Nation's Manhunters On Trail Of Mattson Kidnap-Killer

Public Wrath, FDR's Orders Spur Officers

Almost Microscopic Search Of Everett, Wash., Area Where Body Was Found, Being Made By Justice Agents

Reward Is Offered

Justice Department Announces $10,000 Reward And Solons Plan $5,000 Additional For Capture Of Brutal Slayer

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 12.—Manhunters spurred by public wrath and presidential action launched an almost microscopic search of the Everett area tonight for the trail of little Charles Mattson's kidnap-killer.

Spreading out from the spot where the boy's savagely beaten nude and frozen body was found yesterday in the snow, they scanned every foot of the country in a three-mile radius.

Report Without Foundation

Sheriff Walter Faulkner at Everett said a report that the victim's clothing had been found in a suddenly abandoned automobile there had proved without foundation. He said the clothing belonged to the car owner's family.

Science gave the determined hunters a cast of the footprints and a record of automobile tire marks left in the snow by the killer.

Reward Is Posted

Public indignation accompanied President Roosevelt's call for speedy apprehension of the criminal. The justice department posted a $10,000 reward for arrest of the killer, Washington state legislators prepared to offer a $5,000 reward.

The grief-stricken family of Dr. W. W. Mattson arranged for the funeral at 1 p. m. tomorrow in a Tacoma mortuary. For fifteen days, since Charles was seized for $28,000 ransom December 27, the Mattson family concealed its grief and worry. But full realization of the tragedy brought tears to the home.

Has Shocked The Nation

"The murder of the little Mattson boy has shocked the nation," said the president in announcing the justice department $10,000 reward offer.

Certain death for the killer appeared assured. Both the federal and Washington state laws permit inflication of the death penalty for kidnaping as well as for murder.

Obviously the criminal had a good start, but so did his pursuers.

For perhaps the first time in the "big money" kidnapings, the manhunters had witnesses to the actual abduction—those children who saw the swarthy, black bearded face,

VIRTUALLY TAKES COMMAND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—President Roosevelt virtually took personal command of the hunt for the Mattson kidnap-killer today, promising that G-men would never give up the case "until the murderer is caught."

The chief executive expressed horror at the finding of the body and kept in close touch with the manhunt, receiving reports from Attorney General Cummings.

It was said at the White House that Mr. Roosevelt had directed the G-men under J. Edgar Hoover to "go get" the perpetrator or perpetrators of the crime.

The president issued a statement saying:

"The murder of the little Mattson boy has shocked the nation. Every means at our command must be enlisted to capture and punish the perpetrator of this ghastly crime."

After asserting that the search would be "pursued relentlessly," he added:

"I bespeak for the agents of the department of justice the continued and wholehearted cooperation of the local police and all other law enforcement agents in this necessary work."

"All facilities" of the federal bureau of investigation, one of the best equipped crime detection machines in the world, were placed at the disposal of the manhunters.

Fifty scientists, including photographers, finger print and footprint experts, metallurgists, handwriting men and microanalysts stood ready to lend a hand.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

As CIO And General Motors Reach Deadlock On Far-Flung U.S. Strike Front

C. I. O. STARTS IN STEEL

Meanwhile in the U. S. John L. Lewis (left) had formed the Committee for Industrial Organization to push vertical unionism. With Philip Murray (right) as chief organizer, C. I. O. set out to unionize steel workers. It later moved to automobile and kindred fields.

WANTED:

1. A "national conference" between G.M. officials and U.A.W.A. officers "to discuss and bargain collectively . . ."
2. Abolition of all "piece work systems of pay . . ."
3. A 30-hour week, six-hour day and pay-and-a-half for overtime
4. Establishment of a "minimum rate of pay commensurate with an American standard of living."
5. Reinstatement of employes "unjustly discharged."
6. Seniority rights based upon length of service.
7. Recognition of U.A.W.A. as the "sole bargaining agency" between G.M. and its employes.
8. "Speed of production shall be mutually agreed upon by the management and a union committee . . ."

WHAT THE UNION ASKS

As the U. A. W. A. offensive against General Motors got under way in earnest, President Homer S. Martin of the union laid down this eight-point program of demands. G. M. replied that workers could bargain collectively with individual plants managers.

THE FIGHT IS ON

While both sides issued statements and exchanged belligerent letters, the fight was carried on in the factories. Plant after plant shut down. In some workers walked out, but in more they "sat down."

G. M. STRIKES BACK

In a statement to employes, President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of G. M. said the "real issue" was this: "Will a labor organization run the plans of the General Motors corporation or will the management continue to do so?

Two Of Injured Reported In Critical Condition; Martin Johnsons, Noted Wild Game Hunters, Among Victims

Cause Is Mystery

J. Braden Of Cleveland, O., Is Killed; Broken Ankles, Legs Suffered By Others; Crash 10 Miles From Port

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—A Salt Lake City-to-Burbank transport plane with 10 passengers and three crew members aboard "pancaked" on a foothill slope 29 miles north of here today in stormy weather.

One passenger was killed. The others and the crew members were injured, some seriously.

Cleveland Man Victim

The death victim was J. Braden of Cleveland, O.

Among the injured were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson of New York, explorers and big game hunters, each with a broken leg.

The crash was only 10 miles from Union Air terminal at Burbank and 4 miles by mountain trail from Olive View sanitarium, but first rain and hail, then a heavy snowstorm, hampered rescuers and communications from the scene for hours. The Western Air Express plane hit on a hillside 100 yards from an unoccupied forest ranger fire lookout station. One motor broke loose and rolled downhill.

Struggles From Wreckage

Escaping with only a bruised foot, one of the passengers, Arthur S. Robinson of Rochester, N. Y., struggled out of the wreckage immediately after the crash. Rescuers from the sanitarium where the crash was heard, met him coming down the hill.

A party of physicians and nurses from the sanitarium went to the wreckage and removed other victims to the ranger lookout station for emergency treatment.

The victims were to be brought out to hospitals tonight.

Pilot Stays In Plane

Pilot William W. Lewis of Glendale, Calif. who suffered a broken leg, but was not believed to be in a serious condition, declined to be taken out of the plane wreckage until seven others first taken to the ranger station were removed and treated.

Lewis, Johnson and two others remained in the wreckage temporarily. Mrs. Johnson was among those first removed.

Neither Robinson nor Stewardess Esther Jo Conner of Glendale could

Atmosphere Of Peace And Good Will Prevails As Legislature Is Convened Tuesday In Its 45th Session At Austin

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 12—The forty-fifth legislature organized today in an atmosphere or peace and good will for a gruelling session of four months at which hundreds of subjects vitally affecting every section of Texas will be considered.

Amid hand-clapping and shouts of applause, the house of representatives by acclamation chose 31-year-old Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro as its speaker, while the senate elected Will D. Pace of Tyler over Van Zandt of Tioga as president pro tempore.

Calvert Urges Cooperation

Young Calvert, once an elevator boy, immediately sounded a keynote for the legislature with a plea for close cooperation among the members and with Governor James V. Allred in the interest of harmony and constructive legislation.

"Governor Allred comes fresh from the people with a mandate and we should listen to him," Calvert said. "We should cooperate with the executive and I know he will cooperate with us."

Allred Watches Proceedings

The governor temporarily left work on his message, expected to be delivered personally tomorrow, to watch the proceedings. He actively supported Calvert this year and last, when the Hillsboro representative was defeated narrowly by Coke Stevenson of Junction.

The message probably will report on the condition of the state's finances and include recommendations as to bolstering the general revenue

Message Written In The Snow On Roof Of Mining Shack In Nevada Informs Airplane Of Conditions Of Survivors

(By The Associated Press)

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 12.—Only one of the five persons who set out in an automobile from Gold Range mining district to this place last week during a severe snow storm is dead, a message written in the snow, on a roof of a mining shack and read from an airplane disclosed today.

"One dead—3 sick—need medical aid — Prettyman party," read the message scrawled in the snow.

Flew Low Over Cabin

Lee Prettyman, operator of the Nevada-Maryland mine, flying in an airplane with Ted Homan and Walter Bond, read the message as they flew low over the cabin.

Prettyman said he believed his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Coe, Doris Dunn, negro cook, and Fred Miller set out in the automobile last week to come to Las Vegas when they were trapped by the storm. He said he did not know which of the party was dead.

Located Car Yesterday

Prettyman located the automobile of the party yesterday and being unable to sight any life from the air, expressed the opinion all had frozen.

Movement For A Legislative Pardon For Mooney Is Begun

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Jan. 12. (AP) — More than a thousand national guardsmen equipped for a field campaign headed tonight for Flint, Mich., where several hundred "sit-down" strikers held possession of a General Motors corporation factory after a bloody street battle with Flint city police.

Governor Frank Murphy, aroused by the first violence of the widespread strikes against General Motors automotive plants and reports of an influx of out-state labor unionists into Flint, issued the order for the troop movement late today, saying the state "will insist upon peace and order."

"FIGHT TO A FINISH"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, said tonight the General Motors strike would be "fought out to a finish."

In the next breath Lewis told a press conference he would ask congress to investigate the automobile concern to determine, among other things, whether "foreign financiers should dictate labor policy in America."

He linked financial interests in the corporation with "French and English financiers."

Food May Enter Plants

The governor said corporation officials assured him "water and heat will not be turned off and that food may enter the plants," adding that "it would help greatly if private groups would cooperate to prevent inflammatory actions."

Leaders of the strikes by United Automobile Workers of America said heat was turned off and the main gates of the Fisher Boby No. 2 plant at Flint closed to food carriers yesterday before the rioting that sent more than a score of strikers and police to hospitals for treatment of gunshot and other wounds.

Martin Flings Charge

At Washington, where he conferred with John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, charged the Flint disorder "was deliberately provoked for the purpose of dispossessing the sit-down strikers by violent means." He claimed information that General Motors had imported "professional thugs" from Decatur, Ill.

General Motors offices here informally expressed regret at the disorder and withheld formal comment pending more complete information.

Husband Suicides After Death Probe

CUERO, Jan. 12 (AP)—Willis Terry, highway employe of Yoakum, was found shot to death in his home today. A coroner held he died from a self-inflicted wound.

A short time later District Attorney Toward P. Green said he obtained a statement from Terry's wife which told how J. T. Hardy, salesman of Yoakum, was slain Dec. 8 on an abandoned highway two miles from Yoakum.

The district attorney said Mrs. Terry first denied her husband had anything to do with Hardy's death, but later signed a statement which said Terry shot Hardy after he followed Hardy and Mrs. Terry out on the abandoned road.

Hardy's body was found on the roadside with three wounds in the back.

Five Clues Available In Hunt For Kidnap-Killer

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 12.—Clues in the hunt for the kidnaper and slayer of 10-year-old Charles Mattson:

1. A plaster-of-Paris cast of a footprint and records of automobile tire tracks left in the snow as the killer, wearing socks over his shoes, dumped the body of his little victim near Everett, Wash.

2. A detailed description of the snatcher by three children who saw his face and heard his voice as he confronted them with a pistol and seized Charles.

3. The ransom note which he left, demanding $28,000. It was printed with a toy typewriter or lettered out with rubber stamps, a peculiar sort of ink was used.

4. One or two letters which informants said came to Dr. Mattson in contact negotiations.

5. Personality factors apparent from his methods of operation: (A) He was bold enough to smash in a door of the Mattson home, but, according to Paul Sceva, family friend, "too yellow to come out and get the money" several days later.

(B) He was brutal; the body of his victim had been terribly

Reorganizing Move To Face Bitter Battle

All-Inclusive Presidential Plan Submitted Tuesday By FDR But Opposition Develops In Congress At Once

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—An all-inclusive presidential plan for reorganizing the government—including the creation of two new departments — ran headlong into such formidable opposition in congress today that many sources forecast a bitter battle.

Though many legislators praised the plan, others were doubtful or frankly hostile.

"Badly Out Of Date"

Emphasizing "good management" rather than economy, President Roosevelt asserted in a special message that "the executive structure of the government is badly out of date" and recommended:

That departments of Social Welfare and Public Works be added to the present ten, with all of the government's 100 or more agencies grouped under one department or another by executive order.

That the comptroller general be replaced by an auditor general with no authority to pass upon the legality of current expenditures and charged primarily with making a "post-audit" of government finances for the information of congress.

Man Clubs 3 Members Of Family To Death; Suicides

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP) — Three members of a family were clubbed to death tonight, and a short time after a man identified by police as Corbin Boarman, 65, head of the household, hurled himself to death under the wheels of a fast freight train.

