ELMER, ELDON and JANIE McCLURG

McClurgs Move To Tulia

Elmer, Eldon and Janie McClurg were honored with a farewell party Monday night at the Borden High School Cafeteria. The McClurg family moved to Borden County, from Tulia, Texas ten years ago, and leased the Bob Beal ranch.

They quickly became a part of Borden County and were loved by many.

The serving table was decorated with red bandana cloth. Using the western theme, an old coffee pot & coffee mugs from the chuck wagon on Rocker Ranch were used. Cookies were served from cast iron skillets and punch ladeled from an old crock pot. In keeping with the theme for the occasion a sculptured cowboy dragging his saddle was the center piece.

Elmer has been the Superintendent of the calves at the Borden County calf show for the past six years. He and Eldon have spent many hours trimming and clipping the calves for the young people of Borden County. We, of Borden County, will truly miss the McClurg Family. Our loss will be Tulia's gain. They will be moving back to Tulia Tuesday, Oct. 17th. We will miss you Elmer, Eldon and Janie but we won't forget you. We hope you will always call "Borden County" you'r second home.

Hostessing the party were:
Mardes and Magdalene Clayton
Rich and Barbara Anderson
Scotty and Inez Clayton
Billy and Dotty Wills
Jim and Joyce Smith
Rusty and Eunice Yadon
Bill and Mary John Phinizy
Beno and Donna Hendricks

Local Women Attend Convention

Dorothy Dennis and Modesta Stokes each had a rating of "excellent" for their work exhibited during the American Needlepoint Guild National Convention.

The convention was held in Santa Fe Oct. 3-8 with the New Mexico Needlepoint Guild serving as hosts for the five-day Fiesto Del Ontono.

Needle artists from throughout the U.S. as well as Mexico and England participated in the classes and lectures in the art of canvas embroidery. Moderta's and Dorothy's entries were among more than 200 pieces of needlepoint entered in the various categories judged.

Maggie Best, Doris Beaver, both of Snyder, Nancy Dennis, Houston, and Barbara Anderton. The six ladies drove to the Escandido Ranch in New Mexico where they were guests of the Rich Andersons on Monday Oct. 2. Driving on to Santa Fe Oct. 3 they were registered and began classes on Oct. 4th.

Eleven classes in different needlepoint expressions were offered. Instructors were all of international acclaim in the field of needlepoint instruction.

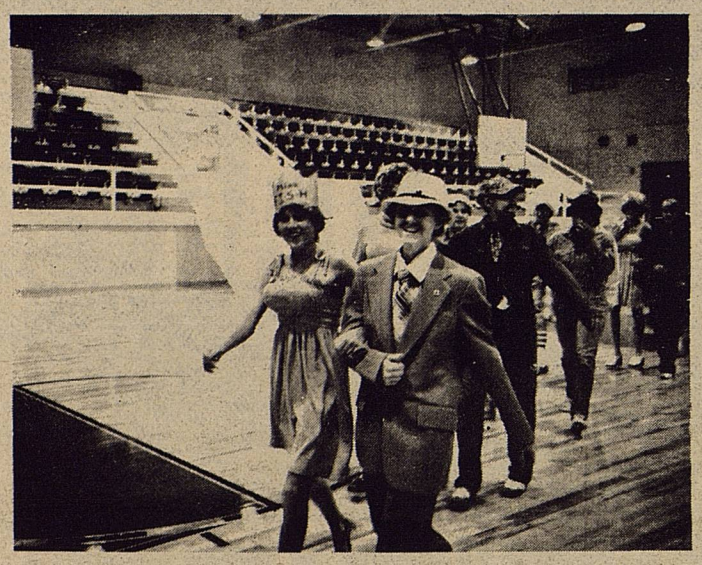

The group traveling from Borden County gained a workable knowledge of 8 of the 11 courses. Perhaps the most exciting is the revolutuinary new ribbon point. This new medium was taught by Patricia Mabry of Alabama who invented and has a patent of the art. Ribbon point is ideal for needle workers with limited time. "The results develope more quickly and the texture and beauty of the ribbon is exciting" quoted Barbara Anderson who was enrolled in the course. Other classes attended were: "Southwest Gardens" by Chottie Anderson, Creole Lace Margie Farris, Nita point Phase 1&2, Nita Grace, Silk and Metal Threads, Ann Elizabeth Jameson, "One Got Away," Jane Ofstrom, Curved Lines and Shading, Audrey Sargeant, and Canvas Painting and Design, Nancy Watts.

