Meat Probe Due For 'Middlemen'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 —UP— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson Saturday ordered an investigation of the middleman's profit in high meat prices to determine whether they are excessive. He said the nation's cattlemen

Citizens Pay Final Tribute To Old Town

CIUDAD GUERRERO, Tamps., Mex., Sept. 26 —UP— Ciudad Guerrero's 2,000 residents gathered in their 203-year-old town Saturday night for the last time before water engulfs it forever.

Mgr. Enrique Tomas Lozano of Nuevo Laredo conducted a solemn high mass (at 5 p. m. est) in final tribute to the old town at its historic Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Refuge.

The spillway gates at the Falcon dam, 20 miles downstream, will be raised after Nov. 1 and the town square that was laid out before America won its independence will be under water by New Year's Day.

Last Formal Gathering
Saturday night's mass in the old one-story stone church was the last formal gathering of all Ciudad Guerrero's citizens. More than a third have already been moved to Nueva Ciudad Guerrero, built by the government 20 miles downstream, but they came back to the old city for Saturday night's ceremony.

Nearly all the residents are descended from the old settlers who founded the city on Oct. 10, 1750. They are sad to go, but one leading citizen said:

"Most of us realize that the Falcon dam means great benefits and progress. We know our sacrifice is for the nation's good, and we are taking it well."

Moved on Open Trucks
The citizens' belongings are moved on large open trucks, which move almost as slowly as ox carts along a dusty road on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. When it rains, as it did last Tuesday, the moving has to stop until the road dries out.

Many families ride the trucks, some on the back stop their household goods.

FBI Agent Killed In Gun Fight

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 26 —UP—An FBI agent died Saturday of wounds suffered in a movie theater gun battle that raged while an unknown audience watched a noisy Mickey Spillane murder thriller on the screen.

J. Brady Murphy, 35, father of three small children, died in a hospital without regaining consciousness. His partner, Raymond Fox, was in serious condition.

The two agents were shot down by John Elgin Johnson, a bank robber and murder suspect wanted for violating his parole from Alcatraz prison. Johnson was shot and killed in a telephone booth on the theater mezzanine and his body lay unclaimed in the city morgue.

The gun battle took place Tuesday night during a showing of the thriller "I, the Jury." Murphy and Fox were killed as they riddled Johnson with bullets.

are caught in a "real price-cost squeeze" and are suffering "a painful price adjustment." He added that the objective of the investigation—to be carried out by Department of Agriculture economists—is to discover what the middleman's margins "actually are and to learn their relation to recent" cattle price skids.

Middlemen in a cattle deal are the broker, the packer and the wholesaler or commission merchant. While cattle prices have dropped sharply, meat prices have fluctuated but remained high.

Want to Know Why
Benson and agitated cattle growers want to know why, especially with abundant supplies of beef on hand.

Benson has been under heavy fire from both cattlemen and housewives. He said that while the "tremendous job of moving meat from farm to table is highly complex, the farmers are entitled to know if there is truth to the charges that margins are excessive."

He said the 6 per cent rise in retail prices of beef and veal from July to August, as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, "coming at a time of abundant supplies and generally low cattle prices has been of concern to both farmers and consumers."

The touring house agriculture committee last week heard bitter complaints from southern farmers about the farm-retail price spread as well as criticism of Benson for "doing anything" about farmers' troubles.

Woman Hit On Highway

A 45-year-old woman was injured early Saturday night when she was struck by one car and run over by another on U. S. Highway 80 about two and one-half miles east of Pampa.

Mrs. Floesia Marie Drennan, 237 Miami street, was believed to be in a serious, but not critical, condition in Highland General hospital here, where she was taken in a Dukenel-Carmichael ambulance.

She suffered multiple bruises, abrasions and lacerations. She also suffered a fractured right elbow, possible skull fracture, cerebral concussion, and had not fully regained consciousness early today. She was given a blood transfusion, her physician said.

According to Highway Patrolman E. J. Robertson, Mrs. Drennan apparently was walking on the south side of the highway toward Pampa from a stalled automobile, when she turned and crossed the highway diagonally to the north side and was struck by an automobile driven by Dr. Rudolph C. Taylor, 31, 519 N. Cuyler, Pampa.

She was knocked to the pavement, he said, and was run over by another car driven by Palmer B. Peterson, 43, of Canadian. However, the wheels of the second vehicle did not touch her, he was informed.

Soviet Friends Back On List

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 26 —UP— The North Korean Communists notified the United Nations Saturday that "through a mistake in some quarter," Russia had been omitted from the list of "neutral nations they want to take part in the Korean political conference."

North Korea sent about $15 to cable the straight-faced correction to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. The cable was at first thought to be a reply to the latest UN proposal on the political conference.

IRVIN COLE — prominent Pampa farmer and civic leader, walked off with top honors at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo Saturday when a sample of wheat grown on his farm, south of Pampa, placed first in the Western class. After milling and baking tests, Cole's wheat was judged the best in its class and the Pampans received the grand championship trophy. (News Photo)

Man Hit On Highway

The accident occurred about 7:30 o'clock. She apparently was walking toward Pampa to seek aid in starting her stalled automobile. The victim is the wife of Gaius Drennan, a Cabot Company employee.

Observers Praise Deal On Air Bases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 —UP— Military and diplomatic observers Saturday hailed the American-Spanish air and naval bases deal as an important new link in the European defense chain being forged against the Russian menace.

Gray Won't Start Automobile Tax

Gray County has been doing for the last 10 years what Dallas County has just begun—refusing to collect a personal property tax on automobiles.

"We have no intention of starting the practice, either," County Tax Assessor-Collector F. E. Leech said Saturday, as he read over reports that Dallas County Tax Assessor-Collector Ben Gentile had decided to stop it because "other counties don't."

According to the United Press, the decision may save Dallas County car owners an average of $6 and cost the government some $257,000, the sum collected last year. Another $160,000 went uncollected.

If an automobile is used strictly for pleasure, Leech said, no personal property tax is collected. In the case of a private car used for business or a commercial vehicle, then the tax is collected.

The state law reads, the U.P. reported, that personal property taxes should be collected on everything a person owns. And the state gets part of such a tax, when it is collected.

U.S. And Spain Sign Military Agreement

Aid From America Included In Pact

MADRID, Sept. 26 —UP— The United States and Spain Saturday signed a military and economic aid agreement which makes the two nations military allies for the first time.

The United States State Department said the agreement will strengthen the ability of the West to maintain "international peace and security." The United States under a defense accord—one of the three signed Saturday—will receive air bases around Madrid, Barcelona, Seville and other Spanish cities and naval base facilities at Cadiz, Cartagena and other ports for the United States Sixth (Mediterranean) Fleet.

Signing of the accords automatically released $226 million in American aid for Spain to be used during the remainder of the 1954 fiscal year ending next June 30.

Eight Minute Ceremony
United States Ambassador to Spain James C. Dunn and Spanish Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Arista signed the agreement in an eight-minute ceremony in the luxurious salon of the ambassadors in the Spanish foreign ministry.

Present with Dunn at the signing in the 17th century Palacio de Santa Cruz were: Honore Smith, economic counselor at the American embassy in Madrid; visiting Rep. John Jarman (D-Okl.); George Train, head of the foreign operations administration in Spain; and Maj. Gen. August Kissner, head of the United States military mission to Spain.

The ceremony of signing the three accords began at 4:07 p. m.—8:07 a. m. est.—on a highly polished Louis XV table in the foreign office.

The last treaty to be signed between the United States and Spain was in 1898 at the end of the Spanish-American War when Spain gave up its last colonial possessions in the new world.

A-Bases Planned
Now American atom bomb-carrying planes will be based in Spain on reconditioned airfields behind the bastion of the Pyrenees Mountains. Thousands of American soldiers, airmen and sailors will be based in Spain.

He and W. O. Culbertson Jr., a prominent rancher, went to Washington and presented the plan to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson. They also talked to Dr. Don Paarlburg, Benson's administrative assistant.

At the time, Hogue had not put his plan in writing. Benson asked him to do so and Hogue drew up his plan and put it in a brochure. Hogue is a wheat farmer and a native of Oklahoma, where he lived near Norman.

Let's Help Ourselves
He also is a former mayor of Dalhart, and president of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce, and has a extensive business interests in Dalhart and Pampa. The essence of his farm plan is "let's help ourselves."

He said the "self-pay" part of his plan would work like this: "For example, assume that the figure of $2.40 has been arrived at as a 'fair price' for a bushel of wheat during a certain year, and assume that it will take 40 cents per bushel of wheat to carry on the program and market and dispose of the anticipated wheat surplus."

"When the wheat farmer goes to market, he gets a loan in the amount of $2 per bushel and the (See DALHART MAN, Page 2)

Progressive POW's Mother Sends Plea For Son's Return

ALDEN, Minn., Sept. 26 —UP— The mother of a war prisoner who refused repatriation warned him in a tape recorded message Saturday that "when you accept communism you reject God."

Mrs. Portia Howe, her voice halting and tinged with emotion, dictated the message to her son, Pfc. Richard Tenneson, 20.

Tenneson was listed by the Communists as one of 23 American soldiers who embraced communism and refused repatriation from prison camps in Korea.

The distraught mother's plea to her son to change his mind was recorded by television station KROC, Rochester, Minn.

"Before you make the final decision, remember...when you accept communism, you reject God. Oh, Rick, I could face thinking you're taking a chance with your soul..."

DALLAS, Sept. 26 —UP— "Tex," the 52-foot-tall but silent giant who towered over the State Fair of Texas last year, will be able to talk when the fair opens this year on Oct. 10.

Not only will "Tex" be able to talk, his head will be rebuilt so that his jaw seems to waggle realistically, James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager of the fair, said Saturday.

"Tex," of course, is a wood, wire and cloth statue of a cowboy, with the biggest pair of blue jeans, boots and hat ever made.

Stewart said Jack Bridges, who made "Tex" last year, is largely responsible for giving him the power of speech. It took months of research, 300 pounds of electronic and mechanical equipment and eight weeks of work, which Bridges is just now completing.

A gadget called a "recipromotor"—which serves as "Tex's" larynx—and a 75-watt speaker helped Bridges turn the trick. "Tex" will have five tone ranges and the louder he speaks, the wider his mouth will open.

Dalhart Man Proposes New Farm Program

DALHART, Tex., Sept. 26 —UP— Harold Hogue, a well-to-do "man of the soil" from the Panhandle, disclosed Saturday that he has offered the government a farm plan that would pay for its own administration and disposal of any surpluses.

That afternoon at 6 o'clock the two buses of the Pampa City Bus Co. will make their last runs, according to an announcement made Saturday night by the company's owner, Jay Nichols.

Nichols, who owned the franchise here for the past four years, told a News reporter that the bus service was being discontinued because of "lack of business."

There just aren't enough people riding the buses to justify continuation of the service," he added. The company has operated the bus service here for more than eight years, having started about 1945 under the ownership of Ray Webster, Nichols said. The franchise was purchased from Webster by Nichols four years ago.

Two other companies had operated buses here previously, an authoritative source said, adding that the present company had stayed in business longer than either of the other two.

The North-South and East-West routes were the two routes operated by the company. Asked what his plans were for the future, Nichols replied that Gordon said that in the past the city's governing body had most certainly been interested in keeping a bus line in operation here. Nichols, who drives on the North-South route, and Ivo Hatley, driver on the East-West route, are the company's only two employees. Hatley, who resides at 1017 E. Foster, has been driving for the company nearly seven years.

The owner of the company said that losses have been running about (See CITY BUS, Page 2)

'Nike' Not On Schedule

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 —UP— The Army has failed to meet its target date for installation of "Nike"—anti-aircraft guided missile units—both hopes to have them in operation soon, it was disclosed Saturday.

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens announced in March that Nike, which he termed "the best anti-aircraft weapon now available," would start guarding major industrial centers "during the coming summer."

As of Saturday, however, an Army spokesman said, no unit is ready to meet a surprise Russian air attack. And Army officials now confess they were overly optimistic in setting last summer as the target date.

"It looks like we should have said Indian summer," one official said.

The Nike is a 20-foot long missile which can speed more than 1,000 miles per hour and hit a target 30 miles from its launching point. On the basis of tests against remote controlled B17 bombers, the Army said it should achieve at least 65 kills out of 100 tries.

Cotton Harvest Tempo To Increase

McLEAN — (Special) — S. R. Jones, manager of the McLean Cotton Gin, figured Saturday that Monday would see the real beginning of the cotton harvest. A total of 30 bales of cotton have been ginned since Sept. 14, the date of the first delivery to the gin, Jones said, pointing out that cotton-pickers were in short supply and were being paid $2 per 100 lb. of cotton.

Said Jones: present ginnings of cotton show an excellent grade and about 27.5 per cent of lint. The cotton is graded strict middling, 1 of it about the same length, of an inch. Cotton being ginned is probably better than what to come, because of the bollworm infestation.

An estimated 4,000 acres of cotton is in the McLean gin territory, about one-half of that in Gray county. Prospects, Jones continued, bank making the loan forwards 40 cents per bushel to the agricultural commission for credit to the funds of the wheat producers panel.

Establish Commission

(The plan contemplates the establishment of an agricultural commission whose basic duty would be to establish "fair prices" for various agricultural products after receiving recommendations from various commodity panels and to dispose of surplus agricultural products.)

"When this particular wheat," Hogue said, "is sold to be milled or otherwise consumed, it will be paid for on the basis of $2.40 a bushel, plus any charges against the wheat."