Police said Boarman, enraged for some unknown reason, killed his wife and two children and then committed suicide.

The dead, in addition to Boarman, were listed by police as: his wife, Frances, 60; a son, Francis, 21; a daughter, Margaret, 26.

Detectives said a 24-year-old daughter, Mary, and a friend, James Ryan, were shot and injured by Boarman in the dooryard of their home in northeast Washington, before Boarman burst into the house and beat the three to death.

New Mexico's 13th Session Convenes

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 12 (AP)—New Mexico's thirteenth legislature opened here today with Gov. Clyde Tingley in an address before the joint session calling for speed and economy in the enactment of "wise laws to bring more social justice to the people."

The governor asked the two houses to give the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution "serious and enlightened thought from all its angles."

He also reminded the predominantly Democratic legislature of the party pledge favoring a direct primary, but asked it to "keep in mind the interests of all groups of our citizens."

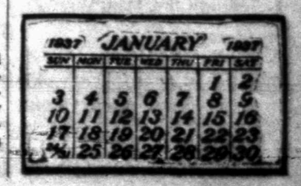

Opposition to the direct primary in other legislatures has come largely from the Spanish-American representatives and senators.

New Mexico's is the last remaining bi-lingual legislature in the union.

Officers For Two-Year Terms Are Named In Four Study Clubs Tuesday Afternoon

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

WHEREVER groups collected Tuesday the conversation turned to the tragedy that befell the Mattson home. It was easy enough to believe that Tacoma was excited over the horrible murder when this far removed men talked of what they would do were they to be given a chance to mete out punishment to the guilty person.

You often hear the expression, "If you only had a child you would know how the parents feel," when something like the Mattson murder happens. We do not believe that it is necessary for one to be a parent in order to be shocked at an appaling thing like that one exposed Monday afternoon. Just to be a human being with a heart is enough.

IN THE MAIL

FROM way off up at the edge of the world (at least it's that way on a globe) comes a card from Mrs. G. W. Mackintosh, who will be remembered as Miss Dorothy McFarlane, former teacher in the school of home economics at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Mackintosh and her husband live near White Horse, Yukon but we'll let you read her card.

"This is my second year up here in the shadow of the Arctic circle where the winters are long and generally very cold and the winter days are very short. At present not even an hour of sun a day is seen but the summers are warm, even hot and the days are 24 hours long.

"I am enjoying life here so far but do not intend to spend many years so far from everything. We're 111 miles from any town, postoffice, doctor, telephone. My husband has some gold property up here that we came up to try to develop and sell.

"Our nearest neighbor is 53 miles away. No danger of fights with them!

JEALOUS OR CURIOUS?

ONE of the men reporters had decided that women are either jealous or curious. He bases it on the assertion that a woman may telephone a man's home to speak to him and if he isn't there his wife will ask, almost invariably, "He isn't here, who is that?" Whereas, says the philosophical reporter, a husband never interrogates a telephone call from another man to his wife.

Perhaps so, but we are of the opinion that if a wife gets too many telephone calls from male voices the husband either will do a bit of questioning or private detecting.

FEWER CALORIES ARE SAFE

NOW is the time to plan ways and means to get rid of rolls of excess fat which will mar the beauty of your spring suit. Don't, during the next few weeks, keep on eating and ignoring your figure, then, about ten days before Easter, decide to lose several pounds in a short time.

Rapid reducing isn't advisable, of course. Futhermore, if you want to lose more than seven or eight pounds be sure to consult your doctor before you start. It is really easy to lose weight if you take time. And you won't endanger your health. You have to watch your calories and take some exercise.

The average, reasonably active woman needs about 2100 calories per day. If you eat no more than sixteen to seventeen hundred, you are certain to lose weight. Don't go on a liquid diet for more than two days and afterward keep your calories down by eating smaller portions of everything.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life. 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Young Mothers! Here's Help to

END COLDS Quicker

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warmed cloth.

It takes so little time—it does so much—this 3-Minute VapoRub Massage!

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages.

This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

While the little patient relaxes into comfortable sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets

This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

Total Of 3,175 Trees, Shrubs To Be Planted By CCC Boys In Mackenzie State Park In Next Two Months

Civilian Conservation Corps boys in the local camp have begun an extensive tree planting program at Makenzie State park. Three thousand, one hundred seventy-five trees and shrubs of many varieties are to be planted before April 1, said Melvin E. Cohen, superintendent of the park project for the National Park Service.

Types of trees to be set out are Chinese elm, persimmon Russian Olive, green ash, sycamore, and cottonwood. Shrubs to be planted by the CCC men include Japanese privets, red cedar, Oregon holley grape, yellow jasmine, coralberry, evergreen honeysuckle, button bush, red orier dogwood and staghorn sumac. Trumpet creepers and winter creepers are to be planted also.

To Run Power Line

Before April 1 a power line from the city electric lines is to furnish electricity for the new combination building recently completed and bridges and wading pool.

Other immediate plans for development of the park include a modern rest room in the old city park with sanitation equipment and disposal facilities. A stone and timber foot bridge was started recently.

Plan Other Improvements

An extensive program of bridge and road building and numerous foot-paths has been planned for building soon in the park. Parking space is also being arranged. A combination building in the old county park includes rest rooms, lounges, kitchens and service rooms.

Plans which "now are only hopes" include building of a new bath house, re-designing of golf course, construction of a club house with a dance floor if possible, demodeling of the office into care-taker's headquarters, and a new entrance into the park from highway 9.

Past Work Outlined

Accomplishments in park development in the last year include renovation of the wading pool, in the old county park, seats built, laying of water lines, widening and deepening of the lagoon, grading, landscaping, fencing and sewage disposal in several places.

Labor is furnished by boys of the local CCC camp. Planning and execution of work program is done by a staff of technicians and foremen. The National Park Service in cooperation with the state parks board furnishes the technicians. Cohen is superintendent. Barney A. Brady, engineer, and Kelso D. Vernor, architect, make up the technical staff.

Few Strands Of Hair, Assortment Of Fingerprints And Bloodstained Trousers Are Clues In 'Bathtub' Case

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. — A few strands of hair, an assortment of fingerprints and a bloodstained pair of trousers were chief clues for a squad of detectives and laboratory workers who set out tonight to find the perpetrator of New York's second "bathtub" slaying within a year.

The detectives began by questioning employes and tenants of the apartment building in which Mrs. Mary Robinson Case, the latest victim, was strangled and bludgeoned to death yesterday afternoon.

Found By Husband

The half-clad body of the attractive 25-year-old advertising model was left in an overflowing bathtub. Her husband found the body.

The police laboratory crew brought microscopes and test tubes into play in an effort to analyze fingerprints and other clues found at the scene.

Every resource and bit of ingenuity that enabled the homicide squad to trace the murderer of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton through a solitary piece of string last April was called forth again.

Unlike Mrs. Titterton, the bride of Frank Case, 30-year-old executive of the American Hotel association, was not ravished.

A ten-cent detective story magazine whose garish cover depicted the Titterton case was found in the room of Frank Solomon, 48, a porter in the building. He was released after questioning.

Dog Licenses In City Double Last January; Warning Given

More than doubling the total issued in January last year, 31 dog licenses already have been issued this month at the office of the City of Lubbock tax collector-assessor's office. Only 16 were issued in January of 1936.

To obtain a license for a dog the applicant must have a certificate from a licensed veterinarian showing that the animal has been vaccinated within the last sixty days, Tax Collector Ed C. Young said today. Most persons are under the impression that an old certificate will suffice, he said.

All dog licenses expire December 31. Stray dogs found without licenses will be placed in the pound, City Health Officer Dr. J. W. Rollo said.

Blanton Case Being Probed

District Court Grand Jury At Raymondville Begins Probe Of Missing Men's Case; May Name Secret Committee

(By The Associated Press)

RAYMONDVILLE, Jan. 12.—The mysterious disappearance of Luther and John Blanton, father and son, was investigated today by a district court grand jury.

The farmers were last seen as they left their home near San Perlita late in November to hunt ducks. A widespread search by a citizen's posse and officers, including Texas Rangers, failed to reveal any trace of the men.

Rewards totaling $2,500 have been posted for information leading to their whereabouts. Officers and relatives feared they met with foul play.

Judge George C. Westervelt, in his charge to the grand jury, said he would appoint a special secret committee to continue the investigation if the grand jury had not completed its work in three weeks. Such an order would be unique in South Texas court history.

The court also asked the jury to investigate the disappearance of Jesus Rivera and Reyes Ramirez, who mysteriously disappeared more than a year ago. Rivera was a Mexican citizen and Santiago Suarez, Mexican consul at Brownsville, recently asked Texas officers to reopen his case.

Tech Wins, 25-20 To Sweep Flagstaff Series; Mustangs Down Frogs, 26-22

Raiders Rally In Last Half; Overtake Lead

Judge Garrett And Wilkinson Get Going To Give Raiders Push In Last Half, After Trailing By Five Points

The iron hoop on the backboard at the south end of Texas Tech basketball court had a "hex" on it last night.

First, the Red Raiders couldn't do much in that particular bucket, and in the second half the Arizona State Lumberjacks from Flagstaff could do even less. The ball would hit the rim, roll around, look down through the net, and roll out again.

As far as the "hex" goes, neither goal was in a receptive mood last night. The teams had to work like the dickens for every point they got.

Texas Tech finally got 25, and Arizona got 20.

—And Sweep Series

As a result, the Red Raiders have launched their Border conference campaign with two victories in a row, and no defeats. They defeated the Lumberjacks Monday night, 31 to 23, for a start.

To Arthur Howard Garrett, the Judge from New Mexico, and his more or less eagle eye goes credit for helping make last night's victory possible. After a lethargic first half, he found the north hoop for three field goals and a free shot—and our side really needed them. Curly Wilkinson dunked in a couple and Bob Case made a two-pointer, all of them highly appreciated.

The teams played rather great defensive basketball. Arizona's zone defense backing up under the goal to stop Tech's fast rushes time and again. Tech stayed, with its man-to-man defensive system and controlled everything but Jack Thompson, Flagstaff forward who lacked one field goal duplicating his ten-point spree Monday night.

Jacks Take Quick Lead

Thompson and "Tarzan" Benson both gave Tech some trouble last night. The Lumberjacks played a much faster, harder game than marked their debut, and the Raiders had to step lively there. The game started fast, too fast to last. It slowed down the second half for natural reasons. Coach McCreary of Flagstaff made only one substitution and that a force-out when Bruce Gourley committed his fourth personal foul.

Facing the jinxed south goal, the Raiders were able to count only 11 times in the first half, which left them five points behind the visitors when a physical education class came out to intimidate the crowd of 1,300 with a floor hockey game, the between-halves entertainment.

The Raiders got enough shots—that wasn't the trouble. They just couldn't make the ball drop. They got most of the rebounds during the evening, including their own, and they'd stand under the goal and try to tip the ball in five to eight times per possession, but no go.

It was the same way when the Lumberjacks tried that end of the court.

The Jacks started with a rush, Thompson taking the opening tip-off, dribbling to the goal for a crip shot. But four minutes had passed before the next tally, a field goal by Benson. Six minutes were gone before Tech scored, and that was a free throw by Garrett on Gourley's foul. Case pumped one in then for Tech, but Benson made another for the visitors right quickly. Garrett found the hoop for a field goal to the score at 5-all.

Tech Takes Lead

The first half of the first half was all used up before either side scored again. It was a free goal by Berg. Crews made one for Tech to tie the score again, but the Jacks went ahead with Thompson's second field goal. Hugh Snodgrass ran down a charity shot as Tech continued to score one point at a time, at four-minute intervals.

Things got fast and hot, then; Tech actually went into the lead, Crews poking in a field goal from a fer piece. But it didn't last. Here came Thompson tearing down the court to catch a pass from Benson and pour it in for two points. Curly Wilkinson duplicated for Tech for the lead again, but Benson, Cummins and Thompson scored field goals for Flagstaff, all three of them in the last 67 1-2 seconds of play, to take a 16-11 halftime lead.

Coach Huffman must have done some pretty effective explaining in the dressing room, because the Raiders came out and went to work. They started with a rush, Garrett sinking a field goal, Wilkinson dunking in another, then, having been fouled in the effort, made good on one of the free shots to tie the socre. Garrel took up the torch from there, ran down a field goal and added a free one for a three-point lead. It was slashed to a single point when Enson scored for Arizona, the first Lumberjack tally in the second half, and eleven minutes had been played. The Jacks, who hit five free goals out of ten Monday night and two out of three in the first half last night, missed four charity shots in as many attempts in the second half.

