Security Wage Strike Is Spreading

FLYING VISITS MADE IN MANY WPA PROJECTS

GENERAL JOHNSON TO "SIT TIGHT" AND WATCH

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—Launching a strike movement which threatens to encompass other large cities, union representatives today made flying visits to call 10,000 to 15,000 skilled workers away from works progress administration jobs in protest against the government's security wage.

At the PWA administration offices it was said that only about 700 workers were away from their jobs today. Union officials made no estimate. There are about 100,000 WPA employes, union and non-union, whose jobs are involved in the dispute.

A "sitting tight" policy was proclaimed by General Hugh S. Johnson, New York administrator of the WPA.

"I intend to sit tight and see what happens," he said.

The unionists protest that the security wage of $93.50 a month paid skilled workers would be seized upon by private employers as an excuse of lower wages.

PURCHASE OF ARMS IN JAPAN BY ETHIOPIA IS RUMORED AS ENVOY GOES ON SECRET TRIP

Credit on 50 Per Cent of Order Sought — Embassy Will Be Opened Soon.

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 9 (AP)—Baba Birrou, former foreign office official, left for Japan today accompanied by an unidentified Japanese on a secret mission.

It was reported without confirmation that the mission had to do with the purchase of arms and ammunition from the Japanese.

A reliable source said Birrou would establish the first Ethiopian consulate in Japan, probably at Tokyo.

In connection with the arms and ammunition report, it was said Ethiopia would attempt to obtain credit for at least 50 per cent of the value of the order.

The government today embarked on a campaign of economic self-sufficiency for the empire along with its military preparations for the threatened conflict with Italy.

Put the name of Rodolfo Graziani (above) away for reference in case of war between Italy and Ethiopia, for this young general is Premier Benito Mussolini's white hope against the black warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie. ALLRED STILL IS OPPOSED TO FEDERAL BODY

NO ADVISORY GROUP TO HELP STATES DESIRED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Congressional sanction of state oil conservation compacts was requested by President Roosevelt today in a brief special message.

The president confined his recommendation for oil legislation at this session to approval of the understandings reached among oil producing states.

He transmitted to congress certified copies of the approval of the agreement entered into at Dallas, Texas, last February 16 for control of producers.

From Four States.

The certified copies came from Oklahoma, Texas, California, and New Mexico.

The president's message to congress:

"To the Congress of the United States:

"I transmit herewith a certified copy of the state compact to conserve oil and gas, executed in the city of Dallas, Texas, on February 16, 1935, by the representatives of the states of Oklahoma, Texas, California, and New Mexico and recommended for ratification by representatives of the states of Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, and Michigan.

"The compact signed by representatives of these states has been deposited in the department of state of the United States.

I also transmit a report of the secretary of state, from which you will observe that notification has been received by the legislatures of the states of New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Colorado, and Texas.

Ask Congress' Consent.

"I recommend that the congress enact legislation giving the consent of congress to the state compact to conserve oil and gas, executed at Dallas, Texas, on February 16, 1935."

AUSTIN, Aug. 9 (AP)—Commenting on the latest proposal to create a federal oil supervisory board, Gov. Allred said today he was opposed to "setting up any board to tell us any artificial demand for oil."

"An Entering Wedge."

"It would be an entering wedge for federal control if the state did not abide by suggestion of the board," Gov. Allred said.

"I am certainly unalterably opposed to putting such a board in the department of interior."

"I have so advised our United States senators. There is no occasion for a new board in Washington, certainly not in the department of interior.

"I remember what happened before. On a committee of fifteen Texas, the biggest oil producer in the country, had only one representative. One of the smaller states had four."

It has been suggested in Washington that a board be set up to gather statistics and act in an advisory capacity to states voluntarily regulating production through an interstate compact.

WORDS by O.E.H.

Words are things — BYRON.

Twinkles

Complexity of modern society: While farmers pray for rain, city dwellers complain about the static which lightning brings.

If ignorant jurors are so much in demand, why does Texas spend so much for public education?

Many a newspaper "must" story is "killed" at press time without material damage to the edition. In the press of adjournment, some of the administration's "must" legislation will meet a similar fate.

Now children must be taught their AAAs and CCCs.

Finally assured that recovery is coming, the republicans are preparing a mighty blast about the cost of pulling it "around the corner."

Musing of the moment: Quite a number of vacations, we hear, are being postponed to be taken when next spring's dusters begin to blow. . . . Wonder what platform Norman Thomas, the socialist, has to combat the cure-alls being advocated in the name of his traditional rival parties . . . Horse-shoe pitching is coming back somewhat faster than horses, it seems.

Brevitorials

WHAT HAS BECOME of crime news? Analysis of the Associated Press news used nearly in full daily by The NEWS shows a remarkly small percentage devoted to crime stories. Yesterday, for example, attempted escape of a negro convict and successful escape of a couple of youths from a hospital where they were confined constituted about all the crime news of the day. There were crimes, of course, but not of any significance or nearness to justify carrying on the West Texas leased fire from Dallas. . . . On the other hand, the wire was clogged with news of governments, bureaus, committees, commissions, and the like. This bears out our contention that newspapers do not deliberately choose crime news, but rather what is news at the time written. . . . But speaking of crime news, would you call that from Germany and Italy by that title?

PAMPANS ARE scattering rather widely at this season. Mrs. May Foreman Carr, who musicianship has made Pampa history, will leave soon for Pulaski, Tenn., where she will head the music department of Martin college. She will broadcast periodically from radio stations at Nashville. . . . C. H. Walker, by the way, formerly lived at Pulaski. . . . Another Pampan leaving to teach in a college is Dr. C. P. Callison. Dr. Callison will leave Monday for Des Moines, Ia., to teach physiology and bacteriology in Still college of Osteopathy. He formerly taught at Kirksville, Mo. Fellow Lions yesterday expressed their regret in losing a valued member. . . . We'll add to this list later.

WHEAT REPORT IS DEFINITELY BULLISH NOW

Outlook Far Lower Than That of Month Ago

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—This year's wheat crop (winter and spring wheat combined) was forecast today by the department of agriculture at 607,678,000 bushels and the corn crop at 2,272,147,000 bushels, as indicated from August 1 conditions.

A month ago a combined wheat crop of 731,045,000 bushels was indicated. Last year's production was 496,929,000 bushels and the 1928-32 5-year average production was 860,570,000.

The indicated corn crop a month ago was 2,044,601,000 bushels. Last year's production was 1,377,126,000 and the 5-year average 2,562,147,000.

Band Meeting at School Is Called

A. T. Cox, bandmaster of the Sam Houston kid band, has issued a call for members of the band of last term and their parents to be present at the school promptly at 8 o'clock tonight. If there are enough present, the band will be revived and taken to the Confederate Veterans celebration in Amarillo next month.

Moving pictures of the band will also be shown tonight. Several hundred feet of pictures were taken last year, showing the band in action, playing, and marching.

Bankhead Asks For Continuing of Loans on Cotton

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Continuation of the 1 cent a pound loan to cotton growers in their 1935 crop was recommended to President Roosevelt today by Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.). He predicted an early decision.

The senator, who is author of the cotton production control act, said the government estimate of 11,700,000 bales for this year's production was too high.

"It is my view that the crop will not be that much," he said. "The government estimate represented conditions at the peak on August 1. The crop is now deteriorating and I don't think it will amount to that much."

T. U. GRANT MADE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Public works officials said today the $250,000 loan and grant approved for the University of Texas yesterday is for construction of unit number two of the women's dormitory and was made on the basis of an application filed in May, 1934. The dormitory unit will be of fire-proof construction, three-stories high.

Federal Judges In Refusal of Writ Today

The uncertain course of sweet gas stripping veered toward the legislative inhibitions yesterday as Chief Justice M. B. Blair of the Third Court of Civil Appeals stayed injunctions granted Wednesday to the Cargray corporation and the American Natural Gasoline company, both Panhandle field concerns.

"Popping off" of fuel residue was thereby made illegal under the terms of the new state law and Railroad commission orders. A hearing before the justice was set for next Wednesday.

AUSTIN, Aug. 9 (AP)—The attorney general today ruled that an order of the Texas Railroad commission suspending exceptions to general oil well spacing rules was invalid. The commission recently announced all applications for permits to drill under exceptions to the rules would be held in abeyance pending a supreme court decision.

Suspension was ordered by the commission until the supreme court passed on a motion for rehearing in a case involving validity of the rule.

Archie D. Gray, assistant attorney general who wrote the opinion, held a judgment of a court disposing of issues is final although a motion for a new trial was made and is pending.

"The judgment rendered by the supreme court in Brown against the Humble Oil & Refining company was a final judgment from the date of its entry," Gray stated. "The fact that a motion for a rehearing was filed and is now pending does not disturb the finality of said judgment."

Gray said the only order the commission could enter was one complying with the decision of the supreme court, irrespective of any motion for rehearing.

The opinion was asked by Railroad Commissioner Lon A. Smith, who stated if the order was held invalid he would withdraw his name from it.

All railroad commissioners were absent from the city. Commissioner Smith was reported to be in Dallas., Commissioner C. V. Terrell in Fort Worth and Chairman Ernest O. Thompson on vacation.

Strong representations have been made by the state board of education and the board for mineral development that unless the Supreme Court opinion was rescinded the school and general revenue funds would lose heavily because of decreased royalties. The school and mineral board have intervened in the motion for rehearing.

SOONER ROAD BOOSTERS ASK FOR SURFACING

New Route Would Shorten Travel To Tulsa

Completion of Highway 33 through Oklahoma was advocated at a meeting of Oklahoma road enthusiasts in Thomas, Okla., yesterday. The meeting was attended by Geo. W. Briggs, manager of the Pampa Board of City Development. Mrs. Briggs accompanied Mr. Briggs.

State highway 33 runs across Oklahoma through Tulsa and in Texas to near Canadian, where it joins U. S. 60. Completion of the road would reduce the distance between Pampa and Tulsa, Okla., by nearly 35 miles. It is partly paved through Oklahoma and considerable work has been done on the Texas side.

More than 100 men attended the meeting. Talks were made by several prominent Oklahoma highway builders. Mr. Briggs was asked to explain the highway situation in Texas and the program for filling gaps in state roads.

Zenge Is Indicted For Knife Murder

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (AP)—A true bill charging Mandeville W. Zenge, lanky Missouri carpenter, with murdering his love rival, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, by a penknife mutilation was reported returned today by the grand jury.

The reported action came after Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty presented witnesses to substantiate circumstantial evidence the state claims it has against Zenge, who through five days of questioning maintained he was innocent of the crime.

The jury heard four witnesses who previously said Zenge was the man who ran from the car in which Dr. Bauer, bleeding to death from his wounds, was abandoned at a south side filling station.

LEGAL BARRIER TO COTTON CROP MOVEMENT IS REMOVED

HOUSTON, Aug. 9 (AP) — An agreement between opposing groups of ginners today removed a legal barrier which had threatened to tie up the Texas cotton crop.

Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly signed an order yesterday which attorneys said would enable ginners to obtain bale tags under the Bankhead act, enforcement of which had been restrained by a temporary injunction granted by Judge Randolph Bryant on petition of the Texas cotton ginners association.

Because of the injunction, internal revenue collectors had refused to issue bale tags.

Claude Bowers Elected Head of Wheat Growers

At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Gray County Wheat Production Control association at the office of the county agent yesterday, the following officers were elected to serve until July 1, 1936: President, Clarence W. Bowers, Laketon; vice-president, John Turcotte, Farrington; secretary, Ralph R. Thomas; treasurer, Clyde L. Carruth. P. F. Farley of Schaffer and Edwin C. Nelson of Grandview were elected to serve with the president on the county allotment committee. Other members of the board of directors are Irvin W. Cole, Pampa, Roland Dauer, Bell, and John R. Davis, Hopkins.

The county board of directors includes the chairmen of each community committee. Community committees, which are composed of three members, were elected by contract signers in the seven wheat raising communities in Gray county last week.

The newly elected board of directors and community committees will start the sign-up campaign on the new 1936-1939 wheat program as soon as the necessary material arrives from Washington, probably in the later part of August.

Old Age Pension Plan Condemned By WTCC Group

West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors and other civic leaders of the Panhandle, meeting at Amarillo yesterday afternoon approved the pending Texas constitutional amendment which would furnish free text-books to private and parochial schools, and condemned the old-age pension amendment.

Provision in the text-book amendment that would allot school funds on the basis of enrolment and attendance instead of scholastic population drew approval of the body. D. A. Bandeen, secretary, explained that this provision would administer funds more equitably to West Texas schools.

A. A. Meredith, district WPA director, and W. J. Van London, division engineer of the state highway department, spoke of opportunities for development of West Texas under present government programs. Ray Nichols of Vernon, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was another speaker. Wilbur C. Hawk, past president, presided.

President to Fish During Week-End

WASHINGTON, August 9. (AP)—Seeking relaxation after a busy week of conferences, President Roosevelt put aside affairs of state to leave late this afternoon for a week-end fishing trip.

He invited a party of friends to accompany him. They will board the government yacht Sequoia at Annapolis, Md., tonight for a cruise down Chesapeake bay.

The president still is keeping in mind a longer trip—to the Pacific coast to attend the San Diego exposition.

ROAD RUNNERS FACE DENVER CAFE OUTFIT

But Team Is Made Up of Californians—Report To Be Received Here.

Battling for their tournament lives the Pampa Road Runners will tangle with McVittie's Californians in the Denver Post baseball series tomorrow afternoon. The game will begin at 4 o'clock Pampa time.

