Voter registration figures are soaring to new heights throughout Texas, according to reports made at the deadline for voters to qualify themselves to cast ballots in the general election, but Scurry County apparently has out-done most of them. Our figures represent substantially more than half of the total population of the county, based on the 1970 federal census.

Most of the others we have seen represent around 45 per cent of their total population, and all have been record highs.

Scurry County's population was 15,760 in 1970, according to the federal census. If that is our population now, over 55 per cent of the county residents are qualified to vote in the general election. When you consider that well over 4,000 of the remainder are public school pupils under 18 years old, and then add those under public school age, the percentage is nothing short of fantastic.

It means that one of three things, or a combination of them, has happened: 1. The federal census was in error. 2. There has been a tremendous growth in population here in the past two years. 3. Far more of Scurry County's people of voting age have registered than they have in other counties.

If our voter registration figures represent half of the county's population, a figure somewhat higher than any other reports we have seen, the county's population is over 17,000. If the figures represent 45 per cent of the total population, as in several other counties, Scurry's population is well over 19,000. Otherwise, we must certainly have the most politically conscious citizenry around.

What do you think?

Whatever else you may think of him, one must credit Sargeant Shriver with courage. He was quoted somewhere as characterizing professional football linemen as "thick," "fat," and "dull-witted." Several men in that profession apparently took exception to those remarks, all including a fellow Merlin Olsen, a football lineman who plays for the Los Angeles Rams. Olsen happens to have a masters degree in economics and he not only challenged Shriver's comments about football linemen, but offered to sit down with the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate and "talk some basic economic theory."

It usually is surprising to a lot of football fans when they learn about the academic accomplishments of many professional athletes — such as Dr. Frank Ryan, the former Cleveland quarterback who had a PhD in math from Rice, or Dr. Charlie Johnson, the St. Louis and Houston quarterback who had a PhD in chemistry. And then the New York Yankees baseball team once had a third baseman with a doctor's degree. Remember Dr. Bobby Brown?

FRENCH CLAIM MISSION DAMAGED

US Planes Attack Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes attacked Hanoi today and the French said their diplomatic mission was heavily damaged and their chief envoy wounded.

In response to a French protest, the U.S. Command said initial operational reports indicated that Navy planes hit military targets 2½ to 3 miles from the mission buildings. It promised an investigation of a French complaint.

"A number of enemy surface to air missiles were fired at the U.S. aircraft," the statement said. "No U.S. aircraft were lost, and the surface to air missiles, after missing the aircraft, could have impacted on the ground."

A spokesman agreed the statement might give the impression that the destruction of the mission headquarters was caused by the North Vietnamese missiles. The command refused, however, to rule out the possibility of U.S. bombs going astray and hitting the French compound.

The command said the military targets attacked included major railroad yards and transshipment points across the Red River north of the French delegation.

In Paris, President Georges Pompidou after a Cabinet meeting called the bombing "a deplorable act." The French protest was handed to U.S. Ambassador Arthur K. Watson.

A French government spokesman said the chief of the mission in the North Vietnamese capital, Delegate-General Pierre Susini, was "very seriously injured."

While his injuries were not fatal, Susini suffered from loss of blood and shock, the spokesman added. Three other diplomats and the mission's French secretaries were unhurt, but four Vietnamese employes were missing.

First to comment in Saigon on the bombing was Gen. John W. Vogt, deputy commander of the U.S. Command and chief of the 7th Air Force. He promised an investigation.

"Right now, I can honestly say I know nothing about it," he said. "I can't imagine how it could have happened. We'll just have to go into it and see what happened. We're going to take a good hard look at it. What we have to do is pick up the pieces and see what the allegations are and try to piece it together."

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported from Hanoi that the American planes bombed the central part of the city. The Tass correspondent said several heavy demolition bombs hit the French headquarters—a group of five buildings on a main avenue—and virtually destroyed it.

The air attack on Hanoi was the first in several weeks and came as peace talks between President Nixon's adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese representatives in Paris were going into their fourth day.

There was speculation in Saigon that the attack on Hanoi had been ordered in an attempt to prod the North Vietnamese into agreeing to the U.S. and South Vietnamese demands.

Elsewhere in North Vietnam, U.S. B52 bombers struck supply caches Tuesday midway between the DMZ and Hanoi. It was the deepest B52 penetration of the North in six months.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese troops regained four hamlets north of Saigon from the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, field reports said, but a new wave of terror attacks in the southern half of South Vietnam killed or wounded nearly 100 civilians.

BOND SALE SCHEDULED

School To Proceed With Plans For Construction

Snyder School Trustees last night made plans to sell $2.9 million in bonds approved last Saturday by voters and instructed their architect to proceed with construction plans for improvement and expansion of facilities to be financed by the bonds.

After conferring with Joe Smith, representing First Southwest Co., the school district's adviser for the bond issue, the board decided to put the bonds on the market in either December or January, with Dec. 5 named as a tentative date. Smith said the bond market is excellent at this time and that he expects the school bonds here to attract considerable attention.

Following the business meeting the board conferred with J. D. Hinton, architect, on construction plans. Hinton said all that remains to be done is production of the construction documents, which will be distributed to prospective bidders. He estimated that this would take around six months.

Board members Ted Crenwelge and Bill Eiland asked for more information on cost factors for the masonry construction proposed by the architects, especially in comparision to metal, prefabricated buildings.

Hinton said that, based on reports concerning school construction throughout the Southwest, which he receives regularly, the project here should be "just about normal" or "down the middle" in cost. He said he he was firmly convinced that the type of construction proposed would be the best value.

Following the discussion Hinton was instructed to proceed with the additions and alterations to the senior high school and at Lamar Junior High School. Air conditioning was discussed briefly, but decisions on those contracts will be made at a later meeting.

A gymnasium facility at the senior high school also was discussed briefly and likely will be added to the construction program. It will enable facilities in the present main high school gym to be turned over to girls for their athletic activities, which at present include gymnastics and volleyball, as well as the regular physical education program.

The board will make a tour of the new fieldhouse and gym facilities now nearing completion at the south end of the football field on Oct. 19. Hinton was asked if any alternate types of construction were considered in designing those facilities. The architect said there were none, because he was instructed specifically to design the facility similar to the one at Monahans.

In other business, the board approved a proposal to establish places for board members in future elections. Under the system approved, the present board members were assigned numbers as follows: Place 1, Harold Lacik; place 2, Max von Roeder; place 3, William J. Schiebel; place 4, Bill Eiland; place 5, Dan Cotton; place 6, Dillard Teal; place 7, Ted Crenwelge.

Places 1 and 2 will be filled at the elections in 1973; places 3, 4 and 5 will be filled in the elections in 1974, and places 6 and 7 will be filled at the elections in 1975.

Also, if no candidate receives a majority of the votes for one of the places, there will be a runofff election between the two top candidates for that place.

Ray Peveler, the school district's tax assessor-collector, was given authority to employ two more persons in his office to help bring information up to date on property in the district.

Another contest gets underway today and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Mesquite Doctor GP Of The Year

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Mesquite, Tex., family doctor has been named "General Practitioner of the Year" at the American Osteopathic Association convention here.

Dr. T. Robert Sharp of Mesquite, a 1944 graduate of the Kirksville, Mo., College of Osteopathic Medicine, is immediate past president of the American College of General Practitioners in Osteopathic Medicine and surgery.

Laird: US To Continue Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today conceded that American bombs may have struck the French diplomatic mission in Hanoi, but said U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam will continue even as private peace talks go on in Paris.

On the basis of preliminary reports, Laird said, he couldn't state positively whether the damage was caused by a faulty bomb drop or by North Vietnamese antiaircraft weapons falling back on the city.

Asked at a news conference if he thought it wise to bomb close to Hanoi while peace talks were in a delicate stage, the secretary replied:

"We will continue the use of airpower during this period. The President has stated this on several occasions and we will continue to strike military targets in North Vietnam."

Laird declared, as he has on several occasions, that the U.S. planes strike at only military targets and not at "downtown Hanoi."

Today's targets, he noted, included a railroad marshaling yard and transshipment point three miles from the French diplomatic mission. He called them "significant military target."

"I can assure you the damage is regrettable and we will check into the matter, but on the basis of preliminary pilot reports I can't state whether it was a faulty bomb drop or SAM missiles," Laird said.

