Death Toll In Circus Fire May Reach 200

(By The Associated Press)

HARTFORD, Conn., July 6—The greatest disaster in American circus history, today killed at least 135 persons, with some estimates of the ultimate death toll running as high as 200, in a terrifying burst of flames that enveloped the huge, main tent of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus and brought injury to at least 220 persons.

The fire, discovered near the entrance of the big top a few minutes after a mighty thunder of applause had signaled the close of the opening animal act, turned 6,000 erstwhile festive spectators into a mass of frantic men, women and children, screaming and shouting and fighting to reach the exits.

Children were tossed by fear-stricken parents from lofty seats to the ground beneath, some to escape but many to be caught in the folds of the flaming tent. Their cries rang in the ears of spectators.

Horrible Catastrophe

Men, women and children alike were trapped beneath the canvas as it crashed to the ground in a fiery climax to a catastrophe as "horrible," said Felix Adler, noted clown, as was ever witnessed by and circus performer.

As Governor Raymond E. Baldwin mobilized all of the state's emergency resources, a steady stream of motor vehicles brought the dead, among them many children, to a temporary morgue established in the drill shed of the sprawling state armory. The count there showed 127 dead.

Meanwhile, other cars and ambulances brought scores of injured and burned to city hospitals after first aid treatment at the scene or in nearby drugstores.

Tonight Police Court Prosecutor S. Burr Leikind announced he had issued warrants charging manslaughter against four officers of the circus and said other arrests might be made. The four charged were J. A. Haley, vice president of the circus company; John Brice, circus chief of police; George W. Smith, general manager and Leonard Aylesworth, described as chief canvass man.

First Great Disaster

Hal Oliver, circus press agent, termed the blaze "the first great fire in the whole history of Ringling Brothers Circus," and estimated the damage to circus property at $300,000.

Adler, who has been with the circus for 31 years, said he was in the dressing tent when the first cry of "fire" quickly turned into bedlam.

"We heard a roar, like the applause when one of the big acts comes off," said Adler, "only we knew that the animal act was over and there shouldn't be applause. We knew then that something was wrong. Then we smelled smoke. x x x I thought the menagerie fire in Cleveland (in August 1942 in which three circus employes were injured and more than 40 animals killed) was the worst thing I could ever see, but no one in the circus business has ever seen anything as horrible as this."

The five members of the famous Wallenda high wire troupe ascribed their escape from the in-

SOVIET JUGGERNAUT EXPANDS OFFENSIVE—In an ever-widening and increasingly-powerful offensive, mighty Russian armies are plunging forward as fast as extending supply lines will permit, in four major drives toward Germany, and another in Finland. They are pounding ahead (1) toward Daugavpils, (2) toward Wilno, with a tough battle reported, (3) past Moldeczno on the rail line to Wilno, and (4) in the south, captured Kowel in Thursday's drive. Berlin said Russians had landed on five islands (A) in Narva Bay.

Reds Take Kowel, Lunge Near Wilno

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, July 7—Soviet troops were reported by the Berlin radio early today to be within 10 miles of the Baltic gateway of Wilno (Vilna) and the Russians themselves announced important advances all along the central front now stretching 350 miles north from newly captured Kowel in southern Poland.

The Moscow radio said the Germans in Wilno, big rail center in the northern neck of prewar Poland, were threatened with the same kind of debacle they suffered in the White Russian capital of Minsk.

Nazis Throw In Reserves

All the reserves that the Nazi command could muster were being thrown into the battle, Russian reports said, but according to Moscow the fall of the city was imminent and the Germans were making preparations to evacuate even while waging a desperate delaying fight.

Stalin's special order of the day announcing Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's first White Russian Army had captured Kowel, large German stronghold and communications center 75 miles southeast of Brest Litovsk, followed by more than 24 hours the Germans' own announcement that they had evacuated the city.

Great New Thrust

In a dispatch from Moscow, Associated Press correspondent Eddy Gilmore called the capture of Kowel the commencement of "a great new Red Army thrust in the direction of Pinsk and Brest Litovsk" and the German radio itself said a reason for the withdrawal was to forestall a Russian pincers movement.

More than 550 other places were taken during the day as Soviet troops smashed westward all along the front and the Moscow communique said more than 5,000 Germans were killed as the Russians continued their methodical

Nazis Check Rapid Allied Drive In Italy

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, July 6 (AP) — Counter-attacking German troops, backed by heavy concentrations of artillery, have temporarily halted the progress of American forces up the Italian west coast at a point some 10 miles from the port of Livorno (Leghorn), but the British Eighth Army continued today to hammer out gains near the center of the line on the approaches to Florence.

Doughboys, clinging to approximately half the smoking town of Rosignano, a few miles inland from the coast below Livorno, were reported to have thrown back four furious assaults by the Nazis within 24 hours, inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy.

Tough Going Ahead

It was plain now that the last miles into Livorno would be extremely hard going for Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's men, who were meeting their first sustained resistance since the fall of Rome. The Germans along the coastal sector had plenty of firepower from guns up to 170-millimeter and were laying it on the Americans from commanding heights.

Five miles east of Rosignano there was bitter fighting in the outskirts of Castellina. Casole D'Elsa, 11 miles southeast of Volterra, was firmly in Allied hands after several days of savage fighting through its streets, with Allied tanks probing a mile beyond the town.

Eighth Shows Gains

Eighth Army forces lunging northward from Lake Trasimeno through mud and elaborate German demolitions, won positions within three miles of the important road center of Arezzo, 36 miles southeast of Florence, and in a flanking drive to the west threatened to cut the main highway between Arezzo and Florence.

Italy-based Allied planes flew about 1,200 sorties yesterday, including attacks by heavy bombers on targets in southern France. Ten heavy bombers and another craft were lost and three enemy fighters were destroyed. Last night RAF bombers struck at rail yards at Verona in northern Italy.

Father Convicted Of Murdering His Son

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 6. (AP)—A Berkshire county jury today convicted socially prominent John F. Nixon, jr., of murder in the first degree in the electrocution slaying of his six-months-old mentally deficient son, Lawrence.

Under Massachusetts statutes, death in the electric chair is the mandatory penalty upon conviction of murder in the first degree.

The jury deliberated four hours and 45 minutes.

Train Wreck Toll Is High

JELLICO, Tenn., July 6 (AP)—Ray Ellison, mortician, said a 12-coach Louisville and Nashville railroad train, carrying troops, cracked up tonight in the Clear Fork river gorge, killing several persons and injuring around 200.

He said three bodies had been brought to his mortuary.

The engine, and two of the coaches, Ellison said, turned over into the rocky Clear Fork river gorge, and two overturned on the brink of the gorge and caught fire.

The river, he said, is shallow.

The remainder of the coaches stayed upright.

The wreck occurred 11 miles south of Jellico, which is near the Tennessee-Kentucky line.

Ellison said medical aid had been summoned from Fort Oglethorpe, near Chattanooga, and the Red Cross at Knoxville.

Earlier, Lloyd Baird told the Knoxville Journal:

"Everything is confusion and no one knows how many are killed and how many injured."

KNIFING PROVES FATAL

TYLER, July 6. (AP)—One negro was held in jail tonight and another was sought in connection with the fatal knifing of J. B. Christie, about 31, last night. The slaying occurred at Mineola.

Artillery Covers Last Escape Road From Big Bastion

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Friday, July 7.—U. S. troops closing a ring about the enemy anchor of La Haye Du Puits have stormed to the edge of the forest de Mont Castre—where strong enemy forces lie in wait—and are threatening the last wooded heights dominating the town, supreme headquarters announced last night.

Front line dispatches said the only escape route out of the road and Fail junction on the south was under artillery fire, and reported savage fighting toward the heights of the forest, three miles east of La Haye, where capture would unhinge enemy defenses resting on La Haye on the west and the bog, Marais de Gorges, on the east.

RECORD DAY IN AIR

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—More than 2,000 Allied heavy bombers — the greatest number ever hurled at Europe in a single day—struck enemy installations in Germany, France and Italy from two directions today while thousands of tactical warplanes mauled German transport and supplies in a 5,000 square mile triangle below the Normandy battlefield.

Thirty-two enemy planes were shot down; 14 Allied planes were lost as the Allies filled the skies with 4,000 sorties, including five separate attacks which unloaded more than 6,000 tons of explosives on the robot bomb roosts around Pas-de-Calais.

Another Column Moves In

Another column coming around the great bog on the east fought down the road southwest from Carentan, widening this narrowest sector of the whole Normandy front in an advance of more than a mile despite enemy counter attacks.

Both British and Germans poured armor and infantry into the battle raging for Carpiquet airfield, only three miles east of Caen on the road to Paris, and the night communique said a number of enemy tanks were destroyed.

Germans, deployed in the rubble heaps of ruined La Haye, forced the Americans to retire from the railway station in the north part.

Americans Fall Back

This station fell yesterday, but front-line dispatches said the Americans retired to positions on the northern outskirts to await developments on the flanks, rather than butt their heads into strong enemy defenses in the heart of the city.

British and Canadians around Caen battled the greatest mass of German manpower ever concentrated on a narrow front in this or the last World war—one division to slightly less than three miles of front, supreme headquarters

Americans Occupy Another Island On Noemfoor Flank

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Friday, July 7—United States troops have occupied Manim island off American-invaded Noemfoor island, headquarters announced today.

Manim was seized July 5 without opposition. Its occupation provides a flank position for the one remaining Japanese-held airdrome on Noemfoor. That airdrome, Namber, is the present objective of U. S. forces driving across Noemfoor, off north Dutch New Guinea.

The two other Noemfoor airdromes—Kamiri and Kornasoran—already are in American hands.

A Japanese counter-attack on Noemfoor was repulsed, headquarters reported.

Allied air raiders sank three small Japanese vessels and damaged one, continuing their widespread attacks against Nipponese shipping in waters near New Guinea. Sixteen barges also have been sunk or damaged.

Japs Gain In China But Lose Elsewhere

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

The seventh year of Japan's attempt to conquer East Asia ended today with her armies still gobbling up great chunks of China but being slowly annihilated on every other battle front.

Allied spokesmen predicted relief would soon come to China by both land and sea.

Axis radios forecast an American invasion of the Bonin islands, about 500 miles from Tokyo.

More Shipping Destroyed

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz yesterday announced the sinking of five Japanese ships, the probable sinking of six and the damaging of 21 in the July 4 strike at the Bonin and Kazan (Volcano) islands by carrier planes.

Since the western Pacific campaign started June 10, 58 Japanese ships have been sunk, 94 probably sunk or damaged, 835 planes destroyed and 35 planes probably. American losses have been 107 airmen missing, 168 planes shot down and four ships superficially damaged.

American Marines and infantrymen closed in on Japanese massed in caves and fortifications on the northern tip of Saipan, once an important link in Japan's inner line of defense, now being converted into an outpost in the United States' drive toward China.

Drive On Third Drome

U. S. Soldiers drove toward the third and last enemy airfield on Noemfoor island off New Guinea, within bombing range of the Philippines.

American forces "have already constructed a sound foundation on which to bring aid to China soon," said acting Secretary of War Patterson. And, said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, there's "a good prospect of the early opening of a China-India land route."

Small gains were reported in both the southwest China and

City Planning Board Here Urges Immediate Action On Satisfactory Water Supply

Members of the Lubbock City Planning commission last night unanimously went on record to suggest to the Lubbock City commission at its next meeting that a survey, leading to a satisfactory future water supply, be "instituted as soon as possible and by the most competent water engineers available."

A motion, offered by K. N. Clapp and seconded by J. D. Hassell, jr., recognized that "assuring Lubbock of a sufficient future water supply is the most important of all public projects at this time." The action followed a report by City Engineer Marlin R. Smith on the present water system and upon plans for its immediate expansion.

Chas. A. Guy, vice chairman of the planning group who presided at last night's meeting in the absence of Chairman L. Wesley Read, appointed Clapp and Hassell as a committee to appear before the City commission at its next regular meeting next Thursday and, with Manager Smith and City Engineer Arch King, jr., discuss the project with members of the municipal administration.

Two Wells Planned Soon

Smith said the city's water system now depends upon 18 pumping wells and that the addition of two more wells is planned within the next year. "We can supply," he said, "the city's present peak demands of 10,000,000 gallons daily, but with a postwar growth in prospect the city must know where a 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 gallons daily peak will come from."

The planning commission also directed Chairman Read to appoint from its ranks a liaison committee to confer with the County commission on matters jointly affecting the city and county. By unanimous motion, the commission directed Manager Smith to ask City commission approval of a survey of Thirty-fourth street from Avenue H westward, with the idea of widening and extending that thoroughfare—with cooperation of the county — to a westward point where it may intersect with the present highway to Brownfield.

Smith Makes Report

Manager Smith reported upon a conference he had entered into with District Engineer Stuart McCarty, of the State Highway department, concerning the state department's willingness to maintain additional parts of state highways within the corporate limits of Lubbock. Smith also reported on the city's plans for a post-war work program, entailing construction and extension of sanitary and storm sewer lines, water lines, paving, the disposal plant, fire stations, street lights and the electric light and power plant.

Present at the regular monthly session of the planning group, held in City council chambers, were James H. Murdough, W. L. Bradshaw, Clapp, Guy, Hassell, Smith and King.

TRUETT STILL CRITICAL

DALLAS, July 6. (AP)—The condition of Dr. George W. Truett, 77, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dallas, who is critically ill, shows no material improvement, his physicians announced.

Pioneer Plains Minister Dies

Rev. Oscar Murry Addison, 71, veteran South Plains and Panhandle Methodist minister, died at 12:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his home, 2216 Main street.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in First Methodist church, with Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district Methodist superintendent, in charge.

Rev. Addison, who had been a member of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference for more than 33 years, was pastor of churches at Smyer, Liberty, Monroe and Posey at the time of his death. Previously, he held pastorates at 14 other Texas churches, including Buchanan and Tenth Avenue Methodist churches in Amarillo.

Bedfast Since April

Rev. Addison had been bedfast since April, when he suffered a paralytic stroke.

His immediate survivors are his wife, the former Miss Susie Gertrude Hefner, of Goree, Texas; two daughters, Miss Bernie Addison, Big Spring, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Amarillo; a son, Capt. Max C. Addison, Baton Rouge, La.

The minister was born at Owensville, in Robertson county, Texas.

Pall-bearers will be Roy Furr, Lonnie Barlett, Charles Chambers, Herschel Bradley, Bobby Jones, and Braxton Jones. Burial will be in a local cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home.

Hope Fades For Trapped Miners

BELLAIRE, Ohio, July 6. (AP)—A faint hope for the rescue of 64 men sealed by a fiery inferno deep in Powhatan mine was raised tonight with plans to sink a shaft, 8 inches in diameter, through 350 feet of earth.

High speed drills were rushed here to bore directly down to the men after rescue workers and mine inspection officials gave up hope of reaching them through the regular mine shaft and the pit was ordered sealed to subdue a fire that broke out yesterday.

Bare Chance For Life

Rescue workers felt there was a bare chance they would find life when the bit breaks into a mine tunnel containing the men, but the narrow shaft was the only way to know for sure.

A fall of rock broke a trolley line in the big mine yesterday, the wire short-circuited and flames raced through the main shaft. The 64 men, working in a dead-end tunnel off the shaft, were trapped.

At dawn today state inspectors abandoned hope and ordered the mine—largest in Ohio—sealed to smother the fire which licked through the veins of coal. The air system was shut off and every entrance was sealed with mortar.

Could Lower Food

Once the eight-inch shaft is drilled down through a hill bordering the Ohio river and into the tunnel communication lines will be dropped to determine if life still persists, and, in event it does, food and water can be lowered. Later the hole might be expanded large enough to permit lifting the men out by rope.

It was estimated it might require two days to drill through. Two high speed drills were rushed here at noon.

General Walker To Leave 36th

DALLAS, July 6 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker has been relieved of command of the 36th (Texas) division in Italy, Wick Fowler, staff correspondent of the Dallas News, reported today.

Fowler, in a radio dispatch from Fifth Army headquarters, said Walker is slated to be commandant of the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga.

The correspondent described Walker, 57, as the oldest division commander in the U. S. Army.

Lauded By Marshall

On a recent visit to the front, Fowler recalled, Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. chief of staff, congratulated Walker on the division's participation in the drive which opened the road to Rome.

Walker said he planned to visit Texas at the earliest opportunity, see wounded men at McCloskey General hospital and the families of his men.

Walker, a native of Columbus, Ohio, was a mining school graduate at Ohio university.

Plotted Infiltration

He and his staff gained fame for plotting the Velletri infiltration, which facilitated the breakthrough to Rome. The division spearheaded the landing at Salerno and suffered heavy casualties in the Rapidno river crossing.

