish due to the rains. Then the plants started wilting and looking sick until finally every plant in the entire acre perished.

AFTER the garden was gone, they learned that Leslie Moore had treated the acreage with milo guard. Perhaps the Sullivans should have experimented with a mini-garden before trying a full acre.

WHEN we were the age of the Sullivans, an acre of garden would have been about the right size for Louise and me. She could have pulled weeds and hoed and I could have changed the water.

Screening of Solicitors Goes Back to City

Chamber of Commerce directors have returned the responsibility of issuing permits to house to house solicitors to the City of Wellington, President Charles Floyd announced following the Friday, June 7 meeting.

Mayor Billy Hatch, who is a C-C director, told the group there is a city ordinance requiring solicitors to have permits in order to make their house to house calls.

Through mutual agreement the Chamber has handled the permit issuance for many years. Either the sheriff or police chief then checked out the applicants. The city retained the fee.

Both Mr. Floyd and Mr. Hatch urged Wellington residents to ask solicitors for their permits before making any purchase or even letting them inside the house.

Financing various chamber projects was discussed.

The July and August meeting nights were changed to Thursday, at an hour convenient to the president, who is attending the summer session of Texas Tech.

Prisoner Gains Brief Freedom

Freedom was short, both in the span of time and in distance covered for a Memphis man who sought to escape from Collingsworth County jail.

He was identified as Steve Bingham by Sheriff John Rainey.

The sheriff said he had let two other prisoners out to make calls to their attorney when Bingham made a dash behind Rainey's back, ran out the door and headed north.

All law enforcement officers converged in the area, Patrolman Jackie Gunnels and Patrolman Don Gosnell of Cross Plains found the man hiding under boards in the Hiett and Hiett Construction yard, less than half a block from the jail. Gosnell, who formerly was stationed here, was back to visit relatives and was riding with Gunnels when the call came.

Sheriff Rainey said Bingham was being held after his probation sentence on an earlier conviction was revoked. He had filed notice of the revocation.

Fire Damages Young Home

Approximately $500 in damage was caused by a fire at the home of Mrs. Juanita Young at 100 West Ave. The blaze, reported around 6:30 p.m. June 4, resulted from a faulty water heater, according to David Peters, fire chief.

The fire burned through the ceiling and caused some damage to the roof. The interior of the house was also damaged by smoke, the fire chief said.

Miss McClendon in 4-H Youth Exchange

Karen S. McClendon of Abernathy will spend the next five months in Turkey, living with families in that country and doing the work that their young women do.

This is possible because she is a Texas delegate in the International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) program.

Karen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McClendon, of Abernathy, is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Thompson and Mrs. E.V. McClendon, and has visited in Wellington frequently as she grew up. Her last trip was in late May.

Now a graduate student at Texas Tech University, Karen left Monday for Turkey. She is not going unprepared, however, for the last semester she has studied the Turkish language with a Tech professor, a native of that country.

"She wanted to go on this trip worse than anything I ever saw her want," said Mrs. McClendon. Her enthusiasm has rubbed off on the entire family.

Karen is taking with her gifts for the families with whom she will leave, items she feels will not be available there.

One part of Turkish life is of particular interest—food preparation. Her tutor has prepared her for some of the dishes she will eat. Karen intends to learn all she can about cooking these foods.

A 4-H Club member for 10 years, Karen was a winner at the State 4-H Food Show and the State 4-H Roundup and received two $500 scholarships.

She also attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, the Texas 4-H Youth Conference on Natural Resources and the Co-op Youth Leadership Camp in Kansas. She held offices in the county and district 4-H councils.

Karen received a bachelor's degree in home economics from Tech, where she has been active in the Texas Home Economics Student Section, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, American Home Economics Association and the Baptist Student Union. She was named in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

The IFYE program is sponsored by the National 4-H Foundation in behalf of Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. She is one of two Texans traveling abroad this year in the IFYE program.

Karen will learn the culture language and way of life in Turkey, said Yvonne Garcia, 4-H and Youth specialist for the Extension Service. She will also have opportunities to pursue special study interests and to observe and work with youth programs.

"This program serves to create international understanding and assists in the development of youth programs throughout the world," Miss Garcia said. "Between 35 and 40 countries participate in the program each year with more than 85 participants exchanged each way."

Pampa Evangelist Holds Revival at Faith Baptist

Revival services will open at Faith Baptist Church Sunday, June 16, and continue through the following Sunday, June 23, according to the pastor, the Rev. J.R. Wooten of Hedley. Services will be at 8:00 p.m., preceded by prayer meeting at 7:30.

The evangelist will be Rev. Mitchell Phillips, an evangelist from Pampa.

Rev. Wooten will lead the singing and Mrs. Wooten will be the pianist.

The evangelist has been in the ministry since 1958 and full time ministry since 1968. He was licensed to preach at Highland Baptist Church, Pampa, and ordained when he was called to First Baptist Church, Allison, where he served from 1970 to 1972. He was at Hedley until May 1973, when he resigned to enter full time evangelistic work.

Museum Open Each Saturday

The Collingsworth County Historical Museum is open each Sunday afternoon, when area residents may see current exhibits and others now being prepared.

A museum board member is in charge each time. Several exhibits are being assembled, and although they are incomplete, visitors may see these and learn of some of the work which goes into their preparation, said Mrs. Clyde Drake, curator.

Looking to the fall months, a military exhibit is planned for Veterans Day, and the museum staff is trying to locate a pair of cavalry pants and leggins worn in the World War I period.

The Drakes grandson, Drake Beauchamp, has given the jacket and cap, which belonged to his paternal grandfather. The board would like to complete the uniform.