At the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said information now available does not establish that it was an American bomb which caused the damage and injuries. Ziegler said, however, that the State Department will be expressing regret to the French through diplomatic channels over the incident.

Responding to questions, Ziegler said he was not aware of any communication between French President Georges Pompidou and President Nixon on the incident, but said the President has been receiving information from the National Security Council and other U.S. sources.

House Votes Nixon Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to give President Nixon authority to hold back appropriations at his discretion and confine government spending through June 30 to $250 billion.

Nixon had pressed hard for the authority, saying it would ensure that no tax increase will be needed next year. But the bill faces possible trouble in the Senate.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee, who set a tentative hearing on the measure this afternoon, opposes the broad authority it would give the President, as does Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

It was that question of authority over government spending which dominated the House debate and pitted some of its most prominent Democrats against each other.

Debate Cleared On Insurance

AUSTIN (AP) — A 23—8 Senate vote cleared the way for full debate today on a proposal to let Texans shop for lower auto and homeowner insurance rates under a ceiling set by the State Board of Insurance.

The House was expected to vote on a proposal to build an offshore dock for huge oil tankers.

Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy needed 21 votes to bring the proposal before the Senate.

Besides establishing a system of competitive rates on car and house insurance, the measure would permit group auto insurance and would set up strict provisions that must be met before a company may cancel an auto insurance policy.

City Sales Tax Approved Here

Snyder voters approved a one per cent city sales tax in an election held Tuesday at the city hall.

The election, which drew a moderately heavy turnout at the polls, resulted in approval of the sales tax proposal by a margin of over three to one. The complete, unofficial returns showed 814 votes for the sales tax and 248 votes against the sales tax.

The city council had called the election in seeking more revenue which they say will be needed to maintain city services during the next budget year.

It was the second time that a sales tax proposal had reached city voters here. On Jan. 9, 1968, a sales tax proposal was rejected by a vote of 728 to 570.

Cities are allowed to collect the one per cent city sales tax on items subject to the state sales tax. Both state and city sales taxes are collected simultaneously at the time of retail sale of such items. All sales tax funds go to Austin after which the state returns the city share to the city government.

Collection of the city sales tax here will begin next April 1, which means that the city's first revenue from the sales tax will be for the quarter ending June 30, 1973.

Cabinet Officials Named In Suit

BY DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawsuit was filed today against two Nixon cabinet officers charging they head land-grant university aid programs of $750 million a year which cater to big agri-business and special interest groups to the detriment of small farmers, consumers and minorities.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court here, names Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliott Richardson and other officials.

Among the many demands, the complaint seeks a permanent injunction against federal spending on the "land grant complex" of 70 universities, agricultural research, experiment stations and extension services until new operating rules are provided.

"These standards and guidelines must insure that the ... apparatus includes a majority membership representing legitimate spokesmen for consumers, environmentalists, independent family farmers, farm workers, minorities, small-town businessmen, rural public officials and other interests," the complaint said.

The land-grant colleges and universities, nearly all state owned and operated, were endowed by grants of land under the Morrill Act of 1862.

Federal funds, prorated under formulas, are appropriated annually into the institutions for agricultural research, rural extension services and other activities.

Organizations filing the lawsuit included: the National Coalition for Land-Grant Reform, Berkeley, Calif.; National Sharecroppers Fund Inc., Washington, D.C.; Georgia Council on Human Relations, Atlanta, Ga.; Midwest Council of La Raza, University of Notre Dame; and National Consumers League, Washington, D.C.

The complaint charges USDA and HEW of operating land grant programs in violation of federal civil rights laws, discrimination in employment and distribution of benefits and grants, and use of federal funds to benefit private interests and corporations without equal consideration for the public generally.

Ups and downs on the scales of justice

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: "COOLVILLE, OHIO" was disgusted with jury duty and wanted to know if her experience was unique:

I had the same disgusting experience in San Diego. One juror said, "If we don't find this man guilty we will never be asked to serve on jury duty again, and that's the way I make a little extra money, so let's make it unanimous and go home."

My husband served on a jury in Tuscaloosa, Ala. He said a cafe owner was being tried for arson. Another juror, a salesman in one of the stores, said they should find the accused guilty because he had voted to keep the stores open on Thursday afternoons instead of closing them as was the custom during the summer months.

TWO FORMER JURORS

DEAR ABBY: I served on a jury in Columbus, Ohio, and I received the most valuable lesson on being an American in all my 52 years of life.

I used to sneer about the rich getting away with murder while the poor languished in prisons, but when we heard the case of a convict accused during the prison riots in Ohio you wouldn't have believed the way the judge, lawyers and jurors bent over backwards to weigh all the evidence and come to a fair conclusion. The accused was already a convict, he was black and uneducated, but we jurors tried to put ourselves in his place. We knew in our hearts that man was not guilty! And we judged him innocent!

FORMER CYNIC IN COLUMBUS

DEAR ABBY: After passing judgments on soveral cases, one of the women jurors told us she made all her decisions by following the horoscope!

I pray God I am never tried by a jury of my peers.

APPALLED IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: When I was serving on a jury in New Mexico the foreman suggested that we give the "poor woman" who was suing in a personal injuries case everything she wanted because the insurance company had plenty of money. I had the feeling the "poor woman" was lying on the stand, but everyone else was for letting her sock it to them, and I'm ashamed to admit they talked me into it.

STILL ASHAMED

DEAR ABBY: I served on a jury with 10 honest sincere people who all agreed on a verdict of "Not Guilty." But a romance had developed between a married woman and a very stubborn, prejudiced, closed-minded man. We needed 11 "not guilty" votes, but the man held out and the woman refused to go against him, so the trial had to be rescheduled four months later.

WASTE OF TIME IN GEORGIA

DEAR ABBY: I served on a jury. One of the women jurors refused to believe the accused could be guilty of rape because he had such a nice-looking mother. Another juror [a man] said, "But his chin is so weak, he can't possibly have any character." Another one said, "Let's not come to a hasty decision. The county is paying for all the meals, and the food is sure good here."

LEARNED A LOT IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR ABBY: Re jury duty. Having recently served a month's jury duty [criminal cases, Detroit] I wish to praise the organization of the court, the consideration accorded the accused, and the common sense and courage of my fellow jurors. We thoroly discussed each case and arrived at what we felt were fair and sound verdicts. My jury experience has strengthened my faith in our courts.

PROUD IN DETROIT

DEAR ABBY: I served on a jury once and was appalled by the ignorance of some so-called intelligent people. One woman [a professor's wife] voted "guilty" because of the way the defendant's jaw muscles moved when he talked. Another juror suggested we wrap it up as soon as possible because he had tickets to a football game and wanted to get there early. Imagine! One half hour of "deliberation" sent a man to prison from 8 to 12 years. I couldn't sleep for a week because I felt the accused wasn't given half a chance.

DISHEARTENED IN MASS.

DEAR ABBY: I served in L. A. Superior Court. Every day one of the male jurors brought a small bottle of bourbon. He and the other male jurors, plus a couple of ladies, would nip all day long. I could never understand how the bailiff never noticed or how he failed to smell it.

I shudder when I think that such people are deciding the "guilt" or "innocence" of others.

Fees For Pollution Proposed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Industries should be charged fees for the privilege of using water and air, says an economist from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Paul W. MacAvoy told the Society of Petroleum Engineers here Tuesday that man should "treat the resources or water and air like any other scarce goods and not treat them like they are free."

He offered his proposal for an "effluent charge" as a possible experiment to help resolve some of the conflict between growing energy demands and rising concern for environmental protection.

He questioned the value of existing approaches, such as regulating and fining polluters. There are no firm indications that the existing "sporadic" enforcement of regulations is having any real over-all effect on the quality of the environment, he said.

The MIT economist said an agency could be set up along a river, for example, to determine "realistic standards for the quality of the water."

After estimating the pollution the stream could withstand without damage, the agency would set a price on the "excess pollution" that would be paid by industries which must use and pollute the water.

The agency "would issue licenses for the amount of discharges allowed, charging a set fee," he said.

He also suggested the agency might auction off the effluent margin to the highest bidder, allowing non-industry groups such as conservation interests a chance to buy the water to keep it pollution free.

He readily admitted such a plan is theoretical, but he said he feels it should be pursued through "a set of studies or experiments on the local level."