Tech Frosh Win

Garrett made another field goal for Tech, taking a snaky pass from Snodgrass under the basket and dropping it in. Case followed with another, from a difficult angle, and Wilkinson one-handed still another, which ended the Tech scoring for the evening. Three minutes remained to play when Cummins made the second field goal and the fourth point in the last half for the visitors.

Preceding the varsity game, Tech's tall freshmen, who make the basketball outlook rather bright for the scarlet and black, downed a fighting Anton High team, 25 to 13, in an abbreviated exhibition.

Maroons Plan No Shake-Ups

Chicago Can Take Lickings—And Get By; Red Ink Freely Used And Team Not So Hot, But Policy Unchanged

CHICAGO, Jan. 12. (AP)—Chicago can take it's football lickings and like 'em, but Michigan and Illinois don't like 'em and intend to do something about it.

Even the prospect of a deficit for 1936 which may run as high as $100,000 has not caused University of Chicago officials to contemplate any change in its athletic setup. A better football team—or another Berwanger — probably would have left the Maroons with more red ink in the bottle and less on the books, but there will be neither expansion nor retrenchment in its policy.

Football continues to show the profit necessary at Michigan and Illinois, to perform its traditional duty of supporting the athletic program, but the defeats have rubbed large, raw spots in high places.

Illini Alumni Buy

Illinois alumni groups all over the state will be busy as bumble bees from now on, relating to high school seniors the advantages of attending their state university instead of straying to other schools.

The campaign includes plans for working on all prospective matriculates.

Michigan, where football showed a profit of $102,683.42, in spite of its third straight painful season on the field, has had so much more than enough of its "lesson in humility" that a dignified groan has been wrenched from the board in control of athletics.

No plan was suggested, but Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the board of control, wrote that the members of the board "are not unaware of the fact that there are problems to be considered, and solved."

Red Strader To See Loyola At New Orleans About A Job

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 12. (AP)—Assistant Coach Norman "Red" Strader of St. Mary's admitted today he has been offered the coaching job at Loyola of New Orleans but he will not accept, he said, until he visits the university.

Strader, all-American halfback of 1925 who once coached at Regis college, Denver, said Loyola's offer to succeed Eddie Reed, resigned, is attractive and he wants to talk over several things, including athletic policy, with school heads.

Charity Shots Bring Victory To Methodists

Norton Makes Six Free Shots In Row And Mates Make Six More As Ponies Pull Close One Out Of Fire

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12. (AP) — Cashing in on 12 out of 16 charity shots, the S. M. U. Mustangs defeated the T. C. U. Horned Frogs, 26-22, in a Southwest conference cage game here tonight.

The Ponies just couldn't miss from the 15-foot mark, Norton, ace sophomore forward, made six tries in a row. The Frogs could make only eight out of 20 tries count for points and this failure cost them the game as both teams made seven field goals.

The battle was hot and heavy in the first half. The Frogs took an early 4-0 lead but the Ponies came up to make it 7-5. The lead swapped back and forth until the Mustangs led by a 13-12 count at the rest period.

Frogs Come Close

Starting the final chapter, the Ponies spurted into a five-point margin. They held on tight and were on top 23-17 with 12 minutes to play. A field goal and free pitch by lanky Charlie Mabry, who played an outstanding game at center for the Christians, made it 23-20. But that was as close as the Frogs could come. With five minutes to go, the tally was 25-20. A two-pointer by Guard Jay Smith left it 25-22 but a charity shot by Norton gave the Mustangs a safe working lead with one minute and a half to play.

The Mustangs froze the ball successfully the rest of the time despite frantic efforts by the Purple.

Norton was high pointer, adding two field goals to his six free shots for 10 tallies.

Tip-Top Mystery Cagers To Battle Slaton's Oilers

SLATON, Jan. 13. (Special) — As the "main event" on a double header basketball program here Thursday night, the Slaton Oilers, independent team sponsored by the Slaton Cotton Oil Mill company, will clash with Lubbock's prominent independents, the Masked Mystery Men representing Tip-Top Cafe.

Manager Stephens of the Slaton Oilers has virtually the same team this year that went places last year in the independent league. He lost but one player, Wilson Gilmore, former Tech star, but has replaced him with Pete Burke, another former Tech player, who seems to be capable of filling the Gilmore shoes.

Jim Neely, Alvin Crews, Pete Burke, Bob Simms and Jack Miller probably will constitute the starting lineup, with Otis Cannon and Harold Keyes ready for relief duty.

The Tip-Top cafe team of Lubbock, which has created quite a sensation by appearing on courts with their heads and faces hidden by flaming red hoods, have won nine of twelve games played this season, losing three to teams which compared with college quintets.

The game here is to start at 8 o'clock, following a high school contest between Tahoka and Slaton cagers.

The Thursday and Friday schedule of first round games follows:

Stakes High And Track Fast For Hialeah Opener

HIALEAH, Fla., Jan. 12. (AP)—The stakes will be high and the track will be fast for the 46-day racing meet opening tomorrow at Hialeah park.

From the $3,500 inaugural handicap through the $50,000 added Widener that closes the meeting, more than $400,000 will be distributed to horsemen.

Twenty-six horses have been nominated for the opening feature with 15 likely to start. Hal Price Headley's giant thoroughbred, Whopper, has been assigned top impost of 122 pounds for the six-furlong dash.

Ogden Phipps' White Cockade hero of the 1936 Whithers at Belmont Park, and Mrs. Emil Denemark's Finance are weighted at 118 pounds. Marshall Field's Titangel, winner of the 1935 Belmont Futurity, is to carry 116.

Westerners Play Spade On Friday

The Lubbock High Westerners will resume their cage warfare Friday night in a game with the Spade Steers.

Spade, which has won some 22 games while losing two this season, are considered strong threats for the county, and possibly the district title.

The game will start at 7:30 o'clock at the Lubbock High gymnasium, and promises one of the most interesting high school games booked so far here.

Only five of the 50 members of the University of Texas football squad are from out of state. The roster lists 31 of the 50 squadmen as still in their 'teens.

School Quints Getting Ready For Big Push

Interscholastic League Race Gets Under Way Soon With 10,000 Boys Firing Away In District Tournaments

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Jan. 12. (AP)—The annual Texas Interscholastic league basketball race was in full swing today with standout teams hailed from Panhandle to Gulf.

More than 10,000 boys swished the ball through the hoop, aiming at district tournaments on thirty-two widely separated fronts.

Jeff Davis of Houston, Austin and Taft in South Texas; Highland Park, Dallas, in North Texas; Athens and Cushing in East Texas; Gober and Mount Vernon in Northeast Texas; Hamlin and Forsan in West Texas; El Paso in the Far West and Carey in the Panhandle were listed as outstanding contenders for the title.

Past history shows the dope in schoolboy basketball is even less stable than football, with dark horses giving the wiseacres rude jolts.

Hornets Strong Again

Jeff Davis, Austin, Taft, Carey, Cushing and El Paso were in the state tournament last season. Athens, five times state champion, did not get there in one of the 1936 surprises but the Hornets claim another great team this year.

Highland Park defeated Gober in the first set-back the Northeast Texans received in nineteen games. Gober has a sensational record and the Dallas team's feat is noteworthy.

Jeff Davis swept through the San Antonio invitation tournament, defeating a fine Austin team to do it. Hamlin won the Colorado invitation, downing a classy field that included Forsan, a 1936 district champion.

Friday is the closing date for teams to enter the race.

Budge And Grant Advance In Dixie Net Tournament; May Meet Each Other In Finals

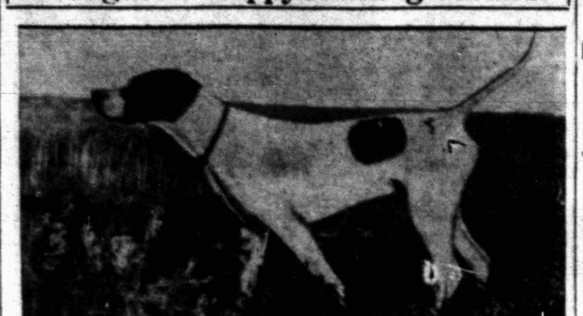

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 12. (AP)—Donald Budge, the nation's No. 1 ranking tennis player, advanced easily today toward what he hopes is a second meeting with Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, the Atlanta giant killer who defeated him in straight sets at Coral Gables last week.

Budge paced the favorites into the second round of the annual Dixie tennis tournament by defeating Gene Busbee of Tampa, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. The red-headed Oakland, Calif., star is seeded first.

Grant, the defending champion and seeded third, was optimistic after eliminating Clarence Varner, Orlando, 6-1, 6-0.

Parker, the nation's No. 2 star and seeded in that order in the tournament, defeated Donald Elkins, of Atlanta, 6-1, 6-0.

Sand Hill Ted, Champion Pointer Who 'Never Made Mistake,' Must Be Doing All Right In 'Happy Hunting Grounds'

SAND HILL TED

By LARRY BAUER

WICHITA, Kas., Jan. 12. (AP) — Champion Sand Hill Ted, statuesque pointer known to sportsmen throughout the country, has passed on to that happy hunting ground where prairie chickens abound and the fields are full of quail.

For Sand Hill Ted was equally expert in handling both game birds. The dog won on the bench as well as in the field during 7 1-2 years of life. His winnings cover two typewritten pages including the all-American amateur championship at Pierson, Manitoba, September 9, 1935, on sharptail grouse.

"Not only was he a great field dog," said Harry W. Hart, his owner, "but there was none better for shooting. The dog seemed to know when he was at a field trial and when out with an upland game bird hunter.

Flawless Performer

"He was away like a flash at a trial, but with a man on foot and with a gun he worked as any other well-trained shooting dog and as a retriever he was excellent.

"He never made a mistake," Hart added.

One of the many thrilling instances of Ted's work in competition came when he "froze" at the edge of heavy cover. As his handler walked in a half dozen young quail ran under the dog before they flushed. Ted did not move a muscle and maintained his point until older birds were flushed from the cover, the gun was fired, and his handler sent him on.

A lone prairie chicken frequently runs away from a dog and Ted was a past master in running around a moving chicken in a half circle and pinning the bird under his point.

In his long career he was never known to flush game or to leave his point. Hart handled the dog in many meets.

Ted, liver and white in color, was sired by Tip of Joyeuse. His dam was Carolina Frank's Virginia, and he was bred by H. C. Hall, Denison, Tex.

The dog's record will be carved in a stone to be erected over his burial place.

Kearns Ready To Rate Own Horses, With 'Favorites'

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP)—Frank Kearns, for one, isn't worrying over all this talk of Reaping Reward and Pompoon being the outstanding candidates for three-year old turf honors in 1937. The veteran trainer has three colts of his own in Warren Eright's Calumet stable which he thinks will give good accounts of themselves.

Foremost he rates Galsun, a chestnut by Gallant Fox out of Sunstroke. Then there's Privileged, sired by Sir Galahad III, daddy of the Fox. Kearns also believes Gosum, an off spring of the little known Hotweed, may develop into a worthwhile colt.

"The three are in all the three-year old fixtures and I have high hopes for them as 1937 prospects, especially Galusn," declared Kearns.

Galsun won only one of his four starts last year, but he gave promise of developing.

Privileged looks to be the better of the two on his record. The big son of Sir Galahad started 14 times, won five races, finished second twice and third in four other events to earn $25,875.

Gosum, strictly a dark horse, started five times and won once.

Ranking Middleweights, Sol Kreiger, Yarosz, To Clash

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (AP)—Two top flight middleweights go on trial in tomorrow night-ten-round headliner in the New York Hippodrome.

Solly Krieger, the Brooklyn veteran, who bounced Harry Balsano, the erstwhile "battering brakeman" back into the New York subways, goes against Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight king, in a match that may produce some future fodder for Champion Freddie Steele.

Steele will be at the ringside. Afterwards he will decide whether he prefers to risk his newly won crown against the winner, give Eddie (Babe) Risko of Syracuse, a chance to win it back, or cook up a match with Jimmy McLarnin.

Stratton, Andy Tremaine Meet In Main Event

Pair Of Mat Artists Who Do Not Go In For 'Muckerism' Are Re-Matched; Trouble Is Due In Special Event

TONIGHT'S STARTING LINEUP

Preliminary — Olaf Hanson, St. Paul, Minn., vs. Joe Bauer, Milwaukee. One fall or 20 minutes.

Special event—Sailor Moran, Little Rock, Ark., vs. George Bennett, Oklahoma City. One fall or 30 minutes.