In the case of the livestock industry, it will support itself by a fair price arrived at on beef at the packer, butcher shop, at so much a hundredweight.

"For example, if a rancher fattens out steers and they are sold to the processor and we assumed that $25.00 per hundredweight has been established as a 'fair price' set by the commission, and assuming that the cost of the program will be $2 per hundredweight, then the processor or rancher will pay the rancher or feeder $23.00 per hundredweight and $2 per hundredweight to the commission."

Covers Only Part

Hogue said the present farm plan tends to take self determination and management from the farmer and rancher; covers only part of farm commodities; "has managed to exist only because of a continued inflationary economy," and causes one to be stuck on top of another, which makes most commodities hover at the support price.

He said his plan would allow the farmer and rancher to use their own judgment; pay for their own administration; get the government out of farm business; and "recognize that a production of an abundance is not a sin."

His plan would be under the overall direction of an agriculture commission, with eight departments. It also would include a number of commodity panels. A cattle marketing panel, for instance, could not be organized and put into operation until two-thirds of the cattle producers approved it.

Each panel would have 10 grass roots producers as directors. The agriculture commission would have 24 directors, including two men from each commodity panel.

Present plans call for the closing-out of the fund drive Saturday, Myatt said, urging all those who wish to contribute to the fund to do so promptly.

Mrs. Leder will turn the fund proceeds over to Mr. Leder's favorite charity.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

Mrs. James H. Clark, Norman, Okla., was scheduled to be dismissed from Highland General Hospital sometime Saturday night, following a city automobile accident Saturday morning.

Mrs. Clark was riding in a car driven by her husband when their vehicle collided with Alcock, east of Davis, with another car operated by James T. Mann, 26, of 517 N. Perry, according to police.

Clark was headed west on Alcock and Mann was backing out of a private driveway and turned east of Alcock, police said, when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Clark was taken to the hospital by ambulance. No citations were reported issued.

Garrison Rites Slated Monday

G. B. Garrison, 86, passed away Saturday at 12:35 a.m., at his home, 1309 S. Barnes.

A native of Houston, Mo., he was born Sept. 10, 1867. He had been a resident of Pampa for the past 15 years, moving here from Harrison, Ark.

He was a member of the First Assembly of God Church here where funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. J. E. Neely, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Nora B. Garrison, Pampa; two daughters, Mrs. Beulah Holt and Mrs. Ollie Dehis, both of Pampa; one son, Lee Garrison, Pampa; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Assign Teachers To B-I-E Event

Most of Pampa's public and private school teachers by Tuesday will have selected—or been assigned—the local business and industrial firms which they will visit on the city's first Business-Industry-Education Day, Oct. 12.

At least, Schools Superintendent Knox Kinard figured Saturday that all school personnel participating would have their request forms turned in by Tuesday at the latest.

Kinard is the chairman of the committee, composed of local school heads, which must allocate where schoolmen must go, if too many of them have requested to go to the same place. He said he hopes to have this task accomplished by Tuesday night.

Present plans call for as many as possible of the schoolmen to be assigned to their first choices. Any conflicts will be ironed out in the committee meeting Tuesday.

Back To Church Plan Scheduled

C. J. Humphrey, Amarillo Baptist layman, will help Pampa Kiwanians kick off a "Back to Church" campaign when he speaks to the club Friday.

According to Kiwanis President, Clinton Evans, the campaign is scheduled to last the month of October with the finale coming the last Sunday—Oct. 26.

All Pampa pastors have been invited to the club's Friday meeting, Evans said, adding that the idea of the campaign is to help all local churches increase their individual memberships and attendance.

Kiwanians will be helping to push the campaign during the entire month, he concluded.

County Court Hearing Due To Clarify Procedure Snare

County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. made within two days after the County Attorney Bill Waters and Defense Counsel Bill Craig were expected to get together sometime the latter part of this week to iron out difficulties arising from the trial and conviction of Roy T. Stanton on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Stanton and his brother, Lee A. Stanton, were arrested March 5 by City Patrolman Joe Wilkinson on the McLean highway leading into Pampa. City police were notified of the oncoming vehicle by Highway Patrolman R. C. Parker, McLean.

Both Stantons were charged with driving while intoxicated on the strength of testimony from Parker, who said he saw Roy driving as the car left McLean, and Wilkinson, who said he saw Lee driving when the car got to Pampa.

Roy Stanton pleaded not guilty to the charge, was tried Monday afternoon in county court, was found guilty by a jury and fined $50 and costs. Lee Stanton at the time of arrest first pleaded not guilty, later changed his plea to guilty and was given a jail sentence.

It was the Roy Stanton trial that has finally resulted in this new hearing.

Following a motion filed by Craig, Roy Stanton's attorney, the day after the trial, Maguire entered an order for a new trial. The judge pointed out that such a motion by the defense must be made within two days after the trial.

Movie Lens Systems Compete

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25—UP—The Robe, the first in a series of films advertised as the biggest movie event of the year—has a little company with the same process quietly beat that wide-screen epic to the punch.

Four hours before cinemascope was shown for the first time in New York last week, an identical system, called vistarama, was flashed on a screen in Buffalo.

The vistarama picture was a 10-minute Hawaii travelogue called "Aloha Nui." It wasn't heralded by drum-beating as was "The Robe," but the anamorphic lens was the same as those used for Fox's epic production.

Idea Public Domain
Vistarama was the idea of writer-producer Carl Dudley.

He saw cinemascope tests and found out the principle of the lens was public domain and not patentable.

Dudley recruited three optical specialists in Chicago to copy the lens—Warren Smith, who had worked on the atom bomb in 1945, and Ed Bickel and Bill Strickland, who developed the optical system for the famed Norden bombsight.

These wizards, without ever seeing a cinemascope lens or picture, duplicated the lens and sent it to Dudley in six and a half days.

"We just asked them to make a lens to project a picture at a ratio of 1 to 2.66 instead of the usual 3 to 4," explained Richard Goldstone, production chief.

Will Cause Race
The group hotfooted out to Fox Studio to show their lens to the cinemascope executives.

"Oh, they were very nice about it," Goldstone said. "They congratulated us and wished us luck."

So far it's a race between the two identical systems. Fox leased its cinemascope lens to MGM and U-I Studios. Vistarama cornered Warner Studio, which bought the system and called it Warnerscope.

McCoy Feels Desert Grass May Solve Drouth Problem

By J. M. PAYNE
Pampa News Correspondent
McLEAN — (Special) — The big question for both farmers and cattlemen and federal authorities is: subsidies? or no subsidies? That question has been answered.

Texas Cuppers Down Okies

LUBBOCK, Tex., Sept. 26 —UP— Raymond Gafford of Dallas led the best Texas team to a 43 to 17 team victory over the visiting Oklahoma golfers in the eighth annual Cup Matches over the Lubbock Country Club course Thursday.

Gafford paced the Texans with seven-under-par 64 to give him a total of 133 for two rounds. He picked up $150 in the 36-hole added feature event, and took medal honors for his team score.

The Oklahoma entries picked up only 12 points in Thursday's singles matches to add to five earned in doubles play Wednesday. Bennie Adams of Altus, Okla., was on Gafford's heels, but bogied on the 18th hole to be edged by a single point. He won six of the Sooner points by blanking host pro Gene Mitchell and Bill Trombley of Dallas.

Dode Forrester of Hobbs, N.M., and the only other amateur in the tourney, Kay Bradshaw of Lubbock, were the only other golfers to get par or better. Both had even par 71s for a 142 total.

as to the need for subsidies, by a McLean farmer-stockman, Kid McCoy.

Actually, the story of the success of McCoy can be termed "a bootstrap" story. For 40 years, McCoy has lived, reared his family, and farmed and raised cattle some three miles northeast of McLean. His place is in the deep sand area and has been much subjected to wind erosion.

This erosion plus the gradual removal of soil elements, likewise reduced the productivity of the soil to a point where it is necessary to employ the use of commercial fertilizers. This situation led McCoy to the study of returning his acres to pasture land.

It was not practical to use native grasses for the simple reason that little seed was available. However, various grass seed had been imported from the arid areas of the world and planted in several experimental plots by the USDA. Several of these experimental plantings were visited and observed by McCoy and convinced him that here was the answer to his problem.

Finally, in 1945, McCoy heard about a grass that had been imported from Africa, a grass that grew in the desert sands. This made sense to him, so he bought a few pounds of the seed at $5.00 per pound and seeded 20 acres of "blown out" land that had not produced a profitable crop in ten years. He found that it was good pasture for his cattle and in 1946, he gathered 300 pounds of seed, by hand, as there was no machine known that would harvest the seed. He cleaned 100 pounds and sold them at $4.50 per pound and used the balance to seed more acres. The seed are so tiny they must be planted with great care and even then, a perfect stand is nearly impossible; hence, it has to be replanted many times under severe conditions.

This first sale of seed grossed him $450.00 and the market value of seed produced is now down to $1.68 per pound. After adding to his acreage each year, McCoy now has 110 acres seeded to African Weeping Love Grass that will pasture one cow per acre against the average, for this area on native grass, of 30 head per section. A 22-acre pasture was inspected which has produced seven hundred bales of hay that analyzes 2 per cent less in protein than alfalfa (average weight per bale is 60 pounds), that has a market value of $1.25 per bale. It has produced 400 pounds of seed that are valued at $1.68 per pound and has furnished pasture for 22 head of mother cows and calves since the first of April. McCoy says that he has not fed any concentrated feed since turning these cattle on this 22 acres and his cows and calves are sleek and are almost ready for the butcher.

This grass is a fast grower and usually reaches a height of about 30 inches when it begins to make seed. McCoy says that with average rainfall for the area, this grass will grow an inch every 24 hours for about a month after it is cut for haying. This record of production has been made when the rainfall is almost 50 per cent less than normal, the normal for mid September is about 18 inches and total rainfall to that date is slightly under ten inches.

McCoy plants this grass in rows about two feet apart. This gives the grass more area from which to draw substance and it gives the cattle walking space without trampling the grass itself. The grass grows in clumps but if left to "go to seed" the seed do not come up and grow as that which has been planted.

But, it looks like McCoy has the answer to the farmer-rancher with sandy soil problem of subsidies. He has done all of this seeding to pasture on his own — he has not taken advantage of soil conservation payments but has observed what has been done by others and has selected a program that fits his need and it works.

On the 480 acres that McCoy owns, he has 200 acres of native grass that has been of no value to him this year, and he says that he is going to put every acre in Weeping Love grass and eliminate all other crops. He now has a well diversified crop system, growing wheat, grain sorghums, some corn and 20 acres of alfalfa. McCoy pointed to some pecan and walnut trees that have withstood the elements for nearly a half century that have died during the past summer, and expressed an opinion that the subsoil was so dry that these trees had nothing on which to feed and then pointed out that his alfalfa produced almost nothing.

From seeing actual results, it looks like he has something.

CANADIAN — (Special) — Two new businesses for Canadian are the Canadian Drive In Theatre recently opened near the east city limits just off Cheyenne Avenue (the river road), and Madsen's Optometry which will open on Second Street in the offices in the building formerly occupied by The Canadian Record.

The Canadian Volunteer Fire Department entertained their telephone operators, and the City Commissioners and their wives, telephone operators, and the city hall Wednesday night. Chief Wilkinson pointed out that the telephone operators are indispensable to a volunteer fire department since the firemen use a code number when a fire alarm sounds and the operators give them the location of the fire without further to-do. The firemen cooked and served the meal.

Stocks Show Weekly Hike

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 —UP— Stocks in the past five days had their first weekly advance in nearly two months.

But it was at the expense of volume. Sales fell from 9,467,510 last week to a mere 5,537,820 shares. This meant a drop in the daily average to 1,107,564 shares from 1,895,562 shares a week ago. A total of 919 issues registered gains for the week, most since Feb. 27. There were only 281 losses and 186 issues finished unchanged. A total of 1,396 traded. There were seven new 1953 highs set and 168 new lows.

The Dow-Jones industrial average closed the week at 283.31, up 4.53 points; railroad, 98.39, up 1.98; utility, 49.35, up 0.93, and 65 stocks, 101.19, up 1.88 points.

The improvement was regarded as technical although there were several reasons cited outside that item. Wall Street sensed a more lenient credit attitude on the part of the government and anticipated high government spending, especially in purchase of airplanes.

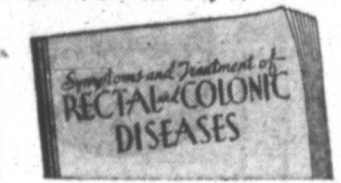

There were several unconfirmed and apparently groundless rumors, including a rise in the world gold price and a cut in the present 50 per cent margin.

A few special features developed from day to day to enliven an otherwise drab display.

Friends Watch Airmen Drown

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 26 —UP— Airman Third Class Thomas Page, drowned in a swimming pool Saturday because seven of his friends thought he was kidding them.

He and the other seven were having a swimming party at the pool at 3 a. m. Another airman threatened to push him in. Page, according to witnesses, warned the airman that he could not swim.

The airman didn't believe him and pushed him in. He was in the pool 10 minutes before Airman Fred Pastian, 28, of Dayton, Ohio, pulled him out.

The others said they didn't go to his rescue sooner because they thought he was kidding. Justice of the Peace John Ogden withheld a verdict until police complete their investigation.

Pampa To Honor Korean War Vets

All Pampa veterans of the Korean war will be honored here on Friday, Oct. 9, according to plans made at a meeting of a special citizens committee Friday afternoon.