The proposed system would be a step toward having industry "pay the full social costs of using air or a stream and weighing the value of the resource within the charges—including the esthetic value," he said.

Recital By Walz Applauded

A near capacity audience applauded the recital of Pianist Larry Walz last night in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

Walz, who has specialized in playing Liszt, led off his program with Liszt's Ballade in B Minor, which was acclaimed as strong, vibrant and technically perfect.

Also, his Sonata Op. 57 in F Minor (Appasionata) by Beethoven was much appreciated by the audience.

Walz showed his versatility in the second half of the concert, which ranged from the lyrical Prophet Bird Novellete Op. 21, No. 2 by Schumann to the dramatic Three Preludes Op. 23 by Rachmaininoff.

There was more Liszt for the first encore, and then Walz closed out with the last movement of Chopin's B Minor Conata.

Generally, the program was acclaimed as difficult music well done, with technical exactness and sensitivity.

The Walz recital was the first event in the WTC Fine Arts series for this season. The WTC programs also are open to members of Scurry Concert Association.

Farmers Not Paid For Grain

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An Edinburg grain buyer and truck operator who dealt from the Lower Rio Grande Valley into West Texas has filed a bankruptcy petition here, saying he is unable to pay almost $500,000 in debts.

The San Angelo Standard-Times said the action left some 85 West Texas farmers without payment for this year's grain sorghum harvest.

The federal court petition here said checks were issued but remain unpaid on 117 debts contracted in August and September for grain purchases in Miles and Rowena in West Texas.

About 200 farmers and officials gathered in Rowena Tuesday night to meet with aides of Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen to discuss what the federal government can do.

Hubert Eugene Nash said in his bankruptcy petition that he has executed contracts for grain of which 57 million pounds remain undelivered. He had contracted to sell 72.28 million pounds to exporters and grain companies, says the document.

IRA Bomb Makers Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three young IRA bomb makers blew themselves up late Tuesday at the end of a day of violence in Northern Ireland that took five lives and left a man wounded.

A judge, Robert Staunton, 40, was shot three times today while driving through the Roman Catholic Falls Church area after dropping his children off at school, authorities reported.

Staunton, a Catholic, was hit in the neck, shoulder and arm by a gunman riding on the back of a motorbike who fired eight shots before fleeing. The judge was listed in satisfactory condition after emergency surgery.

It was the second recent assassination attempt on a public official. William Craig, a leader of the Protestant militants and a former minister in Ulster's government, escaped injury last week when a terrorist fired three bullets at him.

Irish Republican Army sources said three members of its Provisional wing were killed while mixing explosives in an abandoned Belfast house.

Bitten By Dog

Kenneth M. Daily, 2409 Twenty-sixth Street, was bitten on the left leg by a black chow dog in the 2900 block of Westridge at 4 p.m. Tuesday, according to a City Police report. The animal was placed under observation.

Reactions Vary On McGovern Plan

Sen. George McGovern has made his statement on ending the Vietnam war but it remains to be seen whether those who watched and heard him on television Tuesday night will also vote for him, as he has predicted.

The speech, televised nationwide, was said by McGovern aides to be one of the most crucial of his entire campaign for the presidency.

Initial reaction was predictably partisan, with McGovern supporters praising it, and those in the camp of President Nixon condemning it. Sen. Robert Dole, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called it "a promise of surrender."

McGovern said in the speech that peace in Vietnam is possible "any day that we put the saving of lives ahead of the saving of face."

His own plan for ending the war, McGovern said, would commence with his inauguration as president. He would order an immediate halt to all U.S. bombing, military action and shipment of supplies in Indochina and begin an orderly withdrawal of U.S. forces over a 90-day period.

He said he would expect North Vietnam to reciprocate by returning all U.S. war prisoners and accounting for those missing in action, also within 90 days.

"We would further notify all parties that the United States would no longer interfere in the internal politics of Vietnam and that we will allow the Vietnamese people to work out their own settlement," he said.

Many Factors Decide Quality Of Investment

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Which is the better investment: A company with a price-earnings ratio of 35 or one with a P-E of 7?

It could be either. A lot of factors other than P-E, which is the ratio of a stock's price to the company's earnings per share, determine the quality of an investment.

An understanding of the P-E ratio is especially pertinent today, now that it has been added to the stock market tables carried by many newspapers.

The P-E ratio, related to other information, offers a concise insight into the possible merits of an investment. It is an essential ingredient, a pointer. It is used by analysts, quoted by brokers.

All things are relative in the securities markets, however, and the P-E takes on significance mainly in relation to other factors within the company, the industry and the economy. It is, in effect, an invitation to further study.

A textbook used by brokerage houses in training employes states flatly: "A high and rising price-earnings ratio is a sign of strength."

But, as is demonstrated regularly, the truth might be found in precisely the opposite conclusion. The high P-E might result from a badly inflated opinion of the company's future. It is a common enough occurence.

Some companies, for example, attract more attention than others. They may be glamorous: they make an exotic or essential product, publicize their achievements and grow swiftly.

Inspired by this aura, investors are willing to pay a higher price per share for a piece of a company with such bright prospects. They bid up the price — and with it, of course, the price-earnings ratio.

"This isn't the work only of individual investors. The big institutions — the pension and mutual funds, the trusts and insurance companies — sometimes have a tendency to share a high opinion of the same stock.

From time to time, however, there come reassessments. The company's profits might not grow as fast as had been anticipated. The product might be found to have flaws. Or it might simply be that the industry has fallen out of fashion.

As was learned in the price collapses of 1969-1970, P-E ratios can become badly distorted. And so, if unrelated to other facts and events, the ratio is not always a reliable guide.

Company A is a 40-year-old firm with sales of $500 million a year, growing at 4 to 5 per cent a year. It has always been profitable and, in fact, has been paying dividends at the rate of 6.8 per cent a year.

Company B is a seven-year-old firm with sales of $50 million a year, growing at a rate of 15 per cent a year. For three years it failed to return a profit, but has been in the black for the past five. It pays no dividends.

Company A conceivably could have a P-E ratio of 7 because, in effect, it attracts and rewards investors by its high dividend rather than great growth. Company B might have a 35 P-E, based solely on future expectations.

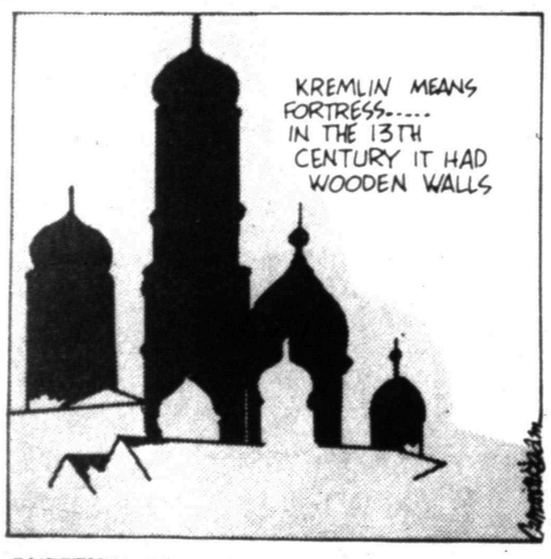

There is also a matter of perspective involved with the P-E. The current figure is based on past performance — it is the number of times earnings for the latest 12-month period, the most significant factual basis for the calculation.

That too calls for some explanation. The market always looks ahead. It projects rather than looks back. It is necessary, therefore, to relate that P-E to anticipations. If it appears that a company is having a banner year, a high P-E may be justified.

In summary, the P-E ratio, when related to other factual data and used in the manner of the professionals, is considered a valuable new addition to the tables, alongside such items as sales, high and low prices and dividends.

Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllandysiliogogogoch, the name a village in Wales, means Church of Saint Mary in a hollow of white hazel, near to a rapid whirlpool and Saint Tysilio's Church of the red cave.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE KREMLIN

QUESTION: What is the Kremlin?

ANSWER: The name Kremlin comes from the Russian word Kreml, which means fortification. During the Middle Ages, Russian cities erected fortified enclosures which contained a cluster of administrative buildings and churches and afforded protection against military attacks. The best known of these complex fortresses is the Kremlin at Moscow. It is triangular in shape, a mile and a half around, and is protected by thick walls topped with towers. For many years it was the chief residence of the Czars and contains many royal edifices and churches. Many of the enclosed structures were built at different times and comprise a variety of styles of architecture from the Gothic to the Baroque. Altogether there is an impression of splendor and a Russian flavor to the lavish decorations, despite the fact that many of the architects were not Russian. The Kremlin makes a striking appearance with its golden domes and its pyramidal gate towers.

