Magnolia Wildcat In SE Andrews Show Oil On DST

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 A Fasken has indicated as another discovery in the east side of Andrews County.

Operator reported free oil recovered after a drillstem test in the Permian, either lower Wichita, Albany or upper Wolfcamp, from 8,420 to 8,450 feet. Tool was open two and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in five minutes. No oil came to the surface while the tool was open.

Recovery was 4,020 feet of clean oil and 30 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. No formation water was found. Gravity of the oil is 38.8 degrees.

After the test, operator cored to 8,478 feet. Recovery was 26 feet, with most of it showing oil. A drillstem test was in progress on total depth of 8,478 feet.

This wildcat is 680 feet from south and east lines of section 12, block 42, T-2-N, G-2-MMB&A survey and three miles north of the Midland Farms field in the southeast portion of the county.

Potential Slated For Payne-Johnson Opener In NE Nolan

Payne-Johnson and others of Tyler No. 1 Jessie Little wildcat in Northeast Nolan County, was slated for potential test Monday.

This wildcat flowed oil at the rate of from 20 to 50 barrels of oil hourly from the straw through perforations and various sized chokes.

The oil came from the section at 8,400-8,412 feet after a 500 gallon mud acid treatment. Casing is cemented at 5,415 feet.

This project is 1,750 feet from south and 600 feet from most easterly east lines of section 25, block 20, T-2-P survey and one and three-quarters miles northwest of the one-well McLeod (Strawn) field.

Bartley, Et Al, To Dig Rayburg Prospector At NW Crockett Site

J. H. (Jerry) Bartley of Midland and associates are to start operations at once on their No. 1-A-88 H. S. Carpenter and associates which is to be a 1,400-foot cable tool wildcat in Northwest Crockett County.

The prospector will be eight and one-half miles north of Iran and between the Crockett field of Northwest Crockett County and the Yates field of Central-East Pecos County. To Test Grayburg

The drillsite is 5,030 feet from north and 2,722 feet from east lines of section 88, block 1, T-2N survey. The projected destination of 1,400 feet is calculated to allow a test of the Grayburg-Permian.

The wildcat is being drilled on a 320-acre lease which Bartley secured from Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company.

W. E. Dollin of Midland has the cable tool contract.

Midstate Executives From New York, Tulsa Visiting In Midland

Joseph Glass of New York, president of Midstates Oil Corporation and Phillip C. Dixon of Tulsa, executive vice president of the same concern are visiting their district office in Midland.

Glass is accompanied by his wife. The Midstates executives are conferring with C. R. Vandevort of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico and members of his staff. Plans are being made for the activities of the concern in this district during the next year.

N. B. Turner, landman-scout in charge of the Midstates sub-district office at Roswell is also in Midland for the conferences with Glass and Dixon.

Another Possible Wolfcamp Pay Is Found In Scurry

Sumble Oil & Refining Company had another possible producing pay in the Wolfcamp in the southwest side of the Diamond M field of Scurry County.

The concern's No. 10 Richter was drillstem tested from 4,589 to 4,600 feet. Tool was open two hours. Re-

10,000 May Hear Senator Monday Night

The national political spotlight will shine briefly on Midland Monday night as Richard Nixon, the Republican candidate for vice president of the United States, comes here for a short visit and an address at Midland Air Terminal.

The 39-year-old U. S. senator from California will arrive at Air Terminal at 7:25 p.m., accompanied by his pretty wife, Pat, and will speak from a platform in front of the Administration Building.

Nixon To Get Police Guard At Beaumont

BEAUMONT — (P) — A special bodyguard awaited Senator Richard Nixon here Monday as the Republican vice presidential nominee swung into Texas in quest of votes for himself and Dwight Eisenhower.

Republican leaders said they had received anonymous telephone calls warning them a disturbance was planned during Nixon's speech at the Beaumont airport.

Nixon's first scheduled speech was at Texarkana airport at noon. Then he was to make the Gregg County airport before speaking at Beaumont. Next in line were Corpus Christi, Abilene, Midland and El Paso.

J. H. (Scotty) Sawyer, North Jefferson County GOP campaign chairman, requested special protection for Nixon. Sheriff Charles Meyer assigned one deputy to guard the candidate and the rest of his force to handle traffic and the airport crowd. Beaumont police were to fill in for the sheriff's department in patrolling Jefferson County during Nixon's visit.

Record Absentee Balloting Continues

Absentee voting for the November 4 general election swept into its final week Monday, and Midland County Clerk Roseline Cherry, with the top of her head barely visible over a stack of ballots on her desk, said there had been no let-up in the record-smashing voting since October 15.

No official count had been made yet Monday on the number of votes cast, but Mrs. Cherry said that by Monday afternoon the count would be considerably more than the 853 votes reported Saturday. This figure included 245 persons who had voted in the office and 608 ballots sent out in the mail.

Requests for ballots by mail have been extremely heavy, and the clerk's office had to order additional supplies Saturday to take care of the demand.

Absentee voting is to continue through midnight Friday, October 31.

Alice Mothers Meet To Map Write-In Plans

ALICE — (P) — About a dozen mothers called a public meeting at 4 p.m. Monday to map plans for a write-in drive for two men defeated in the July Democratic primary by candidates backed by Political Kingpin George Parr.

The mothers are backing District Judge Sam O. Reams, Alice, and Mark Heath, Fairbairns, unsuccessful candidate for district attorney.

"I have... urged Mr. Lewis... to use his best efforts to effect at once a resumption of work in the mines. Mr. Lewis has assured me of his cooperation."

When he arrived at the station to spend the night aboard his train, which left for Gary, Ind., at 4:30 a. m., Truman appeared to be in unusually good humor.

At Gary Monday night, he will deliver the first of six speeches in his campaign windup.

Accompanied by his daughter, Margaret, the President was off on a swing that will keep him stumping for Stevenson right up until the election.

The team of "Truman and Truman" expects to cover around 4,500 miles on this last tour, ending up at their home in Independence, Mo., where they will cast their votes next week.

Monday was an easy day for Truman with no speeches scheduled until 3:25 p.m. at Willard, Ohio, and only one at Deshler, Ohio, before he pulls into Gary, at 6:30 p.m. for a speech about 8 p.m. (CST) in the Memorial Auditorium.

Lewis Orders Men Back To Coal Pits

WASHINGTON — (P) — John L. Lewis Monday ordered striking soft coal miners to go back to work at once.

The chief of the United Mine Workers messaged all union district officers that it was his opinion work should be resumed pending government reconsideration of whether the miners may have a $1.90 a day pay increase which the industry has agreed to. The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) trimmed the rise to $1.50, holding that a higher boost would violate the government's anti-inflation program.

President Truman had appealed directly to Lewis to get the miners back to work.

Truman invited Lewis to the White House Sunday night and made the request. Lewis promised cooperation. Immediately after this conference, the President left on his final political campaign tour.

Both Appeal

The industry and the union have jointly appealed the decision of the Wage Board. Their appeal is to Roger Putnam, economic stabilization director, who has authority to overrule board decisions.

Associates with Lewis have made it plain he expects the full pay raise will be approved in a day or two.

Union headquarters made public the following telegram from Lewis to district officers:

"The joint industry request to the executive branch of the government for approval of the industry agreement is pending. It will require a reasonable time for review of attendant facts and rereaching of the decision."

"It is my opinion that our industry should be operating during that period and that the best interests of the mine workers and the public will thus be served."

May Work Monday Night

"I am therefore requesting an immediate resumption of operation at all mines in all districts and I am urging each member of our union to return to work at once."

Even before the Lewis telegram was made public here, a receipt had been made known by one district union leader, John Busarello, at Pittsburgh.

Busarello said he expected some miners to go back to work on the shift ordinarily reporting at 4 p.m.

"We're trying to get word to the miners as fast as possible," he said. "We'll do everything to comply with the orders of the boss."

Coal Crisis Over; Truman, Margaret Resume Campaign

WITH TRUMAN — (P) — Buoyed by what he called an assurance of John L. Lewis' cooperation in ending the soft coal strike, President Truman moved into the Midwest Monday on the final swing of his campaign to make Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson his successor in the White House.

He boarded his private car in Washington's Union Station Sunday night after a conference with the United Mine Workers' chief, the head of the soft coal operators' association and the directors of government agencies involved.

After the meeting, Truman, who has drawn some Republican criticism that his presidential duties have been neglected during the political campaign, issued a statement saying:

"I have... urged Mr. Lewis... to use his best efforts to effect at once a resumption of work in the mines. Mr. Lewis has assured me of his cooperation."

* LATE NEWS FLASHES *

TEXARKANA — (P) — Senator Richard Nixon told a yelling Texas-Arkansas crowd Monday that President Truman and Adlai Stevenson are "traitors to the high principles" of the Democratic Party by reason of their tolerance and defense of Communists in the government.

NEWBURGH, N. Y. — (P) — A twin-engine Army transport plane crashed Monday in the Hudson River north of here and sank, reportedly carrying three men to their deaths. Three others aboard escaped.

BEAUMONT — (P) — Smoke from 22 forest fires, mingled with fog, snarled morning traffic along the Texas Gulf Coast Monday and caused 10 automobiles to pile up in three wrecks along one short stretch of highway between Beaumont and Orange.

Eisenhower Sticks To Idea Of Using More ROK Troops

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL IN PENNSYLVANIA — (P) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, opening his final drive of the election campaign, said Monday he will not be turned aside by any criticism from the view that South Korean troops should man the major portion of the battleline in Korea.

He told a Philadelphia crowd jammed in the Pennsylvania Railroad's 30th Street Station that he holds this view "entirely aside from any political considerations."

Eisenhower repeated his determination to go to Korea himself if he is elected President.

This statement, first made Friday in Detroit, brought a barrage of critical comment from the Democrats and Eisenhower apparently was referring to this reaction when he said he would not be deflected by criticisms.

After a full day in Pennsylvania, the general planned to return to New York for an intensive sweep through the city and its populous suburbs Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Another appearance in Chicago has been set for next Friday and there was a possibility he might go from there to California. He is scheduled to be in Boston next Monday, the day before the election.

His strategy in the closing stages of the campaign appeared to be to make the Korean War the foremost issue. His advisers consider the Democrats are more vulnerable on that question than on any other.

Pennsylvania, the scene of Eisenhower's appearance Monday, is generally considered a "safe" state for him. GOP strategists, however, admit they have kept a sharp eye on the increase in registration in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, as well as in the coal-mining areas.

If necessary, aides said, the general may return to Pennsylvania before the election.

Otherwise, the GOP candidate will concentrate on New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Massachusetts and possibly California in his final moves. These five states, plus Pennsylvania, carry a total electoral vote of 168. It takes 266 to win the election.

Scholarships To Midlander

NEW YORK CITY—James M. Lineberger of Midland, Texas, is one of 21 young men from 15 states and the District of Columbia who have been awarded four-year National Scholarships in Columbia College, it was announced Monday by Dr. Lawrence H. Chamberlain, dean of the liberal arts college for men at Columbia University.

The new awards bring to 112 the number of National Scholars chosen by the college since 1948 for their "outstanding promise as citizens and future leaders." Dean Chamberlain stated.

The 21 new National Scholars have started their studies with fellow members of the Class of 1952. To expand the National Scholarship program, a fund drive which seeks to raise $240,000 by the end of the year now is being conducted among the 17,500 alumni of Columbia College.

The aim of the program is to enable students of outstanding character and ability from any part of the nation or even another country to obtain a liberal education at the college.

Lineberger, a 1952 graduate of Midland High School, was president of the Senior Class, president of the Junior Class and vice president of the Sophomore Class. He was a member of the National Honor Society and the Student Council; was named "best all-around boy" in his junior year, and was an outstanding varsity football player.