Court Rules Rooster Has Right To Crow

SHREVEPORT, La., July 6. (AP)—The crowing of a rooster is "a joyous sound welcoming the approach of a new day," and should not be adjudged a nuisance, ruled a Louisiana parish district court judge.

Judge E. P. Mills of Caddo Parish made that ruling yesterday in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Minard, defendants in a suit brought by Jacob Myer and Mrs. Leonora Myer.

The Myer suit against Mr. and Minard asked $500 for "being disturbed" in the early mornings by the crowings of "Ole Red," a rooster belonging to the defendants.

Now Don't Blab Sis, But Here's Some Dope On GI Joe And His Reactions To Femininity Of Rome's Beauties

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, June 24. (Delayed) — Soldiers being the sentimental suckers they are, a lot of good old fashioned family fights in future years probably will grow out of an erstwhile doughboy's ecstatic reminiscing about the women of Rome.

So perhaps it's wise at this point to give the public and America's outraged womanhood an inside look at this Roman subject.

(Note to the neighbors: This material was all gathered second hand so don't bother running over to my wife with the paper and that old "I thought you ought to know" gag.)

An impersonal survey of the situation has summed the following strictly unbiased points:

1—Women of Rome are not necessarily more beautiful than the women back home—

2—Compared to anything feminine the soldiers have seen since the Statue of Liberty, the women of Rome are terrific, enticing, alluring and colossal; therefore . . .

3—Nearly three weeks since they first saw the lassies of the Eternal City, the soldiers still are gurgling in their beards about the babes; however . . .

4—In the long run, the girls they left back home needn't worry too much because the soldiers couldn't long linger here and, besides, women of Rome don't speak English.

Not to take up the subject in detail, women of Rome are clean and attractive. They're experts at cosmetics, possessors of dresses, blouses, skirts, sweaters, silk stockings, high heels and other American-styled feminine garb.

Perhaps the main point is cleanliness. Despite the dirty life he personally has to live, the doughboy still likes to see his womenfolk scrubbed behind the ears. Furthermore, he's been getting sick and tired of all the unwashed citizens of the various lands he's been liberating.

So, when he came into Rome, after weeks and months in combat lines where he saw practically no women at all, the shock of seeing the cleanly sort of femininity he had almost forgotten was pretty great.

It was enhanced by the actions of these dazzling damsels who in acclaiming him their deliverer showered his beard with kisses and smothered him with maidenly hugs.

He recovered in time to remember that gag about when in Rome, and also the Army's attitude about not offending liberated peoples, so he reciprocated with—you might say—enthusiasm.

The extent to which that enthusiasm has since been maintained is demonstrated by the following direct quotation from the Stars and Stripes, American Army paper—"Wow, the women! They no parlata, but they cure can capish." Translated from doughboy's Italian this means "They don't speak our language but brother, they sure do understand."

Berlin Gloats Over Churchill's Speech

LONDON, July 6. (AP)—The German radio interpreted today's speech by Prime Minister Churchill as confirmation of the seriousness of rocket bombs, and promised intensified attacks — but at the same time advised the German people not to expect miracles.

"The Churchill statement gives at last confirmation of the seriousness and extent of the effects of the German V-1 weapon, and of the great unrest which has gripped the population of England," said a German foreign office spokesman, as quoted by Berlin radio.

Another broadcast said American planes had released "winged bombs" in the shape of small gliders, in attacks on Cologne and Hamburg in recent weeks. It declared this weapon was different from the robot bombs, for which Berlin claimed "effective range regulators which guarantee accuracy." American air sources here declined comment on the German report.

Despite the robot bombs, Berlin said, "the Allied military supply center in south England has become more and more a dangerous front . . . German military circles expect no miracles."

The German radio declared bombardment of England by "V-1"—the name the Germans have given to their robot bombs—had tied down "one whole Army" on land, at sea and in the air in efforts to combat it.

County's Bond Sales Lagging

Although reports were far from complete, Lubbock county still was far from reaching its quotas Thursday afternoon at the end of the first day of intensive campaigning in behalf of the Fifth War Loan drive.

Figures reported late in the day accounted for $3,235,791 in total sales, $1,449,209 short of the $4,685,000 quota.

The record for Series E bonds was even more unsatisfactory. The quota is $1,110,000. Sales through Thursday were $497,587, less than half the quota. The county still has $612,413 to go to reach this goal.

Committees which had reported to drive headquarters late Thursday disclosed figures showing total sales for the day at $152,280.25, it was announced last night. It was not known how many committees had reported, or had failed to report.

To Continue Today

The three divisions comprising more than 200 workers are to continue through today the intensive efforts they started Thursday morning in behalf of the drive. These are the general solicitations division, headed by James L. Quicksall; the big subscriptions headed by C. E. Maedgen; and the employe groups division, headed by A. H. Maas.

Members of Quicksall's and Maedgen's divisions received supplies and instructions at meetings in the main ballroom of Hilton hotel.

All workers are urged by County Chairman Neil H. Wright to make final reports without fail to bond headquarters in the chamber of commerce not later than this afternoon.

Rocket Bombs Have Killed 2,752 Persons In Attacks On England

LONDON, July 6. (U.P.)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, speaking about explosions of Nazi robot bombs falling into London, told the House of Commons today that the Germans have launched 2,750 flying bombs across the channel in 81 days of indiscriminate and militarily-impotent attack that killed 2,752 persons—an average of one person per bomb of 2,000 pounds.

In a sober appraisal of the German terror offensive and the measures to counter it, Churchill acknowledged the heaviest loss of life in London and parts of southern England since the 1940-41 blitz. But he brushed aside demands for reprisals against German cities with the blunt assertion that nothing would be permitted to interfere with the miltary campaign to crush the Nazi armies on the continent.

130 Launched Daily

The Germans, he revealed, launched an average of 130 robot bombs against England every 24 hours since the offensive began on a major scale on June 15, but a large proportion of them were shot down or failed to cross the channel for other reasons.

He disclosed that some 8,000 persons were injured, many of them only slightly, and permitted disclosure for the first time that the main weight of the enemy attack was directed against London itself. The phrase, "southern England," now passes from currency, he said. It has been used to designate the bombing area.

The relatively minor scale of the Nazi offensive, which German propagandists at one time claimed had forced the evacuation of London, was indicated by the 130-a-day death toll, contrasted with the slaughter of the blitz when 1,436 Londoners died during the night of May 10, 1941.

Hamburg Casualties Given

Stockholm dispatches last night quoted a Berlin announcement as saying that 41,385 Germans were killed during the 10-day obliteration bombing of Hamburg last summer. The Nazi statement, obviously aimed at countering in advance any charges of terrorism Churchill might lay against Germany, said word of the Hamburg casualties had been withheld until now for "military reasons."

From the beginning of the war until June 1, air raid deaths on London totaled 51,778, while another 62,868 persons were injured.

Churchill refused to guarantee the success of counter measures against the robot bombs, but he disclosed that the government has now decided to open deep, modern air raid shelters in London which previously had been kept in reserve for emergencies.

The government, he said, is "doing everything in human power, and we have not failed yet."

BRITISH SCHOOL CHILDREN GO TO INLAND AREAS

LONDON, July 6. (U.P.)—The partial evacuation of some categories of civilians was revived in London Monday for the first time since the blitz when the first party of school children left for safe areas in north and midland counties, it now can be disclosed.

Other parties of school children left daily this week to escape the dangers of robot bombing.

The new safety plan provides for facilities for four classes of civilians—school children aged five to 16; mothers with children under five; the aged and infirm, other persons who are able to go.

The latter two classes must find their own quarters outside London.

Dry Texas Weather Is Aiding Harvest

AUSTIN, July 6 (AP) — Dry weather in the week ended July 3 continued to aid the harvest of small grains, hay making and other field work but was detrimental to corn and feed crops in a large part of Texas.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture noted that some areas of the High Plains received beneficial rains and conditions there improved somewhat.

Wheat harvesting progressed fairly well. The week generally was beneficial for cotton and the early South Texas crop was beginning to open.

Corn needed rain in Central and North Texas but was maturing rapidly in South Texas. Sorghum crops made generally good progress through the state.

Good weather aided the completion of the East Texas tomato and North Texas onion crops. Panhandle potatoes made good progress.

Good quality cantaloupes and watermelons moved from the early and mid-season districts but the late crops needed rain.

Livestock generally was in good condition although range feeds and pastures were beginning to dry up through a large part of the state and a few low rolling plains counties were short on stock water. Movement of cattle and sheep was heavy.

Wheat Piles Mount In Kansas Harvest

PRATT, Kans., July 6 (U.P.) — Piles of new wheat grew on the ground throughout this part of Kansas today as the greatest harvest in this part of the breadbasket state ran far ahead of available grain cars.

Whea was being received for only a few hours each day at the elevators and truck drivers, waiting in long lines for the next period at the elevators, dozed in their truck cabs.

Railroads hurried 200 additional cars through Pratt the first of this week to wetsern counties, where the peak of the harvest is yet to be reached. Long lines of grain cars roll eastward daily.

Elevators reported that receipts in this area were marking up new records. Bins were congested, forcing the temporary open air storage.

Lake Eases Fast To Take On Fruit Juice

ST. LOUIS, July 6 (AP)—Fruit juice went on the menu today for Chester Lake, former field representative for the Rural Electrification administration, his first nourishment, he said, since starting a hunger strike a week ago.

Otherwise, Lake asserted, he would continue his resolve not to eat "until President Roosevelt or Congress frees the REA from politics."

The 51-year-old Lake said he has lost 15 pounds of his normal 200 since starting the fast at noon last Wednesday.

Shortly before his job was abolished by the Department of Agriculture last Saturday, Lake wrote President Roosevelt of his determination to fast in protest of what he termed "political domination" of the REA.

Ruling On Election Returns Is Issued

AUSTIN, July 6 (U.P.) — Election returns may be disposed of by burning or any other manner one year after the date of the election, the attorney general's department ruled today in an opinion furinshed H. W. Stilwell, Texarkana public school superintendent.

Answering a series of questions relative to election procedure, the opinion said: That one copy of election returns should go to each the election presiding officer and president and secretary of the school board; that returns from an election box with voted ballots or surplus ballots loose and not sealed should be kept one year and burned; and that copies of returns, poll lists and tally sheets should be given both the board president and secretary.

Harry Hopkins Has Returned To Office

WASHINGTON, July 6 ½ — Harry L. Hopkins, for years ranking adviser to President Roosevelt, returned to his White House office today after a six months illness.

Hopkins, who had been recuperating at an Army hospital at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., resumed his duties as special assistant to the President, chairman of the munitions assignment board and member of the War Mobilization committee.

Americans Arrive In Sweden From Finland

STOCKHOLM, July 6 (AP)—Edmund A. Gullion, United States charge d'affaires at Helsinki and 38 other Americans arrived from Finland today in a chartered Swedish steamer.

Returning passengers said the Germans were streaming through Helsinki in the direction of the Viipuri front, and one informed observer said the Nazis already had the greater part of six to seven divisions in Finland.

Qualifications Set Out For Training

Qualifications for enlistment in the Army Specialized Training Reserve program, (Air Corps Enlisted reserve or Enlisted Reserve corps) and the Air Corps Enlisted reserve (not ASTRP), were announced today by Lt. Col. Warner J. Bishop, commanding officer of the West Texas recruiting and induction station here.

In order to be eligible for ASTRP, he said, the applicant must be not more than 17 years, 9 months, 0 days of age on the first day of the month in which his training commences.

Age Of Enlistment

To assure sufficient time for assignments to training, applicants for ASTRP (ACER) must not have become 17 years, 8 months of age at the date of enlistment. In the case of ASTRP (ERC) applicants must not have become 17 years, 8 months of age at date of mental examination. Applicants for ACER but not ASTRP, need not meet this requirement but processing and enlistment must be completed before applicant's 18th birthday.

Application forms provide space for consent of parents or guardian, Col. Bishop said. Consent submitted in separate document, appropriately worded and signed, will be accepted. Written consent from parent or guardian, specifically approving applicant's request for air corps combat crew training and enlistment in the ACER, or for training in ASTRP, or for enlistment in ERC for training in ASTRP, will be accepted.

Recommendations Required

Three letters of recommendation are required for Air Combat Crew training, ACER-ASTRP, but not for ERC-ASTRP. Letter from principal of a high school certifying the graduation or probable graduation of applicant is not a letter of recommendation, he said, unless it specifically commends the applicant.

In order to encourage young men to complete their high school training and because the ASTRP is a college program, admission to the ASTRP is restricted to high school graduates.

Qualification scores are not specified, he pointed out, because they are subject to change from time to time. Minimum score specified for ACER will normally be higher than the minimum score for ASTRP. Applicant for Air Combat Crew training must attain minimum Army Air forces mental examination score in effect at the time of examination.

Physical Exams

Physical examinations will be arranged at the headquarters of the induction station, Col. Bishop said.

Applicants of good character, physical and mental qualifications, but rejected on the basis of the AAF examining board proceedings only because they are not suitable for Air Combat trainings are accepatble for ERC-ASTRP, he added.

Any young man desiring further information concerning enlistment in any of these programs should contact the West Texas recruiting and induction station, 1114 Tenth street in Lubbock.

Petroleum Company Announces New Pool

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., July 6 (AP)—The Phillips Petroleum company today announced it had opened what promises to be an outstanding oil pool with start of production at its No. 1 McMinn well, 5-miles south of Tyler, Smith county, Texas.

The well, the announcement said, is located near the top of the structure on a 13,000 acre block owned by Phillips. This geological structure, it added, was found by sub-surface mapping followed by core drilling and seizmograph.

The initial production test of the well, flowing through a one-eighth inch choke from perforations at 9,918 feet, the company said, yielded 95 barrels of 40 gravity yellow-green color crude oil in 12½ hours with a gas-well ratio of 2800 to 1 and a pressure of 4600 pounds per square inch on the tubing.

Denver has a city-owned park of 25,000 acres.

New Extension Nominee Asked

HOUSTON, July 6 (U.P.)—The board of directors of Texas A. and M. college today withdrew the nomination of E. R. Eudaly for director of the school's extension service and issued a statement asking if the U. S. Department of Agriculture would approve "any strong, independent man" for the position.

Board Chairman F. M. Law released the statement from his Houston office after conferring by telephone with other board members this morning.

The statement said that the board had asked Gibb Gilchrist, president of the college, to nominate another candidate for the extension job. There was no immediate indication as to Gilchrist's intentions.

Eudaly Twice Rejected

Eudaly's nomination was twice refused confirmation by the department of Agriculture's national extension director, M. L. Wilson, who informed Gilchrist that he believed a better qualified candidate for the position could be found.

Law's statement said, "the board still unanimously feels that the selection of Mr. Eudaly . . . was an excellent choice and that he would have made an outstanding leader.

"The board deeply regrets that a man of such an unquestionable qualification . . . should have been arbitrarily disapproved in Washington. This action on Washington's part makes us wonder if they would be willing to approve any strong, independent man."

The statement acknowledged the Department of Agriculture's authority to disapprove the board's nominees for the extension directorship and added "we are therefore requesting President Gilchrist to submit to the board his own nominee."

State General Fund Deficit Increases

AUSTIN, July 6 (AP)—The state general fund deficit stood at $2,699,865 today, an increase of $1,868,688 for a month ago and a decrease of $20,350,551 from a year ago.

State Treasurer Jesse James said the deficit would decrease later this month after transfer of certain funds.

The deficit was announced in connection with a call for payment of $810,868 in general revenue warrants or those dated through May 30, 1944. The new call number was 684,362.

Treasury Authorizes Purchases Of Bonds

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The Treasury today authorized life insurance companies, savings institutions, states and municipalities and other political sub-divisions to purchase two issues of treasury bonds on deferred payment.

The issues are the two and one-half per cent treasury bonds of 1965-70 and two per cen treasury bonds of 1952-54.

Under the amendment, payment for bonds allotted in the Fifth War Loan drive may be made on or before September 30.

Subsidy Plan To Hike Price Of Stripper Production Approved

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — Fred M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization, today approved a premium price plan permitting increases ranging generally from 20 to 25 cents per barrel in maximum prices of crude oil produced from fields averaging less than nine barrels per well daily.

The plan involves a government subsidy.

The Defense Supplies corporation, which announced the plan yesterday, will defray its costs, estimated by Vinson at $50,000,000 annually. Vinson said the plan will not involve increases in prices of products to the public.

