UNCLE SAM IS A GENEROUS person. He has ordered the War Finance Corporation to make a loan of $500,000 to the Texas Wheat Growers association to assist in financing and orderly marketing the wheat crop of the state. He has approved advances of $16,500,000 to assist in the orderly marketing of cotton and wheat, to the Oklahoma and Texas cotton and wheat growers.

This reminds the writer that there are candidates for the senate in the highways and byways of Texas who are damning the federal reserve board and characterizing it as the creature of Wall street. A democratic administration gave the people the federal reserve banks. These banks saved the nation in war time. They saved the people and the nation from a panic and disaster in peace time. They are doing all in their power today to help the people who are the producers of America.

THEY COULD NOT PREVENT A slump from war peak prices nearing prewar prices. A government that is sane never starts its printing presses to flood the country with cheap paper currency.

All the experience of all the ages has taught sane men the folly of such an undertaking. Soviet Russia adopted a wildcat money plan and now a ton of paper money isn't worth a pound of gold and millions of Russians would die if it were not for the charity of the humane of America. Republican Germany started its printing presses and today a German mark is a hissing byword in the financial marts of the world.

RED RIVER AREA MAY OPEN UP

Bill Asks Federal Land Rights

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 1. — Congressman Sinnott, republican, Washington, chairman of the house committee on public lands, today was hopeful that one of the first matters to be taken up by the house when it reconvenes on August 15, is his bill on the Red river.

Under this bill the secretary of interior would be authorized to grant permits or leases on oil and gas deposit lands south of the medial line of the Red River, Oklahoma, to which federal title was recently confirmed in a supreme court decision in the boundary dispute between Oklahoma and Texas.

The bill, as prepared by the interior department, would confine leases as nearly as possible, to 20-acre units. And limit all to 160 acres. Each lessee, after passage of the bill, would be required to pay the government 12 1-2 per cent of all oil or gas produced.

Woman Named In Attorney's Depart.

By Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Attorney General Barrett today appointed a woman, Miss Serelda Zoff of Washington, Mo., as an assistant attorney general in his department. Miss Zoff was graduated last month from the law school of the state university. She is the first woman ever appointed to such a position in Missouri.

Sleuths Active

By Associated Press

AUSTIN, July 1.—Federal prohibition agents arrested 208 persons in Texas during June for violation of the national prohibition act, according to the monthly report of Director David H. Morris.

They also seized 46 stills, 26 still worms, 353 gallons of moonshine whiskey, 177 gallons of malt liquor, 62 gallons of wine and 7,195 gallons of mash.

Harding Opens Coal Parley

UNION HEADS AND COAL MEN GET TO WORK

No Decisions Come From First Sessions

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The conference called by President Harding to devise methods of settling the coal strike assembled today, listened to the president's admonition that if the settlement effort failed, "the servants of the American people will be called to the task in the name of American safety" separated into gathering for the antharcite industry and a second for the bituminous and adjourned in a double deadlock. The bituminous representatives, by far the larger group, after a controversial session adjourned, while the antharcite contingent set its next meeting for Tuesday.

Only the intervention of Secretaries Hoover and Davis, the government representatives, in the bituminous meeting, prevented a vote being cast on which those negotiations might have ended.

The president of the southwestern operators, moved formally that the conference recommend the resumption of work be brought about by district wage negotiations between operators and the union.

The proposal was attacked by President Lewis of the miners' union, by William Greene, secretary of the miners, and by John Broppy, a Pennsylvania district president. One

Guards Ordered For Rail Property

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, Texas, July 1.—Fifty special policemen will be enrolled to guard railroad property here during the shopmen's strike, it was announced tonight. A call for the extra men was issued by Assistant Chief Bert Dellinger.

The additional patrolmen will be placed on duty merely as a precautionary measure and not beenuse any outbreak is feared, Chief Dellinger sair.

Scrappers Wind Up Training for Bout

By Associated Press.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 1.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion and Rocky Kansas, the Buffalo New York challenger will wind up hard training tomorrow in preparation for their ten-round championship contest here the afternoon of the Fourth of July. The match will be staged under the direction of Floyd Fitzsimmons for the American Legion post of Michigan City. Indications tonight were that the contest will draw at least $75,000.

Guards Placed at Local Rail Shops

Just as a precautionary measure, local rail heads placed guards over local shops last night.

No trouble is feared here over the strike situation, but since preparations are being made to continue operations, it was thought best to station men in the yards.

Only a few guards were put on by the officials, and unless cause for alarm arises, the force will not be increased.

I. C. Men Don't Quit

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Out of approximately 10,000 shopmen employed on the Illinois Central railroad, only 4,000 joined the country-wide shopmen's strike which began today, according to figures given out tonight by a member of the United States railroad labor board. These figures were said to cover the entire system and were the first complete poll for any road centering in Chicago.

Rail Strike Won't Last Long Predict Local Rail Officials

When 10 o'clock came Saturday morning, 259 employes of the local shops lay aside their tools and joined in the ranks of a nation-wide strike of shop craft unions.

Sixty-nine of the employes were working in the local Fort Worth & Denver City railroad shops, while 190 of them were employed by the local Katy system.

A check along the Katy line from Wichita Falls to Fargo showed a walk-out of 206 men, 12 quitting at Altus, and 4 at Woodward.

The strike included boilermakers, machinists, blacksmiths, coppersmiths and carmen. None of the maintenance of way employes nor clerk's union men have quit here so far, although both have been affected by the salary reduction ordered recently by the United States labor board, and which cut is responsible for the strike.

Local railroad officials predicted yesterday that the strike would not last long, and that in the event it did, labor would be contracted in Wichita Falls.

Labor Heads Meet at Conference

President John L. Lewis and Labor Secretary Davis, taken at their conference at the White House.

JOHN L. LEWIS, mine union president, and Secretary of Labor Davis, appointed by President Harding to meet with the union heads and mine operators in their Washington conference, are two of the leading spirits in the important sessions now being held in the national capital.

KLAN BOOSTS BABIES' FUND

Another $100 Check For Milk and Ice Is Received

Headed by a check for $103 from the ku klux klan Saturday's mail brought in a total of $130 in contributions to The Record News' Milk and Ice Fund.

With the contributions of the day before there has been received a total of $251 with which to buy milk and ice during the hot summer months for the many poor children of the city who, because of misfortune, have none of the comforts of life that the hundreds of other children have.

Army to Spread Funds

The money that has come in will be given to the Salvation Army which will buy ice and milk and see that it is distributed among families where there are children and no funds to provide milk and ice during the hot days when both are essential to the health of the tots.

President Camps On Gettysburg Field

By Associated Press.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 1.—President Harding is encamped tonight with 5,000 marines on the historic Gettysburg battlefield. Accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a few friends, he came by automobile today from Washington, arriving at camp established by the marine corps in time to witness a late afternoon reproduction of Pickett's famous charge.

The president and Mrs. Harding will remain here tonight and plan to leave tomorrow by automobile for Marion, Ohio, where a home coming celebration will be held during the coming week. Two days, it is expected, will be required to complete the trip to Marion.

Senate Scored

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 1. — The senate was taken to task today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, for concurring in the house amendment to the army bill delaying until Oct. 1, next, beginning of new work on the Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala. In a brief speech he reminded the senate that its original proposal would have permitted 1,000 or more men to have begun work today and declared its confirmation of the house action would mean another year's delay of work on the project and prevention of idle laborers in the south from obtaining employment.

The senate's original proposal, Senator Norris asserted, also would have saved a couple or more million dollars for the tax payers.

Kinsner With County

K. B. Kinsner, for the past five months motorcycle officer, has taken a position as motorcop with the county sheriff's department and assumed his new duties Saturday. Kinsner was the only motorcycle officer retained by the city when the last drastic cut was made, but he resigned in favor of Melvin Johnson, a member of the motor squad for over a year.

KELL GIVEN CONTRACT TO BUILD LINK

By The Associated Press.

WAURIKA, OKLA., July 1.—Contract for the construction of a railway link between Byers, Texas, and Waurika, was awarded by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad here late today to Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, Texas. Work will start immediately.

The line will provide direct connections between Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City, it was said.

CHAUNCEY QUITS AS CITY JUDGE

Forced to Take His Son to Coast

Commissioner J. B. Fitts announced Saturday morning the resignation of Corporate Judge W. B. Chauncey.

Judge Chauncey, he intimated, submitted to him Saturday at an early hour before the opening of court, his resignation from office, which in turn will be presented to the city council Monday night. The resignation is effective immediately, Judge Chauncey possibly holding his office for two days more.

Commissioner Fitts said that W. H.

Chemical Patents Ordered Returned

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Instructions were issued today by President Harding that a demand be made on the Chemical Foundation, Inc., for immediate return to the government of all patents, trade marks, copyrights, contracts and other property transferred to it by alien property custodians of the Wilson administration.

The instructions, contained in a letter written by Mr. Harding to Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, was wholly unexpected although the chemical foundation numerous times has been under fire of republican members of congress.

Nine Badly Hurt In Pueblo Wreck

By Associated Press.

PUEBLO, Col., July 1.—Nine persons were seriously injured and several others sustained minor cuts and bruises when Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 12, eastbound from Pueblo, struck a stretch of weakened track near Fowler this afternoon. Six coaches were overturned but the engine, between car and rear Pullman, remain upright.

Track on both sides of the stalled train was washed out, making it impossible to send relief trains to the wreck.

WICHITA BOY IS SHOT DOWN

Body of Jacks May Be Brought Here For Burial

That the body of Oliver Jacks, 27, service car driver, who died from bullet wounds at Graham early Friday night, will more than likely be brought back to Wichita Falls and the funeral held from here was stated at the home of the dead man's father, A. M. Jacks, 505 Lamar street, late Saturday. The father of the man who was killed has gone to Graham and details of the funeral will not be announced until sometime Sunday.

Oliver Jacks, according to witnesses, was killed in front of the rooming house run by J. F. Smith on the southwest corner of the courthouse square in Graham. Mr. Smith surrendered to officers on the scene of the shooting, it is said, and told them, according to information, that he shot

Making Powder

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Perhaps they are getting ready for a big explosion in Texas. Figures made public by the interior department today showed that during the first four months of 1922, there was manufactured in Texas 14,917 kegs of black blasting powder; 490,071 pounds of high explosives and 54,500 pounds of permissable explosives.

Texas Likes It Dry

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Texas is the best little state in the union from a prohibition law enforcement standpoint?

That is the official verdict of Federal Prohibition Director Morris sent to Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes.

Whether they love the Volstead law in the wicked east or not, as a general thing they do like it in Texas, Morris said.

State In Good Shape

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The state government of Texas has per capita revenues of $8.63. Its total governmental cost is $7.68. Therefore, the lone star state has revenue over total costs of government of 97 per cent per capita.

These facts are shown in a bulletin just made public by the department of commerce.

SHRINE CIRCUS PLAYS TO BIG OPENER CROWD

Day Nursery Car Wins First Prize In Parade

Hoodlums, gorgeously garbed officials of Maskat Temple, and clowns in motley attire, Wichita Falls society women, barefoot urchins, members of the knot-hole gang, in large numbers helped make the parade which marked the opening of the Shrine circus Saturday afternoon a huge success.

The prize winners, in the contest for first, second and third place, with prizes of $50, $25 and $15, went to the day nursery, the automobile driven by Miss Alta Hobbs, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hobbs, and the automobile entered by the Cline Oil company.

The day nursery car was a seven-passenger machine, decorated to simulate a chariot, being drawn by a huge white stork, which was carrying, quite conventionally, an infant, symbolic of the mission of the day nursery. The chariot was covered with petals of amber and white crepe paper, and a banner with the words "Day Nursery" in bronze appeared at the back.

Babes in Machine

Several of the day nursery babies, dressed in white, were in the car. The unusual beauty of the design and the execution of the prize winning decorations were due to the efforts of Mrs. Benny Hyatt Donald, Mrs. Ben G. O'Neal, Mrs. Featherstone and Mrs. G. L. Shapard. This committee, dressed in white with touches of amber, harmonizing with the general picture, occupied the car in the parade.

The color scheme of Miss Hobbs' decoration was gold and white, under a flowery canopy of the same design which covered the automobile, a group of girls, in lovely summer

Negro Bandit Kills Beaumont Woman; Manhunt Started

By Associated Press.

BEAUMONT, July 1.—Mrs. Fannie Goldstein, age 47, was shot to death by a negro bandit at 10 o'clock tonight who then robbed a cash register of about $75. The negro bought a box of matches and while the woman was making change at the cash register, the negro drew a pistol and commanded her to stick up her hands. The woman screamed and two shot rang out. One bullet penetrated the head and the other the shoulder. The store is in the center of a residential section and many persons were nearby when the crime was committed. The woman's husband was in an adjoining room sleeping.

Hundreds of men are aiding police and county officials in the manhunt, but no trace is reported.

Texas Trains Will Run On Time

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, July 1.—Maintenance of regular service and "protection of the public's interest" is expected by operating officials of the railroads in Texas, they said following the walkout of shopmen in connection with the nation-wide strike which became effective today.

Operation of the trains almost on schedule is anticipated, according to a member of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad operating staff here. J. L. Lancaster, receiver of the Texas & Pacific railroad, announced an effort would be made to maintain both passenger and freight service.

The railroads in this territory affected by the walkout include the Katy, Texas & Pacific, Santa Fe, Fort Worth & Denver City, Rock Island, Orient and International and Great Northern.

Slayers of Wilson Arraigned In Court

By Associated Press.

LONDON, July 1.—James Connolly and James O'Brien, charged with the murder of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, were again arraigned in the Westminster police court today.

According to the police, Connolly said his correct name was Reginald Dunn, an ex-soldier, aged 24 years. O'Brien said his correct name was Joseph O'Sullivan, also an ex-soldier of the same age. They were committed for trial at the old Bailey.

Walk-Out Fails to Halt Operation of Nation's Rail Systems

Strikers Sing and Cheer Country Over as Tools and Work Clothes Are Discarded; Little Violence Is Reported From Any Labor Centers Following Morning Exodus

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 1.—With the country-wide strike of shopmen declared by union leaders practically one hundred per cent perfect, the nation's great transportation machine continued its work without interruption.

Railway executives were unanimous in their belief that the strike would have little effect on the opration of that the strike would have little effect on the operation of their roads and asserted that any move toward a settlement Board or the employes.

B. M. Jewell, president of the railway department of the American department of labor, who yesterday refused to appear at a federal inquiry into the strike call, reiterated that the only basis for a settlement was for the roads to agree not to put into effect wage decreases recently ordered for the shopmen by the labor board.

Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, declared in a formal statement that the power of the government coupled with public sentiment will give every protection to every railway employe who remains on the job and to all new men who take the places of the strikers in the present walkout.

The walkout began in all sections of the country promptly at 10 a. m. and in many places took on the aspect of a holiday, the men singing and cheering as they threw down their tools. As reports came into union headquarters during the day, leaders asserted that the ranks of the strikers would number more than three-quarters of the 400,000 membership before night.

Senator Slammed

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—William Sacks, local banker and reputed wealthy oil operator, opened his campaign here today for the republican nomination for the United States senate with a severe criticism of United States Senator Selden P. Spencer of Missouri, whom he termed the "national joke in Washington as well as in St. Louis," in referring to the senator's activity on behalf of Nat Goldstein and during the Newberry election contest in the senate.

Steamer Threatened

By Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 1.—Forty-five men, women and children were taken from the ferry steamer General Lincoln in the Chesapeake Bay late this afternoon when the steamer buffeted by a sudden squall, lost her paddle house, part of a bulkhead and was taking water in her holds. No lives were lost.

First National Bank Increases Capitalization to Even Million

Declaring a 25 per cent stock dividend with a 4 per cent cash dividend the First National bank has increased its capitalization to an even million dollars, according to an announcement by W. M. McGregor, president, Saturday. The capitalization has been at $800,000 for the past two years.

In announcing the action of the bank's stockholders, Mr. McGregor pointed to the entirely satisfactory business and financial conditions here—"far more satisfactory than the most optimistic could have anticipated six months ago," he declared.

In fact there is more money in the local banks than the bankers desire at this time of the year, Mr. McGregor pointed out, but declared that the policy pursued is to handle only such liquid paper that will be easily convertible into cash and can not be classed as slow and frozen loans.

"While banks here are not enjoying as large deposits as they did during the wilder part of the boom days," Mr. McGregor said in this connection, "the statement of the First National bank at the close of business June 20., which reflects a general condition in the community, shows that the money on hand per capita in Wichita Falls will compare favorably with that in any section of the state."

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

center of activities transfered to Podunk, Arizona, or the town of Hardscrabble away down here in Texas.

Why kill the goose that laid the golden egg? Why damn the system that saved the country from disaster in war time and made it possible for the country to slowly but surely return to normalcy in peace time?

WILLIAM GIBBS McADOO HAD a vast deal to do with the work of hammering the federal reserve act into shape before the bill was enacted into law by a democratic congress and then given sweeping approval by a democratic president. There are thousands of American, thousands of Texans the writer should say, who think when they read. It is to be regretted that there are thousands of Texans who do not think when they read or they would not listen to the ravings of demagogues or the diatribes of politicians who are seeking votes and do not appear to care a tinker's curse how they go about it to get votes.

This is the only nation on earth today blessed with a financial system that means something to the American people. An American dollar is worth a hundred cents. An American war bond is worth a hundred cents and a premium. Of course conditions are not what they should be. There was a republican congress elected four years ago. There was a republican president elected two years ago. For four years a republican congress has blundered along, blundered blindly and supinely with never a pledge made to the American people redeemed by these republican congressional law makers.

IN 1918 THE AMERICAN VOTER decided to change his congregational doctor. He swapped a democratic doctor for a republican doctor with instructions to do something for the patient. The patient, in this instance, the American people.

His new doctor failing to give any relief the American voter decided to substitute a republican presidential doctor for his democratic presidential doctor and this happened in November 1920.

As a matter of fact the patient has been sick all the time regardless of the changes in doctors but the federal reserve bank is not responsible if the new doctors placed in power by the American voter have been feeding the patient quack nostrums.

MOST OF THE PEOPLE ADMIT that the republican congressional doctor is a quack and has been prescribing quack medicines. A majority of the people believe that President Harding has walked in the easiest road and will continue to go the easiest way.

There is a presidential election coming two years hence. If the republican congressional doctor and the republican presidential doctor do as little for their patients, poor little Mr. People, in the coming two years as they have in the past two then the American voter may change with alacrity and William Gibbs McAdoo may be and perhaps will be the democratic presidential doctor after March 4, 1923.

MCADOO ISN'T A QUACK. HE doesn't prescribe quack nostrums.

He has vision, ability, a conscience, initiative, courage and understanding. Above all he has sincerity of purpose, and he never goes the easiest way if there is real work to be done, barriers to be surmounted and crisis to be dissipated for the good of the people and the glory of country and flag.

These are surface signs.

McAdoo's face is beginning to show itself in the American sun.

COLONEL A. BRUCE BIELASKI escaped from his friends the Mexican bandits without paying a ransom. What happened to Manuel, the attorney for the boss gamblers just across the California border line? Did Manuel escape without the payment of a ransom? If not, why not?

when he thought Jacks was going to strike him with the crank of his car.

At an examining trial before Justice W. B. Stinson, Mr. Smith was released on $10,000 bond. Testimony at the hearing indicated that the dead man, with H. G. Pierson, another service car driver, had driven up in front of a rooming house operated by Mr. Smith, and that the latter had come out to the car to talk. Pierson said that when he found the two men wanted to talk confidentially he left them and went to town. It was shortly after this that four shots were fired into the body of Oliver Jacks.

Two shots entered his right breast, one his heart and another entered his cheek, which is said to have been powder burned. Neighbors sitting on their front porches testified they did not hear the men talking loud or quarreling. Mr. Jacks was at the front of his car when shot, it is said. A 38 calibre Lueger automatic pistol is said to have been the weapon used.

Oliver Jacks is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jacks of 305 Lamar street, this city, and by three brothers and one sister. He had lived in Wichita Falls at intervals for about three years and was well known here, it is said.

THANKS FOR THE FAVOR ANYHOW

By Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, July 1.—Gracefully admitting that he found himself in the wrong room, begging her pardon and retiring at once, an early morning burglar took with him four diamond rings valued at $2,500, the property of Mrs. W. B. Railey, guest at a local hotel, she reported to police today. The burglar entered her room without pausing to look at the bed in which she was lying, Mrs. Railey said. When she addressed him he said "I beg your pardon. It is my error—I'm in the wrong room."

The rings, which had been on a dressing table, were gone.

by one, practically all the operators present rose to support Mr. Taylor's motion.

It was said that support was evinced for district settlements by the entire delegation of employers. President Harding, in addressing the conference, said:

"Gentlemen of the coal industry:

"I asked you to meet me here this morning, with the thought that in bringing you together I might be serving both the mine workers and the mine operators of the United States and at the same time serve the great American public to which both you and I am obligated. I hold no specific authority under which to admonish you, but I do have the right to invite your immediate attention to a situation which deeply concerns the country, the solution of which you collectively owe to the American people.

Responsible for Fuel

"You who are here today represent a large sponsorship for America's supply of fuel. In that sponsorship you have an indissoluble relationship to the commonwealth of America * * * conflicting views as to your obligations to one another in no wise modify your obligations to that public which made possible your industrial existence.

"It is not for me to touch upon the merits of your opposing positions. I have not called you as a partisan of the mine worker or the employer. I do no mean even to discuss a single phase of controverted questions. The main point is to bring you together * * * to have you frankly an fairly consider your problems in their relation to the welfare of our common country.

"No industry is soundly based, no American activity can be held secure where employment is compensated on a base of half time or two thirds of the normal, natural, work period of an American wage earner.

Freedom Must Be Established

"Labor has the right, capital has the right, and, above all else, the American public has the right to be freed from these recurring anxieties, no matter what the causes are. That freedom must be established.

"The government has no desire to intrude itself into the field of your activities."

note of the radical who would prefers to destroy our social system, no time for the extremists who think the period opportune to break down organized labor. The government has no ear for either of them, but would gladly lend its co-operation in curbing the extremes of both. More, the government gladly tenders you its good offices, in striving for righteous solution. It has no desire to participate in a merely temporary makeshift. For the good of the people the government craves a way to find permanent stability, tranquility, and ample periods of employment at just wages, freedom for workers and righteous freedom for management.

Executive Sessions.

"Let me remind you that toleration, fairness, the spirit of give and take and finally a sense of the larger obligations to the public are essential to the successful conferences. And I commend to you executive sessions and assume full responsibility for such a recommendation, even as I assume the safeguarding of the public interest, in asking you to come together.

"I thank you all alike for your response to my invitation, and I express the hope that in the realization of your responsibilities and in an appraisal of your obligations, in the face to face, man to man and citizen to citizen contact, you will find a way to a just concord in which the American public may gladly acclaim."

CAKE FOR BRIDE

Nothing will be overlooked for the couple to be married under the big top Wednesday evening. The Shrine production committee will furnish the license, ring and preacher. They will also give the couple a beautiful silver set. All the merchants will want a hand in the dough and each will likely donate something. The Tenth Street Bakery phoned the recorder's office Saturday that they were making the wedding cake. The wedding will be a full fledged affair, with even the cake furnished.

STEEL CARS ON TRADE TRIP

Observation Coach Also Included

The special chamber of commerce trade trip train that will make the Gainesville, Bridgeport and Breckenridge terrory July 10, 11 and 12, will be one of the best equipped trains that ever went out of Wichita Falls for the same purpose, according to information at the chamber of commerce Saturday. The coaches will be all steel and there will be an observation car.

The committee in charge of the road trip will sign up the additional space Monday. By Monday afternoon it is said that the 125 trippers are expected to be signed up and every detail will then be in readiness.

CHAUNCEY—

Caldwell of Mathis & Caldwell, will probably be suggested to the council as a successor to Judge Chauncey's post.

Will Take Son to Coast

The police court magistrate's resignation contained the statement that "the doctors have advised me that my son should be taken to the Pacific coast for his health." Judge Chauncey's son has been ill for more than a year, this being the reason ascribed for sis resignation.

The letter of resignation contained high praise for E. H. Gipson's work as city prosecutor, and pointed out that he has been largely instrumental in much of the cleaning up that has been done here.

Mr. Chauncey will depart at once for the coast, he said yesterday. His letter addressed to the city council, and signed by himself, follows:

To Leave Immediately

"The doctors have advised that I take my son, who has been sick for more than a year, to the Pacific coast for the summer. I shall leave immediately and will likely be away until the middle of September and, therefore, I tender my resignation as Judge of the corporate court, this city.

"In resigning from this position I wish to commend the manner in which Police Commissioner Fitts has handled the police force and the splendid work which he has done. You have a splendid police force and men who believe in enforcing the law.

Praises Chief

"Your chief of police, Mr. McCormick, is the best officer it has been my privilege to work with and I have worked with many in other towns. Mr. McCormick believes in enforcing the law and he has the courage of his convictions.

"Your city prosecutor, Mr. Gipson, is doing a wonderful work and is getting great results. He is doing this work at a sacrifice to himself and I feel sure that the citizenship of this city does appreciate his services.

"If the citizens of this city will continue to give the officers the encouragement that they have given them in the last two months, crime will be at a minimum and we will have one of the cleanest cities of the state, morally, as well as otherwise."

Another Pretty Car

The Cline Oil company's automobile simulated a huge basket of American beauty roses, the red of the flowers showing in striking contrast to the white of the basket, frame which covered the big seven passenger car. The design and decoration was the work of the feminine members of the Cline Oil company office, Miss Jo Grace Payne and Miss Lucile Piper, with the assistance of Miss Lillian Hall. The decorators accompanied by several friends, all in white frocks, made an attractive "bouquet" for the basket.

Honorable Mention.

There were a number of other attractive floats and decorated automobiles in the parade. Among those mentioned by the judges as deserving honorable mention were the North Side Civic league, the Y. W. C. A. cafetria float, the Texhoma Oil & Refining truck, which carried a load of pretty girls, and the banner "Use Texhoma Gasoline and Get Girls Like These To Ride With You," the Winston Department store float, and the Knights of Columbus car.

Another exceedingly attractive section of the parade was that formed by the prize winners from Fred Weeks' "Speedway Stables."

Mr. Weeks, accompanied by his small daughter, Katherine, drove a team of horses, and Jake Avis and Miss Gretchen Avis rode two others of the fine thoroughbreds.

Clever, original and timely was the automobile entered by the W. S. Radio Supply company, which carried a real radio set, aerials, receivers and all, properly hooked up.

Many other firms and individuals had attractive, timely and striking entries in the parade. Appreciation for the co-operation of the citizens of Wichita Falls in the parade, making for its success was expressed by the committee, through its chairman, C. U. Daniels.

BUSINESS MEN BALLYHOO FOR CIRCUS.

Step right up ladies and gentlemen to see Lucile, the marvelous, the fascinating Lucile. Only a dime, ten cents, to see Lucile! Right this way to get a handsome beaded bag—pick the lucky number, only a dime! This way for the big show! Just starting!

A regular bedlam of hoarse and raucous voices, which on inspection were found to belong to individuals prominent in the local business and professional world fought for the attention and interest of the crowd which, in spite of Saturday evening's rain, stormed the Shrine circus near the baseball park on its opening night, and established the event as a sure success on the start from point of attendance.

The crowd was a thoroughly interested and an animated one from the time that they paid their dime to Abe Marcus at the entrance booth and passing under the arch gave their chance at the automobile into the keeping of Doctor Fletcher, until they took their last fling at Pres Lea's silverware emporium and purchased a hot dog from Ed Mann on their way out.

Lucile and the other liberally patronized side shows was not by any means the only attraction on those grounds—Morris Marcus, Eddie Perdue and Norris Ewing to the contrary notwithstanding—nor was the big top under which professionals dispensed big time vaudeville of an excellence which defied the utmost descriptive power which Dan Daniels and Alf Miller could master. Not by any means! For their was a double line of booths in each of which hung a spinning wheel which decided whose was the lucky number which gave the choice of the whole tempting assortment of wares displayed therein. Here were the beautiful beaded bags, of which three were carried away during the evening—two of them, incidentally by members of the Record News family. There was an assortment of silverware which ran up to a really worthwhile mantel clock or a chest of silver—yonder an assortment which included an electric fan, or an iron—here an assortment of groceries—a basket of fruit, candy, or an ornamental lamp. Elsewhere was a booth which drew the kiddies' eyes—teddy bears with little flashlights for eyes. Here many a father paused to consume much time and several shekels to satisfy the demands of youngsters in the family.

Nor were the wheels very stingy, for many a capital prize was borne home by the crowds which thronged the front of each booth—thronged was what they did from the time the grounds were thrown open until everyone went home at night, and many a church deacon whose only knowledge of roulette had been gained from passing reference of a condemnation in a Sunday sermon, gazed on eagerly while the wheel flirted with the number on which his dime was planted—only to play a hunch again if fortune passed him by.

Who Says "African Golf" Isn't a Paying Proposition?

By Associated Press.

MOUNT HOLY, N. J., July 1.—A wrist well trained in the subtle dexterities of "African golf" today brought the first installment of a rich reward to Sergeant Gustave Reisig of the quartermaster corps, U. S. A., at Camp Dix, when he received a $33,000 check.

This represents the first payment on oil royalties from Oklahoma land won by the veteran sergeant in a crap game five years ago. The source of the fortune, whose name is now unknown to the new man of wealth, had succumbed to a long series of "naturals" leaving him with little more than a desperate hope and a deed to a few acres of Oklahoma land which he considered worthless.

"Shoot you for that," he offered.

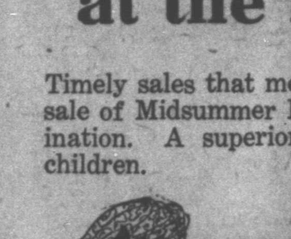

"You're on," replied the sergeant, and he coaxed forth another "natural" and pocketed the deed.

A few weeks ago, he said as he boarded a train today for his home in Springfied, Ohio, he obtained financial backing for an oil probe of the property. Wells were sunk and gushers resulted. There also resulted a contract which will pay Reisig 33 cents on every barrel of oil from the property.

Reisig has been in the army 29 years. He is 45 years old.

WICHITA LIONS GO TO VERNON

Dr. Booth Presents Charter to Club

Special to the Record News.

VERNON, July 1.—The presentation of a charter to the Vernon Lions club by District Governor Booth of Beaumont, and the entertainment of a visiting delegation from the Wichita Falls club featured a banquet and ladies night program at the Vernon hotel last night. Throughout the week the local committee was busy making plans and arranging a program to impress the district governor with the fact that Vernon has a live organization.