Midlanders Attend San Marcos College

SAN MARCOS—John Francis and Lois Carter from Midland are among the 1,550 students registered this year at Southwest Texas State Teachers College.

Continuing a trend set in post-war years, boys again outnumber girls at the College in San Marcos, a change from early days when girls outnumbered boys by as much as two or three to one.

Smart Hollywood Stars Know They Don't Belong In Politics

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Exclusively Yours: Movie stars in politics—right or wrong?—is the big buzz in Hollywood now that Irene Dunne is getting the hot-foot from newspaper editorial writers.

Irene's reeling under editorial raps for telling an Eisenhower rally audience: "Everyone in Hollywood whom you respect is for Eisenhower."

It's typical of what invariably happens when a movie star puts ham on a political soap box. I've said it before—and I'll say it again—there's no place in politics for movie stars except as good Americans at the polls on election day. The smart ones know it.

Dana Andrews nixed a bid from the headquarters of a presidential candidate to join the drum beating with:

"I knew I was going to be given a position of stardom for whatever celebrity value I was worth—not because I was a Democrat or a Republican. I'm a performer, not a politician. But I'm shirking my duties as a citizen. I'll vote on November 4."

And it's always been shrewd Joan Crawford's theory: "People in the public eye never should discuss religion or politics."

But some of 'em will never learn. Hollywood's big economy axe just looped off the head of the greatest character of them all—Santa Claus. There will be no Santa Claus Lane Parade, with the old gent in his sleigh, on Hollywood Blvd. for the first time in 25 years.

I guess TV-jitters Hollywood figures there is no Santa Claus. But I feel sorry for the kids.

Skip the grapevine rumors that Greer Garson is quitting movies. She has nine years to go on her MGM contract. . . . Insiders insist that Fernando Lamas is out of the cast of "Latin Lovers" at the request of Lana Turner. Anyhow, MGM's press releases on the picture are now playing up the name of Michael Wilding as Lana's co-star. . . . The Bobby Bren-Jocelyn Lesh marriage is slated for mid-November in Manhattan. The former movie moppet, by the way, is working out daily with a vocal coach to establish a new voice style for himself.

Gloria de Haven, who's Gloria de Heaven to Mocambo ringdancers with her slick chirping, is about to ask her bosses at Fox for permission to do TV. Her two-picture-a-year contract says she's supposed to accept when anything resembling a TV camera crosses her path.

Gloria can write her own ticket as a video star now and "it's killing me."

Diamond-Studded Monroe Marilyn Monroe's due for a big boost in salary—from $750 a week to $2,500. Marilyn will sing "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend" in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," but methinks the men will be saying "Gentlemen Prefer Marilyn." Her costume: A Bikini affair made entirely of diamonds.

Ann Sheridan's new vermilion hair color is described in the script of "Vermilion O'Toole" as: "One shade hotter than a redhead." . . . Nancy Valentine, the erstwhile Maharane of Cooch-Behar, insists she wasn't snubbed by the India movie delegation in Hollywood. Says she joined the group for several social events.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, back from Paris and John Huston film, "Moulin Rouge," is halting her role in the film with: "The picture is going to make me a star." But there will be no shelving of the Gabor double z-zip just because she's sunk her teeth into a highly dramatic part opposite Jose Ferrer.

"Dahling," she asked me, "how can I be dignified?"

Dale Robertson's antics around a Reno, Nev., nitery during shooting of "The Silver Whip" may be the key to the rift with wife Jacqueline Wilson.

Being Mrs. Jack Carson isn't going to halt Lois Albright's movie progress.

"We settled that before we got married," she grinned. "I'm not the housewife type."

Overheard: "She's the type of girl who will ride home from a walk."

News Item: "Former patients of the Menninger Clinic are hosting Dr. Menninger at a dinner party at Romanoff's."

All the guests, I presume, will be served on couches in a darkened room.

Amos And Andy Talk Retirement

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Nothing's definite but Amos and Andy may retire from radio after this season. The comics—in real life Freeman F. Gosden and Charles J. Correll—have been a broadcasting mainstay a quarter-century.

There'd been a report of retirement so Guy Della-Cioppa, Columbia Broadcasting System vice president, talked with Gosden Sunday.

"We have not made a final decision, but might decide to leave radio and show business after this season," Della-Cioppa quoted Gosden.

"We have every hope of persuading them to continue," the CBS official said.

Seminole Club Members Are Midland Guests

Members of the Seminole Hobby Club were guests of the Midland Hobby Club at a luncheon Friday in the home of Mrs. G. W. Brenne-

A turkey dinner was served buffet style from a table centered with gold and bronze chrysanthemums and laid with an imported Italian linen cloth.

Fall colors and a Halow'en motif were featured in decorations throughout the party rooms.

Progressive 42 furnished entertainment for the members of the two clubs. Members of the visiting club presented Mrs. Brenneman with an antique plate. Attending from the Seminole club were Mrs. T. F. Lindley, Mrs. A. L. Duff, Mrs. H. N. Stone, Mrs. Alton Freeman, Mrs. C. E. Rollins, Mrs. M. S. Doss and Mrs. W. B. Munnerlyn. Members of the hostess club present were Mrs. J. P. Carson, Sr., Mrs. A. O. Bohannon, Mrs. A. F. McKee, Mrs. H. O. Bedford, Mrs. M. R. Gayle, Mrs. Brooks Pemberton, Mrs. W. B. Hunter, Mrs. W. F. Chestnut, Mrs. J. C. Hudman and Mrs. Bren-

V. C. Barbers Are Honored On Anniversary

Celebrating their silver wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Barber were honored with a tea Sunday afternoon in their home, 1103 East Magnolia Street. The Barbers, who were married Oct. 23, 1927, in Alabama, have been Texans for five years and residents of Midland for three years.

Hosts and hostesses for the anniversary tea were the couple's sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grimes of Big Spring.

Fall flowers were featured in decorations throughout the home. An arrangement of chrysanthemums and daisies in seasonal colors centered the tea table, which was laid with an imported Chinese cutwork cloth over silver. Silver and crystal appointments completed the setting.

Presiding at the table were Mrs. R. I. Findley of Big Spring, sister of Mrs. Barber, and Helen Pettaway. Mrs. Grimes met guests at the door and Mrs. Bryant presided at the guest register.

Approximately 50 attended. Out-of-city guests included the Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Stowe, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wells and son, Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Findley and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Lancaster, Mrs. Reuce Jones, Mrs. O. B. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. George Grimes and Patsy Ruth Jernigan, all of Big Spring.

San Jacinto P-TA Board Will Meet

Results of the Family Fun Night held Friday in the San Jacinto Junior High School will be discussed and a report will be made from the cafeteria committee when the school's Parent-Teacher Association meets Tuesday.

The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the homeliving department of the school.

Chopin Club Is Organized

The Chopin Club, composed of music students of Mrs. Hans Rowlock, was organized in a meeting Saturday afternoon in Mrs. Rowlock's home, 1301 Washington Street.

Named as officers of the group were Allison Gray, president; Ann Shelton, vice president; Sylvia Jones, secretary-treasurer; Charley Hayes, reporter; and Julia Marberry, historian.

The group voted to meet from 7 until 9 p.m. on the third Tuesday of each month.

Square Dance Set November 15

A square dance November 15, open to the public, will mark the close of a square dance class at Terminal and the opening of a new series of lessons.

The November 15 dance and the square dance classes are sponsored by the Terminal Lions Club. Jay Johnson is instructor for the classes, which include dancers from both Midland and Odessa.

Six squares of dancers participated in the lesson series that was completed Wednesday night in Rhoden-hiser Hall in Terminal. It was the fourteenth square dance class organized and taught by Johnson in the Midland area.

Anyone interested in enrolling in the new series of 10 lessons can contact Johnson, telephone 4-6189. Music for the November 15 dance will be furnished by the Liles Square Dance Band.

Welcome To Midland, Senator

Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice presidential candidate, visits Midland late Monday on a campaign swing through the Lone Star State, accompanied by his charming wife, Pat.

The occasion marks the first time perhaps that an aspirant for the office of vice president of the United States ever has visited Midland on a campaign tour.

Midland and West Texas are honored by the senator's visit and he and Mrs. Nixon will find a cordial welcome awaiting them in this headquarters city of the Permian Basin Empire.

The senator's plane is scheduled to land at Midland Air Terminal at 7:25 p.m., and it is expected that a tremendous crowd of Midland and area residents will be on hand to greet the distinguished visitor and to hear his address, which will be delivered at the airport.

Elaborate plans have been made for this special occasion, and it is hoped the popular Richard and Pat team will be well pleased with the reception afforded them here.

Welcome, Richard and Pat, to Midland and to West Texas.

Objectivity Is Needed

One aspect of this fight against communism in America merits more attention than it has received. It's that a lot of people who rightly decry extremes of method in digging out Reds weaken their own case by failing to show equal indignation toward the Communist threat.

The origins of this attitude may be many. A principal one is the lingering notion, often deep-buried and only half realized, that somehow the Communists are not as bad as painted. This is a heritage from the days of the Popular Front—a loose alliance of liberals, Socialists and Communists.

According to the theory, carefully nurtured by the Reds themselves, communism was only an extreme form of liberalism. It was an idea that died hard under the blows of Russian Communist performance. The fraternity of the fuzzy-minded clung to it with particular tenacity.

Even today it is not wholly wiped out, although no one arrayed on the free world's side consciously gives it voice. It shows itself in the perhaps unconscious reluctance to accept the reality of the Communist danger, in the often secret thought that the Reds still are better than the Fascists.

One wonders how much evidence of real Communist purpose and character men of this sort must have to be convinced. By any measure the Reds have proved their callous inhumanity, their ruthless urge to conquest, their complete duplicity. By all these tests they are worse, not better, than the Fascists.

They are worse, too, because their bid for world dominance is founded upon the Great Deceit—the totally false portrait of communism as a movement dedicated to the betterment of humanity. This is the lure that has drawn so many well-meaning intellectuals into the Communist orbit. This is the dream whose vestiges still lie deep in many minds and cause them to resist the crushing truth about communism.

These men have not shown by word and action that they understand that communism is our deepest peril, that nothing else matches this menace to our individual and collective liberties. Until they do, they must not be puzzled that their cries against lesser evils often seem ineffective. Freedom calls for a complete, not a selective defense.

Worth Promoting

Fed up with people who never take the time to vote in an election, but always do plenty of complaining about the outcome, a group of folk in Ossining, N. Y., have set out to do something about the matter by promoting a No-Vote No-Gripe Club.

More than 11,000 members already have been enrolled and issued "N-V N-G" lapel buttons. "I pledge," read their membership cards, "to register and vote and not listen to gripes about government from anyone who does not register or vote."

Seems like a mighty sensible idea, well worth spreading.