The main go—Walter Stratton, Des Moines, Iowa, vs. Andy Tramaine, Tucson, Ariz. Two out of three falls to a finish or 2-hour time limit.

Curtain raiser at 8 o'clock. Broadcast, Station KFYO.

A fast, well-matched semi-final on last Wednesday night's wrestling card featuring two clean, well-mannered but hard-scrapping grapplers, went to a scoreless tie. So pleased were numerous fans, considered as spokesmen for the majority of the crowd, with the exhibition of skill, strength and honest wrestling that they called on Promoter Sled Allen and demanded a referendum.

So tonight Walter Stratton and Andy Tremaine square off for the main event. They delighted a good-sized crowd last week in their semi-final. They are clean grapplers, but hard-going, each using his natural instincts and facilities and using them in a manner that frequently draws applause from the galleries. There'll be little "muckerism" or dirty stuff, but if they carry on as they left off last week, Stratton and Tremaine will give the folks something else to remember them by.

Moran And Bennett

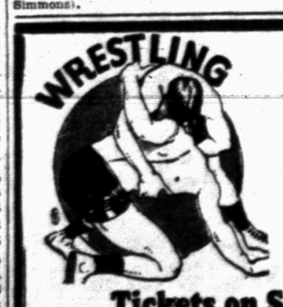

There's another rematch on tonight's card. There couldn't be two main events, so Sailor Moran and George Bennett were placed on the usual semi-final spot, and given thirty minutes to settle their differences.

Their differences are great. They clashed here three weeks ago in the main event, and everybody hoped Bennett, one of the flashiest and most clever of the younger generation of grapplers, would pin Sailor Moran's ears down. He was getting along pretty well until the second and third falls when errors on his own part gave Moran the chances he had been looking and waiting for. The result, victory for Moran, who, after all, loses but few of 'em.

Bennett immediately proposed a recount. It couldn't be arranged as a main event, but he was willing to take on the Sailor in a special go, Tonight is the night.

Another newcomer, the fourth in a row, makes his debut tonight. He is Olaf Hanson, probably a very tough Swede, from the Swedish section of the country. He meets Joe Bauer, a German by birth, in the curtain raiser.

In the middle ages the diamond was ranked in value below the pearl, ruby, emerald and peridot.

Case Arouses Local Opinion

Interviews Gathered Tuesday On Downtown Street Shows Attitude Of People Against Mattson Kidnaper-Killer

By MARIE ZIMMERMAN

Public opinion thoroughly is aroused over the kidnaping and slaying of Charles Mattson, as evidenced by answers to the question:

"If it were in your hands to mete out punishment to the kidnaper of the Mattson child, what would you do?"

The following made statements:

REV. R. M. HOCKER, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene: "I would put him in the federal penitetniary on the island of Alcatraz with no possibility of a pardon or parole, and keep him there until he died. While this is a case that deserves capital punishment if ever one did, my deep-laid opposition to capital punishment just can't be put aside."

Torture Is Favored

HAL B. GRADY, theater manager: "Of course I think the perpetrator of the Mattson crime should be electrocuted, or hung. And because he not only unspeakably tortured his victim but also the members of the Mattson family, I think he should be tortured before being put to death. I wouldn't oppose the worst kind of torture known in his case."

MRS. TED TIPPS, deputy county clerk: "He should be placed in a prison where he would have no more concessions than the representative hardened criminal, and where he would have no possible chance of escape. Confronting himself day after day, year after year, with his crime, he would be punished more than if executed speedily. I do not believe in capital punishment.

Throw Him To Masked Marvel

SLED ALLEN, wrestling promoter: "I would be glad to personally tie the hangman's knot or turn on the electric current for the Mattson killer—but I'd like to see him well worked over by a commitee composed of the Masked Marvel, Sailor Watkins and Danny McShain—using fists, clubs and brass knucks—first!"

MISS RUTH FORD, assistant bank cashier: "The kidnaper should not be shown any mercy because he didn't show the child any. I think they should do to him what he did to the child."

Better Leave Him Off Jury

L. D. CASEY, insurance, loans, and real estate: "It wouldn't do for me to be on that jury. Such crimes must stop and I don't know any more preferable way to stop them than to resort to capital punishment I've never been on a jury that assessed the extreme penalty, but—if I were 'caught' on that to try the Mattson child's slayer, I believe I'd not hesitate over capital punishment."

C. B. BERRY, farmer: "I can't express what I would like to do to that kidnaper. I would like to see him hung up by his two big toes until he died, and I could watch him with all ease of conscience. Nothing is too bad for him."

SYRIAN E. MARBUT, attorney: "I don't think there is any punishment that could be meted out that would be too severe for the kidnaper in this case."

Let Law Have Course

MISS ETHEL BAIN, secretary to Joseph Griggs, county schools superintendent: "I've never believed in taking a life to punish a person for having taken another's life. I do believe the kidnaper should be removed to a place where he would not have a chance to be a menace to any member of society, however."

C. H. GROLLMAN, merchant: "I think the law should take its course."

E. J. FORD, insurance salesman: "At first glancing at the matter I would say 'hang him', but after giving the crime due consideration I think that hanging would be too good for him, and that he should have something worse. His greatest punishment will be thinking about the punishment that the law will give him."

Child Favors Execution

COOLIDGE GRAVES, 12-year-old Junior high school boy: "I think the kidnaper should be executed."

ED HAMBRIGHT, insurance salesman: "I would give him a good shaving with that razor I got for Christmas and then give him the electric chair."

MRS. JAS. P. POSEY, wife of county jailor: "I think that the kidnaper should be burned at the stake. That should be enough torture for him."

One of Lubbock's prominent attorneys said that he believed the kidnaper should be given a sure, swift, and certain death—a death that is as horrible as the government can figure out, such as stretching him up to a tree and putting hot irons to him and leave him until he dies.

Kill Him By Inches!

Others questioned said he should have some horrible punishment. One woman suggested that "little bits of him should be cut off at a time until he dies."

ERON GAFFORD of Panhandle and MARY DEE PRICE of Brownfield, co-eds at Texas Technological college, would "give him the chair," since that form of execution respectively would be "the worst" and the "most awful" manner of "satisfying society."

The United States department of agriculture reports Kentucky farmers received less from the sale of their principal farm products in September of this year than they received in September, 1935.

The Camera Looks At Life And Finds It Art

From a German chemist's demonstration in 1727 that light turned silver salts black, to today's candid camera, photography has come a long way. How far may be observed at this year's U. S. Camera salon, No. 1 American open picture show, on display in New York prior to a tour of 75 other cities.

Seven judges, all photographers or art directors, voted on 25,000 pictures submitted for the exhibition and accepted entries from more than 175 contributors, 40 per cent of them amateurs.

Five of the pictures reproduced here demonstrate graphically modern photography's range in catching speed, emotion, drama, beauty and nature.

But not yet, says Chairman Edward Steichen of the committee of judges, have photographers realized the potentialities of their cameras.

"The average of the work submitted was good," he says, "but the proportion of really outstanding photographs was relatively small . . . Independent thinking and vision are not frequent and humor is scarce."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission has issued a final order authorizing the acquisition by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company of control by purchase of capital stock of the Fort Worth and Rio Grande Railway company.

At the same time, the commission authorized the purchase by the St. Louis, San Francisco and Texas Railway company of certain properties of the Fort Worth and Rio Grande Railway company.

The commission also authorized a lease by the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway company of all properties of the Fort Worth and Rio Grande Railway company, except those to be purchased by the St. Louis, San Francisco and Texas carrier.

Operation under trackage rights by the St. Louis, San Francisco and Texas Railway company over part of the main line of Fort Worth and Rio Grande Railway company extending between a point of connection with the latter's south belt line, at Belt Junction, and a point 1,000 feet southwest, in or near Fort Worth, Tex., also was authorized by the commission.

Associated Press News Go Long Way Over Wires To Reach Texas Members

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 12.—Broken communication lines in the wake of an icy cold wave caused the Associated Press, through crippled Western Union and A. T. & T. wires, to reach its member papers in weird fashion the past 48 hours.

Houston, 225 miles distant and normally served by direct wire from the Dallas bureau, received its state news on a circuit that started at Dallas, circled through Kansas City, New York, Atlanta, New Orleans and back to Houston. A later change cut several hundred miles off the loop when the news sped from Dallas to Kansas City to St. Louis to New Orleans and back to Houston.

Perhaps the longest stretch involved exchanging news with Austin, 200 miles away. From Dallas the wire extended to El Paso, Denver, Chicago, Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston, into Harlingen in the Rio Grande valley, back to San Antonio and finally into Austin.

The A. T. & T. said two clear wires between Houston and Harlingen, Texas, deep in the south end of the state, were carrying a burden of four telegraph and 12 telephone circuits.

Similarities Of Two Kidnapings Are Pointed Out

TACOMA, Jan. 12. (AP)—Here are some striking similarities linking the Mattson and Lindbergh kidnaping-murders:

Both boys slain soon after kidnaping.

Both boys' name was Charles.

Bodies of both victims found in woods.

Ladder used in Lindbergh kidnaping; federal authorities are examining a ladder as clue in Mattson case.

Lindbergh kidnaper used stockings over shoes in snow; Mattson kidnaper apparently did same from tracks observed around Mattson boy's body.

Classified advertisements used in both cases.

Name of youth who found boy was Morrow—maiden name of Colonel Lindbergh's wife, Ann Morrow.

Tech Professor Is Speaker At Lions

Using graphs, charts, indices of many lines of industry and business, on which he based his discussions, T. C. Root, member of the department of business administration at Texas Technological college, spoke on "The Present Trend of Business Affairs," at the Lions club luncheon in the Hilton hotel Tuesday noon.

President H. C. Pender announced directors had selected Harry Morris as second vice president of the club, for the remainder of the term. He succeeds R. C. (Bob) Harvey, resigned.

Other Activities Talked

Directors also will meet next Monday night to discuss a substitute activity, to take the place of a proposed Better Baby Clinic, which the club had hoped to sponsor. President Pender announced a group of Crosbyton men were preparing to form a Lions club there and that the extension committee will visit them Wednesday night. The committee is to meet at the Hilton hotel that noon.

A letter of appreciation from a Mexican boy and a Mexican girl, for glasses given them by the club, was read.

E. H. Plank, program chairman for the month, asked C. A. Sanford of the educational committee to introduce the speaker of the day, Mr. Root cited numerous evidences of upward business trend, including the steel market, car loadings, bank clearings, call money, interest rates, the heavy industries and construction, to show that conditions for 1937 appeared to be well on towards a normal condition.

A dozen charts were used to illustrate the conditions in the several lines. Wages of Class I railroads, unemployment etc., also were pointed to as showing better basic conditions.

Quick Justice Given To Five

Sentences Totaling 22 Years In Penitentiary Are Given Here Monday By Judge Pitts In 99th District Court

Justice took wings Monday afternoon, when Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court heard the pleas of five men and sentenced them to 22 years in the state penitentiary—all within two hours.

Pleas of guilty were entered by all defendants, and juries were waived.

Sentenced were: Lawyer D. Gilbert and Earnest Williams, negroes, three years each, for burglary;

W. C. White, negro, five years, for burglary;

I. M. Stephens, three years in each of two cases of forgery, sentences to run concurrently;

Alton Sheffield, five years, for robbery by assault.

Lindsey Represents State

Victor R. Lindsey, assistant district attorney who represented the state Tuesday, said Gilbert and Williams shared loot taken by Williams Nov. 14 in burglary of a Red and White store of H. W. McKee at Shallowater; that the offense was the first for Williams, but that Gilbert twice had served time in the penitentiary.

White was nabbed and held by three negroes after breaking into the residence of John Green, another negro. Arrested Oct. 17, White said he was 21 years old and had been to the Texas penitentiary and to an Oklahoma reform institution at Granite, Okla. He asked the negroes who arrested him to "whip me and turn me loose."

Passed Forged Checks

Stephens, 42, enjoyed a good reputation until recently, said authorities. He passed a check Oct. 24 to Levine's for $13.75, forged on the First National bank at Sudan and with the name of R. E. Morgan signed. A day or so later, before the first check had cleared, he presented a check for $17.50 and was looking at shoes, intending a purchase. A clerk telephoned the bank when he noticed the name J. C. Barron signed to the check. The clerk was informed Barron, an insurance man of Sudan, had an account in that institution, but a notation on the check's corner explaining it had been issued to pay for "boll pulling" tripped Stephens. The bank said Barron had no cotton. Authorities were telephoned and Stephens was arrested.

Incidentally, both checks were made payable to Cecil Stevens. Stephens said his wife and children live at Vealmoor, near Big Spring.