Dr. L. D. Parnell headed the Wichita Falls delegation to Vernon. It was brought out at the meeting that the local club will be expected to act with Wichita Falls in the organization of new clubs in the surrounding towns.

FORTUNE SMILES ON CALIFORNIA WOMEN

(By International News Service.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 1.—Two Southern California women were prepared today to move into the sunniest spot available on Easy street as a result of capricious fortune's golden smiles.

From a salary of $18 a week as an employe in the laundry of a local hotel to an income of $100 a day and the title of an "Oil Queen," is the rapid rise of Nina Smythe. Until a short time ago, Miss Smythe labored in the hotel laundry. She saved her money and with her brother invested in five acres of land, where they intended to plant a garden and make their home. Then came the oil man who leased their property, drilled the well and skyrocketed the fortune.

The other woman on whom fortune has smiled is Mrs. Elva Beers, 21, until recently a waitress in a La Habra restaurant. She was born near Santa Fe Springs in nothing more than a shack, but oil experts believe "black gold" runs beneath the shack and she was paid $15,000 outright and promised a one-sixth interest in the production of oil if found.

RUINED ROMAN CITY SEEN BY WORKMEN

(By International News Service)

PARIS, July 1.—Glimpses of a Roman city, buried far under ground, but in many details perfectly preserved—tombs, sculptures, columns, and entire buildings—were caught by workmen rebuilding the fallen city of Amiens.

Scientists and students, their attention called, drew warm with enthusiasm.

"You must excavate further!" they cried.

But orders were to build concrete foundations for houses directly over the mysterious city. And the prospective tenants, roofless since the war, were impatient for homes. The scientists' final plea to have this foundation removed has been filed with the minister of fine arts.

VETERANS INSIST THAT HUNS PAY

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, July 1.—Delegates representing 900,000 war veterans of the Union Nationale, meeting in Strasbourg, passed four resolution regarding French foreign policy:

1. That Germany be compelled without further delay, to execute to the letter all treaties and conventions.
2. That France should enforce these provisions either in accord with her allies or alone.
3. That to this end France should take necessary measures to assure in the present and in the future the payment of reparations owed by Germany byb submitting to a serious control those conditions which alone constitute a guarantee of peace.
4. That any reduction in the debt owed to France must not be consented to.

WYOMING MENACED WITH MICE PLAGUE

(By International News Service.)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 1.—Cheyenne housewives have begun to feel the pinch of the coal strike. Supplies of a favorite Wyoming coal have been depleted and fuel dealers are not encouraging about future shipments. The kind available now gives only a slow, dull fire with quantities of ashes. As a result father finds himself dining on delicatessen dainties much too frequently.

OIL PRODUCTION TAX ALMOST DOUBLED

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, July 1.—Gross receipts taxes amounting to $1,103,727 were collected by the state during the quarter ending June 30, according to records of the comptroller department. Collections for the first quarter of 1922 amounted to $985,904.

The principal item of this tax collection was the 1½ per cent gross production oil tax, which brought in $847,952 of the above sum, as compared with $378,808 for the first quarter of the year.

Principal items of the taxes in addition to the oil production, were: From water, light and power companies, $20,499; from the Pullman company, $17,714; railway companies, $16,550; oil dealers, $11,031; regulating pipe line companies, $28,183; telephone companies, $60,053.

W. T. DRAKE APPEALS CASE FROM WICHITA

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, July 1.—Appeal from the conviction for murder and 25-year penitentiary sentence against Roy Bennett, Camp county, was filed in the criminal appeals court. Other appeals: Wiley Sherman, Smith county, permitting gambling, fine of $75; Dewald Newsom, Bosque county, assault to murder, two years; W. T. Drake, Wichita county, aggravated assault, $250 and six months in jail; Wesley Cramer, Brazos, manufacturing liquor, two years; W. H. Davenport, Hardin county, carrying pistol, 30 days in jail; Tim Phillips, Shelby, selling liquor, one year.

URGES FOREIGN BORN TO BECOME CITIZENS

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, July 1.—The Texas congress of mothers, Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, the state president, announced, has asked that foreign born citizens be welcomed as a Fourth of July manifestation of patriotism, and that in cases where foreign born have already taken out first papers, that they receive full citizenship on that date. Those who have not taken the first steps in becoming citizens are urged to do so on July 4, Mrs. Marrs declared.

FREE PASSES TO OFFICERS DECLARED VALID

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, July 1.—The law granting peace officers a 1-cent per mile rate while on official business does not conflict with the privilege of certain officers named to be furnished free passes for official use, the attorney general ruled in an opinion given Adjutant General T. D. Barton Friday, upholding the right of the adjutant general, assistant adjutant general and ranger quartermaster to hold passes for official use. The opinion was written by C. L. Stone, assistant attorney general.

15 HOLDOVER SOLONS REFUSE TO WORRY

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, July 1.—The 15 holdover state senators, whose remaining two-year terms would be ended if the attack on the senate redistricting bill now before the supreme court were to succeed, are not worried at all, according to Senator H. L. Darwin of Paris, here Friday.

An opinion was given the holdover senators, it was stated, by Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the supreme court, while Judge Cureton was attorney general, that the postponement clause making the measure effective in 1924, was constitutional.

Youths On Camp

VERNON, July 1—Seventy bright, redcheeked maidens, ranging in age from little tots of 9 years to lasses in their teens, broke camp here today after a three days' outing in Allingham park under the supervision of the county home demonstration department.

BANDSTAND TURNED OVER TO CITIZENS

Special to the Record News.

HENRIETTA, July 1.—Several hundred people were present Thursday evening when the new bandstand was formally presented to the citizens of Clay county and the Henrietta band. The band played several selections, after which Rev. Guy P. Jones led in prayer, then Judge R. H. Loftin made the presentation speech and J. S. Dickey the speech of acceptance. The bandstand is situated on the southeast corner of the courthouse lawn and is constructed of pressed brick and concrete. The band plans to have a concert on Saturday evenings during the summer months.

HEALER PRAYS FOR 900 HERE

Many Testify to His Work

Rev. Raymond Richey completed 900 cases of praying for the afflicted at Saturday night's meeting.

Of the 900 for whom he prayed a vast majority have been healed, according to testimony that has been brought out. Person after person stood up at the meeting Saturday night and testified that they had been healed. Some had been taken from rolling chairs and even some from beds and healed to the extent that they were present at the meeting unassisted and stood to give their testimony and praises to their God.

One of the most marvelous cases of healing effected by the evangelist was at the afternoon meeting Saturday when a man 30 years old who is said to have been dumb from birth, blind in one eye and deaf in one ear was given back his voice in the presence of the entire assembly.

At the morning meeting for children a boy of 12 years who had lost his speech eight years ago was prayed for by the healer with the result that he regained his speech and was present at the afternoon meeting to make a statement.

C. A. Satterwhite of Burkburnett, who only a few days ago suffered a stroke of paralysis when he was driving a team to a wagon, was given back the use of his limbs after the prayers of the healer Saturday night. His complete recovery was not effected at once but he was materially improved and walked across the stage twice unaided.

Taking as his subject "If I be lifted up I will draw all men unto me," the Rev. Richey preached one of his most powerful sermons at the meeting Saturday night. As the result of his sermon many people confessed repentance of their sins and asked to be prayed for.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning Rev. Richey will hold a meeting in the Wichita theater for the negroes. He will do healing at the meeting and expects a large attendance from among the colored population.

ILLINOUS TREASURER GETS ODD REQUEST

(By International News Service)

MARION, Ill., July 1.—County Treasurer Edward M. Heaton is a most accommodating person and will do anything within the bounds of reason for the public, but he wants it clearly understood that he is no mind reader.

The reason for Heaton's announcement is the following letter from a non-resident Marion property owner—a woman, by the way:

"I own a lot in Marion, on the east side, I think. Anyway it is in the direction of the I. C. depot, in a relatively new addition. Will you please send me a statement of the amount of tax on this lot, as I wish to pay it now."

Despite his professed lack of clairvoyance power Heaton succeeded in locating the lot.

PASTOR TELLS OF BEING HEALED

He Prayed and His Plea Was Answered

Dear Editor: Since the arrival in the city of the Richey evangelistic party quite an interest is being manifested in the subject of "divine healing." Recent articles in the papers show the attitude of different people to this wonderful subject.

I feel that it would not be out of place to make a few remarks at this time. Divine healing is not "something new," as many affirm. And it is surprising that ministers and men who are supposed to know their bibles should take the place of the cynic and criticize the man or men who dare to take Jesus Christ at His word.

If the gospel of free grace and pardon for sins hinges on the "whosoever" of John 3:16, and that "whosoever" means anyone and everyone in any time, place or age. Then the healing of the body is included in the "whatsoever" of John 14:13. For the one is as broad as the other. If we cannot limit the "whosoever" of John 3:16, neither can we limit the "whatsoever" of John 14:13. And if "whosoever" means any and everybody, "whatsoever" means any and everything, as the next verse indicates, verse 14.

One critic has suggested (according to the papers) that the present-day manifestation of gospel healing is the work of evil spirits that have possessed the one practicing divine healing. Which argument goes to prove a recent statement of Mr. Richey, namely, that the "human heart has never changed." For this was the argument of the Pharisees in the days of the Christ. Christ had just performed a miracle—caused one blind and dumb to speak and hear. "But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, 'This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of devils.'"—Matthew 12:22-24. But please take note of the answer made by the Christ. Mark makes His answer a little clearer for us, so we quote His answer to the Pharisees from that writer, "How can satan cast out satan? . . . And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand, but hath and end. And if satan rise up against himself . . . . he cannot stand . . . ."—Mark 3:22.

The best proof of the existence of an apple tree is the apple. One might write page after page in a scholarly way to prove the non-existence of the apple tree. But one look at an apple, no matter how imperfect it might be, would forever disprove the argument. And despite the ministerial criticisms the Richey revival is holding up the "apple."

"The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof," is an adage true as life. And the writer has eaten several "helpings" of the "pudding," and can say that "the days of miracles are not past," notwithstanding arguments to the contrary.

A few years ago I was troubled with an affliction of the left lung and suffered excruciating pain. I could hardly go on with my work (I was then in evangelistic work), and after having suffered agony for several months—from May until November of that year—I decided to go off the field until I was better. But I grew no better, but rather grew worse. Some nights I tossed about in pain upon my bed until the dawn of day.

In this condition I received a call to a small town to hold evangelistic meetings. Realizing that I was not able to do the work in the condition that I was in, and yet feeling that I should go on with the work, I knelt before God and prayed a simple prayer: "Lord, You see that I am not able to carry on this work in my present condition. I ask You in Christ's name to heal this affliction and give us a revival in this place, Amen."

Instantly there came into my left shoulder a warm soothing sensation which moved into the affected parts and then passed away. But my months of suffering were at an end. From that day to this I have never suffered any ill effects from it. That has now been some six years. Does the apple prove the existence of the apple tree? Yes. Then the "days of miracles have not passed."

In the realm of the human mind, "Seeing is believing," but in the realm of faith, "Believing is seeing."—Mark 11:24.

Again we will say that the gospel of healing is not new. It is as old as hoary time, and the hope our deliverance from sickness and disease is as "bright as the promises of God." It has simply been forgotten and has become hidden beneath the debris of ages. But God, who has said, "My word shall never pass away," is raising up men who will believe Him and is thereby proving that the "days of His miracles" are not past.

How Far Does a "Cop" Walk? Reporter Still Doesn't Know

How far does a member of the present police force have to walk in the course of his 12-hour shift?

A reporter of The Record News started out Saturday afternoon to find the answer to this question.

Journeying 32 blocks wound around the business district, traversing Tenth, Ninth, Eighth, Seventh, Scott, Indiana, Ohio and to the Union station, searching all the while for a "cop," the reporter wended his way.

After the first round, a brief rest afforded "room for thought." Reaching a conclusion that perhaps the route had been parallel with that of the officers, the reporter started out in reverse order. Every block gone over on the first trip was walked in the opposite direction, yet still not a "cop" could be found.

Inquiries directed at "corner warmers" gleaned the information that one had been seen on a certain prominent corner shortly before noon, but that was some two hours previous to the interrogation.

Doubtless the officers were on duty in the section searched. Perhaps they were occupied with duties which carried them to out-of-the-way places not visited, but at least they did not frequent the busy corners.

The reporter is still wondering how far a "cop" walks in the course of a day's duty.

FASHIONS

Distinctly smart and rather striking is the frock shown in the sketch, made of white crepe dechine or canton crepe and trimmed with appliqued motifs of black taffeta on skirt and belt. The dress is a slipover, with side panels a trifle longer than the skirt proper, and a vestee and cuffs of crisp white organdy finish it. Detachable collar and cuffs give the dress a particularly dainty look. A narrw black ribbon tie holds the collar.

This dress has an elastic at the waist so it may be slipped easily over the head. The use of the elastic belt also makes it possible for a woman to dajust the placing of the waist line to suit her own fancy. If she likes the low waist line the frock may be drawn down accordingly. If the normal waist line meets her fancy the dress is easily adjusted, and if she likes the frock to blouse a trifle, all she needs to do is draw it up on her figure so that a bloused effect is possible.

One of the best known American style authocities recently declared, when asked about the waist line for fall and winter of 1922-23, that nearly all frocks would have elastic run in so that the individual woman could determine the all important question of where her waist line should be, according to her own fancy and her figure. Generally speaking, there is a trend towards the normal waist line, but women have long declined to submit to iron clad style rules and the chances are no one style will predominate.

Incidentally, for street frocks of the tailored type and for suits and wraps, a vogue for arther striking plaids is predicted. Vividly striped wool fabrics are also being featured, especially in motor and sports coats.

HER IMAGINARY SISTERS

Little Ethel was an only child, and one day, when the minister called, she was told to entertain him in the parlor until her mother could see him.

A few minutes later the mother, on her way down stairs, heard the visitor ask Ethel how many brothers and sisters she had, and, to her surprise and consternation, the little miss answered, "Seven."

Although somewhat perturbed, the mother made no comment upon the remark of her little daughter, but sent her out to play.

After the minister had left, the child was taken to task and asked why she had said there were seven children. Ethel replied:

"Because I didn't want that strange gentleman to know that you were so poor that you didn't have but one child."

A resolution setting forth the klan's stand has been sent to the imperial council and is said to have drawn a denial from William J. Simons, imperial wizard, that he has been "shipped or shelved."

The resolution is said to have originated by the Chattanooga, Tenn., klan and is reported to have been read in the meeting there attended by representatives of other klans in the state and is declared to "shake the very foundations of the order."

WIDOWS GAINING GROUND IN WEST

(By International News Service.)

SACRAMENTO, July 1.—Widows and grass-widows are rapidly gaining ground on the single girls of California in the race to the marriage altar, according to statistics made public today by L. E. Ross, chief of the state bureau of vitay statistics of the board of health.

Of pecial significance is the fact that divorcees are far outdistancing their widowed rivals and are steadily creeping up on the single contenders in the marriage mart.

During the last two years 75 per cent of all persons marrying were single; 11.5 per cent were widowed and 13.5 per cent were divorced. Fifteen years ago the percentage of single was 85, widowed 9 and divorced 6. Remarriage by divorcees has made rapid, consistant gains year after year, Ross' report states.

New Firm Claims Bugless Water Now

"Atomized" water is a product of one of Wichita's latest enterprises.

The White Diamond Electrified Water company, 705 Ohio avenue, is the new industry.

H. W. Diggs, in explaining the system used, said the machinery used in the "jump spark" process was the most modern and efficient, according to chemists and state health officers.

The machine is called an electrical oxidizer. All the impurities are separated from the water and at the same time, oxygen is put back into it.

The breaking system separates every atom and molecule of water. By so doing, the animal, vegetable and impure matter is freely floated to the bottom of the tanks where it is removed, a process not accomplished with any other machine.

The electricity not only kills and destroys all animal and vegetable life, but removes the particles from the substance itself.

Samples of the water have been analyzed in the health laboratory and the reported bacteriological count is reduced to practically zero.

The company invites inspection and offers demonstrations to all visitors of the methods employed.

Most singers don't like violets, for the perfume from that little flower is said by some to cause huskiness and sore throats.

KANRED WHEAT YIELDING MORE PER ACRE THRU THIS SECTION

Many Farmers in Wichita County Planning To Plant More of This Variety Next Year, According to County Agent W. M. Oates

BY R. WILLIAM ARCHER

Kanred wheat may usurp the field in the panhandle over all other classes.

The new wheat, which is older to many sections than it is to this section, has practically already usurped the field along the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, according to W. M. Oates, agricultural agent, and, according to County Agent Jones, has taken a strong hold in many other territories in this belt, especially in Wichita county.

The county agent says that many farmers in Wichita county are planning to plant Kanred wheat exclusively next season, because they have found it to be so healthy and so adapted to this climate.

Statistics gathered by both Mr. Oates and Mr. Jones go to show that a better yield of wheat is being obtained from the Kanred crops than from any other variety.

In speaking of Kanred wheat, which he has examined along the Fort Worth & Denver route, Mr. Oates predicted Saturday that Kanred will be the leading crop next year. "Let's watch it grow," he said.

The present high opinion of Kanred, Mr. Oates says, is based upon the expectation of a higher yield from that variety than from any other. Speaking of his discoveries along the Fort Worth & Denver, he had the following to say yesterday.

"Wheat growers along the Denver road are well pleased with their Kanred wheat. For many of them this is their first crop of Kanred. However, there are one or two men at Oklaunion and a few at Claude and Amarillo who grew Kanred last year.

"From Seymour to Amarillo there are many farmers who are so well pleased with Kanred that they say they are going to plant their entire crop to Kanred this fall. Most of those who are so positive about the superiority of Kanred are those who have Kanred and some other variety planted side by side and on land of the same quality and prepared in the same way and at the same time.

"The present high opinion regarding Kanred is based upon the expectation of a higher yield than is expected from their other wheat. Furthermore the growers have noticed that some of the more hardy habits of Kanred are much in evidence this year. J. F. Johnson of Iowa Park had 40 acres of Mediterranean and 60 acres of Kanred prepared and seeded in the same manner. The Mediterranean rusted so badly that Mr. Johnson decided it was not worth cutting. The Kanred, right beside it, showed wonderful rust resistance although it rusted to some extent. It was fairly good and was all harvested.

"S. Z. Bailey of Chillicothe says his Miracle wheat rusted badly, but his Kanred did not rust. Obe Wall of Medicine Mound says his Miracle rusted badly but his Kanred did not rust. Kanred is considered rust resistant and the growers have noticed evidence of this resistance this year. Growers must not get the idea, however that Kanred is rust proof. It is just more resistant to rust, but not rust proof.

"Frank Bishop of Claude has 120 acres of Kanred, but lost 440 acres of Turkey Red prepared at the same time and manner and seeded at the same time. This is a bit of proof regarding the claim that Kanred withstands winter killing and drought better than other varieties. Other growers, too, have noticed that Kanred has more resistance, particularly to drought.

"Logan H. Creager of Oklaunion seeded 115 acres with 50 bushels of Kanred. This was thinner seeding than he intended, but the wheat stooled out so well and was so hardy that it came through in good shape and Mr. Creager expects this field to yield 25 bushels per acre. Heavy stooling is another characteristic of Kanred.

"A. B. Cron, superintendent of the experiment station at Chillicothe, [illegible] has made an average of three bushels more per acre [illegible] varieties for three years on the experiment station farm. Kanred is generally known to out yield other varieties about four bushels per acre.

"H. M. King, elevator man at Oklaunion, says last year Kanred outtested other varieties.

"I have visited every Kanred wheat grower it was possible to find between Seymour and Amarillo and have gotten the facts from the growers. The growers have all promised to report to me a little later the yields per acre. I am still of the same opinion as last year about the southern limit for Kanred. Wilbarger county seem to be as far south as it is entirely safe to expect Kanred to be generally superior to other varieties. Mr. Frank Kell of Wichita Falls told me yesterday that he believes Kanred is alright in Denver road territory from Oklaunion north. He believes that Mediterranean and Fulcaster are better suited to Wichita, Baylor and other counties near to Wichita Falls, both in Texas and Oklahoma.

"It might be suggested here that wheat growers in Wichita and Baylor counties plant only a part of their crop to Kanred this fall instead of planting the whole crop to Kanred as some have said they were going to do. It's well worth testing in these counties, but it is not altogether a safe best just yet."

Little Stories For Bedtime

A FRIEND IN NEED IS A FRIEND INDEED.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The friendship which is truest, best Is that which meets the trouble test.

No one really knows who his best friends are until he gets in trouble. When everything is lovely and there is no sign of trouble anywhere one may have ever and ever so many friends. At least it may seem so. But let trouble come and all too often these seeming friends disappear as if by magic until only a few, sometimes a very few, are left. These are the real friends, the true friends, and they are worth more than all the others put together. Remember that if you are a true friend to any one you will stand by him and help him, no matter what happens. Sometimes it is almost worth while getting into trouble just to find out who your real friends are.

Peter Rabbit found out who some of his truest friends are when, because of his own carelessness, old Granny Fox caught him. Peter has been in many tight places and had many terrible frights in his life, but never did he feel quite so helpless and hopeless as when he felt the black paws of old Granny Fox pinning him down and Granny's sharp teeth in the loose skin on the back of his neck. All he could do was to kick with all his might, and kicking was quite useless, for Granny took great care to keep out of the way of those stout hind legs of his.

Many, many times Granny Fox had tried to catch Peter, and always before Peter had been too smart for her and had just had made fun of her and laughed at her. Now it was her turn to laugh, and all because he had been careless and foolish. You see, Peter had been so sure that Granny had had such a fright when she ran away from the strange creature that rolled down Prickly Porky's hill at her that she wouldn't think of coming back, and so he had just given himself up to enjoying Granny's fright. With Unc' Billy Possum and Jimmy Skunk he had rolled over and over shouting with laughter, and at last had thrown himself down right close to a low growing hemlock tree without once thinking of danger, a very foolish thing to do as he now knew when it was too late. You see, Granny had quickly gotten over her fright and suspected a trick. So she had crept back and had been hiding under the very tree Peter had so carelessly thrown himself down beside.

At Peter's yell of fright Unc' Billy Possum scampered for the nearest tree and Jimmy Skunk dodged behind a big stump. You see, it was so sudden that they really didn't know what had happened. But Prickly Porky, whom some people call stupid, made no move to run away. He happened to be looking at Peter when Granny caught him, and so he knew just what it meant. A spark of anger flashed in his usually dull eyes, and for once in his life Prickly Porky moved quickly. The thousand little spears hidden in his coat suddenly stood on end, and Prickly Porky made a fierce little rush forward.

"Drop him" he grunted.

Granny Fox just snarled and backed away, dragging Peter with her and keeping him between Prickly Porky and herself.

By this time Jimmy Skunk had recovered himself. You know he is not afraid of anybody or anything. He sprang out from behind the stump, looking a wee bit Lanefaced, and started for old Granny Fox. "You let Peter Rabbit go," he commanded in a very threatening way. Now the reason Jimmy Skunk is afraid of nobody is because he carries with him a little bag of very strong perfume which makes everybody sick but himself. Granny Fox knows all about this. For just a minute she hesitated. Then she thought that if Jimmy used it it would be as bad for Peter as for her, and she didn't believe Jimmy would use it. So she kept on backing away, dragging Peter with her. Then Unc' Billy Possum took a hand, and his was the bravest deed of all, for he knew that Granny was more than a match for him in a fight. He slipped down from the tree where he had sought safety, crept around behind Granny, and bit her sharply on one heel. Granny let go of Peter to turn and snap at Unc' Billy. This was Peter's chance. He slipped out from under Granny's paws, and [illegible] flash was behind Prickly Porky.

FOUR TIE IN CLUB SHOOT

Gotcher Ends With Unbroken Run

The handicap shoot staged by the gun club Friday afternoon saw four gunners turn in perfect scores when their added targets were figured in.

Rhodes, Gotcher, Leslie and Landon turned the trick in the 50-target singles event, while Winston took second place with 49.

The feature of the day's program was the work of Jack Gotcher, who dropped the third target in his first event and finished his string with an unbroken string of 47.

Nabb shot an excellent score in the doubles event, crashing 20 out of a possible 24.

Several of the leading shooters did not come up to their usual marks.

Several new members of the club were present, showing the revival of interest which has marked the progress of the local nimrod's association during the past few months.

In the 50-target event from the 16-yard rise mark the scores were: Rhodes, 50; Gotcher, 50; Landon, 50; Leslie, 50; Winston, 49; L. I. Lyon, 48; Randle, 48; Greenburg, 48; Nabb, 47; H. Lyon, 45; Dempsey, 30; Cooper, 36; Soderland, 35; Rinehart, 35; Brown, 32; Burgin, 22; Kimmell, 22.

Only six contestants shot in the doubles event of 12 pairs. Their marks were: Nabb, 20; Greenburg, 18; Dempsey, 15; H. Lyon, 14; Winston, 11; L. I. Lyon, 10.

The four shooters who tied for the club trophy will shoot off the tie at the next club meeting.

Buffs Cop Final Game of Series as Keene Makes Debut

SPUDDERS DROP LAST GAMF OF FIRST HALF WHEN GHEEN TURNS IN CREDITALE GAME

Victor Keene Joins Spuds; Hit Hard On His First Time Out; Gheen Yields But One Hit After the Fourth Inning; Salmites to Fort Worth to Play Five Games in Four Days

Special to The Record News.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 1.—The Buffs wound out the first half of the season by taking the final and deciding game of the series from Wichita Falls today 7-2. The Spudders were unable to hit Gheen after the fourth inning, while the Buffs pounded Keene and Bowman hard when hits meant runs and piled up a comfortable lead.

Manager Salm rushed his latest addition to the mound today, and for the first four innings he was invincible, yielding up but one hit to the home team. But in the fifth, two solid smashes and three infield hits netted three runs and salted the game away. Keene arrived from Chicago last night and was sent to the hill on his first day with the team. He is one of the hurlers obtained by the Spudders from the Cubs in a trade rumored to include Earl Adams, shortstop of the Wichita club.

Bowman relieved Keene in the seventh and was touched up for two runs in the eighth round.

The Spudders started strong in the first inning and shoved a runner across when Tanner singled and was sent the remaining distance around when Summa doubled to left.

Two errors, two passes and one hit sent the Buffs into the lead in the last half of the inning when Keene got away to a bad start.

The visitors again notted the count in the third when McDonald singled to center, but Summa hit into a double play. Beck was passed for the second time and reached second when Clements fumbled White's roller. Ruth singled to left, filling the bases, and Gheen walked Bischoff, forcing Beck across with the final counter gathered by the Wichita team.

Gheen Settles Down

Gheen was a trifle unsettled in the opening round, but after the fourth when the Spudders connected safely but once, the Buff heaver tightened up and held the visitors in his hand. He did not allow a hit until the ninth, when Summa again singled, filling the bases after a pass and an error had put two men on. Only one hitter had been retired, but Beck fouled out to Doyle and White flied out to left, ending the inning.

The Wichita team leaves tonight for Fort Worth, where they will open the new season tomorrow. Houston will entertain Galveston for four days with a double-header Tuesday.

Managers of both teams have strengthened their lineups for the coming half of the schedule and are ready to start tomorrow.

BABE GETS 3 IN TWO GAMES

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Babe Ruth made three home runs in the Yankee - Philadelphia double-header today, bringing his seasonal total to eleven. The first was made in the first game and the second and third in the fourth and seventh innings respectively of the second game. The third home-run was one of the longest ever seen here. The ball went over the roofs of the houses opposite the ball park.

There were six home-runs in the second game. Besides Ruth's two, Walker made two, giving him a seasonal total of fifteen, Ward and Welch, one each.

GRANEY SIGNED TO BOSS DES MOINES

By Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 1.—Jack Graney, veteran outfielder with the Cleveland American league team, has been signed as manager of the Des Moines, Western league club, to succeed Dick Breen, who resigned yesterday, according to word received here late this afternoon from Secretary Lee Keyser at Omaha, where the club is playing today.

SCRAPPER DRINKS FROM AMMONIA FLASK

By Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., July 1.—Pinkey Mitchell of Milwaukee knocked out Billy Burns of Duluth, Minn., in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here tonight. A right to the solar plexus sent Burns down for the count and he had to be carried from the ring.

Don Allison of Kewanee, Ill., scored a technical knockout over Billy Long of Terre Haute in the seventh round of their scheduled 8-round bout. At the close of the seventh round Long's seconds, by mistake gave him a drink from the ammonia bottle instead of the water bottle and he rolled off the chair in his corner, writhing in pain. He was unable to continue the final round.

SPUDS LIKELY TO REAP BIG PROFITS

Adams, Summa and Bischoff Now Ready

By JOHN NAYLOR

The sale of Adams leaves the Spudders with two of their up and coming stars certain of higher classification next fall still free for trading—these being Summa and Bischoff, who at present top the promising crop on the Spudder roster.

Bischoff has this year added a great deal of improvement as a catcher to his phenomenal slugging ability, while Summa, whose average is climbing to the .400 mark in spite of his participation in every game, continues to dazzle fans all over the circuit by dragging in the hard ones—over, in front or to either side with perfect ease. Add to Summa's fielding and hitting, ability to run bases and throw from any part of his field, and you have a few of the reasons for his being considered far and away the best outer-gardener the Texas league has seen in many seasons. He cost the Spudders, to quote President Harvey "more, perhaps, than a minor league club had any business paying," but again, he is worth any nickel of it, and will bring several times his purchase price before the season is many weeks advanced.

His sale, he is not to be delivered until the close of the present season, represents a nice profit for the local club not only in cash but in players. He cost the local club only $2,500 cash—a price which once would have been a sensation in the Texas league, but it not so many hundreds above the league waiver price any more.

Adams Passed for "Specs."

Dazzled by the early season work of Toporcer, Rickey decided to let Adams go, and was forced to get rid of him as he had been out two years on option, and could not be held under option longer. The Spudder management was at that time after both Reinhart and Adams, but Houston had the first option on them both. Reinhart was purchased by Houston, but George Whiteman had Danny Gross, now pastiming in the T-O league, and who had been purchased from the Spudders during the winter at short, and decided to pass up Adams, who has proved one of the Texas league stars of all time.

It was not a great while until Branch Rickey began wanting Adams back, at a considerable increase in the price for which he parted with him. But his terms sounded like chicken feed to the Spudder management, who passed up the Bill Bailey deal and talked business with Chicago, leaving Houston to take Bill Bailey in part pay for Ray Blades.

Cubs Needs Second Sacker.

However good the price paid for Adams, it could have been bettered no doubt if the Spudders had been willing to turn loose of him immediately for the Cubs are apparently hard up right now in the region of second base. But the Spudder management could not hear this racket, and the contract calls for Adams to finish the present season with the Spuders and any post-season series they may participate in.

