Storm Clouds Threaten Steel Talks

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

James C. Watson
Oil Editor

Canyon Extension Is To Be Tried By Lion

Lion Oil Company is to try to extend the Canyon lime producing area of the Diamond M field in Southwest Scurry County one mile to the west at its No. 1 Strom, a wildcat which is slated to drill to 7,000 feet.

This venture is 662 feet from south and 1,836 feet from west lines of section 198, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it approximately one mile west of the nearest completed producers from the Canyon lime on the northwest side of the Diamond M field.

No. 1 Strom is an old dry hole drilled in 1946 to 2,903 feet in the Permian lime and plugged and abandoned at that point after failing to develop any indications of oil or gas production.

It is now to be re-entered, cleaned out and deepened. Operations are to start immediately.

First Dual Producer At Flanagan Finished

The first dual producer for the Flanagan field in Central-South Gaines County has been completed at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Flanagan, an east offset to the Ellenburger discovery in that area.

Magnolia No. 1 Flanagan was completed from the Devonian and from the Clear Fork after failing to develop commercial production from the Ellenburger.

Flowing through a one-half inch tubing choke it made an initial daily production of 537.37 barrels of 34-gravity oil from the Devonian. The gas-oil ratio was 10-1. Flow was natural and there was no formation water. Flowing casing pressure was 675 pounds and the tubing pressure was 560-20 pounds.

The production from the Devonian was from perforations in the casing between 10,345-10,382 feet. Total plug-back depth was 10,404 feet.

From perforations in the 7-inch casing between 7,228-250 in the Clear Fork it flowed 406.65 barrels of petroleum in 24 hours through a one-half inch tubing choke. The gravity of that oil was 39.5 and the gas-oil ratio was 773-1. The flow was natural, with no formation water reported.

The new well is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey.

Second Doss-Canyon Producer Is Finaled

Ralph Lowe of Midland, has completed the second producer from the Canyon lime for the Doss pool in Central-South Gaines County at his No. 1-B Helen Cunningham, and others.

Flowing through a one-half inch tubing choke, it completed for a 24-hour potential of 301 barrels of 46-gravity oil. The gas-oil ratio was 1,100-1. There was no formation water.

The production was through perforations in the casing at 8,850-951 feet in the Canyon-Pennsylvanian, after that section had been treated with 15,000 gallons of acid.

It is a direct south offset to the pool discovery, and 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 4, block A-24, psl survey. The well is ten miles southwest of Seminole.

Public Is Invited To Hear Maxwell Lecture

The general public is invited to attend the lecture to be given for the West Texas Geological Society at 8 p. m. Wednesday by Dr. Ross A. Maxwell, superintendent of the Big Bend National Park.

The meeting will be in the district courtroom of the Midland courthouse. W. T. (Bill) Schneider, president of the society, will preside. The program will be in charge of Alan B. Leeper.

Subject of the lecture will be, "The Geology And Other Features Of The Big Bend National Park." Maxwell will show colored movies of a large number of interesting and unusual scenes in the park area.

The lecture and pictures will be of interest to everyone and the officers of the organization have extended an invitation to the general public to attend.

North Pecos Wildcat Develops Salt Water

Salt water developed from the McKee sand of the Simpson at C. H. Murphy & Company No. 1 Ford, North Pecos County wildcat, one mile east of the Abell field.

The venture is to drill ahead from its present bottom of 5,535 feet to go to the Waddell sand.

A string of 7-inch casing had been set at 5,531 feet, with 600 sacks of cement, when the total depth was at 5,535 feet.

The pipe was perforated at 5,462-80 feet. That interval was swabbed. Only salt water developed. Some slight signs of oil and gas had been developed from that horizon when it was drillstem tested prior to the running of the casing.

The exploration is 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 3, block 3, H&TC survey.

City Council Sets Up Water Bill Policies

Water bills, water meters and methods, past, present and future, of charging and billing water customers were investigated and discussed at length by members of the City Council at a busy meeting Tuesday night.

The investigation was brought on by the complaints of scores of citizens that current water bills have soared to high levels. Mayor William B. Neely last week had promised the matter would be investigated and a policy formulated at the next session of the council.

Following the prolonged discussion, the council came up with the following policy provisions:

1. Customers who think they have been overcharged for water are invited to call on City Manager H. A. Thomason or City Secretary J. C. Hudman to discuss water bills, checking, if they desire, their bills and payments of the last year to determine whether bills and payments this year are in line with last.

2. Thomason and Hudman were authorized to work out satisfactory arrangements on bills and payments with the customers.

Correct Readings

3. In the future water bills will be held up until correct meter readings have been obtained.

4. Meter Department personnel will check and re-check all water meters in a determined effort to iron out the unfortunate occurrence.

August water bills now are due and payable.

Thomason explained the difficulties in meter reading and told of personnel problems which largely

School Board Holds Business Meeting

A business meeting was held by the board of the Midland Independent School District Tuesday night.

The board authorized the purchase of fire escapes for school buildings. Three teachers were employed. They include Mrs. Daisy Chausse of Lubbock, North Elementary; Mrs. Waneese Pyle of Denton, North Elementary, and Cleopatria Buchanan of Houston, Carver School.

Authorization for two blocks of paving on West Louisiana Street was given. The board also authorized purchase of junior high school band instruments. Contract for the annual audit was let.

Routine business covered including payment of bills and acceptance of resignation of Miss Elizabeth Cope, who had not reported to teach this year.

General McAuliffe Nominated As Army Chemical Corps Chief

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Maj. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, who said "Nuts" to a German demand for surrender at Bastogne, was tapped Wednesday to be chief of the Army Chemical Corps.

President Truman sent the nomination of the 51-year-old officer to the Senate.

If the Senate approves, McAuliffe will succeed Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, who was suspended from the post in July after his name cropped up in the Senate's "five percenter" investigation. Waitt, 56, was restored to active duty last week, then retired immediately.

Allies See Eye To Eye On Far East

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson said Wednesday he and British Foreign Minister Bevin are agreed that the need for a Japanese peace treaty is urgent.

Acheson indicated to a news conference that he still hopes Russia will cooperate in making the treaty.

The secretary of state met with reporters just before going into his second session of political talks with Bevin.

The first session was held Tuesday and concerned the Pacific area. It produced a joint statement indicating that British and American anti-Communist policies would develop along largely parallel lines.

Indications were that Bevin and Acheson also were in general agreement on several other points reportedly touched upon in their first session of political talks here Tuesday. These points included:

1. The Western powers should move slowly and cautiously on the question of recognition of a Chinese Communist government if and when such a regime is established.

2. Nationalism is the most powerful force working against the spread of communism into other Asiatic countries; it should be encouraged by the Western nations both for that reason and because it is in line with their established policies.

3. Western capital should be put to work on a wider scale than at present to raise the living standard of non-Communist Asiatic peoples.

Retail Business Improves In Texas

AUSTIN—(AP)—Retail business in Texas improved last month but still wasn't as good as a year ago.

That was reflected Wednesday by a preliminary report by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

August retail sales gained nine per cent over July but showed a three per cent drop from August a year ago, the report said.

She Still 'Vants To Be Alone'

Erstwhile Movie Queen Greta Garbo plans a comeback with a film to be made in Europe, but to newsmen she's still the camera-shy one. While sightseeing in Rome (left, above), Miss Garbo wore the standard Hollywood dark glasses disguise. Finding this not wholly effective, she turned out for a stroll on the beach near Rome with a new "seclusion" hair-do, right. In addition, there was an escort to "run interference" against photographers. Annoyed by it all, Garbo announced she would go to Paris to make the film, originally scheduled for Italy.

Thumping Rainfall Totals .94 Inch; Fall Weather Hits

Thumping hard rain showers brought .94 inch of moisture to Midland Tuesday while general rains fell throughout most of West Texas.

The ranchers are happy but the cotton farmers are not so happy. The rain was expected to benefit ranges greatly. The cotton harvest was delayed and farmers feared the threat of worms.

Rainfall in Midland at the City Barn measured .94 inch. It was gauged at .61 at Midland Air Terminal and .88 at the Gulf Pipe Line Station east of the city.

Hardest rain hit Midland Tuesday afternoon and runoff water became a problem on streets of the city, which is in the midst of a paving project. Cars drowned out all over the city.

Touch Of Fall

The first touch of Fall came with the rains. The temperature dropped to 51 degrees in Midland Tuesday after having been up to 97 degrees on Monday. Also Wednesday's low temperature was 51 degrees. The

Condition Of Joan Edwards Reported More Encouraging

The condition of Joan Edwards, Reporter-Telegram employe who has been unconscious since she was injured in an automobile mishap near Odessa last January 17, was reported by her father, M. J. Edwards of Rankin, to be "improved."

"Joan is doing better and we are considerably encouraged over the signs of improvement shown the last several days," Edwards told The Reporter-Telegram by long distance telephone.

The father of the attractive young woman said Joan tries to talk at times and "she knows when it is time to eat." She now is able to chew and swallow some of her food.

Edwards said Joan, who is undergoing treatment in a San Angelo clinic, is very restless, which doctors believe is a "good sign."

A Joan Edwards Recovery Fund, started several weeks ago by generous West Texans to aid the young woman in regaining her health and happiness," now totals almost $4,100.

Company Plans Will Assure Adequate Gas Supply For Midland

Plans of the West Texas Gas Company to lay a new seven-mile, eight-inch, high pressure natural gas line north of the city, to erect a town-border station west of Midland and a new compressor station northeast of the city to bolster the city's gas supply were outlined by gas company representatives at a meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

The present high pressure line through the extreme north part of the city will be converted into city distribution lines, according to plans outlined by J. S. Whitis of the company's Lubbock office. He was accompanied to the meeting by R. R. McCafferty of Lubbock and Bob Lewis, Midland district manager.

The expansion project was explained in connection with the gas concern's offer to purchase a 300-square foot site for the compressor station on the south edge of the city's Wadley Water Tract and for

New Charges Will Be Filed Against Soviet Satellites

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State Acheson announced Wednesday that Soviet-dominated Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania will be charged in the United Nations General Assembly with violations of human rights.

The secretary emphatically renewed at his news conference the long-standing British-American charges of "callous disregard" of the human rights clause in the peace treaties with the Iron Curtain nations.

He said the three Soviet satellites have just turned down a proposal by the United States that they name commissions, as provided in the peace treaties, to take up the dispute over charges that they have repeatedly violated the agreements. These call for fair trials and various personal freedoms.

Treasure Hunt Set—

Merchants Map Christmas Street Lighting Program

A Christmas street lighting program and the date of the official opening of the Christmas shopping season in Midland were agreed upon by merchants at a meeting Tuesday afternoon in Hotel Scharbauer.

The meeting was sponsored by the Retailers Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, with Chairman Henry Murphey presiding.

Plans call for an elaborate program of Christmas street decorations second to none in West Texas, with new lighting equipment to be purchased for use in the downtown section. Retail business firms, oil companies, professional men and women, and individuals will be asked to contribute to the street lighting fund. An effort will be made to raise $3,500 in a one-day campaign to be staged next Tuesday.

Treasure Hunt

A Treasure Hunt again this year will be a feature of the opening of the Christmas season November 29—the first Tuesday after Thanksgiving. Efforts will be made to make the opening the largest and most colorful ever staged here. Arrangements will be handled by the Chamber of Commerce.

Murphey explained plans for the street lighting and told of the estimated cost of the project. He said it will be necessary to replace worn-out equipment which has been in use here the last 12 or more years. This will make this year's cost much higher than in past years, but it will level off next year, he stated.

The lights would be put up, taken down and stored by the Texas Electric Service Company at a minimum cost.

Downtown stores are asked to contribute on a $1 per front foot basis to assist in financing the purchase, installation and electricity costs.

Those attending the session were

Industry May Veto Package Pension Plan

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Storm clouds hovered over the coming steel contract negotiations Wednesday even before a time and place was decided upon for the new sessions.

Reluctance of some steel companies to approve in advance and the presidential board's proposal that they pay for insurance and pension programs was interpreted in some quarters as holding a new strike threat.

A spokesman for the CIO United Steelworkers said Union President Philip Murray's statement he is ready to resume negotiations for a contract based on the board's report meant that he will strike any companies which fail to agree to pay all insurance and pension costs.

The U. S. Steel Corporation and three other large producers agreed to President Truman's request for an 11-day extension of the strike truce expiring Tuesday midnight.

All said they are ready to talk contract again but none wholeheartedly endorsed the board's recommendation for a 10-cent package covering company financed insurance and pensions.

At least no company officials said workers ought to share the costs of such programs.

Parleys Not Arranged

The union said it had received no word as yet from U. S. Steel, the industry leader, on when it will resume contract talks.

The union accepted the board's recommendations without reservations. That meant giving up its drive for a fourth postwar round of wage increases in 1949. The union said the board's suggested 10-cent increase in the form of company-financed insurance and pension programs was good enough.

A U. S. Steel spokesman, asked if "big steel" was accepting the board's recommendations as a basis for a contract, replied: "I wouldn't think so."

That led to speculation that the corporation, the industry's bellwether, might be planning to fight the suggestion it pick up the check on pension and insurance costs.

Texas Cold Wave Slows Up Tuesday

By The Associated Press

A Texas norther which romped southward across the state Tuesday night pulled up to a halt Wednesday morning just short of the Gulf and Rio Grande Valley.

Rains, plummeting temperatures and a brisk north breeze marked the norther's sweep across the state.

Temperatures climbed grudgingly Wednesday after dropping to the chill 40's in the Panhandle and West Texas, the 50's in North Texas and 60's in Central and East Texas.

47 Degrees At Amarillo

Low Wednesday morning was Amarillo's 47. Clarendon and Guadalupe Pass reported 48, Dalhart and Lubbock 49. South of the norther area Galveston reported 81, Brownsville 74 and Laredo 76.