Increased Ceiling Prices

The premium price, explained, will be paid to producers by purchasers under increased ceiling prices for the fields covered by the plan. The purchaser, ordinarily a refiner, or a pipepline company will be reimbursed by the DSC, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Last October, Vinson's office denied a 35-cent general increase in crude prices on the ground it would have cost consumers at least $50,000,000 annually and would have broken the President's "hold-the-line" order.

The increase allowed was 35 cents a barrel in fields averaging less than five barrels daily per well; 25 cents a field averaging five and less than seven barrels daily and 20 cents for fields averaging seven and less than nine barrels.

The wells affected are in stripper or marginal fields characterized by high production costs and low yield. There are approximately 900 such fields embracing 300,000 wells, or 75 per cent of the total wells in the nation. However, they account for only about 12 to 15 per cent of total crude oil production.

Vincent said limited production and increased costs have subjected stripper well operators to an abnormal squeeze.

"By increasing the financial return to the operators of the strippers wells, the lives of the wells will be prolonged, expenditures can be made to improve their operating efficiency, shut-in wells will be revived, certain secondary recovery projects can be instituted and a consequent net gain to oil production and to our total recoverable reserves will result," Vincent declared.

Others To Go Higher

In the Pennsylvania grade fields — New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia — where wells average about ½-barrel daily and produce crude with high lubricating qualities, the premium will be 75 cents per barrel.

Eligibility for the premium will be determined on the basis of production during a representative period of 1943 or during 12-month periods preceding application.

Post-War Use For Pipelines Proposed

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Sidney A. Swensrud, vice president of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), proposed today that the 24-inch and 20-inch war emergency pipe lines be used after the war for moving nautral gas from Texas to the New York-New Jersey-Philadelphia area.

"Because of the extensive tanker construction program and our marked success in combatting submarines, it appears probable that at the end of the war we may have a surplus instead of a shortage of tankers," he said in the summer issue of the Harvard Business Review.

"If this surplus should develop, then there is considerable doubt that these lines would continue to be used for moving crude petroleum or petroleum products to the east coast."

Swensrun said the eastern area "contains the heaviest concentration of population in the United States and is not now served with natural gas."

Youth Foiled In Robbery Attempt

FORT WORTH, July 6. (AP) — A 16-year-old Fort Worth youth failed in an attempted robbery of the Continental National bank here shortly before closing time today and was captured in the street outside the bank by Oscar Vogel, a vice president of the institution.

The youth walked to the cage occupied by Miss Ethel Clark, exchange teller, and handed her a note demanding $2,500 in "this bag if you value your life." Miss Clark told the lad she would get the money for him and left the cage to notify O. C. Curl of what was happening.

Curl warned Vogel, in the lobby, to watch the boy. Meanwhile, the youth became suspicious and left the bank. Vogel seiged him and held him for police.

The youth told detectives and FBI agents that there had been two men with him before he entered the bank. An auto owned by the youth's family was found parked outside the bank. It contained no arms, only a bottle of hand lotion.

Two weeks ago a nitroglycerin bandit robbed the bank of $6,000 in cash and escaped.

Canadians In France Rewrite U. S. Ditty

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—CBS Correspondent Charles Shaw reported today from London that Canadians in the Caen sector of France have written a parady on "Pistol Packin' Mama" which goes like this:

"Having lots of fun,
"Till one night we got him right,
"Now he's on the run.
"We licked you on the beaches,
"Chased you through the towns,
"You're not safe if we reach you,
"So lay that lueger down."

"Lay that Leuger down, gid,
"You haven't got a chance,
"Lueger-luggin' Ludwig,
"You're all washed up in France."

Bond Auction Is Set At Slaton Saturday

SLATON, July 5. (Special) — Plans for a war bond auction and program to be held Saturday night were announced today.

The event is intended to push this community over the top on its Fifth War loan of $211,000. Purchases toward this figure amounted to $56,660 yesterday.

The auction and program will get under way at 8 o'clock and will be held on the city hall lawn.

Many scarce items will be put on the block in the auction phase. A speaker will be present from Lubbock Army Air field, and efforts are being made to arrange a musical program.

Members of the Slaton Fifth War loan committee are W. R. Sewell, chairman, J. S. Edwards and B. G. Guinn.

Hannegan Believes FDR Will Run Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 6. (UP) —Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the National Democratic committee, today predicted that President Roosevelt will be a candidate for a fourth term and that he will be re-elected.

Hannegan, here to address a belated $25-a-plate Jackson day dinner, said that although he never had discussed a fourth term with the President, he personally was convinced Mr. Roosevelt will be a candidate.

"It's my personal opinion that when he weighs the welfare and security of the country against his personal desires — which I think would be to retire — I think he will decide to run again," Hannegan said.

Postwar Doctor Deficit Feared

CHICAGO, July 5. (AP) — The present policies of the armed forces and selective service will result in an annual deficit of 2,000 doctors each year after the war, the journal of the American Medical association declared today.

The Journal's editorial appeared as President Roosevelt in Washington declined to interfere with a selective service board order banning occupational draft deferments for pre-medical students after July 1.

Blame Not Their's

"Today medical educators and the medical profession of the country refuse to accept the responsibility for the acute shortage of medical care which will threaten this country within a few years if current regulations and policies persist. . . .

"Should an adjustment not be made to correct the present alarming situation, a tremendous reduction of graduates after the war will ensue.

"Although schools will continue the accelerated program, they will admit classes only once annually instead of every nine months. This of itself will reduce the number of graduates from the present annual average of 7,000 to 5,000.

"If classes can be only half filled, this number will be reduced to 2,500 graduates per year. Since 3,300 to 3,500 physicians die each year, there will result an annual and cumulative deficit of 2,000 doctors a year."

Mexico To Have Six Tuberculosis Clinics

MEXICO CITY, July 6 (AP) — Tuberculosis clinics will be established in six frontier cities, at a cost of $200,000, by the national anti-tuberculosis committee.

Dr. Ismael Cossio Villegas, president of the committee, said they would be in Mexicali, Nogales, Ciudad Juarez, Nuevo Laredo, Reynosa and Matamoros.

Turk Trainees Reach San Antonio Center

SAN ANTONIO, July 6 (AP) — The first of several groups of Turkish officers to be sent to this country for training in American methods of flying has started preflight training at the San Antonio cadet center.

Lt. Commander Saffet Kiyasi, who headed the first arrivals, said "they are the cream of our young officers who had expressed a desire to fly."

RECKLESS FLIERS

RECENTLY we noticed that a young pilot was fined $1000 and will be restricted to the limits of the post for two months after he was found guilty of "buzzing." A second lieutenant at Goodfellow field found guilty of violating flying regulations will be restricted to the post and has been fined $100. He was tried for flying his plane within a distance of approximately two feet from the horizontal stabilizer of another plane while in authorized formation, recklessness causing a collision in the air.

At another field in Texas a second lieutenant was "busted" to a civilian, subject to the draft, because he reported late a number of successive times and imbibed rather freely of intoxicants only a few hours before he was due to fly.

• • •

Those who are prone to be talkative but not guided by judgment may say these punishments are unjust after an officer has spent long hours in classrooms and in the air in learning the intricacies of flying. "They are only schoolboys at heart," they plead, "give them a chance to have a fling or two before they go over to fight."

• • •

BUT flying a plane is a man's job and those who have small boys' ways have no place in the cockpit. If a flier has no regard for his own safety, he should think of his crew or, if he is flying alone, he should remember the ship is only his on a loan and that it takes plenty of moolah to replace it should it be smashed through his carelessness.

• • •

Not many months ago a strange plane was heard to fly low over the Lubbock business district. From our upstairs office it seemed to be skimming the roof tops. In midst of the excitement one of the telephones rang and an excited young voice explained, "That plane is piloted by my boy friend who is flying low to honor me."

"Well," said the desk editor who answered the call in a most disgusting voice, "he may be honoring you all right but he's scaring the wits out of the rest of the citizens."

• • •

IN THEIR defense we have heard people say the same boy who "buzzes" low over the town is the one who several years ago awakened sleepy people about midnight by racing through empty streets in a car with the muffler off. It's all in the spirit of youth, they add.

May be so, but even if they are still boys, they have to act like men now.

FIGHTS FOR LIVES

ONE of America's best known clubwomen is beginning a battle to save the lives of millions of women. She is Mrs. Harold Milligan, the new national commander of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

In her position Mrs. Milligan heads a group of 350,000 women already organized and functioning in 48 states. They work in every possible way to fight cancer. Primarily they seek to educate everybody concerning the things they should know about cancer.

Cancer—second to heart disease as a killer—slips in as the Japs did at Pearl Harbor. It has no pain in the early stages. It does its deadly work unknown to the person it attacks. But it reveals symptoms which the doctor can recognize. If people have a physical examination once a year, any cases developing in them will be caught early. And if cancer is caught in the early stages it can be effectively treated by surgery, X-ray or radium.

Church Group Gives Picnic At Park

Young adult fellowship group of First Methodist church entertained Thursday night with a picnic at Mackenzie State park for young business and professional men and women and for young married couples.

Thirty-five attended.

Public Warning!

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Wartime living conditions may be the cause of spreading Pin-Worm infection. Scientific reports in many communities have shown at least one-third of the examined children and grown-ups to be victims of Pin-Worms—often without knowing what was wrong!

Watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child or yourself: the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch, the uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting, finicky appetite.

New Discovery Hailed by Doctors

After centuries of distress caused by Pin-Worms, a sure and highly effective way to deal with this stubborn pest has recently been discovered. This scientific discovery, hailed by medical authorities, is a remarkable drug (gentian violet). It is the vital element in P-W. The new Pin-Worm treatment developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to destroy the creatures.

So don't take chances with Pin-Worms. At the first warning sign, ask your druggist for P-W, and follow the directions.

P-W means Pin-Worm relief! 6d7

Reunions Are For Several Families

Attending a reunion at Mackenzie State park recently were Messrs. and Mmes. E. R. Evans and Bill, Shallowater; H. S. Evans, Lakeview; J. W. Evans and L. V. Evans, Chillicothe; F. D. Evans, Idalou; R. Gabreski Sends Down Number 28; To Attempt 35 Before August 1

A U. S. Air Force Fighter Base in Britain, July 6 (AP)—Lt. Col Francis Gabreski, 25-year-old Thunderbolt pilot who wanted to shoot down a 28th German plane before going home to get married, got his wish today when he knocked down a Messerschmitt 109 near Evreux, France, and became the top-scoring ace in the entire U. S. air force.

Gabreski got his 27th last week, tying Maj. Robert S. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., and Maj. Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis. He had been pressing ever since for the 28th, but returned disconsolately yesterday.

Gets Number 28 Promptly

Gabreski, an Oil City, Pa., boy, went out again today and promptly got his German. During his 30-day leave he said he intended to marry Kay Cochran of Grand Rapids, Mich., a girl he met in Hawaii three years ago.

Gabreski quit a pre-medical course at Notre Dame university to join the air force in 1940. He got his first German plane Aug. 24, 1943.

One of his ground crew explained today that Gabreski figures all the angles. He refuses to use tracer bullets because "sometimes you slip up behind a guy and miss with the first few bursts. Those tracers give you away."

Uses Half Of Ammunition

Also he goes into combat with half the amount of ammunition normally carried, contending that a full load makes the wings too heavy to turn conveniently inside a Messerschmitt.

Gabreski came to the European theater in October, 1942, and for a time flew with a Polish RAF squadron. He holds the Polish Cross of Valor besides the American Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Flying Cross with seven clusters, the Silver Star and the Air Medal.

He said his brother, Thaddeus, was a Major in the Medical corps in India, and another brother, Max, was in the navy. A sister, Bernice, is in the Nurse Cadet corps at Erie, Pa.

Just when he will go home is not definite. In joking conversation with fellow fliers tonight after dinner, Gabreski said, "I'm going to stay on until the first of August."

"To Get 35 Or So"

"And get 35 or so as to get ahead of Johnson?" a fried asked, not knowing that Wing Commander J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, leader of a Canadian Spitfire wing, had got two more Germans today for a score of 35.

Counting up the days left in July, Gabreski grinned and shook his head, "aw, no, that'd mean too much."

Youths Warned By Police On Undue Use Of Car Horns

Chief of Police Don Reeder directed a warning Wednesday night to certain Lubbock youngsters who make a practice of "signaling" their friends with unnecessary use of automobile horns.

Reeder said he had received numerous complaints from citizens who said their sleep is being disturbed late at night by the blare of horns intended for some teen-ager in the block.

The chief said it was apparent that some sort of signal had been worked out among members of a local girls social organizatin. The signal is sounded as a greeting, or as a notification by some girl that she is driving by to pick up a friend. She usually starts blowing the horn several blocks from her destination.

In residential sections where live several members of the club, Reeder said many citizens were plainly aggravated.

He pointed to a city ordinance which forbids unnecessary noise effected by automobile horns.

Without Painful Backache

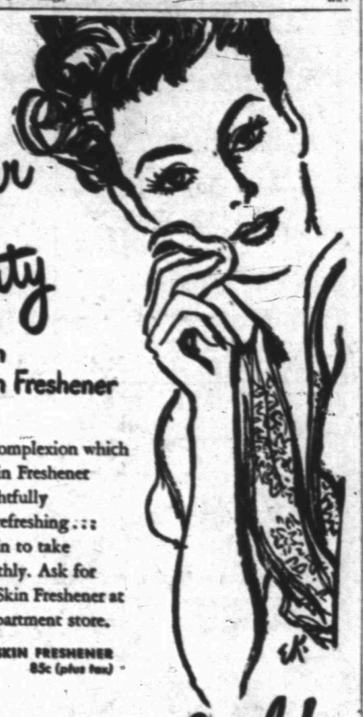

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mexican Salad Is Main Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

From Mexico comes this sumptuous bowl of salad. It's almost a main dish in itself.

Mexican Salad
(Serves 6)

One large avocado, 4 tomatoes, 1 onion, 1 green pepper, 4 slices bacon, 1½ teaspoon chili powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup vinegar, lettuce.

Line a large salad bowl with lettuce cut into small convenient sized pieces. Cut the avocado in half lengthwise. Remove the pit and pull the peel off carefully with your fingers instead of cutting it off with a knife—the outside of the avocado stays dark and velvety that way without unattractive knife marks. Lay the halves cut side down on a flat surface for easy slicing and cut them lengthwise into thin slices. Lay the slices petal-wise to edge the salad. Peel tomatoes, dice them and heap in the center. Chop onion and green pepper separately and sprinkle them over the tomatoes. Fry bacon until crisp, drain on soft paper, then crumble over the tomatoes. Stir chili powder and salt into the hot bacon fat (more salt if the bacon is very mild), add vinegar, mix well and pour carefully over the salad.

If you find bananas in your market, here's a wonderful middle American way to make them into fritters.

Banana Fritters
(Makes 12 fritters)

One cup sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk, 2 banans.

Mix and sift together sifted flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Add milk to a well-beaten egg and stir into the flour mixture, beating until nice and smooth. Mash bananas and stir them into the batter. Have hot fat ready, about half an inch deep, in a large skillet. Drop in a tablespoon of batter for each fritter. Fry a light golden brown on both sides, turning once. Drain on soft paper. Serve plain with ham, chicken or other meats; with tomato sauce, as a luncheon dish; or sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve for dessert.

Coal is approximately 60 per cent carbon.

NUTAROONS

½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup finely chopped peanuts
¼ teaspoon almond extract
3 cups corn flakes

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Add peanuts, flavoring and corn flakes; mix very well. Press mixture firmly into rounded bowl of tablespoon and drop on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Let cookies cool slightly before removing from pan.

Yield: 2 1-2 dozen cookies (2 1-2 inches in diameter).

NOTE: Nutaroon mixture is somewhat dry in appearance before baking. Do not add additional liquid.

Cabbage is a prominent member of group 2 of the "basic seven" foods. The average serving of cabbage, if carefully prepared, furnishes about one-fourth of the daily requirement of vitamin C.

KITCHEN KORNER

Peanut oil is a good substitute for butter in frying eggs.

It takes a pound of fat to make half a pound of dynamite.

Thirty-one tablespoons of salvaged waste kitchen fat average one pound.

To remove fresh paint stains from windows or mirrors sponge with cloth dipped in hot vinegar.

A new replacement for baby's rubber bottle cap is the disposable cap of cellophane which is air-tight and leakproof.

The tin cans used for salvaged fats are themselves salvaged after the fat is removed at the rendering plant.

Never use metal mesh or wire scrapers to clean enameled ware. They discolor, scratch or might even chip enamel.

Calavos are an outstanding source of food energy and a supplementary source of protein in valuable form. Even more important, the fruit contains nine vitamins and fourteen minerals.