That day—the day of the big football game between Pampa and Amarillo—has been designated as “Korean Veterans’ Day” here. Short pre-game ceremonies will make up much of the formal observance of the day.

The committee, which originally was formed to plan a celebration and welcoming program for Pampa’s two returning prisoners of war, decided to include all Pampa Korean veterans, both the living and the dead.

Chairman Aubrey Jones told the group that M-Sgt. James W. Hart, one of the repatriated prisoners of war, told him: “I did very little. A lot of men did more, a lot of them came back in worse shape than I did—and a lot of them didn’t come back.”

The committee then decided to include all Korean veterans in the celebration.

The chief problem facing the group now, Jones said, is to get all the names of the Korean veterans here. He designated E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, to accept calls from the veterans or their neighbors, notifying the committee of the names and addresses of all former Korean veterans in the immediate Pampa area.

The News has printed a coupon below which should be filled out and mailed to the Korean Veterans’ Day committee in care of the Chamber of Commerce office in the City Hall.

All residents of the immediate Pampa area are asked to cooperate with the committee in supplying them with the names of the veterans. Those knowing of any Korean veterans here should call the Chamber of Commerce, or fill out one of the coupons and mail it to that office.

The day’s observance will not include Korean veterans in other sections of the county, the committee agreed.

Local civic and service organizations will be asked to hold observances during the week preceding the official day.

Official recognition of the veterans will be made before thousands of persons expected to attend the Sande-Harvester game that night. The pre-game ceremonies, under direction of Clinton Evans, master of ceremonies, will be brief and will give recognition to returned men and to the Pampa dead of the Korean war.

All veterans in the city will receive free tickets to the game and a special section of the stands will be set aside for them and their families, Jones stated.

Specialists Align To Give Better Homes To Americans

By NEIL MAC NEIL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 —UP—The nation’s architects, builders and social scientists have teamed up in a major attempt to give Americans better homes and prevent the construction of “ready-made” slums.

The key to the problem is good design. The solution of the problem, they believe, will bring to Americans a better way of life—an aid to all Americans “in their struggle against an unfriendly world.”

The American Institute of Architects and the National Association of Home Builders have set up a joint committee to help show their members how they can work together to produce better homes.

Committee Studies Problem

The Social Science Research Council has assigned its Committee on Housing Research to study environmental factors on family life and how these can be improved through better and more beautiful homes. Exact knowledge on how this can be widely done is lacking but the committee proposes to find out.

“As a practical matter,” a recent report on a committee conference stated, “a nation that expects to build houses at a rate of something more than a million units a year for the rest of this century ought to have a better idea of how they should be designed.”

Walter A. Taylor, director of the AIA’s Department of Education and Research, put it this way: “The job of our committee is to do two things. First, we have got to persuade more home builders to use more architects. Second, we have got to persuade more architects that community developments are proper and profitable work for them.”

Uniformity Makes Slums

Taylor said slums of the future will come from community developments built in a “deadly uniformity” that will quickly make them “a drug on the market.”

“To get rid of this curse of monotony is the job of the architect, the site planner and the builder, working together,” he said.

This year, for the first time, the AIA offered special “honor awards” for “outstanding American architecture” in the development housing field. The institute added development housing to its award category in a deliberate attempt to encourage architects and builders to collaborate in this type of construction.

High Quality Entries

The AIA received 28 entries for the development housing awards. Because of “the consistently high quality” of the entries the institute plans to send the exhibits on a nationwide tour.

Taylor said the collaboration between architects and builders in mass-market housing construction has been “unsatisfactory in the past.”

“Builders have not learned that it’s worth dollars and cents to them to hire architects,” he said.

Real Sales Need

“With the housing market tightening, good design is becoming a real sales need. Besides, it provides savings as well.”

He said “junk” designs rushed to completion after World War II have already started to “filter down the economic ladder” and will shortly become “underprivileged slums.”

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: The buzz was loud and insistent at a splashy party tossed by Hollywood hair stylists and make-up experts. Soon Jane Powell sheds Geary Steffen, he will wed Bonnie Eubank, the airline hostess who lost an arm and a leg in a motorboat accident at Lake Arrowhead. Geary didn't leave the brave girl's side during the evening.

The shindig featured the introduction of Hollywood's new debars in the Wampus tradition — Kathleen Hughes, Marilyn Novak, at Crowley, Ann Francis, Joan Feldon, Marjorie Miller, Doe Avenon, Sara Shane, Elaine Stewart, Barbara Darrow and, from TV, Joan O'Brien and Dona Cole.

Mary McCarty was the hit of the evening with a satire on academy award actresses. A custody battle is rippling the calm waters between Eleanor Barker and Producer Bert Friedberg. He wants the kiddies for three months a year, but Eleanor isn't feeling that generous about having her brood.

Perhaps it isn't curtains for the helley Winters-Vittorio Gassman marriage. Vittorio telephoned Shelly and asked her to fly to Rome with the baby the minute she gets up in U-T's "Sakatchewan." They may co-star in "Lela Cade" in Italy.

Artie Writes Book
Title of the forthcoming volume of short stories by Artie Shaw will be "Boys and Girls Together," sounds like his autobiography.

Lurene Tuttle — and who could be better? — is close to nabbing the role of Winnie in the television of "Life With Father" and "Mother." Roland Winters seems eager to the finish line for the farcical day role. He's the actor who replaced Warner Oland in the Charlie Chan movie series.

Jimmy Mitchell, 12-year-old son of Bob and a ringer for his dad, came within inches of getting the hief moppet role with Bob and fairly Monroe in "River of No Return." Tommy Rettig was signed when the powers figured two fitchums in one film was risky business.

Warner press agents in England hailed Phyllis Kirk as "Miss D-Shape" before the opening of House of Wax, but when Phyllis arrived in London for "River of No Return," her first press conference was devoted to convincing the English journalists she wasn't the sexy type. Writes Phyllis:

"I told them the truth. I was chosen to play the role merely because I was under contract to the studio and in spite of the fact that I resemble Jane Russell about as much as Robert Mitchell does."

That's Pretty Sure
Here's how sure they are in Reno that "Sham" will win the Silver Spurs award as the best western of 1953. The Reno Chamber of Commerce has already put a request to Alan Ladd to clear dates for an appearance in the Nevada city to accept the award next year — just in case.

their organizations in every sector. Because our government has committed itself to be the head fireman and banker for democratic interests in the Orient we must rush to douse flames with our dollars and sometimes with the lives of our young men. This situation, which gives the complete initiative to China, will surely go on for many more years. Its full impact hit me during the last three months as I traveled through Hong Kong, Japan, Korea and Indo-China.

Officially America is determined to keep communism from further spreading in Asia. Officially the Chinese Communists are compelled — as they have said time and time again — to make all Asia Communist.

Every diplomat I spoke to, including the British, who have representatives in Peking, believes China is convinced it can, at this time, meddle without being hurt at home.

General Mao's faith in his sacred sanctuary has been strengthened by these events:

1. The terms of the Korean truce, which Mao regards and publicizes as an American setback and the political defeat in the U.S. of those who advocated bombing China.

2. British determination, often repeated by London's agents in Asia, that nothing in the Orient is worth all out war with China.

3. The Indo-Chinese War, in which the French — with the same fears as the British — try to minimize Chinese direction of the rebellion.

Like the British, the French feel naked before Chinese manpower and have a further of further stripping their European forces to block Mao. Furthermore, Paris, where every third man carries a party card, is upset about the present price of the revolution, let alone assuming more responsibilities.

Gen. Henri Navarre, new French commander here, says frankly that French and loyal Indo-Chinese could resist only a few weeks if Red Chinese soldiers crossed the border. He feels that if there was such a push American GIs would have to race here to save the French expeditionary force.

"If the war in Indo-China becomes internationalized to a serious row," said Navarre, "it would be illogical if America does not intervene."

At this time Navarre, with U.S. encouragement, is blueprinting a scheme to crush the native Communist rebellion in two years.

But here is a local worry: Would China permit her next door baby to be whipped?

When it became obvious we were finishing North of Vietnam in fall, 1950, Chinese "volunteers" crossed the border. This headache surely says French drive like a leaking inner tube.

So the U.S. and friends are in the position of a fellow in a tough saloon who says he will fight if slugged first—but if the attacker hits and runs behind the bar he will not be pursued.

In Korea MIGs engaged our Sabrejets and when in trouble scotced across the Yalu River to safety and birds' nest soup for dinner. Our pilots had to stop short, a mighty brutal braking at 650 mph.

macy, had as strong comments to make about such strange ground rules as our jet jockeys, except in French.

Big Chinese supply dumps for Vietnamh soldiers are quite exposed to any aviator flying near the Kyuca River. But these dumps are as safe as if they were 10,000 feet underground.

Each day I find other ugly comparisons with Korea. In 1950, when I first reported Indo-Chinese jungle battles, were hooting monkeys give away advancing infantrymen, the Vietnamh were poorly armed guerrillas with light rifles and often two men for each weapon.

Now Chinese aid, including heavy machine guns, mortars, artillery, anti-aircraft guns and trucks from Czechoslovakia are being donated to Vietnamh units. A modern native Communist army is growing up in the last land of the wild elephant.

In 1950, on operation with the French Foreign Legion, I encountered merely a loose-knit band of Commies, with as much military precision as the Kansas City Girl Scouts.

Today seven organized divisions of Vietnamh, who graduated in Chinese camps, face Hanoi, key to North Indo-China.

Other divisions, trained like almond-eyed Rockettes and complete with radios and other necessities of 20th Century war, might win their Red diplomas in China before the new attack soon expected.

Again Korea. The first Chinese encountered there fought more like a street gang than an army. Chinese engaged in the weeks before truce had more artillery than opposing U.S. units and sent over concentrated barrages seldom seen in World War II.

As Communists fatten Vietnamh, we've got to stiffen the French with still heavier gear—bombers, aircraft carriers, radar. Four hundred million dollars in fresh aid has just been authorized.

This deep Oriental involvement and the troubled years positively ahead is something for every American to ponder. It's your tax dollar and your son—but the Chinese have most to say about where you send them.

White Deer FFA Members To Iowa

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Gene Gaston, Future Farmers sponsor, and Melvin and Alvin Kalka, members of the White Deer FFA, left Friday afternoon for Des Moines, Iowa. Eddie Kalka, father of the boys, will purchase a Chester-White boar, which he will own but will be used for club purposes. In addition to the boar, the group will buy 10 Duroc and Hampshire Barrows, to be used as the club projects for this year.

County Agent "Nick" Nichols, of Panhandle, who is a native Iowan, suggested the group go to Iowa, due to the fact that state is a part of the Corn Belt. Nichols was instrumental in contacting Wilbur Pfleger, Head of Swine Breeds of Iowa, who will assist Gaston and his boys in contacting swine breeders.

The trio will return to White Deer the first of the week.

Health Service Holds Mrs. Smith

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 26.—Up—The U. S. Public Health Service has custody of Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, convicted of stabbing to death her Army officer husband in Japan, and she has been a patient at its hospital here for the past 10 weeks.

The hospital treats narcotic patients almost exclusively, but the Public Health Service said Mrs. Smith was not being treated for narcotic addiction.

She has appealed her Army court martial conviction for the murder of Col. Aubrey Smith last October. The medical officer in charge of the Lexington hospital said it was not uncommon for women federal prisoners to be sent here while authorities decide where they will serve their sentences.

Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger of San Antonio, Tex.

PHS Defense Shines In Blanking Steers

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

After a sluggish first half, Pampa's Fighting Harvesters finally got rolling in the latter two periods to rack up a 19-0 victory over the stubborn Big Spring Steers at Harvesters Stadium Friday night.

The Green and Golders thus awarded Coach Tom Tipps with win No. 50 since becoming head man of the PHS grid force seven years ago.

The Steers threw up a rugged defense throughout the contest and it wasn't until the fourth period that the Harvesters were able to breathe easily.

The Harvesters were held to only four first downs in the first half but rolled up 10 during the second. The first half was a defensive struggle, with the Steers regaining some of their poise in the ball totting department.

Harold Lewis was the big ground gainer for the Harvesters. The junior fullback netted 106 yards on 16 carries. Ed Dudley was close behind with 96 net yards on 11 carries and John Darby, off to a very slow start, ended up with 53 net yards gained. Darby was in the hole in the first half, having a minus five yards on three carries but he came into his own in the second half.

Scoring Evenly Divided
The scoring for the Harvesters was divided among three players. Dudley, Lewis and Jimmy Bond. Dudley raced 33 yards for the first Harvester TD in the first quarter. Lewis smashed the middle of the line for one yard for the second score and Bond snarled a 17-yard pass from J. N. Wright and then stepped five more paces to score the final six pointer for the winners.

The Harvester defense got a severe test by the hard running Big Spring backs and the defense came through nobly. The Steers, who had only a week before scored 51-233 fans at Michigan Stadium.

1-AAAA foe, San Angelo, found the Harvester line tough to penetrate. The Steers gained 125 net yards overall. Fullback J. C. Armistead, the leading Steer ball totter, got 84 net yards on 22 carries. Frosty Robison, with 23 yards gained on 10 carries, followed Armistead.

The Steers had a big hand in slowing down the Big Spring attack. The longest run of the night by a Big Springer was a 26-yard jaunt by Armistead. The next longest was 15 by Armistead and all the other 42 running plays by the Steers were for six yards or less.