High temperatures Tuesday ranged from 101 at Laredo to only 51 at Midland. Amarillo's temperature rose no higher than 59.

An unusually large cloud mass covered most of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Louisiana and Arkansas. Light rains fell Wednesday morning at Mineral Wells, Abilene, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Childress, Midland, Big Spring and in parts of New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Rain for the 24 hours ended at 6:30 a. m.—most of it falling Tuesday—included: Abilene 1.19 inches; Del Rio 1.13, Fort Worth 1.60, Wichita Falls 1.85, Amarillo .11, Dallas .63, Lubbock .80, Ozona .51, Childress .19, Midland .94, Mineral Wells .86, San Angelo .10. Almost every point reported some rain.

Air Force Planes Search For Texans

WICHITA, KAN. —(AP)— A three and a half hour air search over Oklahoma hills Wednesday failed to find two missing Texas fliers.

That was the report of Capt. Robert C. Allphin, Air Rescue Mission commander for the U. S. Air Force of Lowry Field, Denver.

Captain Allphin said a C-47 and crew from the 2151st Rescue Unit at Lowry has been searching an area near Gage and Supply, Okla.

The missing plane—carrying William B. Cline, Amarillo, and J. W. McBrayer, White Deer, last was heard from over Wichita, Allphin said.

At 5:45 p. m. last Thursday, Amarillo-bound, the Texans asked Wichita for a report on weather condition at Gage and Amarillo, he said.

Midlander's Throat Slashed, Drives Five Miles To Hospital; To Live, Doctors Say

HILLSBORO —(AP)— With his throat sliced from ear to ear, a Midland man saved his own life by driving five miles to a hospital, officers reported Tuesday.

The condition of James Moore, 21, of Midland, was reported as serious at a Hillsboro hospital, but doctors said he would recover.

According to officers, here is what happened:

Moore, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Moore of Files Valley, Hill County, went to a tavern at West, Monday night.

A man asked him for a ride to Hillsboro and Moore gave him a lift.

Left In Car

Five miles south of Hillsboro, on Highway 77, the man used a knife to cut Moore's throat. The man then ran away.

Bleeding profusely, Moore sped to the hospital here.

"He showed amazing stamina," said a doctor. "I don't see how he did it. He lost a great deal of blood."

The jugular vein was laid bare but not severed. Moore's windpipe was nicked, but not penetrated.

"He saved his own life by getting to a hospital," the doctor said.

Moore was unable to talk to Sheriff Charlie Garrison.

Sheriff Garrison concluded that Moore could not have driven far. He made the rounds at West, learned the identity of the hitch-hiker, and arrested him at Whitney, Tuesday.

The man made a full confession, the sheriff said.

• • •

Moore was identified after a call to Martin G. Browne of Midland. Moore is an employe of Browne's Magnolia Station. A company card was found in the car.

The Moore family resides on a farm south of Midland. Mrs. Moore left for Hillsboro immediately after she learned of the occurrence.

Moore is a Navy veteran.

Jail Holds Him Back--

Sandra's Husband To Help Her Fight Murder Charge

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. — (AP) — Sandra Peterson's husband says he will go to Texas to help her fight a murder charge—as soon as he gets out of jail himself.

Mauritz Peterson, Jr., 27, will end his jail sentence here October 31.

His wife, Sandra, faces a murder charge in Brady, Texas, for the admitted shooting of Real Estate Man Lewis Patterson.

Tuesday night, Peterson said Patterson must have tried to molest Sandra.

"That's the only reason she would have killed him," her husband said.

Brady police say she shot Patterson after he gave her a ride in his car.

"I'm going to do everything I can to help her," Peterson said.

His help is barred now, however, by his jail sentence for hit and run driving and failure to provide for a child by a former marriage.

"Patterson must have made a pass at her," Peterson said. "I don't think she tried to rob him. She hasn't guts enough to do anything like that."

She Wanted A Home

Sandra claims she is only 17. Under Texas law she can't be prosecuted for murder until she is 18. District Attorney Ralston P. Huan said, however, that he won't accept "a purported birth certificate" showing she is 17.

"I know she's 17 now," Peterson said. "She was only 15 when I married her."

He said his young wife was not the type of girl to do anything wrong.

"She's a good kid," he said. "That's why I left her—she's too good. She's strictly on the side of the law. She wanted a home.

"She didn't like my way of life —I wouldn't get a job and give her the kind of life she wanted."

Alice Grand Jury Calls More Witnesses In Election Probe

ALICE —(AP)— Seven more witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear before the Jim Wells County grand jury in a widening inquiry into the Aug. 28, 1948, Democratic primary.

The jury recessed late Tuesday until 10 a.m. Thursday after J. C. McGill, foreman, signed subpoenas for appearance of seven witnesses—three of them prominently identified with the primary.

Kellis Dibrell of San Antonio, former FBI agent and special investigator for Coke Stevenson in a vote investigation here last September, spent almost four hours with the grand jury Tuesday.

Stevenson lost the primary election to Lyndon Johnson by a statewide majority of 87 votes. Later he charged that 200 "fraudulent votes" were added in Precinct 13 at Alice after the polls closed.

New Evidence

Before going into the grand jury room, Dibrell told newsmen he had "new evidence" in the 1948 primary that had not been presented to any investigating body.

Also appearing before the jury Tuesday was C. W. Price of Alice, son of the late sheriff of Wells County.

Among those to appear Thursday are:

B. F. (Tom) Donald, secretary of the county executive committee during the August primary and cashier of the Texas State Bank of Alice, of which George B. Parr of San Diego, Texas, is president;

Clarence Martens, chairman of the county executive committee during the election,

And Luis Salas, presiding election judge of Precinct 13.

Labor Agreement Changes Will Be Asked Of Mexico

HOUSTON —(AP)— An official of the U. S. Employment Service said here Tuesday that Mexico will be asked to make several changes in the international agreement on contracting Mexican laborers.

W. L. Crawford, Dallas, acting regional director, was an unscheduled speaker at the annual convention of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association.

Crawford said the proposed changes would speed up the availability of Mexican labor to harvest U. S. crops.

He said the Mexicon government will be asked to:

1. Relieve United States employers of financial responsibility for Mexican nationals who have completed work here and are scheduled to return to their homes.

2. Permit Mexican nationals to remain in the United States as long as one year.

Permitting the Mexican nationals to remain in the United States a year, Crawford said, would enable them to pick cotton in Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi and then return to the Rio Grande Valley for the Fall vegetable crops.

MoPac Strike Idles T&P Shop, Yardmen

DALLAS —(AP)— Temporary layoff notices were sent Tuesday to Texas & Pacific Railroad shop and yard forces in Fort Worth, Texarkana, Marshall and Longview.

The layoffs will be effective at the end of work Thursday.

T&P mechanical department officials said the layoffs were caused by reduced operations resulting from the tie-up of through traffic over the strikebound Missouri-Pacific Lines.

Jitters Help Gunmen Get Away With Cash

NEW YORK —(AP)— Being jittery helped two gunmen Tuesday to get away with a $3,100 payroll of a Brooklyn textile printing plant.

Leon Reeder, the firm's treasurer, said that when the pair asked where the cash was, "they started shaking so much I was afraid their guns would go off by accident."

"So I told them," he said.

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By GEORGE STEWART

TYING IT TOGETHER

Did you ever enter a room that gave off a feeling of harmony . . . yet you couldn't explain just how it was accomplished?

It was probably the result of "Rhythm" . . . a decorating device that means the repeating of certain motifs, such as identical small chairs, lamps or notes of color. It makes for a pleasing arrangement, but like anything else, too much repetition makes for monotony . . . so watch it.

You can further enhance the beauty of the room by seeing to it that objects are not of the same size and height. Of course they must be in scale . . . and planned so that smaller pieces are flanked by larger ones and vice versa.

In the illustration above, you'll see how a touch of drama has been added to one of the groupings. In this case it's the huge mirror over the couch, flanked by two pictures on each side.

As in all columns, we are not attempting to show you how it should be done, just giving our ideas as to how it can be done. Use the illustrations and copy, not as a plan, but a spring-board for your imagination. By rearranging you'll discover many little tricks that will add further harmony to your home.

Let us know if we can be of help.

Review Of 'Behind The Curtain' Features Club's Russian Coffee

A Russian coffee Tuesday morning started a season which the Twentieth Century Study Club will devote to a study of peoples in various countries, with the aim of furthering world friendship through understanding the everyday lives of people as well as their politics.

Guests were invited with members to the coffee in the home of Mrs. James O. Simmons, who greeted callers at the door. Mrs. Ernest Neill was in charge of the register, a book covered with a painting in traditional Russian design and color, done by Mrs. H. H. Redding.

Mrs. Carl O. Hyde, new president of the club, poured coffee from an antique copper samovar which is owned by Mrs. R. M. Turpin. The table was covered with yellow organdy over taffeta, with a centerpiece of double marigolds and pomegranate leaves flanked by yellow tapers burning in copper holders. The serving dishes were all of copper.

Russian Design Repeated

Favors were folders decorated in the same design as the register, which held the napkins. Clipped to the inside of the folders were notes on Russian cookery.

Mrs. L. E. Patterson, Jr., Mrs. Duke Jimerson and Mrs. Redding assisted in serving. With Mrs. Neill and Mrs. Simmons they are members of the hospitality committee, hostess group for the coffee.

Mrs. Frank Monroe, a member, was presented to review John Guenther's book, "Behind the Curtain." This book is his first report from Europe since the end of World War II, and from personal observation he gives a lively analysis of personalities and politics in the Russian satellite countries.

Guenther says he found throughout these nations that the general attitude toward the United States is that of respect, ignorance and fear. Many of the leaders believe that the United States plans to attack them soon, and they consider the Marshall Plan an aggressive move.

System Doesn't Work

He also found the general belief that the United States possesses most of the world's material advantages, but that the Eastern European countries hold most of the culture and intelligence. The writer says the chief trouble with the Soviet system in the satellite nations is simply that it has not worked, and so Russia must wall out the west in order that the people cannot see the better life beyond the curtain.

The book closes with the reminder that Hitler's purpose always was to divide the allies and so ruin them, that this purpose failed during the war, but that "if Russia and the United States fight, it will mean that Hitler, even in death, won the war."

Guest List

Guests and club members at the coffee included Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, Mrs. H. C. Rowland, Mrs. J. O. Hyde, Mrs. Charles L. Snure, Mrs. Carl W. Covington, Mrs. W. G. Epley, Mrs. Harlan Howell, Mrs. H. M. Fritts, Mrs. M. O. Gibson, Mrs. Tom Edrington, Mrs. A. C. Elliott.

MANICURE SHORT CUT

Every time you wash your hands, do the dishes, or the family wash, cuticles become softened from the warm water. That is the time to gently push cuticles back. Do not press too hard as fingers will become irritated. Saturate a handy cotton square with cuticle oil and massage finger tips. Use a pair of good manicure scissors to trim hangnails and rough edges. You'll notice ragged cuticles and rough edges will disappear after a few weeks of this treatment.

Toll Roads

Are toll roads for express traffic a wise thing or not?

The Christian Science Monitor's automobile editor recently delved into this question again. But after querying many state highway engineers he wound up without a clear answer.

The question is no longer theoretical. The famous 160-mile Pennsylvania turnpike has been in use more than a decade and now is being extended east to Philadelphia and west to the Ohio line. Connecticut has two fine parkways, Maine has a turnpike and New Jersey and New Hampshire are about to start building express routes. All these are or will be toll highways.

In addition, Ohio and Oklahoma have authorized commissions to establish toll roads. And Massachusetts, Maryland and Delaware may join the parade because of the traffic pressure from nearby states which operate or are planning such routes.

* * *

The Public Roads Administration, supported by numerous state highway officials, opposes the toll superhighway. The arguments are these:

That tolls represent double taxation of motorists, who already pay taxes into regular highway funds.

That toll roads compete with, duplicate and occasionally even parallel existing routes, and thus are usually wasteful projects.

That the glamor attached to these spectacular highways tends to divert attention from the more commonplace modernization and maintenance needs of established roads which are just as vital to the traffic system.

Toll road backers admit the extra taxation, deny there is duplication, and insist the existence of expressways need not impair the rest of the highway network.

Supporters contend that turnpikes and parkways mean faster, safer travel and that these advantages fully justify the cost of the motorist, especially in hilly, mountainous sections of the Northeast. They add that anyone who doesn't care to pay the toll always can use an alternative free route—with the hazards of trucks, hills and curves.

* * *

They argue further that interstate or through traffic really is in conflict with local, short-haul traffic; that limited access routes like the big toll roads actually help both kinds of traffic by separating them. This is their answer to charges of duplication and wastefulness.

As for diverting attention from other roads, the proponents maintain that most highway money already goes for them and that the badly needed superhighways never would be built were it not for the toll charges which come in considerable part from the pockets of out-of-state motorists.

Two very definite avenues of thought on the subject are open to highway users of the nation.

Democracy

Every government official, board or group which handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting to show where and how each dollar is spent.

This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

"Did You Ever See So Many Furniture-Minded Men?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Secretary of the Treasury Snyder is hardboiled chairman of British talks; Averell Harriman considered for Mon Wallgren's Resources Board Job; Dillon, Read bank officials got special airplane view of Berlin.

WASHINGTON — The British are boiling mad at Secretary of the Treasury Snyder for the iron-fisted way he is running the Washington financial conference. One British delegate has complained privately that Snyder is treating them as if they were privates of the Missouri National Guard and he a colonel in Battery D.

President Truman is thinking of naming Averell Harriman as chairman of the National Security Resources Board—a vitally important post which has been vacant for almost a year because the Senate vetoed Truman's old friend ex-Governor Mon Wallgren of Washington. The President was all set to name Harriman last week, but was persuaded to wait because the Democratic National Committee is toying with the idea of appointing Wallgren to the job after Congress leaves town.