In 1917 when the communists came into power, the Kremlin was made the headquarters of the Soviet government. Joseph Stalin lived in the Kremlin. After Stalin's death in 1953, it became a national museum. Many of the treasures of the Czars, such as paintings, crown jewels, coaches and the like are on display.

Memory Is Best Monument

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the best monument.

Time erodes it but little, air pollution does not stain it, storms do not chip it away, and the idle malice of empty minds cannot deface it with aimless scrawlings.

Yes, our memories endure, as few things do, comparatively changeless. If they do weather at all, it is for the better, as passion is replaced by compassion, and with the passage of the years the past wears a kindlier aspect than when it first confronted us when our days were all still new.

You are host to many memories yourself if you can look back and remember when—

Back in 1921, a forgotten group known as the Committee of Fourteen solemnly reported that New York City had less open crime than any other big city in the world.

That same year Warren G. Harding became the first president to put a radio in the White House.

You could write your congressman and get back a free packet of garden seeds.

One of the excuses a small boy could give his teacher for being tardy was the claim he couldn't find his shoe buttoner.

A heart patient was warned that, above all, he must avoid exercise. On the other hand, some doctors still thought that tuberculosis patients could benefit by going horseback riding in winter.

Every small town had at least one haunted house — and one haunted mind, known by all as the village idiot.

You had to guess what time it was if you were out of sight of the county courthouse clock.

It was hard to tell which was the best-dressed man in town during the work week — the banker or the undertaker.

More grownups than teenagers wore blue jeans.

Newlyweds bought twin beds and wondered how their parents had put up with sleeping in a double bed for a lifetime. Today they buy king-size beds so they can be alone while together.

One of the memorable shocks of a young boy's life was to stumble into the parental bedroom and see his red-faced father struggling to lace his mother into a tight corset before they went out to a fancy ball.

All the electric lights were in the towns and cities. All the kerosene lamps burned in farm windows.

Some old-fashioned communities, fearful of the traffic hazards created by that new-fangled monster, the motor car, passed laws limiting the speed of these vehicles to four miles an hour.

People whose lips had never touched liquor before took to drinking during prohibition just because when it became illegal it also became the smart thing to do.

Those were the days — remember?

Council Acts On Cab Privileges

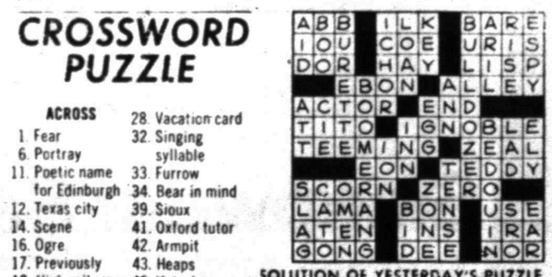

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas City Council moved Monday to try to stop some of those occasional near-brawls among cab drivers at the Love Field airport.

The council voted to permit all taxicab companies the same privileges for picking up fares.

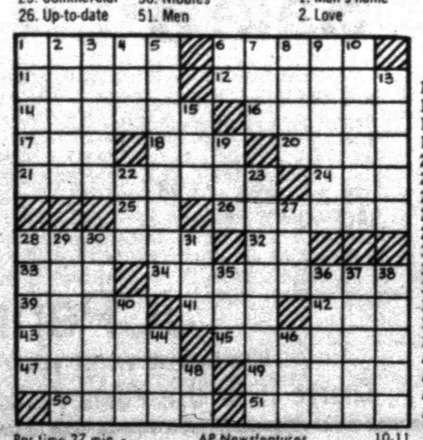

Yellow Cab has been given the inside curb at the front door of the terminal, while independent cabbies have had to solicit customers from across the street.

Sometimes, the competition led to the exchange of punches as well as words.

New Booklets On Business

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I am a male in my early 40s and have decided that I've worked for somebody else long enough. I want to be my own boss. My previous experience has been in the food service line, and I'm considering the mobile food catering business -- selling sandwiches and other coffee-break and luncheon foods at construction sites, plants, offices, etc. I would like to know the average investment, operating capital, average profit figures and other facts about this type of business. Thanks for anything you can tell me. – D.N., Cleveland

There's a new series of booklets to assist small business ventures – Urban Business Profiles. The profiles, which are 20 to 30 pages in length, are issued by the U.S Department of Commerce. Prices range from 20 to 30 cents. (You order these from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402; include stock number for faster service.)

AMONG THE SERIES of 20 booklets is "Mobile Catering," S/N 0311-0060, 25 cents. The publication says that you need both managerial ability and a technical knowledge of food service operation. You can start on a very small scale with little prior experience, but at least 1 year of experience is necessary for an operation of moderate to large scale, especially where food product purchasing and preparation are involved.

It is also noted that the mobile catering truck driver may operate under several conditions. He may be independent, owning his truck and developing his own route. Or he may be semi-independent, owning his truck and leasing a route from a commissary company. Also he may be a contractor, leasing both truck and route from a commissary company.

AMONG THE BOOKLETS on businesses readers often inquire about are these Urban Business Profiles. Title is followed by stock number and price.

"Beauty Shops," S/N 0311-0056, 25 cents. "Building Service Contracting," S/N 0311-0068, 30 cents. "Children's and Infants' Wear," S/N 0311-0061, 25 cents. "Contract Construction," S/N 0311-0055, 30 cents. "Convenience Stores," S/N 0311-0070, 25 cents. "Contract Dress Manufacturing," S/N 0311-0067, 25 cents. "Pet Shops," S/N 0311-0071, 30 cents. "Photographic Studios," S/N 0311-0069, 25 cents. "Real Estate Brokerage," S/N 0311-0053, 25 cents.

Dear Joyce: I would like to know where I can get a book on invisible mending or invisible reweaving, so that I can do this as a sideline. I am especially interested in knowing how to mend knit fabrics. -- C.A., Pueblo, Colo.

I've had no luck tracking down such a book – perhaps a reader knows of one other than the commercial home study courses in invisible mending. Help! There's a hole in my research.

Tar Produces Cancer In Rats

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Cancer Institute scientists said today they have been able to cause lung cancer in rats by exposing them to the tar products from five cigarettes.

But the scientists also said "the development of lung cancer (in humans) requires long-term exposure to cigarette-smoke products."

The NCI scientists said they have developed a new testing method wherein cigarette tar is injected into the animals' lungs and released gradually. They said it marked the first time they have induced "the same kind of lung cancer that occurs most commonly in humans."

The Tobacco Institute, which has always challenged findings that there is a cause-and-effect relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, immediately criticized the NCI statement, saying "there would appear to be no obvious human implication in this report."

The NCI report said 348 rats had cigarette-tar injected into their lungs.

"Of these, 156 rats died during the first two years of various causes, 50 during the first year and 106 during the second," the report said.

"Of the 106 rats that died during the second year, 31 had the same form of lung cancer—epidermoid carcinoma—that occurs among humans."

"In sum," the announcement said, "75 per cent of the rats that died during the first two years had lung cancer or precancerous changes in their lungs."

In contrast, the report added, of 143 rats treated with a beeswax material without the tars or with unsmoked tobacco or cigarette ashes, only two showed signs of precancerous change.

"It was possible," the report said, "to cause lung cancer in rats by exposing them to the (cigarette-tar) product of only five cigarettes."

The NCI added that more than half the original 348 tar-exposed rats–"are still alive after two years and the condition of their lungs is not yet known."

Warning Issued On Massage Belt

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck and Co. says 11,000 belt massagers it sold between December 1969 and Oct. 4 present a potential danger of serious electrical shock to their owners.

The company issued a warning Tuesday, asking all owners of massagers with model No. 449.29110 to bring the units to the nearest Sears outlet for repair.

The company said the number will be found on a plate mounted on the underside of the unit's motor housing. The model is a multispeed belt massager with a push button, lighted switch.

A company spokesman said in certain units, serious shock may result if someone touches the massager while touching a water pipe, radiator, faucet or other ground connection.

The Spencer repeating rifle was invented in 1860.

Bank Merger Is Approved

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Bank and Trust Company directors have approved an agreement in principle to merge with First International Bancshares, Inc., a Dallas-headquartered holding company.