Raisin or prune bread sandwiches are reaching a new high in over-all popularity because these breads keep their moisture a long time and avoid the disagreeableness of "scratchy" sandwiches.

Be on the lookout for luscious summer Calavos. In contrast to the smooth skinned winter variety, their skin is hard surfaced. Some varieties are emerald green and others are a purplish black. The latter usually have a pebbly surface.

Are you having trouble getting rid of the onion or garlic odor after you carefully rub your salad bowl with either of the two high smelling vegetables? Rub hands, and utensils for that matter, with vinegar or lemon juice and the odor disappears with encouraging swiftness.

Sandwiches of sliced tomatoes are eloquent with flavor when a piquant ripe olive mayonnaise or salad dressing is used to cover fragrantly thin slices of tomato and thinner slices of onion. Prepare the chopped ripe olives from the whole fruit or try the small inexpensive cans or jars of the fruit, ready prepared for just such purposes.

PORK SAUSAGE-CORN CASSEROLE — While you're victory gardening bake this pork sausage-corn casserole and it will be good and hot when you come in at dusk. Serve it with a green salad and fruit compote. To prepare the casserole, pan fry 1 pound pork sausage patties until light brown. Make a white sauce by adding 2 tablespoons flour to 2 tablespoons of pork sausage drippings and adding 1 cup hot milk. Stir until sauce thickens. Rub a baking dish with sausage drippings or lard. Measure out 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs and 2 cups cooked whole kernel corn. In the baking dish arrange a layer of crumbs, corn, sausage patties, and white sauce. Top with buttered crumbs, if desired, and a few pork sausage patties and bake 30 minutes in a 350° F. Oven. Serves 4 or 5.

More Meat In Summer Means Better Health For Family

When it's hot weather, eat more protein each day. According to recent nutrition studies, as weather grows warmer more protein is needed in the diet to maintain a control over body infection.

Since meat is a good source of high quality protein—and a flavorful one, too—include it in every day's meals. Its proteins are right for every bodily need. Also, meat supplies vitamins and minerals important to the summer diet.

Plan meat meals that are quick to prepare. Include in them some of the following tested point-free meat recipes:

Sweetbreads and Bacon

2 pairs sweetbreads
Bread crumbs
8 slices bacon
1 beaten egg

Pre-cook sweetbreads immediately after purchasing them. To precook, soak sweetbreads in cold water for 30 minutes, then simmer for 20 minutes in water. (To each quart of water add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar.) Drain, drop into cold water and remove loose membrane. Season whole precooked sweetbreads. Dip in crumbs, beaten egg, and again in crumbs. Fry bacon until crisp. Remove to hot pan and keep warm. Brown sweetbreads in hot drippings. Serve with bacon. Serves 4.

Beef Biscuit Roll

1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
Meat drippings
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Brown beef, onion and green pepper in meat drippings in skillet. Add seasonings. Make a regulation biscuit dough and spread dough with meat mixture and roll like jelly roll. If dough is too soft, after meat roll is rolled, chill in refrigerator, then cut 1-1 2 inch slices. Place cut side up in pan rubbed with lard. Brush tops with melted fat. Bake 20 to 25 minutes at 450° F. Serve with brown gravy, mushroom or cheese sauce. Serves 5 to 6.

Pork Liver, Spanish Sauce

½ pound pork liver
Salt
Flour
1 small onion
2 tablespoons lard
2 cups cooked tomatoes
2 cups lima beans (if dried lima beans are used, soak in water for 2 hours, then cook until tender).

Slice liver in 1-2 in. slices. Cut in 1-inch pieces. Season and dredge with flour. Brown sliced onion and liver in lard or bacon drippings. Add tomaotes. Cover and cook slowly 20 to 30 minutes. Serve over hot lima beans.

Jellied Veal Loaf

2½ pounds veal shank, cut in 2 or 3 pieces
1 medium onion, diced
2 quarts water
2 bay leaves
2 pieces celery
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcester sauce

Combine all ingredients and simmer 2 hours. Remove veal from bone. Chop veal fine. Strain broth. Cook down to 1 cupful. Add veal. Press firmly into a loaf pan. Chill. Serves 6 to 8.

SKINNING PEARS

Are you thinking of canning pears? Save yourself some work by skinning them instead of peeling them. Dip the pears in boiling hot water, plunge them into cold water, and then skin them as you do with peaches or tomatoes.

WATER FOR HEALTH

Drink lots of water. At least eight glasses of water a day is average, but some people require more than others. You'll need more in hot weather or if you work in high temperatures.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Although it was generally agreed that a girl in her twenties was well beyond the growing stage, recent studies show that this is an unsafe assumption. Significant height changes indicate that even at the age of twenty four, a girl may still need food for growth, especially calcium. Further studies showed that girls who received calcium regularly through milk were better able to store calcium for bone and tooth building than those who were haphazard about the amount of milk consumed.

A Sunday supper salad of prunes, stuffed with wedges of orange, and mounds of cottage cheese, is as good a summer food combination as anyone would want to serve or eat. Moist rye bread makes a delicious accompaniment.

Nazi Prisoners Believe War Will End In Stalemate By June, 1945

By LEE LINDER
United Press Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, O., July 6—Despite the judgment of Allied leaders that Hitler must accept "unconditional surrender," German prisoners of war stockade in American barracks here believe the war will end in a stalemate before June, 1945.

This, however, is only the conclusion reached by newsmen invited by the War department to inspect treatment of captured Nazis, including several hundred taken in Normandy, interned in this midwest POW camp on the shore of Lake Erie.

A number of German prisoners, some 2,500 of whom proudly admit membership in Rommel's ill-fated Afrika korps of unbeatable "supermen," have been stockaded here since D-day, June 6.

Handled "To The Letter"

A tour of the stockades gave newsmen an unusual picture of war prisoner treatment. Camp Perry Army officers pointed out that the POW's are handled "to the letter" of the Geneva convention, signed by representatives of 46 nations in 1929, including Allied and Axis.

"We treat them strictly according to the rules—no more, no less," Lt. Col. E. C. McCormick, the camp commander said.

The food the Germans get is identical, in quality and quantity, to rations given daily to the average American soldier. The only difference is in actual preparation. The Nazis here are permitted to cook their food any way they please.

The POW's, 15 per cent of whom can speak some English, live in quarters once occupied by American soldiers when Camp Perry served as an induction center. Three windowed hutments house five prisoners and they are made of scrap wood with a tarpaper roof built on a cement floor base.

American Pin-Up Girls

Pictures of American pin-up girls adorn the walls of most of the hutments. A Nazi is permitted to buy a radio, but without short wave equipment.

"The prisoners can do anything they want," Col. McCormick said, "as long as they are orderly and cause no disturbance. They are subject to court martial proceedings the same as an American soldier."

Clothes and shoes worn by the POW's are reconditioned apparel which is issued after the prisoners' original German outfits are no longer fit for wear. The shoes, previously worn by American infantrymen, are salvaged for rewear in the compound's shoe repair shop, operated by experienced Nazi cobblers.

Prisoners, if in good physical condition, must work. On outward appearances there seemed no doubt of their tip-top condition. Most of the Camp Perry Germans, some as young as 14, walk around in shorts and sleeveless jerseys, their skin tanned from the sun.

Extra Pay For Workers

The Geneva convention authorized automatic pay of 10 cents a day for each private and noncommissioned officer. But if prisoners work on the post, on nearby farms or in factories they receive an additional 80 cents a day. If put on piecework basis, they may earn up to $1.20.

Paid in coupon money, prisoners may spend their wages in two POW-operated canteens, which gives its profits into a welfare fund. This fund is used to buy sports equipment, musical instruments and other items requested by the Nazis.

There's even a barber shop on the compound, with eight barber chairs manned by professional German tonsorial artists. "Customers" (who get service free) read the latest American magazines and newspapers, some printed in the German language, while waiting their turn.

A 34-year-old German sergeant is the elected spokesman for the entire POW compound and he brings all grievances concerning conditions and treatment to the attention of the American military authorities.

O'Daniel Revives Paper, Brands New Deal As 'Dynasty'

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas), antifourth termer and bitter foe of most Roosevelt politicies, declared today the first issue of his revived political newspaper, "The W. Lee O'Daniel News," out yesterday, had a circulation of 100,000 reaching 45 states.

The four-page weekly is printed in Fort Worth, Tex., but its publication office is here. Sufficient newsprint for a year was purchased recently and stored in a warehouse at Fort Worth, O'Daniel said.

In yesterday's special July 4 edtion, O'Daniel rapped the Roosevelt administration as a "dynasty" that was being perpetuated by federal bureaus. The paper carried facsimilies of the Constitution, the Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence.

Originated in April 1940 when O'Daniel was governor of Texas, the paper suspended publication about the time he came to the Senate in 1941. His wife will now serve as managing editor of the paper, said the senator, with the help of Garfield Crawford, veteran Texas newspaper man who has handled publicity in recent years for O'Daniel.

Senator Green (D-RI), chairman of the Senate privileges and election committee, recently said he planned to question O'Daniel about contributions and subscriptions received in connection with the newspaper. The senator said today he would be glad to testify before the committee, if called.

"A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE"

Resolutions Subcommittee For Democratic Convention Named

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, House majority leader, last night was named chairman of a resolutions subcommittee to conduct hearings on a 1944 Democratic party platform prior to the national convention opening July 19 in Chicago.

The hearings are expected to start July 17 in Chicago with Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, chairman of the House Labor committee, sitting as subcommittee co-chairman. She will be the first woman accorded this honor.

Committee Personnel

The subcommittee, appointed by National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, is made up of Senators Robert F. Wagner (NY), resolutions chairman in 1936 and 1940; Carl A. Hatch (NM); Joseph C. O'Mahoney (Wyo); Harry S. Truman (Mo); Claude Pepper (Fla); Theodore F. Green (RI), and James M. Tunnell (Del); Rep. Thomas D'Alesandro, jr., (Md); Josephus Daniels, former Navy secretary and ambassador to Mexico; George J. Burke, Michigan lawyer and former general counsel of OPA, Rep. Ed V. Izac of California, and McCormack.

The women members besides Mrs. Norton are Mrs. Fred Vinson, Kentucky, wife of the economic stabilization director; Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Wyoming, director of the mint; Mrs. Julia Porter, California; Miss Doris I. Byrne, New York; Mrs. W. T. Bost, North Carolina; Mrs. Albert E. Hill, Tennessee; Mrs. Scott Stewart, Utah; Mrs. Lucille Stewart, Kansas; Mrs. Charles G. Ryan, Nebraska, and Mrs. Sue Rubel, Oklahoma.

Hannegan Says FDR To Run

While the Washington headquarters of the national committee made the subcommittee announcement, Hannegan at a news conference in Columbus, Ohio, expressed the belief that President Roosevelt would put aside "personal desire" and run for a fourth term.

Hannegan indicated the party platform would be somewhat shorter than the 4,000-word set of principles adopted at the 1940 convention, when he said the Democrats would base their 1944 campaign on "past performance."

The committee chairman listed eight prospects for the vice presidential nomination: Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Senators Alben W. Barkley (Ky); Harry S. Truman (Mo); War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, Govs. J. Melville Broughton, North Carolina, and Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma, and Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt.

Flynn Visits FDR

The day's political doings also embraced the White House, with a call on President Roosevelt by Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national chairman who will attend the convention as New York national committeeman and a delegate, and the return to work after a long absence, because of illness, of Harry L. Hopkins, presidential aide.

Flynn, who also talked with Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, presidential adviser, said a new chairman of the New York State Democratic committee will be selected Tuesday to succeed James A. Farley, who recently resigned.

The number of persons speaking the English language is approximately 200,000,000.

New Attorneys Named In Sedition Trial

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — Chief Justice Eicher of District of Columbia federal court designated two attorneys today to replace James J. Laughlin whom Eicher dismissed yesterday as defense counsel in the mass sedition conspiracy trial.

One of Laughlin's two defendant-clients, Robert Noble, refused to consent to the change of attorneys, but the court overruled him. Laughlin, who took his old place at the counsel table this morning, was ordered from the courtroom and left, protesting.

Justice Eicher ousted Laughlin from further participation in the case yesterday after an exchange of words, in the jury's absence, over Laughlin's filing of an impeachment petition against the judge last Saturday.

'Do-Nothing' Strike Begins In Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, July 6. (AP)—A "do-nothing" strike of indefinite duration began at Matamoros, Mexico, at 11 a. m. today as agriculture, business and labor protested the Mexican cotton price freeze policy, the Brownsville Herald reported.

The Herald said one act of violence occurred when a man refused to park his car and walk. The car was overturned by other citizens.

With the exception of drug stores and government buildings, all establishments closed down in the border town and traffic across the international bridge was halted, the newspaper reported.

Residents of Matamoros say the price set by the government for cotton in that area is lower than for other sections of the republic, the Herald said.

Construction Awards At Low Ebb In June

AUSTIN, July 6. (U.P.) — Construction awards during June amounted to $8,777,112, the lowest for the year, while total for the past six months was $74,812,692, compared with $188,978,142 for a similar time in 1943, the Texas Contractor, trades publication, said today.

Largest single job contracted during the year was $3,500,000 for a chemical plant at Houston.

Bland Memorial Fund Started At Texas U.

AUSTIN, July 6. (U.P.)—A memorial loan fund in tribute to the late Mrs. Kathleen Lomax Bland, assistant dean of women at the University of Texas, has been started with contributions of $350 from student groups, it was announced today.

Mrs. Bland was fatally injured in an automobile accident June 23. The fund will be for emergency loans to students.

Yanks On Saipan Amused By First Mail From Home

SAIPAN, Marianas Island, June 24. (Delayed) (AP)—Marines sprawled in foxholes and read their first mail since storming the beaches of Saipan today.

Sgt. Edward F. Ruder of St. Louis, Mo., a combat correspondent, noted these results:

Sgt. Bill Fletcher of Nashville, Tenn., got a money order from home with a note telling him to us it to buy whatever he needed most. Fletcher chuckled to the marine in the next foxhole, "Say Mac, here's 10 bucks—run over to the corner tavern and bring back three cases of beer."

Cpl. Brownie Wrona of Beaver Falls, Pa., got a letter from his best girl telling him that her picture had been entered in a state contest of some kind.

Sgt. Lee Paoelskas of East Granby, Vt., read aloud a letter from the girl next door: "Listen to this, boys—' are there any girls where you are, white one I mean, and are you doing any dancing?' "

Texas Soldiers Risk Lives To Save Jeep

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy, July 6. (U.P.) — A group of Texas soldiers were credited today with risking their lives to save a jeep from destruction by exploding ammunition on the road to Rome during the recent advance of the 36th "Texas" division.

The Texas heroes were led by Capt. Rufus J. Cleghorn of Waco and 2nd Lt. George Weinchel of Corsicana. With them were Privates First Class Cooper Johnson of Mooreville and Harry Miesch, another Texan whose home address was not given. Lt. Weinchel's jeep pulled out to let a truck loaded with ammunition go past. The truck hit a mine and started to burn. The Texans hauled the precious jeep out of the way just as the shells exploded and then continued calmly on their way to Rome.

Vichyite Kidnaped By 'Terrorists'

(By The Associated Press)

The Berlin radio said Thursday that Jacques Chevalier, 62-year-old former French minister for education, had been kidnaped from his home in Cerilly by a force of "terrorists," and that his whereabouts was unknown.

Chevalier was appointed director of the department of French labor in Germany under the Vichy government in November, 1942.

Lt. B. G. Swancutt Hangs Himself

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (U.P.)—Lt. Beauford G. Swancutt, sentenced to death by an Army court martial for the murder of his sweetheart, another girl, a policeman and his commanding officer at Camp Anza, hanged himself at Letterman General hospital today.

The lieutenant, who rose from his table at the Anza officers club and committed the murders exactly four months ago today, was found suspended from a pipe with a bedsheet around his neck by hospital attaches this morning.

Swancutt succeeded in his attempt despite guards assigned to him at Leterman since his transfer here.

Had Been Ordered Hanged

Swancutt had been ordered hanged by the Army court martial which found him guilty of the murders of Dorothy Evelyn Douglas, 19, Lourdine Livermore, 18, Capt. Aubrey G. Serfling, 27, Preston, Minn., and Police Officer Arthur B. Simpson, who tried to capture him at Arlington, Cal., after the other shootings.

After shooting Miss Douglas and Miss Livermore at the officers club, Swancutt left the clubroom and went to the officers quarters where he aroused Serfling, his commanding officer, and shot him twice in the abdomen.

Swancutt, 31, of La Crosse, Wis., then commandeered a staff car and ordered Sgt. E. Roberts to drive him to nearby Arlington. There he shot and killed Simpson before he was shot by Policeman C. F. Cole. Swancutt then was returned to the Camp Anza hospital.