Senator Butler of Nebraska was discussing Hawaiian statehood with Admiral D. C. Ramsey recently commander-in-chief in the Pacific.

"Senator," said Ramsey, "How would you like to have Senator Koshimata sitting next to you in the U. S. Senate?"

"I wouldn't like it," said Butler. "But that's what might happen if we give statehood to Hawaii," continued the Republican gentleman from Nebraska. "The Japs are so numerous there already, and so closely knit, and so politically ambitious that they would soon get control of the high political posts."

Unhappy French

The French government is not at all happy at the way France was excluded from the American-British financial talks. France is the most powerful friendly nation on the European continent, and her money and economy is just as tied up with Britain's as is ours—possibly more so.

Although the State Department has announced that it is sending a steel mill to Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia, inside fact is that Secretary of State Acheson agreed in writing to review this project within one year—or just before the mill is shipped. This is just in case it appears the steel mill may fall into Stalin's hands because Tito can't stand up to the Russians.

More Air Junkets

The more you examine air junkets by high public officials and favored businessmen, the more it seems right that all such junkets should be open to public scrutiny. If an airplane trip is secret, then a lot of peculiar things may happen at the taxpayers' then no one should object to a expense. If the junket is justified, public listing of the trip.

A lot of interesting flights that no one knew anything about are now coming to light.

For instance, at the time Gen. Harry Vaughan was intervening with the Air Forces for special air-priority transportation for John Maragon and his perfume company officials, another general was doing the same thing for Wall Street.

Brig. Gen. William H. Draper, a high executive of the Dillon, Read Investment Bankers, arranged special priority transportation to Europe and back for Clarence Dillon, the head of Dillon, Read, and one of the leading investors in Germany before the war.

General Draper even took his boss to Nuremberg and back in a superduper Air Force plane in which they were almost the only passengers. Coming back to Tempelhof Airport in Berlin, Draper had the plane circle Berlin for 30 minutes while he pointed out former factory sites that Dillon, Read had been interested in, and which had been ruined by the war.

Later General Draper was promoted to be undersecretary of the Army by James Forrestal, also from Dillon, Read & Co.

Wedding Bells Near Barkley

While the nation waits for Vice President Barkley to pop the question, his negro chauffeur, Wilbur Walker, beat him to it. He married services the other day.

Chauffeur Walker invited the vice president to attend his wedding, but Barkley had a speaking engagement out of town.

"I'd sure like to be there," he said, "because so many people have gotten me mixed up with you."

Odd Jobs For Important People

A unique business has sprung up in Washington catering to the whims of high officialdom.

The firm, called Courtesy Associates, digs up baby sitters for such notables as Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Secretary of the Army Gordon Grays, picks out maids for others such as Congressman Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, gets Army-Navy football tickets for the Chinese embassy, and once got tickets to a lecture on air power and atomic energy for the Soviet embassy—after first clearing them with the State Department.

The Netherlands embassy once hired Courtesy Associates to arrange a wedding reception, while a group of Guatemalan officials are even being taught English, and a minor Washington official hired Courtesy Associates to coach his backward 15-year-old daughter in the social graces.

This unusual firm was founded by an enterprising young lady, Jane Marilley, who makes a profit out of pleasing big shots.

Merry-Go-Round

The next big Senate investigation will be Lustron, the company that failed to solve the housing shortage. The Senate Banking and Currency Committee wants to know how Lustron spent the millions of dollars borrowed from the RFC . . . Dan O'Connell, who delivers government printing to the senator's office, faithfully collects the used stamps of senators and turns them over to a Catholic missionary society. They are then sold to foreign stamp collectors or used to decorate handicraft . . . Mrs. Roosevelt's Catholic friends believe Cardinal Spellman's blast at her was influenced more by her successful opposition to the appointment of an ambassador to Spain than her stand on parochial schools.

Argentine Arms Cause Revolt

The latest attempt to overthrow the government of Bolivia—the fourth in six months, and by far the most serious—has some interesting international undertones which don't get into the day-by-day press dispatches.

This new revolt effort, the only recent one with careful organization and serious armed support, broke out August 27, centering in the southern third of the landlocked Andean republic.

Three major southern cities—Sucre, Cochabamba and Potosi — were seized simultaneously by groups of well-armed civilians and a few garrison officers who tricked their troops into surrendering the local arsenals.

Within 48 hours, the conflict had assumed proportions of a full-scale civil war. And by then, the Bolivian government in La Paz had positive information that the weapons the rebels were using were about 80 per cent of Argentine manufacture.

Gabriel Gosalves, Bolivia's ambassador to Buenos Aires, received instructions to visit Argentine Foreign Minister Hipolito Paz, on the afternoon of August 29. The envoy immediately solicited an audience, but didn't get it until 5 p. m. the following day.

Paz then assured Gozalves that the Peron regime had "no partiality with respects to the events in your excellency's country" and had not supplied arms to anyone there.

Nevertheless, a machine gun nest overrun by Bolivian government troops the next day was equipped with brand-new Argentine weapons, and the captured rebel commander admitted that they had been brought up by "caravan from across the border" just the night before.

Argentina Denies All

Acting on renewed instructions from home, the Bolivian ambassador in the Argentine capital again called 7 o'clock the night of August 31. Once more, that functionary insisted that the charges were "wholly unfounded."

Twenty minutes after leaving Paz' offices, Gozalves received an anonymous telephone tip that 40-odd Bolivian exiles, mostly former Army officers, had left Buenos Aires that afternoon for Jujuy province, on the Bolivian border, in two planes of the Argentine government-owned State Airlines.

This was confirmed early the next morning that the rebel-operated radio station in Santa Cruz, Bolivia, announced that Capt. Carmelo Cuellar had taken command of troops there.

Cuellar had been living in Buenos Aires Province since June, 1946, when Bolivian Dictator Gualberto Villarroel was overthrown by a popular revolution and hanged from a lamppost in the Central Square of La Paz.

Gozalves visited the foreign ministry twice more during the forenoon of September 1. The first time he was given the same pious runaround as on previous calls; the second, he found an abruptly changed atmosphere.

Foreign Minister Paz on this occasion informed the Bolivian envoy that Peron had summoned a special cabinet session to "discuss measures for assuring of absolute Argentine neutrality" on all counts.

There followed a high-sounding announcement of strict neutrality which meant exactly nothing, since the Bolivian exiles already had crossed the border from Argentina —undoubtedly with the aid of Argentina.

By that time, the rebels were in command of the entire frontier, so that Bolivian government authorities were unable to check up on what was going on.

It didn't take too much study to figure out, however. "The Blue Book" on Argentine wartime politics, issued by the State Department in January, 1946, presented a wealth of documentary evidence covering the part played by Peron & Company in establishing the notorious Bolivian dictatorship headed by Villarroel.

McKenney on Bridge

Some time ago I received a very interesting smother play hand from Irving Rosenberg of Brooklyn, N. Y. Today he sent me another unusual hand, which combines a very nice strip and end play and then, to top it off, a little squeeze play.

Rosenberg won the opening lead of the five of clubs with the king when East went up with the queen. His next play was the ten of diamonds which West promptly covered with the jack. Dummy's king won the trick.

Rosenberg won the six of hearts in his own hand with the king and proceeded to cash dummy's other three heart tricks, discarding the deuce of clubs from his own hand on the fourth heart. He won the seven of diamonds in his own hand with the ace of diamonds.

	♠ A 10 7 ♥ A Q J 8 ♦ K 7 6 ♣ 10 4 3
♠ J 8 3 ♥ 10 7 5 ♦ Q J 4 ♣ J 8 7 5	N W E S Dealer	♠ Q 6 4 2 ♥ 9 6 4 3 ♦ 5 3 2 ♣ Q 6
	Rosenberg ♠ K 9 5 ♥ K 2 ♦ A 10 9 8 ♣ A K 9 2

Rubber—Both vul.

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
6 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening—♠ 5

Now comes the end play. He played the eight of diamonds, forcing West to win the trick with the queen. West now was stripped of hearts and diamonds, so he was forced to return either a club or a spade. He elected to return a small spade. The seven-spot from dummy forced East to play the queen and Irving won the trick with the king. At this point he led the nine of diamonds and West was squeezed. He had to discard either a club or spade. If he discarded a spade, he took the guess out of the spade finesse, while if he discarded a club, the jack would fall on the ace, setting up a good club.

Hollywood's Show Is Slipping, Says Norwegian Critic

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Don't look now, Hollywood, but your show is slipping.

A Norwegian movie critic, in Fort Worth Tuesday on a flying "discovery" tour of the United States, says you didn't portray America accurately to Europeans.

This critic who criticizes is Reidar Lunde, star reporter as well as movie reviewer for the Oslo Aftanposten, an authoritative, conservative Norwegian daily.

Lunde unburdened himself of some sorrowing comments on Hollywood's foibles before he and 49 other European journalists departed for Detroit. The party, guests of American Overseas Airlines, then will visit Washington and New York to complete their 13,000-mile, coast-to-coast journey which began September 5.

Lunde said Norwegians rarely are impressed by Hollywood's super-tremendous movies with routine boy-meets-girl and shoot 'em up plots.

"We want more documentaries, movies that treat American life factually and accurately. Give us some pictures that tell us what America is really like," he said.

Congress' Probers May Check Legal Eagles In Washington

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—When congressional committees get through investigating five percenters and lobbyists, they might profitably probe the activities of Washington's legal profession.

A Department of Commerce Office of Business Economics survey has just disclosed that Washington lawyers are the highest paid in the country. They averaged $14,000 a year in 1947, when the average lawyer's income for the entire country was only $7,500. California lawyers averaged $10,000, New York state lawyers $9,000.

Washington lawyers are in a beautiful position to collect high fees. Under the guise of giving legal advice to their clients in the highest ethical traditions, they can do all the "fixing" that five percenters and lobbyists do, and get away with it. The myth has been built up that anything a lawyer does for his client is on the same high plane as what a doctor does for his patient.

The law is of course Washington's principal industry. Five out of nine cabinet members are lawyers by profession — Acheson, Johnson, McGrath, Brannan and Tobin. About two-thirds of the members of Congress are lawyers. They make the laws. Then low-paid government lawyers try to figure out ways to enforce the laws while high-paid private lawyers figure out ways to obey or evade them or to get clients out of trouble if they have broken any.

The government is probably the best post graduate law school in the country. Young lawyers take government jobs to learn some specialized practice—transportation, communications, aviation, labor, anti-trust, criminal, or whatever they're interested in. Most of them aim to make a reputation, then open offices of their own—in Washington—to handle legal business before the government.

Long List

Washington today has at least 5,000 lawyers. There are more than 3,000 listed in the classified section of the telephone book. The District of Columbia Bar Association has 2,300 members. Every lawyer practicing before a court in Washington must be a member of the bar. But a lot of them who do no court work don't join. Another reason is that it costs $125 "initiation fee" to join this "lawyers' union."

Many lawyers who don't join the bar association are known as "sundowners." They work for the government from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Then at this regular quitting time—about sundown in Winter—for most government agencies, these legal lights go to their downtown offices. This may be just desk space in somebody else's office. But it's a business address where they can get mail and do a certain amount of consultant work on the side.

There is a lot of legal advice to give in Washington. Every one of the specialized quasi-legal regulatory agencies of government conducts court-like proceedings of its own. Each of these agencies has a specialized bar association of its own.

Thus there is the Interstate Commerce Commission Practitioners Association, the Federal Communications Bar Association, the Treasury Bar, National Labor Relations Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Federal Power Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Trade Commission, the Patent Office and others have their own exclusive panels of lawyers licensed to practice before them.

Aren't All Lawyers

In the case of Treasury Bar and Patent Office, licensed practitioners don't have to be lawyers. Members of the Treasury Bar handle tax cases, so certified public accountants may qualify. Patent law is a peculiar field unto itself, so experts in its search and title work may handle patent cases whether they know other law or not.

It is in the handling of these specialized cases, however, that the Washington legal fraternity has its principal racket. The idea has been built up that out-of-town lawyers don't know how to practice before these regulatory agencies, and that they must therefore have Washington consultants who know their way around government. This is exactly the same argument the five percenters use, in telling out-of-town businessmen they must hire agents who know government.

In the last decade, some 20 bills have been introduced in Congress to bring under tighter control the practice of lawyers before federal agencies. Rep. Francis Walter of Pennsylvania has such a bill before the present Congress. It would create a Committee on Credientials to license lawyers. It would provide a $5,000 fine and one year's imprisonment for violation of Credentials Committee rules. And it would ban government or ex-government lawyers from representing any client on any matter which the lawyer had handled as a public servant within the preceding two years. This is one of the worst abuses of the Washington legal profession.

CHRISTMAS had come and gone and Gaynel had had no word from Fritz. "Take me or leave me," he had said. And, apparently, had taken himself completely out of her life.

But Barry had been planning a house party at his winter lodge near Grayling. He insisted it would not be complete unless Gaynel were there.

"I accept with alacrity," Gaynel responded. "Which should prove how much it is appreciated, Barry dear. And, by the way, I've changed my mind about not wanting to meet Madeline Day. I wish you'd invite her for Denny over the week-end."

Gaynel wanted to know this woman who had brought about such a miraculous change in her young brother. Not only was he making good at his job, but last month he had paid Gaynel back $20 of what he owed her and had promised—a bit shamefacedly—that he meant to do even better from now on.

"I want to contribute a little something," Denny said. "May only be a drop in the bucket, for awhile. But nobody's going to call me a sponger—and get away with it."

So Fritz's remarks, as well as Mrs. Day's influence, had sunk into Denny's conscience.

Barry's prediction that The Lodge was just what Gaynel needed proved to be right. The crisp air had whipped the color back into her cheeks and restored her appetite to a scandalous degree.

Denny was to come up for the week-end and bring some friends along. Meantime Gaynel was glad to have a chance to meet Madeline Day, whom she found to be everything that Barry and Denny had said she was.