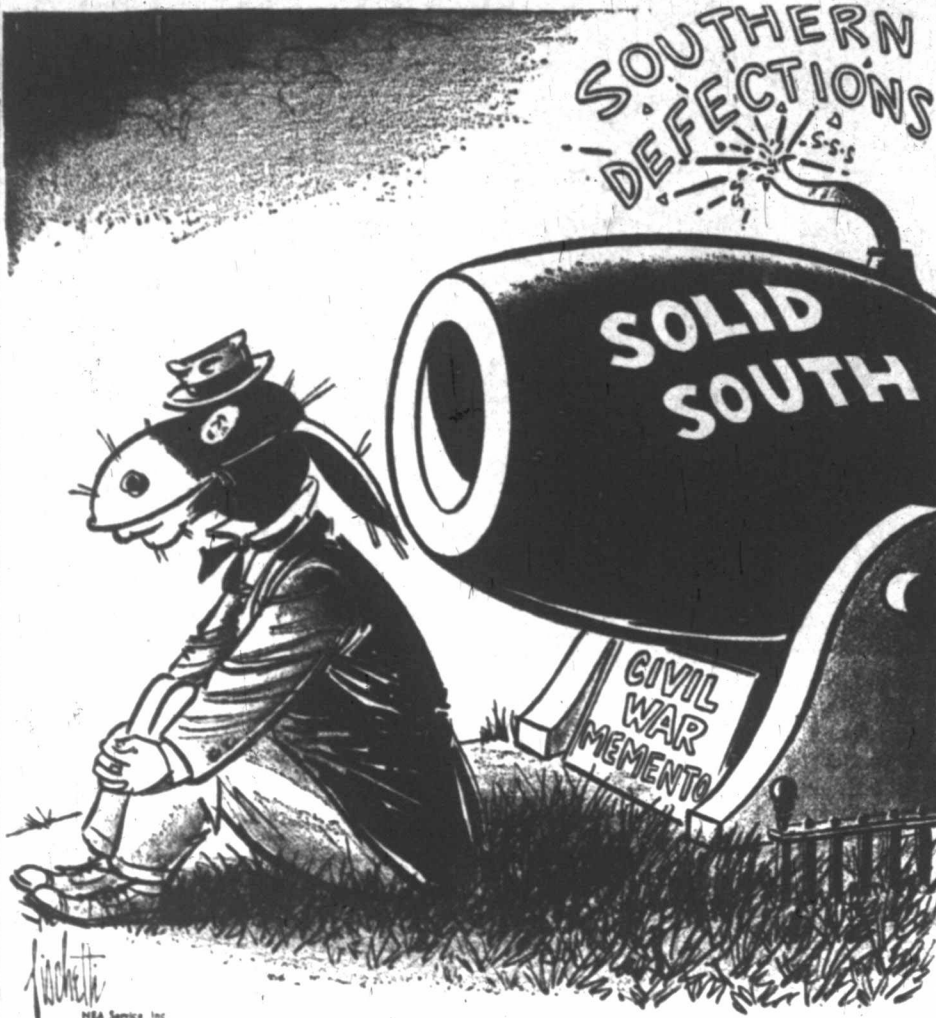

It's what a lot of people don't know about driving an automobile that fills hospitals.

It may be all right to be blunt with your friends, but it often makes you dull.

His Favorite Spot For Years

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Dewey would be secretary of State in Ike's Cabinet; Harriman in Stevenson's; Rockefeller family contributes $85,000 to GOP.

WASHINGTON—Here is a rough idea as to how the cabinets of the two presidential candidates will stack up if elected:

In the Eisenhower Cabinet—Secretary of State—Thomas E. Dewey. The governor of New York went around the world to get up to date on foreign affairs, has been conferring with Acheson on foreign policy and has his heart set on this post. Since he was the best brain in putting across the general's nomination, he probably will get his reward.

Secretary of the Treasury—W. A. R. Reuther. Brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller and a power in GOP politics, Aldrich has been one of the key men behind Ike.

Secretary of Defense—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. The original Eisenhower campaign manager, Lodge faces likely defeat in his Massachusetts race for reelection. He served in the Army and on the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Attorney General—Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Secretary of Agriculture—Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas, now one of Eisenhower's closest advisers.

Secretary of the Interior—Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado; helped lead the fight at Chicago for Eisenhower's nomination.

Secretary of Commerce—Senator James Duff of Pennsylvania, one of the earliest Eisenhower supporters.

Secretary of Labor—Ex-Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota; wrote Eisenhower's Labor Day speech.

Postmaster General—Arthur Summerfield, now chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Demo Cabinet
In the Stevenson Cabinet—Secretary of State—Averell Harriman, former ambassador to Great Britain and Mutual Security administrator. Harriman's withdrawal from the race at Chicago insured Stevenson's nomination, and he probably could have the important State Department post if he wanted it. If not, William Fulbright of Arkansas, one of the Senate's best brains on foreign affairs, would have second call.

Secretary of the Treasury—Dwight Palmer, head of the General Cable Company, one of the big businessmen vigorously behind Stevenson.

Secretary of Defense—Tom Finletter, a Wall Street attorney now secretary for Air.

Attorney General—Senator Ke-fauver of Tennessee.

Secretary of Agriculture—Some Stevenson advisers have suggested

Weldor is a Republican and paid $200, but Henry Stoko, a Democrat, refused. He said that Ford could go jump in the Mississippi River as far as he was concerned. Also, David Keith of Hudson replied: "You're not getting any money from me."

Note—In 1948, 18 Ford and General Motors dealers were convicted in Michigan for violation of the Corrupt Practices Act when Arthur Summerfield, now chairman of the Republican National Committee, put across political assessments with auto dealers.

Bucks for Contributions
It's again the law to contribute more than $5,000 to a political campaign, but the big-money boys have a neat way of getting around the legal limit. They scatter their contributions like buckshot.

For example, here is how the Rockefeller family recently has donated to Republican campaign funds.

John D. himself contributed $3,000 each to the Republican National Committee, GOP Senate Campaign Committee, GOP House Campaign Committee and United Republican Committee of New York—making a total of $12,000.

Each member of the family followed suit with duplicate contributions to the same committees—$12,000 apiece from his wife Martha and his sons, John D. III, Laurence, David, Winthrop and Nelson. Laurence's wife, Mary, also threw in an additional $1,000 check to the New York fund.

In other words, each of the Rockefellers already has contributed over the $5,000 limit to the 1952 campaign.

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act declares that "whoever, directly or indirectly, makes contributions in an aggregate amount in excess of $5,000 during any calendar year, or in connection with any campaign for nomination or election, to or on behalf of any candidate for an elective federal office, including the offices of President of the United States and presidential and vice presidential electors, or to or on behalf of any committee or other organization engaged in furthering, advancing or advocating the nomination or election of any candidate for any such office or the success of any national political party, shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both."

Some lawyers argue that the term "any committee or other organization" entitles a contributor to make a maximum contribution of $5,000 to as many different political committees as he wishes.

In any case, neither political party is likely to challenge the loophole, since contributors on both sides of the political fence have been using the same dodge.

Note—Other big names showing up on several different GOP contributors' lists include Harold S. Vanderbilt, Richard K. Mellon and Paul Mellon.

Mt. Fuji, sacred Japanese mountain, which has erupted 17 times in recorded Japanese history, was last active in 1708.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

This week I began a new policy in discussing bidding. From now on I will describe the strength of any hand in terms of the popular 4-3-2-1 point count.

This is not a sudden decision. I have believed in point-count bidding ever since 1935, when Howard Schenken and I presented the Four Aces point count.

Our idea was good, but our timing was wrong. We were 15 years ahead of the millions of bridge players in this country, and it was necessary to wait until they got ready to accept the new idea.

It seems to me that most bridge players are now familiar with the point count, so I can return to that way of describing a hand without worrying about confusing my readers.

Just in case you're not familiar with the general idea, I'll run a few articles to teach it. Count each ace in your hand as four points;

NORTH		27
♠ 8 6 5
♥ A 5 4
♦ Q 10 8
♣ A 10 5 4
WEST	EAST
♠ K Q 10 9 4	♠ 3 2
♥ 7 6 2	♥ K 10 9 3
♦ K 7 4	♦ 5 2
♠ 6 3	♦ Q J 9 7 2
SOUTH (D)
♠ A J 7
♥ Q J 8

♣ K 8
Neither side vul
South	West	North	East

Pass	Pass
Opening lead—♠ K

each king, three; each queen, two, and each jack one point.

There are 10 points in each suit, and 40 points in the entire deck. You and your partner usually need 26 points to make a game; 33 points to make a small slam; 37 points to make a grand slam.

Open the bidding with one no-trump when you have balanced distribution, stoppers in at least three suits (better, of course in all four suits), and a count of 16 to 18 points. For example, take the South hand, shown today. South has a count of 16 points, balanced distribution, and a stopper in each of the four suits.

North raises to game because he has 10 points and knows that the combined count is 26 to 28 points. That should be enough for game and isn't even close to enough for slam.

Good bidding doesn't do away with the need for good play. South must let West hold the first trick with the king of spades. If West is then foolish enough to continue the spades, South has two sure winners in the suit and has time enough to develop the diamonds.

If West shifts to a heart at the second trick (the best defense), declarer must hop right up with dummy's ace of hearts in order to begin the diamonds without delay. West can take his king of diamonds but cannot then prevent declarer from developing nine tricks.

South loses his game contract if he plays a low heart from dummy at the second trick. East takes the king of hearts and switches back to spades, thus setting up West's long suit. Now West will surely get in with the king of diamonds in time to set the contract with the rest of the spades.

THE STORY: In order to keep the good name of High Hill, a summer resort, unimpaired, the body of a man murdered in a rural style to the grounds of a rural resort, Dan Morrison, athletic director, and Hilda Barrett, who actually found the body, threaten to tell the police, but Al has sent an entertainer, Eddie Field, to tell the officers with an anonymous call in Italian dialect. Eddie died the body of the grounds of the rural resort, owned by Sam Steacy, and Al calls his competitor and sends him on the "kind of guests" he takes in. Steacy's reply is a howl. Al says maybe Steacy put the body on High Hill in the first place.

EDDIE sat down on the wood steps. "You ever hear of family where there wasn't a bl—"

"I wouldn't know."

"Sure—you got no relatives—you're the peacefully—"

"I have some cousins in California and I think I have an uncle somewhere in Canada."

"But you don't have a to them?"

"We don't even know—"

"That's the kind of relatives to have. Boy, that's the kind. You know—everybody thinks there's a law you got to like your relatives. Suppose they're not your type and you don't want to write to them, do you write to them? Why does everybody get so indignant?"

Eddie kept gazing across "Playland" toward Harmony House, the married folks' cottage just beyond the tennis court, at the time of the woods. When Roslyn appeared on the steps, he got into the station wagon. She was wearing a blue flowered dirndl and an orange blouse. Her hair was captured in a bright blue babushka.

Eddie smashed the gears into place, and we bounced across the cinders toward the highway.

"Morrison," Eddie said, "you know how once a year it's Laurel Blossom Time in the Poconos? Okay—once a year it's Davey time. Official delegate from the whole family in Kansas City, Mo. How's our little Eddie making out? He never writes. Maybe he's in trouble. Dave, go visit Eddie and see how everything is. Same time, you can get your vacation at a discount."

THE bus station in the village was an informal affair—just the front porch of the drugstore. When we got there, the bus had already gone, and a man was standing on the porch beside a square-cornered canvas suitcase. An anxious smile flurried his face. He grabbed up the suitcase and came trotting toward us. He was wearing an Oxford gray suit and a straight-brim hat. It was really spectacular, the perfect horizontality of that hat. The man was about five foot six, which put him towering three inches above Eddie, but he had some thin lips, the same washboard forehead.

Eddie got out of the station wagon and gave him a greeting that sounded all right, and Roslyn threw in a smile that belonged on a deathbed. Then Eddie introduced us. "Dave's in a department store," Eddie explained. "Credit and collections." Dave added daintily.

I went down to the little sporting goods shop and picked up my tennis rackets, and then we drove back toward High Hill. I took the back seat, letting Dave sit with his relatives. The conversation ran out very fast.

Candidates' Differences Show In Labor, Farm Vote Appeals

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—In their campaigns to win the so-called "labor" and "farm" votes, Republican Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Democrat Gov. Adlai Stevenson begin to show their real differences.