Many Spuds for Cats.

Both Weiss and Keene, players involved in the trade with the Cubs, will be present with the Spudders when they invade Fort Worth for a five game go with the Panthers, it became known Thursday with receipt of a wire by President Harvey from officials of the Chicago club. Keene has returned to Chicago and is now on his way South, as is Weiss, who had to return to St. Paul up in the Association for his belongings.

This good news was coupled with the news that both Bescher and Miller would join the club at Fort Worth. Bescher probably to again take his place in the outfield, and Miller at least available for the role as a pinch hitter.

Add to this Jumbo Ramsey, Panther tamer extraordinary, who was recalled from Wichita by Salm, and who has reported here in the pink of condition, and John Paul Jones, ex-Association pitcher who has just joined the club, and it will be seen that Salm will invade the Panther field with all the strength that he needs, and enough to make it entirely possible that another club than the Panthers may claim the first half at the end of the five game series.

MARMON SHOW TO BE PUT ON AT PARK

The chamber of commerce of Iowa Park has extended to the Fritz Motor company of this city a cordial invitation to give their famous Marmon tear-down demonstration before that body at its luncheon Monday. This demonstration has aroused such widespread comment that it is impossible for Mr. Fritz to take care of all the invitation offered by different clubs and institutions. Mr. Fritz has accepted the invitation of the Iowa Park men and will give his demonstration at noon Monday.

EVANS TOYS WITH VON ELM AND GRABS AMATEUR GOLF TITLE FOR SEVENTH TIME

Chicago Champion Shoots Invincible Game And Is Never in Danger of Defeat; Wichita Falls Man Wins Cup Flight From Oklahoma Opponent

By The Associated Press.

HILLCREST, Country Club, Kansas City, July 1.—It's "Chick Evans" again.

The Chicago golfer for the seventh time can write "western amateur champion" after his name, for he toyed with George Von Elm of Salt Lake City in the finals of the western golf tournament on the Hillcrest course today, winning 5 and 4.

At no time was "Chick" in danger from the muchly touted far westerner and most of the spectators seemed to think he could have made the margin larger had he desired. Once he conceded Von Elm a four-foot putt to give him a half on a hole.

Evans turned in a card of 34-35 69 in the morning, four under par against Von Elm's 37-35—70, three over, and held a five-hole advantage while Von Elm occasionally cut this to four holes. Chick kept the contest well in hand and ended it with a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 at the 32nd with the same advantage he had held at the half way point.

Chick's Game Perfect

Chick's golf was the same old perfect Evans game. He sent every ball straight toward the flag, the line of flight generally never varying two feet to either side. His approaches generally stuck near the hole, for his preceding shots had always left him in an advantageous pitching position. Once or twice the stiff wind carried him a little too far, but not often.

Evans' work in the morning round was equal to his splendid game of yesterday when he eliminated Fred Wright of Los Angeles, six and five. He shot well from the start, never taking chances, but evidently playing each stroke with a thought on the next one, for his position work was wonderful. Only once did he get into a trap and that was due to an eccentric kick taken by a straight shot ball.

Driving Wonderful

The driving of the champion was wonderful. While he ordinarily sends the tee shot only about 225 yards, playing for position chiefly Chick today averaged more than 250 yards in his drives.

Von Elm, termed an iceberg by other players and rather aloof during his victorious play in previous days, thawed out in defeat. He smiled over his poor work and chatted with spectators between shots. The 22-year-old holder of the trans-Mississippi and Pacific northwest titles became rather popular in defeat, which he took good naturedly.

Golding Wins

Dudley Golding of Wichita Falls, won the president's cup flight from William Nicholls of Muskoger, Okla., 7 and 6.

EASY VICTORY FOR SPEEDY THIBODAUX

Surprise Colt Romps Home Winner At Latonia

By Associated Press.

LATONIO, Ky., July 1.—Thibodaux, surprise horse of the Kentucky special when he ran second to Whiskaway, and beat the great Morvich, came back today and won the Latonia derby from Yoshimi and Olympus in easy fashion. Withdrawals of Broomster and Margaret Winsor had reduced the field to three starters. The race was run over a distance of a mile and one-half for a purse of $15,000 added money, $2,000 of which went to the second horse and $1,000 to the third.

Olympus was first to show in front when the barrier went up, Thibodaux following and Yoshimi, a slow beginner, trailing. At the half mile Olympus had increased his lead to three lengths and appeared to be running easily. This position he maintained until the horses turned into the back stretch. Here Jockey Earl Pool on Thibodaux shook up his mount and passed the Whitney horse which seemed then to be tiring. Entering the stretch Thibodaux was 10 lengths in the lead. This he maintained until the end, passing the finish line in a common canter, 10 lengths before Yoshimi. The latter moved up, coming into the stretch and at the eighth pole passed the favorite and took the place money by a margin of five lengths.

A $2 mutuel ticket on the winner netted $3.50 to won and $2.40 to place.

Rejuvenated Spuds Look Strong for Final Half of Schedule

GALVESTON AND SAN ANTONIO LOOM UP AS CONTENDERS FOR HONORS IN ROBERT'S CIRCUIT

Wichita Falls Entry Has Received Strength; Owners Secure Needed Hurlers to Go With Hitting; Panthers Likely to Fight Bears and Crabs for Second Place; Dallas Strong

BY "SPIKE" COOPER

Fans around the Texas league circuit are going to see a far faster brand of baseball during the last half of the season than they did in what has just gone before, and is now about to close.

The first half has been a triangular race between the Panthers, Exporters and Spudders. Houston threatened early in the season, but soon disappeared into the darkness when the hurling staff went to pieces. But the second half looks like a race between Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Galveston and Beaumont, with Beaumont still a question.

Cats Satisfied.

The Panthers seem to be the only contented club. They have finished thus far with practically the same club as that which took the field on opening day. Lefty Johns was turned back from the Tigers and Art Ewolt was signed after becoming a free agent at the instance of the Shreveport club. Whether or not they contemplate any further change has not been made public, but they will likely depend on the athletes who have carried them to victory during the first half.

Buffs Still Adding.

Houston has acquired Bill Bailey, former Beaumont southpaw, and at a commandeering price for Ray Blades, star second sacker of the Buffs. Blades will not report too St. Louis until the close of the present season and Bailey will round out the staff of Whiteman who declared at the opening of the season that he was satisfied with what he had. The Cardinals had offered Earl Adams at a sacrifice, but Whiteman retained Gross in preference to the youngster who has literally set the league on fire. The Bufftown magnates are angling for another hurler to round out their depleted corps of mound artists, but at present it is uncertain as to who will be secured, if any.

Mathis Wants More.

Then down at Beaumont Joe Mathis is far from satisfied with his team. A hurried trip to St. Louis, calling Branch Rickey to his rescue may net him something good, but the announcement that Bailey had been traded to Houston doubtless brought grief to Joe. He has a well balanced club, but his army of maulers has slumped terribly since the drive which carried them to the head of the column earlier in the season. As a whole, the team is below par as established by the performance of other clubs around the loop. Mathis may and may not come through, but more likely not. He has done his best so far and has shown Beaumont some baseball that they've never seen before, but his hurlers can't win as they should. Jacobus is the only consistent winnner in the camp and he has been dumped healthily several time of late following the heavy duty imposed upon him at the start of the schedule.

New Boss for Crabs.

The Galveston team took on a new lease of life when Pat Newman took over the helm of the Island City's team. Pat is no newcomer in the league and knows more about ball players than lots of manager who hold better jobs than his. Griffith has no worries other than his share of the receiving and a lot of the early season dissention has been alleviated. Harry Lee has been added, as well as Jimmie Thrash, a West Texas product who has been going great guns during his two weeks with the team. Joe Munson is getting into shape at last and affords an excellent utility man for the outfield and can break up many ball games as pinch hitter.

Dallas May Come Out.

Jim Galloway is doing everything possible to add punch to the Giants. He has tried to add an infielder, both by trade and cash, and seems inclined to pass up everything except one ready for the big time show. He made a vain attempt to get Ray Blades from Houston, and has offered much cash for certain of the coast stars, but now that Massey and Shields are delivering, may try to get over the top with his present roster. The reported sale of Leon Ames, former New York star seems to have fallen through, at least it has never materialized, and the original staff of beavers is as started except the addition of Sigler.

Bears Show Fight.

Hub Northen's Bears show one of the greatest improvements with the passing of time, of any club in the league. True enough, numerous changes have transpired since the season opened, but there is a winning fight in the Bear's games of late, and with the addition to the hurling staff due to the purchase of Bromley and Lewis from Salt Lake City some weeks ago, the Bears are showing their teeth and demanding recognition, and will likely be one of the leading teams in the last half.

Vann Still Struggling.

Shreveport has won a large number of their games since Billie Smith was shunted from the management of the team. Jack Vann is doing his best to show the foreign city a bit of baseball and despite the early season slump of the Gassers, the Shereveport team looks better by a large majority. Although the Gassers are not at present threating, just what changes will take place remains to be seen. Two or three members of the hurling staff are winners when given a short numbers of runs, but ofttimes these are not forthcoming. The Gassers may step out in the last half and cause lots of trouble.

Spuds Look Best.

But the Spudders is the team that is building for a win in the final section of the season. With the consumation of the recent Cub trade, much cash and well needed players are to reward the Spudders for the services of Earl Adams, stellar short fielder of the league, if reports are true. Salm is using every effort and abetted by the assistance of Harvey, is building to win. Weiss will fill out the outfield combination to an appreciable extent. Keene, Ramsey and Freeman and York, in case the latter two are secured, will round out the hurling staff to where the Spudders will present the most dangerous front of any team in the circuit. The infield is all that could be asked.

The team is hitting far and above any other in Doak Robert's fold and have already scored enough runs to cop two or three pennants. With the pitching promised from the rejuvenated corps, there should be a succession of wins that will bitter the mouths of Cowtown's raving bugs.

When Boss Salm takes his proteges into Panther Park this afternoon, he will have a veritable army of ball players. He's going in there to take blood from the Cats. Five games are booked for the campaign there this time and the number that reward the Spudders' efforts will cause weeping and wailing in the Atz fold, not to mention the supporters of the Stock Yards entry.

Fight to be For Second.

Somebody's going to win the last half. The face of the present aspect does not vouchsafe the prediction that the Panthers will repeat.

True enough, they have continued the winning that has marked the progress of Fort Worth teams for the past three years, but at that, there are three other teams in the league that threaten the peace and prosperity of the Atzcats.

The Spudders look best, then the Galveston crew, the Bears and Cats will likely fight for second place. The two new entries into the contending field are still a problem, but the performance of late show them as teams to be reckoned with before the curtain falls in September.

The last half promises far more and better baseball than fans have enjoyed in the first. The race for first honors will not be confined to two clubs in the last go-round, if predictions at this stage of the game count for anything.

Local Shooters Off To Amarillo Thurs.

Three members of the local gun club will leave this morning for the registered shoot at Amarillo dated for July 3 and 4.

Bert Adrian, A. G. Deatherage and H. Lyon are the men making the trip.

The preliminaries will be shot off this afternoon with the big meet opening at 9 o'clock Monday morning and extending through Tuesday, when one of the largest cards ever attempted in Texas will be run off.

Reports from Amarillo stated that a large number of well-known contestants will participate, including present and past champions.

Those who know the ability of the local shooters who will compete in the meet expect them to share in the big money distributed to the winners.

SWIM RECORDS GO BY BOARDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Three world's back-stroke swimming records were broken today by Miss Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago, in the Olympic lagoon, at Manhattan beach. Making her first eastern appearance of the season, Miss Bauer shattered marks for 50 and 100 yards and 100 meters in two special invitation events.

The pipe which Sir Walter Raleigh smoked on the scaffold in 1618 is now in the private museum belonging to a London firm of tobacconists.

Dust-Weights Meet At Elecetra Tuesday

One of the feature events in the big boxing carnival to be staged by the Electra legion July 4 will be a four-round go between Sonny Jackson of Bridgetown and Speedy, Jr., of Lawton.

The two youngsters will tip the scales at 52 pounds each.

During the past months, the little fellows have fought many battles and ring followers of this section are loud in praise of their work.

Jackson comes originally from Mexicali, Mexico, and has appeared in 45 preliminary fights with a clean record.

Other participants of the show are reported in excellent condition and fans of the roped arena are promised an exceptionally good card which is billed to start at 11:30 o'clock.

WITT OUT TO GET SISLER'S CROWN

Hornsby Still In Lead of National Swatters

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Lawton Witt, the Yankee's outfilder, today is on the heels of the battling leaders of the American League with the prospects of becoming a dangerous contender for first place honors.

In seventh place a week ago, Witt connected with ten hits in his last six games, and batted his way into fourth position, with an average of .371, compared with .365 for the previous week.

George Sisler, the St. Louis Brown's star, continues to lead the race with an average .429 compared with .434 last week. Harry Heilman of Detroit displaced Tris Speaker of Cleveland for the runner-up honors with an average of .381. Speaker is three points ahead of Witt, his average being .374. These figures include games of Wednesday.

Sisler continues to add to his records of total runs scored, hits and total bases, having scored sixty-eight times, and made 124 hits for a total of 182 bases. His base stealing performance of 26 remains unchanged.

Kenneth Williams, a teammate, who is leading both leagues for the home run honors, smashed out another circuit drive, bringing his total for the season to 19. He also has improved in his batting, his mark being .305 as compared with .295 a week ago.

Other leading batters for forty-five or more games: O'Neill, Cleveland, .368; Cobb, Detroit, .367; Blue, Detroit, .353; Ed Miller, Philadelphia, .352; Schang, New York, .350; Bassler, Detroit, .349; Hooper, Chicago, .326; McManus, St. Louis, .323.

Lawrence "Hack" Miller, the strong man of the Chicago Nationals and former slugger of the Pacific Coast League, has started a climb among the National League batters that is attracting considerable attention. Miller slammed out 22 hits in his last 18 games. This boosted his average from .320 to .358, and landed him in third place among the players who have participated in 45 or more games, according to figures which include games of Wednesday.

Robers Hornsby, of St. Louis continues to top the batters with an average of .393. He has run his string of home runs to 16, which is far in front of his rivals. Hank Gowdy of Boston is the runner-up with a mark of .383.

Max Carey, the fleet-footed outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, stole three bases during the past week, giving him a string of 17 for the season. His speed was in a great way responsible for catching up to J. Johnston of Brooklyn for the honors in runs scored. Each has registered 58 times.

Other leading batters for 45 or more games: Bigbee, Pittsburgh, .356; Daubert, Cincinnati, .354; Kelly, New York, .351; J. Smith, St. Louis, .350; Bancroft, New York, .343; Grimes, Chicago, .342; Duncan, Cincinnati, .340.

YALE NET STAR COLLEGE CHAMP

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Lucian E. Williams, Yale, won the singles championship and Phil Neer and James Davis, Leland Stanford, the doubles title of the Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis association at the Merion Cricket club today.

Williams defeated Wray Brown, Washington university, St. Louis, 6-3, 6-1, 7-5.

In the doubles Neer and Davis scored a three-set victory over William and G. N. Wheeler, Yale, 8-6, 6-4, 6-3.

10 SPUDDERS STILL ABOVE .300 MARK

DeMaggio Steps Up As Regular Of League

Nic DeMaggio, the Beaumont outfielder, back on duty after a period on crutches, gave North Texas pitching a fit last week in the Exporters' Park and grabbed from George Whiteman the leadership of the league for the long routers. His teammate, Brooks, is still toping the loop with its only .400 batting average, for players in over thirty games.

Summer heat and curve ball pitching have not affected the Texas clouters. Forty-eight batsmen are over the .300 dividing mark.

Homer Ezzell is still topping the base-steals with a clean theft record of thirty. With half the season yet to go, this youngster may break the old mark.

WEATHER HALTS ALL GAMES IN CITY LOOP

Rain and high winds made it impossible for the City league games scheduled for Saturday to be played. With the Texas and Gulf companies tied for the lead, interest is high among the players and the contests promise to be snappy ones when they are played, probably early this week.

The Texas company is slated to meet the Bankers, while the Gulf aggregation will meet the Texhoma nine. The dope indicates an easy win for the leaders, but their opponents are determined to put up a fight and may spring a surprise. A loss to either the Texas or the Gulf so near the end of the season would go far in determining the winners.

The railroaders will meet the Presbyterians and, although neither team is a contender for the pennant, the game should be a lively one.

GOLFERS LOOK FORWARD TO TOURNEY

Four Events Set For July 4 Matches

Four events are scheduled in the tournament scheduled by the Wichita Golf club for July 4.

Officials in charge of the tourney have arranged the program so no events will conflict. The play will also include an event for the ladies of the club.

Merchants have donated merchandise prizes for the various winners.

Event No. 1. Speedway Flag tournament.

1st prize: One dozen golf balls—A. I. Kendall.
2nd prize: One-half dozen golf balls—W. E. Norton.
3rd prize: One English golf hat—Harry Baum & Co.

Event No. 2.—Ascension from sand trap to 18th green.

1st prize. One golf bag—Ludham & Riggs.
2nd prize: One golf hat—Collier & Landon.
3rd prize: One pair golf hose—P. B. M. Co.

Event No. 3—Irrigation ditch pitch from ladies' tee on No. 9 to flag (Each competitor two balls.)

First prize: One iron club—Collier & Landon.
2nd prize: One iron club—A. I. Kendall.

Event No. 4.—The president's 13 holes, blind score tournament.

1st prize: One $15 golf club—Collier & Landon.
2nd prize: One pair golf trousers P. B. M. Co.

All who intend entering the first event will be at the No. 1 tee at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning to receive their flags and handicaps. Twosome and foursome should be arranged before hand as all matches must be off before 10 o'clock.

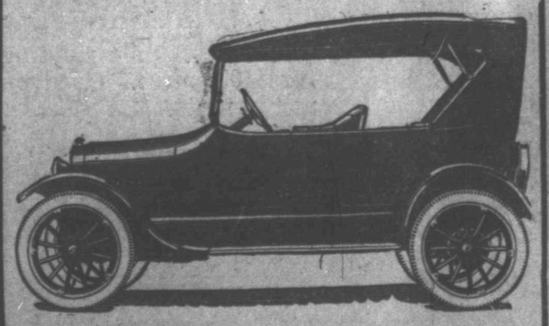

Event No. 2 will get under way at 1:30; event No. 3 at 2:30 and event No. 4 at 3 o'clock.

All ladies who expect to enter are requested to make their entries with Mrs. Hampshire or Mrs. Couper. Collier & Landon offer a half dozen regline Silver King balls and Fred T. Couper has increased the number another half dozen.

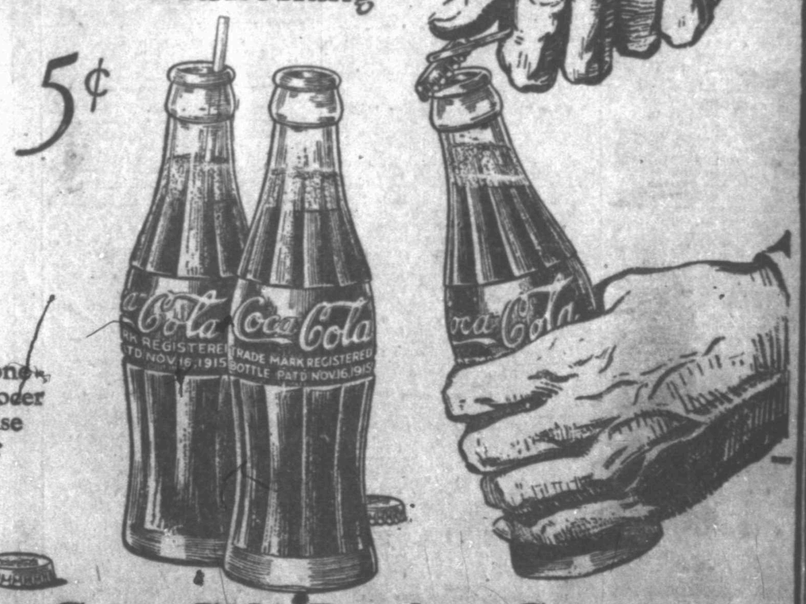

Lunches will be served at the club throughout the entire day.

NEW YORK BONDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The only feature of today's narrow and nominal bond market was the further rise of Liberty fourth 4 1-4s to the year's maximum of 100.32. Mexican government made up part of yesterday's setback, but Europeans were listless and unchanged.

St. Paul general 4s gained one point and the refunding 4 1-2s made fractional improvements with Illinois Central refunding 4s, Brooklyn rapid transit 7s and United States steel 5s.

Atchison adjustment 4s yielded one point and moderate reactions were sustained by Kansas City Southern 5s, Interborough rapid transit and Third Avenue adjustment 5s. Total sales (par value) aggregated $7,345,000.

LITTLE DOING IN COTTON LINE

Business Dull and Prices Low

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Except for further evening up of accounts in prepration for Monday's government report, very little business was reported in the cotton market today and fluctuations showed continued irregularity. October sold off to 21.32 early under scattering liquidation but later rallied to 21.53 on covering promoted by prospects for unsettled weather in the belt. That delivery closed at 21.48 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 2 to 4 points.

The market opened at a decline of 10 to 13 points and sold 15 to 21 points net lower during the early trading. The bulk of the pressure was attributed to further liquidation but there was probably some scattered local selling on a less favorable view of the labor news and reports that the recent break in raw material was checking the demand for cotton goods. July eased off to 21.38 and December to 21.13, but offerings then became very light and there was enough covering or trade buying to cause rallies of some 18 or 20 points during the middle of the morning. Prospects for unsettled or showery weather in the south may have helped to steady prices, while there were reiterated reports of prospects for heavy boll weevil damage and bullish comment on the statistical position as shown in yesterday's week-end figures.

MONSTER AUTO COMBINE MADE

Million Included In Deal

By Associated Press.

DAYTON, Ohio, July 1.—An $80,000,000 consolidation of manufacturers of automobiles, trucks and automobile parts, with factories in seven states, has been completed here under the name of Associated Motor Industries. Will L. Ohmer of Dayton, is chairman of the board. The merger includes seven automobiles and truck factories, in addition to motor, body, gear, ignition and other part makers. Offices will be here.

Full speed production will be started within a few days in all plants, it was announced. A number of other manufacturers of cars are being considered in the consolidation and some additions may be announced soon, it was said. Besides the manufacturing plants involved, five assembling plants will be operated, located at Indianapolis, Boston, Louisville Oakland, Cal., and St. Louis.

All the plants in the merger are owned outright by the consolidation, the titles being turned over in fee simple to the corporation. Including the assembly units, 14 plants are included. The manufacturing plants are:

Combined Companies

National Motor Car & Vehicle corporation, Indianapolis; Covert Gear company, Lockport, N. Y.; transmission and clutch makers; Recording and Computing Machine company, Dayton, Ohio, ignition, magneto, starter, battery and generator manufacturers; Jackson Motors corporation, Jackson, Mich.; Kentucky Wagon Manufacturing company, Louisville, Ky.; Saginaw Sheet Metal Works, Saginaw, Mich.; Traffic Motor Truck corporation, St. Louis, Mo.; Murray-Tretgnerth corporation, Boston, Mass.; manufacturers of gasoline engines; and H. F. Holbrook company, New York, N. Y., manufacturers of automobile bodies.

Innovation is proposed in the use of radio to make the unit of all its operating system. Radio installations are being made ready for all the plants. Later it is planned to have radio installation in the principal dealers' offices.

Steel Report

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The steel market has been firm with a good demand for bars and sheets from auto makers, dropforgers and tool makers. There has also been a demand for wire rods which are higher. Owing to labor shortage operations are being reduced and some mills are turning down orders.

Pig iron is also firm, active and advancing especially charcoal iron. Large sales of foundry grades were announced in the Chicago district and the trade expects a heavy volume of business from these railroads.

RAIL STRIKE LOWERS COTTON

Declines Reach 16 To 18 Points

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—Small depressions in the price of cotton today were caused by the railroad labor troubles and continued hot and dry weather over the greater part of the belt, although the last half of the season brought partial recoveries on the forecast of showery weather for several states. The opening was lower and in the early trading the declines amounted to 16 to 18 points, October droping off to 20.87. This was the low of the day. In the later trading the active months came back to levels unchanged to 8 points down compared with yesterday's finals, but the close was at net losses of 6 to 13 points, October closing at 20.99.

STOCKS DROWSY TRADING DULL

Market Non-Existing Saturday

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 1.—For all practical purposes today's stock market was almost non-existent. The attendance of members on the floor of the exchange was of the slimest proportions and the turnover of little more than 200,000 shares was the smallest, even for a week-end, since the beginning of the year.

Rails held their ground regardless of the strike situation, early nominal recessions being largely, if not entirely regained later. Some of the independent steels, as well as active oils, and motors made moderate gains on the day, but many of the leaders rose and fell within fractional limits.

Among specialties and miscellaneous stocks, Coca Cola, North American, American water works and Mellinson were higher by substantial fractions to 2 points and several of the local utilities improved.

GRAIN FIRMS ON NEW REPORT

Wheat Closes At Net Advance

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Disappointing reports regarding threshing in the winter wheat belt and the apprehension of black rust in the northwest gave a decidedly firm undertone to the grain market today. At the finals wheat was 1 3-8 to 3 1-2c higher, with July $1.17 5-8 to $1.17 3-4 and September $1.17 3-4 to $1.17 7-8; corn advanced 3-4 to 1 1-4c; oats were 1-2 to 1 1-8c up and provisions ranged from 7 1-2c lower to 5c higher.

Corn and oats held within rather narrow limits with elevator interests, buying the July and selling the September without affecting the differences to any great extent.

Provisions were dull and somewhat unsettled.

BUSINESS NEWS

WASHINGTON—The Denver and Salt Lake railroad has been excused by the interstate commerce commission from the necessity of putting into effect on its lines the 10 per cent cut in freight rates which all other railroads in the United States made effective today. The decrease, however, was in effect on practically all of the other railroads of the nation.

CHICAGO—The Douglas National bank, said to be the only national bank in the country where all the officers, directors and stockholders are negroes, has been opened here. The bank is located in the negro residential and business district.

10 Per Cent Interest

—on every dollar for every day that it has been with us during our year that closed June 30th, has been earned and credited to all of our member's accounts. Our annual statement will appear in this newspaper next week showing the exact figures. Some children save 50c or a dollar a month with us, other people save five, ten, twenty-five or fifty dollars a month, but each received the same 10% interest in proportion to the amount of their account. You should start YOUR account now for our new six month period. You have been thinking about this for a year—DO IT NOW!

IRISH SCURRY UNDER COVER

Snipers Pour Lead Through Streets

By Associated Press.

DUBLIN, July 1.—After a comparatively quiet night, disturbed only at intervals by the noise of sniping, the citizens ventured into the streets under the belief that all was over. But while on previous days the fighting was confined to a limited quarter, hardly any district today was quite safe, and sudden bursts of snipers' fire from unexpected places soon drove people back to their houses.

The four courts is now as much a ruin as the custom house and post-office; nothing but the bare walls stand of the law library. All the documents, including wills and court records have been destroyed.

The casualties of the battle are as follows:

Wednesday, 15 killed and 40 wounded; Thursday, 14 killed and 29 wounded; Friday, 13 killed and 107 wounded.

The insurgents held the police barracks, the courthouse and the coast guard station at Bray, a seaside resort about 12 miles from Dublin. They evacuated these today, but set them afire.

RADIOS WILL BE PLACED IN PARKS

(By International News Service)

DENVER, July 1.—Installation of radio stations at scores of strategic points throughout the national park system for the dissemination of news, market reports and other information to the thousands of tourists that visit the parks each summer, will be urged by Stephen T. Mather, national director of Uncle Sam's vast park system.

Mather is making a survey of the Rocky Mountain National park.

"Radio communication holds vast possibilities for the government," Mather said, "and we intend to take advantage of it."

Mather said he had in mind the opportunity for service to tourists that radio stations in the park systems would afford, and indicated that newspapers would be asked to cooperate with the National Park Service in broadcasting news of the outside world to tourists in isolated sections of the parks.

The use of mirrors in schools in London has been recommended to promote self-pride and cleanliness.

The seven romance languages are French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, Provencal, Catalan and Roumanian.

Miss Belle Devlin and Miss Olive Bruggeman have been appointed street commissioners in St. Louis.

FLORIDA CITIES INDUSTRY RIVALS

(By International News Service)

TAMPA, Fla., July 1.—While Tampa holds the world's record for the largest output of cigars manufactured wholly from Havana tobacco, Brooksville, near Tampa, has just announced that 100,000 baseball bats were manufactured in that city during the last year at a furniture factory and that this output will be increased 50 per cent next year. The forests surrounding Brooksville furnish a variety of hard woods for furniture.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
The State of Texas, to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon unknown heirs of James A. King, deceased, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in September, A. D., 1922, the same being the fourth day of September, A. D., 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the tenth day of May, A. D., 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 12747-B wherein T. B. Noble is plaintiff and Eddie King, a widow, and the unknown heirs of James A. King, deceased, are defendants and said petition alleging; That on or about the 14th day of August, 1919, the said James A. King, made, executed and delivered to Mrs. C. B. Staton his four promissory notes for the sum of $1,000 each, due on the 14th day of August, 1920, 1921, 1922 and 1923, each respectively, payable to the order of the said Mrs. C. B. Staton, bearing interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum from date until paid and stipulating for 10 per cent on the amount of principal and interest then due as attorney's fees in case suit is brought on same or if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, whereby the said James A. King became bound and liable to pay and promised to pay the said Mrs. C. B. Staton the sum of money in said note specified, together with all interest and attorney's fees due thereon, according to the tenor and effect thereof. That said notes were given for a part of the purchase money of the following described real estate and premises, situated in the county of Wichita, Texas, to-wit: Lot No. 4 in block No. 161 in the original town of Wichita Falls, Texas. That on the 14th day of August, 1919, said property was conveyed by Mrs. C. B. Staton to James A. King, deceased, by her deed of writing, in consideration, among other things of the four notes herein described and that in said deed of conveyance a lien was reserved thereon to secure the payment of said notes and a lien to secure said notes was reserved in said notes. That after the execution and delivery of said notes for a valuable consideration, the said Mrs. C. B. Staton, by her written endorsement upon the backs of said notes, transferred the same, together with the lien upon said property securing said notes to said plaintiff and this plaintff is now the legal owner and holder of said notes. Plaintiff alleges that the first of said notes is entitled to the following credits on the dates herein alleged, to-wit: Sept. 6, 1920, $10; Sept. 5, 1920, $70; Oct. 1, 1920, $60; Nov. 12, 1920, $126.27; Nov. 29, 1920, $75; Dec. 17, 1920, $50; Jan. 1, 1921, $64; Jan. 7, 1921, $11; Feb. 10, 1921, $50; Feb. 28, 1921, $75; April 4, 1921, $50; May 2, 1921, $50. That note, No. 2 bears on the back thereof the following credit: Sept. 6, cash $80, interest paid to Aug. 14, 1920. That note No. 3 bears on the back thereof the following credit: "Sept. 6, cash $80; interest paid to Aug. 14, 1920;" that note No. 4 bears on the back thereof the following endorsement: "Sept. 6, cash $80; interest paid to Aug. 14, 1920." That default has been made in the payment of the first two notes hereinabove described, save and except the credits herein alleged and the plaintiff by reason of the default in the payment of said notes elects to declare all four of said notes due and payable, and the defendants, though often requested, have failed and refused to pay said notes, each or either of them, or any part thereof, except the credits herein alleged and the same still remain due and unpaid. Wherefore, plaintiff prays that said defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that he have judgment for his debt, and such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that he may be justly entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have before said court at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 29th day of June, A. D., 1922.