* * *

MRS. DAY had that "certain something" that Barry had that. Something that went much deeper. Curled before the big fireplace in the living room, Gaynel said, "You know, I have a confession to make. I didn't think I was going to like you, Madeline But I do."

Madeline smiled. "That more than makes up for your confession. I can say the same thing in return. Sincerely. Only—I knew I couldn't help liking Denny's sister."

"And yet you're not in love with Denny, are you?" Gaynel put in quickly; adding, "Forgive me for being so terribly frank. But I know you never will be. And I'm sorry."

"That's a lovely thing for one woman to say to another." Madeline's eyes—gray, and very direct—thanked her. "I'm sorry, too. I think a great deal of Denny. He's going to be quite a person. But I am quite sure—though maybe not as sure as I thought I was—that I shall never be in love with anyone again. I would have to think a long while before I'd surrender my independence, so hard-won."

Yes, that was the "certain something" that Madeline had: an independence.

"Is this a Ladies' Maid Meeting," Barry asked, coming in with a bowl of punch.

"We were having a meeting," Madeline said, "of the Mutual Admiration Society. You are the only member of your sex of whom we might make an exception. Shall we pledge him, Gaynel?"

Gaynel said the vote was unanimous. But Madeline's tone had aroused her attention. She had spoken lightly, but there was an undercurrent, like the depth of Madeline's personality beneath the glamorous surface.

She's in love with Barry! Gaynel thought, amazed. He was the one man for whom that hard-won independence might be surrendered. [illegible] Madeline even said that she had thought she would never fall in love again, but that now she was not so certain? It was not amazing, really. Madeline and Barry would be eminently suited in every way.

Except that Barry took it for granted he wanted to marry Gaynel.

* * *

ON Saturday came the special train that brings its hilarious load of passengers from Detroit. The ice rink was crowded with skaters, the eating places and shelters packed.

It looked like a gay carnival. It was so festive and gay that it seemed almost unreal. So that Gaynel, skating with Barry toward the end of the afternoon, was not as taken back with the unreality of suddenly coming face to face with Bessie Carter and Fritz.

Her heart did a somersault, naturally, but she was surprised to find how cool and collected her voice sounded, as they all exchanged greetings.

Bessie, with her gilt freckles, looked very smart in her green skiing costume; sport togs suited, and emphasized, her streamlined figure. She looked very sure of herself and she clung onto Fritz's arm in a way that suggested not only support, but possession.

"It was fun," Bessie said. "There was plenty of noise, and clowning, and refreshments. We've been having fun ever since Fritz came back two weeks ago—haven't we, Fritz darling?" Her tone and her look were possessive, too.

Fritz agreed that fun was what they had been having, his eyes looking into Gaynel's dark ones a brief, but significant, moment.

Gaynel returned his look steadily. He hadn't lost much time. Hadn't he told her that Bessie, and her gilt freckles, might get him on the rebound? Didn't Bessie always get what she went after? He had been home two weeks, and never called her. Gaynel said, lightly, her hold tightening on Barry's arm, "Nice to have seen you. Don't let us interrupt that fun—any longer." She skated on; Barry had to lengthen his stride to keep up with her.

★ WE, THE WOMEN ★

'A Woman's Intuition' Can Give Wives Misery As Well As Joy

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

It looks as though we women may have over-estimated the advantages of "intuition."

According to a study made by Dr. Horace Gray, of the Stanford University School of Medicine, intuition may actually be a handicap in staying married.

Divorced people, Dr. Gray has observed, are more often intuitive than are the married or the widowed.

Come to think of it a woman often does employ her intuition to the end result of making herself unhappy.

It's intuition more often than a nosey neighbor that tells her her husband is interested in another woman.

It's intuition that all too often makes her get an unsatisfactory answer when she starts putting two and two together, like observing that her mate used to take her on business trips but hasn't asked her to go along lately. Therefore—says her intuition—he must be finding other feminine companionship while he's away from home.

It's intuition that makes her think her husband doesn't love her as much as he used to because he is forgetful about kissing her goodby in the morning.

Her intuition may be correct or as wrong as the pre-election polls during the last presidential campaign. But if she uses it to get an unsatisfactory answer, then a woman is going to be unhappy and she may jump to conclusions so fast she lands herself in court asking for a quick divorce.

But intuition could help to make a marriage happier, if women worked it overtime to make themselves happier instead of to make themselves miserable.

If they put two and two together in order to find out what is wrong with them as wives instead of what's wrong with their husbands, intuition would be their friend.

But for some strange reason when a woman says: I had a hunch—her intuition is usually telling her something she isn't going to like. And chances are it is something about her husband, not about herself.

Altrusans Talk Over Projects For New Year

Project possibilities for the year were discussed informally by Altrusa Club members at a dinner Tuesday night which started regular meetings after the Summer vacation. Grace Wallace, who was installed as president when the club's first year ended in June, presided.

Members agreed that they wish to adopt a local project, and suggested a number from which a choice is to be made. For a current service project, they volunteered to assist in checking lists and filing material in the office of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association in preparation for the annual Christmas Seal sale.

Mrs. Lennie Davidson, secretary of the Tuberculosis Association and a member of the club, explained the preliminary work which is necessary in the seal campaign, in which funds are raised each year for local and national work of tuberculosis control.

A date far in the future was marked on the Altrusa calendar when the group voted to accept an invitation of the Abilene club to meet with it next May 6. Willie Walker of Texarkana, district governor of Altrusa Clubs in the Southwest, will be the speaker then.

Bertie Boone was appointed to take charge of meal reservations of club members this year, and members are to notify her when they expect to have guests or when they wish to cancel reservations for dinners on the second Tuesday of each month and luncheons on fourth Tuesdays.

A group of 260 parents and teachers were present at the opening meeting of West Elementary Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium. The program of the open meeting was a symposium by three parents and three teachers.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Malcolm Gibson, president, the executive board of the P-TA and faculty of the school were introduced. Mrs. Leroy Butler was elected treasurer to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. M. R. Lewis. Miss Slocum's room won the attendance prize with 58 per cent of the parents present.

Speakers Introduced

The symposium speakers, introduced by Mrs. J. B. Elder, were Frank Monroe, Wesley Martin and June Kingon, teachers, and J. B. Elder, Mrs. O. L. Stalcup and Mrs. James H. Jones, parents.

The teachers, who spoke on "What We As Teachers Expect of the Parents," urged the cooperation of all parents in sending their children to school happy, in keeping them mentally and physically alert by regular meals and bedtime, and by being patient with the child's progress in school. Parents should not put all the responsibility of child development on the school, nor should they try to assume it all, one speaker said.

Want Children Disciplined

The parents spoke on "What We As Parents Expect of the Teacher." They said that teachers need to be more concerned with developing mature character than with the accumulation of facts, that parents should be informed of the child's progress or problems and only teachers who love children should be in the profession.

They added that parents want their children disciplined, that a school system should administer to all units equal opportunity without fear or favor and that no individual or group has the right or privilege to exert undue pressure or excessive influence to the detriment of the best interests of the school.

Five Nationalities Attend Sea School

AP Newsfeatures

OTTAWA, CANADA—School is out at the first British Empire Sea Cadet Camp on the shores of Lake of Two Mountains, Quebec, and 147 young sailors are on their way home. They came from five nations —the United Kingdom, Sweden, Australia, New Zealand and Canada. Brooke Claxton, Canadian minister of defense, reviewed the cadets and said he was "impressed by this great example of youth of several lands working together hand-in-hand."

He commended 17-year-old Cadet Chief Petty Officer William Hicks of Britain for his command of the parade. Sailing, swimming, scrubbing decks, and all the crafts of seamanship were learned at Camp Ewing in picturesque northland setting. The "Anzacs" are staying over for the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

Mrs. John Perkins

Reagan H. Legg, Midland attorney, spoke on the importance of the Constitution at a luncheon Tuesday which was the opening Fall meeting of the Midland chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The luncheon, in the private dining room of the Scharbauer Hotel, was a celebration of Constitution Week.

Carrying out the patriotic theme, the table was decorated with red gladiolus and blue and white Marconi daisies. Mrs. George Kidd and Mrs. George Abell were in charge of decorations.

During a short business session, it was voted to change the monthly meeting of the group from the second to the first Tuesday. Mrs. Jack Kelsay was accepted for membership. Legg, who was introduced by Mrs. Perkins, called the Constitution "the greatest document ever penned by man." He also explained many details of constitutional law and the place of the Supreme Court, which is empowered to extend and adapt the powers of the Constitution to fit what it considers changing needs of our times.

Compliments DAR

Our freedom, he said, is a restricted freedom which must be restricted for the public good and to avoid disorder and anarchy. Legg complimented the DAR on its stand regarding civil rights and the work that the group does to encourage patriotism.

Present were Mrs. Frank Aldrich, Mrs. C. L. Davenport, Mrs. David Dunn, Mrs. W. H. Gilmore, Mrs. Ben Golladay, Mrs. R. W. Hamilton, Mrs. W. L. Harris, Mrs. G. C. Crane P-TA Plans Study For Year To Begin On Thursday

CRANE — "These Are Your Children" is the subject of the study course planned for the Crane Parent Teacher Association, which will have its first meeting of the term at 3:45 p. m. Thursday in the Elementary School Auditorium.

Mrs. Hayden Wilmoth, program chairman, has announced that this meeting will be devoted to an introductory talk by the school superintendent and introduction of the faculty. Business and the study course will start on October 20.

The study is based on a book, "These Are Your Children," and was adopted at the suggestion of Virgil N. Keyes, elementary school principal who studied it this Summer at Sul Ross College. Panel discussions followed by questions and comments from the audience will be used for each program.

A special program will be that of the annual Fathers Day meeting in February, when men will present the discussion and husbands of the officers will serve in their posts.

Mrs. S. S. Bangman is president of the association this year. She has been active in Parent-Teacher work seven years and has served in various offices in Portland, Ore., Menominee, Mich., and Rankin before she came to Crane two years ago. She has two children in school, Stella Mae in the seventh grade and Edward in the fifth.

A unit of the P-TA for parents of High School students and others interested in the youth program in Crane is planned. It will be organized at a meeting on September 29 in the High School Speech Arts room.

Lula Martin Weds Welton Moore In McCamey Rites

McCAMEY—Mr. and Mrs. Welton D. Moore, whose marriage took place Sunday afternoon, will be at home in Lubbock, where the bridegroom plans to continue his studies at Texas Technological College.

Mrs. Moore is the former Lula Fae Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Martin of Odessa. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moore of McCamey are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. W. I. Lee read the double ring ceremony before a garden scene. The green arch and gateway was flanked by floor baskets of large white chrysanthemums. The kneeling rail was draped with a nylon wedding bow with matching kneeling pillow.

Music was furnished by Jackie Mathis of Crane. She accompanied Ann Hawkins, who sang "Always" and "Because." Mr. Martin gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white crepe, princess style dress. Her veil was attached to a small brimmed lace hat, caught on the sides with orange blossoms. She carried a gardenia on a white prayer book with streamers cascading.

Pat Putnam was the bride's attendant. She wore a heliotrope taffeta dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Richard Moore was his brother's best man. Ushers were Jo Bob Rowell and Dale Williamson.

A reception was held in the bridegroom's home in the Shell Oil Company Camp immediately following the wedding ceremony. The bride's chosen colors of green and white were used in the decorations. The table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of long stemmed chrysanthemums surrounded with floating gardenias. Betty Moore, the bridegroom's sister, poured punch; cake was served by Ann Hawkins and Patsy Coplen presided at the bride's register.

Mrs. Moore is a graduate of McCamey High School and Moore of Wink High School. He is a mechanical engineering student at the Lubbock college.

DALLAS LADY LOSES 58 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

"I want to tell you what weight I have lost in 2½ months by using Barcentrate. I weighed 262 pounds when I started. I now weigh 204. I am so proud I tried it. I was told that I could not live a year unless I lost some weight. You may use my name any way you wish."—Mrs. J. E. Moore, 1638 Mentor Street, Dallas, Texas.

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Rock Solid Favorite To Lick Fusari

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rocky Graziano, the biggest question mark and dollar mark in the boxing business, returns to the ring Wednesday night a solid choice to whip Charlie Fusari in the Polo Grounds.

The much suspended Rock, making his first main stem start since he was flattened by Tony Zale 15 months ago, has been installed a 5 to 9 favorite to win. The price may go even higher by fight time, 8 p.m. (CST).

While there is a great deal of uncertainty about Graziano's ability, there is no doubt over his gate-pulling powers. The former middleweight king's first hometown showing in three years is bringing in the customers. The promoting International Boxing Club anticipates a crowd of 35,000 and a gross of more than $200,000 providing the weather is good for the scheduled 10-rounder.

Looks Good In Training

Rocky's explosive punch, his fine mental attitude and an expected 10-pound weight advantage—159 to 149—are the reasons he's favored.

The rough East Sider has looked very good in training. He's happy to perform before the home folks and vows "I'll flatten that salami in three rounds."

That's never been done before. The stolid, 24-year-old blond from Irvington, N. J., has been floored five times but got up each time. He won all of those tussles, too.

Villanova Wildcats Head For Aggieland

VILLANOVA, PA.—(AP)—Farmer Jim Leonard took Villanova College's 1949 crop of football players West Wednesday, hopeful the season's inaugural against the Texas Aggies Saturday will be the first step toward a second straight bowl bid.

If Villanova's Wildcats are to repeat last year's triumph over the Aggies and go on to another bowl engagement, Leonard says his line and quarterbacks must come through.

"We've got fullbacks as strong as any college," said Leonard. "We've got the halfbacks that can run. The question is whether the line and the quarterbacks can hold up their end."

The Wildcats last year won seven, lost two and tied one before beating Nevada in the Harbor Bowl.