Fired To "Scare Him"

Sheffield, 19, pleaded guilty of the second count of an indictment that grew out of an armed assault attempt the night of Nov. 10, about midnight, at Hub Tourist camp, 1925 Avenue H. Sheffield told Judge Pitts he had fired "over the head" of G. Martin, proprietor, "to scare him." Martin's son, J. W., 18, shot Sheffield in the leg. Sheffield had received a three-year suspended sentence March 17 for forgery, showed records in the district attorney's office.

Martin favored leniency in the assault case, because of the defendant's age.

Judge Pitts said the suspended sentence would be revoked and that Sheffield's total of eight years could not be served concurrently.

"I've talked with your mother and I am exceedingly sorry for her," said Judge Pitts after the prisoner had said nothing in bar when asked why he should not be sentenced. "That, however, can not apply to your case. You endangered the lives of others, and you must pay for your mistakes. Should a pardon for you be recommended by those other than myself I should be in no haste to make any recommendation."

Government soil conservation officials say pasture furrowing has been the principal factor in the recovery of ranges in the Texas Panhandle.

Bits Of News Gathered On Oil Development In Area

Storage is being erected at the T. & P. Ruth Bennett No. 1 in Yoakum county while 3,600 feet of oil is standing in the hole. Further testing is to be made. One of four tanks has been erected. The engines were moved back some distence and the tanks are to be over 1,000 feet from the derrick. Botton is 5,163 feet, in lime. An increase was reported at from 5,153-70 feet after two showings, 5,090 to 5,105 and 5,105 to 5,135 feet. Location is in the same section as the Yoakum county pool opener, Cascade-Honolulu No. 1 Bennett, section 678, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Drilling was to have been resumed Tuesday night in the Uscan & Illinois No. 1 Brownfield, Terry county wildcat west of Brownfield, bottomed at 5,515 feet before the holidays and shut down. It was understood that the driller, C. J. (Red) Davidson, was instructed to "drill until you find something—oil, gas or water." Location is in section 54, block K, public school land.

With a "frozen" bit, operation in W. L. Pickens, et al No. 1 Estella Lewright, southern Terry county wildcat, was shut down at 4,015 feet, in shale and anhydrite. The test, about 10 miles north of the Albaugh wildcat in western Dawson county, is in section 1, block C-37, public school land.

Stanolind's No. 1 J. A. Morrow, Gaines county wildcat, is preparing to core after what was first thought was sulphur water turned out to be drilling fluid and mud discolored by sour gas. Location is in section 20, block A-24, public school land. Bottom was given as 4,770 feet. The discoloration was from 4,736-8 feet, after a coring at 4,668-710 feet.

Delayed by a lost bailer, Texas company's No. 1 Bob Slaughter, on the Bob Slaughter tract in southwestern Hockley county, has resumed drilling at 3,790 feet. It is in labor 33, league 38. Zavalla county school land.

Drilling in the Amerada No. 1, Gaines county wildcat, is to be resumed at 4,682 feet, after the test, in section 9, block A-22, public school land, was shut down for freezing water.

Gartex No. 3 Post estate, section 6-5 block K, Aycock survey, Garza county, was reported below 2,745 feet.

Grisham & Hunter No. 1 Post estate, same section as the Gartex, is preparing to spud after derrick was skidded 40 feet west when a string of casing was lost at 2,800 feet.

Additional Account Forms In Social Security Act Ordered

Additional account number forms, issued to employes registering under the Social Security act, have been ordered, said Postmaster Amos H. Howard.

Four thousand forms originally were sent here, said the postmaster. When that supply was depleted, an additional supply of 1,000 was obtained. Those forms have been exhausted, and employes continue to apply for numbers.

One form, with the individual's account number, is issued to each employe. The postmaster estimated that at least 6,000 employes would be numbered here.

Our Standards And Prices

THE MORNING AVALANCHE is as much surprised as the next one to find a man who poses as an expert urging longer working hours as a means of improving living standards. The tendency of the era is to demand shorter working hours and higher wages as a means of bringing about much desired improvement but despite that trend, Dr. Harold G. Moulton, of Brookings Institute, told a Chicago audience the other day that longer hours, no large increases in wages and low prices for commodities provide the better means.

"The most striking feature of the recovery of the last two years has been the failure of prices to rise, where at the same time there has been a slight rise in wages," he told the Motor and Equipment Wholesalers association convention. "I am disturbed because of the danger of rising wages, taxes and prices becoming a vicious circle. If this can be avoided, the chances of carrying out production will be materially enhanced. If the 34-hour or even the 36-hour week is effected under a revived NRA, a sharp rise in prices is inevitable."

We presume the point here is whether purchasing power is better preserved by low prices and the working and wage conditions that go with them or by high prices, high wages and short hours. For after all, whatever degree of prosperity we may have is dependent upon the measure of purchasing power, and without a surplus in the pockets of the masses there can be no purchasing power.

Presumably the theorists will battle it out on their own lines. But in the last few years so many fine theories have gone wrong, so many theorists have proved that they did not know exactly what they were talking about, that practical men of affairs will be inclined to work the problem out along their own lines.

Three months free subscription to their home town newspaper, is the Review's present to Frank and Bertha."

Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my Spirit, that they may add sin to sin:

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Ruth Fraser has failed to reach Terence Mahony, who has been betrayed by the kidnaper Ambrose Lawson and Ruth's guardian, Lee-Ramsden, and so has dashed to warn the gang Terence is leading against Lawson that the latter is about to ambush them. Ruth has hidden in the house, and a terrific fight has ensued. Fatty Bassett, Terence's second in command, is arranging an escape through a pawnshop he controls, next door to his house. For the battle has been given away by Barney Flynn, who knocked one of Lawson's men through a window into the street.

Chapter 32

THE POLICE

"That's all right, Mr. Bassett," said Eli. "You been in my back room smokin' my cigars. The furniture van is in the back yard."

"Have it brought right up against the back yard at once," ordered Bassett. "An' bring me a big sheet."

He called up the stairs to Barney and Chippy: "Come on, you fellers. You got to get away quick. The police may want to search this 'ouse as well as next door."

Fatty's plans were simple and efficient. Lake's bound figure, wrapped in a big sheet, was thrust quickly into the covered back of the van; Barney and Chippy got in with him.

Within a minute of the time when the men had entered the house, the furniture van glided away from the back door and was lost to sight in the traffic. Fatty sat down solemnly in Eli's back room, lit a cigar, and began to take a great interest in a set of pewter tankards.

Ruth, hidden behind the curtain in the house next door, heard the crash as the man Barney hit went through the window, and saw something dark and heavy fall past the window of the room in which she was hiding.

Very cautiously she peered through the window to see what it was. Lying on the pavement out-side the house was the body of a man. The crowd which had assembled round her car was now assembling round the fallen man, and growing in numbers every minute; from outside the house came a babel of excited conversation.

Very softly she left the room and peered up the stairs. She could hear nothing. For a moment she hesitated. Then, nerving herself determinedly for the effort, she mounted the stairs to the small landing. A door was open, and she stepped forward and looked into the room beyond.

What she saw made her shrink back suddenly with a gasp of horror. On the floor were lying the figures of three men. Police whistles were blowing in the street; there was a sound of banging on the front door of the house. Ruth went back on to the landing outside the room.

"Mr. Bassett! Mr. Bassett!" she called. But there was no answer. he was alone in the house with the three men lying on the floor of that room.

Swiftly she descended the stairs. the front door was giving; in a moment it would burst open. She must not be found in that house. She went down the steps to the basement and crossed the kitchen to the back door. Luck was with her; no one was there. A few seconds later she was walking quickly along the street away from the house.

But though she was free for the moment, she realized that she was in a terrible position. The police would know she had been in the house when that man's death took place; her car was still outside the front door.

If only she thought desperately, she could find Mahony; he would be able to tell her what she ought to do. Perhaps he would be at his rooms by now. he entered a telephone-box and rang up his number, but his landlady told her he had not yet returned.

At last she thought of a plan. A letter written and posted to Mahony now would reach him by the evening post. he must write to him and tell him of her plight, and ask him to come and see her.

She must also find a hiding-place where she could wait safely for him in case he did not get her letter till late that night. Her guardian owned an unoccupied house in the St. John's Wood Road. If only she could get into that house she ought to be pretty safe there for a few hours. That would be her best hiding-place.

She entered a little stationer's, bought a packet of note-paper and enveloppes, wrote a brief note to Mahony, and posted it. Near the post box was a large cinema, and at the sight of it she paused again. In order to reach the house in St. John's Wood she had practically to cross London. Mahony would not receive her letter before about nine that evening; if he came in late he would not receive it till midnight or later. It would be safer for her, she reflected, to cross London after dark than in broad daylight; in the meantime she could remain fairly safely hidden inside that cinema.

She bought a sticket and entered the darkness of the picture theater, with a sigh of relief, she sank into the softly cushioned seat. Here, for five or six hours, she would be safe.

Mahony waited for about a couple of hours in the empty house in St. John's Wood Road where Lee-Ramsden had sent him. The time passed very slowly; he chafed at his inactivity. All the time he was wondering what was happening, what Lawson was doing, and whether Bassett and his band of toughs would have had time to take advantage of the warning Lee-Ramsden was supposed to have sent them.

MORE MORE

It was about four in the afternoon when he heard a sound of wheels on the gravel drive that led up to the house. Looking through the window he saw that a car had drawn up at the front door. Two men were dismounting from it, one of whom was carrying a suit-case. Thank heaven, thought Mahony, here at last was his disguise.

He went down and opened the front door. One of the men spoke to him.

"Is your name Mahony?" he asked.

"Yes," answered Mahony.

"I and my friend have been sent here with directions to disguise you so that no one can recognize you," said the man.

"Good. Come along inside." Invited Mahony.

He showed them into the empty drawing-room.

"Is this job going to take long?" he asked.

"Half an hour or so," answered the man. "It isn't easy to disguise a man in a way that will defy detection. Now do you mind standing here, well in the light, and keeping quite still?"

He stood in front of Mahony, looking him up and down, while his companion wandered restlessly about the room.

"Stand quite still," he said.

And as he spoke he made a bad mistake. His glance left Mahony, staring over his shoulder at his companion, who was just behind Mahony, and there was an expression of tense excitement in his eyes that could not be accounted or by any interest he took in transforming Mahony's appearance.

Mahony turned sharply, moving slightly to one side. That movement just saved him. The clubbed revolver wielded by the man behind him, missed his head and struck him a glancing blow on the shoulder.

That blow hurt Mahony; it also angered him. It seemed to him that everywhere he went he encountered treachery, and he was fed up with it. With a sharp, vicious movement he brought over his right fist in a short hook, and al the strength of his anger, and all the power of his right shoulder were behind the blow.

It took the man who had just struck at him fairly on the angle of the jaw. With a heavy bump the man sprawled flat on his back.

And then Mahony sprang at the other man; as he did so the man sprang to meet him. There was a brief, fierce interchange of blows, each man hitting out with all his strength. The fight lasted about twenty seconds. A tremendous right cross to the jaw followed by a left hook to the stomach ended it. Mahony's opponent sank to the ground out for the count.

Both his adversaries were, for the time being, out of action. He stepped quickly across the room, and opened the suit-case which they had brought. It contained nothing but a coil of strong rope. Mahony laughed a trifle grimly at that.

He turned out the pockets of the two men, then tied them securely with the rope they had brought with which to tie him. There was nothing of any great interest in their pockets, but both men, he noticed, had cards of membership of the Golden Centipede Club. Evidently that club was used by nearly all Lawson's band of crooks.

Leaving the two men tied up on the floor, of the empty drawing-room, he left the house.

Mahony gets information from Kennedy, tomorrow, which surprises him.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S advisers regard spreading industrial warfare as a threat to any move toward establishing federal controls over wages and hours. That's the real explanation for his summons of labor and management poohbahs to the White House.

FDR seeks to stave off violent demands for a six-hour day on Capitol Hill. For the present he doesn't consider that the ultimate answer to problems of unemployment and income redistribution, and he doesn't want the labor forces to stake their prestige on passage or defeat of this legislation. Mr. Roosevelt also feels that general strikes will embitter the public against labor, and thereby endanger liberal, pro-labor legislation in Congress and state legislatures.

Behind the scenes the President is sparring for the time to settle the labor-capital conflict by law rather than strikes. What he will offer in the shape of an olive limb to management has not been disclosed. That may not matter, for if he can't restrain his Green-Lewis friends, employers won't be disposed to temporize.