Dudley Scampers
The Harvesters got their scoring underway deep in the first quarter when Ed Dudley scooted 33 yards to pay. Dudley's run climaxed a 56-yard drive which was set up by tackle Bob Prigmore's recovery of a Big Spring fumble on the Harvester 45. It took the Harvesters just four plays to score from this point. After an incomplete pass, Lewis ripped off gains of eight and 14 yards to place the ball on the Steer 33 from where Dudley blasted off tackle, shook off several would-be tacklers and raced over standing up.

The try for point failed and the Harvesters led 6-0 with 9:40 minutes having elapsed in the first period.

Big Spring threw a scare into the Harvesters in the second quarter when they drove to Pampa's one-half yard line as the half ended. A fumble on their own 32 got the Harvesters in trouble deep in the second stanza. A 30-yard pass from Frank Long to Robison placed the ball on the Harvester two and Armistead carried to the half-yard marker on the next play as time ran out in the first half and the Harvesters holding tenaciously to a 6-0 lead.

Steers Halt Drive
The Harvesters came back after the intermission and staged a 63-yard drive after receiving the kickoff, before they were held on the Big Spring five. Dudley returned the kickoff 22 yards to the 32 and Lewis broke through on a 34-yard gallop on the first running play in the second half, placing the ball on Big Spring 35.

Darby carried to the 30 and after the Harvesters were penalized five, Dudley powered his way 25 yards to the 10. The Harvesters moved to the five on the next three plays and the drive ended when Wright's flat-zone pass was intercepted at the goal line by Billy Martin who raced the ball back to the Steer 39.

There were no other serious scoring threats in the third quarter. The Harvesters started a drive from their own 16 late in the third that eventually paid off in a touchdown early in the fourth.

Wright Heads Drive
Three pass completions, all off the arm of Wright, featured the drive. Wright connected with Dudley for a 31 yard gain, with Darby for 15 yards and with Jimmy Bond for 22 yards, accounting for 68 yards of the 84-yard march. Bond's catch netted six points for the winners on the second play of the final quarter.

The Harvesters scored their final TD next time they got the ball. Big Spring, after receiving the ensuing kickoff, drove to the Harvester 21 before being halted. Taking over at this point, the Green and Golders drove 79 yards for their final score. Feature run of this drive was a 45-yard scamper by Darby from the Harvester 35 to the Steer 20. From there Darby made three, Lewis seven, Dudley 4, Lewis five and Lewis one for the TD. Dudley kicked to conclude the scoring for the night, Pampa 19, Big Spring 0.

The Harvesters journey to Fort Worth next week to meet a dangerous foe in the Pampa Panthers. The Panthers dropped a 5-14 decision to Amarillo Friday night at Amarillo.

BULLDOGGED — J. N. Wright, Harvester quarterback, is making sure Frosty Robison, Big Spring halfback, doesn't get anywhere in the above photo as he locks his arms around Robison's neck and pulls him to the turf. The action occurred in the first quarter of Friday night's Harvester-Big Spring battle at Harvesters Stadium. Robison, in the play, appeared to be headed for good yardage but Wright came up from his secondary position to pull him after a gain of two yards. Yanks 7-5 Odds To Win World Series

By FRED DOWN
NEW YORK, Sept. 26-UP—The New York Yankees will be favored about 7-5 odds to win a fifth consecutive world championship when they square off against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of the 50th World Series at 12 noon east next Wednesday.

The Dodgers are considered one of the strongest teams to represent the National League in years but the odds-makers were stringing along with the historical evidence of past series. This evidence decrees that the Yankees "win the big ones"—even when it appears the opposition may be stronger.

Neither Manager Casey Stengel nor Charley Dressen has announced his pitcher for the opener at Yankee Stadium but Allie Reynolds, a 13-game winner, is expected to be on the mound for the Yankees and 20-game winner Carl Erskine is almost certain to receive the call for the Dodgers.

Both teams are expected to be physically prepared. The Yankees have no one on their injury list at the moment. Carl Furillo, a .344-hitter, has been sidelined for three weeks since breaking a bone in the left hand while in with the Dodgers, and first baseman Gil Hodges has an injured left side but the Dodgers expect both to be in the starting lineup.

The first two games are scheduled for the huge stadium, with its seating capacity of about 70,000 and then the action shifts to tiny Ebbets Field with its capacity of about 33,000 for the next three games. The last two in the best-of-seven series will be played at the stadium if necessary.

The series is sure to be one of the richest in history with the winner's share expected to approach $75,000 and the loser's about $5,000.

This marks the fifth time the Yankees and Dodgers have met in a series and the Yankees show a perfect 4-0 slate. They won in five games in 1941, in seven in 1947, five in 1949 and seven last year. In all, the Yankees have won 15 of the 19 previous series they've played in. The Dodgers have yet to win in six tries.

Gators Battle Ramblin Wreck To 0-0 Draw Before 41,000

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 26—Bill Brigan and Sophomore Wade Mitchell almost to zero. The Florida Gators, completely at home in a swampy field, fought Georgia Tech to a scoreless tie Saturday to snap an 18-game Tech winning streak but the Gators did manage to slog through their 28th game without a defeat.

Three times Tech's touted breakaway backfield slipped and slid to within a few inches of the Florida goal line and twice more moved inside the 20 only to lose the ball.

Three disastrous fumbles by star halfback Leon Hardeman—one of them almost on the Florida goal—and heroic end-zone punting by Army-bound Rick Casares, contributed heavily to the upset tie which was almost as good as a victory to a partisan crowd of 41,000. Casares booted twice for nearly 60 yards each time against a 25-mile wind.

Time and again the big Florida line, anchored by Guard Joe D'Agostino and center Steve De La Torre, braced in mud up to its ankles to hurl back Hardeman and his desperate cohort, Glenn Turner.

A heady Florida backfield reduced the Tech passing game by including victories in the Orange and Sugar Bowl.

Wolverines Bury Huskies Under, 50-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 26-UP—Michigan, scoring five touchdowns in a 10 minute flurry, rolled to an overwhelming 50 to 0 victory over the University of Washington Saturday in its season opener before 51,233 fans at Michigan Stadium.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's smooth-working Wolverines started rolling midway in the first period and completely out-classed the West Coast team.

Washington never recovered from the big touchdown flurries and suffered its second straight setback. The West Coast team was able to gain five first downs during the 60 minutes and threatened only once in the second period when it got to the Michigan 8.

Michigan capitalized on every break it got, turning two intercepted passes, two fumbles and a blocked kick into touchdowns.

Tony Branoff and Ted Kress, Michigan's regular halfbacks, led the assault with two touchdowns each. Other scores were added by Bob Hurley, Ed Hickey, Dave Hill and Lou Baldacci.

Branoff, only a sophomore, started the touchdown parade with an eight-yard skirt around left end to complete a 79-yard drive in the opening period. He also converted.

Cubs, Hacker Nip Cards 4-3

CHICAGO, Sept. 26-UP—The Chicago Cubs rallied twice to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3 on six-hit pitching by Warren Hacker Saturday.

Hacker, who lost the earned-run championship of the league in the final period of last season because of the Cardinals, thus gained another measure of revenge for he eliminated Stan Musial from any chance of regaining his batting championship.

Musial got two out of four to run his string of consecutive games' hitting to 14, and boosted his average to .337, seven points behind Brooklyn's Carl Furillo, who leads with .344.

However, a perfect four-for-four Sunday's game would bring him only to .341.

"Red Schoendienst also was limited to one single in four turns and needs three hits in four turns Sunday to beat Furillo. Such a feat would bring him up to .344, from .341, pending final official rulings.

CLEVELAND Breezes To Win Over Tigers

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26-UP—Al Rosen of Cleveland collected two singles Saturday to tie Mickey Vernon of Washington in the American League's torrid batting race as the Indians whipped the Detroit Tigers, 12 to 3.

After flying out in his first two trips to the plate, the Cleveland third sacker drew a walk and then singled twice to raise his batting average to .333. Vernon plays Saturday night as the Senators meet the Athletics.

The Indians hit four Detroit pitchers for 12 hits and drew eight walks. Ted Gray started for Detroit and was charged with the defeat. Dave Hoskins toiled for Cleveland and held the Tigers to eight hits in scoring his ninth win of the year. The Indian rookie right-hander has lost but three times.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26-UP—Gus Bell and Jim Greengrass each hit a two-run double in the eighth inning Saturday to snap a 6 to 6 tie and enable the Cincinnati Redlegs to score a 10 to 7 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Ebbie St. Claire, Andy Pafko and George Crowe hit homers for the Braves and Grady Hatton hit one for Cincinnati in a free-hitting game marked by a total of 28 basehits. Catcher Ed Bailey, just up from Tulsa in the Texas League, contributed a double and two singles to Cincinnati's attack.

Piersall Stars In Bosox Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 26-UP—Jim Piersall saved the game with an electrifying catch in the 10th inning and then batted in the winning run in the 11th Saturday as the Red Sox defeated the Yankees 2 to 1 on the steady pitching off southpaw Mickey McDermott.

Piersall dipped into the right field bullpen with two men on and two out in the 10th to rob Hank Bauer of an almost certain homer. Coming up with the bases full in the 11th, Piersall filed to Mickey Mantle, allowing Gus Niahros to score after the catch. The Red Sox had loaded the bases on successive singles by Niahros, McDermott and pinch-hitter Billy Goodman.

Vic Raschi, making his final test run for the World Series, allowed four hits in the nine innings he worked without walking a man. He then gave way to Johnny Sain, who was charged with the loss. McDermott yielded six of Yankees seven hits and was credited with his 18th victory, although Sid Hudson pitched the 11th.

Price Defeats Bucks, 32-18

WHITE DEER, Sept. 26 — (Special) — The Price College Cardinals of Amarillo exploded for three touchdowns in the second quarter here Friday night and then went on to down the White Deer Bucks in a non-conference tilt, 32-18.

The three Cardinal touchdowns in the second period came after the Bucks had pushed across their first TD to tie the score at 6-6.

The visiting Cards then broke loose for three touchdowns and take a 26-6 halftime lead.

Long runs featured the Cardinal attack. Jim Bowers galloped 68 yards for the first Price score in the first quarter which was the only score of the initial quarter.

Roy Eller got the Bucks back into the ball game early in the second period on a 33-yard touchdown run. Eller had passed to Don Denham late in the first quarter to set the stage for the score. Ray Eller, Roy's twin brother, carved 10 yards to the Cardinal 32 as the first quarter ended. Roy then sped the remaining distance on the first play of the second quarter.

The conversion try failed and the score remained tied at 6-6.

The Cards came right back to go ahead to stay when Gary McKenna scampered 47 yards to pay dirt. McKenna followed up moments later with 61-yard scoring jaunt to send Price ahead 18-6.

Pete Polk converted to make it 19-6.

A blocked kick set up another Price score just before the half. Price took possession on White Deer's 20 after the blocked punt and Polk raced over on the first play and then kicked the point to send the Cards ahead, 26-6.

White Deer closed the gap in the third when Allan Young scored for the Bucks to whittle the Price lead to 26-12. But the best the Bucks could do the remaining time was to swap TD's with the Cards. Jim Bowers scoring for the Cards and a Roy Eller to Young pass accounting for a White Deer score to end the scoring for the night.

The Bucks will travel to Gruver next Friday.

MIAMI, Sept. 26 — (Special) — Miami's Warriors battled Booker to a 33-33 deadlock in a District 1B 6-Man football game here Friday night.

Bill Russell was the standout performer for the Warriors, scoring all five of the Miami touchdowns. One of Russell's touchdowns came on a pass from Tommy Wells.

The Warriors led 17-7 at the first quarter mark, 26-18 at halftime and after no scores by either team in the third, Booker battled from behind in the last 90 seconds to tie up the game.

The Warriors took the ensuing kickoff following the tying touchdown by Booker and drove to Booker's six-inch line as time ran out.

Cotton Meyer led the Booker attack with three touchdown gallops.

Tommy Wells converted twice for the Warriors while Bob Clark converted once.

Miami has an open date next week. The Warriors had lost their previous two starts before Friday's game, losing to Pollett, 6-24 and to Mobette, 6-33.

House Leaders End Farm Tour

By BERNARD BRENNER

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Sept. 25 — UP — House farm bloc leaders Saturday wound up a 1,200 mile bus tour in which they found southern farmers, who continued high price supports but increasing worry about the effect of farm price props on city consumers.

Next month the congressional farm leaders, members of the House Agriculture committee, head into the Midwest to sample farm sentiment in that area.

Rep. Clifford R. Hope, the committee chairman, Charles B. Hoey, Iowa, Harold O. Love of South Dakota, and other midwestern Republicans say farmers in their districts generally agreed with Southerners on the need for high supports.

Since southern and midwestern congressmen usually ignore party lines and stand together on farm bills, the "grass roots" opinions gathered on the committee's tours may affect Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's plans for lower, flexible support price programs.

Farm congressmen who made the southern tour were convinced almost unanimously they must renew the current program under which cotton, wheat and other basic crops are supported at 90 percent of the "fair earning power" parity level. A law pegging basic supports at 90 per cent expires at the end of 1954.

The committee traveled through Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida.

More significant to most congressmen than the formal hearings were brief personal talks with hundreds of farmers at a wearying round of stops in small town court-houses, roadside parks and on farms.

Promise Beef Study At Valdosta, Ga., the Georgia Dairy Association reported stiff consumer resistance to price increases in foods under price support. Repeated demands were heard for an investigation of what cattlemen said was an unreasonable spread between prices of live lower grade cattle and retail beef prices.