A. F. KERR, Clerk, District Court, Wichita County, Texas.

OUSLEY GAINS, BOSS REPORTS

75 Speakers Will Tour State

"No other candidate in the history of the state has made such rapid gain as has Clarence Ousley in the last month and particularly in the last two weeks" Judge C. L. Bass, of this city, said Saturday when he returned from a week spent at Ousley headquarters at Fort Worth.

Judge Bass has been in Fort Worth where he has been one of the busiest Ousley workers. He said that the Ousley organization now is one of the best in the state and that next week 75 of the best speakers in the state will start out stumping the state for Ousley.

He said that during the week a meeting of prominent Fort Worth business men launched the Fort Worth Ousley organization and that at a meeting Monday night there will be hundreds more to join the organization. He said the business men of Fort Worth will ask the people of the state to let Fort Worth have one of the two candidates in the run-off for the senate.

"Besides the papers that took up the fight for Ousley, the fact that Joseph Weldon Bailey came out for him and will take an active part in the campaign means that Ousley has one of the strongest line-ups obtainable," said Judge Bass. He said that at least 100,000 persons who voted for Bailey will vote for Ousley and that Mr. Ousley will get many votes that the ex-senator did not get.

Judge Bass said that on returning here he found the Ousley committee had grown to about 200 and that the names will be printed next week. He said that some prominent speaker will be here during the week to speak for Mr. Ousley and that local interest in the candidate is growing rapidly. Judge Bass said that Earle Mayfield is the strongest candidate opposing Mr. Ousley.

ROGERS TO SPEAK

F. A. Rogers, scheduled as the speaker for the day at the last Kiwanis club luncheon, will deliver his address at the meeting Monday, according to announcements sent out Saturday.

The secretary promises to have an interesting program for the occasion, and it is expected that some of the delegates to the international convention at Toronto will have returned by the meeting hour.

An orchestra, which G. W. Pond asserts will 'take the wrinkles out of a wash board,' will furnish music for the luncheon.

ASKS NEW TRIAL

E. W. Patterson, brought before Judge H. R. Wilson in the 30th district court Saturday morning on a motion for new trial, was remanded back to prison.

Patterson is charged with burglary, having been indicted by the grand jury now in session.

Chauncey Fires Back at Council Attack on Arrest of Autoists

Answering charges made at the chamber of commerce business men's council Friday, Judge W. B. Chauncey of the corporate court denied Saturday that any out-of-town resident has been fined in his court for traffic violations since the present administration began, that "did not deserve to be fined."

Judge Chauncey went into office April 9, and since that time, he said yesterday, only two persons who did not live here have been fined for having violated city traffic laws.

Both of these defendants, he said, had violated not only the city, but state statutes, in that both were driving recklessly, and in excess of the speed limit.

"Both of the only out-of-town residents that have been fined since my administration as corporate judge began," Judge Chauncey said, "were men who were aware of our city ordinances, and who had had to deal with those ordinances time and time again. One of them was a service car driver who operates out of this city, while the other was a resident of Graham, who had just moved to Graham from this city.

"We instruct the officers to bring all men to the city hall that are placed under arrest, regardless of who they are, for the officers have no right or authority to release or dismiss anyone they have in their custody.

"When out-of-town residents are brought before us on charges of having violated city ordinances, and state that they were not aware of those ordinances, they are dismissed.

"There have only been five cases brought to my attention where out-of-town residents violated some traffic ordinance. In each of these cases except the two who were acquainted with our city laws, the defendants were dismissed."

Judge Chauncey, as did the city prosecutor, denied emphatically that the Wichita Falls police department has made any attempt to "make it hard" for farmers and residents of other communities surrounding this city.

LOCAL MAN IS VET CLOWN

Trapeze Artist Finds Talent For Show

The most important feature of any circus is clowns. There is no circus in the country that is complete without clowns. However, it may be surprising to some of the folk of Wichita Falls to hear that one of their citizens and prominent local men at one time was the greatest professional clown in the country. He has been with the biggest circuses and trouped with Ringling Brothers, Adams, Four Paw, Barnum and Bailey and all the big ones. At one time he was leading clown with John Ringling circus. How come, and who may he be? That gentleman is no other than L. M. Forcier, and a member of Maskat Temple at that.

This is the way the news leaked out. The Flying La Vans arrived in Wichita Falls. This attraction you no doubt heard or read about, and is one of the greatest and oldest flying trapeze acts in the world. Harry La Van, owner of the act, by accident came across L. M. Forcier upon his arrival at the Kemp hotel.

"Well I'll be hanged," were the first words uttered. "If there isn't old man Forcier."

"Well Harry La Van its' nigh on to 20 years since you and I trouped together with the big circus."

Of course that started the big talk and all night conversation. You will soon find the result. You know what happens when trouper meets trouper.

L. M. Forcier will be seen with the other 12 professional clowns.

He's a Circus

This is L. M. Forcier, veteran clown of many a big circus, who is really a circus in himself. Forcier, a Wichita Falls man, is performing some of his favorite antics at the Shrine circus.

After a thousand centuries of effort the world has produced nothing more faultlessly beautiful than a single between short and second.

As Europe turns longing eyes to distant America, she doubtless wishes that distance would lend something else besides enchantment.

ENNIS, Texas, July 1.—Will Seymour, formerly a railroad employe, was instantly killed near here today when his automobile was struck by a Houston & Texas Central train. His daughter, Ruth, 12, was thrown from the car but not seriously injured.

$50 FOR PEEPING

The officers said he had been peeping into a window in a yard near the business sections of the city at a late hour of night.

However, they had him charged with disturbing the peace.

And his was the heaviest fine that has been assessed in corporate court for "disturbing the peace" in any record. He was fined $50, paid off and released.

MILLERS BACK BETTER WHEAT

Inferior Seed Cause Of Big Loss

J. C. Mytinger said Saturday that millers and grain dealers throughout the southwest are backing the campaign to improve wheat growing and harvesting conditions which in 1921 lost to the growers $16,000,000, according to the federal reserve bank and Kansas City and several agricultural colleges.

Mr. Mytinger said that a more thorough investigation has revealed that the principal factors causing the loss were poor tillage, inferior seed, mixed seed, rye, weeds, trash, weevil, smut, too much exposure, wet handling and wastage all of which are preventable. The object of the campaign is to get the farmers to use more care in selecting seed, planting and harvesting their crops.

Student Hiking To Keep In Trim

C. R. Morrison, a student of Pennsylvania State university, passed through Wichita Falls Saturday morning hiking from Brigeton, Maine to San Francisco, C. J. The hike was begun March 1 and he expects to reach his destination early in the fall.

Having been interested in athletics at Penn State, where his brother had made it possible for him to attend Mr. Morrison entered upon the hike as a means of preparing himself for the football this fall and seeing America at the same time. His equipment consists of a 60-pound pack and light tent which enables him to sleep every night in the open regardless of weather.

At the completion of the hike, Mr. Morrison will again enter Penn State.

Maj. A. D. Budd, selected as one of a number of American officers to attend the French war school, from which he graduated recently, wears 14 decorations of the world war.

Nursery Kiddies in Rather Live Show Window Display Here

Five of the most attractive little tots in Wichita Falls with a nurse in attendance made up the exhibit Saturday of the day nursery in the window of the Martin Stationery company on Indiana street.

The exhibit attracted unusual attention and hundreds of people saw it Saturday, many of them dropping money in the little barrel with red hoops put outside to receive funds for the nursery.

The exhibit was put on by the day nursery committee of the First Baptist church of which Mrs. Hubert Harrison is chairman with Mrs. J. L. Maxwell and Mrs. Roy L. Carter as other members. The purpose is to create interest in the nursery and raise money to help pay for the new home on Lamar street. Mrs. Harrison said that the exhibit may be maintained through Monday.

Rev. Smith to Preach On Healing of Sick

"You are invited to services at the Church of Christ, corner of Tenth and Austin. Hours, Sunday school 9:45; preaching 11 a. m., followed by communion services and preaching 8 p. m. The regular prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, announces R. D. Smith.

"The sermon at both hours Sunday will deal with this question, 'Rightly Dividing the Word of Truth.' The sermon at the morning hour will be with reference to salvation from past sins; and the one at the evening hour will deal with spiritual gifts, such as casting out devils, speaking with new tongues, taking up serpents, drinking deadly poison and healing the sick."

'TWAS JES OL' CHOCK BUT IT WAS BEER

"Did the beer taste good?" Judge Chauncey inquired of a negro who was testifying against another that had been charged with vagrancy on the grounds of selling intoxicating liquors.

"It didn' tas' so good, boss—but it was 'chock'."

The negro had testified that he witnessed the sale of "'chock" beer, for which the negro accused had accepted 50 cents.

Upon closer examination, it was revealed that he, too, had participated in the disposition of the alleged beer, in that he had taken several tastes of it, to make sure, of course, that it was "chock."

No disposition was made of the case.

DON'T SELL CHOCK

Don't sell anything over your counter that is intoxicating or that can be used as intoxicating liquor.

That was the warning sent out from police headquarters Saturday when Judge W. B. Chauncey placed a $50 fine on J. S. Talerford on a charge of vagrancy in connection with "chock" alleged to have been found in his possession.

SMITH TO JAIL

Ed Smith, indicted by the grand jury now in session on a charge of assault in connection with an alleged assault upon a 14-year-old girl, was remanded to prison in default of $10,000 bond Saturday morning, following a hearing before Judge H. R. Wilson.

5 PERMITS TO BUILD

Building permits issued during the past week fell back to the average of previous weeks. Only five, with a total of $4,515 involved as building expenses, were issued during the seven-day period.

The permits were issued to the following: C. E. Swindler, to erect a frame garage at 1513 Filmore, $200. R. M. Walker, erect two-room servant's house at 904 Bluff, $215. W. C. Perkins, erect a five-room frame residence at 1516 Myrtle, $2,900; C. Bibbles, to erect one and one-half story frame residence at 114 Lake, $1,500; M. B. Snyder to erect a one-room addition to his residence at 1301 Monroe, $400.

Oakland Performance is Equal to the Promise

It is one thing to promise excellent and continuous motor car performance.

It is quite another think to make that promise come true.

Oakland performance is positively guaranteed. We back our faith in the Oakland by giving a 15,000-mile written guarantee against "oil pumping" in the motor. This is proof of the quality construction throughout.

Wichita News For Wichitans

SECTION TWO — WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 2, 1922 — LOCAL AND STATE NEWS

GRAIN REAPING BEING RUSHED THROUGH HERE

600,000 Bushels Estimated By Demonstrator

Wichita county's 600,000 bushel wheat crop is now well under movement from the farms with threshing in full swing and farmers marketing their crop, acording to local elevator men and farmers.

The crop movement is about three weeks late, however, and the harvest is expected to be rushed to a finish in shorter time than last year.

J. C. Mytinger of the J. C. Mytinger Grain company said yesterday that he finds the quality of the grain better this year than last year. The entire state will no yield more than entire state will not yield more than against 20,000,000 last year Mr. Mytinger said, but the grade is better all over the state.

County Farm Agent Guy R. Jones said that the estimated average yield for this year will be 7½ bushels per acre against a little more than 10 bushels last year.

The acreage in the county last year totaled 72,000 and yielded 880,000 bushels while the acreage this year totals 79,000 and will yield an estimate of not over 600,000 bushels.

LAWYERS WILL GO TO MEETIING

Program Announced By Association

Several well known Wichita Falls attorneys will attend the state bar association annual convention in Fort Worth July 4, 5, and 6, according to information received Friday by the Record News. A complete list of those who will attend will be available early next week, it is said.

The following program has been announced for the state association meeting:

Farmers Encourage Tex.-Okla. Fair

Wichita and adjoining county farmers and stock raisers are giving encouragement to the Texas-Oklahoma fair this fall and are enthusiastic over the propect of putting on exhibits, according to County Farm Agent Guy R. Jones.

"I have been making preparations to secure exhibits and have received good encouragement," said Mr. Jones, "so that I feel sure that when the fair is held we will have some splendid exhibits of farm products and live stock not only from this county but also from counties in this same trade territory."

Portable Refinery Moves Around on Railroad

GIPSON IS NOT RIVAL TO AVIS

Townsend Clears Up Voters' Worry

Judge Townsend called attention yesterday to misinterpretations numerous Wichita county voters are making concerning the aproaching legislative election.

"Avis and Gipson," he said, "are not running against each other, but they are both candidates for the legislature. Gipson isn't running against Mr. Parnell or Mr. Simmons, neither is Swanson running against Avis."

Judge Townsend called attention to the fact that Wichita county will, for the first time, have two representatives in the state legislaure this year. Last year, he pointed out, there was only one representative from Wichita county and Wilburger county. The two counties, he said, now have three representatives, two of which are chosen from this county. A representative is chosen for place one and place two this year by Witchitans, there being two candidates for place one—Gipson and Swanson—and three for place two—Avis, Parnell and Simmons.

Judge Towsend expressed the opinion that because this is the first time two representatives have been chosen from this county, voters have been confused with the idea that all the names appearing on the ballot are candidates for the same chair.

Threshing Day Community Affair

Threshing in Wichita county and in the Panhandle, as a rule, is different from any other locality, County Agent Jones believes.

It is a community affair in this section. Elsewhere, it is more or less a purely business proposition.

In this county, especially, the agent said, the entire community takes an interest and an active part in the threshing. The men all go to the field and start to work when the thresher starts up its engine. While the women prepare a royal reception for the workers.

In other localities, the agent pointed out, threshing crews are organized, and tour the country just like a circus, carrying their own tools, their wn men and their own kitchen along as they go

Active Realty Movement Expected Here at First Break of Winter

Prediction of active movement of real estate here during the fall months is expressed by Walter S. Curlee, veteran real estate operator.

"Property shows every sign of becoming active at that time," he said. "The town is chock full right now. There are few desirable rent houses to be obtained right now, and when families return this fall after summering away and begin to look for houses, they will become even scarcer.

"This condition will be further complicated by the moving of families here attracted by the junior college feature of the public schoool system, and by the early comers attracted by the irigation project.

"With the rent house situation this way, more people will seek to buy homes. Conditions will be very favorable to this, too. People during the past few months have paid up their obligations and bills, and have gotten their affairs straightened out and are in a position to buy. Easier credit conditions will help this out.

"Looking for this increased activity this fall, I think it will only be a starter to what will follow the next year, for all the conditions I have mentioned will be even more intensified next year—enabling the man who has carried his property through the hard spell to take a profit, if he is so inclined, at any time in the future."

You're Not Hot, You Just Think You Are—Cool Off on This Yarn

Eight and three-fourths pounds of ice for every man, woman and child in Wichita Falls is the daily consumption reported by one of the big ice factories.

If you have five persons in your family then, according to the figures given out, your family consumption of ice is 43 3-4 pounds of ice per day.

This, however, includes your share used in cold drinks, in the various markets and groceries for refrigerntion of goods and in every other way. The ice man said that the Wichita Falls sales of all ice plants totals approximately 175 tons, or 350,000 pounds per day. With the present population figured at 40,000 persons the average of eight and three-fourths pounds per person is maintained.

"Of course there is a lot of ice shipped out of this city," said the ice company official, "but the 175 tons is a fair daily average of what is consumed in Wichita Falls every day at the present time. The consumption right now is just about like it will be for the remainder of the season.

The fluctuation from day to day due to the difference in temperature amounts to very little at this season of the year, ice men say, as the general temperature is such as causes people to keep well stocked with ice.

Flaps Gurgle Malted Milk While Bean Brothers Sip Five-Centers

Egg malted milk is the favorite flapper drink in Wichita Falls while most of the jelly beans take "coke and lemon." At least that is the opinion of the head "bartender" in one of the city's best known refreshment bureaus.

"Lot's of times the flapper is sticking somebody else for the drinks and that may be the reason they take the farm products mixture which comes high," said the mixer, "while one reason for the jelly bean taking the five center may be that he generally pays for his own and hasn't the price of the big mix. They say they like the coke and lemon best but I have seen many one of the bean brothers sit with a flapper as she drank her 'malted and' for which he was paying and look on hungrily as he sipped his coke and lemon.".

"Don't the flapper ever vary in the drinks they order?" asked the inquisitive reporter.

"O, yes, some of them drink other drinks than the standard, but most everything they order is fancy stuff. Their tastes in drinks are as fancy as their taste in dress and men, apparently for they seldom fall for anything plain even in the drink line."

NEW HOSPITAL IS SUFFICIENT

Fletcher Sees No Lack of Room

Denial that there will be additional hospital needs in this city when the sanitarium under construction on Eighth street is complete was made by Dr. John H. Fletcher, secretary of the Wichita County Medical society.

Dr. Fletcher said that hospital facilities at Call field at the present time have been found adequate to handle patients taken ill during the past three months. "And there is little doubt but that a 100 or 110-bed hospital will be ample for the next five years," he said, "unless Wichita Falls grows into a city of over 100,000 persons."

It was his belief that the ney hospital, when completed, will have from 10 to 20 per cent of vacant beds practically all the time.

"There hasn't been a time in the past three months," Dr. Fletcher said, "when patients could not get beds in either a ward or a private room at the general hospital in Call field; and certainly, the new hospital, which is being built at a cost of around $100,000, will be ample for at least five years."

Superintendent Bengston of the Call field hospital, when approached on the subject yesterday, said that there are now 35 beds in the general hospital, and that "there has been ample room for all the patients we've had in the past three months. We've never been crowded since the boom days."

No Labor Shortage Says County Agent

Wheat is being threshed in Wichita county at a lower figure than it has been in years.

County Agent Jones says that threshing crews are operating all over the county at a cost of 15 and 20 cents per bushel to the producer.

No labor shortage is bothering the farmers this season, he said, there being a number of experienced hands at work in the field. With decidedly favorable weather for threshing, Mr. Jones said the work is being hurried. He was within sight of six different threshers, all of which were busy, Wednesday, he said

EYES OF WEST TURN TO FARM PROJECT HERE

Irrigation Attracts Interest of Real Farming Experts

By HENRY YELVINGTON

That the agricultural southwest now has its eyes on Wichita Falls teritory because of the Wichita river irrigation project is evidenced by the many letters coming into the chamber of commerce every day from all over the Southwest making inquiries as to the possibility of acquiring land for agricultural purposes and asking the score or more of other details in reference to colonization.

The fact that the great project already is under way and that it will open up one of the greatest agricultural domains in this entire section of the United States has become known throughout the nation. Hundreds of hardy farmers, who have written for information regarding the project, now are waiting until the water is ready to put on the land and the land is available for colonization.

Not only have many practical farmers written for this information but there are scores of persons who have saved money to invest in farming lands and expect to retire to a life of farming, who want to come here.

Wichitans Watch Others.

While the irigation project is being developed with actual work well under way and only a matter of time until every detail is completed plans are being discussed for handling the tide of immigration that will result from the opening of the new area.

Colonization of irrigated land always has been a problem with many details and it has taken some sections years to solve all the details satisfactorily. The men who have made the Wichita river project possible have watched the problems of California, of Arizona and of the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas and will profit by the experiences of those projects.

Likened to Imperial Valley.

Like the development of the now famous Imperial valley of California and other projects in that state the Wichita river project will mean the opening of a new teritory which will soon put a flow of products on the market and its influence will be felt either directly or indirectly on the supply arteries of the entire nation.

It has not been so many years since the now famous Imperial valley and the San Joaquin valley, both among the most fertile production areas of California were deserts compared to the territory to be opened up for agriculture by the Wichita river project.

Hot and arid the Imperial valley and the San Joaquin valley were wastes until water was turned on the soil and where once the desert stood now there are miles and miles of farms and orchards that are known over the entire world. There are many who say that had it not been for the work of the Japs in going into the hot climate of California's famous valleys and reclaiming much of the land put under irrigation that state would not have been developed nearly so rapidly. But now California is trying to drive the Japs away.

All California is not fruit land. There are some sections of the state where very little fruit is grown. There are sections devoted to raising melons, alfalfa and even long staple cotton. The San Joaquin valley is famous for its melons and it is from this valley that the early cantaloupes come.

Rio Valley's Progress.

The lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas while every bit as rich in soil and climate as California's famous fruit and vegetable belts is being developed much on the same basis as California. It has not reached anything like the stage of development that California has reached, however, and there are many problems yet to be worked out in the valley. The water problems have given the lower valley of Texas a great deal of concern and the marketing problems have caused the growers great anxiety. But with the experience of both California and the lower Rio Grande valley to draw from, Wichita river project is expected to be spared many of the most harrassing problems which the other projects had to undergo.

California grows fruits of all kinds, melons and practically all other products that can be grown in a warm climate. The lower Rio Grande valley of Texas can grow and is growing on some scale, a majority of the products grown by California. Those who have examined the lands to be watered by the Wichita river project

Novel Gas Plant Goes Into New Oil Fields Just Like Threshers

When Virgin Territory Begins to Die Out And Boom Days Fade Into Memories, Operators Pull Stakes and Move Refinery to More Fruitful Fields All in Two Days

Designs for a plant for the manufacture of gasoline, kerosene, naptha, gas, oils and other products from crude oil built complete on steel flat cars and capable of being transported from place to place on any standard guage railroad and set up and ready for operation in from three to four days, have been completed by T. W. Sowell of Sowell Brothers of Dallas and applications for basic patents on the new plant, called the portable refinery, have been filed in the patent office at Washington.

Construction of their first plant, which will have a capacity of four thousand barrels of crude oil per day, is now under way in the East Chicago plant of the Graver Corporation and will be ready for operation in about 60 days.

The refinery is not essentiatily different in its plan of operation from any other refinery and has all the advantages and labor saving devices of the modern, stationary plant, with the added advantageous feature of mobility and the ease with which it can be connected up and operations begun. Construction of the refinery follows the lines of the best engineering practice with reference to stationary plants and will last as long, according to engineers and experienced refinery men who have examined the plans, as any ordinary plant erected on permanent or stationary foundations.

Built On Cars.

The plant is built on specially constructed sixty-five feet steel flat cars designed to carry a load of 110,000 pounds. Special six-wheel trucks are provided, making is possible to negotiate the sharpest railroad curves without danger of leaving the tracks.

When a new oil field is opened it is the plan of T. W. Sowell, inventor of the new refinery, and his associates, to rush the plant to the field, lay a few hundred feet of switch tracks, connect up the various units of the refinery, and begin operations. All new oil fields, practically, are without pipe line facilities for marketing the crude and the portable refinery will enable its owners to take the flush output of the new field at low cost and an enormous saving in freight rates over the present plan of shipping the crude from the new fields to distant refineries in tank cars. The portable refinery can go to the location of the oil, just as the thresher goes into the wheat fields, instead of having the oil transported to it at great expense.

Can Move In Two Days.

When the field has been exhausted and it is decided to go to a new location, there is nothing to do but disconnect the pipes, load up the connections and the fabricated tanks, and go ahead. Nothing whatever is lost and the time required is from 36 to 48 hours until the plant is rolling to a new field. In the case of a stationary plant engineers declare that only from 15 to 20 per cent of the plant can be salvaged.

To erect the stationary refinery or skimming plant requires from six to eight months and an expenditure of from $200,000 to $350,000. To lay pipe lines and erect pumping stations requires even more, so that in new fields it is expected the only competition the portable refinery will have in the purchase of crude oil for its operations will be small amounts that are shipped out in tank cars. When it is considered that the loading, freightage and unloading on a tank

Watch Older Folk, Young Ones Take Care of Self, Expert Says

Watch the grown up, including married men and women. The young ones are not so bad.

That is the advice given by the travelers aid secretary at the union depot in Wichita Falls. She speaks from a wide knowledge of what is going on. She has hundreds of cases to watch each day.

"It used to be that we had some trouble from younger men trying to force attentions on girls traveling alone, but they apparently are getting better now," said the secretary and she continued, "but the older ones are causing us some trouble. You can talk to the young girls and the younger men but you can't tell the older ones anything and they are tricky. They will try and fool you. I see lots of things going on."

Here's another piece of wisdom that the secretary advances, "most of the young people who travel now are working boys and girls and when people work they are not bad. It is the idle ones who start trouble."

The people who travel now are better dressed and appear more prosperous generally than they did this time last year, the travelers aid secretary said. She has also observed that there are hundreds more people traveling now than there were two months ago.

"Conditions in this part of the city have improved a whole lot since Chief McCormick went on the job," added the secretary, "the chief has gotten rid of many undesirables in this part of the city and is giving us good police backing in our work. I am for McCormick and Commissioner Rigsby

Young People Rule Social World; Daylight Dance to Feature Week

Dancing Begins Half Hour After Four and Will Continue to Eight

BRIDGE parties for out-of-town visitors, dances and showers for July brides-elect, have kept Wichita Falls' society on the whirl for the past week. Never before have the activities been more completely confined to the younger folk.

Migration to the sea shore and mountain resorts has begun, and each new week brings about the departure of a few more than the previous ones for cooler climes. Some are going to the Ozarks, while many are taking cottages in Colorado and California until the fall season. A few will leave this month with touring parties formed in other cities and will take extensive sight seeing trips not lingering long in any one place.

AN event of this week which is always looked forward to with pleasure by the younger set, is the annual sunrise dance and breakfast at Lake Wichita, Tuesday morning, July 4, in observation of a custom which has been in rogue here for many years. On this occasion, the Comus club will be hosts to members of the Cypher, Avoleh and DeMolay clubs and their friends and visiting Shriners and their ladies will be especially welcomed.

Dancing will begin at 4:30 o'clock and continue until 8:30, with breakfast served during that time. Special music will be provided. Red, white and blue decorations and lighting effects will carry out the patriotic color scheme.

AN event of this week enjoyed by a large number, was the informal dance given by the Comus club at the lake, when those attending included the chaperones, Messrs. and Meedames Julian Ivy, E. C. Harlin, A. M. Miller, C. F. Cavanough.

Others present were Misses Crystelle Waggoner, Suda Willis, Frances Hall, Linda Bellows of Fort Worth, Frances Scott, Helen Palmer, Gay Gwynn, Georgia Michalson, Josephine Tucker, Lois Fitzgerald, Heleu Dee Rogers of Eureka Springs, Ark. Ruth Chandler of Weatherford, Ethel Moran, Sadie Adickes, Ethel Owen, Florence Devers, Gertrude Datson, Effie Brock of Fort Worth, Anita Monroe, Nancy Jane Harlin and Messrs. Jim Moran, W. E. POPULAR VISITOR HONOREE AT PARTY

Proving one of the most enjoyable affairs of the week, Mrs. W. O. Ray entertained at the Wichita club Saturday morning with a bridge luncheon complimenting her cousin, Miss Linda Bellows of Fort Worth. Flowers and ferns were used profusely in the decorations and four tables were arranged for the players.

Mrs. Peyton Gwynn won the high score favor, a dainty sterling silver card holder. Mrs. Paul Harding, the low score, and was consoled with a box of Coty's talcum powder. The honoree was presented with a beautiful hand-painted parchment fan of unique design. Table favors of ivory lemon forks were given.

After the games, a five-course luncheon was served, and the table was decorated in an unusually beautiful array of summer flowers. A basket filled with the colorful blossoms formed the center surrounded by flowers and ferns arranged on the white cloth.

Those present included besides the honoree, Mesdames Ike Upchurch, Peyton Gwynn, E. P. Harding, Fred Mack, Paul Scott, Harold Ruehl, W. R. Sims, Cam Campbell, Charles Reid and Misses Sadie Adicks, Ethel Owen, Gay Gwynn, Louise Montgomery and Suda Willis.

MISS CARTER HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Miss Earle Carter assisted by Misses Emma and Frances Carter and Mrs. R. Goodfellow was hostess at luncheon Tuesday, honoring Miss Daisy Pribble of Oklahoma City, house guest of Miss Maurine Hickman.

The table was attractively decorated for the affair and a menu consisting of chicken, bread and butter sandwiches, stuffed tomatoes, deviled eggs, olives, potato chips, ice tea, ice cream and cake was served.

Music was furnished by Misses Pribble and Hickman and a yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and refreshment course. Shasta daisies were the favored flowers.

Covers were laid for: Misses Pribble, Maurine Hickman, Zora Willis, Hazel Dunlap, Audrey Porterfield, Lorlbie Turner, Lillian Closuit and Mrs. Robert Goodfellow.

PHILATHEA CLASS PRESENTS PLAY.

The entire amount of $100 which was pledged by the Philathea class of the First Methodist church, corner of Seventh and Lamar for the purpose of dedecorating the church was raised at a presentation this week of a home talent comedy, "The Old Maid's Convention."

Those who witnessed the play declared it to be one of the best home talent comedies ever presented in the city, and several requests have already been made to have it reproduced.

The old maids who were costumed in styles of the 1849 period or perhaps earlier, were as follows:

Jerusha Eliza Bangs—Dottie Moe Willard and Muriel Scofield.

Serena Has-Been—Octavia Zetzsche and Anna Byman.

Minty Clovertop—Gladys Wisdom and Edna Myers.

Ann Ellen Patterby—Eva King and Ruby Nance.

Mariana Melissa Black — Birdie Simmons and Clara Corbell.

Desire A. Mann—Sarah Watson and Valree Fisher.

Rebecca Retrace—Ethel Andree and Eula Fultz.

Hepsibah Odelia Olds—Mildred Corkhill and Bertha Jackson.

May Hav-er-mann—Eva Meade and Mattie Watson.

Petunia Pickles—Mary Byman and Lura Lyle.

Charity Hopegood—Irene Swain and Mabel Watson.