The play-by-play account of the game will again be given on the Pampa Athletic club electric board in the city auditorium. Yesterday's game was attended by a large crowd, kept informed of the happenings in Denver by Western Union wire from the park. Play on the board was steady, with no long waits between plays and innings.

McVittie's Californians, sponsored by the McVittie restaurant of Denver, have the veteran Dan Crowley at the helm. He will probably take the mound against the Road Runners tomorrow. The cafemen have won two games and lost one to be tied with the Road Runners. The losing club will be sent home with the winners stepping into the big money.

Tiger Joe Berry is doped to take the mound for the Road Runners. The little fellow will, no doubt, be pitching his best ball because he will need his share of the big money to pay a fine of $100 assessed him by Judge W. B. Bramham of the Western association for leaving the Ponca City, Okla., club to play for the Pampa team in the tournament.

The previous high mark for the current summer was set Wednesday with 103 degrees which was the same with the maxima in 1933 and 1934.

BORROWED PLAYERS HELP PAMPA ROAD RUNNERS STAY IN BIG TOURNEY

VICTORY OVER ALL STARS IS EASILY MADE

SCORE OF 12 TO 6 IS NO CRITERION OF TWO OUTFITS

The Pampa Road Runners blasted their way back into the Denver Post tournament race yesterday afternoon by defeating the Denver City All-Stars 12 to 6 in a hectic struggle. There was no doubt as to the outcome of the game from the first inning and the score fails to indicate the difference in the two teams.

Marring the game were five Road Runners errors, four by Shortstop Vic George, which brings his total for the tournament to eight. Al Summers made his first bobble in 23 chances yesterday.

Big Gene Ledford, loaned to the Pampa team by Coltexo of LeFors, pitched steady ball. Only one of the runs made off his delivery was earned, the others resulting from errors. Howard and Arthur divided pitching duty for the losers, with Arthur showing much ability.

Patton Hits Well.

Dallas Patton, breaking into the lineup for the first time, hit a triple and single. Joe Surface, loaned to the Road Runners by Phillips 66 of Borger, replaced Grover Seitz and continued his hitting with a double and single. Surface, in the lineup in place of Patton on Monday night, hit a home run with one on base. Sam Scaling also managed for a double and single and Horton and Brickell each singled twice to help the Road Runner cause.

B. Paulino, shortstop, nicked Ledford's pitching for two doubles and a single.

Open Up at Start.

The Road Runners started their scoring in the first inning by sending two runs across. Two more followed in the second, three in the third, and two in the fourth. Arthur held the Birds scoreless until the eighth, when three more runs were scored. The All-Stars tried to rally in the closing innings and scored three runs in the eighth and one in the ninth.

The Road Runners will probably play their next game on Saturday afternoon, although definite announcement has not been made.

Pewees in Win From Longhorns

In a game featured by plenty of base hits and lots of base stealing, the Pampa Peewees took a 25 to 5 game from the Longhorns yesterday afternoon at Magnolia field. The Peewee basemen stole 35 to beat out their opponents in that department by 24 bases.

Amos Reed was back on the mound for the winners, limiting the Longhorn batters to 11 base hits while his team mates were getting to Hamil for 26 bingles. Both hurlers showed signs of wildness, the Peewees drawing seven bases on balls and the Longhorns five walks.

GIANTS FAIL TO BEAT EASY NINES LATELY

Against Main Rivals They Have Been Powerful

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Failure of the New York Giants to cash in against the supposedly weak teams is causing Manager Bill Terry no end of worry.

In contrast to 1933, when they trampled on the second division clubs in their parade to the championship, the National league leaders are taking the hard way in their battle for this year's pennant.

Against the first division teams—the Cubs, Cardinals, and Pirates—they have performed like a great ball club, winning 27 and losing 15.

But pitted against the second division outfits, the Boston Braves excepted, they have displayed far from championship caliber. Twenty-one of their 36 setbacks have been at the hands of the Dodgers, Reds, Phillies, and Braves.

Only against the lowly Braves have they won consistently, taking 13 of 15 encounters. The Dodgers have taken six out of 16 meetings, the Reds the same number in 14 games; and the Phillies have broken even with the pace setters in 14 contests.

The Phillips drew up on even terms yesterday by taking the measure of the Giants' mound aces—Hal Schumacher and Carl Hubbell. They whipped Schumacher 7 to 4, routing him in the fourth, and trimmed Hubbell, 6 to 3. The threatening Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 9 to 5.

As the result, the league leaders faced the Phillies again today holding only a two-game advantage over the Cubs and a three and one-half game magin over the Cardinals, who were idle yesterday.

In the opening game, the Phillies shelled Schumacher for all their runs in the third and fourth frames and then called on Orville Jorgens to relieve Bucky Walters when the Giants rallied in the ninth.

The nightcap saw Curt Davis chalk up his 13th victory of the season and his third over Hubbell as Al Todd drove out a homer with two on.

Billy Herman was the spearhead of the Cubs' 14-hit attack. Tex Carleton hurled three-hit ball the last seven innings after relieving Bill Lee with the Bucs in front 4-0.

The Detroit Tigers widened their gap over the New York Yankees in the American league to five games by defeating the Chicago White Sox 5-2 while the New Yorkers were dropping a 9-6 decision to the Athletics.

The Yankee-Athletics contest marked the 1,600th successive game in which Lou Gehrig had played. He contributed his 18th homer and 366th circuit drive since starting his string June 1, 1925, but the McCarthymen were unable to check a ninth inning rally, which netted the Athletics four runs.

The Cleveland Indains and St. Louis Browns split a doubleheader, the Indians winning the first 14 to 8 and the Brownies the nightcap, 9 to 5.

LOUIS SEEN AS CHAMPION IF AND WHEN

ONLY BAER STANDS IN WAY OF BROWN BOMBER

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP)—There no longer can be the faintest doubt in the minds of fistic followers that Joe Louis "hat it," meaning that he has the punch and the all-around ring qualifications to become the next world's heavyweight champion—if and when he gets the chance.

Solely on his record, the Brown Bomber is an absolute standout in the heavyweight ranks. He is the hardest hitter since Jack Dempsey.

If Louis disposes of Max Baer in a match September 26, there will remain not the slightest question as to the logical challenger for the crown plucked from Baer's erratic locks by James J. Braddock.

Just how, when and where Braddock and Louis might be brought together for the first mixed title fight since Jess Willard knocked out Jack Johnson at Havana 20 years ago remains a subject for the ballyhoo birds to warble about.

Braddock is under contract to Madison Square Garden. Louis is tied up with the Mike Jacobs-20th Century-Milk Fund combination.

The consensus among fight experts is that Louis will beat Baer decisively, whether or not the Californian regains something approaching the form that carried him to the top. The feeling is that Baer, a rugged but wild swinger at best, is made to order for the Brown Bomber's short range fire.

Everyone, including Baer himself, knows the clowning Californian can "take it." During most of his ring career Baer has adopted the oldest Dempsey practice—"take two to land one"—on the theory that a solid crack on the chin always would prove more effective than two jabs to the nose. Max is the kind of a fighter likely to prove most dangerous when hurt.

So far "Jarring Joe" has not had to worry about being in a tough spot. He hasn't had the experience of getting up off the floor, like Gene Tunney, to pull a battle out of the fire.

Turns Auctioneer.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs turned auctioneer today for a 10-day stand with one of the greatest fight card naturals since the era of the million dollar gates under his hammer.

Jacobs' prize article on the block was the Max Baer- Joe Louis fight, to be held September 26 or 27. The bidding was lively with sportsmen and promoters from New York and Chicago avowedly out to bring the fight to their city.

New York, represented by the Twentieth Century club, was a slight favorite although Chicago, led by the Sporting Club of Illinois, a new organization headed by several millionaires, still had a big chance. Jacobs said money would do the talking and that he would not accept either bid for ten days.

"The club making the best offer will be given the match," Jacobs said.

Meanwhile, Louis went to Detroit for a short rest and the downcast King Levinsky advised Baer to strengthen his jaw as well as his hands before he climbs into the ring with the Brown Bomber.

Gibbons to Rest And Maybe Grow Into Light-Heavy

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 9. (AP)—Jack Gibbons has gone to northern Minnesota to grow and to rest and perhaps come back a full-fledged light heavyweight.

In the same forest country where his father, Mike, and his uncle, Tommy Gibbons, trained, young Jack is building for the future these days. A little golf, hiking and fishing constitute the schedule for practically all of the remaining summer weeks.

Jack, who has hunted and fished in northern Minnesota since he was able to tote a gun or a fishing rod, learned to love the outdoors early. Mike, and Tom Gibbons always have been lovers of the outdoors. They seldom miss the duck or the deer season and usually get their share of fish in the summer.

Mike, in his capacity of trainer and manager of Jack, still gets plenty of opportunity for outdoor life. Sheriff Tom Gibbons of Ramsey county has plenty of duties to keep him out of the wilderness but he still gets away when he can.

Manager Mike, a wise old head, will not allow Jack to train down to the middleweight limit if he has any difficulty. And Jack, according to his Dad, will have trouble in making 160 pounds any more. He's a tall, rangy lad, turned 22 and filling out.

When Jack returns from the north the campaign will begin in earnest. But which title will he seek—the middleweight or the light-light-heavy crown?

SEVEN-INNING BALL GAME STRETCHED TO 10 INNINGS

Lady Luck couldn't keep her arm around both teams forever so she finally picked on Hopkins to win from Hoover in a Two-I league game at Road Runner park last night. It was not until the tenth inning of a scheduled 7-inning ball game that the lady became fickle, however.

The Sunoco Sluggers had little trouble taking the opening game from Texas Elf, 16 to 9. Nichols and Webber pitched for Sun, with Wilson behind the bat. Bozarth went the route for the Blackfaces, with Burns behind the bat. Texas Elf got away to a bad start under the lights and was never able to get even with the Sluggers. A rally in the closing inning fell short.

With the score tied at 3 to 3 going into the tenth inning, Hoover scored a run in the first half. Hopkins came back in the last half and sent two scores across to take the game, long after midnight.

The game was a hurling duel between Ellis of Hoover and E. Pinnell of Hopkins. Each of the pitchers fanned 12 opposing batters and walked three men. Three of the hits off Ellis came in the last inning to end the game. Barber was behind the bat for Hoover with Guthrie receiving for Hopkins.

The Hopkins rally also came with one man down. Guthrie, R. Ridgeway, and B. Ridgeway singled in succession, Guthrie crossing the plate with the tying run. R. Pinnell made an out but R. Ridgeway crossed the plate with the tying run on a nice hit and run play.

The games staged at Road Runner park during the last week have been sponsored by the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce with A. J. Johnson in charge. An all-star team to enter the Jaycees' tournament will be selected as an outcome of the series.

TONIGHT WILL BRING LAST OF TWO-I GAMES

Picked Teams Will Battle As Judges Select Men for Coming Tourney.

The wind-up of games in the Two-I league, played at Road Runner park during the last week, will be staged tonight under the lights when two picked teams from the league will battle each other. A tentative list of players who will comprise the league team which will enter the Junior chamber of commerce tournament will be selected after tonight's game, to be called at 8:30 o'clock. Admission will be 10 cents for children, 15 cents for women and 25 cents for men.

C. O. Busby and Clyde Austin will be in charge of one of the teams, with John Fletcher and C. F. Jones piloting the other nine. Jake Leggitt and Lucian Bryant will be playmanagers of the respective teams.

Through several different channels, the the most promising players in the league have been selected to play in the big game tonight. The four managers were to meet this afternoon and divide the players.

An appeal is being made to Pampa business men and citizens in general to attend tonight's game. The players are being drawn from the Pampa trade territory and, up to the present time, Pampans have given little support. The game will be worth while and the fans will be given an opportunity to voice their opinion of the various players by their applause, which might be the deciding factor in the selection of the tournament team.

Players who will be in uniform tonight will include:

Pitchers—Terry, Bones, Porter, Webber, Clemmons, Hawkins, Haley, Barham, Keeling, Ables.

Catchers—Leggitt, Bryant, Williams, Beaver.

First basemen—Hallig, Austin, Dixon, Harvey, May, Cox.

Second basemen—T. Franks, A. L. Dixon, Nash, Pinnell.

Short stops—Holland, F. Horner, Blanton, Mauldin.

Third basemen—Romine, C. Terry, Hickey, Stevenson, White,

Otufielders — Weatherred, Denham, Lamb, Blair, M. Sorenson, Gregory, Newsome, Gibson, Davidson, McLaughlin, Anderson.

WICHITA-BOUND CALIFORNIA TEAM TO PLAY COLTEXO HERE

The Lompoc baseball team from California will be in Pampa Saturday night and Sunday afternoon playing Coltexo of LeFors at Road Runner park. The Saturday night game will be called at 8:30 o'clock with the Sunday afternoon game scheduled to begin at 3:30 o'clock.

Composed mostly of youngsters, the Lompoc club is one of the favorites to place in the money in the Wichita, Kan., baseball tournament whchi opens next week. The oldest player on the team is 25 years. The youngest has seen only 16 summers.

Coltexo will add strength for the invasion of the Californians. It is doubtful if any of their new power will be here in time for the game, although there is a chance that one or two of the newcomers will get here Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Manager Sammy Hale will have his entire pitching squad ready to go against the Californians. Parker pitched masterful ball Wednesday night and will be rested enough to start either game. He will probably get the call for the Sunday encounter. Hutton, Braley and Carithers have all had plenty of rest from their last games.