No candidate or party ever wins all the voters in either of these segments of the economy, and these votes can't be "delivered" by farm or labor leaders. But it is an important part of victory for any candidate to carry majorities in the farm belt states and the industrial regions where organized labor is strongest.

General Eisenhower has made only one major bid for the labor vote, in his speech to the AFL convention. Governor Stevenson matched that, and in addition has spoken on labor relations at Tampa, St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago.

Key to the battle for the labor vote is the stand on the Taft-Hartley Act. General Eisenhower said, "I am in favor of repealing, but of amending the law."

Governor Stevenson said at Tampa, "We stand for repeal and replacement of the Taft-Hartley Act with a better, fairer law."

In amplifying his view, General Eisenhower listed these principles which should be continued in the law: The encouragement of collective bargaining. The right to strike. An advance notice before a strike is called. A requirement that both unions and employers live up to their contracts. The assurance that union members get regular reports on their organizations' finances.

Wants More Protection
On things that should be changed, General Eisenhower said, "The law might be used to break unions. That must be changed." He also advocated a requirement that employers take an oath they are not Communists, as labor leaders are now required to do.

Calling attention to the fact that Senator Taft himself had recommended 23 changes in his law, Governor Stevenson listed five main principles for a new law:

Accept unions as bargaining agents. Require democratic standards of conduct for unions. Outlaw unfair labor practices like jurisdictional disputes. Reject the labor injunction. Find new methods for handling national emergency disputes, giving the President a wider choice of procedures.

To these five, he added at Chicago: Make it difficult for labor disruptants to bring their case to the courts.

Good bidding doesn't do away with the need for good play. South must let West hold the first trick with the king of spades. If West is then foolish enough to continue the spades, South has two sure winners in the suit and has time enough to develop the diamonds.

If West shifts to a heart at the second trick (the best defense), declarer must hop right up with dummy's ace of hearts in order to begin the diamonds without delay. West can take his king of diamonds but cannot then prevent declarer from developing nine tricks.

Eddie got out of the station wagon and gave him a greeting that sounded all right, and Roslyn threw in a smile that belonged on a deathbed. Then Eddie introduced us. "Dave's in a department store," Eddie explained. "Credit and collections." Dave added daintily.

I went down to the little sporting goods shop and picked up my tennis rackets, and then we drove back toward High Hill. I took the back seat, letting Dave sit with his relatives. The conversation ran out very fast.

We rode along in an lthy silence for awhile. Dave sat forward in his seat, hanging on the edge of speech. Finally he spoke to Eddie in a bitter tone. "You didn't even ask how Mom is."

"How's Mom?" Eddie said. "She's fine." Then Dave added. "You don't care a bit how she is." There was some more silence. Then Dave blurted: "You write

WASHINGTON—In their campaigns to win the so-called "labor" and "farm" votes, Republican Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Democrat Gov. Adlai Stevenson begin to show their real differences.

No candidate or party ever wins all the voters in either of these segments of the economy, and these votes can't be "delivered" by farm or labor leaders. But it is an important part of victory for any candidate to carry majorities in the farm belt states and the industrial regions where organized labor is strongest.

General Eisenhower has made only one major bid for the labor vote, in his speech to the AFL convention. Governor Stevenson matched that, and in addition has spoken on labor relations at Tampa, St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago.

Key to the battle for the labor vote is the stand on the Taft-Hartley Act. General Eisenhower said, "I am in favor of repealing, but of amending the law."

Governor Stevenson said at Tampa, "We stand for repeal and replacement of the Taft-Hartley Act with a better, fairer law."

In amplifying his view, General Eisenhower listed these principles which should be continued in the law: The encouragement of collective bargaining. The right to strike. An advance notice before a strike is called. A requirement that both unions and employers live up to their contracts. The assurance that union members get regular reports on their organizations' finances.

Wants More Protection
On things that should be changed, General Eisenhower said, "The law might be used to break unions. That must be changed." He also advocated a requirement that employers take an oath they are not Communists, as labor leaders are now required to do.

Calling attention to the fact that Senator Taft himself had recommended 23 changes in his law, Governor Stevenson listed five main principles for a new law:

Accept unions as bargaining agents. Require democratic standards of conduct for unions. Outlaw unfair labor practices like jurisdictional disputes. Reject the labor injunction. Find new methods for handling national emergency disputes, giving the President a wider choice of procedures.

To these five, he added at Chicago: Make it difficult for labor disruptants to bring their case to the courts.

Good bidding doesn't do away with the need for good play. South must let West hold the first trick with the king of spades. If West is then foolish enough to continue the spades, South has two sure winners in the suit and has time enough to develop the diamonds.

If West shifts to a heart at the second trick (the best defense), declarer must hop right up with dummy's ace of hearts in order to begin the diamonds without delay. West can take his king of diamonds but cannot then prevent declarer from developing nine tricks.

South loses his game contract if he plays a low heart from dummy at the second trick. East takes the king of hearts and switches back to spades, thus setting up West's long suit. Now West will surely get in with the king of diamonds in time to set the contract with the rest of the spades.

THE STORY: In order to keep the good name of High Hill, a summer resort, unimpaired, the body of a man murdered in a rural style to the grounds of a rural resort, Dan Morrison, athletic director, and Hilda Barrett, who actually found the body, threaten to tell the police, but Al has sent an entertainer, Eddie Field, to tell the officers with an anonymous call in Italian dialect. Eddie died the body of the grounds of the rural resort, owned by Sam Steacy, and Al calls his competitor and sends him on the "kind of guests" he takes in. Steacy's reply is a howl. Al says maybe Steacy put the body on High Hill in the first place.

VII
EDDIE sat down on the wood steps. "You ever hear of family where there wasn't a bl—"

"I wouldn't know."

"Sure—you got no relatives—you're the peacefully—"

"I have some cousins in California and I think I have an uncle somewhere in Canada."

"But you don't have a to them?"

"We don't even know—"

"That's the kind of relatives to have. Boy, that's the kind. You know—everybody thinks there's a law you got to like your relatives. Suppose they're not your type and you don't want to write to them, do you write to them? Why does everybody get so indignant?"

Eddie kept gazing across "Playland" toward Harmony House, the married folks' cottage just beyond the tennis court, at the time of the woods. When Roslyn appeared on the steps, he got into the station wagon. She was wearing a blue flowered dirndl and an orange blouse. Her hair was captured in a bright blue babushka.

Eddie smashed the gears into place, and we bounced across the cinders toward the highway.

"Morrison," Eddie said, "you know how once a year it's Laurel Blossom Time in the Poconos? Okay—once a year it's Davey time. Official delegate from the whole family in Kansas City, Mo. How's our little Eddie making out? He never writes. Maybe he's in trouble. Dave, go visit Eddie and see how everything is. Same time, you can get your vacation at a discount."

THE bus station in the village was an informal affair—just the front porch of the drugstore. When we got there, the bus had already gone, and a man was standing on the porch beside a square-cornered canvas suitcase. An anxious smile flurried his face. He grabbed up the suitcase and came trotting toward us. He was wearing an Oxford gray suit and a straight-brim hat. It was really spectacular, the perfect horizontality of that hat. The man was about five foot six, which put him towering three inches above Eddie, but he had some thin lips, the same washboard forehead.

Eddie got out of the station wagon and gave him a greeting that sounded all right, and Roslyn threw in a smile that belonged on a deathbed. Then Eddie introduced us. "Dave's in a department store," Eddie explained. "Credit and collections." Dave added daintily.

I went down to the little sporting goods shop and picked up my tennis rackets, and then we drove back toward High Hill. I took the back seat, letting Dave sit with his relatives. The conversation ran out very fast.

Six Conducts Club Program

A. J. Six conducted the Midland Camera Club program Thursday on the use of exposure meters. He explained the difference between incident and reflected light readings and instructed the group in the proper use of Weston type meters. After the lecture and discussion in the Palette Club Studio, flood lights were set up and members participated in the study of portraits under the direction of A. V. Reid. Pictures were taken using all four of the lighting techniques previously studied.

Larry Hecht, program chairman, announced next week's program will be on "Print Discussion." Members are asked to bring prints for criticism.

Attending the meeting in addition to those already mentioned, were Betty Lewis, Mrs. J. V. Birdwell, Mrs. George Gibson, Mrs. A. V. Reid, Mrs. A. J. Six, G. G. McNary, E. E. Reigle, Charles Henderson, and guests, B. G. Johnson, T. Newbold and Bill Turner.

ESA Rushees Feted At Tea

Continuing their Fall rush parties, members of Alpha Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha entertained with a tea Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. H. Bradley, 1711 North Dallas Street.

The tea table, laid with a white satin damask cloth, was centered with an arrangement of roses in a crystal bowl, flanked with tapers burning in silver candelabra. Crystal and silver appointments were used and the sorority colors, blue and gold, were featured in refreshments.

Included in the guest list were Mrs. Gus Glenewinkel, Mrs. Earl Bruno, Mrs. A. J. Womack, Mrs. Dick Campbell, Charlene Whitehead, Mrs. R. L. Irby, Mrs. Claude J. Cox, Jr., Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. T. N. Sparkman Returns To Campaign Trail With Attack On Ike BAKERSFIELD, CALIF.—(P)—Senator John Sparkman, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, returned to political stumping Monday with a blast against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's proposed trip to Korea.

The Republican presidential candidate three days ago pledged that if he's elected he will visit Korea in an effort to win the war.

"What could Eisenhower do?" asked Sparkman during a press conference in Los Angeles Sunday night prior to a swing through California's agricultural San Joaquin Valley.

"General Bradley has been there, and General Collins and all the chiefs of staff have been there and they haven't been able to do anything about ending it."

"As I see it, the thing that's holding up the armistice today is our failure to turn over prisoners who don't want to go back to the Communists. I don't think we ought to send those prisoners back. It would mean certain death for many of them."

In hitting the campaign highway again after three days hospitalization with an attack of laryngitis, Sparkman said Eisenhower should answer two questions:

"1. Is he willing to send those prisoners back to the Reds?"

"2. If not, is he willing to expand the war into World War III?"

Pastor Says Police Close Italy Church

MILAN, ITALY—(P)—A preacher of the Church of Christ complained Sunday night of renewed interference by Italy's police with the American-led Protestant sect.

Melvin J. Pownall of Coatesville, Pa., said police barred members of his congregation from entering a building Sunday where services were to be held in nearby Alessandria and threatened him with arrest.

Golf Association Holds Luncheon

Mrs. L. E. Innerarity and Mrs. Jack Huff were hostesses for the bridge luncheon held by the women's Golf Association of the Midland Country Club Friday in the club.

Prizes for the day went to Mrs. Dell Taylor, Mrs. D. M. Aldridge, Mrs. Hayden Miles, Mrs. N. E. Garner, Mrs. James Pipkin, Mrs. M. R. Hay and Mrs. Bill Howard.

Approximately 40 members attended.

Daddy Ringtail Smell Purple

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, one afternoon climbed up to the top of the very tall tree. Into the monkey house he went. Mother Ringtail had gone somewhere for a little visit. Mugwump Monkey thought what fun it would be to take a little nap, but just then—the phone rang.

Daddy Ringtail picked it up. "Happy day whoever you are," said Daddy Ringtail. "This is Daddy Ringtail speaking."

"Is that you, Daddy Ringtail?" asked Mother Ringtail's voice in the telephone.

Daddy Ringtail answered, and said: "Yes, Mother Ringtail, this is Daddy Ringtail. Is that you?"

Mother Ringtail said yes, she was having a little while of chit-chat with Mother Shoozbug, but soon she would be home to cook the supper.