A southwest spokesman said the agreement calls for exchanging three shares of Southwest stock for two shares of Bancshares. He said that contingent on shareholder and regulatory approvals, the 220,000 outstanding shares of Southwest Bank stock would be converted to 146,667 shares of Bancshares.

Southwest Bank would become the sixth Texas financial institution to join the holding company which, subject to approval, includes institutions in Dallas, Houston, El Paso and Arlington.

In the Dallas area, directors of the Park Cities Bank voted Tuesday to become a subsidiary of First International. It is the first time a Dallas bank has joined a bank holding company established by another bank in the city.

First International Bancshares Inc. is a holding company established by First National Bank of Dallas.

Sammy, GM Pledge Gifts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. and General Motors Corp. have pledged cash gifts toward the United Negro College Fund's $10 million goal this year.

At a UNCF luncheon here Monday, Davis was named chairman of the fund raising campaign. He responded by pledging $1,000 gifts to each of the 40 predominantly black colleges in the organization.

Richard C. Gerstenberg, chairman of General Motors, announced GM was increasing its gift to UNCF from 1971's $125,000 to $160,000.

"We can't continue to waste our black talent," said Gerstenberg, who shared the speaker's platform with Davis.

Hobby Speaks To Texas Oilmen

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Hobby, the Democratic candidate for Texas lieutenant governor, told oilmen here Tuesday he doesn't believe the state will be facing a financial crisis in the next few years.

Hobby, who has no Republican opposition in next month's general election, spoke at the concluding session of the 53rd meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Upwards trends for revenues from the state's existing tax structure indicate the state may be entering a period in which there will be no need for any major new revenues the next legislative session or so if the plans for a federal revenue sharing program are carried out, he said.

The federal court ruling holding the current system of financing schools unconstitutional creates the No. 1 problem the 1973 legislature will face, he said.

"I don't know the answer and haven't found anyone who does but nine or 10 groups are working on the matter now," he said.

"We are going to be spending more money but I don't believe it will be as much as some of the estimates have indicated," he said, adding he had heard estimates ranging from about $400 million to as high as $2 billion.

Hobby renewed his plea for support of the constitutional reform proposal No. 4 that will be on the Nov. 7 ballot. The proposal would have the legislature sit as a special convention to draft a new state constitution.

"There is little controversy as to the need for such a convention but the greatest opposition is coming from people who say the convention should not consist of state legislators," he said.

"That is easy to say but the legislature is as representative a body as we know how to make it. An elected group of citizens would not be more representative. I think the legislature is the appropriate body. If proposition No. 4 fails, the alternative is delay."

Speaker of the House Rayford Price and State Rep. Price Daniel, the leading candidate for the post next year, were due to speak but could not appear because of the special session of the legislature in Austin.

The Republican National Convention in Chicago nominated Abraham Lincoln for President during the week of May 16, 1860.

Police Uproot Pretty 'Plants'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Four "strange looking plants" growing amidst tomatoes and beans in a senior citizens housing complex were uprooted by police.

The plants were described by the narcotics squad Tuesday as "four very healthy, neatly kept marijuana plants over six feet tall."

Senior citizens at the apartment complex said they had been tending their garden all summer not knowing those "strange looking plants" were illegal.

One 76-year-old man said, "They looked pretty good in there with all the rest of the plants so we decided to keep them."

Police said no arrests were made because possession could not be proved.

PREPARING FOR RODEO—There'll be plenty of scenes like this at the National Intercollegiate Rodeo opening Thursday night at the Scurry County Rodeo Association arena west of Snyder.

NIRA Rodeo Opens Thursday

Western Texas College is set to host the first National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association event ever to be held in Snyder.

The Southwestern Region NIRA Rodeo will open Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Scurry County Rodeo Association arena west of town. There will be nightly performances at 7:30 through Saturday.

Some 250 collegiate cowboys and cowgirls are expected to compete in the event. There will be teams from Tarleton State, Texas Tech, Eastern New Mexico, Sul Ross, Hardin-Simmons and WTC.

Several feature acts also are planned for the event, include a trained buzzard act.

WTC will name its rodeo queen during the event.

A western dance will be held each evening during the rodeo at the pavilion on the rodeo grounds. Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys will be featured at the dances, which will begin at around 9 o'clock. The band leader's son, Jody Nix, is a student at WTC and will be backing up his father on the drums as the band performs.

This group of Western Texas College Rodeo performers prepares to compete in the first NIRA event ever held here. The WTC team will host the event.

DOING HIS THING—Jimmy Cleveland of Western Texas College is shown "doing his usual thing" at a rodeo in Seymour. He is a freshman at Western Texas College and currently is leading the Southwest Region of NIRA in the bareback event. He will try to add to his lead in the WTC Rodeo opening Thursday night at the Scurry County Rodeo Association arena west of town. Performances will begin at 7:30 p.m., Thursday through Saturday.

Our Traffic Laws

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles on traffic laws written by Snyder Police Chief Bobby Goodwin in the interest of local traffic safety.

Did you know a person operating a motor cycle shall ride only upon the permanent and regular seat attached thereto, and such operator shall not carry any other person nor shall any other person ride on a motorcycle unless such motorcycle is designed to carry more than one person?

There are several regulations applying to motorcycles which were made with safety in mind for the driver as well as the general public. A motorcycle is defined as: Every motor vehicle having a saddle for the use of the rider and designed to travel on not more than three (3) wheels in contact with ground, excluding farm type tractors. You must have a motorcycle driver license to operate a motorcycle. Your operator, commercial or chauffeur license will not be sufficient. You must also have an approved helmet and it must be worn whether you are driving or riding a motorcycle. You can obtain a drivers license at age 15 to 18 to operate a motorcycle with less than 100CC piston displacement.

AT&T And Subsidiaries Named In Antitrust Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Five companies have filed a $25 million antitrust suit against the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and its subsidiaries throughout the nation, claiming they have monopolized the telephone equipment business.

The current situation, contends the president of one of the plaintiff firms, is "like the local electric company controlling all of the light bulbs."

The suit was filed in federal court here Tuesday by five independent companies which furnish telephone station equipment that can be connected to Bell System lines.

They seek a court order requiring AT&T to get out of the station equipment business, which involves telephone equipment located on the premises of the user, ranging from telephone instruments to switchboards.

Dean Warfield, president of San Antonio Telephone Co., Inc., one of the plaintiffs, told newsmen that a favorable decision would enable the independent firms to provide less costly service to residential customers and businesses.

The defendants include the parent firm of AT&T and all its Bell System companies in the nation, as well as the Western Electric Company—Bell's equipment manufacturing subsidiary.

The plaintiffs claim the Bell System companies have conspired to maintain a monopoly by a series of allegedly unfair and discriminatory business practices.

The suit alleges these have included discrimination in service and treatment given customers who buy or lease their own equipment from the plaintiffs.

Said Warfield in a statement: "It is like the local electric company controlling all of the light bulbs and lighting fixtures. To use their services, you would be forced to buy or rent their equipment."

The suit was filed by Northeastern Telephone Co., Milford, Conn.; Gulf States Telephone Co., Inc., Mobile, Ala.; Gulf Telephone & Electronics, Inc., Houston; El Paso, Tex., Telephone Co., and the San Antonio Telephone Co.

It was filed here for several reasons, spokesmen said, including the fact that the San Antonio firm is headquartered here.

The suit seeks damages in excess of $25 million and a judgment triple that if the defendants are found liable by the court.

WTC Professor Named Secretary

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Campuses of the Tarrant County Junior College swept two first places and one second place Tuesday in magazine and yearbook competition of the Texas Junior College Press Association.

The TCJC campuses competed in the above 2,000-enrollment category. South campus journalist took first place for yearbooks and third place for the magazine. The Northeast campus took the first place magazine category.

In the large enrollment class, San Antonio won a second-place award for its magazine and Del Mar gained an honorable mention. In yearbook competition for large enrollments, other winners were San Jacinto and Texas State Technical Institute at Waco.

The winning magazine in contests for institutions under 2,000 enrollment was published by McLennan Community College in Waco. In the same division, Grayson County College in Sherman turned out the top yearbook.