The Lompoc team is carrying four hurlers, two catchers, a utility man and the regular lineup. The moundmen are Earl Critchfield, Elbert Perry, Pat Knotto and Lloyd Canfield. Barney Lawson is the utility man.

The lineup follows:

SOONERS AND BEAUMONT GO TO 7-7 TIE

FIST FIGHT ENLIVENS CLASH ENDED BY DARKNESS

By The Associated Press

Twelve innings of hard-fought baseball and a fist fight failed to produce telling results in the race between Oklahoma City and Beaumont for the Texas league lead.

The clubs battled to a 7 to 7 draw yesterday, the game being called on account of darkness after each team had used three hurlers in an effort to win a decision in the contest which was enlivened by a fist fight between Rudy York of Beaumont and George Murray of Oklahoma City.

The tie left the Indians with their slender lead.

Houston snapped a seven-game losing streak by ringing out 19 solid base hits, 13 of them in the first three innings, to defeat the Dallas Steers, 9 to 4. The opening batting attack drove Dave Lawless from the mound and gave the Buffs six runs. Continuing their heavy batting, the Buffs then hit safely each round but the eighth.

Working smoothly under a big lead, Bill Beckman won his game with ease.

Tulsa and San Antonio split a double-header, the Missions taking the first game 12 to 4, and the Oilers taking advantage of breaks to win the afterpiece, 5 to 4. The Oilers' victory broke a five-game losing streak.

A Mission error in the seventh inning of the second game climaxed a three-run rally that gave the Oilers a one-run margin, but the Missions took advantage of a bobble to tie up the contest in the last half of the inning. Another San Antonio error in the ninth paved the way to Tulsa's winning tally.

The Galveston Bucs stretched their string of victories to six straight by beating Fort Worth, 7 to 4. The win moved the Bucs up into third place in the win column and to within two games of the league leaders.

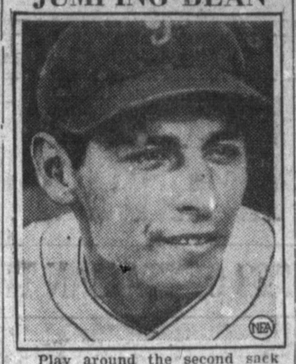

Naggie McGhee, Galveston first baseman, got his seventh consecutive hit and his ninth in the last 10 trips to the plate by tapping out four singles in as many trips to the plate.

The former semi-pro player was spotted by one of the Phillies' scouts while he was touring the United States. The desperate Wilson signed him to replace Lou Chiozza, regular guardian, out with an injured leg.

THREE DIXIE LOOP PLAYERS HURT IN CRASH

Catcher Hal Funk Is Most Seriously Injured

LONGVIEW, Aug. 9. (AP)—Manager Tex Jeanes of the Longview West Dixie league baseball club and two of his players were under treatment today for injuries received last night in an automobile-truck collision 10 miles south of here.

Players injured were Catcher Hal Funk and Pitcher Smokey Wood. Funk was considered the most seriously hurt. He suffered deep head cuts and a gash on his right wrist.

Manager Jeanes received a deep cut in his right knee and severe bruises about the face. Wood sustained head injuries.

Emmett Stufflebeam of Kilgore, driver of the machine which collided with the baseball players' car, was cut about the face. His brother, J. W. Stufflebeam, suffered a fractured right arm.

Business Manager Harry Faulkner of the club said none of the men would be able to play soon.

BEAUTIFY THE BATH

An attractive bathroom was seen recently with white-painted walls and a floor of black and gray design. The bathtub, set in an alcove, had several glass shelves on the wall at each end. Ivy vines grew in pots placed on the shelves and trailed down the walls.

SEMI-FINALS IN GOLF MEET WILL BE HOT

CALIFORNIA-KENTUCKY GIRLS FAVORED TO WIN TODAY

WESTWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 (AP)—Plenty of potential fireworks was on tap here today in the meeting of four semi-finalists in the Women's Western Golf tourney.

Miss Margaret Russell, Detroit co-ed, was paired with Miss Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., Trans-Mississippi champion, in one semi-finals fray while Miss Marion Leachman of San Francisco and Mrs. D. T. Atwood of Chicago, were paired in the other.

Miss Leachman was favored to take the latter match, after her 4 and 3 victory over Miss Eva Shorb of Massillon, O., yesterday, although Mrs. Atwood took an 8 to 6 decision over Miss Barbara Thompson of Los Altos, Calif.

The Russell-Miley event was regarded as a toss-up, with any edge going to the latter because of her greater tournament experience.

Miss Russell showed a fighting heart yesterday in taking a one-up decision over Miss Elizabeth Abbott of Los Angeles, after being two down at the turn, and still two down with four to go.

Miss Miley went to the smi-finals with a 3 and 2 victory over Miss Peggy Wattles, star shot-maker from Buffalo, N. Y.

FEWER THAN 8,000 VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR REMAIN—GRAYS WILL ASSEMBLE IN AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Aug. 9. — Martial music will blare again this fall for that faltering line of enfeebled veterans of that once mightly Confederate army whose legions followed the Stars and Bars upon the bloody battle fields of this nation back in the 60's.

This time, the 45th annual tryst of those United Confederate Veterans is Amarillo. The date is September 3 to 6.

Of the 573,041 who answered the call to arms sounded by the Confederate states, 350,000 of whom became casualtes and 221,00 prsoners of war, less than 8,000 remain today on the pension rolls of the South. Of these, hundreds are too old and infirm, to keep the rendezvous with their comrades, but even at that, approximately 1,000 are expected to ateend ths, perhaps the last, of all Reunions.

Never have the Confederate veterans met so far west and north as Amarillo. Thus this Reunion will be a new experience for those who attend and likewise it will be a new honor for the people of Amarillo and all West Texas.

Free housing and meals will be available to all veterans and one attendant each in the barracks and mess halls throughout the entire Reunion. Dieticians of wide repute have been employed to supervise preparation of wholesome food for the guests of honor. In addition, the homes of Amarillo will be thrown open to those veterans who may prefer such lodging.

Entertainment is not being overlooked. The United States Marine band has been authorized to come to Amarillo from Washington, D. C., for the four-day encampment. As has been the custom in several former Reunions, this band will play for the grand balls of the United Confederate Veterans and the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Believing visitors from the South and East will be anxious to have more intimate knowledge of the cowman's domain, a rodeo will be staged on three afternoons during the Reunion. This event will feature "top hands" direct from the ranges, all hell bent on winning cash awards in bronc riding, roping, steer riding and similar acts common at round-ups on Panhandle grass lands.

Visitors will find many side-trips of interest within an hour's drive of Amarillo. Among these is Palo Duro State Park, Nature's largesse to, frst the wanderng prehstore habitant of the Llano Estascado; next, to Francisco Vasquez de Coronado, emissary to the King of Spain, who stood on its stupendous rim four centuries ago; then, to nomadic red tribesmen and their conquerours, the while soldiery, the first cowmen; finally to you and me.

Additional points of interest include any number of huge ranches where the punchers may be seen at work during fall round-up; the United States Helium plant in Amarillo, the only one of its kind in the world, and Old Tascosa, a ghost town today, once the mecca of those who followed the trail from Dodge City, Kansas to Fort Worth, Texas.

And thus plans are going forward as Amarillo prepares to join with the South and the East to honor and to entertain that fast-dwindling host which constitutes the one remaining link between the present and that romantic period of the Old South.

Dr. Hill Opposes Free Textbooks to Non-State Schools

CANYON, Aug. 9.—State supplied textbooks for all people in Texas educational institutions would represent a breach from the current belief in a distinct separation of church and state, was the opinion of Dr. J. A. Hill when speaking before the school officials of northwest Texas in a conference here today.

The bill to supply parochial schools with textbooks along with the state supported institutions was contested by the president of the West Texas State Teachers college. The occasion was a meeting with the state superintendent of public instruction, L. A. Woods, and his deputies, C. M. Elwell and S. O. Murdock, of the state department.

Approximately 1,000 people, representing various school boards, Parent-Teacher organizations, both county and individual school superintendents, and friends and patrons assembled in the auditorium of the West Texas State Teachers college Thursday to hear the speakers and participate in discussions on school officials' problems.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Daniel (Temperance and Health).

Scripture Lesson: Daniel 1:8-20.

8. But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's dainties, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.

9. Now God made Daniel to find kindness and compassion in the sight of the prince of the eunchs.

10. And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Dani l, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your food and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse than other youths that are of your own age? so would ye endanger my head with the king.

11. Then said Daniel to the steward whom the prince of the eunuchs had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mischel, and Azariah:

12. Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat and water to drink.

13. Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of thy youth that eat of king's dainties; and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

14. So he hearkened unto them in this matter, and proved them ten days.

15. And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer, and they were fatter in flesh than all the youths that did eat of the king's dainties.

16. So the steward took away their dainties, and the wine that they should drink and gave them pulse.

17. Now as for these four youths, God gave them knowledge and skill and learning and wisdom; and Daniel had understanding in all vision and all dreams.

18. And at the end of the day which the king had appointed for bringing them in, the prince of eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar.

19. And the king communed with them; and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mischel, and Azariah; therefore stood they before the king.

20. And in every matter of wisdom and understanding, concerning which the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters that were in all his realm.

Golden Text: Know ye that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which you have from God.

Introduction

This lesson gives us an opportunity of learning the facts in the life of an Old Testament character and also makes it possible for us to drive home the temperance applications also that we may be stronger, purer, and cleaner.

The lesson setting is in the city Babylon during the days of exile, 605 B. C. to 535 B. C. Jeremiah was living and preaching in Jerusalem during the early days of this period. Ezekial came to Babylon seven years after Daniel, and continued for a number of years following his call in 593 B. C. Nebuchadnezzar was the great king of Babylon from 605 B. C. until his death 562 B. C. His son Evil-merodach followed him on the throne, reigning for two years. He was murdered by his brother Neriglissar, who reigned until 556 B. C. Belshazzar was on the throne at the coming of Cyrus in 538 B. C. Daniel lived in Babylon through all these years and for a brief session while Darius was ruling for Cyrus.

Daniel Taken Captive (Dan. 1:6)

In 605 B. C. in the city of Jerusalem the young son of a princely family was greatly interested in the coming of a mighty Babylonian army to the city. Nebuchadnezzar was in command of the victorious army that had just dealt the smashing blow to the Egyptian forces. While in Jerusalem he received a message, that his father, King of Babylon was dead. He must hurry home to his place on the throne at Babylon. Before leaving he selected some of the finest young intellectuals of Jerusalem to be taken to his capital.

This young boy Daniel was chosen to make the journey.

We are told concerning the young captives, that they were of the "king's seed and the princes; children in whom was no blemish, but well favored, and skilled in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as has had ability in them to stand in the king's palace."

Daniel In Temptation

These boys were faced with temptation that they had never known before this time. They were practically alone in a strange land among people who did not have high standards of living such as Jerusalem. In the gay wild court of Babylon they were free to be as wild as one could wish. They were under the power of the king, and so, subject to any order he might give. Their names were all changed and heathen names compounded with the name of heathen gods were given them.

The king gave orders that they were to eat at a special training table and that definite portions of the food from his own table was sent to them. They were honored beyond words. Surely none could think of refusing such a menu. If anyone thought of such a thing, he could not dare to do it, for it was a definite order from the king. Thus we see that these boys were up against temptation that was almost too much for them; certainly they would be too much for many of our people of today. "Dare to be different" is a motto for a youngster who is tempted to follow the crowd and go on into sin because it seems to be the popular thing.

Daniel's Resolute Purpose

"Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat." In the midst of all these temptations he set his heart and registered a definite purpose that he would not sin against GOD. He wanted to be strong physically, mentally, and spiritually. He was wise enough to know that he would not be victorious in either realm if he took the drink that was offered.

Daniel and Joseph

Only two great characters in the Old Testament of whom many details of their career are given, can be said to have lived, as far as the record reveals, blamelessly: Joseph a Hebrew slave who rose to power in the wicked, brilliant court of the mighty Egyptian Empire; and, eleven hundred years later, Daniel, the Hebrew captive at the court of the mighty Babylonian Empire, who lived through, always in the greatest esteem, the reign of three famous kings.

The Effect of Alcohol Upon Body and Mind

Viewed from the standpoint of modern scientific medicine, alcohol belongs to the group of narcotics which consists of alcohol, ether, chloroform, chloral and similar drugs, such as sulphonal and veronal. For many years alcohol was prescribed when individuals were suffering from different forms of infections. Modern scientific medicine has shown that alcohol does not assist the body in resisting infections, but that it makes the individual more susceptible to it. Alcohol has little place in modern scientific medicine as a therapeutic agent.

A Great Surgeon's Testimony

Writing to a group of young doctors, Dr. W. J. Mayo of the famous Mayo Clinic, said these words: "As doctors we must begin to think of promoting the cause of temperance. How often do we hear when we are speaking of certain men, "A very bright man, but he drinks." Of my classmates as far as I know, none of those who drank steadily is living, and of those who were addicts to even a mild degree, from the time the addiction became manifest none progressed or maintained his position. One of the greatest surgeons in the world, talking to me, said he had never known a surgeon of the finest rank who was in the habit of using alcohol."

CURTAINS FOR MORE OUTFITS IN POST MEET

Leadership To Be Decided Tonight as Oilers and Elephants Do Battle.