Republicans promised a study of the beef situation. Leading committee members added privately, however, they hoped Agriculture Secretary Benson would act so the administration could get credit for "coming to the defense of farmers and consumers at the same time."

Some farm leaders have said they fear consumer resentment against rising farm prices would add to a revolt against the entire federal farm program.

Benson Resented "It's hard to reach the consumer audience with the farm story," Hope said. "If we could, we could show people that agriculture's problems are everybody's problems. There wouldn't be any consumer resistance if consumers had the facts," he added.

Congressmen found southern farmers expressing rising resentment against Benson because of what farm spokesmen called a "do nothing" approach to their problems. "I just don't know if he's done anything to help us," said A. O. Allison, a cattleman of Lake City, Fla.

Grain Markets

FORT WORTH, Sept. 25 — UP — The Production and Marketing Administration described the grain market as unsettled this week.

Wheat closed at $2.36 1/2 to 2.52 1/2 per bushel for No. 1 hard offerings, a gain of 4c. This upward trend developed late in the week due to the fact that lower prices early in the week helped boost demand. Generally speaking, both export and domestic buying was moderate.

Oats went up 2c on the high end of the range and 1 1/2c on the low end. Cash prices for No. 2 white offerings ranged from 94 1/2c to 97c a bushel on the Ft. Worth market at Friday's close.

Forward March!

WITH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES at a peak, high school bands in this area get out their uniforms and participate in football activities, parades and concerts. The bands are called upon for all entertainments and are kept busy until the last day of school. They furnish the luster for many gay occasions which are frequent during the school year — and especially during the football season. The pep rallies wouldn't be complete with just the cheer leaders, rooting section and football players. The school band complete with crashing cymbals and banging drum adds just the right timbre.

MUSTANG TRIO — Miss Juanita Sanders, center, has charge of the brisk set of twirlers which head the Wheeler High School Mustang band. These twirlers, who also display the colors of black and gold, are Miss Ester Rodgers, left, and Miss Sylvia Smith, right. The band is under the direction of M. L. Preston. Besides twirling the baton, many of these smart majorettes and drum majors double in band instrumentation for concerts.

SALUTE! Canadian Wildcat fans feel a thrill of pride when they see the black and gold colors flashed by the snappy twirlers and drum major Morris Wilson, far right. Drum majorettes and twirlers parading the black and gold are Miss Helen Ann Riley, Miss Nancy Keafey, Miss Juanita Orr, Miss Ruth Ann McDaniels, Mrs. Izetta Meritt and Miss Jacquita Gray. W. E. Hendricks is director for the Wildcat band.

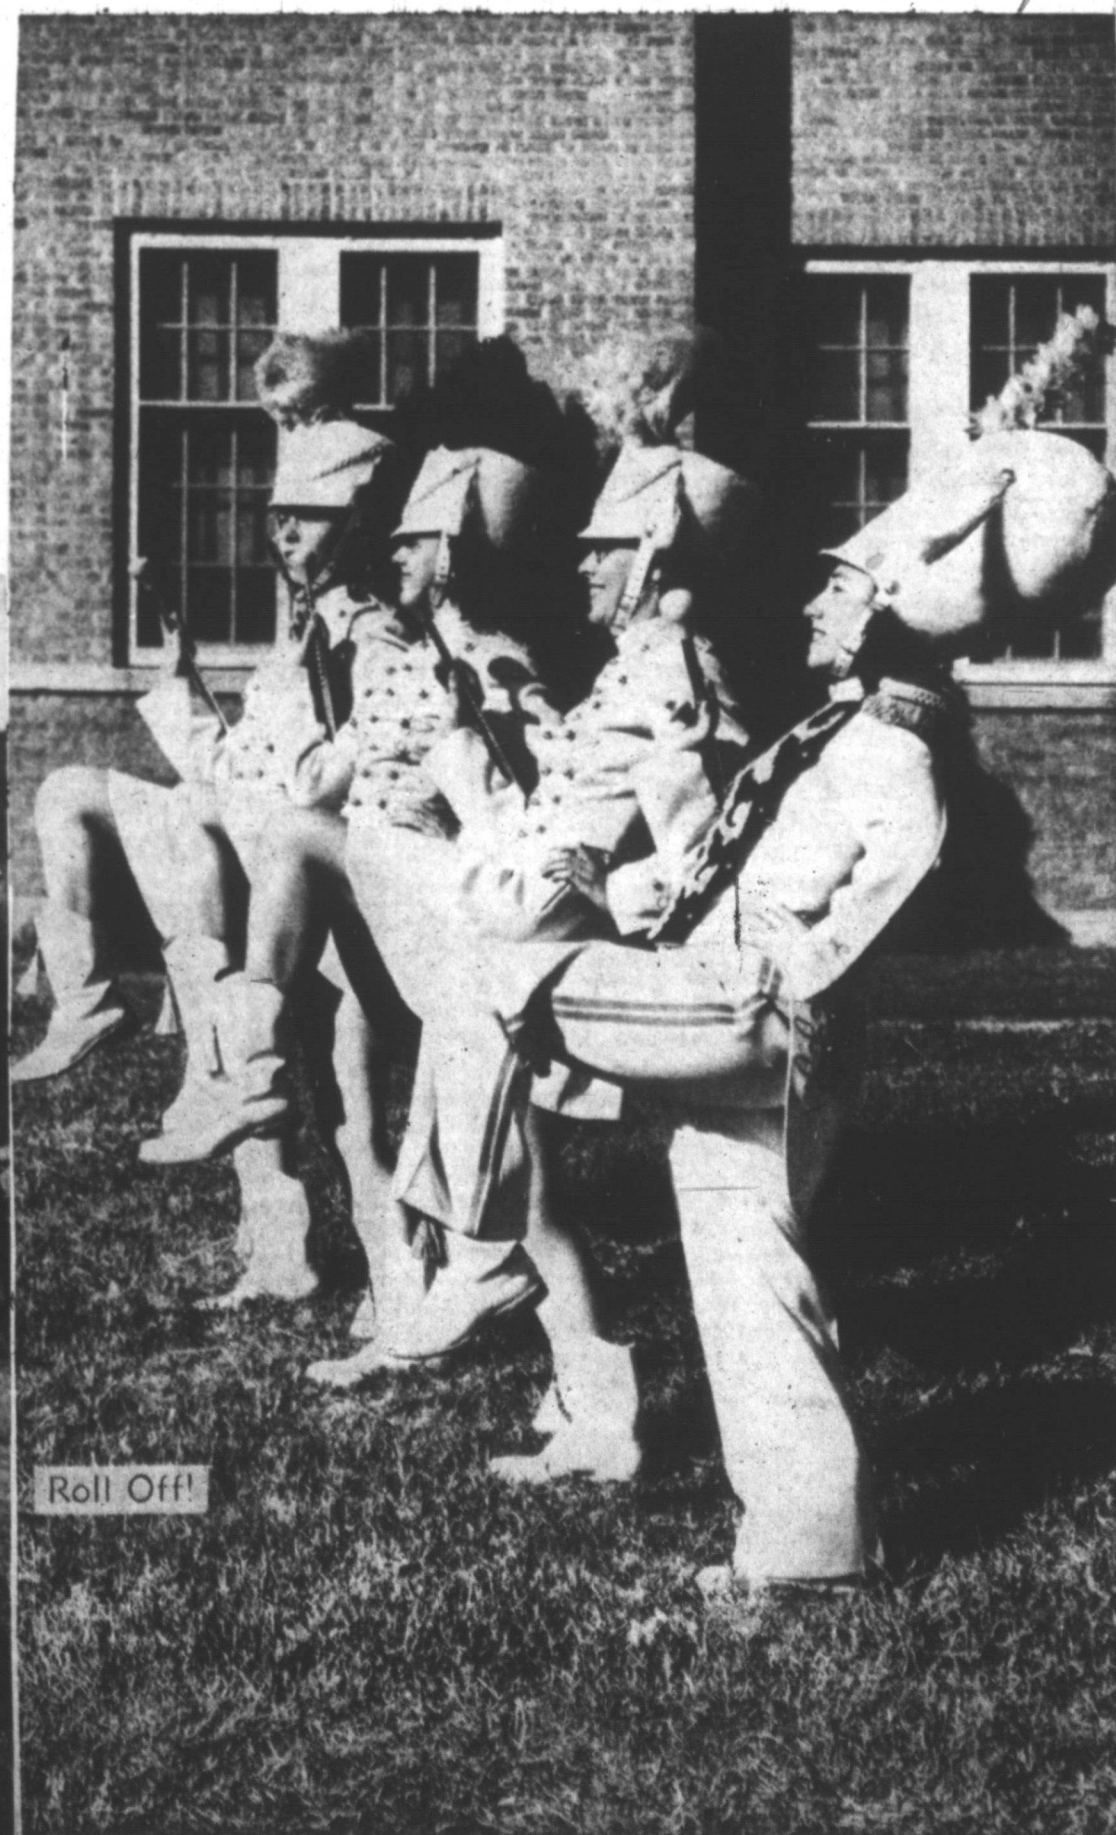

ROLL OFF! McLean High School also sports the colors of gold and black at home and away when the MHS band strikes up. High steppers here are Miss Rolena Chase, Miss Clea Sue Heasley, Miss Sue Chase and Miss June Stubblefield, left to right. Band master is Joe Coleman. (News photos by Tom Ellis)

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority Makes Annual Fashion Program Plans

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority met recently in the Chamber of Commerce offices for a regular business meeting.

Further plans were discussed for the Style Show that is to be held Oct. 11 in the Junior High Auditorium. Some of the stores have already selected their models and

Sound Off By A Leaguer

At the meeting of the Knife and Fork Club, Representative Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, the speaker, was asked how private opinion could be made public, effectively.

He answered with an old Chinese proverb meaning "Tell ten men, they each in turn tell ten more, and so on, ad infinitum."

He continued by saying that we as private citizens must be alert to nominate worthy men, campaign to elect them, let them know our views after they are elected and be willing to take an active part ourselves if called upon.

It seems to us that we are copying exactly the British manner of fighting us in our war for independence. The Redcoats marched bravely forth in formation to be slaughtered while we took advantage of every tree and bush. We were fighting then for our very life as a young and free country. Every man, woman and child pitched in to fight for the things they believed in devoutly.

The League of Women Voters stands firmly against Communism in any form. There is much that we as private citizens can do. The very fact that we are private citizens should be the deciding factor for us. Communism has never made any bones about eventual conquest of the entire world.

Rep. Judd explained the Korean conflict this way. He compared Asia to our right hand with the thumb representing Korea. The fingers could be Formosa, Burma, Indo-China and India. In Rep. Judd's opinion Korea will eventually be united because he believes, Russia feels that the rest of the hand is more important. These three years have not been wasted although almost everyone will agree that we have definitely not done what we set out to do. They have clearly shown us that Russia has no intention of losing Asia.

Every move the Communists make is slanted toward world conquest. They give a little here or there depending on the stand we take and it has been stated that Russia plans victory by 1970 or 80, only 20 years away.

This is a time for marshalling our forces, a time for a firm for democracy, a time to bow to none. Tell your Congressman and Senator what you think. You are a United States citizen. This is a duty entailing much responsibility, not just a privilege to be taken lightly.

Maurice Bernson Art Show Will Be Featured Today

Art work of Maurice H. Bernson of Canadian will be presented in an open house to be held today at Radio Station KPAT.

Bernson started his formal art training at West Texas State College in 1940 with Miss Isabel Robinson. He studied with Grant Reynart, New Jersey artist, at the Palo Duro Art Colony, during the next summer.

He studied portrait, landscape, outdoor still life and still life with Jerry Farnsworth in Sarasota, Fla., during 1949 to 1952. During this time his work was done in oils with the palette knife technique used exclusively.

His introduction to watercolor formally started during the summer sessions of 1951 and 1952 at Amagansett Art School in Sarasota with Hilton Leech.

Bernson plans to return to the Cranbrook Academy of Art at Bloomfield Hills, Mich., for the fall and winter terms. He will work at the academy in oil and water color.

The show includes 24 paintings in transparent water color and one in opaque water color. Subjects in the 25 paintings range from landscape, sea-scapes, figure studies and outdoor still life, to the impressions of Michigan winter.

Paintings from this collection will be selected for a one-man-show scheduled for hanging during Jan. 1 to 14 at the Oklahoma Art Center.

He is currently represented in the Michigan Water Color Society Exhibition in New York City. Baskets of white mums completed the decorative setting.

Miss Carolyn Job, sister of the bride, played as a piano solo. "Because," as the guests assembled, as the soft background music played "Indian Love Call" during the exchange of vows. Traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Miss Barbara Jean Job Becomes Bride Of Johnny Lee Morris At Home Ceremony

CANADIAN — (Special) — In a formal candlelight ceremony, Miss Barbara Jean Job of Woodward, Okla., and formerly of Canadian, became the bride of Johnny Lee Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Morris of the Gem Community.

The vows were read in the home of the bride's parents in Woodward recently.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Loren Ryel, pastor of the First Christian Church of Woodward, before the mantel centered with an arrangement of white mums. Candelabra bearing white tapers were placed on opposite ends of the mantel. Baskets of white mums completed the decorative setting.

Miss Carolyn Job, sister of the bride, played as a piano solo. "Because," as the guests assembled, as the soft background music played "Indian Love Call" during the exchange of vows. Traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Candlelighters were Sgt. Bill Job, brother of the bride, and Dean Cook, Canadian.