MAJOR LEAGUES—

Kiner Threatens Ruth's Swat Mark

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's fence buster, has stolen the headlines from the pennant races with his frontal assault on Babe Ruth's all-time home run record.

Twice Tuesday night the Pirate slugger tied major league marks as he hammered Nos. 47 and 48 off Philadelphia Phil pitching. The marks were most homers with bases full in a season—four—and most homers in consecutive at bats—four.

With 17 games to go, 14 of them at Forbes Field, the 26-year-old Kiner can beat the Babe's 1927 score of 60 if he keeps up his terrific September pace.

Kiner's first objective is Hack Wilson's National League high of 56, set in 1930.

When Kiner blasted Hank Borowy for a grand slam homer in the first inning of Tuesday night's 11-6 win over the Phils, he tied the mark of four, held by six players including Ruth and Lou Gehrig. He followed this with another homer in the second inning.

Cards, Bums Keep Pace

St. Louis and Brooklyn kept pace in the race toward the World Series with the Cards shutting out New York 1-0 on Red Munger's brilliant one-hit game. That left St. Louis still one and one-half games in front.

Munger faced only 28 Giants, walking one man, in copping a tight duel from Dave Koslo. After Sid Gordon singled in the second, he retired 16 in a row until he walked Bobby Thomson in the eighth. Bobby was cut down in a double play.

There was a bit of luck attached to the lone Card run. Stan Musial, trying to hold back his swing, was credited with a double when the ball hit his bat in the first inning. Nippy Jones' single drove him home. The game was played in one hour and 31 minutes.

Brooklyn exploded for three runs in the tenth inning, two on Jackie Robinson's triple, to overcome Cincinnati 6-3. The Dodgers were losing 3-2 with two out and nobody on in the ninth. Doubles by Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo sent the game into extra innings.

Bosox Stop Tigers

The Boston Red Sox gave warning they are not to be counted out of the American League race by coming from behind twice to end Detroit's 10-game win streak 7-4.

With the Red Sox winning and New York's double-header with St. Louis postponed until Wednesday because of rain, the Yankees' lead now measures two and one-half games. The Yanks have 19 to play, Boston only 14.

Cleveland's scheduled night game in Philadelphia was rained out but Chicago and Washington were able to play their meaningless contest at Griffith Stadium. Randy Gumpert won it for the White Sox 3-2.

The Boston Braves-Chicago Cubs game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Favorites Advance In Women's Amateur

ARDMORE, PA.—(AP)—Coin tossing Wednesday still was considered the best method of selecting a winner in the 49th annual U. S. Women's Amateur golf championship but surviving veterans are more than a little worried about the baby in the competition.

She's 15-year-old Marlene Baur, national junior golf champion from Los Angeles, Calif., who pitted her youth against the experience of six-time champion, Mrs. Edwin H. Vare Tuesday and emerged a 4 and 3 winner over the rain-swept Merion Golf Club course.

The most surprising development in Tuesday's second round play was the elimination of Frances Stephens, Southport, England, by Mrs. Julius A. Page, 1937 amateur queen from Greensboro, N. C.

The rest of the favorites made the third round.

Mrs. Joanne Barr Tracy, Dallas, the lass who eliminated defending champion Grace Lenczyk in the first round, advanced with a 3 and 2 victory over Marjorie Burns, Greensboro, N. C.

Dot Kielty, Long Beach, Calif., who disqualified herself in last year's tourney at Pebble Beach, Calif., for accidentally posting a wrong score, eliminated Betsy Rawls, Fort Worth, 5 and 4.

Fire Destroys New School Gymnasium

WACO —(AP)— The recently completed $60,000 school gymnasium at Whitney, in Hill County, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday. The fire left 200 students without classrooms.

The building had been in use only two days.

The blaze also destroyed equipment in four classrooms in the building, gym facilities and all football equipment.

Volunteer fire fighters from Whitney and Hillsboro fought the flames.

School officials said $30,000 insurance was carried on the building.

SHORTY SHELBURNE

The extra day of rest the Longhorn League playoff teams got Tuesday through an assist from the weather may change the entire picture in the final outcome.

Some of the clubs had their pitching staffs worn to a frazzle from constant work in the stretch drive.

With Monday and Tuesday off, they'll be in better shape all the way around.

—SS—

San Angelo and Big Spring had planned to split their series somewhat different from Midland and Vernon. Now that Tuesday's game was rained out, they may have to change their plans.

The original slate called for games Tuesday and Wednesday in Big Spring.

At San Angelo, they were to play Thursday, skip Friday night due to a conflict with a football game, then play Saturday and Sunday.

—SS—

John Medanich, the former Pecos High School grid flash, is reported ailing and may miss the season opener between TCU and Kansas Saturday.

He is counted on to go big guns at fullback for the Horned Frogs this season.

Development of Medanich can be credited largely to Carl (Cobb) Coleman, present Big Spring coach. He started Big John on his road to football fame while coaching at Pecos.

—SS—

Weldon Boggus, all state Class A guard for Monahans' champion Lobos last season, has been elected captain of the Hardin-Simmons University freshman team for 1949.

It didn't take him long to start moving up in college. He may turn out to be a better prospect than the great Waldo Young.

—SS—

Andrews—a team from which little was heard before the season opened—is the power to be in District 5-A this season from where we sit. They'll get a stiff test from Kermit, Wink and possibly Monahans, however.

Pecos, too, showed up strong against the Brownfield Cubs in the season opener.

But, with Frances Tubbs bringing them along just right, the Andrews Mustangs will go a long way. Their T formation, which is used almost exclusively in the district, is the smoothest we have seen.

—SS—

President Hal Sayles says the only way the Longhorn League will be able to top a half-million in attendance this season is for San Angelo to draw like a syrup barrel draws flies during the playoff.

The Colts have led the league in attendance since the start of the regular season. They have the largest and finest park in the loop and are situated in one of the larger cities.

With their help, the circuit might reach the coveted mark.

Regardless of how they draw in the playoff, attendance in the league is up considerably over last year.

—SS—

The University of Texas Longhorns open their season Saturday against a team they have defeated in five previous meetings—Texas Tech.

Of course, everybody is looking for the Steers to do it again. But there have been upsets equally that big before.

Here's how they played in previous meetings:

1928—Texas 12, Tech 0.
1934—Texas 12, Tech 6.
1937—Texas 25, Tech 12.
1945—Texas 33, Tech 0.
1947—Texas 33, Tech 0.

Farm Bureau Group To Attend Meeting

Also planning to attend are Charles Green, county agent, and Mrs. Nettie Messick, home demonstration agent.

The meeting gets underway at 10 a. m.

Midland County Farm Bureau directors are R. C. Vest, Jr., secretary-treasurer; I. J. Howard, O. C. Collins, Roy Frazier, Roy Jones, C. C. Thomas, Sherwood O'Neal and Graham.

Several other Farm Bureau members, in addition to the directors, have said they will attend the meeting.

RAZZLE - DAZZLE DEBUT—

Morrison's Kangaroos To Tee Off In Louisiana

ABILENE —(AP)— Ray Morrison puts his first Austin College football team on the field Saturday night at Lafayette, La. It is causing great speculation.

The Kangaroos will battle Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Morrison, hailed as the originator of razzle-dazzle football, with an illustrious coaching record at big-name schools, hasn't said much about his material since joining little Austin College of the Texas Conference last Winter.

But in a recent poll, some sportswriters, knowing full well the Kangaroos had practically a-long-term lease on the cellar spot, picked them to take first place, "because Ray Morrison's there." Other writers who picked other teams, nevertheless, warned, "Watch out for Morrison's Kangaroos."

Saturday night's game will not be a fair test for Morrison, since, obviously, a team cannot be rebuilt overnight. However, a powerful showing by the Kangaroos will be all the more significant.

Two other Texas Conference teams meet extra-heavy tests. McMurry College, defending champion, runs into a rebounding University of Tulsa eleven Saturday night at Tulsa. Southwestern University plays Southwest Texas State, champion of the Lone Star Conference and loser of only one game last year. The game will be at Georgetown.

Howard Payne, 14-34 victim of North Texas State last week, entertains Louisiana Tech and is given a better than even chance to avenge last year's 20-0 defeat. Abilene Christian College, reported by scouts to be better than its 0-20 showing against strong Texas Tech Saturday night indicates, draws an easier assignment this week — Southwest Oklahoma Institute, at Stamford, Texas.

Texas A&I College will remain idle another week as Dewey Mayhew readies his Javelinas for their conference debut against Howard Payne September 24. That will be the first conference clash of the season.

Italy's increase in population is approximately 450,000 annually.

Ocee Indians Edge Tulsa; Fort Worth, Shreveport Flooded

By The Associated Press

The Oklahoma City Indians, who were sick Redmen indeed when the season started but caught fire and rushed in with third place, held a one-game lead over Tulsa Wednesday in the Texas League playoff.

They licked the club that had beaten them 15 times during the regular campaign by a 5-4 count Tuesday night in the opening game of the first round.

Meanwhile, Fort Worth's league-leading Cats and the fourth-place Shreveport Sports were idle because of rain in the scheduled opener of the other half of the first round playoff. They'll start Wednesday night at Fort Worth.

Tribe Hangs On

A crowd of 4,743 turned out at Tulsa to see Oklahoma City get all its runs in the second and third innings then hang on. Lefty Al Olsen was in trouble frequently in the later innings but managed to weather the storm. In the ninth the Oilers had the tying run on third when Pinch Hitter Walt Wrona grounded out to end the game. Twice Indian double plays cut out Tulsa scoring chances.

Outfielder Steve Filipowicz of Tulsa was suspended indefinitely for jumping the club. Filipowicz reportedly had an argument with Manager Al Vincent and wasn't on hand for Tuesday night's game.

Corpus Christi And Brownsville Lead In Valley Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Corpus Christi beat McAllen 8-5 and Brownsville shaded Laredo 2-1 in the first games of the Rio Grande Valley League playoff Tuesday night.

Manager Bill Gann pitched Corpus Christi to its victory, allowing eight hits. Three of the blows, however, were homers. The Aces romped on Harold Jackson for six runs in the fourth inning to ice away the game.

Pete Zmitrovich, celebrating the birth of a son at his house, singled in the winning run in the sixth inning in the Brownsville triumph. Don Petschow scored the tally. Bob Wiltse pitched a five-hitter for Brownsville.

Oklahoma Coal Mine Cave-In Kills Man; 135 Escape Unhurt

McALESTER, OKLA.—(AP)—A coal mine cave-in killed one man and injured three others Tuesday night but 135 miners miraculously escaped unhurt.

Rock and coal crashed down from the mine ceiling, killing Buster Nail. Leroy Holt and Tom Emberton were injured seriously and Skeets Shores suffered minor hurts.

The accident happened at the Lone Star Steel Company's Carbon Mine Number Five east of McAlester in the heart of Oklahoma's coal fields.

Mine company officials said a water slip caused the cave-in.

The mine entrance was not blocked and workers freed the buried men by the time ambulances arrived from McAlester.

The mine supplies coke for the Lone Star Steel Company blast furnaces at Daingerfield, Texas.

Arson Suspected In Atlantic City Blaze

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Police Wednesday said the $250,000 fire on Million Dollar Pier may have been set deliberately.

"We have every reason to believe it was arson," Detective Robert O'Keefe said after an initial investigation Tuesday while the 43-year-old Boardwalk landmark still smoldered. O'Keefe is the police department's arson specialist.

Sheets of flame mushroomed from the 1,700-foot structure just before dawn Tuesday and were fanned down the beach by a northeast wind.

A Boardwalk patrolman, Mario Floriani, gave the first alarm. He went on the pier with two other policemen to see if anyone was on it. O'Keefe quoted Floriani as saying:

"We ran back to the mansion (a house halfway out the pier) and we found a small fire. We put that out and came to the front of the pier when the whole thing burst out in front of us."

O'Keefe said the fire at the mansion "was deliberately set."

Sports

Bulldogs In Damp Workout Session

The Midland Bulldogs got a taste of playing football on a wet field Tuesday as they went through an hour-long workout at Memorial Stadium between showers.

Coach Tugboat Jones continued to stress offense in the session. He also spent some time teaching the boys how to rush the passer better.

Coach Jones set up an offense and defense on the order expected to be used by Austin High and turned his linemen loose on it.

Pass defense and offense were covered thoroughly.

No other serious injuries have shown up from the Ysleta game and, baring workout injuries, the club will be in top shape for the home opener here September 23.

Crowley Passing

L. C. Thomas and Jack Burris are looking much better as ball carriers. Charles Crowley, a lefty, is doing considerable passing.

Luther Mooney and Cecil Stephens also are working in the backfield most of the time.

Al Baze and Bob Wood still are holding down the tackle posts with Stan Coker and Jerry Culp backing them up.

Dalton Byerley, Jack Mobley and Pete English are doing duty at the guard slots.

Jimmy O'Neal and Bob Burks are the centers getting in licks toward improvement in this week's workouts.

Harrie Smith, Graham Mackey, Duane Bush and Jimmy Lineberger are alternating at the end positions.

Coaches are well pleased with improvement being shown at every position and are looking for a more polished ball club to take the field against Austin High.

Trick Shot Artist To Perform In Two Exhibitions Here

Bob King, a professional golfer who plays on crutches, will give trick shot exhibitions here Thursday at the Midland Country Club and at 3 p. m. Saturday at Ranchland Hill. The public is invited to attend the exhibition. Half of the proceeds will go to the emergency polio fund drive now underway here.

King, one of the most widely known trick shot artists in the nation, was a polio victim at the age of two. Although left with a permanent disability from the dread disease, he has gained fame in the golfing world.

His exhibitions here will include such tricks as driving balls through magazines, off watches, off chair legs and eggs. He also stacks three balls up and drives them off one at a time.

He also will play nine holes of golf in addition to the exhibition of tricks.

King owns a driving range in Culver City, Calif. He spends much time there working with polio victims and disabled war veterans.