Rachel Ketch-Him—Beth Scofield and Ruth Meade.

Symanthia Chase-Him—Mary Underwood and Reta Allen.

Belinda Bliss—Lilyan Ward and Ruth Yeager.

Epiti-Bithi Ledbetter—absent member.

Professor Mak-er-Neoux — Donald Ross.

LOST!

Found,—that glorious feeling that comes with a clear, pure, ruddy complexion—

250 Pimples, 736 Blackheads and 3 Boils!

No reward is offered, because they are lost forever! No question will be asked, except one question, "How did you lose them?" There is but one answer,—"I cut out new fad treatments and guesswork; I used one of the most powerful blood-cleansers, blood-purifiers and flesh-builders known, and that is S. S. S.! Now my face is pinkish, my skin clear as a rose, my cheeks are filled out and my rheumatism, too, is gone!" This will be your experience, too, if you try S. S. S. It is guaranteed to be purely vegetable in all its remarkably effective medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. means a new history for you from now on! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

NATURAL GAS

An instant supply of fuel for your use in cooking or lighting, ready every minute of every day, without effort on your part, is so great a privilege that few people appreciate its worth.

Think for a minute of what it would mean to this community if the natural gas were shut off for forty-eight hours. Think of the expense and discomfort that must follow.

Keep It Going

Then turn your thoughts to the steady work, constant vigilance, enterprise and expenditure that are going on every minute of the twenty-four hours of every day to maintain this supply for you.

Nothing comes to people except thru work. That work may take a thousand forms and yet be presented to you so simply that you never think of all that stands behind the excellent service you enjoy.

The Lone Star Gas Company maintains 875 miles of pipe line. Every inch of it always has natural gas ready for your use. This service is possible only thru an enormous investment, a big organization and a constant sense of its responsibility and duty to the public it serves.

SOCIETY GOSSIP

Timely Little Talks Over the Teacups

An Individual on the Inside Impresses Her Opinions on Friend

People Peggy Piedmont Meets During Week.

DEAR KITTY:—Are you consulting railroad maps and figuring on the best routes to the mountains or sea shore, or are you doing exercises, dancing to the music of your Victrola and eating carrots to grow healthy, wealthy, wise and beautiful?

If you are not doing either, just let me tell you right here girlie you're in the class with Mrs. Noah, and had better go to the ark and shut the door behind you, for never was there so much talk in the world about going away for the summer and about hygiene and diet.

You know every now and then we get a fad, if we are not having all our teeth pulled out, we're taking dancing exercises to grow thinner (because as one woman said, fat people are never healthy ones) or we are asking "have you taken your iron and yeast or eaten your raisins today?" But we are a funny lot any way, aren't we?

AND on top of all this along comes the flapper and furnishes the stage its new figure and the preachers a new line of talk. But don't you think it is about time for the flapper's day to end? It seems to me that she has been in the public eye at least as long as the vamp was, and I think it is high time for her to vanish.

BY THE WAY, TALKING ABOUT flappers reminds me of the present vogue in bathing suits, which are playing a conspicuous part in styles at present while swimming parties are such a popular form of amusement these days.

A glance at the sirens who frequent Wichita Falls' swimming pools show many of the latest in this line. Scant, you say? Sure, but when socks are the fashion on the streets, why wear stockings when in bathing? Any way the weather is so suggestive of a beach or swim, which is the most refreshing refreshment anybody could enjoy, why raise the question as to the outfit that would be appropriate for such sport?

Well Kitty, I am sure that for the next two months now you are going to have to be content with hearing about our travelers, for really, the most talked of topic at present is "where are you going for the remainder of the summer?" And there is little else of interest happening these days but news of our tourists and the extended trips they are taking or are about to take.

AMONG THOSE LEAVING THIS week will be Mrs. A. H. Britain and her three small children accompanied by a cousin, Miss Mary Belle Smith of Mississipi who is her house guest for the summer. Judge Britain will go overland in the car and and make arrangements for a cottage in Denver and Miss Smith, Mrs. Britain and the children will leave Monday on the train. They will take their cook and nurse with them and establish their household for the summer. Judge Britain will return after a short stay.

Others who will locate in Denver this season will be Mrs. Montague Staniforth who with her two attractive children, Montague Jr., and Margaret, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ed Lysaght of Fort Worth, will take a cottage for the remainder of the warm season. Mrs. N. M. Clifford and her small daughter, Dorothy Bell, are already sojourning in Boulder, where they expect to remain for the next three months. Really it will be real homelike in Colorado this summer with so many Wichitans there.

OF ALL THE WONDERFUL trips though that I have heard about, none appeals to me more than the one that Mrs. W. T. Hood of Kemp Kort and Miss Helen Bingston, head nurse at the Wichita general hospital, are planning to take. These two brainy, ambitious and progressive townswomen expect to join a Reedy party at Dallas July 8, for a six weeks' tour that will be filled to the brim with scenic beauty and instruction. They will visit all the principal places of interest on the Pacific coast including Oregon, British Columbia and Alaska, as well as those in the interior such as Salt Lake City, Denver, Ranier and Glacier national parks.

Really Kitty, the only thing I know of worth doing now unless it is going bathing or to the mountains, is flying, but I guess even flyers get tired sometime and like to stop once in a while even if it is in the heat. Mr. and Mrs. Errett Williams, the interesting couple whom I have told you about before, flew over here from Fort Worth a while back and have been guests of Mrs. William's sister, Mrs. Ross Corlett for the past week.

Wednesday they went to Dallas where they will buy a new aeroplane, you know Mr. Williams' business is putting on American legion flying meets. Don't you think that would be a fascinating business? Mrs. Williams who is a real Wichita Falls girl, remembered by a score of friends as Miss Stella Bachman, wears the aviator uniform and flys with her husband. Their visits are always looked forward to with pleasure by a large number of friends.

AS SOME OF OUR SUMMER visitors leave others arrive and with the June and July brides are furnishing inspiration for many social affairs, in fact keeping the calendar for the warm months fuller that for many seasons past. The last ones in, we declare to be the most charming.

Helen Dee Rogers of Eureka Springs who is the guest of Nancy Jane Harlin and Linda Bellows of Fort Worth, Gay Gywnn's charming visitor, have been in the social limelight the past week. I can't recall a day that these two belles have not been entertained since their arrival.

Really Kitty, the younger set have not stopped going only long enough to snatch a few hours of beauty sleep, now for two solid months. I know you would like to see these two girls and know something about them. Helen Dee (isn't that a cute name) is a petite little brunette and the boys will all tell you, "the keenest little dancer" that has been here his summer. Linda is of the same type only a little taller. Both are extremely popular.

Well I do declare, I have talked along this way at great length, and haven't mentioned a word about our July brides, and we are just run over with them, as we were during June. They have at last drowned the June ones out and have usurped every privilege and favor they enjoyed.

Wednesday morning, the gong sounded for Louise Frieze, calling her to a surprise breakfast and miscellaneous shower at the Wichita club.

WILL HAVE DOUBLE WEDDING

MISS LEOTI CLARK

CLIFFORD DEATON

PAUL J. POND

MISS BLANCHE CLARK

Miss Leoti Clark and Miss Blanche Clark, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark will become the brides of Clifford Deaton and Paul J. Pond, respectively, in a double wedding which will be solemnized at the First Christian church Wednesday evening, July 12. The ceremony will be read by the grandfather of the brides-elect, Dr. Randolph Clark of Stevenville, Texas.

Mr. Deaton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Deaton and Mr. Pond is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pond. The families of both the brides and grooms-elect are among the most prominent in the city.

Mrs. Orville Bulington, and her sister, Sibyl Kell, who will be Louise's maid of honor when she weds William Middleton Graves of St. Louis, Thursday, were hostesses on this ocasion and it was indeed one of the prettiest parties given this summer. Speaking of this wedding, they say it will be different from its predecessors, and when I say that, I wonder how it could be, for it seems that we have had all there is to be had in different styles of weddings. This one will be a maiden hair fern affair and according to the plans, will be one of the very prettiest ones yet. The church will be decorated in green and white using the ferns and white tulle, and the bridesmaids and matrons will all wear pale pink crepe de chine. I know it will make a pretty picture.

Well Kitty, I believe I have told you all I can think of this time. I have invitations already to swimming parties, dinners and bridge breakfasts for this week, and if you will come down this way, you may have the pleasure of attending some of these with your friend,

PEGGY PIEDMONT.

SOCIETY NEWS OF HENRIETTA

Mrs. Fortenberry Is Hostess to Club

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, July 1.—Mrs. Sloan Fortenberry was hostess to the Wednesday afternoon club this week entertaining her guests at the Henrietta Country club. The clubroom was attractive in sunflower and daisy decorations.

Colonial punch was served during the afternoon and in place of score cards, novelties were given to those progressing which added to the afternoons' entertainment. Mrs. Fortenberry was assisted in serving by Mrs. Homer Hamm. Out-of-town guests were Mesdames W. B. Biltman, R. S. Curtis, S. L. Conn and W. B. Thurman, all of Wichita Falls. Others present were Mesdames C. K. Brown, W. H. Allen, J. H. Baldwin, H. Boddy, John Cunninghamp, C. F. Walker, F. P. Neville, Roy Snearley, B. P. Schwend, Cyrus Coleman, Arch Thompson, W. J. Mangum, J. W. Marberry, J. C. Chestnutt, L. Thaxton, W. K. Millsapp, J. O. Gilillandd, L. C. Kelly, A. J. heim.

Miss Margaret Holly was hostess to the Maids and Matrons club the twenty-third. The house decorations were shasta daisies and nasturtiums. During the afternoon orange punch was served to the players. Miss Caro Neville was awarded the prize for high score. An ice course with plate favors of pansies was served to Mesdames Carl Barker, Fred Coff, M. M. Alexander, C. O Taylor, Carl Green, J. O. Gililland; Misses Dorothy Bear, Lumay McGlasson, Mabel Edwards, Cora Neville and Maude Edwards.

Honoring Jack Tillery, the guest of Misses Maude and Martha Edwards, the following young people enjoyed a swimming party and chicken roast at the lake near Petrolia Wednesday evening: Misses Louise Allen, Mildred Allen, Nell Brown, Lois Looney, Beatrice Smith, Kathryn Cook, Bernice Erie, Maud and Marthat Edwards; Messrs. Durward Brown, Carl King, Jenks Smith, Don Dale, Rogers Kelly, Howard Puckett, Rex Gates, Herbert Cunningham, Winnard Wells, Tony Easley, Charles Hayes, Vonnie Frank, John Schwend and Leon Kerbo. The party was chaperoned by Messrs. and Mesdames C. K. Brown and B. P. Schwend.

Miss Pauline Plummer gave a delightful party Monday afternoon celebrating her twelfth birthday. After an afternoon of good times the little hostess served banana nut cream and cake with plate favors of tiny baskets of candy. Those present were Misses Ola Mae Brook, Roberta Taylor, Aachel Brown, Louise Major, Dorothy Dale, Frances Plummer, Norene and Mildred Murrell and O. T. Liles and Mann Hamm.

The Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church entertained, honoring Presiding Elder Black and wife of Wichita Falls and Miss Bailey, an outgoing missionary. A round table discussion of missions was enjoyed after which refreshments were served to about 50 guests and members. While refreshments were being served a program was given by Misses Dorothy McDonald, Allene King, Lilly Mae Younger and Viola Grace Doern.

The Neighborhood club was entertained by Miss Etta Pickens and Mrs. Jack McKenzie at the home of Mrs. W. K. Millsapp Tuesday evening. After several games of "42" an ice course was served to Messrs. and Mesdames W. H. Younger, John Ansley, W. K. Millsapp, L. C. Kelley, J. W. Marberry, L. H. Bramer, Ben W. Nutter Jr., C. K. Brown, W. R. Evans, Glen Younger, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Allison, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Moffatt; Mesdames Sloan Fortenberry, Lily Graves and W. B. Allen.

The Henrietta Country club has a new attraction in the swimming pool opened recently. The pool is 110 feet by 300 feet, graduating in depth from 2 feet to 10 feet. It has all the swimming pool paraphernalia, with nicely located dressing rooms. The pool is not concrete, but has a sand bottom, which is considered more sanitary, and it is connected with the city water supply arrangements having been made whereby it can be filled once a week. Swimming parties are being held every evening by member of the club. Much of the credit for this improvement is due to Col. Ton Weldon, president of the club, and Messrs. R. J. Brown and M. B. Powell.

HASKELL, July 1.—On Wednesday afternoon, June 28, Misses Flossie Ballard and Marylee Pinkerton entertained with a miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Bernice Long who is soon to become a bride. Miss Mabel Baldwin read the prophecy and Rev. P. W. Walthall made the presntation speech. The guests present were the donors of many beautiful and useful gifts. Dainty refreshments were served.

Pretty Wedding.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the home of Judge and Mrs. A. J. Smith on Wednesday evening, when Miss Vivian Smith became the bride of H. W. Sauer. Miss Marylee Pinkerton sang, "O Promise Me" and Miss Lillian Nell played Lohengrin's "Wedding March."

Rev. McHenry Seale united the couple, using the ring ceremony. Refreshments of punch and cake were served to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Sauer left for Waco, where they will visit, and from there to their new home in Austin.

WHISKY RUNS WILD AT NIGHT

Bottles Hurled Out Of Machine

City officers found whisky running wild Friday night.

They scented the trail of booze, according to reports made Saturday morning at police headquarters, and gave chase.

It was a veritable dog and hare chase, but the sleuths got the quarry after a while with good results.

Sighting an automobile that seemed to contain a "wild" party, the officers started after it. The occupants of the car, they said, seemed to realize they were being chased and speeded up a bit.

As they rounded a corner, Detective Tom Shook said he saw a man hurl some bottles from the vehicle. The car and its occupants were captured first, he said, then the contents of the bottles that had been thrown out.

As a result, a man named Honnaker and a man named Long were turned over to federal authorities yesterday.

The officers claimed that what they found in one bottle, which, they said, failed to break, was "moonshine" or "mountain dew."

13 HOLDS NO TERROR FOR DOUGHTY MARINE

(By International News Service.)

ATLANTA, Ga., July 1.—The number 13 has no terrors for John H. Littleton, who was accepted for enlistment in the United States Marine Corps here.

Littleton, who was the thirteenth child of a large family residing at 30th Alabama, was born April 13, 1901. He was the thirteenth applicant to fill out his blank and the thirteenth to be examined. When he took his examination he hand Sergeant Charles G. Lovett, examining officer, a bill fold which contained exactly 313, and sanwiched in between two one dollar bills were two four-leaf clovers, which the Alabaman made known were his tokens of good luck.

PROTESTS MADE AGAINST GORKI EDICT

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, July 1.—France's literary world is preparing to tap militant typewriters as a protest against the refusal of the government to permit Maxim Gorki, leading Russian novelist, the right to travel in France for failing health. A petition signed by writers, artists and other public men has been presented to the authorities. Anatole France, Romain Rolland and Henri Barbussee were among those who seconded Gorki's first request.

RADIO TALK, PARIS TO NEW YORK POSSIBLE

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, July 1.—According to Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of directors of the Radio Corporation of America, wireless telephoning between New York and Paris is within the realms of possibility. The one "big disadvantage is the difference in time between the two cities. It is possible, however, that modifications in this matter will be attempted in order that stock exchange transactions may be feasible between France and America by telephone.

CAVE MAN STUFF LEADS TO DIVORCE

(By International News Service.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 1.—Because her husband was a cave man and bobbed her hair in defiance of her wishes, Mrs. Mae G. Tork was granted a divorce in Judge Thomas E. Buckner's court here.

Mrs. Tork testified that her husband, John Tork, forcibly bobbed her hair.

"Don't you like bobbed hair?" asked Judge Buckner quizzically.

"Well, it may be stylish, but I don't care for it and besides my husband put glue on mine after cutting it," the plaintiff explained.

FAMOUS HOTEL GOES ON BLOCK

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, July 1.—The Hotel de la Paiva, last of the mansions on the Champs Elysee that made that boulevard the center of Paris during the reign of Emperor Napoleon III, has been put on the market. Friends of old Paris fear the building will be torn down, following the fate, one after another, of the palaces of the Prince Napoleon, of Jules de Lesseps, of the Duke of Brunswick, of Emile de Girardin, and of the Count of Quinsonas.

INDIANA SLEUTH LOSES OUT IN CITY

(By International News Service.)

TOLEDO, July 1.—"I was three years a policeman and nine years a detective in Grand Rapids, Mich., and after being in Toledo five minutes some slicker picked my pocket for $40," said Edgar A. Clark, of South Bend, Ind.

He reported that the pickpocket got his purse at Union Station upon his arrival.

THIEF SURPES PHONE FROM POOL ROOM

(By International News Service.)

DECATUR, Ill., July 1.—This is not the tale of the lost chord but of the lost cord to which was attracted one perfectly godo telephne. Continuing our story, a money box filled with coins was attached to the telephone, all of which some thief made away with by slipping the cord. The theft was made in a crowded pool room.

YANK MAJOR BOSSES RHINELAND

(By International News Service.)

COBLENZ, July 1.—Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, commanding the American forces in Germany, will retain supreme command here, in spite of the replacing of many American regiments by French organizations. The French general of the Fourth Bridage of Dragoons has put himself under General Allen's orders. The American courts-martial will continue, in spite of the decrease in the number of American troops billeted, to hold authority over the civilian

RUPERT HUGHES STORY TO SHOW

"Come On Over" At Empress

Rupert Hughes has duplicated the feat of writing another comedy, as fine and entertaining, in a different style, as was his "Scratch My Back," the comedy hit of two seasons ago. The new comedy from his pen is called "Come On Over." It will be seen at the Empress theatre for three days, beginning Monday. It was produced by Goldwyn, the corporation which films all of the eminent novelist's scenarios.

Mr. Hughes has taken as a heroine a young Irish girl, Moyna Killiea, who is left behind by Shane O'Mealio, when he goes to American, with the promise that he will soon send for her. But Shane has ill luck in New York, included in which is the fact that Judy Grady falls in love with him, because he has helped to get a job for her father and induced him to promise to let liquor alone. Also, he's out of a job so much that he can't save up enough money to send for Maynat.

The girl is brought over by friends and she finds Judy and Shane planning to go to the priest's because Judy's father has consented to take the temperance pledge. Moyna thinks they are going to be married and the tantrum into which she flies keep the comedy hitting the high spots of fun till the very end.

It is in this role that Miss Moore emerges a comedienne of parts. Her triumph is as great as it was in the role of the ungainly girl who develops into a beauty in Mr. Hughes' photoplay, "The Wall Flower." She never misses a laugh nor does she ever broaden a comedy situation into farce.

Alfred Green directed "Come On Over," in close association with the author. The cast is exceptional in every way; Ralph Graves plays the role of Shane, giving a performance comparable, in its entirely different way, to his great achievement in "Dream Street." J. Farrell MacDonald, Monti Collins, Harold Holland, James Marcus, Florence Drew, Mary Warren, Kathleen O'Connor and Elinor Hancock are in the cast.

"Come On Over" is the kind of photoplay that pleases everybody and wins new friends for the theatre showing it.

Cline Completes 200 Barrel Well

A 200-barrel well, according to the initial 24-hour guage, ending Saturday, has been completed of the Cline Oil company's No. 1, Waggoner, in the Gibson survey, in the 1,500-foot sand, drilled the first of the week.

This new well's interest lies in it's location south of the original South Electra pool, and in a territory considered partially condemned for the shallower sand.

Harding Signs Army Appropriation Bill

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The army appropriation bill carrying approximately $271,000,000 and proviniding for an enlisted personnel of 125,000 and an officer strength of 12,000 was signed by President Harding today, the last day before the new fiscal year.

FIFTY-SEVEN HORSES ENTERED IN HANDICAP

(By International News Service)

WINDSOR, Ont., July 1.—Fifty-seven high class thoroughbreds have been entered to places in the $10,000 Frontier Handicap, scheduled as the feature even at the opening, July 13, of the Windsor Jockey Club's summer meeting.

Commander J. K. L. Ross of Montreal is the largest nominator. He has named Boniface, Baby Grand, Sailing R. Muttkins, Registrar and Spanish Maize.

The Rancocas stable has asked for stabling space for a quartette of its leading stake horses, while Sam Hildreth is expected to bring Mad Hatter, Knobble, Grey Lag and Thundercap.

The Sengram stable has named Golden Shhere, Parisian Diamond and Brilliant Jester, ther last year's British importations, and Mode.

Exterminator, claimed to be the greatest handicap horse of the present racing era, will be a starter, according to Willish Sharpe Kilmer, his owner. Best Pal and Bit of White have been entered by E. A. Bradley, the Kentucky breeder.

OHIO HOUSE WELL EQUIPPED, COPS SAY

(By International News Service.)

NEWARK, Ohio, July 1.—"The house of 1,000 mysteries" is the designation applied by local police officials to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Iacsa here.

When oficers recently raided the Iacsa home, they said, Mrs. Iacsa, known to the police as "Hunky Mary," sought to destroy the small amount of "evidence" by overturning the bottle containing it.

By using rags, however, the officials soaked up the stuff and squeezed it back into the bottle. Analysis by Chemist Ray Belt disclosed that the fluid contained over 2 per cent of alcohol, it is claimed.

Before leaving the place officials made a thorough search. The found push buttons, spring locks, trapdoors, trawstrings, and disappearing shelves they said, where alleged illicit booze was kept.

CLARENDON BUYS CITY HALL BUILDING

Special to the Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, July 1.—The trade was concluded the first of the week, whereby, the city of Clarendon becomes the owner of the Cantelou building across the street north of the ice factory. The front of the building is being remodeled and put in shape for a city hall. The offices will be moved into the new building the first of the month.

MAE COMES BACK IN ANOTHER DANCE

When movie goers view the feature booked by the Strand, they will see a picture filmed at a race which lately was famous throughout the country. The setting and props, jockeys and all, are from a week-day scene at one of the popular American turfs.

THRILLING FILM NOW AT STRAND

Queen Of The Turf Is Actuality

Those who enjoy the thrills(and nearly every one does) of a "neck and neck' race, with love, honor, money "n'everything" at stake will be happy to learn that "Queen of the Turf," a picture of "just such a race" will be presented the first half of this week at the Strand.

The picture is based on an interesting and well constructed plot but we'll just mention a few of the "highlights" now and let the reader get the plot later at the show.

The race scene was taken at a real honest-to-goodness race, and it's all there—the crowded grandstands, the stables, the jockeys weighing in, the paddock, the betting ring. And the winning jockey is a girl.

As a birthday present, the heroine is given "Alert," another "Man-o'-War," by Dennis O'Hara, a neighbor, who is in love with her. This same Dennis also helps the girl's brother pay his gambling debts. "Alert" is entered in the big race of the seson. Crooks attempt to frame the event against the horse. The plot is discovered. The girl takes the place of the bought jockey and rides "Alert" to victory. Dennis, finding another man in love with the heroine, withdraws from the lave race.

The picture has its intense moments. There is the fight in the gambling palace, the airplane race of the girl to the side of her brother in the hospital and her dash from the hospital to the track in an auto, the plot to throw the race and the race itself. All of which tend to make "Queen of the Turf" one of the most spectacular productions of it's kind in recent years.

A WASHDAY HINT.

Before putting a garment with snap fasteners through the wringer, snap the fasteners together. This will prevent the little knob from being crushed and broken.

MAE MURRAY IN NEW FILM

Dancing Feature Of "Fascination"

In "Fascination," Mae Murray's latest production, presented by Robert Z. Leonard at the Olympic theater on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday the famous Metro star turns to Spain for her background.

In "Fascination" she appears as the daughter of a Spanish father and an American mother. The combination of the Latin temperament and the Anglo-Saxon gives Miss Murray a wonderful opportunity to do remarkable acting as Dolores De Lisa. She portrays the part of a young girl who, revolting against the chaperonage of an aunt, decides to give herself a holiday. Disguising herself in a black wig and holiday garb she attends a bull fight against the wishes of her aunt. At the bull fight she meets Carrita, a handsome young toreador, who fascinates her immediately. It is this fascination that supplies the main motive for the play for under its spell Dolores becomes involved in a series of breath-taking incidents.

The scenes are elaborate and lavish. All maintain the romantic flavor of Spain, and are complete in technical detail.

In "Fascination" Mae Murray adds another famous characterization to her already notable gallery of portraits. All the primitive passion of the Spanish girl is conveyed strikingly by the popular star. In this picture, too, she performs several Spanish dances which even natives declare are every bit the original.

An unusually strong supporting cast has been assembled for the picture. Among them may be mentioned Helen Ware, Creighton Hale, Vincent Coleman, Courtney Foote, Chas. Lane, Robert Frazer and Emily Fitzroy.

ST. LOUIS GOES ON WATER WAGON

(By International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Deprived of its 4 per cent beer, South St. Louis, erstwhile center of the brewing industry, has taken to water.

Water Commissioner Wall told the Board of Public Service that since prohibition the consumption of water in South St. Louis has increased enormously. And at his recommendation the board approved the expenditure of $190,000 for a new pump in the district capable of supplying an additional 20,000,000 gallons of water daily.

PREFERS DEATH TO PRISON TERM

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, July 1.—"I would rather die than go to prison," Princess Gagarine, condemned to five years labor by the Soviet Tribunal, at Moscow, is reported to have told her captors. True to her word, she has addressed a formal request to the tribunal to have her sentence changed to that of death.

HUGHES FINDS TOO MUCH WORK

Says 24 Hours Makes Very Full Day

A twenty-four-hour day, with no time off for even thinking of other things, is Gareth Hughes' idea of what constitutes a soft snap for a movie star when he is working on a production.

That is the theory the youthful Metro star applied to his latest starring picture, "Garments of Truth," a George D. Baker production for S-L (Arthur Sawyer-Herbert Lubin) Pictures, released by Metro, which will be shown Monday at the Gem Theatre.

With never a thought that it might be a severe strain upon him, the youthful and enthusiastic star stuck to his schedule of seven days a week during the making of the picture and every one of those days was from six o'clock in the morning until nine at night.

Then, just to show that he needed a little relaxation from the toil of appearing before the camera, Mr. Hughes would put in several hours figuring out novel ways and means of making the fanatic stunts and settings in the picture still more novel. It made no difference to him that his friends would want to enlist him for some social affair or for a party to the beach. Hughes was not at home to anything not connected with the making of the picture, and this through one of the hottest summers that the motion picture colony had ever known in California.

And with such a stickler for work it was no wonder that the other members of his company all voted that from their experience in working with him in making "Garments of Truth," those who desired to be seen in pictures with Gareth Hughes should take a course of training in physical endurance before the actual work of filming started so they could keep up the pace set by the slender star.

"Garments of Truth" was adapted from the story of Freeman Tilden in Pictorial Review.

Fifteen Minutes of Radio a Day

By EDWARD N. DAVIS

(Formerly Technical Electrical Expert for United States Government)

THE ALTERNATING CURRENT GENERATOR.

For marine installations, in the operation of radio communication from ship to shore, the alternating curent generator is in general use as a source of electrical energy. When installed on a vessel, it is usually mechanically rotated, by being coupled to a motor, and converts this mechanical energy into electrical energy for use in the operation of the radio transmitter. The method by which the alternating current generator develops electrical energy will be explained in this lesson.

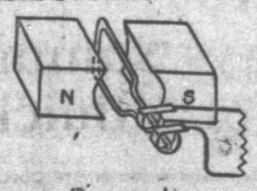

Diagram 1

When a coil of wire revolves in a magnetic field, of constant strength, and the lines of forces through the coil increase or decrease at a uniform rate, an electrical current is induced in the coil. The amount of this induced curent depends upon the rapidity of rotation, of the coil, and the strength of the magnetic field through which it cuts. The current through the magnetic field and in the reverse direction during the other half revolution. In other words, an alternating current is developed by the revolution of this closed coil of wire in the magnetic field. In its simplest form an alternating curent generator is shown in diagram 1, where a single coil revolves in the magnetic field established by the magnetic poles (N) and (S).

The ends of the coil are connected to rings, called collector rings, and an outside circuit connected to brushes which bear upon the surface of the rings. Revolution of the coil induces a current which alternates back and forth through the external circuit of load (L). If this arrangement is further developed by revolving many coils of wire in a strong magnetic field formed by several pairs of magnetic poles, we have the alternating current generator in present use.

The following diagram 2 shows the essntial features of a four-pole alternating curent generator.

In this generator a strong magnetic field is produced by the four field poles (N), (S), (N), (S), each of which consists of a coil of wire wound around an iron core which is [illegible] from frame of the generator. Direct curent, from an outside source (D) usually at a pressure of 110 volts, flows through these coils of wire wound in opposite directions so that adjoining field poles have an alternately north and south polarity. The amount of current passing though these coils, from the outside source, is regulated by a variable resistance (R) included in the circuit. This resistance is commonly known as a field rheostat.

The flow of curent through the field coil is accompanied by magnetic lines of force or magnetic flux which follows the path shown by the dotted lines and in a direction indicated by the arows from a field pole of north polarity to an adjacent pole of south polarity.

In place of the single coil shown in the previous elementary diagram we now have a revolving element (A) commonly known as the armature, consisting of many coils of wire wound longitudinally on a cylindrical core constructed of thin sheets of soft iron fastened firmly together. Proper connection of these coils causes the pressure generated in one coil to be added to that generated in the adjacent coil and the induced currents to flow, at any given moment in the same general direction. The resultant induced current is alternating in character and is collected by the brushes in contact with the collector rings (C) and (C1) from which it flows to the external load (AC).

The pressure usually generated for the purpose of the radio transmitter varies from 110 to 500 volts.

NEW STEPHENS IS ON STREET

James Motors Get Popular Models

Among the cars to be shown at the Shrine Circus Automobile Show, is the new Stephens four passenger sport model, at the James Motor company. Acording to A. M. James of the company, this is one of the most popular models Stephens has produced and is meeting with great popularity in all parts of the country.

"It's a great car," said Mr. James, quoting the selling slogan recently adopted by the Stephens people on their advertising, "and she is going to go big." The Stephens at its new price, $1595, f. o. b. factory, is $865 under last year prices, and the new improvements on this year's models are $300 more than on any former model."

The company received a new shipment of cars last week, among them a 3-passenger sport model, a sport roadster, and a 4-passenger touring. Prior to this time, James Motor company have had the agency for the Winton, Cole and Liberty, in addition to the Stephens. From now on it is their intention, according to Mr. James to handle only the Stephens. The service departments on the other lines will be continued however, and Cole and Winton owners will have the advantage of the same standards of service as heretofore.

"Its the day of the medium priced car," says Mr. James and both Mr. Went and myself believe that we have one of the best really medium priced cars on the market in the new Stephens.