Mrs. Dennis, who owns and operates The Needle Point in Snyder plans to carry, in time, canvas and threads needed for each of the new arts. However until she has sufficient demand to stock it she will be able to special order at any time. Dorothy also mentioned that she hopes to have enough interest to warrant inviting one or more of the instructors she met to come to her shop in Snyder to give lessons.

Homecoming To Be October 20

All friends and neighbors are invited to attend Homecoming activities at Borden High School this Friday, October 20.

The festivities will began at 4 p.m. with the bonfire and pep rally. This is an exciting activity for the high school students. They have been gathering wood for several weeks, trying to win the plaque at the pep rally for the largest contribution to the bonfire. Some of them have had their eye on a certain outhouse, shed or pile of lumber for years, waiting for the time to come when it will become part of the bonfire.

The chili supper, sponsored by the Borden Booster Club, will began at 4:30 p.m. Chili eaters can enjoy some of the best chili in the state of Texas---cooked by the well-known Mr. Nachlinger of North. The chili will be served with crackers, homemade pie, ice tea and coffee for $2.00 for adults. Children age 6 and under may eat for $1.00 Serving will continue until 7:30 p.m.....game time.

The Borden Coyotes will meet Loraine for the Homecoming game. The Coyotes have not won a game yet, so they want to beat Loraine BAD. Come see the game, support the Coyotes and let's make this a Homecoming to remember.

VIVIAN and PAULINE CLARK with FLORENCE WOODARD at Trillium Lake. That is Mt. Hood in the background.

Local Couple Take Trip To Oregon

(Ed note: Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Clark made an extended tour of Oregon this summer and would like to share their experiences with our readers. Here, in Vivians own words, is the account of their trip in two or more installments.)

Our Trip To Oregon June 14.

After double decking half of our little camper, putting a thin mattress, a few quilts, and loading a few suit-cases we headed west.

Ate dinner at Roswell. Only got to Vaughn that evening as we had a little car trouble. A split rim on front wheel.

Next day we went through Encino, Belen, Las Lunas, Grants, and ate dinner at Gallap.

Then through Shiprock, and to Cortez, Colorado where we spent the night.

The third day we got a little way past Salt Lake City.

Saw some interesting places along the way. We went through the "Hole in the Rock," a few miles south of Moab. This is a house carved in the rock on the side of a mountain. Eight rooms I think. Even the tub is carved in the rock! I don't know about the commode ha!

We started down into "Canyon Lands," but didn't go far. Gaton a narrow road up the side of a mountain-Couldn't turn around till we got to the top-then was glad to turn around, and come back down!

The next day, we went over a long stretch of country through Idaho, where it is rather thinly settled. Not many towns.

Every little while we would see a long building covered with dirt. Figured that was where they stored their potatoes.

Stayed in Ontario, Oregon that night.

We spent the next three days in Weiser, Idaho, at the National Fiddlers Contest.

Pauline's cousins, the Clyde Woodards, from Portland met us there.

The contest lasted a week, but we only stayed three days.

I didn't know there were so many fiddlers in the world! They were there from all over the United States and Canada.

They gave away over 6000 dollars in prizes. First prize was $1,000.

They would start playing at eight in the morning and play till five, with an hour off for noon. Then would play two hours that night. Needless to say there were many fine fiddlers there.

What surprised me, was the numbers of young people who were playing. Teenage and under. And there were more girls than boys. A girl from Washington took first place in the teen-age division. A beautiful girl with long black hair!

Janna Joe, the girl who used to play with the Buck Owens band, and is sometimes on Hee Haw, was there. And can she play a fiddle! Weiser is her home-town.

They say, Buck Owens married her then didn't live with her.

Clyde Woodard, and I were looking her over and decided Buck Owens was just crazy as heck!!!

Pauline got acquainted with her-I think they met in the "Powder Room!"

We went home with the Woodards and stayed three weeks.

The first night after leaving Weiser, we camped in a rest area on the banks of the Snake River. It is a pretty clear stream of water. I hear President Carter has been fishing in the "Snake," but we didn't see him. ha!

The Woodards live thirty miles southeast of Portland, in a little village called Wemme or Welches.

The highway follows the Columbia River most of the way.

We stopped at a park in the Blue Mountains, where I got several blocks of spruce wood to use in fiddle making.

Jere's Jottings

On Our Way--You just don't know how progressive The Borden Star has become--to have two foreign correspondents on the staff--and both on the same assignment. Bruce and I are traveling together (Mignon and Bus happen to be along too) and who knows, we might have a glass of Perrier with the Premier, tea with the Queen and interview a gnome or two in Zurich.