"Happy-having-your-chit-chat," said Daddy Ringtail. "Happy sleeping to me."

"Wait!" cried Mother Ringtail. She explained how Mugwump Monkey (the little rascal) was still sitting in the picture show. Daddy Ringtail please would you go after him, or else Mugwump would never come out.

"But, Mother Ringtail," said Daddy Ringtail, "I can never see to find that boy in the dark-dark of the picture show."

"You can find him this time all right," Mother Ringtail laughed and said. She said for Daddy Ringtail to close his eyes when he went in the show, and sniff—sniff—sniff. He should sniff until he had sniffed a sniff of purple—and when he had sniffed a sniff of purple strong enough to be a smell of purple—that would be Mugwump. "Happy goodbye, Daddy Ringtail!"

Mother Ringtail had hung up her phone, and so Daddy Ringtail said to the ground. Away to the picture show house to go inside in the dark and sniff—sniff—sniff until he had sniffed a sniff of purple that was strong enough to be a smell of purple. The smell of purple would be little Mugwump. Mother Ringtail had said.

What a mystery! Daddy Ringtail smiled to think of what a happy mystery it could be. What a smell of purple! But wait until tomorrow to sniff and smell for yourself. Happy waiting. Happy day!

11 Weathervane Counties At Odds But Point To Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—If signs mean anything in those 11 counties which brag a bit about picking all the presidential winners since William McKinley of 1896, Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower looks like the victor this time.

But some of the counties seem sure to have their reputations ruined a week from Tuesday.

Newspaper editors and correspondents who took part in a mid-October political survey for the Associated Press estimate that seven of the 11 might go Republican, four Democratic.

These are the "bellwether" or "weathervane" counties, scattered through eight states from coast to coast:

Crook County, Oregon; Albany and Laramie Counties, Wyoming; Jasper and Palo Alto Counties, Iowa; Vanderburgh County, Indiana; Belmont County, Ohio; Marion County, West Virginia; Fayette County, Pennsylvania; Stafford and Coos Counties, New Hampshire.

Texas' Weekend Violence Slackens

By The Associated Press

Texas weekend violence, which often takes as many as 20 lives, slackened over the weekend.

Thousands of automobiles clogged the highways, but traffic accidents caused only four deaths. Four other persons died in a variety of ways. The count started at midnight Friday.

Rex Gilbert Kveton, 14, was shot to death near Houston Sunday while he and a friend hunted with a new shotgun. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

Mrs. Marie L. Alford, 31, was found shot to death in Houston Sunday. She held a revolver in her right hand, but it was held upside down and police believe someone tried to make the slaying look like a suicide.

S. Rosa Frank, 59, was found dead Sunday in her Dallas hotel room with a hypodermic syringe in her hand and a bottle of sedative nearby. An inquest verdict of suicide was rendered.

Joe Bean, four, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bean, Sonora, died in a fire at their home Sunday morning.

John Elbert Hinson, 80, who farmed near Smyer, was injured fatally Saturday when he walked into the side of a moving truck on the Lubbock-Levelland highway.

Three-Car Crash

Yolanda Garcia, 15, Premont, was killed Saturday in a three-vehicle highway smashup near Premont in South Texas. Five persons were injured.

A Dallas woman was killed and her husband and three other men injured in a head-on collision Saturday night two miles south of Denton. Dead was Mrs. Mary Pracht, 28.

The body of Frank T. Tarrant, 58, Dallas, was found alongside a highway south of Wilmer Saturday night. Sheriff Bill Decker said Tarrant's automobile struck a guard rail.

U. S. Planes To Shoot Back If Soviets Repeat Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force is leaving to its pilots and overseas commanders the decision of what to do if Soviet fighters again attack American planes flying peaceable missions over non-Russian territory.

A USAP spokesman made it plain Monday, in answer to questions, that the crews of a plane, like the B-29 shot down by Russian fighters over Japanese waters earlier this month, has the right to fire back in self-defense.

However, the American plane downed by Soviet gunfire October 7 could not have fired back because it wasn't prepared for shooting. Its guns were "tied down" during the routine training flight to the North-east of Hokkaido.

Another answer by the spokesman indicated the Air Force now is ready to cope with any such attacks by Soviet fighters by assigning a fighter-plane escort when needed. The spokesman said, "Day-to-day tactical considerations dictate whether escort is provided."

This double-barreled self-defense program—apparent blanket authority for plane crews to protect themselves and for commanders to assign fighter escort when needed—seems directly related to the formal note sent to Russia by the State Department October 17.

That note, protesting the October 7 incident and demanding compensation for the loss of the B-29 and the eight men aboard, urged the "Soviet government seriously to consider the grave consequences which can flow from its reckless practice, if persisted in, of attacking without provocation the aircraft of other states."

Apparently, one grave consequence could be the failure of Russian fighters to return to base after an attack on American aircraft.

Upset Coming

Newsmen sized them up this way in the AP survey:

Somebody's going to be wrong in Wyoming this year. Albany County has been on the winning side since 1892 and editors expect it to back Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower. Laramie County has been with the winner since 1896 and editors give Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson a narrow edge there.

New Hampshire's two barometer counties are considered likely to give Eisenhower "a very slight edge." Editors see several factors favoring the GOP:

The Democratic plurality has been dropping in recent national elections. The vote may set a record this year. Wounds aren't entirely healed from the primary scrap between President Truman and Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Lay-offs in mill regions are resented. Some Democrats are cool toward Truman campaign utterances.

Vanderburgh County, Ind., in which Evansville is located, has been visited by both Eisenhower and Stevenson.

Ike 52, Adlai 48

On the basis of a post card poll, the Evansville Press estimates the county will toss 52 per cent of its vote to Eisenhower, 48 per cent to Stevenson.

Next door in Ohio, Belmont County looks like Stevenson territory. Coal and steel are the big industries.

A bit farther east, in Marion County, West Virginia, this is the word from C. E. Smith, veteran editor of the Fairmont Times, a staunch Democrat and Stevenson supporter:

"Marion County has proved an accurate political barometer through the years because its diversified population is a cross-section of the whole country. I used to be able to forecast how the country was going by waking up and down Main Street just before election day, talking to the people."

Soft Coal Area

"There is no reason to believe that the county will not go Democratic this year."

Fayette County, Pennsylvania, in the heart of the soft coal region, seems likely to back Stevenson, too.

But Joseph L. Dickson, editor of the Uniontown Herald, expects the Democratic margin to be smaller than in past elections.

Iowa's two bellwether counties are considered Republican this year. Jasper County is an industrial and agricultural area. Palo Alto a farming county.

Cook County, Oregon, has been switching around. In early September it seemed pointed toward Stevenson. Now it is believed reasonably sure to like Ike.

Farmers and laborers make up the bulk of the voters in a county that shows signs of weariness at being polled over and over.

County, Pennsylvania; Stafford and Coos Counties, New Hampshire.

Texas Airlines To Sputter In Hectic Political Climax

By The Associated Press

Senator Richard Nixon, Republican candidate for vice president, was making a wide swing through Texas Monday in quest of votes that might send him and Dwight Eisenhower into the nation's top public offices.

The Californian was to speak at the Texarkana airport around noon, and then was to make the Gregg County Airport, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Abilene and Midland before reaching El Paso at 9:05 p.m.

Other speeches Monday night include one by Senator Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, speaking in behalf of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee; Gov. Allan Shivers, plugging again for the Eisenhower-Nixon Republican ticket; and former Attorney General William McCraw, speaking for Stevenson.

Kerr At Wichita Falls

Shivers speaks Monday night at a Democratic rally in Breckenridge. Kerr will speak at Wichita Falls and his address is to be broadcast over 14 West Texas radio stations. McCraw's speech for the Democratic nominee will be heard over the Texas State Network.

It was an auspicious beginning for the final drive for votes but heavier days of speech-making were ahead.

Tuesday—Senator Tom Connally will be at Democratic rally for speech to be broadcast over Texas State network at 8 p.m. in behalf of Stevenson candidacy. Attorney General Price Daniel, state-wide Democratic Network at 8 p.m. in behalf of Stevenson at Austin speech at a Democratic rally; Galloway Calhoun, Tyler attorney, state-wide broadcast, 8:45-9 p.m. in behalf of Eisenhower; McCraw in a television program at Dallas; a Veterans-for-Stevenson program, also at Dallas.

Four Ex-Governors

Thursday—Shivers at Harlingen Democratic rally; Shivers and former Governors Dan Moody, Coke Stevenson, and W. P. Hobby in 7:30 p.m. broadcast over Texas State Network for Eisenhower candidacy; speech by Speaker Sam Rayburn over Texas State network in behalf of Stevenson at 7 p.m.; Rep. Oliver Teague of College Station and others will talk over Texas Quality Network at 9 p.m. for Stevenson.

Senator Kerr's speech Monday night will be carried by the following stations at the times indicated:

KCRS, Midland, 9:30 p.m.; KDST, Big Spring, 8 p.m.; KOKI, San Angelo, 8 p.m.; KRBC, Abilene, 9:45 p.m.; KOSA, Odessa, 9 p.m.

Slavs Say Bulgars Fire Across Border

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA (AP)—Belgrade radio says Bulgarian troops fired across the border at a Yugoslav pillbox Sunday and Bulgarian planes made three illegal flights over Yugoslav territory.

The border violations were reported around Dimitrovgrad—a strategic area which could be a major invasion route for Yugoslavia's unfriendly, Soviet-dominated neighbors on the east.

The broadcast, which quoted the Foreign Office, did not say whether Yugoslav forces had returned fire or taken other retaliatory measures.

Two Transports Due From Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two transports, carrying 2,015 service men and their dependents, arrive Monday from Pacific ports.

The Gen. D. I. Sultan docks with 1,625 Army and Marine personnel from the Far East and the Gen. William Mitchell arrives with 390 Army and Navy men from Hawaii.

Texas' 24 Electoral Votes May Be Key To White House

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—Two and a half million Texas voters may hold the key to the White House door for either Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Texas' 24 electoral votes—sixth biggest block in the nation—are in doubt for the first time since 1928 and the second time this century.

A Democratic rebellion that splintered off segments of the once-solid Texas party in 1948 split it wide open this year.

For the first time in history, a Democratic governor of Texas has joined the Republicans in backing their presidential candidate, Gov. Allan Shivers' simmering displeasure with New Deal and Fair Deal policies boiled over when Stevenson said he could not agree with Texas claims to submerged offshore lands and their potential—and disputed—oil wealth.

The revolt brought an open alliance between Shivers, his established state party machinery and a militant Republican organization making its first serious effort in a quarter of a century to win the Texas electoral vote. Nothing like it had ever happened in historically Democratic Texas.

Outcome Uncertain

The outcome is so uncertain that both parties for the first time sent their presidential candidates crossing the state.

The Associated Press' second 1952 survey of political thinking in Texas confirmed the professional politician's view that in mid-October the outcome here was uncertain.

In August the survey by newspapermen showed they believed Eisenhower held a narrow margin, with many voters uncertain.

The uprising by Shivers and other state Democratic leaders such as Attorney General Price Daniel, unopposed nominee for the U. S. Sen-

Flying Corridor To Berlin Like Fighting Icy Highway

By GRACE HALSELL
Special Reporter-Telegram
Correspondent

FRANKFURT—Flying "the corridor" out of Berlin deep in the Soviet sector to Rhein-Main airport here in the United States zone can be like driving your car over ice highways.

"Sometimes you don't know where she's headed," commented a veteran pilot, First Lt. Harry Miller, Jr. of Brady, Texas.