Mental Examination Sought For Sig Engel, Small, Elderly Wooer Of Wealthy Widows

CHICAGO —(AP)— The state prepared Wednesday to file a formal request in criminal court for a mental examination of Sigmund Engel, the small, elderly wooer of wealthy widows.

Meanwhile, the trial of the 73-year-old Romeo on a confidence game charge was continued until October 24. The charge, one of several against Engel, stemmed from his alleged swindle of $8,700 from Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39-year-old Chicago widow.

His trial was delayed at the request of his counsel, who said he needed more time to study the case.

James A. Brown, assistant state's attorney, who Tuesday asked Judge George M. Fisher to have Engel examined by the court behavior clinic, said he will file a written motion for such an examination. Brown disclosed in court that Engel in 1934 had served several months in the Dannemora State Hospital in New York.

Engel, dapper and smiling when he appeared in court, appeared glum as Brown disclosed his lunacy record.

The self-styled international swindler was returned to his cell at the Cook County jail when he failed to post the lowered bond ordered by a federal court judge. His bond was reduced from $40,000 to $12,500 on two confidence game charges.

Mother To Fight For Custody Of Child Tennis Star

MIAMI, FLA. —(AP)— Mrs. Lucille Meska, mother of 16-year-old Laura Lou Jahn, Wednesday opened a fight for custody of the child tennis star.

Mrs. Meska flew to Hollywood, Calif., where Leslie E. Jahn, the child's father, was accused of incest.

Before boarding a plane Tuesday night, Mrs. Meska revealed she had twice married and divorced the tennis coach and said she would seek a court order to force him to surrender Laura Lou and a son, Leslie Jahn, Jr., 10.

She said she hoped to bring both children back to Miami to live.

Mrs. Meska said she first was divorced from Jahn here in 1937. They were remarried almost immediately at the urging of their families, she said, and Leslie, Jr., was born after the remarriage. They were divorced a second time in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 1941.

Jahn was released from a Hollywood jail Monday on a writ of habeas corpus. He had been held without formal charge on suspicion of incest resulting from his daughter's accusations.

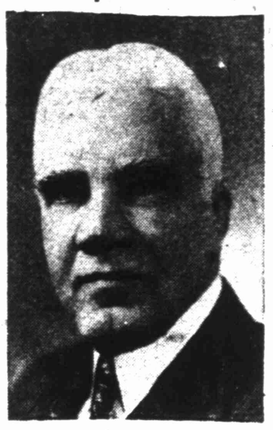

Negro Parents Seek Court Order To Bar 'Unequal' Schools

DALLAS—(AP)—A group of negro parents from the Addison Independent School District in Northeastern Dallas County have asked for a federal court order to prohibit "separate and unequal schools."

The petition, filed here Tuesday, alleges that the school district maintains a negro grade school which is an "old, worn, ill-conditioned, 30-year-old three-room frame building: is a fire hazard; had 'grossly unclean' outside toilets, no library or adequate furniture."

The petition was filed by five negro fathers in the names of their 12 children.

Sentenced To Die For Rape

GREENWOOD, S. C.—(AP)—A 24-year-old negro was sentenced to death Tuesday night after an all-white jury deliberated 10 minutes and convicted him of raping a white girl.

The sentence closed a two-day trial that was marked by a court order to add negro names to the jury boxes and by the judge's denunciation of the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Henry J. Johnson sentenced Willie Tolbert of Greenwood County to die in the electric chair on October 28. Defense lawyers filed notice of an appeal to the South Carolina Supreme Court.

The defense offered no testimony before the circuit court jury of white men.

Tolbert was charged with raping the 16-year-old daughter of a prominent Greenwood County family after threatening her boy friend with death.

City Council—

have been responsible for the present situation. He said one meter reading crew was discharged recently when it was discovered all meters were not being read regularly. The present crew is "most efficient" and is doing a thorough job, the manager said.

He told of the establishment by the city of one of the most complete and modern meter repair shops in the Southwest. He also explained the city's effort to check all meters and to repair defective ones as promptly as possible. He outlined the methods used in reading meters and billing customers.

Definite Progress

Thomason said definite progress is being made in straightening out the difficulties and that billing will be back on an even keel within the next 30 to 60 days.

The investigation disclosed the reason current bills are much higher than usual in numerous instances is that meters in most of the cases have not been read for two, three and four months until the August reading, and the current bills are accurate records of water used since the last actual reading.

It was estimated that about 10 per cent of the August bills have been higher than usual.

Many customers have been paying minimum bills when they actually have been using more water than the amount for which they were billed. The council was of the opinion no customers have been charged for more water than they actually have used.

To Satisfy Customers

It was explained that water meters cannot register more water than goes through them, whereas defective meters can record less than the volume of water being consumed.

The councilmen made it clear they are anxious to straighten out all accounts to the satisfaction of the customers, and urged those who are not satisfied with their bills to visit the manager or city secretary promptly.

It was admitted that until recently numerous meters have not been read because they have been covered up or have been out of order, but that the difficulties rapidly are being adjusted.

Mayor Neely and Councilmen Stanley Erskine, W. F. Hejl and Frank Shriver attended the session. Councilmen Robert I. Dickey and H. E. Chiles were absent.

"but all I want is security!"

Okay, the Government Can Give It To You . . But It Will Cost You Your Freedom!

Yes, the Government can give you security . . . all you have to swap for it is your freedom . . . your liberties . . . . your personal rights . . . and your opportunities. WANT TO SWAP?

This may sound like a scare statement. IT IS . . . IT'S TIME TO GET SCARED WHEN YOUR FREEDOM IS IN JEOPARDY . . . WHEN SOMEONE TRIES TO TRADE YOU AN ARTIFICIAL BILL OF GOODS LABELED "SECURITY" FOR YOUR PERSONAL FREEDOM.

A trade like that is serious business, for there's no backing out, no turning back, once the trade is made.

There is constant pressure for the Government to provide security from want by the adoption of programs which call for more TVA's, an increase in minimum wages, bigger social benefits, socialized medical care, aids to education, more Government building of rent houses and bigger subsidies to farmers as well as to certain other forms of business.

The inmates of Alcatraz, and other penal institutions, have security . . . the COMPLETE KIND . . . where the government provides all the food, clothing, shelter and medical services . . . but it's at the price of freedom.

In some other countries the people have security, too . . . but they have no freedom of speech, no freedom of action, no personal liberties, no personal rights, and no opportunities. Secret police, prisons and concentration camps are provided to enforce such a brand of security and to prohibit personal freedom. That's a terribly stiff price to pay for security.

Most of us don't want the synthetic brand of security we are being offered. If we knew its cost in dollars and in the sacrifice of personal freedom, we would not accept it. Many of us are being misled into believing that we can get security . . . the government kind . . . without cost . . . that we can get something for nothing. We are being duped into trading our priceless heritage of freedom for economic slavery.

It's time to decide how much of this government security we want . . . how much of our freedom we're willing to trade for it . . . for we can't have both government security and personal freedom at the same time.

Yes, it's time to get scared . . . time to open our eyes to what is happening in our country . . . time to realize that the answer to our problem is not more Government—but more individual initiative, more production of goods and services. It's time we stop looking to Government for security while we still have the freedom to do so. It's time to realize that FREEDOM NEEDS A SOAP BOX, TOO!

Skillful Teaching Of Reading Wipes Out Frustrating Problems For 200 Children

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—(AP)—This year 200 boys and girls each received an estimated 60 better years of life.

Frustration, disappointment, discouragement and even tragedy were considered to be rubbed off their slate. And it was all because they had undergone 60 hours of skillful teaching in remedial reading at Rutgers University's Psychological Clinic.

Says Dr. Anna S. Starr, eminent psychologist and chairman of the department: "We are fast discovering the importance of reading to successful personality growth. Some psychologists are going so far as to say that failure to read is a strong contributing factor not only to childhood problems but actual delinquency. Reading is the first skillful activity the child is called upon to master by himself. If he cannot keep up with his group, he feels that he is a failure and patterns of maladjustment begin."

Hundreds Examined

In examing hundreds of children. Dr. Starr has found the causes for failure to read are almost as numerous as the children themselves. Sometimes the reasons lie in blockings due to family disharmonies and fears. Sometimes they lie in visual difficulties. Again, the child may be sent to school before he is ready to learn to read, or overcrowded classes may not permit time to diagnose his reading habits. Sometimes, the practice of administering true and false examinations leads to less ability to read and write.

One boy, for example, was told by an older playmate that no two words were alike. The logically-minded lad then reasoned that if this were so, there were too many words to learn, so why bother.

One child was found to have a deep-seated fear of the color black. She rapidly learned to read words printed in other colors. Then the girl was painstakingly convinced of the superior advantages of black for printing. She overcame the fear and her reading ability raced ahead.

With Guidance Program

Because so many factors are behind a child's inability to read, Dr. Starr insists remedial reading classes should be conducted in conjunction with a psychological clinic or child guidance program.

"We emphasize that remedial reading should be therapeutic to have greatest values," she says. "Often as much time is required to get at the seat of a child's blocking and to formulate a program of treatment as is required for the actual reading classes."

The clinic has helped more than 1,000 adults annually, as well. There was, says Dr. Starr, the case of an ex-GI. Before the war, he was considered an intelligent worker in a warehouse, but everytime he had a chance to advance in jobs involving paper work, he failed.

"One day, after he had started working with us," says Dr. Starr, "he stood, gazing out of a window, muttering to himself: 'ballfield.' He grinned and exclaimed, 'Why, that means ballfield! It's been there all the time and I didn't know it!'"

New World Opened

A new world had opened up for him. He was beginning to understand the meaning of letters and words. Dr. Starr is confident that in time he will learn to read and write well.

There is no magic in the success achieved by the clinic. It is all a matter of hard work. In reading cases, testing is the first step—and often takes longer than treatment, says Dr. Starr. A child is studied as he works out block puzzles, peg boards and other intelligence and personality measurements.

Eyes are carefully checked and where found wanting, referred for corrective measures. Lack of available energy or low persistence of effort may indicate a physical condition which needs the attention of a physician.

Many methods are used in the remedial teaching. Youngsters are grouped according to age and ability but no more than five make up a class.

May-Flies Create Traffic Hazard In Middle West

AP Newsfeatures

DES MOINES—The only good thing you can say about May-Flies (or Lake-Flies, Shad-Flies, Mormon-flies, or whatever they call them in your community), is that they make good fish bait.

To people living in towns near lakes and rivers in Iowa, particularly the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, where the bugs have been especially pesky this year, they're just darned pests.

Entomologists are still studying the insects but they haven't many answers yet. They know the flies can be counted upon periodically to swarm around the lights for a night, and then to drop dead in the streets and on the sidewalks They black out windshields on cars and make the paving slippery underfoot. The dead insects create an offensive odor.

Are Traffic Hazards

They can treate traffic hazards. Burlington, Iowa, found it necessary to close a vehicle and train bridge recently when the insects' bodies made traction impossible. Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha have had the same experience.

Muscatine, Davenport and Dubuque along Iowa's Mississippi river border, have found it necessary this Summer to send out crews with brooms and trucks after particularly bad invasions.

Old fishermen will tell you a good run of fish can be expected coincident with an invasion of flies and that they can be used for bait.

Life Cycle Short

The life cycle of the fly is comparatively short. An adult fly, after laying its eggs in a quiet stretch of the river, flies off to some atractive lamp post or neon light, there to flutter for a night and to die.

The egg, however, hatches into a worm-like, aquatic nymph with as many as seven breathing gills on its abdomen and sides, a single claw and a hair-like tail.

Buttermilk has approximately the same food value as skim milk.

Home Wave Requires Strict Attention To Maker's Rules

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The big question for a novice who gives herself a permanent from a home kit is—will the few dollars spent buy a really good wave or just a boxful of trouble?

The answer from girls who've given themselves satisfactory permanents over and over again is—it depends! It depends upon how well you read directions and follow them; upon how careful you are of precautions, and upon the condition of your hair. If all goes perfectly, a good home job will give you a soft wave that lasts about three months.

All home-wave kits have, besides a "waving solution," curlers and neutralizer, a full set of instructions. These instructions must be followed to the letter with no intuitive "improvements" allowed. The timing of a home permanent differs slightly with different types. Remember each manufacturer knows his solution, so mind his warnings.

Ordinarily the entire process takes between one and two hours from the time that all the curls are bound up. Bleached hair gets done fastest, fine hair takes the longest. A test-curl for safety's sake is a good idea in general and in particular if your hair has been dyed, bleached or tinted.

You know how handy you are. If you've never been able to even set hair at the back of your head, ring in a friend to help. Before you start, examine scalp, neck, hands, hairline and forehead. If there are any abrasions or irritations, postpone the permanent temporarily. The manufacturers warn that the lotions are potent stuff and they will irritate a skin opening. Besides it will hurt!

Southern Operators Of Coal Mines Face Lewis Strike Threat

BLUEFIELD, W. VA.—(AP)—Southern coal operators were faced Wednesday with 'ohn L. Lewis' pay-up-or-else demand for miner welfare fund royalties,

Mine owners saw in the demand a threat of a possible quick strike in Southern mines, perhaps in the entire industry, but none was certain what Lewis' next move would be.

The National Coal Association in Washington called Lewis' action a "direct threat" of a strike.

Lewis got what appeared to be a preliminary "No" answer to his pay up demand. A leader of the Southern operators told him they were "not in default on any obligation."

Virtual Ultimatum

Presumably Lewis wanted a definite reply by the time the operators and United Mine Workers representatives sat down here Wednesday afternoon, for another round of contract talks.

The UMW chief virtually threatened to call a strike against the Southern owners who have been withholding the 20-cents-per ton welfare payments on all coal dug.

"Will you or 'ill you not remit?" he wrote.

Lewis said a continuation of the "default" may lead to "reactions deterrent to the constructive progress of the industry." To observers, that meant a strike threat.