Jack Daughtry of Canadian served the groom as best man. Miss Matti Houser of Julia, former room mate of the bride at West Texas State College, attended as maid of honor. She wore a pink wool jersey suit-trimmed with rows of seed pearls on the bodice. Her headpiece was of pink velvet. She carried a bouquet of pink roses tied with brown satin streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a powder blue tulle street length suit. The jacket was trimmed with sequins and tiny seed pearls. Her white shoulder length veil was dotted with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with pink sweetheart roses and a white Stephanotis tied with satin ribbons.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Job were hosts to a reception in their home honoring the newly married couple.

Mrs. Leonard Job of Buffalo, Okla., grandmother of the bride, secured names for the bride's book.

A bouquet of white mums was placed on the buffet and the serving table was centered with blue candles in crystal holders. A crystal punch service and three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom completed the table setting.

Mrs. Bill Morris of Canadian, sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. Kenneth Morris of Canadian, sister-in-law of the groom, presided alternately at the cake service. Mrs. Dean Cook of Canadian poured the punch.

For her wedding trip to Colorado the bride wore a grey wool flannel suit with navy blue accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Following their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Morris will be at home at the Alexander Apartments in Canadian.

The bride is a graduate of Canadian High School and attended college at TSCW in Denton and West Texas State College in Canyon. The groom graduated from Canadian High School in 1952 and is associated with Tip Top Cleaners in Canadian.

RUTH MILLETT

A troubled wife wrote me this letter:

"A little over three years ago my husband told me he was in love with a girl who worked in his office and that he wanted a divorce."

"I gave him the divorce and went back to work. Now he tells me he made a mistake and wants to know if I will take him back if he gets a divorce from his second wife. I don't know what to do. I've never quit loving him but I don't know whether to believe him when he says he still loves me."

"He has been in poor health for years and I keep wondering if he just wants me back because he knows I will take good care of him. His second wife is apparently sick and tired of him now that he is in poor health and can't take her out every night. 'What do you think I should do?'

Realize when you are well off. This man ran out on his marriage to you and is ready now to run out on his marriage to someone else."

HIS HAS NO TRUE LOYALTY Can you possibly think that such a man can ever be a real husband to you, one whose love and loyalty you can count on?

And can you honestly believe he loves you when at one time he was perfectly willing to walk out on you?

Isn't it much more likely that, as you suggest, he is looking for a nurse instead of a wife? That he is afraid he is going to be the one who is left out in the cold, and that before he runs out on his present wife he wants the assurance that he can come back to you. Providing, of course, he is still in the mood to come back once he is free again?

You've worked out a life for yourself now. Why throw away your independence—and once again be at the mercy of a man who is as unstable as this one must be?

Listen to your head this time—not to your heart.

OCTOBER'S LAP OF PLENTY

Look at the variety of foods spilling out of October's lap of plenty!

Beef, honey, potatoes and cheese — all are plentiful enough in this area to rate a featured spot on the monthly plentiful foods list compiled by the Production and Marketing Administration.

Then there's more — turkeys, onions and raisins, not to mention all kinds of dairy products as well as salad oils and shortenings.

Nature's bounty means a big savings to the homemaker, for isn't it generally true that the most plentiful foods are the most favorably priced?

Both beef and honey are in such heavy supply that producers and the food trades have asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to join them in nationwide promotion of these foods during October.

Also, the potato crop is good, about 10 per cent above last year, and cheese production is running 19 per cent above last year. Cold storage stocks are the largest on record. During the past seven months, wholesale prices of cheese have been consistently lower than during the same time last year.

FMA points out that increased use of plentiful foods benefits farmers, businessmen in the food industry and consumers.

SECRET IN BUYING BEEF

There is a secret in buying beef that keeps the budget intact.

Ask for cuts by grades, suggests the Production and Marketing Administration.

Here's an example of how you can save. A USDA Good grade T-bone steak will cost less than a USDA Prime or USDA Choice grade. True, the USDA GOOD T-bone will have less fat, but it can be prepared so that it's tender and juicy. Here's where the smart homemaker's skill in the kitchen pays off!

Also, there's another point to remember. The USDA Good grade T-bone will be more tender than the USDA Choice grade of round steak.

Most economical grade of beef sold at retail counters is labeled USDA Commercial. In seasons of abundance like now, Commercial grades of beef are often less than half the price of Prime and Choice beef.

Also, with this beef, it's the preparation that counts.

Taking a long soak in the tub is an excellent beauty treatment. As a further aid to relaxation, you might listen to soft music on your portable radio, but don't take a chance on bringing your electric radio to the bathroom.

Washington Social Register Lists Many New Names, Several Casualties

By RUTH GMEINER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—UP—

The publisher of the "Social List of Washington," disclosed Saturday Republican "four-percenter" Warren L. Stephenson is a casualty on the new 1954 roster while Mrs. Ruth Barton Butcher, close friend of Mrs. Eisenhower, is an addition.

Mrs. Carolyn Hager Shaw, publisher of the "Green Book," social "bible" for Washington hostesses, gave no reason for the deletions and additions to the social register of some 4,000 names.

The book includes all of official and diplomatic Washington plus several thousand blue-bloods whose social prominence merits a listing.

Board Does Picking

Mrs. Shaw, who operates a social bureau and writes an etiquette column, does not do the picking herself. She leaves that to a board of four women and one man whose anonymity is scrupulously protected.

A hint of scandal is excuse enough to strike any name. It was obvious disclosure of Stephenson's excursions into attempted influence-peddling was why he was dropped from the register just off the presses.

You can marry into the book as Jean Kerr will when she weds Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). As a senator he already is in but she won't be listed until 1955.

Other explanations for new names are often obscure. Mrs. Butcher, who shared an apartment with Mrs. Eisenhower during World War II, has been a Washington resident for years. But she never made the Green Book until her long-time friend became First Lady.

Mrs. Shaw said the board culled through 500 applications before deciding only 150 were eligible. The number does not include new members of Congress or the Eisenhower administration who automatically are in. Some persons were listed who didn't apply.

Missing from the social list are many members from the Truman administration such as W. Averell Harriman, former Mutual Security director, who has moved away anyway.

Mr. Hobby Posed Problem

Mrs. Shaw, who offers her services as social arbiter to anyone who plunks down $12.50 for the Green Book (you can't get in by buying the book), said a "momentous decision" on protocol has now been made.

The question was where to put husbands of wives who are entitled to a place of rank because of their official position.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby was a case in point. She is entitled to post 10 for cabinet officers (her department was the 10th to be created).

Willing Workers Have Party In Slater Home

Members of the Willing Workers of the Church of God were entertained with a party given by Mrs. Tom Teague, Mrs. Joe Slater, Mrs. Blake Laramore and Mrs. James Quarry at the home of Mrs. Slater, 462 Pitts.

During the evening the group surprised Mrs. George Bloomingdale by singing "Happy Birthday" and presented her with a cake and gifts.

Refreshments of cherry and pecan pie were served to the guests and members including Mmes. Bloomingdale, T. C. Kitchens, W. H. Jamison, A. B. Bearden, W. J. Ulrich, LeRoy Goodwin, Arthur Pfeil, Paul Jenks, M. C. Mitchell, W. S. Gifford, Orva Foster, LeRoy Nicholson and the hostesses and Misses Elora Bloomingdale and Nadine Slater.

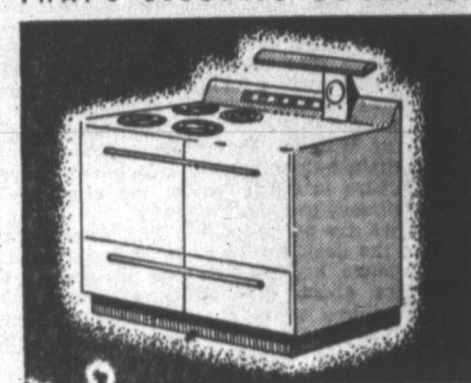

Detachable collars of all types (leather, linen, fur) are big fashion news this year. Among the newest is a lapin collar and belt set studded with rhinestones.

New gloves include double-woven cotton shorties that have trimmings of rhinestones, seed pearls, colored beads or jet and rhinestone combinations.

ated). Hereafter her husband, a former governor of Texas, was likely to be seated somewhere below the salt; he ranked below wives of congressmen. But no more.

"It was decided," Mrs. Shaw reported, "that as the wife of an official assumes her husband's rank at all times, the husband of a woman official should receive the same honor."

The book includes all of official and diplomatic Washington plus several thousand blue-bloods whose social prominence merits a listing.

Members of the Willing Workers of the Church of God were entertained with a party given by Mrs. Tom Teague, Mrs. Joe Slater, Mrs. Blake Laramore and Mrs. James Quarry at the home of Mrs. Slater, 462 Pitts.

During the evening the group surprised Mrs. George Bloomingdale by singing "Happy Birthday" and presented her with a cake and gifts.

Refreshments of cherry and pecan pie were served to the guests and members including Mmes. Bloomingdale, T. C. Kitchens, W. H. Jamison, A. B. Bearden, W. J. Ulrich, LeRoy Goodwin, Arthur Pfeil, Paul Jenks, M. C. Mitchell, W. S. Gifford, Orva Foster, LeRoy Nicholson and the hostesses and Misses Elora Bloomingdale and Nadine Slater.

ated). Hereafter her husband, a former governor of Texas, was likely to be seated somewhere below the salt; he ranked below wives of congressmen. But no more.

"It was decided," Mrs. Shaw reported, "that as the wife of an official assumes her husband's rank at all times, the husband of a woman official should receive the same honor."

The book includes all of official and diplomatic Washington plus several thousand blue-bloods whose social prominence merits a listing.

Board Does Picking

Mrs. Shaw, who operates a social bureau and writes an etiquette column, does not do the picking herself. She leaves that to a board of four women and one man whose anonymity is scrupulously protected.

A hint of scandal is excuse enough to strike any name. It was obvious disclosure of Stephenson's excursions into attempted influence-peddling was why he was dropped from the register just off the presses.

You can marry into the book as Jean Kerr will when she weds Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). As a senator he already is in but she won't be listed until 1955.

Other explanations for new names are often obscure. Mrs. Butcher, who shared an apartment with Mrs. Eisenhower during World War II, has been a Washington resident for years. But she never made the Green Book until her long-time friend became First Lady.

Mrs. Shaw said the board culled through 500 applications before deciding only 150 were eligible. The number does not include new members of Congress or the Eisenhower administration who automatically are in. Some persons were listed who didn't apply.

Missing from the social list are many members from the Truman administration such as W. Averell Harriman, former Mutual Security director, who has moved away anyway.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
A well-known home economist has charged the rise in juvenile crime to "working mothers."

Her statement has received wide publicity, and I earnestly hope that no wage-earning mother will take the charge seriously. It's as silly as the term "working mothers."

Such terms always make me squirm. Like the phrases "the radio audience," "the student body" and "the common man," it suggests that its group members have no individuality.

That's an impossibility. No human experience ever duplicates any other one. We are the results of response to unique experience, and our individual developments are as different as the shapes of frost flakes.

The fact that we happen to belong to a group called "working mothers" has nothing whatever to do with our creating a delinquent child. Whether we produce one depends entirely upon the kind of individual human being we are.

As reassurance to the nation's 4,000,000 wage-earning mothers, Charm Magazine recently called in 16 experts on juvenile crime to confirm this point of view.

Let us relax. If Jerry's to become delinquent, it won't be because we're in an office all day taking someone's dictation. Nor because we're at home all day either.

Jerry becomes delinquent because he comes to think of himself as a poor, troublesome unwanted boy. That bad idea of himself is not the result of our physical presence, but of our idea of ourselves.

We are so preoccupied with the intensity of our own troubles that we can't even respond to Jerry's. We are just too busy being ap-

Jeweled Embroidery With Elegant Fabric Is Last Word For Late-Day Costume

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — (NMA) — The last word for the late-day dress this fall is the straight and narrow sheath, elegant of fabric and glittering with jeweled embroidery. This is a dress that's not easy to walk in but that you can't have everything.

If you're hippy or if your figure refuses to come to terms with the sheath at any point, you can wear a wide skirt and still be right. They're in, too, and you can even get out your petticoats again.

The fur-trimmed fashion is as good for late day and small evenings as it is for daytime wear. Fur may take the form of a small collar, rounded cuffs or it may outline a wide V or U neckline. Black fox is back as fur trim and is seen most often in cuff form.

These flattering fur and glitter trimmings are used against fabrics that are rich in themselves: satin, taffeta, velvet, silk and sheer wool.

The coat that goes over such dresses is the day-length evening coat in satin or velvet, often with a surprise lining in a flash of brilliant color. Like the dress it tops, the cut of this coat is straight and narrow. But it is not severe; it has a pretty softness achieved mostly through intricate and careful seaming.

If your baby seems to turn into an eel when you start to dress him, enlist the aid of his high chair. Shoes, socks, and shirts should go on with squirming cut to a minimum.

A muffin tin makes a practical baby dish, with cups to spare for vegetables, meat and dessert.

We have to leave him for work again, his genuine contact with us will sustain him until he sees us again. The quality of time we have shared with him will secure his conviction that he is a wanted, understood and beloved person.

It's not a matter of our membership in a group called "working mothers" at all, but of our individual development as a human being.

The short, or dress, length is the one most in demand now for negligees and robes. Women of all ages, from teenagers to grandmothers, like this length and wear it.