Lieutenant Miller explained the difficulties of keeping within the 17-mile wide corridor as I sat beside him and his co-pilot flying in a C-47 Army Transport "courier ship" out of Berlin.

Only days before an American hospital ship had been fired upon by Russian fighters.

"First courier flight I took to Berlin I had a Russian YAK pass within 50 feet of my nose," the pilot said in a good Texas twang which somehow reassured me he was a qualified aviator.

Since that surprise visit, Lieutenant Miller has flown "at least 225" trips into Berlin, making the flight four times in the last two days.

"Russian MIG's very often come alongside of us and fly formation," Miller said.

Outside, it was raining and dark clouds were closing in. I couldn't see whether any MIG were flying formation; beside us or not.

"The Russians can operate their radios on the same frequency as ours, and jam our radios," the Texan said.

"It's Not Easy"

"Or, if there is bad weather—sleet and heavy rains—we sometimes can't see. So, sometimes it's not very easy to stay in the corridor."

Among the dozens of panel instruments, he then pointed the indicator—smaller than a bus token—which showed by an arrow running straight through it that we were flying true.

Asked if he thought the American pilot whose hospital plane was fired upon was flying inside the air corridor, Lieutenant Miller answered: "He said he was. I'd take his word for it."

Talking above the motor's roar, the Texan said he was the pilot who flew former Russian Ambassador George Kennan out of Moscow September 19. Kennan didn't know it then, but he was not to be permitted to re-enter the Soviet capital.

"We left Tempelhof in Berlin

September 16, and flew into Moscow on the morning of September 17 to pick up the ambassador," Miller said. Kennan intended only making a routine visit in Europe, then returning to Moscow. Once he was out, the Soviets asked for his permanent departure.

"No American pilot is permitted to stay in Moscow more than 72 hours," the lieutenant said.

He said he could understand why. "I have been in 19 countries, and Russia is the worst yet. The slum districts around home look good compared with Russia. I have never seen anything like the living conditions in Moscow—not anything even in Europe."

Men Look On

He said you could walk out of the American embassy "and see a woman across the street digging a ditch." He added: "The women do all the manual labor and the men stand around watching."

The Texan bought a cigarette case as a souvenir. "It would have cost me about $150 in the States," he had to pay 118 rubles for it—or $29.50.

Walking in one department store to buy some dolls as a souvenir, he said he passed a counter where they had just received a shipment of several hundred cheap alarm clocks. The people lined up to get them, and when I came downstairs again the clocks already had been sold out.

"The people don't seem to want to keep rubles. They seem to want to get something more tangible with them," he remarked.

When the people see a truck with clothing back up to a store, they go in and line up to buy the merchandise, he said.

He said he was able to buy some "nestling dolls"—wooden dolls, one inside another in various sizes—for 85.

The Soviet subways in Moscow he termed "the most beautiful in the world."

It is required that two Soviet officers ride on any American plane flying in and out of Moscow. One is a radio operator who is able to carry on communications with the fields below, and one a navigator.

"They don't talk to you—just motion if you should go up or down," Miller said.

He said one couldn't be sure whether they spoke English or not. As pilot with the 7167 Special Air Missions (something they call "SAM" around these parts) of the U. S. Air Forces, Europe (USAFE), Miller says his primary missions is to fly Very Important Persons (VIP's). He's flown most of the generals around over here, and quite a few congressmen.

"Special Missions" Talk

What he had to say about some of the "special missions" wouldn't do to print, he said.

In October, he has flown every day with the exception of one. "I'll probably go to Athens or Ankara tomorrow," he said—"Or maybe North Africa."

The weather outside had "closed in" but we were out of the Soviet zone. We approached for a landing at Wahn, the airfield near Bonn, in the British zone. With earphones, I heard a man in the tower, with a pronounced British accent, give directions to Pilot Miller on how to make a landing "in the dark."

GCA's, they're called—Ground Control Approach.

You're 13 miles out, descend to 3,000 feet," the man instructed. Then: "You're 11 miles out. Cleared to descend to 2,000 feet."

Finally, from out of the dark the orderly row of landing strip lights were laid out right in front of the plane's nose.

The Texas man put the C-47 down as gently as a baby.

"That was nice," I volunteered. "Nothing to this job," he answered. "Actually, the people back home are more nervous about it than we are."

A couple of more GCA's, at Rhein-Main and nearby Wiesbaden, and Pilot Miller was ready to call it a day.

Pioneer West Texas Resident, Mother Of Midland Man, Dies

Mrs. G. Hugh Long, 64, pioneer West Texan and mother of Eugene Long of Midland, died Sunday afternoon at her residence in Weatherford following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Long was born in Tennessee and came to Texas with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Melton, in 1890. They settled in the Springtown Community, 18 miles north of Weatherford. She was married to G. Hugh Long at Springtown in 1906, and they moved to Weatherford in 1911. They had resided there since that time.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in White's Funeral Chapel at Weatherford, with Minister O. M. Reynolds officiating. Interment will be in a Weatherford cemetery.

Australia Guards Uranium Property

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA—(AP)—The promising R. m. jungle uranium field in Northern Australia has been declared a prohibited area by the Commonwealth Government.

Under the Defense Act of Parliament a penalty of seven years' jail is provided for anyone who photographs, sketches or makes notes about the prohibited area.

This is the first time the Australian government has invoked this act to protect deposits of uranium.

Retired Professor Walks 2,025 Miles

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A white-haired, bearded retired college professor, George F. Miller, 72, is back home after a 2,025-mile hike from Georgia to Maine along the Appalachian Trail.

He started the walk at Mt. Oglethorpe, Ga., and finished at the summit of Mt. Katahdin, Maine. He averaged 15 miles a day. On the trip he suffered a cut leg, a sprained knee and several falls. His shoes were resoled three times.

"I have no more plans for hiking the rest of my life," said the slim and wiry professor. He walked from Missouri to New York City in 1913 when he was only 33.

Membership in U. S. Protestant churches increased about 65 per cent from about 31,500,000 in 1926 to more than 52 million in 1952.

Television Rattles Trained Badis Badis

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—(AP)—"I never met a fish I didn't like," says Frank Ward who has 300 tanks of fish on his fish farm.

Ward's hobby is tropical fish, which he says have a lot of human traits. They get sick with such ailments as kidney trouble, heart disease, cancer and even common colds. Ward has devised his own fish food composed of everything from baby cereal to Epsom salts.

"Fish get as nervous as humans sometimes," he says, recalling the TV debut of his fish. One variety, the "badis badis," got stage jitters when doing a balancing act on Ward's hand.

High School Grid Spotlight Falls On Pampa-Lubbock Tilt

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Five clashes of unbeaten teams highlight a busy week of conference play in Texas schoolboy football.

For the second straight week the spotlight falls on District 1 of Class AAAA, where Lubbock and Pampa battle for what is likely to be the title. Last week it was Midland vs. Pampa with the latter coming through, 38-26, to put the issue squarely up to Lubbock, defending state champion.

Fumbles Take Big Hand In Border Games

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—Fumbles played a big part in three of the low-scoring games in which Border Conference teams participated Saturday night.

The University of Arizona recovered a Hardin-Simmons fumble on Arizona's three-yard line with 40 seconds to go to save a 13-12 lead.

Houston grabbed an Arizona State College at Tempe fumble on the Sun Devil five in the second period and on the next play Cougar Halfback S. M. Meeks plunged over four yards for the only score in the contest.

The West Texas State Buffaloes nabbed an Abilene Christian fumble early in the third period, marching 48 yards in 10 plays and tied the score at 12-12 when Bob Welch went into the end zone for a TD. The Buffs went into the lead when Kenneth Clap converted and eventually won an upset 28-18 victory.

Conversion Blocked

It was a blocked conversion attempt by Dick Shunault of Texas Western that gave the New Mexico Lobos a 14-13 victory over the Miners Saturday night at El Paso.

Arizona State College at Flagstaff suffered the worst blow of the night. With the Lumberjacks holding a 13-7 lead over New Mexico Highlands from Las Vegas, N. M., 12 seconds to go and Highlands with the ball on the Jacks' 47, the lights went out. When it was found impossible to get them back on, Coach Jack Pederson of Flagstaff and Ed Clevon of Highlands decided to call the game "no contest."

ASC Flagstaff meets New Mexico Aggies on the Aggies' home field Saturday for the only game that counts in conference standings.

In other games, Arizona will play at New Mexico University, Hardin-Simmons will meet Santa Cruz at Mod. Calif.; Texas Tech will be at Houston, and Texas Western takes on Midwestern at Wichita Falls. ASC Tempe and West Texas State are idle.

Troy Women Keep Thin Lead In City Bowling Contests

The Troy Cleaners returned at the top of the Women's Bowling League race last week after taking two out of three games from the West Texas Office Supply team.

Billy Roy came through with the highest single game of the week, a neat 215, in rolling an even 500 series.

In the other matches last week, Kruger Jewels won two out of three from Schlitz, Millers High Life edged Midland Office Machine Company, I. W. Hynd Company won over Terminal Airway Cash grocery, and House of Beauty defeated Neely Agency.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Troy Cleaners	14	7
Neely Agency	13	8
Schlitz	13	8
Kruger Jew	12	9
House of Beauty	11	10
Millers High Life	10	11

The reason there are so many important games in District 1 is because of its overall strength — there are more strong teams in this area than any other district save possibly one.

Both Pampa and Lubbock are undefeated. The other team in the state with a perfect record—Wichita Falls — meets Waco in the opening of warfare in District 5. This will indicate strongly whether Wichita Falls deserves a rating of No. 1 in the state as accorded in several quarters. Waco has lost a game but it was to mighty Temple of Class AAA and the Tigers still must be reckoned as one of the top eleven of their class.

Corsicana-Temple Feature

The fight of Corsicana and Temple in District 5 headlines Class AAA. Corsicana isn't undefeated but it is one of the two big stumbling blocks ahead of Temple. Lufkin, unbeaten and untied, is the other. Brownwood, Lufkin, Temple, Edinburg (San Antonio) and McAllen are the teams with perfect records in AAA.

Three games between unbeaten teams are scheduled in Class AA. The headlines are Quannah at Burkhardt in District 4 and Stamford at Anson in District 5. Down in District 20 Huntville, unbeaten and untied, plays Humble, undefeated but once-tied. Teams with perfect records in this class are Phillips, Dumas, Floydada, Burkhardt, Terrell, Mount Pleasant, Paul Pettit, Center, Killean, Huntville, Gonzales and Uvalde.

Itasca Plays Clifton

Class A features the battle of Itasca and Clifton in District 11. This brings together two unbeaten and untied teams. There are nine more teams without defeat or tie in Class A. Dublin, Jefferson, Troup, Fairfield, Missouri City, Pajaro, Floresville, Hebronville and Benavides.

There are only 21 games in Class AAAA but all except one is a conference affair this week. The schedule by districts:

1—Friday: Odessa at Borger; Abilene at Midland; Saturday: San Angelo at Amarillo; Lubbock at Pampa.

2—Thursday: Jefferson (El Paso) vs. El Paso High; Friday: Austin (El Paso) at Ysleta.

3—Friday: Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs. North Side (Fort Worth).

Action In Texas Conference To Concentrate In Abilene

By The Associated Press

Action of the Texas Conference football race will be concentrated in Abilene this week. Saturday two championship games will be played in that city—the entire schedule of the league for the weekend.

In the afternoon, Texas A&I opens the conference race against Abilene Christian in what will be the second game for the Wildcats, who hold a 26-0 shutout over McMurry. At night, Austin College clashes with McMurry. These two schools, both idle last week, lost their only conference games played.