He pleaded innocent on all four counts of murder at his court martial.

Maximum Prices On Melons Established

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — Maximum prices, established for the first time for all melons except watermelons, were announced today by the Office of Price administration.

The melons will be under community pricing at retail, retaining the same mark-up in individual communities.

Season average prices, which OPA said would be considerably lower than last year's prices in all states, will be: cantaloup, 9.1 cents a pound; honeyball, 9.8 cents; honeydew, 11.1 cents; persian, 12.1 cents; casaba, 9.8 cents; crahshaw, 11.8 cents; all other melons, except watermelons, 9.8 cents.

Loan Operators Face Charges Of Contempt

SAN ANTONIO, July 6. (AP) — Twelve small loan operators recently indicted by the federal grand jury here for alleged violation of the federal anti-trust laws faced arrest today for contempt of court because of failure to appear for arraignment before Judge W. A. Keeling, who received not guilty pleas from 62 other defendants in a morning session in U. S. district court.

W. R. Smith, U. S. district attorney here, said warrants would be issued for the arrest of the delinquents. Twenty attorneys representing various individuals and 42 corporations and companies entered pleas of not guilty. One defendant entered his own plea, explaining that he was also a lawyer by profession. Another of the 75 persons indicted on June 6 died of a heart attack, Smith said. Less than half a dozen of the other defendants appeared in the court room and these sat in the audience.

Judge Keeling said another session would be held during the afternoon to discuss the filing of demurrers. Various individuals and companies have indicated they will file motions of demurrers to quash the indictments, Keeling said.

Billion-Bushel Wheat Crop Is In Prospect

WASHINGTON, July 6. (U.P.) — Fears of bread rationing were officially dissipated today when the Agriculture department reported that this year's prospective billion bushel record wheat crop should meet all requirements with enough left over to build up sizeable reserves.

A departmental survey of the national wheat situation disclosed that this year's carryover stocks will be at least 50,000,000 bushels larger than originally estimated.

At the same time, the department said the 1944 harvest should be ample to supply food and industrial needs equal to this year's while livestock feed wheat requirements probably will be reduced to about half the amount consumed this year.

The report said there may be enough wheat to increase exports to 100,000,000 bushels "depending on the progress of the war."

Allies Hold 4-1 Firepower Edge

WASHINGTON, July 6. (U.P.) — American and British troops are able to pour four bombs, shells and bullets into the Germans for every one they receive in return as the Allied invasion of western Europe goes into its second month, Acting Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said today.

"Every soldier knows it is firepower that wins wars," Patterson said at his press conference. "Firepower is the killing end of the business."

"For every bomb, shell or bullet thrown at us by the Germans, we will give them four. I am speaking in terms of ammunition and not in numbers of men."

Patterson said the Germans had employed all their panzer divisions available in Normandy in an effort to contain the Allied beachhead. But the Allies would not be cooped up there by German defense tactics, he said.

"For four days German armored divisions hammered at the flank of the British and Canadian forces on the bridgehead across the Odon river.

"The enemy panzer divisions in the area all were called into action and were stopped with heavy losses in tanks. Thus a large scale counterattack may have been rebuffed before it really got going."

Patterson said effectiveness of the Allied air forces in smashing railroads, rolling stock, bridges and highways, plus the shortage of motor fuel, were hampering the efforts of Germans to move up reinforcements.

"One German armored unit is reported to have taken five days to go from Galicia to eastern France and 14 days from eastern France to the battle area," Patterson said.

"Some German infantry marched on foot from Paris to the battle-front area."

Patterson said a "noteworthy percentage" of the German prisoners taken in Normady, although they fought grimly, had no illusions about the ultimate defeat of Germany and were disheartened by the failure of air support.

The invasion entered its second month with the Normandy beachhead firmly established and with new battles for its expansion in the making.

NAZI SHIPS SUNK

LONDON, July 6. (U.P.)—Fast bombers of the coastal command sank four German motor torpedo boats and mine sweepers off the French channel coast early this morning and possibly damaged nine others, the Air ministry news service reported today.

Chiang Tells People Liberation Is Near

CHUNGKING, July 6. (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, in a message to the Chinese people on the eve of the beginning of Chiang's eighth year of war, acknowledged today that the military situation in his country is grave, but he told patriots in occupied areas that "liberation is close at hand."

In his "double seventh" message —the Chinese-Japanese war began in 1937 on July 7, the seventh day of the seventh month — Chiang emphasized that victory for the United Nations is certain.

He said there was "a good prospect of the early opening of a China-India land route for transporting a larger supply of war materials into China."

Slaughter Of Japs Is Impending As Yanks Close Saipan Death Trap

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 6 (AP) — Impending slaughter of Japanese, massed body to body for a last ditch stand on Saipan, and the swift seizure of a second enemy airfield 800 miles southeast of the Philippines added emphasis today to a highly significant prediction by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

"What we learn on Saipan we will use in assaults on other Japanese positions," he said at a press conference in which he pointed out that Saipan's larger land mass afforded valuable lessons for future operations.

"We are moving westward across the Pacific as rapidly as we can," the admiral assured.

"And we continue to view the future with confidence."

Japs Await Inevitable

Howard Handleman, representing the combined Allied press, reported today from aboard a flagship off Saipan that thousands of Japs, squeezed into the northeastern eighth of the island, awaited the inevitable.

"The Japs, resigned to death and defeat, lay body to body in caves and pillboxes for a final, frantic gesture against Americans they know they can't halt," he said.

Mass with them were many of the island's 25,000 Japanese civilians, whose role in the bloody showdown was a source of conjecture.

Saipan is 3,800 miles nearer Nimitz' China coast goal than he was at Pearl Harbor a year ago. Nimitz conceded the fighting had been tougher than expected.

"Our troops have the situation well in hand and I think our forces will push on rapidly to the (northeastern) end of the island," Nimitz said, "at a diminishing rate in casualties."

Despite Japan's carrier and other warship losses June 19 in the Philippines sea, the enemy navy merits such consideration that "we take into account the estimated capability of the Jap fleet in every move we make," Nimitz cautioned.

That observation heightened interest in naval task forces thrusts into the Volcano and Bonin islands to wtihin less than 700 miles of Tokyo.

"I believe we are approaching the peak of our efficiency in handling ships and planes," said Nimitz, whose fleet units have put ashore and guarded the Saipan invaders without losing a single warship so far.

USO Officials Set Visit To Lubbock

DALLAS, July 6 (U.P.) — Dr. Umphrey Lee, Southern Methodist university president and USO state chairman, and Dr. W. W. Jackson, San Antonio, USO regional executive, will confer with local directors in USO clubs of eleven West Texas cities during the week of July 10.

Improvement of USO services, possible expansion of activities where increased attendance has developed and curtailment of expenses where military personnel has been reduced will be discussed by the state leaders with local councils.

Cities to be visited include Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo, and Wichita Falls.

Wounded Yank Sees Missionaries' Value

LIBERTY, Mo., July 6 (U.P.) — An American soldier—not a Christian before he enlisted three years ago—was wounded in action high in the New Guinea mountains. A group of native "fuzzy-wuzzies" carried him to a first aid station, singing "Lead Kindly Light."

Today the soldier plans to return to that island after the war to serve as a missionary because he learned that night the value of the work, Chaplain Marvin P. Pitney wrote to his alma mater, William Jewell college, here.

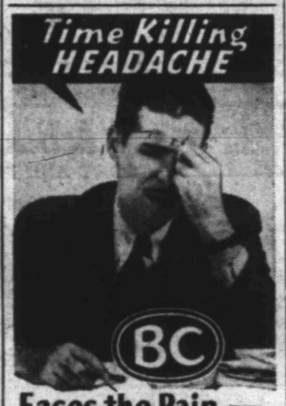

Like the New Guinea soldier, many men in the Southwest Pacific have learned that missionary work years ago now is paying dividends in American lives as natives return to our lines wounded men, chaplains reported.

Custody Fight Over Heinz Heir Settled

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (U.P.) — Judge Charles E. Haas settled the custody fight over the four-year-old son of pickle heir Clifford Stanton Heinz, jr., today by reprimanding the boy's parents and ordering him placed in a nursery school.

Judge Haas decided that after the boy, Clifford III, has remained in the care of "non-relatives" at the school for a year, he will be turned over to his father's custody.

The decision came after a five week trial in which Heinz alleged that Count Walter von Neudegg, a skiing instructor, had been found naked in his wife's hotel room. The wife described the incident as a frameup.

Parker Enrolls With Longhorns

AUSTIN, July 6. (AP) — Charley Parker, 18-year-old San Antonio dash man who just about wins every track competition he enters, signed up today as a freshman at the University of Texas.

If Uncle Sam doesn't get him first Parker's entry will give the university prospects of another fine track year. While such years are no novelty at the University of Texas, athletic officials nevertheless were pleased at the outlook.

Parker, who has won 52 final events in succession the last three years and who hasn't been beaten since the state high school meet of 1941, hopes to enter the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Even if he gets the appointment, he would not enter until July, which would give him time for one season here.

Parker's draft status, still unknown, also might prevent him from competition. He was 18 July 1.

Athletic Director Dana X. Bible does not plan to use Parker as a football prospect, but to save him entirely for track.

His record is an imposing one, including the National AAU junior 100 and senior 200 meet dash titles. He holds 17 records in all and shares in three.

He led Thomas Jefferson High school of San Antonio to state track championships in 1942 and 1944, and to second place in 1943. He is the only dash man ever to win the 100 and 220 yard dashes three years in succession in the state meet.

His best times were 9.5 in the 100 and 20.6 in the 220 yard dash, made at the 1943 state meet.

Early Entries Come In For Tennis Meet

The first entries for the city tennis tournament, scheduled for July 24, have been received at the City Recreation department, A. C. "Stumpy" Hamilton announced Thursday afternoon.

Mack Shipley and Sam Noland have entered the singles for men while Noland will team with Dub Blankenship in men's doubles.

Recreation department officials are anxious to get all entries in as soon as possible. Entries must be in by July 20, and those planning to enter are urged to call the Recreation department at 9346.

There will be divisions for junior boys and girls (15 years old and under) in both singles and doubles. adults men and women singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

Walmsley Has Rice Talking Great Team

HOUSTON, July 6. (AP) — Rice Institute, which hasn't won a Southwest Conference football championship in six years, was figuring on a good team this fall—one that would be strong enough to battle for first place.

But the other day an 18-year-old, 147-pound youngster named George Walmsley signed up to go to Rice. Thereupon Owl fandom quit talking about "a good team." Now they're expecting a great team—one that will rank high in the nation's football.

Walmsley Ranks High

The boy who caused all this flurry is one of the most celebrated high school athletes of all time in Texas. His feats have become legend not only at his home in Goose Creek but wherever football is talked in this state. He's the boy who scored 18 points in a minute and a half against Conroe, a high point of a four-year career in which he ran wild for Goose Creek's Ganders.

Surrounded by the veteran crew Coach Jess Neely expects to assemble this fall, Walmsley is given an excellent chance to crack some conference records as a freshman. To power and experience, little George will add speed, deception and an uncanny ability to call the right play at the right time.

Is Modest Boy

Modest and unassuming, Walmsley insisted that his teammates be credited with some of the plaudits he earned with his feats. In fact, when George refused to call his number frequently enough to suit the team, Coach Dan Stallworth assigned the quarterbacking to another player.

In ten games last fall, Walmsley scored 12 touchdowns, averaging 6.4 yards each time he carried the ball from scrimmage. He ran back 24 punts for 315 yards, intercepted five passes for a return of 59 yards and pitched 12 scoring passes.

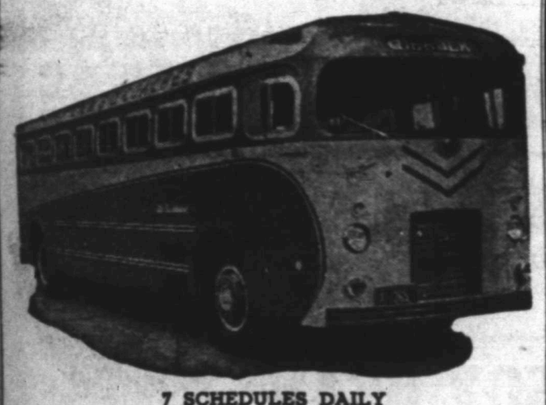

Reds Honor Mueller With $500 War Bond

CINCINNATI, July 6. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds paid tribute here tonight to catcher Ray Mueller, iron man maskman of the Reds, who caught his 534th consecutive game as Bucky Walters won his 14th of the season.

Mueller's feat broke a record set in 1909 by George Gibson of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The club presented him with a $500 war bond and his team mates gave him a tie clasp. Jimmy Wilson, coach, made the presentations with appropriate ceremonies.

Musial Gets 100th Hit As Giants Blast Cards, 10-1

ST. LOUIS, July 6. (AP)—After dropping three in a row to the St. Louis Cardinals the New York Giants, did an about face and handed the National league champions their worst drubbing of the season, winning the final game of the four-game series, 10-1 today.

Bill Voiselle stopped the flying Red Birds with eight hits and lost his shutout in the sixth when a single by Ray Sanders, a double by Stan Musial and an outfield fly by Ken O'Shea scored the Cards' lone run. It was Voiselle's 11th victory of the year.

Buddy Kerr and Nap Reyes, Cuban all-around man, subbing for the injured Phil Weintraub at first, each connected for three safeties. Kerr and Hugh Luby knocked in three runs apiece.

The Giants knocked out young Al Jurisich in the first inning with a three-run attack and continued on Fred Schmidt, Blix Donnelly and Mike Naymick amassing 14 hits.

Stan Musial, with a double and a triple in three official times at bat, boosted his season's hit total to the century mark with 100 hits in 268 times at bat for an average of .372 and a monetary tie with Dixie Walker for the National league crown.

Muncrief Blanks A's As Browns Win, 5-0

PHILADELPHIA, July 6. (AP)—Bob Muncrief racked up his eighth pitching victory against four defeats for the season as he hurled the St. Louis Browns to a 5-0 shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics in the final game of their series here today.

Muncrief, who allowed only four hits, was given a head start by Vern Stephens' three-run homer in the first inning. Woody Wheaton, making his first start on the mound for the A's after beginning the season as an outfielder, walked Mike Kreevich with one out, after which George singled. The stage then was set for Stephens, who teed off on a fast ball that was fielded by a soldier in the left field stands.

The Athletics' only extra base blow was Bill McGhee's double that opened the home half of the eighth. Despite a single by Ford Garrison, the Athletics' new first baseman got only as far as third.

Stephens had a double and a base on balls in addition to his homer, and leadoff man Don Gutteridge checked in with three hits for five times at bat. In all, Wheaton, a southpaw, gave the league leaders 10 hits.

Mart Jones Changes Time Schedule After Taking Bite Of Knee

Cpl. Mart W. Jones of Lubbock, LAAF personnel clerk, has changed his physical training hour at LAAF from 11:30 a. m. until after lunch. As the man who ran to dinner, Cpl. Jones bit his knee in a backward PT relay Thursday. Currently hobbled and no longer hungry, he has decided now to take his exercise on a full stomach.

It wasn't hunger as much as it was losing his balance he explains. When he upset his equilibrium in the race his teeth sank into his right knee. When he returned to office duty, however, Jones finally found the silver lining. "I can't march in the review tomorrow afternoon like this," he smiled. He was still smiling as he left the office for the hospital.

The PT instructors aren't taking any chances on a knee-biting fad. In the future the men will have to present ration coupons before starting a relay.

Kiwanis Blasts ABC Nine, 15-5

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, a team that has dropped seven games in a row, will decide the first half championship of the American League junior baseball race.

The Kiwanis Cards boosted their season's record to eight wins in nine starts Thursday afternoon by pounding out a 15-to-5 victory over the American Business club at Tech field. It was the last game on the schedule for the Kiwanis club.

Optimists Still Threaten

Only one team has a chance to tie the Cardinals, this is the "red hot" Optimist club nine. The Optimists play the Jaycees this afternoon at Chapman field. If the Jaycees upset the Optimists, the Kiwanis nine will be first half winners.

If the Optimists deliver as expected, the Jaycees will have another chance to chart the course of the race in a playoff of last Monday's rained-out game with the Kiwanis. The Kiwanis will then need one more win to clinch the pennant, while a Jaycee upset here would force a play-off between the Optimists and Kiwanis.

Starts Off Close

The game Thursday afternoon started off as a see-saw battle with the ABC getting off to a lead over the Kiwanis in the first inning, being tied in the second, and regaining the lead in the third.