DENVER, Aug. 9. (AP)—Weather permitting, leadership of the baseball tournament sponsored by the Denver Post will be decided tonight with a game between the only two undefeated clubs left.

Humble Oilers of Overton, Texas, will clash with the White Elephants, Denver negro aggregation, at 8:30 p. m. in a meeting that promises considerable fireworks. Both teams have won three games.

Only one other game is scheduled for today but it is an important contest, bringing together the Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., and the United Fuel of Denver, both highly regarded as "money" teams at the start of the tourney.

Each has won two games and lost one, and defeat today will mean curtains for one as far as first place money is concerned. Last year the winning team, the House of David, left with approximately $6,500.

Oilers Win Again

The Oilers posted their third victory by beating Colorado Ice of Denver, 9 to 6, last night for the local outfit's first setback.

In other games yesterday the Danciger Road Runners of Pampa, Texas, beat the Denver All-Stars, 12 to 6, and Lexington, Neb., captured a free-clouting 14 to 10 game from the Denver Bread team.

With one day's less rest for its pitching staff than the White Elephants have had, the Humble team may be at somewhat a disadvtange in tonight's fracas.

Lefthanded Ed Chambers hurled for the Oilers last night and had a far from easy time in winning. The Texans may start Frank Jones, a righthander, against the Elephants, with the possibility, however, that Oscar Fuhr, a veteran of many years' service in the minor leagues, may get the nod.

Manager A. H. W. Ross, the negro club's patriarchal mentor, is expected to send "Army" Cooper, a southpaw, to the box.

To Gamble "All"

The Eason Oilers and United Fuel appear determined to gamble everything on their game. John Clowers or perhaps Andy Bednar doubtless will open on the mound for the Enid team, while the Fuelman probably will use Frank Lamanske, lefthander for the Western league, who opened the season with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Carl Frey and Ben Bedford of the Oilers swung scorching bats against Colorado Ice last night, both hitting home runs. Bedford spanked home three runs. Krauss, Oiler catcher, hit a double and triple.

The Denver team sent Joe Heving, once of the Chicago White Sox, against the Texans, but he lasted only one and one-third innings, giving up three runs. Bert Hitt, former Denver university pitcher, succeeded him.

BORDER PATROL TRAVERSES DESOLATE COUNTRY--DANGER SHOWN BY LIST OF DEATHS

COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS GATHERS PHOTOS OF VICTIMS

UVALDE, Aug. 9 (AP)—The life of the United States customs service officers, who spend much of their time in border patrol work, is far from humdrum routine, as collector of pictures gathered by Harry P. Hornsby, Uvalde newspaper publisher and U. S. collector of customs in the San Antonio district, will attest. Each is a photograph of a border patrolman killed in line of duty.

Hornby has been collecting the portraits for the past several months and hopes eventually to make a complete record of all the customs officers killed in line of duty along the border. There are now nine in the group and he is anxious to receive information regarding any of the cases contained in his records or of which he does not have a record.

Patrolling hundreds of miles of desolate border country, stopping and searching suspected smugglers' cars and ambushes by liquor and gun smugglers are all part of the day's work to customs men, Hornby pointed out.

Until a few years ago killers invariably escaped to Mexico where internal disturbances and political chaos made it easy to escape pursuit. With conditions in Mexico more settled and officers on both sides of the border cooperating to wipe out the lawless element, however, conditions are improving. Two weeks ago the slayer of Loy C. Henry, killed near Del Rio in June, 1934, who had escaped to Mexico, was tried and convicted in a Mexican court at Piedras Negras. He received a 10-year sentence in prison at Saltillo.

Two of a group of suspected smugglers who shot down Bert Ellison, customs patrol inspector, near Hargil, Hidalgo county, August 9, 1930, were captured and finally sent to the electric chair. A third received a life sentence in the penitentiary, but later escaped and is believed to be living somewhere in Mexico. Other customs patrolmen killed in line of duty include Robert S. Rumsey, killed near Laredo, August, 1922; Joseph Sitter, Fred Tate, killed in August, 1918; Frank Chapman, J. S. H. Howard, Robert D. Hinde, and James Wallen, killed near Del Rio in March, 1923.

"There are doubtless many other cases of customs patrol officers losing their lives along the Mexican border while in the discharge of their official duties," Hornby said. "The customs service would appreciate it if friends of such officers would send in names and a short account of how these men met their deaths and the dates."

WHAT, NO ROMANCE?

TULSA, Okla.—Harold Bowers, lifeguard, is getting pretty disgusted about all these stories he's heard about the handsome lifeguard and all the pretty girls squealing for help just to be dragged out in his manly arms.

Harold has taken 36 persons from the pool this year and there wasn't a "sweet looking girl" in the lot.

"All the femininity I've rescued has been either 11 or 12-year old kids or grandmothers," Harold lamented.

MILK DRINKS ARE VALUABLE SUMMER FOOD

Tasty Warm-Weather Beverages Can Be Substantial

DENTON, Aug. 9.—In the summer months beverages play a large part in the daily diet, so why not make them as nutritious as possible. Often in hot weather one totally loses his appetitic and lives, it might be said, for a few days on nothing but beverages. Every one knows the great value of milk in the diet with its great store of vitamins and minerals, especially ,calcium. There are many delicious and appetizing beverages that can be made from milk.

A plain milk shake may be made by beating an egg thoroughly and adding to it iced milk and vanilla. For variety caramel or coffee may be used to substitute the vanilla. To make it foamy a milk shaker should be used. This makes a simple but appetizing drink.

Beverages

Milk punch: 1-4 cup cream, ¾ cup milk, 1 egg, ½ cup fruit juice or pulp, and 1 cup sugar. Place all of the ingredients in a shaker except the fruit juice and mix thoroughly until foamy. Freeze the mixture until thoroughly cold and then add the fruit juice or pulp. Pour over cracked ice and sprinkle over top cinnamon or nut meg.

Some people enjoy drinking ordinary cold buttermilk. Many delicious beverages may be prepared from it by adding different flavorings to it. Buttermilk is valuable for its lactic acid bacteria which creates a flora in the intestines and prevents undesirable bacteria from being formed there.

Milk Egg-Nog: 1 egg, 1 T. malted milk, 1 T. vanilla, 1 tsp. cream. Beat egg yolk with the sugar and add to the milk mixture. Beat egg white and stir into the rest of the ingredients. Pour into shaker and shake with cracked ice until thoroughly chilled. The cream may either be beaten into the egg-nog or placed on the top.

Plain Malted Milk: 1 T. malted milk, ½ Tsp. sugar, few drops of vanilla, ¾ cups milk, and 1-4 tsp. salt. Heat milk nearly to boiling and mix with malted milk which has been stirred in a little cold milk or water, stir into hot water well, add sugar and salt and serve with or without cream.

Chocolate Malted Milk: Mix 1 T. cocoa or chocolate with 1-4 cup water and boil 3 minutes. Then heat ¾ cup milk in double boiler and mix with 1 T. malted milk which has been dissolved in a little water and stir into hot milk. Add the cholocate paste, 2 T. sugar and a few drops of vanilla. Beat the mixture and serve with or without cream.

Another effective beverage is thin, flavored, boiled custard with pineapple in it. Iced cocoa with whipped cream is often served as a drink and is very delicious.

DOOR MIRRORS

If a room doesn't have sufficient mirror space, or if the dressing-table mirorr isn't long enough to see how the skirt hangs at the same time you look at the feather in your hat, mirrors may be hung on the back of a door without taking up valuable wall space. Closet doors or the door leading to the bath are excellent places to hang a full-length mirror.

GAS STRIPPING

Chief concern was over an interpretation that the opinion required that acreage be considered in fixing per well allowables in the Texas field. The allowable now is based solely on potential of the respective wells. The allowable from many state wells would be materially reduced because they are located on small tracts.

AUSTIN, Aug. 9 (AP)—A three-judge federal court denied an application for a preliminary injunction to restrain enforcement of the Railroad commission's anti-gas wastage order in the Agua Dulce field of Southwest Texas in an opinion filed today.

Complainants were the Clymore Production company, the Nueces Refining company, and S. Matson Nixon, receiver.

The opinion stated evidence was insufficient to show the order as applied to the plaintiffs was arbitrary or confiscatory. The order was issued under the conservation statute that became effective on August 1.

The commission's order restricted the use of sweet gas to light and fuel purposes and prohibited the blowing of any gas or residue into the air without permission of the state. Plaintiffs sought the court's permission to continue to strip the gas of its gasoline content and permit the residue to escape.

The railroad commission cancelled a permit to operate the casinghead gasoline plant in Nueces county on the ground its holders were wasting natural gas by blowing approximately 45,000,000 cubic feet of tail gas into the air after stripping it of gasoline.

AGED TEACHER DIES

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Jessie Montgomery Abbott, 66, teacher of mathematics in Brackenridge high scho at San Antonio, died of ang.na pectoris at Eldorado at 12:30 o'clock this morning. Funeral services will be held here at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Of the 21 counties in west Tennessee, all but two took their names from American soldiers, patriots, and statesmen.

Romance in the Air

Out of the west flew Jayne Shadduck, motion picture actress, who, until her divorce a few days ago, was the wife of Jack Kirkland, the playwright. Meeting her at the Newark, N. J., airport is wealthy young Harry Topping, Jr., who, say the wiseacres, will be her next husband.

CHAIRMAN BLACK SAYS FIVE MILLIONS SPENT ON LOBBY TO BE PAID BY CONSUMERS

PROMINENT MEN WILL BE CALLED TO TESTIFY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—After declaring that ultimately consumers of gas and electricity must bear the cost of a $5,000,000 lobby against the Roosevelt utilities bill, Chairman Black (D., Ala.) of the senate lobby investigation today mapped new hearings for the future.

His prediction that the foes of the bill eventually would be shown to have spent $5,000,000 was made in a radio speech last night over the Washington Evening Star forum.

It was the latest of several developments in the utilities fight. One was a letter produced yesterday in the Federal Trade commission's utilities investigation. Dated March 31, 1931, it was declared to have been sent from B. C. Cobb, former chairman of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation to Frank Kent, political writer for the Baltimore Sun.

"I again say," it asserted, "that most of the talk about holding companies and about the profits of utilities companies is a lot of hokum and a lot of buncombe and is propaganda of politicians like Norris, Pinchot, and Roosevelt for their own political gain."

Meanwhile, the senate committee laid plans to obtain testimony from some of the nation's leading attorneys soon as to their connection with fights against the utilities bill and other legislation.

Among the names placed on the committee's witness list were those of John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee in 1924; Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in Wilson's cabinet; Henry L. Stimson, President Hoover's secretary of state, and James M. Beck, former republican solicitor general and representative from Pennsylvania.

Committee members said they wanted to know how much power companies paid these men in fees and the exact nature of their activities and ascertain, if possible, the line of demarkation between legal practice and lobbying.

Already, Black said, his committee had uncovered expenditures of $1,500,000 in the drive against the utilities bill and its provision calling for manadtory abolition of "unnecessary" holding companies.

In his speech last night he asserted that the "lobby has reached such a position of power that it threatens the government itself."

Addressing himself to consumers, the Alabaman said:

"The books of your local company will show these expenses as a part of the cost of delivering electricity to you."

The agriculture adjustment administration spent $93,524,444.03 in Missouri in 11 months.

To Fill Pulpit

R. A. Springer of the Forest Avenue Baptist church of Dallas and state officer of the Baptist Training Unions, will speak at First Baptist church here Sunday morning in the absence of the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor. Mr. Springer is serving as educational director of the Canadian Baptist encampment near Miami this wek. The public is invited to hear him Sunday.

Skull Fracture Caused by 'Bean' Ball in Game

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9. (AP)—Physicians today said Dale Alexander, first baseman of the Kansas City American association baseball club, suffered a fractured skull when he was hit by a pitched ball in a game with the Toledo team here last night.

Alexander's condition was said to be good.

Pitcher Grant Bowler of the Toledo baseball club, who threw the fast ball which struck the big first baseman on the left side of the head as he was at bat in the seventh inning, was so unstrung by the accident that he was unable to pitch further and a relief pitcher was sent in. Kansas City won the game, 12 to 6.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 9 (AP)—The toll of destruction from Ohio's worst flood in 22 years mounted higher today as the crest of the swollen waters here moved on toward the Ohio river.

COLUMN

THOSE PERSONS who know only one language, and that English, often erroneously believe that English is easy. As a matter of fact, our language is very difficult because it is so irregular. Few rules of spelling, pronounciation, and the like can be applied to English the way you can govern Spanish, French, Esperanto, and some other tongues. . . We commonly think foreign languages are hard because they are spoken rapidly. Foreigners complain that Americans speak too fast and "run their words together." . . . It is possible to speak good English and not be understood. With a standard unabridged dictionary and a book of synonyms, we could write a letter—in English—that would not be understood by anyone except bookworms. Few of us know much of our native tongue—few persons, indeed, know one tenth of the words in a big dictionary.

AMERICANISM: Texas liquor dealers in 1934 paid the federal government $2,024,981.46 for hard liquor licenses, although this is a "dry" state. This was more money than the government collected in most of the wet states. It may explain, in part, why the government made no attempt to bolster Texas prohibition. Had the amount collected been spent in enforcement of prohibition, either by the state or federal government, the collections this year would be far less, but Texas would be more nearly dry in fact as well as theory.