The league didn't do very well last week, dropping two of its three games. Texas A&I was the only first game of the season, beating

Texas, SMU Vie Saturday In Top Southwest Contest

By The Associated Press

Texas battles Southern Methodist and Baylor marches against Texas Christian Saturday in the biggest weekend of Southwest Conference football. A clear-cut favorite and leader is due to emerge from these games.

These are the leaders—Texas and Southern Methodist undefeated and untied, TCU unbeaten but once tied, Baylor with one victory and one loss.

The three other members of the league—Arkansas, Texas A&M and Rice—can be considered out of the running.

Texas will be a resounding favorite over stumbling Southern Methodist, which beat Rice in its only conference start but last week was blasted all over the Cotton Bowl by Kansas. Texas was whipping Rice 20-7, and doing probably a more thorough job than had SMU, which won, 21-14, over the Owls.

The Texas-Christian-Baylor game can be regarded only as a toss-up. Last week Baylor beat A&M, 21-20. TCU previously had tied A&M, 7-7.

The Texas-SMU game will be at Austin while Baylor and Texas Christian tangle at Fort Worth. At College Station, Arkansas and Texas A&M will be fighting for little more than family pride.

Rice, loser of both its conference games, will be mixing in an inter-sectional affair with Wisconsin at Houston.

One To Be Eliminated

The conference had rather not talk about its inter-sectional record. It's the worst this league ever compiled in a season since it became a major conference and was ranked alongside the best in the country.

While Southern Methodist was being licked, 26-0, by Kansas last week Arkansas was absorbing a 34-7 humiliation at the hands of Mississippi. The season record is seven victories against 12 defeats in inter-sectional warfare.

At least one more team will be eliminated from the championship race Saturday. The loser of the Texas-Christian-Baylor game can be counted out of the running. Either Texas or SMU can take the undisputed lead unless the teams play to a tie.

League-Withdrawing Requests Refused

CORPUS CHRISTI.—P.—Applications from Port Arthur and Lake Charles, La., to withdraw from the Gulf Coast Baseball League have been refused.

But league president Howard Green Sunday said he thought the subject would come up again soon. The two cities want to join the Evangeline League in Louisiana so their travel distances from other towns in their baseball loop will not be so great.

Andrews Fullback Lost To McMurry

ABILENE.—Waggoner Graham, McMurry College fullback from Andrews, probably will be out for the rest of the season following a shoulder separation in a scrimmage session last week.

The separation in the right shoulder of the Andrews veteran hit him just as he was reaching his peak this year. Graham was called "one of the best backs on the field" after the McMurry-Abilene Christian College game by Indian Coach Wilford Moore.

Upsets Cloud Picture In Rose Bowl Regatta

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK.—(P)—This is the time of the year that the titans of college football usually begin looking forward to the gold of bowl games or the glory of conference titles. Not this time.

The muscle-men, noting the trend of things, are quaking as they come to each game. The upsets haven't been startling but each week some of the big boys are biting the dust.

If Iowa, the punching bag of the Big Ten, can whip Ohio State, and Southern California can shut out California—a feat that hadn't been accomplished in 60 games—nothing should be a surprise.

Perhaps the only certainty, and that's going out on the limb, is that Michigan State and Maryland are the class of the country insofar as the records are concerned. Neither has stumbled even once, and each has shown a wealth of power and an ability to stop the enemy when it counts.

Right behind are one-tied Oklahoma and two Southern powers, Georgia Tech and Duke. The unbeaten list should be reduced by one come Saturday when Tech and Duke collide head-on at Durham, N. C.

Golden Bears Crashed

Until this week, California was high up on the list. Then Southern California whipped the Golden Bears, 10-0.

Now the Pacific Coast race is up in the air. Cal still can win it, but Southern Cal and UCLA, which like the Trojans, is undefeated, will have plenty to say. UCLA meets the Golden Bears Saturday and it they can answer the question, they might win it.

Georgia Tech and Duke will play the headline game of the South, and the Engineers will rule slight favorites. Both warmed up to their tasks Saturday, Tech clouting Vanderbilt, 30-0, and the Blue Devils conquering previously undefeated Virginia, 21-7.

Feared Maryland, which whipped Louisiana State, 34-6, will test its might once again against Boston University.

The Big Ten also is unsettled. Illinois and Wisconsin both were supposed to fight it out for the title with the Badgers probably going to the Rose Bowl in any event because the Illini were there last year. Today, the Illini are in the cellar.

Purdue, overlooked in the pre-season ratings, and Michigan are the leading the loop. And Purdue's 40-12 triumph over Illinois Saturday would indicate that the Boilermakers are getting more confident as the season progresses. If they can do that to the Illini, they ought to be able to take it.

In the Ivy League, Yale, which currently is tied with Penn for the lead, each with 3-0 marks, faces Dartmouth, which should be a setup for the Elis. Penn must play Penn State, no cinch, in a non-league encounter. Princeton, the defending champion, entertains Brown after whom Cornell 27-0.

In the Big Seven, championship-bound Oklahoma figures to run through a workout at the expense of Iowa State, and Kansas, the runnerup, should have no trouble with Kansas State. Missouri and Nebraska play the top game from a competitive standpoint.

Oklahoma A&M and Tulsa go at each other in what could be a game to decide the championship of the Missouri Valley. In the Skyline Conference Utah and Colorado A&M probably will fight it out for the title when they meet November 8. The Aggies will entertain Colorado of the Big Seven. Idaho State is expected to clinch a share of the Rocky Mountain crown by defeating Colorado Mines Saturday.

Worrying him are the Cougars' victory over Arkansas, the team that beat Baylor, and Houston's devastating, 33-7 win from a Tulsa team believed the best in the Oklahoma school's history.

Houston and Tech met for the first time last fall, the Missouri Valley contender winning 9-0 in Houston.

Texas Tech Jinx Missing From Houston U Encounter

LUBBOCK.—Texas Tech won't be able to throw much of a Homecoming jinx at the University of Houston here Saturday afternoon.

History shows that the Red Raiders have managed a mere 14-8 margin over the years in games played for Tech alumni reunions. In fact, one of the most crushing of Tech's defeats came at a Homecoming, in 1950, when ex-Techman Buddy Brothers coached the University of Tulsa to a 39-7 victory.

On a more cheerful note, however, Coach DeWitt Weaver can point out to his Raiders that four of the Homecoming clashes resulted in Tech victories over Southwest Conference opponents—over Baylor in 1932 and 1946, over Texas Christian in 1942 and 1945.

University of Houston, on the basis of early season showings, is as worthy an opponent as Tech will meet this fall, Weaver figures.

Red Artillery Fire Drives Leathernecks Off Korean Hilltop

SEOUL—(AP)—Punishing Red artillery fire Monday night drove U. S. Marines off the crest of "The Hook," a few hours after they recaptured the western ridge in bitter close-quarter fighting.

A Marine officer at the front said the Leathernecks pulled back from the crest and forward slopes at 8:55 p.m.

There was no indication whether the Chinese Communists moved up to occupy the high ground.

The Reds earlier had attacked with 2,000 men along a three-mile front.

The officer said, "The Communists made only a small penetration in our line. It was contained and never got out of hand."

Main target was The Hook and Marine outposts along a three-mile sector to the north. The Hook is about 10-12 miles east of Panmunjom, site of the recessed armistice talks.

The officer said the Chinese attack was well planned and well executed.

U. S. Weather Plane Lost In New Philippines Typhoon

MANILA—(AP)—A raging typhoon—the second in six days—plowed a trail of destruction across the Central Philippines Monday.

Path of the new storm was south of the populous areas leveled by the typhoon which last week took almost 450 lives.

As the storm lashed Samar, Northern Leyte and Masbate Islands Monday and headed over the Sibuyan Sea, its center velocity slackened from 150 to 100 miles an hour.

A U. S. B-29 weather plane from Clark Air Force Base, north of Manila, was missing after it flew into the typhoon 200 miles east of Samar Sunday. There were 15 aboard.

The big blow caused extensive crop damage but early reports mentioned no casualties.

It was expected to cross Southern Mindoro Island Monday night and blow into the South China Sea.

Planes and ships are searching an area about 200 miles east of Samar in the Central Philippines for the B-29.

The storm hit Samar Sunday night. It was from that area the plane made its last radio report.

An Air Force spokesman said there still was hope the plane might have crash-landed safely. The crew had survival equipment.

Postal Inspector Believes Perfumed Letter Accident

ATLANTA—(AP)—A postal inspector theorized Monday that a strong smelling letter which made 14 Texans sick was an accident and not a deliberate poison attempt.

Fourteen employees of the International Life Insurance Company, Austin, Texas, became ill "after handling a highly scented letter mailed from Oglethorpe, Ga. Four were hospitalized and the others were treated and dismissed.

A. L. P. Coggins, assistant postal inspector in charge of the Atlanta office, said "eight or 10 bottles of cheap perfume" were found in the home of the woman who mailed the letter. Samples of the perfumes have been forwarded to Austin.

Coggins said his office has found "no indication that anything was on the letter other than some kind of perfume." The letter is being put through laboratory tests in Texas.

"Obviously the perfume got on the letter before it was mailed," Coggins added, "but indications are it was accidental and not deliberate."

The Oglethorpe woman admitted mailing the letter but denied putting perfume or anything else on it, Coggins said. Her name was withheld.

Midland Futurist Thompson Outlook

Lt. Gen. E. O. Thompson of the Railroad Commission looked around Midland on an official visit over the weekend and decided that he had become a prophet, and a good one at that.

Five years ago the personable general came to this mushrooming metropolis for an all-civic luncheon in regard to a municipal gas problem. Thompson took occasion to look ahead as Midland that day recorded higher gas pressure and solved an acute situation.

Midland's economic climate plus friendliness of the city's population were to make it the Permian Basin capital in an oil development destined to supply much of the world's supply.

Thompson presented figures here last week to show that this prediction had been fulfilled. West Texas now produces one gallon barrels daily, or a twelfth of the global output. The Permian Basin is the heart of the West Texas production which totals one third of the daily Texas output of 3,000,000 barrels. Texas turns out half of the nation's production of crude.

With crude averaging $2.85 per barrel, the West Texas income from oil production hits $2,650,000 daily. Thompson pointed out, The Permian Basin contributes a major portion of the West Texas output.

Faith of banking institutions reflected in loan transactions is another factor responsible for the miracle-like growth of Midland. Thompson said. Bankers provide a friendly economic atmosphere for the oil industry.

Office giants impressed Thompson. And, being a hotel operator himself at Amarillo, he called attention to splendid hotel facilities available at the enlarged Scharbauer.

"The Scharbauers have exemplified a deep faith and conviction in Midland, both present and future," the veteran Railroad Commission member said. "Adequate and up-to-date hotel facilities are always a selling attraction to the oil industry."

Thompson predicted five years ago that Midland will become a city of 100,000 residents. He still holds to that figure.

"Such a progressive community, alive to its great opportunities, will grow and grow and grow," the national oil leader reasoned. "Past progress indicates the future will be more than double Midland's population."

With the faith of General Thompson and other leaders over the state and nation who back up predictions with their own contributions to this area's progress, Midland can't miss a continuing high mark in community development.

Bishop Selecman Propounds Reasons For Protestantism

"Many people are Protestants who do not know why they are," said Methodist Bishop Charles C. Selecman of Dallas, addressing a group representing all Midland Protestant denominations at the High School Auditorium Sunday afternoon.

The occasion was the first Reformation Day services ever held in this city, and Bishop Selecman told the gathering, "The Protestant position of today was bought at great cost." He advised them that, "Reformation day is a day for re-education of ourselves to the principles of that great historical movement."