He said his country would notify the United Nations of its plan of action at the coming UN General Assembly. The source, a ranking delegate to the assembly, said Greece had decided on this action to put an end to the guerrilla threat on the Greek-Albanian border.

The delegate said the General Assembly would be told Greece will invoke Article 51 of the UN Charter if there are any future guerrilla attacks from the Albanian side. The article sustains the right of self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a UN member.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Gingerbread Man

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was telling the story of the Gingerbread Man. Mugwump Monkey was listening, and so was the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf. They were there at the Huffen's hollow tree house, far away in the Great Forest.

"Yes," Daddy Ringtail said, "the Gingerbread Man ran away from the little old woman and the little old man. He ran away from everybody, and on and on until he met the fox."

"I know! I know!" said Mugwump, and he shouted the words for the Gingerbread man to say to the fox. Said he: "I've run away from a whole lot of people, and I can run away from you, I can, I can!"

Said the Huffen, playing like he was the clever fox in the story: "See heah, little Gingerbread Man, whatever in all the forest made you think I would want to eat you?

"Everyone else was wanting to eat me," said Mugwump in a voice of a Gingerbread Man.

Everyone laughed to hear him. Why, it was such fun to play-like the story of the Gingerbread Man that they decided to "play-like" it all the way to the end.

The Huffen chuckled to think about it. Said he: "I know, I do, how the story comes to an end. My wicked teeth go 'Snip! Snip, Snip!' and that is the end of the Gingerbread Man!"

Saying these words, the Huffen jumped at Mugwump to show how the fox in the story had eaten the Gingerbread Man.

"Oooooooh!" said Mugwump, and out the door he ran.

"Snip! Snap! Snip!" said the Huffen's teeth, and away he ran after Mugwump, trying to get a bite of Gingerbread Man.

"Huffen Puffen!" Daddy Ringtail shouted. "That is Mugwump you are after! Mugwump is not a Gingenbread Man!"

The Huffen stopped his snipping and snapping. He stopped his chasing of Mugwump. He said he was sorry, he was, to have forgotten that the story was only play-like. He promised never to do it again, he hoped.

I hope it too, for play-like games can be too rough, and the trouble comes when people forget that play is play and only for fun. But a happy day at your house.

West Texas Oil & Gas Log

lime of the Pennsylvanian in the Doss field of Southwest Gaines County, 10 miles southwest of Seminole.

That venture, located 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 4, block A-24, psl survey, developed 3,000 feet of clean, 44.6 gravity oil, and 450 feet of heavily mud cut oil, during a two hour drillstem test in the Canyon at 8,874-8,925 feet.

Gas showed at the surface in 15 minutes after the tool was opened. The volume was estimated at the rate of 25,000 cubic feet per day.

No water was developed from the drillstem test. The project has now drilled to 8,948 feet and will test the bottom section at 8,925-48 feet, and then complete and put on production.

Sinclair Finals Two Shafter Lake Wells

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company has completed two new producers from the Ellenburger in the Shafter Lake field of North-Central Andrews County.

The company's No. 9-154 University made an initial daily production of 1,448.60 barrels of 41.4-gravity oil through open tubing, with no formation water.

Gas-oil ratio of the oil was 260-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 85 pounds.

The production was through perforations in the 7-inch casing from 11,660-11,750 feet, after that zone had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Total depth of the exploration was 11,815 feet in the Ellenburger.

Production Through Perforations

This new source of oil is 555 feet from west and 765 feet from south lines of the northeast quarter of section 24, block 13, University survey.

Sinclair also completed its No. 4-153 University in the same area, for a daily production of 856.36 barrels of 41.8-gravity oil through open tubing. There was no formation water.

Gas-oil ratio of the new petroleum was 259-1.

The production was through perforations in the casing between 11,650-795 feet. Total depth of the venture was 11,824 feet. The pay section was treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

The well is 765 feet from north and 555 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 13, block 13, University survey.

Lion Completes New SW Scurry Oil Well

Lion Oil Company has completed a new flowing producer from the Canyon lime on the northeast side of the Diamond M field in Southwest Scurry County. The same company has staked location for immediate drilling of a one-location stepout from the nearest oil well on the southeast side of the same field.

The new oil well is Lion's No. 15 C. T. McLaughlin. It is located 660 feet from west and south lines of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey.

On a 24-hour potential test it flowed 498 barrels of 43.6 gravity oil through a 16/64th inch tubing choke. It made no water. Gas-oil ratio was 861-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 625 pounds. Flowing casing pressure was 100 pounds.

New Project Set

The production came from perforated section in the Canyon lime between the top of the pay at 6,664 feet and the total depth at 6,791 feet. The 7-inch oil string was cemented on bottom. The pay section had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid prior to the completion test.

The new project on the southeast side of the Diamond M field is to be Lion No. 1 Clarence (McLaughlin). It is 1,511.64 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of section 183, block 97, H&TC survey.

Drilling to 6,800 feet to explore the Canyon lime will start immediately, using rotary tools.

North Snyder Gains To More Ventures

Standard Oil Company of Texas has completed its No. 2-5 Brown on the north side of the North Snyder field in North Central Scurry County. Standard also staked two new locations on the north side of that field to try for production from the Canyon lime.

No. 2-5 Brown flowed through a one-half inch tubing choke and rated a daily potential of 1,550 barrels of oil. Flowing casing pressure was 500 pounds and the flowing tubing pressure was 700 pounds.

Production was from pay in the Canyon lime above the plug back total depth of 6,895 feet.

It drilled to 8,146 feet in the Ellenburger, but that zone showed no signs of production.

To Explore Canyon

The new well is 467 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

Standard No. 9-3 Brown is to be a 6,900-foot exploration on the north side of the North Snyder field.

It will be 2,173 feet from north and 600 feet from west lines of the south half of section 449, block 97, H&TC survey, and ten miles north of Snyder.

Drilling with rotary tools will get underway soon.

The same company will start drilling soon on its No. 10-1 J. W. Brown, 1,980 feet from north and 1,880 feet from east lines of section 450, block 97, H&TC survey.

It will drill to 6,900 feet with rotary tools. The drillsite will be 11 miles north of Snyder.

Dual Completion At Upton Exploration

Shell Oil Company and Hunt Oil Company No. 1-C Gordon, has been completed as a producer from both the Fusselman section of the Silurian and also from the Ellenburger in the Benedum field of Central-East Upton County.

The new dual producer is 659 feet from north and 763 feet from west lines of the north half of the northeast quarter of section 47, block Y, TCRR survey.

It drilled to a total depth of 11,545 feet in the Ellenburger. A string of 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 11,509 feet. Top of the Ellenburger pay was 11,408 feet.

That zone was completed for a flow of 541 barrels of 58 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 4,260-1, and no water, in 16 hours.

The Fusselman section at 11,050-130 feet made a flow of 513 barrels of 59.8 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 7,025-1, through perforations in the casing, in 19 hours, on the potential test.

The well is now on production.

City Council Considers Petitions, New Additions

The consideration of petitions, numerous plats of subdivisions, new addition problems and other matters of multiple scope occupied the time of City Council members at their meeting Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. The regular session opened at 8 p.m. Tuesday and adjourned at 1:05 a.m. Wednesday.

Two petitions, one signed by numerous property owners residing in the vicinity of Ohio Street and the other signed by persons residing on Ohio Street, were read. The petitions asked relief from flood conditions on Ohio Street during and following rains, particularly for the benefit of pedestrians. A letter on the subject also was read.

One of the petitions referred to Ohio Street as "Ohio River."

The council ordered the petitions held for further study. They also ordered the grading of an unpaved segment on East Ohio Street east to the drainage ditch in an effort to remedy the situation.

Other Streets Flooded

Councilmen pointed out that other streets also ran full of water during and following recent rains. The inverted crown paving on Ohio Street prevented the flooding of lawns and houses in some cases, they said.

The laying of water and sewer lines to serve outlying dwellings and proposed dwellings in the Crestlawn and Ridglea Additions was ordered. Floyd Boles appeared before the council concerning the matter.

Street widths in the new South Park Addition were reduced from 40 feet to 37 feet for paving. Frank Spalding spoke in behalf of the proposal. He was accompanied by Harlan Howell and Jack Spry.

The council ordered the advertising for bids on the laying of six blocks of water and sewer lines in Loma Linda Addition, the project to be financed by the developer, Frank True.

Plats Approved

An ordinance approving the resubdivision of Blocks 43 and 44, Cowden Addition, was adopted as an emergency measure. Also adopted as an emergency measure was an ordinance approving subdivision of the Greenwood Addition in East Midland.

A plat showing the subdivision of Tract 12, Gardens Addition, was approved subject to alley dedications. A Block G, Gardens Addition, plat also was approved.

Withheld for further study were subdivision plats of Block 3 and south-half of Block 4, East Front Addition and Blocks 26 and 27, Gardens Addition. Action on the subdivision of the Spaulding Tract was withheld pending the widening of Main Street.

A subdivision plat of a part of Section 36, Block 39, T-1-S, east of the city, was approved in preliminary form.

A request for a change in restrictions in the Barberdale Addition was referred to the Zoning Commission for study.

Payment of $650 to C. A. Stroud for the annual audit of the city's books and accounts was authorized.

Trial Of Atlanta Judge Unfolds Tale Of Sex And Violence

ATLANTA—(AP)—A tale of sex and violence—with sidelights reaching into New York and Florida—is unfolding in the trial of an Atlanta judge on charges of attempted murder.

The case pits Judge Robert Carpenter against his estranged wife, Mrs. Helen Carpenter, and his one-time friend and business associate, Attorney John Lockwood.

Carpenter, a Fulton County (Atlanta) civil court judge, is charged with attempting to murder Lockwood after a pre-dawn automobile chase July 27. The attorney was wounded in the face.

When the trial opened Tuesday, Assistant Solicitor General Ogden Doremus told the court:

"We will prove that Judge Carpenter made an assault with intent to murder upon Mr. Lockwood."

"All The Women He Wanted"

Lockwood was the first prosecution witness. He said Carpenter once told him he wanted to get rid of his wife so he could "have all the women he wanted."

Three years ago, he added, he saw the judge and a woman together in a room at the Governor Clinton Hotel in New York. Lockwood said the woman "did not have anything on but a blanket."

Defense Attorney Ellis Barrett subsequently questioned Lockwood closely on his relations with Carpenter's wife, who had sued the judge for divorce prior to the shooting. Mrs. Carpenter also had filed a $100,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Estelle Manful, who was named in the divorce suit.

Lockwood testified that Mrs. Manful was a guest in the Imperial Hotel, which the Carpenters owned, and that he often saw her and the judge together in the hotel.

Youngster Unable To Find Way Home; Given Assist Here

Sheriff's officers Wednesday were attempting to guide a Latin American boy back to his home somewhere near Midland.

The lad, about 10 years old, said he went swimming in Blalock Lake Tuesday and got his directions mixed on starting home.

He made it to the highway and was brought into Midland by a motorist.

The boy doesn't speak English so he was taken to a Latin American here who still was unable to get an accurate description of where the youth lives, except that it is on a ranch where there are three barracks for workers and their families.

Sheriff Ed Darnell recalled a ranch near here which has barracks for the workers and a deputy was to take the boy there Wednesday afternoon.

Conservation Paper Read At Club Meet

Dr. Ross Maxwell, superintendent of the Big Bend National Park, read a paper on "Conservation" at the Lions Club luncheon Wednesday in the Scharbauer Hotel.

He read that "National resources are not inexhaustable and thus we have conservation." He gave examples of the train of consequences which have necessitated conservation. He listed examples of destruction, exhaustation and depletion of national resources. He said war was a drain on national resources.

Goodrich Heji was program chairman and introduced Maxwell. Roy Minear presided at the luncheon.

In cooperation with the Midland DAR chapter and in observance of National Constitution Week, Ernest Sidwell quoted the preamble of the American constitution.

Sex Maniac Sought In Attack On Girl

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A sex maniac was sought Wednesday for a vicious attack on a four-year-old girl in a rooming house two blocks from Police Court. Twenty men were rounded up for questioning.

The girl, bruised and cut, was found Tuesday night lying in the second floor hallway of the rooming house where she lived with her mother.

Late October Date Forecast For Ending Of Congress Session

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A late October adjournment of Congress was predicted Wednesday by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader.

Barring the raising of new issues by President Truman, Democratic leaders meanwhile mapped a program that might bring the Senate abreast of its 1949 work in six weeks.

The House, in recess until September 21, has completed most major legislation and seems willing to call it a legislative day as soon as the Senate can catch up.

Wherry told a reporter that so far as he is concerned the Republicans are willing to help end the session as quickly as possible. He predicted it would be shortly before November 1.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, has been blaming the Republicans for delaying important bills.

After a Democratic policy meeting Tuesday, Lucas outlined a list of measures on which he said action will be sought before Congress quits.

Oleo Tax Repeal Shelved

The list put the Administration's $1,314,000,000 foreign arms bill up next, after the Senate completes action on the pending, House-approved reciprocal trade agreements measure.

"There's not a thing on Lucas' list that couldn't go over until next January, and that includes the arms bill," Wherry said. "But we are willing to cooperate to expedite action on the measures he has listed."

Lucas got rid, for the time being, of a threatened filibuster when the policy group agreed to delay action until January on a House-approved bill to repeal the taxes on oleomargarine. Butter state senators have threatened to talk a long time about that measure.

Texas Near All-Time Polio Case Record

AUSTIN —(AP)— Sixty-five new cases of polio last week brought Texas within 16 cases of another record high polio year.

The State Health Department reported that the new incidence in 27 counties brings the year's total to 1,749 cases. That is 383 cases more than were reported for the comparable period a year ago—the worst polio year in Texas history. There were 1,765 cases during that entire year.