LETTERS OF LAST MEXICAN GOVERNOR OF TEXAS UNDER SPAIN REVEAL MORE FACTS

INDIAN TROUBLES LED TO APPROVAL OF AUSTIN PLEA

AUSTIN, Aug. 8.—Letters of Antonio Martinez, the last governor of Texas under the Spanish regime, have been translated from the original Spanish by Mrs. Mattie Austin Hatcher, archivist in the University of Texas library. These papers are taken from the letter presses of Martinez, now reposing in the Nacogdoches Archives in the State Library here. These translations are to be published in the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, edited by the University history department, and the first installment, together with Mrs. Hatcher's sketch of Martinez' five-year gubernatorial reign in the Texas territory, appeared in the July issue of that publication.

"Antonio Maria Martinez, Lieutenant Colonel in the Infantry Regiment of Zamora, the last governor of Texas under the Spanish regime arrived at his new post toward the end of May, 1817, and, at once, assumed the responsibility of the defense of the exposed frontier," Mrs. Hatcher said. "He, with his family, had come from Europe, where he had distinguished himself in battle and had won 'la Cruz de la Norte de Europa' or 'la Cruz de Alemania.' He had stopped at Mexico City, en route, where he had discussed with the vicerory plans for the defense and development of Texas against Indian depredations, foreign invasions, and a recurrence of the revolutionary movements that had been temporarily crushed by the battle fought on the Medina river in Texas in the summer of 1813. Continuing his journey, he had conferred with Joaquin Arredondo, the hero of that sanguinary battle which had so raised the hopes of the royalists and had so re arded the favorable prospects of the country. In these conferences Martinez gleaned much regarding the deplorable situation in Texas; but he had hopes that, by untiring work, the situation could soon be improved. He, therefore, at once began a long series of piteous appeals for help—all to no avail—for neither the viceroy nor the commandant general could render any effective aid. These letters show not only the exhausted condition of the Spanish treasury and the dangers facing the royalists at every turn, due to the spread of the revolutionary disturbance, but, likewise, they reveal Martinez' ability, courage, determination, and sympathetic, if not indomitable, spirit.

"He came to Texas full of enthusiasm; he left it a bitterly disappointed man, because he was defending a losing cause. He was unable to control the Indians because they were uncontrollable per se and, besides, were constantly being stirred to atrocities by foreigners and revolutionists who were ceaselessly busy along the entire unprotected frontier line. He could not, therefore, develop the rich province as he had so fondly hoped, for he had neither money nor men at his disposal, and a full treasury would have been demanded for this purpose even if there had been no complications offered by Indians, foreigners and revolutionists. To make matters worse, toward the end of his administration, the revolutionists, under Agustin Iturbide, were sweeping everything before them in the vicinity of Mexico City and at Vera Cruz through which the sinews of war had to be shipped.

By the summer of 1821, the situation was so grave that, at the request of Baron de Bastrop, he approved Moses Austin's petition for permission to introduce three hundred of his neighbors in Louisiana into this border territory. He had hoped thereby to control the Indians, to defend the country against attack both within and without, and thus to develop the section as it deserved to be developed. However, he only opened the door to the entry of the Americans who had conquered the Indians of the Mississippi Valley and were ready to move westward to settle on the choicest lands in Texas. His Excellency Don Joaquin Arredondo, then Commandant General of the Eastern Interior Provinces of New Spain, confirmed the grant to Austin after the approval of Austin's application by the Provincial Deputation then assembled at the City of Monterrey. The necessary papers were forwarded on to San Antonio immediately and a new era opened for the southwest, for the Spaniards were to give way to their Mexican successors and they, in turn, to the Anglo-American.

"In spite of his hopes that this introduction of the Anglo-Americans might check the downward progress of the Spanish cause, Martinez' last year in Texas was a depressing one. By July 18, 1821, he was compelled to issue orders for the administration of the oath of allegiance to the new hero, Iturbide. This was a deeply humiliating procedure to one who had sworn never to lower the royal flag to a revolutionist. On August 2, 1821, following, he wrote the the Commandant General, reporting that he had not a single penny nor any grain with which to supply the necessities of his troops for even one day. On November 14, 1821, he announced that it was impossible to send soldiers against the pirates who were giving trouble at Galveston.

"So misfortunes continued until July, 1822, when he finally left Texas, though there were sometimes momentary gleams of hope that conditions might improve under Iturbide's imperial regime. As a matter of fact, Iturbide did promise to take up certain recommendations for the betterment of Texas when an opportunity arose; but in reality all hopes for actual improvement were utterly illusive, for the Emperor soon encountered insuperable difficulties in the execution of his plans for making himself supreme dictator of Mexico. As a result, Martinez was reduced to the severest straits. On March 22, 1822, he reported to his immediate superior that the commissioner sent to the United States had failed to secure supplies and that actual starvation stared him and his settlers in the face.

"Thus matters stood when at the end of June, 1822, he learned that Felix Trespalacios, who had gained recognition in defense of the cause of Independence, was on his way to supersede him in command. On August 24, 1822, he announced himself ready to turn over his office to the new governor, who at once issued an inaugural address that must have brought him deep humiliation. Trespalacios boastingly declared that Texas' natural resources would soon make her a rival of the other portions of the Empire and that steps must be taken immediately to secure the necessary colonists and soldiers for the long delayed program for the development of this choice section of the North American Continent. In closing, he pointed out that all must learn to use their newly acquired freedom in the proper manner. With the bitter word 'independence' in his ears, Martinez departed for Mexico. After meeting with Stephen F. Austin there, he disappeared into the obscurity from which he had emerged five years before.

"It is hoped that these letters, revealing the personality of the man who opened the door to Moses Austin and aided Stephen F. Austin to settle his colonists in the wilds of Texas, will induce students to search for fuller facts regarding his birth, education, attainments, and final days—for he must have been an old man when, as best he could, he upheld in Texas the cause of the Spanish King against overwhelming odds from 1817 to 1822."

Legal Notice

county, Texas, under a deed of trust heretofore given to Sir Charles Clifford and John Eldon Gorst of ..... as Trustee, by Clarendon Land Investment & Agency Company, Ltd., on the 8th day of August, 1884, are defendants, and said petition alleging that the plaintiff is the owner in fee simple title of the following described lands situated in Gray County, Texas, to-wit:

Section Eighteen (18), in Block H, A. W. Wallace Original Grantee, Gray County, Texas.

That defendants unlawfully entered upon the premises and evicted plaintiff therefrom to his damage. That plaintiff owns and holds said land above described through different mesne conveyances from Alfred Sully, the common source of title between plaintiff and defendants, and plaintiff has had and held said land in peaceable, continuous and adverse possession, claiming the same under a deed duly registered, using, cultivating and enjoying the same and paying all taxes thereon as they became due, for more than five (5) years before the filing of this suit, and that plaintiff and those under whom he holds and claims title, have had perceful and adverse possession of the lands and tenements, cultivating, using and enjoying the same, for more than ten (10) years prior to the filing of this suit, during which time plaintiff and his immediate vendors had said land actually enclosed within a good and sufficient fence in enclosures of less than 5,000 acres.

The exact nature of defendants' claim or claims to said land are unknown to the plaintiff, but such claim or claims constitute a cloud upon the plaintiff's title to said land.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for the title and possession to said land that each and all claims of said defendants to said lands be cancelled and for naught held, and for such other and further relief, at law and in equity, to which he may show himself entitled.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said court on the 1st day of the next term thereof this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and seal of said court at office in Pampa, Texas, this the 25th day of July, 1935.

Clerk, 31st District Court,

LAWYER BARELY AHEAD

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 9. (AP)—The complete unofficial vote in the Mississippi democratic gubernatorial primary today gave Paul Johnson, Hatiesburg lawyer, 110,207 votes, a plurality of 942 votes over his nearest opponent, Hugh White of Columbia.

Mrs. L. C. Vaughn was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital this morning.

Rock quarry workers near Canyon, Tex., discovered fossilized remains of a prehistoric elephant.

Disturbing Japan's Peace of Mind

This is the cartoon that caused the Japanese Foreign Office to order Ambassador Hirosi Saito at Washington to take "proper measures," in protest against the "insult" to his emperor, thus turning a good natured caricature into an international incident. Published in Vanity Fair as one of five unlikely events, it portrays Emperor Hirohito drawing a wheel barrow on which is a "Nobel Peace Prize" scroll.

WORK OF CREDIT UNIONS TOLD BY RENO STINSON OF CABOT

How credit unions have survived the depression, contributed to the stability of business, and served the employes which are their stockholders and borrowers was explained to Pampa Lions Thursday by Reno Stinson, official of the credit union of Cabot Co. employes here.

Credit unions, Mr. Stinson explained, are cooperative savings and loan associations owned and operated by the depositors. Small sums are deposited each week. Loans are made only to members and are repaid through deductions from monthly checks. The companies involved, however, have no connection with the associations.

The movement originated in the Orient in the 15th century but was perfected in Germany in modern times. It is prominent in Europe where, for instance, Italy has 80,000 unions. Coming to America about 40 years ago, it has come to have 5,200 units, with 130 in Texas.

No government aid has been accepted, although offered. The Cabot union has made loans totaling $103,000, with a loss of $50 in several years of operation. Today it has deposits of $17,000 and loans in excess of $20,000. No salaries are paid to the employe-officers, excepting the secretary-treasurer. Dividends are paid regularly.

The program was arranged by Ed Damon, chairman of the community betterment committee. Musical entertainment included baritone solos by W. V. Jarratt, accompanied by Mrs. May Foreman Carr. Mrs. Carr was voted commendation for her musical achievements here. She will leave soon for Pulaski, Tenn., where she will head the music department of Martin college. She also will do broadcasting in Nashville, Tenn.

Announcement of the resignation of Dr. C. P. Callison as Lion Tamer was made with the statement that Howard Neath had been elected to succeed him. Dr. Callison will leave soon to become professor of physiology and bacteriology in Still college at Des Moines, Ia. He was commended for his faithful work in behalf of the club.

RECOVERY HAS FIRMER HOLD UPON COUNTRY

DUN AND BRADSTREET REPORT IS VERY FAVORABLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—A consolidation of recovery gains was noted today by Dun & Bradstreet in the weekly review of trade.

"Recovery took a firmer grip on most divisions of trade during the week, with the unusual mid-summer upturn expected to gain momentum until reinforced by the normal fall rise," it was stated.

"As retailers' stock in most parts of the country have been depleted, buyers thronged wholesale markets in the largest numbers recorded at some centers in more than five years for the season.

"More comfortable temperatures resulted in wider increases being set down for retail sales, as industrial operations broadened and farmers' buying power expanded."

The gain for the country over 1934 was estimated at 12 to 40 per cent in the retail field.

"As cooler weather permitted many buyers to make trips to the markets which were postponed in July, the number of visitors at some of the leading centers reached the highest total recorded for the period in four or five years," the review said.

"Where trade shows and merchants' conventions were in session, registrations established new peaks.

"Encouraged by the practical depletion of inventories of summer merchandise and cheered by the improvement in the outlook during the past month, commitments for fall exceed those of a year ago by 15 to 20 per cent."

In the manufacturing end of business, it was stated, "most industrial divisions extended previous gains during the week, the rise in steel production and the higher schedules adopted by manufacturers of farm equipment, hardware, paints, and some of the textile branches offsetting the temporary slackening in the automotive industries."

NETTLED BY DISORDER, FRENCH PREMIER TO HALT AGITATION

PIERRE LAVAL MAKES HISTORY WITH POLICE

SEARCH OF HOUSES IS MADE—40 INJURED FOUND

PARIS, Aug. 9. (AP)—With troops ready but out of sight, the French government today ordered police forces to clean up agitation centers.

Premier Pierre Laval ordered the prefects of all France's 86 departments to confer with him immediately. It was the first such conference in the history of the French republic.

A somewhat easier attitude prevailed as the laborers in the government arsenals at Toulon and Brest went back to work and the French line employes at Le Harve voted to end their strike.

The object of the prefects' conference was understood to be the development of a more favorable attitude on the part of government employes to pay cuts which the government deems necessary.

Government officials said the riots of the last few days which reached a climax last night in Toulon, "seemed to be organized disorders" but "unlikely to continue." The government warned agitators to be quiet but instructed the troops, held ready for action, to remain in the background.

A vast network of police was thrown over Toulon's riot scenes and a house-to-house search today brought 40 arrests and the discovery of many wounded.

Police said they seized "a regular arsenal" in one house in Toulon where two wounded were hiding. They brought out many small arms, several gas masks, and a few submachine guns.

The police everywhere were instructed to watch agitators and to be firm but to avoid shooting. The authorities at Toulon said that the guards held their fire even when the mob was shooting last night.

Premier Laval refused any compromise in the shipping strike, but the French line agreed to compensate the sailors for their pay cuts decreed by the government. The end of the strike enabled the steamship Champlain to sail from Le Havre at 2 p. m.—two days late—and the steamships Colombie and Lafayette to depart on schedule.

Regardless of compliants and protests, the premier held firmly to his deflation program. He assembled the prefects to insure uniform and speedy application of his program and to explain how the reduction of incomes was compensated by lower costs of living and how all the government measures were intended to revive business and to avert a final crisis.

Paris had its own little midnight battle outside a communist meeting, where a score of political adversaries waylaid and beat four communists. Two were taken to a hospital.

Two persons were known to have been killed in the wild night of rioting in Toulon.

Two hundred die-hard shipyard workers at Brest again fought mobile guards after burying a comrade who was killed there in riots Tuesday. The guards charged with particular violence in an effort to make it a clash to end clashes. One person was injured seriously.