INTEREST: FHA-ers are bracing themselves against the shock of a new onslaught by real estate interests hostile to government competition in the awakening mortgage market. The federal guarantee of 80 per cent expires on June 1.

The attack has been launched indirectly rather than frontally. Mortgage and building loan spokesmen aren't seeking FHA's scalp as far down as the neckline, but it amounts to decapitation. What they propose is that FHA financing be restricted to new construction in the future, leaving financing of existing homes to themselves. The joker is that FHA's influence on interest rates, fees and renewal charges would disappear entirely if it dealt only in futures. It's that "yardstick" which affects all real estate charges.

President Roosevelt, however, is exhibiting keener concern for stimulation of building. He will ask for continuation of FHA, and perhaps in a form which will startle its detractors. Among the possibilities are a lower interest rate (now 5 1-2 per cent to the banks, 6.24 to the home buyer) and a boost in the guarantee from 80 to 90 per cent for low-cost houses.

KNOTTY: Most significant detail in all neutrality talk is the icy silence which greets proposals that war embargoes be extended to foodstuffs and raw materials —cotton, wheat, corn, oil, copper, machinery etc.

Offhand the 100 per cent peace bloc is inclined to blame the omission on the makeup of the comittees which handle foreign affairs for House and Senate. They could not have been picked more perfectly if the seniority system had been deliberately dominated by representatives of producing and manufacturing states which would suffer severely under any scheme of absolute isolation.

That's only the visible factor. Practical apostles of neutrality, including Messrs. Roosevelt and Hull, question the wisdom of hard-and-fast rules on this subject. It might cause grave economic disruption that would promote a war party and sentiment in the U. S. They prefer to leave that knotty problem to the discretion of the Chief Executive, who would alter his attitude with changing circumstances.

CHART: The argument about the meaning of FDR's tremendous triumph still rages among his friends and enemies. It underlies all legislative aims and ambitions, each member reading into the returns a mandate for his pet project. WPA, AAA, PWA, NRA, etc.

A Roosevelt high-up furnishes an interpretation which may afford the key to the President's second term program. His conclusion is that the American people have revealed a willingness to lodge increasing power in the government to redistribute things—goods and wages and profits—more equitably among the masses. That sentiment, the unofficial soothsayer notes, marks a sharp reversal from the days when the worker was willing to entrust his fortunes to private management. It is the result, partly, of depression disillusionment with pre-1929 leaders, partly of political preachments by the New Dealers.

This supposedly Rooseveltian interpretation has been passed along to certain privotal "economic royalists"—for whatever they may think it to be worth as a sailing chart for 1937.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE Best posted New Yorkers do not agree with the pessimistic who mean that the Inter-American conference at Buenos Aires was a colossal flop because no neutrality agreement was reached by the 21 American nations. It may well be that Europe—especially England—is gloating in the belief that pressure from across the Atlantic spoiled our neutrality game.

But the outstanding fact—as authoritatively disclosed—is that the delegation from the United States had no real intention, EVEN BEFORE IT STARTED for Buenos Aires, of coming home with a binding neutrality pact with our neighbors. If it makes European and other observers happy to think otherwise, the State department hasn't the slightest objection.

A high official had a heart-to-heart talk with a New York friend before he left for Buenos Aires. Said he: "Don't expect much of the conference in the way of formal treaties. We can't take any chances of working out some careful diplomatic formula only to have the Senate knock it on the head. That would ruin us forever with our Latin friends. Especially will we NOT seek an inter-American agreement on neutrality policy when Congress hasn't even defined our own neutrality policy. Put it bluntly—we will be satisfied to bring home a collection of high-sounding generalities."

This turned out to be a perfect forecast of what actually happened—so there is no reason for disappointment.

SALESMAN: There is one group of Americans who will never believe that President Roosevelt's visit to South America was anything but a whopping success. These are the men posted in Buenos Aires, Montevideo and Rio le Janeiro for the purpose of selling American refrigerators, automobiles, radios, typewriters, sewing machines and what have you. The good will felt for FDR in these capitals was reflected promptly and concretely by a swift upturn in the sales of American goods.

Gleeful reports sped to New York are specific in crediting this boom to Mr. Roosevelt. Customers flocked around expressions enthusiasm for "your smiling President." No other visitor from the United States ever did as much for the Latin export business of large American corporations as the New Dealer-in-chief.

CRUEL: Students of taxation predict that New Deal inheritance taxes will have a deep influence in breaking up hereditary family businesses.

Closely held companies will have every incentive to incorporate and offer shares to the general public.

If they do not, heirs to family corporations are likely to find themselves in the cruel position of having to sell their interests at a great sacrifice in order to satisfy inheritance tax obligations.

MODEST: When large salaries were made public last week, the New York World-Telegram and Post featured it in headlines that William R. Hearst topped the list with a half-million a year.

Hearst's own New York Journal evidently didn't think that was news. Not only was Mae West featured instead. A careful search of all the large salaried people listed by the Journal fails to reveal Hearst's name at all. Such modesty!

Grand Rapids reports a demand for the Victorian rocker. It is felt there must be thousands of house cats in the land whose tails have never been rocked on.

One hears little these days of the two-pants suit. However, the sitdown strikes may revive this grand old institution.

The first report of seasickness from watching the trailer ahead lurch from curb to curb is expected at any time.

Russia would be the unknown quantity in any new world war. No one knows what a Russian army could do under officers who weren't on the make.

Deadline On Tax Collections To Fall On Sunday This Year

Problem concerning the deadline for collection of taxes for Lubbock Independent school district, City of Lubbock, Lubbock county and state is facing collectors. The deadline, on January 31, falls on Sunday.

Laws specify that collections without penalties may not be made after January 31, so that collectors can not extend the taxpaying period into the next month.

Definite arrangements as to the deadline for the offices have not been fixed as yet, but will be announced later in the month.

The office for collection of state and county taxes probably will close Saturday night at 12 o'clock, Jan. 30, said W. H. Carpenter, collector and assessor.

American cotton seeds planted in Szechuan province, West China, produce twice as much fibre as native strains.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 147. — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

That he should be feared was no new thing to Tarzan of the Apes. "You may put down your bow," he said quietly; "I shall not harm you. Your friend will be here presently." Kali Bwana lowered the weapon. "My friend?" she repeated in surprise. "Whom do you mean?"

"The man who is called Old Timer." Kali Bwana gasped. She had been sure he was dead. But now she was dazed with joy. "Thank God!" she murmured, and sank limply to the ground. A few minutes later Old Timer emerged, panting, from the forest, accompanied by Nkima.

He ran at once to the girl, fearing that she had been hurt. "Are you all right?" he asked, his voice husky with emotion. "Yes," Kali Bwana replied. Her manner was constrained. Being a girl, now that the man was safe, she sought to hide her true emotions from him.

Tarzan, however, was uninterested in their private affairs. "I'll guide you out of the jungle to safety," he announced. Kali Bwana shook her head. "There is something dearer to me than safety," she said; "I will not leave the jungle until I've found Jerry Jerome!"

Budget Bureau May Get Work

Far-Reaching Plans To Make Bureau Watchdog Of All Governmental Financial Activities Are Talked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Far-reaching plans to make the budget bureau a watchdog of all governmental financial activities and to redistribute powers now held by the comptroller general were projected today in the report of the president's committee on administrative management.

If congress approves the recommendations, the budget bureau would assume vast authority over government spending generally, taking responsibility for "the execution, as well as the formulation, of the budget as a national fiscal plan."

Would Pass On Estimates

Through a special division, it would take over the job of scrutinizing and passing on departmental estimates. The committee said it had not "even approximated its maximum possible usefulness."

The bureau now does little more than prepare the annual estimates of income and outgo for the chief executive).

The committee urged a practical about-face in present methods of checking up on government outlays, proposing that duties now reposed in the comptroller-general be vested in the treasury and a new office of auditor-general.

Would Transfer Authority

Authority to prescribe and supervise systems would be transferred to the treasury, while the auditor-general would operate through field representatives to make a "practically simultaneous" check on disbursements.

In the past, the comptroller general merely has checked outlays against appropriation authorizations and examined expense accounts and other items to determine whether government funds were being wasted.

In event of differences between the treasury and the auditor-general over the legitimacy of expenditures, questions would be referred to the attorney general for determination.

Wolfe City Baptist Minister Is Victim Of Auto Collision

GREENVILLE, Jan. 12. (AP)—The Rev. A. H. Etheridge, 44, Wolfe City Baptist pastor, died in a Greenville hospital today three hours after his automobile collided with another car and crashed into a bridge railing west of Rockwall.

The minister's neck was broken, his skull fractured, and he suffered other injuries.

Mrs. Etheridge escaped with minor bruises and brother, A. G. Etheridge of Commerce, had his back wrenched.

The party was en route to Waco to attend a Baptist Sunday school convention.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (AP)—Utilities and specialties were subjected to a buying barrage in today's stock market which partly covered up large offerings in other sectors.

While power and light company shares, together with a number of other favorites, jumped to new 1936-37 highs, most of the steels, motors, oils, coppers and rails gave ground.

Gains ranged from fractions to around 3 points, with a few wider advances.

The ticker tape was frequently behind floor dealings, with trading heaviest in the final hour.

Transfers of 3,567,575 shares were the largest since Nov. 5, last, and compared with 3,076,330 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, bolstered by the power group, was up .1 of a point at 71.8. Both the industrial and rail averages were lower.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12. (AP) — Better foreign markets had an immediate reflection on cotton prices at New Orleans today and options moved up around 50 cents a bale in quiet trading.

Liverpool reported a more optimistic attitude over the Spanish situation and came in better than due. Bombay buying was a sustaining factor on the English exchange.

First prices at New Orleans were around 25 cents a bale higher and for the rest of the day the market staged a slow but persistent advance and closed at the best levels of the day.

March finished at 12.43, May at 12.36, July at 12.29 and Oct. at 11.80. The average price for middling spot cotton at 10 southern markets was 12.86 while middling at New Orleans reached a new season's high at 13.04.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (AP)—Cotton rallied moderately today on spot house and co-operative buying. March advanced from 12.44@12.50 and closed at 12.49 with final prices 6 to 11 points net higher.

The late rally carried prices up to new highs for the month but March failed to break above the so-called "ceiling" of 12.50, which is regarded as equivalent to the coming release price for loan cotton.

The New York Cotton exchange service estimated December domestic all-cotton consumption at 685,000 bales against 626,000 in November and 500,000 in December last year.

Exports today 23,063, making a total of 3,240,429 for the season thus far.

Dr. Cooper Will Speak At Amarillo

OLTON, Jan. 12. (Special)—Dr. Lewis B. Cooper of the department of research of Texas State Teachers association will discuss the principal issue of a proposed bill on teacher retirement at a meeting of Panhandle-Plains Superintendents association in Amarillo Saturday, said H. P. Webb, president of the regional organization.

The teacher retirement bill will be presented to the legislature at the current term, said Webb, who is superintendent of Olton public schools.

James M. Bickley, superintendent of the Clovis, N. M., schools, who is described as "one of the most successful school men in New Mexico," will speak at the Amarillo meeting.

The program will be opened in the Amarillo High school building at 10:30 a. m.

Unemployment Act

tion and other organizations have joined in the invitation, urging employers to attend.

Importance Emphasized

Emphasizing the importance of the meeting the weekly bulletin of the Retail Merchants association said, "The ultimate payroll assessment on Texas employers may amount to as much as the total of all other federal, state, and local taxes combined. The information you have will determine to a large degree just how much tax you will have to pay."

In a meeting held recently in Amarillo by Anderson for employers of that section, representatives from here termed the information obtained as "invaluable."

All Employers Invited

All employers, even those with less than eight fulltime employes, are asked to attend. An employe does not have to work regularly to be classed in the insurance laws. Laborers who work as many as one day each week in as many as twenty weeks in a year meet the requirements as outlined by the Texas act.

Employers with less than the required number of employes may comply with the requirements of the law, thus making their workers eligible for benefits. Such employers are not forced to meet requirements, however, Anderson said at the Amarillo session.

A service club at Muskogee, Okla., is distributing white canes with red tips to the city's blind, so motorists will recognize them and grant immediate right-of-way.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 12. (AP)—Lively late upturns of grain prices today resulted from British official announcement of plans to build up huge reserve supplies of wheat and other foodstuffs.

Aggressive speculative buying that developed in wheat futures far more than overcame in most cases preceding overnight losses of 1½ cents a bushel.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ranging from ⅛ off to ⅝ up compared with yesterday's finish, May 1.34⅛@1.34¼, July 1.16⅜@1.16½, Sept. 1.12½@1.12¼, corn ½ to 1⅛ advanced, May new 1.11⅜@1.11½, July new 1.06⅞@1.07, Sept. 1.02⅝@1.02¾, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, May 53¼, and rye varying from one cent decline to ¼ gain, May 1.12½. In provisions the results ranged from two cents setback to an equal advance.