BLOW-OUTS

W. K. White, a well known and popular salesman of the Excelsior Motor Co., has severed his connection with the Studebaker agency and tomorrow morning will begin the rounds as Stephens salesman for James Motor Co. Mr. White will be in charge of the James booth at the Shrine Auto show this week.

"Hereafter you will know us by another name," says Mr. Frank Keim of the Keim Motor Co. All literature and advertising matter from the company hereafter will bear the name, Keim Motor Co., instead of Excelsior Motor Co., as heretofore.

Lloyd Weaver will spend the Fourth in Fort Worth watching the Spudders in their first game of the season with the cars.

Al Booth of the Overland Motors Co., and captain of the Shrine Baseball team, left with the ball team for Austin where they will play on the fourth.

McFall Brothers delivered a Graham Dodge Brothers chemical fire truck to the city of Abilene last week. Roy Miller, field representative for McFall made the delivery. Miller also delivered a 1½-ton truck to the Kemp Mill & Elevator company at Vernon Thursday. D. A. Carson, district representative of Dodge Brothers was in the city Tuesday, visiting the local Dodge Brothers dealer here.

"You can tell them the local Oakland agency is going strong," said Arthur Huff of the Arthur Huff Motor Co., formerly known as Marthel-Huff company and just to prove it handed the automobile editor this list of sales for the last two weeks: W. C. Camp, Electra, Oakland sport model; R. R. McGee and A. M. Cherry, Electra, a sport model each; John Livingston of Burkburnett, an Oakland roadster; Hollis Jewell, Electra, and C. R. Burrows, Wichita, both Oakland roadsters; W. R. McCurdy of Wichita Falls, a Jordan 5-passenger.

Paul Von Allmen of the Von Allmen Motor Sales, Chevrolet dealer, attended the convention of Chevrolet dealers held in Fort Worth Friday.

HUDSON AND ESSEX SLASHED

Several Models Are Affected

"Hudson and Essex prices again reduced," this was the good news Lloyd Weaver company received Saturday. It came as a complete surprise to the local agency but nevertheless joyfully.

"We were going good at the old prices," said Claude Hull, manager of Lloyd Weaver company. "With this new reduction, watch our speed."

The reduction is effective at once and as follows: 7-passenger Hudson phaeton, speedster and coach reduced $50. Essex cabriolet reduced, $100. Essex coach reduced $50. No other Hudson or Essex models are effected by the reduction.

It has been computed that the average man speaks in the course of a year 11,000,000 words.

JUNE BANNER MONTH FOR MOTOR SUPPLY

"June was our banner month," said Captain W. S. Langford of the Motor Supply company yesterday. "And we are going to beat June this month." The Motor Supply company delivered 250 Ford cars last month, from the local agency, the Electra and Burkburnett agencies. The cars were all new jobs and did not include used cars, trucks or Fordson tractor sales.

"We are receiving better shipments from the factory now," said Mr. Langford. "This was a serious handicap to us last month. That is why we predict the banner month for July."

Touring Car In Road Use Confirms Show Triumph

THE beauty of line, smart style and rich appointments of the new Five Passenger Chandler Touring Car made it a dominating sensation in all the shows of 1922.

The admiration the car won on display is now being confirmed in performance.

Then, the body triumphed.

Now, the chassis is proving its superiority.

The combination of the body of beauty and chassis of might is profoundly satisfying to thousands of purchasers who are using this model over all road conditions throughout the United States.

Such a body and such a chassis make a value not to be duplicated at anywhere near Chandler's low price.

DODGE DEALERS GO TO SCHOOL

Factory Institutes Training Classes

Julian McFall and three of the mechanics from the service department of McFall Brothers are in Abilene this week attending the Dodge Brothers Traveling Service School. The service school is an annual affair with Dodge Brothers and is conducted by representatives sent out from the factory to train the various service men of the Dodge Brothers agencies throughout the country. The Perry Paxton Motor Co., Dodge Brothers dealers in Abilene, are hosts to the various dealers of the Dallas, West Texas and North West Texas district. The meeting this year is being conducted by Mr. Wade of Detroit, a representative from the factory.

ST. LOUIS CARS TAKE ALL TOKENS

(By International News Service.)

ST. LOUIS, JULY 1.—Travelers jumping from one city to another often find street car tokens from far-off towns in their pockets. The general idea seems to be that such coins are worthless except in the towns where they are sold.

The trekker meditates on throwing the checks away as useless impedimenta, or saving them on the chance of returning to their home town. What to do, what to do?

The answer is come to St. Louis. The United Railways company here accepts coins from all cities that use tokens for fare.

Chandler Motors Shows Recognition Of Long Service Cars With Emblem

There are radiator emblems galore but possibly the most distinctive has just made its apearanc on an exclusive list of cars in a score of states constituting the members of the Chandler 100,000 Mile Club.

The emblem of the club is an oblong brass plate bearing the legend "Chandler 100,000 Mile Club Member" on a background of blue enamel.

Members of the club are Chandler owners who have driven their cars in excess of 100,000 miles. Their average mile is 127,658.

Included in this club is the owner of the first car that was shipped from the Chandler factory when operations began nine years ago. The car has been driven 250,000 miles and still giving good service to its Boston owner.

The state of Washington leads in the number of members with eight enrollments; California and Matasachusetts are tied with six each and Pennsylvania follows with five. Eighteen states are represented.

Franklin Dealer Shows Antiquated Model Which is Veteran of Road

Carl Wealder, manager of the local Franklin agency, has a Franklin on display in his salesrooms that is of interest to every motor enthusiast. The car is a 1912, series 2, Franklin with a service record of 117,000 miles. Mr. Wealder purchased the car from M. W. Boger, of Vernon, who bought the automoblie originally in 1911, and drove it until three years ago. As cars go this old '12 model has had some experiences that few cars have seen, or few owners have experienced.

While traveling up in Oklahoma about three years ago, Mr. Boger got into a severe rain storm. Not trusting the faithful old Franklin to bring him safely back home, he abandoned it there and came on down into Texas, leaving the car out in the weather where it remained until a few days ago. Mr. Walder heard of the car and obtained the owner's permission to bring it here. Last Sunday Mr. Wealder, accompanied by J. L. Lomax of the Franklin agency, went after the car.

"We didn't take a crew of mechanics up with us," said Mr. Wealder, "nor did we spend a lot of time getting the car in shape. We did fill her up with five gallons of gas, a gallon of oil, changed one spark plug, cranked her and drove her in, a distance of 18 miles.

"Three of the original tires are still on the bus, acording to Mr. Boger, and from the looks of her and the way she runs, she will do several thousand miles more, if given a chance. It's a Franklin, you can't wear 'em out," says Carl.

Marmon Offers Model To Best Guesser

The visitor to the booth of the Fritz Motor Co. at the Shrine Auto show, during the showing of the "tear-down" demonstration, who comes closest to guessing the weight of the miniature Marmon engine, which is on display there, will be rewarded with the presentation of the engine itself.

This faithful reproduction of the standard engine, built to a one-quarter scale, will be on display at the Marmon salesroom the entire week.

The contest is open to all visitors at the "tear-down" demonstration. Contestants will fill out cards prepared for the purpose, giving their estimate of the weight. These cards will be filed until the close of the contest, which will be on the last night off the demonstration, July 8.

On the close of the time limit for the guessing, the engine will be weighed and the winner announced. In case of two or more guesses tieing for first place, the winner will be decided by lot. No one connected in any way with the Marmon organization will be permitted to enter the contest.

FISHERMAN KILLED BY WIRE

(By International News Service)

SHARP GOES TO SELL GENERALS

Well Known Dealer With Dixie Tires

B. G. Sharpe, formerly of the Fritz Motor company, entered the ranks as General tire salesman at the Dixie Tire Service company, yesterday. B. G. is well known along auto row, having been with Fritz Motor company as D. L. Fritz's right-hand man for several months past.

B. G. purchased the interests of Jack Hale, a former partner of Pat Jarrett and Paul Putty, in the General agency here. As a salesman and all around automobile man he ranks among the best of them and the Dixie Tire feels fortunate in obtaining his services.

Sharpe says he is strong for General tires and the organization selling them here.

Marmon Tear-Down Popular Attraction

After four exhibitions it is clear that the tear-down demonstration of the Marmon motor is proving very much of a sensation. Three exhibits have been given in Wichita Falls and in Electra and each time a large number of people have watched with interest the work of John Lafkin, master mechanic from the Nordyke-Marmon factory, and Foreman Kerley of the local Marmon shop. At each exhibition these men have completely torn down and rebuilt a standard Marmon motor in something less than an hour.

Winnipeg is to have a large office building for the exclusive use of physicians and dentists.

June Sales Break All Records for Ford Cars in Wichita County

Last month was a great month for Ford in Wichita County. Two hundred and fifty new Ford cars were delivered to various owners, setting a new sales record for this section, and this in the face of an unusual car shortage.

From Present Indications July Sales Will Exceed the Sales in June

With the promise of increased shipments from the factory, July sales will no doubt exceed those of June. The economy of Ford operation, it's low initial output, and general all-around uses, meet a widespread popularity and a demand that is universal. You may pay more but you can't get more in real automobile essentials than are offered in the Ford.

New Wells at Bunger and Electra Make Interesting Week

FOSTER WELL BROUGHT IN

New Bunger Well Gets Lime, 3650 Ft.

Bunger's most interesting well this past week was the No. 1 Mehaney of Fred B. Foster, which is flowing 300 barrels natural, from the lime at 3650 feet.

The Byrens Development company's No. 1 Mehaney, which had a showing last week in the 3600-foot level, is now reported under reaming 5 3-16 around 3500-foot level.

The Horner well of Eggers et al has been finally completed as a gasser, making 4,000,000 feet of gas, in the lime at 4170 feet.

The Monroe Production company's No .2 Askew is making 100 barrels of oil while cleaning out in the lime at 3840 feet.

The Bunger district still leads in drilling activity, with a number of tests in three different pools being reported nearing sand depths.

In the extreme eastern extension there have been several new tests started within the past week or two, which should provide interesting news within a few weeks.

The No. 1 Kisinger of Colcord et al is spudding in this week.

Crawford and Harrison's No. 1 Kisinger is drilling around 1200 feet.

The Sinclair Oil and Gas No. 1 Kisinger, is drilling around 1250 feet, and the No. 2 and No. 3 are locations.

In the river bed, not far from the Sinclair tests, the Tyrell interests are building a break water, and getting ready to drill their No. 1.

Tyrell's No. 2 J. C. Williams is reported drilling around 600 feet and the No. 1 C. M. Williams is reported drilling below 2450 feet.

Mahlstadt and Mook's No. 2-A Williams, is a rig, the No .1 J. S. Williams is spudding and the No. 2 J. S. Williams is reported drilling around 700 feet.

The No. 2 Costello of Pitzer and West, offsetting the old well that has been producing for more than a year from a 1700-foot sand, is drilling around 450 feet.

The Revere Oil company's No. 1 Costello is reported drilling around 330 feet, and the No. 2 was spudded in this week.

The No. 2 Roark of the Ralco Petroleum company, offsetting the big well which has held its production steadily for the past two months, is reported fishing around 2975 feet.

The Penn Cities and McGar, No. 1 Herron, was reported a gas well earlier in the week. It is in the gas sand at 2340 feet.

The No. 3 Herron of the Penn Cities company is drilling below 2150 feet.

The No. 1 Farmer of the Revere Oil company, is reported temporarily shut down around 2440 feet.

The No. 1 Rhodes of the Nelson Oil company is drilling at 4050 feet.

The New Domain Oil company is reported moving in tools for the No. 2 Lynn.

The Texas Company's No. 1 Jake Jones, offsetting the big Roark well, is reported drilling around 2,000 feet, and the No. 2 on the same lease is rigging up.

The Whitehead and Henson No. 1 Herron is reported drilling below 600 feet.

The No. 1 Herron of Whitehead et al is drilling around 540 feet and the No. 2 is a rig.

The Sun company's No. 1 Whittenberg is drilling around 870 feet. The same company's No. 1 Ferguson is drilling around 355 feet.

The No. 1 Greenwade of Collett and O'Keefe is reported drilling around 1425 feet.

The No. 1 Lynn of the Detroit-Mexia syndicate is reported drilling around 1020 feet.

The Elk Basin consolidated No. 7 Driver is drilling around 1300 feet.

The No. 1 Parsons of the Barnes Production company is shut down around 2570 feet.

The No. 1 Greenwade of McKenzie et al is drilling around 2240 feet.

The No. 1 Hall of the Hallmack Oil company is reported drilling around 3240 feet.

The No. 1 Durham of Fred B. Fister, is drilling around 2765 feet.

The No. 1 Herron of Meeks et al is reported shut down below 1200 feet.

In Older Pools.

At South Bend, and in the old McCluskey-Graham pool, there has been practically nothing new in the way of developments during the week.

The Panhandle Refinery reports no new results from the shooting of the lime at 3460 feet. There was a heavy gas showing in this lime, and an effort is now being made to shut off the water, after a big shot of nitro was given.

The Panhandle's No. 18 McCluskey is shut down around 2600 feet and the No. 19 is down 300 feet.

W. C. Conner's No. 8 McCluskey is drilling around 1900 feet.

The No. 8 McCluskey of the Eureka Production company is shut down around 2,800 feet.

The No. 10 M. K. Graham of the Godley Oil company, is drilling around 900 feet.

South Bend.

The North American Oil and Refining company's No. 5 Scott, which had a show for a nice producer in a lime at 3980 feet, is held up in completion by a fishing job, according to reports from the field.

The North American's No. 6 Scott is under reaming for six inch at 2,200 feet, the No. 9 drilling around 2,400 feet, and the No. 8 is fishing around 1700 feet.

The No. 6 Ford, lease A of the Roxanna, is on the oil sand at 1800 feet.

The No. 2 Payne, which has been producing oil and gas at 3,900 feet since last week, has dropped off production, it is reported, and will probably be drilled deeper, and given a further test.

Bergdoll Suit For Property Dismissed

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The suit of Mrs. Emma G. Bergdoll of Philadelphia against the alien property custodian for return of about $200,000 worth of property seized as belonging to her son, Grover C. Bergdoll, the draft evader, was dismissed today without prejudice by Justice Jennings Bailey, in the District of Columbia supreme court. Mrs. Bergdoll's refusal at the trial recently of her suit to produce certain documentary evidence emanded by counsel for the government and to answer certain questions on cross-examination was given by Justice Bailey as the reason for dismissal of the action. He said the court's action would not affect Mrs. Bergdoll's status in a new proceeding if she decided to answer properly questions and submit for examination the desired documents.

SANDERS PLANS DEEPER TEST

Old Producer to Go Below 1900

A rather important test for the deep oil at Electra which has been found to underly the 1900 foot lime in the new wells in the south pool, is to be conducted by the Sanders Taylor Oil company in one of their old producers on the Douglas, more than a mile north of the Gulf's Jennings 1-A, which got a nice well in the 1900 foot sand.

The Sanders Taylor No. 6 Douglas has been producing from the 1900 foot lime, it is stated, for a long time, and is now to be drilled deeper, in hopes of finding the true sand below.

The past week again failed to show any developments which would indicate a real pool has been opened up by the Gulf's Jennings discovery well. The Gulf Production company's No. 3 Jennings, north offset to the discovery wel, was completed, and is making around 15 barrels, flush, hardly a commercial producer.

The sand at 1980 feet which the Kruger et al No. 1 Waggoner, to the west of the Jennings discovery well, drilled, after failing to get production in the regular depth, also failed to make a producer, and it is understood that this test is to be abandoned.

Across the road, and about a half mile north of the No. 1 Jennings, the Gulf's No. 1 Douglas, is reported with casing set on a sand below 1900 feet, and waiting to drill in.

The No. 1 Jennings continues to produce a little less than a hundred barrels on the pump, it is reported.

The Cumley et al No. 1 Jennings a mile south of the Gulf well, also reported holding up to its original production in a satisfactory manner, from the 1700 foot sand. The No. 2 on this lease is under way.

South of the Cumley test the No. 1 Jennings of the National Oil Fields company is drilling around 1500 feet.

On the Gulf's Burnett C lease, in the north end of the original South Electra pool, two 1900 foot wells are being completed.

Offsetting this lease on the south is the Lincoln and McDannald where the No. 5 is also reported drilling in sand at 1900 feet.

HUNTER'S WELL IN 1600 FOOT SAND

T. F. Hunter's No. 2 Edberts North Fowlkes, is reported on the 1600 foot sand, with casing set and preparing to drill in. This is the first 1600 foot test to be drilled in this pool for several weeks, failures in various directions from the discovery well discouraging drilling to the deeper sand.

The Magnolia completed a 10 barrell well in the 700 foot sand this past week and has started on an offset, to be drilled to the 700 foot sand also. These are on Duke A lease.

1900 EXTENSION I S PROMISED

1500 Sand South Of Shallow Opened

Promise of a half mile extension westward of the 1900 foot sand in the new west pool, South Electra, opening up the 1500 foot sand, south of the original South Electra shallow pool, beyond dry holes; a new 700 foot sand still further south of the main pool, and a new thousand foot sand in the west pool, section 31, featured developments in the Electra district this past week, as far as new possibilitoies were concerned.

The John O'Neil No. 3 Rio Bravo, is on the sand at 1920 feet, and is testing. This is the sand that has been the goal in the several tests on this lease, the shallower sands being passed up until the deep could be tested out. An immediate completion and test is hoped for.

The Rio Bravo's No. 1 Fee, offsetting the Harvey-Cullum No. 6, is reported testing out a sand at 1030 feet; the first sand at this depth yet encountered in his new west pool.

The South Electra district seems to be running true to form in the new operations, with operators successful in skipping a dry hole a few locations and picking up a good sand. This conclusion is aided by the Cline Oil company's No. 1 Waggoner, Gibson survey, brought in this week in the 1500 foot sand, just a few locations from early failures in the semi-deep sand. The well was originally intended for a 1900 foot test, but the 1500 foot pay looks particularly good and it will be completed here. While preparations were made to rig up the pump the well started flowing, making the prospects even better than at first indicated.

The new far south 700 foot well is the Wakefield Oil company's No. 1 Wagoner a 25 barrel producer, and reported about a mile south of the Planet's Waggoner producers.

Completions this week have been rather limited in number. In the original South Electra pool two new 1800 foot wells are reported, neither of large size. The No. 11 Bridwell and Heydrick is estimated at 50 barrels, and the No. 40 Burnett of the Planet Petroleum company is reported a 75 barrel well.

The Hobbs Oil company's No. 68 Burnett-Gladiolus is reported a 300 barrel well, in the 1900 foot sand, and a new Planet Petroleum well, the No. 43 Burnett is reported also good for 300 barrels.

The Texas Company, which has the lead in new drilling in the field, has a number of wells scheduled for completion early this week, both in the older South Electra pool, and in the west side, offsetting the Harvey-Cullum and Allingham leases. Nos. 217, 223 and 225 Waggoner, are reported in process of drilling in, all on the deep sand.

The No. 227 Waggoner, offsetting a 1500 foot producer on the Harvey Cullum lease, is waiting for cement to set, as is No. 229.

The No. 230, offsetting a Planet Petroleum producer on the Burnett, has cemented casing on top of the sand at 1595 feet.

The No. 219 Wagoner is swedging 6⅝ pipe at 1898 feet.

The No. 229 Wagoner, offsetting Eureka Production company's 1500 foot producers, is reported down 1500 feet.

The No. 226, in the Texas Company's warehouse yards, on the edge of Electra, is drilling around 260 feet.

The No. 85 Stringer is rigging up cable tools at 1350 feet.

The No. 220 Waggoner is drilling around 1,000 feet. The No. 221 Waggoner is drilling around 870 feet. The No. 231 Wagoner is drilling around 1600 feet. The No. 232 Waggoner is drilling around 1750 feet. The No. 233 Wagoner is drilling around 1670 feet, and the No. 234 Wagoner drilling around 1100 feet.

The Griswold Oil company has two more wells on the 1900 foot sand, on their original Burnett lease, the No. 26 and 27 Burnett.

On their Burnett B, lease, the old Bryan Oil Corporation lease, the No. 11 is reported drilling around 1,000 feet.

The No. 8 on the original Burnett is rigged up to drill deeper from 1500 feet.

The Griswold Company has started an offset to the Shamrock deep producers, on the Waggoner, Gibson survey, the No. 1 Wagoner E, being drilling around 600 feet. This test is an offset on the south, to the Shamrock lease.

The Shamrock's No. 3 Waggoner is reported drilling around 1900 feet, and the No. 4 is drilling around 1300 feet. No. 5 is a rig, and No. 6 is reported a location. The No. 2 drilled into the sand the first of the week, and showing up for a nice producer, is being put on the pump.

This southwest section of the original South Electra pool, as it has recently been widened out, by the 1900 foot sand discoveries, is also of interest because of the Cline Oil company's 1500 foot well, completed this week.

On the Griswold Wagoner A lease, where a 1900 foot well was completed several months ago, several of the shallower sands were encountered, the log shows. Since the completion of the Cline well at 1500 feet, more drilling, and for the shallower sands, is anticipated.

Three new tests are under way in the vicinity of the Grisham, Brown and McCallister discovery well of the 1600 foot sand in section 34, two and a half miles south of the Harvey-Cullum and Texas Company producers, section 31, and more than a mile west of the original pool. The No. 2 of Grisholm et al is riging up. Offsetting the discovery well on the east, Hockaday and Shaw are rigging up, and in section 35, about a mile south of the discovery well, M. J. Bashara et al No. 1 Wagoner is rigging up.

In section 27, west of the Grisham well, the Panhandle Refinery's No. 1 Waggoner is reported rigging up over the second, the first one being junked.

VERNON COUPLE WEDS

Special to the Record News.

VERNON, Texas, July 1.—K. G. McDonald and Mrs. J. L. Phillips, both of Vernon, were united in marriage Monday at high noon by Thomas Milholland, pastor of the Church of Christ, at his home here. Only a few friends of the couple witnessed the ceremony. The newly married pair left on the noon train for Galveston for a 10 days' stay.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hise of this city and her family is well known locally. Mr. McDonald has been living in Vernon for 15 years and has been manager of the Empire laundry for 12 years.

Recently a man in England took out an insurance policy to cover himself against the birth of a daughter when he desired a son.

G. Swope.

Twenty-nine years ago the records of the General Electric company showed "G. Swope, helper, $1 per day." Today the records show "G. Swope, president, General Electric company." In less than 30 years he has risen to the head of the largest electrical equipment manufacturing company in the world.

GULF COAST FIELDS BEING INSPECTED

AUSTIN, Texas, July 1.—A thorough and systematic inspection of the Gulf Coast oil fields is in progress under the direction of the oil and gas division, state railroad commission, Judge J. W. Hassell, chief of the division announced. The inspection is being made by W. F. Arnold, deputy supervisor for the south Texas district.

Mr. Arnold has stated he has so far been accorded the fullest co-operation of the operators and oil men generally, and that few of the operators are showing a disinclination to obey the state regulations.

The investigation and inspection has been completed for Orange, Goose Creek, Pierce Junction, Damond Mound, West Columbia and Hull, it was stated, and Mr. Arnold is now on the inspection of Humble, after which he will go to Batson, Sour Lake, Saratoga, Spindetop, Stratton Ridge, Barbers Hill High Island and Markham.

Electra Planning Barbecue and Rodeo for Fourth of July

10,000 PEOPLE FOR BIG DAY

Boxing and Athletic Contests Booked

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, July 1.—The Claude McDonald post of the American legion is making preparations for the greatest fourth of July celebration that has ever been held in Electra. Elaborate preparations are being made for the entertainment of 10,000 people and visitors are expected from all parts of the country. Entertainment will consist of a free barbecue and horse racing.

Admission affairs will be a 10 route boxing exhibition between Lee Morrisy of Idaho Falls and Speedy Sparks of Lawton, Okla. The fight will be held in an open arena and the ring will be constructed in front of the grand stand.

A rodeo is being held day and night, being followed at night with a great exhibition of fire works. A baseball game will also be held in the afternoon.

The rodeo is under the direction of Hackberry Slim. Some notorious outlaw horses have been secured and the entry list of cowboys and girls is growing daily. The rodeo will include several novel features, among them being a wild cow milking contest. Bulldogging, wild steer riding, bucking horses, fancy roping and all the other features will be there in abundance.

Bill Smith with a corps of 15 assistants will have charge of the barbecue. Smith is known throughout Wichita county as one of the best there is when it comes to preparing barbecue.

J. J. Breen is head of the horse racing committee. He reports that three entires have already been made in the quarter mile for a $100 purse and that several Oklahoma men are expected to be present with their horses. The races will be held on the outside of the park immediately following the rodeo and are free.

The program will start at 9 o'clock in the forenoon with all kind of athletic contests for boys and girls. A fat man's race and other novel stunts are being arranged. The preliminaries to the Morris-Sparks boxing exhibition will start promptly at 11:30 a. m. and the barbecue will be served immediately following the last of the boxing.

Remodeling of the park is already under way and preparations are being made to accommodate the largest crowd that has ever visited Electra.

VERNON LOOKS TO GOOD YEAR

Cotton Expected to Sell at High Mark

By ERIC G. SCHROEDER

VERNON, Texas, July 1.—An era of good business, fostered by the prospects for one of the best agricultural seasons in the history of Wilbarger county is the prediction of local bankers and business men in discussing conditions to be expected during the coming fall.

Indications, are, according to those versed in such affairs, that the price of cotton will be comparatively high and the production of the commodity correspondingly low, and raw crops in the county are enjoying a wonderful stand. Everyone is at work, is the comment heard on every side, and as a result prosperity of material proportions is expected to visit this section within the next six months.

Wheat acreage is small, but the yield per acre has been found gratifying on many farms. With threshing well under way, it is pointed out, farmers will soon be provided with sufficient spending money to tide them over until cotton is gathered.

Bankers Satisfied

Bankers point with satisfaction to the foreign situation which is gradually reaching a more normal state, and comment on the fact that lower interest charges are an indication that money has loosened appreciably.

There is nothing of the effusive in the attitude of local business men concerning the outlook for the coming outumn, but there is an underlying spirit of quiet confidence that manifests itself in all their conversation upon the subject. A few of the merchants point to the fact that business is normal as an indication of good times to come, while most of them are frank in reporting a distinct improvement over trade of 60 days ago.

Wheat Cutting Finished

On Wilbarger county farms the work of cutting wheat has been finished, and thousands of shocks are being daily thrown into the maw of the thresher. Everywhere is activity—hands that are not engaged in pitching from the field are chopping cotton, and the journeyer along Wilbarger roads can almost note the growth of the stalks from day to day. Unless the unforeseen, always imminent in any situation, intervenes, prosperity will be more than the ordinary variety locally when cotton bolls sprinkle county fields with white this fall.

Cattle Rustlers Resume Work In Lubbock County Ranches

By Associated Press.

LUBBOCK, Tex., June 30.—The days of yore, when cattle rustlers roamed the great plains of Northwest Texas were recalled today when the sheriffs of Hockley and Lubbock counties placed three men under arrest, charged with cattle stealing.

Operations of cattle thieves are reported to have extended over a period of several months and not less than 200 head to have been stolen from big ranches in this region. The "L. F. D." ranch is the heaviest loser. The ranch is the estate of Colonel Littlefield and contains several hundred thonsand acres.

The three — under arrest are prominent citizens of this section. They were taken to Hockley county Friday afternoon after waiving preliminary trial and will be released on bond. The trial probably will be transferred to Lubbock county so that an early hearing can be had. There are hardly enough men in Hockley county to make up a jury at this time as most of the residents are running for some county office. The citizenship of Hockley county is made up almost entirely of owners of ranches.

SHRINERS PUT ON BURK SHOW

$500 Taken In For Attraction

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, July 1.—The local talent play, "Human Hearts," put on Wednesday night by the Burkburnett Shrine club under the direction of the Ferguson brothers was a success and established the fact that Burkburnett had no small amount of real talent of theatrical ability. The directors were exceptionally splendid in their leading roles.

The door receipts were over $500. Thirty-seven people took part in the plays, not including the directors, ten of these were Wichita artists who rendered special numbers, the Sheik dance and song by R. E. Shepherd and chorus being especially fine.

Miss Crockett, Mrs. Allbright, F. J. Wilson, Andy Anderson, Nellie Vaught, Herman Zeff, little Miss Frances Butts and others rendered well their between-act vaudeville.

ELECTRIC COMPANY MAKES EXTENSIONS

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 1.—The rapid growth that is taking place in Electra is reflected in recent extensions of the Wichita Falls Electric company. This company runs a high line from Wichita Falls and furnishes Electra with power. According to E. T. Kelly, local manager of the company, over 200 new connections have been made during the past 90 days. The new customers of the electric company includes business houses, machine shops, residences, etc.

Mr. Kelly states that 85 families are now using electric ranges to cook with and that the number of washers, irons, fans and other accessories are showing a big increase.

ROTARIANS RETURN

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 1.—Mr. and Mrs. E .R. Brown, who have been attending the national Rotary convention at Los Angeles, Calif., have returned. After the convention came to a close, the delegates went up the coast visiting many of the seaport cities. The return was made by the way of Salt Lake City, Yellowstone Park, and Colorado Springs.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckleface, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

and who know the climate say that the territory can be made another imperial valley.

Object to Get Real Farmers.

The main object, it is said, is to secure farmers who know how to grow the products which the land will produce and then to secure organizations for the proper marketing of the products. California does not market nearly all her products fresh off the vines or trees. When the early stuff comes on the market and the demand is good then the products are shipped to the market centers of the entire nation. Calofirnia has the best organized marketing system for agricultural products of any state in the union.

But when the market for fresh stuff begins to become overstocked then the California products are not put on fresh. Instead the fruits go into the canning or curing plants and are made ready to hold and ship out as the market demands. One month you can buy California grapes at a reasonable price. When grape prices begin to get cheap then you buy California raisins and pay a good price for them. One can get California peaches, prunes, apricots and various other fruits on the market fresh until the prices begin to slump as the result of local producers coming in and then it will be found that California stuff is no longer available. The reason is that it goes into the canning or curing plants to be made ready for holding until the market is good or to be sent out as canned or otherwise cured products.

Fruit to Cover Big Area.

The far-sighted men who have won the fight for the Wichita river project know that in a few years the more than 100,000 acres of fertile land to be watered by the project will be covered with splendid fruit and truck farms and that canning and curing plants will be found take care of the surplus supply of fresh stuff. They know that Wichita Falls will then be the center of a rich fruit and truck belt just as many California towns and cities are and that it will be he best pissible method of developing this entire section into one of all year prosperity.