Shipyard workers demonstrated at Cherbourg.

At Toulon, France's principal Mediterranean naval port, rioters led by a woman in a red dress swept through the center of the city into the waterfront section last night, shooting and hurling stones at police and guards.

Barricades were erected in the streets. Often, as the rioters were dispersed in one street, they ran to another, some firing almost point blank at the guards pursuing them.

One police official was near death in a hospital with a bullet in his abdomen.

The crowds, originally estimated at less than 1,000, formed when the workers quit the arsenal after being thwarted in an attempt to demonstrate there. As the night wore on, their numbers were increased by bands of young communists.

Acting Mayor Conte was injured seriously, while municipal councilmen were among the 50 arrested.

States' Rights to Be Group's Goal

Hopkins Finally Ends Long Encounter; Sunoco Wins Over Texas Elf, 16-9.

CROCKETT, Aug. 9 (AP)—Joe Bailey Humphreys, youthful city attorney of Crockett and militant critic of the Roosevelt administration, announced today that organization of his states' rights democratic order would be undertaken in every Texas county.

He said temporary organizations had been set up already in a number of the more thickly populated counties.

The primary purpose of the organization is to bring about a full restoration of the rights of states. Humphreys explained that to acomplish this the organization necessarily must oppose the renomination of President Roosevelt, "as the present administration has openly rebuked the doctrine of states' rights and also has expressed its intention of further increasing its jurisdiction along this line."

STATES MUST SHARE RELIEF BURDEN SOON

FEDERAL OFFICIALS IN DOUBT AS TO HOW TO URGE IT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The problem of inducing states and cities to provide for their own "unemployables" today was declared to be a major one confronting officials conducting the shift from the "dole" to the $4,880,000,000 work relief program.

Reiterating that after November 1 the federal government would put up money only for jobs, Harry L. Hopkins yesterday aimed sharp criticism at states which he contended were not making provisions for those unable to work and so excluded from the new federal program. Every state, he insisted, is able to care for its unfortunate unless it is "unsocial-minded."

Hopkins estimated that states and cities would put up $600,000,000—compared with the federal government's $4,880,000,000—during the 12 months beginning July 1 to provide for unemployables and help pay for work relief projects.

Speaking shortly before President Roosevelt allotted $939,884 and $185,306 respectively to the works progres administration for projects in Tennessee and South Carolina respectively, Hopkins listed what he termed two signs of progress:

1. A decline in the relief population from 19,250,000 in May to 17,937,000 in June.

2. An increase in the number of work relief jobs provided to 550,0000, including 425,000 members of the civilian conservation corps, 105,000 on works projects, and 20,000 on other federal activities.

fantile paralysis in this area.

The Jamboree, scheduled to be held on the shores of the Potomac here August 21-30, was called off after a presidential conference with public health officers and Scout leaders. The chief executive is honorary national president of the Scouts.

The temporary encampments with accommodations for 3,500 Scouts had been completed and foreign contingents were already in the country or on the high seas when the cancellation was announced.

Prevalence of infantile paralysis "is not unduly alarming," a White House statement said, "but the conferees decided it would be for the best interest of the Scouts and all concerned to cancell the Jamboree."

Public health officers said two centers of the epidemic are within 100 miles of Washington. The cities are Charlottesville and Richmond, Va.

Since January 1 North Carolina has reported 517 cases, Virginia, 404; Maryland, 25; and the District of Columia, 24.

"We waited until the last day," Dr. Cumming explained, "because we had hoped the epidemic would burn itself out. Instead the disease has increased.

"We though it much better to prevent any apprehension on the part of parents and state health officers who might fear that the epidemic would be brought into their states by returning Scouts."

President Roosevelt, a himself a victim of infantile paralysis 14 years ago, expressed "very deep regret" in calling off the Scout meeting but promised Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive, he would deliver a speech previously scheduled for the Jamboree, over a nation-wide radio hook-up August 21 at 8 p. m., EST.

CONSIDER HOSPITAL

Residents of Morgan City, La., are interested in the possibility of building a city hospital under the $50,000 credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration. The women are taking an active part in urging the business men of the community to organize and take steps to secure the funds for the building of the institution.

JOHNSON WILL STAND BY HIS WAGE SCALES

ORGANIZED LABOR TO TEST STRENGTH OF GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—Organized labor and the government came to a showdown in this city today with a strike called over the security wage.

Representatives of the building trades unions set out to pull 10,000 to 15,000 skilled laborers from works progress administration projects in New York, where 100,000 of the nation's first 150,000 WPA workers are employed.

Men who strike, the WPA warned, will be replaced and will be dropped from the federal relief rolls.

From Harry L. Hopkins, national head of the WPA, and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator for New York came the warning. But George Meany, president of the state federation of labor, and other strike leaders were equally adamant.

The local security wage of $93.50 a month for skilled labor—top figure in the national WPA wage scale—imperils the prevailing hourly wage, they insisted.

"Nonsense," Johnson retorted.

A similar, though smaller strike was called on a WPA project at the Philadelphia navy yard. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, predicted at Atlantic City, N. J., that the walkout would spread to Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, Cleveland, San Francisco and Seattle.

"The government can't give an inch," said Johnson. "What it has done is right and fair, and all that it could do with the means at hand."

"We are giving jobs to 100,000 persons supporting half a million people," he said. "If we are not hindered we will give jobs to 250,000 breadwinners for more than a million people.

"When she should have goodwill we're offered a kilkenny cat fight—a bickering brawl, ill-will, hatred, riot and maybe bloodshed.

"Lots of us love a fight, but it ought to be a fine, great cause to make it worth all this."

Johnson told the union delegates that skilled workers were "never better off" than with the assurance of six months work at $93.50 a month. He said they were being duped by communists and selfish contractors. He called it a "ghastly shame."

The answer was appointment of a committee to make sure that each of the 36 unions involved called its men off the federal jobs. More than 700 already had walked out.

Sand Slide Is Fatal to Three

BORGER, Aug. 9 (AP)—Three workmen were killed yesterday ten miles west of here when a high gravel bank caved on them.

They were V. P. Harp of Borger. Casper Jones of Sanford, and Leonard Nolan of Borger.

The bodies were recovered after an hour and half of labor by rescue workers.

One man escaped from the trap by hanging onto a truck which was moving out of the gravel pit as the bank collapsed.

Plains Coolest in State Heat Wave

By The Associated Press

No relief from the heat was in sight over Texas today, as the thermometer continued to climb toward the high marks of yesterday, when records for the year were established at Sherman, Paris, Tyler and Longview.

No prostrations were reported.

Sherman and Paris reported readings of 105, Longview of 104½ and Tyler of 104. The Tyler reading was the second highest on record there, the thermometer having gone to 105 last year.

One hundred degrees were reported by Dallas, Abilene, Austin, Palestine, Port Arthur and San Antonio. Fort Worth was two degrees hotter, and Houston two degrees cooler.

Del Rio reported 96, and Amarillo Brownsville and El Paso sweltered in the "comparatively cool" of 94.

Hemphill School Gets PWA Grant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Secretary Ickes today approved PWA loans and grants totaling $9,786,634, including grants of $7,734,634, of work relief funds to cover 45 per cent of the cost of the various projects.

At the same time, Ickes canceled a $1,056,363 loan and grant to New Yorw City for a children's pavillion at the Metropolitan hospital. He said Mayor F. H. Laguardia requested the cancellation.

Allotments incuded for Texas: Hemphill county, $4,455 grant to school district 4 for auditorium.

MARKET BRIEFS

STOCKS ON BOOM

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—The stock market shook off its lethargy today and leaped ahead with a vigor that resembled some of the old "boom" sessions.

Merchandise, motor, steel and aircraft issues led the upturn which registered many new highs for the year or longer. The close was strong. It was one of the largest turnovers in several months, transfers approximating 2,225,000 shares.

WHEAT IS BULLISH

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (AP)—Bullish sentiment gained the upper hand in the wheat pit late today, stimulated by speculative purchasing based on summaries of the world-wide new crop destruction.

The summaries said conditions governing world wheat supplies have changed quickly and completely during the past ninety days. It was asserted over-production and burdensome immobile supplies have rapidly faded out of the picture, and the problem of possible insufficiency of wheat to meet current requirements has appeared.

Wheat closed firm, ⅜-⅞ above yesterday's finish, Sept. 90⅝-¾; corn ⅜ to 1 cent up, Sept. 78¼-¼, oats varying from ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance, and provisions at 15 cents decline to 5 cents gain.

COTTON MORE ACTIVE

NEW ORLEANS. Aug. 9 (AP)—October led other options across previous closing levels in late trading on the cotton market here today as active months marked up gains of five to 13 points.

The reversal in trading trend was due to unconfirmed reports from Washington that a more definite announcement on the plan for a government cotton loan might appear today.

Advices from the capital stated that heavy pressure was being exerted on administration leaders for a more explicit announcement on its future farm policy.

October touched 11.19 on the movement and December sold at 11.04 while March at 11.00 and May at 10.98, showed smaller net gains for the day.

Trade statistics released today were disappointing. Spinner's takings for the past week amounted to but 158,000 bales.

QUICK ACTION ON SECURITY IS LIKELY TODAY

PENSION SYSTEM ONE OF ITS PRINCIPAL PROVISIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Senate leaders believed today that President Roosevelt's vast social security program, which has spent nearly seven months in a tortuous transit through congress, was near the end of its trail.

They hoped that by tonight the measure would repose on the president's desk in virtually the form the chief executive asked for it last January.

Only a last-minute fight by Senator Clark (D., Mo.) for his amendment to exclude private pension plans stood in the way of final congressional approval.

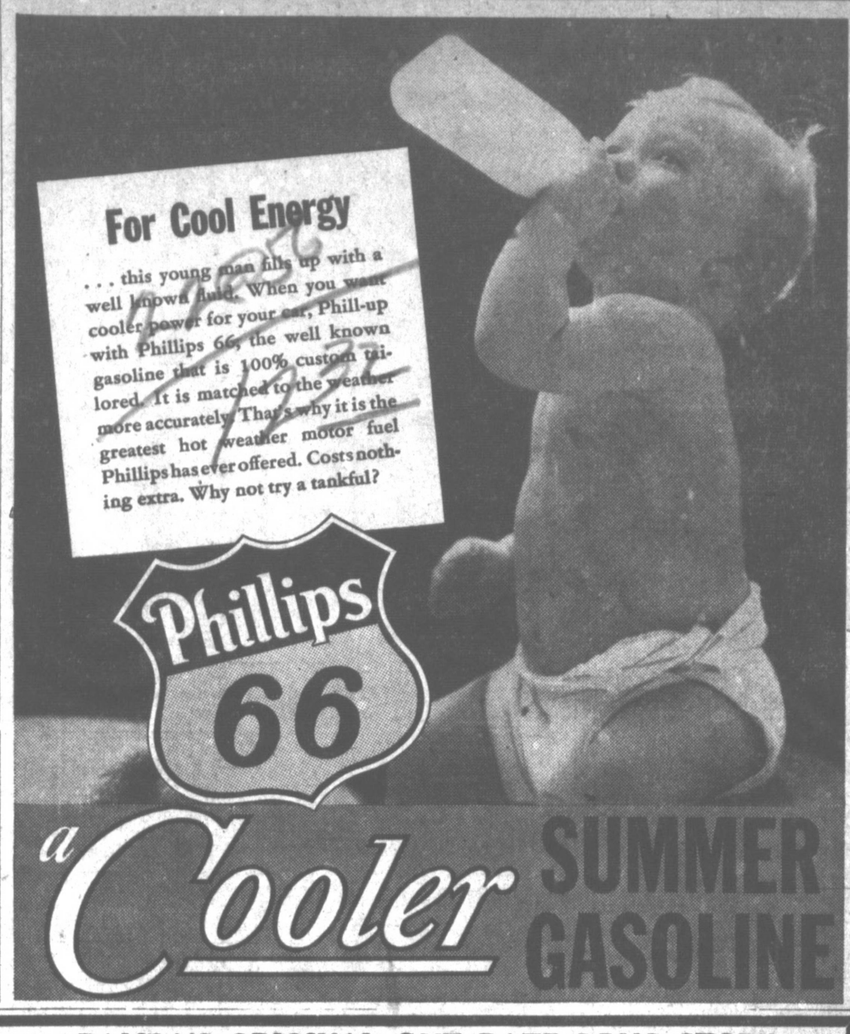

The bill contains provisions applying to the aged, the blind, the jobless and the handicappd child. Here's what it would do:

Aged: Create a nation-wide old age pension system to which employers and employes each would contribute eventually three per cent of the workers pay up to $3,000 a year to provide pension ranging up to $85 a month for those retired at 65 years. Authorize federal grants up to $15 a month, to be matched by the states, for needy aged not covered by the other pension system.

Blind: Authorize $15 a month federal grants to needy blind, to be matched by the states.

Jobless: Tax all employers of eight or more persons, except agricultural, governmental, domestic or casual workers, three per cent of their payrolls by 1938 unless they paid that much into state unemployment system, the benefits of which would be regulated by state laws.

Handicapped children: Appropriate more than $30,000,000, to be increased in future years for aid to dependent children, maternal and child health, crippled children and child welfare. Also appropriate $8,000,000 for public health.

TAKE A PICTURE OF YOUR TOWN

Citizens must have a fair picture of their town if they are to make it a success, says the Rotarian mazagine.