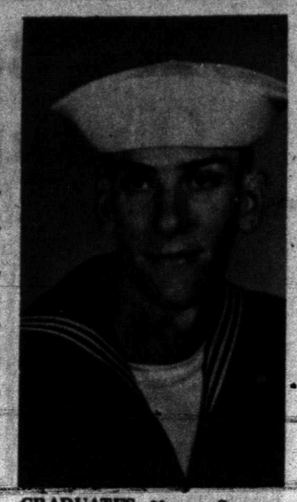

In the under-2,000 division Cisco, Galveston and Paris Junior Colleges had runner up magazines. The second best yearbook was from Temple Junior College, while Angelina captured third and Lee won honorable mention.

The winners were announced at a luncheon at Texas A&M, where more than 200 junior colleges journalists and faculty members representing 29 institutions had been attending a two-day conference.

The student organization for the junior college journalists elected Scott Miller of Cisco Junior College president. Mary Armstrong of Odessa College was elected vice president and Anne Hudson of Angelina in Lufkin, secretary.

A faculty organization, the Texas Junior College Journalism Association, chose Gary Green of Grayson its president. Vice president will be Lynnell Jackson, San Antonio College, and secretary Larry Thompson, Western Texas College at Snyder.

Belly Buttons Worry Doctor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The medical profession has found another thing to worry about—the belly button—and it's all because of the bikini.

Dr. Martin Markowitz of Brooklyn reports that after a summer of beach watching, "A girl does not begin to rate unless she can display a smooth, round, symmetrical depression in her midabdomen."

"This state of affairs has now revolutionized my approach to the newborn female baby," writes Markowitz in a recent issue of the "New York Family Physician."

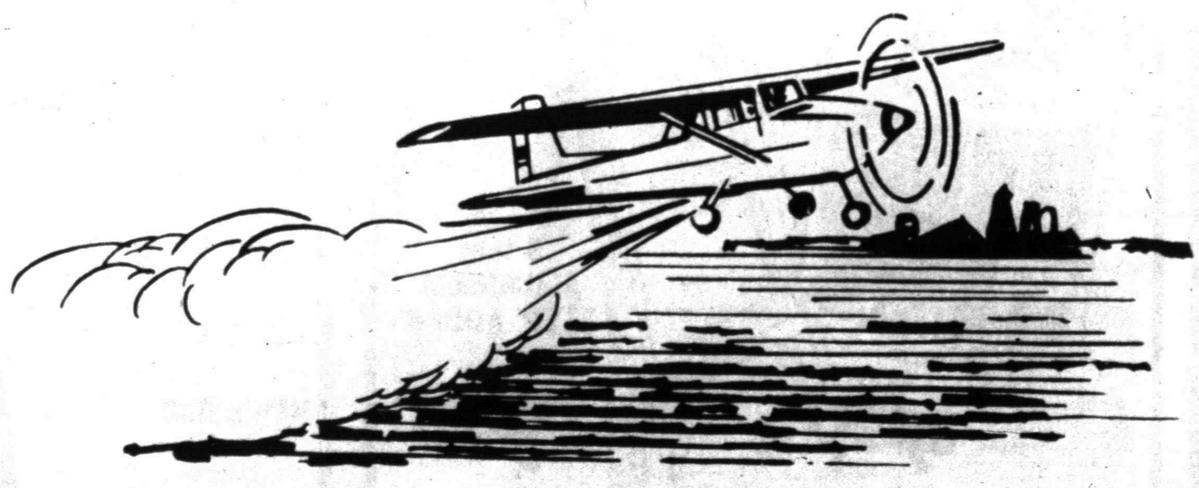

"Now my first consideration is the umbilicus," he said. "I clean it, I strap it, yes—I worry over it. I am constantly plagued with the fear that some day a sweet young thing will appear on an exclusive beach, for all the world to see, with a protruding belly button and turn out to have been one of my babies."

Calvin Hill Is Back Of Week

DALLAS (AP) — Halfback Calvin Hill doesn't cock his arm often for the world champion Dallas Cowboys, but if he does the enemy safety had best be on the ball.

The Yale graduate who was a quarterback in high school has passed 10 times in his four-year National Football League Career, completed five, and recorded three touchdowns.

Hill's ability to throw the halfback pass earned him The Associated Press Back of the Week honors for Sunday's performance in which he teamed with Ron Sellers on a 55-yard pass-and-run touchdown over Pittsburgh.

The third quarter bomb gave Dallas a come-from-behind 17-13 victory and kept the Super Bowl champions tied for the lead in the National Conference Eastern Division.

The last time Hill earned National AP honors was as a rookie in 1969 when he threw a touchdown pass.

"I still say the National Football League needs a good black quarterback," Hill joked. "Of course, the pass to Sellers was the only spiral I threw all week. I never could get one to spiral in practice."

Hill also plunged one-yard for a touchdown and gained 108 yards in 23 carries as the injury-plagued Baltimore native flashed the form that made him an overnight sensation as a rookie.

"If he stays healthy, he'll have a tremendous season," says Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "He runs more bent over now. When he runs straight up, he's a pretty big target."

Hill has been trying to restrain his tendency to hurdle tacklers which resulted in several trips to the sidelines last year to recover from the collisions.

The 6-foot-4, 227-pound Hill, who many observers feel could also be an excellent tight end, snared four passes against the Steelers, giving him 11 catches for the season. His previous high was 20 catches in 1969.

"We heaven't tapped his potential as a receiver," said Landry, giving the opposition something else to worry about when Hill is on the field.

Sooners Favored Over Longhorns

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — You think you've got troubles? We present for your perusal some of the schedules currently confronting some of the nation's major college football teams.

For instance, Oklahoma and Texas, both ranked in the Top Ten, have their annual skirmish Saturday in Dallas. Next week, Oklahoma faces Colorado and Texas plays Arkansas.

"We haven't had to get down on our bellies and crawl yet," says Coach Chuck Fairbanks, noting Oklahoma's romps over Clemson, Utah State and Oregon that have the Sooners leading the nation in total offense and rushing.

"The real strength of the Texas defense is against a running attack. And they've got as fine an offensive line as I've seen in some time. It's going to be difficult to get the ball away from them," he said.

Hearing that Fairbanks was concerned about the Texas defense, Darrell Royal, coach of the Longhorns, quipped: "That's two of us. We're getting the ball moved on us quite a bit. And we're probably playing one of the great offensive teams in the history of college football. I just can't tell you how much speed and depth they've got."

'Nuff said ... Oklahoma.

Last week's score was 47 right, nine wrong and four ties, for .839, bringing the season's mark to 198-66-8—.750

Auburn at Louisiana State—For the third week in a row, Auburn gets a chance to knock off the team with the nation's longest winning streak. First Tennessee bit the dust, then it was Mississippi. Now, it's ... Louisiana State.

Illinois at Ohio State—Winless Illini have lost to Michigan State, Southern Cal, Washington and Penn State. Now it's Ohio State. Ohio State.

Michigan State at Michigan—Southern Cal, Notre Dame and now Michigan for the harried Spartans, who have had trouble scoring. On the other hand, Michigan has only allowed 23 points in four games. Michigan.

Missouri at Nebraska—Tigers start a three-week stretch against Nebraska, Notre Dame and Colorado, with Oklahoma two weeks later. Nebraska.

Washington at Stanford—The next two games against Stanford and Southern Cal will decide the Huskies' Rose Bowl fate. Washington still has Sonny Sixkiller, a real Indian. Stanford's Indians are now the Cardinals. Stanford.

California at Southern California—One Pacific-8 Conference coach says Cal's Steve Bartowski "is in the same mold as Jim Plunkett ... as a sophomore, I think he may be better than Plunkett was." However, Bartowski may not even start. No matter who starts ... Southern Cal.

Iowa State at Colorado—Buffs were ambushed once already and the Cyclones could catch them looking ahead to Oklahoma. But likely not in Boulder ... Colorado.

Florida at Alabama—Gators chewed up Florida State last week, now come 'Bama, Mississippi, Auburn and Georgia. Not much Gator-aid there. Alabama.

Penn State at Army—John Hufnagel became Penn State's quarterback two years ago at Army and the Nittany Lions haven't lost to anyone but Tennessee since. Until now, that is, Upset Special of the Week ... Army.

Detroit Blanks Oakland, 3-0

DETROIT (AP) — Although they still were only one game from elimination, the Detroit Tigers weren't ready to back away from the challenge provided by the Oakland Athletics heading into today's fourth American League playoff game.