The land to be watered by the Wichita river project will grow alfalfa, several kinds of small grain, various kinds of fruit including grapes, various kinds of berries, cotton, melons and other products in abundance which will give this section a range of production to meet the demand of a trade area of the nation now supplied by California. Actual tests on a small scale already have been made and there is no experiment to be made as to many of the things the Wichita valley will grow. It remains only for the land to be watered, made available for farming and the actual colonization of the land then Wichita Falls will have a California all its own for the men of vision who have worked for this project have forseen the wonders to be brought about.

Public confidence has been an important factor in the success and the prestige of the City National Bank of Commerce—confidence in its policies, in the men who for more than 30 years have carefully safeguarded the funds of thousand of West Texas people.—Adv.

car of oil approximates on an average one dollar per barrel, it is readily seen that the earning possibilities of the portable refinery are enormous. Another appreciable saving is in the investment for plant site. No actual investment for this purpose will be required as railroads will afford switching facilities adjoining their lines at nominal rental.

When it is deemed advisable to move the refinery to a new location, nothing whatever is lost except the small rental paid for switch track space and the labor of grading and laying the few hundred feet of track on which the plant sets.

To Revolutionize Industry.

Experienced oil and refinery men are enthusiastic over the new project and predict that it will practically revolutionize the refinery business. The plant is simple but permanent in its construction, requires but a few men for its operation and, according to C. L. Marner, engineer for the Graver Corporation, is built so as to stand a maximum of hard usage. Specially constructed and insulated stills are provided and every requirement of insulation and of contraction and expansion have been adequately met.

Children, even more than adults, require fresh air.

Mrs. R. F. Green has bought the stock of drugs carried by Stiles & Day and moved it to her confectionary establishment at 11 Cleveland avenue. Bright's confectionary, which has been in the same building with the drug store, will now occupy the entire building.

Postpone Auction

On account of the farmers being so busy with the threshing and other farm duties the chamber of commerce deemed it advisable to postpone the monthly auction sale until the first Saturday in next month. The usual trades days bargains, however, were offered yesterday.

E. R. Birk is opening a modern grocery store in the Prince building next to Marchants on the west. Mr. Birk comes here from Ferris, Texas, where he has formerly been in business.

The chamber of commerce is making a survey of the city preparatory to gaining some new membership. It is pointed out that many new firms are now in the city that have come in since the first of the year who should be glad to enlist in the city building campaign of the chamber. With the growth of the to carry on the efficient work of the city more funds will also be needed organization.

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend in need.'"—Mrs. GEORGE HARDEE, 1043 Byram St., Los Angeles, California.

Startling New Statues and the Sensations They Have Caused

New York's Controversy Over MacMonnies' Symbolizing Virtue by a Male Figure, and a Pudgy One, at That, Is Rivalled by Distinct Shocks Caused by Sculptors in Paris, Havana and London.

Mrs. Clare Sheridan, the English Sculptor Who Has Reproduced in Statuary Her Impression of American Life. The Group in Question, with Which She Is Here Photographed, Is Called "Jazz." College Youths and Society Women Are Mrs. Sheridan's Models.

A FAT BOY with a sword over his shoulder has caused a bigger sensation in New York City than the Russo-German treaty, the Conan Doyle lectures or even the suspension of Babe Ruth. And he wasn't a real fat boy either. He was—and is—a statue named Civic Virtue.

From a place of vantage in City Hall Park this ample youth looks out calmly into the top story of the Old Postoffice quite unmindful of the bitter feelings he has caused and the incessant chatter that goes on about his feet.

He gained this place after being attacked from front, rear and both flanks. Women's clubs, art critics and politicians hurled imprecation, epithet and accusation at his placid brow. Finally he won out. At least, the group of officials who were to pass on his fitness to symbolize the New York idea of civic righteousness allowed him to be set up.

But that hasn't stopped the controversy. Every now and then somebody pauses at his feet and sneers. Others, of course, stop long enough to rhapsodize on his noble proportions. He is still an issue.

It started as long ago as August, 1914.

Frederick MacMonnies, the celebrated sculptor, sent to the city authorities the plaster model he had made for the Augusta Crane Memorial Fountain for City Hall Park. Mrs. Crane left a bequest of $53,439 for this fountain and the city increased the amount to $60,000.

Mr. MacMonnies said at the time:

"The subject I have chosen for the fountain is Civic Virtue, consisting of an allegorical group and a series of basins, the principal one supported by American mountain lions. The qualities of Civic Virtue—Justice, Order, Beauty and Peace—are to be suggested by a young man armed with a sword and represented as having caught the siren Vice in her own nets."

The Feminine Gallery Aroused

That all sounded fair enough. But turbulent things intervened between the submission of the model and the erection of the completed statue. Whether because American women have achieved a greater importance in their own eyes during the war or because they had never really had an opportunity to study Civic Virtue—an outcry of treble voices went up as soon as photographs of the statue were published.

Why, they indignantly asked, was it necessary to represent Virtue as a man and Vice as a woman? Why was this pudgy boy allowed to place a heavy foot on the writhing form of a girl? Why—if women were going to be dragged into the group were they not allowed to stand on an equal footing with this infant food baby?

For a while it looked as if the whole question of Women's Rights would be fought over again. Mayor Hylan, galvanized into action by the fusillade of protests, convened a committee of city officials and art experts and put Civic Virtue on trial.

The evidence adduced was varied and far-reaching and highly complex and contradictory. The women protesters, of course, were making their kick on political grounds. But once the question was opened, it straightway developed economic, social, moral and artistic factors.

Employers in the neighborhood of City Hall Park didn't like the statue because they were afraid it would prove too compelling a distraction to their feminine help. A representative of the American Posture League objected because the weight wasn't properly distributed. One of two artists of the modernist persuasion decided that the statue was too "obvious." A member of the Cavalier Society thought youth was too thickly proportioned to be a gentleman. Even Mayor Hylan felt there was something about "the fellow" that he didn't like.

Mr. MacMonnies was more than a little astonished at this furore. He pointed out that the creatures writhing at Civic Virtue's feet were symbolical—that they weren't women at all. He was a little reproachful at the ladies for thinking him ungallant.

"For a lifetime," he said, "I have adored womankind. I have spent my life at their feet. To intimate that I, MacMonnies, respecter and admirer of woman, have had a hand in symbolism degrading to womanhood is to talk damned nonsense."

For the reason, perhaps, that no unanimity of opinion regarding the statue could be reached, the Mayor's Committee allowed it to be erected. Many artists have since pronounced it a fine piece of work. Others are doubtful. But every day, as the crowds sweep past, the question is fought and refought.

During a lull in the Civic Virtue controversy Mrs. Clare Sheridan, the English sculptor who has been living in New York, completed a group in marble called "Jazz." This, of course, was not a public commission and therefore called for no official comment. But on account of its daring treatment, it served to focus public attention anew upon the woman who has been doing so many daring things since she first came to America.

In the opinion of herself and her friends, America has reached into Clare Sheridan and twisted her mind and heart into a different shape. When she first arrived in New York she looked at the phalanx of skyscrapers and said:

"Re-ahly! How extrawd-n'ry!"

When she sailed recently for a vacation trip to England, Germany and Russia she spoke as follows:

"My God, I'm tired! Jazzed all night."

The distance between these two observations is considered a fair measurement of what happened to Clare Sheridan in America. And the statue "Jazz" is a concrete symbol of what America has meant to her.

The group is composed of two nude dancers in a typical fox-trotting posture. If the statue is a shock to sensitive minds, the fault is not hers, says Mrs. Sheridan, but America's.

She insists further that the two figures not only show America at its principal amusement, but are typical of the American physique. She calls the woman in the group "The Fawn Woman," and says that she is typical of the new type of girl athlete who has become so prominent in these states.

Mystery of the Models

An interesting fact about the statue is that the man in the group was posed by a college student. Since Mrs. Sheridan let it be known that she didn't employ professional models, but used society women who offered to pose for her, speculation as to the identity of the models used in "Jazz" has kept the statue pretty well in the limelight.

The same aura of mystery surrounds the identity of the four models who posed for "The Dance of the Bacchante," the new fountain at "El Gran Casino de la Playa" in Havana, Cuba. The artistic interest aroused by this work—but this interest was pale and academic beside the curiosity which was provoked by the announcement that the four models were American girls of prominent families.

The Cuban sculptor refused to give out the information. Since that time everybody who looks at a photograph of the statue has tried to recognize an acquaintance.

But statuary sensations haven't been confined to America. Citizens of France, whose ideas on art are considered freer from illiberal restrictions than the people of any other nation, have shown that they can still be shocked.

The shocker in question is Maxine Real DeSarte's new piece of sculpture entitled "Resistance." This artist won last year's grand prize and this statue is what he is offering this year. The group is made up of a woman in the embrace of a man she is evidently fighting off. The treatment is considered "audacious but lovely." One or two critics have said, however, that the same artistic appeal might have been made without a descent to frank sensuality. The statue is now on exhibit in the Paris Salon.

A recent exhibition in London of the works of the Polish Sculptor Glicenstein startled the art world of the British capital solely on account of its bold treatment. The subjects were all conventional. One of these, "Fear," is said to be the best thing ever done in bronze by a master. This statue, a reproduction of which is shown on this page, depicts the awful, soul-sickening fear of a mother for a threatened child.

Maxine Real DeSarte, French Sculptor, and His Offering for the Paris Salon Grand Prize. This Audacious Piece of Sculpture Is Called "Resistance," a Title Considered Highly Descriptive.

"Fear," One of the Works in Bronze of the Polish Sculptor Glicenstein Which Has Startled the Art World of London.

The Marion Morgan Dancers Grouped Around the Feet of Civic Virtue—the Muchly-Argued-About Statue of Frederick MacMonnies in City Hall Park, New York City. They Are Intent on Showing How Mr. MacMonnies Should Have Interpreted His Subject.

"The Dance of the Bacchante," the New Fountain Which Graces the "Gran Casino de la Playa" in Havana, Cuba. This Piece of Statuary Is Attracting Attention Not Only on Account of Its Artistic Worth, but Because the Models Used by the Sculptor for His Shapely Group Were Four American Girls of Prominent Family.

McGinnity in action.

"Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, who won two pennants and a world's championship for the New York Giants when you and I were infants, Maggie, is now trying to pilot and pitch the Danville club in the Three-Eye league to a pennant.

Yessir, that old boy goes into the box regularly these days—at fifty-four years of age—and throws 'em across the rubber with that famous old wing that earned him the title of "Iron Man" twenty years ago.

McGinnity has played ball constantly for thirty-six years. After passing out of the big show he drifted to the minors. A few seasons ago he made all the present-day hurlers in the Pacific International league take his pitching dust. He led the league with eight victories and two defeats.

His arm lost much of its speed years ago, but his uncanny ability to read batters makes up in a measure for that loss.

Truly, he is one of the wonders of baseball.

WIFE HELD FOR SHOOTING

Mrs. Oscar A. Hirsch.

Despite the denials of the victim, Oscar A. Hirsch and his wife, police are holding her responsible for the shooting of Hirsch following a party at the home of Rene Davis, screen actress, at Freeport, Long Island. Stories of the shooting told police are said to conflict, but both Hirsch and his wife deny she did the shooting. She has taken him home to nurse him ack to health. She is at liberty on $25,000 bail

To Give Fortune

Thomas H. MacDonald

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads department of agriculture, has been assigned the job of giving away $200,000,000 worth of property in two years. This is surplus war material to be distributed among the states for road building purposes.

Another international romance was consummated recently with the wedding of Prince Don Fabrizio Colonna of Rome and Miss Jeane Perkins of New York, in Genoa, Switzerland. The ceremony was performed in the famous chapel of St. Bartolomeo.

MARCONI AND HIS RADIO SEARCHLIGHT

Radio and navigation experts are discussing Guglielmo Marconi's latest announcement, the invention of a radio searchlight by means of which wireless waves may be focussed in a given direction in a beam instead of being scattered broadcast. This, the inventor said, can be done with reflectors which throw a radio wave somewhat in the manner in which a mirror held in the hand throws a ray of light. Dangers of the deep are lessened by his invention by having revolving reflectors placed at point where lighthouses are now used Ships can thus tell their position in a fog. The photograph shows Marconi demonstrating his machine. At the left is Prof. Alfred N. Goldsmith of City College, New York.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

BOMBARDMENT by ELECTRONS to Banish DISEASE

THE very thing which causes suffering and death can now be employed to relieve pain and even to prolong life. Through a device known as an "electron emanator," surgeons at the Volunteer Hospital in New York City are converting modern theories of electrical conception into a practical utility for the relief of pain.

This latest marvel of medical science, as wonderful as the wireless telephone or telegraph, is based upon the same physical phenomena and is perhaps destined to be of greater benefit to humanity than either. For convenience it can be called a radio method of treating disease. More exactly it perhaps should be described as a system of stimulating certain natural processes that will repair all sorts of defects in the human organism, from open wounds to jangled nerves.

This new method of cure is producing astonishing results. Lameness, wrenches, strains, brutses, lacerations, internal congestion of many kinds, insomnia, neurasthenia and a host of other ailments are reported as yielding remarkably. Its effectiveness in serious organic troubles is also being carefully investigated.

Curiously enough, the system did not originate in any research laboratory devoted to scientific experiments. It got its start in a factory of the American Car & Foundry Company, at Berwick, Pa., where it was developed by Dr. Roland F. Wear, surgeon at the plant, and W. H. Woodin, Jr. Mr. Woodin recently was invited to continue the work at the Volunteer Hospital in New York city, where clinics are conducted every day.

Workers at the Berwick plant frequently suffer from "cricks in the back" and similar disorders incident to the lives of toilers. It was found that these responded readily to a vibration treatment in which a coil and an alternating current were used. Study convinced the investigators that it was not the vibrations which aided the patient, but emanations given off by the machine. From that the development of the idea was comparatively simple.

The Volunteer Hospital, in New York city, is said to be the first public institution to convert modern theories upon that minute electrical conception known as the electron into a practical utility for relief of pain and human suffering.

Until a few years ago the atom was accepted as the most infinitesimal portion into which matter could be divided, either in fact or by calculation. It represents the chemist's unit. It was the uttermost in minuteness until discovery of the electron. Scientists say a million or so of electrons may be encompassed within an atom, but that they should not be considered as divisible parts of an atom in the sense of particles of matter, but rather as minute representations of electrical energy; as the tiny force which, with many of its kind, energizes the atom.

Considering the human body as composed of innumerable atoms, these atoms, or areas of them, are strong or feeble in proportion as they are provided with and retentive of this fundamental energizing factor.

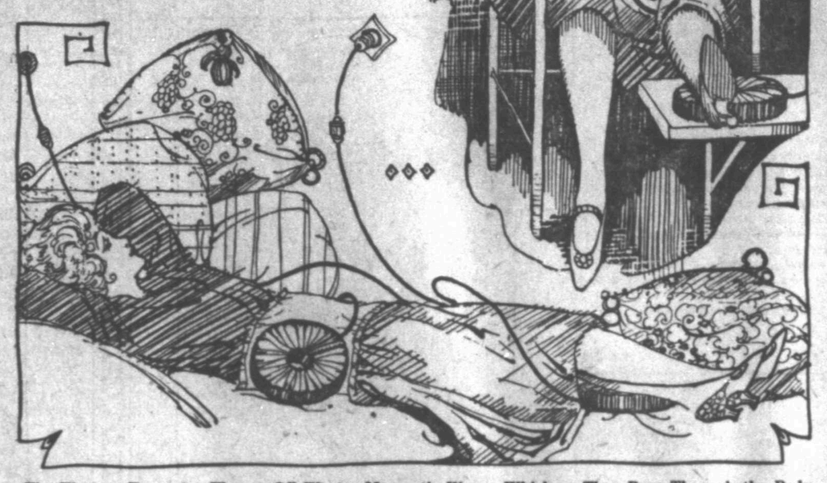

So it was that, figuratively, the investigators put their fingers upon the busy little electron. This smallest subdivision of matter—in itself a force—is regarded in modern science as about the most important thing in the world. As Dr. Wear has remarked, there are those who now consider life itself as only a manifestation of these forces.

"Some new principle is involved, in all likelihood," says Mr. Woodin. "It is left to the physicists and their laboratory research work to discover that principle. In the meantime we have the equipment and know what it will do by experience. It produces a cellular activity in the diseased part. That much we know."

It is this increased activity which produces the beneficial results, although the exact nature of the process is still very obscure.

Any electrical engineer would say that the only effect of this apparatus would be to produce a rapidly alternating electromagnetic field, invisibly expanding and collapsing in a plane at right angles to the plane of the coil, at a high rate of speed. Mr. Woodin believes this alternating magnetic flux constitutes a vibration of electrons, and that it is this electronic flow which performs the miraculous cures.

The emanator is a device from which electrons are caused to emanate. Its appearance is quite simple. It is a coil of many windings of fine wire, insulated and wrapped into the semblance of a disc. A length of lamp cord attached thereto, a three-ampere fuse, and a screw-plug for insertion into an ordinary lamp socket, constitutes the entire apparatus. It is practically indestructible.

The Electron Emanator Throws Off Electro-Magnetic Waves Which as They Pass Through the Body Give Off Free Electrons, Thereby Replenishing and Building Up an Electron Reserve in Diseased and Exhausted Cells.

The coil, Mr. Woodin explains, constitutes an impasse; and the current is thereby screened, so to speak, into its minutely component parts, known as electrons, which, freed from their stress through a definite circuit, radiate without control upon and through all matter within their field of influence.

Its vibrations throw off electro-magnetic waves which pass through the body, giving off free electrons, replenishing and building up an electron reserve in diseased and exhausted cells.

In its most complicated form the device consists of an "electron emanator cabinet," which contains a battery of 14 indivdual emanators and a whole swarm of powerful incandescent bulbs, throwing off light and heat at the same time.

The cabinet is about eight feet long and three feet square, closed at either end by a curtain. The walls are lined with mirrors. Along each side of the bottom are seven "emanators," each facing a blue incandescent light bulb. Above, on both sides and in the top are numerous high-power electric lights.

The "emanator" itself looks more like a large and unnecessarily thick pancake. The patient gets into the cabinet or he puts the "emanator" under his pillow, chair or anywhere else that may be convenient.

The patient also lies on the floor of the cabinet, his head outside and a curtain screening his face from the intense glare. When all the lights are going, a high temperature is developed and the patient gets the benefits of a Turkish bath steam room, a light treatment and the "emanator" all at the same time.

In treating disease with the electron emanator the theory is that whenever a human cell is functioning properly its electrons are doing their duty, and that when something is amiss in the cells it can be supplied if the right electron energy can be procured. And that is where the "emanator" comes in.

What the "emanator" actually does is to give off electrons in wave-lengths corresponding to those of the ultra violet ray used in X-ray machines. Because these waves are projected through the ether they are considered as akin also to radio telephone wave lengths.

It is not, therefore, actually necessary for the patient to be in actual bodily contact with the machine but only near enoough to get his share of electrons before they are dissipated in the ether.

The method is simplicity itself, as the emanator will shoot any desired quantity of electrons into the body. The electrons do the healing. All that is necessary is for a competent physician to diagnose the malady and for an operator to turn on the electric "juice."

Generally speaking, when a patient with a sprained back appears he is invited to a recumbent position and an emanator is placed at the sore spot; for a case of la grippe, plain "cold" or bronchitis, he is placed upon a telescopic table and wheeled into the ingeniously equipped "electron cabinet," within which he is subjected to a bombardment of electrons from a bank of emanators, in a conjunction with intense illumination.

Thus the malady is combated by the vitalizing attack of electrons in addition to the well-known efficiency of light and heat. [illegible] history of a number of such cases has been completely covered by a single notation, "Cabinet treatment. Cured and discharged."

Why Your Body Is Worth Only 98 Cents

HOW much are you worth? No doubt, you often may have said you felt like "thirty cents." If so, take that as a basis, triple it, then add eight cents, which will give you the value of your body. According to Dr. Georgine Luden, who figures that ninety-eight cents is the actual value of the "average man" when reduced to the following elements:

Fat enough for seven bars of soap;
Iron enough for a medium-sized nail;
Sugar enough to fill a shaker;
Lime enough to whitewash a chicken coop;
Sulphur enough to rid a dog of fleas.

This is no idle or fantastic computation, but a result set forth to show that a scientist thinks it worth while to impress the public with some striking truths in a way made familiar in unscientific demonstrations, and incidentally to bring human vanities within proper perspective.

Dr. Luden analyzes the minute units composing some of the ingredients of the human body as revealed by the microscope and by microchemistry in the medical laboratories. The Journal of the American Medical Association recently reviewed the formulae thus worked out, showing how science treats as real and vital, as if they were tangible, units so small that the lay mind can hardly conceive of them.

"In medicine we often get so close to the details," says this authority, "that we do not see the whole; so close to the forest that we do not see the woods for the trees. Luden has called attention to this tendency and points out a number of quantitative facts that are somewhat startling.

"For example, the entire volume of circulating blood, which about half fills an ordinary bucket, contains only a small teaspoonful (from four to six grammes) of sugar and a tablespoonful (32 grammes) of salt. When we consider the minute variations in the sugar content that the modern chemist can measure in a few drops of blood, we gain added respect for the science of quantitative analysis.

"The iodine in the entire blood amounts to but 0.01 gramme, or an average dose of atropin. When the physiologist tells us that epinephrin can be detected by biological methods in a dilution of 1-300,000,000 it means far less than to say it is equivalent to diluting a small glass of whiskey (ten cubic centimetres), a very small glass, into the contents of 1320 city street-sprinkling carts, which would form a procession about six miles long.

"We all know that the normal blood contains about 5,000,000 red corpuscles in each cubic millimetre, but do we all realize that the entire blood therefore contains some twenty-five trillion (25,000,000,000,000) red cells and 30,000,000,000,000 leukocytes—figures that have an astronomical aspect? Do we realize that in all that mass of blood is distributed the insignificant quantity of from one to three grains of uric acid, which we assay accurately and speculate about vaguely?"

How OIL Operates to Reduce FRICTION

THE hardest, smoothest piece of steel is seen to be rough and jagged—covered with thousands of sharp projections—when viewed under the microscope. When two such surfaces work together in close contact as in an unlubricated bearing of a machine these tooth-like projections engage with each other, causing considerable friction and so absorbing power needlessly. The material is worn away rapidly from both surfaces, but this does not serve to make either any smoother. So the grinding down goes on and if the use of the bearing is continued it will soon be ruined, perhaps causing serious damage to the machine.

As everyone knows, oil and grease are applied to such surfaces to lubricate them and make them move easily and smoothly over each other. Few, however, understand just how the oil operates to accomplish this result, which is thus explained by a writer in the Pathfinder.

Oil is made up of microscopic particles—tiny round balls, for all practical purposes—which act just the same as ball bearings when they are applied to surfaces working together. In other words the particles of oil separate the rough surfaces of the metal just enough to prevent them from rubbing and wearing. Thus friction is reduced, the bearing works easy and its life is increased many fold. Gradually the oil particles are broken down and become mixed with minute particles of metal. Some of the oil of course runs out and is lost. Therefore more oil must be added from time to time to provide proper lubrication and insure satisfactory operation of the bearing and the machine of which it is a part.

Is PTOMAINE Poisoning a MYTH?

PTOMAINE poisoning, after all, may be only a myth. At least, Frank L. Healy, in a contribution to the Scientific American, thinks that "it is high time that justice was done the long-suffering ptomaines. For eighty years or more they have been made to bear, quite unjustly, the burden of responsibility for food-poisoning outbreaks.

"The history of the origin of the ptomaine theory of food poisoning provides a typical example of the fallacy of hasty generalization based on insufficient data. Certain scientists found in the early part of the nineteenth century that the injection of watery extracts of putrefying meat into the veins of various animals frequently produced death. They succeeded in isolating from putrid meat many chemical compounds which they found to be highly poisonous to animals by inoculation into their veins. On account of their chemical similarity these substances were grouped together and called ptomaines.

"On the basis of these experiments the generalization was made that the ptomaines were responsible not only for the harmfulness of tainted meat but for food poisoning in general. And even today, in spite of the existence of readily available evidence to prove the fallacy of this explanation, it is accepted as adequate by many medical men.

"It cannot be too emphatically stated that the ptomaine theory has been definitely proved to be without scientific foundation as an explanation of food poisoning, and the reasons follow: In the first place, in most cases of food poisoning outbreaks the food at the time of eating shows no signs of putrefaction and is in no way offensive to the sense of taste or smell.

"Furthermore, the general toxicity of ptomaines has been exaggerated.

"While the ptomaine theory still enjoyed wide acceptance there grew up with it another conception based on the assumption that the food before eating became contaminated with bacteria capable of producing poisonous substances, known as toxins.

"The first important investigation in which a casual connection was established between a definite bacterium and a case of food poisoning was carried out by Gaertner in 1888. At Frankenhausen, in Germany, a cow suffering from enteritis was killed. The flesh of the cow, which appeared quite normal, was consumed by several people, who fell ill with the usual symptoms of food poisoning—severe abdominal pain, diarrhoea, vomiting, followed by prostration. One of those affected died. Gaertner succeeded in isolating Bacillus enteritidis both from the fatal case and from the organs of the cow. Since that date this bacillus, or bacillus closely related to it, have been isolated from a large number of food poisoning outbreaks, and the responsibility of this group of organisms, known as the Gaertner or Salmonella group, for the great majority of food-poisoning outbreaks has been definitely established.

"The question naturally presents itself: How then do foods become contaminated with the bacillus whose toxin is the direct cause of most food poisoning outbreaks? In a certain number of cases the source is straightforward, the vehicle being meat or milk derived from an animal suffering from a disease caused by one or another of the members of the Gaertner group. In other cases the most probable source of infection seems to be animals or insects which have the opportunity of contaminating human food.

"In support of this contention it may be mentioned that Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, professor of preventive medicine at Harvard Medical School, at a conference of State health officers held at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in November, 1920, asserted that after three years of experimentation at Boston it had been found that ptomaine poisoning as such does not exist, but that food poisoning, in the modern sense of the word, is due chiefly to infection of food by disease carriers.

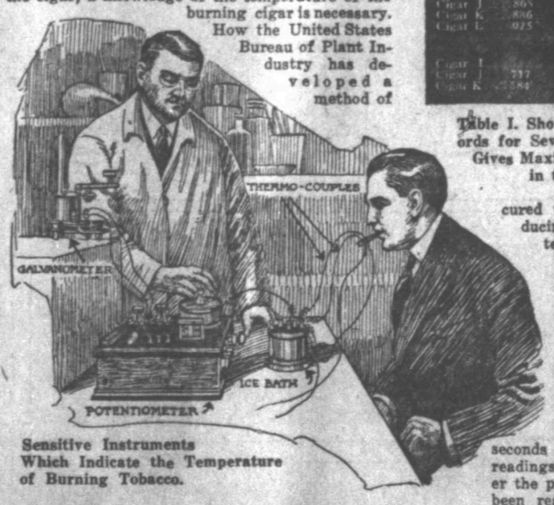

"It has been found that rats and mice are susceptible to diseases carried by bacilli of the Gaertner group. Particularly worthy of mention is mouse typhoid."

TESTING a CIGAR by Its "BURN"

OF all the qualities that are essential in a good cigar, none is as important as the "burn." This term includes many points, the most important being evenness of burn, color, firmness and coherence of ash and fire-holding capacity.

Chlorides in the tobacco tend to prevent complete combustion and the forming of products injurious to the flavor and aroma. On the other hand, the carbonates of the alkalies, particularly of potassium, aid the combustion and increase the fire-holding capacity.

In order to study carefully the action of the various salts upon the course of combustion of the cigar, a knowledge of the temperature of the burning cigar is necessary. How the United States Bureau of Plant Industry has developed a method of determining the maximum temperature within the burning cigar is described in Popular Science Monthly.

Sensitive Instruments Which Indicate the Temperature of Burning Tobacco.

Thermocouples were composed of the following wire: Platinum 0.01 cm. and 0.015 cm. in diameter, and platinum alloyed with 10 per cent. rhodium of the same diameters. The potentiometric method of measurement was used.

In order to eliminate conduction and leakage, only couples composed of very small wires were used, so the platinum-rhodium couple was chosen.

A small glass capillary tube drawn down to a point was thrust through the cigar at a point about 2.5 cm. from the tip of the cigar. One of the wires of the couple was then passed into this tube and so through the cigar, the tube withdrawn from the cigar and removed from the wire, and this wire joined to the other wire of the couple by arc welding. The point of punction was then pulled back to the centre of the cigar and the small holes around the wire plugged with paper pulp. In this way the junction was located in the region of highest temperature, the filler of the cigar was disturbed to only a very small extent and good insulation between the wires was secured without the necessity of introducing additional heat-absorbing material into the cigar. The smaller couple No. 1 was located about 2:5 cm. from the tip with the larger couple No. 2 about 2 cm. farther back. The apparatus was adjusted and the cigar lit. As soon as a temperature near 800 deg. C. was indicated, readings were taken of the highest temperature reached during the puff, and of the temperature in the coal of the cigar about 30 seconds after the puff. These latter readings were taken to determine whether the point of highest temperature had been reached as indicated by a rising or falling temperature.

Table I. Shows Maximum Temperature Records for Seven Makes of Cigars. Table II. Gives Maximum Stationary Temperatures in the Ash Between Puffs.

The time interval between puffs was one and one-half minutes and the duration of the puff was from five to eight seconds. An attempt was made to keep the draft and, consequently, the rate of combustion, normal. When the temperature indications began to decrease on successive puffs, the other junction was switched into the circuit and a similar set of readings taken. The couples, as taken from the ash, were usually check-standardized with boiling sulphur as a reference point.

The platinum-rhodium couples were selected of different sizes of wire in order that any great lowering of temperature due to conduction along the wires might show up a consistently low reading of the larger couple.

Where OYSTERS Grow on TREES

OYSTERS actually grow on trees in the Italian gulf of Taranto. This is how the Roman bivalves take to trees as a place of abode: Each oyster has millions of children. If they all grew up oysters would be "three a penny." But oysters were not designed by Nature merely to be the food of city aldermen. Vast numbers of fishes and shrimps esteem the oyster as much as men do, although they eat this bivalve when he is a little younger.

The baby oyster, who is just big enough to be seen with the naked eye, leaves the parents' shell with something remotely approaching his parent's beard. He swims about on his own, carrying the flimsiest pair of embryo oyster shells; but soon the weight of home responsibilities—that is, the weight of his rapidly growing shell—forces him to settle down.

The oyster's whole life depends on the way he settles down. If he has luck and drops onto a solid foundation he is made for life. If he drops in the mud he is lost.