Professional Rug Cleaners Give Tips And Instructions On Care Of Carpet

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If you're unrolling a new carpet this fall, you'll want to brush up on tips to preserve its first-day beauty. Especially, if you have a careless dog, or small children, or both.

Having acquired a piece of wall-to-wall carpeting recently by buying the old home built around it, I've sought the advice of professional rug cleaners on several spotty occasions.

What I learned from them and from public service bulletins issued by the National Institute of Rug Cleaners may help you as much as they have me.

Sloan Simpson Wants TV Program

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 26 — UP—

Sloan Simpson, former first lady of New York City, wants to settle down with a television program she can call her own.

The 36-year-old brunette has been vague about her future plans while she awaited news of the pending annulment of her marriage to former Ambassador William O'Dwyer in Mexico.

She admits she's trying for a television career. She's hired a personal representative and started apartment hunting, even though the status of her marriage is still a mystery.

"I don't think I'll need to go to Mexico now," said Mrs. Simpson, as she prefers to be called. She came home from Spain three weeks ago intending to do so to Mexico City to testify before church authorities. She already has obtained a civil divorce ending her three-year marriage to O'Dwyer.

"I really would have liked to do some kind of a travel show on film," she said, referring to her new career. "But I find now that it isn't practical. It would be too expensive for me to try."

Her representative, Jeff Jones, who used to serve the same function for Faye Emerson and has helped produce such shows as "Leave It to the Girls," is confident his new client will find something else she likes as well.

"She's had a number of offers from both radio and television," Jones said.

A new romance, Sloan vowed, is the farthest thing from her mind. "I have enough problems," she said emphatically.

She has had little TV experience though she appeared as a model several years ago and in Mexico made frequent charity appeals before the cameras.

Again, the warm-water sponging is the quickest, most effective treatment. Wise precaution is to follow up with the detergent solution, rinse, and blot up excess.

For the greasy stains, the N. I. R. C. recommends squirting the carpet with a non-flammable household cleaning fluid; use an eye-dropper and sponge up the stain with a dry, white cloth. I keep a can of rug cleaning compound, which is essentially sawdust impregnated with a special cleaning fluid, on hand for grease spots, ink blots or puzzling stains.

A small handful of this cleaner brushed on the stain, allowed to dry thoroughly, then vacuumed up and hip drapery.

Top Job Requisites

What does a corporation president think about at night? John L. McCaffrey, president of International Harvester, gave his answer to that question in a recent speech which Fortune reprinted in full "for the benefit of all executives brash enough to aspire to the top management job."

First of all, Mr. McCaffrey observed that, "The mechanics of running a business are really not very complicated, when you get down to the essentials. You have to make some stuff and sell it to somebody for more than it cost you. That's about all there is to it, except for a few million details." So operational matters aren't a primary cause of insomnia at the top level — the concern's president is usually able to handle those during the regular business hours.

However, Mr. McCaffrey said, "There are other problems the president has to sweat and struggle with, largely by himself. They are the problems he thinks about at night. They all arise out of one simple fact. I can sum up this situation in one sentence: The biggest trouble with industry is that it is full of human beings."

Going on, he pointed to some of the enormous changes that have taken place in industry. Not long ago products were made in their entirety by a single craftsman. Now nearly every small operation on every part of every product is performed by different men. In other words, work has become extremely specialized — and not only as it applies to the jobs of factory workers. In Mr. McCaffrey's view, "The specialization of management at all levels, including the executive, has logged somewhat behind the specialization of equipment and employees, but it is following exactly the same course, and giving rise to the same problems. We have a lot of people like Ed Wynn's famous painter who only painted boats and not horses, and when a customer insisted that he do a picture of his horse, the painter said: 'Well, all right. But it's gonna look like a boat.'"

Business needs these specialists, of course — needs them in vast numbers and in every scientific and technological field. The colleges and universities have recognized the huge demand and adapted their education systems to it. The advantages of such specialization is obvious — the smaller the area, the more quickly a man can become an expert. But there are grave disadvantages too. Mr. McCaffrey said, "The world of the specialist is a narrow one and it tends to produce narrow human beings. The specialist usually does not see overall effects on the business. And so he tends to judge good and evil, right and wrong, by the sole standard of his own specialty."

What, then, is the solution? Mr. McCaffrey mentioned the renewed interest, expressed by many businessmen as well as others, in giving more time to liberal arts education. But it seems that top executives generally have been derelict in practicing what they preach in this regard — they hire about all the chemists and engineers and other specialists they can find, but are slow to take on the liberal arts graduates. Another approach, which he personally thinks is the most promising, is for corporations to send young executives to universities for training and broadening. But whatever the course taken, Mr. McCaffrey finds that industry's need is "to produce a type of business executive who, after carefully learning that all balls are round, will not be completely flabbergasted the first time he meets one that has a square side. And he will meet them, for we live in a complicated world — a world that has spiritual and moral problems even greater than its economic and technical problems. If the kind of business system we now have is to survive, it must be staffed by men who can deal with problems of both kinds."

Just Forget It

Mental health experts tell us that the pressures of modern life are driving many people to the verge of madness. Competition scares us. Our goals in life seem unattainable. And so we harbor unkind thoughts about the boss, snap at the wife and kiddies, and boot the dog off the porch. The cure offered is development of what is called the "well-integrated personality." Well-integrated, a man is supposedly able to surmount vexations of the spirit and serenely sail on to the goal he sets.

So it seemed, therefore, to read that a three-day convention of experts, held by the Mental Health Society of Northern California at Asilomar recently, wound up with disintegration rearing its ugly head in the very conference hall.

Some one said the well-integrated person naturally is inspired by high and worthy goals — democracy and things like that. Then somebody else, in an ill moment for integrated harmony, brought up the case of the late Adolf Hitler. Hitler, he argued, had evil intent and vicious goals, but was as well-integrated, scientifically speaking, as any man. Competition didn't scare him — he just lined it up and shot it. He certainly didn't think his goals were unattainable, for he took on almost the rest of the world in war trying to gain them, and half-wrecked the world in the process.

With that as a starter, such a hubbub of controversy arose that one expert on integration was driven to the length of pleading that the meeting not end on a note of "fulfilling confusion." If that's the way matters must go with the experts, the average Joe Doakes may just as well forget about integration and go on doing the best he can in his own way — as his daddy did before him.

Who Has The Final Say As To What Children Are Taught?

It will be remembered that William and Mary Turner of Culver City were arrested and fined for not sending their children to public schools. The case was appealed to the Appellate Department of the Superior Court of Los Angeles.

The case was heard several months ago, and now the judges of this court are asking for more argument on the case. They have restored the case to the calendar on October 15, 1953 for further argument. The judges, themselves do not seem to know what rights parents have as to educating their own children. Their summons states:

"The attention of counsel is directed to the following question on which argument is requested:

"Does section 16,621 of the Education Code, construed in the light of the other provisions of the same chapter, require some affirmative action by 'the proper school authorities' before a child can be regarded as 'exempt' from the requirements of section 16,601 of the same code?"

The question really boils down to how far the American people have gone in taking away from the parents their God-given right to educate their own children. The question is whether the state now is the final authority as to how a child should be taught. That is a very, very important question, for every American citizen. It is important because if the state has the final say as to what education is, then it has a legal right to suppress any education that it wants to. It was this belief that the state was superior to the individual that caused the Athenian government to put Socrates to death for not educating people the way the state wanted them educated. It was this belief that caused the Roman government to put Christ to death because He was teaching the inherent rights of every individual. The question really is whether an individual has liberty from God or whether he gets it from the government.

If the Turner case does nothing else but get people to realize how far the state has gone in completely monopolizing the training of the youth of the land, then the case will be worth the cost.

Those people who have not thought things through are inclined to believe that the state has not gone too far because people are still permitted to send their children to private schools. Section 16,601 requires that:

"Each parent, guardian or other person having control or charge of any child between the ages of 8 and 16 years, not exempted under the provision of this chapter, shall send the child to the public full time day school for the full time for which public schools of the city, county or school district in which the child resides are in session."

There are several cases where children are exempt from attending public schools. Some of them are minor, such as a child who is not physically or mentally fit to be required to attend, and a child who lives over two miles from school is exempt.

Exceptions
Section 16,624 says:

"Children who are being instructed in private, full time day school by persons capable of teaching shall be exempt. Such school shall be taught in English language and shall offer instruction in the several branches of study required to be taught in the public schools of the state. The attendance of the pupils shall be kept by private school authorities in a register, and the record of attendance shall indicate clearly every absence of the pupil from school for a half day or more during each day that school is maintained during the year."

You will note that in the above exemption the state does not require the teachers to have credentials from the state. It simply says "persons capable of teaching." Evidently the state has not required private or parochial school teachers to get certificates from the state because religious schools would see the tyranny that was bound to follow such a requirement. In other words, the legislators so far are more afraid of the religious institutions than they are the school lobby.

Private Tutors
Section 16,625 reads:

"Children not attending a private, full time day school, and who are being instructed in study and recitation for at least three hours a day for 130 days each calendar year by a private tutor or other person, in school branches of study required to be taught in the public schools of the state and in the English language shall be exempt. The tutor or other person shall hold valid state credentials for the grade taught. The instruction shall be offered between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m."

Note that the state now requires tutors or parents to have credentials from the state, but it does not require credentials from the state for teachers in private schools. In other words, when the parent is trying to educate his child, the state is the final authority as to whether he is capable. That is indeed going a long, long way toward a slave, tyrannical state. It is hard to think of anything more tyrannical than the state taking from the parent the right to educate his children the way he believes they should be educated.

The Old Briar Patch

National Whirligig... Prospects Of Prolonged War Forces Restudy Of Essentials

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The prospect of prolonged military, economic and political conflict between dictator and democratic nations in remote and primitive areas of the world has forced a restudy of the essentials available in these three related fields at Washington and other Western capitals. Based on experiences in Korea and Indo-China, soldiers and diplomats of the West do not exist in the enemy's camp.

The United States is fighting an altogether new kind of war, both hot and cold, as analysts at the War College and before the National Security Council emphasize. The differences involve not only guns, but also military diets, clothing, transportation, training of the armed forces, diplomatic strategy, economic reinforcement of our Allies. They embrace every problem raised when nations must resort to war or war pressures in order to settle their disputes, for that means total mobilization.

Peace-Table Wars
Until now, so the theory runs, the world's major battles have been waged between relatively civilized countries. With a few important exceptions, their standards of living and thinking—food, shelter, clothing, religions, education, upbringing, attitudes—have been fairly similar. Their methods of waging war were as humane as ideas were embodied in international treaties that were generally respected.

When the quarrel shifted from the battlefield to the peace tables, the negotiators bickered and haggled. But they acted and abided by definite codes and principles. The victors were rarely ruthless. In short, there were certain conventions that were observed from the first in the signing of the last illustrious name on the treaty.

But the appearance of Marxist Russia on the world stage as a major aggressor has upset all his torical precedents. In Russia and her loyal satellites and allies, the West will be fighting primitive and unprincipled men. Marx and Lenin regarded this as a sign of weakness.

Arms Backward Peoples
This revolutionary transformation becomes even clearer, even more threatening, as Moscow seeks to arouse and arm backward races against us in the Orient, India, the Middle East, Africa and elsewhere. They may be pecuniary susceptible to vicious vaccination by the medicine men in the Kremlin.

Our soldiers in Korea commented on the contrast. Whereas they enjoyed one hot meal a day even on the front line, the Communists subsisted on grains and dried vegetables carried on their person. They needed no cumbersome or costly supply and transport system. The enemy was armed with shorter, lighter rifles, but they killed as effectively as our Garandas. For transportation and construction they relied on cheap man power instead of motorized machines. Thus the question under study

BID FOR A SMILE

Fond of practical jokes, a man, out of a clear blue sky, once sent a friend a telegram which read: "I am perfectly well." A week later the joker received a heavy parcel—on which he had to pay considerable charges. On opening it, he found a big block of concrete on which was pasted this message: "This is the weight your telegram lifted from my mind."

CUT OUT THE HOME WORK

(The Tulsa Tribune)
By Richard Lloyd Jones, Publisher

IT'S DEFENDERS' DAY in Maryland today. Defenders of what? Our schools again are in full swing. We have heard children lament that they had to go back to school. Going to school should be fun. Learning should be fun. Something is out of gear if any considerable number of our children find school boring.

Our educational journals, teachers' conferences, the profundities of the National Education Association are all discussing educational problems that are foreign to our educational needs. They are all busy concocting pedagogical conundrums and attempting to solve them on a Ph.D. basis which is barren of intellectual and spiritual enthusiasms.

What has our school system done for us? Our freedoms were placed in the hands of the people and the people have been growing indifferent to the security of our freedoms. Our educational masters no longer seem to know what education is for.

Maryland has this state holiday, which every state in the Union would do well to adopt. In Maryland it is Defenders' Day, by the observance will be "uncertainty."

Our public school system was devised to make every day Defenders' Day. But we have departed from the foundations that Maryland professes to respect. Maryland itself is saturated with political corruptions. And its pretensions Johns Hopkins University seems not to be conscious of our need of defense. It plays along with our betrayers.

With all its exalted faculty, all its intellectual affections, Johns Hopkins in Maryland this day is timid. It is cowardly and indifferent to the distressing betrayals of its embraced Pacific Relations Institute and its Owen Lattimore. And that which Maryland exhibits is duplicated in every

Down South... Problems Of The United States Leave Many Experts Stumped

By THURMAN SENSING
Southern States Industrial Council
Nashville, Tennessee

There is much concern in the minds of many people that we may now be facing another depression. Some fear it without being able to give a reason; others give various reasons.