Trailing two games to none in the best-of-five series, the Tigers got a two-run single from surprise starter Ike Brown and a playoff-record setting 14-strikeout performance from Joe Coleman in beating the A's 3-0 Tuesday.

Since the playoff system was adopted in 1969 when the leagues were divided into two divisions, no team has come from a 2-0 deficit and won three games and the pennant.

"We don't have the edge, but if we win tomorrow we'll have the edge going into the final game," Detroit Manager Billy Martin said.

He was to send southpaw ace Mickey Lolich against Oakland's Jim "Catfish" Hunter in today's game. Lolich was the loser in the 11-inning, 3-2 opening playoff game.

"No manager has an excuse for losing when he has a Mickey Lolich and Woodie Fryman in that order at home," said Martin, who will send Fryman to the mound on Thursday should the Tigers win today.

Before Tuesday's game, Martin held a short team meeting. "It was no rah, rah job," he explained, "I just said we should have won the first game, we didn't play well in the second, and now we need to reach back for that little extra."

Brown reached back for that little extra in the fourth inning, cracking a low, inside fast ball by Ken Holtzman through the box for a bases-loaded, two-run single. Detroit had loaded the bases on a walk to Al Kaline, a double by Bill Freehan, and a walk to Willie Horton.

"No, it wasn't a bold move," Martin said of the insertion of Brown into the starting lineup at first base. "Ike is used to playing in and out."

"It was beautiful," Brown said of the hit. "I think it was the biggest hit of my career because it might have turned things around for us.

"I think it's pretty tough to be in the play like that because I didn't get to play much the last three weeks of the season," Brown said. "I think I only pinch hit three times."

Coleman was another Tiger who reached back for a little extra, establishing his rhythm with a good fast ball, then coming in with his favorite pitch—the fork ball.

The previous playoff strikeout record was 12, set by Baltimore's Jim Palmer in 1970 against Minnesota.

"It wasn't one of my best games, I think, but I got out of trouble when I had to," the 25-year-old right-hander said.

"I quite often pitch better with men on base. You just bear down. You're a little lax when you don't have them on."

The A's stranded 10 runners, with Coleman in serious trouble several times. In the first inning, he gave up a double to Matty Alou and walked Dal Maxvill before striking out the side.

"We're still in good shape," Oakland Manager Dick Williams said. "We're still ahead, two games to one.

"We had more opportunities but we didn't get the hit. It wasn't for lack of trying. Give Coleman credit for that. He was tough when he had to be."

Lamar Plays Here Thursday

Two football games are on tap here Thursday.

Lamar 8th grade hosts Big Spring Runnels at 6 p.m., followed by a 7:30 p.m. clash between Lamar 9th grade and the Brahmas. On the same day, Travis 8th will meet Goliad at 5:30 p.m. in Big Spring, followed by a 7:30 p.m. tussle between Travis 9th grade and the Toros.

The varisty Tigers are open this week, but the sophmore varsity will tangle with Loraine there at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

On the area scene, Ira hosts Fluvanna, Hermleigh journeys to Flower Grove and Klondike entertains Gail in Friday night affrays.

The only game involving a District 4-AAAA team finds Lubbock High at Amarillo Caprock Friday night.

Six Hogs Are Sidelined

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Six Razorbacks may not be able to play in Saturday's Southwest Conference game here against Baylor, Coach Frank Broyles said Tuesday.

He said defensive tackle David Reavis, safety John Moseley, guard Rodger Brand, linebacker Scott Binnion and center Ron Revard probably will miss the game due to a variety of knee and foot injuries. He said defensive back Mike Davis was doubtful because he was in the hospital with a case of influenza.

Broyles said Tuesday's practice was "as poor a practice as we've had this year."

He said the players were just going through the motions and standing around.

Porkers' Danny Rhodes In Spotlight

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Arkansas linebacker Danny Rhodes went to the movies last week to see an educational film.

He learned fast.

The film clips were from the Razorbacks' victory over the University of Texas last year and a narrow triumph over Oklahoma State University earlier this year. The object was to compare the defensive pursuit.

"They began to see that the one step we were out of position enabled Oklahoma State to make the big play," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles.

"I think it made us realize that we hadn't played the way we could," Rhodes said. "We hadn't really been pursuing as a unit. You have to have lots of pursuit to play good defense these days."

Rhodes used his 4.8 speed in the 40 to pursue from sideline to sideline, making 14 unassisted tackles and five assists in a 27-13 victory over TCU. For his play, Rhodes was named Defensive Player of the Week in the Southwest Conference by The Associated Press.

"He played his best game since the Texas game of last year," Broyles said. "His speed makes all the difference. He was all over the field."

Rhodes said that his speed helps a great deal "in clearing blockers and getting outside."

"If you clear the blockers quick and get to the outside you're going to have a good angle on the runner," he said.

Steve Blass To Hurl For Pirates

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates turned confidently toward reliable Steve Blass, while the Cincinnati Reds had to go with young and comparably inexperienced Don Gullett today in their showdown game for the 1972 National League pennant.

"I've got to like my chances with Blass," said Bill Virdon, manager of the Eastern Division champion Pirates.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson spoke more cautiously about the 22-year-old Gullett, who spent most of the season wracked with hepatitis and didn't make the starting rotation until mid-August.

"I look for Gullett to pitch like he did from the second inning in the first game of the series," said Anderson.

Gullett lost 5-1 to Blass in the first game, giving up three runs in the first inning and two more in the fifth during his six-inning stint. Anderson figures that Gullett had playoff jitters and will be more in control today.

Cincinnati forced the best-of-five series into the fifth and deciding game by trouncing the Pirates 7-1 Tuesday behind the two-hit pitching of young Ross Grimsley. The Reds stole three bases, hit and ran, and took advantage of three Pittsburgh errors.

Virdon had a right to be smug about his apparent pitching advantage for the final game. Blass won two games for Pittsburgh in last year's World Series victory over Baltimore, the Eastern Division pennant-clincher this season, and the first game of this playoff series.

The 30-year-old right-hander was 19-8 this season, while Gullett posted a 9-10 record as the Reds easily won the National League West title. Gullett missed at least six weeks of the season and spent another month or so working himself back into shape.

Ironically, Pirates' catcher Manny Sanguillen and left fielder Rennie Stennett, heroes of the Pirates' 3-2 third game victory were the goats of Tuesday's defeat. The Reds ran wild on the bases on Sanguillen, while Stennett lost two fly balls in the sun.

Pittsburgh's problems started in the first inning when Sanguillen threw into centerfield as Johnny Bench stole second. Bobby Tolan scored on the error. In the fourth, Gene Alley dropped a pop fly along the foul line in short left field allowing Bench to score. Alley then compounded the mistake by throwing wildly in trying to get Bench at the plate, allowing the batter, Cesar Geronimo, to reach third from where he scored on a single.

Cincinnati boosted its lead to 5-0 in the sixth on a double by Denis Menke, an infield out, an intentional walk, another stolen base, Grimsley's run-scoring single and an RBI bunt by Pete Rose.

Two more Reds' runs scored in the seventh on Joe Morgan's single, a triple by Tolan that Stennett lost in the sun, and a single by Menke that also had Stennett shielding his eyes from the sun.

Oklahoma Leads In Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — The unbeaten Oklahoma Sooners, who continue to grind out huge chunks of yardage with their Wishbone offense, led the nation's major college football teams in total offense, rushing and scoring, according to statistics released by the National Collegiate Sports Services Tuesday.

McGovern's Peace Plan Clashes With Nixon's

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern's Vietnam plan clashes sharply with President Nixon's on big issues dividing the negotiators at Paris—terms for a cease-fire, a U.S. withdrawal and Saigon's political future.

The Democratic presidential nominee's blueprint, as set forth Tuesday night, appears much closer to conditions laid down by North Vietnamese-Viet Cong envoys, but there are differences.

However, McGovern's program could be carried out with relatively little negotiation at Paris, as he outlined it. Aside from the release of prisoners, most of his seven-point program could be accomplished by one-sided U.S. action.

What is going on in the secret missions between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho has yet to be disclosed.

Here are the positions on major issues:

U.S. WITHDRAWAL

McGovern says his first step would be to halt all bombing and acts of force throughout Indochina, stop "any shipments of military supplies that continue the war" and start a pullout of all U.S. forces from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia to be completed in 90 days.