Corn and oats prices showed independence of wheat, and advanced owing in great degree to knowledge that farm stocks of corn are almost 600,000,000 bushels less than a year ago and more than 500,000,000 bushels under a 5-year average. Rye chiefly followed wheat.

Provisions averaged lower with hog values and with cottonseed oil.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12. (AP)—Demand for grain at Fort Worth today was good. Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 1.36⅝@1.37¾; barley No. 2 nom. 1.01@1.02; sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 2.00@2.03; No. 2 white kafir nom. 2.00@2.03.

Corn, shelled, No. 2 white 1.22½@1.23½; No. 2 yellow 1.24½@1.25½.

at Lansing, Mich., visited the riot scene at Flint this morning. Addition hundreds of striking automobile workers from Toledo and rubber workers from Akron were reported enroute to Flint.

Strikers held a mass meeting this afternoon at the scene of last night's disorders but there was no untoward incident. Roving pickets circled the area in motorcars.

New Strike Begun

A new "sit-down" strike by 50 to 150 workers at the Fleetwood division of General Motors, supplying bodies for the Cadillac Motor Car company, closed that division today, throwing 1,800 out of work.

Glass shortages forced suspension tonight of two Fisher Body plants, at Pontiac, Mich., and Lansing, affecting 11,000 workers. The final assembly lines of the Pontiac Motor car company, employing 1,800, and of the Oldsmobile division at Lansing, with 4,300 workers, are to close Wednesday. These will bring the total idle in General Motors plants to 113,800.

"John Doe" Warrants Issued Against "Sit-Down" Strikers

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 12. (AP)—Legal steps were taken tonight by Flint officials to evacuate several hundred barricaded "sit down" strikers from the Fisher Body plant where the first bloodshed occurred in the strike between General Motors and the United Automobile Workers.

As the first detachments of national guardsmen arrived "John Doe" warrants were issued by Municipal Judges Edwin D. Mallory and Frank W. Cain calling for the arrest of all the men inside the plant on charges of "kidnaping, vicious destruction of property while rioting, felonous assault and criminal syndicalism."

Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott said that he would serve the warrants within the next 24 to 48 hours. He said, however, that he would not act tonight.

"Hill-Billies" Rescued After Night In Desert

ST. JOHN'S, Ariz., Jan. 12. (AP) — Seven "hill-billies" of the stage and studio huddled around a fireplace in this little Indian country outpost today and related how "hot" tunes and a lap dog helped to keep them from freezing last night.

With their bus stuck deep in a snow-filled arroyo on the Painted desert, the entertainers spent the night running through their repertoire of song-and-dance acts, and passing the dog around "as a sort of portable heater."

The troupers, known as "Glen Rice's Hill-Billies" of Beverly Hills, Calif., were rescued this morning after Rice, alarmed because they failed to arrive here for an engagement last night, called out a searching posse.

Kidnap-Killer Being Sought

Nation's Officers Are Scouring Everett, Wash., Section To Find Clues Of Slayer; FDR Issues Statement

heard his voice and observed his actions as he flourished a pistol and took 10-year-old Charles from the living room of his home.

The cast of the footprint revealed he wore socks over his shoes, as did the abductor of little Charles A. Lindbergh.

Federal experts made the cast by sprinkling of the snow with talcum powder and pouring into the telltale footprint a freshly made batch of plaster which hardened quickly to the exact shape.

Killed Week Ago

Coroner's physicians expressed the belief little Charles had been killed not less than three days and possibly a week ago.

The body bore signs that it had been dumped on the dirty floor of an automobile and hauled about after being beaten terrifically. Several teeth were knocked out and one side of the skull was crushed, indicating a hammer or a pipe had been used. There were marks on the wrists indicating Charles had been bound.

Last Contact Jan. 3

An informed source said the last of three contacts between family and kidnaper took place Sunday, January 3—a week after the abduction. The informant said the abductor was incoherent and failed to make contact arrangements although assured the family was ready to take the $28,000 ransom to him.

Gordon Morrow, 19, farm boy who found the body, expressed the belief it had been deposited in the snow last Sunday night about 9 o'clock. He recalled the frantic barking of dogs about that hour.

Carried Body 150 feet

Automobile tracks and the footprints showed the killer had stopped his car about 150 feet from the spot and carried the body to the place where Morrow found it.

Blue-Gray clay found under the finger-nails of the victim corresponded with soil types along river bottoms of this section.

These scraps of information suggested that the abductor deposited the body in some hideout place along a stream but for some reason decided to move it.

"He was too yellow to come out of hiding and obtain the money," said Sceva. Adding that Dr. Mattson had authorized him to state he had done everything humanly possible to pay the ransom and obtain the boy's release.

Man Resembling Kidnaper Reported In California Area

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Jan. 12 (AP)—All roads leading into the Imperial valley were blockaded tonight by the police and sheriff's office following a report that a suspiciously-acting man resembling the kidnaper of Charles Mattson was headed that way, possibly for the Mexican border.

Two newsstand operators and a service station man notified police of the presence of the man, each giving descriptions which roughly fitted the kidnaper of the Mattson boy.

Man Is Being Held In Cleburne In Investigation

CLEBURNE, Jan. 12 (AP) — A 40-year-old man with a southern accent was held in the Johnson county jail tonight as officers sought to determine if he was connected in any way with the kidnaping and slaying of 10-year-old Charles Mattson in Tacoma.

Sheriff Oran Smith said he was very skeptical the man knew anything about the case, but he would hold him until he had completed a check with Washington officers.

Arrested Monday

The man was arrested yesterday. Sheriff Smith said he called the man from a motion picture show, questioned him and then told him to go back and enjoy the show. The officer said he arrested the man when he appeared to be looking for an unguarded exit.

The sheriff said the man registered at a hotel under one name, gave another to officers and a third was found in a note book found in his room. With the note book, according to Sheriff Smith, were outlines of promotion schemes. The figures 28,000, 8,000, 10,000 and 12,000 were scratched with a pencil on a piece of paper.

Sheriff Smith gave his description as 5 feet, 71-2 inches tall, weight 195, eyes blue, hair brown and complexion ruddy.

The man spoke of having worked in Seattle and said he had been in Tacoma lately.

Old Spanish Trail Association Asks Completion Of Pavement

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12. (AP) — Members of the Old Spanish Trail association in convention here today adopted a resolution asking Louisiana and Texas to complete their paving of the trail through the two states.

The unpaved stretches lie west of New Orleans and near Sonora, Texas.

The directors of the association elected Jules Dupont of Houma, La., president; Walter M. Casey of Beaumont, Texas, treasurer and W. L. Ramnel, of Beaumont, secretary.

Resolutions adopted also asked that toll bridges along the route be made free and that the present map of the trail route be copyrighted so no change can be made in the route which would exclude any town now on it.

Mrs. Ira E. Williams, 99, of Saragosa, Tex., was a spy and dispatch bearer for Confederate forces during the Civil war. She smuggled guns through Northern lines but "never killed a man."

Government Ownerhip Of Railroads Is Seen If 6-Hour Day Legislation Passes

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Jan. 12. — Donald D. Conn of Chicago, executive vice president of the Transportation Association of America, expressed his opinion today that it would be tantamount to confiscation of railroad properties if federal legislation was adopted to force the six-hour day upon railroads of the country.

He told the American National Livestock association it would be confiscation "unless agriculture and industry wish to pay $630,000,000 more in rates simply to benefit an already privileged class of employees.

Would Have To Pay More

"If the same basis of legislation is applied to all forms of (for hire transportation, it is estimated that shippers of the country will pay an added freight bill of over a billion dollars annually," Conn said. "The Interstate Commerce commission has estimated that the adoption of such a measure would add $630,000,000 to the cost of operating the railroads alone."

"Such a move represents an effort on the part of transportation labor to absorb such a large percentage of every dollar paid in rates as to leave little, if any, return upon private capital, or to saddle the entire burden upon the shipper.

Would Be Only Alternative

"If the shipper refuses to pay, government ownership becomes the only alternative. It should be recalled that all but two rail unions are on record now in favor of government ownership."

Conn went on to say railroad labor now is at its peak for all time and that "about one million railroad workers each averaged nearly three times the income of 6,812,350 farmers together with each of 3,949,622 members of their families and over four times the income of each of 1,645,602 hired farm hands."

Moreover, railroad workers worked substantially shorter hours than farmers or farm workers," he added, in a plea for consideration of the farmers' economic position and ability to pay in comparison with railroad labor."

Made Pancake Landing

Miss Conner told the Associated Press "We were coming in on the instruments," when the plane made a pancake landing only 10 miles from its goal, Union Air Terminal, Burbank.

"We had no warning of any kind of trouble. We were talking about ham and eggs. Everybody was hungry."

The plane was due at Burbank at 10:45 a. m. Last word from it was at 11:05 a. m., saying "coming down to localizer at field," referring to the field's radio directional beam.

Heard At 1 P. M.

Patients at the sanitarium, however, said they did not hear the crash until 1 p. m., an hour and 55 minutes later. The scene of the crash was only about half a mile from the sanitarium by air line, but four miles the way the rescuers had to go.

A sanitarium patient, Roger Pollard, 19, told of hearing the plane crash, followed by cries.

"There's an airplane crash just outside the window," he called to nurses. "I heard a great crash and then the cries of many people."

Other patients made similar reports.

Indicated All Was Well

Forty minutes before the plane was due at Union Air Terminal, radio messages exchanged between it and the terminal control tower indicated all was well.

At 9:55 a. m., a message came from the plane to the air terminal saying it was flying on course at 6,000 feet and the "ceiling" was 7,500 feet.

10:15 a. m.: From plane: "weather flyable."

10:25 a. m.: From control tower to plane: "OK. Proceed on the Saugus beam."

10:40 a. m.: Plane reported over Palmdale at 7000 feet altitude, with "broken clouds and sunshine."

Jim Comes To Attention; Call At Station For His Address

Jim Robinson, night chief of police, came to attention.

"What address was that!" he demanded.

A 5:22 p. m. call had been received by Don Reeder, assistant chief, telling of a Mexican leaving a residence at 1628 Fifth street, "with something under his arm."

Robinson lives at that address.

With H. L. Johnston, chief of police, Robinson answered the call. In 1600-block Fourth street they arrested a 14-year-old Mexican boy. At the station, he was "shaken down" and assorted property he said he had "found" was taken from his pockets, including a box of shells for a .22 rifle, a box of shells for a .410 shotgun, inner tube repair materials, a tie clasp, and pliers.

Robinson did not identify any of the property as belonging to him. Investigation was under way.

fund, which has a deficit of more than $15,000,000. He also may discuss controversial matters, including repeal of the law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering or horse racing, ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution, banning of "bookies" and betting on dog racing and regulation of public utilities, all of which he favors.

Race Repeal Bill Filed

A bill to repeal the horse race wagering statute was filed by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene. Rep. Fred Harris of Dallas prepared another regulating and taxing dog racing under the pari-mutuel betting system. An effort to knock out the horse race law failed two years ago.

Predicate for a first class rumpus was laid with filing of a bill by Rep. George Davisson of Eastland to extend Texas' market demand oil proration law for four years after Sept. 1. Other members have announced intentions to radically revise the statute, and to kill the companion law authorizing the state to confiscate "hot" oil.

Amendments Proposed

Constitutional amendments to reduce the 35-cent limit on ad valorem taxation for general revenue purposes and to classify property other than real for taxation were proposed in the senate, both subjects having stirred previous sessions.

Mrs. Louise Snow Phinney was elected chief clerk of the house over Mrs. Jonnie Mae Watson, 74 to 71, and the senate reelected Bob Barker of Fort Worth secretary, a position he has held 20 years.

Senator Pace was named chairman of the important state affairs committee and John Redditt of the finance committee. Speaker Calvert said he would appoint house committees at an early date.

First Senate Row Occurs Over Holbrook's Move

AUSTIN, Jan. 12. (AP)—The first senate controversy of the 45th legislature occurred today when Joe L. Hill of Henderson attacked proposed new rules of legislative procedure submitted by T. J. Holbrook of Galveston.

Hill objected to a proposed rule which would require a two-thirds vote to print a bill on minority report on grounds a senate minority thus could kill a bill. Proponents would be forced to muster a two-thirds vote to keep it alive.