A good many do not drop anywhere, because the more hustling sea creatures quickly snap them up.

It is to help the young oyster to settle down early that the oyster cultivator steps in with his offer of assistance. Near the beds where young oysters are swimming in clouds he submerges branches cut from trees. Thousands of wiser molluscs avail themselves eagerly of this proffered help and cement themselves to the twigs.

Now the oyster cultivator carries out a scheme of assisted emigration. He takes the branch to a part of the harbor where there are no oyster beds and where the young bivalves will have some sporting chance—only 1000 to 1 against, say—of surviving. Posts are driven into the shallow water and between them, about a foot above the surface, cord or wire is stretched. From this wire the branches are hung, so that the stump is above the water, and the twigs below.

All the oyster man has to do, when it is about time, five years later, for the oyster to make his way to the market—is to press on the stump and out of the water come the twigs with the oysters growing on them.

POLITICAL BUNK MAKERS

THERE are candidates for the senate going over the state promising the people if elected to give them the very lowest freight rates. Bunk.

They say that the repeal of the Esch-Cummins Act will bring about the desired relief. More bunk. If the Esch-Cummins Act was repealed in its entirety its repeal would not give the people one iota of relief. Incidentally the rail kings would be glad to have it repealed. This would rid them of the railroad labor board and give them freedom to arrange their own wage schedules with their employees.

All the people should be told that it was a supreme court decision, and that the Supreme Court of the United States declared that the Interstate Commerce Commission was all powerful as a rate maker and rate reviser. This decision was handed down in the Shreveport case.

It isn't the Esch-Cummins Act that is responsible for high freight rates. It is the decision of the Supreme Court and that decision made the Interstate Commerce Commission almost supreme and made state ornaments of so called railroad commissions in 48 commonwealths.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson is a candidate for senator who is telling the people the truth about high freight rates and just how it happened. Ask Frank Kell or others who are railroad builders or railroad managers and they will not hesitate to tell you that the railroad commissioners of Texas are largely responsible for the Shreveport freight rate decision.

It isn't possible for a United States senator or the United States senate to set aside Supreme Court decisions until after LaFollette's amendment to the Federal Constitution has been submitted, ratified and becomes operative. All the candidates for the senate away down here in Texas may be dead and forgotten before that happens.

Farmer Jim has a slogan, "resore state rights by destroying national rights." Farmer Jim thinks the world is going backward. It isn't. He has lost his balance. That's all.

PITY THE DONKEYS.

JAMES M. COX of Ohio is on his way to Europe to collect a bundle of arguments which he hopes will hasten the entrance of America into the League of Nations. James M. Cox insists that it is inevitable. He thinks the first thing we will do will be to enter The Hague International Court.

The Ohio publisher received $10,000,000 worth of publicity when he captured the presidential nomination in 1920. William Howard Taft, another buckeye in the year 1912 met with the first inglorious defeat in the history of American politics. Eight years rolled around and then another buckeye, James M. Cox scored a defeat that gave him first place and elevated Taft's a notch or two.

James M. says that Warren G. Harding is trying to run the country on the rules Mark Hanna laid down, and that it can't be done. William Jennings Bryan is marching around the world voicing his horror of the evolution monster. Is this a hint that he will not attempt to dominate the democratic party in 1924, or is it a warning that denunciation of Darwinism is to be the Bryanic paramount issue for the hosts of the unterrified two years hence?

For thirty years W. J. B. pounded it into the people that John Barleycorn was a menace. Now he is pounding it into the people that the teaching of evolution is a menace. Bryan led the democratic party in three campaigns to the political slaughterhouse.

First it was free silver. Then it was imperialism. Then it was Wall street. Now it is evolution.

Poor donkey. Who can blame him for getting the blind staggers now and then?

ANOTHER FORCE BILL.

CHAIRMAN DALLINGER of the House Elections Committee has introduced a constitutional amendement, which would give congress power to regulate the nomination and election of senators and representatives, thus giving federal control over state primaries. If this Dallinger Amendment to the Federal Constitution is ever adopted the brother in black is going to be a troublesome issue in many American states.

THERE'S a four-pronged buck a-swinging in the shadow of my cabin,
And it roamed the velvet valley till today;
There's a four-pronged buck a-swinging in the shadow of my cabin,
And it roamed the velvet valley till today;
But I tracked it by the river, and I trailed it in the cover,
And I killed it on the mountain miles away.
Now I've had my lazy supper, and the level sun is gleaming
On the water where the silver salmon play;
And I light my little corn-cob, and I linger, softly dreaming,
In the twilight, of a land that's far away.

Well, the cherry bends with blossom and the vivid grass is springing,
And the star-like lily nestles in the green;
And the frogs their joys are singing, and my heart in tune is ringing,
And it doesn't matter what I might have been.
While above the scented pine-gloom, piling heights of golden glory,
The sun-god paints his canvas in the west,
I can couch me deep in clover, I can listen to the story
Of the lazy, lapping water—it is best.

While the trout leaps in the river, and the blue grouse thrills the cover,
And the frozen snow betrays the panther's track,
And the robin greets the dayspring with the rapture of a lover,
I am happy, and I'll nevermore go back.
For I know I'd just be longing for the little old log cabin,
With the morning-glory clinging to the door,
Till I loathed the city places, cursed the care on all the faces,
Turned my back on lazar London evermore.

Far away, so faint and far, is flaming London, fevered Paris,
That I fancy I have gained another star;
Far away the din and hurry, far away the sin and worry,
Far away—God knows they cannot be too far.
Gilded galley-slaves of Mammon—how my purse-proud brothers taunt me!
I might have been as well-to-do as they
Had I clutched like them my chances, learned their wisdom, crushed my fancies,
Starved my soul and gone to business every day.

So send me far from Lombard Street, and write me down a failure;
Put a little in my purse and leave me free.
Say: "He turned from Fortune's offering to follow up a pale lure,
He is one of us no longer—let him be."
I am one of you no longer; by the trails my feet have broken,
The dizzy peaks I've scaled, the camp-fire's glow;
By the lonely seas I've sailed in—yea, the final word is spoken,
I am signed and sealed to nature. Be it so.

A WEAK BROTHER.

SENATOR Henry L. Myers of Montana charges that Williamson county, Illinois is 100 per cent disloyal to the United States and its constitution. Myers is an extremist. He loves the music of his own voice.

There are red-handed assassins in Williamson county, Illinois; there are white savages in Williamson county, Illinois. But there are thousands of patriotic people in Williamson county, Illinois. Illinois has a governor, and adjutant general, an attorney general, a national guard, courts and peace officers. If the Herrin assassins go unwhipped of justice then place the responsibility where is belongs.

When a mob burns a prisoner at the stake in Texas all the people of the community are not mobocrats or wild savages. It is best to fix the guilt first and then punish the criminal. There are many weak brothers in the senate and the house of representatives of the United States.

TAXED GOAT MEAT

"IF THE democratic party cannot stand for its principles it had better go out of business," remarked Senator King of Utah when he entered his protest against five democratic senators, who voted a tariff of 2 1-2 cents a pound on mutton and goat meat.

Senator King must have just come out of a trance. According to the official records the democratic party went out of business in the month of November, 1920. Now the elephant is ambling along on his front legs, and there are many signs in the Heavens that the elephant is going to stumble into the ditch two years hence, but King is right.

It is impossible to make a runner out of a donkey by feeding him on highly taxed goat meat.

There is a coal famine coming. War peak prices for coal may be coming. President Harding has lots of work cut out for him. He is the chief executive of the republic and the people look to him to do something. There are people in this country who are not directly interested in the coal industry.

THE 5:15 —By Segar

DAWES A WINNER.

GENERAL Charles G. Dawes is going back to his bank in Chicago. As founder and director of the Federal bureau of the budget Dawes made the heads of governmental departments come to time and come quick. He termed his method the principle of executive pressure.

He did more than teach them. He convinced them that the president is the big boss of the government. Federal employes do things now when they are told. Dawes hammered his economy and budget ideas into the heads of the bureau chiefs. He forced a system of accounting by which each executive division four times a year must make public exactly what it did with its funds.

Before the coming of Dawes department heads had to report merely cash received, cash expended and cash on hand. This hell and Maria was called to a tough job but he mastered it and retires a winner. Dawes would make a fine governor for Illinois. He is an administrator and his executive ability is of the highest order.

REAL PUBLICITY.

A. BRUCE BIELASKI escaped from his kidnappers and is safe and well. A. Bruce was a detective for years. He is a very versatile genius. He knows how to get the center of the stage.

With the passing of the Wilson administration he disappeared from the public sight and mind. He was in Mexico, he made his play, bad bandits got him, he had thrilling escape. Now all the reading world knows that A. Bruce is the vice-president of a big oil company holding concessions granted by the Mexican government. It pays to be artistic.

Publicity is a noble game if one gets the right kind of publicity, and A. Bruce always gets the right kind.

Former Mayor Glenn Toole of Macon, Georgia sued the Macon Telegraph for $50,000 for defamation of character. A jury of his peers awarded Toole 12 cents damages. It must have been a punk editorial if that's the way the jury looked at it.

DR. CRANE EDITORIAL

A BETTER NATIONAL MOTTO

A NATIONAL toast much in favor is that which is attributed to Stephen Decatur.

"My country, right or wrong; but, right or wrong, my country."

At the present stage of world thought this motto is peculiarly vicious, as the spirit of it is such as to elevate the claim of patriotism over that of humanity and the individual conscience.

Patriotism has its place, but it also has its distinct dangers.

It is a wholesome sentiment when properly subordinated. It becomes unwholesome and criminal when it is carried to excess.

It is like fire, which is a good servant but a terrible master.

What ailed Germany during the last war was patriotism run mad.

And what ails France today, and is doing more than any other one element to prevent the work of reconstruction, is an abnormal patriotism.

The coming problem is not how to make citizens good nationals, but how to make nations decent and reasonable members of the body of humanity.

The world today is slowly passing through the transition from supremacy of nationalism to the supremacy of humanity, just as in the days of Richelieu and Bismarck it passed from the supremacy of feudalism to that of the nation.

The intelligent and humane people are concerned most of all in how to escape the horrors of war. They understand perfectly well that war cannot cease until we have some sort of world government, with a responsible force behind it.

But they do not wish to be lost in impractical idealism. They wish to keep hold of the people and to attain this world unity without destroying the advantages of separate nationalities.

The intelligent man of today sees that international co-operation is necessary. But he does not want to engage in any movement to attain this which shall jeopardize those advantages the world has already gained through nationalism.

The best motto, therefore, for all nations is the one so finely phrased by Talleyrand:

"The true interests of my country are never in opposition to the true interests of the world."

It is this idea that needs to be inculated into the minds of the people of earth. It should be insisted upon and taught with patience and persistence: "Line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little and there a little," until we can form that sound public opinion upon which an abiding world untiy can be based.

HEAVY TAX ON MEATSTUFFS.

ACCORDING to census reports this republic has a population of 110,000,000 souls. All these have mouths and stomachs and must be fed. A very limited number of Americans are engaged in the livestock industry. This very limited number should be happy.

A tariff of three and one-ahlf cents a pound has been placed on fresh beef and veal; a tariff of five cents a pound has been placed on fresh lamb. And a tariff of $2 a head on sheep and goats and 2½ cents a pound on mutton and goat meat. Of course the meat consumer pays. All the people buy meat, that is all the people who have the money to pay for meat.

President Harding told the independent oil producers that all the people used petroleum products and for that reason oil importations must be kept on the free list. All the people eat meat. Why not meat importations on the free list? There is a lot of bunk about this tariff business. Five American companies are producing oil in Mexico. They clean up millions every year. If it is fair for them to escape the payment of an import tax then why shouldn't it be fair for Mexicans who are meat producers and who ship their stuff to the United States to escape the payment of an import tax?

This lot is passed on to Colonel John Henry Kirby, political economist extraordinary and the power behind many newspaper thrones as well as tariff and other associations made up of gentlemen who are not looking for the worst of it. Why not Mexican crude?

A WRECKER'S VERDICT.

"IT'S HELL to play a losing game." This is what Walter Bundridge of Moberly, Missouri, said when he surrendered to an officer after wrecking the bank of which he was president and creating a shortage of $400,000. In his case it is hell for the depositors of a bank as well as the wreckers of the bank.

Bundridge and his brother conducted the bank. They had the confidence of the community. When the slump came it caught them with a load of frozen paper. This frozen paper became worthless assets. Now the chief wrecker and his brother are in jail. Yes, it is hell to play a losing game, but it must be a dozen hells to have played a crooked as well as a losing game.

There are many men who play losing games, and who go down with the respect and the confidence of their fellows. A crook cannot do this. When he goes down he goes down for good.

PASSION PLAY at Oberammergau

MARY, THE MOTHER OF JESUS

THE STAGE

VILLAGE OF OBERAMMERGAU

Picturesque, Tiny Village High Among the Bavarian Mountains—Simplicity and Intense Religious Fervor of the Inhabitants—Play Performed Through Many Centuries.

LILLIAN HAYDEN HIESTON

No one that has watched the solemnity and exquisite pathos of the Passion Play at Oberammergau, as performed by the pure-minded, devout peasants, can fail to be profoundly impressed. Religious plays, as well as plays having some great historical personage as hero, were performed in nearly all German villages, long before the invention of printing, as information was given to the people in this way. A child-like, simple people, acting their faith was natural to them. It was a part of them and of their daily life. The spectator wonders today how they can act so well. It is not acting to them. It is life. From earliest infancy in Oberammergau, the peasants think and live the story of the Christ. It is the one great ambition of their lives to be found worthy of some important part. Everything about the representation, all the rehearsals, and preparations of every kind are begun, carried on and ended with earnest prayer. Even on the final days when a vast audience of strangers from every part of the world is waiting the actors kneel in prayer with the village pastor before the curtain is drawn aside. For many years the performance was a loss in money to them. It is only of late years when so many strangers have come that the receipts have balanced the expenditures. Even now the individual actors, even the principal ones, get only from three to five dollars for a performance that takes the entire day and involves giving up their daily work or trade for many months. During the summer no other work is done. The chief actors live secluded and think only of their parts in the great tragedy. They study and ponder over the characters they are to act until the part is real to them, more real than their own lives.

Town Very Small And Audiences Very Large

The housing problem looms large at Oberammergau, and many a prince and wealthy man has slept on hay in some barn when there was no other accommodation left. The presentation lasts an entire day and so one has to stay two nights. It is difficult indeed to get there in time in the morning from any other place or to depart the same evening. Munich is all of three or four hours distant. It is safer to say four on those steep mountain grades. The play begins promptly at eight in the morning and one is rather expected to be present at the church services that last from five to seven-thirty so as to be in the proper state of mind for so solemn a spectacle. There is an interval at noon for rest and lunch and then the play goes on to its tragic finish.

Scenes And Tableaux From Both The Old And New Testaments

In all these centuries the order and number of scenes have greatly varied. recently the opening has been the Garden of Eden, the happy birth of the world and then the coming of the Christ, the new birth to gladness. There was the expulsion from Eden, followed by the vision of the Cross, with worshipping crowds looking to it for salvation. Explanations were given between the tableaux, of the origin of the play and the solemn vow of the grateful population, saved from pestilence, to perform the Passion of the lord forever while the town endured. The audience is called upon to pray, to pray unceasingly, that every heart may be in tune with the wondrous story of the Christ. The chorus kneel around the cross and softly sing their prayers of thankfulness, and ask God's presence in their midst today. They pray for a blessing upon all assembled there. Rejoicings are heard and a mighty multitude, singing Hosannas and chanting hymns of praise, take the place of tableaux and we see the Christ entering Jerusalem.

Anton Lang, The Christ

In 1900, in 1910, and in 1922 Anton Lang plays the Christ and all his life is full of the unutterable sadness and glory of the part. From early boyhood he longed for it and tried so to live that he might be worthy. His face is full of strength and sadness, a delicate, sensitive face, with wonderful self-control, and dignity. There is nothing whatsoever that can offend or jar upon even the most sensitive, in his presentation of the Christ. One is lost in wonder and admiration as one sees before one's eyes the very Christ of our love, the same majestic, gentle, Jesus, that strange compound of dignity and grandeur with deep tenderness and humility. We follow Him in His triumph, His happiness and in the agony of mind when He realizes the difficulty of His task. We see Him acclaimed by thousands and we see Him deserted by all. We see Him hopeful and we see Him discouraged but never once does Anton Lang jar upon us in the part. Even in the tragedy of the crucifixion he is the same dignified and holy figure. We forget the man and see the Christ. The resurrection is not grotesque as it might well be in a play. The face is too radiant and pure, the spiritual glory and deathless splendor is too wonderful. We see and know that there can be no death. Scoffers go away in tears. Artists who dread disappointment go away profoundly moved. There is not a mother in that vast audience who does not feel with the saddened Mary. There is not a sinner who does not shudder with the despairing Judas, the betrayer of his friend and teacher, of his Lord and Saviour.

Choice Of Actors

Nearly a year before the representations the choice of the persons to fill the sixty-five speaking roles is made. The director meets in solemn conclave the directors and explains to them anew the roles and the qualifications of various persons for the parts. When the nominations are finally made there follow two weeks of prayer and deliberation and then the final vote is taken. On the day of voting solemn High Mass is held and after the service the committee go to the town hall and vote. The principal roles are assigned and then the minor parts are given. A place is found somewhere for every man, unmarried woman and child, if only as shifter of scenes or usher or member of the great triumphal processions, such as the Entry to Jerusalem. People who are not born in Oberammergau do not take part.

Everyday Occupations Of The Actors

Oberammergau is essentially a wood-carving community. Many of the people show great artistic talent. It is perhaps the cause of the extremely artistic grouping in the Passion Play tableaux, and the beauty of the costumes, all of which are cut and made in the little town. Many of the stuffs are sent for from the Orient so as to have the effects true to life. The lonely hillsides form a good background for the scenes of the life of Christ. The tiny river Ammer, sometimes a rushing torrent, flows through the town and just above looms a precipitous cliff, crowned on its summit with a cross which catches the first beams of early morning and the last rays of the setting sun.

All the houses are adorned with the cross and with frescos of Bible stories.

War Did Not Spare This Pious Little Village

It was peculiarly tragic to bid these men go to kill when life to them means the infinite love and charity of the Christ. It was a terrible upheaval for the village but they had no choice. Eighty out of their total population of two thousand were killed. Five hundred of their men went to war, every man in fact under forty-five. The village suffered intensely and has not yet recovered. The Passion Play was impossible in 1920, but now it is, to be given again after twelve years.

Much Given In The Play Besides The Passion

In the Passion Play there are eighteen acts and as preliminaries there are songs and explanations by the chorus and also tableaux, foretelling the coming action.

Generally one scene from the old testament is followed by one from the new. We see Adam tolling for his bread and then Christ in the agony of Gethsemane. Joseph is sold into captivity and Jesus betrayed to death. Cain rushes away full of remorse for the murder of his brother and Judas hangs himself after his treachery. The story is given of the different parables and scenes of Christ's life and the intensely dramatic trial before Pilate. We see Christ carrying the heavy cross and crowned with the wreath of thorns and we see Him meeting his friends after His resurrection.

In the rush and turmoil of the world such a play would be impossible, would be at best but sacrilege, but in the deep peace and simplicity of this tiny village high up among the mountains, where the rapt, inspired peasants pray and dream the life of Christ through all their days and nights, it is very sacred and very beautiful.

KATHERINE MAC DONALD AND BORIS KARLOFF IN "THE INFIDEL"

BERT LYTELL AND SYLVIA BREAMER IN "THE FACE BETWEEN"

MISS DU PONT AND VERNON STEELE IN "A WONDERFUL WIFE"

GLORIA HOPE

Betty Compson—"The Infidel"—"A Wonderful Wife"—"The Face Between"—"The Isle of Zorda".

BETTY COMPSON was born in a small mining town in Utah twenty-three years ago, the daughter of a mining engineer. When Betty was thirteen her father died leaving his widow and child with such scanty resources that it was necessary to increase their income in any way possible. Betty in an amateur way had achieved something of a reputation as a violinist so her first professional work was playing the violin in a vaudeville theatre. Although she Betty had been playing in the orchestra and at private concerts for several months when her opportunity to appear on the stage came through the failure of an act to report at the theatre one Monday afternoon. Her initial efforts on the stage were successful and reports of her ability spread to other towns, with the result that Betty was invited to join a road show. While appearing at Pantages Theatre, Los Angeles, her exceptional beauty was noticed by Al Christie, the motion picture comedy producer, who invited her to join his company. For the next three years Miss Compson played in pie-throwing comedies, in which she became a leading-woman. She deserted this phase of the cinema to play in a melodramatic serial, and then came her portrayal of "Rose" in "The Miracle Man"—and with that, those inseparable twins, Fame and Fortune, walked into her house and stayed there. Her latest picture is "Always the Woman."

"The Infidel"

"The Infidel," Katherine MacDonald's latest picture, is laid in the mysterious isles of the South Seas, made known to readers of modern literature by Robert Louis Stevenson, Jack London and other authors of high repute. Miss MacDonald is seen in the role of a beautiful young unbeliever, thrown in contact with the missionaries and the natives of the South Sea Isles. She falls in love with the man whose ruin she nearly brings about, when she discovers that she has been made the unwitting tool of another who aims to gain control of the copra trade. There is an island uprising in which the marines come to the rescue in thrilling fashion. The chain of circumstances changes the viewpoint of the girl; she becomes a believer, and a fascinating romance comes to a happy conclusion.

"The Face Between"

The story treats of a son's sacrifice to save the honor of his father whose good name is in jeopardy. The youth gives up his own love—his home, everything, and suffers himself to be banished to an isolated mountain district to protect his father, and warned not to return until the victim is dead. There he meets a young mountain girl who saves him from the night riders. She is killed but her spirit returns to torture him. After a series of unpleasant experiences he returns to the city and is cured.

Bert Lytell and Sylvia Breamer play the principal parts.

"A Wonderful Wife"

Captain Alaric Lewin calls his wife "chum" because she takes an interest in his work and advancement in the military service of Great Britain. When he is sent as secretary and A. D. C. to Commissioner Gregory, of Key Island, off the coast of Africa, she takes such a strong interest that she determines to "vamp" Gregory and thereby win for her husband a better post. As she thus does her "wifely duty," her husband finds attraction in the eyes of Diana Charton, whose husband has been sent on an expedition and has left her alone in the monotonous place. "Chum" more than gains her object: Gregory, the woman-hating administrator, is inflamed with passion for her. The showdown on the two flirtations comes when Gregory, who has received orders from England to send Lewin to Malta, a better post, sends him instead to the darkest part of Africa on a punitive expedition.

Miss DuPont, Vernon Steele and Landers Stevens play the principal parts.

"The Isle Of Zorda"

"The Isle of Zorda," is a French production of Jules Verne's novel, "Mathias Sandorf."

On the eve of death, Mathias Sandorf, a Friend of Liberty, learns by whom he has been betrayed. He daringly attempts escape and succeeds. He wanders to the Orient, and, in the passing years, accumulates great wealth and establishes a home on an island he calls Zorda.

Then he returns to his native land to seek out his three betrayers—Toronthal, a banker; Sarcany, an adventurer; Carpena, a fisherman. His revenge is complicated by the fact that his daughter Sava, whom he long had thought dead, has been brought up by Toronthal as his own daughter—this that he may obtain possession of her fortune.

After many adventurous experiences he turns over conspirators to authorities and finds happiness with his daughter and her lover on the Isle of Zorda.

Gloria Hope

When Jackie Coogan's next starring venture appears before the public, beautiful Titian-haired Gloria Hope will be seen in the leading feminine role. Gloria, otherwise known as Mrs. Lloyd Hughes, will soon be a star, if rumors count for anything.

The Sisters Who Always Jilt Americans for Titles

Lady Alastair Leveson-Gower, First of the Demarest Sisters to Wed a Nobleman.

Charlotte, Who Threw Over an American to Marry Count Edward George Zichy de Zich et Vasonykeo.

Count Zichy and His Bride as They Appeared When They Eloped.

ROMANCE lies in the unknown. New York believes San Francisco a city o' dreams. San Francisco yearns toward New York. The castle in Spain allures because no mortal foot has set its print inside. The little daughter of poverty carries in her heart a picture of a fairy wedding day. Heirloom lace, orange blossoms, Paris gowns, police lines to keep back the crowd.

But the poor little rich girl! Simplicity for her: a few words hastily spoken; a flight through the night! The princess loves and sometimes weds, her commoner, believing plain "Mrs." a designation greatly to be desired. But the daughter of democracy turns from an American mate to a title. Distance! Light as cobweb, strong as steel, winding the human heart, drawing it through dishonor of broken vows toward attainment of the remote.

Inconsistency seeing desirability only in that which is not possessed!

By ELIZABETH SHIELDS

WHEN word went round that the youthful and personable millionaire, George Burton, had been left at the very door of the church down near his New Jersey country estate while his bright-haired, brown-eyed bride-to-have-been, Charlotte Gardiner Demarest, dropped into the Municipal building in New York City and became the wife of Count Edward George Zichy de Zich et Vasonykeo, two sorts of remarks were made by those most interested.

The wealthy and exclusive coterie which had known the lovely daughter of the Warren G. Demarests, first as debutante, then as an engaged girl whose errant fancy turned elsewhere than toward her fiance, declared that for once she had done the natural and admirable thing. They said:

"She is one of our many girls who want a wedding, not a grand opera ceremonial. She was tired of display and so she seized the casual."

But a less fashionable set said this:

"Ah-ha! Another American jilted for a title!"

Now both of these opinions are true, in part at least. For the little society beauty did hate "fuss and feathers." She said so herself after it all was over. She was weary of humdrum elaboration. Contrast and therefore satisfaction for her was represented by the four bare walls of the Municipal Building chapel. The change was the tonic which invigorated her love affair.

And that she expressed a dispositional quirk, a family one quite likely, in dropping whatever she had on hand to seize a title which waited round within easy reach seems demonstrated in the marriage of her older sister, Lady Alastair Leveson-Gower.

The unsuccessful marriage of Helene Demarest to Jack Leishman, son of the Pittsburgh millionaire and the then ambassador to Rome, is social history, just as is the alacrity with which she accepted the opportunity to become "My Lady."

Leishman was an American and a "Mr." Even the wedding at Lake Como and residence in Italy offered little of the unusual to the girl who had roamed the world at will.

But the brother of the Duke of Sutherland appeared to be successful in fulfilling her dream. He died suddenly two years ago and her little daughter now is heir to Sutherland's vast land holdings, the greatest in the United Kingdom.

But the Countess Zichy is only one of the social butterflies who have fluttered through vows and promises, parental objections, conventions, every logical consideration, to be married and started on the road toward Happy-Ever-After land, a country characterized in nearly every case by sharp contrast to the land of Familiar Fact.

Two years ago the hauteur of Philadelphia was jarred out of its superb calm when the most youthful debutante ever to defy lorgnette and lofty brow hooked up with one of its younger sons and announced that they'd both go to work for a living. She was Fifi Widener, daughter of Joseph Widener, the traction millionaire. He was the nephew of William C. Dickerman of American Car & Foundry fame. Both of these personages indicated a willingness to be "shown."

ture Service, 1923.

So, after the youngsters had dragged their suit cases out of Knoxville, Tenn., where the ceremony took place in the un-millionairish office of a justice, to Asheville, N. C., for their honeymoon, they moved up to Berwick, Pa., and got busy.

They made good. They are getting on so well that they have refused assistance offered by pleased members of both families.

The boy, who had been accustomed only to idle luxury, found such fascinating contrast in his work as a two-dollar-and-a-half-a-day laborer in uncle's foundry that he became a self-reliant man all at once with what seems certain success hanging over his head.

The girl was dazzled by the novelty of a gingham apron. Her most arduous housework having been the job of ringing for the maid, she discovered endless interest in a dishcloth and a mop.

City mansions, country homes, seaside cottages all were old stuff. But the little house of four or five rooms and one bath in the workingmen's quarter of the city—what more could one desire for romance? And so they are happy.

* * * * *

About the time Philadelphia's upper-ten had recovered its breath, Gotham's choice Knickerbocker specimens were gasping over the Edith Gould-Carrol Wainwright affair. That lovely, dark-eyed daughter of an old line met the young art student upon a corner of Fifth avenue the day after she was graduated from school. They decided that prospect of summer in the Adirondacks promised nothing but boredom.

He had no business experience; no personal income. Together they faced uncertainty; perhaps poverty, a casting-out by their own kind.

But precariousness blazed against the safety they always had known like a flame on the ash of monotony. Magnificence had gone stale through too intimate acquaintance. They wished to take a chance.

So there was a hurried visit to Elkton, Maryland's Gretna Green, and a marriage without any of the decoration associated with the nuptials of such socially important people.

They were not permitted to test poverty, however. Their families forgave and were pleasant.

Is the romance of the Countess Zichy and her tall, blond husband to turn out unfortunately?

Unlikely. She has little of the unknown to find disillusioning.

Socially the count is eligible. Born in Eastbourne, England, as the records at the marriage license bureau relate, his parents, the Count and Countess Bela R. Zichy are leaders in the same exalted set in which moves the Countess Szechenyi, formerly Gladys Vanderbilt, in Enyiczke, Czecho-Slovakia. The Countess Bela Zichy was Mabel Wright, daughter of the late George Wright, one time wife of young Yznaga, a nephew of the beauteous Miss Yznaga who became the Dowager Duchess of Manchester.

Financially, however, the young countess may be forced into experiment. The day after her marriage the hotel where her honeymoon was being spent was invaded by a deputy sheriff with a writ of judgment for something over a thousand dollars obtained by a taxicab owner for injuries his vehicle sustained when the Hungarian nobleman wrecked it with his roadster. The countess was quoted as telling the embarrassed officer that she and her husband "hadn't a shirt between them." That lack of money failed to make her downhearted seemed indicated in what she said later in the day about her marriage.

Her statement is interesting because it throws a light on all other marriages of the sort; dashes into the unknown after romance, as they may be:

"Married quick, like a whirlwind. Yes, that's it. Only I should say it was more like a cyclone—so quick, so thrilling. And really that's the only way. No fuss, no feathers. Those are such a bore!

"I'm sorry to have hurt anybody's feelings. Poor Mr. Burton is very nice, but I felt I was making something of a mistake in marrying him.

"Six months after I met Ed I went to Paris to study. He went to South America on business. But we corresponded. When we both came back to New York he proposed to me."

When the little countess was asked concerning Mr. Burton, who was rehearsing the wedding ceremony at the church in Elberon, N. J., when word came to him of his fiance's elopement, she musingly repeated the words with which he is said to have received that piece of news:

"Hell's bells!"