Towns, like firms, should take inventories. The smart business man frequently lists his liabilities and compares them with his assets. Encouraging facts are usually noted, while adverse ones should be a spur to one's corrective energies.

In checking over a town, assets do not necessarily cancel liabilities, we read. For instance, an active board of health does not mean that a crippled children's society is not needed.

In a fictitious city of 30,000 inhabitants, the article lists assets which include the following: Good location, tree-lined streets, three large parks, good school system, free public library in own building, public golf links, low living costs, community center, four service clubs, two hospitals, good fire department, Boy and Girl Scouts, 60 per cent of the residents own their homes.

This same city had these liabilities, among others:

Many ugly buildings, too many filling stations on best corners, no public playground, unsightly vacant lots, no P. T. A., bad city government—city owned by political boss—lack of parking facilities, schools hampered by politics, no museum, no art gallery, no milk inspection.

Suppose the reader make a mental survey of Pampa, using these ideas. Then, if he likes, let him write a letter to The NEWS giving his conclusions.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Congress has a quaint way of passing bills and then sending them into conference in the hands of men who will kill them if they can.

Lately this practice has been confined to the House. Vice President Garner, staunch supporter of the administration, decided he wouldn't appoint any more Senate conferees who weren't in sympathy with the bill on which they must deliberate.

Selecting five conferees to meet with the Senate group on the holding company bill, Speaker Joe Byrns included two Republican congressmen who had voted against the bill—Holmes of Massachusetts and Cooper of Ohio.

Then when George Huddleston of Alabama, Democratic House conferee, objected to the presence as Senate counsel of the two lawyers who drafted the bill—Ben Cohen of the National Power Policy Committee and Dozier De Vane of the Federal Power Commission—he was able to ge tthe eager support of Holmes and Cooper, who didn't care how long the bill was held up and would have been happy if it could have been stalled until it died with adjournment of Congress.

* * * *

A lot of monkey business is sometimes perpetrated after a bill has "gone to conference." Since a large gob of the Roosevelt program and some of its most controversial points have lately been before conference committees—including the utilities, banking, and economic security measures, as well as the TVA and AAA amendments—it is a good idea to have in mind just what these conferencces are and how the operate.

Conferees are appointed to reconcile differences in more or less similar bills which have been passed by both Senate and House. The vice president and the speaker appoint either three or five conferees each and it doesn't make much difference how many, as an agreemnt requires signatures of a majority of each group.

Agreements are usually a compromise in which the Senate recedes on certain points and the House on others. The agreements are usually promptly ratified in each body, whereupon the bill goes to the White House for signature.

Conferees are not supposed to add new provisions to the measure, but sometimes do as when two or three years ago—thanks to "power trust" lobbyists—conferees shifted a 3 per cent electricity tax from power companies to consumers.

* * * *

If there's no agreement, the bill just dies. Because of provisions inserted by either Senate or House and objectionable to the other body's conferees and the administration, the utility, banking, economic security, and TVA legislation have all been more or less seriously thratened with strangulation in conference.

Administration leaders let the Glass bill slip through the Senate without fight, believing they could get about what they wanted from a conference "compromise."

If the banking conferees named by Garner fail to concede enough, the issue can be forced back on the Senate floor for a vote.

After 20 days of inaction, it is permissible to ask for appointment of new conf.rees.

BARBS

There has been a movement for men to appear in shirt sleeves during the summer. What is this world coming to? Pretty soon the men will remove their neckties.

Sometimes it seems that only a sensational murder trial can bring tourists to a city.

If Herbert is only trying to find a better way of saying, "I do not choose to run," how about "I do not run to lose"?

A Canadian World War veteran has gone on eating, although his stomach has been removed. Once a soldier, always a soldier.

Private utilities are willing to take a chance on a profit from rural electrification, if the government will put up the money, the reckless gamblers!

Postmaster General Farley says the depression will be over by next summer. And immediately we'll have the presidential compaign.

Department of Commerce reports that the typical American family lives in a wooden house renting for $841 a year. Now to locate the 100 per cent American.

The chain letter gag has spread to criticism of President Roosevelt. Only in this case everyone gives, and the president has to take it all.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Aug. 9 (AP)—The best laugh at the very serious session of the legislative oil investigating committee in Austin recently was caused by a woman.

It was soon after Rep. Sidney Latham of Longview had introduced a fraudulent telegram authorizing shipment of a large amount of oil in East Texas. That telegram created a sensation.

Then Latham produced another. It had been sent from Austin to the Kilgore offices of the railroad commission.

"The colonel says to shut down those refineries. You fellows get going, shut them down and keep them shut.

"Signed, Mary Belle."

There was a big laugh. Then Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the commission, explained that Mrs. Mary Belle Federer, his secretary, had sent the telegram on his telephonic instructions from Amarillo.

Later C. V. Terrell, another commissioner, commented:

"Well, would you expect her to sign her name 'Mrs. Federer,' or 'the colonel's secretary' when addressing men she knew by their first names?"

Occasional repartee between witnesses and interrogators enlived the session.

Latham propounded a long question to Lon Smith, commissioner, concluding with the semi-statement:

"And so it appears you have been catching the minnows and letting the big fish get away, doesn't it?"

"If you catch all the minnows there won't be any big fish," cracked Smith.

Governor Allred had a great time fishing off Port Isabel recently, although he nearly fell overboard when climbing from a small boat into a larger one.

His secretary, Edward Clark, big and hearty, didn't have such a good time. He was sick during the entire outing. Offers of cigars and sardines by fellow vacationers didn't help a bit.

"Ed always has been opposed to the soldiers bonus," Governor Allred said, on his return to Austin. "But after that experience he said he would favor a bonus for sailors. They would have merely to make affidavit they had been seasick."

The governor caught a lot of red fish, including two which weighed more than 20 pounds each.

TINKLING BUZZARD

KEYSER, W. Va.—Somebody put a bell on a buzzard and let it loose. It tinkles nightly over this section, and farmers have been hurrying out on the false fear cattle or sheep have strayed.

Now that they know, they're still hurrying out—with shotguns.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Day-day politics now is at flood . It is possible to hear almost y kind of report and predic- about 1936. Few of them ount to much. The fundamen- of the situation remain un- nged.

he experienced politicians, who om disagree among themselves, ect Mr. Roosevelt, as the Dem- atic nominee next year, to ap- l to the liberal elements, espec- y the farmers and labor, and his hopes on a combination of south and the west.

hey expect the Republicans to n strongly toward conservatism, minate a mid-westerner whom y regard as "safe and sane," try for a combinaiton of the and the conservative elements the west.

hey see no likelihood of a ng left-wing independent tick- and little likelihood of a strong ht-wing independent ticket.

hey do look for a tremendous rt to break down the custo- y party lines, with the Demo- s trying to attract liberal Re- licans, and the Republicans, servative Democrats.

rd Party Idea Slipping

alk that President Roosevelt y not be renominated comes stly from the Republican side. ost every President has a nglehold on a renomination. at was true even of Mr. Taft Mr. Hoover, although their nces of reelection were nearly -existent.

alk that the Republicans may d to the western liberal ele- nts within the party, snub the tern conservatives and play for e of the radical support, pre- ts nothing tangible to support The conservatives have the ney and by far the most suc- sful politicians in the party l.

alk that Senator Long, or her Coughlin, or Dr. Townsend y be able to set up an effective rd-party movement is dying out. much is heard about that any re, even in these dog days of nor and alarm.

alk of a conservative Democra- bolt to form an independent ty and split the Democratic e persists, but it will take a at deal more spade-work before such thing becomes a reality. a single one of the dissenting mocratic leaders has announced s far he would bolt.

allace Rumors Denied

Recently someone has been tele- oning around Washington sug- ting a convention in New York to found a "constitutional" ty and nominate James W. dsworth for president. Wads- rth disclaims any such ambi- n. If such a movement actu- developed, its nominee almost tainly would have to be a con- vative Democrat.

Robert Lucas, formerly in charge Republican national headquar- s, wants to read Charles D. Hilles of party leadership because he s Hilles is too close to Wall eet. The fact is Hilles is so ac- e in inner party circles that no expects him to take a back t.

ome Republicans speak quite iously of the wisdom of nomi- ing a Democrat for vice-presi- t. That might happen, but the tory of political parties does encourage the prospect. Be- es, what important Democrat uld be willing to run in second ce on a Republican platform he report that Secretary Wal- e is preparing to resign and for the Republican presiden- l nomination can be denied on h authority. Wallace is quite mly entrenched in the Roosevelt mp, and no prominent Republi- has manifested a desire to e him as the candidate of that ty.

ll sorts of talk goes around dur- the dog days. But the funda- ntals remain the same.

CHILD SURVEY, NEXT FALL TO BE HUGE TASK

MUCH OF WORK HAS BEEN DONE BY EXPERTS

AUSTIN, Aug. 9.—Early fall will see completed a gigantic task, the purpose of which has been the counting of every child in Texas who is diabled, or whose father is a war veteran, or whose parents are on the relief rolls. This child survey, started by the Texas Relief commission about a year ago, was abandoned in the fall by that organization and was resumed by the bureau of research in the social sciences of the University of Texas. Collection of material was completed during the winter and spring, and a special investigator, Miss Grace E. Benjamin from the American Public Health association was employed this summer to make a number of special surveys and to write the report of the project, with particular attention to an analysis of some of the facts shown by the statistics accumulated.

This study has involved the checking of 140,000 homes in 170 counties of Texas, and represents actual case histories of more than five hundred thousand children. In two counties of the state, an actual canvass of every home in the county was made, while in others visits were paid to homes of families on relief, to veterans' homes and to homes where it was known there were disabled children. All counties containing cities of more than 100,000 population, most of the counties with cities of more than 50,000 population, and representative counties of less dense population were studied. Statistics have been tabulated for the state as a whole as well as by counties.

Results of this study have already become of use, according to Dr. W. E. Gettys, university professor of sociology and chairman of the research bureau in charge of the study. For one thing, cards containing case histories of disabled children in all of the counties contained in the survey have already been turned over to J. J. Brown, director of vocational rehabilitation in the state department of education. Legislative appropriation has made available for this division considerable funds for the 1935-36 fiscal year, and immediate steps can be taken after September 1 to provide vocational training for these disabled children.

Valuable data concerning juvenile delinquency, housing facilities, truant laws and other problems affecting and involving the welfare of the children of the state are made available for the first time by this survey, Dr. Gettys said. Miss Benjamin pointed out that this study is the most comprehensive and the most significant child census ever taken for any state, and the published report is expected to be immeasurably valuable as a handbook for use in remodeling the state's laws governing child delinquency.

"For example, it is almost unbelievable that the laws of Texas do not provide for a juvenile court," she said. "Instead, child offenders are brought up and tried before a judge just as is a mature criminal. Indeed, children are being tried and convicted in Texas before they reach the age of what is known as 'criminal responsibility.' Exercising all the license given him by law, the judge can only sentence the child offender to a definite term in the reformatory. At the end of that term he is released to return to his old environment, the home and the crowd that fostered his first misdemeanor, without any effort being made to train him while he was imprisoned and without any attempt to prepare a better environment for him. No regard is taken of the fact that he may have been 'reformed' before his term is over, and on the other hand he can not be detained after his term is completed even though he may be quite incorrigible."

Lack of adequate truant laws has resulted in truant children's being treated as delinquents, she added. Another shortcoming in the state's treatment of children is the utter lack of any fund for the care of delinquent negro girls.

Miss Benjamin will complete her analysis of the statistics collected in this survey during the remainder of the summer, and it is expected that the report will be available for distribution by October 1.

HOW HUEY LONG "GOT THAT WAY" IS TOLD BY WRITER

Curly-haired Huey Long, the arm-waving orator, the filibusterer, the uncrowned king of Louisiana. . . . How did he get that way? How much power does he hold in those nervous fingers? How long will he sit on his home-made throne? Ralph Wheatley, chief of the Associated Press bureau in New Orleans, considers those questions in the following article.

BY RALPH WHEATLEY
(Chief Of Bureau, The Associated Press, New Orleans)

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9. (AP)—Under the rule of Huey P. Long, the state of Louisiana has been turned into as near an absolute monarchy as is possible on the soil of the United States.

Long dominates every public function except the church and the press.

Ironically, his latest acquisition of powers came on Independence day, when, through his legislature he took over control of motion pictures through a board of censorship and placed under his jurisdiction all school teachers and every other non-elective employe of the state, parishes and municipalities.

Capture of New Orleans

Before Huey's latest trip to Louisiana, the city of New Orleans, under the leadership of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, represented an organized hotbed of anti-Longism. When he left Louisiana July 17 the Walmsley organization was wrecked and control of the city of a half million population was in his grasp.

Walmsley still was mayor in title but Long had stripped him of almost every vestige of power.

Long took over the purse of New Orleans by placing taxes and licenses under state control. By the same means he obtained control of the city policemen and firemen, the sewerage and water department and he can control all other departments by controlling the money.

Through his legislature he can do the same to any other city.

Long's Duration

How long will he last?

His devoted followers say he will grow in power until he dies. His enemies say he will collapse at the next election.

Persons who think in terms of practical politics say it will take a long siege to "break" him. They explain that Long has all that goes to make a strong political organization—money, jobs, control of police and militia, and control of election machinery. He has a ruthless knack of punishing his enemies and holding out a liberal hand to his friends.

Only one organization threatens to stop him—the Square Deal association.