Going into the fourth inning with ABC in the lead 3 to 2, the Kiwanis exploded with a pair of four-run splurges, then cut loose for five more in the sixth.

Dean Service Wins Easily Over Wards

With a converted infielder doing the chunking, Bill Dean's Service junior baseball nine entrenched themselves more firmly in first place in the National League by blasting the Montgomery Ward team 14 to 1 Thursday afternoon at Chapman Field.

Jernigan limited the Wardmen to five hits, and kept them well scattered. He blanked Ward's for five innings while his mates were piling up a 13-run lead behind which he coasted to an easy win.

Swedish Runners To Meet Again Friday

STOCKHOLM, July 6 (AP) — Arne Andersson and Gunder Hagg, the Swedish runners, who seem bent on acquiring a monopoly on world distance records, will meet Friday at Gotenberg, Sweden in a dual mile race in which they will be trying for a new outdoor mark.

Andersson set the world record last summer when he negotiated the distance in 4:02.6 while Hagg was in the United States on a nationwide tour. Hagg previously had lowered the world record in Sweden before making the U. S. trip, running the distance in 4:04.6. Hagg also ran the fastest mile in U. S. history while on his tour, a 4:05.3 pace.

Andersson, a school teacher, yesterday set a new world record for three quarters of a mile, running the distance here in 2:56.5. The record previously was held by Paul Moore of Stamford, who ran the distance at Palo Alto, Cal., in 2:58.7 in 1940.

Hagg last week broke his own world record for the two-mile run with a time of 8:46.4.

Big League Bullpen No Spot To Loaf In

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — Have you ever satisfied a year's old curiosity by spending a quiet Fourth of July afternoon in the bull-pen of a major league ball team?

From your seat in the packed stands, that little corner at the far end of the foul line where the pitchers warm up looks like an ideal spot to bake in a sun-tan, or catch up on catnapping.

Not A Lazy Spot

The atmosphere isn't at all that of lazy indifference out there among the relief men. Actually, the nervous tension seems harder on them than the men in the game.

For the battery boys make every play in advance . . . there's a letdown after almost every bounce of the ball, every out. The second-guessing is constant.

Take the second game of the Fourth's doubleheader between Washington and Chicago. The Sox got away to an early 2-0 lead, but the Nats tied it up in the seventh.

In the bull pen for the Senators were pitchers Bill Lefebvre, Nilo Candine, Hickey Haefner and Alex Carrasquel, with catcher Al Evans, and coaches "Handsome" Fitzgerald and Nick Altrock.

A sign came from the Washington dugout for Lefebvre to warm up . . . again . . . the big guy had been in and out of his jacket a dozen times during the afternoon . . . without once throwing to a batter. The bull pen sprang quickly to action.

Tucker A Robber

When Thurman Tucker, fleet Sox center fielder, went far back to pull down a hot smash that would have won the struggle for the Nats, the Bullpen Johnnies said not a word, but almost to the man lifted their caps, slid them on the backs of their heads, and passed knowing glances — that guy's a robber.

Finally the Sox broke it up in the 12th on Roy Schalk's single, and not a peep came from the bullpen . . . the tensioon was off, dinner was on the table, and tomorrow is another game . . . but don't go way with the idea that playing the game in the bullpen is as soft and easy as it looks from the stands.

Rains Hurls Hitless Ball Against JCC's

South Plains Army Air Field's Varieties romped over the Junior Chamber of Commerce softball ten 18-0 in a game at the diamond at Twenty-third street and Avenue W Thursday night, as Rains chalked up a no-hit no-run victory. The hitless shutout was the third thus far in the season. The Varieties, backing their defensive attack, scored four of their tallys from round-trippers.

Rains, pitching for the Varieties, struck out six men, while Hyde caught. Battery for the Jaycees: Jack Thomas, striking out one, and Shipley catching.

Tonight at six-thirty at the Twenty-third street and W basin, the South Plains Army Air Field Medics are scheduled to play the Hurlwood All-Stars.

Practical Direction Needed

IF health conditions throughout the conquered countries of Europe are found to be as bad as they are in Italy, the United Nations face a tremendous task in rehabilitating the conquered peoples of across the seas.

A distressing report on the prevalence of tuberculosis in Rome was recently issued by Lt. Col. O. J. Bizzozero, chief of the Allied Military Government's public health section. His report said that one out of every 10 persons in the Italian capital is suffering from the dread disease in one degree or another.

The disease began to show a sharp increase more than a year ago, he said, and became acute as a result of suffering during the nine months of German occupation. This development, he added, is aggravated by overcrowding and malnutrition, but energetic measures are being taken to combat it. He also reported that there has been some evidence of deficiency diseases and that the condition of children is arousing anxiety.

It is doubtful whether any nation ever gave the world as many health problems as does Nazi Germany. In almost every country the Nazis have conquered, malnutrition and disease were soon in evidence. What has happened in Italy shows that the Nazis treated their former allies quite as badly as their foes. But America in turn would lose the respect of the world if it did not accept the responsibility of participating actively in the rehabilitation of the conquered countries. If the liberated peoples were left starving and all after this war, they would soon lose all appreciation of their liberators.

That the Allies, including the United States, will be compelled to put much effort, time and money into the rehabilitation of European nations ravaged by war seems to be apparent. Practical, as well as humanitarian, reasons dictate it. Business leaders have frequently pointed out the need for giving European nations financial assistance after this war, emphasizing the fact that no nation can do business with a bankrupt people, it is also impossible to trade with ill, destitute and starving people.

The important thing—from the standpoint of the diseased people of Europe as well as from the standpoint of the American taxpayer—is that our nation's part in this gigantic and essential humanitarian effort be managed by practical men, rather than by well-meaning, but visionary, adherants to the stranger political ideologies.

All the good intentions in the world won't help the world's stricken millions to fight their way back to normal health. The campaign, to be successful, will have to be sensibly managed, and administered to without the thought of political gain, either in our own country or on the world front.

Necessary, Or Vengeful?

WHEN the Bankhead Cotton amendment to the Price Control bill was being considered in Congress a few weeks ago, officials of the Office of Price Administration gave warning that enactment in the measure would mean increases in the ceiling prices of many textiles.

On the basis of this contention, OPA fought the Bankhead amendment. But a modified version of the amendment was approved despite the opposition. It became part of the law, and OPA promptly announced an increase of 7½ per cent in ceilings at the mills of many essential garments, including underwear, sheeting, work clothes and numerous others.

In view of the advance warnings, increases were to be expected. OPA officials said this would happen—and it did happen. Perhaps it was necessary. If so, no complaint is justified. But an appropriate inquiry of the moment might to be ascertain whether the increases were ordered because they were necessary, or because OPA officials had said they would be necessary. Has the step been one of necessity, or was it taken in an attempt to vindicate an advance prediction by OPA officials? Could it be that the OPA is trying to make itself look good as a prophet? It is possible that OPA officials are using this method to discredit an amendment that they tried, unsuccessfully, to defeat?

We do not pretend to know what the answer to these questions might be. But certainly it is a fact that OPA didn't lose any time in putting new ceilings into effect. They were announced before there could have any possible opportunity to observe the working effects of the Bankhead amendment. This, of couse, could be an exercise of commendable foresight. It also might represent spiteful attempt of certain administration bureaucrats to put themselves in a position to shout, "I told you so."

However, even if the increases are justified they should do no harm—unless they are used as the pretext for price boosts out of all proportion to those which could be justified under the Bankhead amendment. But it might be well to look first into the matter of whether any increases at all were justified. Certainly they are not justified if their real purpose is to make some spiteful bureaucrat look good as a prophet.

THEY sat quietly for a while. Then Pinky remembered something and felt inside his pocket. Yes, it was still there. His harmonica. He pulled it out. "Sir, would you mind if I—played this a little?"

"Of course not."

"It keeps my mind off the other thing. Her, you know." He looked at the harmonica fondly.

"Go on son, play."

He tried to think of what he should play. There was one piece which had always been Martha's favorite—just because Pinky had made it up, that was all. Pinky didn't think it was very good, but he played it anyway.

"When did you look at her last, Pinky?"

"What?" Guiltily Pinky glanced toward the telescope, not sure whether the old man would approve. "How do you mean?"

"That's all right; that's what it's there for, son."

::Oh . . . well, I didn't like to look . . . oh, I mean, I did . . ." Anguish grayed his voice and his eyes again. "But see, well, I remember her like this." He opened his bill fold and showed the old man a snapshot.

"Yes, I know, Pinky. Pretty, isn't she? That was in front of your mother's house, wasn't it?"

Pinky nodded. "But what I mean is . . . whenever I used to look at her, I always wanted to put my arms around her. Now I'd be afraid. As though I might hurt her, or something."

"I don't think you'd hurt her," the kind old voice assured him gently. "A woman, when she's that way, needs her husband's arms around her." The old man paused, then added softly: "That's why I feel so sorry for so many women now . . . their men away at war . . . and their babies soon to come."

* * *

FOR a while the old man and the boy sat in tender silence, sharing the miresies of the world. Pinky had never felt so close to anyone in his life . . . not even to Martha . . . not quite, not this way, though she was still uppermost in his mind. After a moment he nodded earthward: "Father, if you see now—could you tell me how she is? When I looked last time, she was waiting for them to take her to the hospital at Elm City."

The old man looked. "She's there now, Pinky."

"Yes? What's the room like? Does she have a good one?"

"Well, she doesn't have it alone."

"No?"

"No, all hospitals are pretty crowded now. But it's a nice room. There are three other girls in it—young, like her. They've already had their babies." God paused. "Your mother's there now, waiting in the ante-room."

"Why isn't she with her, in the room?"

"Because Martha's not in the room, Pinky."

"No?"

"She was there. Her clothes are there . . . her dress and coat . . . all hung neatly in the closet."

"Then she's—in the delivery room?" The last words were barely a sound.

"That's right, Pinky."

* * *

PINKY rose and began to walk up and down the porch.

"Now, Pinky, that's not going to help."

"I know but—" He paused as a worrisome thought ccurred to him. "She doesn't know about me yet, does she? I mean, they haven't sent her the telegram yet?"

"No, she still thinks you're in Africa."

"I hope they never tell her. I hope the telegram gets lost!"

"Now, Pinky . . ." The old man turned to look at him. Pinky had begun his pacing again. The boy's nervousness was catching, and the old man stirred restlesly, running his hand through his hair. "Please Pinky, sit down."

"I can't. If you could only tell me—if it's going to turn out all right."

"But I don't know! It would be, if I could send someone to her, like in the old days."

Pinky stopped in front of the telescope, stared at it. "I want to look, but—"

"I don't think you'd better. Now see here, son . . ." Then suddenly the temptation was too much; the old man rose too, joining Pinky on the porch, put his arm around him, and slowly they began pacing together. "The thing to do is just keep calm. Why, everybody has babies, it happens all the time. Nothing to worry about."

The feet of the two men trod in unison . . . up and down . . . way to the end of the porch, turned and came back. Up and down.

After a while Pinky again took out his harmonica and played softly as they walked.

Lorenzo Bond Rally Scheduled Friday

LORENZO, July 6. (Special) — There will be a bond rally Friday night beginning at 8:30 o'clock in the gymnasium of Lorenzo High school, and an effort will be made to sell approximately $40,000 in bonds, Roy Terrell, chairman of the Fifth War Loan drive, announced.

Lorenzo has a quota of $90,000 for the drive and approximately $50,000 of that amount has been sold.

A special speaker will be on hand for the program.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

GLOBAL THINKERS, Inc., is the name of a new society that has ben formed in Nashville, Tenn., for "a return to finer femininity so that our men won't come home from the battlefronts to a lot of drunken, immoral women."

The founder of the Society defines finer femininity as "abstaining from drinking and smoking, getting out of slacks, growing up in modesty, and generally raising moral standards from the mire where they've begun to sink."

The "Global Thinkers, Inc." are conducting a "seminar" during which they intend to take the initial steps for rebuilding women.

* * *

I have been greatly impressed by the announcement.

I hadn't realized that our women are sinking into a mire of immortality and shame.

My wife does Red Cross work and serves on several war committees. She takes care of her sick mother and of me.

Yes, she smokes a cigaret now and then and even drinks an occasional cocktail.

I looked at her shoes—not a sign of muck or mire!

A neighbor of our, a very attractive young woman, smokes cigarets and takes a drink whenever she feels like it.

Her husband is an Army officer overseas, but she has just adopted a lovely little boy. She loves fun and dancing and is crazy about Frank Sinatra.

No mire there, as far as I can see.

Certainly they wear slacks and costume jewelry, and they paint their fingernails and like a highball or a glass of wine.

And these terrible women, these brazen hussies, these lost souls, work day and night to win the war. They have brothers and husbands and fathers and sweethearts overseas for whom they are willing to work 24 hours a day to bring him home an hour sooner.

* * *

FOR the love of Pete, you "Global Thinkers," and you globaloney reformers, why don't you mind your own business?

Why do you have to tell others how to behave, why don't you keep to your own knitting and learn tolerance, sympathy and understanding? There is so much to do and so few to do it.

There is nothing wrong with our women except that they are twentieth-century beings in a twentieth-century world.

I don't like to see women smoke cigarets, but maybe they don't like to see me smoke my pipe.

But if any woman told me to stop smoking it, I'd tell her to go where I expect her to tell me to go if I told her to stop!

Live and let live is still a good motto.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

IN THE pre-campaign conferences held in Chicago with Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey, GOP leaders concluded that Gov. John Bricker of Ohio is a far stronger choice for Vice President than Gov. Earl Warren would have been.

The Californian was the "pin-up boy" at the convention. He burns with personality. He could have had the VP nomination on a platter, but he explained his predicament to Governor Dewey and to other Warwicks in Chicago.

He said, in effect, "My name on your ticket would hurt rather than help in carrying California and other western states. I might be a liability rather than an asset."

Such modest and humble admissions by an American politician are so unusual that the hard-boiled gang of listeners at the Stevens hotel blushed to the lobes of their ears.

"Here is what I mean," continued the tall, robust, handsome Westerner. "No state will be faced with as many difficult postbellum problems as California. We have had an influx of a million workers because of the war. We face the prospect of postwar unemployment, ghost towns and economic and social chaos.

"I don't intend to let that misfortune befall California, if I can prevent it.

"Moreover, my lieutenant governor is running for the Senate against Sheridan Downey. If he and I should win, it would mean that a comparatively inexperienced man might sit in the big chair at Sacramento in a time of great trial to my beloved state."

That argument convinced Mr. Dewey that it would be a mistake to "draft" Warren.

* * *

SHOCK: Plain political bread-and-butter considerations bulwarked the nomination of the popular and likable Buckeye executive.

He became a "natural" for the second spot, and not merely because Governor Warren did a disappearing act.

Here is the story behind the selection of Bricker:

Republican bigwigs in Washington, including Harrison Spangler, House Minority Leader "Joe" Martin and even Ohio-born "Bob" Taft, have assumed that the Middle Western tier of commonwealths—Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana—was safe for almost any GOP Presidential nominee.

That is why, in making convention arrangements and campaign plans, they neglected the Mississippi Valley area. In accordance with the original plan, candidates, convention keynoters, officials and orators, such as Herbert Hoover and Claire Boothe Luce, all came from other sections of this broad land.

The corn belt was, in effect, disinherited by the party whose seed sprouted here on the eve of another war.

So it came as a severe shock to the GOP bosses to discover that this electorally important region is not sealed, sold and delivered to any Republican candidate.

* * *

LABOR: If the war remains as the great issue of the campaign, the mothers of the Middle West are no different from those elsewhere and they, too, may vote for FDR because they want an old and trained man as their boys' Commander in Chief.

Under such circumstances and because of this emotional strain, there was no assurance that the section which produced so many Republican statesmen but has voted for FDR since 1932 (except for Michigan) would have plumped for a Dewey-Warren ticket.

Here is another unnoticed and neglected factor: Of the three men—Governors Dewey, Warren and Bricker—the latter has the best pro-labor and anti-utility record by far. His nomination, together with the labor and social welfare planks in the platform, may win over AFL, CIO and UMW votes in such big and powerful states as Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and West Virginia.

* * *

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE REAL explanation of the break between Washington and Helsinki is that the Finnish people have been sold down the river by their pro-Nazi rulers.

The tiny republic is a house divided against itself. The common folk yearn for peace. They like Americans and Britons. Yet they find themselves harnessed to the Hitler chariot and under the whiplash of their own fascist drivers.

Among the cabinet ministers who have brought tragedy to Finland are men who once were friendly to the democracies. Professor Adwin Linkomies, the prime minister and the leader of the Conservative party, used to make pro-American speeches. In home affairs he is reactionary and antagonistic to labor.