Last week's incidence was two cases higher than during the previous week. The slight increase was not regarded as significant.

"I am gratified to see the weekly case report remaining fairly constant," State Health Officer George W. Cox said. "It might indicate the lid has finally been slammed shut on this pandora's box."

Tarrant County, third hardest hit area in the state, reported 16 new cases last week, bringing the total for the county to 136 this year.

Tom Green County reported eight new cases. San Angelo in that county, Dr. Cox said, has had the most serious outbreak of polio in the United States this year.

UN's Control Plan For Palestine Seems Headed For Trouble

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— The new UN proposal for international control of Jerusalem appeared Wednesday to be headed for trouble.

The plan was submitted Tuesday for consideration in the 59-nation General Assembly by the Palestine Conciliation Commission as a basis for peace in the Holy City.

UN delegates were reluctant to comment on the plan until they had time to study it more, but informed quarters said bitter opposition may be expected at least from the Israeli government.

The commission's blueprint would preserve the Arab and Jewish sectors of the Holy City and provide a measure of self-rule for each, but would give the supreme authority to a UN commission named by the General Assembly.

Sources familiar with Israeli policy pointed out that Israel already had told the UN she could accept no plan which recognized an internation regime as supreme in the Holy City.

FBI Plan To Curb Subversives Resumed

DALLAS —(AP)— The Federal Bureau of Investigation has put back into operation its wartime machinery to combat subversive activities, the agency's assistant director said Wednesday.

Hugh H. Clegg, assistant FBI director, addressed a sectional meeting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Clegg said: "This was the resumption of a plan put into operation by a presidential order on Sept. 6, 1939. The plan was dropped immediately after the end of hostilities in 1945."

Clegg declined to say why the anti-subversive machinery is being put back to work.

GOP Spokesmen Hail Pennsylvania Vote As Truman Rebuke

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republicans crowed Wednesday that a "GOP victory in a Pennsylvania congressional race was a singing rebuke" to President Truman's domestic policies.

Hailing the triumph of Republican John P. Saylor over Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, Democrat, in special election in the 26th Pennsylvania District Tuesday, GOP leaders showed clearly they think they have found a major issue for their 1950 efforts to regain control of Congress.

Guy George Gabrielson, national Republican chairman, put it this way in a statement:

"The election of the Republican candidate x x x constitutes a stinging rebuke to the Truman Administration effort to lead this nation down the road to statism."

Taft-Hartley Issue

Saylor defeated Mrs. Coffey handily in a race that was pitched primarily on Republican attacks on—and Democratic defense of—President Truman's domestic legislative proposals.

Like the President, Mrs. Coffey called for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. Like Senator Taft (R-Ohio), Saylor said some changes in the act were necessary.

Although Democrats too had regarded the special election in advance as a test of Truman's policies, they generally discounted the long-range effect of the outcome. They said vigorous campaigning by Saylor, which Mrs. Coffey couldn't match, had a lot to do with the results.

Forgetful Judge Delays Hearing On T&P Injunction

DALLAS —(AP)— An injunction suit against the Interstate Commerce Commission has been rescheduled for November 11 because a federal judge forgot to show up Tuesday.

The suit was filed by the Texas & Pacific Transport Company. A temporary order was issued to keep the ICC from "enforcing a ruling that the company must limit its business to points along the T&P Railroad. The T&P wants the restraining order made permanent.

A special three-judge federal court was set up to hear arguments Tuesday but only Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas and Judge Edwin R. Holmes of New Orleans appeared. Judge Benjamin C. Dawkins of Monroe, La., was contacted and said he had forgotten about the case.

Harold Webb Paints Town Before League Playoff Gets Going

Manager Harold Webb of the Midland Indians was out painting the town Wednesday morning—even before the Longhorn League playoff here has opened.

He wasn't painting it in a sense of celebration, however.

Sign-painter Webb was applying "Baseball Tonight" signs to the sidewalks, heralding the opening of the pennant playoff Wednesday night.

British Keep Silent On Devaluation

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Silence from the British monetary delegation indicated Wednesday it has no present intention of yielding to pressure for a devaluation of the pound.

Some American officials at the fourth annual meeting of governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund conceded they see no sign that Britain will give ground in the near future.

The fund's annual report Tuesday poured on Britain the heaviest pressure to date—without mentioning either that nation or its currencies by name.

It invited the deficit countries—those like Britain which have a critical dollar shortage—to revalue their currencies if such action will help to increase their exports and their dollar-earning capacity.

Before the same 48-nation forum, Eugene R. Black, president of the World Bank, said he fails to see how devaluation "can be avoided." He later stated this was his personal view.

But after a closed committee discussion of the fund's report, at which Britain was one of the 17 nations participating, Managing Director Camille Gutt told reporters he saw "no indication" that any country had changed its mind.

Polio Emergency Drive Continues

A Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive went into its second day here Wednesday. Bad weather hampered the opening of the drive Tuesday. Nevertheless it began and the all-out effort will be sustained.

Harvey Herd, chairman of the campaign, said, "Workers will continue making contacts Wednesday and longer if necessary."

The return stood near $1,300 at noon Wednesday. Radio station KCRS conducted a request program Tuesday night that netted $92.50 for the fund. Pledges called into the station ranged from $1 to $10.

Contributions may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office, with Jack Wicker at the Midland National Bank and J. T. Baker at the First National Bank.

Also citizens may mail contributions to "POLIO," care of the Post Office.

The purpose of the drive is to replenish epidemic aid funds of the National Foundation, which has exhausted its resources in fighting the worst wave of polio ever faced.

Widow Invites Veep To Birthday Party

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley doesn't want to interfere with affairs of state but she does hope Vice President Barkley can attend her thirty-eighth birthday celebration here September 23.

She said so Wednesday—and then laughingly declined to say whether it will be the scene of an engagement announcement.

Barkley said in Washington he plans to be on hand if it's at all possible. He has visited the attractive widow here several times.

Kermit Visitor From Ohio Dies Tuesday

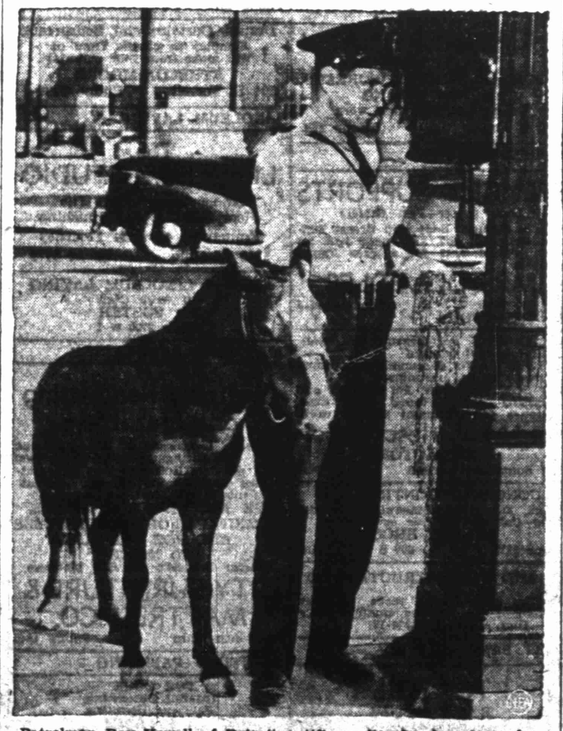

KERMIT — Mrs. Florence Hall, 59, died of a heart attack in a Kermit hospital Tuesday. She has been here less than a week visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tate.

Mrs. Hall came to Kermit with her son-in-law when he returned from Warren, Ohio, where he attended funeral services for his mother.

The body is being sent to Niles, Ohio for services. Interment will be at Ineview, Ohio.

Survivors include four daughters and three sons.

Betty O'Neal Wins Farm Bureau Queen Title At Valley View

Betty O'Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. O'Neal of the Cotton Flat Community, was selected as Farm Bureau Queen at a meeting held Tuesday night in Valley View School. The contest was sponsored by the Midland County Farm Bureau.

Miss O'Neal, a member of the Junior class in Midland High School, will represent the county Farm Bureau in a district beauty contest Thursday at Big Spring. Winner of the district event will compete in the state Farm Bureau contest.

Other girls who competed for the queen's crown Tuesday night were Rita Livingston, Martha Campbell, Anna Beth Graham, Nada Bramlett, Anna Lee Brooks and Daisy Ann Merritt.

Musical Program

A musical program also was held, featuring a vocal trio composed of Nellivee Clark, Verla Lee Goins and Anna Joyce Streeter.

The queen judging was on the basis of personality, general appearance and poise.

Approximately 200 persons were present.

All contestants in the beauty contest were presented a gift by the Farm Bureau.

C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma, a state director of the bureau, addressed the group, telling of requirements of securing braceros for farm labor.

Whitis said work on the project will be started promptly and is scheduled for completion before Winter. He assured Midland an adequate supply of gas during the cold months.

City Manager H. A. Thomason said the company's plan will not interfere with the operation of the Wadley tract or the airport. The gas company representative said the grounds around the compressor station will be beautified.

The council approved the sale of the compressor station site and the granting of right-of-way easements for a total cost of $750. The sale of the property includes only the surface rights.

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★

Century Has Seen Decrease Of Common Contagious Diseases

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The most common contagious diseases of childhood are chickenpox, measles, mumps, and whooping cough. Scarlet fever is less frequent and diphtheria has become comparatively rare. Mumps may be more serious in grownups than in children; whooping cough particularly is dangerous to elderly people and infants.

Because regulations vary in different communities, it is only possible to mention customary isolation periods here. For measles it is about 10 days or until the rash has disappeared; for mumps, until the swelling at the sides of the jaws has gone down, which usually takes about eight days; in chickenpox isolation is usually about two weeks or until the skin has become free of crusting. There is some reason to believe that this even is longer than necessary. For whooping cough isolation should be about three weeks after the beginning of the stage of paroxysmal coughing.

Second Attacks Rare

Another question which frequently is asked concerns the likelihood of second attacks of these contagious diseases. Second attacks of chickenpox and measles are quite rare, although they sometimes occur. Whooping cough can strike more than once, although this also is unusual. Mumps can develop in the parotid gland on one side and later on it can occur on the other. Mumps rarely produce serious complications in youngsters but in grown men it can cause sterility. This seems to be the only reason for considering mumps in the young more desirable than in later years.

The whole subject of contagious diseases is a complicated one but there has been an enormous decrease in most of them during this century. Even today, however, measles and whooping cough, for example, cause more deaths in an average year than does polio.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

QUESTION: If a cyst in the breast is not serious why would it have to be cut out?

ANSWER: It is often difficult to tell certainly whether a tumor of the breast is a cyst or something more serious unless it is cut out and a part of it examined under the microscope. This is the reason that an operation for this condition usually is recommended.

The prehistoric wooly elephant didn't develop its woolly coat until the coming of an Ice Age gave him a need for it.

Violently Dejobbed, Childrenized Gent Asks Rejobulation

LONDON—(AP)—A British Colonial Office of Nigera reported receiving the following plaintive plea from a West African who unexpectedly found himself "disemployed."

"Dear Sir—On opening this epistle you will behold the work of a dejobbed person and a very bewildered and much childrenized gentleman, who was violently dejobbed in a twinkling by your good self.

"For heaven's sake, sir, consider this catastrophe as falling on your own head, and remind yourself on walking home at the moon's end to five savage wives and 16 voracious children with your pocket filled with non-existent pounds, shillings and pence and a solitary six-pence; pity my horrible state.

No Lazy Atoms

"As to the reason given by yourself esquire for my dejobment the incrimination was laziness. No sir. It were impossible that myself who pitched 16 children into this vale of tears can have a lazy atom in his mortal frame, and a sudden departure of 11 pounds has left me on the verge of destitution and despair.

"I hope this vision of horror will enrich your dreams this night and the good angel will melt and pulverize your ho rt of nether milestone so that you will awaken with such alacrity to rejobulate your servant. So mote it be, amen."

Officials in London did not know whether the native was reassociated with his job.

New Well Device May Reduce Costly Tube Pulling Jobs

HUNTINGTON PARK, CALIF. (AP)—A new oil well device that constantly revolves the long tubing through which oil is pumped to the surface is being used in the Los Angeles Basin fields.

The object is to cut down wear of the tubing from the constant up and down action of the rod inside it which operates the pump at the bottom of the hole.

The method is the brain-child of David Cormany, Long Beach, Calif., designing engineer who is general manager of an oil tool company here. He says that by turning the long tubing slowly and constantly the wear can be distributed and the costly business of shutting down production for "pulling jobs" because of split tubing is cut to a minimum.

Cormany explained that few if any oil wells are straight holes and that as a result the sucker rod and its couplings are a major source of tubing wear. The designer explained that a device is installed at the head of the well which, by a system of gears, turns the tubing just one-thousandth of an inch for each stroke of the sucker rod.

Contested Amendment To Appear On Ballot, Rules District Judge

AUSTIN—(AP)—A court skirmish over whether the proposed legislators annual-pay, annual-sessions constitutional amendment should be placed on the November 8 ballot ended Tuesday in the state's favor.

The amendment will be on the ballot.

On the motion of First Assistant Attorney General Joe Greenhill, District Judge Jack Roberts entered judgment denying a temporary injunction to keep the proposal off the ballot.

The action was routine. The plaintiffs, three Dallas county residents, had withdrawn their suit Monday, Judge Roberts reported.

Rattlesnake Fails To Flurry Baptists

HILLSBORO — (AP) — Howard Butt, evangelist - businessman of Waco, stopped in the middle of his sermon during a Baptist meeting at Latham Springs Encampment, near here.

"What's that noise?" he asked.

"I think it's a rattlesnake," a worshipper replied.

It was, and it was under the platform. A caretaker shot the reptile and dragged the snake out from under the platform.

During the excitement, 300 Baylor University students in the audience kept their seats and sang: "Love Lifted Me."