This group, organized in every parish is working under cover to defeat Long's candidates for the state legislature, on the assumption that if he is stripped of legislative control his temple will crash.

Other Bosses 'Pikers'

Another hope of the anti-Longs is in the break between Long and the national administration.

There have been other state bosses, but never did they have Huey's power. If they could rise from their graves. Penrose of Pennsylvania, Tweend of New York, Hanna of Ohio, Sullivan of Illinois, and Taggart of Indiana would cast an eye toward Louisiana and brand themselves "pikers" as bosses.

They bossed controlling factions but they had real battles at the polls. Never did they think they could absorb a whole state's activities with only feeble opposition.

Huey Long has done this. With a yawn, he mutters:

"It looks like the show is over. Everybody is for Huey Long."

Has Eye On Presidency

Who is this Huey Long?

He was christened Huey Pierce Long in the Baptist church 42 years ago. His father grubbed for a living on a pig farm in the red hills section of middle Louisiana. He was poorly educated in the country schools, had one year at college and one year at law school.

He became a book salesman, a lard salesman, a politicin, a governor, a United States senator and then boss politician of th estate. He is classed as an able lawyer, a champion stump speaker and a cunning political strategist.

He cherishes the presidency of the United States. Failing in that, he hopes to be a president-maker.

Trinity Canal Is Hit by Witnesses

FORT WORTH, Aug. 9. (AP)—Opponents of the Trinity river canalization project charged at a hearing Thursday before the U. S. board of engineers for rivers and harbors that tonnage estimates for the project made by federal district and division engineer were excessively high. They also claimed that cost and maintenance estimates of the project made by the district engineer are lacking in essential elements, and do not present an accurate financial picture.

The allegation was made that instead of estimated savings of $3,058,000, there actually would be an annual operating loss of $6,70,000. The figures of the district engineer were challenged in a brief presented by George A. Knapp, Houston, special engineer for the Southern Pacific lines, for inter-railroad engineering committee of the Southwestern rail lines.

The committee declared that the canal would represent a total investment cost of $126,587,815 and an annual operating cost of $14,000,000.

Tonnage estimates were questioned by H. B. Cummins, Dallas, representing the Texas-Louisiana tariff bureau and Texas class 1 railroads, who declared estimates of the district engineer on cotton, cotton seed products, and grain and grain products are not borne out by statistics.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (AP)—Governor Allred has found how hard it is to keep an official secret and as a result, has announced a change in policy.

The governor's appointees to the public safety commission were known to several persons prior to their announcement. Many capital newspapermen knew whom he had chosen but refrained from publishing their names until the governor released them formally.

Governor Allred withheld publication of the appointments to give the new officials time to formulate their policies before being deluged by job hunters and persons having something to sell or some favor to ask.

After the governor learned that the appointments were generally known he made the appointments known officially.

"That's the last time I'll ever try to hold up any appointments because it apparently does little good," he said.

The governor was chagrined that the list was published elsewhere before it was announced in Austin. He tendered his regrets to the capitol press corps and pledged it should not happen again.

Allred said he really is enjoying his job as the chief executive of the nation's largest state now that the legislature has gone and the press of business has lessened.

With the lawmakers adjourned Allred says he has time to think about things and is not in the continuous whirl that marks the governor's office when they are in session.

He also has found time to take several brief trips to his home at Wichita Falls and fishing and camping jaunts.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—Lily Pons, after long hesitation, finally entered the projection room to see her screen test. She came out with a definite impression that the young woman on the screen was her sister, and not Lily Pons.

She has been more confident about the projection of her voice. At night, after a day spent recording songs and arias for her first movie, the company goes to one of the downtown theaters and hears the "play-back" from the screen, after the regular audiences have left. Lily is quite satisfied with her screen voice.

'Quel Travail.'

"The films—quel travail! what work!" she exclaims. "It is amazing to me, all the work and all the difficult machinery. I have sing, 'Lakme' fifty times in one afternoon! I do not know which one they use—I just sing."

The Pons Hollywood home for the summer is an imposing mansion with cool green patio and swimming pool. She may rest in the patio but may not go near the water—not at least while recording. The Pons voice must be protected from colds.

Lily's Retinue.

When Mademoiselle Pons arrived on the Hollywood scene, there were premonitory shudders on the studio lot. She was bringing a staff—nay, a retinue!—of her own. Her own conductor, her own voice-teacher, her own accompanist, of course, her secretary - companion - reporter, and so on. And she a prima donna from opera besides! It looked none too promising.

But to date, at least, everything is smooth sailing. Pons is a prima donna with a sense of humor, a personal hit with the folks on the set—and when she or one of her staff insists on anything, there's a reason.

For her role in "Love Song"—a title due to be changed ere long—the star must dance for the first time on the stage—and it will be a jazz dance. Does the artiste of arias storm and fume at this movie degradation of her art? She does not. She is the same Pons who with Gladys Swarthout and Helen Jepson made a trio from the "Met" at a charity performance, singing "Minnie the Moocher."

"I wish," she says, "I could sing 'Minnie' in the picture, too!"

HE CAN BUST ROCKS

GREENVILLE, S. C.—Sam Talley, negro, walked into magistrate Louis E. Smith's office and said he wanted to be sent to the chain gang to get away from his wife.

The chain gang not being designed exactly for such purposes, the magistrate doubted that he could be of any help.

"I nearly busted her in the head," volunteered the distressed husband.

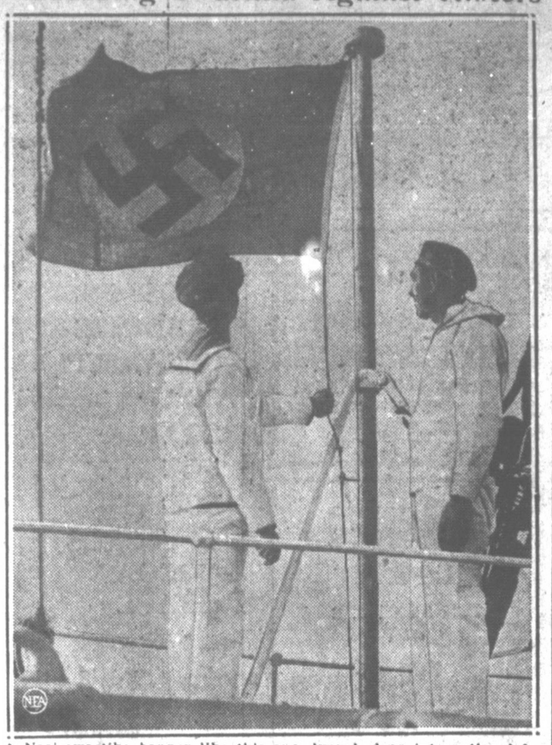

"Lay hands on her?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, sir," he confessed.

"Thirty days, said the magistrate. Talley said he needed at least 60.

Guarding Swastika Against Rioters

A Nazi swastika banner like this one, launched an international incident when it was torn down by demonstrators before the S. S. Bremen sailed from New York. In reply to Germany's protest, the U. S. State Department expressed regrets but blamed the Hamburg-American line officials for not taking precautions when warned by police. The sailors aboard the docked Europa in New York stand ready to guard the banner with their lives against repetition of the rioting.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter 17
TABLES TURNED

"Glad, I don't like the idea of you picking up with men like that" went on Laurie. "Is he young?"

"Fairly. Not a kid. I haven't any use for infants, old girl. I met him in Manchester first, if you want to know the whole dreadful truth. I rather think he came to Liverpool—not just by chance."

"You mean he followed you? Has he asked you to marry him, Glad?"

"Kind of hinted that I'm the only girl in the world."

"Are you in love with him?"

"I like him a lot."

"Have you heard from him since you've been here?"

Glad shook her head.

So that was the reason of her dash to the postman and to the telephone bell.

Laurie's anxiety was not much allayed. At the same time, on the surface, there was nothing uncommon in a lovely girl on the stage making friends with a rich young man. It was Laurie's nature, her intense capacity for emotion. There was something maternal in her devotion to her young sister.

"I suppose I'm silly," she said, looking lovingly at the girl. "But you're such a child to me, Glad, and you're so terribly pretty. If your friend writes or comes to London, you must ask him here and let me meet him."

She dared not go on and ask other things she wanted so much to know—how far it had gone, whether the young man had kissed Glad, whether he really meant anything. But, if she could see him, she would know.

"He's bound to turn up," said Glad complacently. You'll be crazy about him. He's got 'It' all right. And he says I've got lots of sex appeal."

This upset Laurie again, and rattled her so much that she spoke as if she herself were very wise and very bitter, and knew men inside out.

Glad gave a little shriek of laughter.

"If only the girls could hear you! You ought to do one of your comic turns on the stage, Laurie! I can look after myself," she added confidently. "And it's all very well for you to preach, you've got your husband back again and you're in for a life of thrills.

"What's he really like, Laurie? You haven't told me anything, hardly. Is he as wonderful as you thought when you married him? You were a queer girl, never talked about him after you thought he was dead—you were always the same old oyster! By the way, Jimmy taught me to eat oysters—that's if I have enough champagne! Tell me about Rex Moore, old girl! Does he know how to make love?"

Laurie flushed. There was a curious quality about Gladys's wide grey-blue eyes. It seemed sometimes as if they could look right into you, but not with love and understanding; rather, with some strange "fey", merciless insight, into your secret thoughts and your inmost heart. Laurie had memories of that piercing vision when she had first had to lie to her sister after Rex Moore's supposed death.

"It has been rather a difficult time," she said stiffly. The words came to her lips unbidden. "You see, Rex and I have to get to know each other all over again."

"And I suppose you're in a stew because he's gone off again so soon?" put in Gladys, with an arch assumption of knowledge that roused Laurie's temper. She had never been so angry with her sister before, and burst out with what she immediately felt to be a most imprudent retort.

"Rex and I are not at all sure that we shall get on well together. Two years is a long time. But he is a wonderful man. We'll leave it at that, Glad. I don't want to say any more."

"You got my message all right last night, Mrs. Moore?" Mark Albery asked Laurie the next afternoon, when he sent for her to take some letters. "Splendid news, isn't it? Moore has done exactly what I knew he would. He has found the men. Did you get it exactly—did you have a map to look it up on?

"They had crashed in a thick jungle on the borders of the Belgian Congo hundreds of miles from anywhere. Finding them was just the mixture of genius and commonsense that Moore is famous for. He hasn't lost his cunning. You must be very proud of him."

"The poor men were hurt, you said, Mr. Albery?" Laurie asked.

"Apparently rather badly. But the wireless said they had already got a rescue party on its way. Anyhow, they're alive, and they wouldn't be but for your husband."

Laurie, curiously enough, did feel a little glow of pride, and immediately took herself to task for it.

"Mr. Wilmer Jones must be very wonderful too, Mr. Albery," she said.

"Of course." He looked at her, as she bent over her note book, ready for work. Her voice sounded cold to him, with a raw edge on it. She was unhappy. Now he was sure of it. "Jones is an experienced airman and a good fellow. But there is only one Rex Moore."

As he went through his correspondence, dictating letters and notes for reference, nobody would have thought from his dark, impassive face that he was inwardly consumed with a passion for his business-like secretary that was growing every day. Least of all, Laurie herself.

For Mark Albery, with his wealth, and his intriguing personality, met the most beautiful and gifted women of the day, and could have had his pick of them. And yet it was Laurie Moore whom he desired with a fierce intensity that was actually threatening to interfere with his life.

When he had finished, and she stood up, with her book in her hand, her face caught a shaft of sunlight through the window, and those little lines of anxiety and distress showed plainly round her eyes and mouth.

Albery went up to her, as she was moving towards the door.

"Forgive me, I can't help thinking you are unhappy," he said in a low voice.

"Oh, no!" She drew back a little scared by the expression in his eyes. This life of subterfuge and pretense made her afraid in all her dealing with him.

"I expected you would not admit it. You are so brave," he went on. "But you can trust me. I wish you would. Is anything wrong?"

"No, thank you, Mr. Albery."

"I can't help feeling that you find your life with Moore not what you expected," he persisted, his smooth voice enveloping her in a warm atmosphere of sympathy.

"I—we—" Laurie stammered, "I mean, it is a little difficult for Rex and me to get used to one another again. It seems strange. That's all."

"He is kind to you?"

"Oh, yes!' She was perplexed, and so confused that she overlooked the impertinence of his question. She summoned up all her self-control. Rex Moore had been so emphatic about their keeping up the farce until he came back.

She did not think it would be wise to hint to Albery that they might not get on well together, as she had done to Gladys. That was not in their bargain. "It is very kind of you to bother about me, Mr. Albery,' she added cheerfully, 'but really there's nothing the matter with me at all."

Albery took her hand.

"If ever anything should happen, and you were unhappy, you must come and tell me," he said. "I shall always be there, to help you, to do anything I can for you."

She looked at him with glowing eyes of gratitude. And then, suddenly, she received a violent shock.

Albery's voice sounded in her ears, thick and trembling.

"You don't understand—I am unhappy about you. You came too late into my life. Don't you see? It is more than I can bear to watch you—married to another man! Happy with him, as you say! When I love you—when I love you!"

She was speechless. It was so incredible.

His arms went round her, grasping her shoulders hard. His eyes burned into hers. His lips murmured incoherent words of passion. He had lost control of himself.

Albery takes command, tomorrow, of a difficult situation.

Struck by lightning, an elm tree at Hickman, Ky., burned about a month. Slowly smoldering, the tree lost its top, weathered several rains, then burned to its roots.