Henrik Ramsey is of Scottish descent and until this was was considered an Anglophile. He is a wealthy industrialist and the spokesman of big business. Most of the other ministers are compromisers except former Premier Vaino Tanner, foreign secretary. He is one of the ablest politicians in northern Europe and strongly anti-Communistic.

* * *

PRISONERS: Representatives of the IKM (National Patriotic Movement), the Agrarian party and the Conservatives favor Germany. Socialist leaders like Speaker Vanio Hakkila are not hostile to Moscow. Hakkila, a few years ago, ordered the Red flag hoisted in honor of a Socialist convention.

Finnish workers, small holders and farmers have shown a willingness to make peace with the Soviet. In fact, Muscovite prisoners of war employed on farms are treated so well that a government organ printed: "It is not right that Russian soldiers should become members of the family."

* * *

BRUTALITIES: Secretary Hull carefully explained that our breach is with the Helsinki government, not with the people. The totalitarian clique, dominated by Nazis, has been as ruthless in suppressing minorities as has its idol in Berlin.

Political opponents have been executed for expressing their views. Anti-Fascist authors and newspapermen have been sent to concentration camps. Public pressure finally compelled the administration to dismiss State Police Chief Anthoni for copying Gestapo methods in a democracy.

The latest issue of Dagens Nyheter, published in neutral Sweden, reports that Arndt Pekurinen, the leader of the pacifists in Helsinki, was tortured by having a nail driven through his head. If this account is accurate, it reveals how much in common the present regime has with the Nazi tyrants.

It probably is untrue that men like President Ryti and Marshal Mannerheim would stoop to such baseness.

But the world has learned to its sorrow that when democracies collaborate with Hitler their subordinate officials act like petty Himmlers. Witness the brutalities inflicted upon the French population by Marshal Petain's chief of the militia, the terrorist Joseph Darnand.

* * *

FASCISTS: For a time the present government dabbled in peace talks. As many of its members on April 27, 1941, had opened the door to German troops, two months before Hitler attacked Russia and before Soviet planes bombed Finland, they had to arrange terms supposedly better than those of 1940.

They hinted that they would get back Viipuri and the Saima canal and announced, "Our struggle was not in vain; we have something to show for it."

After the Kremlin refused to make soft terms, they discarded the olive branch. Hitler, on the pretense of supporting them, took over the country—lock, stock and barrel—as he did Austria and Hungary.

Instead of fighting the Russians, his soldiers occupied Finnish cities and now the Helsinki Fascist rulers are as much his prisoners as are the puppet ministers of the Balkans.

Here And There In Texas

Candidates "All Set" For State's Biennial Voting

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 6.—Texas' great bi-ennial lottery is over for another two years. It is the drawing for position of candidates' names on the ballot of the Democratic Primary Election.

A ballot is printed by the State Democratic Executive committee and sent to each county Democratic chairman, certifying the names of candidates for the various statewide offices. But each county by drawing determines for itself the order in which the candidates names shall appear in each of the races.

The ballot in Anderson county, for instance, may differ greatly from the one used in Zavala county. Besides the difference in the order of names of candidates for state-wide office, the ballots differ because of the addition of candidates for district and local offices that include the particular county.

Usually the ballot drawing is done by placing all the names of candidates for a given office in a hat. Then they are assigned ballot position in the order in which their names are drawn from the hat.

* * *

Opinions Differ

Candidates are divided in opinion on "best" position on a ballot. Some think first place is best; others pick last place. All seem to agree that the places in-between are not so good.

The argument for first place advantage is that the voter who has not made up his mind definitely for any particular candidate in the race will vote for the first one and strike the others.

But many are equally positive that the undecided voter usually runs through the whole list to see if anyone meets his fancy, and then votes for the last one.

* * *

THE candidate's legal name and the county of his residence is all he is permitted to have on the ballot. This is an old rule in state primary elections but has been subject to inquiry this year to determine if men in military service might have that designated by using the military title or class. The answer from the State Democratic Executive committee was "no." Attempts to use nicknames have been made in former elections. Several years ago a candidate had a court change his name for ballot purposes.

* * *

"Old Folks" Not So Strong

The "old folks" vote may not be nearly so great a factor in deciding political races as some have thought. It is customary to say that all the folks over 60 years of age vote because they do not have to pay poll tax for the privilege.

One candidate decided to test it out. He had a friend ask 100 old people. But 33 of them had taken out the poll tax exemption certificate.

This test was made in Austin where folks are supposed to be particularly politically-minded. Whether it would hold good in other parts of the state, the tester did not profess to know.

RECENT reports that radar in postwar era will be a regular "magic wand" to fishermen are expanded into an exagerated word account of how it will work in the current issue of Texas Game and Fish, publication of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission.

After having the fisherman leave home in a jeep, the article continues:

"At the lake he will transfer to an LST . . . . he will set up his radar set, and read a few last minute instructions. When the radar has located the bass family and determined just where the family is going and how, but why not, the fisherman will bait his hook or select what he believes is the proper lure and cast it into the water.

"Then he will sit back, put up a copy of Vernon's Annotated Statutes, giving complete on Texas' vast and conflicting fishing regulations, take a squint at the barometer and probably take a sip or two from the jug if the barometer reading is right. The jug is optional equipment.

"Within an hour or so, he will have his limit of bass and the journey home begins—a smile on his face, a heart that threatens to burst into song, all because fishing was good. Thanks to radar."

* * *

Prognostications Preferred

Capitol nimrods don't have to go to all of the trouble some fishermen do to determine if the fish are biting at one of the several lakes near Austin.

They rely—and justly so—on the prognositcations of Associate Justice J. H. Baugh and Clerk Ed Moore of the State Court of Civil Appeals.

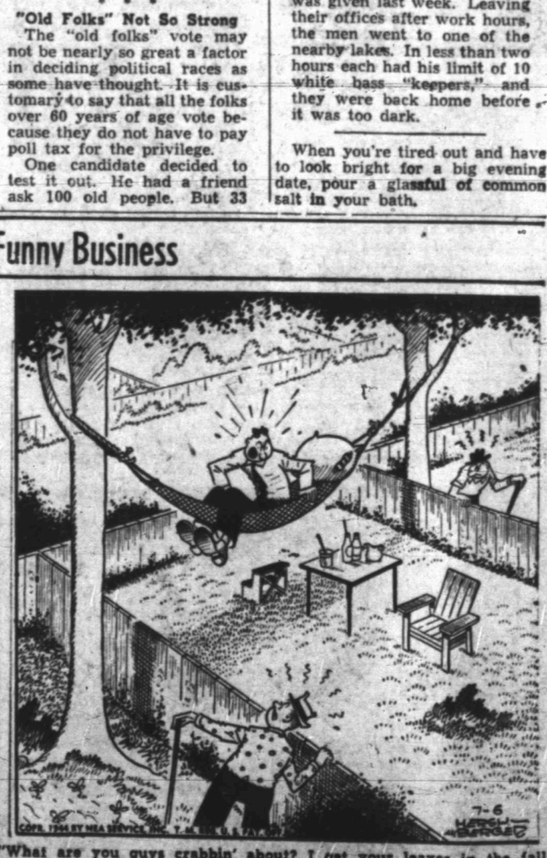

Practically a stock answer to the inquiry: "Wonder if the fish are biting today?" is "Ask Judge Baugh or Ed Moore—they'll know."

While neither of them claims any supernatural power, they both say they've fished so long that knowing how, when and where seems second nature.

A sample of their ability was given last week. Leaving their offices after work hours, the men went to one of the nearby lakes. In less than two hours each had his limit of 10 white bass "keepers," and they were back home before it was too dark.

When you're tired out and have to look bright for a big evening date, pour a glassful of common salt in your bath.

Two Former Texans Drown In Colombia

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., July 6. (AP)—Two former Brownsville residents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Yates, jr., who drowned in a Colombian lake near Techo airport Sunday, were buried yesterday at Bogata, Colombia. Burial was in the British-American cemetery at Bogata, following joint services.

Pan American airlines said the bodies were found Monday. Mrs. Yates was a former Lufkin, Tex., resident.

STOCKS RUN INTO TROUBLE

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — The stock market ran into technical difficulties today after its long drive to an average peak since 1937, but buying of rails, oils, liquors and specialties helped offset selling elsewhere.

Oils had the benefit of mounting demand for petroleum and word the Defense Supplies Corp. was working on a subsidy plan to boost crude production in stripper wells. Phillips Petroleum particularly was buoyed by reports of new discoveries on its Texas properties.

Transfers of 1,713,100 shares compared with 2,435,770 yesterday. The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 55.8.

Casualties included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, American Telephone, Willys-Overland, Goodyear, Goodrich, Great Northern, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck and Eastman Kodak. Advancers, a number at tops for 1944 or longer, were Commonwealth and Southern, Delaware and Hudson, Union Pacific, Phillips Petroleum, Amerada, Skelly Oil, Schenley, Distillers Corp., Worthington Pump and Laclede Gas preferred.

Bonds were uneven.

Improved in the curb were South Penn Oil, Segal Lock, and Republic Aviation. Lower were Fansteel, Cities Service and Electric Bond and Share. The aggregate here was 513,740 shares versus 637,840 the day before.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Cotton futures turned reactionary today under profit-taking induced by a further early rise to new seasonal highs. Final losses were 25 to 95 cents a bale.

A considerable amount of liquidation against purchases of spot cotton was a contributory factor as was the uncertain nature of the cotton amendment to the government price control law. Some brokers said the market had already discounted the effects of the legislation.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 6 (AP)—Cotton futures closed steady $1.05 to $1.40 a bale lower here today. The decline was due mainly to profit taking from the long side.

War news and weather reports again were favorable and probably added somewhat to the offerings. There was also increased hedge selling which came mainly from spot houses.

Red Juggernaut

Near Latvian Border

Gen. Ivan Bagramian's drive northwestward from Polotsk, already within a few miles of the borders of both Latvia and Lithuania, swept into more than 150 inhabited localities, including five railway stations. West and northwest of Minsk, Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army captured more than 300 places.

Both drives directly threatened the city of Wilno (Vilna), disputed in battle for centuries, and the communique disclosed fresh bombings there and at Bialystok by huge fleets of Russian bombers during the night.

The Russians straightened their central front on a direct north-south line more than 60 miles long at a point about 45 miles west of Minsk, and in the process captured Mikhalishki, 36 miles northeast of Wilno.

Burma campaigns to reopen that road. Only 26 miles separated advanced Allied units across the mountainous border.

Southeast China

Some Allied successes were reported even in southeast China where Nipponese troops were trying to close a vice on the last segment of the Hankow-Canton railway. Chinese reported winning skirmishes both north and south of Hengyang, junction city still held tenaciously by surrounded Chinese troops.

Bedraggled refugees fled in droves from threatened territory. Some were suffocated in stampedes into trains. Others toppled to their deaths from roofs of coaches.

Chiang admitted the "situation is grave." President Roosevelt assured him victories against Germany and Japan are "hastening the day when Chinese and Allied armies will sweep the invader from your country." Prime Minister Churchill reiterated the British pledge "to bring our whole weight on Japan" when the war in Europe ends.

Four Injured In Car-Truck Crash

Mrs. O. L. Castle of Morton was reported in a critical condition late Thursday night in Lubbock General hospital following an accident yesterday morning near Abernathy in which three other members of her family were injured.

Mrs. Castle received a broken leg which necessitated amputation. Both her arms were broken, her face was bruised and she suffered a deep gash over her left eye. Other victims and their injuries were: her son, Otho Loyd, 3, gash between eyes; Mrs. Wilma Castle, double fracture of jaw; Seaman 1/c Lynn Castle. Seaman Castle was taken to Lubbock Army Air field hospital and the extent of his injuries were not known, but it was believed that they were not serious.

On East-West Highway

Seaman Castle is Mrs. O. L. Castle's son, and Mrs. Wilma Castle is the sailor's wife.

The mishap occurred on the Littlefield-Petersburg highway four miles north and four miles west of Abernathy. The victims were brought to Lubbock in a Rix ambulance.

Danny Castle, 5, another son of Mrs. O. L. Castle, was also in the accident but was not injured.

The car in which the Castles were riding hit a pickup truck owned by Struve Cheese factory of Abernathy and driven by Johnny Lindsey, 16, according to Patrolman Tom Laws of the State Highway patrol. Also in the pickup was Arthur Struve. Neither Lindsey nor Struve was injured.

At "Blind Corner"

The accident occurred at a "blind corner," Laws said. The Castle car was going east and the truck was headed south.

Two Abernathy youths, John Paul Johnson and Gene Fuller, came along in cars soon after the accident and took the injured to a doctor's office in Abernathy for first aid.

The Castles were reported to be en route to Hale Center to visit relatives. Seaman Castle had been overseas for 10 months and was home on leave.

ing that Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, commander of the Fifth Army, pinned the Distinguished Service Cross on Walker.

Serving with him in Italy were two sons, 1st Lt. Charles W. Walker, the general's aide, and Lt. Col. Fred Walker, jr., division tactical officer. The latter is a West Point graduate.

Old Campaigner

General Walker got his start with the Ohio National Guard. He campaigned in the Philippines insurrection and in the punitive expedition against Pancho Villa. In World War 1 he was in the second battle of the Marne, with the Third division.

He was assigned to the 36th in September, 1941, during the maneuvers in Louisiana and was promoted to major general the following January.

First the division was made up mostly of Texans, but later, replacements came from many states.

Three Men Killed In Explosion And Fire

OIL CITY, Pa., July 6. (AP) — Three men were killed and at least 20 were reported injured today in an explosion and fire at a gasoline plant of the Pennzoil corporation near here. Emergency calls were placed for blood plasma.

There were reports that several persons also were missing.

Howard Schultheis, Oil City newspaperman, said injured lay strewn on the grounds near the plant waiting for rescuers to pick them up.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Local traders gave some support to the wheat market in late dealings today but any attempt at a rally brought increased commission house offerings and futures were sharply lower. A substantial part of the sales was believed to be hedging by cash interests against large receipts of grain at southwestern markets.

Rye was easy and the trade was dull, influenced principally by dealings in the wheat pit.

Wheat closed ¾ to 1 ⅛ lower than yesterday's finish, July $1.56 ¾. Oats were off ½ to 1 ⅜, July 77 ½. Rye was unchanged to ¾ lower, July $1.09 ⅞-1.10. Barley was off ⅛ to ¾, July $1.25 ⅜.

Lubbock Army Air field announced this week promotions in grades for six bfficers. Promoted from first lieutenant to captain were John E. Johns, Robert F. Smith, and Robert T. Hauman. From second to first lieutenant, promotions included Rodman J. Redard, Blanford O. Hayden, and Robert A. Greif.

S. E. Shockley, 113 Avenue U, reported theft of $235 to police Thursday night. He told officers the money was hidden in his home. In another case Clyde Beene, 711 Twenty-ninth street, said a burglar entered his home about dusk, apparently, and took a $60 radio. Entrance was made through a window.

S. E. Cone, Lubbock dealer in grain and oil, was resting "fairly well" at midnight, West Texas hospital reported. A diagnosis of the case still had not been completed, it was said. Cone was stricken Wednesday while transacting business in a downtown office building.

Nine or ten synthetic truck and bus tires were taken Wednesday night in the burglary of Holt-Gamble Tire company, 1319 Texas avenue, it was reported to police yesterday. Entrance was through a broken rear window. G. W. Scott, who reported the burglary, valued the tires at around $250 and said they had been received only Wednesday.

An aviation-minded thief took several model planes from 2724 Locust street, police were told Thursday by Loyd Hilton. A bike trailer which held the planes was also taken.

A one-room house at 100 Avenue U which provided sleeping quarters for several cotton choppers was completely destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon, according to assistant Fire Chief John Nugent. A six-year-old boy was the only person present when the place caught fire. Firemen said the youngster was valiantly fighting the fire with a garden hose when they arrived. The boy told firemen that $200 was cached in a mattress which was destroyed.

Normandy Front

The German news agency DNB said Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd von Runstedt, German commander in the west, had been replaced by Marshal Geunther von Kluge, counter-offensive specialist from the Russian front, possibly presaging a heavy counter blow. DNB said von Runstedt was in "ill health."

The Americans liberated three towns—Glatigna, four miles southwest of La Haye, Scorman, nearby, and La Butte, six miles east at the edge of the big bog, the Marais de Gorges.

Far behind the front the French underground was fighting so well that the supreme command released a special communique detailing its accomplishments—five districts liberated, vital enemy troop lines south of Normandy choked off, and whole enemy divisions engaged.