Lot Of Bugs

"There is not only one bug under these chips," Hill shouted. "There are a lot of them. Under that rule the majority might as well go home."

Holbrook said the rule simply would delegate more authority to committees and raise the importance of their deliberations by allowing them to eliminate bills and avoid floor consideration and hearings.

Hill objected also to requiring two thirds of a committee for a quorum and shearing committees of their power of call, saying consideration of bills could be postponed indefinitely in this manner.

Injunction On Unemployment Compensation Taxes Denied

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12. (AP)—A three-judge federal court denied today the application of three cotton mills in Mississippi for an injunction preventing the state from collecting state unemployment compensation taxes.

The firms seeking the injunction were the Aponaug Manufacturing company, Jackson; the J. W. Sanders Cotton Mills, Inc., Jackson, and the Alden Mills, with headquarters in New Orleans.

The court did not rule on the application of plaintiffs for a declaratory judgment holding the Mississippi unemployment compensation act unconstitutional.

Thirty-Two Persons Believed Drowned As Boat Strikes Reef

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Jan. 12 (AP) Thirty-two persons were believed drowned tonight after the Finnish motor vessel Joanna Thorden struck a reef and broke in two five miles off the northeast corner of Scotland.

The captain sent 22 men, two women and two children into the raging sea in one lifeboat and then abandoned the vessel with the remaining 13 members of the crew in another craft.

Eight occupants of the skipper's boat swam through the pounding surf and scrambled onto rocks in an exhausted condition after the craft was dashed to pieces.

Bankers View Bright Future

Practically No Changes Made In Personnel When Directors And Stockholders Convene; Progress Reflected

Stockholders of Lubbock's three national banks Tuesday conducted their annual meetings under federal bank regulations, selected directors, considered activities of the past year, and looked with interest on prospects for 1937.

Few changes were made.

Meetings were routine, in the main. A review of 1936 conditions showed less red ink on balance sheets than had been expected and bankers were more hopeful of outlooks for the new year.

Influences Noted

Building and construction work prospects were noted; the agricultural situation was conceded to be better than for several years; wheat prospects were described as excellent for this time of the year, and loans were reported at a minimum and banks in a decidedly liquid state.

Officers and directors of the Citizens National bank look forward to a new year with brighter business prospects, said Pres. Sam C. Arnett.

No changes were made in personnel of directors or of officers. Other than Arnett, directors include: E. P. Ellwood, George E. Benson, George R. Bean, and E. L. Klett. Directors named Arnett president, Benson vice president, Paul Hardwick cashier, F. W. Groce and Miss Ruth Ford assistant cashiers.

The bank closed 1936 with deposits of more than $2,900,000, loans of $584,000 and cash resources of $2,366,000.

Director Is Added

Stockholders of Lubbock National bank made one change in their directorate, naming W. S. Moss to the board. Other directors are: C. E. Maedgen, John D. Mitchell, Dr. J. T. Krueger, A. W. May, and J. Milton Jones.

Directors selected the same officers as those who served last year: Maedgen president, L. C. Ellis vice president, Mitchell vice president and cashier, R. H. Hester, V. L. Ellis, and L. D. Payne, assistant cashiers. They named Mrs. Ouida Shannon Red, for several years an employe of the bank, secretary.

Good Year Reflected

Deposits of the bank are at a peak, $2,468,000; cash and quick resources total more than $1,999,000, and loans aggregate $358,000.

No changes in officers and directors was made for First National bank. Officers are: O. L. Slaton president, W. S. Posey vice president, Roy Riddel cashier, and J. M. Denman, T. E. Buckner, and Mattie Randolph assistant cashiers.

Directors are: S. E. Cone, D. R. Couch, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, J. O. Jones, G. P. Kuykendall, Alex McDonald, E. J. Parsons, Riddel, and Slaton.

Reorganization

to key posts.

That the president be provided with six additional assistants to act as a liaison between himself and the departments, to "keep him in closer and easier touch with the sidespread affairs of administration and to make for speedier clearance of the knowledge needed for executive decisions."

Would Strengthen Agencies

That provision be made for strengthening the managerial agencies of the government, with especial reference to planning, the budget, personnel and efficiency research.

Congressional opposition which took no account of party lines made itself manifest as soon as the message had been read. Tonight, it appeared to be heading up behind Senator Byrd (D-Va.), the chairman of a special committee which has been studying reorganization.

Byrd Objects To Program

At a late afternoon press conference, Byrd said he was anxious to cooperate with the president, but objected to the entire program except the provisions of more assistants for the executive.

"A mere regrouping does not mean either simplification or "economy," he said. It was apparent at once that the rift was the result of approaching the task of reorganization from two differing viewpoints. Byrd, and many more on Capitol Hill, were anxious to eliminate many of the present agencies and effect a saving of "several hundred million a year."

Efficiency Is Emphasized

Mr. Roosevelt placed the first emphasis upon efficiency of operation and coordinating the many activities of the government under the fewest possible number of responsible administrative heads. Saving would be incidental. At an explanatory press conference yesterday, the chief executive estimated them at a maximum of $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 annually.

In addition to the lack of cuts in expenditures, the recommendation that congress abolish the comptroller general's power to pass upon the legality of expenditures before they are made was a focus of opposition from many sources.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, proposed that a special joint committee be assigned to the job, to work in collaboration with a special committee that studied the subject for the president.

Delegation Leaves To Present Facts On WPA To Solons

A party which will work toward obtaining an immediate appropriation from congress for continuation of the Works Progress administration was to leave last night from Dallas for Washington and included delegates from this section of the state.

Among delegates were Alvin R. Allison, Hockley county judge; Percy Ralls, Ralls landowner; and M. G. Poteet, Wilbarger county judge.

Since they were selected to represent this section at a meeting of county judges, county commissioners, city officials, newspaper editors, chamber of commerce directors, and other business and civic leaders of West Texas held at the Hilton hotel Friday of last week, they have collected additional data relative to accomplishments, number of persons benefitted, and probable results if stopped, of the Works Progress administration in this district and state.

Two of the representatives, Judge Allison, chairman, and Poteet, are being sent by the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners' association which includes 116 counties. Allison is president of the organization.

The delegation will arrive at Washington Friday.

Regarding the length of their stay in Washington, Judge Allison said they would remain "as long as it takes." Their plans are to see congressmen and representatives and all others whom they should contact in bringing about the immediate appropriation, chairman of the delegation said.

Plans are under way by other county judges and commissioners' associations to send representatives to Washington to rush a WPA appropriation to prevent a suspension of the agency's operation.

Comments On President's Budget Message Given By Leaders Of Industry; Opinions Divided On Situation

"It is my conviction that if every employer or potential employer will undertake during the next six months to give employment to persons now receiving government help, the national budget can thereafter be kept definitely in balance. Without such cooperation on the part of employers the question of a balanced budget for 1938 must of necessity remain an open one . . ."
—President Roosevelt in budget message.

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt's challenge to business and industry brought varying reactions from prominent figures in American business today.

Some of the comments given the Associated Press follow:

Harper Sibley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce: "Business and government have got to work together to bring about those conditions which will encourage continuous improvement in business. Legislation must appeal to business confidence and not be of a type that seems to be punitive and a hindrance to business. It is only fair to say that today responsible business men are eager to see an increase in employment but it will only be possible if the growth of business justifies it."

Hasn't Cooperated Enough

Henry L. Nunn, president, Nunn-Bush Shoe Co.: "I don't think industry has cooperated as well as it could with the government and labor to relieve unemployment. If industry adopted a different attitude with labor and cooperated with the government and labor, there would be on unemployment."

Silas H. Strawn, Chicago lawyer, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce: "Industry has done and is doing everything possible to increase employment. It is to its best interests to do so. . . . It appears to me the president is laying the foundation for reinstitution of the NRA."

Should Encourage Business

Harold H. Seaman, president, Seaman Body Corp., Milwaukee; "If he (the president) will encourage business we can increase employment. If he discourages it, we cannot."

Dr. F. C. Hicks, economist and former president, University of Cincinnati: "The president, in calling on industry to place more men at work, is putting the cart before the horse. Industry can increase employment only so far as demand for its products warrants increased expansion."

John E. Edgerton, president, Southern States Industrial Council: "The South is leading the nation in the re-employment of workers and is setting a pace that, if followed by other sections of the country, should soon absorb all of the workers formerly employed in manufacturing industries."

Walter Hogg, president, Dallas Cotton mills: "I am behind President Roosevelt's suggestion to increase employment. We are making a great effort to keep the mills running at top speed and keep as many employes as possible at work."

The first president of the Royal Canadian Society of Artists was Lucius R. O'Brien, Canadian painter born in 1832.

Where Strike Menaces General Motors

Except for four west coast plants, the far-flung General Motors production organization is indicated by the above map, the number of plants in each city being indicated by the black squares. After a dozen plants were closed, due to the strikes or consequent lack of parts or orders, the whole countrywide production organization faced the threat of a general strike or shutdown as CIO organizers and management continued in deadlock. Privilege Of Being First President To Be Inaugurated On January 20 To Cost Roosevelt $8,000; Past Events Recalled

Note: Inauguration day, with its prompt excitement and deep significance to the American tradition of Democratic government, falls on January 20 this year. Thousands will gather to see President Roosevelt take his second oath of office. In a series of six stories beginning today, the Washington Bureau of the Associated Press will present some of the incidents and historical landmarks which have made inaugurations a national event.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (AP)—It will cost Franklin D. Roosevelt more than $8,000 for the privilege of being the first president inaugurated on January 20.

Moving the ceremony forward from March 4 clipped 42 days off Mr. Roosevelt's first term and proportionately trimmed his $75,000 a year salary.

Changed By Amendment

The change was made by the 20th amendment to the constitution, effective in October, 1933, after ratification by the states.

Records show the new date carries greater possibility of brisk inaugural weather. January 20 is less frequently a rainy day than March 4. With a normal temperature of 33, it is also 6 degrees colder.

George Washington was the only other president to be deprived of his full term by inaugural arrangements. He lost 57 days because the congress of 1789, scheduled to meet March 4, failed to muster a quorum until April. It then declared Washington elected and an emissary made a hurried, seven-day journey from New York to Mt. Vernon.

It was April 30 before the first president could journey to New York and take office.

Weather was good for the first eight inaugurals, but it has rarely been since.

Andrew Jackson set the precedent of outdoor ceremonies.

The jovial Taft got the worst weather breaks of all. The weather man prophesied fair and warm for March 4, 1909, but an overnight blizzard hit the capital.

Telegraph lines were blown down, all transportation was stalled. The Army, however, turned out with shovels and cleared Pennsylvania avenue enough for a military parade.

The retiring Roosevelt, historians report, grinned and said he knew Taft's administration would be stormy to the very end.

Gordon To Be Tostmaster

Dean J. M. Gordon will be toastmaster at the banquet at which time the program for the year will be presented and adopted. Announcement of the complete list of officers for the year will be made.

As a climax to the program the Silver Beaver award will be given for distinguished service to boyhood in the South Plains council.

One Of Year's High Points

Because of its value in unifying the work of the council and its stimulating effects on scouting, the meeting is one of the high points of the scouting activities of the year, executive Earl M. McClure said.

Four group sessions will be held. Sam A. Henry will be chairman of the scoutmaster and commissioner group. Jack M. Randal and V. L. Doughtie will head the meeting of district officers and troop committeemen. K. E. Oberholtzer will be in charge of the discussion for the cub group, including cubmasters, assistants, den mothers, den dads and cub committeemen.

Attorney Requests Longer Court Term

A two-weeks term of county criminal court each month has been ordered by County commissioners court, at the request of County Attorney Robert J. Allen.

Increase of the number of cases on the criminal docket, due largely to filing of liquor law violations in county court, required additional time for trials, said County Judge J. J. Dillard.

Effective In February

The criminal term will be opened the first Monday of each month and will continue for two weeks. The commissioners' court order will be effective in February.

Several salary changes were made by the commissioners court for the next two years.

Salary of Floyd Jackson, district courts clerk, will be $4,250, equal to that of other major county officers. Jackson received $4,000 in 1936. County Auditor J. Y. Boyd said that Jackson would have received $4,250 last year, but in reporting earnings of the office for 1935 he listed net income instead of gross income.

Other Salaries Hiked

Chief assistants in the offices of the county attorney and of the county clerk will receive $175 monthly, instead of $150. Two department heads in the tax assessor-collector's office received an increase of $25 monthly, to $150.

County Auditor Boyd explained that chief deputies and department heads were entitled under the law to the larger salaries when the office holders received maximum salaries.