One of the interesting and intriguing reasons advanced comes from a correspondent in Britain, who develops his theory something along the following lines: The basis of American industry is mass-production. The nature of the market is such that the mass-production factories must work at a high level of capacity in order to break even; above that level they make large profits.

This means, of course, that if these factories fall even slightly under this high level they lose money; if they fall considerably under it, they lose enormous amounts.

So it is clear that a relatively small reaction in American business can have tremendous consequences. Being geared to a high production level in order to make a profit, the factories must continue to turn out goods at this level in order to keep open whether there is a market for the goods or not. If they cannot operate at this high level and find a market for the goods, then losses set in, unemployment occurs, and depressions follow.

The Britisher goes on to make the point that when Great Britain held the position of world leadership now held by the United States, which did for a century or more—that British industry was continuously subject to world competition through free imports, that they could not therefore gear their prosperity to a high break-even point; that British industry accordingly operated under a much lower break-even point than does American industry at the present time. He points out, however, that British industry prospered under these conditions and that the world economy under British leadership was a rather stable one, a fact that he does not believe would have been the case otherwise.

This would seem to be a case for free trade—and it may be. There is one thing sure—the United States now holds the position of world leadership and it is possible that free trade will loom larger and larger in our discussions in the years ahead if we are to continue to hold that position.

Right now, however, we are concerned with the production level of American industry. It is high, very high. The nation's factories today are turning out more than twice as much goods as in 1929 or 1940. Factory output in the last 12 years has increased about five times as fast as population. This nation, with a population of 160 million people, has a total economic production just about equal to all the rest of the world, with a combined population of two and one-quarter billion people.

Instead of being considered a danger to our economy, however, it would seem reasonable to assume our high production should be considered the reason for our success. It has enabled the United States to supply both itself and its allies with sufficient material goods to win two world wars. It has enabled us to give away about fifty billion dollars worth of goods to our allies since the end of the Second World War. At the same time, living standards here at home have continued to rise.

It is true, however, that this high level of production we have reached during these years is now turning out goods in excess of what seems to be the demand for them, with a consequent piling up of inventories in the factories and the warehouses and the stores—and this is the reason most people give for fearing a depression now. And it would be a good reason, too, if the goods cannot be sold.

state. All evidence of the incompetency and the stupidity of our educational leaders who, instead of igniting inspirations, make school work dull drudgery.

Some years ago Senator Mason, of Illinois, found himself ridiculed by a lot of our educational "big boys" because he said, "The little red school house in its simplicities and sincerities made patriots. Now our colleges ridicule the patriots." They do.

The defenders of our country today are smeared by too many of our educational leaders. There are too few school teachers, too few college principals, professors and college presidents who are fighting with and for the defenders of our freedoms. Our colleges are no longer the fortresses of our freedoms. And our schools have lost the inspirational enthusiasms that once emanated from the little red school house.

One of the burdens that bothers our children in our schools today is this overplus of HOME WORK. And there is where the parents should come in and tell the pedagogues where to head in and where to get off. Going to school should be like going to a shop or a factory for an eight-hour day of work. An eight-hour day would take care of all the classroom work and all the preparations and recitations to which a child should be subjected in one day. And when the child is through with that day's school work AT SCHOOL, as he would be if he were in a shop, he goes to freedom. School is out. But what do misguided teachers do to our children? They assign to them a lot of HOME WORK. It begins in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and increases all the way through high school.

A man was driving an auto with his wife in the back seat and stalled his car on the railroad as the train was approaching. His wife screamed: "Go on! Go on!" Hubby — You've been driving all day from the back seat. I have got my end across. Now see what you can do with your end.

But the goods could be moved—it would be foolish to assume that people's wants are satisfied—if either or both of two things were to take place: first, if the manufacturer could lower his price; and second, if the customer could find more money with which to buy them. At the same time, our living standard would continue to rise.

One thing would produce both these results: LOWER TAXES — to both the manufacturer and the consumer. There are other things that might be done to produce these results, too, but lowering taxes leads the list. Write your Congressman!

BACKING AND FILLING!

We have all heard the two major criticisms of the Eisenhower Administration: one from the conservative Republicans that it is too New Dealish, — and the other from the New Dealers that it is too "reactionary." But this mere citizen feels that the most legitimate criticism of the Eisenhower leadership is its tendency to "back and fill," be one thing one day and something else the next, like a jittery compass needle that keeps being pulled this way and that by conflicting forces.

Perhaps that is the inevitable result of striving to find a congenial and nebulous "middle-road" for everything, to be liked by everybody, to antagonize nobody at home or abroad, and to "compromise" and "negotiate" answers to everything with sweet reason and good will. Unfortunately, it seems much more likely to satisfy no one in the end, and eventually to lead to frustration and confusion.

In an era when clear-cut, easily-understood goals and principles are so urgently needed.

During the campaign, most voters were relatively certain that the Republican Party stood pretty solid for at least six basic goals: an honorable and just peace in Korea, — reduced Federal spending and lower taxes, — a free, competitive economy, — a return to Constitutional, limited government, — a vigorous anti-Communist policy both at home and abroad, — and an honest, moral administration.

Now this column does not contend that the Administration's compass has never pointed in all these directions, — but it does contend that the compass has wavered disturbingly, sometimes toward and sometimes away from these goals, — as if those in power were not too sure of themselves, or of just what they wanted to do.

For example, in no time at all, the clear campaign-promise of "lower taxes" went out the window, was replaced by "balance the budget first," and then by "we can't balance the budget," and then by "let's raise the debt limit." This quick flip-flop led to the incongruous situation of a Republican Administration demanding the retention of a Republican-repealed "excess-profits tax."

Another incongruous Congressional battle was over the appointment of "Chip" Bohlen as Ambassador to Russia, for this appointee publicly praised the Yalta agreement which President Eisenhower and the whole Republican Party had loudly repudiated in the campaign.

Another flip-flop concerns President Eisenhower's much-applauded statement in his State of the Union speech, that he intended to ask Congress for a "Yalta repudiation," — but this request was never forthcoming. Instead, he sent to Congress a watered down version which accepted the Truman-Acheson theory that nothing was wrong with Yalta—except that the Russians had violated it. No explanation for this strange reversal was ever made.

The "armistice" in Korea, by everyone's admission, is not "peace," and the controversial terms that were offered the aggressors were "secretly negotiated," a method which the Republicans have always criticized in Democratic Administrations.

The President's Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson, has been a forthright advocate of a "free-market economy," and a strong opponent of "subsidies, surpluses and controls." But now that the wheat-farmers have voted in heavy majority for more of the New and Fair Deals, it looks as if the Republicans are going to quietly flip-flop on this policy also. They are even considering a new tax on bread—to pay for it.

As for "limited, Constitutional government," — Secretary of State Dulles, in April 1952, strongly favored the Bricker Amendment idea, to protect our Constitutional rights from sabotage by foreign treaties. But since he has assumed office, he has done a complete flip-flop on this one, and now claims that such protection is "unnecessary and dangerous" because Eisenhower's Administration will not "abuse" its treaty-making powers. Thus he endorses the un-American theory that we should put our faith in men—instead of in law. On this point, Thomas Jefferson said long ago: "In questions of power, let no more be said of confidence in man; but bind him down from mischief by the chains of the Constitution."

U. S. Drivers May Pay Less For Gasoline

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—UP—Lower gasoline prices may be in the offing for the nation's 60 million motorists, according to some oil circles here.

The cuts, if they come, might not be enough to offset the average one-cent-a-gallon increase invoked nationally this summer but nevertheless would save the consuming public millions of dollars. The oil industry may have made its decision quickly. It has over-produced and is caught with a 30 million-barrel surplus. Spokesmen say the situation will worsen as consumption drops sharply this winter. They said this leaves two alternatives: To reduce production, thus holding prices up, or cut prices.

Price Wars Raging
They look for the latter because competitive retail prices were already rising from New England to the Rocky Mountains, with prices down four cents a gallon in some areas and seven cents in others.

"We simply have too much gasoline in storage," an official of an Oklahoma company said.

A spokesman for one of the nation's biggest companies said, "You'll be on the right track if you say that wholesale—tank wagon—prices probably will go down, rather than up." He said if wholesale prices drop, filling station cuts are inevitable.

Another industry source said the nation is "short through" with price wars and these are bound to have some effect.

Among cities hit by price wars are Syracuse, N.Y., Detroit, Hartford, Conn., Providence, R. I., Camden and Jersey City, N.J., and Harrisburg, Pa. Those are only a few. On Thursday three Oklahoma companies cut retail prices as much as seven cents a gallon.

Gasoline stocks on hand today total 143,740,000 barrels as against 113 million the same day last year. Stocks backed up when summer consumption, especially for the vacation month of August, dropped far below expectations.

Prices jumped last summer after a nationwide crude oil price increase. A congressional committee investigated and turned its findings over to the Department of Justice which has them under study.

Officials would not say whether the inquiry would be dropped if prices are cut back.

Delaware, Nevada, Wyoming, and Vermont each have only one delegate in the House of Representatives.

Eight Of 31 Proposed Wells To Be More Than 4,000 Feet

Eight of the 31 intentions-to-drill filed last week with the regional office of the Texas Railroad Commission have proposed depths of more than 4,000 feet.

Seven of those eight are in Roberts County. They include Phillips No. 4 and No. 5 Edge "A", No. 4, No. 5 and No. 6 Laron, Shamrock No. 19 L. A. Maddox; and Sinclair's No. 3 Miles O'Loughlin.

The eighth is the Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Trustee W. L. Steakley in Castro County. Seven others and four gasers were also reported completed.

'COWS GROW BIG STEAKS'

German Engineer In Pampa Relates First Impressions

First hand impressions of a German family now living in America were given at the luncheon meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club Friday in the basement of the First Methodist church by Otto Specht, chemical engineer for Cabot Companies.

Specht, with his wife and son, has been a resident of Pampa since early this year.

"When he and his family first came to this country, he said, he was offered the opportunity of going to Boston or Pampa, so he chose Pampa.

"Now I look and laugh at the things we worried about," he declared. "We thought our son would have to go to Amarillo to school since Pampa was so small. We could not find it on any map and the railroad agent could not find a ticket for Pampa."

UPON ARRIVING in Pampa he immediately found a room, later an apartment and now has found a house, he said. "If I was still in Germany I would still be in one room. If I had been foolish enough to move some place," he added.

He pointed out that housing is quite scarce in Germany and that houses are built much differently than those of this country. Houses over there are built several stories high, due to the high cost of land.

"Today in Germany all the houses are controlled by the government," he asserted. "Housing is allotted to the landlords and tenants on the basis of the number in the family."

"Coming to America, we brought very little furniture, due to the high cost of shipping. My wife and I knew it would take us several years to save enough money to buy new furniture. But, to our surprise, we became acquainted with this thing, you call 'time-payment'. We are living quite comfortably now. In Germany this would have been impossible, for household furnishings are sold on a cash basis only."

THE SPEAKER said that many cities here are quite rare in Germany. Some of these are refrigerators, washing machines and automobiles.

"Another place my wife and I had noticed a big difference was in the amount of food available, and on some items the difference in cost," he said. "Over there coffee costs about $4.50 per pound and tea $7 per pound. Meat also is very high in Germany. I never realized that cows grew such big steaks as I found here in America. There is quite a lot of food in West Germany, but few people have the money to buy it."

Shortly after coming to Pampa Specht and his family had the opportunity to meet Gretchen Johannsen and Burkhard Brehm, German exchange students sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis Club, who attended school here last year.

"It was interesting to learn from Gretchen and Burk, and from our own observations how these youngsters were treated here in Pampa," the speaker stated. "Before leaving Germany I had met and talked with an East German student, who had been taken to Russia for six months."

"I ENJOYED talking to him and learning what he had seen and learned in Russia, since I had spent 10 months in Russia during World War II. This boy was a high school student, 16 years old, the son of an elementary school teacher. He, together with a large group of other boys, was taken to Russia to be given a Communist exercise to prepare him for leadership in the Communist movement.

"They lived in a camp, never had the opportunity to talk to anyone except the commissars. They wore uniforms and were required to take military exercises. They were given daily instructions in Communism; in how great Russia is, and her accomplishments, such as having invented the airplane, radio, television and many others. His travels consisted of group conducted tours of industry, large public buildings, monuments and one model farm.

"Strange as it may seem, he was impressed by the greatness of Russia until we had talked of the bad things I had seen there. He had seen and heard only what the Russians had wanted him to see."

"YOU CANNOT realize how happy it made us to see how you, here in Pampa, treated Gretchen and Burk, for this gave my wife and me renewed confidence in our decision to become American citizens."

The speaker was introduced by Jim Massa, in whose home young Brehm lived while here.

Guests at the meeting were A. D. Nance and Bill Weide of Amarillo and Warren Brisants and Jerald Sims of Pampa.

Hint to Motorists

If, after overhauling the rear axle assembly of a car, a hum occurs while the motor is pulling, the ring gear and drive pinion mesh too tightly. If the hum occurs when the car is coasting, the gears are meshed too loosely.

announced that officers for the coming year will be elected at next Friday's meeting. Those nominated by the nominating committee are J. B. Maguire, president; Frank Fata, first vice president; Ralph McKinney, second vice president, and Ken Meaders, Sam Begert, Warren Hasse and Malcolm Hinkle, directors.