After Strategic Height

Some of the most significant U. S. progress was three miles east of La Haye, where the doughboys in savage fighting were aiming for the tree-covered heights of the forest de Mont Castre, whose control would make German positions untenable in this sector.

British and Canadian troops clung stubbornly to Carpiquet, only three miles west of Caen, and just to the south fought for the airfield, which became a part of no-man's land.

The British also had great troop concentrations in this area for what may be the showdown battle for Caen, 125 miles west of Paris. The close packing of troops on both sides left little room for maneuvering.

Tough Fighting Area

The fighting on the American front was heavy for the attackers because the region has only three narrow corridors over which the Americans can advance between the marshes. These corridors are heavily defended by mortar and machine gun crews.

Once out of them, the Americans then run into strong hedge defenses, where the enemy is cleverly dug in. The Germans have brought up additional medium and heavy artillery, but their firepower is no match for the American guns, which pound away day and night.

Truckers Row To Be Taken To President

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — The War Labor board today voted unanimously to direct WLB Chairman William H. Davis to take steps to send a midwest truckers dispute to the White House.

The action followed refusal by the Midwest Operators association to comply with a WLB order for a wage increase to employes. The operators appeared at a WLB hearing this afternoon to explain why they did not comply.

Scores Dead In Circus Disaster

ferno to their acrobatic training. They had just climbed to the wire above the enthralled circus audience when they noticed the flames.

"We slid down the ropes and headed for the performers' exit," said Herman Wallenda, "but people were so crowded there that we saw we didn't have a chance. So we climbed over the cage that lines the exit. That was easy for us—we're performers. But the public couldn't get out that way."

After viewing the ruins tonight, Herbert Duval, circus adjuster, commented:

"We're out of business."

Only One To Compare

Circus people said that only one accident in circus history compared to the disaster which struck here during this afternoon's performance. That was in 1918 when a 40-car Hagenbeck-Wallace circus train was wrecked, resulting in a toll of 85 dead and 150 injured.

Olver said the cause of the fire was undetermined, but expressed the belief "it started most likely from a cigarette, intentional or accidental, dropped by someone sitting in the upper rows of seats."

Eye witnesses groped for words to describe the scene of horror which quickly unfolded before them as the first flame, described by one as so small that it could have been put out with a pail of water," quickly became a lethal, fiery weapon.

Frantic Calls For Children

Above the roar of frightened animals could be heard the frantic calls of mothers seeking their children and the furious crackling of flames as they first quickly enveloped the big tent and then sent the canvas to the ground in ruins.

"The tent went up in a puff of smoke — the flames went in through the sides and out through the sides in one gust," said Clarence E. Wilson, collector for the business office of the Hartford Times who had just collected money from the circus for newspaper and radio advertising, and was leaving the circus grounds when the fire struck.

Wilson had left his wife and child in the circus tent to see the performance, and did not know they had escaped safely until he returned to the Times office.

Gone In Ten Minutes

Within ten minutes, he said, the tent was completely burned out and everything was charred "like burnt paper as far as I could see.

'I saw rows of charred bodies lying between the burned bleachers," he said. "They showed no evidence of being trampled on, but were scorched and burned.

"The heat was intense and women and children were running out of the grounds. Men were crying for their children. There was terrible howling and screeching and panic.

"In the audience was a group of convalescent servicemen from Bradley (Army Air) field. I hope they got out.

"There was nothing the fire department could do when it got there."

To Go To Winter Quarters

Like Duval, Roland Butler, general press agent for the show, said that as soon as the authorities permitted, the circus would return to its winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla. He expressed the belief, however, that the show could be re-equipped in time to hit the road again before the end of the summer.

All of the animals were saved and none of the circus personnel was more than slightly hurt, said Butler.

"We still have last year's big top," he explained, "and I think it can be repaired for use again this year."

Eye Witness Accounts

As eye-witness accounts continued to be pieced together many poignant details of the frenzied minutes when thousands tried to flee possible cremation, came to light.

One man said the din of shouting and shrieking as crescendo of fear welled up from the throng, was deafening. It mingled, he said, with the crash of falling grandstand chairs.

Scores of men, women and children tried with varying success to jump from high seats. Many children were dropped bodily from elevated seats to make their way as best they could to safety.

"Their cries," said a reporter who was himself almost caught in the mass," were awful to hear."

No Escape For Many

For many of these children, however, there was no escape as fire enveloped them.

As soon as Commissioner Hickey, who succeeded in shepherding a party of nine children he had brought to the circus to the outside, could get state police marshaled, lanes were cleared through to the city's three hospitals.

As the injured were sped to hospital beds, those who had died were removed to the armory.

Paul Gokey of Hartford, who fled from the big top without injury, said.

Spread Awfully Fast

"It was only a little blaze when it started — it could have been put out with a pail of water. Suddenly, I saw that little flame starting in the sidewall about 75 feet inside the entrance. It spread awfully fast—right up to the top. People were knocked down, and other people walked on them. Outside there was tremendous confusion."

Another eye wtiness, policeman Arthur Barnard, who lives just across from the circus grounds, said "so many kids were hurt because the flaming tent dropped right on them."

"They shinnied down the ropes and poles," he said. "Some of them were laughing and excited."

Backgammon is believed to have been invented in the tenth century.

The Gallup Poll

Public Sees Nazi Defeat During 1944

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 6.—The warning against home front optimism issued by Generals Marshall and Arnold and Admiral King would seem to have been well-timed, for a survey just completed by the Institute shows that the American public's guesses about the length of the war have taken a sharply optimistic turn in recent weeks.

GALLUP

Whereas the average estimate at the end of March was that the fighting in Europe would continue well into 1945, today the public's estimate is that Germany will be beaten and the European war brought to an end within six months.

There is increasing confidence too of an early victory over Japan. The average guess is that Hirohito and his minions will be out of the war by the end of 1945 — a year and a half from now. Only about one person in ten thinks the Japanese war will still be going in 1946.

Attitudes toward the length of the war have been sounded at regular intervals by the Institute in surveys on the following question:

How much longer do you think the war with Germany will last? How much longer do you thinks the war with Japan will last?"

The last test, in March, came at a time when American and British troops were making comparatively slow progress in Italy. Today's new poll reflects the fall of Rome, the success of the Normandy invasion, the steady advance of the Russians toward Minsk, and the Superfortress bombing raid of Japan.

Public's Guess on Length of War With Germany

	Today	Last March
In 1944	59%	33%
First half 1945	28	39
Second half 1945	3	7
In 1946 or later	6	14
Unwilling to guess	4	7

Attitudes toward the war against Japan are shown below.

War With Japan

	Today	Last March
In 1944	14%	6%
In 1945	49	33
In 1946	21	32
In 1947 or later	11	21
Unwilling to guess	5	8

The median average of estimates on the length of the Japanese war is one and one-half years, on the German war, six months.

Idalou Rally Sells $47,750 In Bonds

IDALOU, July 6. (Special) — Citizens of this community purchased $47,750 in war bonds at a Fifth war loan rally here tonight.

One $5,000 bond was bought by J. N. Marks, local groceryman. Luther Isom bought three $100 bonds for his son, Robert Isom, who is a prisoner of the Japanese.

Homer L. Pharr, Lubbock attorney, delivered the principal address and music was furnished by Joyce Halsey and her Drugstore Cowboys of Lubbock's radio station KFYO. Roy Boyd, county bond sales chairman, arranged the program.

Quota for Idalou and Becton communities is $70,275. Bonds in the amount of $7,200 were sold at a recent rally at Becton, and that amount has been substantially increased in the last several days.

Bailey Guess is chairman of the Idalou bond committee, and Frank Bledsoe is head of the Becton group.

Other members of the Idalou committee are John Toler, C. E. De Busk, W. R. Tanner, J. W. Hairston, F. M. Brownfield, Ottis Isom, E. D. Sowder, R. P. Onstott, J. W. Turner, L. E. Countess, J. L. Herbst, and F. W. Johnson.

Police Crack Down On Juvenile Gang Wars

HOUSTON, July 6. (AP)—Police were ordered today by Chief Percy F. Heard to break up open warfare waged at intervals this week by members of three juvenile gangs.

An estimated 40 boys, ranging in age from 12 to 18, are participating in the flareups, Heard said. Some carry pistols and knives and others use clubs.

Ruling Is Given On School Resurveys

AUSTIN, July 6. (UP)—A county board of school trustees has no authority to resurvey all common school districts in the county where subdivision of the school districts or changes in boundaries are not desired, the attorney general's department ruled today.

The ruling was made in an opinion furnished Mrs. Artie Fultz, Grimes county attorney.

TRAINING SLATED

AUSTIN, July 6. (UP)—Southwest Texas state teachers college, San Marcos, soon will inaugurate a course of special training for teachers of maladjusted and physically handicapped children, the state board of control today was informed. In the 11 state institutions the board supervises there are about 4,000 children who require specially trained instructors.

Buzz-Bombing Stirs Britons To Demand For Retaliatory Blows

By KIRK L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The outstanding fact about the terroristic Nazi buzz-bomb blitz against London, aside from its heavy toll of casualties, is that it is wasted effort so far as the effect on British morale is concerned. By the testimony of Prime Minister Churchill and American observers in England it has stirred British public opinion only to demands for counter-bombing of non-military objectives in Germany.

SIMPSON

Churchill gave no intimation of additional ways and means being devised to deal with the robot bomb barrage. But the fact that London is the Nazi target may mean that a program for offensive, not defensive, action to end this nuisance has been worked out. His reticence as to counter measures implies that.

No Military Significance

Churchill made no effort to minimize the seriousness of the situation for Londoners. He also made it quite clear, however, that in the judgment of the Allied high military command the robot plane bomb attack has small military significance.

As now disclosed, the Nazi buzz-bomb device seems to be of strictly limited usefulness except for its indicated prime purpose of staging a retaliatory long-range bombing of London in answer to Allied air blasting of Berlin and other German cities.

Frank James' Widow Dies

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., July 6. (U.P.)—Mrs. Ann Ralston James, 93, widow of Frank James, partner in the notorious James gang which made post-civil war Missouri known nationally as "the robber state," died today in a local hospital without ever having talked publicly of the years of banditry of her husband and brother in law.

Since the death of Frank James in 1915, his widow had led a secluded life. Efforts of reporters to obtain her story of the days when the James boys and their followers rode the trail of outlawry repeatedly were rebuffed.

Mrs. James was the last living member of the immediate James family households who knew that story.

Lived With Son

Mrs. James made her home with her son, Robert, at the old James homestead east of Kearney, Mo., where sightseers and the curious came to chip souvenirs from the buildings.

Her husband was one of the last survivors of the gang of bandits who rode out of Quantrill's Civil War bushwhackers to terrorize the western part of Missouri and extend its sway beyond the boundaries of this state to end finally in the gunfire of vigilantes in a Minnesota town.

While Jesse died shot in the back while living in St. Joseph, Mo., under the name of Howard, Frank did his penance and, like Cole Yonger who had ridden with them, lived until the first World War broke.

Mrs. James died of old age.

Curiosity Of Texan Pays Off For Army

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy, July 6. (U.P.)—A keen sense of curiosity operated by 1st Lt. Paul I. Wells of Grand Prairie, Tex., has paid dividends to the ordnance forces with the Fifth army in Italy.

Wells, attached to a signal unit of the 36th "Texas" division, let his roving eyesight rest on an object in a ditch of a small town through which he was passing en route forward to set up a command post.

Prisoners still were being taken and snipers neutralized in the town near Rome, but the Texan halted.

"I had never seen any weapon that looked quite like that one, so I decided to turn it in to ordnance," Wells said.

"The weapon, on the side of which was fastened a sign in German "not to fall into enemy hands," turned out to be a valuable find for the ordnance boys.

It was a new type rocket launcher developed by the Germans as an imitation of the U. S. Army's famed bazooka.

S. L. Forrest, Lubbock lumberman, in speaking to the Lion's club Thursday noon, said the building industry is calling on the citizens of the United States to build soundly when present restrictions are lifted, since the day of "just throwing four walls together is passing out of the picture." Forrest spoke favorably of the nation's supply of lumber, and predicted that since the building industry puts more men to work than any other, that the slack could easily be taken up if and when restrictions are lifted at end of the war with Germany.

The Army district recruiting office will continue to be maintained here at room 208 in the federal building following the closing of the West Texas recruiting and induction station here on July 31, according to Lt. 200 Notices Given Motorists For Lack Of Auto Use Stamp

About 200 Lubbock motorists who failed either to purchase the $5 auto use stamp, or had not placed the stamp on the windshield of the car, were reminded of that fact by notices placed on the cars to come to the Office of Internal Revnue in the Lubbock National Bank building to explain why they had not complied with the law, according to L. B. Barkley, field division chief of the Lubbock office.

The deadline for purchase of the stamps was June 30, Barkley said, and stamps should be displayed on the windshield of all cars, preferably in the lower right hand corner, unless the cars have not been used since that date.

Must Be On Windshield

He pointed out that carrying the stamps in the glove compartment of the car or carrying it on one's person makes the owner as liable to prosecution as though he had not purchased the stamp. The stamp must be displayed on the windshield, he said.

Also, he said, all owners of power driven vehicles used normally on public roads should purchase the stamps. Stamps are to be displayed on motorboats and power driven bicycles, he added. Tractors and other farm machinery are not subject to the purchase of the stamps.

Heavy penalty will be imposed, Barkley said, for those caught on public roads without the stamp being displayed in its proper place.

Sgt. Templeton Gets Posthumos Award

The posthumous award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Sgt. Billie T. Templeton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert S. Templeton, 2405 Avenue T, was announced by the War department Thursday, according to the Associated Press. The medal was awarded for exceptional bravery in face of the enemy.

Sgt. Templeton was killed in action over the Celebes Islands in the Southwest Pacific on Jan. 19, 1944, while on a bombing raid, with other members of the crew of a B-24 Liberator bomber, on Jap shipping.

A letter to Mr. and Mrs. Templeton from the pilot of the plane explained that the bomber, which was badly crippled, was coming down so rapidly that only a few of the crew members were able to clear the ship while trying to parachute to safety.

A graduate of Lubbock Senior High school, Sgt. Templeton was 22 years of age at the time of his death and had been in the service about one and one-half year.

Sgt. Templeton's father, who is an engineer at Lubbock General hospital, said Thursday afternoon that he had not yet received the award.

Governor For Extra Payment To Schools

AUSTIN, July 6. (AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson said today he favors making a supplemental $4 per capita scholastic apportionment if the payment can be accomplished legally.

The board of education this week sought an opinion by the attorney general on the legality of the extra payment which would supplement $25 already paid for this fiscal year. Actually, it would be used to supplement next year's $25 apportionment since school terms for the current year have ended.

The governor said he had not studied the legal aspects of the proposal but it seemed reasonable that it could be done without violating the constitution since the money belonged to the available school fund and a supplemental appropriation of the balance existing for this year would not be a diversion of funds.

The governor, a member of the automatic tax board which soon will set a state property tax rate, including a school rate, said it may be necessary to increase the rate next year from 10 cents to 12 cents per $100 valuation in order to pay a $25 apportionment.

He expressed an opinion that the supplemental apportionment, if made, should be used primarily to increase salaries of teachers in the lower brackets.

Cochran Farmer To Address Researchers

MORTON, July 6. (Special)—A successful cotton producer of Cochran county will give the nation's cotton leaders practical information on reducing cotton production costs, at the 1944 Cotton Research congress in Dallas, July 13-14.

F. O. Masten of Cochran county has been selected by J. D. Prewit, acting director of the Texas Extension service, to discuss the subject of lowering the cost of raising cotton on a large farm, representative of large-scale operations in West Texas. W. Claude Terry, Dallas county farmer, will discuss the subject from the viewpoint of the operator of a smaller cotton farm.

School Financial Plans Are Altered

Financial set-ups for consolidated schools of Lubbock county were altered Thursday when superintendents of the schools, County Superintendent Roy Boyd, and L. B. Barkley, division chief of the Lubbock division internal revenue office, met in the county superintendent's office at the court house.

A plan was devised whereby school funds would be handled under one account for each school and these funds, in turn, would be transferred to the county superintendent's office, Barkley said that some schools had been operating under an arrangement where they deposited money for each department and this new plan will eliminate small accounts.

Texas State Guard Gunners Commended

CAMP BULLIS, July 6. (AP) — Army instructions today commended the proficiency with machine guns of the first of four classes attending the Texas State guard school which is being conducted by the Eighth Service command.

Of applicants for special training on the Browning .30 caliber heavy machine gun, 100 per cent qualified and 60 per cent won an expert rating. These weapons were recently distributed to TSG infantry companies.

The first class of state guard officers and officer candidates graduates Saturday. The second registers Sunday for a week of training.