Nixon would withdraw all American forces from Vietnam within four months, but only after an Indochina-wide cease-fire and release of U.S. prisoners.

The Vietnamese communists call for an end to "the U.S. war of aggression in Vietnam, the bombing, mining and blockade of (North) Vietnam," a stop to "all U.S. military activities in South Vietnam" and a "rapid and complete withdrawal of all U.S. troops, advisers ..."

McGovern indicated he would halt U.S. arms aid to the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. "Gen. Thieu is not worth one more American dollar," he said.

Nixon's terms allow for a curb on U.S. military assistance to South Vietnam, provided one is imposed on the outside aid Hanoi receives from Moscow and Peking.

The Vietnamese communists want to "completely cease the Vietnamization policy," under which the Nixon administration has been aiding Saigon's armed forces.

McGovern would not require a general cease-fire. A statement accompanying his speech said a limited, temporary cease-fire is implied in his plan because both sides at Paris have indicated the communist forces would not attack American troops carrying out an announced complete pullout.

For Nixon, an internationally supervised Indochina-wide cease-fire is a major condition both for military settlement and for a broader agreement including a political solution for South Vietnam. It is a prerequisite for a complete U.S. military withdrawal and elections in South Vietnam.

The Vietnamese communists favor a general cease-fire in South Vietnam when their proposed new government in Saigon is formed.

SAIGON'S FUTURE

McGovern, denouncing what he calls the U.S. policy of propping up of a venal Thieu regime, says the United States should "no longer interfere in the internal politics of Vietnam." He says "we will allow the Vietnamese people to work out their own settlement ... including a coalition government" if they choose.

Nixon stresses his goal that "the political future of South Vietnam will be left for the South Vietnamese people to decide for themselves, free from outside interference." He offers a "free and democratic presidential election ... run by an independent body." Thieu would step down one month before the election, but could run to succeed himself.

Hanoi demands Thieu's resignation, with his regime to be succeeded by a three-segment coalition government which would organize the new elections. The three components would include the Viet Cong, Saigon administration officials and "representatives of other political forces in South Vietnam."

PRISONERS

McGovern would dispatch his running-mate, Sargent Shriver, to Hanoi "to speed the arrangements for the return of our prisoners." He would "expect" the enemy to free all U.S. captives in line with the July 1, 1971, Viet Cong offer to release prisoners upon total withdrawal of U.S. and other foreign forces from South Vietnam. He would keep U.S. forces in Thailand and off Vietnam's shores until the prisoners are returned.

Nixon would not stop U.S. acts of force throughout Indochina nor would he withdraw U.S. forces completely.

Volunteer 'Pot' Smokers Suffer Sleep Problems

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Human volunteers who smoked marijuana under laboratory conditions suffered sleep problems and impairment of decision-making, a preliminary study here shows.

Dr. Ernest Barratt of the University of Texas Medical Branch stressed the conclusions drawn from the study were still preliminary. "We still have a lot more to learn."

Marijuana was smoked regularly by 14 young male adults—all prior users and some holding responsible professional positions—for 10 days at a time.

The drug caused a decrease in heavy sleep of the users, Barratt said, about mid-way through the 10-day period. The decrease continued for several days after they quit.

During the period, he said, the men experienced behavioral changes. Most were physically tired the morning after having smoked marijuana and they were generally less alert and less aggressive about coping with their jobs and other routine.

Dr. Barratt said he felt the disruption of the heavy sleep—known as Stage 4—was important because it is considered the period of rest most vital to the rebuilding process of the human body.

Barratt, research professor of neurology and psychiatry at the university, said the 14 subjects ranging in age from 21 to 27 would report to the laboratory every night, smoke a prescribed dose of marijuana and go to bed in research quarters were technicians monitored the sleep patterns.

The men were awakened about 6 a.m., various tests were done, and they each related how "high" they had been the night before, he said. A control group also smoked placebo cigarettes.

"It was interesting to see some of the control subjects report they had sustained 'highs' but they suffered none of the sleep decreases or physical problems the next day.... Theirs was just a psychological and not a physical high," Dr. Barratt said.

Asked about his conclusions, Dr. Barratt said, "Our educated guess is that regular—perhaps four times a week—use of marijuana hampers sound sleep and causes the user to be less active, less interested, less aggressive people. Obviously we need to get more definite data and we need to see what effects just occasional use of marijuana does."

Barratt said the next human study will involve men spending 35 days in the hospital smoking marijuana for 20 consecutive days.

Rural Electric Meets Begin

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Meetings were to begin here today among representatives of 101 rural electric systems in three Southwestern states, including Texas.

U.S. Rep. Morris K. Udall, R-Ariz., and Robert Partridge, vice president of the National Electric Cooperative Association, were scheduled speakers.

Region 10 of the electric association is the conference sponsor. Besides Texas, New Mexico and Arizona will be represented in discussion, which will involve electric services and rural life.

POW Wife Seeking Divorce

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The wife of the first American pilot shot down in Vietnam and captured by the North Vietnamese is seeking a divorce, the family and attorneys confirmed Tuesday.

Navy Lt. Everett Alvarez, 34, described by the Defense Department as the longest held American POW in history, was married only two months before being sent to Vietnam.

Tangee Alvarez, 32, has not seen her husband for more than eight years. He was shot down Aug. 15, 1964 over the Gulf of Tonkin.

Mrs. Alvarez originally filed for dissolution of marriage in Alameda Superior Court in July, 1970, court records showed. However, his sister, Delia, of Santa Clara, Calif., said the matter was not made public for many reasons and because of legal complications the divorce has not been completed.

"We wanted to get the word to my brother in a letter, before he heard about it from the press or someone else," Delia Alvarez said. She said she and Alvarez' parents notified him in a letter and it took about six months for him to acknowledge it by return mail.

Tangee Alvarez was not available for comment. Her attorney, Myron Tower, said complications about how Alvarez was to be notified legally of the dissolution petition have delayed court hearings in the matter.

THREE INJURED—Remundo Cruz Andrade, 51, of Abilene was driving this 1964 Model Chevrolet that was involved in a collision with the 1966 Ford gravel truck operated by Joseph Franklin Devoll of Denver City on U.S. 84 about 4 miles east of the City limits Tuesday. Andrade and two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Julio Garza, San Angelo, were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Later, Andrade was transferred to a hospital in San Angelo for treatment of critical injuries. Garza and his wife were transferred to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene for treatment of serious injuries. The truck driver was not injured. Investigating Highway Patrolmen said the car was going northwest on U.S. 84 and the truck was crossing the road to the northeast at the time of the collision.

Judge Rules For Woman Voter

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A Superior Court judge has ruled in favor of a woman who refused to disclose her weight when registering to vote.

Judge C. Kimball Rose agreed Tuesday with Florence Diego that knowledge of her weight "has nothing to do with voting."

Mandatory disclosure of weight is not a legal requirement when registering to vote in Arizona, the judge declared.

Mrs. Diego turned to the court after Maricopa County Recorder Paul Marston refused to register her Aug. 3 because she omitted her weight on voter registration forms.

Marston contended he was required by law to demand the information.

Texas To Get Steam Locomotive

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas probably will get an old steam locomotive to operate on the Texas State Railroad from Rusk to Palestine.

Gov. Preston Smith said Friday he had been informed by Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana that Smith's application for a surplus Army locomotive had been approved, subject to review by Congress.

The engine was built in 1943 by the Baldwin Locomotive Works and is presently at Fort Eustis, Va.

Smith said it appears likely the state would acquire another locomotive and several coaches.

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played in the country this week-end. Get an entry blank from one of the merchants who are helping sponsor this contest and whose message is on this page. Fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only . . .opposite the name of the firm on the entry blank. Then send your complete blank to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 12 o'clock noon, Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

If there is a tie for first place the winners will divide the cash money of $17.50 and no second prize will be given. If there is a first place winner and a tie for second place, the second prize winners will divide the money for the place. If more than two persons tie for second place, no second prize money will be awarded and the cash will be added to next week's prize. Tie for perfect score will split $50.00. There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted from any one person. More than one will disqualify all of the person's entries. Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing on the choice of the winner. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number — and watch for the story on next Wednesday's front page for the winners. Hurry now, and get your entry blank from one of the merchants on this page. The contest blank must be in your own handwriting. Employes of The Snyder Daily News and their families are not eligible to enter.