He was using as his topic "Why I Am a Protestant," and he recommended that Protestants read either two volumes by Dr. Paul Blanchard or the "Protestant Manifesto" by Dr. William E. Garrison to clarify their position.

Bishop Selecman traced the moral struggle that Martin Luther, endured before he broke with the Roman Catholic church. He stated that the great Protestant church reformer first became disillusioned when he visited Rome. The Methodist Bishop characterized the Church of Rome in that day as being corrupt and oppressive.

The sale of indulgences as permits to commit sins, and the system of extracting large sums of money from relatives of dead people to pray their souls out of purgatory were quoted as examples by Selecman of the practices Luther fought against in the early days of the Protestant church. Luther believed faith in God is the only condition of salvation.

The Protestant has many religious tenets in common with other faiths, believes Bishop Selecman. He credited the Jews with giving the Protestants the Old Testament, the Catholics with giving them the New Testament, and he stated, "I am a Protestant because I have the Old and New Testaments, plus Jesus Christ."

He dismissed the agnostic as a contributor of nothing to religious principles, saying, "He is on a train that starts nowhere and is going nowhere."

Bishop Selecman told his audience that Luther started the doctrine of separation of church and state. He said it was a hard-won battle, and "the bloody days of martyrdom stand out on the pages of history."

He sounded a call for honesty and integrity in government, saying that the pulpits of churches in this country should take a firm stand against corruption in government.

The Methodist church leaders gave the population of religious groups in the United States as being 32,000,000 Protestants, 29,000,000 Catholics, and 5,000,000 Jews. The Greek Orthodox Church has 1,000,000 members. He said the Protestant churches were experiencing rapid growth in new members as other faiths joined them.

Bishop Selecman defended the Revised Standard version of the Bible, saying, "Men have been burned at the stake for translating the Bible." He pointed out that we need an "open" Bible, and he likened the modern revised edition to the time when the King James version was produced, with people against it even as they are in some cases now.

Bible Study Stressed

He defended the right of individuals to differ on the merits of the new Bible, but he emphasized study of the Bible, saying, "What value is it to fight for an open Bible, if we leave it alone to read trashy novels and other periodicals?" and "What matter to plea for personal interpretation if we lead prayerless lives?"

The Rev. R. Luther Kirk presided at the Reformation Day Services, and introduced the speaker. The invocation was by the Rev. Robert J. Snell, and Dr. R. Matthew Lynn explained the significance of Reformation Day, pointing out it was the 500th year of publication of the Bible, and the first year of printing of the Revised Standard Version.

Prayer was led by the Rev. F. W. Rogers, and the Rev. J. B. Sharp gave the benediction. The Rev. Clyde Lindsey presented the Scripture lesson.

An impressive feature of the religious music program, under the direction of J. Q. Woodward, was an unusual production of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." A muffled drum and soft orchestral accompaniment gave a lofty effect to the voices of the choir as they sang the great song of this nation.

Comet Jet Crashes; 36 Escape Injuries

ROME—A—One of Britain's eight-mile-a-minute Comet jet airliners raced into the air off Rome's Ciampino Airport Sunday night, wobbling momentarily and then smashed back to earth in a belly landing.

None of the 36 passengers and six crew members aboard the world's fastest airliner was hurt, although the plane was damaged badly.

Officials of British Overseas Airways said the cause of the accident had not been determined. The plane was taking off on the second leg of its London-to-Johannesburg flight.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log—

covery was 3,700 feet of clean 34-gravity oil and no water.
More hole was made to 4,629 feet where another drillstem test was in progress.

No. 10 Richter is three-quarters of one mile north of Humble No. 4-B Sorrells, recently completed as the first Wolfcamp well in the field.

That oiler was completed through casing perforations at 5,310-5,335 feet and from 5,410 to 5,440 feet.

No. 10 Richter is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 97, block 25, H&TCo survey.

Magnolia Finals West Stepout To SE Midland Pool

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-R TXL, one-half mile west stepout to production in the Pegasus field of Southwest Midland County, has been completed for a daily flowing potential of 339 barrels of 44.2-gravity oil from the Pennsylvanian.

Flow was through perforations at 10,571-10,599 feet and through a 24 64-inch tubing choke. The pay section had been acidized.

Gas-oil ratio was 2,018-1 and tubing pressure 465 pounds.

Location is 600 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 25, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey.

W-C Yoakum Deep Failure Is Plugged

Signal Oil & Gas Company, Southern California Petroleum Corporation and Vega Corporation No. 1 Signal - SoCal - Webb, West-Central Yoakum County wildcat has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 11,510 feet in barren Devonian.

The Devonian made only water. After finding that zone barren operators plugged back to 10,938 feet in the Mississippian and attempted to test the section at 10,780-938 feet.

Test Not Secured

A satisfactory test was not secured. However a check of the micro-logs of this wildcat and of the Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Weems, a flowing discovery from the Mississippian several miles to the west, revealed that the Mississippian section in the Signal, et al project did not have the same sort of rock as does the Amerada strike.

After that information was developed operators ordered No. 1 Signal - SoCal - Webb plugged and abandoned.

It was three and one-half miles west of the Yoakum Plains.

Location Listed

Location was 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 423, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Elevation was 3,700 feet. Top of the Mississippian is at 10,790 feet. Top of the Devonian is at 11,490 feet.

C-W Martin Test Makes Water On Ellenburger DST

Standard Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Flynn, wildcat in Central-West Martin County, was bottomed at 13,383 feet in the Ellenburger with electric log surveys being run.

A drillstem test was taken from 13,273-279 feet. Tool was open two hours and 40 minutes. Recovery was 810-foot water-cut mud and 10,440 feet of salt water.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 12, league 248, Hartley County School Land survey.

Guiberson Slates 7,000-Foot Test In N-C Coke Area

Allen Guiberson of Dallas will drill No. 1 D D. Feldman as a 7,000-foot rotary wildcat in North-Central Coke County, 11 miles north of Robert Lee.

It will be dug one mile north and slightly west of the discovery well and only producer of the San Benito field which produces from the Marble Falls of the Pennsylvanian.

Site is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 301, block 1-A, H&TCo survey and on a 60-acre lease.

Kimbell Schedules Preliminary Test In NE Terry Sector

Kay Kimbell of Fort Worth will drill No. 1 S. T. Murphy as a 6,100-foot project one location east of production in the Prentice field of Northeast Yoakum County.

This project is located just across the county line in Terry County.

Operator staked site 1,006 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 22, block K, psi survey and 23 miles northwest of Brownfield.

Operations are to start at once.

Keweenaw Abandon

Keweenaw Oil Company has plugged and abandoned No. 1 H. G. Wendland, wildcat in Southeast Coke County, on total depth of 6,318 feet in the Ellenburger.

Some shows of oil were found in a thin pay section in the McCutchen Cisco sand.

Location was 467 feet from north and east lines of section 23, Castleria Rubio survey.

Operations are to start at once.

Two WT Wildcats Plugged, Abandoned

Two wildcats in West Texas have been plugged and abandoned. In Guiberson County, 21 miles west of Toyah, Hill & Hill of Fort Worth and others quit their No. 1 Grisham-Hunter at total depth of 2,690 feet.

It was 330 feet from south and east lines of section 2, block C-17, psi survey.

Lee O. White of Fort Stockton has abandoned his No. 1 Masterson, North Pecos County venture, at 2,005 feet.

Location was 20 miles northeast of Fort Stockton and 330 feet from southwest and 990 feet from south-east lines of section 65, block 10, H&GN survey.

Depleted Discovery In Martin Plugged

Ryan Consolidated Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Willie Peters, small pumping discovery from the Spraberry in Southeast Martin County, has been plugged as a depleted producer.

The well, completed for a daily potential of 8.25 barrels of oil in March of 1952, was 660 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block 36, T-1-S, T&P survey.

BOTH ARE BAD, SAYS MOSCOW

MOSCOW—(AP)—Pravda gave Russian readers a half-page summary Monday of the U. S. presidential campaign, calling both Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson "true servants of American monopolies."

The Communist Party organ said both the Republican and Democratic candidates are:

"Leaders in the aggressive policy of the imperialist warmongers."

"Inspires of anti-Communist hysteria."

"Preachers of reaction and aggression."

Pravda's article—the most extensive commentary to date on the American election—condemned both candidates with what appeared to be complete impartiality.

Stripling Sets Radio Talks

ABILENE—Robert E. Stripling of Midland, former chief investigator for the U. S. House Un-American Activities Committee, is to speak over the radio in Abilene at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Stripling will discuss the Communist infiltration in the government and the talk is to be carried over five West Texas radio stations.

The program will take the form of an interview, with several leaders of the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower, the sponsor of the program, asking the questions.

Stations which will broadcast the program are KABC and KWKC in Abilene and stations at Stamford, Sweetwater and Snyder.

Stripling is to introduce Senator Richard Nixon, Republican candidate for vice president, for a speech at Midland Air Terminal Monday night.

The former investigator and Nixon were the two men who took the lead in exposing the Alger Hiss case, according to R. M. Wagstaff of Abilene, Taylor County chairman of the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower.

Mock Atomic Attack 'Obliterates' Kilgore In Test Of Defense

KILGORE—P—Three bombers reduced this East Texas oil center to theoretical wreckage Sunday in a simulated atom bomb attack.

More than 100 "crippled and burned" citizens were flown to hospitals in nearby Tyler in two waves of 27 planes. Another 25 were taken in private cars.

Some residents hadn't heard the air raid was coming off, although it had been in the planning stage more than a year and had been well publicized. They thought screaming sirens meant a real disaster and got the jitters.

The atom raid supposedly hit the heart of this town of 12,000, destroying all life within a radius of a mile.

E. K. Liebig, Kilgore civil defense director, said the operation was "a sincere effort to determine our weaknesses in the event disaster should strike."

Voters To Decide On New Texas Proposal To Create Fund For Training Of Doctors

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN—(AP)—Sharing the Texas ballot along with Adlai and Ike November 4 will be the country doctor.

Doc is involved in the second of two proposed constitutional amendments Texas voters must accept or reject at the general election.

The proposal is designed to encourage more young doctors to practice in rural areas. To do this, the Legislature could provide for state grants, loans or scholarships to help them to get their medical education in exchange for their promise to practice in a rural area for some specified period of time.

A new section would be added to the State Constitution to accomplish this. It would read:

Board Proposed

"The Legislature shall create a state medical education board to be composed of not more than six members whose qualifications, duties and terms of office shall be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall also establish a state medical education fund and make adequate appropriations therefor to be used by the state medical education board to provide grants, loans or scholarships to students desiring to study medicine and agreeing to practice in the rural areas of this state, upon such terms and conditions as shall be prescribed by law. The term "rural areas" as used in this section shall be defined by law."

Big argument for this amendment is the lure of the big cities.

for doctors of the present and future. Proponents contend that the modern trend toward specialization and the ease of city life are bringing extinction to the tribe of old-fashioned country doctors who once braved all the rigors of the wide open spaces to bring your new baby into the world, set your broken arm or give you a pill for your green-apple cramps.

Class Legislation

Friends of the plan say country folks are finding it harder and harder to get medical attention. They think this plan eventually will solve the problem in Texas as a similar one reportedly is doing in Mississippi.

Opponents have some arguments, too. Many of the medical profession frown on its "class legislation." If you subsidize medical education, why not school teachers and lawyers and a dozen or so others? Opponents say there are more practical ways to get doctors to rural areas, such as the community providing treatment facilities attractive to a doctor.

Rep. Jack Bryan of Buffalo sponsored the proposal in the Legislature.