Now getting off on this assignment was something else. The first hurdle was to get Bus to say he would even go. I've always said he wouldn't go to Europe until they built the road-but lo and behold he agreed enthusiastically. The next hurdle was couching the cost of accomodations so he wouldn't balk before departure. You do that by pre-paying in little batches as much as you can before you leave. Then you really get to thinking you have a free room. "All this talk of exhorbitant prices is hog wash"-he'll say.

Bus isn't much of an eater so I had to stretch his tum-tum a bit in order to condition him. You know, I plan my trips from meal to meal-get up in the morning thinking about where we'll eat that day. I use Gourmet Magazine as my travel guide-the fact that it also includes interesting tidbits of educational value as well as good places to eat is a bonus. But he caught on-he became aware of the increase in the number of eggs at breakfast, the fancy breads, the insistance that he have a rich dessert with a thick sauce. I even offered him tea and cakes in the afternoons. That really didn't set too well-he still preferred his Martinis. But I gradually weaned him-convincing him that cocktails in Europe were terribly expensive (couldn't pre-pay that) and that table wine would be satisfactory. Actually he was still secretly figgering he could economize by cutting the desserts-not the--.

I had to condition myself as well-worked all summer to shrink my tum-tum. I methodically-but painfully-lost enough weight so I could EAT my way thru Europe and still be able to zip my skirt on the return trip. I read that Perrier water was the In drink in Europe. So I hooked myself on that-less calories but I'm not so sure about it being less cheaper! Mignon and I have already made an appointment at the Diet Center-twenty minutes after our plane lands the day we return.

And then came time to pack. Oh lawdy-we have a hard time packing to go to the ranch-but Europe!. Bus prefers to put his dop kit in one side of the suit case, one pair of shoes in the other and carry his clothes over his arm. But after stripping the family of luggage, hé arrived at a satisfactory arrangement. Then there's me to pack. I don't mind putting my clothes in a suitcase-my problem is the size of the grip. I always take too much and stew and fret over a coat-shoes-purse-carry-on bag-wheels on bag-shall I take this?-I need something more-better borrow sister's dress-hate to leave That-better stick it in. It is nigh on impossible for me to remember how little one can get by with. Once I was caught in Rome without my Big, jammed with clothes, bag. But you know, I did just fine-as long as you have a mink stole and clean underwear, you can go anywhere.

You find yourself doing the craziest things at the last minute. Time is running out-you are behing-frantic-so much to do. And you do the dumbest things. Mignon decided to clean under the bed-finally get rid of that box of Racheal's four year old clothes that she meant to clear out for some time (Rachal is 14).

I found myself going thru catalogues and ordering Christmas presents. And I began looking thru National Geographics two nights before we left-the week before I read a novel-six weeks before, I napped and wasted time. Isn't it strange that we don't stay in a constant state of preparedness? Who knows when we'll be caught up in the air--but not aboard Braniff.

BILL CLEMENTS WILL CUT TAXES AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Texas was built by men with the vision to look ahead and the grit to get things done. Bill Clements is the man to keep this tradition alive for the future of Texas.

Bill Clements will bring a strong, fresh and tough approach to our government in Austin. He is a businessman, not a politician.

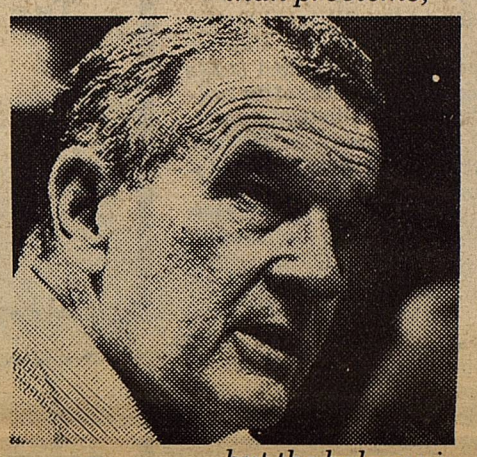

Bill Clements started with nothing and built a successful, worldwide company with hard work and the skill to manage men and money. And now Bill Clements wants to preserve the future of our state and he wants the working people of Texas to have the same opportunities he had.

With his proposed "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," Bill Clements is committed to protecting Texans from excessive taxation and runaway government spending. He is pledged to cutting taxes and returning that money directly to the taxpayers.

As former Chairman of the Southern Methodist University Board of Governors, Bill Clements knows how to make education in Texas the best in the Nation. He's for discipline in the classroom and "back to basics" quality education.

As the son and grandson of farmers, Bill Clements knows the frustrations that an indifferent government can cause people who make their living off the land. He will use the strength of the State Government to fight burdensome Federal restrictions.

"I believe that Texas has always had more promise than problems, but the balance is more delicate each year. We need to get to work now."
